HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

INTERESTING news is that the Southern Pacific has signed a contract to operate the Gulf & West Texas, which is to be built from San Antonio to San Angelo.

The Santa Fe, of course, is in Angelo, with the G. C. & S. F. and the Orient. It operates also from San Angelo to Sterling City. It is building southward through Sonora to Presidio on the border.

The T & P in not so many more days will know whether it will be permitted to extend the Abilene & Southern from Ballinger to San Angelo.

The Texas & Pacific is building a fine new terminal in Big Spring.

The Santa Fe is in Lamesa, fifty miles northward.

What a beautiful gap that is between Sterling City and Lamesa, with Big Spring lying in between.

It is beyond our imagination to conceive a contest to see whether the Missouri Pacific Southern, Pacific, (Texas & Pacific) group or the Santa Fe is permitted to close up that gap or at least extend from San Angelo to Big Spring.

Let Big Spring get a north-and-south railroad and also become tie-in point, or terminal for both the New York-Dallas-El Paso and the New York-New Orleans-San Antonio-El Paso air mail lines already mapped out by the postoffice department and you'll see this town become THE biggest and strongest in all West Texas with the possible exception of Amarillo.

Think that over.

JIM ISSUES STATEMENT

Demands that Sterling 'Prove Sincerity' As to Bonds

FORT WORTH, July 29 (AP)—A demand that Ross E. Sterling of Houston, runner-up in the race for governor, withdraw as a candidate in the second primary if he would prove his sincerity on his highway bond issue proposal was made here today by James E. Ferguson, whose wife has rolled up a heavy majority in the Saturday election.

"If Sterling, in view of the results of the first primary, now tries to say he regards that election as decisive of the road bond question, then to prove his sincerity he ought to withdraw from the race, as well as withdrawing his road bond issue from before the people," Ferguson declared.

If Sterling continues to seek the nomination, the 25 days remaining before the second primary will witness a contest that will rival in warmth the present summer temperatures, he predicted. The issues about which the lines of battle will be drawn, besides the main issue of the bond question, are the elective highway commission, pentantiary relocation, and the regulation and licensing of motor trucks and buses for using the highways, according to Ferguson's estimate of the situation.

Ferguson forecasts a vote in the second primary even heavier than that in Saturday's election. On the basis of the 625,000 votes he expects to cast in the second contest, he declares Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson will receive 500,000. Assuming also that 125,000 votes remain to be counted in the first primary, he expects his wife to add 100,000 to her present lead over Sterling.

OKLAHOMA NOMINATES

Record Vote Predicted For Two High Offices

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 29 (AP)—Heightened interest and clear weather brought voters to the Oklahoma primary polls in unprecedented numbers today. From virtually all sections of the state came reports of heavy early voting.

First reports of trends could not be regarded as indicative of final results in the major Democratic race—governor and United States Senator as they reflected sentiment for favorite sons or sectional preference.

At Muskogee Early unofficial counts in scattered precincts at Muskogee were reported to show a heavy lead in the governor's race for M. E. Trapp, who maintained his residence there during the time he was governor following the impeachment of J. C. Walton in 1923. A large early vote in Muskogee county indicated that 10,000 ballots might be cast there.

An early lead for W. H. (Alfalfa) Bill Murray was reported from Oklahoma, where his gubernatorial candidacy was launched last fall at a reunion of delegates to the constitutional convention of 1907, of which he was president. The same survey showed Henry S. Johnston, ousted governor, and C. J. Wrightman, Tulsa oil millionaire, in a neck and neck contest for the senatorial nomination.

OIL OUTPUT DECREASES

Oklahoma Leads In Decline of 28,423 Barrels

TULSA, Okla., July 29 (AP)—Oklahoma led the way in a decline of 28,423 barrels in the average daily production of light and heavy gravity oil in the United States for the week ended July 26, the Oil and Gas Journal reported. The country's daily average for the week is estimated at 2,677,249 barrels as against 2,705,672 barrels the previous week.

The Oklahoma daily average dropped off 20,610 to 555,140 barrels, approaching the 500,000 barrel maximum figure recently agreed upon by operators and ordered by the state corporation commission.

For the mid-continent area, the daily average output of light oil was 1,295,645 barrels, a decrease of 24,732. West Texas production was down to 295,272, a decline of 2,435 barrels and the Texas Panhandle registered a drop of 8,717 for a daily average of 96,009. Remaining mid-continent fields held about steady. Kansas production was 210,946 barrels against 118,240 the previous week.

Eastern production was off 6,000 barrels, averaging 127,000, while the Rocky mountain area showed a gain of 510 to reach 106,485 barrels. Producer Causes Texarkana 'Crawl'

TEXARKANA, Tex., July 29 (AP)—Discovery of oil on the Red river east of here is going to make Gus Kennedy, Texarkana business man, do some hard crawling.

Kennedy was skeptical when efforts were made to get oil from the well and said if the well became a producer he would crawl 20 miles on his hands and knees.

The Charles V. Lentz well, in which Kennedy had no confidence, came in as a producer over the week end and Kennedy began preparations for his crawl which he expected to start tomorrow night. He will be equipped with heavy knee pads and mittens.

R-100 OFF TO CANADA

Huge Airship Flies More Direct Route

LONDON, July 29 (AP)—A message received from the Dirigible R-100 at 4:00 p. m. Greenwich time (11 a. m. E. S. T.) read as follows:

"Everything OK fine weather. Rather cold." The position of the airship was given as 54.40 north latitude and 11.30 west longitude. From this position it was apparent the airship was swinging in a southwesterly direction and was taking a much more direct route than at first planned when her itinerary called for her skirting Cape Farewell on the southern tip of Greenland.

VALENTIA, Ireland, July 29 (AP)—The wireless station here at 4:18 p. m. (11:18 a. m. E. S. T.) received the following radio from the British dirigible R-100: "Now 205 miles west of Main head, bound for Montreal."

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 29 (AP)—Hugging the west coast of Scotland in order to avoid adverse winds, the British dirigible R-100 at noon today was making progress toward the Hebrides on her journey from Cardington to Montreal.

The airship held a northeasterly course and was reported last off Overyay island, Argyllshire, Scotland. The position indicated that the ship, which left her mooring mast at 3:45 a. m. Greenwich time, was making every effort to shape a favorable westerly course out to sea.

The maritime county of Argyllshire, one of Scotland's most ancient, is mountainous and it was considered that the commander, squadron leader R. S. Booth, probably had run into rather heavy counter-currents from the peaks of the land of the Campbells on his way out. The dirigible was reported making approximately fifty knots. Commander Booth had estimated the journey to Canada would require sixty hours, which would bring the dirigible to Montreal at about 10 a. m. eastern standard time on Thursday if the schedule was maintained.

The rate at which the R-100 was traveling this morning, however, indicated that arrival might not be possible until many hours later than that estimated.

Deaths On Border Reach Total of 3

McALLEN, Tex., July 29 (AP)—Three persons are dead here as the result of a week-end suicide and a brace of gun fights along the border.

Albert R. Teagle, Sr., 35, died from gunshot wounds received in a fight with United States customs officers near Hidalgo. The officers seized 300 gallons of liquor. Eddie Garza, 20, son of Deputy Sheriff Pedro Garza, died as the result of three gunshot wounds in the chest. Ricardo Mendoza was being sought in connection with the shooting, which occurred at a dance hall Sunday.

George Spawn of Alamo, 45, was found dead in his home early Sunday after neighbors were aroused by a shot. A verdict of death from gunshot wounds self-inflicted was returned by Justice of the Peace Paine of Donna.

FORT WORTH, Tex., July 29 (AP)—Oil operators in the Penn Pool of Ector county agreed at a conference here yesterday to hold production to 10,275 barrels daily effective Aug. 1. This was the amount four pipe line companies purchasing oil from the field decided to run.

The potential production was shown to be 20,997 barrels daily by a four-day gauge of the 51 wells in the pool. There are 32 units of 40 acres each in the area and production will be based 100 per cent on the average potential in units.

Probe Poisoning Of Paris Family

PARIS, Tex., July 29 (AP)—Mrs. Jim Martin, 80, is dead and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gunn, all of Minter, are in a serious condition with a mysterious illness which attacked them after eating breakfast Sunday. Mrs. Martin died soon after eating. Doctors and officers were conducting an investigation.

Physicians said they believed that germs in biscuits eaten by the three caused ptomaine poisoning. Physicians said the germs appear frequently.

Thornton, Expert, Caller to Gasser

REFUGIO, Tex., July 29 (AP)—"Tex" Thornton, nitro-glycerin expert and jouster extraordinary with burning oil wells, has been summoned to match his skill against a wild gasser which since Saturday has shot skyward a 100-foot column of roaring flames.

Thornton arrived last night from Amarillo with his crew and immediately began preparations to tame the wild blaze, a task at which other oil men have failed. Heavy galvanized guards were constructed to permit Thornton and his crew to go closer to the blaze, and a large pit near the 200-foot crater blasted by exploding gas was filled with water to be released into the well. Several hundred residents have left the vicinity of the fire after three buildings were destroyed. Dorricks and other equipment have been moved away from the burning well and several nearby houses torn down.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Cincinnati, Ohio, settled by a quotation from Ecclesiastes. The Old Testament contains no book so pessimistic in outlook as this is. It does not represent either the Hebrew or the Christian mind upon the issues involved. Many scholars deem it the work of two or three different authors, of whom one at least was acquainted with contemporary Greek thought. Yet its pessimism is by no means unrelieved. with an end, far, but in the future. It is doubtful, however, if the Des Moines experiment is the remedy for court congestion.

Texas system of jurisprudence, as we have mentioned in these columns before, is not so wonderfully efficient as to please the more discriminating. We who live under the light of the Lone Star will do well to watch the result of Iowa's dollar court and, if it proves successful, copy it.

Any change in the court system, that would better care for the problems of the day, should be welcome in Texas.

HOW'S YOUR HEALTH

The Permanent Teeth Humans have two sets of teeth—a temporary set of 20 small teeth, and a permanent set of 32 large teeth.

The reason for this apparent "second chance" is easy to understand when the growth of the jaw is considered. Teeth do not grow after they have broken through the gums and take their place in the mouth—the small temporary teeth, therefore, would fit badly in an adult jaw.

The first permanent tooth appears between the fifth and sixth year of life. The rest grow into the month between this time and the twenty-fifth year of life.

The first permanent tooth, the so-called sixth molar, is of great importance to the proper development of the teeth and every effort should be made to preserve it against injury and decay.

Not infrequently parents, under the impression that the sixth-year molar is a temporary tooth, allow it to decay, believing that it will be replaced by a permanent tooth. This does not occur, and the consequent loss of the sixth-year molar means the derangement of all the other permanent teeth.

The sixth-year molar holds the key to a definite relation to each other while the 20 temporary teeth are being shed and permanent ones are taking their place. To safeguard against the loss of this tooth, parents should look for its appearance when the child is five or six years old.

Though there are 32 teeth in the mouth, the loss of a single tooth, and particularly the loss of any of the sixth-year molars seriously decreases the efficiency, and resistance to disease, of the entire mouth.

Hollywood Sights

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—Wagner Baxter, who not only speaks but sings for himself, has learned from his press clippings that he did not sing in "In Old Arizona," and other pictures at all, but used a double.

A widely printed story credits a radio singer with having doubled for Baxter's baritone on the screen. Baxter does not pretend to be a singing star, but does claim to have sufficient voice to deliver the type of songs the screen has asked.

The harm that such a report can do to a player's standing with the fans needs no better illustration than the sensation stirred last year when it was revealed that a singing double had been used for Richard Barthelmess, who did not approve of the idea at the time, has not sung in a picture since.

But the revelation was largely responsible for the increasing distrust with which the talkies have looked on singing doubles, and today there are few if any cases where stars who cannot sing pretend they do. Baxter, certainly, is not one of them.

The voice double, in fact, is thriving principally in fiction about the talkies—and not in Hollywood.

DAGGER By Mary Dahlberg

SYNOPSIS: Dagger Mincey, 25-year-old niece of a Texas rancher near the Mexican border, rescues Blaine Howard, an American vagabond soldier of fortune from a band of Mexican insurgents. Admission and respect for each other is mutual almost at once. It develops that Howard was once a famous polo player, as was Dick Welling, now crippled by loss of a arm, a foreman on the ranch of Dagger's uncle, Jim Marley. Howard and Welling both have heard of each other, but both seem to have something in their past life of which they do not wish to speak. Howard accepts an invitation to remain at the ranch for a time as a guest.

"Watch out," advised the cowboy. "That there's a gentleman's point." "Meaning who?" she retorted. "There's my seven."

"I'm just beginning," Dagger announced. "I'll shoot twenty dollars." "Shoot the works," he said. "Cover you again," affirmed Hank.

"I know my luck," she rapped. "Take me?" "No, no, no," he pushed the pile of banknotes toward her as she threw a pair of deuces.

"I'll take five dollars," Pete professed. "Cover the balance," said Howard. "Holy gee," gasped McCarty. "I'm shooting fifty dollars this time," she announced.

"I don't want to take all your money," Howard demurred. "Nonsense," she returned furiously. "Fifty, now, or nothing."

"There you are," she smiled. "That's half the game, drawing down at the psychological moment." "The dice went to Pete."

MRS. ED. PHIPPS with me, I never had a good night's sleep and I'd wake up mornings with raging headaches. A sluggish liver kept me constipated and I was almost too tired and weak to do anything.

"Sargon Pills toned up my liver and ended my constipation without upsetting me in the least." Mrs. Ed. Phipps, 2513 Market St., Ft. Worth.

"How much have you got left?" he asked with a grin. "Fifteen dollars." She got up. "That's my original roll. I quit Buenos nocha, mis amigos."

MUNICH (INS)—Bavarian war veterans aroused over what they call the "interventionism" of Crown Prince Rupprecht, pretender to the Wittelsbach throne.

Hobart Quiet After Shooting by Negro

HOBERT, Okla., July 29 (AP)—The race situation growing out of the shooting Sunday night of Al T. Trentham, night watchman here, by an unknown assailant believed to have been a negro, was quiet today.

Although the feeling that ensued against negro residents of Hobart following the shooting resulted in a temporary injunction Monday by Sheriff Sam Sandefer that negroes refrain from leaving their settlement to vote in today's election, the situation was cleared today after the police officer told the negroes they would be allowed to go to the polls and would be protected.

A number of negro residents had left town, however, and efforts were being made today to round them up so they might return to vote.

A posse continued its search for Fred Wallace, 40, negro suspected in connection with the shooting of the night watchman.

While officers kept the whereabouts of Washington secret after he had been spirited away, in the face of a mob following the slaying, groups of men went through the negro settlements in Oklahoma towns near the Texas border and drove the residents from their homes. They later permitted the negroes to return.

Cooking by Electricity is the Best, Simplest and Easiest Method of Preparing Foods

Cooking by electricity is generally accepted by housewives as the best, simplest and easiest method of preparing food. It is gaining in favor as fast as housewives realize the many advantages of the electric range.

Best, because it retains the actual goodness of foods.
Simplest, because the heat is controlled. Even an amateur can cook with unvarying success in an electric oven.

Easiest, because the electric range is designed to operate with the least amount of attention.

These three advantages have convinced 2,500 housewives served by the Texas Electric Service Company that cooking by electricity is most desirable.

Every Little Cell In Your System Says Thanks For Nourishment

You've seen "flowers in the rain, lift up their heads again". Well! that's how it is with hungry little cells when you answer their cry for food. At first the call is a whisper; you're just a little restless, or languid and tired. This happens at mid-meal hours; around 10-2 & 4 o'clock. Go then. Don't wait. Drink a bite to eat and see how much better you'll feel.

A little nourishment at such a time tides you over 'til another meal; puts an edge on your brain and body; picks you up and puts you "on your toes." Try it... at regular hours... for just one week. No kidding! It works. Not a thing in it can harm you. It's one good habit to get. It won't get you.

AT 10-2 & 4 O'CLOCK

A razor, said to be 120 years old, is being used every day by Lloyd, who was born soon to be moved from Burgin, Lincoln, Tex., to the main street of Florida, Mo., to Mark. It has been handed down by members of the Twain family, a half mile south of the town, where it will be preserved.

TO THE VOTERS

I want to express my thanks to those who supported me in the election Saturday. I solicit your continued interest and support during the next few weeks before the August election when I will again be grateful for your influence and your vote.
