4 students reinstated to NHS

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Students who had been removed from National Honor Society for incidents concerning alcohol were reinstated Tuesday by the Hereford school board.

The reinstatement did not come easily. The parents and supporters of two of the students were given a brow-beating from board president John Fuston.

The board voted 5-0 to rescind its motion of April 28. The action was taken, as Superintendent Charles Greenawalt said over and over, because of inconsistencies in policy.

The action would restore NHS membership to Rachel Alaniz, Claudia Ramirez, Barbara Smith and Turk Blackwell. Blackwell's membership was revoked last fall. The three girls were removed from NHS after an incident in Austin in March.

The board, Greenawalt said several times, is not condoning alcohol use. "The issue is not alcohol, and I want that made perfectly clear," Greenawalt said. "The issue is the inconsistent policies in our extracurricular programs. The school district does not condone alcohol use and the parents don't condone alcohol use...This is not an issue of condoning possession or consumption of alcohol."

Greenawalt said the board could remove the students from NHS, "but that would be a mistake because we don't need to do that." He also said the board could do nothing about its action but could correct the policies for future concerns.

A motion made by Mike Veazey and seconded several times did not specify future action. Greenawalt said he intended to:

--Establish a council of parents, teachers and administrators to write general guidelines for alcohol abuse at school and associated activities.

--Require organization sponsors, at the first of each year, to meet with all student members and their parents. The students and parents will be asked to sign a form signifying they understand, and will follow, the rules. Fuston read a letter from board vice president Dennis Newton. Newton was out-of-town on business as extension agent. Newton, in his letter, said he was "very distressed" by the furor over the issue.

"To retreat on this issue is a grave error," wrote Newton. "To retreat in effect neuters the authority of school administrators, teachers and sponsors of organizations."

"I agree with some of what is said in the letter," said Fuston, "but I also have confidence in Mr. Greenawalt to make the best decision possible."

"I have three children myself and I know that kids sometimes have problems. I know you have to pay the fiddler when you get it trouble, but I know we probably do have inconsistencies in our policies and how things are handled. I hope we can take this make a committee and make this a positive thing...but there will always be exceptions."

Fuston later said he thought the open hearing held April 28 "was wrong and almost got out of hand." Without calling names, he castigated Delia Griego, who spoke at the hearing and continued to speak after being ordered down by Fuston.

"I would have hoped you would have enough confidence in this board to have had the hearing closed," Fuston said. "I'm sorry everyone had to go through this, and I feel for the parents and the children.

"They knew it was wrong when they did it, and I just hope and pray they take advantage of the second chance."

The board also canvassed the votes from Saturday's election. The certified results show Mike Veazey winning unopposed in District 4 and Steve Wright taking a three vote win over Joe Flood in District 5. Greenawalt said Flood had picked up the forms necessary for a recount, as was reported in the Brand on Tuesday.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says nothing seems to slow you down as much as pushing your luck.

Most people don't mean to lie. It's just that it's hard to keep the memory and imagination in separate compartments.

What's the best buy for less than $1? Why, it's newspapers, of course! In a public opinion survey survey conducted by U.S. News & World Report magazine, 42 percent named newspapers as the best buy for less than a $1. At a distant second, local telephone calls were chosen by 21 percent of the respondents.

What's right with America? We've heard and read a lot lately about what's wrong with America, but like Stevens, local investment representative for Edward D. Jones & Company, passed us a column on "What's Right With America." It was written by Graham Holloway, president of American Funds.

Think of the nearly four billion people who make up our world community as being represented by 100 people.

Of those 100 people, only five live in the United States. The other 95 are citizens of other countries. Yet these five U.S. citizens have:

--one-half of all the money in the world;

--15 times more material possessions than the other 95 people combined;

--a gross national product three times that of Japan and almost equal to the combined output of the Soviet Union, Japan and West Germany;

--and one-third of all the autos in the world.

These five U.S. citizens are responsible for much of the technology that has changed the lives of the other 95 people--electric lights, telephones, computers and so forth. Four out of five planes flying the world today were designed and built by these five. They sent a man to the moon, and on this nation's soil they grow half of the world's corn, 60 percent of its soybeans and a large percentage of its wheat.

These five U.S. citizens print 40 percent of the world's newspapers, have one-third of all the world's college professors, and--on the average--graduate three times more college students than the rest of the world's nations.

These five U.S. citizens are number one in the production of aluminum, copper, nuclear energy, natural gas, coal, eggs and meat. They also have the majority of the world's airports, radios, telephones, tractors, refineries, paved roads, locomotives, uranium reserves, and more.

All these firsts, mosts and bests, boil down to the assets, profits and dividends of American corporations. Those corporations are the legal property of more than 25 million American shareholders--the optimistic men and women who dare to see opportunity.

As Holloway says, "Why would anyone not want to invest in such an economy?"

County, lawyers waiting on Justice Department

Request for information hasn't been honored

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

A request for data provided by outside sources to the U.S. Justice Department on realignment of Deaf Smith County precinct lines has not been honored.

Bob Bass of Allison and Associates, the law firm that prepared the proposed boundaries, reported Tuesday to County Judge Tom Simons that the application, filed under the Freedom of Information Act, has drawn no response.

In a related situation, Simons said that Bass has notified him that an answer is being prepared to a lawsuit filed in federal court on April 14, challenging the results of the March 10 primary election.

The U.S. District Court suit claims that results are invalid because precinct lines have not been precleared.

County commissioners learned from Bass on April 13 that the Justice Department would not grant preclearance on the precinct lines.

Bass received the Justice Department ruling two days earlier and immediately filed the FOIA request which should have been received in Washington, D.C., no later than April 13.

Bass told commissioners at a special meeting on April 21 that he had asked for information provided by another source and for boundary proposals drawn by the objector and by Justice Department personnel prior to the preclearance ruling. The information was denied him.

In a May 1 letter to U.S. Attorney General William H. Barr, Bass said a preclearance review had been asked but without the information requested, "we will be unable to adequately document the conflicting criteria applied by your reviewers."

A concern that "counties are being judged by subjective standards which are susceptible to arbitrary and capricious application" was stated in the Bass letter.

He called attention to his firm's participation in 52 separate voting rights submissions during the last year, including 15 counties in the Panhandle and West Texas.

"Of the 15 counties mentioned, eight have been pre-cleared, while seven have drawn objections" from the Justice Department, Bass said.

"A review of the demographic data from these 15 counties reveals an apparent lack of objective standard by which governmental bodies might evaluate redistricting criteria in the preparation of these constitutionally required revisions to election boundaries."

Garza receives service award

Employees honored at Tuesday banquet

Thirty-three employees of the Hereford Independent School District were honored Tuesday at the annual Employee Appreciation Banquet at the Bull Barn.

Over 400 persons, all school employees, attended the banquet. Service awards were announced by Superintendent Charles Greenawalt and Assistant Superintendent Don Cumpston and presented by board president John Fuston.

Special honors went to five persons who have announced their retirement:

- Bobby Boyd, 22 years in Hereford ISD.
- Mel Holubec, 21 years with 12 in Hereford.
- Bea Knabe, 16 years at North-west School.
- Teresa Quintana at Aikman, 25 years in the Hereford ISD.

--Dale Smalts, High School, 24 years in Hereford ISD.

The crowd enjoyed the humor and music of Bruce Ayres. Ayres is director of development at Wayland Baptist University.

Receiving 10-year pins were Judy Bullard, Yolanda Gavina, Ernesto Garza, Alicia Jimenez, Dora Medina, Sue Powell and Dorothy Sargent.

Getting 20-year pins were Mary Ruth Baird, Doris Cagle, Joan Latham, Rex Manley, Lupe Murillo, Wanda Nall, Deloris Phipps, Billie Jo Reiter, June Rudd, Dewayne Robbins and Vickie Valdez.

Earning 25-year pins were Joe Quintana, Teresa Quintana, Mary Robinson, Wanda Stanley and Yvonne Simpson.

Receiving special recognition from Cumpston were Natalie Aguillon, Rudy Vasquez, Ellis Parsons, Abe Hill and Juanita Diaz.

Sentences handed down in 222nd court

Two defendants in 222nd District Court Monday were sentenced to terms in Texas Department of Criminal Justice institutional division and a third was assigned to the special alternative incarceration program, awaiting determination of a sentence.

Fred Gonzales, 17, will serve a period of 75 to 90 days in SAIP, commonly called "bootcamp," before Judge David Wesley Gulley determines his sentence on his plea of guilty to four burglary charges. Gonzales has five other burglary convictions on his record.

Jose Inez Gutierrez, 19, will go to TDCJ-ID after revocation of probation for a May 1991 conviction for burglary of a motor vehicle. Original sentence was eight years probation. His prison term was set at seven years.

A six-year term in TDCJ-ID was given Luis Alberto Garcia, 24, who entered a guilty plea to possession of a controlled substance.

Israel Galan, 25, charged with engaging in criminal activity, was assessed 10 years in TDCJ, probated 10 years, and fined $1,500, on his plea of guilty.

A guilty plea to felony driving while intoxicated was entered by Richard Vara Casarez, 21. He must serve a five-year probated TDCJ term and pay a fine of $1,500.

Charros part of heritage exhibited at Aikman

Olivia Esqueda and her grandson, Joshua Sturgeon, exhibit many of the prizes and uniforms of the Hereford Charros on Tuesday at Aikman Primary School. Several exhibits were displayed in Helen Torres' classroom at the school for students to learn about Mexican heritage on Tuesday, which was Cinco de Mayo. Students also presented an hour-long program of traditional dances and displayed their multilingual skills. Another school, West Central, will have a special program and open house at 7 p.m. Thursday with many similar programs.

Students show off Spanish-speaking skills

Second grade students at Aikman Primary School display their skills in speaking both Spanish and English at Tuesday's Cinco de Mayo program. The students were English-only speaking at the beginning of the year and have been taught Spanish so they will have multilingual skills that will serve them throughout their lives.

Richards names first Hispanic to Public Utilities Commission

AUSTIN (AP) - The first Hispanic member of the state's Public Utility Commission says he hopes Texans will tell the regulatory agency their opinions.

"I ask the people and their advocates to participate fully in the commission's decisions," said Karl Rabago, a Houston attorney named to the post Tuesday by Gov. Ann Richards.

"That is my challenge to individual consumers, businesses and the regulated community alike," said Rabago, who fills the vacancy created by Paul Meek's resignation last month.

Rabago already has received a vote of confidence from two of Texas' largest consumer advocate groups.

"We're very pleased," said Tim Curtis of Texas Citizen Action.

"We have a lot of confidence in him. He's certainly got the right background to make the PUC more consumer-friendly," Curtis said.

Tom Smith, Texas head of Public Citizen, said he is looking forward to continuing his relationship with Rabago, who recently represented the group before the PUC.

"I'm delighted. I think he's going to be a real advocate for the people and the environment," Smith said.

Rabago, a University of Houston law professor, is Richards' second appointee on the three-person commission. All three board members are now from the Houston area.

"Karl Rabago brings a strong voice for consumers to the Public Utility Commission," the governor said.

"His background and understanding of environmental law and electric utility regulation brings a new perspective to this critical commission," she said.

Rabago, 34, has taught environmental law, electric utility regulation and criminal law at UH the last two years. The PUC regulates Texas electric and telephone utility companies.

He also has been a consultant to the Environmental Defense Fund since 1991, representing it before the PUC and the Texas Legislature's Sunset Commission.

Rabago, who attended Texas A&M and the University of Texas School of Law on minority scholarships, said he will bring his experiences as a Hispanic to the commission.

"I have always known that my college education ... cost the state more than I paid in tuition, and that the very right to earn the education which qualifies me for this job was secured through the sacrifices of many before me," he said.

Rabago will serve the remainder of Meek's six-year term, which expires Sept. 1, 1995.

Meek, 62, resigned last month during a controversy surrounding his dual membership on the commission and the Fina Inc. board of directors, which he chaired.

Rabago will join a panel that includes Commission Chairman Robert Gee, also a Houston attorney and Richards appointee.

The third commissioner, Marta Greytok, was named by former Gov. Bill Clements. Mrs. Greytok lives in Taylor Lake Village, a Houston suburb.

Rabago was graduated from Texas A&M in 1977 with a business degree. He then joined the Army and became one of fewer than 25 officers selected annually for the Legal Education Program.

In 1984, Rabago was graduated from the UT School of Law with honors. He returned to the Army from 1985 to 1987 as a trial defense attorney and prosecutor, before becoming a law department faculty member at the U.S. Military Academy.

Edwards pumping decision awaited

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Users of the Edwards Aquifer still don't know how much water they will be allowed to pump from the underground reservoir.

The Texas Water Commission staff was calculating the amount individual water users will be permitted to pump, based partly on information those users are providing, commission chairman John Hall said Tuesday.

Appearing before the Texas House Subcommittee on the Edwards Aquifer, Hall said the users were clamoring for figures.

Also at the sometimes raucous subcommittee hearing, state Rep. Ron E. Lewis, D-Mauriceville, vowed to pass legislation next year reversing the commission's takeover of the aquifer.

And he threatened to force a water plan "down the throats" of environmentalists.

Last month, the Texas Water Commission unanimously declared the aquifer an underground river, subjecting it to state control. In taking over the aquifer, the commissioners announced they will slash pumping from it by one-third.

"The actions the commission have taken are beneficial to the entire region," Hall said.

The only new information Hall revealed Tuesday is the commission now feels that total pumping from the aquifer should be limited to between 400,000 and 450,000 acre-feet per year. That means current pumping would have to be cut 15 percent to 25 percent.

He said the commission does not plan to cut pumping all at once, but instead will give water conservation efforts and wastewater reuse projects time to come on line.

The state takeover was an attempt to prevent federal intervention in regulation of the aquifer, Hall said. Federal officials have threatened to get involved to protect endangered species living in the aquifer-fed Comal and San Marcos Springs.

Hall said he would prefer to have the regional aquifer users work out a solution to the problem themselves, but that has not been accomplished.

Most witnesses testifying Tuesday argued that the water commission takeover of the aquifer is illegal because the aquifer isn't an underground river.

HSB parent declares 3-for-2 split of stock

A three-for-two stock split was declared last week by directors of First Abilene Bankshares, Inc., the parent company of Hereford State Bank.

The board action was announced at the annual shareholders meeting Thursday at Abilene Civic Center. The split was declared in the form of a 50 percent stock dividend for shareholders of record May 15, 1992.

The board also approved a 27-cent per share cash dividend for the second quarter. Since the cash dividend will be paid following the split, the net effect will increase the quarter's cash dividend by 15.7 percent.

Shareholders elected a 15-member board, including 13 reelected directors and two new board members. The new directors are Raymond McDaniel Jr. and bynum Miers, well-known Abilene business and civic leaders. A stock option plan for key employees was also adopted.

The Abilene-based company is the parent company of five banks: First National of Abilene, Hereford State, First National of Sweetwater, Eastland National and First National of Cleburne.

Women of Distinction honored by Girl Scouts

Forty-eight Hereford women were honored as "Women of Distinction" at a brunch April 25 at the Hereford Country Club.

The Hereford Service Unit of the Texas High Plains Girl Scouts of America hosted the brunch with Jean Wood, executive director, recognized as a special guest. The women were selected for distinguishing themselves by service, talent and dedication. They were also chosen for serving as positive role models for girls as they set their sights toward education and career choices.

The brunch was also designed to establish a network between role models and girls who admire them and look to them for leadership.

Melinda Henson presented special certificates to Shirley Anderson, secretary-treasurer of the Credit Bureau of Hereford; Rita Bell, Women's Division president and head cashier at First National Bank; Nancy Beltran, registered nurse; Donna Brockman, executive director of Deaf Smith County Historical Museum; Irene Cantu, city commissioner; Cindy Caro of KPAN; Hilda Cavazos, minister of San Pablo United Methodist Church; Cappy Cory, award winning pianist; Margie Daniels of Hereford Senior Citizens Center; Bettie Dickson, director of Hereford Day Care Center; Argen Draper, former county extension agent; Alice Eades of Plains Insurance Agency;

Also, Sylvia Flores, school board member; Margaret Formby of National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center; Sara Gallagher, assistant principal of West Central School; Mrs. S.L. Garrison, Girl Scout supporter; Amy Gilliland, performing artist and a member of the Hereford Chamber Singers; Lajeane Henry, owner of Pant's Cage and active Chamber of Commerce member; Betty Henson, director of the American Red Cross; Dolores Hernandez, chairman of the Fiesta

Patrias; Michelle Hughes, coordinator of Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence; Silvana Juarez, city commissioner; Tonya Kleuskens, active member of ENCORE and entrepreneur; Marilyn Leasure, HISD director of secondary education.

Others, Ann Lueb, principal of St. Anthony's School; Ruth McBride, associated with the Deaf Smith County birthday celebration; Kyla McDowell, former United Way director; Thelma Mercer, owner of Gaston's; Teresa Munoz, office manager of Hereford Country Club; Jennifer Newton, Girl Scout supporter; Janie Nino, coordinator of Desert Storm homecoming; Dubelia Ortiz, county court administrator; Sharon Pennington, Girl Scout board member; Margaret Perez, tax assessor/collector; Mrs. Joe Ray, former Girl Scout troop leader; Josephine Rivera, secretary/treasurer of Rivera Produce, Inc.; Minnie Roddy, registered nurse; Helen Rose, Democratic party chairperson.

And, Rose Ann Smith, registered nurse and member of Hereford Chamber Singers; Sandy Stagner, Lifestyles editor of the Hereford Brand; Dr. Subra, South Plains Health Providers; Sister Maxine Torres of San Joe Church Outreach program; Johnnie Turrentine, justice of the peace; Lola Faye Veazey, district clerk; Linda Vermillion pharmacist and Girl Scout troop leader; Donna West, certified public accountant; Jena Rawley-Whitaker, artist and illustrator; and Bernadette Wright, manager of Amwest Savings.

Girl Scout troops participating at the event included Troop #283, Troop #286 and Troop #281.

Following the presentations, the brunch closed with the Friendship Circle.

Flame Fellowship to meet

Joan Hill of Clovis, N.M. will be the guest speaker at the Hereford Flame Fellowship meeting planned at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Hereford Community Center. The public is invited to attend.

Hill was born and raised in Dallas. She has been married 31 years and has three children, ages 19, 14 and 12. She and her family went door-to-door in Mexico distributing over 17,000 Bibles. She has been head of the teaching department with CBN 700 Club in Dallas and has served as leader of the women's retreats and prayer groups. She and her husband pastored a church in Mesquite for three years.

Hill works at KJLN in Farwell as a radio announcer and she is a full-time student at Eastern New Mexico University majoring in special education.

Hereford women honored

Forty-eight Hereford women were recognized as Women of Distinction by the Hereford Service Unit of the Texas Plains Girl Scout Council during a brunch recently at the Hereford Country Club. Melinda Henson presented certificates recognizing the women for their achievements which have distinguished them among their peers by service, talent and dedication and for being positive role models for girls and young women. Betty Coneway, at left, talks to Rita Bell, president of the Women's Division; Jean Wood, executive director of Girl Scouts; and LaJean Henry, owner of Pant's Cage. New radar helps locate missing persons, fugitives

Each of us may be a little bit safer thanks to an infrared system used to locate missing persons and criminals. The system, called Forward Looking Infrared (FLIR), is so sensitive, it can "see" a lit cigarette from several hundred feet away.

The FLIR can detect the warmth of a person's or even a squirrel's body from 1,200 feet in the air. Helicopter operators conducted a horizontal or 90 degree search, in which they fly in one direction and look with the FLIR in another, the suspects are fooled into thinking the helicopter has passed them by. Using FLIR greatly reduces the number of criminals eluding arrest.

In ground chases, about 40 percent of criminals escape police. The FLIR has also proven successful in locating missing persons who have gotten lost, been abducted, or are in danger.

The system is used by the Georgia State Patrol for drug enforcement along the Atlantic coast. In Los Angeles, FLIR is used to curtail gangs. Recently, Minnesota acquired its first FLIR through "Project Night Sight," a statewide program that raised $120,000 for the purchase of the system.

The Minnesota FLIR project received strong support from organizations such as Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) and state legislators.

LONDON (AP) - Composer Andrew Lloyd Webber's wife, Madeleine, has given birth to the couple's first child.

Alistair Adam was born Sunday. Lloyd Webber, 44, the composer of "Cats," "Evita" and "Phantom of the Opera," has two teen-age children from an earlier marriage, to Sarah Tudor.

He had no children from his marriage to singer Sarah Brightman, which ended in divorce last year.

LUCERNE, Switzerland (AP) - Meryl Streep, Goldie Hawn and Bruce Willis arrived for filming of a movie over the weekend after delays in leaving Los Angeles because of air-traffic problems caused by the riots.

The three are filming the final scene of "Death Becomes Her."

Hawn said she cried as she watched the violence that followed the acquittal of four white policemen in the beating of a black motorist.

Streep blamed the riots on misery. Willis said social differences are too great and change is needed quickly.

Kearns receives honors

Caroline F. Kearns, a senior at Methodist College in Fayetteville, N.C., received several awards at the college's annual awards ceremony April 22. She is the daughter of Marvin and LaVerne Kearns of Hereford.

Kearns received the Fayetteville Observer-Times Publisher's Award for outstanding contributions to collegiate journalism as editor of SMALL TALK, the campus newspaper.

She also received Alpha Psi Omega awards for best writing, best directing, and best production of an original play which she wrote. Entitled "Painkiller," her one-act drama was judged the best in a student playwriting competition held April 9.

Kearns was also recognized as Outstanding Female Technician by the Theatre Department.

Betty Crocker's Cooking Tips

Q. My date and nut cake always falls, leaving a soft, uncooked center, while the rest of the cake is fine. I hope you can help. Mrs. C.H., Slidell, LA

A. First, you may be underbaking your cake. Bake until the sides pull slightly from the pan and a wooden pick inserted in the center is clean. Second, your recipe may have the wrong balance of ingredients. Excess liquid, shortening, baking powder or sugar may all cause the problems you describe. Finally, use the type of flour recommended in the recipe because different flours have different baking properties.

Herd finishes season with loss to Randall

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

Where Caprock failed, Randall succeeded.

Hereford beat Caprock Saturday to keep Caprock from clinching a playoff berth. The Herd had the opportunity to give Randall the same treatment Tuesday, but they failed. The Raiders broke a 3-3 tie with two runs in the bottom of the sixth and went on to a 5-3 win.

It was the final game of the year for the Whitefaces, who finished 6-18-2 overall and 3-7 (fifth) in District 1-4A.

Also on Tuesday, Dumas turned back Caprock 8-1 in Dumas, leaving Caprock out of the playoffs and Dumas as district champions. In the other 1-4A game Tuesday, Borger beat Pampa 11-7.

Dumas finishes at 8-2 and 17-6, followed by Randall, 7-3 and 19-7; Caprock, 6-4 and 13-10; Borger, 5-5 and 13-10; Hereford, 3-7 and 6-18-2; and Pampa, 1-9 and 11-13.

Dumas and Randall await a one-game playoff between Lamesa and Frenship on Friday. Those two tied for the 2-4A lead at 8-2.

Hereford went into Tuesday's game with a two-game win streak. Hereford's pitching and defense had gone 14 consecutive innings without allowing a run. That streak ended in the first, when Mark Elder doubled off Herd starter Sammy Casarez (5-4), and Anthony Benson followed with an inside-the-park home run for a 2-0 lead.

The teams traded runs in the third and fourth innings to make it 3-1 Randall. Hereford got two runs to tie in the fifth inning on an error by Randall pitcher Corey McAlister on a pickoff and a sacrifice fly by Rene Cano.

Randall came right back and scored the winning runs on no base hits and three Hereford errors. Danny Barrett reached on third baseman Tab Hathaway's error. After a walk, McAlister tried a sacrifice bunt, and Casarez tried to throw Barrett out at third, but Barrett beat the throw to load the bases.

Chris Comer grounded to Rene

Cano at shortstop, but Cano's throw home pulled catcher Michael Campos off the plate. Chris Briley grounded to Hathaway, who started a home-to-first double play. That helped the Herd get out of the inning, but not before Hathaway's throwing error let McAlister score. First baseman Andy Kalka cut down Comer at the plate on the same play to end the inning.

Campos, Kalka, Fonzie Enriquez and Richard Rodriguez were the four Whitefaces who were playing in their last game.

Sabres win tournament

The Sabres came out of the losers' bracket to win the Cinco de Mayo Fiesta Softball Tournament Sunday in Veterans Park.

The Sabres, a team from Hereford, needed to beat Amarillo's Club 28 twice to win the double-elimination tournament. The Sabres won the first championship game 7-6 in nine innings. Erasmo Gonzales had the winning hit in the bottom of the second extra inning. The Sabres polished off Club 28 4-0 in the second and deciding game.

The team from Joe's Country Club finished third.

Man beats age

Jim Blakey carded a golf score lower than his age Sunday at Pitman Municipal Golf Course. Blakey, 79, shot a 77.

Ewing's big night shocks Bulls

By The Associated Press

The New York Knicks came up with a Pat answer for the Chicago Bulls.

Patrick Ewing had 34 points, 16 rebounds, six blocks and five assists Tuesday night as the Knicks ended a 14-game losing streak against the Bulls with a 94-89 victory in the opener of their second-round NBA playoff series.

"He showed us his versatility as a center," said Michael Jordan, who led the defending champion Bulls with 31 points.

Ewing made the go-ahead basket and four clinching free throws in the final 30 seconds.

"I was just playing my game," Ewing said. "We kept our focus and fought back. The challenge was winning."

Chicago coach Phil Jackson said the Bulls, who hadn't played since sweeping Miami six days earlier, were hurt by the inactivity.

"This game was evidence of a long layoff," he said. "The ball handling and hand-eye coordination was not there."

In another second-round opener, Terry Porter led the Portland Trail Blazers to a 113-111 victory over the visiting Phoenix Suns. Porter scored 31 points, including two free throws with 21 seconds left, and made a crucial defensive play in the closing seconds to clinch it.

"This game hurts more than any game I can recall," said Kevin Johnson, who scored 24 points for the Suns. "This one hurts deep down in my gut."

In tonight's only game, Seattle visits Utah in the opener of their Western Conference semifinal series. On Thursday, it's New York at Chicago and Phoenix at Portland.

Knicks 94, Bulls 89
Ewing scored 28 points in the second half, including a basket that ended a 13-0 run that gave Chicago its first lead of the game late in the fourth quarter.

Ewing put the Knicks ahead 87-86 on a 17-foot jumper with 2:05 left. After the Bulls tied it on a free throw by Jordan, Ewing put New York ahead to stay, 89-87, on a short jumper with 30 seconds remaining.

The Knicks showed surprising stamina after finishing a tough, five-game series with Detroit on Sunday.

"We came off a very emotional Game 5 with little time to prepare," coach Pat Riley said. "When it got tough in the fourth quarter, we got paralyzed for a few minutes, but Patrick bailed us out."

Trail Blazers 113, Suns 111
Portland shot only 39 percent from the field, but made twice as many free throws as Phoenix (38-19) and had a 25-15 advantage on the offensive boards.

"We were really aggressive,"

Portland coach Rick Adelman said. "We weren't shooting very well, but we wanted to keep pressure on them at the basket. They blocked some shots, but we were just relentless."

Phoenix coach Cotton Fitzsimmons was furious at the officials for sending the Blazers to the free-throw line 23 more times than the Suns.

"I just felt we should have won the game," he told reporters. "I think most of you in your hearts feel that way, too."

Porter made two free throws with 21.1 seconds left to give the Trail Blazers their first lead of the final quarter, 112-111.

On Phoenix's next possession, Porter knocked the ball away from Johnson. Portland's Clyde Drexler, who finished with 26 points and 10 rebounds, grabbed it and was fouled with 10.3 seconds remaining. He made the first free throw but missed the second and was called for a lane violation.

After two timeouts, the Suns' Tom Chambers missed a jumper in the lane. The ball went out of bounds and Phoenix retained possession with one-tenth of a second left, but the Suns couldn't get off another shot before the buzzer.

Daly quits as Pistons' coach

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. (AP) - When Chuck Daly found there was "just no place to go" in the Detroit Pistons organization, he decided to just go.

Daly, who led the Pistons to two NBA titles, bid farewell to the team during a news conference Tuesday. At the moment, he doesn't know where he's going. And he doesn't care.

"It's not easy to separate, or say 'Goodbye.' But I've known for a long time I was ready for it," said Daly, who led the Pistons for nine years. "I was ready for it. It's been time for a long time."

Daly, 61, who began his coaching career over 30 years ago at Punxsutawney High School in his native Pennsylvania, made collegiate stops at Penn, Boston College and Duke, and had NBA jobs in Philadelphia and Cleveland before rescuing the Pistons.

Daly's decision to quit came as no surprise. Many believed he would move on two years ago, after the Pistons won their second consecutive NBA title.

At that time he turned down an offer from NBC for a two-year guaranteed contract starting at $400,000 and one from the TNT cable network offering him a four-year, $1.5 million contract.

But there were no more titles as the Chicago Bulls assumed the spot the Pistons had held.

"I think you're going to look back on this as a legendary time in basketball in Detroit," said Daly, who led the Pistons to the Eastern Conference finals five times, the NBA finals three times, and consecutive championships in 1989 and 1990.

The players, many of whom attended his news conference, called him "Daddy Rich."

"I've got John Salley on the floor, who I dearly love, but I keep hollering at him all the time," Daly said. "How long can these guys keep listening to that?"

Daly gave no specific reason for leaving. But there were clues. For one thing, the Pistons have grown old and the team needs to rebuild. For another, Daly yearns for more control.

He denied that friction with general manager Jack McCloskey was responsible for his departure.

"Jack and I basically got along fine," Daly said. "I respect Jack."

"It's a situation where there's just no place to go in the organization. Jack's the general manager, right? There's just no place to go."

Speculation on Daly's replacement centers around former Pistons assistant Ron Rothstein. He was hired as a broadcaster this season after being fired as coach of the Miami Heat.

"It's going to be difficult," McCloskey said. "It's going to be hard for that individual, whoever it is, because we've been so successful."

Detroit never had consecutive winning seasons before Daly arrived in 1983. They have not had a losing season since, reaching the playoffs each year.

"He was the best coach I ever played for," former Piston Vinnie Johnson said. "A lot of guys can coach, but not many can relate to people like Chuck."

McCloskey said he had a list of candidates and hoped to name a new coach before the NBA draft June 24.

Daly will coach the U.S. Olympic team in Spain this summer. After that, he probably could have his pick of several NBA coaching jobs next season, if that's what he wants. There are teams that might also want him as their general manager. But Daly says he has no offers at the moment.

"I have no job opportunities," Daly said. "I have no idea what I'm going to do. I don't have a plan."

Ex-Twins lead Red Sox past former team

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

The last time the Minnesota Twins saw Frank Viola, Jeff Reardon and Tom Brunansky together on the same field, it was one of the greatest days in team history.

That was on Oct. 25, 1987, the night the Twins clinched their first World Series championship with a 4-2 victory over St. Louis in Game 7 at the Metrodome. Viola was the winning pitcher and earned the MVP award, Reardon got the save and Brunansky scored the go-ahead run in the sixth inning.

On Tuesday night, the Twins saw Viola, Reardon and Brunansky together again, this time playing for the Boston Red Sox. And it was almost a repeat performance for the trio as Viola (3-2) was the winner, Reardon got the save and Brunansky hit a two-run single in a 4-1 victory over Minnesota.

Viola allowed one run on nine hits in 7 2-3 innings, struck out five and walked one.

"It was an ex-Twin night," Viola said. "I did my job, Bruno got some big hits and Jeff wrapped it up by doing his job."

In other games, Chicago routed Milwaukee 12-2, Texas beat Baltimore 5-3, Toronto topped Oakland 5-1, Seattle stopped New York 7-4, Detroit downed California 2-1 and Cleveland beat Kansas City 8-6.

Viola shut out the Twins until the eighth, when Kirby Puckett singled home a run. Reliever Greg Harris finished the inning and Reardon worked the ninth.

Rookie Pat Mahomes (2-1) lost for the first time in his career. The Red Sox scored three times in the first inning on Ellis Burks' RBI double and Brunansky's bases-loaded single.

White Sox 12, Brewers 2

Jack McDowell, baseball's top winner this season, won again as George Bell's eighth career grand slam led Chicago at Comiskey Park.

McDowell (6-0) pitched eight innings and gave up two runs on seven hits. He struck out five and walked one.

Bell hit his fifth home run of the season against Chris Bosio (2-2).

The White Sox scored 19 runs in sweeping the two-game series. Ron Karkovice drove in three runs in Chicago's third straight victory.

Milwaukee center fielder Darryl Hamilton strained his left quadriceps in the eighth inning while trying to make a diving catch on Shawn Abner's run-scoring double.

Rangers 5, Orioles 3

Nolan Ryan pitched poorly before leaving after a rain delay, but Texas rallied to stop Baltimore's nine-game home winning streak.

Ryan allowed the first five batters to reach base. He gave up three runs, three hits, two walks and hit a batter in two innings, and left after a 62-minute rain delay.

Jeff Robinson (3-2) shut out Baltimore for five innings on two hits, and Jeff Russell got his eighth save.

Ruben Sierra, Kevin Reimer and Ivan Rodriguez homered for Texas, and the Rangers scored the go-ahead run in the sixth against Storm Davis (1-2) on Dickie Thon's single.

Blue Jays 5, Athletics 1

Juan Guzman improved to 4-0 and Joe Carter and Kelly Gruber homered as Toronto finished off a two-game sweep in Oakland. The A's have lost four in a row.

Guzman gave up four hits in 6 2-3 innings, struck out eight and walked four.

Carter hit a two-run homer in the fourth inning off Joe Slusarski (2-1). Gruber hit a three-run shot in the eighth off Goose Gossage. Duane Ward got his fifth save.

Mariners 7, Yankees 4

Rookie Dave Fleming shut out New York on one hit for six innings before tiring and Seattle stopped a six-game losing streak.

Fleming (3-1) allowed four hits in 7 2-3 innings and left after New York scored twice in the eighth. He struck out four and walked one.

The Yankees made a season-high four errors, leading to four unearned runs. Harold Reynolds had three hits and drove in two runs for the host Mariners, and Henry Cotto scored three times.

Greg Cadaret (2-2) gave up five runs, only two of them earned, in four innings.

Tigers 2, Angels 1

Mickey Tettleton led off the bottom of the ninth inning with a home run and Detroit won at Tiger Stadium.

Tettleton's eighth homer of the season came against Mark Eichhorn (0-2). John Doherty (1-0) pitched two perfect innings.

Starters Scott Aldred of Detroit and Joe Grahe of California each gave up one run in seven innings. Aldred allowed three hits and Grahe gave up five.

Indians 8, Royals 6

Mark Lewis made up for his 10th error in his last seven games at shortstop by driving in two runs and scoring twice as Cleveland won at home.

The Indians scored eight runs in the first three innings. Lewis hit a two-run double and Albert Belle had an RBI single and a sacrifice fly.

Jack Armstrong (1-3) won for the first time in the AL despite home runs by Wally Joyner and Rico Rossy. Steve Olin went 1 1-3 innings for his fifth save. Mike Magnante (0-2) lasted only two innings.

Dodgers rusty in return to action

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers were still thinking about what happened back home last week when they took the field at Veterans Stadium.

The rioting in wake of the Rodney King verdict caused Los Angeles to postpone four games against Philadelphia and Montreal. Two of the Dodgers' stars, Darryl Strawberry and Eric Davis, grew up in neighborhoods torn apart by the fires and looting.

The Dodgers left LA for an East Coast trip and opened with a 6-2 loss at Philadelphia on Tuesday night, their fifth straight defeat.

"It was tough missing so many games. We missed batting against live pitching. Maybe tomorrow (Wednesday) we'll start hitting like we can," manager Tommy Lasorda said.

"It will take a few days for us to get back into a baseball routine and start thinking about baseball," Dodgers outfielder Darryl Strawberry said.

Elsewhere in the NL it was Chicago 4, Atlanta 3 in 10 innings; Houston 5, New York 4; Montreal 5, San Diego 2; Pittsburgh 5, Cincinnati

2; and St. Louis 7, San Francisco 5.

The Dodgers ended Terry Mulholland's shutout bid in the eighth inning on a walk to pinch-hitter Stan Javier, who stole second and scored on Mike Sharperson's one-out single. Eric Karros led off the ninth with a homer for the Dodgers' other run off Mulholland (1-3).

Tom Candiotti (3-1) lost for the first time in the National League. He was trailing when forced to leave the game in the third after being hit in the chest by a liner off the bat of John Kruk. The Dodgers said he had bruises and would be re-examined Wednesday.

Dale Sveum drove in three runs for the Phillies.

Expos 5, Padres 2

At Olympic Stadium, the Expos won their first night game of the season after 12 straight losses as Larry Walker hit a ground rule inside-the-park homer to help Montreal beat San Diego.

The game was the first for the Expos since last Thursday in San Diego because three games in LA were postponed due to the civil unrest.

John VanderWal, a late substitution in left field, and Walker hit consecutive solo home runs in the third inning off Greg Harris (1-2) to support the pitching of Dennis Martinez (2-4). Martinez gave up one run on seven hits in seven innings before Bill Landrum relieved.

Cubs 4, Braves 3

At Wrigley Field, Rey Sanchez hit a sacrifice fly with the bases loaded in the 10th inning as Chicago beat Atlanta.

Andre Dawson and Derrick May singled with one out off Alejandro Pena (0-2). Pena intentionally walked Hector Villanueva and Sanchez, just 1 for 13 since coming up from Triple-A Iowa, flied to right, scoring Dawson for only Chicago's second win in eight games.

Chuck McElroy (2-0) was the winner in relief.

Astros 5, Mets 4

At the Astrodome, pinch-hitter Eric Anthony sparked a four-run seventh inning with a two-run single as Houston took advantage of sloppy fielding by New York. The Astros entered the game with only two runs in their previous 29 innings, and had lost four straight games against the Mets.

Starters Sid Fernandez (1-3) of New York and Mark Portugal (3-1) of Houston were in a pitcher's duel until the seventh inning, when the Mets made two key errors.

Howard Johnson hit a three-run homer for New York in the eighth.

Pirates 5, Reds 2

At Three Rivers Stadium, Andy Van Slyke had three hits, including a homer and a double, and Pittsburgh rallied in the sixth inning for the second straight night to beat Cincinnati.

Tim Belcher (1-4) lost to the Pirates after carrying a 2-1 lead into the sixth.

Van Slyke, who hit his first homer of the season in the fourth, doubled with one out in the sixth.

Cardinals 7, Giants 5

At Busch Stadium, Todd Zeile snapped a sixth-inning tie with a sacrifice fly as St. Louis survived blowing a five-run lead.

Ozzie Smith doubled to lead off the sixth and advanced on a groundout before Zeile lined out to right off Dave Burba (1-3).

Reliever Mike Perez (3-0) allowed two hits in 1 2-3 innings for the victory. Lee Smith got the last three outs for his ninth save.

'Horns invited to Olympic trials

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas Longhorns Brooks Kieschnick and Calvin Murray have the chance to accomplish a rare feat - playing under the two winningest coaches in collegiate baseball history.

Kieschnick and Murray were among the "short list" of 40 players invited Tuesday to compete for the 20 spots on the U.S. Olympic team, led by Miami's Ron Fraser, the winningest collegiate coach.

The two already play for Cliff Gustafson, No. 2 on the all-time win list.

Also invited to the June 8-14 tryouts in Millington, Tenn., was Texas A&M sophomore pitcher Jeff Granger.

The two Longhorns spoke with Fraser last weekend when No. 3 Texas was in Miami facing the top-ranked Hurricanes. Before Sunday's game, won by Kieschnick, Fraser called over the pitcher-designated hitter and Murray.

"He just kind of asked us what we were doing this summer and we said we hope we were playing for the Olympics," Kieschnick said.

Before they board a plane for Barcelona, the three Southwest Conference players must survive two rounds of cuts. The first comes by June 14 when the roster gets pared to 25 players who will play on a barnstorming tour.

The final cut comes by July 22 before the team heads to Spain for the first Summer Games in which baseball is a medal sport. In 1984 and 1988, it was played as an exhibition sport.

"It would be a great honor to represent the United States playing for the gold medal. Hopefully, I can make history and be a part of the team," Murray said.

Murray, a former first-round draft pick by the Cleveland Indians, is the SWC's all-time stolen base leader with 136. He has played several positions in his three years at Texas and has excelled this year in center field.

He is among the conference leaders in most hitting categories with a .330 average, 14 doubles, total hits and runs scored. His 38 steals are second best in the league.

Kieschnick, last year's national freshman of the year, was selected by Fraser as a utility player. The sophomore is Texas' top pitcher and most lethal bat.

In 41 games this year, he is fourth in the conference at .338 and is ranked second in home runs with 12 and RBI with 50. Kieschnick has produced those marks despite missing 12 games with an ankle injury.

On the mound, he is 8-1 this year with a 3.06 ERA. He has struck out 60 batters in more than 82, with only 19 walks.

Native American pottery to be displayed

"Native American Pottery, A.D. 900-1980" at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum in Canyon will open to the public on Sunday. There will be a private showing for members of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society at the Society's 71st annual meeting Saturday.

"The impact of Euro-Americans on North and South American native cultures and environments is complex and often controversial. However, in the American Southwest the implications are fairly obvious, especially as they are reflected in Native American pottery," said Michael R. Grauer, curator of art for the PPHM.

The exhibition "Native American Pottery, A.D. 900-1980" and its accompanying catalogue will address the consequences—the aesthetic ones especially—of Euro-American contact on an indigenous Southwestern art-form.

According to Grauer, the PPHM houses one of the most comprehensive Native American ethnographic collections in the Southwest. Although much of the southern Plains material is exhibited in the museum's permanent exhibit Southern Plains Indian exhibit, the Native American Pottery exhibit will allow museum visitors to see 40 of the finest examples of Indian ceramics in the society's collection.

The society's pottery collection is particularly strong in several areas, especially prehistoric Anasazi works and modern pots from Acoma, Hopi, and San Idelfonso. The majority of the Hopi works are part of the Susan J. Allen Collection, while the Acoma pieces were given by Mrs. Robert W. Tansill of Chicago. The collection of works from San Idelfonso is extraordinarily strong, with works by Rose Gonzales and the well-known Maria Martinez and her descendants. The majority of the "Marias" in the collection were given by Evan and Leona Sitter of McLean and will be featured in the exhibition.

In conjunction with the opening of the pottery show, the education department will sponsor a pottery-making demonstration, beginning at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday. Santa Clara potter Jody Naranjo will demonstrate the entire pottery-making process, culminating in the actual firing of the pot.

Jody has been a potter for the past seven years beginning her artistic endeavors at the age of 15. Her work has been shown in two galleries in Santa Fe. She has also given demonstrations at the Evelyn Siegel Gallery in Fort Worth.

The exhibition will be supplemented with written resource material that will elaborate on the art and craft of the pottery-making process with emphasis on design elements in the pots on exhibit. A hands-on pottery cart will allow children and adults to touch the clay and distinguish between the different pueblo styles and qualities of pots.

This exhibition of the museum's Native American pottery collection will remain on exhibit in the museum's Art Gallery until Oct. 4.

Estate planning seminars slated

Estate planning is a complex and continually changing topic. The laws governing estates can change due to changes in state law, tax laws or simply change in the way these laws are interpreted by the courts. To inform persons about the issue of estate planning, a series of seminars have been planned for May 12-13 by the Deaf Smith County Extension Program Council and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The first seminar will be on May 12 2-4 p.m. at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center. Topics to be covered during this session include basic components of a will, avoiding probate and reducing fees, keeping your estate private, eliminating estate tax, protecting your assets, and investing to build your legacy. This session is open to the general public, but will be specifically designed for those persons that are retired or nearing retirement.

The second seminar will be held on May 12 from 7-10 p.m. in the Heritage Room of the Deaf Smith County Library. This session is also open to the general public, but will be designed for those persons still in the work force, that may or may not own property, have smaller estates and for persons with minor children. Topics covered will include components of a basic will, the use of trust, other ways to pass on property, life insurance, investments, and income tax aspects of writing a will, as well as a major section on planning to minimize estate taxes. Appointment of a guardian for minor children will also be covered.

The third in the series of seminars will be on May 13 from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Heritage Room of the Deaf Smith County Library. This session will cover the complex areas of estate planning for farmers, ranchers, and those owning businesses. Topics covered will include components of a will; selection of executors, guardians, and trustees; and the use of trust to save administrative cost, for property management, and for tax savings. Also included will be a discussion on analyzing your taxable estate, reducing the initial tax bill under the new law, and tax planning from farmers, ranchers and business owners.

These seminars will be taught by Dr. Wayne Hayenga, attorney and economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Hayenga has Bachelor and Master of Science degrees in agricultural economics from the University of Illinois, Master of Business Administration and Doctor of Philosophy degrees in economics and finance from Michigan State University, and a Law Degree from Southern Methodist University. He has taught for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service since 1972.

Deaf Smith County Extension Agent Dennis Newton says "Hayenga's experience as a farmer, banker, business consultant and attorney gives him an insight into the difficulties of how family business are owned, controlled, managed and taxed. His economic and law training gives him the unique ability to answer "why" did it happen this way. His background enables him to ask probing questions to help others think about things in their business". Newton goes on to say, "he is an excellent communicator. His presentation bring to our attention common actions that have meaning in planning the future."

These seminars are free and open to the public. Persons planning to attend are asked to call the Deaf Smith County Extension Office at 364-3573. This will assist in preparation of hand out materials and meeting rooms.

Persons having questions or needing more information about the seminars, may call the Deaf Smith County Extension Office at 364-3573 or come to room 402 in the Court Courthouse in Hereford.

All programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are open to people of all ages regardless of race, color, creed, national origin, or economic status, sex, religion, or handicap.

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) - Princeton University presented its first Peace Prize to Rep. Maxine Waters of California and a local teacher.

The Democratic congresswoman was recognized for her opposition to the Persian Gulf War and her dedication to peace and social justice.

Women honored at brunch

Justice of the Peace Johnnie Turrentine, at left, and Linda Vermillion, pharmacist and Girl Scout troop leader, were among the 48 women who were honored recently at a brunch given by the Hereford Service Unit of the Texas Plains Girl Scout Council. The Women of Distinction honorees were awarded special certificates and visited with Girl Scout members. Also, pictured are Stephanie Henson, at left, and Jessica Stubbs.

Public invited to attend Chamber Singers concert

The Hereford Chamber Singers will present a concert, "Spring Fling", at 7:30 p.m. Monday, May 18, in the Hereford High School auditorium.

Admission will be $3 for adults and $2 for students. Tickets are available from any Chamber Singer or they may be purchased at the door.

The concert will feature a different presentation from most previous concerts by the group. It will be a variety program featuring the choir and individuals who make up the group.

Jan Walser directs the chamber Singers, Dee Anne Trotter is the piano accompanist and Gene Streun is the president of the board. Dr. Duffy McBrayer serves as music chairman and Karen Flood is the production chairman.

CLASSIFIED ADS
 Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	15	3.00
2 days per word	28	5.20
3 days per word	37	7.40
4 days per word	48	9.60
5 days per word	59	11.80

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
 Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS
 Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS
 Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I know people write to you with all kinds of questions, so I wasn't surprised when that man from Tallahassee asked you to help him get an agent for his dog act. I remember he has some apricot poodles named Ginger, Gigi and Pepper, and they play the piano. He said they are the only piano-playing dogs in the world, which I can believe. You told him that booking animal acts was not your line of work and suggested that maybe Johnny Carson, David Letterman or Arsenio Hall might give him a break. Within a few days, those very same poodles appeared on a TV show (not the shows you mentioned) and performed very well. I'll bet they get some bookings. Since you helped that guy, maybe you can do something for me. I have a couple of wire-haired terriers that sing. I play tunes on the fiddle like "Sioux City Sue" and "How Come You Do Me Like You Do Do Do," and the dogs harmonize like The Supremes. Everybody deserves one big break in life and this could be mine. How about it, Annie old girl.--Longtime Admirer in Arlington heights.

DEAR ADMIRER: Since that column appeared, "Annie Old Girl" has heard from a woman in Phoenix who has a horse that does multiplication tables, a man in Fort Worth whose three cats do ballet numbers, and a woman in San Juan, Puerto Rico, with a parrot that can swear in five languages. Please, folks, no more letters about your talented pets. I am sure they are all wonderful, but I can't help you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: As a longtime reader of your column, I now find myself writing with a question. In the Lafayette (Ind.) Journal and Courier, I recently read a letter from a Ms. Lynn Verduzza who refers to women as if they were the sole victims of spousal abuse.

I was in an abusive relationship for quite some time so I know where she's coming from. The physical abuse I suffered was not nearly as bad as some I have read about, although my cheekbone was chipped by a flying telephone, leaving half of my face black and blue for three weeks. The mental abuse was far more painful. My ex-wife opened her bed for the pleasure of other men while I was at work. She had a mean streak and delighted in telling me about her escapades. She also liked to stay out with "friends" until 6 o'clock in the morning.

I have read dozens of letters in your column from abused wives, but I cannot remember a single letter form an abused husband.--No Name in Kokomo

DEAR KOKO: Look at the Lafayette paper this morning and you'll see one. I'm glad you had the strength to get out of this terrible situation. Thanks for helping me be more even-handed. Good luck to you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Millions of people wear hearing aids today. Can you find out why companies can make batteries for watches that last over a year, but they can't make a hearing aid battery that lasts more than three days? Not only is it expensive, but it's extremely embarrassing to suddenly go deaf out in public. Can you solve this mystery?--Disgusted in Florida

DEAR FLORIDA: Here's your answer from a bona fide authority, a spokesperson from Duracell, U.S.A.

"While we appreciate the frustration of your reader concerning the relatively short life of hearing aid batteries compared to equally compact watch batteries, to put it in the simplest terms possible: A hearing aid uses approximately 200 times more energy than a watch." When planning a wedding, who pays for what? Who stands where? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" has all the answers. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Brides, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Bride-elect honored

A bridal shower was given for Kim Williams Saturday, May 2, in the home of Merle Clark. The honoree and Stefan Hacker plan to exchange wedding vows June 27. Welcoming guests were, from left, the honoree; her mother, Judy Williams, the prospective bridegroom's mother, Evelyn Hacker; and the bride-elect's sister, Lisa Osburn of Plainview.

Employees of the Hereford Independent School District enjoyed a dinner catered by K-Bob's Steak House and entertainment by Bruce Ayres at the annual Employee Appreciation Banquet on Tuesday at the Bull Barn.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: In a recent article you dealt with a question that I can field for you. I am a retired school-band director with considerable experience as an instrument salesman besides.

Music dealers long ago realized they would have to do something about the problem of students who lost interest in band early in the game, leaving parents with a big debt and a white elephant!

Their solution was the rental-purchase program. It works like this. The parents select — as your article suggested — a reputable dealer. An instrument is selected for the child and either purchased outright or bought on the rental-purchase plan. This entails a small down payment with the balance of the payments scheduled on a monthly basis.

Should the child lose interest, the parents can let the instrument go back with no penalty or effect on their credit rating. Dealers can afford this because the dropout rate is usually quite small. If the child does continue in the band, all payments are credited toward the purchase.

No sale should be made without the final approval of the instructor. If your dealer won't agree to this, get out of his store as fast as your legs will carry you!

This is especially true in the case of buying a used instrument. There are excellent instruments on the used market, but there are also some junkers out there. Take along a friendly expert! — Gardner Vaughn, Leesville, La.

Thank you for sharing this wonderful advice with us. I did some checking and there are only a couple of things I would add to your letter.

To choose a reputable dealer, check with your band director or music instructor. Not only are they usually familiar with all the music stores, they can also give you a general idea of the cost of the instrument and what that should include.

If you're thinking about buying a used instrument, you might consider taking it to a competent repair shop for an estimate. Most reputable dealers wouldn't object and it will give you an idea of how much it will cost to fix. A used instrument isn't a good deal if it costs more to repair than it would to buy a new one. — Heloise

Kim Williams feted with bridal shower

Kim Williams, June 27 bride-elect of Stefan Hacker, was honored with a bridal shower May 2 in the home of Merle Clark.

Greeting guests with the honoree were her mother, Judy Williams; her sister, Lisa Osburn of Plainview; her grandmother, Jesslyn Williams; and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Evelyn Hacker.

Becky Weatherly invited guests to register.

Kristin Cassels and Natalie Sims served blueberry muffins, sausage balls, fruit trays, bacon tidbits, cinnamon rolls and miniature quiche. The refreshment table was centered with fresh cut flowers arranged in a sterling urn.

An Oster Kitchen Center was presented to Miss Williams by hostesses: Zula Arney, Karen Payne, Sue Sims, Lajean Henry, Carolyn Baxter, Mary Beth White, Mysedia Smith, Karen Abney, Kathy Allison, Sandra Saul, Carol Sue Legate, Beth Gearn, Delores Foster, Lucy Rogers, Pat Lawson, Merle Clark, Jane Copen, Delores Webster, Eloise Smith, Lori Hall, Glenda Keenan, Becky Weatherly, Christy Wright, Carlynn Delozier, Kim Biggam, Gracie Shaw, Beverly Lambert and Betty Martin.

Read aloud to older children

In a letter sent home to parents, my daughter's fifth-grade teacher filled us in on classroom activities and the curriculum to be covered before the end of the school year. Then, at the bottom of the page, the final paragraph jumped out at me. My daughter had highlighted each line with bold strokes and had written M-O-M in big letters in the margin. The paragraph went something like this:

"At a time when your pre-teen child is in the process of becoming so grownup and mature, I would like to encourage you to continue reading aloud together. This is an activity that is of great benefit to your child, yet it is often left by the wayside as children get older. Reading aloud can be an excellent way to spend time together. Children's reading should include classic and modern works of fiction and non-fiction that represent the basis of our cultural heritage, as well as literature from other countries. The amount of time spent reading is directly related to gains in reading achievement. Getting involved with books is one of the best things parents can do for their children."

The sea cucumber, although it looks very much like a garden cucumber, is actually an aquatic animal.
