Defense Attempt To Delay Action Fails In New Jersey Court

The sentence followed an attempt of defense attorneys to halt action against Curtis before sentence was imposed.

Counties such as Howard, that are badly in need of highway construction, should be...

Howard county today is being offered a proposition that will enable it to obtain good, all-weather roads across its entire area...

If Governor Sterling's platform is approved at the polls and he is nominated for re-election Howard county can expect to get this large volume of highway improvement.

If Mrs. Ferguson's platform is approved Howard and all other counties might as well forget about getting any good roads and what's more, they would be out of luck about getting any relief from the present burden of the state ad valorem tax.

Mrs. Ferguson, through her husband, is advocating transferring $30,000,000 of gasoline tax receipts to the state treasury for the legislature to scrap over when the next series of appropriation bills are introduced.

On the other hand, Mr. Sterling, recognizing that the small home owner, and the struggling farmer, must have some real relief from taxation, advocates transferring $7,000,000 of gasoline tax revenue to a fund to be devoted solely to paying principal and interest on county road bonds issued to pay part of the cost of building highways that now are part of the state system.

This would leave sufficient funds to maintain the highways of the state and also to provide construction of additional roads as well as to re-build and improve existing routes.

The state would have no money to build any roads if the Ferguson plan were followed. Not having any money for that purpose, Texas would then not receive any federal road aid.

However, if the Sterling plan is followed, federal aid will be maintained, the counties guaranteed some tax relief through retirement of their county bonds and construction of roads would progress normally.

If Mr. Sterling's plan is followed Howard county will receive two good highways, No. 1 and No. 9 crossing it in four directions at no cost beyond right-of-way. If the Ferguson plan is followed Howard county will, we repeat, be out of luck, along with all Texas for that matter.

Gov Roosevelt Aboard Boat

Democratic Nominee Off On Yawl With Three Sons For Rest Trip

PORT JEFFERSON, N. Y. (AP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt boarded the yawl, Myth II, during the night hour Monday and prepared to leave on a week's sailing trip up the New England coast with his three sons.

Question Of Retiring County Road Bonds From Gasoline Tax Reviewed In Ely's Statement

ABILENE—With the probability of enactment of legislation for divestment of enough of the gasoline tax money to enable the state to assume outstanding bonds of counties whose proceeds have gone into construction of state highways, W. R. Ely, chairman of the state highway commission, asserted his belief that while tax rates will have to be set up for 1933 covering state road bond maturities, it is likely such taxes will have to be collected. He believes legislative action will come in time to "obviate the necessity of such tax being collected insofar as it relates to state highway bonds."

In a statement to The Reporter-News, Judge Ely said: "The constitutionality of such a law, enacted in special session would be doubtful. The legislature should, at a regular session, submit a constitutional amendment providing for the diversion of one cent of the gasoline tax, or an amount as may be necessary, for the purpose of relieving the counties of the road bond burden. This should be done in order to remove any question of the constitutionality of the proposal, and for the further legislation repealing the law and placing the burden back upon the counties."

Obviate Collection "Governor Sterling is the only candidate for governor who is advocating lifting this burden from the counties staggering under their bonded debt for state highway construction. Since he has stated he expects to call the legislature into special session some time during the fall, the highway department can, when authorized by the legislature, transfer a sufficient amount of funds on hand which, together with the one-cent accruals from the gasoline tax, would be sufficient to meet the interest and bond payments to become due after the legislature has enacted such legislation. Although it will be necessary for the counties to make tax levies for the purpose of meeting their bond payments, the suggestion herein made would obviate the necessity of such tax being collected insofar as it relates to state highway bonds. Feeling certain that this can be done absolutely discredited the contention of a few that would have the governor call an expensive session of the legislature at this time, which would likely devote its efforts to political wrangling and get nowhere in the end."

STAMFORD—The affiliated cities of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce are being urged to enter the Inter-Community Beautification Contest launched this week by the regional chamber's Beautification Committee headed by Houston Harte of San Angelo, immediate past president of the organization.

The contest is in furtherance of the beautification program of the regional chamber inaugurated last year, and now being followed up as one of the four main objectives of the organization. The contest will be conducted for five years, according to Harte, but

Oil Company Safe Robbed Here Of $103

Texas Company Reports Loss; Further Loot Yet To Be Checked

12 Candidates In Glasscock

Four Of Six County Offices, One Commissioner Opposed

GARDEN CITY—Four of six county officers but only one county nomination in the Democratic primary July 23.

For county commissioner, precinct No. 3, there is no candidate. J. J. Phillips, who is serving his first term, although a commissioner a number of years ago, did not file for re-election. It is thought likely that the names of John Reader, ranchman of Drumwright, and Sam Childress at the Three Way Filling Station between Sterling City and Big Spring, will be written in.

M. A. Wilkinson, commissioner of precinct No. 2, appointed to fill the unexpired term of E. L. McMaister, who resigned on account of illness, is opposed by L. J. Medlin.

Steve Calverley, commissioner of precinct No. 3, who has been a member of the commissioners court most of the time for 30 years, and L. W. Woody of Stanton, commissioner of precinct No. 4, who has served four terms, are unopposed.

Fred S. Ratliff, ranchman and a resident of Glasscock county 32 years, seeks re-election as sheriff and tax collector for a second term. He is opposed by J. E. Martin, who has a ranch five miles west of town and lives two miles south of town.

T. J. Parker, manager of the telephone system here, is serving his first term as county judge and is a candidate for re-election. O. W. Crouch, who operates the City Cafe and has a ranch 20 miles south of Garden City also is a candidate for county judge.

A. R. Wyong, tax assessor for 10 or 12 years, is up for re-election and is opposed by J. C. Cox, who has a ranch 18 miles south-west of Garden City.

County officers who are unopposed are: Mrs. Jimmie Cook, treasurer, and J. R. Calverley, district clerk. Mrs. Cook is serving her fifth term. Mr. Calverley his first. He is a son of County Commissioner Calverley.

Carved from Tom Green county in 1887 and organized in 1893 Glasscock county has an area of 866 square miles but a population of only 1,263 in 1930. Its 1932 voting strength is approximately 360, greater than normal.

Taxable property values likely will be fixed finally and the 1932 tax rate set at a meeting of the commissioners' court on Monday.

The 1931 tax rate was $2.43, of which the county levy was 74¢ and the school rate 84¢ on the $100. The wealth of the county exceeds $10,000,000, oil production having increased it materially in the last few years.

Glasscock county has no railroad but the county seat is connected by highway with Big Spring, Midland, Sterling City and Big Lake. It is 38 miles west of Sterling City, from which point state highway No. 9 is paved to San Angelo. Negotiations are under way for the furnishing by Glasscock county of a 100-foot right-of-way on state highway No. 9 through the northwestern corner of the county, in consideration of which the state will pave the route.

Range conditions in this section are the best in several years.

Moody Heard At Crockett

Sterling's Achievements, Ferguson's Faults Reviewed

CROCKETT—Former Governor Ian Moody Saturday night brought his fight against the Ferguson to Crockett, where for the last two gubernatorial elections the anti-Ferguson element has been able to nose out victory by a few votes.

"The situation looks bad for Ferguson," said Judge Leroy L. Moore, head of the Houston County Sterling Club, who introduced Moody.

Judge Moore said that compared with 4,000 poll taxes paid two years ago, this year only 3,084 were paid. "Of the 1,000 shortage," said Judge Moore, "most of them represent former Ferguson voters."

Moody lost no time in launching into an analysis of what he portrayed as honest government represented by Ross Sterling as against proxy government represented by Ferguson "running in his wife's name."

Moody began his attack on Ferguson by accusing him of "putting his own branding iron" on the compliments of the Sterling administration.

"Why, Jim wants to claim the proposed amendment exempting homesteads from taxation up to an assessed value of $3,000," declared Moody.

"Don't you people know that was proposed and secured for submission as a constitutional amendment by Ross Sterling? Jim is claiming the proposal to be voted on as a constitutional amendment providing for consolidation of county offices of Tax Collector and Assessor. That is another proposal of the Sterling administration. Similarly, although Jim would have you give him the credit, it has been Sterling's accomplishment, which accounts for all truck legislation which Texas so far has enjoyed."

Danger in Tax Proposal The former governor explained what he termed the danger in the proposal by the Ferguson that one-third of the gasoline tax money now available for road building be diverted to the general revenue fund for relief from ad valorem taxation.

"It means," said Moody, "that Jim would put that money in the general revenue fund at the mercy of the Texas legislature's well-known proclivity for appropriation. Sterling would specifically divert that one-third of your gasoline money to the payment of county highway bonds and not run the dangerous gauntlet of a legislative whim."

Big Spring Post Office To Be Closed On Saturday Afternoons

Big Spring's postoffice will be closed Saturday afternoons henceforth.

Postmaster E. E. Fahrnkamp said Monday afternoon that such action, which already has been taken in most first class offices, was made necessary by the new economy bill providing a one-month furlough each year for employees coupled with the 44-hour law which became effective last year.

Since the 44-hour law has been in effect Mr. Fahrnkamp has succeeded in keeping the office open all day Saturdays and still have employees work only 44 hours per week. The 44-hour law provides that employees shall be released from work

Substitute Prepared By Sen. Wagner

Garner's Contention For Loans To Individuals Causes Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Carrying out a threat, President Hoover Monday vetoed the Wagner-Garner relief measure. A message running more than two thousand words was placed in the hands of newspaper men at the White House fifteen minutes after the measure reached the president.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The $2,122,000,000 unemployment relief bill was sent to the White House Monday with the signatures of Vice-president Curtis and Speaker Garner. Senator Wagner of New York had prepared a substitute to be introduced as soon as the president's veto was received.

President Hoover's objection to the present measure was the provision for loans to individuals of the funds given the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

This issue is expected to figure in the presidential campaign, some Democrats taking the attitude that the president prevented financial relief to individuals.

Where There Is No Vision The People Perish
By Rev. Gill Robb Wilson

THE FOUNDING of a republican form of government by our forefathers was hailed as new times in the affairs of men. The idea that democracy would work was based upon the fundamental premise that citizens had intelligent interest in, and intelligent understanding of the functions of their own government.

With the passing of time our population increased rapidly and government became as far removed from the people as ever it had been in the days of the Bourbons. Powers and influences were born and exerted by individuals and sources which were unscrupulous and undisciplined in the traditions of the nation or in the political philosophy of its founders. Bureaucracy and corruption in the government, and degeneration in the social institutions of the country ensued. Almost anybody with an idea that seemed romantic or idealistic could get a hearing. Facts and reason appear to have no bearing. Reformers picked out pet hobbies and riding them, tilted against the very forces that made their life, liberty and pursuit of happiness possible.

To some of them peace or what they called peace became the most desirable of all human reforms. This peace they have gone about securing not through the training of human hearts to devotion and Christlikeness, but through the use of political propaganda. They beamed the use of the old-time diplomacy but are willing to guarantee the future peace of the world on a new diplomacy of their own making.

Their suggestions range anywhere from disarmament to dismemberment and if you want to find a headstrong, arbitrary individual anywhere just look up a militant pacifist. He can talk louder and longer than any prophet that ever lived. No nation can survive without the police force which is inherent in its military services.

That individual who would not defend his honor under just provocation, who would not defend the honor of his women and the safety of his children under any provocation is not worthy to be called a man, let alone an American and that individual who does not realize that in this world of trouble and sorrow, he will sooner or later have to defend both his own honor and the chastity of his dependents, is a fool.

I think that sometimes the American Legion and other organizations may be taunted and driven into a little over-emphasis on matters of self-defense, but I prefer this kind of enthusiasm to the cynical beratings of their detractors. If, in the realm of morality, I must sin, let my sin be over-enthusiasm for the land of my fathers and the standards of my nation.

And so, let me stand up to be counted as one who thinks that it is worth while to train the American man to be what his forefathers dreamed he always would be—just that!

TODAY and TOMORROW

By WALTER LIPPMANN
The Debate About Public Works

In his criticism of the President's public works program ex-Governor Smith said that "the main thing overlooked by the President is the need of finding immediate productive employment for millions of people." I do not suppose that Mr. Smith meant to be as unfair to Mr. Hoover as these words, taken literally, appear. For whatever else may be said about Mr. Hoover, however, much one may disagree with his policies, it can not be said that he has overlooked the need of restoring employment. Mr. Hoover's concern with the problem has been quite as sincere and his efforts to deal with it quite as persistent as those of any man living.

The question of ways and means can best be debated, therefore, by assuming that the only differences among responsible men arise out of differences of judgment in a matter where there is no certain knowledge based upon tested experience.

Ex-Governor Smith's statement is founded on the assumption that a large public works program can produce "immediate productive employment for millions of people." Those who differ with him, and they include Mr. Owen D. Young, Senator Robinson and the President, do not believe that any public works program conceivable can provide enough work to make any important impression upon the existing volume of unemployment. They start from the fundamental assumption that the only way in which jobs can be provided for millions is through a recovery of business. Only in business are there enough potential jobs for the unemployed workers. Therefore, the test of every program is whether it will promote or retard the resumption of private business. The government can not itself provide the jobs which private business is now providing.

Thus, Mr. Hoover can not be substantially wrong when he points out that the proposed subsidy of $132,000,000 for state highways construction would provide direct employment for 35,000 men and indirect employment for perhaps 20,000 more. This would mean that it requires about $2,500 of public money to employ a man for as long as it takes to build a highway. On ordinary bonds and stocks, are hoarding money or keeping it in short-term notes. If the time is ripe, and judged by the extent of the deflation, we are entitled to assume that it is, a program of this sort might help to move the financial machine off dead center.

If it is to do that, the financial community ought to make an effort to help. It ought not to give way to gloomy forebodings because the plan is somewhat unorthodox. For in the last analysis, if the Young-Robinson-Hoover plan is not adopted, something much more drastic, something much more contemptuous of "fine spun theories of financing" will certainly be substituted for it.

The financial community will be short-sighted indeed if it tries to stand apart and oppose any positive effort to start things going. It will have seriously misunderstood the temper of the country.

PETROLEUM CLUB
Mrs. Mitchell Groves will entertain the members of the Petroleum Bridge Club Thursday at her home instead of Mrs. W. H. Hardy.

That is a principal reason why the Young-Robinson-Hoover program has as its essential principle that the public credit should be extended only to self-liquidating projects. The theory is that if municipalities, states, or private corporations can offer bonds which are self-sustaining, the government could underwrite them without actually being forced to sell a large issue of new bonds of its own to compete with its existing obligations. The plan, if it works at all, should result in issues of local and corporate bonds which the investing public would be glad to buy.

If the plan worked, the Federal Government would, of course, have pledged its credit, that is to say, its power to tax, but it would not actually need to sell its own long-term bonds or add new burdens to the budget. Such a scheme if intelligently administered and if intelligently supported will by the financial community, should not impair the national credit or by increasing taxes add to the overhead costs of business.

The scheme limited in this fashion is, of course, open to the criticism that it will not accomplish much. That remains to be proved. Its great merit is that it may, if the time is ripe, inaugurate a resumption of private investment by those who, lacking confidence in

In this High-pressure Age smokers want a Milder Cigarette

WE LIVE in a fast-moving age. We work harder... play harder... travel quicker. And we smoke more cigarettes.

But there's this about it: They have got to be milder today. In this high-pressure age, smokers don't like strong cigarettes.

About four miles of warehouses are filled with mild, ripe, Domestic tobaccos, stored away to age for two years to make them mild and mellow for CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes.

To make sure that CHESTERFIELD is a milder cigarette, the greater part of 90 million dollars is invested in the tobaccos used in CHESTERFIELD. These tobaccos are "Cross-Blended."

This "Welding" Together—or "Cross-Blending"—permits every kind of tobacco used in the CHESTERFIELD blend to partake of the best qualities of every other type. It's the same principle that Burbank used in crossing different fruits to make a still better fruit.

CHESTERFIELDS are milder... never harsh... and that's why, in this high-pressure age, more smokers, men and women, are changing to CHESTERFIELDS every day.

Payne Hurls 9-2 Victory

Cosden Beaten; Page Leads Barrage With Bat Pap Payne went back to his Tigers Sunday and regained his lost stride. Not only did the veteran Big Spring sand lotter pitch masterful ball, but he led the hitting attack that gave Tigers a 9-2 win off Cosden. No one knows how many straight wins Old Pap has pitched for the Tigers this season, but however long it was, it now has another name added. He easily set the Old-er hitters down with four safeties, most of which were bunched in the seventh. Subduing the Cosdenites with his arm was not enough. Payne connected for four safeties in four times at bat, one of which was a home run. R. Cruz gave warning of what was to follow when he sent the first ball pitched by Potter spiraling out of the lot for a home run. Two more runs were added in the Tigers' half of the first inning. They added one in the second and then started the slaughter in the eighth with five tallies. Had it not been for Dean's great catch, Cruz, too, would have had a perfect day. As it was he took three for four. Score by innings: Cosden.....000 000 300 Tigers.....210 000 000 Batteries—Cosden, Potter and Morton. Tigers, Payne and Fiero.

Forsan Loses Here 8 To 3

Madison Uses Number Of Conkoma Boys On Local Nine Conkoma, presumably playing ineptly, lambasted Forsan here Sunday on the West Third diamond, 8-3. However, Big Spring got the credit for the win, for it was her name that the Reids and Walkers, and Crainers played under. Lois Madison, manager of the local nine, sacrificed a little strictly local patriotism for efficiency and the move had a telling effect. Long Tall William Brown, supposedly of Conkoma but now of Stanton, showed some puzzling stunts to strike at.

After getting off to a shaky start when Forsan's head-up base runner put the whole Big Spring infield in a flat spin, Brown settled down and with renewed confidence stopped serving hits. He struck out seven men and figured in one double play. Only his wildness marred his record. He walked five men. There was no heavy hitting. The longest blow of the day went for only two bases, and Bishop, rangy third baseman for Big Spring, was behind the bat that hit it. Other hits were mostly of the scratch single type, some few going for a clean one base hit. The fact that only two earned runs were made during the entire game tells a story within itself. Errors, slick base running, and listless plays figured in the drab affair. Forsan scored two runs on hit and run plays when Sain was slow in pegging home twice. A large crowd which gathered to see the Tigers-Cosden clash, remained to see Big Spring and Forsan have it out.

Summary—Two base hits, Bishop, stolen base, L. Walker, Bishop, B. Hinds 2, Tate, Hale, J. D. Hinds, Passed balls, J. Walker, J. D. Hinds 2, Double plays, Brown to H. Reid, Cook to Hutto. Left on bases, Big Spring 5, Forsan 4. Earned runs, Big Spring 2, struck out, by Brown 7, Walden 2, Cramer 2. Bases on balls, Walden 2, Cramer 1, Brown 5. Hit by pitcher, Bishop by Walden, Hutto by Yalden. Losing pitcher, Walden. Time of game, 2:03.

Indians Lose In 18 Innings

18 To 17 Game Marked By 58 Base Hits; Foxx Gets Three Homers CLEVELAND — Cleveland and Philadelphia battled wildly and stubbornly Sunday for 18 innings—two full regulation games—before Jimmy Foxx crossed the plate with the run that gave the Athletics a hard-earned 18 to 17 victory. Fifty-eight base hits rattled off the offerings of five pitchers, three of them home runs by Foxx and one a home run by Earl Averill. The game was won and lost a half dozen times, according to normal standards of baseball. The most notable occasion was in the ninth inning, when Ed Morgan, Cleveland first sacker, allowed Dykes' easy roller to go between his legs. The error snatched victory from the Tribe, which was leading 14 to 13, with two men out. As it was, Simmons walked and the irresponsible Foxx then singled to score both runners and keep the A's in the running. Foxx hit homers Nos. 31, 32 and 33, batting in eight runs, scored the winning run and played hobb generally with the Indians. Johnny Burnett, Indian shortstop, was the Tribe's spark plug, running out nine hits, two for extra bases, in a perfect day. As it was he took three for four. Score by innings: Cosden.....000 000 300 Tigers.....210 000 000 Batteries—Cosden, Potter and Morton. Tigers, Payne and Fiero.

That's where advertising stands today. In the minds of consumers it is a familiar and necessary source of information. Mr. and Mrs. Public today are thoughtful enough to realize that because advertising makes mass production possible, by creating a larger volume of sales, it results in lower prices and better quality.

Business men seeking a fair share of "her" and "his" patronage, recognize the importance of carrying on an adequate advertising program. Business is built through sales. Sales are made, first of all, in the minds of buyers... and that is possible, on a large scale, only by means of modern advertising.

Gov. Sterling Talks Before Men's Class

Senator Pollard Says Hecklers At Tyler Mostly Intoxicated

TYLER, Texas.—Governor Ross Sterling preached a lay sermon here Sunday morning to the Methodist men's Sunday school class of 200 members, said to be the largest in East Texas.

He was invited to address the class Saturday night, when he spoke to an East Texas multitude in behalf of his candidacy for re-election. He changed his plans to accept the invitation.

Galloway Calhoun, former first assistant attorney general, who introduced the governor Saturday night, also presented him to the class as "a splendid Christian gentleman, and a member of the Christian church." Mr. Calhoun is teacher of the class.

"Men do not really work out their own destiny," began the governor. "A guiding hand controls. The chief executive naturally has a great burden placed upon him. Many difficult questions are thrust upon him for decision, and he must look to divine guidance if he would really succeed."

"We are going through a period that tests men's souls. Many have not been able to stand the strain, and have given up. I think, simply because they have not tried to trust in the Almighty. We must trust in the Lord and He will carry us through."

"I need your prayers," he concluded, "and ask that you pray for me."

Sunday morning comments upon Governor Sterling's campaign speech here revealed a favorable reaction.

"With 2,500 new voters brought into Smith county by oil since the last election, I was somewhat doubtful of the outcome of Governor Sterling's candidacy for re-election," said Senator Tom Pollard of Tyler. "But I believe that speech put him over in this county. It was a wonderful campaign address and made many votes."

Senator Pollard said he had left the platform and mingled among the crowd after the heckling began Saturday night, to see who was doing it.

"I found that most of the disturbers were drunk," he added, "and I don't think a one of them had paid his poll tax."

Governor Sterling will address a North Texas rally at Dallas Monday night. His speech will be broadcast by Station WFAA.

QUESTION

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) ance companies and owners of city skyscrapers; but would relieve the average man not more than $1 on the $1,000 valuation. The assumption of road bonds, however, would relieve the people of Taylor county of something like $4 on the $1,000, and to the citizens of Fisher and Haskell counties, for instance, something in the neighborhood of $10 on the $1,000 valuation of property.

"Inasmuch as the gasoline tax is a sales tax, I believe it manifestly unfair to place the burden of supporting the general revenues of the state upon the people who operate automobiles and trucks, 95 per cent of whom may be classed as comparatively poor people.

"Let it be remembered that the Ferguson plan is to divide the $30,000,000 derived from the gasoline tax into three equal parts, to go to the schools, general revenues and the highway department. Under his plan there is no provision for relieving the counties of the unjust burden of paying off road bonds, and that is the tax that is really burdensome to the people of Texas. It is the universal demand of the people that public expenditures be curtailed and taxes be reduced. If $10,000,000 is placed in the general fund for the gasoline tax, it will be an invitation to the legislature for new and extravagant appropriations and the men and women of this state would be left to sweat and groan under the unjust burden of not only carrying their present bonded debt, but helping support new and non-essential enterprises."

Reply to Ferguson

In response to the charge of Jas. E. Ferguson that the highway department is $100,000,000 short, Judge Ely said: "The charge is so ridiculous that I hesitate to notice it. It is well known that the highway department is probably the best organized and certainly one of the most efficient branches of the state government. No money is paid to the department directly. It is paid into the state treasury and paid out by the state treasurer on warrants drawn by the department and audited by the comptroller. The books are open to the public. There has not been one cent that cannot be accounted for, and every dollar spent by the department has gone into the maintenance and construction of state highways. The department has on hand, for the purpose of meeting the estimates of contractors, more than $13,000,000."

"The only waste and extravagance that I ever heard of that could be charged to any highway department was that department under the control of Jas. E. Ferguson during the years 1925 and 1926, when federal aid was withdrawn from Texas and where contracts were so obvious to public denunciation that numerous Texas cities set them aside after hearing the evidence. It may be said in passing that that particular highway department was short $100 million in January 1927, and that the poor laborers working on the highways of Texas had gone for three months without receiving a pay check. Jim Ferguson's charge of shortsightedness against the present highway commission is ludicrous."

These revival services will continue for at least two weeks and the public is cordially invited to attend.

National Drive To Sell Cotton Mattresses Opens

STAMFORD—A plan to get increased consumption of cotton by getting mattress manufacturers to put on a nationwide selling campaign on cotton mattresses suggested by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is being considered by the Department of Commerce, Washington.

Wilbur C. Hawk, president of the regional organization, made the suggestion to the department, and has been advised by Edward T. Pickard, chief of the textile division of the department that the plan has merit and has been submitted to several important mattress producers.

Hawk pointed out in his suggestion that the average cotton mattress consumes around forty to fifty pounds of cotton, and that there are around seventy million mattresses in use, many of which need replacement. He suggested that the manufacturers stage a united selling campaign on cotton mattresses at low prices in an effort to increase the consumption of cotton, believing a ten per cent replacement would result favorably in increased demand for cotton.

JACKET DRESS FOR SCHOOLGIRL PATTERN NO. 721

This is a school dress that's not just another school dress. It has a jaunty jacket that transforms it into a complete street costume. And because two jackets are better than one, make up one jacket of the dress fabric, and another of the trimming material. Have a bright blue crepe frock with a white plique top and jacket and another jacket of the crepe frock fabric, for example. Reverse the color combination for the coat collar, of course.

For day-in and day-out wear, wool crepe is pretty and practical. For dressing up, silk crepe is smarter.

Designed in sizes, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 requires 4 1/4 yards of 36-inch material or 3 3/4 yards of 39-inch material. For contrasting for trimming 5-8 yard of 39-inch material. For contrasting for trimmings 5-8 yard of 39-inch material or 39-inch material for all sizes.

Simplified illustrated instructions for cutting and sewing are included with each pattern. They give complete directions for making these dresses.

All you have to do to obtain a pattern of this attractive model is to send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins.

Kindly be sure to write very plainly on each pattern ordered your NAME and ADDRESS and SIZE.

New Fashion Magazine check full of the latest Paris style news, together with color supplement, can now be had at ten cents when ordered with a pattern and fifteen cents when ordered separately.

While much state building has been delayed on account of hard times and the stringent efforts required to get the budget balanced, the improvements which have been made have included:

Additional unit off hospital for insane.
Children's ward for tubercular sanitarium.
Psychopathic hospital.
Enlarging feeble-minded school.

Most of these provide more facilities for dealing with afflictions and disease in their incipency, thus doing more to prevent or to head off and cure afflictions that otherwise would make life-time wards for the state.

The state highway commission this month announced a policy that it actually had put into effect two months earlier—that of building state highways without calling on the counties for further local bond issues, based on leaving against property, or without additional "county aid," except the money previously provided for the projects.

The commission has in numerous instances where counties had voted bonds for highway purposes, but had not found a satisfactory market for the bonds, permitted the placing of the bonds themselves in escrow, pending sale, rather than compelling as to put up the cash proceeds for the work.

For two decades, the attorney general's department has used small quarters on the south side of the state capitol. Now, with the Waiton state office building in the north side, and Attorney General James V. Alfred's department staff is just moving into quarters that are for the first time in years adequate to its size and the volume of its work.

Panthers Win With Barrage During Third

Every Indian Gets A Hit In 13 To 4 Victory Over Exports

TYLER—The Fort Worth Panthers scored six runs in the third inning on four doubles a single and a home run to defeat the Tyler Sports, 8 to 7, here Sunday. Ten two-baggers were hit during the contest, seven by the Cats.

Hollister was the victim of the Fort Worth attack in the third round, being driven from the mound by Biggs, who relieved him, allowed four hits and two runs in five and two-thirds innings. Hubbell pitched the ninth, yielding no hits.

Whitworth went the rout for Fort Worth and was touched for 14 hits.

SAN ANTONIO—Every Indian got a hit and all but one scored a run as they defeated the Beaumont Exporters, 13 to 4, in the final game of the series on the home lot Sunday afternoon, this being their second victory over the Shippers in the second half of the season, the Tribe being the only club to beat the Exporters in the 13 games so far played.

The Tribe began hitting Art Herring in the second round and shelled him from the hill in the fourth by scoring six runs on four hits, including a home run by Menley with two mates aboard, when Sullivan relieved him, but unable to stem the tide as Fitzgerald gauged his southpaw slants for a homer in the fifth.

CINCINNATI—Cincinnati's Reds emerged into the daylight after more than a month in the cellar by winning a double-header Sunday from New York Giants, 6 to 4 and 4 to 2.

The Reds pushed the crippled New Yorkers into last place with a combination of bunched hits, good pitching and an exceedingly tight defense.

Owen Carroll and Adolfo Luque engaged in a pitching battle in the second game until the eighth inning, when Reds bunched a base on balls and three straight singles to score the winning two runs. Luque was relieved by Herman Bell,
