How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I preserve bright wood berries for decoration purposes?

A. By dipping almost any kind of bright wood berries into melted paraffin and then putting away in a cool place until needed, they may be preserved for decoration. If they are treated in this manner, they retain their brightness and shape for months.

Q. How can I treat red blotches that appear on my face from time to time?

A. A good treatment is to rinse the face for about three minutes at a time in cool water. Also, take alternate hot and cold face baths at night.

Q. How can I remove wax spots from waxed surfaces?

A. Rub in a circular motion with a flannel cloth dipped in turpentine.

Q. How can I drive away red ants?

A. Pour liquid carbolic sublimate on pieces of cotton and lay the cotton where the ants are likely to travel. Another effective remedy is alum dissolved in boiling water and applied with a brush.

Q. How can I treat mosquito bites?

A. Some people are poisoned by mosquito bites. Try rubbing the affected parts with common laundry soap, dipped in water to moisten it.

Q. How can I remove grass stains from a garment?

A. Cover the stains with lemon juice and salt, and hold over a steaming kettle. Or, rub lard on the spot, then wash with soap and cold water, and rinse well.

Q. How can I prepare flowers that are to be sent away and will be with out water for several hours?

A. Cut off the stems and tip them with sealing wax. This will keep the moisture in the stems. The sealing wax should be cut off when the flowers are put into water.

Q. How can I prevent a stove from rusting when putting it away for the summer?

A. Apply kerosene with a rag, and this will prevent rust from forming.

Q. How can I remove perspiration stains from washable clothes?

A. Soak them in strong salt water before laundering.

Q. How can I remove a stubborn splinter from the flesh?

A. Place a wide-mouthed bottle nearly full of hot water, over the splinter and press tightly. The suction will draw the flesh down and the steam will remove the splinter.

numerous islands in the Han and their job was to keep the North Koreans from increasing their holding there.

The start of Johnson's hectic Arctic-like adventure began at 7:45 the morning of January 24, 1952. He was cleaning the bilge of the small LCPL (landing craft, personnel) when his commander told him to have the ship ready to go in 15 minutes.

With a boat-load of 25 men—the ship's crew of three, Johnson, and a radio man, an army officer, English officer, South Korean officer and the remainder of the 25 men South Korean nationals, the expedition set off to secure the release to American forces of a North Korean colonel who knew the location of the Commie shore batteries.

At 8 a.m. the men left on what was anticipated to be a four or five-hour journey to pick up a prisoner. The mother ship—during the daytime—was anchored in range of the Red shore batteries on a large island named "Apple Pie" away from the mouth of the Han. The island destination was 15 miles up the Han.

Armament on the small landing craft included only twin 30 calibre machine guns and of course, all the crew and passengers were armed with automatics and tommy guns.

The force pulled up to the small island in the Han at about 9 a.m. The approaches to the island were shallow and Johnson had to get take sounding for the craft to on the bow and use a stick to land. This approach was no more than 30 feet wide.

As the craft anchored on this island deep within Communist territory and well above the 38th parallel, the South Korean officer and his men went ashore to get the North Korean colonel.

The only inhabitants of the island—outside the soldiers—were native fishermen who gladly rowed the visitors ashore. When asked if the prisoner was on the island, they were told he was.

They were taken to the hut of the island commander, a South Korean navy man. Practically the first words he uttered to the party was a denial that the prisoner was there but had been sent to Inchon on the mainland.

A written account of the adventure and the "bargaining session" described the negotiations thusly:

"After half an hour of wrangling, during which the argument became more heated with every minute, we decided that further talk would get us nowhere and we prepared to leave. Our guerrillas, however, were not satisfied that all that could have been done had been done and they decided to try a more forceful method of persuasion. We could not argue with them as we are not able to give direct orders to these men. So we left this Korean, the island's commander, with the 10 guerrillas that had accompanied us in the boat, and while we stood outside the room, they proceeded to beat him up. His screams and yells of agony were sickening and we felt like prison guards at Dachau."

(Ed. Note—The part of the account in quotations was written by an Englishman for his hometown paper and was copied from an account provided by Johnson.)

The attempt didn't work, however, and they had to return empty-handed.

As the party was preparing to leave the island, a fierce wind came up with the temperature tumbling to 15 above zero. The small party tried vainly to leave the island, but snow began to fall and the strong winds kept blowing the craft back to the island where they had spent the past two hours in their vain attempt to secure the prisoner.

By this time, it was snowing heavily, Johnson said. When the party went back to the island, they were taken into native-grass huts and their hosts brought out GI blankets and a tin of English cigarettes and gave them two apples.

After spending about an hour and a half in the huts while they waited for the weather to slack up, they made another attempt to leave the island.

They departed at 2 p.m. on the afternoon of January 24, leaving the island on the leeward side, heading away at an angle so as not to blow back against the small island.

Traveling down the Han towards their mother ship and the sanctuary of "Apple Pie" island, the small ship encountered winds up to 30 knots and were forced to ply through swells up to 10 feet high. With the temperature at 10 or 15 degrees above zero, the splashing waves slapped against the small boat and instantly froze.

The icy deluge broke all the windows out of the landing craft and the "ice" was as thick inside as it was out," Johnson said.

"The South Koreans got sick on us and they were heaped in the corner of the ship like a pile of khaki," he recalled.

Johnson was standing next to the coxswain and scraped the ice off the windshield every time a wave engulfed the ship.

One of the 30 calibre machine guns was knocked off by the sea-vy waters of the Han driven by the high winds.

After spending two hours in the storm, the ship's crew sighted "Apple Pie" island for an instant when they were on top of a swell.

They set a compass course and steered for the home base. After following the compass course for a long time, they came to the sad realization that their compass was out of order. "Apple Pie" island could only be seen when the ship was on top of a swell.

As night came upon the adventurers, they saw another craft in the distance and couldn't tell for sure whether it was anchored or under way. They headed for it in desperation.

The ship's commander used a box of flares in signalling the ship. Johnson held four back. When they approached the vessel a little closer, he handed the officer two more flares and told him he found them. Still no recognition from the craft.

After a while again, the Hereford sailor gave the commanding officer the last two flares, which he fired. This time the ship answered their signal.

They pulled alongside the ship after a while. The craft was a mine sweeper. The crew of the ship took them in, fed and clothed them, and even entertained them.

"They held their nightly movie up for us," Johnson reminisced. "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon" was the name of it, he added.

The commander of the mine sweeper called the mother ship to come and get the weary force, but due to the weather, they declined.

The men had been listed as "missing in action" on the ship's log after their prolonged absence. It was impossible for the rescue ship to take the men to the LST because the anchor winch was frozen.

While there, the tired adventurers were given the best by the minesweeper crew. They even vacated their bunks and slept in the engine room and wheelhouse for the visitors.

Johnson recalled that he was ill-equipped—as were all the rest of the men aboard—for the harrowing ordeal they went through in the Han and China Sea. He had only dress sox, low cut shoes, dungarees and a foul-weather jacket throughout the ordeal. The entire ship carried only four life preservers. The rest of the life-jackets were "Mae Wests."

The numbing experience brought Johnson as close as he could have come to frost-bite without actually having undergone it. When Johnson returned to San Francisco and cooler weather, his fingertips began numbing as an aftermath of his frigid experience.

In contrast, Johnson was asked what he thought of the record temperatures in the Panhandle. "I'm enjoying every second of it," he assured the writer.

Johnson will be in Hereford until July 9 when he must report for duty at San Francisco's Hunter's Point. He has 17 months of service in the navy, signing up until February 1, 1955.

A boatswain's mate third class, he served in Japan as training landing ship for simulated army landings on beaches. They were also assigned to evacuate American personnel on the northernmost Japanese island of Hokkaido, which was only two miles from a Russian-held island, in case of an emergency.

Wheat Loan Rate Increase Will Go To Farmer

Deaf Smith county farmers who have wheat on loan to the Commodity Credit Corporation WILL BE GIVEN the benefit of any increase in the loan rate when they sell their grain to the government, according to Faust Collier, secretary of the Deaf Smith county FMA. Collier said the loan rate — currently $2.16 on the farm — will be adjusted on July 1 if parity increases in order to assure a 90% of parity loan value. If the loan rate is increased, that increase will be reflected when farmers who have stored their grain prior to July 1. This adjustment does not apply to farmers who have sold their wheat on the market prior to the parity boost.

Stiffening Curtains

Some women prefer to use gum arabic instead of starch for curtains. If this is done, dissolve 1 ounce of gum arabic in 1/2 pint of boiling water, strain and bottle. Be sure to keep well corked. Use 1 teaspoon of the mixture to 1 pint of cold water. Dip the curtains in this, and then stretch.

String Beans

It is claimed that string beans will cook in one half the usual time if they are cut lengthwise, instead of broken in the customary manner.

Carrying Flowers

If flowers are to be taken a distance they will keep fresh if some holes are made in a raw potato and the ends of the blossoms are stuck into the crevices.

Moths in Closet

If the clothes closet is infested with moths, saturate a cloth with formaldehyde and hang it in the closet. Close the door tightly and leave for twelve hours. The fumes will kill the moths and their eggs and will leave no odor.

Protect Stockings

Rustic furniture with the bark still on seems to persist in catching on one's best silk stockings. Much of this can be avoided if the article is given a coat of clear varnish.

Patching Wall Paper

When patching wall paper, put the patches in the sunshine and let stand until the colors have faded to match the color of the used paper.

White Dresses

To keep the white silk sport dresses snowy white wash in cold water and white suds, and dry in a dark place. If washed before they are allowed to soil very badly, it is not difficult to get the soil out with colder water.

Bamboo Rake

A bamboo rake is a good investment for the lawn. It is easier to handle than a steel rake, and its flexible prongs will remove the leaves and grass without injuring the grass.

Tar Stains

If there are tar stains on silk or worsted material, try rubbing them with alcohol.

Eggs

Eggs will not burst while boiling if one end of each egg is pricked with a needle before placing in the water. This makes an outlet for air and prevents the shell from cracking.

Accident Monday At Intersection

Damages estimated at about $800 were caused by a two-car collision at 11:40 a.m. Monday at the intersection of East 4th and Witherspoon streets.

A 1941 Buick driven by 16-year-old Terry Slack of Hereford collided with a 1946 Chevrolet coupe driven south on Witherspoon by J. L. McFarling, also of Hereford.

McFarling was slightly injured in the accident, according to Deputy Sheriff S. B. Berry, who investigated the accident. He was taken to the Deaf Smith county hospital and released after a day's observation.

Slack was charged in justice court for driving with no operator's license by Berry. He pled guilty on June 25 and was fined $15 including costs.

Life In Korea Is Described

A picture of life at a Korean air base was painted in a letter sent recently to Bill McIver from his brother, Maj. James C. McIver, who is pilot of a photo reconnaissance ship there and also operations officer.

He writes that the country is pretty rugged, very hilly and rocky. All the spots that will grow anything are under cultivation as they have been for thousands of years.

"It is hard to realize," he says, "that civilization once flourished here of a higher standard than anywhere."

Now, he said, people live along the same standards as Mexicans along the border of Texas and Mexico.

His base is in a very sandy spot surrounded by rice paddies. The wind blows and so does the sand, he commented, but that is nothing to a West Texan.

"We have many of the luxuries of life here but lack some of the essentials. We have good things to eat and even sometimes steak. But we run short of flashlight batteries at times. I have a house-boy to make my bed, but sometimes there is a shortage of bathroom tissue."

He adds, "But all in all, it's not a bad living."

Maj. McIver had World War II experience in the European Theater of Operations and completed nearly enough missions for a tour of duty. His assignment to Korea was at his own request. He is an Air Force career man, having been in for 13 years.

JOHN SAMUEL COOMBES, who has been stationed for the past year at Kinston Field, N. C., is home for a short furlough before reporting to James Conley Air base at Waco on July 7. An aviation cadet, John Samuel has been in the service a year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Coombes.

BASEBALL— Understand many of the baseball fans in the area went away a little unhappy over what they plunked down 50c for when the Dimmitt Dimwits met with the Lubbock Black Hubbers at the Vets diamond here Sunday afternoon.

The game took on the aspects of a 25-5 runaway with the Lubbers smothering the Dimmitt nine.

Most of the viewers who contacted this scribe on their ideas of the game expressed disappointment of the showing.

Which just goes to show that you can't "play down" to any crowd, regardless of how thin it is. Unless you want to back-track, you have to give 'em all your best, regardless of the gate.

SOFTBALL— Some of the stuff mentioned above is just another good reason why softball -- which we can't help harping on and beating the drums for -- has gone over so good in Hereford.

The locals give their all. And they do it without pay. They do it strictly for the recreation. That kind of competitive spirit can't be bought for a dollar.

For local sport fans, their best bet -- now as always -- is the Hereford Softball league.

Thanks to the support of the local fans, the league is in pretty solid shape financially. They have money in the bank, pay for their field and lights night by night, pay for their officials, and have their own championship trophies.

That shows how much softball has pushed Sunday afternoon ball out of the picture in Hereford.

Incidentally, the league now has three paid umpires. The umpire-in-chief behind the plate draws $5 for a double-header, the first base ump who also handles second gets $2 and the third base ump gets a dollar.

ALL-STAR CONTEST— Biggest news of the season on the softball front is the all-star game tonight (Thursday). Starting at 8 p.m., the tilt will pit the first, fourth and sixth place teams against second, third and fifth.

The managers will select outstanding players as are listed on today's Brand sport's page. These boys will participate in the nine innings of ball.

Come on out to the all-star game. See the trophies that will be given to the season winner and play-off winners. They will be on display at the ball park.

For an evening under the stars, visit the ball park for the all-star game tonight.

GOLF— Local divot-diggers can have themselves a fine time enjoying the hospitality of the Littlefield country club on Sunday next.

Forty local golfers are needed to make up a team match with the linksters to the south. So far, 20 have signed up. Twenty more are needed. See Bud Posey at the clubhouse.

Littlefield will spread a lunch for Hereford guests at 11 a.m. on Sunday and matches will start immediately after.

WRESTLING— For a while on Saturday night, there was hardly a dry eye in the Bull barn as the antics of Funk, Carlson, Gardini and Sledge rocked the house with laughter as the four attempted to get straightened out on their tag team match.

Benito Gardini, the "Little Flower" and a colorful grappler as ever hit the local ring, really blossomed Saturday night. It was hilarious. Even the combatants had a hard time keeping a straight face.

Refereeing at the Bull barn has put the fans on edge lately. It's been pathetic. We know that lots has to be done by the third man on behalf of showmanship, but some of the gross violations of common alertness arouse the

Guseman Horse Scheduled For LaMesa Action

Cecil Guseman's "Tom Saunders" is one of the 500 horses scheduled to perform during the 1952 track season at LaMesa park, pre-season publicity from the track secretary shows.

The seventh annual season at LaMesa park will open with a three-day week-end starting July 4.

There will be racing at LaMesa park every Saturday and Sunday through September 7 and also on Labor Day. Post time will be 1:15 p.m.

Purses at LaMesa in 1951 averaged $700 per race. Largest purses go with the Raton Futurity and Raton Derby at around $4,000 each.

Eight Qualify For City Meet

Sunday was the first opportunity local golfers have had to shoot their qualifying 18 for the annual city golf tournament to be held July 4, 5, and 6.

Eight have qualified up to date, with Bill Howard's 74 low for the field this far.

Names of the qualifiers and their scores are:

Earl Stagner, 78; Harold Loerwald, 82; Bill Howard, 74; Bob Tilton, 79; Joe Lowrie, 96; Dale Tinnin, 89; Ray Hardy, 86; and Bob Lindsey, 82.

Slapstick Features Tag Team Match On Saturday

High comedy in a style befitting Mack Sennett in his heyday was served up to Hereford wrestling fans in the first fall of the Dory Funk and Cowboy Carlson vs. Bill Sledge and Benito Gardini tag team main event.

The winners? Funk and Carlson, of course, and the crowd loved it.

Oh yes, there was a first match. That was between two rugged midgets, Skylo Lo of Mon-treah and Farmer Pete of Kentucky.

But the last match of the evening was the killer. It nearly broke the Bull barn at the seams as the capacity crowd roared at the zany shenanigans of colorful "Little Flower" Gardini and his crony-for-the-night, Bill Sledge.

Gardini -- who incidentally, was numbered among the losers Friday night -- proclaimed loud and long on two occasions, "I want Morelli!"

Morelli and Gardini were to have been partners for the night, but Morelli developed blood poisoning earlier in the week and had to be lifted from his Amarillo appearance on Thursday as well as in Hereford. He was in the crowd, though, and he got a bang out of the proceedings.

Gardini, who is used to the television cameras in the eastern areas, started things off by complaining because of his cool reception in the face of a tumultuous welcome given popular Cowboy Carlson and Funk, both of whom came into the ring with sombreroes and low-heeled riding boots -- a new garb for Funk.

Well, it all ended up with Funk stomping on the "Little Flower's" toe.

Once activities got underway, Carlson and Funk had Gardini and Sledge on the defensive, with neither showing too much of a desire -- for the crowd's sake -- of mixing it up with the two cowhands.

All-Star Game Tonight At 8:30

The softball classic of the year -- the All-Star game -- will unravel at 8:30 p.m. tonight at Veterans park.

Nine players and three sets of batterymen from each "half" of the league will meet in the battle of the stars tonight.

Personnel of one team will be comprised of players from Rocky's, Summerfield, and the Knight of Columbus. They will be managed by Johnny Winkler, mentor of the Rocky nine.

The other team will be made up of players from Hereford Hardware, Dawn and Lesley-Vaughn Motors.

Players were chosen for the annual mid-season tilt by managers at the park on Monday night. Each manager had three men from his named named to the All-Stars. Each player (except the batterymen) will go 4 1/2 innings.

The All-Star game will be nine innings long instead of the league's usual seven innings.

Kenny Brock and Pat Corbett, batterymen from the Lesley-Vaughn team, will start things off for the team managed by Rueben Knox. They will be relieved in three by Walt Lemons and Ed Lemons of Dawn. After six, Jim Russell, Hereford Hardware hurler, will take the hill and Ed Lemons will remain behind the bat as HH catcher. Bill Howard is in Dallas for the national Jaycee convention.

For the Winkler aggregation, David Miles and Jim Combs, Batterymen for Rocky's will start the game. They will be followed by the two Waltersheids of the KCs, Kenny on the mound and Vince behind the bat. Jack Clark and Duane Baize, representing Summerfield, will round out the battery.

Wendell Burdine, president of the Hereford Softball league, said the trophies for the season winner and playoff winner will be on display at game time Thursday.

Tentative line-ups for both teams in Thursday's game are:

both worked over the dangerous duo. Cowboy had Sledge in the ropes of his "Flying Hallihoolihan" and finished him off with a body press. Meanwhile Funk started pummeling the rotund "Litle Flower" and booted him out of the ring almost on top of the working press. This didn't suit Gardini, who bounced back into the ring and the Montanan -- to show the Italian he had no preference -- proceeded to put the "Flying Hallihoolihan" on Gardini and rubbed his head in the ring.

After all the excitement, Gardini took up the "I want Morelli" cry as he crawled out of the ring. Pointing to Sledge, he said, "At least Morelli's smart."

All this pleased the crowd, which had resigned itself to an evening of pure entertainment. When the four returned to the ring for the finish of the match, they settled down to business and proceeded to rough each other up good.

Eight minutes into the second fall, Gardini and Sledge were disqualified for unnecessary roughness as they tied Carlson in the ropes and both worked over the Cowboy while referee Bob Geigel was torn between two fires -- freeing the Cowboy and stopping the mayhem upon the person of Dory Funk on the other side of the ring.

After the bout, Gardini stood outside his dressing room and renewed his cry for Morelli.

In the first event of the night, two midgets -- Skylo Lo and Farmer Pete went to it for the best two out of three falls with referee Bob Geigel rendering a very unpopular decision in favor of Skylo Lo over the Farmer as Skylo used Pete's trunks to pin his shoulders while Geigel occupied himself looking elsewhere.

The mighty midget, Skylo used every trick in the book during his bout with Pete -- soap, biting, fougins, and all the rest. Only once was Geigel quick enough to catch him.

The small fellows went to it hot and heavy with Skylo definitely the caliber of the two.

Skylo took the first fall in 15 minutes over Pete with a reverse crab.

Farmer Pete got his vengeance much to the delight of the partial crowd -- pinning Skylo in five minutes with a body press after slamming him around the ring.

In this fall, Pete got his dander up after Skylo came into the ring with a hunk of soap and confined his aggressiveness to gouging the eyes of Pete, much to the bewilderment of Geigel, who had a rough night, indeed.

Pete took things into his own hands, however, and disposed of Skylo in good style.

After the boys came back into the ring for the third fall, Geigel felt the belt of Skylo's trunks and found the soap he had missed all the preceding fall.

Skylo took the third fall after using Pete's shorts to boost the loser onto his shoulders to pin him.

Before the main event, Cecil Massey, announcer, gave a brief memorial talk for Alex Kasaboski, wrestler who has appeared on the local scene quite a bit. Alex died recently in Los Angeles due to a heart attack.

Rocky's, Dawn Win Thursday

Rocky's took Lesley-Vaughn Motors in Hereford Softball league play Thursday night with a 13-12 verdict in the first game of the twin bill.

In the second game, Dawn clobbered the faltering Summerfield by an 11-2 count.

Rocky's pieced together their one-run victory with 13 runs on five hits. Lesley-Vaughn doubled up on the bingle end of the night's work, slamming out 10 hits and collecting only a dozen runs.

Dawn put it on Summerfield with 11 runs on eight hits. The losers retaliated on a pair of markers off of eight safeties, but they didn't come at the time when they could take advantage of them like the Dawners.

Rocky's used David Miles on the hill against the L-V Motor ninkers with Combs and Johnny Winkler behind the plate.

L-V Motors relied on Brock for the hurling with Pat Corbett behind the stick.

The night's second contest had Old Reliable Wait Lemons on the hill with Ed Lemons catching.

Summerfield used Joe Streun to chuck and Lookingbill did the receiving.

By JIMMIE GILLENTRIF

General Eisenhower came to Texas the past week-end to address Republican delegates and newsmen in Dallas. As he put it, "to let the people know some of the things I believe and stand for." You probably read the news some dispatches from Dallas and heard radio reports on his talk and press conference and, to me, they have been most accurate. The following remarks will be therefore, random comment and personal observations.

The conference was apparently sponsored by Jack Porter of Houston, Oveta Culp Hobby and other Eisenhower supporters from Texas. Honor guests were the Republican delegates -- and I presume many of them were outed from the State Convention in Mineral Wells. Newspaper men from papers, large and small, were also invited to the banquet and press conference. Understand the newspaper telegrams of invitation cost more than $880, an expense on the part of Mrs. Hobby. Furthermore, the scuttlebutt has it that these folks who spend a lot of money do not have an axe to grind. They just believe "Ike is the man."

Ike came marching into the big Crystal Ballroom surrounded by the notables, and he looked like any ordinary guy who had finished a long trip. His bald head was pink and sunburned from riding in those open top cars under the hot Texas sun. He also seemed just a little bit nervous, though I am sure that he has appeared before much larger crowds. The program was televised, though, and it was apparently rather new to him. If you have heard that the Eisenhower bunch are amateurs, you heard right. At least, that is how it looked to me. No one seemed quite sure if things were going right. Bishop C. C. Seaman offered the invocation and even he seemed to lack his usual confidence. Certainly Ike is no professional politician -- and he probably never will be one. The photographers have made the most of his "million dollar" grin and it is his outstanding personality trait. This is because you know beyond any trace of doubt that he means it. Sincerity, in fact, is the thing that will pull Eisenhower through -- if he gets the Republican nomination. You can tell that he is one of the most sincere men on record today. He is definitely not an orator. A lot of the boys in the Hereford toastmaster club could have taken his speech Saturday night, and had the people worked into a fever -- but not Ike. He is calm, he is sincere and he speaks without emotion. As a southern evangelist, he would be a wash-out.

Another thing that seemed to bother him was the fact that the television boys kept flashing time cards at him. These cards showed how long he had to talk and when it got down to a matter of 30 seconds two television men were literally waving cards. Ike made it, though, he cut his speech off just to the fraction of a second. He looked relieved, and that big Eisenhower grin spread out over his face; his expression seemed to say, "Now, we can visit a while." He did visit, too, in a most charming manner. The topic was "World Peace" and he touched on everything from taxes and communism right on down to his grandchildren. He was a different man as he talked there. He was so interested and so sincere that I kept thinking what a good citizen he would make if he moved to Hereford and went into business. He sort of seemed like he would do fine running a drug store or maybe an automobile agency -- and he talked about things just like the folks around Hereford talk about them, including national conditions.

Ike definitely doesn't claim to know all of the answers. When he hits something he doesn't know for sure, he just plain says he doesn't know. He doesn't bluff or try to bully his way. Another thing about Ike is the fact that he gives straight answers at his press conferences. This alone would take him out of the professional politicians class. He does not try to ride the fence. His answers are clear and concise. Ike made a lot of friends this week-end, especially among the boys in the grass roots press. They liked the way he approaches things and they particularly liked the fact that he is running "without any strings attached".

Roosevelt had a way of swaying crowds and sweeping people off their feet. If Ike lives to be a hundred, he will never acquire this knack. Instead of exciting people, he seems to soothe them. It's just his way, due perhaps to long years of training and working with men and army personnel. Furthermore, it's a long way to Dallas. These city reporters keep talking about how the general got up at 6 o'clock Sunday morning, etc., but he didn't have anything on me. I drove all day and I'll bet he wasn't a bit happier to get where he was going than I was to see that skyline of elevators as I drove into Hereford. I made myself a promise henceforth I will spend more time at home. Houston last week. Dallas this week. Pretty soon people will be comparing me with Carl McCaslin or Henry Sears.

This and That

Walter Buckner, San Marcos publisher, was impressed by the fact that Eisenhower, a professional soldier, would be so deeply concerned over the possibilities and prospects of world peace. Walter, an early New Dealer, felt that Ike was certainly sincere -- but couldn't fathom a professional soldier being sold on peace.

Hear lots and lots of people expressing surprise that T. E. Johnson, Amarillo Globe-Times editor, seems to favor Eisenhower. T. E. is generally ceded as a strong Democrat convert. Wes Izzard was also there and one fellow who reads his "A to Izzard" asked me if Wes was in the role of delegate or newspaperman.

Felix McKnight, Dallas News editor, got a bit miffed about the whole deal. Jack Porter requested "no still pictures" during the television broadcast, stating that the flashes would interfere with television. This made Felix a wee bit unhappy. They disregarded the order, too. Dallas News and Times Herald photographers took several stills during the broadcast.

Oveta Culp Hobby, former head of the WACS, looked younger than ever. She had a seat of honor at the head table and a new-fangled hair-do. I have seen her six or seven times -- and she always looks like a completely different person.

Fountain girls in a Dallas Drug store were comparing the Eisenhower parade crowd to that of McArthur, who visited Dallas about the same time last June. Ike's parade crowd, it seems, was much smaller. However, as one of them pointed out, his visit was immediately following his return from the East and on the crest of his controversy with Truman.

"Gonna see THE MAN?" This question from the boy where I got a shine. Several people in Dallas referred to him as "the man". Some of the ousted Republican delegates were bitter. They feel that Ike hasn't a chance to be nominated. They feel that the Republican machine will throw every trick in the book to keep him from getting the nomination. They mentioned the fact that McArthur will keynote the Chicago convention. Lots of them are almost bitter regarding this subject and will tell you it's a case of the people's wishes vs. a party machine. Ike also touched on this when he said, "Party should be above ourselves -- and our country above our party."

Several small-town publishers were most happy about the apparent lack of organization. They seem to feel that an amateur politician, free of political promises,

CONG. ROGERS SAYS

Potter Bill Defeated, Would Have Boosted Defense Expenses

THE THINGS YOU HAVE TO WATCH IN LEGISLATION: During the amendment period of the Defense Production Act (this is the price and wage control bill) an amendment was offered by Mr. Potter (R), Michigan, which would in effect put into the law the Executive Order which provides for the declaration of certain areas as "Surplus Labor" areas. Such a declaration means that the manufacturing concern in those areas can obtain government contracts on a negotiated basis rather than on a competitive bid basis even though the cost of such manufactured product would be substantially more than if it were produced in another area. The purpose of such an amendment is to insure employment in areas where there is a surplus of labor. The effect of the amendment would be to penalize the American taxpayer and take away from him millions of dollars in taxes that could otherwise be saved. It would also promote inflation. One of the prime causes of inflation is excessive government spending. Therefore when the government pays more for an article, as it would under the Potter amendment, than the same article could be purchased under competitive bid contracts, the results is simply excessive spending and fuel on inflationary fires.

The amendment is also discriminatory in that it would favor thickly populated areas and penalize the South, the Southwest and a great portion of the West. Such an amendment would also favor big industry and discriminate against small industry and small manufacturing plants and contractors. The manufacturing concerns in such designated areas can effectively control business growing out of government contracts, and the ones who get hurt are the small manufacturing plants in districts such as ours, as well as the laboring people in those districts and the American taxpayers. Mr. Lanham (D), Georgia, introduced a substitute amendment which would in effect prohibit such practices. The House voted on the Lanham amendment first, and the vote was tied 114 to 114. This meant the amendment must receive more yeas than nay votes in order to pass, and a tie vote does not meet those requirements.

However, the Potter amendment also failed by a margin of approximately 20 votes. We of the South and Southwest had hoped that the Lanham amendment would pass as it would have fixed a policy and would have sharply curtailed the practice that is going on now. We were happy that the Potter amendment failed and hope that this is an indication that such practices will stop. One manufacturing concern in the Middle West, and I presume others, sent out a form letter to all of its salesmen advising the salesmen to keep a sharp lookout for all possible contracts because this manufacturing concern was located in one of these surplus labor areas. The letter outlined the greater benefits accruing to the manufacturing concern by being so located, and instructed the salesmen that their Washington office could bring the proper pressure to bear in Washington to obtain contracts at higher prices than under competitive bidding. It was a strange coalition that voted against the Lanham amendment and for the Potter amendment. The coalition was made up of conservative republicans from the Middle West and East along with big city republicans and democrats who have followed New Deal philosophies.

The ones responsible for defeating the Potter amendment were the members of Congress from the South, the Southwest and the West. If we can stop these practices in government spending, we can save the taxpayers millions of dollars and help in the fight against inflation.

HIDDEN BALL PLAN ON TIDELANDS NIPPED IN THE BUD: A plan was afoot between the Secretary of the Interior and the President to by-pass Congress and seize the tidelands in the event the veto of the Holland bill was sustained by Congress. Under the present situation the Executive Department has no authority to lease the tidelands.

Even if the Senate should uphold the President's veto of the Holland bill, the Executive Department still would not have power to traffic in these lands. The secret plan that was afoot was a plan to use an old 1949 surplus property law under which GSA Administrator Larson had signed an order in April delegating authority to Secretary of Interior Chapman to dispose of oil and gas on the continental shelf. The Secretary of the Interior had gone so far as to submit the plan to oil company representatives and testified that these representatives had told him that they would be satisfied with such plan and would accept leases thereunder.

All of this information and the tactics and scheming indulged in had been kept from the Congress until Senator Holland made some charges on the Senate Floor on July 9th. After these charges had been made, the entire picture began to unfold and the opposition built up so strong and so fast that the Secretary of the Interior advised the Senate Judiciary Committee last Thursday that he and the President had abandoned the design to use this old law. It is getting to the place up here that you can't even take a night's sleep without wondering what will happen while your back is turned.

VISITORS from the District this week were: Leonard Cowden from Amarillo, D. and Mrs. E. K. Jones and children Janet and Danny, from Wellington, and Richard Rogers from Dalhart.

Master Sergeant Tom A. Newton of Waco was a recent visitor in the home of his aunt, Mrs. A. Davis. Sgt. Newton was enroute to Forbes Field, Topeka, Kansas, where he is stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Dettman returned from Tucumcari where they have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Williams.

WHEN YOU TRY POWER STEERING...
 HERE'S WHERE TO COME FIRST!

You've heard about it and read about it. Now, if you haven't felt what Power Steering does for you, we invite you to try it first in a Chrysler New Yorker... where you will find full-time (not partial) Power Steering!

What happens is this... You handle the steering wheel in normal fashion. But 4/5 of all the work is done for you by hydraulic power, constantly at your command. Also, you turn the wheel 1/3 less distance now for every maneuver... the feeling you get of utter control is as wonderful as it is new.

Even at a standstill you can turn the wheel easily. Now, parking is shorn of its troubles (and fatigue!)... and you can negotiate traffic, awkward drives, and garage doors precisely and with ease.

You can double the longest day's drive you've ever known... end up free from arm and shoulder strain. Rough roads, soft shoulders, snow, mud?... the power that helps you steer now prevents the car's wheels from "steering back" at you. The course you set is held, at any speed, till you want it changed. Yet, with this 5-times greater control, "wheel feel" is always the same.

Why not come try it? Learn for yourself why growing thousands of motorists say they'll never be without Full-time Power Steering from now on. Drive a Chrysler... and Learn the Difference!

CROP SPRAYING
Despite the progress made in modern agricultural methods each year, the farmer is often faced with problems as old as recorded history.

One major obstacle with which the Texas farmer will have to contend with this season can be traced as far back as Biblical times -- the plague of insects. While insect infestations are not expected to actually reach plague proportions in Texas as they have in other parts of the world in 1952, the problem is still serious one. Recent inspections reveal that cotton insects, including the persistent and destructive Pink Bollworm, are more strongly entrenched in Texas fields than at any time in the past 40 years. Comparison records of the Pink Bollworm, alone show that for every one of the worms found in South Texas cotton last year, there are ninety (90) this year. The build-up of other harmful insects is almost equally as heavy. As a result, the farmer can expect a higher ratio of crop damage in addition to a greater expenditure on insecticides.

It will be to the Texas farmer's advantage to follow an organized method of spraying crops this season for the best insect control. The best plan will be to get in touch with county agents and study the seven-step spraying program as set up by the Texas Extension Service.

Much of the effectiveness of spraying or dusting is nullified by poor timing. Spraying on a "guess basis" often catches harmful insects in the pupa stage when in-secticides and pesticides have no effect. It may also do away with some of the useful type insects.

The seven-step program varies over the state but each area has a definite plan set up according to local climatic and insect conditions. This type of spraying assures the farmer of getting the most benefit out of money spent for insect control.

The most effective measure yet found against the Pink Bollworm is strict compliance with planting and plow-up deadlines. These measures are already in effect in areas where the heaviest infestation exists. But the extremely large build-up this season is due partly to the mild winter which failed to kill off the usual number of last year's generations.

The Pink Bollworm can't stand "wet feet" but it does carry over well in dry and mild weather. The farmer will have to practice every control measure possible this year to keep down the present insect "plague".

To Show Rural Improvement Film Before Two Community Gatherings

Two communities in this area--the Jumbo community and the Sunnyside community--are in line for a showing in the rural community improvement film in Stockman cash award improvement contest.

Cecil Massey, Chamber of Commerce manager, will show the film exhibited at a special meeting in Dimmitt on Monday, June 23, to members of the Jumbo community on Friday night.

On July 11, the Sunnyside community will also be shown the film and given a run-down on the community improvement contest outlined in the film.

The film to be shown is one on the 1951 winner, Tin Top. The entire film was taken by Massey as part of his master's thesis. He lived in the Tin-Top community in Parker county at the time and assisted with the entire program of the winning community.

Massey has offered his assistance in any way needed by any of the communities in this area who may wish to take part in the contest and win regional as well as state prizes.

The contest is set up whereby any rural community might receive cash prizes for the improvement taken place within their community within the past 12 months. Deadline is March, 1953. Any community interested in learning more about the rural improvement contest is asked to contact Massey at the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce office.

Have you tried Buick's POWER STEERING?

HIGH-TAILING down a broad straight road, you have that same sure sense of command that has always put such a thrill into piloting a great performer.

You're the boss. Your hands tell you so. It's the feel that so many folks who love to drive have come to know and enjoy.

This year, you also have at your command the highest horsepower in Buick history -- and an Airpower carburetor, with two barrels in reserve to deliver an extra spurt when needed.

You have the size, the silence, the smoothness that make this ROADMASTER so distinguished among fine cars.

Where then, you ask, does Power Steering come in?

When you want to get into -- or out of -- a tight spot at the curb, Power Steering takes over the extra effort of turning the wheels, and you can forget the two-tons-plus of automobile you're handling.

When you want to turn around in a narrow space -- Power Steering lets you get the last inch of benefit from Buick's short turning radius, because it makes the maneuver so easy.

When one front wheel hits a chuckhole, a bump, loose sand or dirt at the edge of a road -- Power Steering takes up the jerk -- makes control of the wheel easier and therefore safer.

Many folks who have tried it tell us that Power Steering has added almost as much to the pleasure of owning a Buick as famed Dynaflo Drive.

When would you like to try it?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster only.

State Health Board Lists Eight Polio Precautions For Texans

AUSTIN — A long-range battle plan against rampaging polio was outlined Wednesday by the State Department of Health.

State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox recommended these eight points of action in combatting the disease which this year is striking harder at Texas than any other part of the nation:

1. Spot spray insect breeding places after they have been cleaned up and destroyed. Spraying indiscriminately might kill a few insects on the wing, but it won't do the job. It might kill valuable plants and create a false sense of security.
2. Get rid of animal shelters in urban areas. They cannot be kept clean and consequently create a health hazard as fly breeders.
3. Get rid of dump piles, tin cans, old tires, and accumulated debris which breed flies and mosquitoes and provide harborage for rats.
4. Provide a properly operated sewerage system, and get rid of all surface toilets. Dr. Cox believes surface toilets constitute one of the major health hazards facing Texas.
5. Provide a source of pure water.
6. Protect food supplies in wholesale business houses, retail shops, and in private homes.
7. Make regular inspections of all premises to see that no possibility exists for fly breeding. If you have flies, somebody is maintaining a breeding spot.
8. Garbage should be placed in fly tight garbage cans until time of disposal. Tubs, boxes, lidless garbage cans, etc., are of no value.

He urged each home owner to assume responsibility for keeping his property clean inside and out. This will help protect you and your neighbor. More people have been struck down by polio this year than ever before. He said it takes months and months to clean up a city, and that it "takes forever to keep it that way." The program must be continuous. "It will take from one to five years to really clean up our larger cities," Cox said.

"This is the same program we have followed and published for the past ten years. People have got to get over the notion that spraying alone will keep their city fly-free," Dr. Cox declared. "The only way to kill flies is to do it methodically, block by block, by eliminating their breeding places."

"They carry many diseases — diarrhea, typhoid fever, cholera, trachoma, just to mention a few. I firmly believe that if this eight-point program is invoked, we'll see a lessening of polio incidence in the future."

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith are in Ceta Glen this week where they are instructors at a youth camp.

Randall County High In Tree Planting Work

Randall county, for the first time in recent years, was among the state's top counties in reforestation for the period December 1951-March, 1952, according to information released by the Texas Forest Service.

More than 11,707,000 seedlings were planted by Texas farmers during the period — in most cases with PMA assistance.

Sixty-nine Randall county farmers planted a total of 20,300 seedlings. Most of any one kind planted was red cedar.

Deaf Smith county farmers showed a growing tendency to planting trees as windbreaks with PMA assistance.

During the period, farmers here planted a total of 8,700 seedlings, mostly red cedar.

WORLD PEACE

WORLD PEACE! That cry comes straight from every heart today. We must not lose heart, we must continue to believe in God and His good will for His world. War is wrong! War is contrary to all the teachings of Jesus. God is no more satisfied than we are with our war-torn earth. Our Lord is the Prince of Peace; His ways are the ways of truth and love. He is calling us to work with Him more faithfully and more intelligently. We have been war-making instead of peace-making.

HAVE we trusted that somebody else would make Peace? Have we trusted that Kings would bring about peace? Their very position makes them war-makers. Our demand that they bring prosperity to the people at the expense of another is a war demand. Have we trusted armies to make Peace? Again we have erred. Their very business is war-making; they must subdue other armies. Have we expected that economic treaties would make Peace? Again, the business of the world is highly competitive; investors demand profits from their money and their toil... profits that come from economic victory. INTERNATIONAL CONFLICT CAN BE SOLVED; WORLD PEACE MUST COME. How?

CHRIST is our answer, and we must answer to Christ. RELIGION IS OUR HOPE; RELIGIOUS PEOPLE WHO FOLLOW THE GREAT TEACHER AND FRIEND AND SAVIOR WILL MAKE PEACE. The Cross is the symbol of Peace. WORDS MUST GIVE WAY TO PLOUGHSHARES, AND SPEARS MUST BE REFASHIONED INTO PRUNING-HOOKS. What is that word you spoke yesterday? Did it make for Peace or for strife? When you finished the business transaction, did you leave a friend on the other side of the bargain? THE PRINCE OF PEACE IS NOT A RULER OF MEN, BUT A FRIEND AND A SUFFERING SERVANT. Are you and I willing to suffer in the cause of Peace? We have suffered enough for war. Our boys want to live, and to live abundantly; to construct, not destroy; to love, not hate. Peace will cost us much; kind words, generous dealings, goodwill, helpfulness and patience and self-control. Do we pray first for our own success, or for Peace? God is the Peace-maker; Peace-makers are the children of God. Grace and Peace belong together; graciousness of spirit will go ahead of abiding Peace. Are you and I gracious toward every other person? PEACE IS A MATTER OF SPIRIT AND OF SACRIFICIAL BEHAVIOR. We are being watched. Shall we make sacrifice for Peace? Shall we forget the Crown and the Thorn? Shall we carry a cross?

Additional Price Supports Removed Effective June 23

Suspension of price controls on additional commodities and services has been ordered by the Office of Price Stabilization, according to announcement by the district office today.

Suspended, effective June 23, are price controls on imported and domestic whiskey and wine for off-premise consumption; sales by mills and converters of such cotton products as sheets, pillowcases and towels; new and used burlap, cotton jute and paper mesh bags; services in the manufacturer processing of any fiber, yarn or fabric suspended from price controls, and imported and domestic hides, skins and leather.

These latest actions are in line with the OPS policy of suspending or otherwise relaxing price controls on commodities selling materially below ceilings and which are not expected to reach ceiling prices in the foreseeable future, district price officials said. Practically all the affected commodities and all the affected services are closely related to commodities for which OPS has already provided suspensions at the manufacturing level.

Suspension from price control of imported and domestic distilled spirits and wines is limited to sales for off-premise consumption.

Remaining under price ceilings are sales of distilled spirits for consumption on the premises. These sales remain subject to the restaurant regulations. Also remaining subject to price control are the sales of beer and ale and other malt beverages both for on-premise and off-premise consumption.

THE STORY: "The Pride of St. Louis"
Dan Dailey (Dizzy Dean) goes from a small Arkansas ballpark to the Texas league in Houston, and on to the St. Louis Cardinals. His brother, Paul, is also signed by the Cardinals and the brothers win fame for their sensational pitching and amusing horseplay. Paul hurts his arm and Dizzy goes it alone, garnering added laurels, until he too injures his pitching arm. He never regains his former prowess but goes downhill, drinking and gambling, causing his wife to leave him, temporarily. Then he makes a comeback broadcasting ball games. His programs prove popular but the St. Louis school authorities object to his ungrammatical English. After Dizzy resigns the school boards relents and he is asked to resume his broadcasts.
