Sentence To Be Left With Federal Judge

Charged With Accepting Ransom Money As Fees In Urschel Kidnaping

OKLAHOMA CITY, (AP)—Ben B. Laska, Denver attorney, was convicted Saturday on federal charges of accepting ransom money as fees for defending Albert Bates, convicted kidnaper of Charles F. Urschel.

Sentence will be left to the discretion of Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught.

A sealed verdict was returned Friday night.

Soon after Laska was convicted, his star defense witness, Mrs. Molly Q. Edison, also a Denver attorney, was arrested on a federal charge of perjury. Immediately arraigned, she pleaded not guilty.

Weyerhaeuser Suspect Flees At Kirbyville

Man Believed To Be Mahan Speeds Away Firing Pistol At Officer

KIRBYVILLE (AP)—A man, officials said they had been tipped was William Mahan, George Weyerhaeuser kidnaper, escaped after a gunfight with officers near CCC camp five miles east of here Friday night.

Jasper county officers said they received a tip Friday Mahan was riding around town in a sedan. They located the car, containing two men, parked in front of CCC camp Friday night. The one believed to be Mahan was doing, with an automatic pistol in his hand.

As H. B. Powell, night marshal, approached, the other man, a Kirbyville resident, called: "Look out, officers," then jumped from the car.

The man believed to be Mahan sped away, firing his pistol.

Lewis Cathey, 21, Stanton, Killed In Highway Accident

Shareholders In Loan Ass'n. Meet Monday

Permanent Officers To Be Chosen In First Federal Savings And Loan

A meeting of the charter subscribers for shares in the First Federal Savings & Loan association of Big Spring will be held at the office of the chamber of commerce Monday, June 17, at 2 p. m.

The purpose of the meeting, said J. B. Collins, temporary secretary, is to complete the organization of the association, adopt by-laws, elect directors, and take such further actions as may be deemed necessary to complete the said organization.

Mr. Strauss, representative of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Little Rock, Arkansas, will be present.

Collins said it is necessary that before charter can be delivered that the first payment which each subscriber has promised to pay on the shares subscribed should be delivered. It is also necessary, he said, that a majority of the stockholders or their proxy be present at the meeting Monday before business can be dispatched.

Truck Overtakes On Highway East Of Germania

Lewis (Jack) Cathey, 21, son of Luke Cathey of Stanton, was instantly killed when the truck he was driving overturned several times after a rear tire blew out on the highway three miles west of Germania Friday night about 8:10 o'clock.

In the truck with Cathey were Pagues and Henry Houston and Misses Belsa Houston, Belle Rose Jones and Jessie Mae Wells, all of Stanton, who were enroute to Midland to take part in a play at the Yucca theatre, according to reports received by The Herald.

Although badly bruised and cut about the body, the other occupants escaped serious injury. They were taken to a Midland hospital in an Elliott ambulance from Midland, where they were reported late Saturday as doing nicely.

First to arrive at the scene of the accident were Felix Fink, Big Spring lineman for the Western Union Telegraph company and Mr. Strunge, of the Magnolia company, who assisted in clearing and placing the dead and injured in the ambulance. Mr. Fink did an exceptionally good piece of work when he climbed a Western Union telegraph pole to "tap" in on the telephone line, using his own telephone set, and advising an operator at Midland of the accident. An ambulance was dispatched to the scene within less than ten minutes, carrying the injured to a Midland hospital.

Funeral services for Cathey were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of Luke Cathey. Interment followed in Evergreen cemetery. Revs. Sharpe and Raines of Stanton, assisted by Rev. O'Brien, of Colorado, conducted the services.

Cathey, who was foreman on the Houston ranch near Stanton, was born September 12, 1914 in California. Besides his father, he is survived by a sister, Miss Pauline Cathey of Stanton, two uncles, J. W. Fleming, of near Big Spring, and George Cathey, Stanton; four aunts, Mrs. W. H. Butler, Stanton; Mrs. W. L. Clements, Midland; Mrs. W. W. Williams, Stanton; Mrs. Tex Herring, Putnam, a grandmother, Mrs. J. C. Fleming of Cisco was unable to attend on account of illness. Cathey's mother died in August, 1923, and is buried at Stanton.

Henry Jones, Retired Agent, Dies Saturday

One Time Special Officer Spent Major Portion Of Life As Cattleman

Henry Kemp Jones, 76, who has spent a large portion of his life in West Texas in the cattle business until 1912 when he entered service as special officer for the Texas & Pacific at Toyah and Big Spring, died Saturday morning at 6:45 at the home of his son, R. D. Jones, 809 1-2 Gregg street. Jones had retired from service with the railroad some five years ago. He had been in ill health for a number of months.

Besides his wife, he is survived by three sons, Frank Jones, Duncan, Arizona; R. D. Jones, Big Spring; Mose Jones, Monticello, Utah; and one daughter, Mrs. Jack Fish of Tucuman, N. M., seven grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Mrs. J. H. Stradley, Tyler, a sister-in-law, and Mrs. Nora Lowery, Seymour, a niece, are here for the services.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 at the Eberly Funeral Home chapel with Melvin J. Wise, minister of the Church of Christ, in charge. Interment will be in New Mount Olive cemetery.

Austin Water And Electric Service Disrupted By Rise

AUSTIN (AP)—Flood waters tumbled on to new destruction in Texas as the death list grew and property mounting into millions crumbled before rampant streams Saturday night.

Twelve were dead and scores missing. Thousands left their flooded homes and sought what shelter they could find.

Inundated highways and railroad tracks in Central and Southwest Texas blocked immediate relief efforts as Texas faced a major disaster.

Greatest flood in Austin since 1869 cut a wide path of property damage, inundating many blocks in the residential area, and destroying city electric and water service.

The crest passed apparently at 6 p. m. without loss of life. A peak of 41.7 feet, 20.7 feet above flood stage was reported shortly before 6 p. m.

Reports of torrential rains above Austin, however, supported predictions the high stage would continue for a day or two.

Residents of LaGrange were warned to move to higher grounds as water of the Colorado river bore down on that town.

Currents roared over approaches to a concrete highway bridge at Austin and lapped at flooring, but did no appreciable damage.

Sections of the super-structure of Austin dam washed away and as water covered the top, damage to some of main structure was considered as likely.

The city water and light power plants were submerged.

At Del Rio the Rio Grande caused damage estimated at $100,000 on streets and bridges.

Greenville fought waters of the Sabine River and its tributaries.

An eight inch cloudburst swept the Hillsboro section.

Eight hundred feet of the Fort Worth branch of the Katy railroad tracks washed out near Hillsboro, and a concrete highway bridge at that point was also washed out.

The downpour washed out 500 feet of Texas & Pacific track near Lawrence in the Terrell area, and the dam at Terrell was cut.

AUSTIN, (AP)—Steadily rising flood waters poured through central and southwest Texas Saturday as record-smashing rains poured into rivers and streams.

Twelve deaths were reported, with many missing and damage mounting into millions of dollars.

Cloudbursts during the night made already swollen rivers smashing torrents that swept away railroad and traffic bridges, houses, livestock and crops.

Casualties were heaviest in the Del Rio section, where five were drowned Friday. Many were reported missing there and at Kenedy and Victoria.

A ten-inch cloudburst at Italy sent Hog creek out of banks, drowning A. J. Mitchell, wife and two children. The bodies were recovered.

The Colorado river overflowed over an eight-inch cloudburst bore on Austin, depriving the city of lights and water. An eight-inch cloudburst inundated the Hillsboro section.

Special trains of Rotarians bound for Mexico City were held at Laredo. The marooned included Ambassador Joseph Daniels.

Approval for three additional buildings on the scenic Mountain state park site was received here Saturday by Thompson R. Richardson, superintendent of technical service.

Approximate cost of the structures, which include a caretaker's building, double garage, blacksmith shop and warehouse, was fixed at $10,000.

The caretaker's building is to be a five room cottage constructed of native limestone and will be erected at a cost of $3,500.

Work on the buildings will be started as soon as the latrine, lacking only a roof, is completed, Richardson said.

Permanent buildings now on the park site other than the latrine and the pavilion and concessions building.

County Clerk R. L. Warren left Saturday evening for Snyder, where he will meet his wife who has been visiting with her sister, Mrs. T. L. Lollar. They planned to return here Sunday.

HANNAN SEES RED BLUFF BRIDGE HIT BY TORRENT

H. H. Hannan, Postal Telegraph manager here, had the rare experience of seeing a large bridge bodily picked up by a wall of water and tossed on by the roaring crest like log. He was at Red Bluff dam when a wall of water produced by heavy rainfalls in the mountain descended on that region. It struck the bridge with such force as to break it from its moorings and sweep it away in the space of a few minutes, he said. The bridge was used to transport heavy machinery across the dam site.

Escape
Carter Glass is still fighting furiously against the pending banking bill. But the white-haired Virginian smells defeat. So he seeks to salvage what he can from the wreckage. He's doing a good job.

He now demands that the open market committee consist of six Federal Reserve members and four heads of Reserve Banks. Mr. Glass figures that two fairly conservative members—Messrs. James and Hamilton—will usually side with the bankers against so-called federal domination. Administration spokesmen are inclined to accept the bargain.

Mr. Glass advances this idea as his own. He has probably forgotten it, but it was skillfully suggested to him by one of Governor Eccles' bright young men some time ago. It's a way out for both sides.

Cases

GOP spokesmen contend that the administration is injuring domestic manufacturers by over-development of a "7 per cent foreign market."

State Department technicians have privately prepared a report designed to answer the arguments. It is meant to spotlight the importance of exports to each state. It shows the per capita total of exports from the forty-eight states in 1929 and 1932, the last year for which figures are available. Dished up in this way, the decline in

He will get a new plane.

Taking off from the Union Air terminal at Burbank, California, 4:30 a. m. (P. S. T.) he landed here 3:30 p. m. (CST).

Cemetery Damage Caused By Rains

Torrential rain Thursday evening caused extensive damage to the cemetery.

After flood waters swept down over the area, several of the newer mounds sank. Many headstones were overturned.

Scarcely any plot in the lower parts of the cemetery escaped damage by washing.

Inasmuch as there is none responsible for taking care of the cemetery, a few interested in it made appeals for persons who have died buried to see that their plots are attended.

W. F. VFW, which put the graves of veterans in shape before Memorial Day, indicated it might again check to see that the graves were repaired of flood damage.

'G-Men,' First Federal Agent Film, At Ritz Sunday, Monday.

James Cagney Now Nemesis Of Gangland

The way of the United States Government against the master criminals of the nation has been made into a thrilling drama by First National Pictures, and with James Cagney in the stellar role, will open at the Ritz theatre on Sunday and Monday.

Those fearless secret service men whose exploits in rounding up the arch desperadoes of the country have been told in newspaper headlines for the past year are called "G Men," and "G Men" is the title of the screen's first dramatization of their battles with public enemies.

The picture follows the career of one of these "G Men" from the time he joined the federal service, through his training period, through machine gun battles with gangsters to a thrilling climax in which he finally rounds up, and exterminates, a gang of murderous kidnapers.

The story was written by Gregory Rogers and is based on headlines, so familiar that spectators will readily recognize many of the incidents.

"G-MEN" Coming to The Ritz

Jimmie Cagney is now one of Uncle Sam's secret service agents—the "G" men. He's starred in the first National picture, "G-Men," a story of how gangland met its Waterloo. Also featured is Robert Armstrong (shown at left). "G-Men" is coming to the Ritz Theatre Saturday night at 11:30 and will run Sunday and Monday.

Ronald Colman Back At Lyric In 'Drummond'

Returns To Screen After A Year Of Vacationing

Ronald Coleman returned from a year's vacation to bring to the screen of the Lyric theatre, where "Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back" begins a three day run Sunday.

Ever since Coleman made the earlier talkie, "Bulldog Drummond," the filmgoing public has retained a fond memory of the dashing Captain Hugh Drummond whom he portrayed in that picture.

Drummond also holds a fond place in Coleman's heart, for it was in the creation of this character that he scored his greatest screen hit.

It was pleasant news to the star, therefore, when Joseph M. Schenck and Darryl F. Zanuck informed him that they had purchased "Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back" as his first starring vehicle under his new contract with their 20th Century Pictures.

The story is based on the novel by H. C. McNeile, depicting the further exploits of the lovable adventurer. The excitement starts when Drummond attempts to unravel a completely baffling mystery for a beautiful young girl whose uncle disappears strangely in the London house of a sinister Oriental prince.

Loretta Young portrays the girl, Warren Oland plays the Prince, Charles Butterworth is seen as Drummond's not quite bright friend Algy, and Una Merkel appears as the bride Algy deserts on her wedding night to dabble in mystery with Drummond. C. Aubrey Smith plays Inspector Neilson of Scotland Yard who contributes complications.

"Rcy Del Ruth, who directed "The Terror," the talkies first mystery thriller, handled the megaphone on this hair-raising sequel, which Nunnally Johnson, who was responsible for the brilliant screen version of "The House of Rothschild," prepared for the screen.

WESTERN RAILS SPONSOR GIANT WIRE POW-WOW

An important feature of Railroad Week festivities was the 7000-mile dot and dash pow-wow which started from Chicago and extended through the principal cities of the west. W. T. Thiehoff, former railroad telegrapher and now a prominent western railroad official, acted as master of ceremonies for this unusual wire-side huddle. Ben Hammill and Carol Miller found the clicking melody interesting if not understandable.

Mrs. Wilson Has Two Parties For Newly Weds

Mrs. W. S. Wilson was hostess for two lovely parties Thursday, both in honor of her friend, Mrs. George Tate, the former Miss Ethel White, a recent bride.

The afternoon party was a bridal shower and was a surprise for the honoree. A pink and white color scheme was beautifully used in flowers which were sweet peas, in the tallies and the pretty refreshment plate.

Mrs. Bluhm won high score and Mrs. Ivey received the bingo prize. Pink and white ice cream and individual angelfood squares were served the tea guest. Miss Rena White, and the following players: Mrs. Ed Allen, William Dehlinger, J. N. Blue, R. H. Miller, W. R. Ivey, Otto Peters, Violet Cox, Frank Rutherford, R. H. Bluhm, George Crosswhite.

The honoree received many lovely gifts not only from those present but from Miss Helen Duley and Mrs. Ray Lawrence who could not attend.

In the evening Mr. Tate was the one who was surprised, when he and Mrs. Tate went over for a game of bridge and found Messrs. and Mrs. C. E. Henninger, Jim Zack, Watson Hammond and George Crosswhite there.

After listening to the prize fight over the radio, the three tables played bridge. Mr. and Mrs. Henninger won highest score.

A pretty salad course was served at the close of the games.

Emil Fahrenkamps Entertain Night Club

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Fahrenkamp entertained for the members of the As You Like It Bridge club with a pretty two-table party Friday evening at their home. Lovely roses from the Fahrenkamp garden were floral decorations.

Mrs. Croft made high score. The Cunningshams also received prizes, he the slam prize and she the bingo.

Chicken salad and ice courses were served Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Croft, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Cunningsham and Mr. and Mrs. James Little.

The M. K. Houses will entertain next.

Harvey, Carminati Co-Star In 'Let's Live Tonight' At Queen

At the Queen Theatre Sunday, Monday, Tuesday will be Columbia's "Let's Live Tonight," co-starring those two continental favorites, Lilian Harvey and Tullio Carminati. The film is a romantic comedy-drama by Bradley King which Gene Markey adapted to the screen. It tells the story of an eager young American girl, summing in Monte Carlo, who falls in love with a man she believes to be a poor but honest gigolo. A rather poignant theme develops when she discovers that he is a wealthy, debonaire man-of-the-world preferring to love often but not too strongly. Disheartened, she encourages a younger and more romantic suitor, only to find that he is the brother of her destined Don Juan.

Lilian Harvey is the girl seeking romance on the Riviera. It is, by her own admission, the finest role she has had to date, which is no mean flattery considering her recent success in "I Am Suzanne" and "My Weakness." Tullio Carminati, of course, is the suave and polished lover, with Hugh Williams as the younger brother. Victor Schertlinger, who also directed "One Night of Love," introduced "Let's Live Tonight." In addition, he composed two popular song numbers, "Love Passes By" and "I Live In My Dreams." Tullio Carminati sings "Love Passes By."

The balance of the large cast includes Janet Beecher, Tala Birell, Luis Alberni and Claudia Coleman.

Lomax H. D. Club Meets At Mrs. C. E. McDaniel's

To measure for a well-fitted sleeve, check your pattern for certain measurements, says Miss Mayme Lou Parr, home demonstration agent to the Lomax H. D. C. at the home of Mrs. C. E. McDaniel Thursday. In measuring sleeves, measure from top of shoulder over elbow to wrist with arm bent back check to elbow from inside arm pit to wrist, around the arm over the largest part about the elbow around the arm over the largest part below the elbow, and wrist. If these measurements are used, one will have a good fitting sleeve.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Meses. D. W. Powell, Henry York, C. Koehler, W. F. Coates, D. H. Coates, Joe Melvin, A. J. Stallings, T. Williams, W. C. Wood and Miss Verma Chapman, Mayme Lou Parr and one visitor, Mrs. J. A. McDaniel. "Separate brooders are necessary for pullets and cockrels," stated Miss Mayme Lou Parr to the Lomax H. D. club Thursday afternoon June 14 at the gymnasium. The pullets should be fed laying mash and the cockrels be fed a fattening food and you will have to have separate brooders. The club will meet again June 25 at the home of Opal Chapman. Those present were: Opal and Oneta Chapman, Allene Miller, Evelyn Stallings, Rosie Lee Rice and Esta Mae Lilly.

Robert Miller has gone to Oklahoma City to visit his brother, Paul Miller.

Three Daily Bible Schools Announced

Presbyterians And Baptists Join Methodists In Movement

Three daily vacation Bible schools will be in full swing Monday. The First Methodist will go into their second and last week. The First Baptist and Presbyterians will start theirs. YOU DON'T HAVE TO "BREAK IN" THE FORD V-8

You can drive it 50 miles an hour the day you buy it

THE FORD V-8 is ready for normal driving when you buy it. There is no tedious period of breaking-in for 500 or 1000 miles. You can drive it up to 50 miles an hour the first day. And after the first hundred miles you can drive it as fast as you desire.

That means greater motoring enjoyment for every motorist. It is especially important to motorists who are thinking about a new car for a vacation trip—to physicians, salesmen and all those who use a car for business. Instead of dragging along at slow speeds for days, you can make good time from the start.

The reason for this is as important as the result. The Ford V-8 needs no breaking-in because of unusual accuracy in the manufacture of moving parts and the smoothness of bearing surfaces. Clearances are correct when you buy the car. It is not necessary to depend on a long wearing-in period to eliminate tightness and insure smooth running. Longer life, greater economy and better performance are bound to result from such precision methods. They are further proof of the care and quality that go into the Ford V-8.

Formerly only the most expensive cars could be driven at normal speeds from the beginning. That still holds true today—except in the case of the Ford V-8. It gives you fine-car construction, along with fine-car performance, comfort, safety and beauty.

Ballonists, Set For Stratosphere Hop, To Profit By Flight Mistakes

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
(Associated Press Science Writer)

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Nine tons of balloon, gondola, scientific instruments and men soon will start on an intended vertical trip of 14 miles or more into the stratosphere.

Profiting by the mistakes of last year's disastrous flight, this year's journey of the "Explorer II" of the National Geographic society and army air corps is scheduled to be "bigger and better" than any which have preceded it since the first high balloon ascension was made in England in 1862 to a distance of seven miles.

The gas capacity of the new balloon, is 3,700,000 cubic feet instead of the 2,000,000 cubic feet of the 1934 bag, the gondola is 78 cubic feet larger, danger of accidents has been reduced by the use of stronger balloon cloth and non-explosive helium gas instead of hydrogen, and new and improved instruments will be carried to gather more accurate data over a wider range than was possible heretofore.

Among the devices scheduled to be carried to see and record scientific data are three electroscopes and two counters to record cosmic ray activity; two barographs and two barometers to check the altitude reached; two spectrographs to analyze the light of the sky, sun and earth; one device for measuring the electrical conductivity of the air; 10 cameras to photograph earth, sky and readings of instruments; a radio receiving set, sending sky and the readings of instruments; a camera trap and holder; electrical thermometer; three light meters; compasses; air specimen flasks and balloon thermometer.

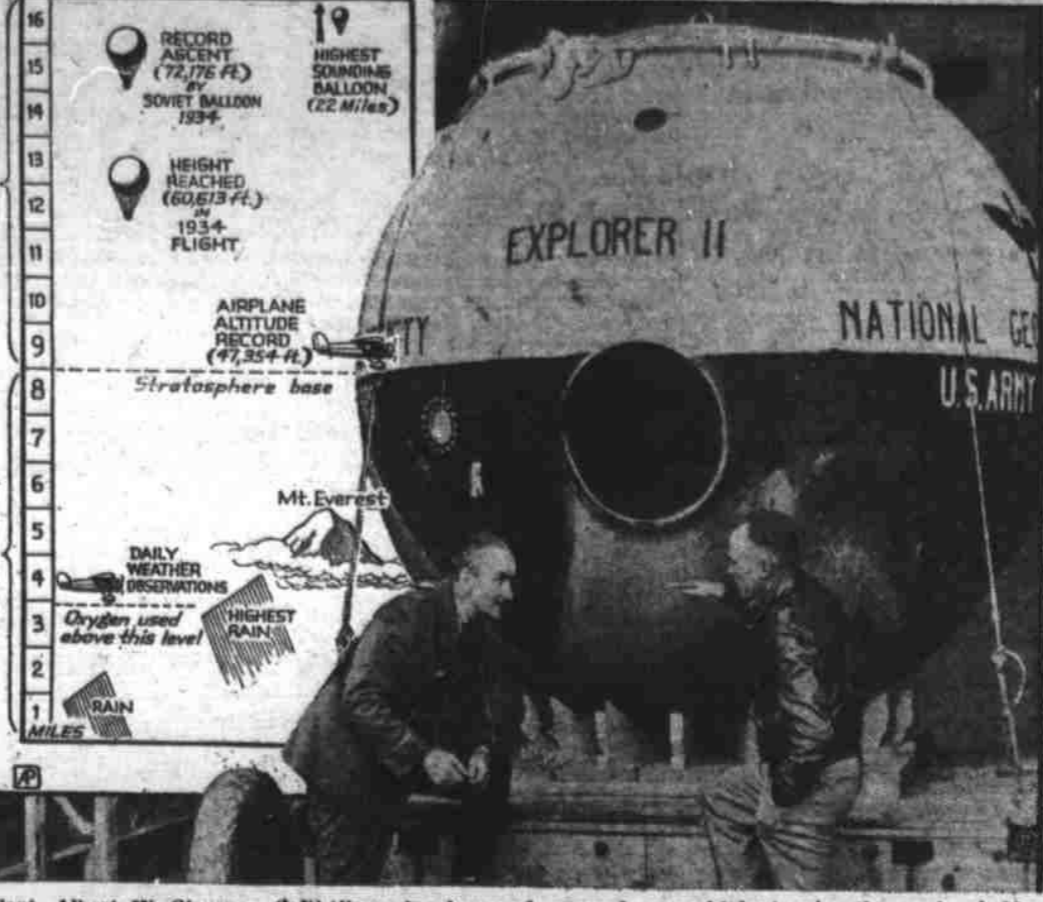

In addition, the gondola is equipped with an electrical fan by which it can be revolved; liquid air chambers to insure breathing in the hermetically-sealed metal sphere; storage batteries; and 8,000-pounds of lead shot ballast.

Most of the instruments will operate automatically, leaving the two members of the crew, Capt. Albert W. Stevens, commander, and Capt. Orvil A. Anderson, pilot, to concentrate on their manifold duties of navigating the balloon, making visual observations, photographing and watching progress of the flight.

The flight is scheduled to begin, as soon as weather is favorable, from the Stratocamp in the rocky natural bowl near Rapid City, S. D., scene of the start of the 1934 flight which ended with the crash of the gondola in a cornfield near Holdrege, Neb.

Sufficient helium will be pumped into the huge bag to lift the weighty load to a theoretical height of 14 miles and possibly fault in over 90 per cent of all accidents—and a well-prepared, strictly enforced license law would tend strictly to shrink that percentage.

Capt. Albert W. Stevens (left), commander of the National Geographic Society-Army Air Corps stratosphere flight, is seen discussing final arrangements for the hop with Capt. Randolph P. Williams in charge of ground operations at Rapid City, S. D., where the flight will start. Behind the stratosphere eight miles up, the point reached on last year's ill-fated flight, and the record ascent by man, 72,776 feet.

that if hostilities begin the Moslem portions of Ethiopia will come over to Italy. The following points are cited as a basis for these expectations:

1.—The outlying Moslem sections of Ethiopia—Galla, Somali and Sidama—were conquered by the late Emperor Menelik a generation ago, and those peoples live in a subjection under Italian rule which Italian people believe is intensely irritating to them.

2.—The relations between the natives of Galla, Somali and Sidama on the one side and Moslem Eritrea and Somaliland are reasonably close.

3.—A large native army, already more than 40,000 strong, will be created by the Italians. It is estimated by military circles that this army will reach 200,000 men. It will offer many attractions to the Galla, Somali and Sidama natives.

Overtures To Mussolini
Already overtures are being made to the Mussolini in official speeches here by members of the government. Undersecretary of Colonies Alessandro Lessona told the Chamber of Deputies: "Italy, although she reaffirms her fidelity to the religious ideals which irradiate from Rome and which have always inspired her policy, nevertheless in Africa wants the faithful of Islam to feel secure and tranquil in their traditional cult because she recognizes that it represents a form of the most noble and spiritual social life amid the furies of old and new barbarian paganism in Africa and elsewhere."

In the same speech Lessona delivered an attack on the religion of Ethiopia, saying: "The Ethiopians make an argument of their Christianity and their centuries old resistance to the Mussolini invasion. However, it is necessary to look with skepticism on the Ethiopian Christianity which offers us the spectacle of a Christianity impregnated with bar-

Urban Home Owners In Default To File By June 27th For HOLC Loans

Urban home owners who are in involuntary default on their mortgages are warned to file their applications for relief loans from the Home Owners' Loan Corporation by June 27, less than three weeks away, when the 30-day extension period for new applications will expire.

Under the law, loans can be made only to home owners in genuine danger of losing their homes through tax sale or foreclosure. The Corporation cannot consider the applications from persons who are able to carry their present mortgages or to obtain financing elsewhere. Such ineligible applications merely obstruct the work of the corporation field offices in handling cases of real distress.

The same general tests of eligibility apply to newly filed requests for loans as are applied to earlier applications now in process of closing or rejection. The applicant must have been in voluntary default on his present mortgage on June 13, 1933, unless a default occurring later is shown to have resulted from unemployment or other misfortune. The Corporation was created to protect honest home owners who are in temporary diffi-

Thimble Club Enjoys Rook Game At Home Of Mrs. J. B. Neel

The Thimble club met for games of rook Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. B. Neel. Mrs. John Davis, Mrs. Seth Pike and Mrs. M. I. Mungrove were guests, Mrs. Pike scoring highest of them all.

Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Mason tied for club high score.

Refreshments of home made ice cream and cake were served the guests and following members: Mmes. W. H. Ward, G. S. True, J. Lusk, Sam Eason and W. A. Miller. Mrs. True will be the next hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wilcox and son are moving to Lubbock today to make their home.

CHECKING THE HUMAN ELEMENT

The National Safety Council reports that the campaign for standard licensing laws for automobile drivers continues to gain power. The term "standard licensing" is used to include both the provisions of the law itself, and the machinery set up for its administration, in that poor enforcement could negate the benefit of the best drawn act.

Since the first of the year, three states have passed laws the Council considers standard in every respect. In one other state, new license legislation was also enacted, but the Council considers it wanting in some respects. Movements are underway in a number of other states to bring them into the fold.

In the light of America's tragic automobile death record, it is difficult to see how even the most stringent drivers' licensing laws can be logically opposed. The driver who is congenitally unable to learn to operate a car properly has no right to endanger the lives and property of others, even though his inadequacy is not his fault. And the deliberately reckless, chance-taking driver, is one of the most dangerous influences abroad in the land today.

Every state should have a license requirement law which makes it as certain as possible that the motorist, before he is permitted to drive in capable of operating his car safely. And the law should provide that, after a number of accidents or arrests, licenses must be revoked for a definite length of time. The human element, rather than the mechanical element, is at

Italy Drags In Religion As Aid Against Ethiopia

By ANDREW BEDDING
ROME, (AP)—The Italian high command hope that religion—not their own—will aid them if war comes with Ethiopia.

above, although officials of the National Geographical society emphasize that the flight is not aimed primarily at bringing the altitude record back to the United States from Soviet Russia.

The maximum height attained by a man-carrying balloon was reached early in 1934 when three Soviet aviators went up to 12,666 miles above the earth. They lost their lives in the crash which followed their precipitate descent.

Last year's National Geographic air corps flight was terminated at 11,448 miles because of the bag failure.

While across Ethiopia borders Italy concentrates such modern warfare detachments as flame throwers, the black empire's army goes busily about its business of "training for any eventuality." European instructors say that in two years the Ethiopian forces have approached the perfection of European soldiers and what is lacking in training is made up for by enthusiasm. Here is seen one of the "heavy" artillery soldiers finding the range with the "Black Empire's" only large cannon.

Their hopes are based on the fact that the religion of the outlying sections of Ethiopia facing the Italian colonies is the same as that of these colonies, Eritrea and Somaliland—namely, Moslem. The religion of Addis Ababa and the majority of the empire is Catholic Christian. The Italian high command hopes

LOVELOCK DEFEATS OUTSTANDING MILERS

CUNNINGHAM IN 2ND BY TWO YARDS

Palmer Stadium, Princeton, New Jersey (Spl). — Jack Lovelock overtook Glenn Cunningham on the last lap of the "Race of the Century" to fly to victory over three of the world's greatest milers Saturday.

The New Englander allowed the Kansas State flash to lead the way for three of the four laps but stepped out at an amazing gate to defeat Bill Bronthran of Princeton, who came in ahead of Cunningham by about two yards.

Lovelock did not set a new record.

Gene Venzke trailed the three leaders by some 10 yards to lead Glenn Dawson of Tulsa, and Ray Mangum to the finish line. The latter set a new record for the three quarters of a mile Saturday, June 8, defeating a field including Venzke.

Ray Sears, middleweight hope from Butler University, defeated a field including Champion Henry Neilson, Dena mark, in the special two mile event. Sears was timed in 8:10.3.

The Butler boy allowed Joe McClusky of NYAC to lead most of the way but crossed the finish line some 25 yards in front of the New Yorker.

Harold Manning of Wichita AC was third while Donald Lash of Indiana was fourth.

Frank Crowley of NYAC and Neilson dropped out, Neilson quitting after two laps. Ed O'Brien of Syracuse, with legs driving like pistons, surprised the crowd by defeating Glenn "Blats" Hardin of LSU, Ivan Fuqua of Indiana, and Jimmy Lavalle of UCLA in the 440 yard dash. O'Brien's time was recorded at 47.3. Lavalle led off to be overtaken first by Fuqua and then Hardin.

Sam Allen of Oklahoma Baptist, who set a new record in the recent Texas relay, broke the tape inches in front of Moreau of LSU and Beard of NYAC to win the 120 yard high hurdles. Allen was not declared winner until after a check had been made. Allen's time came within a tenth of a second of the world's record, clicking off the distance in 14.3.

"Chuck" Hornbostel, Indiana veteran, crossed the finish line some eight yards in front of John Wolfe of Manhattan to win the half mile run. Hornbostel's time was 1:57.7, considerably slower than Ben Eastman's world record of 1:49.8.

Harry Williamson of North Carolina, Bill Patterson of Columbia, and Elton Brown KCAC, trailed Hornbostel and Wolfe across the finish line. Patterson and Brown were the early leaders.

SCOUT NEWS

Board of Review, the last of the old general type operating for all troops in town, will be held 8 p. m. from the basement of the First Baptist church Monday evening.

After this session, all troops will have their own review boards, the troop committees constituting the board.

Incidentally, A. C. Williamson, area executive, will be here for the session. He will also be checking up on camp attendance while here.

A larger number than went from here last year to the camp at Merton is expected to take part in this annual council feature. Troop No. 2 has already fixed its time as the second week. Of course many from that troop, as in others, will spend two and some three weeks in camp.

Rain has put a crimp in plans of Girl Scouts to start a swimming school. The first Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday that the sun comes out and stays out, the two girl troops will take to the water. Jack Hodges is to do the instructing.

Scoutmasters this week got some interesting literature from Washington on the forthcoming national jamboree. It carried several interesting pictures of patrol tables, showers, etc., and described the many activities. The jamboree program is given.

TROOP MEETINGS
Troop No. 3—Plans for the annual summer camp were made by the troop in its weekly meeting last Monday night. The troop has selected the second week of camp for its stay there. It will be from July 9 to 16 at Merton, Texas.

About fifteen scouts from the troop plan to attend the camp for one week, while several are planning to stay two and three weeks. Bulletins describing the camp and its facilities were passed out to each member of the troop during the meeting.

After the regular business session of the troop, games were played. A game called "Stealing the Bacon on Horseback" was directed by Allen Stripling, a leader of Troop No. 5. The "Magic Wand" game was also played by the troop. As yet none of the scouts have been able to work out the solution to this game that was introduced to this council by an Oklahoma scout official.

Seventeen scouts, three visitors, and the scoutmaster, Jack Cummings, attended the meeting. They were: Louis Coffey, A. D. Harmon, Ira Fuller, Bob Schultz, Robert Smith, John and Harry Blomfield, Julian Fisher, Boyce Williams, Austin Bruch, Jim Brigham, Gordon Buffington, Warren Woodward, Bobby McNew, Melvin Phillips, Wayne Burch, and Halbert Woodward. The visitors were: Allen Stripling and George Miller from Troop No. 5. Gene Linck, a new scoutmaster who will help direct the activities of the troop during the summer, was also present. Gene was a member of Troop No. 3's staff last summer.

Next meeting of the troop will be Monday at 7 p. m. in the First Methodist basement.

Troop No. 5—Only about 10 scouts and two scouters were present for the meeting Thursday due to the heavy rain which fell up to meeting time. Those present were

CHARLES HORNBOSTEL

Ray Sears, middleweight hope from Butler University, defeated a field including Champion Henry Neilson, Dena mark, in the special two mile event. Sears was timed in 8:10.3.

The Butler boy allowed Joe McClusky of NYAC to lead most of the way but crossed the finish line some 25 yards in front of the New Yorker.

Harold Manning of Wichita AC was third while Donald Lash of Indiana was fourth.

Frank Crowley of NYAC and Neilson dropped out, Neilson quitting after two laps.

Ed O'Brien of Syracuse, with legs driving like pistons, surprised the crowd by defeating Glenn "Blats" Hardin of LSU, Ivan Fuqua of Indiana, and Jimmy Lavalle of UCLA in the 440 yard dash.

O'Brien's time was recorded at 47.3. Lavalle led off to be overtaken first by Fuqua and then Hardin.

Sam Allen of Oklahoma Baptist, who set a new record in the recent Texas relay, broke the tape inches in front of Moreau of LSU and Beard of NYAC to win the 120 yard high hurdles.

Allen was not declared winner until after a check had been made. Allen's time

PHILLIPS OUSTED IN SEMI-FINAL

Mrs. F. Goldthwaite Takes Out B'Spring Ace Saturday, 6-5

LUBBOCK (Sp.).—With a six and five victory over Big Spring's ace, Mrs. Gordon Phillips, Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth advanced to the final round in the first annual Women's West Texas Golf Association tournament Saturday and will meet Mrs. R. E. Winger of Fort Worth Sunday in a 36 hole championship match.

Mrs. Winger Saturday won from Mrs. Rhea J. Vernon of Abilene, 6 and 5, the Fort Worth city champion shooting a medal of one under par for the 18 holes. She posted a 39 to par 40, on the front nine, and was even through the next four.

At two under par, 38, was turned in by Mrs. Goldthwaite for the front side, but she slipped on the back nine to go two over and finish all square with par.

In the championship flight consolation, Mrs. K. L. Riggs of Lubbock plays Mrs. Walter Sikes of Amarillo Sunday.

First flight finalists are Mrs. W. F. Helwig of Lubbock and Mrs. Olin Blanks of San Angelo and first flight consolation finalists are Mrs. J. H. Hall of Amarillo and Mrs. Ralph Rix of Big Spring.

Mrs. Rix defeated Mrs. Charles Taylor of Stanton, 2 and 1, Saturday.

John Felix Gets Chance

Greek To Clash With The Masked Marvel Here This Week

Barring further knock-outs by the weather, the Big Spring Athletic Club will stage a top-notch mat-mauling show at the outdoor quarters Tuesday night.

The Masked Marvel, a likable, battering, mysterious sort of fellow who calls far-off Johannesburg, Africa, home, will take the main go with John Felix, who says he objects to being called a "Chicago Gangster." In his broken English and peculiar manner, Felix made it plain that he really is a big hearted fellow with all the marks of a gentleman.

However, Felix is not what one might call a first class gentleman in the ring. He doesn't particularly like to lose, and if it takes a little rough stuff and fighting the referee why he goes to it without any loss of time.

Bob Castle, who last week was slated to meet the Marvel, will meet Red Michael of Pampa in a one fall 30 minute time limit semi-final. Castle is an ill-tempered Kansas bad-man, while Michael is a husky, but speedy and scientific bender.

Art Belcher, former S.M.U. instructor and protégé of the one and only Dutch Mantell, will flash his wares against Buddy Harrison of Littlefield, Texas.

Both special events will be new to local fans.

CUP CRUSADERS

Coburn Supplies Punch For Angel Win Over Type Lice

Miller Harris and his Cowboys stage their second but first home game of the season here this afternoon at the old ball park on East Third. The hopeful cowhands will face the veteran Loraine outfit, evidently a winning club, judging by a 10 to 9 victory they marked up against Ackerly the past week. Game time will be 3:30.

The Loraine team, managed by Harvey Munn, has the highly rated Coffey brothers as infielders, and a strong all-around hurling staff.

Manager Munn is a hefty fellow, but an effective pitcher.

The probable Big Spring line-up: Morgan, ss; Wallin, 1b; Martin, 2b; Harris, 3b; Brown, rf; Moxley, cf; Payne, lf; Baker, c; Dash, p.

The following merchants and individuals contributed uniforms to the team: Anderson Music Co., First National Bank, Hall and Bennett Clinic, Howard County Refinery, Great West Pipe and Supply, Darby's Bakery, Co-Op Gin, Auto, Electric and Battery Service, Logan Hatchery, C. L. Rowe, Humble Agent, Robinson Grocery, Mellinger's, Crawford Hotel and Barber Shop.

League Not To Change Stand

Roy B. Henderson Says It Will Be Fight To Finish

Roy B. Henderson, head of the Texas Interscholastic League, informed Big Spring school officials at Austin this week that the league had no intention of backing up on the 17-year-maximum age limit ruling.

When asked about the threat of schools to withdraw from the league, Henderson stated that the committee had thought of that and decided that if schools wanted to withdraw it would be quite all right with the league. Henderson informed George Gentry, local high school principal, that the league would fight it to a finish. He stated that he would rather have the league wrecked because the rules were too tight rather than have them too loose.

Henderson said that he had in vestigated the various football teams and found that many boys were staying out of school to mature and thereby have a great advantage over others. However, Gentry told Henderson that many country boys, through lack of opportunity, do not reach high school until they are sixteen or seventeen years of age.

According to Henderson, 31 per cent of the boys on the Big Spring team were over 17 years of age. Fifty-two per cent were over age on the Pampa Harvesters club.

The question of passing the rule with such small representation was brought up during the discussion, and Henderson replied that 125 schools were represented at the meeting. He also added that the league committee had the right to do what it wished.

Dr. Chas. C. Seelman, president of Southern Methodist University at Dallas, replied to a letter urging S. M. U. to aid in forming a new league.

An excerpt from Dr. Seelman's letter: "I wonder if you could give me very definite information as to the desire of the schools in both your section and in North and East Texas. You can well understand that Southern Methodist University can only afford to do the thing that would be of the best value to the section it serves. We always cooperate with the Interscholastic League, and we are willing to be of further service, according to what the schools actually want."

"If you have received information from schools in this section of the state, it might be well for you to contact them and present a definite proposition to this institution or some other school that is centrally located."

VFW Counts In 7th To Pull Even With The WOW

By HANK HART

With two away in their part of the seventh, and trailing by the score of 4-0, the Mellinger Angels came to life and scored six runs to defeat the mighty Herald Type Lice Friday, 6-5, weathering a desperate late Herald rally in the seventh stanza.

Supplies Punch
It was "Powerful Paul" Coburn who supplied the punch that heretically snatched the game from the fire. The stocky miltman, coming to bat with the bases loaded, watched one go by but stepped into the next one, belted it out across second base and by the center fielder for a home run. Awakened by Coburn's mighty blow, the Angels never stopped until they had scored enough runs for victory.

Townsend and Redding accounted for the winning runs on Ollie Cordill's third and final hit.

Score In First
The Type Lice stepped out front in the first inning when Gent talked, added another the following frame when Savage counted, and scored their third and fourth when Coburn snagged a foul fly along the player's benches and left home plate unguarded.

Harris began the Newsies' futile rally in the seventh by singling after Gent had rolled out, scoring on J. Morgan's ground ball. Savage and Morgan, popped out to end the threat.

The VFW boys, counting all their runs in the seventh, pulled up even in the league standings with the WOW, by defeating the Woodmen, 3-2 in the evening's first game.

Harris and Majors got to Patton for two hits each to lead the 10 hit attack. Majors' second blow came with two men aboard and went for a home run when Valentine let the ball roll past him.

Founded In 7th.
Lefty Postier pitched two-hit ball until the seventh when the Woodmen combined a hit with a free pass and a Veteran miscue to count both their runs. Wright, Luton, and McCullough were the only Sheppardsmen to touch Postier for a hit.

Interest In Net Game On The Increase

Texas Tennis Association To Make Membership Drive

AUSTIN (Sp).—Awakening of more interest in tennis in Texas through the securing of many additional club members of the Texas Tennis Association, is the purpose of plans formulated at a recent meeting of the Association at Dallas, it is stated by Dr. D. A. Penick, manager of the faculty of the University of Texas, under whose tutelage more tennis champions probably have been turned out than by any other mentor of the sport. For many years Dr. Penick has been president of the Texas Tennis association. Its secretary-treasurer is W. T. Caswell, also of Austin.

Much Tennis In State
"There is lots of tennis played in Texas," Dr. Penick said. "At our recent Dallas meeting it was decided to make strong efforts to bring about the affiliation of country clubs and other organizations in the cities and towns of the state with the Texas Tennis Association. Such affiliation would be of the greatest benefit to those who participate in the many tournaments which are held in Texas as well as to all others who are interested in the sport. The cost of such club affiliation is the nominal sum of ten dollars annually.

"The point is, if you ever want to get good players you have got to be affiliated and have the tournaments officially sanctioned. When this is done the players can obtain their proper ranking. Another advantage of affiliation is that the juniors and boys as well as the woman can be registered with the National Lawn Tennis association, and then they can participate in the national events."

"I am anxious to get in touch with as many clubs and other organizations as possible with the view of bringing about their affiliation with the Texas Tennis Association, and I hope that persons who may be interested in promoting and improving the game and tournaments will communicate with me."

Dr. Penick said that it was voted at the recent Dallas meeting of the association to bring to Texas the National Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament. This year's tournament will be held June 24 at Northwestern University on clay, this being the first time the tournament of that organization was ever held on clay, Dr. Penick said.

"If it is to continue to be held on clay, there is no reason why the tournament next year should not be held in Texas," he continued, "I shall submit the matter to the board of regents of the university here and request the construction of additional courts."

Big Tournaments Soon
Besides the National Inter-Collegiate Tennis association, there is the National Clay Court association tournament which will be held next week at the River Forest club, Chicago, and the National Lawn Tennis club, which holds its annual tournaments at Forest Hills, New York City.

In view of the fact that 1936 is centennial year in Texas, efforts also will be made to bring to this state the next National Clay Open Tennis Tournament, Dr. Penick said.

However, Gentry told Henderson that many country boys, through lack of opportunity, do not reach high school until they are sixteen or seventeen years of age.

According to Henderson, 31 per cent of the boys on the Big Spring team were over 17 years of age. Fifty-two per cent were over age on the Pampa Harvesters club.

The question of passing the rule with such small representation was brought up during the discussion, and Henderson replied that 125 schools were represented at the meeting. He also added that the league committee had the right to do what it wished.

Dr. Chas. C. Seelman, president of Southern Methodist University at Dallas, replied to a letter urging S. M. U. to aid in forming a new league.

An excerpt from Dr. Seelman's letter: "I wonder if you could give me very definite information as to the desire of the schools in both your section and in North and East Texas. You can well understand that Southern Methodist University can only afford to do the thing that would be of the best value to the section it serves. We always cooperate with the Interscholastic League, and we are willing to be of further service, according to what the schools actually want."

"If you have received information from schools in this section of the state, it might be well for you to contact them and present a definite proposition to this institution or some other school that is centrally located."

Henderson said that he had in vestigated the various football teams and found that many boys were staying out of school to mature and thereby have a great advantage over others. However, Gentry told Henderson that many country boys, through lack of opportunity, do not reach high school until they are sixteen or seventeen years of age.

Dr. T.B. Hoover And Miss Ellis Married In Bennett Home

The Week's Latest Bride

MRS. T. B. HOOVER

Ring Ceremony Used By Rev. C. A. Bickley

Newlyweds Leave For Trip
To South Texas Points,
Monterrey

In the presence of a few friends and relatives, the marriage of Dr. T. B. Hoover to Miss Floyce Julee Ellis was solemnized Saturday evening at 8:30 at the home of Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Bennett, 1610 Main street. Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Robert Parks sang "I Love You Truly," with Mrs. W. B. Hardy accompanying on the piano. Mrs. Hardy then played Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

The simple ring ceremony was used by Rev. C. A. Bickley, pastor of the First Methodist church of this city.

The Bennett home was lovely in floral decorations of green and white. The improvised altar in the parlor was decorated with a silver basket filled with white snapdragons and ferns. In the dining room the green and white color scheme was carried out. A center-piece of white snapdragons and tiny white asters, with white tapers in crystal holders, centered the dining table, around which the guests assembled to partake of cake and punch.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ellis of Hammond, Louisiana. She graduated from the Hammond, La., high school, and later entered Charity hospital, New Orleans, where she graduated as a registered nurse. She came to Big Spring from New Orleans, February 22, 1934, to accept a position on the staff of Big Spring hospital.

Dr. Hoover, who is associated with Drs. Hall and Bennett clinic, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Hoover of Midway. After being graduated from Big Spring high school he attended Baylor Medical school at Dallas, later receiving his degree. He served his internship at Grace hospital, Detroit, Mich., and in Dr. Rushing's clinic, Dallas, before returning to Big Spring to enter practice.

Following the ceremony the young couple left for a two weeks' trip to points in South Texas, including San Antonio, Houston, Galveston, Corpus Christi and Monterrey, Mexico. Upon their return they will be at home in Hotel Settles apartment.

Inez Sellers Is Graduated From Sul Ross

Miss Inez Sellers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sellers, is another Big Spring girl who has received her college degree this spring. Miss Sellers was graduated from Sul Ross college at Alpine, obtaining a B. S. degree. She is only 19 and has the honor of being the youngest Sul Ross graduate.

She has specialized in speech. From the start she has taken an active part in dramatics. She played the role of Recanid in Shakespeare's "As You Like It" and was director of "The Mikado" given by the Glee club.

Her club membership consisted of the Pioneer club, an especially exclusive club, Alpha Chi Omega, a national dramatic fraternity, Sabin Literary society, board of thirteen party was a lucky thirteen when the awarding of prizes began after the games. The mystery chair marked with a 13 brought a gift to the player who was seated in it during the prize-awarding. This was Mrs. Shiver; she received a cocktail set.

Instead of cutting for the ace of spades, the guests cuts for the 13th card in a deck specially provided for the purpose. Mrs. Max Jacobs, who did not play but who visited with the hostesses during the games, cut this card and was given a cookie jar.

Highest score went to Mrs. Emil Fahrenkamp who was presented with a lovely china breakfast set. Mrs. Robert Parks won second high and received a breakfast cloth and matching napkins.

The unusual and attractively planned party carried on the custom of these three hostesses for providing unexpected and unique effects when they entertain. Guests were: Meses. L. W. Croft, H. S. Faw, Noel Lawson, Lee Rogers, R. B. Bliss, W. F. Cushing, Ira Thurman, Ray Simmons, V. Van Gleason, J. R. Young, R. C. Strain, Otto Wolfe, George Wilke, Ashley Williams, A. E. Service, Homer McNew, E. F. Willis, Ben Carter, Rex Ragun, Joe Kuykendall, G. H. Woods, C. E. Shive.

Returns From Eastern School

Miss Modesta Good, who has completed her Freshman year's work at Ward-Belmont, Nashville, Tenn. While in school Miss Good was a member of the Osiron Club and the Varsity Riding Club. She also played on the hockey and baseball teams and swimming fetes.

Museum Becoming Refuge For Objects Of Sentiment, Interest

By MRS. BUMPASS
For the past two weeks the Museum staff has been quite busy rearranging the exhibition cases and general displays in the museum.

Montgomery-Ward, through Manager Connelly, donated a lovely eight-foot show case to the museum for which the museum association extends its thanks and appreciation.

A number of new donations have arrived lately. Among them is a case of 13 East Texas butterflies, a gift from Mrs. Bumpass' nephew Charles Parker at Brownboro. Charles is quite interested in the West Texas Memorial Museum, having already contributed a fine pair of goat horns, and a turtle from Trinity river.

A great horned owl mounted by William Mann, a sophomore student last term of Big Spring high school, holds watch on the crown shelf over the lesser treasures of the museum. Under the electric lights he looks the "monarch of all he surveys." Many thanks to William for this splendid specimen. It shows the work of an artist in the making.

Among the unique and interesting late contributions are two cedar knots, measuring 10 inches by 7 inches each. One came from a cedar tree in Logan county, Kentucky in 1866; the other from Gelson Gulch, Colorado in 1932. These are loans from W. W. Larmon and Emmett Hall, Big Spring.

Mrs. J. L. Thomas has recently given five pieces of confederate directions of the Mask and Slipper Club, and the Glee club.

Mrs. J. F. Sellers is principal of the Gable school.

money and a letter written March 8, 1858.

This letter is not only interesting and valuable because of its age, but from the standpoint of smooth, scholarly composition and very genteel handwriting, so typical of the earlier days.

Miss Gertrude McIntyre sent in one of the Morris fluter, plaiter, and rucher machines that had been in her family some seventy or eighty years. This is a very interesting machine and accompanies an old fluting iron presented by Faye Edmondson two years ago. These relics tell the story of tasks made possible by dressmakers and housewives fifty to seventy-five years ago when women wore yards and yards of ruffles on their dresses.

An interesting contribution was made by Master Eugene Anderson, seven miles west of Big Spring. According to Eugene's account, his father, C. E. Anderson, had an old faithful family horse, named "Old Sorrel." For a number of reasons, "Old Sorrel" had endeared himself to the family, and in particular to Eugene. When Eugene heard the talk about preserving bones and skulls in the museum, he thought it over carefully and decided in his mind that "Old Sorrel" ought to have a place in the museum among the other immortals. So "Old Sorrel's" head rests peacefully upon a table in the museum as a memorial of faithfulness to his master.

Rev. R. E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church returned Saturday evening from Tulsa where he has been assisting Pastor A. C. Huff in a revival meeting. He will occupy his own pulpit at both services today.

SURPRISE THIRTEEN PARTY IS GIVEN BY FISHERS AT SETTLES FOR 13 TABLES, PLAYERS

Bridge Breakfast Held In Lovely Setting;
Many Beautiful Prizes Awarded Players
At Close Of Games

Big Spring's bridge players, superstitious and otherwise, sat down Thursday morning, June 13th, to a breakfast served to thirteen tables of players. The extenuating circumstances in regard to the meal were that two extra guests who came in only for the breakfast made a fourteenth table necessary.

Mrs. Bernard Fisher, Mrs. Joye Fisher and the mother of both, Mrs. Julius Eckhaus, were the hostesses for this novel party.

The banquet room of the Settles hotel was beautifully decorated with flowers. A tall vase of blue larkspur flanked by bowls of sweetpeas stood on the center table. Floor baskets and vases held clusters of roses, daisies, hollyhocks, snapdragons and gladioli. The morning motif was used in the wrapping of the gifts. They were wrapped in white, tied with pink and on each was a lovely artificial blue morning glory with sprays of lacy fern. The tallies represented early birds.

The guests discovered that the thirteen party was a lucky thirteen when the awarding of prizes began after the games. The mystery chair marked with a 13 brought a gift to the player who was seated in it during the prize-awarding. This was Mrs. Shiver; she received a cocktail set.

Instead of cutting for the ace of spades, the guests cuts for the 13th card in a deck specially provided for the purpose. Mrs. Max Jacobs, who did not play but who visited with the hostesses during the games, cut this card and was given a cookie jar.

ENEMY'S KISS

Chapter 26
BITTER SCENE

"What're you doing?" Alison whirled round upon Daphne, here eyes blazing with indignation. "Never mind that," Robert interrupted quickly. "It's got nothing to do with Daphne. It's I who say that you must not."

"But you know nothing about him. How can you? You've only seen him once," Alison protested. "I know him quite enough."

"What have you heard?" she demanded.

"I'd rather not talk about that," he began, but Alison cut in. "You must tell me!"

"Surely it's enough if I—"

"No!" She could not control her anger now. "You order me not to meet him, you say he's not a fit friend for me. It's unreasonable! I must know why."

Daphne was still sitting on the floor beside the sofa, her long pink-fingered hands lazily turning the lengths of cloth but now Alison caught a quick look flashed between her and Robert, a warning glance that said, "Be firm!" Alison's eyes became hard.

"I'll tell you," she snapped. "My dear girl, surely you can trust me. Don't you think you'd better just take my word?" Robert was unhappy; he had never seen his quiet and gentle girl in this mood and it was not easy to be firm.

"No!" With an immense effort, she controlled her voice, spoke coolly. "I'm not going to take your word, father, or anybody else's without knowing why. If you'll tell me what he has done I can judge."

"Aren't you making rather a fuss over a mere acquaintance?" put in Daphne sweetly.

"I'm talking to my father. It was made but Alison did not care. "I think you've made enough mischief already!"

"Alison!" protested Robert. "I know. But I don't want to hear what she's got to say! I'm asking you to tell me. What has he done?"

Robert shifted uneasily; Daphne's eyes were on him faintly mocking. Alison was glaring at him, her eyes dark with rage. He coughed and shuffled.

"The man's a crook, my dear."

"All right. He's a crook then. But what has he done?"

"I'll tell you!" Daphne swung suddenly to her feet, scattering the patterns across the floor. "He calls himself Guy Westrum, doesn't he? That's not his name. His real name's Guy Lumley, and he didn't dare to tell you that, because he was afraid you might find out the truth about him! He's only too well known you see! He said he was an architect, didn't he? It's not true."

He is, he was a doctor. A doctor who just escaped being strung off the register, my dear!"

"How do you know all this?" Alison was dangerously quiet now. "How? Because he had a practice out on the Riviera, at Nice, when I was out there, before he went smoozy. As a matter of fact, I was warned against him by some friends of mine."

Daphne was cool, slightly contemptuous. "There were stories, even then. After I left, the whole thing came out and he had to chuck up his practice!"

"What whole thing?"

"I really think, dear," broke in Robert, "that you must leave it at that. If Daphne told you, you probably wouldn't understand."

"Do you think I'm as silly as all that?" Alison gave a little harsh laugh.

"Even then, I think you ought to admit that older people have some sense, dear," Daphne's tone was smooth. "Your father wouldn't interfere without enough reason."

"My father'd believe anything you told him!" Alison flung the truth at her.

Daphne let it pass with a faint gesture of despair; it was Robert who burst out angrily with "Really, Alison!"

"I don't care. It's true. Ever since I got home, she's been trying to make trouble between me and you!" Now that it had come, the girl let herself go. She was on the verge of tears. "She hates me and she means to come between us if she can, that's the truth! She hates me because I see through her and I've found her out. She's afraid I might tell you—"

"She stopped short, choking of what she had said."

"Tell me what? You're being utterly silly!" Robert was stern almost as pale as the girl.

"—tell you that it's not you she loves and that she's marrying you for money!"

It was out now. There was a complete silence; the appalled silence which follows when a bomb has burst.

Alison's hands and feet felt icy cold her tears seemed to have dried up frozen; she was shaking all over. She said in a low tense voice "I don't care. It's true! And if she needs to get even with me she needn't have taken this mean, roundabout way."

"Listen, Alison!" Robert's hand fell on her shoulder and he swung her round to face him. He was breathing quickly and his eyes were steel-hard. Daphne had turned away and had her back to them. "Listen, you're behaving quite unforgivably! When Daphne realised who this young man was, she came quite rightly, to me."

"For what, Alison? She's never seen him!"

"I saw him the first day he came here, in the drawing room with you," put in Daphne evenly. "But you didn't come down—oh! You mean, you—you cropt down and listened." Alison choked.

"I came down behind you. You did not see me, you were too occupied." Daphne's voice was like a knife. "I was on the stairs when you went out. I recognized the man at once."

"You listened and spied on me and then came to father!"

"She came very properly to me as soon as she had made certain," said Robert furiously.

ATTORNEYS IN KIDNAP CASE

J. Charles Dennis (left), United States district attorney at Tacoma, Wash., will be in charge of the prosecution of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Waley for the Weyerhaeuser kidnaping if the pair is prosecuted under the "Lindbergh law." Right, William Roger, retained as counsel for Mrs. Waley by a member of her family, who obtained a brief interview with her in presence of officers at Salt Lake City. (Associated Press Photos)

"Why didn't she tell me, if she thought that?"

"Because you're a child, my dear, and too young to deal with things like this."

"If I had, you'd have thought I was interfering," thrust in Daphne sharply.

"In any case, she was quite right," Robert was growing firmer every minute. "This Western or whatever he calls himself is not the sort of person you should know at all, the last person to have lunch with alone. I don't like that, Alison. That you should have had lunch with him without letting me know, it wasn't playing the game."

Because Alison's conscience pricked her on that one point, she could not answer. Robert went on with rigidly controlled anger.

"I was surprised, yes, and hurt, when Daphne told me that you had met him and were meeting him again."

"How did she know?" It was a challenge.

Robert hesitated. Daphne cut in quickly.

"A friend of mine saw you together."

"Who?"

"Does that matter?"

"All right, then, where?" Alison did not try to conceal her disbelief.

"We're getting off the point," Robert was impatient. "The point is that I forbid you to see that fellow again, or to have anything to do with him. Is that clear?"

"I'm sorry," she wasn't angry now; not even indignant. All her heat had been lost in an icy coldness which seemed to fill her, leaving her hard, calm, firm.

"You mean, you're not going to obey me?" Robert was incredulous, slightly bewildered. In all his dealings with his daughter he had never had to face her in this mood.

"That's exactly what I mean. You don't choose to tell me what he's supposed to have done."

Daphne laughed.

"Supposedly! My dear child, Dr. Lumley was notorious!"

"Notorious for what?"

Daphne gave a quick apologetic glance towards Robert as she replied. "For his behavior towards women patients if you must know—especially girl patients!"

"I don't believe it!" The words burst out.

Daphne shrugged her shoulders patiently. "Quite hopeless," that small gesture said, and very pointedly. But Robert intervened angrily.

Rev. S. J. Shettlesworth came home Friday evening from Temple. He reported that little Marvin Hall who was down there for treatment was doing better. Mrs. Shettlesworth and children, Doris and Jack, who have been visiting Mrs. Shettlesworth's sister in Commerce has also returned.

The Big Spring Week

Frowsy Sight, Railroads, Highways, Brains and Events

While those who boost the virtues of the city lift their voices in high praise of parks, streets, balanced budgets, etc., a shameful thing is happening. Out north of town one of the most unkempt spots in all the county continues to grow frowsier with a new crop of ugly weeds. It is the cemetery. Instead of being well kept, clean, and permeating the atmosphere of peace and serenity we hope those buried enjoy, it radiates a repulsive feeling. In some respects it looks more as a dump heap than a burying ground. Reason for this condition is lack of finances. Reason for lack of finances is lack of responsibility. Heretofore it has been protected from browsing cattle by a fence erected by the voluntary cemetery association. But as the association has become impotent with diminishing contributions, the cemetery situation has become more acute. There is apparently but one solution—municipal control, either county or city, or both. This city ought to possess enough common decency to see that its cemetery presents at least a respectable appearance.

week in observing "Railroad Week." The city owes much to the railroad which strode this place. It was the railroad which maintained it largely for years. It was the railroad which contributed a large bloc of dependable citizens. Even today the Texas and Pacific railroad is the largest taxpayer in the county. Certainly, this place ought to look upon railroads with favor in the light of what they have done for us.

A remarkable record has been achieved by county officers in recovery of stolen automobiles since the first of the year. Eleven of thirteen machines have been found. Last year a similarly imposing record was made. In matters of this sort it is apparent that it is easier to catch that which is stolen than the stealer. The sad part is that the order must remain status quo until more stealers are caught and effectually punished.

News out of Austin last Monday brought road cheer here. The state highway commission promised that Highway No. 9 was foremost project with that body for this year. Still another refreshing morsel of news was the revelation that the commission intends to make a test case of the new right of way law on the Glasscock county situation. If the law, which gives the commission power to condemn land for right-of-way, stands up as it doubtless will, an uninterrupted strip of pavement may soon stretch from the panhandle to San Antonio. That is real news for Big Spring.

Farmers, it has often been said, cannot do anything for themselves because no group of farmers can agree on what is best for the industry. Farmers are not the only ones who fall in that class. Usually every industry within our experience is in the same fix. Oil men meeting here last week to decide on means and methods of tackling tests, could agree only on about three points. The one point on which there was almost universal concurrence was one primarily of dissension. Thus it is with most any industry, for each constituent is concerned first about its own welfare. That seems to be the chief fallacy attached to arguments for self government of industry, although that ideal would be most satisfactory if practical.

There is no telling how many million huddled about radios Thursday night to hear who would win the heavyweight championship of the world. Had there been a contest going on to determine the brainiest man on the face of the earth, a vast majority would have tuned in on a snappy orchestra. Someone has suggested that that is what makes us a great nation. We get concerned over nothing and worry little over weighty matters.

Rev. Theo Francis, pastor of the St. Thomas Catholic church, was transferred this week to another field. Because he recognized that there is a field of service wholly outside the clerical realm, Rev. Francis became even more wholehearted in his influence in the community than he would otherwise have been. So in departing, he is missed not only by members of his own faith, but by laymen poles apart in religious belief.

Big Spring's bid for some annual central attraction is the so-called Cowboy's Reunion to be held here for the second time September 2-4. Out here in West Texas a rodeo is still the best drawing card, not so much for what they bring to the town during the period of festivity, but for what they may bring later. Thus in the cowboy reunion is wrapped up a potential ace in the hole for trade extension.

The federal savings and loan association being organized here apparently will be a good thing. But being a good thing in theory is easier than being such in practice. This essential feature will determine the success of the venture. If it is conducted on a plane of sensible service, it will doubtless succeed. If it is operated foolishly, it will perish. If it is operated

Tow Car Racket Hit By New Tax

The tow car racket has been dealt a severe blow by the Texas legislature. County Tax Collector-Assessor John F. Wolcott has received a copy of a bill imposing a $3 tax on both the tow car and the car being towed if the car is to be traded or sold, or has already been traded for or sold in another state. Imposition of the tax is expected to curb the armada of new cars being towed into California.

Cars are bought at near factory prices in cities adjacent to manufacturing center and towed to California under contract prices averaging $35 per car. Here they are sold at handsome discounts, preventing legitimate dealers from doing any volume of business. According to reports, a large export business is being done with this type of car, they being classified as used cars. Customs do not hit used cars nearly so hard as new vehicles.

Another bill, copy of which Wolcott has received, gives authority for cancellation of motor vehicle licenses when checks tendered in payment for same are re-

ASK A FRIEND

To the Readers of the Herald: This feature, "Ask A Friend" has been started in the belief that such a feature will prove interesting and helpful. It will not be continued unless it proves to be so. We cannot know of your interest unless you write, so ask yourself what is bothering you and put it on paper and mail to Problem Feature care of the Herald.

Dear Friend: I have just divorced my wife or rather let her divorce me. She was in love with another man and wanted to marry him so there was nothing else I could do. Her getting a divorce is ok by me but we have two children, a baby boy only nine months old, and an elder boy four years old. When we split up we had an agreement that she was to keep the baby but let me keep our elder boy, but when the show-down came she wouldn't let me have either child. Now I could—because of her cutting up with this other man—take both children away from her and I'm a good mind to do it. I love my little boys and I don't want them to grow up hating me or thinking I have let them down. I'm thinking I have let them down. What shall I do?

Troubled Father. Don't let spite snarl this already tangled up situation. Let the wife have the baby if that was the agreement, but try to get your older child if possible. As to your boy's growing up hating you or thinking you have let them down, that depends entirely upon whether you do let them down, for whether the boys live with you or their mother it will be your duty to see that they are educated and given the necessities of life at least. As to their hating you, being separated from a parent does not kill a child's interest in, or its love for an absent parent. On the contrary it often stimulates it. And out of this psychological angle of the situation will come your consolation and reward. No matter how long you may be separated from your children, if you haven't let them down someday they will come eagerly to their Daddy, and their love and interest will be so consoling that the trouble which is now besetting you will then seem only like a bad dream.

Dear Friend: I am a Catholic girl and am quite fond of my church and respectful of my faith. I am in love with a young man of a different faith. He is very nice about my church interest but will never go with me or have anything to do with its functions. On that never talked of his opposition to my church but I can't help feeling it is there. Do you think I should turn him down?

turned unpaid. Tax collectors in the past have lost large sums in this way.

The "Old Man" may look it—but he ain't so dumb. Sometimes the kids think they are "putting it over" But when they do—"They will have to go some." Pop may fuss and fume. "Where are my shoes?" "And what in the thunder did you do with my Dallas News?" But underneath all of that "thunder stuff" "Old Dad"—Say, he's a "Diamond in the rough." SHINE PHILLIPS.

should discontinue with him or should I ask him how he feels about my church. D. A. R. Since you have this feeling the opposition probably is there and I would, by all means, talk it over with him. Although you describe this young man as "nice," since he won't go with you to any of your church functions he is not nice enough. Whatever you do don't let him cause you to even waver in your loyalty to your church for it has proven its worth to you and this young man has not. All faiths and churches should be respected and if this beau of yours has no respect for any other than his own shows him to be a young man with a decidedly narrowed spiritual and mental outlook on life, and certainly to be lacking in kindly tolerance. If you have to "discontinue" your relationship with him, and I think you may, don't be down hearted. It is a God given right to love and be loved and fortunately the opportunity is ever with us. There may be at this moment a much more desirable young man "just around the corner."

W. H. Womble, Miss Hartman Are Wedded In Hobbs

Announcement of the marriage of W. H. Womble to Miss Julia Lee (Sally) Hartman was made here Saturday.

They were married June 9 in Hobbs, New Mexico.

Mrs. Womble is the daughter of Mrs. Grace Martin of this city. She has lived here since early childhood and received her education in the Big Spring schools.

Womble is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Womble of Paint Rock. He has made his home for the past year. He is employed by the Shell Oil Co. and was recently transferred to McCamey, where they will make their home.

I Used To Be Private Secretary

BEFORE I married, I mean. Which was three years ago. But I still remember—and I'm never going to forget—how my boss ran his business.

I never saw such a successful man. When I first started to work for him, I thought he was just lucky. But I learned differently after I was with him for a while.

He never gave out a contract—never bought a thing, mind you—until he had studied all the bids made him, and compared all the points. I used to collect and file them for him, so he could get the facts when he needed them. So I know.

I know now, all right. That's the way I run my home. Only I don't have to collect and file my bids. I get them regularly in my newspaper. And do I study the advertisements carefully before I buy? You're telling me!

Foreign trade is dramatized politically.

In 1929 Texas exports amounted to $113 for every man, woman and child in the state. In 1932 the total was only $51. Comparative figures for New York, Iowa, Georgia and California were: $76 and $20; $10 and $1. $24 and $8; $96 and $28. Mr. Hall will furnish details to all inquirers.

Cynical—

Well-informed Britishers here smile at Washington's surprise that Anthony Eden was not made Foreign Minister in the Baldwin Cabinet.

Capt. Eden is young, handsome, brilliant, England's feature writer—and American journalists stationed at London—have seized upon him as good copy. As always the attention they pay him has aroused jealousies among his colleagues. It has led the public on both sides of the pond to expect too much of him. It may unbalance the young man himself, though British embassy attaches say that he has a solid rather than a swelled head.

But Washington is a cynical town. It has seen many New Dealers spoiled and spilled by headlines. Capt. Eden may turn out to be the Rex Tugwell of the British government.

Leader—

Frank Knox of Chicago is developing surprising strength as the GOP presidential candidate next month. Grapevine reports from the "grass roots" convention at Springfield say that his name leads all others right now. That may be a fatal weakness. The early work rarely catches the nomination.

But Mr. Knox's backing is substantial. It consists of men who have both influence and money. He is supposed to be the favorite of the powerful New York-Pennsylvania bloc. They want a steady, solid, substantial fellow to head the 1936 ticket, and Publisher Knox looks good to them. They like his Middle West connections, too.

Mr. Knox has had a Horatio Alger career—the poor boy who made good, etc. GOP publicists smack their lips at the thought of popularizing him. Unlike hopefuls in House and Senate he has not voted for any New Deal measures. There is no Rooseveltian stain on him. Nominating time is a long way off but Mr. Knox leads the parade.

Loss—

President Roosevelt misses his "No man" these days. Many people think that he would have been pared several sorrows had Louth Howe been at his right hand during the last few months.

Because of their long association Mr. Howe stood in no awe of the head of the world's greatest republic. He lived only to advance his old friend. The two emotions which best most of Mr. Roosevelt's advisers—the "grass roots" complex and personal ambition—never influenced the counsel which Louth gave. He was a healthy, negative force.

Mr. Howe also performed another service which nobody has yet taken on. He kept track of shifting public sentiment. He measured the reactions to the President's actions and statements. Secretaries McIntyre and Early are too harassed by routine problems to attain Mr. Howe's detached perspective.

Changed—

Congress is in a menacing mood. Even the bulky Democratic majority in the House is growing restless. In the Senate the boys are definitely off the reservation. They fight for White House "must" legislation only when they have to. They chafe and complain; but they don't want to make a scene.

That explains why measures desired by the President are being changed and chiselled down—such measures as NRA extension, the holding company bill, the banking bill, etc. The President's own leaders are turning on him when they can afford to. Progressives are grumbling and blaming Mr. Roosevelt for lack of aggressiveness in pressing legislation they advocate. The peace pact they signed at the secret White House conference may not stick.

But the most important development is the Republicans' newfound courage. After two years of supine protest or expedient support of administration proposals they are fighting back. Ultra-conservative Charles Hastings, Dickinson and Austin have shoved aside liberally-minded leaders like "Charley" McNary. It marks the end of compromising with the "Roosevelt boys" in the GOP.

Risks—

State, War and Navy departments are sitting up and taking notice of the new Japanese-Chinese situation. It's well known that Japan's ultimate object is to take over Tsingtao again and to dominate the rich Shantung province. Japan would then control the railroad system and would possess one of the best harbors in the Orient, with a profitable hinterland.

Moves toward this objective would involve risk of clashes with several countries, including the United States, on account of heavy foreign investments in that area. This situation did not exist in the absorption of Manchuria. A knock-down scrap between Japan and China south of the Wall would force several powers to step lively in protecting their nationals and their property.

Japan is not only scrapping the naval treaty, but the provisions which forced her out of Shantung under pressure of Secretary of State Hughes in 1922.

Notes—

Six potential Republican candidates in Congress sent scouts to the Grass-Root conference. House members are agitating for a super-tax on utility holding companies instead of making the Securities Commission a plucking board. Father Coughlin and Huey Long have struck new lows on Congress' "big board." Legalists are studying the Tugwell end of work-relief with a view of starting something in court.

G.O.P. TURNS TO 'GRASS ROOTS' AT LINCOLN SHRINE

Republicans swarmed upon Springfield, Ill., for their "grass roots" meeting at the shrine of Lincoln which promised to have much to do with the party's campaign platform in 1936. In this conference of G.O.P. leaders, left to right: Ward Senn, Sr., Minneapolis; Dennis Collins, DeKalb, Ill.; W. J. Godt, Jefferson City, Mo.; John Hamilton, Topeka, Kas.; H. A. ### NEW YORK

By James McMullin

Solution—

Business men seeking a safe refuge from the anti-trust laws are hopeful they have found it in the Trade Practices Commission. About 150 "codes of fair practice" adopted under Commission auspices between 1924 and 1933 are still in effect. Some industries have already moved to get under the Commission's sheltering wing. The wholesale drug trade, for instance, has been functioning more under the Commission than under the NRA for the past six months.

Freedom—

The chances for international monetary stabilization have receded in the last couple of weeks. There are three reasons why the broth is cooling. One is international. The new French government is still too uncertain of its own position to undertake commitments which involve at least a modification of the gold standard. Neither our government nor the British is willing to talk turkey until France is able to take a definite position—and there's no chance of that for several months at least.

Conservation—

concern and cutting it carefully regulated.

Unrestricted individualism in connection with the exploitation of these resources could do plenty of damage.

Informed New Yorkers figure that to have them revert to purely state control would be about as bad as no control at all. The states have never distinguished themselves for intelligent collaboration in matters of this kind. It's a safe bet that priceless resources would be squandered and conservative plans wrecked. The danger isn't imminent but informed observers do hope that the federal government will find a way to reaffirm its authority to prevent the wastage of national wealth.

Test—

Insiders learn that government contracts may afford the first real test of steel price stability. Uncle Sam is looking for bargains. There's more than faint irony in this—because anything that breaks steel prices also tends to break steel wages.

Snag—

New York City's 1935 budget problem—due to constitutional limitations on real estate taxation—is em-

sphere.

Remedy—

New York Republicans chuckle behind their hands at Hamilton Fish's effort to revive the McNary-Haugen export debenture plan. When this bill was first introduced in the Coolidge administration one of its staunchest congressional backers admitted to a friend that it couldn't possibly accomplish anything. He explained that the farmers wanted it and the only way to convince them it wouldn't work was to give it a try.

Lives—

Conservatives hoped they had seen the last of Jerome Frank when he was bounced from the AAA. Now they learn he's slated to be counsel for Senator Wheeler's investigation into railroad financing. One New Yorker sadly remarks: "These doggone liberals can match bureaucratic lives with any cat and come out ahead by miles."

General Foods To Award $250 Prize In Name Contest

Two hundred-and-fifty dollars is waiting for the man, woman or child in Texas who originates the best name for Micky Mouse's pal, "The Goof," in a contest sponsored by the makers of Post Toasties, according to an announcement made today by G. S. Robison, of Dallas, district sales manager for General Foods.

"The contest is unique," declares Robison, "in that it is limited to residents of this state—Walt Disney thus honoring Texans in his search for a better name for poor old 'Goof.' More than 100 prizes—totalling $1,000—are offered for a new name for the lanky dog-character who has tickled the ribs of millions in Micky Mouse comedies. Winners will be selected by Texas judges.

In addition to the first prize of $250 in cash, the list of awards includes a $100 second prize, 15 cash prizes of $10 each, and 100 awards of $5 worth of groceries. Only requirement is that each name submitted must be written on the back of a package top or a reasonably accurate facsimile.

Rules for the contest are contained in advertisements appearing in The Daily Herald.

from his Home Office in Fort Wayne, Indiana, indicate that the average salesman is again securing business regularly.

"Business normalcy," he said, "is forecast by the facts that this May record of men securing business eclipses the 1929 boom year average by 22%. The May work is 33% above the average for the past five years. Volume of business produced during May also showed a gain of 10% over May of last year."

Mr. Fahrenkamp's company operates over the greater part of the United States and has a sales force of more than 1500 men.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Donley have as guest, Mrs. Donley's daughter, Miss Myrtle Thornhill of Monroe, La.

Welcome Business Bright Spot Reported By Local Insurance Representative

A welcome business bright spot was reported here Saturday by Emil E. Fahrenkamp, Big Spring representative of The Lincoln Life Insurance company. In May of this year, he said, more salesmen of his company produced business than in any other month of the company's history. This means that a wider spread of people now have surplus funds for investment in life insurance. Figures sent him bravering to the Fusion administration after all the talk of financial progress. The bankers will be asked to cut their reserve requirements for the third time to help Fusion out of the hole. They are fed up with the Oliver Twist stuff and will probably balk. In that case Fusionists will be grateful that Tammany Comptroller Frank Taylor must share the blame for such distasteful economies as may be necessary.
