MOVES FROM EL PASO

Cecil Thompson of El Paso has moved to Big Spring to make his home. He will be joined here Friday by his wife and little daughter, and will make their home at 1611 Main street.

Home Talk by Betty

It is our opinion that Howard county presently will be offered good roads in four directions across the county provided it will furnish the right-of-way.

If Howard county whose county government is in better financial condition than any in this section of Texas, if not in the entire state, can not provide right-of-way she may as well consider that she really wants to continue to suffer from antiquated roads.

The people of the county should and it is our prediction that they will, demand that any such offers from the state highway department, be "taken up".

Tuesday's announcement that the highway commission had adopted as a policy the practice of not requiring counties to pay part of the cost of building roads, is not surprising.

The fact is, Howard was one of the first counties to be offered a good road in return for right-of-way only and soon a contract will be let for building No. 9 from here to the Glascock county line.

The people of Texas should be thankful that more unjust criticism than any governmental department ever was. The fact is that our highway commission under the present regime has been the most valuable we have ever had, and the people of West Texas particularly have gotten their just deserts before the commission.

If W. R. Ely did not have plenty of courage and if he had not been honest and sincere in his efforts he would either have resigned or been forced off the commission long ago by some of the very people he has sought to aid most.

Howard county should appreciate that friendly interest and a sympathetic attitude on the part of the commission toward this county has been maintained. Because we are due soon to benefit thereby.

Ewing Thomason To Speak Tonight For Second Term

R. Ewing Thomason, congressman from this, the 15th district, who returned to his home state Tuesday from Washington to begin a brief but aggressive campaign for election to a second term, will appear before voters of Big Spring this evening beginning at 8 o'clock at the court house.

Mr. Thomason was elected two years ago when Claude Hudspeth, veteran representative of this district, retired. Mr. Thomason's district is the largest in the country, extending from El Paso, his home town, eastward to include Mitchell county and embracing counties south and southeast of the tier in which Howard is located along the border to include Brewster and Val Verde county.

Mr. Thomason is personally acquainted with many of the voters here through frequent visits over a period of years. He was mayor of El Paso two terms prior to election to congress. Formerly a member of the state legislature, he served on session as speaker of the house and in 1920 made a strong race for governor.

Mr. Thomason had intended returning to the district last week, but remained in the capital to join in further consideration of relief legislation. He spoke in Colorado Tuesday evening and was to speak in Stanton this afternoon.

Big Spring Pastor Swims Guadalupe When Car Is Lost

Rev. D. R. Lindley, pastor of the First Christian church, returned home Tuesday night after four harrowing days in the flooded region along the Guadalupe river near San Antonio.

Among his experiences was that of having a car in which he was being pulled across a bridge over which water was flowing washed into the stream. Mr. Lindley jumped out of the vehicle and swam across the river to rejoin 90 young people whom he had in charge at a Christian Young People's Conference.

He had gotten across to the north side of the river with a team. After having sent messages to relatives of the young people he was attempting to return to them when the strong current carried the mules and the small car they were pulling down the stream. He negotiated the stream successfully and after traveling far down the river to near San Antonio cars of the party were towed across a concrete bridge by state trucks.

For four days the group was cut off from all communications from the outside and had to carefully ration rations to make supplies last until they could leave. Mr. Lindley said he had been in the wake of two tornadoes but that destruction left by them could not be compared to that inflicted by floods along the Guadalupe, Frio and Nueces rivers in the past few days.

When water receded at once bridge on the Guadalupe a great hole, cut out by a whirlpool formed around piled-up concrete road paving, was found where the highway had been. A small house could have been hidden in the place, he declared. Many automobiles and other vehicles were found lodged among trees and many trees of one to two yards in circumference were uprooted and carried along by the flood at a terrific rate, he added.

Mr. Lindley returned to San Antonio Wednesday for some of the young people who were delayed by automobile trouble.

Pastor Jumps To Safety When Tabernacle Burns

WACO, (UP)—The Rev. A. Reilly Copeland, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church of Waco, saved himself from possible death early today when he jumped 15 feet from a window of his study to escape fire which had engulfed the church building.

Flood Forces Evacuation Of Tilden, Texas

Small McMullen County Town Inundated As Waters Near Gulf

SAN ANTONIO—The 300 residents of Tilden, county seat of McMullen county, 70 miles south of San Antonio, fled to nearby ground for safety late Tuesday when flood waters of the Frio river spread over the little town.

Tilden is about a mile from the river. Never before had flood waters reached the town proper. According to telephone reports from Calihan, 15 miles east of Tilden, every resident of the county seat had evacuated. Among the last to leave was Lewis Wheeler, hotel man and owner of the town's only telephone, who remained until water had risen three or four feet in the office.

All Houses Deserted

Wheeler informed the operator at Calihan that every store and residence in Tilden had been deserted by 2 p. m. Water was reported standing several feet in practically all buildings.

The Frio river flood had wrought much destruction farther west, particularly at Fowlerston, where the water was reported several feet deep in the main part of the town. It was presumed residents of Fowlerston sought safety in the hills. The town could not be reached by telephone.

Rampaging north of Los Angeles, in La Salle county, the Frio caused heavy losses. A number of ranch houses which had been standing 25 to 40 years washed away. The entire herd of goats belonging to Robert Sutton in that section were drowned in a pen. The Mexican herder escaping by staying in a tree all night and swimming out next morning to the Chenoweth ranch.

The crest of the rise on the Nueces river passed Carrizo Springs Monday and was nearing Cotulla Tuesday. Cattlemen were getting their stock out of the bottom lands.

At Carrizo Springs the Nueces rose to about 30 feet. Considerable live stock was drowned. It was estimated that in the vicinity of Carrizo Springs the damage from the flood would exceed $50,000, of which $30,000 was damage done to highway number 4, which was washed out in several places.

Two Bodies Found

The bodies of two victims of swollen streams were recovered today. One was that of Charles L. Greiner, 45, a hitch hiker, drowned in an attempt to rescue a youth marooned in a tree at Kerrville. The other was the body of Toribio Alvarez of Uvalde drowned in the Frio river near Knippa while attempting to find the body of Jesus Osuna, also drowned.

The body of an infant found on the edge of the river near Crystal City was identified as that of a Mexican child, son of a family which was camped near the stream. The father had been working on a farm nearby.

While the Frio was sweeping toward Three Rivers where it joins the flooded Nueces, threatening possible serious damage to that town and surrounding country, the Guadalupe, which wrought much devastation in the hill country, was overflowing southeast of Gonzales.

The levee on H-S dam near Gonzales gave way before the flood late yesterday, despite frantic efforts of a crew of men to hold it. The levee of another dam was washed out near Gonzales. The overflow waters from the dams flooded many thousands of acres of lowlands and destroyed much cotton and corn.

Senate Would Feed Vets Enroute To Their Homes

Higher Postal Charges Now Are Effective

All letters mailed in Big Spring for out-of-town or local delivery must bear three cents postage now, E. E. Fahrenkamp, postmaster, said Wednesday. Airmail letters must carry eight cents postage.

New first class rates created by a congressional act went into effect Wednesday. Registry rate changes took effect July 1.

Additional ounces on first class mail will take three cents per ounce, while the charge on air mail will be thirteen cents for each ounce above the first two.

Drop letter rulings do not apply to Big Spring. Drop letters, or letters mailed in a town with no city delivery for delivery in the same town, formerly took one cent. Big Spring has city delivery, hence the drop letter provision is not effective.

Postal cards still may be sent for one cent. Postmaster Fahrenkamp said the local office had not received a supply of the new three-cent stamp due to the pressing demand for the stamps. However he expects them any day. He said letters mailed from here now could be handled with two cent plus one cent stamp.

The new registry rates show a marked increase over the old. Formerly a fifteen-cent charge was fixed for pieces valued up to $50. Now the scale runs as follows: fifteen cents up to $5, eighteen cents from $5 to $25, twenty cents from $25 to $50, thirty cents from $50 to $100, forty cents $100 to $200, and 50 cents up until the rate is one dollar per $1,000.

Articles valued at more than $1,000 will be assessed additional charges on the zone provision, that according to distance sent, Postmaster Fahrenkamp said.

Breach Upon Relief Plan Still Exists

Garner Says Conference To Be Recommended; Rainey Says 'Pass It'

WASHINGTON (UP)—A two-hour conference between President Hoover and senate and house leaders on the $2,122,000 Wagner-Garner relief bill broke up Wednesday with the breach still existing between the legislative and executive branches of the government.

Speaker Garner said the conference and the president were "virtually in agreement" upon all points in the huge measure excepting the section dealing with loans to individuals. The president has remained adamant in his opposition to this.

Garner said the next step would be to call the senate and house conferees into a meeting and discuss the measure "in the light of conference we held here today and last night."

Democratic Leader Rainey was more emphatic in his stand. "We're going ahead with the bill as it is. If he wants to veto it he can," said Rainey. Asked what points were in disagreement he said "we could not agree on anything."

Lewis Released On $750 Bond

E. M. Lewis, local sandwich stand proprietor, was released Wednesday on a $750 bond on a charge of assault with intent to murder. Lewis was held in connection with a difficulty of Monday. He was patently beaten and Tex Nelson seriously cut. Nelson is now confined to a local hospital.

Justice of the Peace Cecil Collins bound Lewis over for action of the 32nd special district court grand jury in September after an examining trial Tuesday. Officers said it was possible that charges would be preferred against Nelson on his discharge from the hospital.

Local Effect Of New Policy Being Studied

Observers Here Believe County Soon To Benefit Directly

Effect in Howard county of the state highway commission's new policy of not requiring counties to furnish part of the cost of constructing state roads was being discussed here Wednesday.

The commission has for several months been changing the old policy of requiring one-half or one-third of the cost to be paid by counties. One of the first instances in which it made such a proposition to a county was to Howard, when Judge W. R. Ely, commission chairman, offered to build highway No. 9 from Big Spring to southward to the Glascock county line to join paving to be built across the corner of Glascock provided the county commissioners court would furnish right-of-way.

To this offer was appended a provision that the county also provide the sites for over-passes of the Texas & Pacific right-of-way on Highway No. 1 east of Coahoma and west of Big Spring.

The commissioners court promptly accepted the proposal and field notes of the survey for No. 9 south of town now are being compiled.

A few weeks later the commission entered an order proposing to build No. 9 through Howard and Dawson counties provided the counties would give right-of-way.

The Howard county commissioners court notified the highway department it was not interested at this time in buying right-of-way for No. 9 north of here and the department also advised that with the section south of town and the No. 1 overpasses as a separate project from the north section of No. 9.

The commissioners court declared it did not have funds on hand or in sight for the remainder of this year to buy the right-of-way north of here.

Figuring in the matter was the inevitable question of locating the road.

The highway department is unwilling to be tied to any specific location until assured by the county the right-of-way will be provided for any route adopted following a survey of all probable routes.

No. 1 Next?

With the announcement of Tuesday that henceforth counties will be asked to pay nothing on the cost of highway construction, Big Spring men who are acquainted with the attitude of highway officials were of the opinion that the way had been opened for improvement of Highway No. 1, in Howard county, as well as No. 9.

The statement of Tuesday was taken to mean counties would be asked to provide nothing except right-of-way.

Resolution Urges Appropriation For Purpose

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate resolution to provide transportation and subsistence costs for the return home of thousands of bonus marchers now in Washington was approved Wednesday by the house ways and means committee.

P-T. A. To Hold Sale Saturday

Members of the south Ward Parent-Teacher association are making arrangements for a sale to be held Saturday by which they plan to increase the amount in the treasury of that organization.

A majority of the local grocersmen are to co-operate in this event by which the P-T. A. will profit financially.

Mrs. Jess Slaughter, finance chairman, has announced that members will be in each of the grocery stores Saturday to sell the full line of Kellogg cereals. In addition to a guaranteed sum which the organization will receive the cereal manufacturer is offering two bonuses.

The first of these will go to the group as a whole for reaching a specified quota on the sale of all Kellogg products. The other bonus is to be paid to the individual in whose store the largest number of Kellogg Corn Flakes is purchased.

The plan, accepted by the local P-T. A., is a continuation of a plan started some months ago in the east. The Kellogg company has appropriated a sum of money which is to go to different women's and girls' organizations in the country for this and similar kinds of work. Through the appropriation the local group will benefit and officials have asked the co-operation of the housewives in the city in buying cereals on Saturday so that the girls may be benefited.

Doherty Sues K. C. Star For 42 Millions

CITIES SERVICE ALSO ASKS DAMAGES AS RESULT OF 'CRUSADE'

KANSAS CITY (UP)—Suits asking damages aggregating $42,000,000 were filed Wednesday against the Kansas City Star and its executives by Henry L. Doherty personally and the Cities Service Gas Company.

Doherty's suit asking six million dollars for actual damage, and six million punitive damages was filed in the district court at Topeka, Shawnee county, Kansas. Cities Service filed in Jackson county, Missouri.

In a statement Doherty indicated other actions were to follow. The Star conducted an editorial campaign for many months for lower gas rates in Missouri and Kansas.

Man Who Started Race On $2 Beats Wealthy Opponent In Primary

RALEIGH, N. C. (UP)—Robert H. Reynolds who started his campaign for the democratic senatorial nomination on a wet platform and with $2 cash, has defeated the millionaire, Cameron Morrison, who ran as an ardent dry, by more than 100,000 votes.

Returns from 1,864 of the state's 1,825 precincts gave Reynolds a lead of 104,000, the largest majority ever given a candidate for a major office in a North Carolina primary.

The vote: Reynolds 220,472; Morrison 116,558.

Southwest's Fliers Ahead Of Post, Gatty

Bad Weather Delays Landing Two Hours; Ambassador Awaits Them

BERLIN (AP)—James Mattern, Ft. Worth, and Bennett Griffin, Oklahoma City, round world fliers landed at the Templehof Aerodrome at 5:40 p. m. Wednesday (equivalent to 11:40 a. m. Eastern Standard time).

Their flying time from Harbor Grace New Foundland was a little more than eighteen hours.

They were sighted more than two hours before landing over Hanover, flight distance of less than an hour to Berlin. When they did not appear at Templehof within that time, spectators, including United States Ambassador Sackett, began to worry.

It developed that bad weather had been encountered and the fliers were compelled to go out of the way. However the pair is still two hours and fifty-five minutes ahead of the Post-Gatty time.

The Mattern-Griffin ship is the first flown by Americans to reach Berlin on a non-stop flight from the western hemisphere.

Mattern Family Circle Huddles Over Home Radio

FORT WORTH (UP)—As Jimmy Mattern soared eastward from New York today on his projected world flight, his little family circle did its best to follow his advice and "hold tight."

Huddled about a radio in their modest apartment the 55-year-old mother, a widow, the young blonde wife and Mattern's sister, Mrs. G. H. Muller of Dallas, listened intently for reports from their "grand boy."

"Be calm. Hold tight," was the message they received from Mattern this morning before he and Bennett Griffin took off for Harbor Grace.

The three women studied maps, answered calls from dozens of well-wishers and talked constantly of the flier. All however, outwardly were nervous and showed uneasiness for the safety of Mattern.

"Did I want him to make the flight," his wife said. "Am I supposed to be truthful or diplomatic? Jimmy has had the world flight bee in his bonnet ever since he was in Alaska last year with Reg Robbins. It just had to come out."

"I leave aviation to him. I don't even drive an automobile."

The mother apparently was more composed than the wife. She frequently has flown with Jimmy and is confident he will succeed.

"Jimmy always has been a boy who wanted to go out and do things," she said, "and he does them."

Roosevelt Expects Tammany Hall To Stand By Cause Of Democracy

NEW YORK (AP)—Governor Roosevelt Monday told Tammany Hall, champion of Alfred E. Smith and Mayor Walker, he felt assured that powerful organization would follow the banners of Democracy in the Roosevelt presidential campaign.

Tammany applauded the message, but otherwise gave the Roosevelt candidacy a mixed response.

The Governor telegraphed Leader John F. Curry a greeting to Tammany's tradition-laden Independence Day celebration, he said, at Tammany's request.

The Democratic party of this country, said Roosevelt, "has enrolled today against influences which are responsible by acts of commission and omission for most of our existing troubles—an enemy still controlled by those interests of personal greed which are primarily responsible for present conditions. They stand arrogant, intolerant as was the British Government 150 years ago."

Assured Tammany's Support "Yet, because we are undaunted and because we have had the vision in our great platform boldly to declare our own bill of rights and because most of all we fight in a just cause, I am confident that we will win the coming struggle, as did those who signed our Independence Declaration of so many years ago."

"I am proud to have been chosen as the standard bearer in that fight," he assured, "and the Society of Tammany will follow the banners when the cause of real Democracy is at stake."

On the bustling-draped rostrum, the applause which followed the reading of the message was joined by former Governor Smith, who was the center of a personal ovation, but who still preserved his strict silence on the Roosevelt nomination.

From the principal orator, Senator Robert F. Wagner, came words of praise both for the Roosevelt and Smith administration in New York, coupled with a laudatory sentence for Roosevelt as the party nominee.

But when a balcony spectator shouted for a few words from National Chairman James A. Farley, marshal of the victorious Roosevelt forces, there was a chorus of loud applause.

Too late for the celebration, Mayor Walker brought back from the convention a firm declaration of party loyalty.

"The convention has made its choice," said the Mayor. "I am a Democrat and, irrespective of any contingencies, I will vote the Democratic ticket, as I always have done."

His speech he would require about a week to prepare his answer to the removal charges in the hands of Governor Roosevelt and that he believed the Governor would take two weeks to decide what course to follow.

30 Pounds Of Fine Honey Taken From Howard Co. Hive

KNOTT—Who said bees won't thrive in Howard county? That question arose here the other day when Austin Walker, living four miles east of here, took 30 pounds of fine honey from one hive. He declared it was as fine as any honey he ever saw in Coleman county or eastern Tennessee, where he has resided in the past.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN PICTURES

Miss Dawes To Wed

Engaged

The engagement of Virginia Dawes (above), 19-year-old daughter of General and Mrs. Charles Dawes, to Ensign John Gardiner Tennent (below), an Annapolis graduate, has been announced.

Writes Off Debts

James Hennius, merchant of Sloan, Ia., has cancelled $75,000 in debts that had piled up on his books over a period of 14 years—to bring economic relief, he said, to his customers.

BARKLEY RALLIES DEMOCRATS

Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky is shown here as he took over temporary chairmanship of the democratic national convention from Chairman John J. Raskob of the national committee. Barkley (right) who delivered the keynote address, brought repeated cheers from the delegates by his lambasting of republicans.

Dry Candidate

Owen M. Bruner of New Jersey is a candidate for the presidential nomination on the prohibition party's ticket. The party holds its national convention in Indianapolis July 5 and 6.

THEY'RE STRONG FOR ROOSEVELT

Here are two strong supporters of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt in his race against Herbert Hoover for election as President of the United States. They are Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dahl (left) daughter of the New York executive, and Mrs. James Roosevelt (right) daughter-in-law. They were photographed at the convention in Chicago.

ADMIRERS SURROUND RITCHIE

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, an aspirant for the democratic presidential nomination, was the target of autograph seekers and admirers whenever he appeared on the convention floor. He is shown here in the midst of such a throng in the Chicago Stadium.

Too Many Speeches!

Apparently this delegate at the democratic convention was overcome by late hours and extended oratory—for he stretched out and slept toward the end of the famous all-night session.

WEALTHY YOUTH KIDNAPED

Haskell Bohn, wealthy 20-year-old St. Paul youth and latest victim of kidnapers, is shown above. Young Bohn was seized by two men who left a note demanding $35,000 ransom from his father, G. C. Bohn, refrigerator manufacturer. An uncle carried on negotiations with the abductors for the youth's return in exchange for $5,000.

SHE WILL SECOND ROOSEVELT

Eye Catcher

Betty Boyd, film actress, is wearing the new "soap bubble" silk beach pajamas that are becoming popular at Malibu Beach, Calif., playground of the Hollywood film colony.

THEY'RE RIVAL CANDIDATES

HERE IS STAMPEDE THAT WON FOR ROOSEVELT

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York was chosen overwhelmingly as the democratic nominee for the presidency. Here is the tumultuous demonstration that followed William Gibbs McAdoo's announcement that California had switched to Roosevelt. That started the bandwagon and Texas' standard soon was on the platform as other states joined in the stampede.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

CHAPTER XXXIII

Cherry drew back. "Don't Max!" she cried. "You mustn't! Oh—how could you say such things?"

"Why shouldn't I say them? They're true! I've wanted to tell you for a long time! Couldn't you guess how I cared, Cherry? Didn't you know it?"

The girl was on her feet. Pearson would have caught her to him but she pushed him away. "Don't, Max!" she insisted. "Please—"

She stood there facing him. The dark eyes seemed almost black in her suddenly pale face. There was terror and amazement written on Cherry's face.

There was silence. Then Cherry turned. "I thought you were Dan's friend," she said slowly. "I supposed you were all the things he thinks you are—loyal and honorable and—"

He stopped her. "You needn't say any more," Pearson said, rising. "I just lost my head for a few minutes. I hope you'll forget all about it—and don't worry that I'll bother you again."

Pearson's face was white, too. He stood, staring with long steps into the adjoining room.

Miserably Cherry sat before the counter, resting her chin in her hands. What a night! Who could have foreseen that the outing on which she had set forth so eagerly a few hours before could end like this?

The tears welled in Cherry's eyes. She brushed them aside, rose and went to the doorway.

Pearson was sitting on a box calmly smoking a cigarette. The youth in charge of the oil station was talking and Pearson seemed to be giving him all his attention.

Cherry went back to the counter. She could hear the rain beating a sharp tattoo on the window pane. The fire had gone out and the room was becoming cold.

It was well after midnight when the maid appeared. Pearson drew up before the office of the Wellington News. The rain had stopped at last.

Pearson was intent on his driving and the girl had no wish to divert him. Once he spoke of a noise in the mechanism of the car.

"Doesn't sound right," he said. "Well if the oil bus can get through this I guess she'll deserve a little garage attention."

Cherry listened. There was a new prospect of danger. "You don't think it's anything serious, do you?" she asked.

"Not unless it gets worse," he answered shortly. His gaze returned to the road ahead.

How different he was from the eager impetuous Max of a short time ago. Cherry, relieved, was nevertheless puzzled at the change.

"There's a telephone," he announced when he returned a few minutes later. "Do you want to come inside? I've put a call in for Dan."

A tiny corner of the garage had been walled off as an office. Inside this dreary, dimly lighted place they waited. The operator reported Dan was not at the apartment.

Five minutes later Cherry was calling eagerly. "Is that you, Dan? Oh, I'm so glad to hear your voice! No, we're not at Willow. It's the storm caught us and we missed the road. We're at a place called Scott Junction. Yes, of course, we're all right. Yes, I've worried! What? You didn't start out? Yes, dear, I'm certain that we're coming back. You'll wait at the office? All right. Wait a minute—Max wants to talk to you."

It was well after midnight when the maid appeared. Pearson drew up before the office of the Wellington News. The rain had stopped at last.

Dan Phillips pulled the door of the car open. "Cherry!" he exclaimed. "Lord, what a time you must have had!"

"Climb in," said Pearson. "I think Cherry's anxious to go home."

"That how did you lose the way?" he asked.

"I guess I was thinking about the storm and took a wrong turn," Pearson explained. "I've only driven that road twice. It was a dumb thing to do. I'll admit. Cherry's half frozen. She'd better get into some warm clothes and have something to drink."

"Come up for a while," Phillips urged. The car had stopped in front of the apartment.

"No thanks. I want to be getting on to my own place. I'll call you in the morning, Dan. Goodnight, Mrs. Phillips."

Cherry could not see Pearson's face in the darkness. She said, "Goodnight," and followed Dan up the steps.

It was so good to be home again! The little apartment had never been a more welcome sight. Cherry paused on the threshold as Dan snatched up the living room light.

"I was afraid we'd never get here," she said. "Oh, Dan, it was an awful trip!"

"Never mind about that now, honey. I was worried about you too, until your call came. Better get into some other clothes. It's there anything in the trunk to eat? All I had was a couple of sandwiches."

Cherry discarded her rumpled frock for a warm negligee. She combed out her hair and got into comfortable slippers. When she returned to the living room the fragrant odor of coffee was in the air.

"There's my bread," Cherry informed him, "and cheese and a can of sardines. Wait, you'd better let me get them."

They opened the gate table and set out their midnight lunch. It contained all the indigestible favorites. Dan had made the coffee strong. He found dill pickles and insisted on adding them to the cream. There was thick cream for the coffee and each of them drank two cups.

Cherry felt Dan's arm around her. She suggested close. "I shouldn't have gone without you," she whispered. "I'll never do it again. Oh, Dan, you don't know how frightened I was."

He didn't and he never would. Cherry was thinking of Pearson's astounding announcement.

Dan said easily. "Don't think about it, Cherry. It's all over now. But was I?"

They spent a lazy Sunday together. The day was divinely cool. They had a late breakfast and sat about the house reading the newspapers until the middle of the afternoon.

Three days of uneventful calm followed. The heat wave seemed to be definitely broken. Cherry did not see Max Pearson, tried not to think about him. She kept busy with household. Dixie Shannon was away on her vacation and Fluky the kitten was Cherry's only companion.

On Wednesday evening she prepared a dinner that was one of Dan's favorites—potato chops stuffed with dressing, broccoli and a fruit salad. She noticed with disappointment that he did not seem to be eating.

"Is there anything wrong with the chops?" she asked.

"No. They're all right." Cherry waited. After a moment she said, "You're not eating, Dan. What's the matter? Aren't you feeling well?"

"I'm feeling well enough," he assured her but he pushed back his chair. "Not hungry, I guess."

"Lord, Cherry!" he went on again in a burst of impatience. "don't you get sick of this sort of life? Aren't you fed up on it?"

"Why, Dan, what do you mean?" "The same old thing over and over. Day after day! I've had enough of it. I want to get out of this town!"

The girl was horrified. "But we can't! You don't—oh, you don't really mean what you're saying, do you?"

"Of course I mean it! What chance do I have in a town like this? I want to go to New York or Chicago. Some place where there's a little life! Where a fellow has a chance to get some place!"

Cherry said slowly. "You mean you want to go without me?" (To Be Continued)

SPORTS ON PARADE

By CURTIS BISHOP

Charley Ferguson and his crew of oil field baseball players have come, have seen, and have conquered. According to Ferguson they defeated the same club three consecutive times.

In the finals the Foran nine won over Fairview. And one of the Fairview nine was actually in the lineup, a kid named "Dub" Rogers who lives at Highway. Big Spring was represented by Lois Madison and by Fred Martin, although it is true that Martin plays for everybody and therefore owes allegiance to none.

Challenges are coming thick and fast to the Big Spring "Davids" that humbled the Wichita Falls "Goliath" in the West Texas finals, thereby earning for themselves the title of West Texas club champions.

Although Tom McCarty of Wichita Falls successfully defended his singles title the major share of the glory of the tournament goes to sixteen-year-old Joe Davis of the local squad.

One of the all-star nines submitted after the baseball tournament: 1b, Hutchison, Col-Tex; 2b, Berry, Ackerly; ss, L. Walker, Colhoun; 3b, Chapman, Fairview; c, Coffee, Foran; rf, Martin, Big Spring; cf, Cramer, Foran; lf, Madison, Big Spring; pitcher, Rose, Ackerly and W. Brown, Foran.

Average Salary Of Howard Rural School Teachers $904 Per Year; Assessed Valuations $7,528,270

When one notes only that Gay Hill school, operating on an assessed valuation of $94,870, has two teachers and an average daily attendance of 22, he does not obtain a good idea of the extent of the county school system.

But when it is revealed that there are twenty-one schools of a larger or smaller degree with assessed valuations aggregating $7,528,270 and average daily attendance of 962 with 64 teachers, it is possible to gain a fuller appreciation of rural education in Howard county.

Based on a total enrollment 1536 county school teachers receive an average annual salary of $904.84 or a grand total of $7,528,270.

In Howard county there are forty-nine elementary teachers drawing $38,800 annually. Five senior high teachers are paid $11,255, while three senior high principals and two purely administrative officers receive $7,855.

Sixty-three of the sixty-four county school employees have a certificate of some description, an assistant in the administrative department being the only person without one.

One senior high school teacher has a first grade certificate, one holds a permanent first grade, and one has a permanent, while four have a first class high school, one a permanent based on a college degree, and two permanent based on Normal School work.

Eighteen hundred dollars spent on two schools for improvements last year added a small amount to the valuation of county school property. A value of $104,993 placed on all buildings and equipment belonging to the county system is a reminder that local rural schools are making progress by leaps and bounds.

Teachers in the county school system are as seasoned as tutors in the average county, a report by Mrs. Pauline Cantrell Brigham, county superintendent, shows. Ten elementary teachers have had one year experience, eleven, two years, six, three years, four, four years, two, five years, eleven, six to ten years; and five, eleven to twenty years. One junior high teacher has had four years while another has had between eleven to twenty years.

One senior high school teacher has had two years experience, four have had from six to ten years, two have had from eleven to twenty years, and one has had more than twenty-one years of teaching experience.

Of two senior high school principals one has had three years experience and the other from eleven to twenty years. One junior high school principal has had from six to ten years. The county superintendent has had from eleven to twenty years, and her assistant four years.

It is surprising that most of the teachers have gained their experience in Howard county.

Boys outnumber girls in practically all grades and have a good margin in the aggregate. Of the 1536 enrollment 787 are boys and 749 are girls.

The margin in the elementary class is wider with 690 boys and 609 girls. Evidently boys begin to drop out when high school grades are reached.

Howard county carries three schools of one teacher, seven of two teachers, four of three, four of four, two of five and one of seven teachers. No school has a smaller range than seven grades but only one offers all eleven.

live stock was being driven from the bottom lands. The crest of the flood was expected to reach there tomorrow.

About 300 persons were homeless at Kerrville and in the vicinity as a result of the flood. These were cared for by the Red Cross and donations from individuals. The state highway department furnished coals and bedding.

Approximately 500,000 young fish were lost from the government fish hatchery on Johnson creek, about 18 miles north of Kerrville, on the Junction road, as the result of a cloudburst in that vicinity.

tions across the county at cost tremendously lower than has been possible at any time since the Texas highway department was created fifteen years ago would be an irreparable loss to the county.

It is expected that further communications between Big Spring interests and highway officials will occur within the next few days and the people of the county informed of the details of any further proposal that may be made.

Problems Of Public Schools Are Discussed

At the meeting of the Business Men's Luncheon Club Wednesday at the First Methodist basement, three visitors and a good crowd of members heard a spirited plea by W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of the city's schools for legislative support of the public school system in Texas.

Mr. Blankenship stressed that the public school system was one of the fundamentals upon which American democracy was founded and is preserved and an inheritance that every active citizen could pass onto future generations.

He informed his hearers that the offer such advantages as to make the rural schools equally attractive as the urban ones. Even now the tendency is markedly in that direction.

Consolidation, if it comes, may offer such advantages as to make the rural schools equally attractive as the urban ones. Even now the tendency is markedly in that direction.

Texas Topics

AUSTIN—Texas has within itself the means of greatly improving the value of its land and demand for its county and district bonds, issued but unsold, financial authorities have shown.

When the state takes up the $70,000,000 or more county and district bonds applied to the highway system, it will first prove to investors that the bonds are completely sound; and second will release other investment money for the purchase of other bonds.

Communications From Readers

The Herald will print communications that are acceptable to the editor. Short ones will be given preference. Authors of communications must be signed for publication. Only original communications addressed to the editor will be printed.

With his East Texas martial law sense of being one of the subjects of the campaign, Gov. Ross S. Sterling has decided to open his re-election race with his first scheduled speech in the oil area, or near it.

One of the dominant political figures in Texas political affairs of a by-gone day passed in the death of former Sen. D. A. Paulus of Hallettsville last Sunday.

His long life was an active one in public and political affairs. He held state office as long as he wanted it; and after he retired from the senate, he had an important share in guiding the political and public affairs of his region.

When the legislature last year adopted new rules for the "classified" long session, the rules resulted in side-tracking general legislation and of giving a great advantage to those seeking to push local and special legislation through.

Undoubtedly, there will be demands next January that will assure disposition of the appropriation bills and general matters rather than to let hundreds of important bills die unconsidered because game and fee bills and road laws had taken up time of the session.

Attitude Toward Utilities, Railroads Given By Goodman

James H. Goodman of Lubbock, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the state senate from this, the 30th district, has asked that the following statement, from the statement announcing his candidacy, be published for the purpose of clarifying a published report of the address he delivered here last week:

"Utilities should be subject to regulation for the protection of the public interest. The rates of utilities should make a reasonable return on the fair value of their investment, but not to take care of watered stocks and bonds."

In a letter to The Herald Mr. Goodman says that "since railroads were mentioned in the report of my speech there I will definitely state my stand to you in regard to their position. They are the backbone of our transportation system. While trucks and buses are necessary supplements, they cannot replace the railroads, they only supplement them. My relation to the railroads has been very close. My father, W. A. Goodman, was an employee of the I-G. N. at Austin from 1893 to 1916 and I served as a clerk over a period of six to seven years on three separate occasions from three to six months. It would be needless to say that I not only know their needs, but that they are the keystone in the arch of our transportation system and should be protected from the public standpoint so that they will not break down."

LONDON—Mrs. Elvira Eargney, accused of the murder of her lover, Thomas William Stephen, was acquitted by a jury Wednesday after a sensational trial. She is a daughter of Sir John Muller and the wife of an American vaudeville actor.

Miss Hubbard Wins Second

Pauline Hubbard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Hubbard, of Big Spring, won second place in the bathing beauty revue held at the Baker Hotel in Mineral Wells Monday for the purpose of choosing Miss Northwest Texas, who will receive a week's paid vacation in Mineral Wells.

Possibility that Miss Hubbard may be honored with the Mineral Wells vacation arose Wednesday when it was learned Miss Myrna Hendrix of Wichita Falls, who won first place at Mineral Wells might be unable to accept the trip to the resort city.

Miss Hubbard, a dainty blonde, and Miss Natall Baines of Odessa, of the golden blonde type, were chosen to represent their cities and this section of West Texas in the Mineral Wells revue at the Carnival of Values revue at the Settles hotel here last Thursday evening.

Other cities represented were Abilene, Albany, Cisco, Graham, Odessa and Weatherford. Judges of the contest were Col. W. E. Eastwood Jr., Dallas; Mrs. Hardy Neal, Dallas; Miss Mona Lee Spencer, Breckenridge; Millard Ochs, New York City; Harold L. Plummer, Madison, Wis., and Fred Massengill, publisher of the Terrell, Texas, Tribune.
