Auditors Give Preliminary Report To County

Members of the Commissioners' Court spent a full day in regular session Monday in a series of routine business events.

The business varied from approving bills, hearing reports, and making appointments to the consideration of a petition for closing Fuller Street. The court also heard a preliminary, unofficial review from Harvey D. Todd, currently engaged in auditing the county books, who pointed out that a complete report covering the audit would be made in his official report when the audit is finished.

All commissioners were present, including M. T. Rutter, J. C. Morrison, J. T. Guinn and C. G. Richardson, along with County Judge Horace L. Schloss. Fee reports from the various offices were examined, bills were approved and Extension Service reports were placed on file. The court also approved the Equalization Hearing set for June 14.

On motion of M. T. Rutter, seconded by J. C. Morrison, the county accepted the right-of-way to grade and maintain in Precinct 1: "a county road 60 feet in width, 30 feet off of each section, one mile north and south between Sections 25 and 42, all in Block M-7." The motion carried unanimously.

The court was also unanimous in the selection of Wilbur Axe to succeed G. W. Newsom as presiding election judge in Precinct 1, due to the fact that Newsom has moved out of the precinct. Mrs. Bert Boomer was selected to replace Mrs. Homer Brumley as a member of the County Child Welfare Board, following the resignation of Mrs. Brumley.

The court declined to join with other counties of the 69th Judicial District in the matter of paying travel expenses, meals and lodging for a special Child Welfare Worker as recommended by District Judge Harry H. Schultz in a letter of May 6. Judge Schultz personally visited the court Monday afternoon, when individual Commissioners voiced the opinion that Deaf Smith County maintained a regular, full-time Welfare Worker, whereas, some of the other counties did not.

The court passed an order approving plat and dedication of Block 44, Evans Addition, to the City of Hereford, following plans outlined by R. J. Engler and associates.

A petition presented by Carl Mountz was filed with the court seeking an order "Closing Fuller Street, lying between Lots 1 and 2, Block 3, and Lots 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5, (Continued on Page 2)

ABOUT 1:30 O'CLOCK Wednesday morning it was getting a little bit sleepy at the High School, where the school board was having its monthly meeting. Shortly after this picture was made, the board members voted to buy the seat that board president Howard Gault was moving to a better position.

Auditorium, Gym Seats Purchased

Seats for the new high school auditorium and folding bleachers for the new gymnasium were decided upon Tuesday night by the Hereford Rural High School district board of trustees, in their longest meeting of the school year.

The board stayed in session until after 2 o'clock Wednesday morning, and did not make the decision on the auditorium furniture until after 1:30 o'clock.

Final decision on the seats was for the purchase of fully-upholstered chairs from Ted Elstrand and Co., of Fort Worth, at a cost of $14.30 per seat. The seats are to be covered with leatherette.

Colors will be decided upon by board members Don Zimmerman and Mrs. Earl Plank, and by Mrs. Frank Frowell, home economics teacher, with the idea that the colors will harmonize with the general color scheme of the auditorium.

Folding seats for the gymnasium were bought from Universal. The seats will have a capacity of about 960 adults. Cost of the folding seats will be $8,250 if the 22 inch seats are accepted. It was recommended that the same size seats be bought as those which are in use in the field house at West Texas State College in Canyon, and the board did not know for sure what size, back-to-back, those seats are.

Should it be found that the 24-inch seats are in use in the field house, the price will be $8,860. At the opening of the meeting, members of the Walcott Independent School District, with the school principal, E. F. Baker, were present to discuss the possible transfer of high school students from Walcott into Hereford.

Because of changes in the Gilmer-Aiken law, it was impossible to determine just what the effect would be on Walcott School, so Superintendent George Graham and members of the Walcott School board were to call Austin Wednesday afternoon, and try to get the matter straightened out. If that does not accomplish the task, they will probably make a trip to Austin, as the transfers must be made before June 1.

Herbert Miller made a motion that arrangements be made to publish the complete statement of all disbursements made by the school.

Driver Charged After Pedestrian Is Hit At Intersection

A different type of intersection collision occurred in Hereford Tuesday night about 9 o'clock at the intersection of Schley and Highway 60.

A 1950 Studebaker driven by Junior Carrell Maness, 367 Knight, was going east on Highway 60 and started to make a left turn on Schley. Mrs. Elvina Reynoso had been chasing her five year old daughter and had just caught her when Maness turned and Mrs. Reynoso was hit by the Studebaker.

Rains Help North Part Of County

Still-dry areas in the north and northwest part of the county received the major benefit from rain which began Sunday, and continued Monday and Tuesday.

Some of the heaviest rains were reported as far as 30 and 40 miles northwest of Hereford, where dry-land wheat has already taken a beating from the drought.

Coming occasionally in hard showers which caused some runoff, but mostly falling slowly enough to provide the most benefit for both cultivated fields and grassland, the rains Sunday, Monday and Tuesday brought renewed hope for good grazing, and will help late planted wheat.

Phillip Miller, at rain gauge No. 5, more than 20 miles northwest of Hereford, had .41 inch of rain in his gauge Monday morning, and an additional .91 inch of rain on Tuesday morning.

Lakes, which have been dry for many long months, were filled by the runoff from surrounding areas. The lake on the Brumley ranch was reported as being full, and Ponder's dam was not only full, but running over the spillway.

On Ira Scott's farm 13 miles west of Hereford there was about .50 inch of precipitation, while on his ranch 35 miles northwest of town 3.50 inches of rain fell.

Pat Robinson received some 2.50 inches of rain on his farm south of Vega, but T. B. Cox said that he received only 1.50 inches at his farm 12 miles northwest of Hereford.

At the rain gauge kept by N. A. Brown, 29 miles west of Hereford, there was .42 inch of rain Sunday, 1.66 inches Tuesday, and an additional .42 in the gauge on Wednesday morning, a total of 2.50 inches.

According to Charles Newell, Clint Homfeld, about 49 miles northwest of town, got from 2.50 to 3.50 inches of rain during the three day period, while Newell himself, who lives south of town, received but a little more than .50 inch.

For an estimated 25 percent of the wheat, the rains came too late, as some had blown out, and other parts of wheat fields had simply dried up. As late as the rains came some of the wheat was left without anything to sucker out from, even, Newell said. Remaining wheat is being helped, though.

Grassland is already beginning to green up fast, but most of it has been grazed off pretty short, and will need some time to recover from the many dry months.

Only in the areas where the two draws, which eventually take water into the Tierra Blanca, was there any appreciable runoff, but these were running bank full Tuesday, just as the Tierra Blanca was as it rippled by the golf course and through Veterans Park. Most of that runoff will go into the lake at Amarillo.

Jurgens To Present Concert Show Friday

Dick Jurgens and his orchestra will present a two and one-half hour show concert at 8 o'clock Friday night in the High School auditorium, under sponsorship of the Hereford Lions Club.

Advance tickets may be purchased from members of the Lions Club or at McDowell Drug, Dubs Man's Shop, Chamber of Commerce, Park Avenue Drug or the Jim Hill Hotel for $1.50.

Seven Area Men Taken Into Service

Seven young men of this area were inducted into the service Wednesday.

Services Held Sunday For David Brint LaPlant

Funeral services for David Brint LaPlant, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Olin LaPlant, Route 3, were held Sunday afternoon in Rose Chapel with Rev. Don Root, pastor of the First Christian Church, officiating.

David was born Saturday in Deaf Smith County Hospital and died the same day.

Survivors include: his parents; one brother, two sisters; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. LaPlant; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Simmons of Enid, Okla.; and a great grandmother, Mrs. Mary Ann Percy of Enid, Okla.

Burial was in West Park Cemetery under the direction of Gilliland Funeral Home.

Mrs. R. K. Gentry and son Bobby of Clovis, N. M., and Mrs. A. D. Hooper, Kay Lynn and Rickie of Plainview spent Sunday with their mother, Mrs. Nona Jowell, 511 Lawton Street.

City Commission Hears

Improvement Programs Are Progressing Rapidly

Programs to clean up and generally improve Hereford are going along well, according to reports made at the City Commission meeting Monday night.

J. C. McCracken turned in the report of the zoning commission, with the proposed zoning map and proposed zoning ordinance. The City Commission will also hold a hearing before passing the ordinance.

City Manager Cecil Massey reported that all but six open toilets and cesspools within the city limits have been eliminated. Most of the remainder will be cleaned up in a short time, he remarked.

Further plans were made for the paving program for this summer. It will now be necessary to get the rolls of the property owners worked up, publish a notice of the intent to pave, hold hearings, pass an ordinance concerning the paving, ask for and obtain bids, draw up the completed rolls, get the contract for the paving signed, and then do the actual paving.

Massey also reported on the recent City Managers' meeting that he asked of others present, many of which concerned administration of city government.

One thing he had found out was that most cities do not allow their fire truck to answer calls outside (Continued on Page 2)

Plans For Cooking School Fast Nearing Completion

Plans were nearing completion this week on Hereford's first big All-Electric Cooking School, scheduled for 2:30 o'clock, May 20, in the Hotel Jim Hill ballroom.

The school, sponsored by five electric appliance dealers and The Brand, will feature Fern Brannon and Jane Burt, Southwestern Public Service Home Economists.

In addition to recipes and demonstrations of food preparation, the big school will also include a huge array of door prizes for ladies who attend.

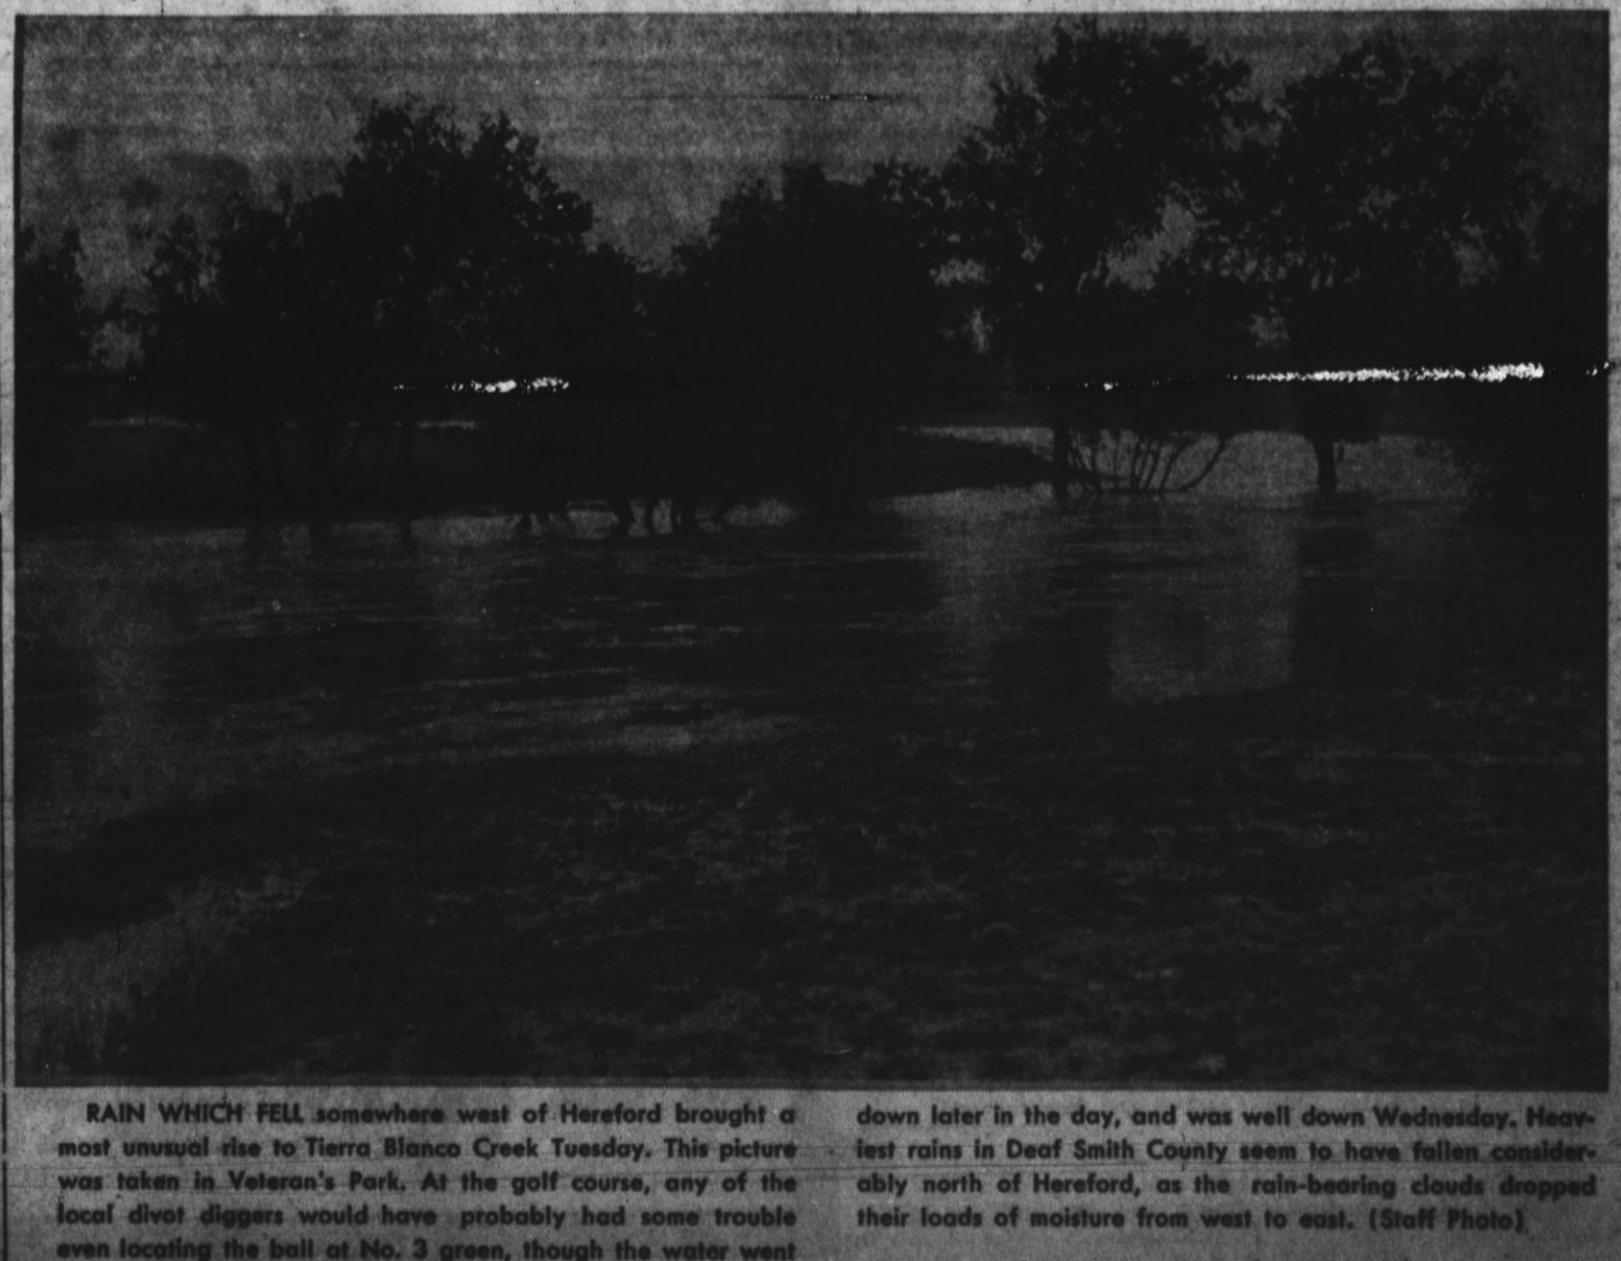

Headlining the prize list will be a new 30-inch electric range made possible through co-operation of five sponsoring dealers. Other prizes will include milk, bakery goods, baskets of food, electric appliances and household items. The total prize list is already around $500 in value and growing every day.

No charge or obligation will be required from any person who attends the school, which is scheduled to start promptly at 2:30 o'clock next Thursday. Persons will naturally have to be present to win the prizes, since no pre-registration is required before the school. Plans were formulated in order to allow those attending to be out approximately with the public schools.

Merchants who are sponsoring the school include: Hereford Implement Company, Hereford Furniture Company, R. & H. Furniture Company, Morgan Appliance Company and Parker Bros. Builder's Supply.

Recently remodeled the pastry department of the Hereford Bakery. Owner Debbs Knox says the pastry lines will be enlarged. (Continued on Page 2)

RAIN WHICH FELL somewhere west of Hereford brought a most unusual rise to Tierra Blanca Creek Tuesday. This picture was taken in Veteran's Park. At the golf course, any of the local divot diggers would have probably had some trouble even locating the ball at No. 3 green, though the water went down later in the day, and was well down Wednesday. Heaviest rains in Deaf Smith County seem to have fallen considerably north of Hereford, as the rain-bearing clouds dropped their loads of moisture from west to east. (Staff Photo)

The order passed unanimously and the clerk was ordered to publish the petition, returnable May 24, at 10 o'clock a. m., when all interested persons might appear before the court and contest the petition if they desire. The order was signed by all members of the court.

Forms covering the tabulation of county taxes were ordered filed with the State Highway planning survey.

The court also discussed allowing placement of natural gas lines under county roads, indicating favorable action. The County Attorney was instructed to investigate similar documents issued by Randall County. However, no official action was recorded in the minutes.

Improvement.

(Continued from Page 1) the city limits. Sweetwater and Hereford are the only cities he heard of which allow their trucks to make such calls, because of liability.

The question of possibly hiring a city engineer, either on a full-time or part-time basis, was also discussed. It was figured that the city has paid out some $45,600 in engineering fees during the past six years.

In addition to doing work which only an engineer could handle, it was suggested that he could probably help work out some of the present inequities on the city rolls. Massey also reported that a check of the city's three wells had been made, and all are pumping as well or better than was expected. "We have plenty of water, so the only thing that we lack now is above-ground storage facilities," he added.

An 80-inch mower to be used in Dameron Park has also been received, but may prove more than the presently-owned small city tractor can handle, Massey continued. The city may get a slightly larger, used tractor if necessary, it was suggested, as the large mower will cut mowing time by about 90 percent.

At the close of the meeting, former City Attorney Ray Cowser was presented with a desk pen set, a gift from the present city commission, the city manager and former commissioner D. C. Kinsey.

Those attending the meeting included Mayor J. H. Sears, Commissioner Raylan Evans, City Manager Cecil Massey, City Attorney Earnest Langley, J. C. McCracken and Ray Cowser.

Of the 238 copies of the first folio edition of Shakespeare's work now known to exist, half are in the United States.

Auditorium...

(Continued from Page 1) Because of a 2 1/2-months delay in the delivery of steel for the new high school, the building is not expected to be completed before the middle of November, which is going to create a number of additional problems, it was pointed out. Graham told the board that the situation creates a problem on hiring additional teachers, as the teachers will need to be hired before classroom space is available.

When it came time to discuss the purchase of the auditorium seats, Miller restated his position that he favored plain wooden seats. After discussion by other members of the board, Mrs. Plank made a motion that the upholstered seats be bought from the Elstrand Co., and the motion carried.

Firemen Show Skills During Convention Here

Visiting firemen showed their efficiency at handling fire fighting equipment, heard serious discussions of problems concerning volunteer firemen, and closed out their one day meeting Tuesday with a barbecue at the Bull Barn.

Occasion for the program was the 40th semi-annual Panhandle Firemen Association Convention, which was held this time in Hereford. Approximately 180 visitors, including firemen's wives, from 31 Panhandle towns, attended the convention.

J. E. Wimborne, firechief from Pampa, led a discussion Tuesday morning on the defence of disaster program areas and pension commissioner from Austin, Frank Williams talked in the afternoon session.

At noon local ladies served the out of town ladies lunch in fireman's hall at the City Hall.

Firemen's biggest laugh of the day was Tuesday afternoon during the pumpers race when Pampa failed to make the connection, drenching several of the firemen. Nine towns entered the pumpers race with Childress and Memphis tying for first prize with 21.2 seconds. They split the first and second prize money between themselves. Dalhart won third prize with 24 seconds.

Memphis also won first in the water polo, Dimmitt was second and Dalhart was third. Ten towns entered this race.

The next convention will be held at Clarendon in September.

VISITING AND LOCAL firemen and their wives rounded out a full day of activities Wednesday by attending a barbecue at the Bull Barn. Entertainment was provided by local talent during the time the visitors were eating. At noon, visiting firemen's wives were entertained at a luncheon given by the wives of Hereford's volunteer firemen. (Staff Photo)

Mrs. Homer Watson Receives Citation

Mrs. Homer Watson, 801 Park Avenue, member of the sales staff of McDowell's Rexall Drug Store, is the recipient of the Rexall Citation of Merit awarded by the Rexall Drug Company of Los Angeles, Calif.

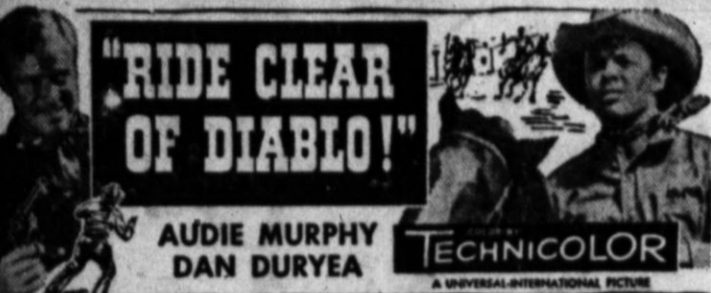

Ansel McDowell, store proprietor, said the award was made in recognition of Mrs. Watson's sincere enthusiasm and desire to serve and in acknowledgement of unusual initiative.

Of all the sales people who sell Rexall Drug Products, and who work in the 10 thousand locally-owned Rexall Drug stores, only a limited number are selected each year to receive this Rexall Citation of Merit.

Northwest Hereford News

By Mrs. R. C. Childers
Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Doss of White Deer spent Friday and Saturday visiting in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Robinson. Mr. Doss is a brother of Mrs. Richardson.

Pat Robinson made a business trip to Panhandle Tuesday.
Tresia and Kathleen Robinson and Jan Scott attended the birthday party of Donna Kay Olson in the home of Mrs. E. E. Doaks Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Scott and family spent Mother's Day with his mother, Mrs. I. W. Scott, in Canyon.

Mrs. I. W. Scott of Canyon and Mrs. V. E. Dodson of Progressive spent Wednesday visiting in the Ira Scott home. Mrs. Scott is a sister of Mr. Scott.

Jan Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Scott has been sick with a cold this week and unable to attend school.

Louie Olson has been in bed with the flu this week.

Kay Lynn Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Scott, spent the weekend with Mary Dufur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Dufur, in the Walcott Community last week.

The Cultural Home Demonstration Club will meet in the home of Mrs. Leona Packard today. Mrs. Ira Scott will give a demonstration on making pies.

Visiting In Arkansas
Mr. and Mrs. Rea Cox of the Dawn Community have been visiting her relatives in Arkansas for the past two weeks. They returned home this week. Rea is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Cox of this community.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Babcock, J. H. Jr., and Sweetie of Kermit, spent Sunday in the R. C. Childers' home. Mrs. Babcock is a sister of Mrs. Childers. Other dinner guests in the Childers' home were Mrs. Childers and Jack Leonard.

Jane Powell, whose love life on the screen up to now has been more a matter of filial affection rather than romantic passion, goes into a complete change of pace in her new Warner Brothers Technicolor musical, "3 Sailors and a Girl."

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cox of Plainview spent the weekend in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Cox, of this community.

Everett Cox visited Doyle Cox, who is employed on the R. C. Childers dairy farm, Saturday.

Mrs. R. C. Childers worked at the Little Fashion Shop Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Babcock, J. H. Jr., and Sweetie of Kermit were callers in the C. S. Barclay home Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Hooten and Melvin of Tulia and Mrs. L. E. Hooten spent Sunday in the T. B. Cox home. Doyle Hooten is a brother of Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Hooten is Mrs. Cox's mother. Mrs. Hooten will visit awhile with her daughter. She has been visiting in the home of her son, Doyle Hooten, in Plainview before coming here Sunday.

Pat Childers returned Sunday night at 6 o'clock from the senior trip to Ruidoso and other points of interest in New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Witherspoon returned home Monday afternoon from a weekend visit with their daughter, Mrs. Leo Henington, and family in Albuquerque, N. M.
Mrs. R. C. Childers was a caller in the Buddy Witherspoon home Monday afternoon.

RAIN
Approximately one inch of moisture fell in this immediate vicinity with amounts varying to the north and south. Ira Scott reported about one half inch at his place 13 miles west of Hereford and 3 1/2 inches on his ranch 35 miles northwest of Hereford. Pat Robinson reports 2 1/2 inches on his farm south of Vega and 7 inches on his place at Panhandle. T. B. Cox reports 1 1/2 inches fell over the weekend at his place 12 miles northwest of Hereford. Everyone is happy over the rain. Cotton farmers are anxious to get in the fields and plant their cotton.

The potatoes are beginning to put out new leaves, reports C. S. Barclay. The freeze killed all the leaves on the potatoes and will in all probability knock down on the production. Barclay says he plans to plow his up if they don't look like they will make a good crop and put the land in maize.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Packard and girls were dinner guests in the Leona Packard home Sunday.

At The Movies

3 SAILORS AND A GIRL

Showing Friday and Saturday at the Star Theatre.

Starring Jane Powell, Gordon MacRae, Gene Nelson and Jack Leonard.

Jane Powell, whose love life on the screen up to now has been more a matter of filial affection rather than romantic passion, goes into a complete change of pace in her new Warner Brothers Technicolor musical, "3 Sailors and a Girl."

This is the gay story of three gobs and a gal who become involved in a big-time Broadway show, with Jane Powell, Gordon MacRae and Gene Nelson forming a romantic triangle. Jack Leonard, star from the night club circuit, provides comedy with some of the routines that lifted the actor to national fame. Leonard tries his hand, rather feet, in doing a ballet number which proves to be very funny since he weighs only 350 pounds.

Cool Hot Rod

FALLS CHURCH, Va. (AP) — State and county police, who keep an eye peeled for "hot rod" drivers, aren't wasting any time watching a certain "Maust 540" which is the envy of hot rod fans in the area.

The Maust 540 was built by County Judge Albert Maust from $85 worth of parts from five makes of cars. It took the judge, who is also a flyer, 540 hours to build it.

Vegetable Soup with Meat Balls
Savory meat balls add vigor (and food value) to a family favorite that's especially good with Better Living's Tomato Cheese Roll.
1 tsp. finely chopped onion 1/2 lb. ground beef
1/2 tsp. salt 1 tbsp. butter or margarine
Dash of pepper 1 can condensed vegetable-beef soup
1/2 c. soft bread crumbs 1 c. water
Combine onion, salt, pepper, bread crumbs and milk in bowl. Add ground beef and mix lightly. Form into 12 or more size balls. Heat butter in skillet over moderate heat and brown meat balls lightly. Combine soup and water in a saucepan. Place over moderate heat and cook, stirring occasionally, until mixture comes to a boil. Add browned meat balls and simmer for a few minutes. Serve in warmed bowls. Makes 3 servings.
Baked Tomato Cheese Roll
Cut three gashes in each of 3 hard poppyseed rolls, take out 1/2-slice wedges. Place two strips of processed American cheese in each cut, let a 1/2" thick slice of tomato between cheese slices. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and brush with melted butter. Place on baking sheet. Bake in hot oven.

Ford Bacon once said to a boasting friend: "The less you speak of your greatness, the more I shall think of it."

But who wants to be great? I'd much rather say "I told you so!" to all of those skeptics who kept needing me during February and March. Let's hear from some of those boys now. What about it Mr. Marlin Gilliland and Mr. Hub Homer? Old Speck Marnell can eat his own bale of hay. This also goes for Carl Perrin and Jay Boston, Burl Elliston, too, and Pat Westerbrook and Clay Ridgeway.

and the hundred or so other guys who kept me on needles and pins. What about it now? Are you ready to admit that I know my predictions?

Maybe I got the cart before the horse a little bit. Maybe I was somewhat eager-beaver, but more and more people are beginning to admit that my hunch about 1954 was the real McCoy. Already, we have trounced Phillips and won the District Championship, just like I said. Now the rains have come. This country will blossom forth into a veritable Garden of Eden within the next few weeks. Things are coming true, just like I said: "More in '54."

Even I got a little squeamish during the long, dry spell when these dusters blew in from Colorado. I admit it. Furthermore, I am not blaming my critics. It's hard to maintain confidence in an old boy who just sits around and says: "Wait and See!" It sure is. On the other hand, I figure that I am entitled to gloat — just a little bit. Anyone who has little enough sense to begin predicting these things away back in October and November deserves special consideration, particularly out in this country. If he is crazy enough to stay with them through February and March, he is entitled to brag. He sure is.

Gerald Says

There's sure a bunch of bright and shining faces among the Seniors this year. Guess graduation time is about the most important in any boy or girl's life. We want to offer our Congratulations to the kids for their accomplishment.

Speaking of graduation, we have a tip for the parents of this year's graduating class. Why not give that boy or girl a New 1954 Dodge or Plymouth for their graduation gift this year . . . a gift they will remember and appreciate for years to come. And if that graduate is going off to college, it will be extra nice to have a new car to come home in over holidays. Of course, that's just a suggestion, but if you happen to have a few minutes to spare, drop by and let us show you the features of the new 1954 Dodge. You'll like it too!

HALE MOTORS

A BIRTHDAY AND SLUMBER party was held for Sheryl Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Patterson, 411 Jowell Street, Friday in honor of her twelfth birthday which was Tuesday. Refreshments of cake and ice cream were served with baskets filled with candy. Friday night the girls had a weiner roast in the back yard and afterward roasted marshmallows. Saturday morning they went on a treasure hunt. Betty Walser, Jan Susan Reese and Kay Shirley found the prize. Shown from left are: Jan Susan Reese, Kay Shirley, Mildred Wester, Doris Willoughby, Betty Walser, Sheryl Patterson, Margaret Boomer, Sandra Roberson, Jean Terry and Linda Carothers. Judy Coffin and Rosa Lee Stinger attended the party but are not shown in the picture. (Elmer Patterson Photo) determined, but it will be good this year. Wait and see. The big bonanza, however, will be the grain sorghum crop. That's the gilt-edge "long shot" of the year — the crop that will really mean "More in '54." It will pay and pay and pay!

I know it sounds like an old maid telling a mother of 12 children how to raise kids, but if I were framing I'd "shoot the works" on grain sorghums. Folks who do this will be parking their Cadillacs all along Main Street in 1955. They just can't miss.

Cotton and sheep are outside of my realm. They will probably do good, though, on general principles.

Pete Cowart and quite a few other people got upset over the recent reference to chlorine in this column. Some of them say they couldn't understand the deal. This is not too surprising to me, because I couldn't understand it all myself. Pete says he was in this business in the Army — and that they used a compound which contains a lot of other stuff besides chlorine. However, Onias Carroll says that the City of Hereford is using minute quantities of pure chlorine gas as recommended by the State Health Department. The water is being analyzed at regular intervals specified by the state — and is apparently in good shape. The occasional disagreeable odor and taste, (whether from bacteria, chlorine or something else) is just one of those necessary evils of life in the Twentieth Century.

Competition is picking up in the fishing business. Lama Beavers and Ralph McCullough slipped off last week and went down to the big opening of the San Angelo lake. They really pulled in the fish. They caught so many that the newspapers came out for an interview. These two boys are old timers in the fishing business. In fact, they are getting old enough to take up golf in a serious vein. When it comes to fishing, though, they can sure give these youngsters a run for their money. They may not use all of the new-fangled spinning rods, but they always come back with the fish.

What will happen to the much discussed Amarillo Expressway? One thing it accomplished was crowding McCarthy off the front page for a few times. Our own Marshall Formby and the State Highway Commission seem to be pretty definitely decided against the consideration of a mere four-lane highway from Canyon to Amarillo. In fact, they sound just a little bit dictatorial to some people. On the other hand, many people who have appeared before the Commission say that is the way they operate. It is maybe logical when you consider how much business they handle. The Highway Department pretty well has to take a stand with the engineers — and stay with it.

Straw Hat Day has been set for May 15, but I was talking to an old boy today who is still having underwear trouble and, consequently, refuses to consider a 1954 straw hat. "I took off my red flannels 15 days ago," he said, "and put on some fancy shorts with big flowers

By keeping on my toes and making the changes, some times in the middle of the day, I have warded off a summer cold. However, I ain't about to put on no straw hat."

He has a point, I admit! However, he can put those red flannels in moth balls Saturday and forget them until next September. I definitely intend to put on a straw hat Saturday and if an old boy who has no more natural protection on his head than I have stows away his felt, this guy can sure take a chance on shedding his long handles. After all, you can't have a cinch on everything — especially the weather.

Mother's Day Party Held By Phone Employees

Southwestern Bell Telephone employees held their Mother's Day party Friday, with 24 guests present. Carnations were pinned on each guest as she arrived. The refreshment table carried out the theme of Mother's Day. After refreshments were served, the guests were taken on a tour of the telephone building by some of the employees.

Letter To The Editor

I would like to have the following letter of protest published in your Thursday issue of the Brand. My husband and I drove 18 miles over the bad roads to Hereford Tuesday night May 11 for the sole purpose of attending a regular meeting of the Hereford School board. We wanted to hear the reading of the minutes of their previous meeting and to hear their financial report, to see just how and where our school money is being spent. There were several other interested patrons there also. We were all there on time and the president, Mr. Howard Gault, and Mr. Graham called the other members into Mr. Graham's office and closed the door and we were all left standing in the hall. The minutes of the last meeting and the financial report were read and it was only because of Mr. Miller's insistence that we were visitors and should be allowed in the meeting, were we finally asked to go to a class room and the business would continue. We completely missed all of the first part of their business. During the meeting which followed Mr. Miller made a motion that a monthly publication appear in The Brand following each of their meetings and a statement of all expenditures be printed so that taxpayers could see how and where our school money is being spent. This motion was voted down 4-3 as being unnecessary and that if anyone was interested they could come and look at the books. Now how can we see the books and find out anything when they refuse to let the public hear their minutes read and their financial report heard at a regular meeting? We are just plain interested in our schools and because of conflicting statements regarding our school funds we were only trying to get some firsthand information and it was refused. I do not think we were treated very courteously in this matter. Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Galley

Now it costs less to "talk it over by long distance"

Long distance telephone calls have always been a real bargain.

Now that Congress has reduced the excise tax on those calls, it costs even less to talk it over by long distance."

No part of the tax reduction goes to the telephone company. You get the full benefit — so most long distance calls now cost you 12% less than they did.

Next time . . . why wonder or worry? Talk it over by long distance and be sure.

NOW... AN EVEN BIGGER BARGAIN

Local service also costs less. Excise tax cut reduces your cost approximately 5%.

United States Studies Atomic Policy on Three Fronts

Geneva Threatens Big Three Unity

By TOM WHITNEY Associated Press Foreign News Analyst THE Geneva conference so far has seen more open disunity and disagreement between the United States and its Western European allies, France and Britain, than any other major postwar international meeting.

This has given the Communists who have maintained a solid front a big opportunity which they have used effectively. Such success as the West has had in international diplomacy in the last nine years has been largely due to the fact that up till now the United States, Britain and France have stood united against the Kremlin on most issues.

Prior to previous meetings with the Russians, the United States, Britain and France have worked out their common line together. It cannot be said that this has always worked perfectly, but at any rate it succeeded in frustrating Red efforts to split the allies.

The three Western powers, however, went to Geneva without having fully ironed out their differences ahead of time. Foregone Conclusion The result is what might have been expected. There was a certain amount of confusion on the Western side with the French pulling in one direction and the Americans in another.

The Communists meanwhile exploit the possibilities this situation gives them. An American plan for an alliance to deal with the war in Indochina got a cold reception in Britain and France. A French request for direct American air assistance in Indochina got a "No" answer from Washington.

Because of French insistence, the United States was forced to go along with talks on settling the Indochina War despite its open mistrust of the whole project. The prospect of practical results from Geneva were never very good. But teamwork by the West might possibly have presented a united front against further Communist expansion and shown up the speciousness of Communist proposals to the rest of the world.

Cheap War for Reds The Soviet and Chinese Communists have precious little incentive in any case to settle the biggest present issue in the Far East—the Indochina War. This is a cheap war for them. It costs them little to keep it going. It offers them the possibility, in case of Communist victory in Indochina, of shaking seriously the whole anti-Communist position in Southeast Asia.

And the Communist Vietnam position in Indochina is strong and getting stronger. Now that the Kremlin finds at Geneva that the Indochina issue is a wedge which can be driven further between France and the United States, just why should it even consider settling on any terms other than a Communist victory?

But the issue raised by the Geneva conference is bigger by far than Indochina itself or any of the other Far Eastern problems. It's the question of the unity of the West, and primarily of the United States, Britain and France, against the Communists.

Britain and France both have recovered in the largest part from World War II. They feel much less dependent on the United States than ever before. Furthermore, their governments, partly for domestic political reasons, are not adverse to expressing this independence. Differing Views Beyond this, the British and the French differ seriously from Americans in their current evaluation of the Communist menace.

The British and French governments and many of their people have apparently decided that the death of Stalin heralded a new era in which the Soviet Union is much less aggressive and expansionist. In the United States the administration and the public consider the Red danger no less threatening than before. This makes for strong differences in points of view.

Geneva thus ushers in a new era when the unity of the West in Europe and Asia will be tried as never before. Only the greatest of patience and skill will enable the United States to maintain allied unity built up at such great cost, time and effort. And the Kremlin will be working as never before to undermine and destroy it.

TOM WHITNEY

Indochina

Beleaguered Fortress

As Vietnam besiegers closed in on Dien Bien Phu, French defenders fought literally at the Red cannon's mouth. Communist artillery commanded every vantage point in the French fortress. Air drop of desperately needed troops and supplies was possible only at night. The Red assault waves pushed to within 500 yards of Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries' underground headquarters.

Dien Bien Phu had long been discounted by military observers as a strategic factor in the Indochina War. The Vietnam held it once and regaining it would bring no great military advantage. However, the valiant defense attracted so much attention that it became, especially to the French, a symbol of the whole war.

What Washington feared was that the apparently inevitable fall of the fortress would have a disastrous effect upon the French.

Shrinking French lines at Dien Bien Phu fortress.

What the experts expected, if the bastion were overrun, was a demand by the French public to get out of the war at any cost. This desperate, last-ditch feeling was accentuated by Winston Churchill's blunt warning that Britain would join no move to aid France, physically, until after the Geneva conference.

President Eisenhower said the United States and most free nations with a direct interest in the security of Southeast Asia are working on a united front against communism with "a general sense of urgency."

French Premier Laniel already has stated the terms on which a cease-fire might be negotiated—protecting the three associated states of Indochina.

A delegation of French military and civilian officials, arrived in Geneva, Delegates of Viet Nam agreed to meet their enemies across the diplomatic board, provided no recognition of the rebel regime as a state was implied.

HYPOTHETICAL QUESTION

ELUSIVE BUTTERFLY

FHA-APPROVED

PROBE: Army v. McCarthy

Question of Veracity Millions of words were poured into the microphones of the McCarthy-Army hearings, but as yet the web of facts that both sides are trying to spin is a ragged fabric indeed.

Each side has accused the other of lying. So holes in the web are extremely important to the men behind the microphones.

Unavailing efforts had been made to end the hearings this week by limiting testimony to the two key principals: Secretary Stevens and Sen. McCarthy. At his midweek press conference, President Eisenhower said the United States had suffered a loss of international prestige because of the McCarthy-Army row.

Much of the past week—with gray-haired Secretary of the Army Stevens on the witness stand after many days—was devoted to a search for one such hole. The search revolved around the charge of Sen. McCarthy (R-Mo.) that Stevens and some of his aides tried to shut off McCarthy's investigation of the Army's Ft. Monmouth, N. J., radar laboratory. A detailed look shows how intricate the hearing has become.

McCarthy contended at the hearings that Stevens said "I am not covering up anything." Stevens denied the report smeared anyone.

Both sides talked about an Oct. 20 plane flight from Washington to Ft. Monmouth by most of today's enemies: Cohn, Stevens, McCarthy and Adams. It developed that the Army men were with them a draft of a press statement which was debated on the plane ride. The statement was to be issued by McCarthy and was to give the general impression that McCarthy and the Army were working hand-in-glove in rooting out Communists at Ft. Monmouth.

Multiple Drafts Trouble developed, McCarthy refused to issue the statement. Adams protested that a second version of the proposed hand-in-glove statement, offered in evidence by Cohn, was on a kind of paper never used by the Army.

Another dispute arose over a classified FBI report on security precautions at Monmouth which McCarthy sought to introduce as evidence.

Joseph Welch, the Army counsel, said McCarthy's possession of a classified document was improper and possibly illegal. Welch said he had "an absorbing curiosity to know how in the dickens you got hold of it."

The senator refused to divulge the source of his copy but did say it did not come from the FBI.

Next day, J. Edgar Hoover said the paper in McCarthy's possession was not a true copy of the FBI document.

Awards

Pulitzer Prizes This year's Pulitzer Prizes in the field of letters were awarded to John Patrick's dramatic comedy "The Teahouse of the August Moon," Bruce Catton's historical best-seller "A Stillness at Appomattox," and Gustav A. Lindbergh's autobiography "The Spirit of St. Louis." There was no award in fiction for 1954.

The journalism prizes, announced by trustees of Columbia University, included: meritorious public service by a newspaper, Newsday of Garden City, N. Y., for exposure of trotting track scandals and labor racketeering; distinguished local reporting, to Alvin Scott McCoy of The Kansas City Star and Richard Wilson of Cowles Newspapers; distinguished international reporting, Jim G. Lucas of Scripps Howard; editorial writing, Don Wilson of The Boston Herald; cartoons, Herbert L. Block of The Washington Post and Times-Herald.

The photography award went to Mrs. Walter M. Schau of San Anselmo, Calif., an amateur who snapped pictures of a spectacular rescue at Redding, Calif., when a big trailer truck crashed through a bridge rail and the driver was pulled from the dangling cab by a rope. If pictures were distributed nationally by The Associated Press.

The poetry prize went to Theodore Roethke for his volume "Waking Poems 1933-1953" and a musical composition prize was awarded to Quincy Porter for his "Concerto for Two Pianos and Orchestra."

Religion

Human Problems Religion and psychiatry, once locked in struggle, today are to a growing extent looking to each other for mutual help and understanding of human problems.

This trend is pointed up by a major conference, called at the Menninger Foundation in Topeka, Kans., next week to explore the common tasks of the two fields.

Eight prominent theologians and nine psychiatrists will take part in the two days of discussion, aimed at formulating a possible program for advancing cooperation between the church and the psychiatrist.

Many leading psychiatrists recently have spoken out on the need of spiritual values in making human adjustments. One new school of psychiatric thought, led by Viennese Dr. Viktor Frankl, has developed the thesis that men have an inborn urge for God, as powerful as other instincts.

Talk with Russia On Pool Principle

By J. M. ROBERTS JR. Associated Press News Analyst THE United States is now examining its atomic policy on three different fronts. On one of them, there is promise of better liaison and better relations with the allies.

On another, there is only exploratory talk with what looked at best like a 50-50 chance of action. On the third, there was only

They were: 1. President Eisenhower's proposal for changes in the atomic security laws to permit (a) giving information on performance and use of atomic weapons to allies; (b) similar sharing of information on peacetime applications of atomic energy and (c) relaxation of domestic restrictions to encourage private industrial atomic development.

2. The President's plan for an international pool for peacetime atomic development designed to increase the confidence of nations in the possibility of co-operation, and requiring the enactment of a sharing clause in the legislative program.

3. The private discussions by a subcommittee of the United Nations Disarmament Commission of general disarmament.

Restrictions of McMahon Act Hearings began this week on the legislative program to replace the McMahon Act which provides rigid restrictions. Exchanges are taking place intermittently between the United States and Russia—everyone else being agreed in principle—on the pool idea. No word on progress has been given out, the assumption being that so far the questions revolve around how to negotiate.

The United States, and particularly its representatives in the United Nations, has been careful to keep the pool idea separate from the disarmament discussions. These were resumed in answer to worldwide hysteria over the recent H-bomb tests.

Now in recess, these discussions will be resumed in London next week. Once before, in 1952, similar discussions suggested by President Truman were broken off when the Russians injected their hothead-dream charges of germ warfare in Korea.

This time a report, signifying nothing, is due July 15. U.N. Hopes for Pool But the discussions go forward with the hope that, one day, the disarmament commission may be handed the pool idea for implementation. That is the idea around the U.N., despite the care with which the two things are now kept separate.

At the present stage, there is really no connection, although the pool idea was proposed by the President in an address to the U.N. The pool idea is designed to show Russia that she can trust and profit from international cooperation and that agreement to control of atomic energy would not be a cut in industrial development.

As Bernard Baruch pointed out this week, the pool has nothing to do with control of atomic weapons. But it just might have something to do with pulling the work of the U.N. disarmament commission out of dream-land.

Another U.S. Policy Strangely enough, there was another U.S. policy, the pattern of which was already fixed, which would be completely overthrown if the efforts to ban atomic weapons and disarm should ever amount to anything. That is military policy, which now has been shifted to stand with at least one of its many legs on the intensified development and use of these weapons.

Baruch, the elder statesman without portfolio, emphasized that the pool would have nothing to do with that. It would merely mean contribution of fissionable materials and techniques for mutual development work.

"The dangers of atomic attack would not be lessened," he said. "The atomic arms race would not slacken."

Only peace would bring that or disarmament. And there is no peace in sight.

Sparkman Wins Congressmen appear to lead charmed political lives at the polls this year as all incumbents in five state primaries won re-nomination.

National interest centered primarily on Alabama where Sen. John J. Sparkman, running mate of Adlai E. Stevenson on the national Democratic ticket in 1952, turned back a determined challenge and on Ohio where Rep. George H. Bender won the Republican nomination to fill the Senate seat left vacant by the death of Robert A. Taft.

Sen. Sparkman defeated Rep. Laurie Battle, who gave up his House seat to run for the Senate. In a heated primary campaign, Battle accused Sparkman of "attempting to carry water on both shoulders" on the civil rights issue.

Also in Alabama, former Gov. James E. (Big Jim) Folsom made a political comeback by leading a field of seven candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Rep. Bender, who served in the House 14 years, defeated William Saxbe, speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives, for the Republican nomination to fill the term of the late Sen. Taft.

Bender will be opposed in November by Sen. Thomas A. Burke, former Cleveland mayor now holding the Taft seat by appointment. Burke was unopposed in the Democratic primary.

Florida Runoff May 25 In Florida, there will be a runoff primary May 25 to decide the Democratic nomination for the unexpired term of the late Gov. Dan McCarthy. Acting Gov. Charles E. Johns and State Sen. Leroy Collins were the top contestants in last Tuesday's primary but neither obtained a majority.

In Indiana, all 11 House incumbents won re-nomination. Four Republicans and one Democrat won contested races and six other incumbents were unopposed.

In New Mexico, Gov. Edwin Mechem was unopposed for the Republican nomination for the Senate. In November he will run against Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, Democrat, also unopposed in the primary.

Business

Consumer Debt Down

The American consumer is not as deeply in hock today as he was several months ago. All last year he was adding to his indebtedness. Total outstanding consumer credit climbed steadily during 1953 until December when it reached nearly 28 1/2 billion dollars—an all-time high. Then, in January, it began to taper off. By the end of March—the latest month for which statistics are available—it was down to about 27 1/2 billion.

Biggest single item in consumer credit is represented by on-the-cuff buying of so-called consumer durable goods such as automobiles, TV sets, refrigerators and washing machines.

Curtain Of Secrecy Is Lifted From Newest Fast-Firing Gun

Pontiac, Mich. — The fastest-firing automatic gun ever mass-produced is being built under Army Ordnance contract for the Air Force by Pontiac Motor Division of General Motors.

The Defense Department's lifting of secrecy on this amazing jet aircraft cannon being produced by the automobile manufacturer brought to light this week some of the amazing features of the revolutionary gun, officially the "Gun, Automatic, 20 MM, M 39." It was developed as the phenomenal increases in aircraft speeds demanded comparable increases in the firepower of their armament.

Robert M. Critchfield, General Manager of Pontiac and Vice President of General Motors, said the security of the gun project had been guarded so closely that many employes at the main plant where the gun has been produced and fire-tested for over a year, are unaware of its nature.

Pontiac Motor is the only production source of this precision built cannon. The rate of fire of the weapon, not yet revealed, is acknowledged to be considerably greater than the firing rate of the latest caliber .50 machine gun, which fires 1200 rounds of ammunition per minute.

The gun had been on drafting boards and in the experimental stage for about five years before it was decided to mass produce the gun. Ordnance officials say intricate mechanisms required that thousands of man hours be applied to each redesign and modification to bring it to production line status. Some of the changes on the gun were suggested by actual use of the gun in Korean combat. Last year, for instance, Pontiac executed many engineering changes on the project as directed by Ordnance notices. Many engineering changes were for the purpose of lengthening the life of parts on the gun.

Along with delivering tremendous fire-power, the gun is relatively light weight, making it ideal for aerial use.

In appearance, the gun is like a giant revolver, without a handgrip. The ammunition is carried into the firing chamber in a revolving cylinder similar to the old six-shooter. It is fired electrically and is gas operated. The revolving cylinder simplifies the problem of cooling the gun.

The fantastically high cyclic rate of fire has never before been achieved in an approved ordnance weapon. Use of fast-flying jet aircraft, with a fleeting chance to fire at dog-fighting adversaries, made evident the need for fast-firing cannon. The M 39 apparently is the answer to split-second volume fire-power against fast-moving targets.

Pontiac Motor was originally awarded the contract for building the secret weapon in 1925. By scouring government warehouses and adapting machines and tools, the General Motors Division was able to get production underway on schedule in spite of the scarcity of machine tools at that time. Pontiac holds three other major arms contracts. In addition to the M 39 cannon they build for Army Ordnance the "Otter" tracked amphibious cargo carrier, 40 MM Bofors-type cannon for tank chassis mounting and 4.5 inch artillery type rockets.

SFC. BILLY MILES, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Miles, 915 Union Avenue, arrived home Thursday morning after spending the past year in Oson, Korea, with the 18th Fighter-Bomber Wing. Sgt. Miles arrived in Seattle, Wash., May 2. He will have a 30 day furlough after which he will report to Grandview Air Force Base, Mo., where he will be stationed.

A Lot Of Chips
DES MOINES (AP)—There was joy in the big potato chip firm here when the first oven-heating bill came in after conversion from oil to gas. The fuel expense had been running about $500 a month; the first gas bill was $50 a month. It went along this way for some months. Then the gas company called to explain:

For almost a year the gas meters in the chips plant had been misread; hundreds of units had been calculated in place of thousands. Would the chips firm please adjust to the tune of about $3,000 blous cargo carrier, 40 MM Bofors-type cannon for tank chassis mounting and 4.5 inch artillery type rockets.

Pontiac is recognized as the only firm to hold contracts for all four types of Ordnance material — vehicle, artillery, small arms and ammunition. About 20 percent of production facilities and an equal proportion of Pontiac's 17,500 employes are devoted to defense work.

Detroit Editor Still Likes His Hand-Set Type

Detroit, Tex. — After more than a half a century, Claud Council still thinks there's nothing like putting out a weekly newspaper—and he's one of the few Texas editors still doing it with handset type. Council signed on as a printer's devil on the old Detroit Weekly Herald for $6 a month and room and board on April 2, 1900, when he was 19. Now 73, he owns the Detroit weekly.

Small-town papers have always appealed to Council. After his first job in Detroit he worked for weeklies in Annona and New Boston. Then he tried the daily Sherman Democrat.

One stint on a daily was enough for Council. After 18 months in the ad alley of the Sherman paper, he went back to his first love.

"With a weekly, you only have to meet that deadline once a week. On those dailies, it's every day," he grins. "But you work just as hard on a weekly — sometimes all night when help's hard to get."

After Sherman it was back to Detroit for a time, then Depto, Alford, Moody and Blum.

His last move was the big one. Council returned to Detroit in 1926 and founded the Detroit News. A year later he took over the Herald where he had gotten his start.

Each Thursday Council's neat little sheet hits the streets of Detroit. As far as Council knows, only six weeklies in the state are still set by hand.

"Never missed an edition," he said. "Only time I ever slipped a deadline was because the press broke down or somethin' like that."

Council thinks there's as much difference between today's weekly "But they don't make handset and those of 50 years ago as there is between the horse and auto. He wears out a set every four or five years.

Since his eyesight failed some, he sets only the big type for ads. His associated publisher, J. D. Tooney, takes care of the smaller work. "Aw, I reckon I can set about a third as much type as I used to," he said. "Do okay for that first hour, but then I give out."

"Yes, I thought about getting a linotype machine, but it's awful expensive."

Tucked away in his type cases are everything from the small 6-point to huge 120-point wood blocks that haven't been used in years. Once in a lifetime, a newspaper man runs across his big story. So

CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS SAYS Problem Not Commodity Surplus But Lack Of Right Distribution

The House Committee on Agriculture is presently hearing testimony on ways and means to dispose of our surpluses. Much has been printed and spoken in the last few years bemoaning government owned agricultural surpluses and creating in some quarters the feeling that food surpluses were somewhat akin to a grasshopper plague or a death-dealing epidemic.

Nothing could be further from the truth. The primary physical requirements of man are food and fiber. That Mother Earth has seen fit to bless us with what appears to be more than our immediate needs should be the subject of thanksgiving, rather than weeping and wailing. None of these commodity backlogs are of sufficient proportions to fill the gap that could be caused by a general crop failure in a particular commodity. A crop failure (and I hope we never have another one) is not necessary to prove this statement. We have but to turn back the pages of history a few years and we find ourselves using ration coupons in order to insure a fair distribution

Name's The Same
POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — The two Frank Hartenstines who live here didn't mind having the same name too much until Uncle Sam's tax collectors began to confuse the issue.

It seems one Hartenstine got the other's tax bill. The matter was finally straightened out when the two men, both natives of Pottstown and about the same age, took joint action to convince the revenue department there were really two Frank Hartenstines.

The Hartenstines said they have gotten to know each other quite well settling similar difficulties with other bill collections.

It was with Council, who tabs the death of John Nance Garner's mother as his greatest.

Mrs. Garner was seriously ill in Detroit. Her son, John Nance, had just been elected vice president of the United States. He rushed from Washington to Detroit to be with her when she died.

Council phoned the news of her death out to the world.

But for the most part, Detroit is peaceful. "Too dangd peaceful," said the old newsbound who still loves a little excitement now and then.

vised investigation now in its third week in the Upper Chamber, although everyone seems to think that they should either get along with the business or stop the hearings. Those in charge remind you somewhat of the little boy who had just witnessed an earthquake. He looked up at a bystander and said, "It wasn't me, Mister, it scared me." By the time you get this letter, this hearing will either be away above the boiling point or will have cooled off considerably. It is high time that the business at hand was attended to with proper dispatch so that much needed attention can be paid to the many serious questions that are facing this nation today.

There will be a lot of talk now about how we should have helped those Frenchmen out in Indo-China. . . More especially since the battle in that particular area is over and the Commies are drinking to another victory. That fight those fellows had in that small area will no doubt go down as one of the fights for freedom that we are so proud to talk about here in the United States. Some will have a little trouble considering a lost battle a victory but those who get a thrill of talking and thinking about the Alamo, Baatan, Dunkirk and others will most certainly have to save a spot for this fight that is finished in Indo-China, at least at the fortress at Dien Bien Phu. Is now time for an opinion!!! We would certainly be shallow minded to think that such a situation could not exist here in the United States and to get it closer to home right here in Hereford. I don't want to fight anybody anywhere, but more especially I don't want to fight anybody here in this country. So what about this Communist thing?? I have watched them haggle every night over television in Washington about Communism in the Army, and for years we have read about Communism via the McCarthy committee, and yet there are so very few of us that really understand what our position really is. I'm afraid that too many of us spend our time trying to understand the philosophy behind Communism and fail to see what is actually happening right under our feet. If ever we get into it with these people that want to stagnate the world with their idea of government the philosophers who spend so much time trying to figure out why these people act the way they do will find themselves packing a gun right along with those who haven't spent all their time trying to figure out the intangible things.

We will never be able to stop this salting down of the world by sitting on our hands trying to psychoanalyze people with minds comparable to an amoeba. Quite a tirade this time, but can't help but feel for those men who put up such a scrap for a piece of dirt the size of Dien Bien Phu.

Grain sorghums will be moving out soon, and the word around the trade areas is that there will be a shortage on some varieties that are seeded in this area. Martin maize will be around again this year, but Plainsman is on the short list. As usual we have a stock of adapted varieties for this area and will keep the inventory up as long as they are available. There are a lot of good reports on Westland and the Redbine varieties. Caprock is on the short list, and certified seed is almost impossible to obtain. Not too much of this planted in this area anyway so possibly it won't prove to be any trouble. Should impress you that it takes so little more money to buy certified seed. Bindweed and Johnson grass continue to be a problem and there is enough of it around already without planting it. We have moved lots of Peas this year for seeding into grain sorghum along with the seed. Chinese Red (That sure isn't much of a name is it?). Whippoorwill and New Era seem to be the most popular. We have had very little of this practice carried on here in Deaf Smith County, but the boys down around Dimmitt and Tulia swear by it. We are catching up on our alfalfa seeding and can get a drill for you fairly quick if you haven't seeded that patch yet. Top quality alfalfa seed is here for you when you pick up the seeders.

Agnes DeMille's Life Story Concludes Study Club Series

In concluding a series of programs built around the study course "Woman's Contribution to Contemporary Living," members of the LaPlata Study Club heard a discussion of the life of Agnes DeMille, dancer and choreographer, at a meeting held May 4 in the home of Mrs. H. H. Caraway.

Mrs. Emil Dettman presented the program, telling of Miss DeMille's decision to become a dancer after seeing Anna Pavlova dance, and how she became prominent in the art.

Her parents disapproved of her appearances in dancing and she was persuaded to go to college for more serious study. In her sophomore year, however, she was asked to serve as choreographer for a class production and her ambitions returned. For 13 years she served as choreography director, for concert programs both in the United States and abroad. Among her latest are "Broadway Rodeo" and "Oklahoma," Mrs. Dettman concluded.

During the business session members made plans for participation in the Pioneer Day Parade and also planned the closing program of the year which will be a dinner party in the home of Mrs. Leroy Aven at 7:30 o'clock the night of May 18.

Members in attendance were: Mesdames Milton Adams, F. L. Alexander, Leroy Aven, N. D. Bartlett Jr., Harry Bennett, Homer Brumley, Dalton Criswell, Emil Dettman, S. S. Dodson, Ray Downey, Clint Formby, W. R. Hair, J. R. Johnson, Lynn Kester, W. J. Krumbein, Don Little, Elmer Patterson, Frank Prowell, A. J. Schroeter, Urlin Streu, M. Thomson and Ansel McDowell.

Mrs. Helton Higgins Elected President Of L'Allegra Club

L'Allegra Study Club named new leaders at the annual business session of the club held in the home of Mrs. Lee Kent on May 6.

Plans were made for the final meeting of the year which will feature installation of new officers.

Officers elected were Mrs. Helton Higgins, president; Mrs. J. W. Robinson Jr., vice president; Mrs. Walter London, recording secretary; Mrs. F. C. Glendinning, corresponding secretary; Mrs. M. Thomas, treasurer; Mrs. Jack Brown, parliamentarian; Mrs. James Edmonson, historian; and Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Jr., reporter.

Those in attendance were Mesdames J. W. Barnett, Darrell Blanton, Jack Brown, Bill Dameron, James Edmonson, Hilton Higgins, Francis Hill, Richard Ireland, William Lawrence, Walter London Jr., George McLean, Floyd Ross, Bill Aldred, J. W. Robinson Jr., and the hostess.

A Last That Lasts

LONDON (AP)—A shoe guaranteed to outlast the wearer has British children baffled. A West of England manufacturer issued a pair free to each of a group of children with instructions to report back in half a year.

They have just checked in—every last shoe intact. They reported they had climbed and crawled, and scuffed and scuffed, but the shoes would not wear out.

The uppers are of leather, but the soles—attached in such a way it is virtually impossible to part them from the uppers—are solid rubber.

The manufacturers say the new shoes cost less to make than ordinary footwear, because fewer processes are required.

Americans Do Quite A Lot About Weather

Contrary to the old saw, "Everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it," the American people have been doing a lot about it for quite a long time as far as its impact on their working and living conditions is concerned.

The economic and social consequences of these efforts have been far-reaching. Products and processes designed to counteract the effects of weather have given the masses of the people comforts and conveniences that would have seemed inconceivable a generation ago. And some of our most important industries, with employment numbered in the millions, have been built up as a result, thus contributing to the strength and progress of the economy and the long-term upward trend in living standards.

Examples Are Universal

Examples can be found on all sides—in the homes in which we live, the food we eat, the clothes we wear, and our recreational activities. A major factor in their expansion has been the productivity of the people and the economy with the great rise in average family income and savings which have come as a result.

One of the most striking current examples of the economic influence of weather is air-conditioning. An industrial fledgling only a few years ago, with its primary outlet in the commercial and industrial fields, air-conditioning is now going into American homes on a big scale. Close to a million room air-conditioners were sold last year, according to industry figures; and air-conditioning as a whole is now estimated to have become a billion dollar business.

Just as noteworthy is mechanical refrigeration. Older than air-conditioning, it is an even bigger business with estimated sales of three and one-half million refrigerators and over a million freezers in 1953. Evidence of how quickly this industry has grown is found in the U. S. Bureau of Census figures which show that more than 80 percent of all American homes had mechanical refrigeration in 1950 as against only 44 percent in 1940.

HARMAN'S

AUTOGRAPH PARTY THURSDAY Area People Helped Finance Publication Of Hill's Book

Hereford has more than a passing interest in Dr. J. A. Hill's new book, "One Man's Faith," for it was a Hereford man, Will G. Harris, who first got the inspiration for its publication. Harris heard Dr. Hill deliver an address at one of the local churches and remarked, "Your speeches should be preserved in book form."

Harris, an ex-WTSC student, backed up his suggestion by visits to Dr. Hill and to Milton Morris, executive secretary of the Ex-Students' Association at West Texas State College. When the association agreed to sponsor the project and Dr. Hill consented to do the necessary writing and editing, Harris assured the success of the undertaking by backing up his idea with money.

DR. J. A. HILL

Not only did he and his family make substantial contributions, but he contacted some 30 WTSC ex-students and friends of the college, with the result that more than $1,000 in cash was raised.

"One Man's Faith" came off the press on May 1. Residents of the Hereford area will have an opportunity to inspect the book and to share with Dr. Hill and the Ex-Students' Association their pleasure in completion of the project at an autograph party at the B. E. Roberson home in Hereford today.

The local chapter of the WTSC Ex-Students' Association is sponsoring the party here, and they are extending an invitation to every one who is interested. Calling hours are from 3 to 5 o'clock this afternoon and from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock tonight. The invitation has been extended not only to all residents of Deaf Smith County, but to residents of the surrounding towns and communities.

"Dr. Hill's book is one we will enjoy reading for the first time and one to which we will want to refer often. It will be a valuable addition to any library," commented Mrs. T. V. Reeves of Canyon, who served as chairman of the publication committee appointed by the executive committee of the WTSC Ex-Students' Association to work on the publication of the book.

"When a rock is thrown into a small lake, it creates a ripple that reaches out to the farthest shores," wrote John L. McCarty of Amarillo, also a member of the publication committee, in the preface to the volume.

McCarty continues, "Dr. Hill, year in and year out, through the Nineteen-teens, the Twenties, the Thirties, the Forties, and now well into the Nineteen-Fifties, has been throwing rocks into the mental and spiritual lakes of his students and his countrymen. The ripples from them will continue to reach out and on and on back of beyond."

Dr. Hill, president emeritus of West Texas State College, first came to the campus of the college—then West Texas State Normal College—in 1910 as head of the History Department. He succeeded the first president of the college, Dr. R. B. Cousins, as chief executive of the young institution in 1918. He continued to serve as president until his retirement in 1948, when he was succeeded by Dr. James P. Cornette.

During that time, Dr. Hill made literally hundreds of speeches to the students and faculty of WTSC and to almost every organization in the Panhandle. "One Man's Faith" preserves 56 of those utterances, tracing the development of one man's faith. That faith is more significant because it has become a part of the faith of more than 25,000 men and women who graduated from West Texas State College during Dr. Hill's tenure in office. Through them that faith will radiate for many decades.

Dr. Hill began teaching at the age of 21, when he interrupted his attendance at the University of Texas to teach for two years. He received his degree in 1902 and was selected in 1910 as a faculty member for the newly established institution of higher learning in Canyon.

Within eight years he was elevated to the presidency of the institution, and during the 30 years he served in that position, he helped to bring the physical assets of the college to $2,500,000. Since his retirement in 1948, Dr. Hill has continued to be active in the educational, religious, and civic life of Canyon and the Texas Panhandle.

Proceeds from the sale of "One Man's Faith" will go, according to Dr. Hill's wishes, to the Ex-Students' Association for the purpose of financing the publication of a history of the college, on which he already has started work.

Among those from the Hereford area who contributed toward the original fund for the publication of Dr. Hill's book are: Will G. Harris, Ralph Smith, W. D. Nafziger, Fred Baird, George Heard, W. S. Kerr, Mrs. J. C. McCracken, Leo Forrest, E. S. Ireland, and V. E. Dodson, Mrs. Dorothy Harris Brown of Muleshoe, L. G. Harris of Florey, J. H. Sears, Glenn Reeve of Friona, Lyle Blanton, Bessie C. Patterson, Paul Corbett, Neil Cooper, Lois McCaslin Gilliland, Jimmie Allred, B. E. Roberson, Jack Bradley, Wayne Thomas, Miles Roberson, John H. Pittman, G. W. Brumley, and Wilson Gyles.

WSCS Elects New Officers And Secretaries At Luncheon

New officers were elected by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church at the luncheon meeting held May 5 at the church. Mesdames Jim Black, I. H. Spratt, J. E. Beyler and Lena Tons served as hostesses for the luncheon.

Officers named were Mrs. Leroy Aven, who was re-elected president; Mrs. Colby Conkright, vice president; Mrs. Grant Hanna, recording secretary; Mrs. Paul Conaway, treasurer. The following secretaries were also chosen: promotion, Mrs. Homer Brumley; missionary education, Mrs. Earl Flank; Christian social relations, Mrs. S. L. Easley; local church activities, Mrs. O. L. Click; student work, Mrs. Dean Bishop; youth work, Mrs. S. M. Dunnam; children's work, Mrs. Earnest Langley; spiritual life, Mrs. E. W. Solomon; literature and publications, Mrs. W. F. Gillis; supply, Mrs. J. F. Ward; status of women, Miss Frances Turrentine.

Plans were made to attend the annual WSCS district conference to be held in Dumas Wednesday and announcement was made that the annual pledge service will be held on May 19.

Plans were also made to sponsor a chicken pie supper at the church Saturday night, between the hours of 6 and 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Bert Boomer and Mrs. Wayne Edwards were named as women of the month and Mrs. F. M. Faulkner was presented a WSCS life membership for outstanding service. The life membership was a gift from Mrs. J. F. Ward to Mrs. Faulkner, with Mrs. I. H. Spratt making the presentation.

Mrs. Leo Forrest led the group in singing a hymn as the devotional lesson.

Low Cost Grain Storage

In a post-free building suitable for a hundred other uses in the future

Every wheat grower has a vital interest in grain storage. Holdover supply is the present or second, and available facilities cannot begin to handle the bumper crop in prospect or the heavy barley crop that will be harvested. Special Government incentives make it profitable to store your grain on your farm.

For this purpose nothing equals the Timberib building. When not used for grain storage it does equally well for implement storage, loading barn or utility building for a multitude of important uses. Here's why it's the best buy for you—

- One year's worth of grain storage cost
- Completely prefabricated—no construction with your own men—cheap to put up
- Engineered for grain storage, with strength to withstand weather
- Highly built to protect against weath and rodents
- Interior open free from posts so that grain is worked unobstructed with greatest ease
- Available in widths from 20 to 30 feet, and as long as desired

Today—BEFORE NOW—buy a moment too soon to arrange for your grain storage. Place your order while materials are in good supply and ample help is available. See your Timberib dealer at once.

Library Gives Report On Latest Selection Added To Shelves

Deaf Smith County Library is pleased to announce the arrival of some new spring books we are sure the readers will enjoy.

The novel that is creating much interest is "The Doll Maker" by Harriette Arnow. The story is of a big, ugly, strong-willed and self-reliant woman of the Kentucky hills, who is uprooted from her familiar surroundings and thrust into the confusion of war time Detroit, Mich.

Luella Creighton, author of "High Bright Buggy Wheels," has a new novel. It is "Turn East, Turn West." The story is of a young girl's growing up. Her father views it all with amusement, awe and affectionate delight, but her mother took it very seriously.

For those who like historical fiction, these titles will be of interest: "The Beckoning Hill," by James Playsted Wood; "Wagons to Tucson," by Ed Newsum; "Jordan County," by Shelby Foote; "Don't You Cry For Me," by Robsonough; "Desired Haven," by Richardson; "The Devil's Brigadier," by Ryan; "The Gipsy in the Parlor," by Margery Sharp; "Ghost Town Bonanza," by Taylor; "A Feast for the Forgiven," by Yentzen; "Tyron of Kentucky," by Me-ekkin; "Bhowani Junction," by John Masters.

Other novels are—"The Far Shore" by Gordon Webber is a taut, dramatic and strongly moving story of men and war and loneliness.

"The Devil by the Tail" by Rocco Fumento has Italy for its setting.

"The Bad Seed"—William March; "Dawn on our Darkness"—Robles; "And Have Not Love"—Parrish; "The Generous Heart"—Fearing; "Mountain Bride"—Coatsworth; "The Single Pilgrim"—Norman Lewis.

Non-fiction titles are: "Minutes of the Last Meeting"—Gene Fowler (Biog.); "The Atomic Submarine"—Lewellin; "Isn't One Wife Enough"—Young; "Of Whales and Men"—Robertson; "The Final Secret of Pearl Harbor"—Theobald; "The Desert Watches"—Wilson Mac Arthur; "The Wanderings of Edward Ely"—Ely (Biog.); "Dig or Die Brother Hyde"—Hyde (Biog.); "And the Cliffs Edge"—Marie Hackett.

Mrs. Paul Harvey Named Beta Sigma Woman Of Year

Mrs. Paul Harvey has been selected Woman-of-the-Year by Texas Kappa Iota chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

The selection was made known at a formal Founders Day dinner given in the home of Mrs. R. E. Lingenfelter on April 30.

Each year the sorority chooses an outstanding member, selected by a secret committee, on the basis of her contribution to the organization for this honor. In recognition of the honor Mrs. Harvey was feted at a special program following the dinner.

Mrs. Harvey is the wife of Paul Harvey, manager of the C. R. Anthony Store here. The couple has one son, Mike, 6. She is a former member and past president of the Young Mothers Study Club and takes active part in the women's work in the First Baptist Church. She serves as secretary in the Beginners Department, of the Sunday School, and is a member of the Gleaners Class.

Mrs. Harvey claims she has no hobbies, although she does collect cups and saucers, and other china but her sorority sisters think her friendly interest in people might be classed as a Woman-of-the-Year hobby. She was recognized by the group for her outstanding leadership and her ability to work with others, and the inspiration she was able to extend to every member by her forward look to future achievements and her undiminished desire to always give her best. Mrs. J. Edward Lane made the presentation.

Founder's Day Dinner
The gown and black coats of the sorority were used effectively at quarter tables where guests were seated. The Beta Sigma Phi crest served as place cards placed to a single golden candle in a black holder in the center of each table. The buffet table from which the dinner was served featured an arrangement of yellow rosebuds at one end, with a pair of scales balancing "Beta Sigma Phi-23 Years" and "Texas Kappa Iota-Five Years," at the other end of the table.

Emphasis was given the Founder's Day program by group singing of "America The Beautiful," followed by the Beta Sigma Phi song and "Grace" sung by Mrs. G. E. Mullins. Mrs. Line welcomed the new members and Mrs. Paul Harvey explained the Founder's Day anniversary.

MRS. PAUL HARVEY

A review of the past year's work was given by Mrs. Charles Laing. Further emphasis to the forward look, being stressed by the sorority was given in a reading "Life Is Living," presented by Mrs. Eddie Johnson. Mrs. Ronald Babione gave a tribute to members who successfully carried on the work of the past year, and a salute to the pledges who will have a part in the coming year's activities.

Following the program the group adjourned to the home of the sponsor, Mrs. James W. Witherspoon, where rituals were conducted. Sam Nelson. Rituals for pledges were given to Neil Hodges, Helen Langley, Betty Phillips and Theresa Lamm.

Those attending the ceremonies were Betty Babione, Barbara Cooper, Margaret Harvey, Grace Hennen, Margart Johnson, Geneva King, Mary Anna Laing, Ann Line, Jo Lingenfelter, May Ann Massey, Catharine Moore, Verda Mullins, Jama Pool, Emma Suit, Nadine Wade, Betty Whitaker, Helen Nelson, Betty Phillips, Theresa Lamm, Neil Hodges and Helen Langley.

Mrs. Harvey and Mrs. Ernest Wade served as leaders. Mrs. Cecil Massey and Mrs. Norman Moore provided background music.

Mrs. V. O. Hennen received the Exemplars degree and the ritual of jewels was presented for Mrs. Ly forms of sculpture and described early American painting. She built her lesson around the quotation "The learned understand the reason of art—the unlearned feel the pleasure."

Mrs. Alice Cox, guest speaker, spoke on "The Printed Word," reviewing an article on the expression and purpose of the printed word and its influence.

Mrs. Cox also showed examples of ceramic art and described the process in developing objects of ceramic art.

LaMadreMia Club Plans Installation

Officers were elected at the LaMadre Mia Study Club meeting held in the home of Mrs. Stanley Philipp May 3. Mrs. Calvin Goodin was co-hostess. Installation rites will be held on May 17.

Officers chosen were Mrs. Dean Herring, president; Mrs. R. V. Hale, vice president; Mrs. Don Fudge, secretary; Mrs. Calvin Goodin, treasurer; Mrs. Dennis Lomas, parliamentarian; Mrs. Eugene Sparks, historian and Mrs. Vernon Wilson, reporter.

Plans were completed for Pioneer Day concessions to be sponsored by the club, and Mrs. Lou Fudge was named as the club's candidate for Pioneer Day queen.

Mrs. Harold Loerwald gave the program, giving a discussion of the County Federation of Women's Clubs and its aims and objectives. Members attending were Mesdames Dennis Lomas, Joe Lyons, Dean Herring, Hershel Miller, Bobby Owen, Troys Klade, Eugene Sparks, Arthur Tinsley, Glen Wilson, Vernon Wilson, Ogle Riddle, Calvin Goodin and the hostess.

Formby Has Hopes Of Traveling Less

Marshall Formby, newest appointee on the State Highway Commission, said this week that he hoped to take it a little easier in his traveling.

Formby has been on the Commission a little more than 14 months and has just completed visiting all of the 25 district highway engineer offices in the state. His travels took him to every area and most of the counties in the state.

Formby, who is a Plainview attorney, is also owner of Radio Station KPAN here and co-owner of KFLL at Floydada. He is a former judge of Dickens County and former state senator. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Formby of McAdoo, Texas.

"The best part about being on the Highway Commission," the Plainview attorney said, "is the fact that you get to see Texas and to meet the Texas people. Everywhere I have gone I have found that the people have confidence in the Highway Department and I find they are glad to give us more financial support to build more of the needed roads over the entire state. The people are especially interested in Farm-to-Market roads, and the large cities are striving to find ways to build expressways in order to take care of their heavy traffic."

Besides visiting all areas in Texas, Commissioner Formby has travelled in many states in the Union during the past 14 months in inspecting highways and turnpikes. He estimates that he has travelled by land, air, and sea during the past 14 months between 55 and 60 thousand miles.

What was supposed to be a part-time job has almost turned into a fulltime job for the newest member of the Commission. He said, however, that now that he has visited in all areas of the state that he hopes to be able to spend more time in the practice of law and looking after his radio interests. He is hopeful that the highway job will require not more than one-half of his time.

Formby said it was impossible to ride over all of the 50,000 miles of Texas' paved roads, but he has made a good start at it during the first 14 months of his six-year term.

Lawrence Led Conference On Bible Schools

Bob Lawrence, educational director of the First Baptist Church, was principal of the conference leaders at the Tierra Blanca Workers' Conference held at the First Baptist Church in Canyon recently. Theme of the conference was "Vacation Bible School."

The meeting started at 10 o'clock. Other conference leaders from this area were Mrs. William Wimberley of the Dawn Community, who was the Intermediate Leader, and Mrs. A. N. McRight, 118 Avenue E, who was the nursery leader.

Approximately 43 persons from the Hereford Area attended the conference. There were about 20 from the First Baptist Church, 11 from the Avenue Baptist Church and 12 from the Temple Baptist Church.

Mrs. Jim Whelan Elected President Of L. A. E. Club

L. A. E. Club held its final session of the 1953-54 season in the home of Mrs. George Suggs May 4. Spring flowers with roses pre-dominating were used in decoration of the home and for tables laid for four.

Installation rites for new officers were conducted after the luncheon, with Mrs. Altus Higgins, retiring president, presiding.

Officers who will take over their duties at the beginning of the fall and winter club season include: Mrs. Jim Whelan, president; Mrs. Clarence Beauford, vice-president; Mrs. B. A. Reddell, secretary treasurer; Mrs. T. W. Roberson, parliamentarian; Mrs. George Suggs, council member and Mrs. Jim Lov- ing, reporter.

Reports from standing committees were heard and books were closed at the final business session.

Those attending were Mesdames Gordon Elliott, Clarence Beauford, Harvey Brock, Altus Higgins, W.

L. Jones, Boyd Knox, Luther Les- ley, Jim Loving, B. A. Reddell, T. W. Roberson, Sandford Smith, Jim Whelan and the hostess.

... but I'm just bustin' my buttons over the fact that my fellow employees at the Public Service Company have worked one-million man-hours without a lost-time accident.

They've been striving for this goal for a long, long time, and have been mighty close to making it before. Yes, they made more than 600,000 hours one time, and 910,000 another, but they never quite hit the magic million. This time they have!

This safety record is, of course, very important to you. The safe worker is the dependable, productive worker, and the one that makes possible the most economical, as well as the best, electric service.

Making a million man-hours without a lost-time accident is like making your first million dollars—it's the hardest million. We're shooting for two, now, and hope to make it, for safety makes your service better.

Canned Chili, Fritos Used In Quick Casserole

A nice surprise is in store for the family who are served for the first time, a quick casserole dish made from a recipe Mrs. Carl Luke uses when time is a factor in preparing a meal.

Mrs. Luke, who lives at 135 Texas Avenue, is very modest about her ability as a cook but her family, all of whom are married and away from home, still make it back each Sunday morning for breakfast with their parents, and will recommend her highly.

The casserole is so simple to prepare that it could serve as a life-saver in most any emergency if the housewife has on hand a can of chili, some cheese and a package of Fritos.

Mrs. Luke prepares the dish as follows:

Main Dish Casserole
1 can chili (without beans)
cheese—grated (about one cup)
1 package Fritos — 15 cent size
Put the Fritos in the bottom of a greased baking dish and cover with a layer of grated cheese. Add enough water to a can of chili to make the consistency of a sauce and pour over the other ingredients. Set in a moderate oven to brown and melt the cheese. Serve at once from the baking dish.

So many requests have come to the editor for the recipe for a Black Bottom Pie taken from the Hereford Brand Cook book that we are reprinting it.

Black Bottom Pie
Make the crust and when cooked fill with layer of chocolate custard and a layer of fluffy rum flavored custard, top with whipped cream and garnish with shaved chocolate.

CRUST
14 crisp ginger cookies
5 tablespoons melted butter
Roll cookies fine, add melted butter and pat out evenly in deep nine-inch pie pan. Bake 10 minutes in 300 degree oven.

FILLING
1 tablespoon gelatin
2 cups milk
1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
4 tablespoons cold water
1/2 cup sugar
4 egg yolks

CHOCOLATE CUSTARD LAYER
1 1/2 squares bitter chocolate — melted
1 teaspoon vanilla
FLUFFY RUM-FLAVORED LAYER
4 egg whites

Ways To Keep Water Supply Safe Discussed

Argen H. Draper, home demonstration agent, will present programs on "Keeping the Farm Water Supply Safe" to the home demonstration clubs during the month of May. Those who wish to test their water supply will be furnished sample bottles and given instructions on how to take the sample.

Clubs reporting meetings for last week were:

West Hereford
Mrs. Roy Boyd was hostess to members of the West Hereford Home Demonstration Club on April 27.

Mrs. Ida Mae Vaughn, who is foods demonstrator for the club, gave a demonstration on pastry and pie making.

Those attending were: Mesdames Ulys Pierce, E. M. Cox, P. H. Luck, Carlos Vaughn, Bessie Johnson, John Jacobsen Sr., Vern Witherspoon, Ida Mae Vaughn, Miss Evelyn Bell and the hostess.

North Hereford

Milk as a healthful drink in our every day diet was discussed by Mrs. W. H. Russell at the program following the luncheon meeting held by members of the North Hereford H. D. Club at the home of Mrs. A. E. Hodges on May 6.

Mrs. Otto Olson read an article on Vegetables and their vitamins so essential to our health. Mrs. Ludwig Kovacs told how syrups in Yugoslavia and kept unrefrigerated for drinks. She described the process of extracting the juice and boiling it over a slow fire until a thick syrup remained which was then bottled and diluted without sugar for drinks.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. C. L. Whitehead on May 21 instead of on the regular meeting date.

The Wyche H. D. Club met in the home of Mrs. Troyce Carmichael on May 6.

The club collect was repeated by the group before Argen Draper, CHDA, gave a program and demonstration on improving sanitation of the farm water supply.

Mrs. Draper stated the water source should be at least 50 feet from a cesspool and 150 feet from

Towel Rejuvenates Old Waste Basket

Mrs. Charles Hoover, a young housewife who lives in the Walcott Community, had a waste basket that looked a little battle-scarred from use but too good to throw away so she and Mrs. Roy Pruitt came up with a solution well worth passing on to other women who may be able to rejuvenate one for further service.

The two women found a turkish towel that measured the same in length as the distance around the top of the waste basket. They then stretched some narrow elastic and sewed it along each side of the towel. When the two ends were sewed together the cover was fitted over the waste basket.

It can be easily removed for washing. Any color towel may be used but Mrs. Hoover selected a yellow one to match her bathroom, where the basket was to be used.

a drainpipe. She demonstrated a method for securing a water sample to be sent to Austin where the State Health Department will test the water for pollution. Sterile bottles were distributed to those wishing to send samples.

Landscaping, lawns and flower planting was also discussed.

Mrs. W. R. Scarth presided over the business meeting. After the reading of the minutes committee reports were given. The members voted to send a delegate to the state meeting in Dallas.

Mrs. L. S. Griffin and Mrs. Darrell Dirks were welcomed as guests.

Members present were: Mesdames W. P. Axe, Gene Autrey, Bob Baird, C. R. Damron, C. C. Ellis, E. C. Hewitt, G. W. Newsom, C. F. Newsom, J. V. Pickens, Ira Ott, W. R. Scarth and Mrs. Carmichael.

Dawn
Dawn H. D. Club met Friday in the home of Mrs. J. M. Carathers.

Argen Draper, CHDA, gave a demonstration on testing the farm water supply. Mrs. Zed Stewart gave the council report and Mrs. Orval Galley showed a shrub to be identified.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Marion Russell, Zed Stewart, J. B. Caraway, Walter Galley, Orval Galley, T. L. Sparkman, Annie Harder, H. S. Fuller, Tom Draper and the hostess, Mrs. Carathers.

Baby, Father Win Cakes Friday At Candidate Rally

LIKE DAUGHTER, LIKE FATHER would hardly hold true in the contest for the prettiest girl and the ugliest man at the second Candidates Rally and Pie Supper held at the Walcott School on Friday night. Peggy Davenport received the most votes and the angel food cake for the prettiest girl while her father, T. D. Davenport, was presented with the devil's food cake for the ugliest man. Peggy, who is only two and one half months old didn't get to help her two brothers eat the cakes either.

A real pin-up girl won the angel food cake when two-and-one-half month old Peggy Davenport daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Davenport was named the prettiest girl at the Candidates Rally and Pie Supper held at the Walcott School on Friday night.

There probably won't be any boasting about her looking just like her father, because the large crowd in attendance also elected T. D. Davenport as the ugliest man. He was presented a devil's food cake baked by Mrs. G. S. Solomon. The angel food was made by Mrs. R. J. Coleman—Peggy's Mother shouldn't have to do any cake baking for a few days.

Wayne Tate of Broadview, N. M., assisted by Bernie Northcutt, sold votes for the cake and auctioned 52 pies baked by the women of the community and a box of cigars donated by Lowell Sharp for a total of $229.05 which will go to the Messenger Home Demonstration Club, The Farm and Ranch Club and the Walcott Club, sponsors of the event.

Candidates who furnished the entertainment probably took their cue from Julian Perrin, master of ceremonies, who said a speaker should stand up to be seen, speak up to be heard and sit down to be appreciated.

Candidates attending were: Jesse M. Osborn, state representative from Muleshoe; Horace L. Schloss and Homer E. Henslee, candidates for county judge, Lowell Sharp, sheriff, Ralph Smith, who is also unopposed for clerk, Charlie Sowell, candidate for commissioner for precinct 1, J. T. Guinn and Bernie Northcutt for precinct 3, and E. W. Solomon who is running for justice of the peace.

At the close of the auction the pies were served with coffee to the large crowd that filled the auditorium. There were a number of visitors from Hereford and neighboring communities.

The strawberry plants at Brumley's Valley View Farm have been popular. Alma says she's given a lot away but still has plants left and as well as Alma likes people she is really enjoying this.

She says these people are putting out plants: Mrs. W. H. Autrey Jr., Mrs. Carroll Newsom, Mrs. W. P. Caraway, Mrs. Gilbert Hooper, Mrs. Phillip Barclay and Mrs. Cliff Estes. I wonder if these women put out the plants or just have them ready when their husbands get in from work.

If I go to the bank the next few days I'll probably find out without asking. After Gene Autrey—that's W. H. Jr., — irrigates all day I doubt if it's easy to make him very enthusiastic about the high Vitamin C content of fresh strawberries.

The programs on Water Supply are going over in a big way. Almost all club members who do not use city water are going to send in water samples for testing.

There's plenty of sample bottles for anyone who'd like to have a water supply tested — either wells for domestic or commercial use.

The city water is checked regularly. The samples are taken by Randall Thomas. He has done a lot of studying on water supplies and takes pride in doing a good job.

Two Bluebird Groups Hold Flying-Up Ceremonies

Flying-up ceremonies were held at the Camp Fire Hut recently for two groups of Bluebirds—The Blossom Bluebirds and the Central Bluebirds.

Parents of members of the two groups were special guests for the buffet supper and program which followed.

Candle lighting rites were conducted by Carolyn Kirby, Virginia

Witherspoon and Nona Marie Strange of Wakita Camp Fire Girls, big sisters of the Bluebird groups.

Following the Whoelo Call from the leaders the two groups assembled and sang in unison "The Law of Camp Fire."

Cecil Boyer gave the prayer. The Wakita Camp Fire Girls took charge of the capping ceremony when the flying-up groups donned Camp Fire caps and uniforms.

Mrs. H. H. Caraway, chairman of the Camp Fire Leaders Association, welcomed the groups into the Camp Fire circle. Diplomas were presented by the Bluebird leaders, Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine and Mrs. Jack Gilliland.

In conclusion the group sang the Whoelo Cheer and candles were extinguished in final ceremonies.

Blossom Bluebirds participating in the ceremonies were Brenda Beasley, Beverley Boyer, Judy Bradley, Mary Raye Downey, Necla Gilliland, Sara Gillentine, Suzanne Langley, Kay Neill, Shari Prowell, Helen Sears and Susie Woodford.

Central Bluebirds included Cheri Baker, Nancy Breitting, Sandra Campbell, Linda Edwards, Mary Beth Gilliland, Roxie Lynn Faughn, Judy Fowlkes, Zulerno Moreno, Judy Hoff, Jan Susan Reese, Mary and Martha Russell, Joy Story, Barbara Pulliam and Virginia Roberts.

Mrs. P. L. Carmichael May 4. The meeting was opened with the repeating of the Club Collect in unison.

Mrs. Lester English directed a game, "What's on a Penny," which was won by Mrs. Virgil Dodson. Roll call was answered with things of interest to club members.

Mrs. Argen Draper presented the program, "Keeping the Farm Water Supply Safe." She stressed it was the way in which we handle our water after it reaches the surface that makes the difference between a safe or unsafe water supply.

She asked the question "Why do we want to keep our water supply safe?" The answer was "For Health's Sake." She stated that the State Health Department is concerned with our health problems and help may be had from them for the asking.

Three things to be considered when putting down a well are (1) Location; (2) Casing to protrude 6 or 7 inches above the ground; (3) Concrete slab around casing sloping outward. It was pointed out that windmill and overhead tanks are a source of contamination if the tanks do not have good tight lids.

Sample bottles from the State Health Department will be distributed to club members so they may take samples of their water supply. They will be sent in to the state for testing. Mrs. Draper demonstrated how to take this sample.

The game party which was to be held in connection with the showing of Mr. and Mrs. Newsom's film on Hawaii was postponed due to the time needed for the showing of the film.

The club will be in charge of recreation at the next council meeting and several games were suggested. Suggestions for the year book were asked for by Mrs. Taft McGee, Program Chairman. Mrs. Billingslea reported on the recreation work shop she attended at Panhandle. Mrs. Dee Buttrell, chairperson of the Expansion and Education committee told the club it was their time to meet with the commissioners court at their next meeting.

Mrs. Bert Coffin reported from Consumers Guide that flower seed should be purchased from seed dealers and not off racks in stores. Mrs. Dennis Lomas gave the council report and reported the group was working on a Producers Market. She also asked that the club elect a delegate to compete with the other club delegates from whom will be selected one to represent Deaf Smith County at the state meeting at Dallas in August. Mrs. C. C. Billingslea was elected to represent this club. The club also voted to continue Craft Design in their program next year and to Federate with other clubs in the county.

A Hydra-Matic GMC pays you back 6 ways

SURE, GMC's Truck Hydra-Matic Drive costs extra on some light-duty models. But man—how it pays you back!

You save gasoline—because GMC Hydra-Matic cuts the high consumption of fuel in stop-go use.

You save tires—because GMC Hydra-Matic's velvet-smooth getaways prolong tire life—by as much as three times in some operations.

You save maintenance—because GMC Hydra-Matic ends clutch costs—prevents shock-loading damage.

You save time—because at every start,

GMC Hydra-Matic ends shifting lags, gets up to road speed quicker.

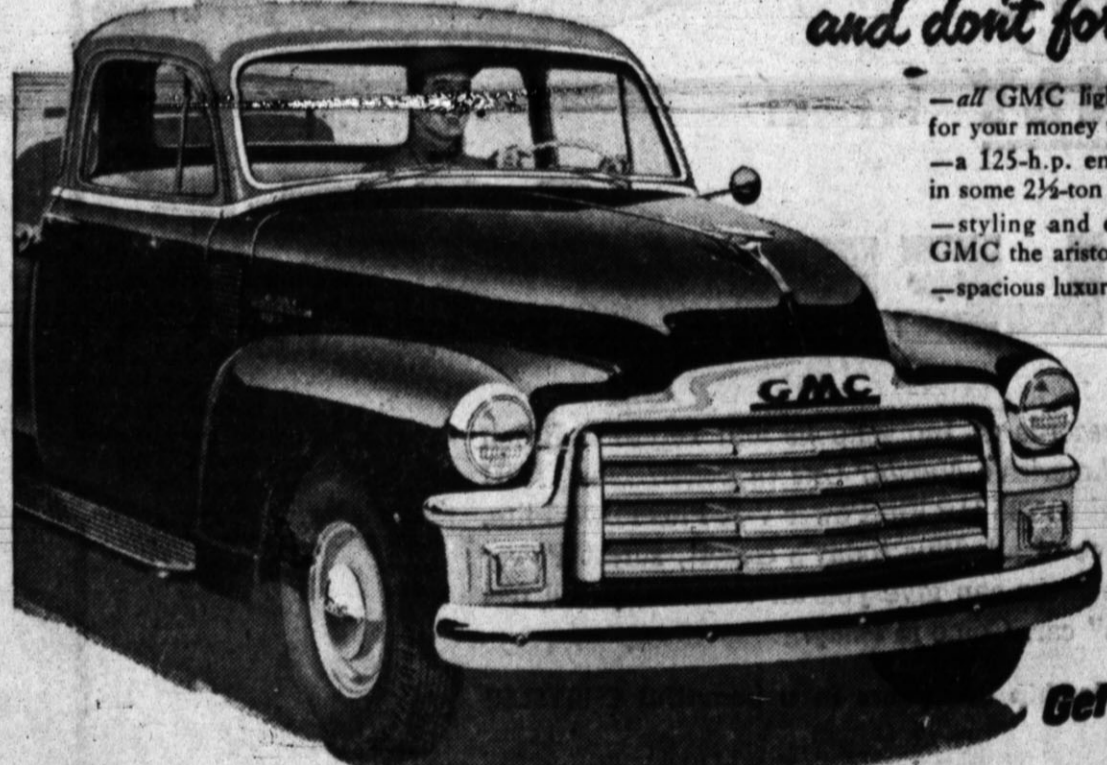

You save yourself—because GMC Hydra-Matic frees you of all clutching and shifting chores. And being fresher, more alert, you're quicker to avoid hazards that could be costly.

You save at trade-in time—because a Hydra-Matic GMC will rate a higher price than old-type hand-shifted trucks.

Are you a shrewd buyer? Then drop in at our showroom. We'll prove that a Hydra-Matic GMC is your best truck investment.

and don't forget

- all GMC light-duties give you more for your money to start with:

Hotel, Summerfield Teams Take Opening Night Games

By Billy Paul Knox
Hotel Jim Hill and Summerfield took opening night softball league victories by stopping the Road Knights and Piggly Wiggly Thursday at Veterans' Park.

Hotel Jim Hill mangled the Road Knights by a smashing 21-7 score while the second game was taken by Summerfield over Piggly Wiggly by a 14-2 count.

The old Hereford Hard war bunch got just nine hits but they capitalized on 15 walks and binged with a hit when it counted. The Road Knights got exactly the same number of hits but were not so fortunate in run making. They drew four walks.

Winning pitcher was Karl Hutchinson while the loser was Tom Burdon who started and pitched four innings before giving way to Gerald Wilson in the fifth.

The Hotel bunch picked up their total by scoring four in the first, four in the second, two in the third, one in the fourth and ten in the seventh. The Courtesies managed to find two in the first, two in the fourth, one in the sixth and two in the seventh.

Hotel Jim Hill did not get a hit in the first but still notched points. Two walks and three errors were principally the cause.

Goose Egg Broken
The Road Knights broke the goose egg in their half of the first by picking up two tallies. Four straight singles by Wilson, Albracht, Burdon and Lee pushed the runs across.

The second was the same for the Hotelers except for two safe blows. Renner pushed across one run with a bases loaded walk.

Dub Hair did the same but Stan Barret broke the ice by driving in two with a single to left.

The Knights did not score in the second or third.

Jim Hill made it 10-2 in the third, manufacturing two runs again on no hits. Five consecutive walks sent the runs across the plate.

The same team scored for the fourth straight inning but this time it was only one run and for the third time no hits.

Trailing by 11-2 the Road Knights made it 11-4 by manufacturing two in the last of the fourth. Edwin Bridges eluded a round tripper with one mite aboard to be responsible for the runs.

Neither team scored in the fifth and Hotel Jim Hill went scoreless in the sixth.

The Road Knights picked up their fifth run in the sixth on a triple by Edwin Bridges and a passed ball.

The seventh was when the winners monopolized in a lump sum. Ten big runs tumbled across the plate on six hits, twice as many as they had gotten throughout the rest of the game.

Tom Albracht drove in two with a double to score the final two runs for the Road Knights in the last of the seventh.

Edwin Bridges and Tom Albracht led the Road Knight hitters with two hits apiece. Dub Hair had two for the Hotel Jim Hill team.

Close Start
The second game started out to be close but Summerfield made it a rout in the third and finally won 14-2. Jack Clark pitched a four hitter allowing two runs to become winning pitcher. Don Morgan was the loser.

The Farmers scored one in the first, nine in the third, one in the fourth, one in the sixth, and two in the seventh. Piggly Wiggly scored their two runs in the third.

A walk, a single and a passed ball produced the first Summerfield run in the top of the first.

The first and second were both scoreless for Piggly Wiggly.

Summerfield scored nine runs in the tip of the third on only two hits. Morgan walked two but poor backing hurt him.

The Piggly Wiggly bunch scored their only two runs in the bottom of the third. A two-run homer by Marshall Wilson produced them.

The 11th Summerfield run crossed the plate in the fourth. Roy Botkins blasted a home run.

After going scoreless in the fifth, one more was added in the sixth. A walk and errors sent it around. In the seventh, two singles and an error scored the final two runs for Summerfield.

Bob Clark and Roy Botkin with two hits each.

Market Project Rules Set Up

A committee from the various home demonstration clubs throughout the county met May 7 in the county home demonstration agent's office for the purpose of setting up rules and regulations governing the new market project that the clubs are planning.

This market will feature only quality merchandise with strict sanitation rules. Mrs. R. C. Childers, committee chairman, said all merchandise is to be properly packaged and prices are to be in line with the local market, giving the housewives a chance to have fresh fruit and garden vegetables and such other food surplus that the farm housewife might have. Mrs. Childers continued. Fresh baked pies and cakes will also be featured.

Dates and days the market will be open and the location of the market will be given at a later date. Committee members besides Mrs. Childers are: Mrs. W. R. Search of the Wyche Community, Mrs. Bert Coffin of the Progressive Community and Mrs. Roy Lee Wilson of the Westway Community. Evelyn Bell and Argen Draper also attended the meeting.

Jack Ed Cummings is among 131 engineering seniors who are candidates for bachelor's degrees at commencement exercises at the University of Texas in Austin May 29. Cummings will receive his bachelor of science degree in civil engineering.

Dawn News

Dawn and vicinity had a nice shower Saturday night and a good soaking rain Sunday night.

Members of the Dawn Music Club were guests at a program and tea Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. R. Allison in Hereford. The group gave two choral numbers with piano accompaniment by Wanda Sue Wimberley, who also gave several piano numbers.

The group from Dawn included Mrs. Gayle Neal, Mrs. Melvin Gill, Mrs. Carl Wimberley, Mrs. H. V. McCabe, Mrs. Henry Turner, Mrs. Reece Stewart, Mrs. Zed Stewart, Mrs. Norman Miller, Mrs. Bruce Brown, Mrs. Walter Galley, Misses Wanda Sue Wimberley and Irlene Galley.

Misses Wanda Sue and Phyllis Ann Wimberley played in the National Piano Guild at the St. Andrews Episcopal Church in Amarillo Wednesday. Wanda Sue received a grade of 95 and Phyllis Ann received a grade of 94.

The Dawn Music Club held its annual luncheon in the home of Mrs. Walter Galley Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Miller of Hereford were Sunday visitors in the H. F. Trimmer home.

Former Hereford Boys Have Won ENMU Laurels

PORTALES, (Special) — Talk about football around Eastern New Mexico university and before long the conversation will swing to a pair of Hereford men who have turned in outstanding records on the gridiron.

One is Bill Engman, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Engman, now living in Ruidoso, N. M. Engman came to Eastern from Hereford high school two years ago and rapidly turned into a fine defensive halfback. Last year he was good enough to make the all-New Mexico conference team.

When 1953 rolled around with the national swing to the one-platoon system, the ENMU Greyhounds coaches thought Engman could fill the quarterback slot. Throughout the season he showed he could do just that. But his strong point is still as a driving defensive ace.

So when spring training begins for the Greyhounds, work will begin for Engman. With two more years before him, he will be badly needed as a field general, and training as an offensive worker will turn him into such a man. Talking about Engman's future brings up Dale Doak, and his past. A big 205-pound center, Doak was twice chosen for the all-conference team. But Carl Richardson, Hound line coach, added to his laurels when he said "Dale is the best offensive center we've had at Eastern in several years."

Now this "best center" is graduating. He will leave ENMU with a major in physical education, and the know-how to build outstanding prep school squads anywhere.

"If Hereford can keep on producing football players like these two," Richardson said, "we'll be waiting at the gate to invite them to Eastern."

Doak is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Doak of Hereford. He graduated from high school in 1950 and that fall came to ENMU. He likes to play football, he likes Eastern especially since he met a young lady from Artesia, N. M., named Anna Marie Dunn... and married her.

WHY IT MAY COST YOU MORE TO BUY A "LOW-PRICED" CAR

Let us show you how some cars price-tagged less than a Mercury can cost more—when you figure the deal we can make on your present car, over-all operating cost, and Mercury's proved record of high trade-in value.

PACE-SETTING STYLING KEEPS MERCURY AHEAD OF ITS FIELD...HELPS KEEP TRADE-IN VALUE HIGH

This new Mercury proves that extra power doesn't have to cost you extra money—when you buy, or while you drive. A new 161-hp V-8 can give greater economy than previous engines, which were famous for economy. And Mercury's famous stamina has been increased still further by new engine design, and new ball-joint front wheel suspension. This means longer engine life, less tire wear, lower upkeep.

But the biggest bonus of all is Mercury's higher trade-in value. According to authoritative independent surveys of used car prices, Mercury leads all other cars in its field. This indicates that your Mercury will probably return a higher percentage of your original investment at trade-in time. This, plus Mercury's famous record for economy, brings its true cost down in many cases below so-called "lowest-priced" cars.

WE'LL BE GLAD TO GIVE YOU FACTS ON THIS AMAZING ECONOMY STORY, AND YOU'LL BE PLEASANTLY SURPRISED WITH THE DEAL WE CAN GIVE YOU ON YOUR PRESENT CAR. SO SEE US—AND DRIVE A MERCURY.

LION'S CLUB 100 PERCENTERS, those who had maintained a perfect attendance record for 36 weeks, found that they had lots of company this time. Contest winners had a chance on a trip to the Lions Club convention which will be held in New York in July. Dr. Milton Adams' name was drawn for the trip. Sylvester Slagle is alternate. Cecil Massey and Woodrow Wilson will also go to the convention, according to present plans. The Hereford Lions Club was commended by Lions International for having the largest number of 100 percenters in the history of the club. Shown, from left, first row are: Dub Reeves, Harry Caylor, Leo Box, Homer Brumley, Tom Alderson, O. D. Lowry, Harold Close, J. W. Gibson, Bill Davis, Kenneth Cowan, Ray Coneway, L. B. Russell, S. O. Wilson, Don Zimmerman and Cecil Massey. Back row, from left: W. O. Shelton, Guy Lawrence, Sylvester Slagle, W. C. Meharg, G. P. Owen, Boss Lion J. W. Robinson Jr., Dr. W. D. Lawrence, Neil Cooper, George McLean, N. D. Bartlett, Jack Kirksey, Sonny Brooks, R. L. Ethridge, D. C. Martin, Robert Bell, Ray Cowser, A. O. Thompson, Edward Roberson and H. M. Thomas.

Long Time Ago

45 Years Ago

Today Hon. L. G. Wilson of Plainview will be here to consult with the Directors of the Club concerning the immediate extension of the Stamford & Northwest Railroad from Dickens County to Hereford via Plainview. It is known that the first section of 75 miles from Stamford is being pushed to completion, a part of the steel being laid, and that the "interests" behind the road are able and willing to build it. This road if completed to Hereford would open a large territory and put Hereford in direct connection with the largest cities of the state—Fort Worth Richard Walker and Gary Guseman; three sixth grade girls, Royce Lee Pruitt, Marge Roubison and Sharon Alexander; and four fifth grade boys, Gerry Harkrider, Terry Harkrider, Cecil McCullar and J. V. Perrin. The team won 11 to 7.

The sixth, seventh and eighth grades had a party and wiener roast at the Douglas Timberlake home. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Timberlake, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bomar, O. A. Alexander, Mrs. Fred Northcutt, Mrs. Clifton Johnson and Mrs. Don Guseman. Visitors were Miss Lillian Fisher, Mrs. E. F. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Timberlake, Mrs. Floyd Crume and Timmy Northcutt.

Miss Lillian Fisher attended a chicken dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Tyler Wednesday night.

Wiley Higgins entered the Hereford hospital one day last week. The first and second grades had some pictures taken in their rhythm band suits Monday.

Peggy Dianne Devenport won the cake Friday night at the candidates rally pie supper at Walcott School. She won it for being the most beautiful young lady present. Her father, T. D. Devenport, won the cake for being the ugliest man present.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brown, Earl and Roger, Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Brown and Tommy visited in the C. W. King home Sunday.

and Dallas.

A letter from the superintendent of the Wells-Fargo Express Company to Secretary Holman states that the citizens petition has been given consideration and that he will install free express delivery at Hereford at once. The employment of a driver and the arrival of the big wagon is all that is necessary to begin the work.

Fire got out near Dimmitt Monday afternoon and under a heavy wind was driven southwest burning over about 30 sections of the Flag Ranch, owned by C. T. Herbering of Amarillo. The breast of fire continued as far as Springlake, burning out one farm house, barn etc., belonging to Fred Ott. He was in Hereford Wednesday and loaded his wagons of lumber to rebuild. He lost all his household goods, stock, feed, chickens, fences, etc., but the embers were not cooled before he was on his way to buy new material.

25 Years Ago

The first alfalfa hay, grown, harvested and sold in Deaf Smith County in 1929 was consigned to the West Texas Feed and Seed Company here this week by W. R. Matthews. The delivery included 100 bales of pea-green, cut-short alfalfa, according to Bernard Hicks manager. Mr. Matthews cut the hay off five acres. The hay is of excellent quality and is selling at 90 cents per bale.

The black bass in Tierra Blanco are big and belligerent this spring. R. R. Hamlin, famed fisher of Hereford, came into town Wednesday with the head of a three and three-quarter pound black bass he caught the day before a mile from town on the old Slaughter place. Using artificial bait and a casting rod, Hamlin cast his hook about 30 feet out in the stream from him. The bass must have made a big dive at it, as the hook caught him in the side. The bass bucked like a bronc but Hamlin finally reeled him in. Hamlin now lives at Pampa, but he was here May 1 when the fishing season opened and has caught several messes since last Wednesday. Hamlin says the Tierra Blanco in Deaf Smith County is the best fishing stream in West Texas and the Panhandle.

"Son, when you take over, this General Electric motor will still be driving our pump!"

"You see, son, General Electric built this motor to last longer. Look at that cast-iron construction—rain, sleet, or dust can't hurt this motor! We don't have to worry about steel bands rusting away. And no extra protection like a shed is necessary because this motor is fully protected against all kinds of weather.

"Another thing I like about G-E motors is that you don't have to lubricate them for a long time. When you do, there are only two places to take care of—one at the top and one at the bottom—both easy to get at.

"Notice that G-E control—protected against the weather just like the motor. It protects our motor against overloads, undervoltages, and short circuits. And I don't have to worry about you getting hurt because you can't open the panel while the power is on.

"General Electric knows our irrigation problems, and they have the engineering experience to give us the motor and control team that will do the best job. Yes, son, when you take over, profit by my experience. Insist on G-E motors and controls!"

Be sure to ask your local pump dealer for G-E motors and control for your irrigation pumps.

"FATHER! MOTHER!"

his initialed symbol of justice, represents law and order. The whole problem of reverence for God and respect for the law is up to you. Father, Mother, when your child gets out of control for lack of discipline, when you fail, the Law must step in to keep your child from becoming a menace to others. The church stands for right, for order, for law enforcement. Children who go to church most, need the judge and policeman least. We must keep our children in church... keep them under the influence of good, so that our homes may remain our castles and we shall not walk in fear."
