Sallie Strain resigns from school board

Board members praise her work

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

Sallie Strain Thursday resigned from the Hereford Independent School District Board of Education, for which she was serving as president.

In a notice announcing her decision, Strain gave no reasons why she decided to step down after having been on the school board since 1976. "I want to express my appreciation to all those who have supported me through the years," she commented, "and I extend my best wishes for the future of the school district."

Reelected in 1979 and 1982, Strain acted as president from 1979 to 1981 in addition to this year. Her current board member term expires in April of 1985. In the meantime, the board must select a replacement to serve until next spring's general elections, when her post is to be filled for the remaining year.

Most of the six remaining school board members, when contacted by telephone this morning, praised Strain for her performance on the HISD governing body.

"She's been a board member whose primary interest has been the children and the quality of their education," said Bill Townsend, vice president. "I think the district has lost a dedicated and capable board member. I believe we'll miss her abilities."

"As far as I'm concerned, she's been an excellent school board member and an excellent president of the board," Tom Simons said. "She's a former teacher and I think she has a good perspective of both sides." Strain, he claimed, would "surely" be missed.

Paul Mason commented, "I think she's done fine job as board president and is as good a board member as anyone else." He said he did not know how Strain's resignation would be viewed, however, in light of the board

YMCA receives big gift

Hereford & Vicinity YMCA received a Christmas gift of approximately $80,000 this week, according to an announcement by board president Sid Shaw.

The gift was actually presented in August of 1981, but became a reality only this week when donors Charles and Wanda Hoover agreed that terms of a trust fund had been fulfilled and the contribution could be transferred to the YMCA.

The Hoovers created a trust foundation in 1981 with 3,400 shares of corporate stock in Adams Resources & Energy, Inc., with the provision that the property would be transferred to the YMCA if construction was underway on a facility, or if at least $500,000 had been raised in the building fund by Jan. 1, 1984.

"The primary purpose of the gift, of course, was to induce the YMCA to get serious about getting a full-facility building in the community," noted Shaw.

Bids were let last week on construction of a building, and the capital improvement campaign has raised more than $500,000 in cash and pledges. Ground work has been done and the construction of the building on 15th Street is scheduled to start soon.

"We want to congratulate the board of trustees and the members of Hereford & Vicinity YMCA on their efforts in getting this project underway," Hoover said this week. The Hoovers gave the board a letter of compliance on the trust fund this week in advance of the Jan. 1 deadline.

The "Y" set a goal of $925,000 for their facility and Shaw reported last week that the total was $510,000 in cash and pledges. This includes the gift of approximately $80,000 provided by the trust fund.

The construction contract on the building went to Brownlow Brothers of Hereford. It provided for a metal building with dimensions of 93 by 140 by 22 feet. Contract on the building, without interior finishings, was $180,000.

May Have Been Set

This vacant building on Dairy Road was nearly destroyed Thursday morning by a fire that was reportedly intentionally set. An investigation is underway, said Fire Marshall Jay Spain.

Poor Texas weather continues

Farmers worry about citrus crops

Texans shivered again today under icy temperatures that brought snow flurries to far Southeast Texas, freezing drizzle to Galveston and unusually cold conditions to the Lower Rio Grande Valley, where farmers kept a worried eye on their citrus crops. Fruit growers in far South County Airport in Southeast Texas and a travelers' advisory was posted for the Galveston area because of freezing drizzle.

The weather service predicted a warming trend today, giving the state a temporary break from record-setting low temperatures. But colder temperatures were on tap for Saturday, although forecasters discounted the possibility of a white Christmas.

The winter storms have claimed at least eight lives since Sunday.

Forecasters said highs in the Panhandle, 30s across North Texas, 40s in South Texas, and 60s in far West Texas.

But Al Moller of the weather service office in Fort Worth said Texans would probably wake up Christmas day to another arctic blast.

However, extended forecasts called for much warmer weather beginning Monday and daytime temperatures could reach the 50s by Tuesday, the weather service said.

Sections of the Panhandle, South Plains and North Texas reported readings in the single digits before dawn today, while central sections were hovering in the middle to upper teens. Temperatures in the 20s and 30s were the rule in South Texas, while normal seasonal readings were noted west of the mountains in far West Texas.

Temperatures at 4 a.m. ranged from 3 at Amarillo to 49 at El Paso. Amarillo's reading broke the record low temperature for Dec. 23 of 4 degrees, set in 1913.

Other record lows for the date today included 18 at Waco; 15 at Austin; and 12 at San Angelo.

The record-setting cold forced several power plants to shut down Thursday and others were operating a reduced capacity. Several sporadic brownouts were reported.

"We've had an extraordinary demand," said Texas Power and Light spokesman Paul Freeman. "The usage of electricity is the highest since sometime in the 1970s."

Officials said Thursday that a 91-year-old man froze to death Tuesday in Amarillo.

Non-working family needing aid

Christmas Stocking Fund

Dreaming of a "White Christmas" is not a good thought for some families. Consider this letter to the Christmas Stocking Fund from a 14-year-old girl:

"Our Christmas isn't going to be so bright because my father isn't working and we aren't getting food stamps. Our bills keep piling up and if it weren't for the free cheese, we would not have anything to eat at times.

"I have two sisters, 6 and 12, and two brothers, 10 and 13. Please see they get something for Christmas. My mom and dad don't know I wrote this letter. We live at...and we're behind on our rent."

Volunteer workers for the CSF will check out this family and try to help them at Christmas time if there are enough funds. A group of men, who wish to remain anonymous, started this program several years ago to help needy families in the community.

The fund reached a total of $6,809 Thursday. Contributions can be made to The Hereford Brand, Box 673, Hereford. Names and total of the fund will be reported in the newspaper. To recommend families for help, write the CSF Committee, Room 101, Deaf Smith Courthouse, or take the information to Room 101.

All money contributed goes to help less-fortunate families. There are no expenses, since all work is volunteer.

Mobil going to court

AUSTIN (AP) — Now that a tentative agreement of a $1.7 billion lawsuit involving Texas, Mobil Oil Corp. and a rancher has been delayed, Gov. Mark White says he likes the idea of taking the case to trial.

"I thought it was a good lawsuit," White told reporters Thursday. "Still do. And it's something that I think the facts are there to support the trial of the case."

The suit, challenging Mobil's oil and gas leases on Clinton Manges' Duval County ranch, was filed last year, and White, who was attorney general at the time, joined Manges' side because Texas owns some of the mineral rights involved in the case.

The governor said he was not surprised that Exxon intervened Tuesday and blocked the tentative settlement.

"If you own a third of the property and someone's making some shifts in the value to the property, I guess it's important that they have something to say about it," White said.

Attorney General Jim Mattox has criticized Exxon for stepping in "in the 11th hour" and delaying or possibly destroying the proposed agreement worked out between Manges and the state on one side, and Mobil on the other.

Mattox said Exxon, which owns a third of the mineral rights on Manges' ranch, had been repeatedly invited to enter the suit against Mobil, filed last year by Manges, but he said Exxon had always refused.

Sheriff's captain found innocent

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — El Paso sheriff's Capt. Willie Hill says a jury's decision to acquit him of charges of tampering with evidence was the "best Christmas present I ever had."

"I'm too emotional to speak right now. My mind's totally blank," Hill said Thursday after a six-man, six-woman jury found him innocent. "Maybe later I can talk. Right now, it's just the best thing ever."

Hill, an 11½-year veteran of the sheriff's department, was indicted in October on charges of official misconduct and tampering with evidence after two deputies said he ordered they destroy a suspicious white powdery substance they found in County Judge Pat O'Rourke's car. State District Judge Sam Callan dismissed the official misconduct charge Wednesday.

Hill had admitted on the witness stand that he did order the substance be destroyed but contended he did so because he thought it was a "setup."

Administration embraces talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — To the dismay of Israel, the Reagan administration is welcoming a meeting between the chairman of the Palestine Liberation Organization and Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak on grounds it could help prepare the way for Arab-Israeli peace talks.

PLO leader Yasser Arafat and Mubarak met Thursday in Cairo.

"The United States views the renewed Egyptian-PLO discussions as an encouraging development given Egypt's adherence to the Camp David accords and its outspoken support" for President Reagan's 1982 Mideast peace initiative, State Department spokesman John Hughes said afterward.

"We are hopeful that such talks will serve to persuade Mr. Arafat that peace negotiations within the framework of the president's initiative are the best means of achieving Palestinian goals," Hughes added.

A White House statement also said the meeting was encouraging.

Israeli Ambassador Meir Rosenne dissented: "The Americans think it is encouraging; we think it is discouraging."

Rosenne met with Lawrence Eagleburger, the undersecretary of state for political affairs, to express Israel's concern.

Kennedy offers proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring that "we do not need another study to know there are hungry people in America," Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is pressing a $2.5 billion proposal to reverse what he called the "inhumane ... indecent" hunger policies of the Reagan administration.

Kennedy, D-Mass., detailed the 16-point program in a 177-page report released Thursday offering what he called "clear, undeniable and authoritative evidence of widespread and increasing hunger in America."

While the cost might seem high, Kennedy said, it still would amount to only 5 percent of the budget increase being sought by the Defense Department.

"Presumably, that increase is supposed to advance the national defense," Kennedy said. "But surely, the defense of this nation includes the health of our families as much as the size of our bombs; it means freedom from hunger for our own citizens at least as much as military assistance in Central America."

Fate remains in doubt

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Indians opposed to the leftist government say an American bishop remains alive despite the government's claim that rebels killed him in the northeastern jungle, but no group has produced evidence of his fate.

The Sandinista government said Thursday it had information that Bishop Salvador Schlauer, 65, was killed resisting U.S.-backed rebels near the village of Francia Sirpi. It has charged that the rebels kidnapped Schlauer, three other churchmen and about 500 Miskito Indians in Francia Sirpi on Tuesday and was marching them to Honduras.

A Nicaraguan government source with direct access to military information said Schlauer's body was found in the village of Wisconsin, eight miles north of Francia Sirpi. The source asked for anonymity.

But in the Honduran capital of Tegucigalpa, Indian spokesmen Steadren Fagoth Muller and Teofilo Archibald said Schlauer, who has spent 38 years in Nicaragua, was alive and leading the exodus of 2,500 discontented Indians away from fighting between rebels and government troops.

The U.S. State Department and the Roman Catholic Church said they could not confirm the death of Schlauer, a native of Campbellsport, Wis.

Extreme cold conditions cause air, rail fatalities

By CHRISTOPHER SULLIVAN Associated Press Writer

As Americans started for Christmas holiday destinations today, a week-long siege of winter storms delayed hundreds of travelers with icy roads and the bitter cold slowing passenger trains or causing cancellations and delays at many airports.

"Bring something to read," passengers were advised by United Airlines spokesman Joe Hopkins at Chicago's O'Hare Airport, where several airlines' flights were delayed today as many service vehicles froze up and refused to budge.

Flights were moving, he said, but "they come in late, so they go out late."

Meanwhile, the National Safety Council estimated that between 300 and 400 people may die in traffic accidents over the holiday weekend. The counting period begins at 6 p.m. this evening and extends until midnight Monday. Motorists faced hazardous and slow journeys in many places, with travelers' advisories for snowy weather posted from northern Nevada to Michigan and Vermont.

A Greyhound bus ran off icy Missouri 72 and toppled onto its right side Thursday, injuring 12 passengers, state police said. The accident occurred near Patton, 90 miles south of St. Louis.

The extreme cold — more than 30 below in some places — prompted Amtrak officials to order passenger trains to slow down, for fear of snapping or breaking super-chilled tracks under the weight of racing trains, railroad officials said.

The result was delays of up to several hours from the Midwest to California. In San Francisco, Amtrak spokesman Art Lloyd said there were two-hour delays on trains from Chicago. He added that most routes were sold out.

A chain reaction of delays blamed on "sub-zero" cold centered in the nation's midsection left travelers waiting in other airports, including those at Wichita, Kan., Detroit, Denver and Oklahoma City.

"I've seen ant hills more organized," said Oklahoma airport police Sgt. James Thomas, referring to an estimated 1,000 people milling in the Will Rogers World Airport terminal, waiting for flights or relatives.

With the mercury at 18 below zero at O'Hare today, delays stretched to several hours for some flights.

Meanwhile, in Miami, where temperatures reached the 80s Thursday, Eastern Airlines spokesman James Ashlock noted a "surge of last-minute bookings."

where the temperatures dipped below zero. A 72-year-old man who was found in his apartment in Duncanville died of hypothermia Thursday at Parkland Hospital in Dallas. Officials said his body temperature had dropped to 75 degrees. The low in Dallas Thursday morning was 5 degrees.

Record low temperatures were commonplace throughout the state Thursday morning.

Amarillo broke two records in one day, setting new lows for the day and the month with a minus-7 seven reading Thursday morning. The previous low was minus 6, set in 1924. On Wednesday, the Amarillo low reading was minus 1, breaking a zero reading set in 1916. Shortly before dawn, Dallas broke a record set in 1916 when the temperature dipped to 5 degrees. The previous low for Dec. 22 was 13. Dallas also broke a Wednesday record with a 10-degree reading. The old record was 12, set in 1909.

San Antonio broke a record low for the date Thursday when the mercury fell to 19 at 6:22 a.m. Houston broke the record low of 22 degrees, set in 1977, with a 20-degree reading at 8 a.m.

Other record lows were recorded before dawn included 6 at San Angelo; 22 at Victoria; 14 at Austin; 8 at Midland; 19 at Del Rio; and 13 at College Station.

On Nov. 29, the local Texas Rural Legal Aid (TRLA) office filed suit against HISD, claiming the district's at-large school board election process makes it unfairly difficult for Hispanics to be elected.

"Well, I think she had a lot of knowledge about the board and about the school system," R.C. Hoelscher said. "I think she's spent a lot

When asked to give a comment on Strain's performance on the board, Marilyn Culpepper said, "I think she's a fine lady, but other than that I don't think this is appropriate."

Strain's husband, Robert Strain, was indicted on 17 counts of theft — one over $10,000 — by the Deaf Smith Grand Jury in September.

To discuss disengagement

Negotiators meet with Moslem, Christian leaders

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Saudi negotiators met with rival Moslem and Christian leaders and were reported nearing a breakthrough that would disengage Lebanon's warring factions and put Italian and Greek cease-fire observers in Beirut and the Chouf mountains.

In the northern port city of Tripoli, Syrian-backed PLO rebels were preparing to withdraw after forcing Palestine Liberation Organization chairman Yasser Arafat and his 4,000 loyalists to abandon their last Middle East stronghold, reports by state and privately owned radio stations said.

The stations and Beirut's leading newspapers said Saudi mediator Rarik Hariri was close to wrapping up a disengagement accord that would set the stage for reconvening a reconciliation conference in Geneva among Lebanon's principal warring leaders.

Hariri held a series of meetings Thursday here with Shiite Moslem and rightist Christian militia leaders to arrange for an exchange of kidnapped hostages between the two factions. He also held lengthy telephone talks with Druze opposition leader Walid Jumblatt, who is in the Jordanian capital of Amman, the radios reported.

Most newspapers and radio stations gave no details of the disengagement agreement. But the leftist Beirut newspaper As-Safir said the plan primarily calls for:

— Withdrawal of Christian militia forces from all positions facing the Shiite-populated southern suburbs of Beirut and the closing of all their barracks in the hills overlooking the suburbs. Shiite militiamen, in turn, would pull back 700 yards from current front-line positions.

— Withdrawal of Christian militiamen from the Chouf Mountains and the Kharroub region overlooking the Israeli defense line in southern Lebanon, to the Christian hinterland north of Beirut. Lebanese police would take over security functions in these regions, and Lebanese troops would control the highway linking Beirut with southern Lebanon.

— Reiteration of the pledge by all warring factions to neutralize Beirut International Airport, where U.S. Marines are based, and to abstain from any future attempt to close the airport.

Once agreement on these points is signed by all parties concerned, the Lebanese government would ask Italy and Greece to provide about 400 observers each to police the ceasefire, mainly on the vacated front lines. Both nations had previously agreed in principle to provide the observers.

The foreign ministers of Lebanon, Syria, and Saudi Arabia are expected to meet in Riyadh on Jan. 8 to decide whether to resume reconciliation talks, newspapers here said.

Arafat's evacuation from northern Lebanon on Tuesday was part of an agreement sponsored by Saudi Arabia and Syria to halt the PLO civil war and spare Tripoli from further bloodshed.

State and privately owned radio stations in Beirut quoted an unnamed spokesman for the PLO rebels as saying they were "regrouping" their forces today to begin evacuating northern Lebanon in compliance with the Nov. 25 ceasefire accord.

On Thursday, an extremist Moslem group issued what it called its final warning for American and French peacekeeping troops to get out of Lebanon in 10 days or face a new wave of attacks.

"This is the last warning for the American and French forces," an anonymous caller told Agence France Presse in Beirut, claiming to represent the "Islamic Jihad" or Islamic Holy War group. "We shall give them 10 days to leave Lebanon, otherwise we shall make the earth shake underneath their feet."

The caller said his group was responsible for Wednesday's truck-bombing at a French regimental headquarters in Beirut. That explosion and another bomb minutes later at a hotel bar killed at least 14 people.

The organization, which is believed to have ties to Iran, has claimed responsibility for other suicide bombings, including the one that killed 241 U.S. servicemen and 58 French paratroopers in Beirut Oct. 23; the April car-bombing of the U.S. Embassy in Beirut that killed 63, and the truck-bomb attack on an Israeli army post in south Lebanon's Tyre port in November.

Continental

Airline says queries silly

By MICHAEL L. GRACZYK Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — The Air Line Pilots Association is questioning stock transactions by top officials of Continental Airlines, but spokesmen for the reorganized carrier are branding the questions "silly."

Continental Executive Vice President Philip Bakes, meanwhile, is blaming the striking union for the breakdown in negotiations this week. According to Bakes, the union refused to withdraw a mandate that new pilots hired at Continental since the strike Oct. 1 be fired and pilots who have remained in the cockpits be demoted.

The exchanges are the latest salvos in the bitter dispute between the airline, which filed for protection under federal bankruptcy laws, and the pilots union, which struck rather than accept salary cuts and increases in working hours.

At news conferences Thursday in Houston, Washington, Denver and Los Angeles, ALPA raised questions about large sales of Continental stock by airline executives months before it filed for reorganization Sept. 24. ALPA offered a $5,000 reward for information on those sales.

"These transactions have been on the books for months," Bakes said in Houston. "There was absolutely nothing improper done," added Clark Onstad, a Continental vice president who responded to questions in Washington.

Questions about stock trading by company executives were raised by Susan Kellock of the Kamber Group, a consulting firm hired by the pilots to help organize their campaign against Continental.

She declined to characterize the stock sales as illegal insider trading, but said they do raise questions which should be explained in public.

Continental officials said the sale of 47,000 shares of stock in late 1982 by company chairman Frank Lorenzo were made to raise cash for a personal debt. Bakes said if Lorenzo was intent on making money in the deal, he would have held the stock for another two months and could have doubled his money.

"They're grasping for straws," he said of the ALPA questions. "This has absolutely no bearing on what's going on at Continental. It's silly, absolutely silly."

ALPA officials also accused the airline of refusing to engage in meaningful bargaining, but Bakes said the talks, which broke off Wednesday in Los Angeles, "appeared close on wages and work rules."

Public invited to church celebration

The first celebration of the "Nativity of Our Lord" in the Episcopal Church of St. Thomas the Apostle, 601 West Park Avenue, will begin at 10:30 P.M. on Saturday.

The celebration will begin with special music by the choir, interspersed with congregational singing of traditional carols. The Ladies Chorus will sing "Born 'Neath A Star" by Cynthia Gray; Randell T. Farr and Dr. Duffy McBrayer will sing "Infant Holy, Infant Lowly," an old Polish carol; and the choir will sing "Westminster Carol," an old French noel, and "Joy To The World," from "This Is Christmas," arranged by Bill Wolaver.

The singing will be followed by the Festal Celebration of the Christ Mass, at which all baptized persons who recognize in the consecrated bread and wine the Real Presence of the Body and Blood of Christ are invited to receive the Holy Communion.

Following the Christ Mass, there will be a Christmas party in the parish hall. Fr. Charles Threewit, Vicar, said "The people of St. Thomas extend an invitation to everyone in the community to come join with us in celebrating God's gift to us on this night." Although small children are welcome in the service, nursery care will be provided.

Frogs unjustly accused of causing skin warts

For almost as long as people have been getting warts, rumor has placed the blame on the lowly frog.

Mark Twain no doubt had fun spreading this misconception in "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," not to mention wart "cures" involving a spunk-water stump, burned beans, and dead cats.

The truth is that warts are not caused by frogs or toads but by viruses, said the Texas Medical Association. And though Twain's home remedies are far more interesting, modern day cures are far more effective, to put it mildly.

A wart is a lump on the skin produced when a virus invades skin cells and causes them to multiply quickly. Because they are caused by viruses, warts are contagious and can be spread by direct contact with another person or indirectly.

They may appear at any age but are most common in teenagers and uncommon in the elderly. No serious health risks are associated with warts, but their appearance can be unsightly.

There are several kinds of warts, each caused by separate virus. The common wart is a small, hard, white or pink lump with a cauliflower-like surface. Though it can appear anywhere on the body, the common wart usually grows on the hands and often is pushed in level with the skin's surface, if on the palm. Planar warts are found only on the soles of the feet.

Other kinds are flat warts, usually occurring on children's faces, and venereal warts, found on or near the genitals and anus.

A physician may prescribe a more effective wart cream. If this fails, the doctor can remove the wart by scraping it, freezing it with liquid nitrogen, or burning it with electricity.

Ann Landers Damaged self-esteem

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am engaged to a super guy. He is smart, ambitious, has a good job, is kind to me and my family and friends are crazy about him.

A few weeks ago we were horsing around and ended up wrestling. I won. Actually, I thought it was funny. Since then he has asked me to wrestle a few more times and I have beat him repeatedly.

Now he is not sure he can marry a woman who is physically stronger than he is. When he first mentioned it I thought he was joking—but the man is serious.

Nobody knows about this but us. How can I persuade him that it doesn't matter? Please don't suggest that we wrestle again and I let him win. The previous matches were pretty one-sided and he could tell if I wasn't trying my best. Is there a solution? I am—A Winter And A Loser (Florida)

DEAR W. AND L.: I have repeatedly expressed my views about adults of the opposite sex "wrestling." This sort of kidding on the square is a bummer.

If your fiancé is threatening to break the engagement because of these "playful" bouts, it means you have made him feel sexually inadequate and damaged his "macho ego." It is in this area that you should try to rebuild his self-esteem.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I work in a service station for a minimum wage. The boss's wife passed away recently and all the employees got together and bought a very nice flora arrangement.

Last week we each received a photocopy of a thank-you card. Isn't this rather unusual? Have you ever heard of such a thing? No city, please. We don't want to embarrass anyone. -- Surprised Employees

DEAR EMPLOYEES: No, I have never heard of sending a photocopy of a thank-you card, and I hope I never hear of it again. It's inexcusably vulgar.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a high school graduate who took a secretarial course and had high hopes of amounting to something. After about 20 job interviews I ended up taking a position that pays $150 a week. (My take-home figure is $113). People talk about how prosperous things are, but somehow we middle-class folks aren't getting in on it.

The problems is not my job, but my mother. She demands that I pay her $75 a week for room and board. Actually she does not need this money. It goes for her recreation, which is playing cards four days a week. I like living at home and would prefer to remain here if it is possible financially.

A woman I work with says I can stay with her family five days a week for $25. I have friends in New York who have invited me to be with them weekends. The only cost would be commuting.

I am 18 years of age, which means I am no longer a minor in this state and am free to be on my own. Do you have any advice for me?—Karen In A Tizzy

DEAR KAREN: The ideal solution would be to have a long talk with your mother about your financial problems. Explain that you would prefer to stay at home and will happily do so if she will settle for $40 a week, which is about one-third of your take-home pay—and a fair deal for all.

Got those wedding bell blues over cost-guest list...what to eat...and other details? Ann Landers' "New Bride's Guide" will help. For a copy, send $2.00 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (37 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

W. Virginia rallies for 20-16 bowl victory

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Coach Don Nehlen believed Paul Woodside and believed in Jeff Hostetler, and the result was a 20-16 victory for West Virginia over Kentucky in the Hall of Fame Bowl.

The 18th-ranked Mountaineers trailed Kentucky 10-3 at the half Thursday night after Hostetler had thrown 10 passes with no completions and one interception.

Kentucky was to get the ball to start the second half, but Woodside, an All-American place-kicker, recovered his onside kick at the Wildcat 48.

"Coach, we can get it," Woodside told Nehlen before the kick. "So, I said, 'Let's try,'" Nehlen said. "We needed a lift, and we were kicking with the wind. It's a bowl game, so I said, 'Let's go after it.'"

After Woodside's kick, Tom Gray ran twice and then Hostetler completed his first pass. Four more runs by Gray led to Hostetler's 16-yard toss to Rich Hollins to tie the score.

"Nothing seemed to go right in the first half," Hostetler said. "But I'm proud that the team had confidence in me and the coaches stuck with me. . . . After I completed the first couple of passes, I felt pretty good and knew I could move the team."

Nehlen said he "never had a game where we did not complete a pass in the first half, but I wasn't worried. Jeff is too good a quarterback, and I knew he would bring us through."

Hostetler later ran the ball 37 yards to the 2 and hit Rob Bennett on a scoring pass, and Woodside kicked his second field goal to give the 9-3 Mountaineers enough cushion to absorb Kentucky's final score, a 13-yard pass from Bill Ransdell to Joe Phillips.

Kentucky, 6-5-1 after going 0-10-1 in 1982 in Jerry Claiborne's first year as the coach, took its halftime lead on a 26-yard halfback pass from Tony Mayes to quarterback Randy Jenkins, a play that caught the Mountaineers off guard, and a 23-yard field goal by John Hutcherson.

Hutcherson had replaced the suspended Chris Caudell late in the season and had not previously attempted a collegiate field goal.

After his slow start, Hostetler completed 10 of his last 13 passes for 88 yards and was voted West Virginia's most valuable player, although Gray got 149 yards on 32 carries.

"I thought our effort was great," said Claiborne, whose Wildcats were picked to lose by 9½ points. "I can't fault the way our kids played. The only thing I fault is the score."

Theismann picked as 'Offensive Player of Year'

NEW YORK (AP) — Quarterback Joe Theismann of the Washington Redskins, already the National Football League's Most Valuable Player, added another jewel to his crown today when he was named Offensive Player of the Year by The Associated Press.

Theismann threw 29 touchdowns and was intercepted only 11 times as the Redskins, the defending Super Bowl champions, posted a league-best 14-2 record.

He received 41 of 84 votes cast by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Running back Eric Dickerson of the Los Angeles Rams, who set a rookie record with 1,808 yards rushing and scored 20 touchdowns, was second with 29 votes.

Dan Marino, Miami's rookie quarterback, was a distant third with five. The remaining votes went to Redskin running back John Riggins (4), San Francisco quarterback Joe Montana (2), and rookie running back Curt Warner of Seattle, wide receiver Mike Quick of Philadelphia and quarterback Lynn Dickey of Green Bay (1 each).

In the MVP voting announced earlier this week, Theismann outpolled Dickerson 57-18 with the rest of the votes scattered among Marino and four others.

Except for his belief that he is vastly underpaid — his salary ranks 18th among NFL quarterbacks — this has been an exceptional season for Theismann, "the quickest one I've ever had."

It's far different from 1974, his first season in the NFL following three with Toronto of the Canadian Football League. He opted to head north from Notre Dame rather than south to Miami to join the Dolphins, who had made him their No. 4 pick and who had Bob Griese.

And when Theismann joined the Redskins, he ran into two Washington monuments named Sonny Jurgensen and Billy Kilmer, quarterbacks in the twilight of their careers.

"I came in here and bucked both of them," Theismann said recently. "To this day, people in Washington don't want to accept me. People still have feelings towards both Sonny and Billy. I was fortunate to work under both but there's no love lost, especially with Billy."

Jurgensen recalled Theismann "was a brash, cocky kid who felt he should play ahead of two overweight veterans." In 1978, after Jurgensen retired, Coach George Allen made Theismann his starter, then put Kilmer in halfway through the season.

"That was the hardest year of my life in football," Theismann said. "Billy didn't say a word to me for six weeks. He only started to talk me in quarterback meetings when he became the starter again."

Theismann believes he didn't begin to win acceptance from the fans until the Super Bowl. "It was like I closed the closet. If I had lost, the closet would still be open and I would have been the same as Billy again."

Holiday Bowl features BYU offense, Missouri defense

SAN DIEGO (AP) — College football's ultimate irresistible force — the Brigham Young offense — bumps up against Missouri's nationally ranked immovable object in tonight's sixth renewal of the Holiday Bowl.

Ninth-ranked Brigham Young, host of the game every year by virtue of winning the Western Athletic Conference title, has rung up some mind boggling numbers in winning 10 consecutive games after a season opening loss to 20th-ranked Baylor.

The Cougars' quarterback, All-American Steve Young, has gained more yards rushing and passing — 4,346, or 395 per game — than the entire Missouri team. He set national records with 306 pass completions and a 71.3 completion percentage.

BYU led the nation in total offense (584 yards per game) and passing (381 per outing) and was second to top-ranked Nebraska in scoring with a 44-point-per-game norm.

Even the BYU running attack, forever in the shadow of the passing game, netted 203 yards per game, only 16 less than ground-oriented Missouri. But Young isn't expecting an easy outing against Missouri, which finished 7-4 overall and second to Nebraska in the Big Eight Conference. He mentioned seeing the Tigers' 10-0 shutout of Oklahoma earlier this year.

"Watching that game, I don't think anyone can beat them," Young said. "They're very aggressive and hard-hitting, they have speed and size up front and speed in the defensive backfield and at linebacker. We won't have an easy time."

"The big matchup, obviously, will be our offense against their defense — and that's not to take anything away from our defense and their offense," he added.

Young said he was particularly concerned with the size of Missouri's defensive front line, although that unit is outweighed 15 pounds a man by BYU's offensive line.

"They're one of the few teams we've played all year that has enough size in the defensive line and at linebacker that they don't have to bring extra people to put pressure on the quarterback," Young said. "Whereas other teams tried to bring six, seven or eight guys to put pressure on the quarterback, these guys have the size and quickness to put pressure on with five or six."

The chief headhunter for Missouri is linebacker Jay Wilson, a 6-foot-3, 215-pound senior who sees Young as the key to both team's efforts.

"If you don't contain him and he gets outside the pass rush, then you're in big trouble," Wilson said. "He'll have all kinds of time to throw or he can take off and run the ball. We've got to limit the things he can do and keep their offense below 400 yards."

If Missouri manages that, it will be a first. BYU's lowest offensive total this year was 477 yards in a 24-6 victory over Colorado State.

Dallas, Seattle favored

BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

The Dallas Cowboys of the regular season and the Dallas Cowboys of the playoffs are two very different teams — at least until they get to the National Football Conference playoffs.

Dallas, with a rushing defense second only to Washington's, will bottle up Eric Dickerson sufficiently to force Vince Ferragamo to go to the air, and to make a costly error or two. The only question is: Has Cowboys' quarterback Danny White shaken the mistakes out of his system? The guess here is that he has. Take DALLAS minus 7 over the Rams.

Since we have to pick a team, let's go with a winner — Coach Chuck Knox. Take SEATTLE minus 4 over Denver.

Holtz holiday short, takes Minnesota post

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Lou Holtz flew to Minnesota with his wife, two kids and one clean shirt to get away from the telephone that had been clanging since he quit Sunday as football coach at the University of Arkansas.

"I had no intention or desire to coach," the new Minnesota coach said Thursday. "I didn't know what I was going to do, but we had planned to relax for four or five days or months."

His relaxation didn't last long. He had been swamped by phone calls from other schools and private business and decided to visit Minnesota, despite his hatred of the cold.

"I loathe the cold," he said, as temperatures dropped to a record 20 degrees below zero in Minneapolis. "I can't tell you why I'm here, in terms of the whether, but I hope it's a short winter."

Holtz, 46, said his "strong faith in God" had something to do with his decision to leave Arkansas and take over the worst team in the Big Ten.

"The Bible says, 'There's a time for everything,' and it seemed like it was time to leave Arkansas. The family did a lot of praying in our hotel room and things kept coming back that this was the right place to be," Holtz said. Holtz, the most successful coach in Razorback history, might need divine intervention to rebuild the not-so-Golden Gophers.

Minnesota is in the midst of a 17-game Big Ten losing streak and finished in the conference basement the last two years.

"I'm not a miracle worker, I'm no genius and this isn't going to happen by waving a magic wand," Holtz said. "Everybody who shovels snow in Minnesota will have to identify with this team and the entire state will have to take pride and help us pull together."

In his seven years at Arkansas, Holtz's team finished among the nation's top 10 teams four times. Last season they went 6-5 and were not invited to any bowl games for the first time under Holtz.

He was named college coach of the year in 1977, after the Razorbacks upset once-beaten Oklahoma 31-6 in the Orange Bowl to finish 11-1 and No. 3 in the country.

He spent 1976 with the National Football League's New York Jets, who went 3-11. His collegiate coaching record is 106-52-5 at Arkansas, North Carolina State and William and Mary College.

His hiring signals a new commitment from the University of Minnesota to strength its football program.

Although Holtz said he made no demands when agreeing on a five-year contract worth $100,000 a year, university officials said they've agreed to build a new indoor football facility.

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — For Air Force football coach Ken Hatfield, hired away by Arkansas to head his alma mater's football program, this Christmas weekend may be the last he spends in Colorado for a while.

The day after Christmas he heads for Fayetteville, Ark.

If all goes according to plan, Hatfield will be spending future Christmases preparing the Arkansas Razorbacks for bowl game appearances.

Standing before reporters here Thursday, an emotion-choked Hatfield, 40, a native of Helena, Ark., said, "We called you here to tell you that Sandy (his wife) and I have decided . . . that we're going home."

Arkansas Athletic Director Frank Broyles announced his choice of Hatfield on Thursday, despite indicating one day earlier that no one would be offered the job until after the Jan. 2 bowl games.

Hatfield guided Air Force to a 10-2 record this year, including a 9-3 victory over Mississippi in the Independence Bowl.

He succeeds Lou Holtz, who resigned, apparently under pressure, on Sunday after seven years at Arkansas. The Razorbacks were 6-5 this year and failed to go to a bowl for the first time since Holtz arrived. His seven-year record was 60-21-2.

"This is a good step for me, and I'm tremendously excited about the opportunity," said Hatfield, who played for Broyles at Arkansas in 1962-64 as a defensive back and punt returner.

"I'm anxious to get back home. When you're a Razorback, you're a Razorback forever. It's the only other place I would have considered, and that's what I told (AFA athletic director) John Clune when I asked for permission to talk to Arkansas.

"The hardest thing about this is leaving the academy. These are people I dearly love. I've been very blessed to have been here. My only hope is that we've left the football program here a heck of a lot better than when we started, that we've built a solid foundation for others to continue to build on. I don't think you've seen the best the academy can be yet."

Hatfield was offered the job by phone Thursday.

At a news conference later in the day, Hatfield said he would begin trying to recruit players for Arkansas immediately. He said he would ask his assistant coaches at Air Force to make the move with him, but hasn't talked with them yet. He also plans to talk with Arkansas' present assistant coaches before putting together his Razorback coaching staff.

Hatfield was one of four former Razorback players Broyles said were under consideration; the others were Oklahoma's Barry Switzer, Texas' Fred Akers and Oklahoma State's Jimmy Johnson. Switzer and Akers later removed themselves from contention.

Bettors earns defensive award

MIAMI (AP) — Doug Bettors' last big honor was second team All-Big Sky Conference, so he can be forgiven for thinking it was a joke when he first heard that The Associated Press had named him National Football League Defensive Player of the Year.

Then he was overwhelmed. "I thought somebody was bullying me," said the Dolphins' defensive end, whose biggest honor was announced by the AP Thursday. "Before this happened, the best I've ever had was second team All-Big Sky Conference. That's quite a jump."

Bettors, also chosen All-Pro and for the American Conference Pro Bowl team this year, had the kind of season a football player dreams of: 59 solo tackles, 17 assists, four fumble recoveries, two forced fumbles, four pass deflections and 16 sacks, double his previous best and third in the NFL.

"He's finally reached the potential that we saw him in many years ago," said Dolphins' Coach Don Shula. "It was just a matter of time."

Bettors, who played at Montana and Nevada-Reno, garnered 19 of the 84 votes for Defensive Player of the Year cast by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Randy White of the Dallas Cowboys received 15 votes.

Actually, Bettors had an inkling last month when teammate A.J. Duhe, another of Miami's "Killer B's" defense, suggested, "If you keep this up, you're going to be it."

"I never really took it seriously," Bettors said. "Now it's something I've got to live up to. . . I've got to keep it up next year."

In 1982, Duhe was the big star. Nose guard Bob Baumhower is a four-time All-Pro. But on Miami's defense, which allowed the fewest points of any NFL team this year, a different player could star every week.

"(Doug) could be a more spectacular player if he were just put outside and told to rush the passer," Shula said. "But he has to play within the frame of our defense, so that restricts him some."

"Yet it makes our defense that much stronger. He unselfishly realizes this."

With his rusty-red hair and beard and his 6-foot-7½ frame, Bettors can't even hide in a crowd of football players. Yet he recently sat and talked in a restaurant near the Dolphins' training camp, unrecognized and uninterrupted, for 1½ hours.

Bettors doesn't believe there was a sudden improvement this year.

"It's like an internship," he said, adding that he came into the NFL behind many other draftees because he didn't get specialized coaching for his position while in college. "You've got to go through the growing pains."

He credits in part his annual habit of retreating to a home in western Montana for six months to get away from football, relax, ski, work out, fly his own plane and think about other things.

"Going out there . . . makes me appreciate more what I have," he said. "I found that this year, I came back with a lot better attitude. I wasn't burned out on football. I hadn't been hearing about it all year long."

The tablet held in the hand of the Statue of Liberty contains a lone inscription: July 4, 1776.

Local Church Roundup

CHRISTIAN ASSEMBLY
The young people of Christian Assembly Church will present a Christmas program for the public at Sugarland Mall on Friday at 7 p.m. and Saturday at 3 p.m.

The program will include favorite Christmas carols along with a manger scene featuring shepherds, angels, wise men and the Christ child.

Waylon Bruton, pastor, commented, "Since so many activities have been cancelled due to the cold weather, we felt an 'inside the mall' program was in order. Everyone is invited to attend."

A communion service is scheduled from 7 to 8 p.m. Christmas Eve at Christian Assembly and there will be one service on Christmas Day, from 11 to 11:30 a.m.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST

A Christmas Eve service of Holy Communion will begin at 7 p.m. Saturday in the First United Methodist Church. It is planned for family participation, with hymns of the season and a brief meditation by Dr. Weldon Butler, pastor.

A fellowship coffee hour will be held at 10 a.m. on Christmas Day, prior to the Sunday morning worship service. The pastor's sermon on that day is titled "No Place for Him" and the sanctuary choir will sing the opening chorus from the cantata "Rejoice Earth and Heaven."

Youth meetings will not be held Sunday evening, but will resume Jan. 8 after the holidays. Also, choirs will rehearse at their usual hours next week after missing the holiday week.

FIRST CHRISTIAN NAZARENE

One combined worship service, will be held from 10 to 11 a.m. on Christmas Day.

ST. ANTHONY'S CHURCH

Christmas festivities were ushered in for St. Anthony's Catholic Church when St. Anthony's School students presented a recent Christmas program entitled "Christmas Card Medley" to a packed house parents, grandparents and friends. The program was followed by a Christmas shower for the Franciscan Sisters of Mary Immaculate who teach in the school.

The CYO (Catholic Youth Organization) had a Christmas party, combined caroling and hayride, last Friday. Visits were made to the residents of King's Manor Retirement Home and Westgate Nursing Home, and to the patients at Deaf Smith General Hospital. The following Wednesday the youth met to decorate the church for Christmas.

On Sunday, the students of the Sunday morning and Wednesday night Religious Education classes gave the readings and petitions at a special liturgy in the school auditorium. Fr. Frank Eldridge, S.A., moderator, was the celebrant. Holiday refreshments were served to the students, their families and teachers. Members of the RE Committee hosted the reception.

A Children's Mass is planned for 6 p.m. on Christmas Eve in St. Anthony's Church. The 50-member children's choir will be directed by Mrs. Cheryl Betzen and accompanied by Denise Detten. Fr. Eldridge will be the celebrant, with parish children serving as ministers for the liturgy.

"Come Along With us, the Second Grade, as we Walk With Jesus" will be presented at the beginning of the Mass. The second graders will sing several songs and do an interpretive dance during the singing of the "Hail Mary." Acting parts consist of Mary and Joseph, angels and shepherds plus six narrators.

Midnight Mass will commence with the singing of carols at 11:30 p.m. Saturday, in a traditional Christmas Eve celebration. Mass will begin at midnight, celebrated with Fr. Mark Traenkle, pastor, Fr. Boniface Reidman and Fr. Eldridge.

Solos will be presented by Mrs. Joe Reinauer Sr., Susan Stubbs, Judy Cloud, Carmen Flood, Ralph Detten, Ann Meyer, and Karen Zinser. ## School of Nursing receives federal grant

A federal grant for $234,455 has been awarded to the School of Nursing at West Texas State University for continuing nursing education in the Texas Panhandle region.

Charles Collins is the project director of the grant.

"The purpose of the grant is to provide continuing education for nurses in Northwest Texas as well as licensed vocational nurses," Collins said.

The WTSU School of Nursing received the grant approval from the United States Department of Health and Human Services following the submission of a grant application which included a needs assessment of nursing education in the Panhandle, said Collins.

Delores Williams, a former nursing faculty member, conducted the needs assessment by sending questionnaires to nurses in the Panhandle area and asking them if they would participate in a continuing education program.

"The program is funded for three years and one of my tasks is to seek out funding so

For young and old, Christmas represents the climax of the year and the glittering jewel of the winter season; yet amid all the excitement of presents and parties we should never for one moment lose sight of its origin and purpose. Let us remember that what we are celebrating is the most important birthday in all the history of mankind: of Someone who, from an obscure corner of the world, was destined to teach us all how to live in peace, brotherhood and love. Most of our good character traits and whatever spiritual happiness we may have achieved we owe in some measure to Him, through the Bible and the many Church denominations which expound His teachings. Attend yours this Christmas, and learn how the true spirit of it came about.

"For unto us a child is born, and his name shall be called...The Prince of Peace."
—Isaiah 9:6

O holy Child of Bethlehem,

Descend to us, we pray;

Cast out our sin and enter in;

Be born in us today.

SEXUAL VALUES IN AMERICA (II)
How much freedom should teens have?

Teens should have access to birth-control information:

- AT AGE 13 AND UP (55%)
- At 16 and up (20%)
- At 18 and up (12%)
- Not at all (8%)

Teens should be able to obtain birth-control pills or devices:

- AT 13 AND UP (33%)
- At 16 and up (27%)
- At 18 and up (25%)
- Not at all (9%)

Law should require parents to know ...

- ... If teenage son obtains contraceptives:
- NO (50%)
- Yes (44%)

... If teenage daughter obtains contraceptives:

- YES (50%)
- No (46%)

(Source: The Merit Report)

NEA/Moffitt Cecil

Should teenagers have access to birth-control information and devices? Yes, said most of the 1,200 adults taking part in a recent poll. However, there was a lack of agreement over whether parents ought to be told if a child has contraceptives.

Who want to achieve

1983's successes gave hope to others

Vanessa Williams practiced her singing and dancing in 1983. Barbara McClintock toiled quietly in a Long Island laboratory. Sally Ride and Guion 'Guy' Bluford rehearsed takeoffs, landings and everything in between.

By year's end all were winners. And moreover, their successes offered hope to those who dream of being first, of achieving what had been denied.

Other 1983 newsmakers included an artist with one name who decorated 11 Florida islands, a television news anchorwoman who says she got a raw deal, a Polish electrician designated a foremost man of peace and an 11-year-old schoolgirl who was given VIP treatment in the Soviet Union.

Miss Williams, a 20-year-old native of Millwood, N.Y., was named Miss America on Sept. 17 and became the first black woman to win the title in the 62-year history of the pageant.

years." Miss Ride and Bluford blazed trails in 1983 by being the first female and black Americans to travel in space.

An astrophysicist, Miss Ride, 32, served as a mission specialist in a crew of five on the flight of the space shuttle Challenger in June. After receiving praise from President Reagan for her work, she said, "It was fun and I'm sure it will be the most fun I'll ever have in my life."

Two and a half months later, Bluford rode Challenger on a perfect six-day mission - the first to begin and end at night. "I was raised thinking I could do anything I wanted to do," Bluford said.

Christo, the avant garde artist, took 6 million square feet of pink plastic and surrounded a seven-mile string of pine-studded islands in Florida's Biscayne Bay last May. Conservationists at first were worried about harming the environment, but the "Surrounded Islands" project drew widespread praise and boosted tourism.

Christine Craft was elated in August when a jury awarded her $500,000 in a suit claiming she was demoted from anchorwoman on a Kansas City television station because she wasn't attractive enough or deferential to men. But on Oct. 31 a federal judge threw out the verdict and Ms. Craft, describing herself as "appalled," vowed to pursue the case as long as necessary.

For Lech Walesa, the Polish shipyard worker and labor activist, 1983 began with harassment by the communist martial law authorities. But before year's end he had met with visiting Pope John Paul II and won the Nobel Peace Prize for his struggle on behalf of workers' rights.

Samantha Smith of Manchester, Maine, wrote Soviet leader Yuri V. Andropov and asked him if he wanted to conquer the world. Andropov responded by inviting the plucky schoolgirl to visit the Soviet Union to see for herself.

For two weeks she was whisked to a youth camp in the Crimea, a collective farm, the circus and the ballet, met Soviet dignitaries and was showered with gifts, all with an army of reporters in tow.

"Soviet people are really nice people," she said. They're almost just like Americans."

Reagan Jr., son of the president, hung up his ballet slippers and turned to free-lance writing "where you can starve equally." Another well-known son, Robert F. Kennedy Jr., had a brush with the law in South Dakota and committed himself to a private hospital for treatment of a drug problem.

The strange case of John Z. De Lorean - the bright, dynamic automaker who found himself mired in drug charges in California - got stranger as pre-trial maneuvering continued through the year. Sex magazine publisher Larry Flynt got in the act by providing a television network with FBI videotape showing De Lorean meeting with undercover officers.

Flynt later played an audio tape he claimed proved that De Lorean and his family were threatened if the automaker backed out of a cocaine deal. A judge fined the paraplegic publisher $20,000 a day for refusing to disclose the source of the tape and cited him for wearing an American flag as a diaper. In December Flynt admitted the tape was a fake.

Other newsmakers included Ginny Foat, the president of the California chapter of the National Organization for Women, who was acquitted in Gretna, La., of charges she murdered an Argentine businessman in a New Orleans suburb 18 years ago.

And Wayne Cryts, a Puxico, Mo., farmer, was found innocent of criminal contempt of court for selling his soybean crop in violation of a court order and became a symbol of the beleaguered farmer.

Woman artfully repairs statues

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - Throwing away a broken Hummel is like discarding an old friend, and a local artist says even the most battered of the German-made figurines remain tucked away on shelves and in drawers for years.

"No one ever throws a Hummel out, no matter how badly it's broken," says Mary Daughtry, who offers hope to Hummel collectors by repairing the valuable figurines.

Military families and insurance companies have beaten a well-worn path to the door of Ms. Daughtry's antique shop, where she spends much of her time repairing Hummels.

"It's surprising how many people bring me Hummels that were broken years ago," she said. "Hummels are like old friends, and everyone loves them."

Ms. Daughtry repaired her first Hummel in 1969 and her shop has been brimming with the broken figurines ever since.

"The repair work I do in my shop equals the profit of my sales," she said.

Ms. Daughtry said much of her Hummel repair work is for government employees whose figurines were broken in cross-country or overseas moves.

"Almost all service-connected people own between one and 100 Hummels," she said. "I do a lot of work for them and for moving and storage companies responsible for breaking the figurines."

Most Hummel owners, she said, regard a broken figurine as "a major tragedy."

Ms. Daughtry said she repairs an average of six Hummels each week for people who want their "old friends" in good shape.

"The value is not as good as if they had never been broken, but it is still more than if the figure was not repaired," she said.

Ms. Daughtry said Hummel-collecting is one of the most profitable pastimes around.

The quaint figures of German children and small animals were first cast in 1923 and were modeled after the drawings of Berta Hummel, a nun.

Ms. Daughtry said the figurines began to be "seriously" produced in 1935 and have been in great demand ever since.

"The old Hummels are terribly expensive," she said. "They're very much worth collecting, because if a person had invested in a Hummel 10 years ago, he would have profited more than placing the money in a high-interest savings account."

Ms. Daughtry said it's not the value, however, that has created the demand for Hummels.

The bright-colored figures of rosy-cheeked children are endearing, she said.

"They're nostalgic and appeal to everybody," she said.

Ms. Daughtry said her love of antiques and porcelain led her into the Hummel repair business.

"I was so upset when I found a beautiful piece that was broken," she said. "I had taught art in my own studio for years and I already knew a lot about coloring so I decided to try my hand at repair."

Ms. Daughtry said she borrowed books on porcelain and china repair from the library and began to practice on "gunky things" that couldn't be salvaged.

"I started out practicing on junk I got at flea markets and went on like that for three years," she said.

After she felt she had mastered the art of repair, Ms. Daughtry began fixing friends' figurines at no charge.

The first item she repaired for profit was a Hummel with its head snapped off.

Ms. Daughtry said almost any broken Hummel, except those with chipped or cracked faces, can be salvaged.

The facial features designed by Berta Hummel are difficult to re-create and are the most charming facet of the figurines, she said.

She said she repairs Hummels with missing pieces by rebuilding lost fragments and painting the broken areas to match original Hummel designs.

Ms. Daughtry said her biggest repair job was on a Hummel with a girl's shoe and dog missing.

Although she spends much of her time with Hummel figurines, Ms. Daughtry owns none herself.

"I have one granddaughter, Meredith, and the Hummels I've bought are hers," she said. "After she was born, I decided Hummels would be something to invest in that would be good for her to have."
