Reseachers Check Potatoes Grown On Experimental Plot

Checking of some of the first concrete results of the potatoes planted by Texas A&M Experiment Station workers is being done this week by the same staff which handled the planting.

Under the direction of Dr. Guy W. Adriance, head of the Department of Horticulture at Texas A&M, Dr. Don Patterson and Bobbie Wilson of the college staff, along with two men hired to help with the labor, began Tuesday on the work of digging the potatoes.

First to come out of the ground were those planted on fertilizer test plots. All of these were of one variety. Because of the small lots involved, the potatoes were hand graded at the Associated Growers shed Tuesday night, then the No. 1's, No. 2's and culls weighed. These figures, when checked on statistical machines at Texas A&M, will give the first authentic information on how the potatoes reacted to various fertilizer treatments.

Digging Varieties Test Plot
Wednesday the work of digging some 30 different varieties of potatoes, all of which were planted under as nearly identical conditions as possible, began. In nearly all cases, there were replications of plantings done on both the fertilizer and variety tests, to give the researchers an average showing on the test.

Onions which were planted on the Jack Renfro farm are still in the ground, while the researchers are starting to lay out experimental lettuce plots, which will be used to test varieties, fertilizers and insecticides during coming weeks.

Dr. Adriance has also announced (Continued on Page 3)

Carrying Pistol Brings $100 Fine

Carrying a pistol, evidently with some possible intentions of making use of it, is either going to cost George Montano some $100 and costs of court or a number of days of his time.

Montano was picked up at the Labor Camp last week, after City Police had first been notified that he was carrying a gun, and they had trailed him out to the Labor Camp, meanwhile contacting Charles Skelton, deputy sheriff.

When Montano was taken into custody, a .32 pistol was found in the pickup, in a place where it was easily accessible to the driver.

Brought to trial Monday, Montano waived a jury and entered a plea of guilty in County Court.

On the recommendation of County Attorney J. Edward Line, County Judge Horace L. Schloss assessed the minimum fine of $100 and costs.

Potato Market Holding Strong

Digging of potatoes in the Hereford area is about 80 percent completed, with an estimated 1,200 cars of potatoes having been shipped out of the Hereford area, and several hundred more cars of spuds shipped from New Deal and Muleshoe.

Growers who watched the price drop in 1953 until it was not worth while to plow the potatoes out of the ground for the price that was being received have watched it stay high this year, with the demand good most of the time.

Some of the larger operators are playing the game close to their chests, digging only as there is a demand for the products, rather than dumping them on the market.

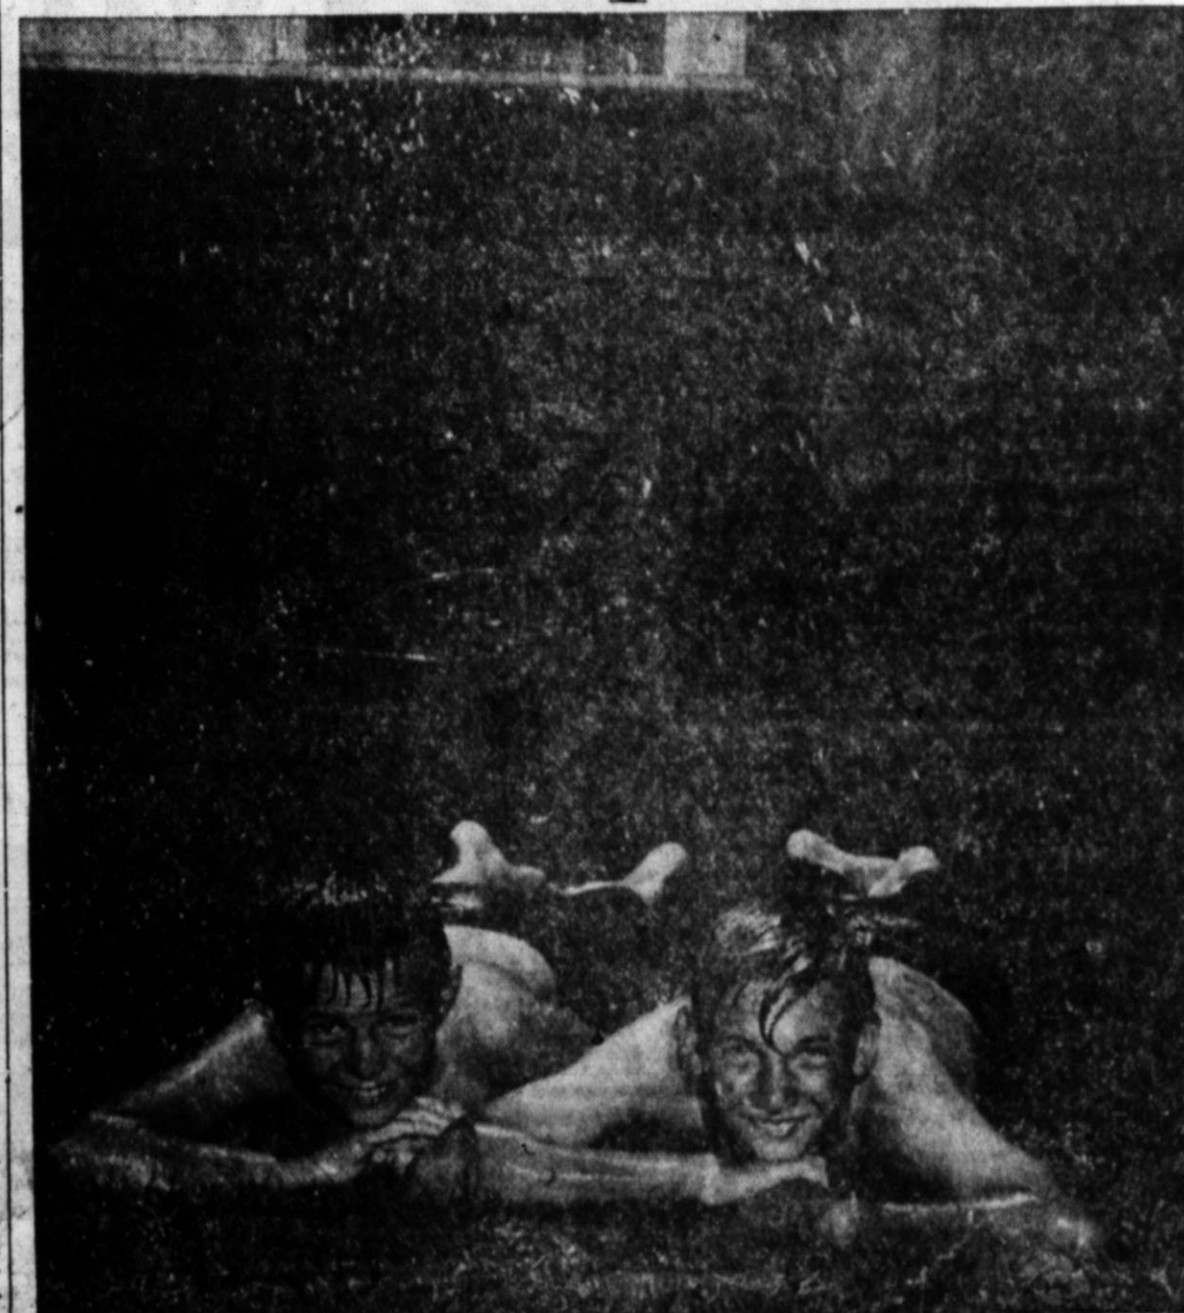

Prices on the potatoes are staying up above the $3 mark, with No. 1 Triumphs selling for $3.25 or better, Pontiac Reds at $3.50 or better and other potatoes selling at similar prices.

Even No. 2's, which sometimes find almost no market, are moving in good quantity. Friday one warehouse was quoting a price of $2 for them, though buyers were finding some at lower prices than that, according to quality.

Prices on potatoes are expected to stay high during the remainder of the spud harvest in this county, as Idaho shipments fall off. At the same time, fewer potatoes are expected here than were coming in two years ago, when the market rose toward the end of the season.

Dr. and Mrs. C. D. Kelton recently returned from a three weeks vacation trip to California. They went to California by way of Denver and Yellowstone National Park and visited friends and relatives along the way. They came home by way of Las Vegas, Nev., and visited Boulder Dam.

Rain, Cool Front Gives Brief Respite From Heat

HOT, WINDLESS DAYS called for emergency measures to keep cool, at times, and Kenneth and Douglas Ruland lay down on the lawn with the sprinkler tossing a shower of cold water on them. Kenneth, 11, left, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Ruland, 13th and Ave. K. Douglas, 13, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Ruland, 306 C Street. (Staff Photo)

A cool front and nearly an inch of rain brought relief Tuesday night from heat, but prospects seemed likely for more hot days ahead.

Tuesday the official temperature gauge by City Hall hit 100 for the first time this year, though the gauge at Pioneer Natural Gas Company, which is only a short distance away but gets some reflected heat, reached 103 Tuesday afternoon.

As far as official temperatures are concerned, last year was far hotter, though breezes, coupled with the high altitude, helped keep it from being quite so uncomfortable most of the time. On June 25 last year the official reading for the high of the day was 105, while 10 days before the temperature had been 103, and several days in between had shown temperatures of 101 and 102 degrees.

Temperatures had been climbing here for three days before Tuesday's high was reached. Saturday the temperature was 94, Sunday it reached 98, and one Monday had touched 99. Unofficial gauges, such as the one at the gas company and at station KPAN, have shown consistently higher temperatures.

Egg—Or Steak Fry
One street corner philosopher suggested that an egg could be fried on the sidewalk, but no one had the ambition to follow through on the idea. City Manager Cecil Massey, whose car sits in the sun all day, had the idea that a piece of steak could be broiled quite nicely on the hood of a car, but no one followed through on that one, either.

Local water bills are also showing the result of the dry heat. Total billings for city water in February were $4,702.43, and have been on the increase ever since.

Billings by the month since February are: March — $5,173.82; April — $5,350.39; May — $5,949.37; June — $6,511.53; and July — $7,949.39. Billings are made on the basis of water used the previous (Continued on Page 6)

Director Explains Band Camp Plans

All band members going to West Texas Summer Band Camp are to meet band director Bill Miller in front of the West Texas Band Hall at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Enrollment for the Camp will be at that time and persons will also be assigned to dormitory rooms.

Following enrollment, try-outs will be held to see which of the three bands each will participate in, Miller said. Any equipment, such as school horns, may be picked up at the Hereford band house Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Victoria Gyles Died Of Heart Failure Wednesday

Funeral services are pending for Mrs. Victoria Gyles, 55, who died suddenly of heart failure about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at her home at 211 East Fifth Street.

She was born November 14, 1889 at Everton, Mo. November 11, 1888, she married John E. Gyles at Everton and they moved from Everton to Deaf Smith County in 1905.

Mrs. Gyles was a member of the Presbyterian Church and a member of the Women's Missionary Society.

MRS. VICTORIA GYLES

She loved to work out of doors in her garden and flowers and "just enjoyed growing anything," her family said.

Survivors include: two sons, Frank A. Gyles Sr., and Wilson Gyles; one daughter, Mrs. R. D. Cowan of Aurora, Mo.; one sister, Mrs. Zeda Morris of Springfield, Mo.; three grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Burial will be in West Park Cemetery under the direction of Gilliland Funeral Home.

Lee Roy Farris Injured Sunday

Bad headlights, bad brakes and a barbed wire fence were combined in an accident Sunday night which caused injuries to Lee Roy Farris, 18, of Hereford Route 5.

Farris was riding on the running board of a 1940 Ford sedan driven by John M. Williams, also of Route 5, about 9:30 o'clock Sunday night, trying to direct the driver because the car lights had gone out.

When the car reached Harrison Highway, about 16 miles west of Hereford, neither Farris or Williams saw the highway in time, and the car went on across the highway and into the ditch. Farris was thrown off the car and hit a barbed wire fence, receiving multiple lacerations on his face, chest and arms, according to the attending physician. He also suffered a mild concussion.

Williams was charged by the Highway Patrol with driving a car with defective brakes.

Farris was hospitalized, but is said to be in good condition.

Friena Man Buried In Snyder, Okla.

Funeral services for H. G. Shulk, Route 3, Friena, were held Wednesday morning at the Church of Christ in Snyder, Okla.

Shulk died suddenly Monday morning about 5 o'clock at his home.

He was born October 8, 1878, at Plainfield, Ill. In 1908 he married Pearl Hallmark in Oklahoma. They moved to Farmer County in 1939.

Survivors include: two sons — Lloyd Shulk of Friena and LeRoy Shulk of Fort Worth; one daughter — Mrs. Paul Arnold of Espanola, N. M.; one brother — Will Shulk of Marlow, Okla.; three sisters — Miss Bertha Shulk of Plainfield, Ill., Mrs. Frank Edwards of Aurora, Ill., and Mrs. Bert Niel of Aurora, Ill.; and 10 grandchildren.

Burial was at Snyder under the direction of Gilliland Funeral Home.

Around Town

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION will be held at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the County Court Room of the Deaf Smith County Courthouse. All delegates chosen from the individual precincts should make a special effort to be present, according to County Chairman Henry Sears.

Kiwanis Club members and their families will leave Hereford about 5 o'clock this afternoon for a trip to Boys' Ranch. A family picnic will be held at the ranch, after which the group will tour the ranch and see a special program put on by some of the boys. The club meeting at noon today has been cancelled.

All former residents of Hopkins County residing in this area are reminded of the annual reunion August 8 at McKenzie State Park at Lubbock. "Hopkins County Stew" will be served at the noon hour along with a basket lunch.

Volunteer fireman J. W. Robinson Jr., may have a bad time for a while if he does much talking about fire hazards after the blaze in his own garage last Saturday afternoon. The fire started in a bushel basket which apparently contained a collection of paper and other things which probably should have been thrown away. Damages were fairly small, except for the loss of some canned goods which had been stored on a shelf just above where the fire started.

Back Of Buildings Need Clean-Up Too Sanitarian Says

Business houses, all of which like to keep the front of their establishments looking nice, should also clean up behind the building according to City Sanitarian Jack Gilliland.

"We know that it is usually just an oversight on the part of those who have let weeds grow up and trash collect," Gilliland said, "but it is both unsightly and something of a health menace. Weeds and (Continued on Page 6)

English Girl To Get First-Hand View Of Hereford School Life

High school students here whose ideas about English students may have been shaped by movies of life at Oxford or perhaps some of the classics are going to get a chance for a first-hand acquaintanceship with an English girl during the coming school year.

During that time, Jean Isobel Chapman, 16, high school exchange student from England, will be attending classes with them, taking part in their athletic activities and other extra-curricular events, and probably will be changing a lot of ideas about England.

Jean will live in a Hereford home where there is a girl about her own age. Since she was carefully chosen from among a number of English girls who wished to participate in the student exchange program, she is probably above average.

Variety Of Activities
According to a questionnaire she filled out when making application for the chance to spend a year in the United States, she has studied French for five years at a high school for girls, is interested in history, geography and mathematics, likes tennis, swimming and riding, has studied piano, and is also interested in dramatics and philately.

In her own school, she has been a member of the Glee Club, Dramatic Society and school branch of the "Council For Education for World Citizenship Organization."

The following is the letter she wrote about herself to go with the application. Only items which show her address, which is not to be released until after she arrives over here, have been deleted.

"I was born in 1938 in a country market town in the agricultural county of ——. My father is a director of an outfitting firm in the town and we live in the outskirts with a pleasant view of the green meadows of the valley of the Stour. I started schooling at a small preparatory school and at the age of eleven passed the examination for entrance to the — Girls High School. Here, I have spent the last five years on the general course leading up to the general certificate of Education examination, for which I am sitting this year.

Found Lots To Do
"Thinking back, the time seems to have passed very quickly, mainly I think because I have always found a lot to do in my spare (Continued on Page 3)

Voters Express Feelings, Or Lack Of Them, On Unopposed Candidates

Even unopposed candidates don't get a vote on every ballot cast, and there were some wide discrepancies in the number of votes received. If a candidate's name was either not marked or was scratched out, the vote would not be counted for that office, according to County Clerk Ralph Smith.

Of all the unopposed candidates in the county, Sheriff, Tax Assessor - Collector Lowell Sharp got the largest number out of the 2,861 ballots cast, with 1,854.

Other unopposed candidates were District Clerk Lucille Posey who received 1,816 votes; County Clerk Ralph Smith, 1,804 votes; County Treasurer Velma Hodges, 1,819 votes; County Surveyor A. O. Thompson, 1,796 votes; and County Attorney J.

Edward Line, 1,753 votes. District Judge Harry H. Sears received 1,767 votes, and District Attorney Floyd H. Richards received 1,715 cast for him.

Jesse M. Osborn, candidate for renomination as state representative, 56th legislative district, received 1,821 votes, and State Senator Andy Rogers, 56th Senatorial District, polled 1,797 votes.

County Democratic Chairman J. H. Sears ran into unexpected opposition when some one started a write-in campaign for Louis Woodford, who finally received some 169 votes. Sears still polled 1,884.

Others who received write-in votes for the county chairmanship are: Wayne Thomas — 1; E. S. Ireland, 1; Bob Wear, 1; Lyle Woodford, 24; C. C. Acker, 1; and J. J. Clark, 11.

ANOTHER LANDMARK in Hereford is coming down with the gradual razing of this wooden-framed building which was put up in 1942 under the emergency war storage plan. Though it had a capacity of some 750,000 bushels, the fire hazard made it bad. Some other type of storage will be used to replace the building, a spokesman for the elevator said. Wednesday only a portion of the tin had been taken off the top of the building. (Staff Photo) me. I play all the school sports—hockey, swimming, tennis and netball—and was pleased to be given a place in the school "first six" at the beginning of this season. I am also a member of the school choir, the dramatic society and the school branch of the Council for Education in World Citizenship organization.

"Outside school I like horse-back riding (at the riding school near my home), going for cycle rides with my friends, and going to the meetings of the church club and the Girls' Life Brigade. Some time ago I started a collection of postage stamps and I still add to this occasionally, although indoors I spend much of my time playing the piano and of course preparing school "home work."

 "My only brother, aged twenty, went on an exchange visit to Denmark in 1948, and so enjoyed it that mother and father let me spend eight weeks with friends there, two years ago. I think that no amount of geography can really show how another country lives, and I was surprised to find how similarly to us the Danes live and work, the only real difference being that of language.

 "We are told that the U.S.A. is considered the most advanced country in the world, and today we read and hear so much about it, that I would love to go and see for myself exactly how the Americans live. My mother has a relative living in the United States and I have always been fascinated to listen to her description of life generally. If I am fortunate enough to secure one of these scholarships, I am sure that my visit there would be a wonderful experience that I should never forget. On my return home I should continue my studies in the sixth form, and hope eventually to go on to a University to read Economics."

move to Hereford in September, and take over the full-time project, which will be handled by A&M with help from the foundation advisory committee.
 Dr. Adriance said Wednesday that some of the potatoes from experimental plots will be kept here, and put on display by County Agent Hugh L. Clearman after the statistical figures are available so growers can have that information when they look at the potatoes.

Private Planes Furnish Business Men With Private Flying Carpet

By John Ky Adams
Dallas — A businessman with an eye for novelty has incorporated in his private airplane what is undoubtedly the world's most spectacular view from an easy chair.

The arm chair is built into the nose of a B-25 bomber converted into a luxurious private plane.

Now the happy man rides in the plastic forward compartment where once a bombardier huddled nervously over his instruments. The executive has no such worries. He relaxes with his pipe and leisurely watches the rolling countryside. Behind him the thundering engines shift the scenery at 200 miles an hour.

Except for the flying chair, the bomber is fitted out more or less conventionally. It is ordinary in the sense that many luxury planes now are equipped with bookcases, divans, swivel chairs, ship-to-shore telephones, cocktail bars and picture windows.

All private flying did not enjoy the anticipated unrestricted post-war growth. Many a weekend pilot learned, to his sorrow, that his personal plane shared an unfortunate weakness with the horse—each eats a lot of hay while it's in the barn.

Surplus Bargain Planes
But for those who can afford the best, private flying has boomed. Corporations and individuals snapped up military surplus aircraft at bargain prices. Favorable tax programs were a stimulant. Southwest Airmotive in Dallas specializes in converting military ships into fancy business models.

The nation's business aircraft fleet has reached 10,000 airplanes—about 10 times the number used by scheduled airlines. All kinds of aircraft are in service. The greatest number are single-engine, four-place models. The largest planes are Convair 340's in use by the Ford Motor Co., the Texas Company and Phillips Petroleum Co. The Convairs cost $500,000 to $600,000 depending on the furnishings.

High performance aircraft sold for a song immediately after World War II. Planes that cost the government as much as $200,000 were picked up for as little as $5,000. One pilot bought three B-25 bombers that had only 12 hours flying time. He brought them here for remodeling costing $35,000. Each plane now is valued at more than $150,000. Two were sold to businessmen and a third was bought by tobacco heiress Doris Duke. She gave it to Porfirio Rubirosa who was then her husband.

B-25's Very Desirable
B-25's make particularly fast and desirable private planes. The cabins are quite roomy when gun turrets and bomb bays are removed. Flat gunner windows on the sides make unique flying picture windows. One such bomber is a showcase for the products of a Milwaukee, Wis., leather tannery. Albert Trostel and Sons Co. had the interior of the plane finished in a variety of leather, some of baseball-glove quality.

Lockheed Lodestars and Douglas DC-3's reconvert well to civilian flying. The glamorized transports resemble the military planes only on the outside. Their interiors are finished in costly fabrics and fine woodwork. Engines and instrument systems are completely overhauled in Southwest Airmotive shops.

A particularly beautiful DC-3 is the "Flying Ginny" owned by Dallas oil Millionaire Clinton W. Murchison. The plane carries flags of 16 nations, souvenirs of Murchison's prodigious travel and symbols of his vast financial interests. The publicity-shy Murchison and his friend, Sid W. Richardson of Fort Worth, hit the headlines in February when they bought 800,000 shares of New York Central Railroad stock for a reported $20,000,000. Murchison said they had concluded it was a good investment.

The "Flying Ginny" is Murchison's flying carpet to a fabulous hacienda in northwestern Mexico. On long flights to the ranch, guests find elbow room on divans or in the swivel lounge chairs. Without getting up they can read airspeed, altitude and outside temperature on giant cabin instruments. Fore and aft cabin sections are divided by a transparent pane, etched with a sweeping sailfish design. Leather and woolen upholstery is a subdued two-tone gray. The sparkling galley hides behind a padded gray panel.

The luxury private planes are equipped with the latest navigational and safety gear. Murchison has a private radio station on his ranch to guide the "Flying Ginny" safely over the wild mountains. In addition to quality maintenance, plane owners insist on the best available pilots.

The envied pilots are nearly all long-time flying veterans. Among those stationed here are several former airline captains. Most look the part of the legendary aviator—sun bronzed and gray at the temples, crows feet at the corners of the eyes.

Like Organ Playing
They're a cheerful, dapper crew, but not always as colorful as they seem. They have a new fad, playing the electric organ to relax after long hours in the cockpit.

While the planes were being checked at a morning lineup recently, four pilots huddled on the airport shouting above the engine roar. In the manner of aviators the world over, they maneuvered with their hands. But they were not hangar flying. They were arguing about a difficult chord on an organ keyboard.

The fliers take their organ records lightly, but their fine safety record seriously. One oil company works hard living up to its air flight motto, "Safety is no Accident."

Nevertheless, one of the finest private planes was idle here for several weeks while the pilot recovered from a serious accident. Martin Weirauch, who flies for the Brinkerhoff Drilling Co., brought a DC-3 safely to Dallas from Casper, Wyo. He rented an automobile and started downtown. He was critically hurt in a smashup on the boulevard.

The salmon lays about 1,000 eggs for every pound of weight of the fish.

"The president of a Czechoslovakian shoe firm has an office which can be moved up or down between floors of the factory.

PROCESSING POTATOES in a big packing shed is highly mechanized, as it must be to handle hundreds of sacks of spuds in one night, washing and grading automatically, after which some hand work is needed to cull out grass roots and a few battered potatoes, after which the potatoes continue on by conveyor to sacks, which are sewn shut by hands, then the potatoes are ready for rail or truck shipment to far away places. This picture was made in the Associated Growers shed, but similar scenes can be found in the other potato packing sheds in Hereford. (W. H. Patton Photo)

Texas Technicians Going To Pakistan

COLLEGE STATION (Sp) — A small group of Texas professional and technical men are expected to arrive in East Pakistan in September to set up headquarters and begin organization of a $1,700,000 technical assistance program between the Texas A&M College System and the University of Dacca. The work, which will be expanded as additional field staff members are sent from Texas, is being done under a three-year contract recently signed between the Foreign Operations Administration of the United States government and the A&M System.

Texas A&M's Vice Chancellor for Agriculture, D. W. Williams, who is in charge of the system's foreign program, is now selecting the key personnel for the project. The initial group will be headed by an administrator with the title of Chief Advisor and will include teaching, research and extension specialists.

These Texans will work with the schools of the University of Dacca in the development of modern teaching, research and extension programs in agriculture, engineering, home economics, business and teacher training. The Pakistan schools with which they will work include the East Bengal Institute of Agriculture at Dacca, the East Bengal Veterinary College at Dacca, the Ansanullah Engineering College at Dacca, the Women's Training College at Mymensingh, the Teachers Training College at Dacca, the Primary Training College at Mymensingh and the Government College of Commerce at Chittagong.

Under the $1,700,000 contract recently signed by the F.O.A. and Texas A&M System, the Texas system is employed to carry out projects and activities in the fields of education, agriculture, engineering, business administration and home economics in order to strengthen the educational, research and extension program of the University of Dacca.

Will Organize Projects

The field staff, which will live in Pakistan, will include the Chief Advisor and 12 professional and technical men. They will study the work of the University of Dacca and its associated schools and make recommendations for improving procedures and adding needed facilities for teaching research and extension. They will organize and supervise new projects and will supervise construction of new facilities.

A small staff will be maintained in Texas to tie in the field work with that of the System and to handle other phases of the assistance program, which will include exchange of teachers and students for training here and in Pakistan. This staff will also select a number of consultants who will visit Pakistan throughout the program for short-time work in their specialties.

The contract, which became effective on June 24, is to run for three years, but the hope has been expressed that the initial program will lead to a permanent working relationship between the two educational institutions.

SPORT SHOTS

By Harold V. Rathff
Associated Press Sports Editor

The National Public Links tournament had a week's run in Dallas and it was an eye-opener in golf.

Here's where the boys play for the fun of it, without hope of any appreciable award. They don't consider flubbing a putt or shanking a shot a major tragedy. If they lose they still have fun.

There are a couple of million fellows who play on the municipal courses. They look forward to a trip to the National Public Links as a sort of vacation. In fact, most of them use it for their vacation.

The local association can chip in with enough to pay their transportation and $6.00 a day for their living expenses. This isn't enough but the USGA, which sponsors this huge tournament, wants it that way.

"We want the player to pay something, too," says John English, assistant executive director of the USGA, who was conducting the Dall tournament. "This is an amateur sport and we don't want any of those 'tennis bums'!"

It may be that the local qualifier won't even get what is allowed. The local association tries to raise enough but if it doesn't he has to take what he can get.

Some of the Public Links players grumble about it but they don't really mean it; they're all anxious to go back each year to the national tournament. They meet a lot of fellows they know and like, then they get to play a lot of golf, and if they don't win, so what?

The public links players are quite different from most of the fellows who play in the National Amateur. Those guys have the dough and are members of the swank clubs. They are temperamental and don't give much of a hoot about others. If they lose they sulk and evade the press and refuse to talk about it.

The public link fellows, however, will be just as agreeable and cheery over losing a match as the so-called amateurs are winning them.

A good illustration of this point comes from the story of Jimmy Wilbert of San Francisco. Jimmy lost a 22-hole match to Dick Preston of Detroit. Preston never was ahead until he won the 22nd hole. Wilbert was leading 2-up going into the 17th hole. But he lost both remaining holes and was forced into overtime. He almost won it on the 21st when a putt curled around the cup when it appeared to be in.

Wilbert lamented his luck but he wasn't bitter about it. And when he got through telling of the tough breaks he had had, he added this note: "But I played three of the finest fellows I ever met in the three rounds I was in."

The National Public Links is a tremendous thing although entries in the big tournament have steadily decreased since 1946. This year there were 1,856. Back in the forties 3,000 would shoot for the 200 spots in the tournament.

But this is easily explained. In lush times the municipal play decreases. They get the money and join the country clubs. It takes a depression to make the public links boys multiply.

You'll find the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker, the local bar tender, the postman and the shoe clerk around the corner. It's the tournament of the average man.

Negroes play in this tournament if they can qualify. This year none did, but two were in the field last year at Seattle.

English explains that the public links tournament was evolved in the best interest of golf. In the twenties, it was discovered that the bulk of the nation's golfers were not being reached. So the Public Links tournament was started.

The result of the tournament has been to produce some of the fine golfers in the country. Among those who have played the many courses in the Public Links are such stars as Ed Furgol, National Open Champion, and Walter Burkemo, National PGA champion.

But, above all, says English, it has taught sportsmanship on the links and how the game is best played.

The USGA won't have the fellows who reflect on sport in the tournament. It can kick a fellow out who meets all the provisions of the tournament yet is an undesirable character.

The only requirement, other than the fellow must be a guy you would like to play golf with, is that he plays on a course open to the public. If he belongs to a club that controls its course and allows only certain people to play on it he can't compete in the Public Links.

Also, no man can play in both the public links and the National Amateur in a single year.

The Public Links is quite a golf tournament and a great contribution to American sport life.

Language Problem

TRONA, Calif. (AP)—Yvonne Rose, 3½, may be in demand as a language interpreter when she gets home soon from Japan. She's the daughter of Chief Warrant Officer Robert R. Rose, with the Army, and his wife, Alice.

First she learned some French from her maternal grandmother, who spoke the language. Then she and her mother went to Japan, where she picked up Japanese from a nurse.

The Roses wrote their stateside family that they were coming home but wouldn't stop long in Hawaii, Yvonne might learn Hawaiian, and that would only confuse her parents some more.

SHADE LOOKED good to a bunch of boys from Troop 52 by the time they got back to Hereford Monday from a horseback trip to Buffalo Lake. The boys left Hereford early Sunday morning and reached Buffalo Lake about 1:30 o'clock that afternoon. After an afternoon of swimming they had a night of fighting mosquitoes, cooked their own breakfast Monday morning, then rode back to Hereford, most with blankets and their saddles for a bit of cushioning. They arrived in Hereford about 2:30 Monday afternoon, after having had sack lunches taken out to them by two of the boys' mothers. Camping equipment was taken to Buffalo Lake in a pickup by I. L. Whitfield, their Scoutmaster, and was returned to Hereford the same way. ### REFEREE SLAPPED AROUND

Murdock, Abbott, Disqualified For Number Of Illegal Actions

Frankie Hill Murdock and Ace Abbott really added sparks to the wrestling match Saturday night when they were matched against Glenn Denton and Ray Stevens in a two out of three fall, one hour time limit tag team match.

Although Murdock and Abbott are both veterans at the game and know almost every technique there is to know in wrestling, they still failed to defeat the two younger grapplers.

The Mask of South Africa also made his appearance for a short time in the first event when he wrestled Stevens of Columbus, O., in a one fall, 20 minute time limit match, which came to a draw.

Denton of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Ace Abbott of Abilene wrestled in the second one fall, 20 minute time limit match with Denton 4, was watching them. Her young-er brother preferred to throw things around. Exasperated, Kathleen Card, was watching them. Her young-er brother preferred to throw things around. Exasperated, Kathleen Card, was watching them.

With Murdock and Denton still wrestling, Denton won over Murdock in just seven minutes with a cross body press following a series of drop kicks.

During the third fall there were always three men in the ring and two of these were always Abbott and Murdock. After a period of about eight minutes the referee gave the match to Stevens and Denton when Murdock and Abbott were disqualified for both of them being in the ring, pinching, pulling hair, slapping the referee around and just about anything else that could be named.

Nation's 4-H'ers Seek to Cut Death Toll of Farm Folk on Rural Highways

Look out, young feller!

CHICAGO—(Special)—"Make Safety Your Number One Crop," the slogan of several million rural boys and girls throughout the nation since its introduction in 1946, continues to be fostered by more than 615,000 4-H Club members. They are taking part in the 1954 National 4-H Safety Program being conducted in 46 states for the tenth consecutive year. Participants receive training in farm accident and fire prevention, which includes checking and removing hazards of every conceivable nature.

These surveys are credited by safety experts as being a valuable contribution to the nationwide campaign to reduce the tragic annual toll of 16,000 lives and 1,225,000 disabling injuries to farm folk.

In conducting their surveys, the 4-H'ers look for such safety hazards as loose or floppy clothing worn about moving farm machinery, cluttered stairways, oily rags, frayed electric cords, broken ladder rungs and sharp tools.

What is becoming an increasingly serious problem is that accidents to farm people caused by motor vehicles now account for nearly one-fourth of all deaths and injuries that occur on rural highways. Also, 700 of the fatal farm accidents reported last year involved wheel tractors. One-third of the fatal tractor accidents reported involve persons under 20 years of age. One case in ten was a child under 5.

To help correct this problem, the 4-H'ers are giving highway safety demonstrations before farm groups and over local radio stations, as well as putting window displays in town stores and booths at county fairs.

The 1954 National 4-H Safety Program is conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service. As incentives for outstanding records in the program, General Motors provides medals of honor which are presented to four county winners, and an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago to the state winner. Eight of the latter will be selected as national winners, each receiving a $300.00 college scholarship.

Many Animals Die From Nails, Wire

COLLEGE STATION — Many Texas cattle this year will die from foreign body penetration commonly called "hardware disease."

Farmers are advised to take care when chopped hay or silage is prepared to be sure pieces of metal are not mixed with the feed. Baling wire is perhaps the most common offender and is often found in the stomachs of animals, says Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian.

All loose nails in feed bunks and mangers should be removed or driven in. In no case should animals be allowed in junk piles and scrap heaps where such items are readily found.

If cattle are provided the proper minerals, Dr. Patterson suggests that it will prevent them from licking and chewing posts and other objects.

Actually, hardware disease is not a disease at all. It is merely the ingestion of foreign bodies by cows, resulting in the penetration of these objects into the stomach walls or into other organs such as heart and liver.

Cows, mature animals especially have a habit of licking and consequently swallowing objects such as nails, pieces of baling wire, glass and other metal objects. These pieces enter the stomach where they are churned about by the stomach walls. Here they become imbedded or even forced through the stomach.

Although symptoms vary from animal to animal, cows that go off-feed, are reluctant to move or move stiffly, exhibit diarrhea and show pain when moved suddenly should be suspected of the "disease."

Dr. Patterson says that in some animals the symptoms may come and go while in others it may become progressively worse. These also are symptoms of other diseases thus making diagnosis difficult.

In a good many cases where symptoms are noticed early, veterinarians may remove the objects by operating and searching for the object on the floor of the stomach.

There may be as many as 59,000 ants in a single nest.

An oyster may lay as many as 60 million eggs a year.

SOME 400 PERSONS WERE FED at the "open to the public" free barbecue given by the Hereford Grain Corp. Saturday noon. The barbecue luncheon preceded a stockholders meeting of the corporation. Kiwanis Club members, who make a public service of serving such meals, dished out the barbecue and "trimmings". Mr. and Mrs. Al Trautmann were going through the line at this time. Shown serving are Johnny Pool, Red Lowe and Lloyd Sharp. (Staff Photo)

Farm Cleanup Now Will Help Keep Fly Population Down

COLLEGE STATION — Only continuous sanitation and proper use of chemicals can hold fly populations to small numbers this season.

Neal M. Randolph, extension entomologist, says this is a critical time in fly control. The pests now are becoming established for the season. And this is the usual time for manure - hauling and general clean-up around the farm.

Sanitation — the removal of materials in which flies breed and develop — holds the real key to the control of these disease transmitting, and annoying insects.

The Entomologist's advice to farmers who are willing to work at fly control includes these points: Haul manure, trash and rotting plant refuse to the fields and spread it out to dry. Clean up around livestock feed bunks. Scrape feed lots to the concrete in paved lots and to the fresh earth if unpaved.

Keep a clean up campaign going the year-round, Randolph advises. Many farmers do a good job of removing the obvious breeding places, but they miss other important "hot-spots." Some of these are the corners of barn gutters, spilled feeds and other small accumulations of organic matter that may begin to decay.

This, together with insecticides, properly applied, will pave the way toward a neater, better-appearing farmstead and relief from the annoyance and health - hazard of flies.

There are about 250,000 elevators in the United States.

HARTFORD, Conn. — Harry W. Tisdall, of Winchester, Mass., on the first leg of a 3,000-mile automobile trip with his family, was given a warning for a minor traffic violation. Weeks later, he wrote State Policeman Charles Sanga:

"Perhaps you wonder if warnings go unheeded and if it pays to give them. For the balance of our 3,000 mile trip, the laws were strictly obeyed. We soon found the trip was a pleasure although we had actually dreaded it. At least once a day during the trip we saw the remains of a fatal accident which, but for your warning, could have been us."

Life Saving Course Students Get Both Theory And Practice Work

Eight Hereford swimmers are taking 17 hours of concentrated instruction in the practice and theory of life saving these days, working out at the Municipal Swimming Pool after regular hours.

Under the direction of J. B. Wills and Jim Lowry, both of whom have taken the Red Cross life saving course, the students are studying the problems and techniques of taking care of themselves while taking care of others in deep water.

Every afternoon there is some theory taught, and at the end of the course, all of those taking the course will have to pass a written examination based on material taken from the Red Cross book about life saving.

R. G. Lewis, Red Cross water safety chairman, has pointed out that each thing taught in the course is something which is needed, as has been shown by past experience around water. One afternoon, for example, the students put old clothes on over their bathing suits, then had to get out of the clothes while in the water. Those wearing blue jeans found that tight fitting garments, when wet, are rather hard to get off.

Before the course is completed, each of the students will also have to pass a test in the water, in which he must save a "drowning" person — in this case, it will be one of the instructors, who will be certain to give the student a good idea of some of the problems to be encountered with some one who might actually be drowning.

Those who pass the course will be used by the local Red Cross chapter as a "pool" of life savers and instructors who will pass their knowledge along to others.

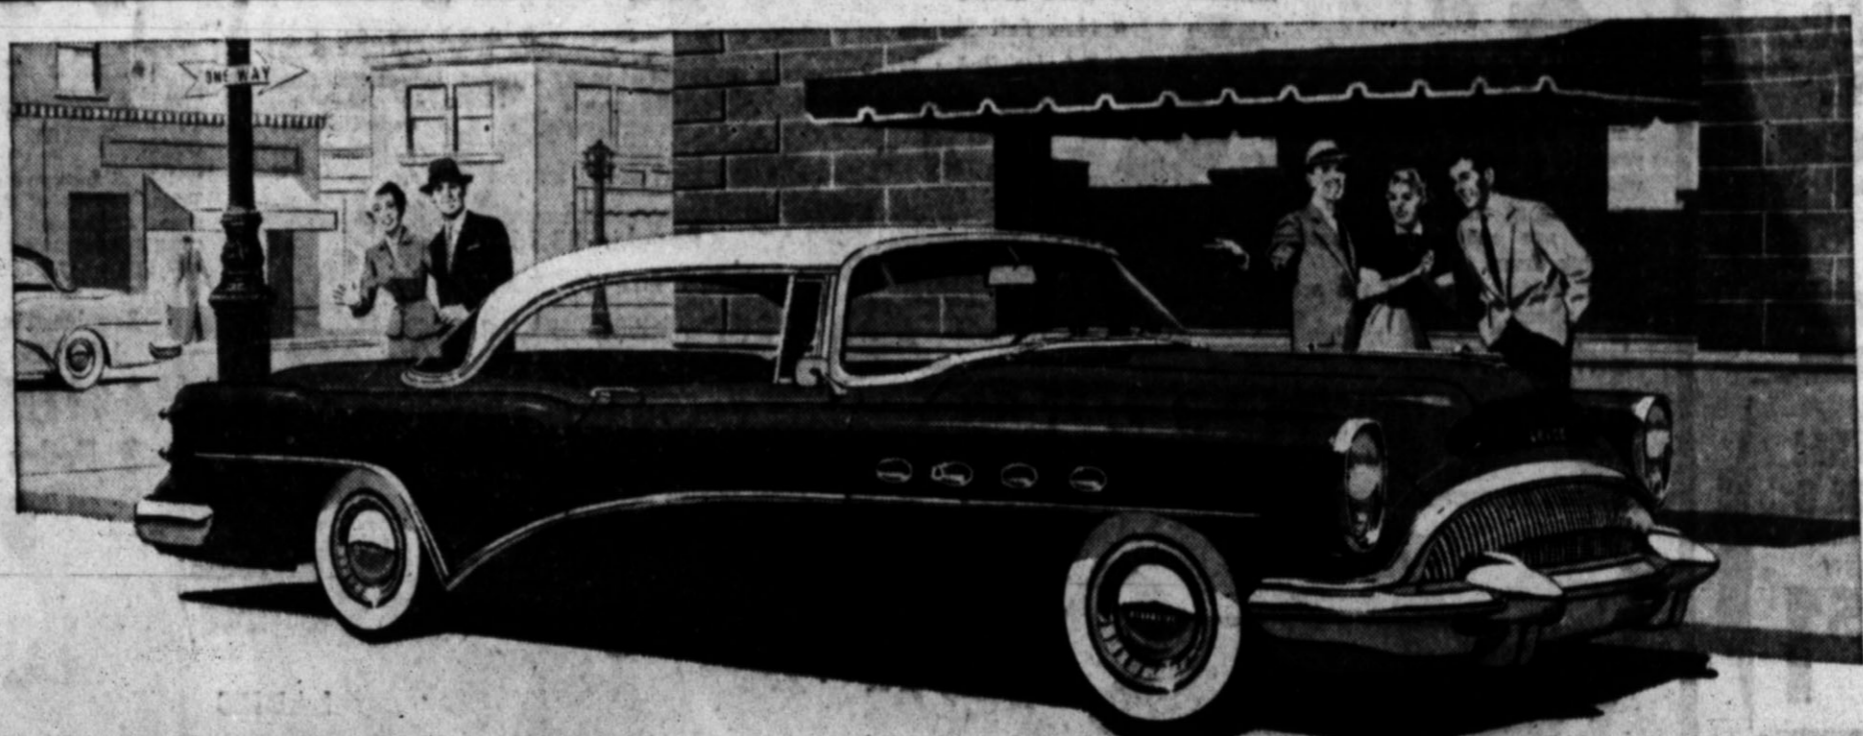

The horse is known to have developed from a four-toed animal about the size of a fox.

"As a crow flies" can mean a pretty zig zag course.

Pre-Cooked Items Add To Freezer Use

Some precooked items packaged in convenient amounts save time and give added pleasure to the freezer owner. Prepared meat dishes are especially helpful since the housewife can often finish up a meal while she reheats some chicken-a la king or some fried chicken from the freezer.

Chicken a la king may be prepared by the usual method, cooled quickly and packaged in moisture-vaporproof containers. It may be stored for from 4 to 6 months, while fried chicken should be used in two to four weeks.

A chicken pie freezes well but the potatoes should be left out for best results.

Another chicken recipe using either freshly cooked or leftover chicken is Escalloped Chicken that is prepared as follows:

Escalloped Chicken
4 cups cooked chicken
1 cup finely cut celery
1 cup soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons minced parsley
2 teaspoons salt
4 slightly beaten eggs
2 cups chicken stock (or 2 chicken bouillon cubes dissolved in 2 cups boiling water).

Cut chicken in rather large pieces. Alternate layers of chicken, celery, crumbs, and parsley in greased casserole. Add salt and eggs to chickenstock; mix thoroughly and pour over chicken.

Bake in pan of hot water in 350 degree oven until set — about one hour. Cool and package. Makes 3 pints. To serve—Thaw in a 300 degree oven approximately 1½ hours. Partially thaw first if desired.

by Argen Draper

For three years the Art Department of the Home Economics Division of Texas Tech. co-operated with the Extension Service in teaching a Creative Design Course to home demonstration club women and to other women who are interested in the course. Friday was the last day of the 1954 course and the day for the exhibits so some of us went down to see what the club women had accomplished. Mrs. V. E. Dodson has been the representative from this county for two years. The club women have been thinking of asking Mrs. Earl DeHart and Miss (Continued on Page 2)

AS PROOF THAT there are more satisfactory ways of killing a chicken than wringing its neck Kermit Schlamb is demonstrating the use of shackles to hold the bird so that its throat may be cut to bleed it properly. Schlamb also showed easy ways to cut through joints and ways of packaging poultry attractively for freezing and for market. The package shown has the skin side up to cover most of the top of the package which not only makes a more pleasing appearance but prevents dehydration. In the picture to the extreme right the "drug store wrap" is being shown the women who attended the Poultry Demonstration at the Hereford Locker Plant recently. (Staff Photo).

Expert Gives Tips On Processing Chickens

Murder — cold-blooded murder, was the women's first impression when Kermit Schlamb of the Extension Service from A&M College, started his poultry demonstration at the Hereford Locker plant on the afternoon of July 21.

However, before the demonstration was over most of those present agreed with Schlamb that it is much more satisfactory to use shackles and cut the bird's throat to allow proper bleeding rather than the more inhumane practice of wringing the chicken's neck or pulling off the head under a pipe or a stick.

Schlamb also pointed out that piercing the back lobe of the brain, located at the junction of the neck and skull, which controls the feather muscles will loosen feathers making it possible to pick without hard-scalding.

Methods Important

Methods used in processing can lower the quality and grade of a bird but they cannot improve upon that which the live bird possessed. Poultry should be young, with well rounded breast, thick thighs and legs and an even covering of fat over the body.

By comparison, Schlamb showed the women why commercially dressed chickens are superior. However, it is possible for the housewife to process the same kind of a product for home use or market if she is willing to follow methods used by the commercial poultry dealer though she isn't apt to be able to attain the same speed in handling.

Perhaps the greatest mistake farm women make in dressing poultry is the usual method of hard scalding which causes the epidermis or outer skin to peel off and causes the fowl to become dry and turn dark rapidly.

To leave the skin in more normal condition and make a much better looking bird for freezing or for market a thermometer should be used to make sure the water for scalding does not exceed 130 degrees. From 123 to 128 is more preferable.

A little detergent added to the scalding water is beneficial, especially for ducks and geese.

Another common practice which destroys the outer skin covering is the use of a brush or cloth to scrub the carcass. Actually the carcass should be washed just enough to clean and then cut and cooled quickly.

Method of drawing and cutting will depend upon the use of the bird but lungs and oil sac should always be removed, as lungs are a source of infection and, as a precautionary measure, they must be discarded.

Soup Stock For Freezing

If the poultry is to be frozen Schlamb recommended stewing the necks and freezing the stock for use in soup later. If several birds are dressed the same day the less desirable parts may be packaged all together or the livers and gizzards wrapped in rice paper and packaged along with the other meat.

Ways of packaging may vary, but material used must be vapor and moisture proof and should be selected to save storage space in the locker. One paper is enough if it is the right kind. Some prefer the drug store wrap while others still use the butcher way of folding the paper and some feel that aluminum foil is the more satisfactory wrap for excluding air in the package.

If plastic bags are used the air may be removed quickly by lowering the bag with the fowl inside into a pot of cold water up to the level where it is to be tied. A rubber band or string will fasten the top securely and the package should be put into the freezer at once and frozen at a temperature of not less than zero.

For any other information on how to process and freeze poultry Schlamb listed several bulletins which are available at the office of the Home Demonstration agent. These include Processing Poultry, Freezing Poultry and Merchandising Turkeys.

Counselmans Back From West Coast

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Counselman returned home July 17 from a trip in which they traveled 5,356 miles in 39 days time. They left home June 8 and traveled Highway 66 to Los Angeles, Calif. They visited the Petrified Forest, Painted Desert, Grand Canyon and Hoover Dam en route to Los Angeles. In Los Angeles they spent several days with friends who used to be their neighbors in West Virginia. From Los Angeles they went north through the heart of California to visit their son, Lt. Col. O. L. Counselman, and family in Sacramento. While there, they went to San Francisco and also visited the State Capitol and Sutters Fort in Sacramento. They went through the largest redwood saw mill in the world at Scotia, Calif. After spending two weeks with their son, they took the coast route through the rest of California and Oregon, going through redwoods in California. Tour of Portland They took a tour in Portland, Ore., where they saw the largest department store west of Denver and also saw an experimental rose garden with more than 300 varieties of roses. A U. S. Supreme Court Justice and his wife also went on the same tour. From Oregon they went into

Washington and visited the Grand Coulee Dam. From there, they went through Idaho and Montana into Wyoming where they spent several days at Yellowstone National Park. Then they went on to Salt Lake City, Utah, and went through the Temple Square. They took a tour in the city and saw the former home of Ezra Taft Benson and the Capitol Building. They also visited the copper mines there. After three days in Salt Lake City they started home by way of Delta, Colo., and visited the Doc Newtons, who are former residents of Summerfield. They arrived home without any trouble. Wyoming produced five million tons of coal in 1953.

Mrs. Ernest McGee had been at Tech all week taking the creative design course. She has had so many courses in craft design that she convinced the instructor she needed to do something else. She worked on landscapes and she had four lovely pictures exhibited. One of the most fascinating things I saw was weaving of chair seats from plastic clothesline. It is easy to handle as it's pliable, very comfortable and easily cleaned. I'm looking with suspicion at some chairs I have. There was a three-legged stool with a very attractive leather cover; also, notebook cover and glazed copper that appealed to me.

All Peiping is saying is that construction this year will be four times greater than last year. Work has started on a second modern cotton mill at Peiping. The first one isn't operating yet. The machine building industry is going 13 times as fast as it did in 1949. There's no report on how it was doing in 1949. Or if it was.

sure. Add 1 teaspoon of salt per quart. Best results from canning and pickle making are obtained from using salt that has had nothing added. It is on the market in 10 pound bags. If in smaller amounts, I haven't seen it. Mrs. R. L. Wilson, Mrs. R. C. Childers and Mrs. J. T. Gulnn will have dressed hens at the market Friday. They would like to take orders for hens to be delivered to you. This is a good time to buy dressed hens as it is time to put pullets in the laying house.

The demonstration on dressing poultry was very well given by Kermit Schlamb. He recommends cutting the chicken's throat and semi-scalding in water not over 130 degrees. When laundering permanently stiffened fabrics do not use chlorine bleach as this weakens the permanent finish. Royce Lee and Merry Kay Pruitt have brought their dresses in to be scored. As they think they'll be away for the 4-H Dress Revue they wore their dresses in early. They both made squaw dresses. Nancy Parsons and Glenda Homfeld have told us they will bring their dresses in soon to be scored. Any others of you who will be away for the Dress Revue can bring your dresses and we'll score them for you. Sunshine.... (Continued from Page 1) Pittman, C. E. # HIS WORD

THE SWORD of the spirit is the word of God. Eph. 6:17. The cutting word is a two-edged sword; truth cutting through falsehood or the hurting word cutting into innocent hearts. Talking is a terrible responsibility. Words create or crush. Your words are your union card; they put you in the construction crew or the wrecking gang. Words are ambassadors of the mind...choose those that will make treaties of peace, not declarations of war. In America there are nearly 300,000 Churches where "His Word" is fed to hungry souls. The word of God is living and active and sharper than any two-edged sword. Jesus offered life to those who would hear His words and believe. You can be sure the best people are church-going people...do you go to church?

CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS SAYS

Postal Bill Is Having Rough Time Trying To Reach Floor Of House

Briefly, here is what happened when an attempt was made to force the passage of a cross-breed postal bill that did not have prior committee approval. The history of the legislation this session is that the Post Office Committee had considered several bills, each of which dealt with a separate and distinct subject.

One of these bills having to do with postal pay increases was reported out favorably by the committee and sent to the Rules Committee. There were only two ways that the bill could come before the entire House of Representatives for final disposition. One was for the Rules Committee to grant a r.r.c. on the bill and send it to the House for consideration.

Shortly after the rules suspension failed, enough signatures were obtained on the discharge petition to bring the original bill before the Congress on August 9. There will be an attempt to adjourn the Congress before that time. Adjournment would mean no postal bill this session. However, the Rules Committee can bring out the bill already approved by the committee, as they should have done in the first place, and the House can consider it any time the leadership wants them to.
