Herd tackles potent Panthers Saturday

Editor-Publisher

The hustlin' Hereford Whitefaces tackle the potent Odessa Permian Panthers in Lubbock's Jones Stadium at 7 p.m. Saturday in a Class 5A bi-district clash, and the Herd is generally rated a two to three-touchdown under-

Supporters point out, however, that Hereford was also rated at the bottom of the 3-5A race in pre-season polls and the hostile, agile Herd thundered to an 8-2 season and a share of the district crown.

Permian notched a 9-1 record enroute to another title in Distirct 4-5A. The only loss was to runner-up Midland Lee, a team that will be matched against Amarillo High Saturday afternoon in the other clash between the districts. Kickoff for that game is 1:30 p.m. in Jones Stadium.

The Harris Rating System, an independent schoolboy polling service, picks Permian by 14 in the playoff battle. Harris has Permian as the No. 1 team in the state, while Hereford is listed in 53rd place. The final Associated Press poll of the season, which picks only the top 10, had Permian in 5th place.

In the other game Saturday in Lubbock, Midland Lee is a 9-point pick over Amarillo High, according to the Harris system. The Hereford-Permian winner will play in the area playoff game next weekend against the El Paso Coronado and El Paso Eastwood winner.

A "send-off" rally will be held for the Herd at 1:45 p.m.

The Hereford

Permian, with its "Mojo" magic, is a perennial grid power in West Texas. Both teams have had a winning tradition over the past four seasons. Hereford has a 37-7 won-lost mark, while Permian is 34-2-3 over the four years. Odessa coach John Wilkins is in his 11th season with the Panthers, and his teams have a combined 116-14-14 won-lost tied record over that span.

Hereford changed head coaches this year, but Jerry Taylor installed his system and the dedicated Herd set three goals: Win the first game, win the district title, and play to the best of their abilities in the playoffs.

Although the points came against different foes, Permian's team offensive statistics show a 376-yard average a game to just 288 for Hereford. The defensive figures are closer, with the Panthers yielding an average of 190 per game to Hereford's 212. The high-scoring Panthers recorded 329 points to 125 for their foes. Hereford tallied 196 points to 76 for the opposition.

A look at the individual offensive statistics show that fullback Britt Hager, 194-pound senior, and quarterback Rex Lamberti, 184 senior, are the leaders behind a hardhitting forward wall. Hager is a double-duty player, being pushed as an all-state linebacker. He has also rushed for

Walch attempts to solve program's minor quirks

By KIM THOGMARTIN Staff Writer

While concrete results will not be available until achievement tests are administered in April, the reading management system has been implemented in the Hereford Independent School District has some minor problems which are being ironed

John Walch, assistant superintendent for instruction in HISD said he recently spent nine and a half days meeting with elementary teachers in small groups to talk about the new system. At meetings with the school principals last Thursday, 11 guidelines for instructors were approved.

Following individual pretesting early in the school year, the students were placed in reading levels based on what they had learned so far and what they needed to accomplish this school year. Their progress is being constantly evaluated continuous-

The pre-testing was timeconsuming and involved extra paperwork. Several classroom teachers attended a school board meeting last month to discuss the procedure. The instructors were worried that the extra testing time was taking away from other important curriculum

Walch indicated the individual testing will not be necessary next year except for new students and first graders. He said the new teachers will review students on material learned the previous year and then administer tests to the entire group of children.

Included in the list of guidelines, according to Walch, are suggestions on group testing, teaching sequence, and how much time to spend on reading activities not included in the new management system.

Teachers are also receiving tional materials, including film strips, educational games, casettes and teaching

"The communications committee, composed of teachers from every campus, met recently to talk about the program," Walch said. "They asked me for a list of written guidelines to help keep the teaching methods uniform among all the schools, and I'm working on that now."

Walch estimated that 70 percent of school children in Texas are being taught reading by the management

Syrians reportedly fire

U.S. jets start overflying again

By FAROUK NASSAR Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) -U.S. jets flew low over Beirut in reconnaissance runs this morning, a day after a similar mission drew groundfire from Syrian-held territory. Two radio stations said Syrian gunners fired at the planes again today.

In northern Lebanon, meanwhile, Palestine Liberation Organization chairman Yasser Arafat's besieged loyalists were reported trading sporadic artillery fire with Syrian-backed rebels around the port city of Tripoli.

Beirut residents saw U.S. F-14 Tomcat interceptors swoop over the capital and surrounding hills at 6:30 a.m. and then veer westward and fly back toward the sea.

Spokesmen for the U.S. Marine contingent serving with the multinational peacekeeping force in Beirut declined to comment on the new flights or the reported shooting at the Tomcats of the aircraft carrier USS Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Syria said Thursday its air defenses drove off four U.S. jets that flew over Syrian positions in central Lebanon. But U.S. Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger played down the claim, saying in Washington he had no evidence it was Syrian gunners who fired at a Navy F-14

A White House spokesman said Navy jets doing "routine" reconnaissance Thursday were fired at from the ground but did not identify the attacker. None of the reports mentioned any hits.

On Thursday, PLO mutineers bombarded residential neighborhoods in Tripoli as pressure mounted on Arafat to leave Lebanon's second-largest city. The rebels have insisted Arafat leave before they end their assault.

Libvan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy urged Arafat to go to Libya, where Khaddafy said he would "guarantee his safety, protection and right in defending himself before any Palestinian or Arab questioning and thus end the bloody struggle," Libya's news agency said.

In Beirut, U.S. Marines returned fire along the eastern perimeter of their airport base Thursday afternoon. There were no casualties in the 21/2-minute exchange, said Capt. Wayne Jones, a spokesman for the U.S. force. Tensions in the Middle East have been worsening since Oct. 23, when suicide bombings killed 239 American and 58 French peacekeeping troops in Beirut. On Nov. 4, a similar attack killed 28 Israelis and 32 Lebanese prisoners in southern Lebanon. The U.S., French and Israeli governments blame Moslem fanatics operating behind Syrian lines in Lebanon.

In Washington, FBI Director William Webster said bomb experts concluded that the terrorist attack on the Marine compound packed a force of six tons of dynamite. one of the largest explosives we've ever seen."

Reagan concludes his Japanese visit

By JAMES GERSTENZANG Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) - President Reagan, winding up a threeday visit of pomp and blunt talk in Japan, is heading for South Korea, where 100,000 security agents are on alert to protect him against the kind of terrorism that recently decimated the senior ranks of that nation's ruling regime. During his last full day in Tokyo, Reagan told the leaders of the only nation ever to experience the horror of atomic war that "in this modern age, a nuclear war can never be won and must never be fought."

That line won wide applause in the Diet, Japan's parliament, and the American president's 30-minute speech was interrupted by applause 27 times.

But in his address, as in his two days of talks with Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone, there was was an undercurrent of the trade and defense policy disputes that have marked recent U.S.-Japanese relations and Reagan's visit

Reagan urged a lowering of trade barriers and denounced legislation passed by the U.S. House last week that would attempt to curb Japanese auto imports by requiring that they contain specified percentages U.S.-manufactured parts.

Stone wants leftists to meet with rebels

By FILADELFO ALEMAN Associated Press Writer

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) - U.S. special envoy Richard Stone advised Nicaragua's leftist government to conduct "internal dialogues" with U.S.-backed rebels but was quickly rebuffed by the coordinator of the ruling junta.

Stone made his suggestion in a meeting late Thursday with Sandinista junta coordinator Daniel Ortega.

But Ortega, at a news conference after the meeting. said he rejected such a proposal "because the counterrevolutionary groups are artificial forces created by the United States after the revolutionary triumph of

The Sandinistas gained control of Nicaragua four years ago in a civil war, ousting the rightist government of Anastasio Somoza.

Stone, appointed by President Reagan as special envoy for Central America, and Ortega met for 11/2 hours. Both men flew to Managua from Mexico City, where they had separate meetings earlier Thursday with Mexican President Miguel de la Madrid.

Elsewhere in Central America, a lawyer in El Salvador appealed an order to try five former national guardsmen for the deaths of four American chur-

TDC dairy plant voted down

AUSTIN (AP) - The State Board of Corrections has killed a proposal to build a $4.5 million dairy processing plant - a decision one board member called a signal that "helter-skelter" spending in the prisons has ended

The unanimous vote came Thursday after Gov. Mark White re-urged his opposition to the plan. Board members had voted 5-3 Monday to go ahead with the plant.

"I want to let the Legislature and the (prison) staff know we are not spending money helter-skelter over there like we have in the past few years," said Harry Whittington of Austin, who led the move to rescind the Monday

White told the board he was "disturbed" that the need for a new dairy plant was not mentioned to lawmakers this year.

"This is not something that just sprang up overnight like a mushroom." he said.

Crew probably in Vietnam

HOUSTON (AP) - Two lifeboats and at least one life raft are missing from a U.S. drilling ship which sank in the South China Sea and officials of the vessel's owner say they believe crew members were likely blown ashore in Vietnam.

Divers found no bodies during a 91/2-hour exploration of the wrecked Glomar Java Sea, Gary Kott, president of the Houston-based Global Marine Drilling Co., said Thursday. He said evidence that the boats and raft were launched "in a proper fashion" gives officials reason to hope for the 80 crew members. 'We're considerably optimistic now," Kott said. "We're really encouraged with what we've found." Kott said bad weather had prevented divers from exploring the wreck previously. The ship, which sank during Typhoon Lex Oct. 25, is resting nearly upside down, he said. Kott said divers were unable to reach the heliport or the pilot house, but they did enter two compartments and found no bodies.

FBI aks officials to testify

ODESSA, Texas (AP) - Odessa Mayor Bob Bryant and 14 other "upstanding citizens" have been subpoenaed to appear before a federal grand jury investigating a suspicious 1981 fire at an Odessa office building, federal agents told the Odessa American.

"I absolutely intend to testify," Bryant told the newspaper. He said if he had any information on who was responsible for the fire, "I'm certainly not aware of it."

Bryant was a part owner of the building when the fire occurred, but FBI agents said he was not considered a suspect in the arson that investigators said caused the $90,000 in damages, the newspaper reported in a copyright

Bill Kirkwood, the FBI agent in charge of the investigation, said 15 "upstanding citizens," including Mayor Bob Bryant, "a couple" of members of the Odessa Chamber of Commerce and "certain county commissioners" were subpoenaed this week, the newspaper said.

Man charged with espionage

BOSTON (AP) - A 44-year-old East German scientist indicted on eight counts of espionage could be put to death if convicted.

A federal grand jury Thursday indicted Alfred Zehe. He has been held without bail since his arrest by FBI agents Nov. 3 while attending a conference of the American Vacuum Society at the Boston Sheraton Hotel.

Zehe allegedly paid $15,800 for classified documents from a civilian employee of the Navy who was cooperating with the FBI and Naval intelligence. The worker at the Naval Electronics Systems Engineering Command in Charleston, S.C., was not identified in the indictment.

The indictment alleges that Zehe received classified documents and photographs of documents in 1982 and 1983

An FBI affidavit alleges the Navy employee also received $5,500 from three East German Embassy officials in Washington and Mexico City.

At a bail hearing last week, federal prosecutors said the espionage charges could mean a death sentence upon conviction.

Government still technically broke

WASHINGTON (AP) - Much of the federal government was technically without cash or credit today as Congress tried to patch together a compromise on emergency funding legislation held up by bickering over $1 billion in education and social spending sought by House

Despite the delay in congressional action, a widespread disruption of government operations was postponed by the Veterans Day holiday.

The Senate slogged nearly four hours past a midnight Thursday deadline before adopting its version of the stopgap money bill by a voice vote.

While the compromise might be acceptable to Congress, Republicans said President Reagan was sure to veto the measure if the social spending additions remained in it.

The House voted 224-189 to pass its version of the measure Thursday afternoon, then sent it to the Republican-controlled Senate, which immediately stripped out the additional social spending with a 53-36 vote.

The Senate then added more than a dozen items dealing with such subjects as a recreational development on a river in Tennessee and a traffic study in the Northeast.

Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass., declared that Democrats were "using the issue of education funding for blatantly political purposes ... to promote a political confrontation with the president."

TOKYO (AP) - President Reagan appeared to be showing the strain of his Asian tour today when he flubbed his lines during an interview on Japanese television and, in his frustration, uttered a rare presidential expletive.

The interview with a Japanese correspondent for the NHK television network was one of the last events on the president's schedule before ending his three-day trip to Japan and going on to South Korea. It began with a brief statement by Reagan addressed to the Japanese people.

As Reagan rehearsed the statement on tape, he stumbled over the pronunciation of a Japanese name, pause and said, "Oh, dammit!" Then he laughed and resumed the rehearsal.

The episode was not broadcast in the interview, but it was available to U.S. television networks, which were receiving a direct electronic feed of the inteview.

During the interview, Reagan also mentioned "the problem of Cuba in the Mediterranean — Mediterranean," then corrected himself to place the island "in the Caribbean."

While leaving the courthouse, the 47-year-old Lucas said he "expected life all along" for his conviction of the stabbing death of 15-yearold Frieda "Becky" Powell.

A note Lucas wrote to Tom Whitlock, his court-appointed attorney, said, "I will get either 75 years or life, which I don't care because I have already gave myself death. God can give a person like me a pardon of sin and He has promised to do so. I know I will be with Becky.'

As he was escorted out of the courthouse, he said, "Death - that's what I've asked for. I'm going to get

Asked if that meant he planned to plead guilty to some of the other murders with which he is charged, Lucas said "probably."

Lucas has been charged in eight other Texas slayings, including four capital murder charges that carry a possible penalty of death by injection. His next trial will be in Georgetown, near Austin, either in December or October, prosecutors said.

Lucas is charged there with the strangling death of a young, unidentified woman whose body was found near Interstate 35 in 1979. He was taken to Georgetown soon after his sentencing here.

Earlier this year Lucas pleaded guilty to the 1982 slaying 80-year-old Kate Rich in Ringgold. Ms. Rich's bones were found in Lucas' woodburing stove. He was sentenced to 75 years in prison, but has since requested a new

He wants to die to

The Denton County jury deliberated nearly three hours before announcing its sentence. Lucas shook hands with prosecutor Jerry Cobb and told the Denton County district attorney he had 'done a good job.'

In a hand-written statement addressed to "members of the press" Lucas said, "I have not tried to win. If I ever desire to win, I can." The note was written Wednesday night in the Denton County

Lucas said the trial and the attention it gathered enabled him to "to gain peace of mind."

Whitlock said Lucas did not tell him that he planned to seek the death penalty in future cases. He was asked after the sentencing if he believed Lucas could be the largest mass murderer in U.S. history, as he claims, and said he did not know.

"That's a very difficult question and I say that based on the many hours I've spent with Henry. I always found Henry basically easy to talk to and a very congenial person. I never even heard him say a cuss word."

Cobb agreed with Whitlock that he could not explain the dichotomy between Lucas' apparent gentle manners and his claims of mass murder.

"I could not tell you that ... all I know is he's charged with a lot of crimes."

Cobb also said the chances of Lucas being tried in all the cases with which he is charged diminished with the life sentence.

"You need to try him several times because you've got to have a backup to make sure a person like this goes to the penitentiary," Cobb said. "But ultimately I believe he will not be tried in all other Lucas tearfully told the jury that he didn't mean to kill Ms. Powell, with whom he had traveled in 36 states. He said he had taken care of her since she was 11. He testified he stabbed the teen-ager during a quarrel on Aug. 24, 1982, and then sat next to her corpse and "talked to her about trying to figure out what to do with her body.' After realizing Ms. Powell was dead, Lucas said he dismembered her body because "it was the only thing I could think of."

return a life sentence, calling Lucas an "animal" who threatened society.

"He sits here today having murdered his mother in 1960 and having murdered Becky Powell and he's asking you for leniency," Cobb said in punishment arguments.

"This ... has to do with the protection of American society by removing this animal from society," he said. "You know he's killed two people. How many more people does he have to kill before a jury sentences him to life?"

Whitlock had asked for leniency, saying, "There's got to be something decent in a human being that did all these things ... when he brings his case to the state."

Lucas denied that he had sex with Ms. Powell's corpse, even though he admitted in a videotaped interview with Denton police that he committed necrophilia.

In 1960, Lucas was convicted of killing his mother in Michigan. In 1971, after his parole, he was returned to prison for attempting to kidnap two young girls in Michigan.

In 1975, he was paroled again and began what authorities say was a nationwide murder spree. Most of the crimes described by Lucas were sexually oriented, investigators say, and many of the victims were

But he noted that the American business community is convinced that trade barriers are deeply entrenched in Japan and block the sale of U.S. goods here.

"It is not easy for elected officials to balance the concerns of constituents with the greater interests of the nation," said Reagan. "But that is what our jobs are all about."

He said Japan had taken steps to lower its barriers and added, "We very much hope this progress will continue and accelerate." Neither the United States nor Japan can prosper or be secure unless the two countries "work in harmony," Reagan told the nearly 500 lawmakers. Noting his own struggle against efforts in Congress to raise taxes, Reagan pointed out that in Japan, savers can exempt large amounts of interest income from taxation, and other tax laws favor investors and "working

Assuring him it was Japanese to turn the sake cup bottoms up, Nakasone told Reagan, "Let's 'kampai,"

Coach Jerry Taylor said Stengel's knee "gave way just as he was coming off the line of scrimmage; he didn't get hit and wasn't making a cut--it just happened." Stengel was at the doctor's office Friday morning, but Taylor was pessimistic about the situation.

"Even if he could play, I don't think he would be able to do the things he's been doing." Stengel is not only the Herd's top receiver and leading scorer, he is the place kicker for extra points and field goals and has also served as a backup fullback:

If Stengel is not in the star-

Hereford wide receiver ting lineup, Taylor said Friday morning he was not sure who would fill the position. The Herd boss had already been concerned about nagging injuries to several defensive starters, and two of them may not be at full strength.

> Cornerback Larry Jimenez twisted an ankle in a nonfootball accident over the weekend and has been slowed, and tackle Ricky Treadway has been hampered by a sore knee and ankle. Noseguard David Parsons lost a toe-nail this week, but he is expected to be ready, and tackle Dennis Chandler had an infection that appears to be clearing up.

> The team had worked out at Jones Stadium Thursday to get the feel of the artificial turf, checking on the bounce of the ball and the timing of the running plays.

Lamberti gives the Panthers an air attack that has been lacking in other seasons. He has thrown for 1,307 yards, completing 63 percent of his passes with 17 going for touchdowns. Wingback Kirk Strahan and wide receiver Keith Metcalfe have been his favorite targets.

Hereford has its own statistical leaders in "skill" positions. Quarterback Mike Scott led his league in total offense and passing, and fullback Ronnie Terry was the leading rusher. Wingback Mickey Stengel was a top receiver and one of the leading scorers in the district, too. During the regular season, Scott passed for 1,065 yards and five touchdowns. He ran for 328 yards to total 1,393 yards on the season. Terry rushed for 970 yards and averaged an outstanding 7.6 per carry. He scored 10 touchdowns for the Herd.

But, as most avid football fans know, the game is usually won on the line of scrimmage. Coach Taylor was very pleased with his offensive line at the close of the season, praising them for their progress during the year. End Eric Walterscheid, tackles Lee Brockman and Keith Bridwell, guards Melvin Kalka and Max Middleton, and center Jeff Shelton are the prime movers on the offensive

The proud Hereford defense allowed only 76 points this season, and half of those came in the two losses. Only in those two games did the defense allow more than one touchdown to be scored. Linebackers Brockman and Alan Ritchie, ends August Castillo and Brian Lady, tackles Jennis Chandler and Ricky Treadway nose Parsons, and ends August Castillo and Brian Lady are the mainstays on the defensive wall.

The Herd's defensive secondary also contains some skill people. They led the league in pass defense and allowed very few long scoring plays. Safety Jeff Streun was the top pass interceptor in the district and was the Herd's backup quarterback. Cornerback Ronnie Collier is also a spot player in the backfield, and Sammy Suarez and Larry Jimenez are sure tacklers and good pass defenders.

According to the program weights for the probable starters, permian will average 188 on offense to Hereford's 172 on defense. The weights are closer when Hereford is on offense-about 174-pounds per man.

Hereford's scores for the season: Pampa (27-8), Canyon (33-0), Lubbock High (24-7), Monterey, (13-7), Caprock (26-0), Tascosa (16-0), Plainview 7-21), Palo Duro (14-10), Amarillo (7-17), Coronado (29-6).

Permian's record for the season: El Paso Coronado (23-21), Ysleta Hanks (46-7), Fort Worth Wyatt (38-0), Midland High (34-12), Abilene High (34-14), San Angelo (37-21), Midland Lee (7-20), Abilene Cooper (54-7), Big Spring (51-13), Odessa High (15-10).

Saints picked over 49ers; Oilers to win first game?

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

New Orleans plays perhaps the biggest game in the 17-year history of the franchise Sunday, at San Francisco. A victory over the 49ers would give the Saints - for the time being - sole possession of first place in the National Conference West.

The Saints never have been in the National Football League playoffs. They've never had a winning season. They've never been 7-4.

They're 6-4 now, along with the 49ers and the Los Angeles Rams, who don't play until Monday night. The 49ers have found San Francisco a most hostile place of late, losing nine of 10 home games over the past 11/2 seasons.

Figure the game to be decided by a field goal, or less. In other words, take New Orleans plus 4 over SAN FRANCISCO.

Class 3A playoff game set for 7:30

Hereford football fans will have an opportunity to see a big Class 3A playoff game here in Whiteface Stadium tonight when the top-ranked and undefeated Littlefield Wildcats meet the Dalhart Wolves. Kickoff time is 7:30

The Wildcats advanced to the state championship game before losing a close game last season, and they have their eyes set on the state crown again this season. Littlefield started the playoff road last year with a 21-7 win over the Golden Wolves.

Dalhart returned only two starters and struggled with a 5-4-1 record before gaining the playoff berth. Wildcat coach Jerry Blakely said Dalhart "is a very admirable opponent...they've improved tremendously during the season." He added his team was very excited "about entering the playoffs, it's like starting a new season."

Littlefield closed out the regular season with a close win over Friona, but the Cats were without the services of star running back Steve Greene. The big tailback missed that game and part of the previous game with a pinched nerve

Greene rushed for 1,548 yards and 23 touchdowns in just nine games. Littlefield also has scoring potential from quarterback Chris Ayala and his quick receiver, Ferrante

Dalhart has a big, quick team with an offensive line that averages 190 pounds per man. Todd Nolan and Michael Thompson are the top running backs. The Wolves lost to 1-3A champion Perryton by 12-6. Tickets for the game will be $4 at the gate. Dalhart is the home team and their fans will occupy the west stands at Whiteface Stadium.

Rockets lose to Jazz, Portland wins 4th straight

By The Associated Press

Adrian Dantley points to the bench when explaining the key to the Utah Jazz improvement.

"We're a much stronger team," Dantley said. "We have much more depth. Before, we always had a pretty good five, but we didn't do so good when we went to the bench.'

Dantley, part of that "pretty good five" starters, scored 30 points to lead Utah to a 118-109 National Basketball Association victory over the Houston Rockets on Thursday. But reserve forward John Drew came off the bench to add 21 points. In other NBA games, New York defeated Indiana 99-91, Portland stopped Cleveland 115-110 and Phoenix downed Golden State 104-99.

Dantley scored 18 of his points in the final quarter to rally the Jazz to victory. But Utah Coach Frank Layden went to his bench as the Jazz trailed by 17 points early in the second period.

But Rickey Green's jumper put Utah up for good with 7:48 left, and backup center Rich Kelley scored 11 points and had nine rebounds.

Older citizens may feel vulnerable

COLLEGE STATION --Many older Americans feel more vulnerable to crime because of physical limitations and limited financial resources, says Judith Warren, a family life educationaging specialist.

Actually, older people are not victimized any more or less than other age groups but this fact does not help feelings of fear," says Warren, who is with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economics program.

"Older persons in both cities and small towns sometimes end up living in high crime areas," Warren says. Though they may have lived in the same place for years, the neighborhood often changes around them. They are the outsider - the different person - and so might be victimized. "Older people living in rural areas may feel the isolation more than they did when they were younger,' she adds.

Crime prevention organizations have a series of suggestions for older persons.

Many neighborhoods organize a Neighborhood agree to be aware of each other's home and report to the police any activities out of the ordinary.

Even a casual neighbor-toneighbor conversation asking that the home be watched, can give the older person a feeling of security, notes the home economist.

Older persons can do some things themselves, too, says Warren. Women do not have to carry their purses with them all the time. If they are out for a walk or windowshopping, they can leave their purse at home and remove some temptation to a purse

BLINDED! SO THAT OTHERS MIGHT SEE!

Paul continued, "I used torture to try to make Christians everywhere curse Christ. I was so violently opposed to them that I even hounded them in distant cities in foreign lands. I was on such a mission to Damascus, armed with the authority and commission of the chief priests, when one day about noon, sir, a light from heaven brighter than the sun shone down on me and my companions. We all fell down, and I heard a voice speaking to me in Hebrew, 'Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting Me? You are only hurting yourself.'

"'Who are you, sir?' I asked. And the Lord replied, 'I am Jesus, the one you are persecuting. Now stand up! For I have appeared to you to appoint you as My servant and My witness. You are to tell the world about this experience and about the many other occasions when I shall appear to you. And I will protect you from both your own people and the Gentiles. Yes, I am going to send you to the Gentiles to open their eyes to their true condition so that they may repent and live in the light of God instead of in Satan's darkness, so that they may receive forgiveness for their sins and God's inheritance along with all people everywhere whose sins are cleansed away, who are set apart by faith in Me.'

"And so, O King Agrippa, I was not disobedient to that vision from heaven! I preached first to those in Damascus, then in Jerusalem and through Judea, and also to the Gentiles that all must forsake their sins and turn to God--and prove their repentance by doing good deeds."

turkey, self-basted store lower, and the factor that brands and self-basted national brands, says the poultry specialist.

Economy and tradition aren't the only reason that the average American consumes about 11 pounds of turkey per year. "Turkey is one of the best high-nutrition, low-calorie foods around," says Dr. Dymple Cooksey, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Extension Service.

Roasted dark turkey meat contains 30 percent protein, 8.3 percent fat and 203 calories for a 100-gram serving, which is just under a quarter-pound. Roasted light meat contains 32.9 percent protein, 3.9 percent fat and only 176 calories per serving.

When shopping for a turkey, look first for the white, circular USDA inspection mark located on the package, says Cooksey. This mark assures that the processing was done under sanitary conditions.

The designation of a grade on turkeys is not mandatory, but a high percentage do have a USDA grade mark, she

Most turkeys sold at retail are Grade A turkeys. Some stores also have grade B turkeys and a few may package grade C turkeys. "Don't hestitate to buy a grade B or C turkey when they are available," advises Cooksey. "The price will be

Since tenderness of the meat is determined by the age of the bird, and not the grade, size or sex, look for the words "young" or "fryerroaster," to get a tender bird, says Cooksey.

Smaller families and singles can enjoy a holiday turkey without having to purchase more than they can eat, says Cooksey, by shopping for a turkey half or quarter. Most stores also carry frozen boneless roasts and rolls in a variety of serving sizes, she

Since turkey leftovers can be frozen in any high-quality moisture and vapor-proof material for up to a year without losing quality, planned leftovers make good food management for large or small families, says the home economist.

Dieters should select freshdressed or frozen plain turkey. Pre-basted frozen turkeys have more calories and usually cost more. Those on salt-restricted diets should also avoid pre-basted or processed turkey, since salt is added to preserve the meat and enhance flavor, cautions the specialist.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE RATES

Despite a liberalization of attitudes toward divorce, the relationship between marriage and divorce rates in America has remained fairly stable over three decades.

Plans being made for WTSU dinner

West Texas State University's East Dining Hall will be transformed into the great dining hall where lords and ladies will host a Renaissance Christmas feast during the third annual Madrigal Dinner on Dec. 5.

The Madrigal Dinner, presented by the WTSU Student Activities Council and School of Fine Arts, will celebrate the Christmas season in Renaissance-Medieval tradition with wassail toasts, jesters and acrobats entertaining the guests, and period music.

Wassail will be served to students, faculty and staff members and community residents who attend in authentic costume beginning at 6:30 p.m. The doors will be closed at 7 p.m. when the lord and lady of the manor invite their guests into the dining hall for a feast of Cornish game hens, Yorkshire pudding, Canterbury carrots, baked apples, peas and mushrooms and plum pud-

Tickets are $6 for students with meal cards, $8 for WTSU students, and $12 general admission, and may be obtained by calling the WTSU Activities Center or by mail at WT Box 825, Canyon, 79016. Seating is limited and reservations are recommended. said Jim Holston, director of student activities and chairperson of the Madrigal Dinner committee.

Guests at the Christmas feast will hear music from the Matilda Gaume Early Music Consort named to honor a retired professor of music at WTSU. Singing madrigal tunes from the 15th and 15th centuries will be members of Schola Madrigalis. Members of the freshman Schola will also entertain guests.

Mystique remains for First Lad puzzled and captivated

NEW YORK (AP) - She still has the whispery voice, the wide eyes, the chestnut mane - and the aura. Now 54, twice widowed, she is still one of the most regal, most fascinating and most private women in the world.

Jacqueline Lee Bouvier. Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy. Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis.

Jackie. She is a woman for whom a first name is enough, even today, 22 years after she and her dashing husband walked into the White House, 20 years after her bloodstained pink suit signaled the end of an era and 15 years since she stunned the nation by marrying an aging Greek shipping tycoon.

Her life has become quiet, reclusive. The mystique remains.

She works in Manhattan as an editor at Doubleday & Co. Inc. (promoted last year from associate editor) and makes occasional public appearances to promote books she has edited or to try to help save city landmarks.

On those occasions, Jackie who still uses Onassis as her surname - is a master of the low profile, slipping in and out of freight entrances and putting off questions with a chilly, regal smile.

She knows how to protect her privacy. Two years ago, she spent $3 million on a Martha's Vineyard retreat, where "No Trespassing" signs stand at one end of a 2.000-foot driveway that curls out of sight. She declined to be interviewed in connection with the 20th anniversary of John F. Kennedy's assassination.

And whether jogging in Central Park, having her hair done at Kenneth's or pressing her complaints against persistent photographers, Jackie remains aloof, often behind huge dark glasses.

It is a quality that has biographers and acquaintances.

"When you're on a one-toone basis with her, she's rather shy and seems rather frightened and a little wistful and hesitant, her eyes darting around the room," says biographer Stephen Birmingham.

But at public appearances, he adds, "She just glows."

That glow dazzled the American public when Jackie became first lady at age 31, moving into the White House with 3-year-old daughter Caroline and infant son John.

Although she said her job was "to take care of the president so he can best serve the people," Jackie also had distinct ideas about her role as first lady. With little interest in politics, she was dedicated to the style and grace that had marked her life since childhood.

Born in the Long Island resort community of Southampton, Jacqueline Lee Bouvier was descended from Bouviers who had come from France to fight with Lafayette in the Revolution. Her mother, Janet Lee, was the daughter of an equally prominent Maryland family that had made its fortune in real estate.

Young Jacqueline, who pronounced her name to rhyme with "queen," spoke French at the dinner table and attended Miss Porter's School, a finishing school in Farmington, Conn.; Vassar College; the Sorbonne and George Washington University. In 1947, after her "coming out" in Newport, R.I., Hearst society columnist Cholly Knickerbocker named her debutante of the year. While working as inquiring photographer of the old Washington Times-Herald, she was courted by the man who was to become the nation's 35th president. Their courtship was not, she later said, "the candy-and-flowers type." Jack Kennedy was said to be reluctant to end his bachelorhood, but his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, urged him to marry, saying, "Jackie probably has more class than any girl around here."

As first lady, Jackie displayed just that, devoting her energies to travel, redecorating the White House and replenishing her designer wardrobe - though some said a bit extravagantly.

"We are on the threshold of a new American elegance thanks to Mrs. Kennedy's naturalness, beauty. understatement, exposure and symbolism," crowed Oleg Cassini, Mrs. Kennedy's official dress designer.

Fashion followed her pillbox hats, her bouffant hairdo, white gloves and Cassini gowns. Heads of state like Charles de Gaulle were charmed when the first lady came to call.

Jackie, as a widow, became larger than life.

"She, by surviving and being with him when he died so dramatically, became a legend in her own lifetime," said one friend, Paul Mathias. "And she cannot live up to it because no human being could."

Her 1968 marriage to Aristotle Socrates Onassis, one of the world's wealthiest men, toppled her from a sort of national pedestal.

"Jackie How Could You?" screamed one headline, but the public soon found it couldn't get enough of the new Jackie, either. Photographers pushed to get shots of the woman who had buried Camelot by marrying the Golden Greek.

But rumors of marital discord soon surfaced, and Onassis was seen publicly and often with his longtime mistress, Maria Callas. By

After the shock of Dallas, the time Onassis died in 1975 - his wife an ocean away in New York - the woman who had symbolized American elegance was starring in a sordid drama played out in the world's tabloids.

Left only $120,000 in Onassis' will, Mrs. Onassis contested it and won a $26 million settlement from her stepdaughter Christina. She left the Greek island of Skorpios a widow again, and a wealthy one.

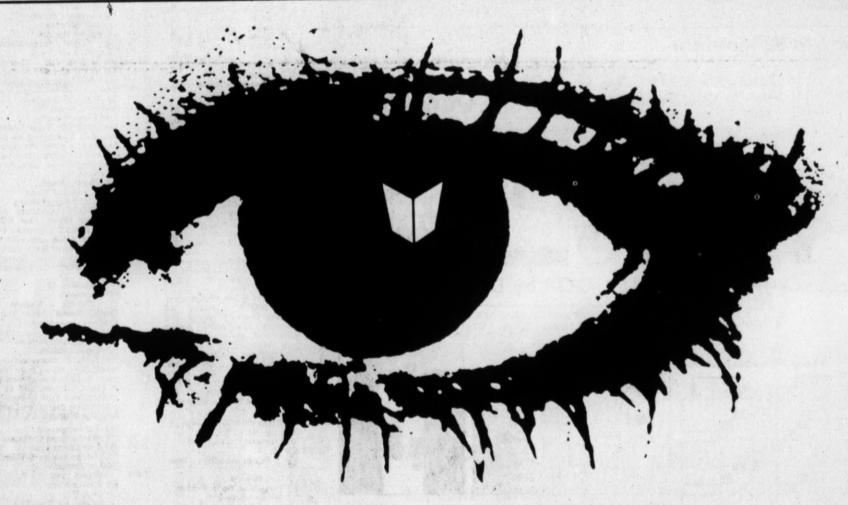

"You have two compartments. Your private and your public life," she once explained. "I think I'm more of a private person. I don't really like to call attention to anything."

MEXICO CITY (AP) -The government says it will not permit Mexican companies to pay off their foreign debts by selling shares to foreign investors.

Adolfo Hegewisch Fernandez, the Commerce Department's undersecretary for foreign investment regulations, said Wednesday that the government will not allow foreign investors to become majority shareholders in Mexican companies by exploiting their financial problems.

Mexican firms are facing serious problems in repaying foreign debts due to three sharp devaluations of the peso in 1982 that left Mexico's currency at one-sixth its value in dollar terms at the end of the year. Because each dollar costs six times as much now, many companies repay their foreign debts.

Speaking at a meeting of Mexican business executives, he said the rapid growth of foreign investment in Mexico from 1976 to 1982 demonstrated investor confidence in Mexico. He said foreign investment during those years doubled from $5.3 billion to $10.7 billion.

The number of Mexican companies with foreign-held shares increased during the period from 4,359 to 6,129, he said.

Foreign investment makes up 4.5 percent of total investment in Mexico, he said.

the Northwest today leaving two yachters missing in the wind-whipped Pacific, as snow deepened in the Midwest where up to 14 inches had fallen in spots and the wintry blast was blamed for eight deaths.

The Northeast, meanwhile, dried out from soaking rains that tangled highway and air traffic in northern New Jersey and New York City.

"This is really only two storms, in the Northeast and Northwest, and in between the cold sinking all the way down to Texas," National Weather Service meteorologist Harry Gordon said today. "This isn't a situation that'll give us widespread flooding or heavy snowdrifts. It's just unpleasant."

The unpleasantness affected much of the nation.

Gale warnings went up for the northern New England Coast. High waves pushed lake trout and salmon onto the Lake Michigan beach in Milwaukee. Farmers in south-central Texas, western Arkansas and western Tennessee braced for frost.

But the Pacific Northwest was taking the greatest pounding due to a storm 300 miles out to sea that was pushing toward land.

Winds gusted Thursday afternoon to 105 mph at Cape

Meanwhile, farmers in Sinoloa state, just to the south of Sonora, warned they will not sow 1.4 million acres with wheat, corn and other crops in the coming winter cycle if they do not receive govern-

dent of the Federation of Agricultural Associations of Sinoloa State, said that state banks have refused to grant credit, arguing that farmers will not be able to repay the loans because of low prices

"It's not a strike," he said.

The men entered the office of the Northwestern National Bank of Minneapolis about noon Wednesday, pulled pistols and sub-machine guns from their briefcases and and held up the bank, according to police reports published Thursday

The bank's representative here, Ernesto Fernandez Moreno, said the robbers were 30 to 40 years old and looked like "managers or well-off people."

FBI investigating Geter case

DALLAS (AP) - An FBI agent says the agency is conducting a "fact-finding" investigation into the case of Lenell Geter, a young, black engineer sentenced to life in prison in the robbery of a fast-food restaurant last Geter's former roommate, Anthony Williams, was acquitted Tuesday of a robbing a convenience store of $31. The two had moved to Greenville, Texas, from South Carolina last year to work as engineers for E-Systems, Inc.

Their cases gained national attention because of allegations the charges against the two men were racially motivated.

Williams, 25, says he hopes his acquittal will help free Geter, 26, whose case is on appeal.

"I hate to think about Lenell. It makes me sad," said Williams. "But I can't forget about him. It's like, 'Now that Anthony's free, why can't Lenell be free?' I'm hoping my trial will help free him."

Woody Specht, a special agent for the FBI in Dallas, said Thursday that an investigation is being conducted into Geter's case, but would not comment specifically on it.

"It does concern the Lenell Geter case," Specht said. 'We can't say who the subjects are. No formal charges have been filed. We obtained certain facts and we are forwarding that information to the Justice Department."

During the sentencing phase of Geter's trial, Greenville police Lt. James Fortenberry testified that Geter was a suspect in more than a dozen crimes in South Carolina, He said he learned that Geter was a suspect from J. Edward Darnell, a Bamberg County, S.C., sheriff. Fortenberry testified that Darnell told him Geter was "a bad character." But Darnell testified at a post-trial hearing that Fortenberry might have misinterpreted their conver-

DEAR C.R. - I've been unable to find any scientific proof as to whether or not egg whites increase in volume when beaten in a copper bowl. However, many cooks attest to the fact that souffles and other baked egg white mixtures rise higher when the egg whites have been beaten in an unlined copper bowl. One theory that's been offered is that there is a chemical reaction between the copper and the egg whites that raises the temperature at which the egg white coagu-lates. This means that, while baking, the bubbles in the egg white have a longer time during which to expand and thus will become larger before baking is completed. Hence, high-

Edward Sigel, a Dallas attorney who represented both men, said the FBI last week requested transcripts from Geter's trial and "zeroed in on the Fortenberry-Darnell testimony.'

Sigel filed a motion Wednesday asking an appeals court to consider testimony from Williams' case when it reviews Geter's conviction. Sigel said evidence in Williams' trial "is highly material" to Geter's case.

The two men were at one time considered accomplices by Greenville police, though they were charged in separate robberies. Their pictures were circulated among robbery victims, and in each of the two cases, they were identified as the respective culprits.

Sigel's motion asks the appeals court to review the testimony of 24 witnesses from Williams' trial and 14 witnesses from the pre-trial

CANCER

ANSWER

QUESTION: Is Kaposi's sarcoma

ANSWERline: Much remains to be learned about this baffling, often fatal disease. It was first observed among male patients in Europe in 1872, then in several areas of Africa, but rarely in other parts of the world. Unprecedented outbreaks among homosexual men brought Kaposi's sarcoma dramatically to public attention in the United States in 1981 and 1982. It has since been found in immigrants from Haiti, hemophiliacs, and re-whose immune systems have been

The Texas 5th District Court of Appeals, based in Dallas, did not immediately rule on Sigel's motion.

Dallas County District Attorney Henry Wade has said Geter's and Williams' cases are "not really connected" and has rejected requests to re-try Geter.

District Judge Herbert Line of Texarkana, who presided over Geter's trial, declined to say whether he will consider granting Geter a new trial.

Geter was convicted in October 1982 of robbing a Balch Springs restaurant. At his trial, five eyewitnesses identified him as the Balch Springs robber. Nine co-workers from E-Systems testified he was at work the day the robbery occurred, but none could account for his whereabouts at the exact hour of the crime.

After a Dallas jury sentenced him to life in prison, civil rights groups claimed Geter that Graham conspired with

Club makes donation for scholarships

Susan Perrin, club treasurer, reported that L'Allegra Study Club had contributed $1000 to the Opportunity Plan at West Texas State University for ongoing scholarships when the group met in the home of Kay Lynn Caviness recently.

Also during the business meeting, which was conducted by President Betty Martin, plans were discussed for this year's club project.

Uric acid stones

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 53-year-old man and I discovered, with the help of a urologist, that I have uricacid stones. I have been experiencing kidney attacks approximately two times a

The doctor took a blood and urine test and he preallopurinol scribed (Zyloprim), which I have to take every day. He tells me that I have to take this for the rest of my life. How do you feel about this? He also prescribed a lowpurine diet for me, which probably means low on fat and more carbohydrates. Should I get a second opinion on the diagnosis?

DEAR READER - Uricacid stones are not the most common form of kidney stones, but they certainly do occur in untreated gout or high uric acid conditions. Since the stone is easily analyzed - and I presume, if you passed a stone, that it was analyzed - it is fairly easy to be certain about the diagnosis.

The major source of an increased blood uric acid is from your own body cells. Some people are born with the mechanism to produce an excess of uric acid. We all produce some. If you have that characteristic, allopurinol is a good medicine to take. It prevents your cells from producing an excess amount of uric acid. And since you will continue to have the tendency to pro-duce excess uric acid, it is usually necessary to take it

The type of kidney stone a person has also determines whether it is important to keep the urine alkaline or acid. And regardless of what type of kidney stone you have, almost all physicians agree that it is important to have diluted urine. You can accomplish that by drinking lots of fluids around the clock. At least half of the fluids should be water.

I am sending you The Health Letter 11-2, Kidney Stones: Treatment Has Changed. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, selfaddressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY DEAR DR. LAMB - I am 72 years old. For two years I have had fingernail problems. They break and the edges are rough, like the teeth of a saw. The cuticles are dry even though I use gloves when washing dishes.

Is there something lacking in my diet? My husband is on a low-sodium, low-cholesterol diet for congestive heart failure and I eat the same diet. I cook everything fresh, with plenty of fruits, vegetables, whole grain cereals, meat, poultry and fish. I have used gelatin and nail hardeners with no

DEAR READER - Your letter suggests that your diet is quite good. You need plenty of the protein that you get in meat, poultry and fish. Gelatin is an incomplete protein and is of no value if you have a good amount of protein in your diet.

You may need calcium if you are not using milk to avoid sodium in your diet. Otherwise, you may be having a moisturizing prob-lem. Try using petroleum jelly on your nails before going to bed and put on a pair of rubber gloves for the night. Also use petroleum jelly during the day to keep your nails mositurized.

Fingernail polish often is hard on nails and nail polish remover is even worse.

FAITH TEACHES US THE MEANING OF REAL WEALTH

rom the great love of money, the evil that springs is the same kind of trouble that avarice brings. With the habit of wanting material things. That we usually cannot afford. When we shorten our lives with all work and no play. Then our taxes increase while the years fade away:

And the loss of our health is a high price to pay
For excessive financial reward.

If you'll go to the Church of whatever your creed,
There's a lesson you'll learn on the evils of greed;
For the only true riches that you'll ever need

Will be found in the love of the Lord!

— Gloria Nowak
