Inaugural festivities underway

WASHINGTON (AP)—His inaugural festivities launched amid thunderous fireworks over a sea of lights on the capital Mall, George Bush is spending his final day as vice president with plans for a private goodbye to the man he says helped make it all possible.

"It won't be too easy," Bush said of what could be his final private moment with President Reagan before he takes the oath of office.

On the eve of his inauguration as the 41st president, Bush was to meet at the White House with the outgoing chief executive as the focus of the nation's leadership was already beginning to shift.

A twilight inaugural extravaganza at the stately Lincoln Memorial on Wednesday was marked by a flyover of Navy jets, a massive fireworks display and music by the Beach Boys and other groups. Many in the crowd waved penlights handed out for the event to represent Bush's campaign theme of "a thousand points of light."

Bush told the crowd that Reagan will be a hard act to follow.

"I am following a great president and a great presidency," he said.

"We're not coming in to correct the ills of the past. We're coming in to build on a proud record."

Bush tried to stress his commitment to social justice during several appearances Wednesday, as hundreds of homeless people protested outside the lavish banquets held for Republican boosters. Protesters outside one banquet at Union Station chanted "Feed the poor, not the rich."

"America is strong once again, but the job is not complete," Bush said at the Lincoln Memorial. "Some are still hurting. And we care."

Echoing a goal outlined at his victory celebration in Houston on election night, he declared: "I will try to be a president of all the people."

After a whirl of late-night partying on Wednesday, the president-elect planned a more subdued day today as the public inaugural festivities continued unabated.

The centerpiece of the day's activities is a $9 million nationally televised inaugural gala tonight before a black-tie audience of 12,000 people at the Kennedy Center.

AP-Media General Poll

Should Bush raise taxes?
60 percent said no.

Will Bush raise taxes?
71 percent said yes.

Do you like George Bush?
59 percent said yes.

Will Bush be a good president?
48 percent rated him as "good," 13 percent as "excellent."

Telephone poll conducted Jan. 4-12. 3-point margin of error. 3,162 adults polled.

The gala, to be attended by both Bush and Vice President-elect Dan Quayle, will include entertainment by some of the biggest stars in show business, including singers Frank Sinatra, Anita Baker, Julio Iglesias and Loretta Lynn; ballet dancers Susan Jaffe and Mikhail Baryshnikov; actor Chuck Norris; cellist Yo Yo Ma; and the Mormon Tabernacle Choir.

Bush also was to attend a morning youth inaugural celebration, was viewed as a possible drop-in guest at a salute to Barbara Bush and planned a private dinner in the evening with family and friends.

He was coming to work at his vice presidential office at 7:15 a.m., as he usually does, and planned to meet with Reagan at 9:30 a.m., said spokeswoman Alixe Glen.

"He's going to spend most of his last day as vice president at the office," she said.

Bush found time on Wednesday to meet with old Navy comrades, including some who saved his life 44 years earlier when as a combat pilot in World War II he was shot down by the Japanese and rescued by a U.S. submarine.

"It was very emotional," said Don Kohler, who pulled Bush from the Pacific as a member of the crew of the sub Finback. "He said a very nice little talk on how warm he felt toward both his squadron and the Finback crew."

Study: Onions help prevent cancer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Garlic and onions can put a crimp in your social life, but they also could provide unexpected protection against cancer, according to a study published by the National Cancer Institute.

The study compared foods eaten by stomach cancer victims with the diet of healthy people in Linqu, China. Researchers found that the strong-smelling vegetables "can significantly reduce the risk of stomach cancer."

Published this week in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute, the study says researchers used questionnaires to compare the dietary habits of 685 patients with stomach cancer with those of 1,131 other people, matched by age, gender, occupation and education, who had no diagnosed cancer.

People in the control, or cancer-free, group each year consumed at least 25 and sometimes more than 50 pounds of allium vegetables, a genus which includes onions, garlic, leeks, chives, ramps and scallions.

The cancer patients generally ate less than 25 pounds of the vegetables.

The study also found that the risk of stomach cancer declined as the habitual consumption of such vegetables increased. In other words, the more onions and garlic you eat over a lifetime, the less your chances of stomach cancer.

"Persons in Linqu tended to be exposed to mild doses of allium vegetables over long periods, likely beginning in childhood," the study said. "Our study suggests that all or part of such exposure has resulted in a reduction in stomach cancer risk starting at an early age...and continuing throughout life."

The anti-cancer effects of onion-like root vegetables have been suggested in studies dating back to the 1950s. A 1979 study, for instance, found a reduced amount of stomach cancer among residents of a Georgia county famous for growing vidalia onions. A study in Greece showed that gastric cancer patients usually ate fewer fresh vegetables, including onions, than those who were cancer-free.

"Several experimental studies have suggested that compounds in allium vegetables can protect against cancer in laboratory animals," the NCI Journal study said.

Galveston facing casino vote

GALVESTON, Texas (AP)—Voters of this island community will decide Saturday if they want to ban straw votes on legalization of casino gambling as long as state law forbids casinos.

But even if the proposed amendment to the city's charter is adopted, pro-gambling forces say they will challenge it in court on grounds it would violate their right to free speech.

"We object to Proposition 6 on the grounds that a restraint of the citizen's rights to petition for election on any subject is a blatant violation of our First Amendment constitutional rights of free speech, which clearly includes political speech and opinion," Juliet Staudt, a leader of Galvestonians for Economic Development, told the Galveston City Council.

Ms. Staudt said litigation on the issue is inevitable if the proposed ban on non-binding casino gambling referendums is adopted.

By comfortable majorities, local voters have turned thumbs down on legalized gambling in three non-binding referendums in the past five years. Backers of the proposed amendment say they are tired of fighting over something that is not even legal under state law.

"We're tired of being guinea pigs for the rest of the state," said H.L. "Shrub" Kempner Jr., a leader of Galvestonians Against Casino Gambling. "We've done our duty on this issue, and it's time to put it behind us."

It was Kempner's group that gathered enough signatures to place the charter amendment on Saturday's ballot.

Spelling bee set March 9-10

The 1989 Deaf Smith County Spelling Bee has been scheduled March 9-10, it was announced this week by County Bee Director Speedy Nieman.

The bee will again be held on two days, with the Junior Bee champ being determined March 9. Fourth and fifth-graders will be in the junior division this year.

The Senior Bee on March 10 will include finalists from grades six through eight, as well as the junior champ. Schools will hold their own bees to determine the finalists for the county bee, which is sponsored by The Hereford Brand.

Eligibility rules for the Regional Bee were changed this year, moving sixth graders into the senior group. The local bee will follow the same rules, and the number of spellers qualifying for each school will be determined on an enrollment basis.

The Junior Bee will have four finalists each from Bluebonnet, West Central and Shirley. A school champ will compete from St. Anthony's, Walcott and Nazarene Christian Academy. Community Christian did not indicate an interest this year.

The Senior Bee will have four spellers each from the 7th and 8th grades in Hereford Junior High, two 6th graders each from Bluebonnet and West Central, and the champion only from Shirley, St. Anthony's, Walcott and Nazarene Christian Academy.

County schools will be announcing their finalists in the coming weeks. The Deaf Smith champion will participate in the Regional Bee to be held on the West Texas State University campus April 15. It is sponsored by the Amarillo Globe-News and WTSU.

Many newspapers compile a year-end review of top news stories or headline. We ran across a list of "memorable quotes of 1988" which was published in the Kansas City Times:

It was Gary Hart who said, "I don't want to be president of a country that thinks like Ronald Reagan."

"There's no way you can wear skirts as short as they're showing for spring and do anything serious," said Betty Friedan.

"You fought the good fight. You were in it right up to the beginning," said loyal supporters of Bruce Babitt.

"But I was kinda' hoping for someone smarter," said a farmer in response to a Dole campaign theme: "He's one of us."

"Jesse Jackson is a poet; Cuomo is a poet, and Dukakis is a word processor," observed Richard Nixon.

"Without rain there is the potential for this to be a catastrophe," said George Bush about the drought.

"As Henry VIII said to each of his six wives, 'I won't keep you long,'" announced President Reagan at the beginning of a speech.

"My tomato plants need cultivating; my house needs work and I'd love to have a day off," moaned Michael Dukakis, who now has the time.

"It was an obscene period in our nation's history," commented Dan Quayle on the Holocaust.

"I wonder how many Americans remember today is Pearl Harbor Day?" asked George Bush on Sept. 8.

"I thought this was a news program," Bush said to Dan Rather.

"All wives make suggestions to their husbands, unless they're nincompoops," said an honest Barbara Bush.

"Beating a Republican is the most fun a Democrat can have with their clothes on," said Texas Ag Commissioner Jim Hightower.

Baker assured Cabinet confirmation

WASHINGTON (AP) — James A. Baker III could be confirmed as secretary of state as early as next week, following assurances of a strong endorsement from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The committee was prepared today to recommend the confirmation of Baker, former treasury secretary under President Reagan and President-elect Bush's choice to run the State Department.

The full Senate will act on the nomination later, probably next Wednesday.

Today's scheduled committee vote followed two days of hearings in which Baker fielded questions on problem areas around the world and dealt comfortably with foreign policy issues ranging from the momentous to the obscure.

Virtually every member of the committee praised Baker's performance, applauded his appointment by Bush and said his confirmation was assured.

"I'm sure the vote will be unanimous," said Chairman Claiborne Pell, D-R.I.

"I think without any question you will be unanimously endorsed by this committee and by the full Senate in the days ahead," said Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif.

"He is very skillful, as he should be, and I'm impressed," said Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., expressing a view many other committee members said they shared.

On Wednesday, the second of two days of testimony, Baker said the United States and the Soviet Union are near agreement on procedures to verify compliance with two long-pending nuclear test ban treaties.

Baker said he understands that verification problems with the 1976 Peaceful Nuclear Explosions Treaty are "completely resolved." He said similar problems with the 1974 nuclear test ban treaty establishing a limit of 150 kilotons on underground tests are "close to being resolved."

He said both pacts will be submitted to the Senate for ratification but offered no timetable.

Baker also suggested that the new Bush administration may raise quotas for refugees because of the increasing numbers of people wanting to come to the United States from the Soviet Union and Southeast Asia.

"We will have to look at the possibility of increasing numbers and of increasing dollars" for the refugee program, Baker said.

Baker said he has reservations about U.S. participation in a scheduled 1991 international human rights conference in Moscow, but he added, "We made a commitment and we plan to keep it" so long as conditions for improvements in Soviet human rights performance are met.

He declined to choose from a trio of scenarios offered to explain why Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev is making radical changes in domestic, foreign and defense policy.

"The jury is still out," Baker said. "That's why ... we should approach our relationship with prudence and a certain degree of realism."

As he left the hearing room, Baker expressed thanks to senators for scheduling the "early start" confirmation hearings even before President-elect Bush takes office.

'First Son' enjoyed 'a fascinating time'

BEDFORD, Texas (AP) — Never mind that he has never held public office, his father's credentials make him a likely candidate for governor in 1990, according to some Texas political columnists.

The 42-year-old George W. Bush, eldest son of the one who becomes president Friday, jokes that he's the right age to run for office, but insists he has no political plans to discuss.

But Texas columnists believe otherwise and often mention the long-time Texas oilman as a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in 1990. Texas' current governor, Republican Bill Clements, has said he will not run again.

life, he said, topped only by the birth of his twin daughters seven years ago.

At the Republican National Convention, Bush read the vote total of the Texas delegation, which put his father over the total required for nomination.

He said his brothers and sister have never minded being in the public eye or the rigors of the presidential campaign.

"We just felt like it was part of a mission and anything we could do to help, we would," he said, adding he would help again in four years if his father ran for re-election.

Now Harken's second largest individual stockholder, Bush serves as a consultant to the company's chief executive officer, Mikel Faulkner, on mergers, acquisitions and special projects.

Bush said he believes both politics and the oil business are exciting, but finds them different.

"The only parallel I can find is the thrill of the chase. With oil, you drill a well, you're outside, dealing with good folks, less sure of what the outcome will be," Bush said. "Politics is really different. It has a clear, specific end, winning on Election Day."

Bush's only political experience is an unsuccessful run for Congress from a West Texas district in 1978 and a successful stint as senior adviser to his father's 1988 presidential campaign.

"Those who liked me said I was the eyes and ears of the campaign," he said. "Those who didn't said I was the campaign's Bobby Kennedy. Either way I had a great experience, a fascinating time."

His father's campaign gave Bush some of the greatest moments of his Bush grew up in Midland and Houston and served in the Texas Air National Guard. He formed a small oil company in 1975 after returning to Midland with a Harvard business degree.

The company slowly grew and in 1986 was merged with Harken Oil & Gas, now Harken Energy Corp., an independent explorer and marketer.

After the presidential campaign, Bush moved his wife Laura and daughters Barbara and Jenna to Dallas and took an office at Harken's Bedford headquarters.

Bush believes his life will change little with his father in the White House, but said, "I'm probably going to be judged at a little higher standard now."

"I'm comfortable with that. I'm not a naive fellow. I feel fully prepared."

Hispanics file suit against Customs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A class-action lawsuit accusing the U.S. Customs Service of discriminating against its 1,800 Hispanic employees is taking some of its cues from a recently successful action against the FBI.

The class-action suit Wednesday by the Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund alleges that the Customs Service under Commissioner William von Raab has removed almost all Hispanics from key management posts and barred others from entering the executive ranks.

MALDEF says the customs service "is employing an informal and unfairly discriminatory promotion system to circumvent the formal merit promotion system" at the expense of the Hispanics employed at the agency.

A federal judge in September ruled in favor of Hispanic FBI agents who alleged that the bureau promoted Hispanic agents too slowly, assigned them less-desirable jobs and gave them little recognition for their successes. Damages have yet to be determined in the FBI case.

"We did take our lessons from the FBI suit," MALDEF associate counsel Mario Moreno said in an interview.

Customs service spokesman David Hoover said Wednesday the agency would have no comment while the lawsuit is in court.

The suit names Treasury Secretary Nicholas Brady, von Raab and 25 other customs service and Treasury Department officials.

It alleges employment discrimination against Hispanic customs service employees in violation of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Hispanic employees represent over 11 percent of the agency's work force of some 15,600 people, yet there are no Hispanics in the senior management ranks, said MALDEF's suit.

It alleges that "since 1980, the commissioner of customs has actively sought to reduce the number of Hispanic employees at upper management levels."

Nine years ago, customs employed nine Hispanics in top supervisory posts, but now the agency employs just three, or 1.5 percent of the people at that level, the suit said. There are no Hispanics in the senior executive service, which includes regional commissioners, assistant commissioners and other executive level posts, the suit said.

Eighty-three percent of Hispanics at the customs service are concentrated in three regions, the Southwest, Pacific and Southeast, and Hispanics in those regions aren't considered for promotion in areas where there is no large Hispanic population. Non-Hispanic customs employees are brought in from other areas to fill managerial slots, restricting promotional opportunities, it added.

Hispanics with criminal enforcement responsibilities are assigned regularly to wiretap duty and undercover assignments based on their Spanish-language skills, which limits their promotional opportunities, the suit said.

Assignments to wiretap monitoring are involuntary, involve unusually long hours and often take an agent away from the home office, the suit said. But once the Hispanic agents have developed the case with that long, tedious wiretap work, it is turned over for conclusion by other, non-Hispanic agents, the suit said.

Hispanic agents in the FBI suit made similar allegations about burdensome wiretap duty and desirable cases being taken away from them.

In 1988, there were 19.4 million Hispanics in the United States, representing over 8 percent of the population.

Soviet crime rate up 17 percent

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet crime rate rose nearly 17 percent last year as Mikhail S. Gorbachev's reform programs unwittingly contributed to a rash of assaults, robberies and theft, according to an interview published today.

While final statistics are not yet available, "even without them it is clear that crime in 1988 grew consistently and quickly from month to month," Interior Minister Vadim Bakatin was quoted telling the Communist Party newspaper Pravda.

"And as a result, the growth of illegal activities as measure by criminal investigation was 16.9 percent. Robberies, assaults and theft of personal property increased in frequency by more than a third," he was quoted as saying.

Attacks on police increased and street crime rose by more than 40 percent, he said.

Bakatin supervises the Soviet Union's uniformed police. In his first major interview since taking over in October from Alexander Vlasov, he said police themselves were often corrupt and ill-prepared to fight crime.

Vlasov was made premier of the Russian republic and promoted by Gorbachev to non-voting status on the party's ruling Politburo.

Under Gorbachev, officials and the state media have been more open about reporting drug abuse, prostitution and other crimes, including details of criminal investigations. But Bakatin's half-page interview in Pravda was an important admission that reform has brought problems as well.

While making Soviet society more open, Gorbachev's reforms have created "complicated, at times painful processes of self-cleansing, an increase in civil and ethnic self-awareness," he said.

Two republics where ethnic awareness is growing most rapidly, Latvia and Estonia, headed the areas Bakatin named where crime is growing most rapidly. He also cited several times the violence between Armenians and Azerbaijanis, where Interior Ministry troops were called in to restore order.

The interior ministry said many criminals released from labor colonies under legal reforms have been unable to find work because state industries are cutting back their workforces to meet efficiency demands of Gorbachev's economic reforms. Some return to crime.

Bakatin also said police have proven ill-prepared to cope with organized crime that is seeping into the cooperative movement of private enterprise, which Gorbachev has encouraged to provide goods and services not available under the state economy.

Bakatin gave no figures for the number of crimes committed, but said, "It can be stated boldly that the level of crime in the country is significantly higher than statistics indicate today."

He also called for reforming the police system, saying, "We have everything in the system of the Ministry of Internal Affairs: bribery, treachery, bureaucratism, callousness, rudeness, departmental separatism and illegality."

Some local police have tried to keep the number of crimes they report as low as possible, fearing that reporting an increase will damage their careers, he said.

Kids going to inauguration

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Four fifth-graders from one of the poorest sections of the city will be mixing with the rich and powerful during the inauguration of George Bush on Friday, after raising $3,000, making good grades and avoiding trips to the principal's office.

April Gomez, James Diaz, Celia Lopez and Christopher Lopez have never traveled far from their homes in the city's southside.

Today, however, they, their parents and two teachers will leave for a three-day trip to Washington D.C., where ritzy homes and historical buildings are quite a contrast from the small, wood-frame homes in their neighborhood.

"I'm excited because sometimes only rich people get to go to things like this," said James, 10.

The four students are from Stafford Elementary School, located in the Edgewood School District, a mostly Democratic area and one of the poorest school districts in the state.

The students were among a group of 60 students who raised about $3,000 through donations, garage sales, talent shows and a baseball game.

Stafford social studies teachers Roberta Cassels and Gloria Rodriguez said the trip is the culmination of a project to teach the students American history and the political process, along with the entrepreneurial spirit.

The students had to join a social studies club, help raise funds and write an essay on voting and democracy.

"They also had to have good grades and no trips to the principal's office," said Ms. Cassels, adding that the teachers are paying their own way.

The students are a little scared because they never have flown on an airplane before.

But they are excited about their itinerary, which includes a meeting with U.S. Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, who formally invited the students to the inauguration and who will have his picture taken with them

Cookie sale to begin

Local Brownie, Junior, and Cadette Troops of Girl Scouts will begin their annual cookie sale tomorrow at 4 p.m. and sales of the baked goods will continue through Feb. 5. Priced at $2 per box, seven kinds of cookies are available and money will not be collected until delivery begins Feb. 23-March 5. Looking over a sample of the cookies are, seated from left, Lisa Coneway and Deidra Zepeda, representing Brownie Troops No. 281 and 283, respectively. Also examining cookies are, standing from left, Rachelle and Meredith Denton of Junior Troop No. 282, and Sherry Vermillion, Cadette Troop No. 288.

Annual cookie sale starts Friday

Local Girl Scout Troops of Brownies, Juniors, and Cadettes will begin selling cookies tomorrow with the sale continuing through Feb. 5.

The cookies are priced at $2 per box but no money will be collected until the cookies are delivered Feb. 23-March 5.

Seven kinds of cookies are available. The cookies are made with only vegetable shortening and contain no preservatives. All are approved for Kosher use and are dated to ensure freshness.

Savannah cookies offer peanut butter sandwiched between two cookie cakes and Hoedowns are a crunchy peanut butter cookie coated with chocolate. Jubilees are a chocolate, caramel cookie featuring toasted coconut on top and chocolate stripes.

Classic Creme cookies are traditional chocolate and vanilla sandwich cookies and Scot-Teas are traditional shortbread cookies lightly dusted with sugar. Thin Mints are crunchy cookies flavored with peppermint and coated with chocolate. Special snack crackers made with real cheddar cheese and containing no added sugar are Golden Yangles.

Proceeds from the annual sale assist the Girls Scouts and their council in many ways, such as planning special Girl Scout events, providing services to girls and the community and acquiring and maintaining camp grounds.

Even more important, according to Linda Arellano, leader of Junior Troop No. 282, is the fact that the sale provides a beneficial experience for every Girl Scout. "The youngster develops her business skills, learns to work as part of a team and increases her self-confidence and sense of responsibility," she said.

The Scouts will canvass Hereford during the next two weeks taking cookie orders. If not contacted by the Scouts, orders can be made by calling Arellano at 364-6112 or 364-5305.

Abundant Life

INNER PEACE
By Bob Wear

Inner peace or what many call 'peace of mind' seems to very elusive, but it seems that all of us are seeking it. The need seems to be innate. In fact, it is thought by some careful students of human behavior that everything we do is related, in some degree, to this felt need.

It has long been a philosophic view that we are the makers of our own restless grief. It may be that, for the most part, we are the makers of our own 'inner peace'. It seems to be generally agreed that we do not find our peace of mind, our 'inner peace' in places or in things; and certainly not in the various forms of self-indulgence. "If half a century of living has taught me anything at all, it has taught me that 'nothing can bring you peace, but yourself.'" -Dale Carnegie.

In seeking 'inner peace' we must be true to our conscience. This does not mean that we will be right in everything we say and do, because conscience is not an infallible guide. It is the result of our combined learning experiences. Nevertheless, we must be true to conscience because this is being true to ourselves.

Our expectations must be reasonable and justified, because if they are not we will be upset constantly. Trying to be and do the things we can never be and do produces a disturbed state of mind. As long as such conduct continues, 'inner peace' remains at risk.

Inner peace depends, in large measure, upon the wise use of our power of speech. Our speech can bring us joy or grief, depending upon how we use it. The disappointment we feel for our indiscretions, if such there be, will certainly cause mental distress.

There are other relevant considerations. We must be grateful for our blessings; do our best; treat others well; and accept graciously our heartaches and disappointments. We make our own 'peace.'

Hints from Heloise

BURNED HOLE

Dear Heloise: I was ironing a few slips and somehow got sidetracked. The iron got too hot and I scorched a little section near the bottom. It actually burned a small hole.

I was so upset because this was my favorite slip. Thinking of what I could do to salvage it, I got the idea of getting a little lace applique at the fabric store.

I picked out a dainty lace design and sewed it over the scorch mark and hole. The burn mark is completely unnoticeable and actually the applique made the slip more attractive. — Carol Gilbert, Dallas, Texas

PALETTE PAPER

Dear Heloise: I ran out of palette paper while I was in the middle of painting a landscape and had to think of something to use to put my oil paints on.

Palette paper is coated with some type of waxy surface, so I thought wax paper would work. I cut a piece about 12 inches long and taped it to a piece of cardboard. It worked so well, I decided I was going to use the wax paper from now on. It is much cheaper than a pad of palette paper and I can cut it to any size I need. — Miriam Principle, Roanoke, Va.

DEAR HELOISE:

Every time I would go grocery shopping, I would place the bags in the trunk of my car only to find them scattered all around by the time I arrived home.

I solved the problem by placing two large cardboard boxes in the trunk. Now when I put grocery bags in the boxes, they stay put. These boxes also come in handy when I bring plants home from the nursery. — Cristy Benson, Toronto, Canada

And, in a pinch they can be unfolded to make a pad to protect your clothing if you need to work on your car. Good hint! — Heloise

Players find out Miami no Disneyland

MIAMI (AP) — Never has the make-believe nature of their profession been more apparent. Just days before the biggest game of most of their lives, this year's Super Bowl qualifiers are realizing how much closer to fantasy than reality they often live.

"This is not Disney World," San Francisco 49ers Pro Bowl safety Ronnie Lott said. "Anyone who expects that is in for a shock."

Miami has been shocked once again this week by outbreaks of violence. Just as the city is trying to dress up and strut as host of the Super Bowl, it is being torn apart by rioting, arrests and deaths.

"It's not the time for it," Cincinnati Bengals receiver Eddie Brown, a native of Miami, said. "I feel bad. It's not right for people to come here for the Super Bowl and see this going on."

"Super Bowl time is for enjoyment for the people here and the people coming in."

Brown grew up in the Overtown and Liberty City sections where the incidents have occurred. Already, three people are dead, eight others have been shot, 20 buildings burned and about 175 people arrested.

"I don't see Miami as this type of place. 'Miami Vice' gives Miami an image which I don't think Miami is like. With the Super Bowl here, it's getting blown up more as the 'Miami Vice' scene."

While the players express concern about the situation, they also claim they can't allow it to distract them from preparing for a game.

"Sure, I try to catch bits and pieces of it on the news," San Francisco guard Guy McIntyre said. "But I have to concentrate on the game, on getting ready for the biggest game. It has to be just another city and we can't get caught up in that."

So they try to retreat into the shell they claim is so critical for proper preparation.

Both teams have enough players with Super Bowl experience to lead them back to the Fantasy Island of NFL life — seven for Cincinnati, 14 for San Francisco, including center Randy Cross, who announced on Wednesday that the Super Bowl will be his final game.

"Experience in this helps a lot," Pro Bowl guard Max Montoya said. Montoya was in his third pro season when the Bengals got this far, losing to the 49ers 26-21 seven years ago. "Some of us have had one shot at it and we know what to expect."

"We have a lot of younger guys who have asked" what Super Bowl week is like. "We don't set down any rules or try to coerce them into our way of thinking, but we did let them know what to look for."

The media crush, the hype, the irregularity of the entire scene all can work against the players. It's up to the veterans to help them cope.

"The '81 team didn't have anyone who had played in a Super Bowl," Bengals receiver Cris Collinsworth said. "Maybe that hurt us a little."

"We were pretty tight before the game and there was shoving in the line to get taped. Everyone was nervous and upset anyway and it got to the point of being ridiculous."

"Now, some of us, we have that perspective to know there will be the added pressure and not to let it bother you. Being able to anticipate helps."

Some players don't want to anticipate. Charles Haley, the Pro Bowl

"I know my blood will be flowing Sunday," Rice said. "Every game is a challenge for me. It's a chance to prove yourself. Every Sunday is a chance to prove yourself. It's another game."

Really?
"That's how you have to think," Rice said.

Iba not sure how, but TCU whips Coogs

By The Associated Press

Texas Christian coach Moe Iba says he's not sure how his team managed to whip Houston and remain undefeated in Southwest Conference basketball play and he doesn't care how the Horned Frogs did it.

Freshman center Reggie Smith scored seven of Texas Christian's last nine points and 17 overall to lead the Horned Frogs to a 55-54 victory over the Cougars Wednesday night.

"This is a great win for our team," TCU coach Moe Iba said. "I don't know how it happened and I don't care."

In other SWC conference play, Texas edged Texas Tech, 90-86. In a non-conference game, No. 14 Florida State defeated Arkansas, 112-105, in overtime.

Chris Morris of Houston tied the game at 52-52 with 1:25 remaining with a few throw. A three-point play by Smith made it 55-52 with 1:03 remaining.

Houston's Derrick Daniels missed the front end of a 1-1 with three seconds left to seal the victory for TCU, now 12-5 and 5-0 in conference play. Houston dropped to 9-7 and 1-3 after losing three straight conference games by a total of five points.

Richard Hollis led Houston with 16 points.

"Reggie Smith played a great game and we were able to play good defense," Iba said. "That's the only way we can win."

Hollis felt the Cougars misjudged the strength of the Frogs.

"We kind of underestimated them," Hollis said. "They are a good team, but they're not as talented as we are. They play together and that is why they're a good team."

Travis Mays scored 35 points and Texas held off a furious Texas Tech rally for a 90-86 victory.

The Longhorns improved to 13-3, 4-1 in the SWC. Texas Tech is 6-9, 1-3. Mays and Lance Blanks, who added 26 points, staked the Longhorns to a 17-point halftime lead that grew to 21 points early in the second half.

But the Red Raiders cut the lead to one point with 3:32 remaining on the strength of a 10-point run. Jerry Mason, who led the Red Raiders with 22 points, scored seven points during the 10-point run.

The game drew a crowd of 13,233, the Longhorns' largest of the season.

"Our guys like to flirt with danger I guess," said Texas Coach Tom Penders. "We have had too many games where we have had comfortable leads and then let things get interesting."

Texas, the conference's top-ranked 3-point shooting team, was 10-of-18 from 3-point range.

"That was the most fantastic three-point shooting I have ever seen," said Texas Tech Coach Gerald Meyers. "I thought the key to the comeback was that we played defense and Texas finally cooled off a bit."

Texas' Alvin Hegg, the SWC's third-leading scorer, was held to six points, almost 14 under his average.

Florida State coach Pat Kennedy said his bench, particularly Derrick Mitchell, played a big part in the No. 14 Seminoles' 112-105 overtime victory over Arkansas.

"This was the best road win for Florida State since I've been the head coach," Kennedy said. "To win in overtime on the road will really help us. That was an amazing ball game. I almost need someone to tell me exactly what happened."

He said the fact that Tony Dawson and George McCloud, who scored 49 points between them, fouled out and Theron Mayes broke his hand in the first half made the victory even more impressive.

A 62 percent free throw shooter for the season, Mitchell made both ends of a one-and-one to give the Seminoles a 102-100 lead with 4:14 left in overtime. It was the Seminoles' first lead since McCloud's 3-pointer put them on top 73-72 with 11½ minutes to go.

McCloud, who scored a game-high 28, had hit a 3-pointer to tie it at 100 with 59 seconds left.

Florida State is 13-1, the best start in school history. The Razorbacks are 10-4.

NC comes back to beat unbeaten Duke

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

After watching his top-ranked team get blasted from the ranks of the unbeaten, Duke coach Mike Krzyzewski went right to the point. "It's kind of like we have been dodging a bullet and we got hit by an artillery shell," Krzyzewski said. With Scott Williams leading the way, 13th-ranked North Carolina dominated inside and routed Duke 91-71 Wednesday night. Williams finished with 22 points and 11 rebounds.

"They played like men and we played like boys at times," Krzyzewski said. "I was amazed at their strength."

North Carolina, 15-3 and 2-1 in the Atlantic Coast Conference, pounded the boards on both ends. Of its 14 baskets in the second half, only one was a jumper from beyond 10 feet. The Tar Heels ran up a 43-27 edge in rebounds, including an 18-1 lead on the offensive boards.

Williams, who hit 10 of 14 field goal attempts, said he got the revenge he was seeking.

"We had every right to go into this game and play just like we had nothing to lose," Williams said. "We had lost to them three times last year. That was incentive to go out there and play. We had nothing to lose and everything to gain."

Duke, with Danny Ferry nursing a sore back, fell to 13-1 overall and 3-1 in the conference.

In other games Wednesday involving Top Twenty teams, it was No. 3 Georgetown 80, Providence 77; No. 5 Oklahoma 123, No. 17 Kansas 95; No. 14 Florida State 112, Arkansas 105 in overtime; No. 15 North Carolina State 82, Wake Forest 64; and No. 18 Tennessee 83, Florida 76.

North Carolina led 39-34 at the half, but Duke began the second half with a 9-0 run to grab a 43-39 lead, its first advantage since the opening basket.

After the teams traded baskets until Duke led 50-45, the Tar Heels went on a 13-2 spurt and the runaway was on. North Carolina continued to build its lead to the end, hitting 15 of 19 free throws in the last 10 minutes.

Robert Brickey paced Duke with 20 points.

No. 3 Georgetown 80, Providence 77. With Coach John Thompson sitting out his second straight game to protest a newly approved NCAA rule that tightens entrance requirements for freshman athletes, Georgetown got 35 points from Charles Smith, including a go-ahead baseline shot with five seconds left, to edge Providence in a Big East game.

The Hoyas, down 77-71 with 1:50 to play, scored the final nine points of the game. Smith put the Hoyas ahead with a five-foot shot from the right baseline, then added two foul shots. Georgetown is 13-1 and 4-1. Providence, 13-2 and 3-2, was led by Eric Murdock with 20 points.

No. 5 Oklahoma 123, No. 17 Kansas 95. Mookie Blaylock scored 30 points and Stacey King had 23 in Oklahoma's rout of Kansas. It was the first game between the Big Eight teams since the NCAA championship game last season when Kansas upset the Sooners.

Milt Newton paced Kansas with 22 points. No. 14 Florida State 112, Arkansas 105, OT.

Reserve Derrick Mitchell missed the front end of a one-and-on with six seconds left in regulation and the score tied at 100, but scored all seven of his points in overtime as Florida State downed Arkansas.

George McCloud led the Seminoles with 28 points. At 13-1, it's the best start in school history. The Razorbacks are 10-4. No. 15 N. Carolina St. 82, Wake Forest 64.

Chris Corchiani's 22 points led a fast-breaking North Carolina State attack as the Wolfpack built a 16-point halftime lead and won their 10th straight game, raising their record to 12-1 overall and 3-0 in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Wake Forest fell to 8-6 and 1-4.

Chris King led Wake Forest with 15 points.

No. 18 Tennessee 83, Florida 76. Dyron Nix scored 19 of his 29 points in the second half to lead Tennessee past Florida. The Volunteers improved to 12-2 and lead the Southeastern Conference with a 5-0 record. Florida fell to 8-9 and 2-4.

Nix scored Tennessee's first nine points of the second half, but the Vols could not pull away as Dwayne Schintzius and Livingston Chatman kept the Gators close. Schintzius finished with 28 points and 12 rebounds, and Chatman had 19 points.

Warriors knock off Knicks

By The Associated Press

The New York Knicks were done in by several hot hands and a lot of cold ones.

The hot hands belonged to Golden State's Winston Garland, Mitch Richmond and Chris Mullin, who combined for 92 points on 33-of-48 shooting. The cold hands were those of the Knicks, who made only five of an NBA record 28 3-point shots and were only 20-for-36 from the foul line to Golden State's 32-of-38.

The result was a 133-119 victory for the Warriors, who own a six-game winning streak for just the second time in 10 years. The Knicks had a five-game winning streak snapped as they began a seven-game road trip.

"We're shooting the ball extremely well, there's no doubt about that," said Golden State coach Don Nelson, whose 558th victory made him the 10th winningest coach in NBA history. "We've really been intelligent on our break and our shot selection has been good and we've been scoring."

"Our guys are in good shape and consequently we can play them a lot of minutes and still go hard. Winston Garland was the key tonight. He handled their pressure extremely well."

Elsewhere, it was the Los Angeles Lakers 111, Los Angeles Clippers 90; Dallas 102, Denver 92; Detroit 103, New Jersey 90; Philadelphia 115, Boston 104 and Milwaukee 118, Charlotte 106.

Lakers 111, Clippers 90. At Inglewood, Calif., a pair of 3-point shots by Michael Cooper paced a 10-0 fourth-period run that helped the Lakers remain the NBA's only unbeaten home team.

Despite dressing only nine players, the Clippers, who suffered their 11th consecutive setback, trailed only 85-79 with 8:12 remaining when the Lakers' 10-point burst in less than two minutes broke it open.

Magic Johnson scored 19 points and added 13 assists for the Lakers while James Worthy had 16 points and a season-high 15 rebounds. Quintin Dailey paced the Clippers with 19 points.

Mavericks 102, Nuggets 92. At Dallas, Mark Aguirre scored five of his 26 points during a 16-2 first-period burst. The Mavericks made eight of their first 13 shots in building a 15-point lead and never led by fewer than 10 points over the final three periods.

Rolando Blackman added 22 points as the Mavericks won their second consecutive game after seven straight defeats. Danny Schayes had 20 points for the Nuggets.

Pistons 103, Nets 90. At Auburn Hills, Mich., Vinnie Johnson's four points during a 13-1 run midway through the fourth quarter let Detroit pull away.

After Buck Williams hit a free throw for New Jersey, Detroit got a basket and two free throws from Johnson, two more free throws from Isaiah Thomas, a jump shot by Bill Laimbeer and a free throw by Adrian Dantley to make it 96-82 with 4:16 to play.

Dantley led Detroit with 24 points. Buck Williams and Mike McGee had 16 apiece for New Jersey.

At Philadelphia, the 76ers spotted Boston a 12-0 lead and then stormed back behind Ron Anderson's career-high 36 points, including 17 in the final period.

The Celtics led 83-80 at the start of the fourth quarter, but Philadelphia scored the first seven points in an 11-2 surge and took a 91-85 lead with 9:11 left.

Charles Barkley, who played despite an ailing back, scored 23 points and Mike Gminski 18 for Philadelphia. Kevin McHale led the Celtics with 31 points, Reggie Lewis had 22 and Robert Parish 20.

Bucks 118, Hornets 106. At Milwaukee, Terry Cummings scored 26 points and Ricky Pierce made five straight baskets to open the fourth quarter as the Bucks won for the seventh time in eight games.

Milwaukee led 59-57 at halftime, then used a 15-4 third-quarter run that included six points by Jack Sikma and four by Cummings to open a 74-61 lead with 7:49 left in the period.

Pierce scored 12 of his 18 points in the fourth quarter and rookie Mark Davis added a career-high 17. Kelly Tripucka and Robert Reid scored 20 points each for Charlotte.

Proposition 42 furor boils on

By The Associated Press

John Thompson and many other college coaches and administrators don't like Proposition 42 and want another chance to vote against it.

Not everyone, however, is opposed to the controversial NCAA rule that would stop awarding athletic scholarships to high school graduates who fail to reach minimum academic standards.

"I disagree wholeheartedly with Thompson," University of Colorado faculty representative William Baughn said. "It's not aimed at blacks. It's to get people ready for college."

"I'd like to see young people ready to come to a university," he said. "The standards are minimal. They can go to community colleges to make the grades and still play two years at a Division I school."

Baughn voted in favor of Proposition 42 twice last week. The rule was defeated 1591-51 a week ago Tuesday at the NCAA convention in San Francisco, but passed 163-154 the next day.

Proposition 42 prohibits athletic scholarships for incoming freshmen who don't have both a 2.0 grade-point average in high school and a minimum score of 700 on the Scholastic Aptitude Test or a similar score on another test. The measure takes effect Aug. 1, 1990.

Thompson, the Georgetown and U.S. Olympic basketball coach, is so angry about Prop 42 that he has boycotted both games the third-ranked Hoyas have played since last week. Several critics say the rule is biased against minorities and have called it racist.

Grady Bogue, interim chancellor of Louisiana State University, disagrees.

"It seems a strange perspective that assumes that poor students and minority students are only enrolled on basketball and football teams," Bogue said Wednesday in New Orleans. "We have thousands of them enrolled in this school that are doing well in college. You cannot conclude that this rule does damage to the poor and minorities."

"A student who fails to obtain an athletic scholarship is not deprived of a college education. We have junior colleges and public colleges and universities that educate thousands of poor and minority students every year," he said. "I don't know if a basketball player who doesn't get a scholarship will go to college or not, but I do know that if they want to, they can."

Bogue's views are completely opposite those of LSU basketball coach Dale Brown, one of the rule's most outspoken critics.

Proposition 42 was written and sponsored by the Southeastern Conference, which had voted to phase it in unilaterally among its 10 member schools even if the NCAA as a whole didn't follow suit. LSU is a member of the SEC and so are the University of Georgia and University of Kentucky.

Charles Knapp, president of the University of Georgia, earlier this week called the proposal "a modest step in some ways, but an important step." He said there were "a lot better ways of promoting cultural diversity on campus besides athletic scholarships," such as hiring more faculty and providing more academic scholarships.

Slow cooking makes stew tasty

How can anyone claim something that takes 10 hours to cook is a timesaver?
Because your electric slow crockery cooker simmers unattended while you are at the office, a meeting, or shopping. Your meal is ready within moments after you step into the kitchen.

That long, slow cooking also makes the meat tender and blends the robust flavors in this stew.

MEDITERRANEAN STEW

- 3 medium potatoes, peeled and cut into 1-inch cubes (3 cups)
- 4 medium carrots, peeled and sliced into 1-inch pieces (2 cups)
- 2 medium onions, cut into chunks

- 8-ounce can tomato sauce
- 1 cup dry red wine
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar

In a 3 1/2-quart electric slow crockery cooker place potatoes, carrots, onions and stew meat. In a medium bowl combine tomato sauce, wine, vinegar, brown sugar, salt, cumin, garlic powder and pepper, stir in raisins, stick cinnamon, cloves and bay leaf. Pour mixture over meat in cooker. Cover and cook on high-heat setting for 5 to 6 hours, or on low for 10 to 12 hours or until tender. Remove stick cinnamon, cloves and bay leaf

WTSU offers Music Career Day Feb. 3

The West Texas State University department of music and dance will sponsor Music Career Day on Friday, Feb. 3 for all interested high school students considering a college education in music. Counselors, directors and parents are also welcome.

The day-long event, offered as a public service by WTSU, will provide a wide variety of clinics and informative sessions. Career Day begins with registration at 9 a.m. in the Mary Moody Northern Hall Atrium. The opening session, scheduled for 10 a.m. in Northern Recital Hall, includes a welcome address from Dr. Sue Park, dean of the College of Fine Arts and Humanities, and faculty introductions by Dr. Harry Haines, head of the department of music and dance. The session also includes a short concert featuring the Jazz Band, WTSU Chorale, University Orchestra and Symphonic Band.

Students desiring individual counseling may schedule a free 15-minute private lesson with a member of the WT music faculty. These individual sessions are intended to offer advice regarding personal musicianship as related to a career choice in music. Coaching for the final Texas All-State band audition is also available upon request. These individualized mini-lessons are scheduled from 11 a.m. - 1:15 p.m.

Following a 1:15 p.m. presentation by Lynda Tinsley on financial aid, students may select from among more than two dozen sessions on careers in all areas of music. The 30-minute programs range in subject matter from music therapy to piano playing and teaching Kindermusic.

Scholarship auditions for graduating seniors considering West Texas State as a college choice will begin at 3:30 p.m.

A complimentary salad supper sponsored by WT's student music organizations is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. in Room 203 of the Fine Arts Building.

The Faculty Grand Recital will follow at 8 p.m. in Northern Recital Hall.

Although Career Day is free, selected sessions and meals will require reservations. To register or for more information, contact John Reimund at 806-565-2840.

Planning special music

As the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity continues, arrangements are being finalized for Sunday's special service set at the Church of the Nazarene at 7:30 p.m. Jim Haile and Susie Merrick will offer an arrangement of religious music during the service, which will feature a message by Dr. Frank Dietz, executive director of the Texas Conference of Churches. "Building Community: One Body in Christ" is the theme of this year's observance which involves several local churches of various denominations. The goal of the annual event is to start the new year off with Christians all over the world joining together in a prayer for guidance. St. Anthony's Catholic Church library will be the site of tomorrow's 7:30 p.m. service, which will be led by laity.

Smoking declines among adults

The Texas cigarette smoking rate has hit the lowest level ever recorded, with 23 percent of adults smoking in 1987, according to a survey done by the Texas Department of Health (TDH).

In last year's sampling of more than 1,100 adults, TDH found a reduction in the percentage of adults who smoke, compared with a 1984 state survey in which, 27 percent of adults smoked. Smoking rates in Texas now are below the national level of 26.5 percent, according to a survey conducted by the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta in 1986.

Dr. Robert Bernstein, Texas Commissioner of Health, credits the decline in the overall smoking rate to a smaller proportion of male smokers. The 1987 survey showed that 23 percent of adult men smoke, compared with 31 percent in 1984. Smoking levels for women remained unchanged, with 23 percent smoking in both the 1984 and 1987 surveys.

"This marks the first time that smoking rates for women are the same as those for men. It's not surprising when you consider that the decrease in smoking rates has been three times greater for men than for women during the last 20 years. If this trend continues, there will be fewer male smokers than female smokers in the near future," Bernstein added.

The data on smoking behavior was collected as part of TDH's statewide Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System, initiated in 1987. This system collects monthly data on health risk behaviors. Its reports help TDH to assess with greater accuracy the changes in the lifestyles of Texans.

Each day 40,000 young children die of hunger and related diseases.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS:

In 1981 I had breast cancer. I was 36 years old and my mother had died 32 years earlier, at age 36, of breast cancer. I got through it.

In 1983 I had a second mastectomy and learned that my husband was having a mid-life crisis type of affair. I got through it.

In 1986 our beautiful, bright 18-year-old son took his life. No warning. No sign that he was unhappy. My husband and I were at home when he quietly hanged himself in the basement. God knows how I got through it, but I did.

In 1988, after 21 years of what I thought was a good marriage, my husband moved in with his "Friday Nite Rendezvous." Because of all the hell we had been through together, I was certain that nothing could break us apart. When he left me, the pain was gut-wrenching, but I got through it.

How can I overcome all the grief in my life? It was due to the help I got from a competent and caring therapist and the loving support of family and friends. Above all, it was believing in God and having faith in myself.

If I could go from a living hell to peace and serenity, anyone can. There is nothing special about me. I just asked God for the strength to get through the day. I didn't ask Him to get me through the week because I never knew what I would need two days up the road. I asked only that He give me strength to get through the day. And He never failed me.--Answered Prayers in Gary

DEAR FRIEND IN GARY: You have written a powerful letter, filled with humility and good sense. You are to be admired for your faith and your courage.

One of the great strengths of this column is not what my readers learn from me but what they learn from one another. I've always known there is a wealth of wisdom out there. Thank you for proving it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you please tell me if the American Red Cross will inform a donor if it is discovered that he or she has AIDS?--An R.N. in N.Y.

DEAR R.N.: We checked with Dr. Gerald Sandler at Red Cross headquarters in Washington. He said all donors who test positive for the AIDS antibodies are notified. These findings are kept strictly confidential.

However, Dr. Sandler advises those whose behavior might place them at risk to refrain from donating blood because current tests are not 100 percent accurate and their blood could contaminate the supply.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You made a glaring error in a recent column. You told a distressed reader, "All psychiatrists are M.D.s." This is wrong. Many psychiatrists have D.O. degrees. They are Doctors of Osteopathy.

The training, and in many cases their specialty certification credentials, are the same as those for psychiatrists with the M.D. degree. Osteopathic physicians are licensed to practice a full scope of medicine in all 50 states.

I trust you will publish a correction soon.--Gerald G. Osborn, D.O. (President of American College of Neuropsychiatrists)

DEAR DR. OSBORN: There are 28,000 osteopathic physicians in the United States and I think I heard from all of them. My apologies to each and every one of you for this grievous error. This was a shameful gaffe.

The nugget of the day: Bragging is not an attractive trait, but let us be honest. A man who catches a big fish does not go home through an alley.

How much do you know about pot, cocaine, LSD, PCP, crack, speed and downers? Think you can handle them? For up-to-the-minute information on drugs, write for Ann Landers' newly revised booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope." Send $3 plus a self-addressed, stamped business-size envelope (45 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Insurance board looks at home rate

AUSTIN (AP) — The insurance industry and a state consumer representative squared off before the State Board of Insurance, but a decision on changes to property insurance rates may be several weeks off.

Insurance Board Chairman Edwin J. Smith Jr. said the three-member board would study Wednesday's testimony and come to a decision later. The rate changes are proposed to go into effect March 1.

The insurance industry has asked for a 9.1 percent increase in statewide property insurance premium rates while the Office of Consumer Protection requested a 0.5 percent decrease.

The board's staff has recommended a 7.2 percent increase in property insurance rates. The staff recommendation includes an 8.2 percent increase in homeowners insurance.

Last year, the board cut Texans' annual property insurance premiums by 3.6 percent. Kay Doughty, public counsel of the Office of Consumer Protection, said property insurance rates should drop again. The insurance industry can sustain a lower profit margin because its investment income is substantial, she said.

She also said the industry has inflated its expenses in devising its recommended increase.

"Once again the expenses that the insurance companies are asking for are rather seriously overstated by 4 to 6 percent," Ms. Doughty said.

"We think we can prove that the companies can and do operate at a significantly lower expense margin than that the industry is asking for," she said.

But Rick Gentry, a spokesman for the insurance industry dismissed that claim.

"I think anyone who is intimately familiar with the property insurance market in Texas realizes there is a great deal of competition. So one of the ways you compete is you try to hold expenses down to a minimum," he said.

An increase in property insurance rates is needed because of generally poor experience across all property lines, Gentry said.

In addition, he said, insurance companies have to be allowed to make a reasonable profit. Gentry said if Ms. Doughty's recommendation were enacted, insurers might leave the state.

"If you find yourself in a market where you cannot make a reasonable rate of return ... then corporate decisionmakers tend to say let's take our assets and move them someplace else," he said.

The Insurance Board sets the maximum property insurance rates, and many companies sell policies below that rate. In 1987, 87 percent of the homeowners' insurance market was purchased for an average 17 percent below the maximum rate, according to the board's staff.

The state is divided into three rating territories, with the coastal counties divided into a first and second tier.

An annual insurance policy with a 1 percent deductible on a $75,000 home would cost the following under the industry's recommended rate increase:

—In Corpus Christi, in the first tier of the seacoast rating territory, insurance for a brick home would cost $550, a $48 increase; and $717 for a frame home, a $82 increase.

—In Houston, in the second tier of the seacoast rating territory, insurance for a brick home would cost $686, a $48 increase; and $822 for a frame home, a $54 increase.

—In Austin, in the central inland rating territory, insurance for a brick home would cost $462, a $38 increase; and $483 for a frame home, a $46 increase.

—In Lubbock, in the north-northwest rating territory, insurance for a brick home would cost $808, a $51 increase; and $839 for a frame home, a $71 increase.

INS reviews policy

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — Political asylum cases filed here during the 2½-week life of a disputed Immigration and Naturalization Service procedure have been put on hold until a judge decides on the validity of the INS rule designed to keep Central Americans from traveling further north, an official said.

The delay affects up to 2,064 asylum applicants filing claims between Dec. 16 and Jan. 9. But many of them have traveled on to their U.S. destinations after U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela in Brownsville issued a temporary restraining order against the INS rule, said Virginia Kice, a spokeswoman for the INS' Harlingen District covering the southernmost part of Texas.

The procedure was devised to keep asylum applicants from working or traveling farther into the United States for the 30 days it would take to approve or deny their claims for refugee status. A marked increase in the number of homeless, jobless Central Americans camping out in the Lower Rio Grande Valley to await their adjudication by the INS followed the Dec. 16 implementation of the procedure.

Immigration attorneys filed a class-action suit against the procedure on Jan. 6. Vela on Jan. 9 granted a temporary restraining order until a full hearing could be held in the case.

The judge's order freed hundreds and maybe thousands of Central Americans to leave the Lower Rio Grande Valley and pursue their claims for refugee status elsewhere in the United States. Bus companies last week brought in extra vehicles and drivers to accommodate the extra northbound passengers.

Gunman's 'best friend' offers clues to bizarre behavior

By STEVE GEISSINGER
Associated Press Writer
STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — A woman describing herself as the best friend of a schoolyard killer whose clothes and guns bore radical Islamic slogans says his struggle to cope plunged him into dark moods "where he didn't want to live."
"He had a bizarre attitude, kind of paranoid," said Kelley Riley, whom residents of the area described as Patrick E. Purdy's frequent companion in late 1987 and early 1988. "He wanted to make it on his own (as a welder) but he couldn't. He'd get upset at things. He'd get mad at himself."

However, she said, Purdy was "nice" most of the time, would "just walk away when he was mad," was never violent toward anyone and never demonstrated an unusual interest in guns.
Authorities concede they may never know why Purdy, described as a drifting loner with a long criminal record, returned to the school of his youth in army clothes and sprayed rifle fire at a playground full of pupils Tuesday, killing five, wounding 29 children and one teacher and then killing himself.

Officials said Purdy's olive-drab shirt bore the Iranian battle cry, "Death to the Great Satan" (sic), "PLO" and the words "Libya" and "Earthman."
Carved into the stock of the assault rifle was the word "Hezbollah," the name of the radical Shiite Moslem faction believed holding American hostages in Lebanon. Also carved into the rifle were the words "freedom" and "victory."
"We still do not have a complete picture," said police Capt. Dennis Perry. "Why he did this we may never know."
Psychologists urged parents to bring their children back to the Cleveland Elementary School on Wednesday and deal with the trauma immediately through counseling.
However, only 227 of the school's 975 pupils returned Wednesday, said Principal Pat Busher.

"The kids are great and they are very resilient," she said.
Parents and their children, most of them refugees from Southeast Asia, were greeted by bouquets atop the school sign on the front lawn and five red roses at its base. Across the street, a 3-by-9-foot paper sign read, "Racists Are Ugly — Let's Stop Them."
"I still feel upset, but I have to bring my kid to see the teacher to let the teacher know my kid's all right," Brom Lee said in broken English. "Everybody's angry. Your kid there, you get angry, too."
The police captain said Purdy lived in a room at the El Rancho Motel in the days leading up to the blood-bath. In the room, officers found a bizarre collection of items, including a broken .22-caliber rifle, about 100 plastic toy soldiers and an olive drab cloth on which were drawn in black "three snarling-type faces" and the words "V for victory" and "F for freedom," Perry said.
Purdy, who police said was either 24 or 26, parked his station wagon behind the school and set it ablaze with a Molotov cocktail before entering the campus during midday recess.

After firing up to 110 shots from a bayonet-equipped, Chinese-made AK-47 assault rifle at hundreds of youngsters, he killed himself with a single pistol bullet to the head.
Riley, 25, of Stockton, described herself as Purdy's best friend but not his lover. She said she met Purdy, whom she knew by his alias, Eddie West, at the Merrill Hotel managed by her sister, where he lived. She said she last saw him in Stockton three or four months ago.

Occasionally, Purdy would talk about his life as a drifter, Riley said in a telephone interview during a visit to Barstow in Southern California.
"He said he'd had a hard time, sleeping under bridges and stuff," she said.

Bentsen funeral today

MCALLEN, Texas (AP) — Funeral services were scheduled today for Lloyd M. Bensten Sr., who led a rich and active life up to his death two days ago in a traffic accident.

Bentsen, father of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, Texas' senior U.S. senator, died Tuesday at the age of 95 in the accident that occurred at a rural highway intersection in Hidalgo County in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Department of Public Safety officials said Bentsen apparently failed to yield the right of way at a stop sign to an eastbound car.

Funeral services were scheduled for 10:30 a.m. today at First Baptist Church in McAllen with burial in Roselawn Cemetery and Mausoleum in McAllen.

The South Texas pioneer and entrepreneur had been active in his farming, ranching and real estate interests, which had helped him build a South Texas empire.

"He was here two or three times a week, sometimes every day," said

Bud Williams, foreman for the past 25 years at Bentsen's 16,000-acre La Coma Ranch in Hidalgo County, one of six ranches Bentsen owned.

Bentsen held nearly 50,000 acres of farms and ranches scattered on land carved out of seemingly worthless brushland near the Mexican border in 1920.

In his final years, Bentsen continued living at a residence on Bentsen Road near Mission, and was up at dawn every day and on the road to his real estate office or one of the farms and ranches in Hidalgo and Starr counties.

Bentsen was a supporter financially and personally of his son's political campaigns — from county judge to terms in the U.S. House and Senate and unsuccessful bids for president and vice president.

He and his wife, Dolly, who died in 1977, had four children: Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr.; Kenneth, a Houston architect; Don, a McAllen businessman; and Betty, the wife of Lower Rio Grande Valley businessman Dan Winn.
