Minor Damage Done In Backing Accident

Minor damages were caused to a 1953 Ford driven by Joan E. Hardwick Monday morning when a gasoline truck driven by Homer Milton Hamilton backed into her car at the Milburn Service Station on Sampson Avenue, about 50 feet south of East Third Street.

Miss Hardwick pulled up and parked behind the truck which had just unfolded and was ready to back out, according to the police report. Hamilton failed to see the Ford, and the left side of the truck collided with the right rear fender of Miss Hardwick's car.

Hamilton was charged with negligent collision, and Miss Hardwick was charged with driving without an operator's license in her possession, police said.

Zoning Plan Work Begun

Hereford's Zoning Commission held its first meeting in City Hall recently, took the oath of office, and heard a review of the work they are to do from M. R. Smith, city engineer.

Those taking the oath of office, which was administered by Mayor Henry Sears, were J. R. Allison, J. C. McCracken, Neil Cooper, J. C. Ricketts and Ben Childers, who are the entire membership of the zoning commission.

McCracken was elected by the Zoning Commission to serve as chairman. During the election discussion, it was brought out that McCracken has served on the City Commission of Hereford, and it was while he was a member of the commission that zoning work was actually begun.

City Attorney Ray Cowser explained the mechanics of the Zoning Commission, and the duties of similar commissions in other cities. "The Zoning Commission will actually work out the complete plans for zoning Hereford," Cowser said, "holding such meetings as are needed to hear those citizens who wish to discuss the zoning in their sections of town. When the plans for zoning are completed, the zoning commission will present its plans and proposals to the City Commission for final adoption."

Land Use Map City Engineer Smith presented a land use map of the City of Hereford which shows all homes and buildings, and the present uses of these buildings. With the map he presented his first draft of how the City of Hereford might be zoned.

"This draft is based on my own experience, and is for the purpose of suggestion only," Smith declared. "The Zoning Commission is supposed to work from this map."

Numerous Feed Applications Are Turned In

Fifty-three applications for all types of feed were received Monday and Tuesday by the Deaf Smith County Drouth Relief committee, but most of them were for cottonseed cake and meal.

According to Hugh Clearman, Deaf Smith County agricultural agent, the committee plans to put in orders for 20 carloads of cottonseed cake, 8 carloads of meal, and five carloads each of corn and oats.

On a tonnage basis, this should be about 400 tons of cake and 160 tons of meal.

Just when any amount of the drouth relief feed is likely to arrive in the county is another matter. All of the old stocks of cottonseed products have been used, it is reported. However, some meal and cake from the 1953 cotton

Full Rehearsal Of "Messiah" Is Scheduled

A full rehearsal of the score of "The Messiah," which will be presented December 6, will take place in Ward Hall of the First Methodist church at 7:45 o'clock Friday, with Dr. A. Clyde Roller directing.

Sunday's rehearsal was directed by Don Moore, music director of the Hereford Public Schools, in the absence of Dr. Roller, who was attending an orchestra clinic in Nebraska. Mrs. A. J. Schroeter was pianist.

New Members

Two new members were added Sunday to those who had already joined the volunteer singers who will put on the program. They are Mrs. Paul Hoff and Mrs. John Draper. This raises the total number of singers to about 60.

They are Miss Elsa Porter of Amarillo and Miss Betty Gregg of Borger, sopranos; Anna Russell Leveranz of Amarillo, mezzo soprano; Loyd Patten, director of music in Amarillo College, and Arnold Leveance, minister, First Presbyterian church, Amarillo, tenors; and Royal Brantly, West Texas State College, Canyon, and Dick Gifford, Westminster Presbyterian church, Amarillo, basses.

Holdover directors, who still have one year to serve on their two year terms in office, include Tom Alderson, Dick Barnard, George McLean and Loyd Sampy.

On December 15 the new board members will meet with all members of the present board. At that time, officers for 1954 will be chosen by the directors.

Committee Report

In a report from the membership committee, Wanda V. Mullins, it was noted that there are now 314 members in the Chamber, a gain of 62 members during the last six months. Members of the membership committee this year are Chairman Ray Cowser, J. R. Allison, J. G. Evans, Francis Hardwick, D. C. Kinsey, Guy Lawrence, W. C. Meharg, Emmett Milburn, Sam Nelson, Dab Reeves, and Deward Robinson.

and make their recommendations as to any changes which they think might be needed, after studying the problem and holding hearings.

Districts Explained

In his explanation of the map, Smith said that many towns placed districts within their city limits that would never be used, and suggested that Hereford put into effect those zones that are actually needed. He suggested that Hereford make use of six types of zones — "A" district, single family units; "B" district, two family units; "C" district, apartments and multi-family units; "D" district, local retail; "E" district, central business; and "F" district, industrial and manufacturing.

Before the Zoning Commission completes its work, more districts may be added to that list, or one or more of the districts eliminated, if the members think it advisable.

After making a study of the zoning map, the Zoning Commission adjourned. Each member is to get and study a copy of the suggested zoning map, and is also expected to study the entire town, then be ready to report back for a second meeting whenever that is called by McCracken.

May Not Be Continuous

Various zoning districts set up by the commission will not necessarily be continuous, so there might be several sections of one type of district in Hereford, according to the needs as determined by the commission members.

It was the opinion of the Zoning Commission members, when the group adjourned, that the zoning

— We fill only Doctor's Prescriptions —

So many things have been written about Thanksgiving that we could scarcely hope to improve the situation. Despite our many troubles, though, we do have much for which to give thanks. For instance, just living in America is sufficient. When you think about conditions in other lands over the world, the benefits are all the more emphasized. Generally, too, when we boil our troubles down they turn out to be comparatively small.

I once knew an old newspaper man who ran everything through what he called the "Time Test". As a youngster I was inclined to get pretty excited once in a while about this or that. The old man would take me over to the files of the newspaper, turn back 10, 15 or 20 years and say, "Well, everyone got all worked up here about this situation". Sometimes the article would point out a near-miss violence. "And," he would continue, "I'll bet not one person out of a hundred even remembers the incident today." He always contended that any event which could not pass the "time test" of at least 10 years wasn't really worth worrying about too much. Things work out that way lots of the time. Too often, incidents which worry us the most develop into lesser conclusions than we had anticipated. Sometimes they even turn out for the best.

Freedom of worship: The right to go to our own church when and where we please will, of course pass the time test. So will the freedom to vote, right of trial by jury, and the right to live normal lives in the pursuit of happiness. There are a lot of others here in America on Thanksgiving, 1953. We still have these things after 300 years of progress—and when you think about these things you, too, will cherish this Thanksgiving Day.

On the other hand, there is one big question mark. It's this guy "Jones". The fellow everyone tries to keep up with. Down through the years I have met a lot of Joneses—but never this particular one. He has always been a mystery to me. I'd give a lot to meet him. Is he Mr. Average American? Is he above the average? Is he good in that he keeps raising our standard of living? Is he bad in that he keeps most of us in debt? Why does he spend so much money? There are lots of other angles, I am sure.

Here is the deal. I will pay $25 in prizes: $15 first place, $10 second place and $5 third place for the best article or theme describing your conception of the mythical "Mr. Jones". It's OK to drag in Mrs. Jones and the kids, too, if you want. I will personally be the sole judge. Anyone can enter: students, grown people—even Brand employees. The stories should not exceed 1,000 words and must be in The Brand office on or before December 6. Make them funny. Make them serious. Make them any way you want. The teachers can even assign the topic as a lesson project if it meets with school sentiments and desires. I don't care, so long as they are not over 1,000 words. Also, be sure to put your name and address on your entry. Naturally, we will reserve the right to publish the winners.

Had a nice letter from H. T. Higley of Dallas. Mr. Higley is a former resident, and he sends the following excerpt from the Dallas News, where it appeared in the "Big D" column written by Paul Cruma. The clipping reads: "From away up at Hereford, R. J. Richardson says he went into a domino parlor up there trying to hire a hand and ran into a sign: 'Positively No Gambling Allowed.' Mr. Higley observes that it's illegal if you get caught, anyway. On second thought, having lived in the Panhandle, he says: 'Maybe the spelling wasn't so bad after all. Maybe the sign did mean just what it said.'

Paul Crume, incidentally, is the brother of Vance Crume of Hereford. He was an employee of the State Line Tribune at Farwell as a youth—and he made plenty good in Dallas journalism. He conducts an interesting column concerning various things, mostly about "Big D". It carries front page billing on The News and appears in the lead on the left hand column daily and Sunday.

Lots and lots of people are talking about the Clovis prohibition election. Most everyone says that Clovis will probably continue as a "dry" area for a long, long time. They have been throwing an election every two years in accordance with New Mexico statutes. Things get pretty hot. Someone told me that the counties containing Clovis and Portales are the only two dry counties in New Mexico. Is this right? Anyway, it should settle the same question for this area. We frequently hear talk regarding a "wet and dry" election here. I have been predicting that it would go "dry" 2 to 1. Maybe more. Even the drinking people would mostly vote against liquor, chiefly because of the easy accessibility to Potter County. I doubt if anyone alive today will ever see Deaf Smith County vote "wet".

Neil Cooper poses a good question. "If the people in Hereford shop in Amarillo and, in turn, the Amarillo people shop in Dallas, the Dallas people shop in New York, the New York people in Paris, then where in the world do the Paris people shop?" He sure has a good question.

And speaking of shopping, have you window-shopped Hereford yet? The windows this year are away yonder the most attractive seen here in many a yuletide season. Hereford has some of the best window decorators in the country, anyway—and this year, they literally out-did themselves.

Just received a nice letter from Mrs. J. P. Slaton, who is visiting in Dunsuir, California. She says her Thursday Brand arrives on Saturday and the Sunday issue arrives on Tuesdays. She also sent along a clever column from the San Francisco Chronicle by a Californian who had recently visited Texas and, reading between the lines, I believe she might be missing Texas just a little bit. Anyway, it was nice to hear from her. Of the pioneers who contributed heavily to the foundation and early growth of this community, Mrs. Slaton has always been one of my favorites. Among other things, she has a wonderful sense of humor.

How about some publishable jokes? Send them in to "Bull Column, Box 673, Hereford." Put down your name and address. Every joke used in this column will be awarded two tickets to the Star Theatre, including tax.

Mexican Tourist Officials, Army Are Feuding Over Ancient Castle

By Laurence F. Stantz MEXICO CITY - Tourist officials and the military are locked in a struggle for possession of historic Chapultepec Castle on a hill overlooking the city. The tourist business wants the castle to continue in its present role as an historical museum. The army wants to recover the massive building for use as the military academy.

The present museum has monuments and records of Mexico City from the time it was an Aztec capital, before the arrival of the Spanish conquistadores. Pictures and maps show the development of the city. The museum is particularly rich in records of the French-supported empire of Maximilian and Carlotta.

The military claim to the building arises from its use as a military academy during the U. S. invasion of 1847. The cadets, most of them around 14 years old, defended it valiantly against attack, but were finally defeated. The boys who lost their lives in the battle are among Mexico's most revered heroes.

The military academy now has its own rather cramped quarters on the outskirts of the city. Plans were made several years ago to move the school to Cuernavaca, but they fell through.

Tourist officials say the castle is not big enough for the academy and does not have any drill ground within a reasonable distance. The army says it is big enough for barracks and the cadets could be taken by motorized equipment to drill grounds.

There has been some sort of official building on the hill since before the Spaniards came. It was the summer home of the Aztec emperors. Later the colonial viceroys built a castle. Then the military academy took over the old castle. Maximilian rebuilt it as a typical French residence of the period. Mexican presidents, after the overthrow of the empire, lived in it until about 15 years ago. After that, it was the guest house for visiting foreign officials until turned into a museum about eight years ago.

The tourist officials have heavy economic reasons for demanding the building continue to be used as a tourist attraction. Latest figures show foreign tourists, 90 percent of them from the United States, spent 275 million dollars here last year.

This is considerably higher than the usually accepted total and is the gross income from the tourist business. It does not allow for the money spent by the 30,000 Mexican tourists who go to the United States on buying trips annually. The usual figure of net tourist income is 175 million dollars.

This is still enough to make the tourist business the country's biggest dollar earner. Cotton, the largest export, brought in only 132 million dollars last year.

Figures given out by the government tourist bureau show 26,000 persons in Mexico City live on the tourist business. The whole country has 2,891 hotels, 518 of them in Mexico City. However, less than 10 percent of these are good enough to satisfy foreign tourists.

The tourist report showed that more than a quarter of the tour-

The club meeting was held November 19, with Jewell Fields hostess and Eleanor Prewett co-hostess.

Mrs. Marlin Gilliland, president, presided. Members voted to arrange Thanksgiving cheer baskets for needy families, and plans were made for the annual Christmas party, which will be held on December 18 in the home of Mrs. F. A. Tucker.

The Thanksgiving program was given by Mrs. Joe Kendall. Members attending were: Mesdames H. E. Miller, F. A. Tucker, Grady Parsons, Marlin Gilliland, Abe Martin, Joe Kendall, R. E. McCullough, and the hostess.

Duck hunters are making their rounds this year without much success. There just aren't many ducks this year, and where there are a few, the land is posted. Much of the land in this community is posted to protect the quail and pheasants that the farmers are sheetering in an effort to stock the land once again, especially with quail. Farmers have been protecting the pheasants in this community for the past several years and a nice stock of pheasants are now in this vicinity.

Livestock Killed
 Farmers have another reason for posting their property. It is for the simple reason that hunters take no regard for the farmers livestock nor his property. They leave the gates open and take down fences and leave them down. One land owner states that hunters shot a heifer and a goose for him and another had about eight of his tame ducks killed.

Weather is the news in the community this week. The low on Saturday morning was around 17. All remaining vegetation was killed. It has hampered the growth of the

Pilgrim Crade Reproduction Is Simple With Fir Plywood

Here is a pattern for fir plywood from which you can make a striking reproduction of an authentic Pilgrim cradle found in Plymouth, Mass., home of some of the earliest settlers on the North American continent.

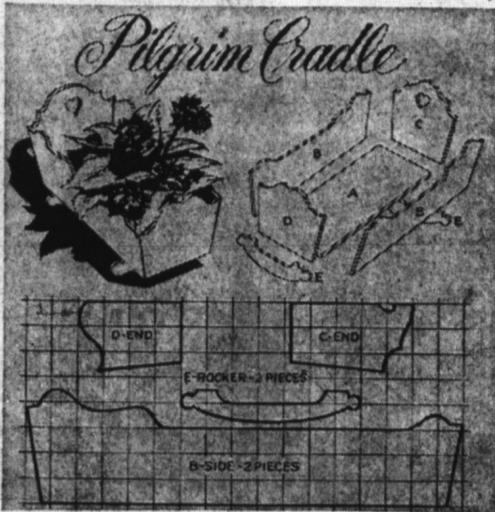

Designed by author - designer Lurelle Guild from an original in his extensive collection of early American antiques on which he is one of the world's greatest authorities, the cradle is a good example of the work of early American craftsmen. It is one of the "do-it-yourself" designs developed by Guild for construction with fir plywood.

It is exciting to imagine the quaint old-fashioned names of the scores of pioneer children that may have been rocked to sleep in lonely Colonial farms in this charming piece of early handcraft.

Wonderful Toy

A miniature can be used today as a wonderful toy just as similar miniatures were used in Colonial times. Or you can use it for mail, as a letter holder or, lined with metal, as a decorative and charming planter.

A free full-size pattern for this or one of the other pieces in the series is available in every box of Grape Nuts Flakes on your grocer's shelves. And the package wrapper on the box illustrates each of the items in the entire series.

You can make the Pilgrim cradle from the illustration shown here with a small piece of 1/4" fir plywood. Lumber dealers stock standard small-sized panels of plywood and a piece as small as 16" by 23" will do the job. First cut the following parts:

 1 pc. 6" by 15 1/4", Bottom (A)
 2 pcs. 4 1/4" by 16 1/4", Sides (B)
 1 pc. 4 1/4" by 5 1/4", End (C)
 1 pc. 4" by 5 1/4", End (D)
 2 pcs. 1 1/4" by 7", Rockers (E)

Draw Patterns

After these have been cut, draw a grid on a piece of paper, spacing lines 1" apart. Then draw in the actual shape of the parts on the grid, using the pattern shown as an illustration. Only half of the end patterns are shown. Reverse the half pattern for a full-sized pattern.

Then cut out the parts with jig or coping saw. File the bottoms of the sides and ends so they rest flat on the bottom boards when assembled at the slight angles shown in the sketch. Nail or screw and glue all parts together.

You can finish this by giving it a natural finish or painting a bright color. Decorative decals available at your dime store will dress up the sides or ends. Before finishing sand the whole piece with 0 sandpaper and then dampen with a wet rag. Let it stand for 12 hours and then sand it again with 00 sandpaper or rub down with fine steel wool. You are then ready to apply wax, varnish, paint or stain.

If you would like to make the other items in this series, look at the package wrapper on a box of Grape Nuts Flakes which illustrates each one. There will be a full-sized pattern for one of the items in the series in each box.

Texas Today

By Bruce Henderson

DALLAS—This city claims the only luncheon club which has jailed the Nation's No. 1 Texas-hater, insulted a prima donna, called the governor of Arkansas—in effect—a liar, and married two camels.

These are typical projects of the Dallas Bonehead Club, which after 34 years recognizes no equal in the realm of crossing horseplay with satire to deflate big shots and sacred civic projects.

"Our only purpose is not to have a purpose," explains Bonehead Member Ralph Currie, Dallas attorney.

Which is Currie's way of explaining the Boneheads were founded April Fool's Day, 1919, by business and professional men fed up with the endless round of civic meetings and grave talks.

They felt an urge to whoop it up, and the club has been doing it in headline-making style ever since.

The Texas-hater, for instance,

He was Ray F. Halloran of Cincinnati, who wrote a prize-winning letter in a contest sponsored by the Madisonville Sidewalk Cattle-men's Assn., to find the ex-servicemen who hated Texas the most. The association brought Halloran to Texas with the idea of treating him so well his attitude would change.

But contest officials made the mistake of letting Halloran accept an invitation to a Bonehead club luncheon March 20, 1948. The Boneheads announced they had prepared an appropriate welcome for anyone who stated, as Halloran did, that a Japanese prison camp was more enjoyable than Texas. As Halloran dined:

1. A snake-believe Indian waved knives and hatchets perilously near him.

2. A good-looking blonde walked up and tried to hit Halloran with the thigh bone of a steer.

3. A "phrenologist" conducted a lengthy and uncomplimentary analysis of the guest-of-honor's skull.

4. As a finale, the Boneheads clapped Halloran into a filthy jail cell and left him there for a period with an apparently idiotic narcotics prisoner. (The cell was being used for a demonstration at the county jail depicting what cells should not look like, and a deputy sheriff with a crazed gleam in his eyes played the part of the addict).

In 1946 the then-governor of Arkansas, Ben Laney, sent the Dallas News a 140-pound watermelon. The Boneheads—sensing an insult to Texas watermelons—declared flatly that Laney's melon did not exist.

Singer Grace Moore accepted an invitation to a bonehead luncheon in 1944, after performing at Dallas' fair park auditorium. The prima donna had to find herself a place at the table and reach for her food. Finally, one Bonehead—Postmaster J. Howard Payne—paused to comment, "I've seen you somewhere."

The Boneheads may disclaim it, but they are not without constructive impulses. In 1951 they noted that Josephine, the lone camel at the Dallas zoo, was living in spinsters. They scraped up $300 dollars to help buy a mate, which they named Napoleon, and married the pair one sunny afternoon at the zoo. The Boneheads served a wedding feast of peanuts to assembled guests.

One occasion the Boneheads drew praise from a Minnesota congressman. Rep. Harold Knutson told newsmen January 21, 1945, that he was all for the Boneheads club's idea of a ground dog day by which crated canines would get no air transportation priorities for a day. The Boneheads' proposal stemmed from an air trip by Col. Elliott Roosevelt's dog, after which three servicemen complained they were shunted off the plane by the dog's priority.

Bonehead membership is limited to 57 and all are vice presidents. Each Bonehead's trademark is a derby hat.

One of the club's traditional gags is to introduce a speaker at their weekly luncheon, then get up and leave in a body as he starts talking.

But this stunt resulted in probably the Boneheads' only failure.

The Boneheads chartered a bus to Greenville to close the 1950 Greenville centennial, which was not to open until nine days later. That done, they held a meeting at which the invited speaker was E. C. Foster of Greenville.

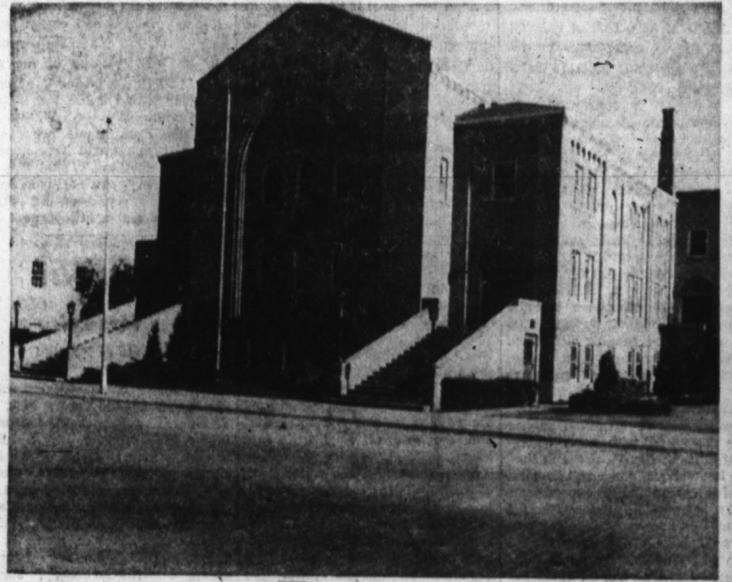

When the Boneheads started their walkout, Hunt County Sheriff Fayt Clifton pulled a six-shooter. "Stay where you are, boys," the Sheriff boomed.

That was one speech the Boneheads sat through.

Water District Project Will Conserve Rainfall

Experiments which, if successful, may mean the conservation of thousands of acre feet of rainwater are being undertaken by the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District.

This project is concerned with the construction of a recharge pit and a recharge well, one in Lynn County and one in Floyd County, which are designed to carry rainwater from surface lakes to the underground reservoir.

Two Purpose
This project is being undertaken for two purposes, said W. L. Broadhurst, chief hydrologist for the district. They are: 1. Salvage the water that is otherwise lost by evaporation, and 2. reclaim land for farming or grazing activities.

"Many farmers and businessmen have shown in recent meetings that they are concerned with the possibility of such experiments," Broadhurst said. "The subject has been discussed with each county committee in the district and they also have shown concern," he said.

"If these recharge experiments prove successful, the estimated amount of lake water that can be salvaged in this district is 250,000 acre feet a year," he said.

These experiments, in their initial stages, are being undertaken at a relatively low cost.

Water Filtered

The proposed method of experimentation is to filter the water through cotton gin trash and burrs as it enters the recharge pit. The filter will catch the silt and thereby keep the water-bearing sands from clogging. After the burrs are filled with silt, they will be removed and spread on soil needing them. New burrs will then be added as filter.

The pit resembles what we know as a trench silo, but is larger than most silos in this country.

Pit Flooded

During recent rains, the pit on the Unfred farm in Lynn County was filled in 30 minutes after the water had risen over the dam. Owing to the suddenness of the rains, no burrs had been added to the pit. "We will get some good information, however, concerning the rate of intake without burrs, and the rate of clogging," said Broadhurst.

Since the rains, the water level of the pit has been measured often, to note the rate of return of water to the underground sands. An irrigation well and a windmill well, near the pit are being measured to determine the amount of rise that occurred due to the addition of the lake water to underground sands.

Burrs To Be Added

When the pit dries, the silt in it will be removed and cotton burrs added, and the next rain awaited.

Tests will continue at the pits until sufficient evidence has been compiled to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion.

"If the experiments prove successful, then we will have accomplished something," said Broadhurst. "If they are not successful, then we will have been out only a few dollars and a little time."

Special Crews Searching For Trace Of Walleyes

AUSTIN — Specially equipped crews are seeking trace of the walleyed pike planted in two large Texas lakes last spring.

The Chief Aquatic Biologist of the Game and Fish Commission said this work is proceeding under a special Dingell-Johnson project.

The Dingell-Johnson Act provides for a Federal tax on fishing equipment and earmarking of the revenue for fish improvement work.

Introduced This Year

Walleyed pike were introduced into Texas this year through joint efforts of the Federal hatcheries and the Commission. One half million young pike were placed in Lake Travis, one of the Highland Lakes chain north of the city of Austin. The same number of fingerlings was released on Devil's Lake, near Del Rio on the Mexican border.

Several reports have been received of walleye catches but the Chief Aquatic Biologist believed the fishermen concerned had been deceived by log perch or darters. They are similar in appearance to walleyes but both have black dots in the middle of the base of their tails, a distinguishing mark which the walleyes do NOT have.

One Good Report

One fairly authentic report came from a man fishing in Lake Travis who said he caught what he believed to be a walleye while fishing with a minnow in thirty feet of water. Minnows are the favorite walleye bait.

The Chief Aquatic Biologist said the Commission solicits co-operation of fishermen in tracing walleyes but requested that, where possible, they bring in or send in the specimens to the Commission headquarters in the Walton Building, Austin.

He said the walleyes necessarily are confined to Lake Travis and Devils Lake although sooner or later some are expected to get into Lake Walk below Devils Lake and Lake Austin below Lake Travis.

Some In Ponds
The Chief Aquatic Biologist said it is known for certain that some of the walleyes thrived and grew quickly. These comprised a small number that escaped into ponds of the San Marcos State Fish Hatchery where the consignment of eggs

Theoretically, the surviving walleyes will attain adulthood by spring and begin reproducing by next summer.

The Chief Aquatic Biologist said he doubted that walleyes would be suitable for stocking the new Falcon Lake on the Mexican border since the lake will be "too muddy bottomed for pike which prefer sandy, gravelly, clear water."

THE TRAPPED HAND

A Lesson In State-Federal Relations

"The Trapped Hand. . ." That is the provocative theme developed by the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce, pointing dramatically to the surrender to Washington of more and more power and taxing authority over the years by State and local governments. A few of the facts and figures apply only to Georgia, but the speech has a lesson for every State and community.

The Georgia Chamber explains the story this way:

"The natives of Indo-China have a clever method for capturing monkeys. They drill a small hole in the side of a coconut and fasten a chain in the hole, with the other end staked into the ground. Then they cut a small slice off the top of this chained coconut—a hole just large enough to admit a monkey's hand. They put a handful of rice inside the coconut and the trap is set.

"The monkey comes along, reaches through the hole and grabs the rice, which, of course, makes his fist too large to pull out of the hole. He could let go of the rice and easily remove his hand—but, no, he is too greedy, or too foolish, to think of this. Instead, he will stand there, holding his fist full of rice, until his captors come and take him away.

"You and I might take this tip from the monkey's fate and apply it to our thinking as American citizens today. Let's keep a close eye on the fellow who would lure us into losing something tremendously valuable—our freedom—while grabbing for a figurative handful of rice!"

The story, which has been used in speech and booklet form, raises a series of fundamental questions, repeatedly stressed by the National Chamber: How many services are the responsibility of government? Which of those that are rightfully the responsibility of government should be handled at the local, state or Federal level? Who should levy taxes to support them? Does the surrender of power to Washington affect the freedom of every citizen?

As for the division of power between Washington and the states, the Georgia Chamber speech comments that perhaps "Washington experts are better fitted than we to settle the affairs of the Middle East," but that "Californians are better fitted to solve California problems and Georgians are better fitted to solve Georgia problems!"

"Yet, through a combination of federal fervor and local lassitude," it points out, "the states have surrendered more and more of their local decisions to Washington, in the hope of obtaining a handful of rice in the form of federal grants and favors."

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. What is a good skin-rejuvenating facial mask?

A. About once every two weeks spread milk of magnesia over face and neck, leaving on until thoroughly dry. Then put on a second application over the first and let dry another 20 minutes. Remove with lukewarm water and follow with a cold rinse.

Q. How should I make up over a prominent jaw?

A. Smooth a dark powder over it to make it less conspicuous. To prove how effective this is, experiment with a light shade of powder on one side of your jaw line and a dark one on the other. You will see how one side of your face appears more square than the other.

Q. Should makeup be changed with the seasons?

A. Most certainly. What was becoming with pastel shades and a suntanned skin usually does not do a thing for you when your skin has faded and you are wearing winter tones.

Q. What do you think is best for overcoming a double chin?

A. Massage the roll of fat under the chin is produced by fat that is deposited just outside the tissues enclosing the muscles. Attack the large deposits by pinching them gently between thumb and fingers. Then with the backs of the fingers draw the skin upward and backward toward the ears.

Q. Is it wise to brush hair that has just been permanented?

A. Not only wise, but necessary. If the wave was well set, you can press it or coax it right back into place after each stroke of the brush. Dampen the hair a bit to set the wave more deeply, using a good wave-setting liquid instead of water. Having a permanent does not do away with the necessity for daily combing and brushing.

Q. What is a good exercise for developing a beautiful back?

A. Stand erect with feet slightly apart, fingers locked together, palm to palm over head. Pull with right hand, bending body to right. Repeat to left, and keep alternating.

Q. How can I make a good hair-curling fluid at home?

A. Beat the white of an egg with an equal quantity of water.

Q. What can I do to promote the growth of my eyelashes?

A. Massage the roots with lanolin, cocoa butter, or petroleum jelly.

Q. Is it good to use a hot curling iron on gray hair?

A. This is too drying on hair that is already dry. Rubber or leather curlers will serve nicely, or get a good oil treatment permanent, which counteracts the dry condition and gives you a softer curl at the same time.

Q. What is a good soothing and resting treatment for tired eyes?

A. Little pads of cotton moistened with cold water or witch hazel.

How Can I?

By Anna Ashby

Q. How can I prevent stains when ironing over a spot on which peroxide has been applied to remove scorch?

A. Do not iron directly on the spot moistened with peroxide, as this leaves rust stains on the garment. Place a clean dry cloth over the spot and iron with a medium warm iron, replacing the top cloth when the peroxide soaks through.

Q. How can I keep the hair brush clean?

A. Put a teaspoonful of ammonia into warm water; dip the brush up and down until clean. Dry with the bristles down; this prevents the bristles from coming out, and also hardens them.

Q. How can I keep an angora wool sweater fluffy?

A. Long-fibered wool should be brushed thoroughly while it is drying. It will then be fluffy and the original appearance restored.

Q. How should butter be measured?

A. Don't try to measure butter for recipes by cramming it into a cup, thereby wasting quite a bit of it. A pound brick of butter is equal to two cups and all the various measures can be very easily figured from this.

Q. How can I prevent rusting of hinges?

A. Wash the metal hinges on doors frequently in warm soapsuds, and they will not need so much polishing. Wipe dry after washing, and to prevent rusting, rub with oil.

Q. How can I lessen the drip from candles?

A. A simple method of accomplishing this is to place the candles in the refrigerator for several days before using.

Q. How can I loosen the dirt in any white articles, such as curtains, blankets, spreads, and such, which are soiled very badly?

A. Soak over night in cold water, to which a handful of borax has been added. This loosens the dirt so that it will wash out readily the next day, and a beautiful color is imparted to the material.

Although an annual death rate of 40 per 1,000 people was not unusual two centuries ago, some countries today have death rates of less than 10 per thousand.

Deep Roots

It warns that the transfer of power from the hands of the people to government, whether in Moscow, London or Washington, "has a deep-rooted bearing upon the lives, tax bills and the freedom of every man, woman and child among us." Power is being transferred to Washington, it continues, because of demands for more and more services which the states cannot furnish so long as the present tax trend continues.

As for specific steps to meet this threat of centralized government, the speech urges listeners to gather the facts, study the pros and cons of various government services, judge the impact of federal spending on their family, form an opinion of what is best and make it known to local and state officials, as well as to members of Congress.

"When and how we do this job," he concludes, "can mean the difference between a trapped hand or one holding aloft the torch of individual authority."

County HD Clubs Making Christmas Party Plans

By special request another white fruit cake recipe is being given this week. The fresh grated coconut is a delightful addition to the other ingredients.

- White Fruit Cake
- 1/2 pound butter
  - 3 cups sugar
  - 4 cups flour
  - 1 cup milk
  - 3 teaspoons baking powder
  - White of 8 eggs, well beaten
  - 1 medium coconut grated
  - 1/2 pound citron
  - 1 pound candied cherries
  - 1 pound pecans
  - 1/2 pound almonds
  - Leave cherries and pecans whole. The almonds may be chopped or left whole. Cut candied fruit into inch cubes. Grate fresh coconut. Combine fruits and nuts and sprinkle with flour. Cream butter, add sugar gradually and beat until well blended and light. Sift flour, measure and combine with baking powder. Add flour and milk alternately to the mixture starting and ending with flour. Add fruits and nuts. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Grease paper. This helps prevent the crust from becoming too brown, thick and dry during baking. Bake in a slow oven 250 degrees F. The baking time depends on the size and shape of the loaf. Use this table as a guide for cooking.

Weight of Cake	Time
1 pound	2-2 1/2 hours
2 pounds	3-3 1/2 hours
3 pounds	4 hours

Clubs that were given Fruit Cake demonstrations last week are:

Wyche
"This fruit cake is simple, yet very good," said Mrs. Ira Ott to the Wyche Home Demonstration club when it met Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. R. Damron for a fruit cake demonstration. Fruit should be floured to prevent it from sinking to the bottom. The batter can be divided and cooked in different sizes of pans. May also be cooked in cup cake form, she continued.

Following the demonstration, Mrs. W. R. Scarth, president, related accomplishments of the club for the past year, naming achievements and benefits derived by the club besides the nineteen regular meetings.

Supper Was Planned
Plans were made for the family Thanksgiving supper on November 20 at the Legion Hall in Veteran's Park. Plans were made also for the Christmas party on December 17.

Mrs. J. R. Baird was elected Council Delegate with Mrs. N. L. Dewett as Alternate.

Characters for a skit to be given at the County Council Party on December 12 were named.

Guests for the meeting included: Mesdames Ray Wilhelm, Ramey Elliston, O. B. Sumner, Lloyd Olson and H. H. Caraway. Members present were, Mesdames Wayne Newsom, Gene Awtry, C. F. Newsom, W. P. Axe, Guy Newsom, W. T. Carmichael, Raymond Paetzold, Edwin Flood, H. L. Ward, and the hostess and co-hostesses, Mrs. C. C. Ellus and Mrs. George L. Olson.

Kitchen Tours
Members of the Bippus Home Demonstration club met for a short business meeting with Mrs. J. G. Fortenberry Wednesday afternoon before they visited the home of Mrs. R. L. Pinnell.

The women found Mrs. Pinnell's home so well organized that no space seemed to have been wasted and in the modern kitchen everything also had been arranged with a place of its own for conveniences.

Visitors Surprised
Mrs. Pinnell surprised the visitors with refreshments of pie and coffee.

At the business meeting plans were made for the Christmas party.

Members making the tour were: Mesdames C. F. Rickels, Elmo Hall, C. F. Homfeld, J. G. Fortenberry and G. V. Hall and her two children.

South Hereford
South Hereford started their kitchen tour on Tuesday, November 17, at the home of one of their members, Mrs. Franklin Miller.

Before Mrs. Miller showed her kitchen, a short business meeting was held to make plans for the club Christmas party. The kitchen curtains which the hostess had made of plain white muslin and brown bias tape were a nice compliment to the tan linoleum floor covering and the yellow cabinet top.

Picture Window
At the Raymond Paetzold home, which the club visited next, the large picture window which overlooked the children's playground was a feature.

Roberta Campbell showed the group the kitchen cabinets which she built into a space only eight feet wide. All storage and shelf space had been utilized. Contents of an up-right home freezer was another feature the women were interested in.

Pictures were made of each hostess and her kitchen.

Members making the kitchen tour were: Mesdames Eldon Craig, Clarence Hollobaugh, Franklin Miller, S. S. Williams, A. C. Flowers, John Hacker and John Draper.

Financial Bulwark Formed By Savings And Social Security

While the Pilgrims still faced many insecurities when they sat down to their first Thanksgiving dinner, they justly felt that they had much to be thankful for. Today, as people throughout the land gather at family tables for the holiday festival, they, too, have much for which to be thankful. Insecurity has not vanished, however; it has merely changed. We of today, no less than the Pilgrims of long ago, must guard against insecurities that constantly threaten us. Not the least of these is financial insecurity—a menace to the preservation of the family and the home.

Just Like Pilgrims
Just as the Pilgrims built stockades for protection against predatory Indians and wild beasts of the forests, we must build bulwarks against economic adversity that so often overwhelms the family because of old age or death of its breadwinner. It was to assist us to build in our working days financial protection for the days when earnings stop, that old age and survivors insurance was made a part of the social security law. It enables us through our work to provide a measure of our own financial security.

Social security, together with private insurance, savings and other investments, are the timbers out of which we build a stockade to protect ourselves and our families against the dangers of economic uncertainties in our years ahead. Information about the protection you and your family have through the operation of the old-age and survivors insurance program can be obtained from your Amarillo social security office.

Preparing Bulbs In Fall Explained At Club Meeting

Mrs. Sam Long was hostess for the Bud To Blossom club meeting held Friday afternoon. Plans were made for the group to work this week on their projects — beautifying the Parkview school grounds and the Labor Camp grounds. Mrs. Lloyd Sharp made the arrangement for the day, that featured bronze chrysanthemums and red candles in a table piece.

Mrs. W. Glenn Williams presented a program on "Preparing Bulbs for Bed", advising that dahlias and gladioli bulbs be dug in the fall and store for the winter.

Cut Before Freeze
"Cut dahlias four inches from the ground in early fall and before the ground freezes, dig and store in a cool place.

"Dig gladioli bulbs and let dry, then separate the corms and store in a cool place. Plant hyacinth and tulip bulbs now and protect for the winter by covering the ground with leaves and branches or a good mulch.

"Cut iris in a fan shape, and cover with leaves or mulch to protect from winter cold."

Use Of Dried Material
Mrs. Don Martin gave a demonstration of the "Possibilities of Dried Materials for Arrangements," suggesting that much material can be gleaned from the highways, ditches, fields and gardens.

"It is best to begin in late summer to gather material for winter arrangements. It should be hung up side down in a paper sack in a cool dark place for drying. Then it may be taken out and used as desired, even colored with sprays of gold, blue, silver or white which are especially adaptable for Christmas decorations," she suggested, "using maze, straw flowers, pine cones or even weeds, which can be made into beautiful bouquets that last all winter.

Study Marathon Near End
IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Miss Julia Miller, 37, who lists her occupation as "retired farmer," is nearing the goal of her 25-year study by mail for a degree from the State University of Iowa.

She will be within four hours of the number of credits required for a bachelor of arts degree when she finishes her current course in the History of the United States.

Her grades in the course are all "A's."
The oldest Iowa correspondence bureau student, Miss Miller began her home study program in 1928. She lives with a sister on the outskirts of Davenport, Iowa.
"I never could afford the time or money to go to college," she says.

Dog In Lookout
HAVERHILL, Mass. (AP) — When police approached a house where they were certain a gambling game was in progress, a dog ran toward the door, barking. The place was empty when police entered with their warrant.
They believe the dog had been trained to warn the gamblers.

New Grave Protected
CLEVELAND, N. C. (AP) — Souvenir hunters will no longer bother the grave of a man who may have been Marshal of France. The gravestone inscription in Third Creek Presbyterian Cemetery reads:

"Peter Stuart Ney, a native of France and a soldier of the French Revolution under Napoleon Bonaparte. Departed this life Nov. 15, 1946. Age 77."

Nichel Ney, Marshal of France, was ordered executed by Emperor Louis XVIII for losing the battle of Waterloo. Many believe Ney esaped the sentence and fled to America to become Peter Stuart Ney, a Rowan County schoolmaster.

Souvenir hunters chipped away much of the stone. Now the Ney Memorial Association has erected a brick and glass mausoleum over the modest grave.

Some areas on the Gulf and Pacific coasts of North America get more than 100 inches of rainfall a year while many parts of the American Desert get less than 10. U. S. croplands total about 464 million acres.

TO CARRY OVER BAD YEARS

Weather Cycle Studies Needed For Range Plans

COLLEGE STATION — Weather conditions must be taken into account when range management plans are being made and grazing should be on a sustained yield basis. According to A. H. Walker, range specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, a study of rainfall records and range conditions over most any 10 average year period will show drought conditions a rather common occurrence.

Recent studies, he says, show that rainfall is short one year in five in the eastern section of the state and two out of five in the western part. In the range country in 10 average years, one year can be expected to be almost a complete drought; two years will have very low rainfall and the other seven years will be near average or above.

Enough For Bad Years
Grazing the range on a sustained yield basis, explains Walker, means leaving enough seed and plant residue on the land during the good years to furnish forage for livestock without extra forage feeding during the bad years. Normally, he adds, grass produces from 50 to 70 percent more growth than it needs to survive.

This amount of forage can be grazed with the remaining 30 to 50 percent left to insure seed production and a reserve food supply for the plant itself. Generally, it is best to graze only about half of the forage production, says the specialist.

Value Of Practice
To back up the value of this range grazing practice, Walker cites a six year study made on the Spur Experiment Station. Yearling steers were grazed on 12 native grass pastures. On six of the pastures 71 steers were allowed to remove 51 percent of the grass by grazing. On the other six pastures 108 steers utilized 76 percent of the grass.

During the 146 day grazing period the 71 steers gained 10,508 pounds as against 10,044 pounds for the 108 steers. When steers were graded 58 percent of the 71 graded good or better compared with 3 percent for the 108 which had grazed off 76 percent of the available grass.

More Beef Produced
The six properly used pastures stocked with 37 fewer steers; actually produced more beef and the steers sold for more money because of their higher quality. But more important, says Walker, was the fact that the e properly used pastures were left in much better condition.

Beginning in 1941, a five year deferred grazing plan was started at the Sonora Station. Three pastures on the Station were not grazed from May to September of each year during the test period.

A summary of the test shows that summer rested pastures supported one and one-half times more grazing per acre on a year-long basis than did the average pasture which was grazed all year. The deferred pastures, adds Walker, showed a decrease in the amount of bitterweed and a big increase in the valuable bunch grasses.

Ranchers Demonstrated
He says many ranch owners have demonstrated on their own ranches the value of following the recommendations which have come from research findings. During the recently held field course in range management, Walker says the class members visited several ranches located in the drought area and found where proper use had been made of the range plants that little or supplementary feeding was being done. "These ranches," he said, "were like finding an oasis in the desert."

And finally, Walker says, don't restock the drought damaged pastures until plants have had a chance to make adequate root growth and regain some of the vigor which they have lost. Ranges are greening in some sections where showers have fallen and this new growth should not be grazed but deferred, he says.

Overseas Relief Funds Are Voted

The Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief, of which Bishop Frederick B. Newell is chairman, has voted a three-months appropriation of $205,165 for the relief of human suffering in various lands "without regard to race, color, or creed."

Among the countries to which these funds will be sent — principally for food, clothing, medicine and the care of orphaned children — are Austria, Germany, Hungary, Italy, Yugoslavia, Korea, Japan, Okinawa, the Philippines, Malaya, Burma, Borneo, Sumatra, India and Pakistan. In most cases, the direct relief will be administered by Methodist missionaries or by representatives of interdenominational agencies. About one-fourth of the total amount will be given through Church World Service (of which MCOB is a part) for its services to European refugees in the U.S.A., and in its overseas "material relief" programs in Europe and Asia.

In addition to this three-months appropriation, the Committee has approved requests for other funds to the total of $300,000 and these will be given as money is received from the 40,000 Methodist churches across the continent. The Committee expects to have a proportional share in the providing of homes and jobs for many of the 214,000 refugees who are to be admitted into the United States before December 31, 1956.

Recent Red Captive Is Back In South Korea

The Rev. Anders Kristian Jensen, of New Cumberland, Pa., Methodist missionary in Korea recently released from three years as a prisoner of the Communist North Koreans, is on a flying visit to South Korea. This has been made possible by a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation "to survey present needs for the development of educational and community leadership in Korea." He will advise church agencies on relief and rehabilitation needs on his return.

Dr. Jensen, since attaining freedom in May, has been recuperating strength for return as a missionary of the Methodist Church to Korea. The present quick trip to southern Korea will be in the nature of an exploration of conditions there, since he has not been south of the 38th Parallel since his capture on June 25, 1950.

Administrator Chosen For Council Of Churches

The Rev. Dr. Roy G. Ross, of Chicago, long a leader in religious education, has been elected administrative head of the National Council of Churches, to succeed the Rev. Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert.

Dr. Ross will assume his post as head of the nation's largest religious organization on Feb. 1, 1954, upon the retirement of Dr. Cavert. The latter has served as general secretary of the National Council since it began on Jan. 1, 1951, to carry on the work of 12 previously autonomous interdenominational agencies.

Formerly head of the Federal Council of Churches for thirty years, Dr. Cavert upon his retirement from the National Council will become chief executive in the United States for the World Council of Churches.

AT BULL BARN SATURDAY

Likable James Brothers Meet Sakata, Lipscomb In Tag Match

Japanese Mr. Sakata and Oregon's Buck Lipscomb, who attracted the razzberries with their "dirty" wrestling here last week, come back to the Hereford arena as a team Saturday night.

These two cross characters meet the likable James Brothers, Jesse and Johnny, in a tag match which goes as the main event. It runs for two out of three falls or to a one hour time limit.

Feuding Rivals

Sakata and Jesse James are, by now, feuding rivals. They were feuding here in a part of a double main event last week, and it was one of those rough things.

They'll be fighting each other again Saturday night, on opposite sides of the team match. Buck Lipscomb, a rowdy person from Eugene, Oregon, is a fitting partner for the unscrupulous Japanese athlete. Sakata, who always has to bow and scrape and make preflight noises and motions to his idols of judo and sumo before engaging in active combat, has come to be known as one of the most fearsome wrestlers of the territory. He uses the judo chops and a sumo choke hold to great advantage—and possibly gets by with more mayhem than the law ordinarily allows.

Heat Needed

The James brothers, from Houston, Texas, are two of the best liked wrestlers ever to work in these parts. They prefer to wrestle clean and scientifically, but they are capable of turning on the heat and mixing it with opponents who won't behave. They'll have to turn on considerable heat to subdue Sakata and Lipscomb, if they do.

To warm up for the main event, Johnny James meets Sakata in the opening match, a one fall or 20-minute contest.

Jesse James, former world's light heavyweight champ, meets Lipscomb in the second match, also for one fall or 20 minutes.

When those two matches are over, there is bound to be a fire under the main event.

During the depression 1930's, scientists estimated that U. S. population would level off at about 154 million people, but the nation now has more than 160 million.

More than 65 million emigrants left Europe between 1820 and 1930.

Wimbly Won Main Event Saturday

Two Negro women, Babe Wingo of New Orleans and Kathleen Wimbly of Columbus, Ohio, would have put any man to shame in the main event at the Bull Barn Saturday night.

The two shapely women battled for 27 minutes, with Wingo winning the second and third falls to take the event.

Wimbly won the first fall in 8 minutes with a body press after which Babs won the second fall with a body press and the third with a body jack knife.

Lipscomb Disqualified
Buck Lipscomb of Eugene, Ore., was disqualified in the first event for unnecessary roughness, giving the match to Billy Weidner of Amarillo. The event was a one fall, 20 minute time limit and lasted 16 minutes before Lipscomb was disqualified.

Sakata of Tokyo, Japan and Jesse James of Houston wrestled for thirty minutes before Sakata won the match with a body press.

Body Press Used

Sakata won the first fall in 9 minutes with a body press and the third fall in 9 minutes with a body press. James won the second fall in 12 minutes with a body press. The event was a two out of three fall with an hour time limit.

Per capita beef consumption in the United States rose from 55 pounds in 1951 to an estimated record 75 pounds in 1953.

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Robert M. Miller, of Pittstown, R. D. 3, likes boating, but couldn't find a quiet lake in his neighborhood — so he's having one dug.

Contractors do the digging in exchange for the topsoil they haul away.

Though the present lake bed is dry, Miller says the excavators should hit a spring soon that will fill the 1,200 by 145 foot hole.

Fire Is Portable

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Larry Emery couldn't wait for the firemen.

Told that his car was on fire, he sprinted to a nearby parking lot, started his car and drove it two blocks to the fire station.

Firemen put out the front seat blaze with a portable extinguisher.

IRA SCOTT AND WILBURN AXE were two of the first certified seed growers in Deaf Smith County. Scott (1), shown in his field about 15 miles west of Hereford, is now president of the Deaf Smith County Certified Seed Growers Association. In that field 100 acres of hegari, which he will certify this year for the first time, is being deheaded. He also has 200 acres of certified Martin maize, which he started growing as a certified seed crop in 1948. Center, (2), Axe looks at a trophy on his desk. The trophy, which is rarely, if ever, earned by a grower more than once in his lifetime, bears the inscription, "Texas Wheat Champion. Presented to W. P. Axe by Tex-O-Kan Flour Mills Co., Dallas, Texas, 1948." Along with this trophy are another trophy and a blue ribbon which Axe won for his seed. In (3), Axe stands beside the maize harvested from 325 acres, and the crop literally fills the barn to the rafters. Axe has also seeded 310 acres of Early Wichita to be certified next year. Handling of the maize for certified seed is different from regular combining, as seen in (4), but the extra care pays off in the market. (Staff Photos)

Mrs. Curtis Traweek Says

Geese Weeders Are Not All Profit

Mrs. Curtis Traweek reports that she has now been in the goose business twice. Her first time and her last.

To really appreciate all the details of this venture you should hear Mrs. Traweek tell her own story.

Her husband didn't turn thumbs down on the idea but he did advise caution when she proposed getting some tame geese last spring to keep the cotton fields free of Johnson grass and weeds during the summer.

No Compromise
But Mrs. Traweek thought a compromise would be impractical because the propaganda she says she had swallowed recommended 15 hundred geese to take care of 350 acres and if they were going to turn the weeding business over to the geese then she wanted them to make a clean sweep of it. In March the first 500, one day old, white Chinese goslings arrived and five weeks later another 500 were put in the brooder and then an additional 200 to bring the total to 1200 downy creatures that found the owners sitting up all night to keep them properly hovered. By the time they were getting big enough to graze, 300 of the goslings had been lost in the hovers.

Not Waterproofed
It was an interesting sight to watch the little geese feed down the cotton rows but any pleasure the Traweek's got as compensation came to an abrupt halt one afternoon when one of the rare showers of the season brought them to the startling realization that nature had not yet waterproofed the youngsters down-lined coats. # Growing Certified Seed Becoming Big Business

"Kind-Sorghum. Variety-Martin. Purity-99 percent." Grown-No, not in Arizona. The above is from a Vendor's Statement of Analysis from a Texas Tested Seed Label. The kind that has been attached to each bag of certified seed grown on some of the 3,500 acres planted last year by 13 members of the Deaf Smith County Certified Seed Growers Association and McNiell and Link, seed growers. The official blue tag clipped to this particular label listed W. P. Axe, secretary of the Association, as producer and he has also been named along with Ira Scott, president, as one of the two first growers of certified seed in the county. Others Added

By 1952, 11 other names had been added to the list which were as follows: W. J. Albracht, C. C. Billingslea, Eugene Bogess, Jay Boston, W. T. Carmichael, Ed Dziuk, J. D. Greeson, W. H. Johnson, W. T. Johnson, N. F. Miller and Chester Wiggians.

Bulk Sold Locally
The bulk of the certified seed grown by members of the Association is sold wholesale locally with the co-operation of nearly all of the grain elevators and seed dealers.

Chow Chow Recipe Was Given To Mrs. Brown By Pioneer

If you have as much as a bucketful of green tomatoes left you can make up a batch of Mrs. N. A. Brown's chow chow, which she makes from an old recipe of her mothers. Mrs. W. L. Potts, who with her husband, home steaded in Curry County, N. M., near Hollene in 1908 lived there until her death recently, passed the recipe on to her daughter-in-law. Chow Chow

Those first two crops of wheat grown by Wilburn Axe in 1947 and Martin Milo certified by both Axe and Scott in 1948 have been increased to include a long list of other varieties being grown for registered and certified seed in our area. This list includes other grain sorghums such as Plainsman, Redbine 60, Redbine 66, Combine Kaffir, 60, Medium Dwarf Sumac, Atlas Sargo, Sourless Sargo, Leote, Red Sargo, Black Amber, Red Top

Some of the seed has moved out to points in California, the Carolinas, Kansas and Hawaii. Arthur Stoy, who handles operations for McNiell and Link in this vicinity, tells of an order they had from Arabia. Tedious Work

Dig Those Crazy Younguns

By Roberta Campbell
So you think teenagers are silly. Well maybe they are but we don't know of anybody who can be more fun or of a better way to forget the pain in your knees, the stack of laundry in the clothes hamper or the price of cattle than to spend an hour or so with a bunch of these happy uninhibited youngsters and watch their antics—with your wings folded of course.

You probably won't be able to understand much of the gobblety gook or bop talk that so clearly conveys their ideas from one to the other but you are apt to find yourself joining in on the guffaws and giggles that follow and you will be amazed to see how well Junior and Susie can imitate all those goofy little goings on of the Walt Disney comics that you've laughed at so often.

Don't be dismayed either if granddaughter, clad in blue jeans and her hair tied up in a pony, seems unimpressed when you try to make her believe grandpa never hugged or kissed you until after you were married. That pretty young head of hers has brains enough in it to figure out that granddad wasn't going to let his hands freeze off holding a pair of lines when the horses knew the way home anyway. To be sure you were pretty modest, but what was the real purpose of that bustle you used to wear?

And Mom, don't think if you've been the right kind of a Mother that Bud, with his Levis rolled half way to his knees and his shirt tail out, abandoned his dad's ideals about the qualifications of a girl who will make a good wife. Just let word get around that some girl's father insists on knowing pretty well the young man his daughter goes out with, and immediately all the guys in the neighborhood are hunting up somebody who can put them in good standing with her "old man."

Surprisin, too, what a sobering effect a wedding ring will have on this boisterous crowd that seems to be always hilariously in the clouds or utterly miserable. After the honeymoon is over and they've presented you with the most adorable grandchildren in all the world they don't seem to have a thing left to do but settle down to the serious job of making respectable citizens, earning a living generation.

and worrying about this, the next

Growing . . .

inary seed because the business of certification is high-priced to begin with and somewhat tedious.

In order to certify his crop a farmer must plant registered seed, for which he will pay from 50 cents to $1 per pound to begin with but he usually raises his own seed after this initial investment.

How does he get it registered? By the use of paper sacks and a lot of hard work.

Chester Wiggins used 29,000 paper sacks this past summer to bag his Martin Milo just as it reached the bloom stage and in about three weeks the tops, or bottoms to be specific, were cut and the sacks pushed down where they were left to mark the stalks which would be hand headed and threshed later before being bagged, inspected and labeled.

In order to be certified the crop is inspected at intervals during the growing period, again at maturity and is subject to inspection at any time thereafter.

Wheat Most Difficult
Wheat is probably most difficult to rogue of all grains grown in the area, although growers of a particular variety can readily pick out any off brand varieties in his crop.

All of the certified seed growers own equipment individually or collectively for cleaning and bagging their product.

There are several points in favor of planting certified seed, even at the additional cost.

Texas More Rigid
This is particularly true of the certified seed grown in this locality because the inspection laws of Texas are more rigid than some other states and should provide a better grade of seed free from weeds and Johnson grass.

Adaptability is another factor in favor of our home grown products. Even on land that does have Johnson grass the farmer is planting less of it all the time when he seeds his ground with certified seed that is also free from noxious weed seed, and has been tested for germination.

Star Lighter Class Entertained With Party Saturday Night

Members of the Star Lighters class of the First Baptist church were entertained at a party given by the teacher, Mrs. L. B. Barnett, Tuesday night in the Joe Story garage.

The party was in the form of a Thanksgiving program for members and guests. Games provided entertainment.

Special guests were Joy and Gary Martin, Marlene and Marilyn Legg, Sue Suggs, Donna Gabbert, Verita Sanders, Jane Womble, Linda Reese, Mildred Paul, Samara Caraway, and Elaine Wagonef.

Members present were: Patsy Ford, Eugenia Knox, Irene Witherspoon, Marline Gilliland, Nancy Story, and the class officers, who include Carolyn Kester, president; Carolyn Verdin, vice-president; Earline Gandy, secretary; and Norma Hamby, reporter.

Chow . . .

1 cup chopped sweet red peppers
Mix well and sprinkle with one cup salt. Let stand about three hours. Pour in bag and drain over night. Next day place in separate vessel.

1 quart vinegar
3 cups sugar
2 tablespoons ground mustard
2 tablespoons allspice
Heat to boiling. Add the well drained vegetables. Cook slowly until tender. Pack in sterilized jars and seal. Process 10 minutes at 10 lbs. pressure in pressure cooker.

Geese . . .

The goslings were carried into the farm kitchen by the tubful and dried out in the oven until all but 20 had been revived. But the Traweek's goose troubles had hardly started.

Before long, spray from airplanes drifted into the field and another 300 were poisoned by the spray. It was also necessary to herd the flock to keep them from going into neighboring fields and 160 acres were finally fenced to enclose the ramblers.

With less than half the geese still alive and the possibility of losing more from poison, Father Hancock of Vega took the remaining geese and kept them for a month until the rains came and washed the poison substance from the plants.

More Grief
The Traweek's, now definitely in a liquidating mood, brought the geese home and fattened them to sell. Grief again. No market.

Finally, as the holiday season approached, after paying 75 cents apiece to begin with and feeding them for 14 weeks, the Traweek's were able to unload their flock at an average of about $1.40 each.

Mrs. Traweek admitted that they controlled weeds very well where they were able to graze, specially goatheads, and it seems anything that can out-do a goathead should have special recognition but even with that one virtue to their credit we would be willing to wager that the Curtis Traweek family will have something besides geese for their Thanksgiving dinner.

Soil Conservation District News

Carl Wimberley, who farms in the Dawn Community, was re-elected to the Tierra Blanca Soil Conservation District board at a meeting at the Dawn Co-op Elevator on Saturday of November 14. Wimberley has served on the board since the District was organized in 1949. He is one of five board members and represents Zone 5, which is the eastern zone of the district.

New Scheme
Andy Kershen, who lives four miles west of Hereford, is trying a new scheme and raising soil building crops. In July he planted a mixture of hairy vetch, hegari and Madrid clover with a grain drill. He has now cut the hegari for bundles, and left the green cover of vetch and clover on the land.

Both of these legumes are normally planted later than this, usually in September or October, but Kershen said last week that the way the plants are doing, he sees nothing wrong with the early planting and that it saves having to make a separate planting in the fall.

Diversion Terrace
Delman Duirott, who lives in Amarillo and farms in the northeast part of the district, has completed a diversion terrace on wheat land. The terrace will intercept water which has been causing a considerable amount of gullying on the southwest part of his farm, and divert it out onto grassland which joins his place on the south.

Ronald Matthews, who operates district-owned equipment, did the construction work with a maintainer, Henry Vicari, engineer for the Soil Conservation Service, did the layout and design work.

More Underground Pipe
Jack Renfro is in the process of installing underground concrete pipe on his farm northwest of Hereford. Renfro already has a considerable amount of pipe from previous installations and has found that it reduces both soil and water losses, and makes for easier handling of water. Gifford-Hill-Western is making the installation. A new strain of Buffel grass called "Blue Buffel grass" has Marking the 40th Anniversary in its series of pictorial calendars on Southwestern Indians, Santa Fe Railway has chosen "Indian Sheperdess," an oil painting by Frederic Mizzen of Waco, Texas, as its calendar illustration for 1954.

At The Movies

ABBOTT AND COSTELLO MEET DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE

There hasn't been a really good horror picture produced in recent years, but this is probably one of the best, if you like your horror topped with Abbott and Costello's brand of slapstick comedy and general buffoonery.

With the two past masters of their own type of humor, the directors put in another past master of his field, Boris Karloff, who has been producing goose pimples ever since he played the part of the monster in "Frankenstein."

With fog-shrouded London for Abbott and Costello and Dr. Jekyll (with his unsavory alter-ego, Mr. Hyde) to be wandering around in, almost anything would be likely to happen, as it usually does when Abbott and Costello are on the scene. Supporting them in the production are Craig Stevens, Helen Wescott, Reginald Denny and John Dierkes.

This latest Abbott and Costello release will start Thanksgiving day at the Star Theatre, and continue through Saturday.

Mollie Bettis Has Pledged Literary Society At College

Miss Mollie F. Bettis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Bettis, 222 Avenue H, has been pledged to Royal Academia Literary society of Mary Hardin-Baylor college, officers announced recently.

She is one of nine girls initiated into the society this fall. A member of the sophomore class, Miss Bettis is prominent in campus activities. She is vice president of International Relations Club and class representative in her residence hall. She is also an active member of the Young Woman's Auxiliary.

Founded in 1887, the society has as its aim the study of masters of literature and of fine arts. It sponsors several campus events each year and at Christmas time "adopts" a needy family.

It is estimated that it takes cotton grown on 558,000 acres of land to produce upholstery, brake linings, timing gears and other things for a million cars.

Last go-round for a chance at the Cotton Bowl ducats, although it may be a little late, if you are not starting to contend now. Even that, you are a little ahead of the selecting curve for that claim, for they can't have a SWC champ until next Saturday and the due may be more than somewhat muddled up even then. The host club, at best, will be a two time loser and if Baylor beats Rice, the occupant will be a three time owner, Texas. The visitor at best will be an also ran.

CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS SAYS

Juvenile Delinquency Problems Turning Up In Nation's Capitol

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY: Much pressure is on to force the Federal Government into action to help solve this problem. It is without question one of the number one domestic problems facing our nation today. Much work, and possibly some legislation, will come out of the next Congress concerning it.

Trouble Brewing As for the Washington situation much trouble seems to be brewing. In one recent disclosure it was allegedly developed that a racket racket was being worked in one of the schools. That is, a boy would be told that he must produce a certain amount of money by the time school was out in the afternoon, or he would be subjected to a physical beating.

Crack By Writer One local writer, talking about the great clamor that has arisen on the subject in recent weeks, quipped, "We have spent a lot of time trying to make these kids act like grown-ups, and then the minute they start doing it, we investigate them." His intention was, of course, to be humorous, but when we stop and think about the international situation and some of the other things that are was plenty of smoke and obviously much fire.

Boy Reported Beaten

Only a few days after the occurrence above related, a story developed that the boy who had told the policeman, together with three or four other young people, was accosted on a highway by three cars loaded with teen-age boys. The ones who were attacked told the story that the attackers forced their car to the ditch and proceeded to do physical harm to the boy who had talked to the policeman, telling them that they were after the "Squealer." Needless to say, this has caused quite an uproar in Washington, and indignation meetings are being held in many quarters.

This is only one of the cases that has come to the forefront in recent weeks. The paper this morning carried a story to the effect that rivalry between different schools has ceased to be on the athletic field and has moved into the back alleys and other places where gangs from the schools fight it out with knives, sticks, rocks, or whatever they can get their hands on.

It is also reported that in some of the cities the gangs are set up on a racial basis and wars are carried on between the different groups. This sort of thing must be stopped, and if it takes the federal government to put a stop to it, then the federal government should get into it, and quick.

What Price Efficiency? I have been doing a little digging around to find out how much it was costing the taxpayers for surveys and investigations of departments by private firms. Some recent information that has come to my office reflects that the Post Office Department has several of these investigations and surveys going on. These are the facts that were furnished me.

COUNTESS BECOMES CITIZEN -- Mrs. Edgior Emiliani, former Italian countess who became a special friend of American soldiers in Italy, poses with an American flag she made in Italy during World War II. S. citizen in Galveston. (AP Photo) going on in the world, he might have something. Two contracts were entered into with Robert Heller and Associates, Inc., of Cleveland, "to investigate the organizational structure and operating policies of the PO Department; develop and recommend changes in organization and operating policies and procedures." The first contract was for six months, dated from February 1st this year, and the price was $99,000.00. The second contract was on July 1st this year, for seven months, and the price was $188,700.00. Reed Research, Inc., of Washington, was hired for three months on August 3rd this year, at a price of $46,200.00 (estimated—a cost-plus contract).

Evaporation from the surface of the Dead Sea is estimated at from 6 1/2 to 17 feet annually.

About 13 million autos built before World War II are still in use in the United States.

FIRST THANKSGIVING

Grew the Greatest and Mightiest Nation on Earth!

There's something good about knowing, when you sit down to your holiday dinner, that you're taking part in the oldest truly American act of faith—the humble offering of thanks to God for His blessings on us all. And it's good to think that today 332 years after the First Thanksgiving, we Americans can still give thanks in a land where our faiths and our freedoms stand firm as Plymouth Rock!

Let's Never Lose Thanksgiving! Let's make it our job—now, today—to preserve the good life for our children's children, as our fathers have kept it for us.

Because Self-Control Needed

Instructor Claims Ballet Training Good For Anyone

Though it isn't for lazy people, ballet is a way of obtaining a maximum of movement with a minimum of effort, according to two young women who are teaching some of the principles of ballet to a few Hereford youngsters.

When they are carried away by their enthusiasm for this very old form of dancing, they would almost make the hearer believe that ballet dancing makes men participating in professional sports look like a bunch of clumsy bums.

Perfect Co-ordination
"Ballet is graceful because it is perfect co-ordination," according to Barbara Alley, who is the chief instructor of the group in Hereford, even while she and her assistant, Camille de Mattia, are still studying under M. Pianowsky, world-famous ballet instructor who is now in Amarillo.

"This form of dancing dates back to the time of Christ, when dances were used to tell stories, because of the number of dialects which made communication such a problem," she continued. "During that period it was just used in some churches."

Since that time, the ballet has come a long way, including the development of toe dancing during the Middle Ages.

Brings New Vigor
"The history of ballet is that it has been used to bring new life and vigor to large groups of people, and even to help improve the standards of a country," Mrs. Alley said as she recounted the history of ballet.

"Taken from Greece to France by a king who wanted to raise the standards of his country, the ballet was an important factor in the Renaissance in Italy, for it was taken there from France, and much of the return of culture in that country followed on the heels of the introduction of ballet."

It was still later, she added, that ballet moved to the toe dance, and spread then to Russia, which became the home of the Ballet Russe now became world-famous as a professional group.

Must Learn Discipline
"People who take up ballet must learn discipline of mind and body, and the use of automatic reactions, for complete control is needed in ballet," Miss De Mattia interject-

ed. "Self-discipline is a must in ballet, and for that reason it is recommended for teen-agers, for it helps them get rid of their doubts, worries and fears."

"Of course, it is better if a child can start pre-ballet training very young, if that person is to ever go far in ballet, but that does not mean that older people can't learn, and enjoy, ballet also," she continued. "We know people who are 40 or even 50 years of age who have taken up ballet, just as some others would take up golf."

Not Only For Women
Both of the young women were quick to point out that ballet is not only for women, but for men as well, for it takes a strong, healthy body to do ballet well, though the body can be developed in the process of learning.

They are somewhat saddened, though, by the fact that many persons in this area are being "taken in" by some teachers who claim to be teaching ballet, which in reality they are only teaching folk dancing.

Folk Dances All Right
"There is nothing wrong with folk dancing," Mrs. Alley said. "In fact, quite often, folk dances are used as parts of complete ballets, but teaching folk dancing and calling it ballet is simply terrible."

Her own teacher, Pianowsky, spent 13 years with Anna Pavlova's troupe, and both Mrs. Alley and Miss De Mattia have studied so long that the comparison between ballet and tap dancing for instance is somewhat like a comparison between the work of a master artist with oil paints and the scrawls of a child with a crayon.

Though they are not likely to convert cattlemen and potato growers in ballet critics, they seem destined to at least put a different idea of dancing into the minds of those young people whom they are training now.

Walcott 4-H members met November 20 at the Walcott School. Ettie Walker led the singing and Patricia Grider led the ritual.

Bishop Going To Japan For Christmas With GI's

Bishop William C. Martin, of Dallas, Texas, president of the Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church and also president of the National Council of Churches, will fly to Japan in December to spend the Christmas holidays with American troops in both Japan and Korea. He will conduct a series of services on Christmas day and on New Year's day as well as in the intervening period.

The Bishop knows how lonely the boys get when away from home at the holidays for he was a medical corps sergeant in France during World War I. Bishop Martin recently discussed his proposed trip with President Eisenhower, and with the chiefs of chaplains of all services.

While in Asia, he will also discuss with civilian leaders the work of Christian missions and the church-directed relief program for civilians.

IF THERE'S A WAY TO SAVE YOUR DOLLARS by doing things faster, easier and less expensively in the telephone business, we'll find it. Take the matter of making wired connections—something we must do a billion times a year. The ingenious "gun" shown above was developed to wrap wires on telephone equipment with one quick zip—so tightly that solder isn't needed. This method saves untold time—one of the many economies that are practiced every day to hold down the price of your telephone service. SOUTH-WESTERN BELL . . . ### 4-H Members in Texas Win Trips

1953 HONORS in the Lone Star State were presented to four 4-H Club members who reported exceptional work in the National 4-H Clothing, Farm and Home Safety, Field Crops and Home Improvement programs. Their rewards will be all-expense trips to the 32nd National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Summaries of their accomplishments are as follows:

Ann Crow, 18, Ingleside, was proclaimed Texas champion in the 4-H Clothing project, an honor that included an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, made possible by The Spool Cotton Co. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Crow and a member of the Lucky Clover 4-H Club, where she has a perfect attendance record for six years. She has won blue ribbons in five county dress revues and taken first place at the County Fair the last three years. Ann began 4-H work six years ago and is now president.

Marva Chambers, 18, of Owens, turned her efforts toward making the interior of her home more comfortable and attractive in the 4-H Home Improvement program. State honors and an all-expense trip to the Congress were awarded to Marva—a fine bonus for good planning and painstaking effort. The trip was provided by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

Marva has been an active 4-H Club girl for six years. She chose "Remodeling My Bedroom" as her demonstration. She mixed her paints until she had an orchid gray which she used on the walls, and painted the ceiling a deep rose. Flowered drape material was used at the window, bench and closet shelves. Then she upholstered a chair in light green with ruffles of the drapery material carrying out the scheme of green, rose and gray.

Noteworthy results in the 4-H Farm and Home Safety program have been accomplished by Margie Sellers, 17, of Whitesboro,

Radio Free Europe Increases Resistance To Kremlin Pressure

Evidence has accumulated rapidly showing that the broadcasts of Radio Free Europe are causing increased resistance to Kremlin tyranny behind the Iron Curtain showing the need for increased efforts to spread the truth in that area.

The Crusade for Freedom, which supports Radio Free Europe, said in a recent summary that this evidence includes promises of concessions by the puppet rulers of the satellite states, a series of threats against satellite nationals who help with the broadcasts, protests by the Kremlin, and intensified jamming tactics aimed at the programs. This evidence is supported by the statements of refugees fleeing Iron Curtain countries.

Radio Free Europe uses 21 transmitters—comparable to 21 separate stations—to send its programs to the 70,000,000 people of Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria, and Albania. The object is to keep alive the spirit of freedom within the captive nations, and to prevent their full integration into the Communist empire.

By monitoring all Communist broadcasts, and having them studied by experts who are exiles from the various Iron Curtain countries, Radio Free Europe is in a position to detect any signs of weakness among the puppet rulers of the satellite governments. The monitors picked up for instance, a statement by Puppet President Zapotocky of Czechoslovakia announcing a more conciliatory policy toward the peasants.

"We must show more regard for the peasants' feelings, views, and—I do not hesitate to say it—many of their prejudices," Zapotocky declared in Prague. "We must help individual farmers who are not members of cooperatives. We must enable them to increase their productivity for the sake of the supplies of all of us."

The statement was issued at about the time the Czechoslovak government was reorganized to decrease somewhat the emphasis on heavy industry in favor of light industry and agriculture.

Policy Changed
The monitors also detected the same trend—easy policy in Bulgaria, where Premier Chervenkovia said at Sofia that a commanding attitude and callous directives "can only be harmful now." Such statements are not regarded as indications of any change of heart on meet at 4 o'clock each Wednesday afternoon.

Women In Government Discussed By Panel At Bay View Study Club

A panel discussion of "Women in Our Present Day Government" made up the program at the Bay View Study club meeting held in the home of Mrs. John McLean Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Lee Benefield, president, conducted a short business session when reports were heard from standing committees.

Mrs. C. J. Crump, leader, gave the discussion on Ivy Baker Priest, treasurer of the United States. She told of Mrs. Priest's life as a young woman, when she worked as a model and saleslady, as telephone operator and school teacher before entering politics. She served as president of Utah's Republican Women's Organization and attended the Republican convention in 1948. She was appointed chairman of the National Republican committee in 1952 and was appointed to the treasury by Eisenhower in 1953.

Only Woman Senator
Mrs. R. B. Miller told of Margaret Chase Smith, the only woman senator in the U. S. Congress. She told of Mrs. Smith's meager schooling and work as a telephone operator and rural school teacher, as manager of a country newspaper and manager of a well known Woolen Mills Co. At 21 she was business manager of a Telephone and Telegraph Company. She married a member of the House of Representatives, and upon his death was appointed to fill his unexpired term. Later she ran in her own right for the senatorship and won the election. Mrs. Miller mentioned principles of government Mrs. Smith upholds, and told of her "Declaration of Conscience".

Mrs. Francis Hardwick spoke on the life of Mary Pillsbury Lord, U. S. Representative to the commission on human rights of the UN, who has served as president of the National Health Council, chairman of woman's participation in the World's Fair, New York, Chairman of the Citizens Health Committee of New York, volunteer case worker in community service, worked in several defense posts both in the U. S. and in Europe, and worked with the WACS in overseas duty during World War II. Mrs. Hardwick told of Mrs. Pillsbury's work as advisor to the WACS and mentioned many honors Mrs. Lord has received.

Newest Cabinet Member
Miss Frances Turrentine gave something of the life and interests of Texas' own Oveta Culp Hobby, the nation's first Secretary of Health and Welfare. She described Mrs. Culp's manifold duties as head of the newest department in the cabinet, and the biggest in budget terms. She said, in part, "Mrs. Hobby is the biggest insurance executive on earth with full cabinet rank; a godmother to everybody and guardian to poor children. In World War I she held a job as consultant for all service women as well as being head of the WACS, where she wrote her own rules."

Mrs. Hobby began her political career early when she would go with her legislator father to sessions of the House. She served as clerk in the judiciary committee and parliamentarian. She wrote a book on parliamentary procedure and was publisher of the Houston Post, with her husband as editor-owner. She is known in Washington as "Mrs. Secretary".

First Woman Governor
Mrs. H. G. Conkwright told of Nellie Taylor Ross, first woman governor in the United States, who also served as state representative of Wyoming. She is now acting head of the woman's democratic committee in Washington, D. C., director of the Treasury Assay committee, and is the first woman director of the Bureau of the

Special Livestock Loans Are Available From FHA

One special livestock loan for $236,000 has been made in Deaf Smith County, and another cattleman has talked to Walter F. Johnson, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor about one of the special loans, though no written application has been made. More than $11,689,000 in special livestock loans has been put out to approximately 1,190 farmers and ranchers throughout the United States and other applications are being considered, Johnson said.

Purpose Of Loan
The special livestock loan program, authorized last July, helps establish producers of cattle, goats and sheep, to maintain their herds, Johnson said. The producers who can borrow are those with good past records of livestock production but who are temporarily unable to get adequate credit from commercial banks, co-operative lending agencies, or other responsible sources to enable them to go ahead with normal livestock operations. They must have reasonable prospects of success with the help of a loan. Commercial feed lot operators are not included.

Applications can be made at the county Farmers Home Administration office in Hereford. Committees authorized by Secretary of Agriculture Benson approve the loans. Applications for more than $50,000 must have final approval by the Secretary of Agriculture in Washington.

A borrower may use his loan funds for usual expenses of carrying on a livestock operation, including restocking his herd up to the number he held before he had to reduce his herd.

Three Year Amortization
The 5 percent loans may be amortized over a 3-year period and secured by the best lien possible on the borrower's property and his personal obligation to repay the borrowed money. Other creditors, although not asked to subordinate their claims, are expected to agree to stand by so the farmer can have a fair chance to work out of his difficulties. Agreements are made to let the farmer apply a reasonable part of his livestock income to repaying the special livestock loan.

Colorful Career
Mrs. Paul Mathers told of Clair Booth Luce's colorful career, beginning with her life as a child in Europe. While still young, Mrs. Luce began to write for newspapers and magazines and has written several plays. Her second marriage, to Henry Luce, editor of Time Magazine, Fortune and Life Magazine, proved successful. In 1941 she accompanied her husband to the Chinese front. After World War II she wrote many articles on the insecurity of the peace. She served as a Republican congresswoman and was appointed to the House Military Affairs Committee. In 1953 Eisenhower appointed her U. S. Ambassador to Italy, the first woman ambassador to a major foreign country. Mrs. Mathers also told something of Mrs. Luce's work in Italy during the past year.

Members present were: Mesdames D. H. Alexander, Phillip Barkley, H. L. Benefield, Colby Conkwright, H. G. Conkwright, C. J. Crump, Leo Forrest, Howard Gault, Frances Hardwick, E. W. Harcison, George Heard, A. M. Jones, W. S. Kerr, J. W. Kirby, Paul Mathers, R. B. Miller, Eugene Naugle, J. C. McCracken, Ansel McDowell, Jas. W. Witherspoon and the hostess.

How Can I?

By Anne Ashby

Q. How can I prevent back strain?

A. Do not try to lift any heavy object with the back bent. Always crouch down and lift with a straight spine, making the weight come on the arms. A sprained back can be avoided in this way.

Q. How can I avoid sogginess in potatoes that have been steamed or boiled with skins on?

A. By removing the skin immediately. Drain the potatoes as soon as they are done, and dry them by shaking the utensil over the flames.

Q. How can I make glassware sparkle?

A. Either vinegar or ammonia in the water when you wash windows, mirrors, or table glassware, will make the glass sparkle more brightly.

Q. How can I hasten the work of pressing woollens?

A. When a damp cloth is used for pressing woollens, be sure to wring the cloth out of warm water, not cold. Cold water will only cool the iron more quickly and prolong the job.

Frowler Under Bed

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Mrs. Minnie Slaton, 43, Oklahoma City, was puzzled when two policemen banging on her front door awakened her. They pointed out a window screen had been cut and the window was open. The front and back doors also were open although Mrs. Slaton said she had locked them.

The policemen looked under the bed in which Mrs. Slaton had been sleeping, and found a 15-year-old boy who admitted breaking in to look for money.

Mrs. Johnson has taught the second grade in Lamesa and also taught in the Dawson School at Welch. She was county home demonstration agent in Coke County two years. Mrs. Johnson is a graduate of Abilene Christian College and did graduate work at Texas Tech in Lubbock. ## Let's Cook Something

MRS. J. W. BARNETT's ham pie with cheese biscuits is suggested as a wonderful main dish around which to build a Thanksgiving dinner. It corresponds with the old fashioned chicken pies our grandmothers used to make. Those biscuits really add something to it and by the time you add a green salad and your favorite dessert you have a company meal on the table.

Ham Pie
2 cups diced cooked ham
1 can cream of chicken soup
3 tablespoons chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
6 tablespoons flour

1½ cups milk
¼ cup fat
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Saute chopped onion and green pepper in the fat. Remove from heat and blend in the flour, then stir in milk and soup. Bring to a boil over low heat, stirring constantly. Boil 1 minute. Stir in ham and lemon juice and pour into greased 8x12 baking dish and place in hot oven (450 degrees) to heat while making biscuits. Place the biscuits on hot mixture as quickly as possible and bake immediately 15 or 20 minutes.
Cheese Biscuits
1 cup sifted flour

1½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2½ tablespoons shortening
¾ cup grated sharp cheese
1 pimento chopped
½ cup milk
Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening, and cheese until mixture looks like meal. Stir in the pimento and milk and knead very lightly to smooth. Roll out ¼ inch thick and cut into ten biscuits. Cut remaining dough into small circles to fill in edges of casserole. Serves six to eight generously.

WILLMAR, Minn. (AP)—Gulping nearly three cupsful a minute, 18-year-old Norman Finstrom of Kandiyohi, Minn. became coffee drinking king at Willmar's annual Kaffe Fest. Norman swallowed 52 cupsful in 18 minutes.

Q. Please suggest a good leg-beautifying exercise.

A. Sit on a table or on a hard-surfaced chair, and thrust legs straight out in front of you. Keeping them together, swing them up and down until you feel a slight aching. Relax, then repeat.

Q. How can I mix a henna shampoo at home?

A. Dissolve three dessert spoonsful of powdered henna and 3/4 teaspoonful ordinary powdered borax in a quart of water. Strain through fresh muslin and add four ounces shaved castile soap. Put this into an old saucepan and allow to simmer over a slow fire until all soap is melted. Stir well, and set aside to cool.

Q. What can I do about blackheads and enlarged pores in my skin?

A. Be extra - conscientious about washing the skin at least twice a day with soap and water, and scrub it well. It is thorough cleansing and stimulating of the skin that discourages blackheads and enlarged pores.

Remember When You Had to Shout?

MANY RURAL TELEPHONES used to be connected to a single wire instead of a pair. As a result, you often had to shout to make yourself heard. Now practically every Southwestern Bell rural telephone in Texas is on an all-metallic circuit — and you can depend on clear, distinct transmission. That's one of many ways we are working to improve our service to rural customers — at the same time we are working to extend service to more and more farm homes. This year alone we are spending $4½ million in Texas for more and better rural telephone service. SOUTHWESTERN BELL . . . A TEAM OF 28,000 TEXAS TELEPHONE PEOPLE . . . AT YOUR SERVICE.

Q. How often should one shampoo one's hair?

A. This depends upon individual conditions. If the hair tends to be oily, shampoo as often as an untidy stage is reached or when the hair begins to stick or mat together. If the hair tends to dryness, less shampooing is necessary.

Q. What is the best way to apply cream to the neck?

A. Apply upward. Start at base of neck and work up with quick light strokes. Use your skin freshener in the same way. This will lessen the chance of wrinkles in the neck, or sagging neck muscles.

Q. What is a good facial - mask treatment for every oily skin?

A. Mix a small quantity of finely ground cornmeal, almond meal or bran with a few drops of witch hazel and rub this gently over the skin. When dry, wipe it off with a warm, wet towel. Then rinse face in cold water. Do this two or three times a week for oily skin.

Q. What rouge and lipstick should the gray-haired woman use?

A. Delicate rose shades are best for gray-haired women, with a few exceptions. The lighter and brighter shades of rouge give a freshness and glow when toned down with dark powder, that could never be achieved by the use of dark rouge and light powder.

Q. How can I whiten or make less noticeable scars left on my skin by boils?

A. Mix one ounce alum, one ounce lemon juice, and one pint rose water. Shake well and apply to skin with absorbent cotton.

Q. How can I add color to a face that is somewhat wan-looking?

A. Pat some honey in a thin film over face and throat, leave on for 15 minutes, then remove with a damp cloth. This is stimulating.

Q. How can I add more shine or gloss to my hair?

A. You can try adding the beaten white of an egg to your regular shampoo. And be sure to keep thaters and 68 men.

45 YEARS AGO

The superintendent of the sewer work is daily expecting the big ditching machine to arrive. As soon as it does, the work will begin in earnest on the sewer. Already seventeen cars of tiling have been unloaded; also one car of cement. There will be about one and a quarter miles of main sewer pipe and some five miles of laterals.

The main will be laid on Pennsylvania Avenue from block 78 near Bennett street to a point opposite block 33 in the Whitehead addition and thence south to the disposal grounds. The laterals will be laid in every alley from Twenty-Five Mile Avenue to Witherspoon street in East Hereford and as far north as Welsh Avenue. As funds are available the laterals will be extended.

Hereford is to have a regular mule market. Lee Green of Centralia, Missouri, has purchased property in the city and expects to return in a few days and begin the erection of a large barn. In this will be kept mules and horses. He has already sold in Hereford two car loads and intends to make it a good business.

25 YEARS AGO

A thin shower of soft, overgrown snow flakes fell in Hereford shortly after dark Sunday night, but melted as fast as they fell. Monday was threatening, but Tuesday the sun was out and more moderate weather was experienced. "What's it going to do?" is the favorite question of the hour this week.

Parts of the skull, thigh, forearm, hip, a tooth, some beads, arrow heads and tomahawk are included in the collection, and were found in the sandy desert of Crane County, about thirty miles south of Odessa. The bones are now beginning to petrify.

Mr. Mauk left here the latter part of August. He left Wednesday on his return to Odessa.

You can make some of your own Christmas gifts, and charm the family with your ingenuity. But start early. A last minute rush will take the edge off your own holiday fun.

FOR MOM ... Crochet or knit a nice warm stole—either a colorful one for early summer or a dark one for drafty winter evenings. A white one might be threaded with metallic yarn for special occasions. Glamor if Mom is the type who likes to gad about. If you don't have a favorite crochet or knit stitch, a local shop where you purchase yarn should be glad to furnish you with simple free directions.

FOR LITTLE SIS ... Big brother should give you a hand with this project at the start. Take a small nail keg (12 to 14 inches high), remove one-half of one side of the keg to provide a cradle shape. Scrap wood may be glued or nailed to the bottom of the cradle to make small rockers.

Pad the interior of the cradle with cotton batting. Then line it with old plastic shower curtain material or sheeting. Either or both may be tinted with all-purpose dye to an attractive decorator color. Make a flounce of the same tinted sheeting and thumbtack it to the cradle in draped folds. Put a ruffle of sheeting across the top.

FOR BROTHER ... Knitted socks are the only homemade things that will go over with most young gentlemen. They can be kept happy also by a subscription to a science magazine, tickets for a show or sports event, hobby books or games.

FOR TEACHER ... A thoughtful gift for teacher, a favorite neighbor or your best pal's mother is a homemade Christmas wreath uses for special parties. Ordinary household twine in its natural color (or dyed) or raffia make interesting base decorations. For small glasses start up the glass about 2 inches, larger glasses may be twine-wound 3 inches from the base.

Take ordinary household cement, apply it to starting point of twine or raffia to hold it in place, wind around glass applying more cement to twine if it shows a tendency to slip. Tuck ends in at bottom row and anchor with cement. Spray clear plastic over twine or raffia for a glossy finish. If you have either twine or raffia use an all-purpose dye for an all-over tinting job.

or spray for the door. For the wreath make a circle of 10-gauge wire (or use wire hanger formed into a circle). Attach Christmas tree branches or other evergreens to the wire circle until you have a nice bushy wreath. They are a part of a hard-won heritage . . . and they are ours as long as we are worthy and prepared to work for them and fight for them.

To give thanks for what we have . . . to re-affirm our faith in freedom and our determination to preserve and cherish it . . . that is the true meaning of THANKSGIVING!

Legal Notice

NOTICE OF PUBLIC SALE OF REAL ESTATE

NOTICE is hereby given that under and by virtue of a certain Judgment and Order dated the 7th day of November, 1953, of the United States District Judge of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas, Amarillo Division, in Civil Action No. 1593, styled LYDIA C. VINING, Plaintiff, VS. GEORGE M. SIMMONS, ET AL., Defendants, directing me to sell at public auction for cash the following described real estate situated in Deaf Smith County, Texas, to-wit:

The Northeast quarter of Section No. 14, Township 5 North, Range 3 East, of a Capitol Syndicate Subdivision of Deaf Smith County, Texas, as shown by the plat of said Subdivision of record in the Deed Records of Deaf Smith County, Texas; said sale to be made subject to an agricultural lease in favor of Glenn Hetzler as tenant. Purchaser to the Christmas programs. Mrs. G. E. Mullins and Mrs. Cecil Massey are good musicians and the Hereford area is fortunate in having citizens like them and their families.

The Home Demonstration women are very lucky to get these ladies to spend so much time and effort on the Chrous.

Last week I went as a guest to the Craft Design training class where Mrs. V. E. Dodson taught club leaders. Some of these leaders were wearing jewelry they had made. Mrs. C. F. Homfeld was wearing a lovely necklace she had made from gold braid. Also, earrings and bracelet. They gave just the right accent to her costume. Mrs. Homfeld, you know, is the adult leader of the Caprock 4-H Club and craft design leader of the Bippus club.

Mrs. R. A. Fullwood can always buy the most unusual cotton prints. She had on a two piece green and black print and had made buttons from black felt and trimmed the buttons with military braid. She says she has made several kinds of buttons and we hope she will exhibit them at the Christmas party.

The committee is planning a Craft Design Exhibit during the annual Christmas entertainment at the Veterans Club house on December 12th at 2:30. The crafts that have been done this fall and also the copper craft will be exhibited.

Most women like crafts and there are many in the clubs that are talented. Mrs. Earl DeHart made a design that we hope she will use on curtains for Kenneth's room.

There's a new wrinkle in tie-dyeing. Blocks are used for designs and these blocks clamped on the fabric, as the body of the article is dyed and the part under the block remains the original color making the design. The batik work is similar. The batik design is covered with wax and the article dyed. The wax is then melted off with a hot iron and leaves the design the original color.

receive possession of the land as soon as the barley and wheat now growing on the land is harvested in the summer of 1954, and Purchaser will receive one-fourth of the crops harvested from the land.

THEREFORE, I will, on the 14th day of December, 1953, at the hour of 11:00 A. M. at the Court House door of Deaf Smith County in Hereford, Texas, proceed to sell to the highest bidder for cash the above described land, subject to said agricultural lease above mentioned. Said sale will be made, subject to confirmation by the United States District Judge.

When foods get scarce my appetite for them booms. The merchants tell me that apples and applesauce will be hard to get until the next apple crop.

As apples are always on the market, I don't ordinarily can them. However, thinking they will be off grocery shelves, I have gotten some apples and hope to make some apple sauce as good as that Mrs. John Crawford makes. One year she used my sealer and wanted to say thanks with some delicious applesauce. She adds just a small amount of water and no sugar. One cup of water to each gallon of apples.

Oh, those apple pies! Thursday night the Wyche Home Demonstration club had their annual Thanksgiving supper for their families.

Mrs. J. V. Pickens brought some delicious apple crumb pies. There were all kinds of good pies and every kind of food to compliment the season. Those women can really cook.

Mrs. W. R. Scarth baked a 27 pound turkey. It was perfectly baked and she did a good job of carving it.

Here's why thousands of TEXAS motorists are switching to

New Conoco Super Gasoline

with TCP*

The Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years

Restores "new car" power!
Increases spark-plug life up to 150%!
Gives you extra gas mileage, too!

All over Conocoland the story is the same. Every day, thousands upon thousands of motorists are switching to new Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP.

What's the reason for this big switch? Why are motorists leaving brands they've been loyal to for years? The reason is simple: New Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP is the greatest improvement in gasoline since the introduction of tetraethyl lead in 1922!

Motorists tell us they can actually feel the difference in car performance after just two tankfuls. For new Conoco Super with TCP dramatically overcomes the greatest single cause of power and fuel waste affecting most of the cars on the road today.

Combustion deposits reduce power

When you drive your car, deposits constantly build up on spark plugs and in the combustion chambers. These deposits can "cheat" you of power in two ways. First they short-circuit spark plugs—causing them to mis-fire. Second, deposits in the combustion chambers cause fuel to ignite before it should. This is called pre-ignition or "wild ping."

CROSS SECTION OF TYPICAL SPARK PLUG

Combustion deposits form here, causing mis-firing and loss of power. TCP neutralizes these deposits, giving top power and performance.

The combined effect of mis-firing and pre-ignition is loss of power, lack of "pop" and wasted gas.

How Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP works

Now Conoco Super with TCP—a cresyl compound—dramatically overcomes the loss of power and fuel caused by combustion deposits. TCP actually neutralizes harmful deposits on spark plugs and in combustion chambers. With new Conoco Super Gasoline, your plugs spark as they should. Your fuel ignites as it should. You get and keep "new car" performance.

TCP helps your car—whether new or old

Whether your car is new or old, you can enjoy the benefits of TCP. If you have a new car, with a high-compression engine, it will keep on delivering its built-in power as long as you use Conoco Super Gasoline. If your car is an older one, Conoco Super will restore much of the power you have lost.

See what Conoco Super with TCP can do for your car—

Start the "TWO-TANK TEST" today!

1. When your gasoline tank is one-quarter full or less, fill it with Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP. Now, there will still be some ordinary gasoline mixed in with your Conoco Super, so...

2. Make sure your next tankful is Conoco Super, too. So rapidly does Conoco Super work that with this second tankful, chances are you'll feel as if your engine has had a tune-up. You'll feel a boost in power. Try it today. We're sure you'll stay with Conoco Super.

City Government Discussed At Rotary Club Meeting

"A city is the only governmental body left where the people really have a voice, but if we did nothing except for those who use their voices in telling the city officials what should be done or offering some criticism, we would be serving only a small portion of the population," Hereford City Manager Cecil Massey said recently at the Rotary Club.

"Considering the cost of your city government, you get far more from the money spent in the city than you do from other governmental bodies," Massey continued.

Average Cost

"For example, the average cost per citizen to operate the city government for a week is 92 cents. This provides city parks, paved streets, police and fire protection, street lights and sanitary facilities. "It costs seven times as much to operate the state government, and, directly or indirectly, it costs 24 times as much to operate the Federal government."

Numerous Complaints

In his six months as city manager, Massey said, he has received numerous complaints, and been involved in a number of rather odd situations.

"When alleys are graded, they throw up dirt that blocks gates, and now we are called on to reopen them. There are an average of 10 or 15 drunks every weekend, including such men as the one who was flagging cars and telling them that a flood was coming," the city manager continued.

On the more serious side, he mentioned that vandals manage to foul up 15 or 20 parking meters every weekend, but hastened to add that the meters are a good thing, if only to keep someone from parking in front of his competitors' store all day.

No Visitors

In closing, Massey mentioned that there are no visitors to city commission meetings unless the person or persons have some special favor to ask or some special complaint, and suggested that citizens could learn much about their city government by visiting one or more of the meetings, which are now scheduled for the first and third Monday nights of each month.

Massey was introduced by Kenneth Coker, program chairman for the month. President George Heard presided at the meeting, which was attended by about 40 local Rotarians, and one visiting Rotarian, Rod Curry of Lubbock.

Record Bridge Built

PRINCETON, W. Va. (AP)—A Turnpike bridge is being built across the Bluestone River near here which World Almanac editors say is the highest in the United States.

The floor is 255 feet above the water. The editors say the previous highest bridge was New York City's George Washington Bridge, 252 feet above the Hudson River at low water level.

Other high ones are Golden Gate, San Francisco, 238 feet; St. Johns, Portland, Ore., 205; Rainbow, Niagara Falls, 189; Chesapeake Bay, Kent Island, Md., 188; The Narrows, Tacoma, Wash., 185; Longview, Columbia River, Washington, 185; Delaware Memorial, Wilmington, Del., 180; Port Arthur-Orange, Neches River, 176; San Francisco-Oakland, 173; Bear Mountain, Hudson River, 158; and the Ambassador at Detroit, 155.

The amount of goods and services turned out by the average American worker increase about two per cent a year from 1870 to 1950.

Each year in the United States about two million people enter the U. S. labor market and about one and a half million workers die or retire.

cookies on hand. Bake only the number needed for one day. This makes possible freshly baked cookies on a moment's notice.

3. Grown ups need at least a pint of milk daily, the youngsters a quart. A person never outgrows their need for milk.

Pennies Count

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—A couple of pennies makes a lot of difference, says Connecticut State Tax Commissioner William F. Connelly. When the state sales tax was one per cent, he reports, many merchants preferred to absorb it rather than pass it on to the customers. Since the tax went up to three per cent, however, he says that "dealers are more careful to collect the levy than on small items."

Pedestrian Warned Of Greater Dangers During Winter Months

"Don't walk yourself to death!" This slogan of the November pedestrian traffic safety program was quoted recently by Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association in advising pedestrians to exercise great care in crossing streets during the winter months.
 "The pedestrian safety program being sponsored this month in Texas by the Texas Safety Association Safety is an especially appropriate safety theme for November," Col. Tilley said.
 He pointed out that pedestrian injuries and deaths always are higher in winter, when rain, snow and sleet present hazards for walkers and motorists.

 "Also," he said, "dusk and darkness come early at this time of year, when pedestrian traffic fatalities reach a peak between the hours of 5 p.m. and 8 p.m."
 "When darkness comes early, and the weather is bad, many people tend to hurry to reach the warmth and comfort of their homes after their day's work," Col. Tilley said.
 "Their hurry sometimes results in carelessness—and accidents," he said.
 "Another factor contributing to the toll of pedestrian fatalities in November is holiday shopping," he explained.

Glorious Past Unmourned
VAN DEUSENVILLE, Mass. (AP)—To the 300 or so American villages which this year are losing their post offices Van Deussen can say "We didn't mourn when the name 'Van Deussen' disappeared from the list of post offices half a century ago."
 Life is pleasant these days in this little village in the Western Massachusetts Berkshire Hills—maybe pleasanter than it was long ago when it welcomed a succession of mills and saw the railroad come. Pleasanter than when it watched its iron works blow up, and its cloth dressing and carding mills, its satinet factories and woolen mills, and its cotton sheeting plants move away from the meager local water power.
 The rural carrier who makes a round trip daily from Great Barrington to the South, to Housatonic, north of here, renders all the service the old-time post office rendered. And he's happier than the post master was in that last year when his personal income as post master was $10 and he remitted net receipts of $2 to the post office department.

Vandals Cause Delay
SEYMOUR, Conn. (AP)—It took Walter J. Yazluk a lot longer than usual to get home from his 4 p.m. to midnight factory job. When he went to his automobile he found that someone had let the air out of the four tires, stolen the valve pins, broken two windshield wipers, stolen the cap on the gasoline tank and turned on all the lights, causing the battery to go dead.
Distance Is No Criterion
FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)—Twelve years ago, Jess Kanady of Falls City, a painter, fell 35 feet while on the job and walked away unhurt.
 The other day Kanady took a 2 1/2 foot fall and broke his arm.
Police Miss White Line
SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A South Pasadena police car hit a skunk on Huntington Drive. The car was so smelly that the cop who drew it for his beat the next day decided to walk.
He Had Sunday Funch
PATERSON, N. J. (AP)—To keep her husband at home a wife put water in the gas tank of his car. He resorted to blows.
 The judge fined the husband $25 for assault and battery after hearing his story that the gas watering kept him from getting to church.

Dear Deer Killing
CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C. (AP)—A Camp Lejeune Marine recently killed his first deer and had his first automobile accident at the same time.
 A 6-point buck weighing 200 pounds darted out of the woods and rammed into the car of Sgt. Francis J. Incosky on a highway near this Marine base. The accident caused damages of $300.

Fine After Party
ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—Municipal Judge Irvine Eckholdt fined his landlord, Desmond B. Hunt, $10 for driving after his driver's license expired.
 Hunt, former city attorney, was arrested while hurrying home for a party for the judge.
 Judge Eckholdt is Hunt's next-door neighbor and rents his house from Hunt.

ABOUT $600 DAMAGE was done to these two cars last Thursday afternoon when they collided at the intersection of Fourth and Miles. The Plymouth station wagon, driven by Ky Lawrence, moved the fireplug only a short distance when it hit that obstruction after the collision with the Oldsmobile driven by Mrs. Larva Frances Dailey. The accident occurred on the corner where the Hereford Medical and Surgical Clinic is located, which would have been handy if either one of the drivers had been seriously injured. (Staff Photo)

Glorious Past Unmourned
VAN DEUSENVILLE, Mass. (AP)—To the 300 or so American villages which this year are losing their post offices Van Deusenville can say "We didn't mourn much when the name 'Van Deusen' disappeared from the list of post offices half a century ago."
 Life is pleasant these days in this little village in the Western Massachusetts Berkshire Hills—maybe pleasanter than it was long ago when it welcomed a succession of mills and saw the railroad come. Pleasanter than when it watched its iron works blow up, and its cloth dressing and carding mills, its satinet factories and woolen mills, and its cotton sheeting plants move away from the meager local water power.
 The rural carrier who makes a round trip daily from Great Barrington to the South, to Housatonic, north of here, renders all the service the old-time post office rendered. And he's happier than the post master was in that last year when his personal income as post master was $10 and he remitted net receipts of $2 to the post office department.

Vandals Cause Delay
SEYMOUR, Conn. (AP)—It took Walter J. Yazluk a lot longer than usual to get home from his 4 p.m. to midnight factory job. When he went to his automobile he found that someone had let the air out of the four tires, stolen the valve pins, broken two windshield wipers, stolen the cap on the gasoline tank and turned on all the lights, causing the battery to go dead.

Distance Is No Criterion
FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)—Twelve years ago, Jess Kanady of Falls City, a painter, fell 35 feet while on the job and walked away unhurt.
 The other day Kanady took a 2 1/2 foot fall and broke his arm.

Police Miss White Line
SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A South Pasadena police car hit a skunk on Huntington Drive. The car was so smelly that the cop who drew it for his beat the next day decided to walk.

He Had Sunday Punch
PATERSON, N. J. (AP)—To keep her husband at home a wife put water in the gas tank of his car. He resorted to blows.
 The judge fined the husband $25 for assault and battery after hearing his story that the gas watering kept him from getting to church.

Early printed books imitated manuscript volumes.
 Nine-tenths of American women who reach age 40 will live 20 years or longer.

He suggested that shoppers be careful not to overload themselves, so that their vision is obstructed by packages and safe walking is difficult.

"If you are doing a lot of shopping, have at least some of your packages delivered to your home. It may save hospital expenses that come with an accident," he said.

"Be especially careful at intersections, and never cross between intersections."

"Railroad-highway intersections should be considered as well as street intersections," he said. "Every year many pedestrians are injured or killed because they forget to apply the same safe walking rules to crossing railroad tracks as they would use in crossing the intersection of two streets."

Brazil was ruled by an emperor from 1822 to 1889.

Pedestrian Warned Of Greater Dangers During Winter Months

"Don't walk yourself to death!" This slogan of the November pedestrian traffic safety program was quoted recently by Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association in advising pedestrians to exercise great care in crossing streets during the winter months.
 "The pedestrian safety program being sponsored this month in Texas by the Texas Safety Association Safety is an especially appropriate safety theme for November," Col. Tilley said.
 He pointed out that pedestrian injuries and deaths always are higher in winter, when rain, snow and sleet present hazards for walkers and motorists.

 "Also," he said, "dusk and darkness come early at this time of year, when pedestrian traffic fatalities reach a peak between the hours of 5 p.m. and 8 p.m."
 "When darkness comes early, and the weather is bad, many people tend to hurry to reach the warmth and comfort of their homes after their day's work," Col. Tilley said.
 "Their hurry sometimes results in carelessness—and accidents," he said.
 "Another factor contributing to the toll of pedestrian fatalities in November is holiday shopping," he explained.
