Thompson Seeks Smith's Name On Primary Ballot

A request to place the name of Ralph Smith as a candidate for County Clerk on the ballot for the July 26 primary elections was made Saturday in a letter to County Chairman C. C. Acker from County and District Clerk Robert Thompson.

Acker told The Brand that the matter "will be brought before the county executive committee and acted on as prescribed by law." He said he had asked three lawyers about the filing deadline due to the splitting of the county and district clerk offices and some have been able to advise him on it.

The county executive committee, membership of which is made up of duly elected precinct chairmen as of the 1950 primary, will meet on June 16 and the matter will be presented to them at that time.

Thompson's letter follows:

May 24, 1952

Mr. C. C. Acker, Chairman
Deaf Smith County Democratic Committee
Hereford, Texas

Dear Mr. Acker:

There has been considerable discussion about the future of Ralph Smith to properly file his application to place his name on the ballot for the July 26, 1952 Democratic Primary election as a candidate for the office of County Clerk.

It is my honest opinion that I did not owe Mr. Smith the duty of advising him of the separation of the offices of County Clerk and District Clerk, nor as to which office he should seek, yet I am perfectly willing for his name to be placed on the ballot along with mine, as a candidate for County Clerk.

Therefore, you are requested that the name of Ralph Smith be placed on the ballot as a candidate for the office of County Clerk.

Yours very truly,
Robert L. Thompson

FIREMEN TRY vainly to fight the blaze which Friday night destroyed the six-room farm home of the H. D. Goldston, who lives 1 1/2 miles northwest of Hereford. The Goldstons were at Hereford high school graduation exercises when the fire broke out, apparently about 8 p.m. Staff Photo.

MOST OF THE belongings of the H. D. Goldston were saved by neighbors and bystanders who worked desperately to clear them out of the burning building Friday night. Here are some of the belongings. A large crowd gathered to see the fire as the burning house lit up the darkening sky like a torch. Some of the spectators are shown at the rear in the above photo. Staff Photo.

No Legal Action Against OPS Possible: Growers

No action to enjoin the Office of Price Stabilization from enforcing potato price ceilings in this area is possible under the law, members of the Texas Potato Shippers and Growers Association learned Friday afternoon.

This information came to Jack

Bentz, president of the group, by telephone. He conferred with C. W. Kitchen, executive secretary of the United Fruit and Vegetable Jobbers, a man better versed in the workings of governmental affairs than any other man in the industry, Bentz said.

Local potato growers and shippers can do nothing but wait for a new potato ceiling to be given out after the Defense Control Act is renewed on June 30.

"We're stumped," Bentz said. With the local spot harvest scheduled to begin on June 25, shippers will be covered by a June price ceiling of $3.35 per 100 pounds of No. 1 spuds, headed on the car. Spuds sold in the field will be held to the $3.25 minus the processing and harvesting costs. Also, the grower who sells in the field will have to guarantee that the buyer will make his money back selling at the approved ceiling.

On the matter of the suit against the OPS, Bentz added that Mr. Kitchen had legal advice Friday afternoon that the only way to get the suit to go to a protest with the OPS, they would have a month to answer. If their answer was unfavorable to the growers, they could file with the Emergency Court of Appeals in Washington. They, in turn, would have six months to study the matter and issue a report.

"The big weakness of the thing," Bentz told The Brand, "is that we're working with a base ceiling enforced by the OPS, but set by the Department of Agriculture. The only alternative for us is to comply with the ceiling."

Bentz pointed out what he said were some advantages of operating under the ceiling. "We will have a stable market at a higher price for a longer time," he concluded.

Also, without ceiling prices, packers used smaller potatoes for hog feed. Now, consumers may buy smaller spuds at $1 less per 100 pounds. Before there was no market for these.

With an OPS ceiling price on the spuds, the top price allowed will be lower than a free market would allow during the first two weeks of the Hereford harvest.

Bentz said, "We don't anticipate nearly as hot a market on potatoes as now exists." He pointed out that national consumption of spuds is 300 cars per day. By July 15, 1950 will reach a capacity of 90-100 cars per day shipped out; by June 12, California, which is now shipping spuds, will reach an output of 1000 cars per day — 10 more than the nation consumes — and North Carolina and Virginia will put

H. D. Goldston Family Homeless After Blaze

Six members of the H. D. Goldston family were burned out of their six-room home, 1 1/2 miles northwest of town Friday night by flames which broke out just after the family had left for Hereford high school where the Goldston's 18-year-old daughter, Glensy, graduated with the Class of 1952.

The Goldston home, a two-story stucco-sided wood frame building, was a complete shambles following the raging three-hour blaze which broke out in the kitchen, presumably after a towel had slipped off the wall and over the pilot light of the family's new butane stove.

Goldston Saturday morning estimated his loss at about $1,000. He had $2,000 insurance on the house. Most of the loss was confined to the home as neighbors worked feverishly to save the household effects and personal belongings of the Goldston family.

The fire started around 8 o'clock, it is believed. The family left for the Hereford high school graduation exercises at 7:50 p. m. At about 8:35, another son, David, who works for the Benay Wombles, came home with the Wombles to change clothes so he could attend the graduation. David and the Wombles discovered the blaze and tried vainly to extinguish it. When they arrived, Wombles told The Brand that the east kitchen wall was just starting to flame up and David went onto the roof of the house in an attempt to put out the fire.

Mrs. Wombles turned in the alarm while the men tried to put out the fire. Wombles said if they had had a water supply, they could have handled the blaze easily, coming close to extinguishing it twice.

When the Hereford firemen arrived on the scene, a hose connection burst and the blaze was controlled from the pumper while the water supply from the Goldston irrigation well 130 feet to the northwest was being hooked up.

Once the house started burning, it roared fiercely for nearly two hours. A bevy of firemen and volunteers were unable to cope with the blaze and neighbors and bystanders saved all the possessions they could reach. The Wombles carried out the refrigerator as soon as they found they couldn't control the blaze.

Goldston told The Brand the replacement cost of the structure would be from $7,000. In addition to the house, he lost three mattresses, a cream separator and about 100 cans of fruits and vegetables.

"Our biggest need," Goldston said, "is for a house to rent. I believe then we can manage for the year."

He plans to start right in building over the old foundation. Some of the old shell of the house is usable, but not too much.

He hopes to get a pre-fab on the lot and rebuild within about 30 days.

Mr. Goldston discussed the fire with The Brand Saturday morning was profound in his gratitude for the assistance his neighbors gave while the family was away. "If it hadn't been for my neighbors, I'm afraid they'd have had to take me away this morning. They just took over."

"Hereford is a hard place to beat," he added thoughtfully. Goldston said they had enough household furnishings in the upstairs of the house to furnish a two-room house comfortably. All that was saved from the second floor was a Mixmaster. During the blaze, an iron bedstead stood up defiantly about the flames as they licked around the edges of the house after devouring the roof in a very few minutes.

While firemen and neighbors were fighting the blaze and helping save their worldly possessions, Mr. and Mrs. Goldston were seeing their daughter, Glensy, graduate, unaware of the tragedy at their 20-acre farm.

Their daughter won a Lions club scholarship and was presented with the honor during the ceremonies.

Supt. George Graham was informed of the fire during the graduation exercises. At the end, he called the Goldstons to the front of the auditorium and told them the bad news.

Goldston described Friday night as giving a "feeling of joy to the hardest hit a man could have." The Hereford volunteer firemen were out on the call for three hours.

Friday night, the Goldstons doubled up with friends after their home was destroyed by fire. Mr. and Mrs. Goldston spent the night at the T. H. Teague residence; David with the Don Moores; Florence, who came to Hereford for the graduation, spent the night with Mrs. Bob Hess; Glensy with Annie Mae Moore; and Dora and Francis with the Wayne Evans family.

Apparently, the Goldstons saved their personal belongings — clothing and such — but are still in need of a three or four room house to live until they can rebuild. They have four children at home — Glennis, 18; David, 16; Dora, 12; and Francis, 9.

Farm Storage Wheat Support $2.16 Bushel

Deaf Smith county's farm storage loan rate for 1952 crop wheat is $2.16 per bushel for US No. 1, according to information given Faust Collier, secretary of the Deaf Smith county CCC.

Terminal support rate for the wheat at Colwell is $2.00 Collier said.

Other counties in this area have the following support rates: Fannin, $2.15; Castro, $2.16; Othman, $2.15; and Randall, $2.16.

Collier told The Brand the support rate for all the counties in Texas has been calculated on a basis of a national average support price of $2.17 per bushel. This figure is subject to increase if necessary to reflect 50 per cent of July 1, 1952 wheat price.

Notice of the 1952 support prices were received in the local CCC office Thursday.

Seventeen families are now in the running for The Hereford Brand's "Good Neighbor" vacation contest with the addition of two more since Thursday.

Nominations since the last list was published are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith of Hereford and the Harold Carpenter of near Bovina.

Nominations for your favorite "Good Neighbor" family in Deaf Smith, Fannin, Castro or Othman counties can be made until June 1. The family selected by the judges as the good neighbor will receive a FREE week's vacation for the ENTIRE FAMILY at Drovers Water Ranch, Granby, Colo. from June 15-21. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith have been nominated as "Good Neighbors" by Mrs. Cecil Parker. The Smiths have lived in Hereford for the past 47 years.

Mrs. Parker says of the Smiths: "The Ralph Smiths are always among the first to call on their neighbors when they are sick and volunteer to help them in any way they can."

They have encouraged and helped countless boys and girls to enjoy music through Mr. Smith's former work as Band Director in the Hereford high school.

Mr. Smith, working as Veteran's Service officer had helped many families have homes of their own and other benefits they were entitled to. Usually, the veterans and families have been ignorant of their rights and privileges until Mr. Smith brought them to their attention.

"Also, the Smiths have been among the first to organize square dance clubs, which are so prominent in the recreational scheme in Hereford. They have been Graybar, the lowest bidder, also had the quickest tentative delivery date, Forrest told The Brand. They can deliver one of the seven sets of central office equipment in 150-180 days and install all within 300 days after the contracts are approved by REA administration.

Next best time offer, from second-place Stromberg-Carlson, was for delivery within 240-300 days and installation in 350 days.

Farmer Run Over By Tractor Wed.

C. W. Edwards, farmer living 30 miles northwest of Hereford, is improving in the Deaf Smith county hospital after sustaining serious external and internal injuries after being run over by a tractor on Wednesday.

Edwards was instructing a hired boy on driving a tractor when the fender on which he was leaning tore loose and he fell under the wheel of the tractor, which ran over his abdomen.

The accident occurred at about 8:30 a. m. Wednesday morning. Edwards' physician said he suffered four fractured ribs on the right side, three on the left, internal injuries, bleeding into the left chest and damaged liver. His condition was quite serious just after the accident but he is improving very well in view of the extent of his injuries.

GRASS ROOTS

HAIRY VETCH:
Description: Widely adapted annual, winter legume.

Uses: Soil protection, soil improvement, grazing, hay and seed.

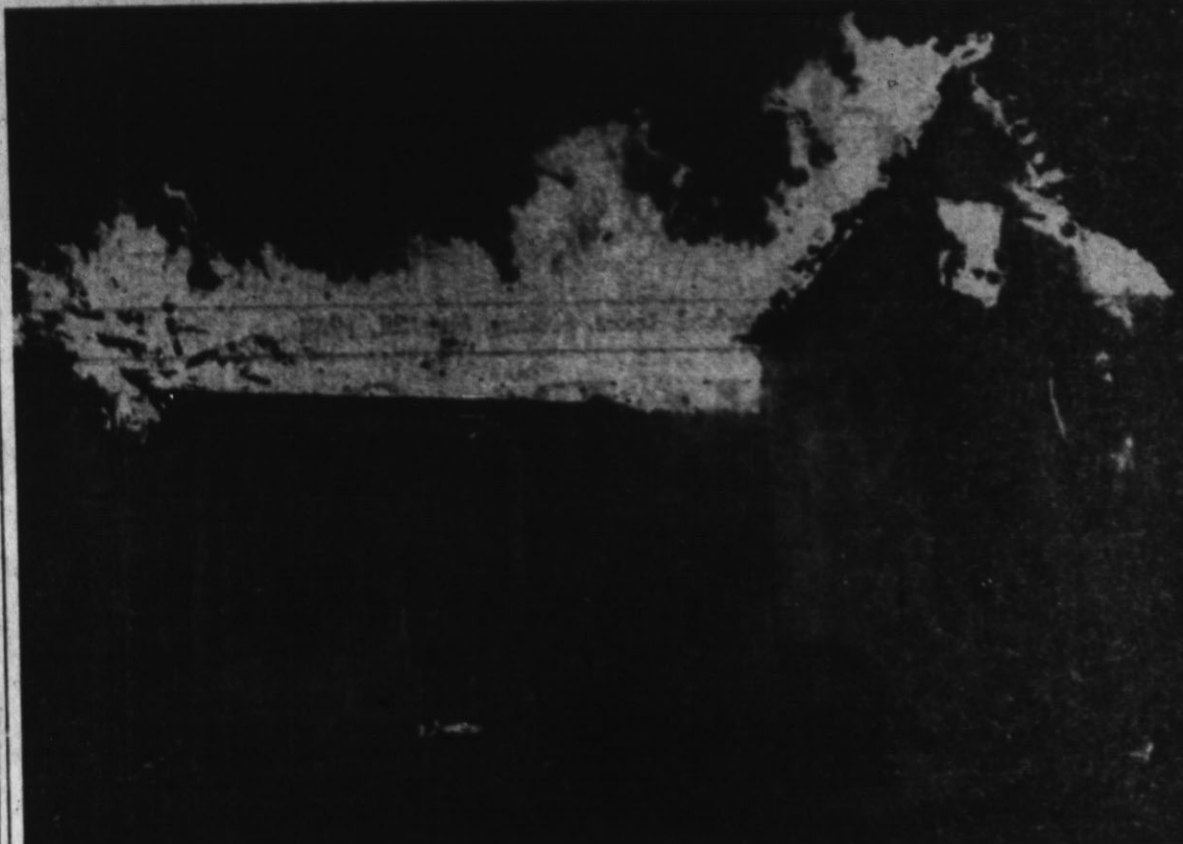

The photograph above is a seeding of Vetch on the Earl Lance farm north of Summerfield. Mr. Lance seeded this crop in September last year for the purpose of turning it under this spring for soil building. The photograph was made May 24th, and the plants are in full bloom. I did not make an actual tonnage determination, but feel sure that Mr. Lance will turn under around four tons of green material per acre. In addition to this large amount of organic material added to the soil, this vetch has been fixing nitrogen in the soil during its growth. These nitrogen fixing bacteria, which live on the roots of legume plants such as vetch, have the ability to take nitrogen from the air and put it in the vetch plant. This increases the protein content and improves the fertility of the soil, since it adds nitrogen fertilizer and organic matter. The values of the fertilizer alone, which a good crop of vetch adds, is estimated at from ten to twenty dollars an acre. In addition to being one of the best cover and soil improving crops, hairy vetch makes excellent temporary pasture that is high in protein. Carrying capacity will vary due to the treatment the plant received in the Fall and early Spring. One can very easily get the answers from the men who have used vetch as a combination soil building and grazing crop. Visit with Bill Davis, J. C. McCracken, Ralph Hastings, Robert Kerschen, Bob Lewis or Jay Boston, and there are plenty of others. There are several angles to consider in a farming program which includes vetch.

Planting time, rate and method of seeding, are the chief factors determining the success of the operation, but quality of seed and management of the stand are tied in so closely that one without the other will surely bring about a complete flop. It is hard to say too much about this fine plant and I will not hesitate to make the statement that every irrigation farmer in the area who does not make use of it is missing the boat. The plant is so versatile that its use does no inhibit the raising of cash crops. Think about a stark field growing lush in this high protein grazing crop! CASH CROP - COVER CROP - GRAZING CROP - SOIL IMPROVEMENT CROP - all on hand that before was out of production after the maize was harvested. One more point - NO BLOAT has ever been reported from the grazing of vetch. TEXAS SEED LAW:

Why was such a law passed? To answer this question, I copy this Law and Regulation," issued by paragraph from the "Texas Seed Law of the Texas State Department of Agriculture. PRIMARY PURPOSE OF SEED LAW: "To make it possible for farmers to buy planting seed which can be relied upon to give favorable return on seed investment by utilizing information on the OFFICIAL TAG or LABEL so that he may decide whether the stock is the best obtainable for the money; to increase the NET INCOME for farm families by more careful seeding and seed production methods; to eliminate the SELLING OF INFERIOR SEED WITH LARGE WEED CONTENT by dealer or trucker. This law was passed to affect all INDIVIDUALS AND FIRMS ALIKE."

There is little doubt that the majority of the blind weed, Johnson grass, blue weed and other noxious weeds have been spread in this area through seed. One small patch of possession vine in the middle of a wheat field or grain sorghum field will produce enough seed to infest a very large area, unless it is cleaned out of the seed before planting again. Why, then are farmers planting out of their granaries and passing up certified seed that the law requires be free of all noxious weed seed? Must be the rumor that certified seed is too high. Guess I'd best approach the question from that angle. IF certified seed were $10.00 a hundred and IF a man planted 80 lbs. per acre it would cost 80c an acre to seed good clean seed. However, certified seed is NOT $10.00 a hundred. Figure out the value of land, plant this land to Johnson grass, bind weed and blue weed, and then try to make it pay off under irrigation. Another angle!!! All improved varieties of grain sorghum planted in this area are HYBRIDS. I shudder to think of the many fields we will have this year that will require an airplane to harvest them. Generally one year out of certification works out fine—but after that the parents of the Hybrid start showing up. To clean up any doubts—I do have certified grain sorghum seed, but I also have soil sterilents and other herbicides for noxious weed CONTROL. I use the word control for as yet we haven't found a successful eradicator for possession vine other than sterilizing the soil.

Lengthy this time, wasn't it? J. T. E.

Members of the growers met Thursday night in the county courtroom to discuss the possibility of enjoining the OPS from enforcing a spud ceiling in this area. The ceiling provisions were "discussed line-by-line," Renfro reported, to decide whether or not to file against the OPS.

A committee of five was named to work with Renfro - Fred Barrett, Howard Gault, Walter Hodges, John Paetzold and Henry Benson. The committee met Friday morning and took the action already described.

About 30 members of the growers' association attended the meeting.

It is hoped, Forrest commented, to set a date for letting out construction bids at Wednesday's meeting. He expects that the outside work will be completed before the central office equipment is installed.

Forrest said all the work can be done on the money now available, he believes. Original estimate for the central office equipment (base bid) was $85,000.

Names of each of the four bidders and their bids are: Graybar Electric, Dallas; Base Bid - $94,425.54; alternate bid for interceptor equipment, $4,534.41; total bid - $98,959.95; Stromberg - Carlson, Rochester, N. Rotary Club Has Safety Program

A safety program was presented by the highway patrolmen at the Friday meeting of the Hereford Rotary club.

J. R. Kirkwood, local highway patrolman, was in charge of the program and Bill Wells assisted him.

There were more accidents in this area that cause personal injuries or fatalities than accidents which just cause property damage alone, Wells commented.

Visiting Rotarians were: Lee Johnson of Canyon and E. E. Ketchum of Canada. Other visitors were: Bill Ketchum of Canada and Frank Ford of Hereford.

"Answering the World - Wide Call" was the topic of the lesson for the Immanuel Lutheran Ladies Aid which met Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. E. W. Lichtsinn gave the lesson. Following the meeting a social hour was held.

Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Barnett and children left Thursday for Lebanon, Ore., where they will visit with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Owens. Before returning home Dr. Barnett will fly to Canada to attend a medical meeting. They plan to return to Hereford about June 15.

Meeting Monday For "Ballot Battalion" Here

Presidents of Hereford's civic clubs will meet in the county court room on Monday night at 8 p. m. for the organization of a community - wide "ballot battalion," according to Bob Wear, temporary chairman of the group.

Wear said representatives from the Lions, Rotary, B&PW, Kiwanis, American Legion, VFW, and Boy Scouts district committee will be invited to the meeting.

Purpose of the meeting is to form a permanent general committee for increasing interest in voting, security views of candidates, and to "get-out-the-vote."

Wear anticipated that a second meeting will probably have to be called to perfect the organization and name working committees.

The possible role of the Boy Scouts in the community - wide undertaking will be to canvass the town prior to the primary and general elections, urging people to vote. This is in line with an existing Boy Scout program on citizenship. Other tentative plans call for business district promotion of the campaign (presumably by the Jaycees) and the organization of a transportation center to get the people transported to the polls.

and five hits—all back to back. With the game 9-19, Airhart took over, gave a pop triple into short right field to Baize, who later scored when L. J. Clark grounded short to first.

Jack Clark, Summerfield hurler, got into hot water in the first and sixth, but held things under control the other innings.

During the first game of the night, Hereford Hardware exploded with 11 runs on six hits plus four KC errors. Before things quieted down, the league-leaders had enough to ice the game. In that inning, there were two homers—by Knox and Barrett—four singles and a pair of bases on balls.

The Knights of Columbus pulled themselves together and allowed only a singleton in the third and the same in the sixth in losing the game.

The KCs got three in the second, one in the third, two in the sixth and four in their half of the seventh to end the scoring.

In the nightcap, things were going pretty well Dawn's way until that fateful sixth when Summerfield unloaded on the tiring Lemons for five hits and as many runs, to knot a former 9-4 game at 9-9.

Baize's fourth hit of the night, and his scoring later on an infield ground play, proved to be Dawn's undoing.

The Dawners picked up three in the first, two in the second, one in the fifth and three more in the sixth to set on top of the heap most of the ball game.

There was some mighty fine play in the night's doubleheader. Dawn uncorked two double-plays to capture fielding gem honors for the night.

Monday night's schedule calls for Rocky's and L-V Motors in the first game of the evening. The schedule shows an open date for the last game.

Second game:

ROBERT E. WAGONER

BULL HAULING Phone 1698

Summerfield, H H Win Tilts Thurs.

Big bats from the Summerfield side of the fence dumped Dawn in Hereford Softball league play 10-9 Thursday night, making the loop lead a two-way tie as the Summerfield nine shares top spot with Hereford Hardware.

Hereford Hardware kept in the running in the first game of the night by dropping a determined and powerful Knights of Columbus aggregation.

In its "giant-killing" role against the slugging Dawners, Summerfield put on its hitting clothes to powder out 16 hits—six of them in the six-run bottom of the sixth inning. It was this big inning that put the back-running Summerfield team out in front of the Dawners.

Both teams in the nightcap—as in the opener, too—played top-notch ball. Summerfield was charged with only two errors—on Shortstop Allen. Dawn was charged with a lone error, on Right fielder T. Airhart on a fly-ball in the first inning.

In the curtain-raiser, Hereford Hardware kept its record at 4-1 by downing a hard-hitting, hard-playing Knights of Columbus team, 13-10.

The high score wasn't an indication of a sloppy game, although both sides were guilty of six errors, but there was hitting galore in the tussle. Hereford Hardware got its 13 runs on 10 hits and the KCs lost with 10 runs off 11 hits.

Thursday was a hitter's night, through and through. Home runs fell like flies at an insecticide convention. Eight homers were hit Thursday night, three in the nightcap and five in the opener. Tommy Albracht, who pitched and played right field for the KCs, hit two in four trips to the plate.

D. Baize, catcher and manager for the Summerfields, hit a homer in the final game, giving himself a full house for the night in four trips to the plate, a single, double, triple and four-bagger.

In the face of a lot of hitting, Thursday showed some mighty fine pitching on all four teams.

For Hereford Hardware, Barrett toiled nobly for five-innings and was relieved by Ross after the HH nine went ahead, 13-6. Tommy Albracht pitched an excellent game for the KCs and was relieved in the third by Kenny Walterscheid, who also did a fine mound job.

In the second game, it was W. Lemons for Dawn. He was relieved in the sixth by Jamie Airhart after he tired and allowed the Summerfield sluggers five runs

By Mrs. A. H. Brown
Farmers of this community are having trouble getting their cotton up. The high winds are drying it out and the cold weather has slowed up the germination. There has been several thousand acres planted to cotton in this community.

Pfc. McMillan Home from Korea

McMILLAN

Pfc. William N. McMillan, who has been serving with the armed forces in Korea since September is home on a 30-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. McMillan of Hereford.

Billy received his basic training in Hawaii and this is his first furlough since he enlisted in April, 1951.

McMillan is with the 27th Regiment, G Company, known popularly as the "Wolfhounds." Most of the time he was in Korea—except for the 54 days he spent guarding prisoners on Koje Island—he was on the frontlines. He arrived in the USA aboard the General A. E. Anderson on May 8, docking at Seattle. He was sent to Ft. Sill, Okla., to receive his orders.

In Ft. Sill, he was met by his parents. He will report back there for duty on June 12.

McMillan also has two sisters in Hereford, Miss Norma Jean McMillan and Mrs. David Miles.

OPS Rescinds Cotton Controls

The Office of Price Stabilization has ordered price controls suspended on raw cotton and a wide variety of cotton, wool and synthetic textiles. The district

OPS office pointed out the suspensions became effective May 20.

The action is in line with OPS policy of suspending or otherwise relaxing price controls on commodities whose selling prices generally are materially below ceilings and which are not expected to reach ceiling prices in the foreseeable future.

The OPS has authorized a slight increase in the markups for food wholesalers on sales of certain canned fruits and vegetables, in an interim action caused by a showing of markedly lower earnings.

OPS officials said the action is subject to review and adjustment based on results of the agency's pre-Korean food margin survey now in progress, and future earnings surveys.

The higher wholesale markups will apply to canned fruit cocktail, pineapple, peaches, and pears and to corn, green beans, tomatoes and tomato juice. OPS estimated that the result would be to raise the possible net earnings before taxes of wholesalers by three-fourths of one per cent and raise only slightly the retail prices of the canned fruits and vegetables receiving the higher markups.

Mrs. Ernest Wade has returned from a two weeks' trip to South Dakota and points in Canada.

Mrs. Wade was accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Avent of Tulsa, to Pierre, S. D. where they visited the Avent's son, Jack Avent, and family. They were accompanied to Canada by the Jack Avents, returning by the Great Lakes.

Yes, in a Nation of Pioneers, Henry Ford was one of the greatest of All Pioneers, taking the baby "horseless carriage" under his wing and building one of the biggest industries in the United States, or the world for that matter.

Today as we celebrate Pioneer Day in Hereford, we pay tribute to men such as Henry Ford, for had it not been for these pioneers in the automotive field we would still be riding in horse-drawn buggies. But the pioneer story neither started nor will it end with Henry Ford. Today, as in the days gone by, men and women are still pioneering new ideas not only in industry, but in medicine and many other fields, working endless hours to make life simpler for you and I.

But let's not get too serious today -- this is a day set aside to enjoy all the modern conveniences that we have in this modern time, so let's all let our hair down and just have fun. Speaking of fun, if you're not riding in a brand spanking new Ford or Mercury, you're missing out on the biggest thrill of a life-time. LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Fricadilly Meat Is Fine Dish To Set Before Guests

When Mrs. J. M. Thompson says "Come and Eat With Me," she is most likely to serve Fricadilly Meat for that is one of her favorite meat dishes. Sharing food is a symbol of friendship and both Mr. and Mrs. Thompson like nothing better than to share an informal meal with friends.

One menu Mrs. Thomson serves again and again is Fricadilly Meat, which is a sort of glorified meat ball, served in a ring of rice potatoes, along with a green vegetable, a fruit salad or relish.

The dessert nine times in 10 is cherry or apple pie, but for forthcoming warm days a frozen dessert would be fine.

The recipe for the meat dish was given to her by a friend whose former home was in Czechoslovakia. It was on one of his frequent visits to their home in Alvin, Texas, that she obtained the recipe. Here it is—

Fricadilly Meat
1 pound hamburger meat
1/4 pound bacon

1/2 pound ham ends
1/2 stalk celery
1 onion
1 sweet pepper

Salt to taste, grind all ingredients together and brown in skillet. Cool in ice box and roll into balls. Just before time to serve dip the balls in beaten egg, then in bread crumbs, and brown in deep fat. Serve in a rice potato ring.

These meat balls are good left over and used as sandwich meat.

Tables were laid with colorful cloths in pottery designs and Mexican hats were used for flower containers. Huge Mexican hats adorned the walls and place cards were tiny banjos. Guatemalan dolls were also featured in decorations.

The program featured films of Guatemala and Old Mexico made by Mr. and Mrs. Thomson and Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Bartlett Jr., won a recent vacation trip. Mrs. Bartlett served as narrator.

After the supper a short business session was held when Mrs. Urlin Streu and Mrs. S. S. Dodson reported on the Seventh District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs convention held in Borger recently and members voted to enter a float in Hereford's Pioneer Day celebration May 30.

Schemes To Fleece Veteran Out Of His Home Are Uncovered By VA

Veterans who are delinquent in payments on their GI home loans are warned to check carefully any offers by strangers to pay delinquent payments if they, the veterans, will "sign on the dotted line."

This warning was sounded today by the Veterans Administration, which has guaranteed home loans for nearly 3,000,000 World War II veterans.

VA said such veterans should check with the holder of the mortgage or with the loan guaranty division of the nearest VA regional office to determine whether or not the offer is legitimate and sound.

In some parts of the country, a revival of the practice sometimes "milked" or "equity skinning," has occurred, VA reported. In one form of this racket, the veteran, who is behind in his GI loan payments, is approached by individuals offering to pay the delinquent installments if the veteran will "sign on the dotted line."

The veteran subsequently learns that he has signed a deed and can get his property back only by signing a land sales contract at a much higher price.

When the veteran finds he is unable to meet the frequently excessive terms of the land sales contract, legal action is taken to obtain possession of the veteran's home.

In other instances, a low cost subdivision will be canvassed to learn whether veterans are having trouble meeting their GI loan payments.

If the veterans are having trouble, these individuals offer each veteran a nominal amount for his equity, plus the privilege of purchasing another home in a lower cost area or a land sales contract.

The veteran agrees to give possession in 60 days and "signs on the dotted line," unaware that he is signing a deed. When the 60 days are up, the veteran is advised that no listings are available in the lower cost development. The veteran then is evicted from his home.

A third variation of these practices, is used in states where there is a long mortgage redemption period. A veteran, falling behind in home loan payments, is offered a nominal sum for a quit claim deed to the property with a verbal promise that all back payments will be made up.

The veteran moves out believing that his loan will be brought up to date. Instead, the individual holding the quit claim deed rents the house without making any attempt to make up back payments.

Most of the money received as rent is profit until foreclosure is final and the veteran, unaware of what has happened, still owes the lender and quite possibly the U. S. Government if VA pays a claim on the loan.

Many variations of these practices are used in different parts of the country, depending on state and local laws. Although these practices may be legal, they are considered unethical by the vast majority of mortgage lenders and real estate brokers.

VA advises veterans they will be protecting their own interests and doing other veterans a service if they report any such propositions to the holder of the mortgage and to the nearest VA regional office.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Bruhl of Llano have been visiting in Hereford this week. Mrs. Bruhl is the former Mrs. Leona Blood of Hereford.

Draft Call For Nine Men From Board In July

Nine registrants of the Deaf Smith county draft board will be inducted into the Army July 19 for the local July draft quota.

Names of the nine will not be released until after the June board meeting, according to Mrs. A. Petersen, clerk.

State Selective Service headquarters is scheduled to mail pre-induction and induction draft calls Friday calling for the examination of 2,590 men and the induction of 1,251 men in July.

This bears out a prediction of Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, the state Selective Service director, earlier this spring that draft calls would begin to rise in the summer and be heavier next fall.

The June call, announced about two weeks ago, was for only 384 men. The number of men receiving the pre-induction physical and mental examination in June will be 2,169.

The July induction call for 1,251 men in July is the Texas share of a national quota of 33,000, the state director of Selective Service said. The induction call in July 1951 was only 367.

The July call will be filled with men 20 years and older. General Wakefield said that Texas has only about 380 examined and acceptable men 21 years old or older. The remainder of the quota will have to come from the 20-year-old group.

The local boards will not be able to induct any man below the age of 20 with the exception of delinquents and volunteers.

As of the end of April, Texas had inducted 38,658 men since the beginning of the conflict in Korea. More than 91,000 men were given pre-induction examinations during the same period.

Drouth, Heat Fail To Stop Soil Practices

COLLEGE STATION — Soil improvement through the use of legumes and a seed improvement program including the principal crops produced in the state are listed by the agronomists for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service as major achievements for 1951.

Their annual report shows that despite the severe drouth, Texas farmers plowed under for soil improvement 513,398 acres of legumes with an estimated value of more than $15 million. A total of 44,452,400 pounds of legume seed were harvested and their value was in excess of $5.5 million. Principal seed crops were sweetclover, hairy vetch, alfalfa and singletary peas.

The agronomists report that last year's hybrid corn contest was somewhat on the record-smashing order. Nine out of the 15 prize winners had included legumes in their crop rotation. Eight contestants in Red River county produced in excess of 100 bushels of corn an acre. The 165.4 bushels produced by Harold Watkins, a 4-H boy, say the agronomists, was the highest officially-recorded yield ever made in Texas. His contest acre was planted on land where Austrian winter peas had been plowed under the year before and he used liberal amounts of fertilizer.

Reports received from the counties show that a total of 49 adults and juniors produced more than 100 bushels of corn per acre last year.

Demonstrations were used to show the value of foundation and certified planting seed. In 1941 when seed of adapted Texas corn hybrids first became available, less than one per cent of the corn acreage was planted to hybrid. In 1951, 65 per cent of the Texas corn acreage was planted to hybrids. The increased production from the 1,546,000 acres planted to hybrids in 1951 was estimated at five bushels per acre over open pollinated corn and at $1.50 per bushel amounted to $11,590,000.

The agronomists credit several practices with increasing corn yields in the state including the use of legumes and fertilizers, closer spacing of the plants, improved cultural methods and of course planting adapted corn hybrids.

MIKE REID, above, is shown with "Miss Adios," her mount. Miss Reid is the latest entry in the Hereford Riders Sponsor Contest, to be held on Pioneer Day. She is from Silverton.

The program was a continuation of the study of church doctrine. Miss Frances Turrentine discussed the historic peace churches coming out of the reformation. The main ones mentioned were: Ana-Baptist, Mennonites, Brethren, Friends or Quakers and The Good Willers.

Mrs. Carl Perrin told of the Mormon Faith whose Mormon Book serves as their Bible. Refreshments were served to Mesdames Dean Bishop, J. W. Kirby, Carl Perrin, E. W. Hobson, M. J. Noel, Miss Frances Turrentine and the hostess.

'You and Your Aging Parents' Discusses Problems Of Old Age

Reviewed by Corinne Jennings

Whether you plan to live apart or with your parent, or parents as the case may be, in sickness or in health, life must go on, say the authors, Edith M. Stern and Mabel Ross, M. D. in their practical book, "You and Your Aging Parents."

"Everywhere the human cycle begins with the dependency of the young on those who are older, and usually ends with the dependency of the very old on those who are younger," furnished the theme for the handbook.

It is written in a friendly manner and the discussion of problems are practical and from many and varied angles, with case histories to prove the points.

With 11,000,000 over the age of 65 in our country the age when most retire from active life in big firms and corporations, this volume will be of value to many who must decide how best to care for aging parents or relatives.

To begin with, the authors contend, it is not always best to insist that your parents come and live with you, as this is the first step that forces complete dependency which neither of you may want nor be ready for — and it is not doing them a favor. "As in an old plant, the roots of an old person go very deep and to cut them (from home and friends) the shock can be severe."

Such a move is always harder for them than it is for you as much as it may inconvenience you. There are times too when they would prefer an old folks home (with a capital H) and in such cases it is best to arrange such if it will make them happier, whether you like it best that way or not.

Concentrate on what you can do in this or any situation which you find yourself and ignore what you can not advise the authors.

There are many suggested ways to avoid situations in one house. One of which is most important, is the moving of grandparents into the daughter's or son's room and the planning of the step before hand to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Important too, is the having of their own possessions about them at least in their own bedroom. It is for them to have their own checking account too, rather than an allowance, unless the last is earned by them.

Besides keeping their old friends or making new ones if they came to a different community it is important for them to find a place in the community affairs. This may be done through the church, the use of their skills and in other various ways which you can help them if you are interested and ingenious enough, as you will need to be.

There are as many "do's" as "don't's" in this book and worth while as well as sensible ideas for those in need of such help.

This is one of the best of its kind believes the librarian, Mrs. Boydston of your county library and the handbook is there for your reading now.

Celebration Recognition Of Our Early Pioneers

Hereford will be the scene of another annual Pioneer Day celebration next Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Visitors from all over the High Plains will be in Hereford for part or all of this celebration. Many old-timers will be returning to their "home town" for a few precious days of fond reminiscing with long-time friends.

This year the Pioneer Day committee have decided to use special efforts to honor our pioneer residents. Hereford, a modern, thriving Plains town second to none, is a monument to the foresight and courage of the early-day settlers who braved the elements to make an oasis on these Plains for their children and their children's children.

We owe more to these pioneers than can be repaid by singing them out for their achievements. We can repay that debt in part, though, by being aware of the part their sacrificing played in our Hereford and Deaf Smith county of today. It is only fitting and proper that we give our pioneers this recognition by making the Mid-Plains Pioneer Day "their" day.

Some of the pioneers will be recognized for their efforts in the Pioneer Day edition of The Hereford Brand, which will appear Thursday. All those to whom credit is due, however, cannot, for obvious reasons, be thus recognized.

For all the staunch individuals who heeded today's civilization out of yesterday's virgin plain, we dedicate not only the Pioneer Day Brand, but—in our hearts—the Pioneer Day celebration.

Let's all, make it a point to get better acquainted with some of our honor guests—from the Plains or across the nation—when they visit Hereford on Pioneer Day.

Smear Tactics Against Ike Shouldn't Sway The Voters

When Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower returns to the United States, he will probably have to submit to some of the worst character assassination any political figure has had to endure in many, many years.

This assassination won't come from the quarter most likely to hurl the challenge—the Democratic party—but from inside the Republican party itself. It will be from the "anything goes" segment of the GOP.

If you think it's not possible, just guess again.

Editors—long-suffering souls that they must needs be—are the target daily of all the people in the world who have axes to grind. More propaganda slips across the desk of a newspaperman than any other person, we believe. We could quote word for word from paid propaganda where one minute you'd find Harry Truman is a martyr and the next minute a schmo; the steel companies are angels and the next time they are bums; the unions are 100% right and management is all wet.

So you see, it all depends on whose stuff you read. If anyone has a chance to go off the deep end, it would be the editors who failed to look into both sides of each question as thoroughly as possible.

Getting back to our topic of "Ike" after this brief explanation:

We recently were sent a flyer with a reproduction of a full page showing headlines screaming what was wrong with "Ike." Being viewed "Ike" boosters, we decided to get a copy of the pamphlet—offered free to editors—to see what the other side thought about Ike and what was behind all this vilification.

The name of the pamphlet? "Headlines—and what's behind them," with offices at 342 Madison Avenue, New York, 17, N. Y.

A sample of the headlines of some of the stories made us really wonder. Here is a sample: "Financial 'Angels' of New Deal Are Boasting like"; "Reds, New Dealers Use Ike in Plot to Hold Power"; "Internationalist Left Wingers Pay Tribute to Ike"; "Ike Was a Democrat. Called GOP Party of 'Legalized Robbery'"; "Is Ike a Real Republican?"; "If GOP Names Ike... It Can't Win"; and many, many more.

Many of them are absurd double-meaning items that only the gullible will fall for.

For instance, the pamphlet makes great issue out of what it calls the "Quote of the Century," when Ike, as newly-named commander of the NATO forces, spoke in London on June 16, 1951. In a speech naturally written to emphasize the need for solidarity in NATO, work, like said, "Last time in my role as Supreme Commander I had to be only half-American and half-British. This time I am supposed to be one-twelfth American and one-twelfth of each of the other nations [in NATO]." The pamphlet further goes on to make great issue of Ike's "1/12th American" in a cartoon showing the voter saying "I want an American" while "Moocher Escape, Internationalist Wall Street, and U. N. Globalist and America Laster" carry placards saying, "We Want Ike."

Every single bit of it is preposterous! We have very strong ideas of our own who is footing the bill for such "publicity." You can be sure it isn't the thousands of American people who went to the polls in primaries and said "I like Ike" resoundingly.

Someone's afraid of Ike. Who is it? You can guess with us.

We do know something, though. The editor of "Headlines" is a man by the name of Joseph P. Kamp. Wanting to find out further about Mr. Kamp, to see whose axe he might be grinding, we did some checking. What we found was about what we expected. You make up your own minds.

The September 11, 1950 NEWSWEEK magazine carried this item about Mr. Kamp on page 34—

"At the climax of a bitter partisan debate, the House on Wednesday voted to cite for contempt two witnesses who had refused to answer questions of the House lobby investigating committee. They were Dr. Edward Rumley, executive secretary of the Committee for Constitutional Government, and William E. Patterson, executive secretary of the Red-dominated Civil Rights Congress.

"Next day the House voted a third citation against Joseph R. Kamp, head of the Constitutional Educational League, who is already serving a four-month term for contempt of the House Campaign Expenditures Committee. All three cases now go to the Department of Justice for action. Conviction carries a maximum penalty of a $1,000 fine, a year in jail, or both."

So reads NEWSWEEK's account of Mr. Kamp's dealings with the House lobby and campaign expenditures committees.

Yet, we are asked to believe that the writings edited by someone who has had that flavoring are to be accepted as 100% non-partisan stuff for Americans to hook their voting hopes to.

This stuff smacks too much of campaign promotions to us. No one puts this stuff out unless he's beating someone else's drum. The people of America who have shown preference for Eisenhower are not Communists or fellow-travelers.

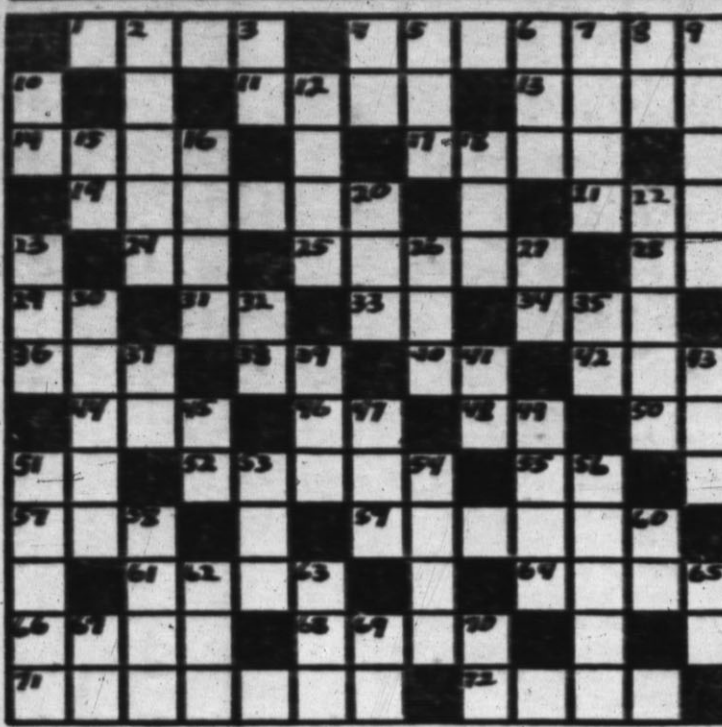

They're good, solid Americans who are trying to arrive at an end to this "lobbying" and campaign sleight-of-hand.

Personally, we feel that these extra knocks on Ike—from someone who evidently is very much afraid that he'll win—are just more boosts for him.

If the Republicans have enough brains to nominate Eisenhower, American voters—Democratic and Republican—will sweep him into office in a vote of confidence yet unseen in American politics.

These smoke-screens aren't getting anyone a thing.—W. W. K.

I'll Never Forget

I arrived in Hereford the last day of February in 1906. We went out to the Rucker ranch March 1. It was the former Mercer ranch 22 miles north-east of Hereford. It rained so much that March you could hardly ride a horse across the prairie.

I had lived for five years in the hilly timbered part of Missouri so by the time I had arrived at the ranch that first day of March by horse and buggy 22 miles I thought we had come to the wide open spaces all right.

The ranch joined the Wither-spoon ranch where two bachelor brothers were batching at the time so you can guess the rest—married October 28, 1906 and lived the first winter on the old Wither-spoon ranch.

I will never forget a big prairie fire on November 16, 1906. Vern would set the alarm clock and get up every so often all night as it could be seen over in New Mexico by dark the night before.

It could still be seen by day next morning so all the men began getting ready to go fight fire.

We were the end of the telephone line which was strung on the wire fences in those days so we turned in the alarm and the men all went off to plow and burn fire guards.

Vern came back ahead of the fire and turned all the horses and cattle out of the corral so if the shed and corral caught they wouldn't be trapped.

I was not too scared the house would burn as there was a big orchard and trees and bare ground where the trees were kept cultivated. It by-passed the house and corrals and

SUNDAY'S CURRENT QUESTION

World News Digest Page Okayed By Majority Of Readers Polled

What is your opinion of the "World in Review" feature each Sunday in The Brand? Do you read it? Do you find it an easy way to catch up on world affairs?

LOLA OWENS—I read it and I like it very much. BOB HESS—I read it part of the time. I think it is a pretty good feature.

MRS. W. T. GUNSTENSON—Yes, I find it very interesting and I think it helps me to keep up on world affairs.

PETE COWART—I read it. I think it's a good short review of the world with one exception. I don't like the pre-digested and presented opinions sometimes. I would prefer that they would simply present the facts and allow you to make up your own mind.

EARL PHILLIPS—I read it in the Sunday's I don't work and the Sunday's I do I don't. I enjoy it well enough that as soon as I glance at the local news it is the first thing that I read. To me it explains stuff kind of the way I like for it to be explained.

MRS. HOMER BRUMLEY—I read it some. I think it is awfully good of course it is after most of it happens. I enjoy it when I have time to read it. I think it is a good resume—that's what it is supposed to be.

MRS. EUGENE NAUGLE—I read it sometimes. I like it because it gives a variety of opinions and that is always good for anybody to know what the other fellow thinks.

IRVING ALEXANDER—Yes, I read it and it is a complete summation of the week's events. I enjoy it.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bottleg Philosopher on his farm near Bootleg has an involved suggestion this week, his letter reveals.

After the truce negotiations in the Korean war passed the eleventh long month and they were still arguin, I got to thinkin.

This is a new wrinkle in modern warfare, takin nearly a year to shake hands and call things off, and if it's goin to become a general practice, we ought to get set and I have a suggestion for Washington.

Take the next war. Now of course we may not have one, but we can't afford to take a chance, and it seems to me we'd be ahead of the hounds if we started truce negotiations long before the fightin starts, so they can have some chance of comin out even.

I don't know who our enemies are gonna be next time, but there's no use takin a chance on that either. We ought to start truce negotiations with all possible enemies now, just in case. Arguin is cheaper than shootin.

As far as I know we ain't got anything for example against the African pygmies and I don't suppose they got anything against us, but there's no use takin a chance. Set up a truce team to negotiate an armistice just in case. How about Borneo? Iceland? Pitcairn, Russia? A re-armed Germany? Italy I don't know how many possibilities there are, but there must be room for at least three or four dozen truce teams all negotiatin at the same time, and they ought to be set to arguin right now.

That way, let somebody drop a bomb, and before the troop transports can get loaded the truce teams ought to come staggerin out of the truce tent with everything drawn up and agreed on.

I don't know who'd be the best people for this assignment, but how about ex-Congressmen as a starter? They've had years of patient wranglin over split hairs, and many of them could hold their own with pygmies I know. Or club women who are sticklers for parliamentary rules? Or school teachers who have stood up for years to childish prattle without breakin more than the average?

At any rate, I believe we've got the talent for this job and Congress ought to establish a far-flung Department of Truce and get the wheels in motion. Otherwise there may come a time when the world is so mixed up in truce negotiations and wars at the same time won't anybody know in which direction to shoot. Fire in one direction in one war and hit somebody still in a truce tent from the last war.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

the feed field. Vern had just raised a good crop and had it cut but not shocked. It burned a few of the bundles right along the edge of the field. It left us with plenty of feed but no grass so Vern had to lease grass farther north and haul his feed several miles every other day and feed his cattle all winter. As we were the end of the telephone line they kept me busy being an information post all morning wanting to know where the fire was and if it had passed yet. They said some people had their belongings all loaded up in case it came to Hereford but it took a northeast course and stopped at 25-mile avenue several miles north of Hereford. It came a big snow the next day or so and covered up all

Crop Insurance Releases From Hail Total 37

Damages to crops from May 9 wind and hail storm are still being totaled in the county, according to Charles Newell, crop insurance representative for the Deaf Smith county PMA office.

No total estimate of the crop damage is available, as many of those hailed out had no insurance, several had private insurance with various agents and some had government crop insurance.

Of an estimated 250,000 acre wheat crop, about 25 per cent has been lost to date from wind, dry weather or the latest storm damage, Newell estimated.

Of 230 crop insurance contracts written by the PHA office, there have been 179 losses as of now, Newell said. There were about 37 farmers reporting losses.

Greatest single loss in the county was sustained by A. F. Roberts, dry-land farmer in the northwest part of the county. He had 2130 acres total, 1730 of which were released.

A complete list of the acreage losses noted that were covered by crop insurance as of May 21 are:

- Ole and I. L. Larson, 180 acres; Jack Dean, 200; Ray Barclay, 100; Ted Rohrbach, 447; Dick Ellis, 115; W. S. Fluit, 359; Judge Garrett, 540; J. B. Caraway, 72; F. J. Walterscheid, 25; J. D. Bruner, 161; acres of wheat in, 50 per cent damaged; Clyde V. Woolly, 425; Homer D. Hill, 100; Austin Rose Sr., 150; Nijje Rose, 400; Orval Groneman, 232; John J. Morris, 180; Fred Paschel, 625.

the burned, black grass and it didn't look so bad after the snow had melted off.

The next spring after we were married we moved from the ranch and built on the creek just north of the railroad track. It's known as the Wedel place now. We moved down there and raised alfalfa. My children were all born there.

In the summer of 1917 we had a big drought and then a big snow in 1917 about Thanksgiving and we didn't see the ground again until March 1918. Many cattlemen went broke that winter. The cattle would eat the bark off the posts and even eat each others tails there was so little feed.

The ranchers had to make sleds and take feed to their cattle.

We had to wait until the snow melted off before we could move to our present home from north of town where we were living at the time.

While we were living north of town we had some bad dusts. During one of these one spring I had been cleaning the yard and burning trash. The barn caught fire and I called Vern down at the shop and the wind was blowing so hard and the dust was so bad that he couldn't get home in time to do anything for the barn.

When we bought the place we're on now we paid $1500 for a quarter block which had a two-story eight room house and a large barn on it.

Vern had the Hereford Garage at that time. It was located where Furr Food is now.

It was in the spring of 1918 that so many people died with the flu. We had no hospital or nurses to help like we do now. It was sometime 24 hours after you called before the doctor could get to you. Those who weren't sick were waiting on the ones who were.

When we lived down on the creek one Sunday afternoon it came a big rain in the west part of the county and about nine that night a big wall of water came roaring down the creek by our house. It completely flooded the alfalfa fields near the creek.

The next morning it had all gone down. The water had gone down so fast that there were fish in the fields. You could just go out and pick them up. One of the boys found one that weighed about 10 pounds. The next night we had a fish fry.

My father was the late Dr. F. E. Bowe. He was the only veterinary in Hereford for a long time. He held out in a livery stable down where the Bull barn is located now.

First he went out on cases in a horse and buggy and later he bought a motorcycle. Finally he got him an old Ford. The Ford still runs now and my brother, Claire Bowe, occasionally brings it back to Hereford for Pioneer Day parades.

Vern and I are back to where we started about 46 years ago. We have raised our family so there is just the two of us again.

Red Prisoner of War Rioting Offers a Propaganda Bonanza

BEFORE Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy left his job as chief delegate on the U.N. truce team at Panmunjom Friday he gave his opinion on chances for an armistice in the Korean War.

Said the Admiral: "It appears the Communists are more interested in talking than signing."
The 57-year-old Joy had guided the U.N. truce team since the armistice talks began July 10. He was the only remaining member of the original delegation.

Joy Picked Successor
Aides said Joy, who leaves Japan June 9 for his new assignment as superintendent of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, himself picked Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison as his successor and Gen. Mark Clark approved.

Harrison, a 56-year-old lay evangelist, has been a member of the Allied truce team since last January.

The truce talks themselves went from bad to worse. The meetings were marked by tirades against the United Nations which Adm. Joy called the most "vicious, degrading propaganda" in nearly one year of armistice negotiations.

Aiding the Communists in their propaganda blasts on prisoners of war, the big issue which tied the truce talks in a knot, was the unrest on Kojie Island, and Tuesday's riot at Pusan.

Eighth Army Commander Gen. James A. Van Fleet announced the Pusan incident and said it resulted from an attempt by a hard core of fanatical Communist prisoners of war there to resist proper medical treatment of sick inmates.

ON WATCHFUL GUARD AT KOJIE

Possibly the Panmunjom negotiators pulled the strings . . .

It was possible that the riots had been set off to tie in with the Panmunjom negotiators, who made the most of charges that the U.N. had screened Red prisoners against their will and had even tortured them. The Communists have strenuously objected to the U.N. report that only 70,000 Red POW's out of a total 170,000 held indicated a desire to screen officers that they wanted to go back to Communist territory.

If the Red propaganda barrages at Panmunjom and the POW riots were meant as a face-saving prelude to some new Communist suggestion for breaking the deadlock on the prisoner exchange issue, the new Red proposal should be a whopper when and if it comes.

The WORLD This WEEK

POLITICS: Backstretch Race

WITH the pack of Democratic presidential hopefuls pounding down the back stretch, onlookers at the rail thought it was going to end up a three-way affair.

On the GOP track, there was a feeling that the choice of Republican standard bearer might upset all the odds.

With two months to go before the Democratic convention opens in Chicago July 21, three candidates looked like top possibilities among the several running for the nomination.

Politicians named them in this order: Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee; Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and Vice President Alben W. Barkley.

South Behind Russell

A fourth candidate, Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, could go into the convention with more delegates than any of these, but he hasn't been able thus far to enlist significant support outside the south and his chances for the nomination are not regarded as strong.

Mutual Security Administrator W. Averell Harriman, who has the support of the New York delegation, has taken a strong stand in support of President Truman's Fair Deal policies in recent weeks in his bid for the nomination. He says he is the best qualified man for the job. However, the pats on the back he has received from the President do not add up in politicians' minds as indicating he is first choice at the White House.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma still believes he has a chance to become a compromise choice at the convention with support centered chiefly in the Midwest.

Humphrey and McMahon

Sens. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Brien McMahon of Connecticut are favorite son candidates who could be prevailed upon to widen their activities if the opportunity came along.

Reports persist in Washington that Truman wants Stevenson to be the nominee and still hopes the Illinois governor will run despite his insistence he doesn't want to.

Many party leaders believe Stevenson could have the nomination if he acted affirmatively now, but they have some doubt he can get it if he delays much longer.

WELL, IT'S LEAP YEAR

Ray, Kansas City Star

Kefauver Confident

Kefauver contends he will get the nomination. Due to his primary victories he will have strong backing but some powerful party leaders say they will be against him to the last ditch.

Despite his 74 years, Barkley is credited by some with having a very good chance at the nomination. The Kentuckian has important support within the middle-road element of the Democratic party. Some of this support is represented by Democratic senators who work with the Vice President daily.

A lot of the speculation on the Democratic nomination hinges on what the Republicans do at their convention which opens two weeks ahead of the Democratic convention.

Most Democrats believe Sen. Taft would be easier to beat than Gen. Eisenhower. If the nominee is Taft, it is felt Stevenson will quickly become available for the Democratic nomination.

As things stand now, the GOP choice evidently lies between Taft and Eisenhower. There are still those who believe a deadlock could develop which would bring a dark horse into the picture.

Supporters of Sen. Taft claim he is within "striking distance" of having enough delegates to win on the first ballot.

Supporters of Eisenhower claim a probable first-ballot strength of 524 votes for him. The general's backers say they expect him to win the nomination with the necessary 604 votes on the second ballot.

Capitol Review

ECONOMY-MINDED congressmen wasted no time when the President's foreign aid bill came before the House. Led by Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio), who advocated a billion dollar slice, they were anxious to trim the measure down from its $6,889,100,000 total.

The President originally asked for $7,900,000,000, but the House Foreign Affairs Committee knocked out $1,010,900,000.

President Truman said his requests represented the minimum necessary for the buildup of Western economic and military strength. Sen. Robert A. Taft has voiced support for a maximum of six billion dollars. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, his chief rival for the GOP presidential nomination, has said that further cuts would be dangerous.

Foreign Aid Breakdown

Here's what the House measure involved:

Europe—Military aid, $3,316,000,000; Economic, $1,537,300,000, including $25,000,000 for Spain.

Near East—Military, $606,370,000; Economic, $196,000,000.

Asia—Military, $611,230,000; Economic, $408,000,000.

Latin America—Military, $62,400,000; Economic, $22,000,000.

The bill also included a controversial amendment authorizing military authorities to send up to one billion dollars worth of arms abroad, in addition to those provided under the aid program. This equipment would come from American stocks, financed by regular defense appropriations.

Soil Conservation Extended

In other action the House passed and sent to the President a bill extending the soil conservation program for two more years. The program of payment to farmers for conservation practices would have expired at the end of this year.

The soil conservation law was first enacted in 1936. It has been extended, generally for two-year periods, periodically since then.

The House rejected legislation to boost social security benefits at a cost of 300 million dollars a year.

New Campaign Issue

The House rejection of the bill raised a new issue for the 1952 presidential campaign.

Some Republican members contended one section of the measure would have opened the way for "socialized medicine."

Democratic leaders expected resentment on the part of present and future beneficiaries of the old age and survivors insurance program who were denied increases of about $5 a month. This resentment could be expressed at the polls next November. About 4½ million persons now are getting monthly checks.

The Democrats voted 98 to 41 for the bill, the Republicans 99 to 51 against it. One independent congressman also supported it.

On Wednesday, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, new NATO commander, reported to a closed-door session of the Senate Armed Services Committee on the Kojie Island incident.

In other action, the Senate confirmed James P. McGranery as U.S. Attorney General after a bitter fight.

We feel employers can well afford to discard their free calendars, and so forth, and decorate the office walls with museum masterpieces—thereby respecting the cultural sensitivities of their feminine helpers."

Railroads

Labor Peace Plan

After three years of dispute, the nation's railroads have accepted a labor peace plan offered by the White House.

The peace plan was personally announced by Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman. Submitted on a take-it-or-leave-it basis it included these proposals:

1. A wage hike for men in yard service of 37 cents an hour, of which 12½ cents already was in effect.

2. A wage hike for men who work on the open road—that is, not in the yards—of 22½ cents an hour, five cents of which already was in effect.

3. Giving the three big train unions involved in the dispute substantially what they want on a highly controversial working or operating rule involving crews which take a train through a divisional point. A change in this rule demanded by the carriers was described by union officials as one of the major issues in the dispute.

They said that if the carrier demand went into effect workers in many cases would have to travel twice as far and move their homes to new terminals.

4. Laying the groundwork for a five-day, 40-hour week for men in the yards who were working 48 hours.

Steelman said part of the wage boosts would be retroactive to October, 1950. He estimated each employee would receive between $600 and $1,100 in back pay and that retroactivity would cost the carriers more than 100 million dollars.

Sidelights

● In Nashville, Tenn., Vanderbilt University officials came up with a new angle in college punishment, announced that students found guilty of taking part in a "panty raid" on a girls' dormitory would lose their status as students in good standing—thereby becoming eligible draftees.

● In London, the personal columns of the staid London Times carried this notice: "Father of three sons desires a daughter. Can anyone send suggestions?"

● In Berkeley, Calif., Municipal Judge Redmond C. Staats ruled any dog should be allowed to bite another dog once in turning down a petition for damages presented by a dog owner for injuries suffered from the teeth of a neighbor's dog. Said the judge in summing up: "It would have been different if the neighbor's dog had taken a second bite."

Steel

Courts Face Issue

The U. S. Supreme Court faced a clear-cut Constitutional question in the historic steel seizure case: Does the President have power to seize private industry, or is such action an illegal extension of executive power?

While the nine justices of the high court studied the issue, the great steel labor dispute which set the whole thing in motion remained in the background.

Specifically, the Justice Department, which is the President's legal arm, asked the court to overturn a ruling by U. S. District Judge David A. Pine that the Government's seizure of the steel industry April 8 was "illegal and without authority of law."

Pine's Decision Sweeping

The industry asked the court to uphold Pine's decision. It contended Pine "correctly resolved" the issues.

Judge Pine's decision went further than a mere finding that the steel seizure was unlawful. His sweeping decision said the Constitution does not "grant the President expressly or impliedly" the inherent powers claimed for him by the Justice Department.

Lawyers on both sides of the question didn't expect the Supreme Court to come out with a flat assertion that the President had no Constitutional seizure powers. Even if the nine justices ruled that Truman acted unconstitutionally in seizing the steel mills, the legal experts thought it would be applied with narrow and rigid restrictions to the specific facts of the steel case.

Traditionally, the Supreme Court has avoided making broad Constitutional decisions.

Moderate Alternative

A more moderate course was open to the Court in saying that lacking an actual state of war—and having at hand a law passed by Congress to deal with emergency labor disputes (the Taft-Hartley Act)—Truman exceeded his authority and had no business seizing the industry to prevent a strike.

Holding that Judge Pine was wrong in issuing a preliminary injunction and linking it with his broad statement that the Constitution does not "grant the President expressly or impliedly" the inherent powers claimed for him by the Justice Department offered the Court another alternative.

In that case, the Court could say that because of possible damage to the public interest no preliminary injunction should have been issued and then return the whole case to the lower court for a complete argument on the merits.

Nobody expected a unanimous decision. There were almost certain to be a number of individual opinions, and mention of the Taft-Hartley Act was believed likely in one or more written opinions, if not in the majority opinion.

DEFENSIVE COMMUNITY

TWO years ago, French diplomats resurrected an age-old idea, dressed it up in latest style, and held it up for everybody to see.

The idea was for a supra-national association of European states. The 20th Century version was labeled the European Defense Community. It was envisioned as a phase in a more ambitious and imaginative plan to unify all Europe, economically, militarily and politically.

The new European scheme caught on. The fear of Soviet aggression gave it added impetus and officers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization thought it provided an ideal working medium.

As formally proposed by France in October 1950, the unification plan included a primary first stage—the creation of a European army. The European army plan represented a compromise between the American desire to rearm West Germany and France's anxiety over the formation of a new Wehrmacht.

U. S. Cool at First

France originally asked all European nations in NATO to join. Britain, Norway, Iceland, Denmark and Portugal declined the invitation.

The United States started off by being cool to the European army plan. But in July of last year, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower swung his support behind it and named an American brigadier general as his official observer at negotiations seeking to set up E.D.C.

This month, plans moved swiftly ahead for the formal signing in Paris of the E.D.C. treaty by foreign ministers of the six member nations—France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxem-

Roadblocks Ahead

The treaty signing will not bring the European defense plan automatically into operation. The Parliaments of the six nations must act on ratification of the treaty after the foreign ministers sign it and a long, hard fight is anticipated in the parliaments of the two chief members, France and West Germany.

The Communists, meanwhile, are conducting an intensive war of nerves aimed at keeping West Germany out of the E.D.C. In Moscow, the government paper Izvestia declared the signing of the European defense pact will be the first step in the inclusion of West Germany in the "aggressive system of the Atlantic union."

An Essential Stage

A communique released by the French Foreign Office calls E.D.C. a "new and essential stage on the road to formation of a united Europe."

The communique announces the supra-national E.D.C. assembly will start, as soon as the treaty is ratified, an immediate study aimed at the political confederation of Europe.

Like the Schuman Plan for pooling West Europe's coal and steel, the E.D.C. will have a ruling body made up of executive, legislative and judicial branches.

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. How can I "rejuvenate" my make up without removing it and putting on new?

A. Just pat lightly over the makeup with a cotton pad dampened with skin freshener or astringent. This removes oil and grime.

Q. What can I do to be sure that I have removed all soap from my hair after my shampoo?

A. Rinse at least six times in clear water so that your hair will "squeak" when you rub it together. Then add the strained juice of one lemon or six tablespoons of vinegar to a last rinse water. This cuts any remaining soap and also adds glints to your tresses.

Q. How do you suggest applying cream rouge?

A. After cleansing your face thoroughly, take a little cream and work into the skin. Before it dries, put on a tiny bit of rouge, blending it at the edges so there is no hard line. Then dust on your powder. Cream rouge has a higher color consistency than dry rough, so use it sparingly at first, until you achieve the desired effect.

Q. What is a good, safe, way I can bleach my freckles?

A. If you must do this, don't use strong chemicals! Experiment, if you wish, with lemon juice applied with a camel's hair brush. Leave on for a half-hour and then remove with cool milk and cotton. This should be done for at least 10 days to reduce the pigmentation. It is safe, and often an effective bleach.

Q. What can I do to make my hair more fluffy?

A. You can mix a half-teaspoon of soda in a cup of liquid soap shampoo. Shampoo the hair in the usual way, lathering well. Then rinse it thoroughly.

Q. How can I minimize the effect of a too-round face with my rouge.

A. Dot the rouge in a triangle that begins just below the center of the eye socket, extends upward along the cheekbone, and points downward along the outer rim of your cheek. Shade the color with your finger toward your hairline, away from your nose.

Q. What is an effective oily-skin treatment?

A. Try this: Make some bags out of soft muslin or old linen and fill these with one cupful ordinary uncooked oatmeal, 1/2-teaspoon powdered sulphate, one teaspoon finely-shaved castile soap, all well mixed. Every evening for 12 consecutive days, saturate one bag with warm water and rub face and throat. Let dry on skin, then rinse in warm water and then cold. Pat on a lotion of 10 drops tincture of plain benzoin in one cup of chilled water.

Q. Please suggest a good shampoo for fading or ailing hair.

A. The beaten yolks of eggs are beneficial in this case. Apply to hair and scalp, massage for a few minutes, then rinse off with warm water (not hot) and finally with cold water.

ALWAYS BE CAREFUL DRIVING

The car that wears its own Sun Glasses

You find this "eye shade" band of darker color only on the genuine "Easy-Eye Glass" pioneered by Buick, and all glass used in Buicks is ripple-free, ground and polished plate safety glass.

YOU may have to look twice to see it—but a lot of the new Buicks have a soft blue-green tone in all glass areas—plus a slightly darker band which shades down from the top of the windshield.

And you have no idea what comfort all this adds to hot-weather driving.

Its name is "Easy-Eye Glass"—which tells only half the story. While it filters out 18% of the glare (and tones down the dazzle of oncoming headlights at night)—it also cuts down sun-heat as much as 50%.

So it's the best cure we know for hot laps in summer driving, when the sun beats down on the windshield.

Maybe you'd like to try this out before you buy your next car.

And while you're trying it out—you can also discover how it feels to boss around a Fireball 8 Engine, that puts its own exclusive added wallop into a high-compression valve-in-head power plant.

You can sample the sure-footed way a Buick settles into a curve—the way the front wheels seem to seek their course automatically—the smooth surge and falterless ease with which Dynaflo Drive* feeds the power—the level confidence of Buick's million dollar ride.

You can get an idea also of the room, the comfort, the smartness, the thrill that your dollars buy in this brilliant performer.

So why not arrange for a demonstration soon?
