or, on their way to Wagoner. Dr. Channer started to pass a gravel truck, which, he claimed, turned left in front of him without giving any signal.

In addition to injuring the Channers, the collision completely ruined their 1954 Oldsmobile 88, which had less than 4,000 miles showing on the speedometer when they left Hereford.

Dr. Channer also told Edwards that his brother, Harold, was with them at the hospital at the time of the call.

Unvaccinated Dog Nips Two Children

An unvaccinated dog recently brought into Hereford from a ranch nipped two children Thursday and is now under observation, according to City Sanitarian Dr. Jack Gilliland.

Though it is not believed that the dog has rabies, he has been tied up at the home of his owners, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Davenport, 601 W. Fourth, for observation, Dr. Gilliland said.

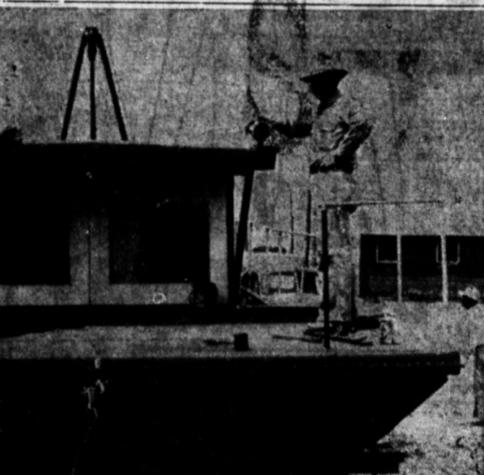

Jana Denton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon W. Denton, 603 W. Fourth, was one of the children who was nipped. The other was a child living down the street.

"So far as is known, this dog did not bite any other dogs, and we are not going to start any drive to make every dog owner keep his pet penned up or on a leash though dogs shouldn't be allowed to roam completely at will," Dr. Gilliland commented.

He did warn that dogs without vaccination or city license tags will be picked up on sight and impounded. Even tagged and licensed dogs will be picked up if they are reported as being nuisances as they roam at large, and the owners will be charged for the pickup.

NO DOUBT ALMOST everyone in Hereford had a Cub Scout trying to sell them a ticket for a dozen doughnuts last month. The boys were raising money to go to summer camp.

TOPSY, THEY CALL this number with the big pontoons and curtains in the wheel house. Roy Calvert, left, remodeled the boat from a much smaller one, adding pontoons, a motor, and many other refinements.

Roy Calvert Remodels Boat For Easy Living On Conchas

Some men will work almost as hard at relaxing as they do at working.

Roy Calvert, who lives southeast of Hereford, was told by his doctor that he needed to give up some of his more strenuous work, so he decided that more fishing was just what he needed.

But fishing can present some problems, too. Calvert had a boat 8 feet wide and 24 feet long, but the thought of nice long weekends at Conchas Lake made him decide that the boat could certainly be improved upon, particularly if he was going to have many friends along to help with the fishing and relaxing.

Bringing the boat back to Hereford, Calvert put it away at the B&D Tractor Company, made his plans and set to work, with the help of quite a number of his friends.

Even A Steering Wheel. Two big wooden pontoons, one on each side, were added. These were covered first with canvas, then with sheet metal. A narrow well was put into one pontoon, and a live box was built into the other pontoon.

Recabbing the boat gave them more headroom inside, and made a sort of wheel house. Up front, he put a steering wheel, and connected that, with airplane cable, to the rudder at the back.

To really make steering nice, he added another steering wheel and the stern, just over the rudder. For power, a Mercury engine was built into the boat, with all controls connected in the pilot house, where two big windows allow him to look out onto the water.

As big as the boat is now—13 feet wide by 30 feet, 10 inches long—Calvert figures that the boat can move along at about 10 miles an hour.

With a two-burner gas hot-plate burring bottled and an ice box, the boat is really fixed up for some full-time living on the water.

Now his lights operate off battery power, but he has plans for adding a generator later, so he can have full-power lights.

Before the boat was ready to leave Hereford, roof railing which would give a non-skid walking surface was put around the wheel house and on top of the wheel house. Then, a small guard rail around the top, which will probably be used for sleeping quarters on warm nights, and another guard rail around the pontoon area pretty well completed the boat.

Crew Of "Specialists"

Calvert, of course, doesn't claim that he did nearly all of the work himself—he gives lots of credit to his friends. "Sandford Smith and Joe Kendall were painters. Alton Biggers was engineer and welder, Emil Dettman was electrician and Orvil Culpepper was the rudder specialist," Calvert said.

When it was time to take the boat up to Conchas, he was "tur-

Year's Twelfth DWI Enters Guilty Plea

An Arizona man became the 12th person to be sentenced in Deaf Smith County Court this year for driving while intoxicated when he pleaded guilty Wednesday afternoon before County Judge Horace L. Schloss.

Paid up by Hereford police on May 22, Jess L. Woolsey, 55, of Tucson, Ariz., decided Wednesday to enter a plea of guilty. He was given a 10-day jail sentence and fine of $75 and costs.

Hereford policeman Clyde Barker, who made the arrest, testified at the trial that he received a radio call about 11:30 o'clock Monday night from the Highway Patrol unit out of Canyon that a two-toned 1951 Chevrolet, driven by a person who was probably drunk, was coming into Hereford.

Passenger Arrested. Further testimony showed that Barker arrested the driver of the car, Woolsey, and also took into custody a man lying in the back seat of the car. The other man, Lem Gust of Hobbs, N. M., had apparently passed out after drinking too much.

Barker also said that he found a pint vodka bottle, about one-fourth empty, setting on the floor of the car between Woolsey's feet.

After sentencing Woolsey, Judge Schloss asked him to surrender his driver's license, and was told that he did not have one. Woolsey was then informed by the judge that his privilege to drive any type of motor vehicle in the State of Texas was suspended for one year from the date of his conviction.

J. B. Wills Attending Red Cross Water Safety School At Denton

Collision Damages Two Automobiles

Approximately $235 damage was done to a 1954 Buick and a 1952 Oldsmobile about 6:50 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the intersection of east Third and Lawton Streets.

Billie Jane Womble, driving the Buick was going east on Third and J. D. Gilbert, driving the Oldsmobile, was making a left turn onto Lawton. The Oldsmobile collided with the left side of the Buick.

About $125 damage was done to the Buick and $110 damage was done to the Oldsmobile.

Gilbert was charged with failure to grant the right-of-way and driving with no operator's license in his possession.

Houston Ewing, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ewing, 210 Avenue I, was admitted to Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Children in Dallas Wednesday. Houston will undergo another operation on his hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Urlin Streu, 413 McKinley, planned to leave this morning on a fishing trip in the mountains near Taos, N. M. They plan to be gone a week.

Four Going To Annual 4-H Meet

Four county 4-H Club members, and two sponsors, will take part in the annual 4-H Round-Up program which begins at College Station next Tuesday and will continue through Thursday.

Two girls—Donna Sue Guseman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Guseman, and Ann Dyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dyer, will go to Amarillo with Mrs. Dyer this afternoon, where they will all board a chartered bus which will take a number of 4-H girls to College Station. They will return to Amarillo the same way next Friday.

Donna Sue is a member of the Walcott 4-H Club, while Ann is a member of the Jolly Girls 4-H Club.

Deaf Smith County Agricultural Agent Hugh Cleazman will leave Hereford Monday with Walter Kaul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Kaul, and Woodrow Northcutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Northcutt. They will drive a pickup to Farwell where they will join Joe Jones, Parmer County agricultural agent, for the trip to College Station.

Expenses for the girls' trip will be paid by the Home Demonstration County Council. The boys will pay their own expenses.

4-H Roundup is essentially a leadership training program. Girls who make the trip are chosen on the basis of their record books, according to Argen Draper, County Home Demonstration Agent. Boys are chosen in a similar fashion, Cleazman said, except that it is first finding who is eligible to attend the Roundup, then finding out which of those are able to make the trip.

Programs at the Roundup include general meetings, which give the 4-H'ers the broad background of the work, then a number of special sessions, for which the 4-H members in attendance are divided into comparatively small groups.

Planned recreation, much of it built around ideas which can be used for 4-H Club work program when the youths return home is also a part of the program.

STAN BARRETT

Barrett Among Final Qualifiers In Golf Contest

Stan Barrett, Hereford golfer, is among the qualifiers for the finals in the National Drizzler Driving Contest.

He turned in a contest drive of 330 yards. Under the contest handicap system used, which was based on the entrant's regular golf game, he received a driving allowance of 30 yards. This gave him a total driving yardage of 360 yards in the competition that began March 20 and closed May 18.

Overall leader was Robert R. Baker of Fort Collins, Colo., with a 404 yard contest drive and a total yardage of 434.

All fifty final qualifiers, representing 21 states, in this event that was staged on a nationwide basis for the first time this year, will receive no handicap allowance in the finals.

Each person will drive three golf balls June 12 or 13 at a course to be selected by a rules committee comprised of Gene Sarazen, Cary Middlecoff and Sam Snead. The longest of the three drives will be his final bid for national honors. The longest drive of the fifty finalists will determine the winner and national driving champion.

An all expense paid vacation of one week for two at Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and six golf lessons by Sam Snead is the first prize.

Some Will Get All Wet Monday

Monday will be "Splash Day" in Hereford, as 10 or 11 youngsters, along with a few older folks, swarm down to the Municipal Swimming Pool to inaugurate another season's fun in the water.

O. D. Lowry, pool supervisor, has announced that the pool will be open each afternoon from 2 o'clock to 6:30 o'clock every day except Thursday. On Thursdays the pool will open at 2 o'clock and close at 6 o'clock, then reopen at 7:30 o'clock and remain open until 9:30 o'clock that night.

Pool admission charges this year will be 25 cents for children 12 years of age and under, and 40 cents for all other persons, Lowry said.

On any night except Thursday, the pool will be available for private parties, with a standard price of $15 to be charged regardless of the number of persons in the party.

Swimming lessons will get underway on June 21. Cost of the course in swimming will be $10 for 12 lessons. Those who are interested in taking the course should register at the pool before June 21, the pool supervisor said.

Students registered Monday and the school closed Friday.

Hairgrove Suit Settled Out Of Court For $4,875

A damage suit against the county in which a total of $147,000 was asked in the way of damages of the result of the death of Dee Roy Hairgrove last December has been settled for $4,875, according to a judgment filed in District Court.

In the settlement, $4,375 was allowed for Mrs. Hairgrove, and $500 for Michael C. Hairgrove, a minor.

Hairgrove was killed, and Mrs. Hairgrove injured, when the car they were in had a collision with a county-owned pickup at the intersection of a dirt road near Westway last December. Hairgrove died a few hours after the accident occurred.

In her suit, Mrs. Hairgrove had asked damages for the injuries she had received, for the loss of the car, and for other damages allegedly incurred as the result of Hairgrove's death.

The case was settled out of court. At the time of the accident, the county was carrying $10,000 public liability and property damage insurance on the pickup truck.

Four In A Row Record Set By Jim Hill Team

By Billy Paul Knox
Hotel Jim Hill was their fourth straight game handling the Road Knights a 15-4 shellacking in the first game while Summerfield downed Piggly Wiggly 11-4 in the second game of a double header Thursday night.

In the first game Karl Hutchinson and Blue Turpin pitched a six-hitter for the Hotel team to give the Knights their fourth loss in five games. Bob Clark pitched a four-hitter for Summerfield in the second game.

The first game might be termed as a massacre and was never close. Hotel scored eight in the fifth to maintain a steady margin. The Road Knights scored one in the third, one in the fourth and two in the fifth.

Members of the hotel team led off the game by scoring eight runs in the first inning. The first four batters — Hutchinson, Renner, Turpin and Barrett — got successive hits. Winkler broke the string with a pop up but the next five men — Hair, Carrol, Ross, Hale, and again Hutchinson — also got bingles. The next two batters ended the inning but Jim Hill scored eight runs on nine hits in the first inning marathon.

The Road Knights were scoreless for the first two innings.

The second inning was quite a contrast. Jim Hill scored only one run on one hit, a double by Stan Barrett. An error played a major part in pushing the run across.

While the Hotel was going scoreless the Road Knights picked up one run in the third. The only hit was a single by Dawson.

In the top of the fourth Hotel made it 12-1 by picking up three runs. Hale blasted a home run with two bases aboard to send the runs across.

The Road Knights again scored one run in the fourth. A single by Albracht and a double by Bridges combined with an error made the score 12-2.

Jim Hill completed their total of 15 runs by scoring three in the fifth. The only hit was a double by Hair but the Hotel crew drew two walks and were aided by an error.

In the last of the fifth the Road Knights scored two runs. After Long had received first on an error, Urbanczyk homered for the two runs. Final score was 15-4.

Leading hitter for the Hotel was Dub Hain with three hits. Albracht led the Road Knights with two hits. Hutchinson was winning pitcher. Rex Lee was the loser.

Summerfield readily defeated Piggly Wiggly 11-4 in the second game. Bob Clark pitched a fine four-hitter to lead Summerfield to the victory.

Piggly Wiggly was held scoreless the first two innings.

In the first Summerfield scored four runs. Two doubles by Clark and Botkin, a single by Neil and two errors committed by Piggly Wiggly turned the trick.

The Farmers exactly duplicated their first inning run output in the second. They scored four more runs, making the score 8-4.

There were two errors and Summerfield drew two walks and connected with two hits.

Piggly Wiggly scored their first run in the third. Bybee led off with a single and took second on Pickens grounder. Bybee sped across the plate when Duane Baize threw wild to first after fielding Wilson's grounder. Summerfield did not score in the third and Piggly Wiggly did not score in the fourth.

Summerfield scored one run in the fourth making the score 9-1. Howell singled and Harper doubled him in.

Piggly Wiggly's second run was recorded in the fifth. A walk, a single by Wallace and an error produced the marker. Summerfield was scoreless in the fifth as was Piggly in the sixth.

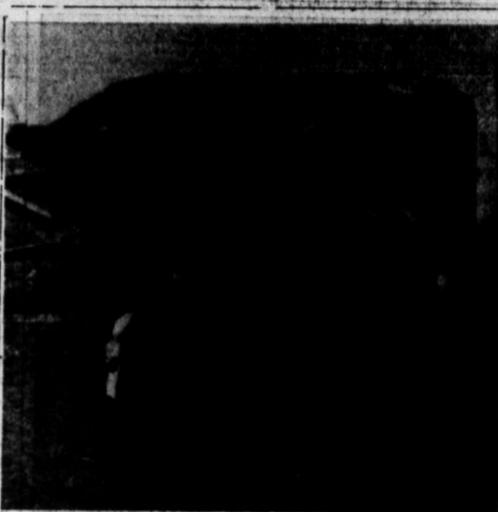

Summerfield scored their final two runs in the sixth. Two errors were committed by Piggly Wiggly and Summerfield collected two hits.

A double, a walk and an error netted the final two runs for Piggly Wiggly in the seventh.

Bybee paced Piggly Wiggly with two hits. Howell, Clark and Neil led Summerfield also with two hits. Summerfield has now won four and lost two while Piggly Wiggly has a two-four record.

Texas In Washington

By Tex Easley

Washington, May 28 — Wright Morrow, dignified, silver-haired Houston oil man, lost out when he showed up uninvited at the Democratic National Committee meeting this week and sought recognition as Texas' national committeeman.

But that may have been only another skirmish in a 1 1/2 year feud between Democratic party leaders in Texas and the party's national leadership. The outcome may well set a precedent for similar political situations.

The background, briefly is this: Morrow was selected in Texas by Democrats and confirmed by the Chicago 1952 Democratic convention. He broke with the party, however, to support Eisenhower for president. He tendered his resignation as national committeeman to the Texas State Democratic Executive committee, which refused to accept it, and sent a copy to National Democratic headquarters. National Chairman Stephen Mitchell, presiding at the meeting this week, said the resignation was in effect as far as he was concerned. Mrs. H. H. Weinert, Texas Democratic National Committeewoman was caught in the cross-fire. She said she intends to recommend to Gov. Allan Shivers and others back home that a way be worked out to get a national committeeman in good standing so that "my state will have full representation."

Mitchell, in a report to the committee, said other Texas Democrats have independently carried on their party's cause without benefit of formal organization "since Texas has no national committeeman nor the state committee has maintained communication" with the national headquarters.

He observed they had so far raised more at $10-a-plate dinners than any other state — $70,000 sent in to fill a 1953 quota, and added: "But a more import outcome, in the long run, will be the participation in party affairs of many Democrats who had never been active before and the rise of new and vigorous leaders who will be a solid source of assurance that Texas will not go Republican again in a future presidential election."

Morrow declared Mitchell's action was "an affront" to the people of Texas. He declared he had put what he considered his country's welfare above party in supporting Eisenhower, backing him as an individual and not as a Republican party member.

Beauty At Home

Q. How can I exercise to reduce large, flabby-looking thighs?
A. Lie on back on floor with legs straight and arms resting on floor at sides. Bend both knees and place feet on floor fairly close to your hips. Lift your heels from floor, but keep your toes on it, and roll from side to side, slapping your legs on the floor at the end of each roll.

Q. What is a good, inexpensive, general astringent for the skin?
A. One of the best is witch hazel, sprayed on with an atomizer.
Q. Do you think I should lose some weight? I am 22 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weigh 135 pounds. My bust measures 34 inches, waist 26 inches, and hips 35 inches.
A. Your weight and measurements seem perfect to me. You might take waist-reducing exercises for loss of an inch, although this depends pretty much upon general build.

Former Local Residents Among Graduates Of Three Universities

Four more students from this area received degrees from Eastern New Mexico University, the University of Texas and Hardin-Simmons University in commencement exercises the latter part of May.

Donna Jean Stagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Stagner, 201 Fuston, is among nine Hardin-Simmons University students who graduated with honor Monday at the 62 annual commencement exercises. Miss Stagner graduated from Hereford High School in 1950 and entered college that fall.

Graduating from Eastern New Mexico University at Portales, N. M., are Dale Doak and Louis E. Pyka.

Doak, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Doak, 217 Avenue E., graduated from Hereford High School in 1950 and entered college that fall. He majored in Physical Education.

Pyka, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pyka, 309 Avenue F., graduated from Hereford High School in 1943 and entered military service. He first attended college at West Texas State in Canyon, in 1951 then entered ENMU in 1952. Hair Dye
To darken the hair, mix 2 ounces of bay rum, 2 ounces glycerin, 2 ounces alcohol, and 10 ounces infusion of black tea. The tea should be mixed 1 ounce to 12 ounces of boiling water. Let the tea steep for 30 minutes and then cool. Then add the other mixture.

Pies
When the filling of pies overflows in the oven, insert a short piece of uncooked macaroni in the top of the crust. If done at the start it will prevent overflowing.

Putty
To make putty mix linseed oil with sifted whiting to the proper consistency.

Pillows
Use oilcloth for an inside cover of the porch pillows, and wash material for the outside. If this is done rain cannot injure them in any way.

Ants
Ants can be gotten rid of by placing lumps of gum camphor in their runways and near sweets infested by them.

Mosquitoes
A good remedy for mosquitoes is made by mixing equal parts oil of sassafras and alcohol, and touching to the hands, face, and legs. Or rub the face and hands with a little oil of pennyroyal.

When Sewing
After threading the needle, tie a knot in the end of the thread which was last broken from the spool and the thread will not kink.

Fly Paper
Fly paper can be removed from garments and furniture by washing with lukewarm water.

Feet
To prevent perspiration of the feet, powder the stockings with one part chlorinated lime, one part prepared chalk, and one part powdered starch. Bathe the feet daily in cold water.

Squeaks
To stop any annoying squeaks rub the hinges, drawers and the like with a little soft soap.

Jaycee-Ettes Hear Program About National Convention Highlights

Mrs. Jack Mitchell and Mrs. Dennis Lomas were hostesses at the Jaycee-Ette meeting held at the Jaycee Clubhouse Wednesday night.

The program, given by Mrs. Bill Howard, was a review of highlights of the 1949 National Jaycee Convention held in Colorado Springs, Colo., which she attended.

She also told the group something of the entertainment features included and gave information as to the type of clothes members will be needing for this year's trip. The national convention will be held in Colorado Springs June 14-19. Several members of the local group are planning to attend.

During the business session a committee was named to plan a hay-ride to be held soon. Those to be on the committee are Mrs. Bill Howard, Mrs. Hershel Miller, and Mrs. Bill Williams.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames John Aiken, Dennis Lomas, Hershel Miller, Gerald Hale, Don Fudge, Carroll Gess, Sam Nelson, Ray Bosley, Jack Mitchell, Bill Williams, Bill Howard, and Harold Loerwald.

This Tastes Good In Texas

 - 1-16 teaspoon sugar
 - 1-8 teaspoon pepper

 - Clove garlic
- Wash tomatoes. Cut off tops and scoop out centers. Saute' minced onion and chopped mushrooms in butter. Add to tomato pulp and simmer 4 to 5 minutes. Season and add bread crumbs. Add slightly beaten egg. Heap mixture lightly into tomatoes. Top with tomato cover. Place in baking dish and bake 30 minutes or until brown. If garlic is used, rub frying pan with a clove before melting the butter. Serves 8.

Let's Eat This For One Day

- Breakfast: Orange Juice, Bacon, Poaches - Fried Eggs, Biscuits
- Butter or Margarine, Coffee and Milk
- Dinner: Rolled Rib Roast, Baked Irish Potatoes, Fresh Green Beans, Pickled Apple
- Hot Rolls - Butter or Margarine, Lemon Snow, Iced Tea, Milk
- Supper: Tomato Surprise, Grilled Cheese Sandwich, Butter Scotch Cookies, Egg Peppert

Timely Tips
1. To save time dip ripe tomatoes for salads in boiling water for about 1 minute, chill in the refrigerator and peel when you are ready to use them.

2. Two cups of tomato juice contain enough ascorbic acid (Vitamin C) for one person's daily requirement for good health.

3. When buying tomatoes, select those that are smooth, well rounded, plump, heavy for size, evenly colored, free from blemish, and not over ripe. Puffy or watery tomatoes are poor flavored and wasteful.

Record For Book

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Librarians at the Toledo Public Library estimated the fine on a book which turned up the other day at $263—but they said they would forget about it since there was no record who took the book out back in 1882.

The book, "David Crockett: His Life and Adventures," was retrieved from among the books left by the late Antone Zeitler, who died several months ago. A note in the back said a 3-cents-a-day fine would be levied if kept more than two weeks.

"David Crockett" cost $1 new.

Beauty At Home

Q. Please suggest a good way to clean one's combs and brushes.

A. You can do a good job by washing them in water to which two or three tablespoons of bicarbonate of soda have been added.

Q. What hairstyle should a girl with a very thin face adopt?

A. In order to impart a rounded effect to her cheeks, she should dress her hair low on the forehead and fluffed out over the ears.

Q. What is a good bust developing exercise?

A. Stand tall, arms uplifted so that upper arms are slightly above a position at right angles to body, palms toward each other. Clench fists hard and pull elbows in and down a few inches. Relax, and repeat. You should feel the pull on your chest muscles.

Look Not On The WQINE

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. (AP)—Elmer Simpson figured it was right kindly of the fellow to offer him a drink of wine. Several, even.

Sometime later he woke up with a headache and minus his new shoes. Fellow did leave him an old pair of shoes, though.

Q. How can one's hairdress help minimize the effect of a sagging chin?

A. By drawing the hair back high on the head, you can call attention away from the chin. Don't wear it low at the back, as it attracts attention to the lower face.

Q. How can I make my own teeth cleanser at home?

A. Baking soda and table salt are really fine dentifrices. Use half and half, and add a few drops of oil of cinnamon for a pleasant taste and aroma.

Q. Please suggest a cleansing compound for blackhead-infested skin.

A. Mix a tablespoon of oatmeal and one of cornmeal with soap and water, and rub this over the blackhead area; then scrub and rinse.

At The Movies

HONDO

Showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Star Theatre. Starring John Wayne, Geraldine Page and Ward Bond. With its suspenseful action, exciting Indian raids and terrific tension, "Hondo" is classed as one of the best westerns ever filmed. John Wayne as a U. S. cavalryman gives a magnificent performance as he tries to protect friends from the war-like Apaches.

This Technicolor picture was filmed in its entirety in the authentic backgrounds of the southwest, on location near Comarge, Mex.

Lingerie Show
A Lingerie Show for ladies only will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Star Theatre. The show will be sponsored by Hereford merchants.

SAILOR OF THE KING

Showing Monday and Thursday at the Star Theatre. Starring Jeffrey Hunter, Michael Rennie and Wendy Hiller.

"Sailor of the King," a story of patriotism and passion was penned by C. S. Forester, the modern master of great sea adventures who is at his finest in this tale of warfare in the South Pacific. All the devotion to duty, the valor and tradition that has been the mainstay of the British Empire is symbolized in one youth's dedication as chronicled in "Brown on Resolution," and adapted for the screen by Valentine Davies.

The movie was made with the co-operation of Britain's Royal Navy against a background of actual battle.

No matter how far you get into the doghouse, someone always figures out a way to get in further. Dr. L. B. Barnett and I thought we had just about moved back into the third cell when we had our wives drive us to the Amarillo airport, then took off on a 600-mile flight — with the only set of car keys in our pockets.

Alex Thompson has gone us one better, however, and is now lodged in the fourth cell of the Thompson doghouse. Choice of the word "cell" serves a double purpose in this case, since it infers another addition to the doghouse and, despite the spelling, also expresses an accurate condition. Alex, incidentally achieved his accomplishment, with an automobile. It happened Thursday night when he and Mrs. Thompson were returning from Gainesville, where Alex attended funeral services for his brother. The hour was well past 9 o'clock and Mrs. Thompson, tired from the long trip, was resting in the back of the car when Alex stopped at a station in Plainview for gasoline. Alex went into the restroom while they were filling the tank. About this time, Mrs. Thompson roused up and likewise went into the restroom. Alex came back, found the car completely serviced, paid the man, got in the car and took off for Hereford.

Arriving home, Alex got out, opened the back door of the car and reached in to awaken Mrs. Thompson. You can imagine his surprise when he discovered no one in the rear seat. Alex admits that his lower jaw dropped clear down to his shoe tops. When he recovered slightly, Alex called the station and found that Mrs. Thompson was sitting there waiting — but none too patiently. Alex has been married a long time, though, and he knows how to handle difficult situations. He got his grandson, Paul Bunyan Schroeder to go over and pick up Mrs. Thompson. Audrey has cooled off considerably by now, but if you decide to mention the deal to her be sure she is in a good humor before you say one word.

I am beginning to doubt those figures which list millions of unemployed people. Anyway, I am sure that few of them are printers. Even at the salaries they draw, it is difficult to find an experienced, reliable printer in this part of the country.

One of our boys left suddenly for California, putting the shop in quite a spot. So far, we have had three or four nibbles. Some are inefficient, others don't like the town and one, at least, gave the appearance of drinking on the job. What we need is a competent, efficient man who would also make a good citizen in the community. If you have a cousin or an uncle or know of some experienced printer who wants a good job, call Stanley Phillip (1187-W).

Few modern day boys seem interested in printing, but it is really one of the best trades a young man can enter, especially if he is mechanically inclined. Back during the depression years, 1931-32, printers were drawing $35 and $40 a week, while other folks were lucky to get $15 to $25. In addition, they were hard to find.

When I get strung out on this subject, I always recall the story about Benjamin Franklin's mother-in-law. She objected to Franklin's marriage to her daughter, because Franklin was a printer and, said the lady: There is already one printing shop in the United States, which lead her to doubt if there would ever be sufficient business for two print shops in the U. S. A.

If you are one of those people who figures that the farmer has it easy, this is a good time to change your mind. I was talking with Charley Sowell Friday and he says he never saw so many farmers working so hard. Tractors are humming everywhere, many of them being operated by wives and daughters. Which reminds me, my wife says she is going to quit mowing the lawn if I don't get the mower blades sharpened.

It came from a long way off, but International News Service recently bared the secret of Hereford's "Town Without A Toothach" slogan. The article, after reviewing findings of Dr. G. W. Heard and State Health Official Edward Taylor of Austin, attributed the condition to the "amazingly high content of phosphorus and calcium, both of which help build sturdy teeth and bones." It further indicated that the minerals were assimilated into Deaf Smith wheat, vegetables, and milk from caliche formations underlying topsoil of the county.

The clipping was relayed to The Brand from Germany and was originally sent by Mrs. H. W. Pimm, whose husband is stationed there. She will be remembered as the former Patricia Ann Loving of Hereford. She said she got quite a thrill over finding the piece about her hometown that far away.

George Heard, son of the doctor, was also in this week for a brief visit. George says we should recognize the effort expended by parents in sponsoring a party for the seniors this year. George was one of the sponsors, along with quite a few others, and he says it is wonderful how well-mannered and how well-behaved the youngsters were at the big, joint party. A little more interest on behalf of the parents, George feels, will contribute much toward curbing tendencies toward delinquency. Maybe he is right. Anyway, it seems to have come off very well, indeed. Parents are frequently inclined to lean too heavily upon the schools and the teachers. Anyway, George is enthused and if he keeps on displaying such interest, I predict that he will wind up being president of the P.T.A.—or something.

At least, that is usually what happens when anyone shows even a slight interest in some phase of community work. Maybe it is right, maybe it is wrong—but it sure is inevitable.

Douglas Meador from down Matador way got strung out the other day and wound up with quite a bit of philosophy on politics. Some of it makes sense, too. Doug says:

"The only thing of smaller consequence than a politician's promise is a voter's promise to the politician. More often than not when a candidate talks with a prospective supporter he gets smiles, nods of approval, yesses. Mostly the prospect wants to make the candidate feel good. He doesn't intend to lie when he wishes the candidate well. Mostly the prospective supporter does not want to commit himself and he doesn't mean to when he simply tries to be polite with the politician. The old head in politics knows this and discounts it when he goes to casting up his chances for a successful campaign. The new comer in the business often takes smiles, nods, well-wishes for a promise of a ballot come election day."

Time may be a great healer, but it's no beauty specialist.

Rose-Johnson Nuptials Held Tuesday In Lubbock

Miss Joyce Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin C. Rose Sr., married Clarence F. Johnson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence F. Johnson Sr., of Aberdeen, S. D., at 10 o'clock on May 29 in Ford Memorial Chapel of the First Baptist Church in Lubbock.

Rev. Louis Pabor, pastor of the Redeemer Lutheran Church, read the double ring ceremony as the couple and their attendants stood before an altar background of white chrysanthemums and greenery.

The wedding music was presented by Miss Reba Dones, soloist, of Hereford, and Jerry Hancock, organist, of Lubbock.

Miss Dones' offerings were "Through the Years" and "Because" preceding the ceremony, and "The Lord's Prayer" in benediction. The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and the recessional.

The bride was attended by Miss Voniece Johnson, sister of the bridegroom, who wore a white linen frock made similar to that worn by the bride. Her headdress was of simulated pearls and tulle.

She carried a crescent bouquet of dark red Happiness Roses. Wadi Farach of Tegucigalpa, Honduras, served as best man. Ushers were Carl Spratt of Lubbock, brother-in-law of the bride, and Austin C. Rose Jr., brother of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white cotton lace ballerina gown made princely style with scoop neckline and bracelet-length sleeve. She wore a pearlized lace Juliet cap and carried a sheaf of pink roses and Stephanotis.

For luck she had a sixpence in her shoe and carried out the traditional customs of something old and borrowed, her mother's wedding band, and a blue garter. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the church parlors. The table was laid in white and centered with red Happiness

Roses. Assisting in the house party were Mrs. Gerald Smith, Miss Mary Jane Cain, Miss Lorraine Ashton, Miss Carolyn Bowen and Daphne Maeker.

Following a short wedding trip to New Mexico, the couple will be at home at 2601 26th St., in Lubbock where both are senior students at Texas Technological College.

For traveling the bride donned a white linen sheath dress with navy and white jacket and white accessories.

The bride's mother chose a navy sheer for the wedding, worn with navy and white accessories and red rose corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a gray-blue organza dress trimmed in white embroidery. Her accessories were in white and her corsage was of red roses.

The bride is a graduate of Hereford High School. She is a senior at Texas Technological College, majoring in elementary education.

Mr. Johnson graduated from Aberdeen, S. D., High School and attended Midwestern University at Wichita Falls for two years. He will receive his degree at Texas Tech in architecture in August.

While at Texas Tech he has served as president of the Tech chapter of American Institute of Architects, and is employed by Lee and King, architects, in Lubbock.

Attending the wedding from Hereford were the Bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Austin C. Rose Jr., Mrs. Iley Barton and children and Mrs. J. T. Rose.

Wiltshire-Forbus Wedding Plans Are Announced

Entertainments for the summer bride mark the June social calendar as announcements, showers and midsummer wedding plans get under way.

One of the prettiest of early summer parties was the announcement tea given by Mrs. B. M. Wiltshire to reveal the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Patsy, to Bill Forbus.

The tea was held Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. C. McCracken, aunt of the bride-elect, where decorations and appointments carried out the honoree's chosen colors of blue and white.

Receiving Line Mrs. McCracken greeted the guests at the door and the receiving line included Mrs. Wiltshire, the honoree, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Carl Forbus. Mrs. Glenn Wilson and Earline Phillips assisted guests in signing the bride's book. Informal music was provided throughout the afternoon by Gayle Gault, Sharon Dee Moore and Mrs. Cliff Estes.

Others in the house party were Sylvia McCracken, Mrs. Bob West of Fort Sumner, N. M., Mrs. Hershel Miller, Mrs. John Dale Kelly, Mrs. Mark Benefield, Miss Ruby Shaffer of Friona, and Mrs. W. E. Wiltshire, grandmother of the bride elect.

Mrs. Sam Steele of Fort Sumner, N. M., aunt of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Bob Cummings, sister of the bridegroom-to-be, presided at the silver tea service.

The refreshment table was laid with a cutwork linen cloth. Large and small flowers were combined in a tiered arrangement featuring the chosen colors. Finch roses, white stock, candy tuft and tinted daisies in a tiered crystal container topped by a Dresden cupid figurine, formed the center piece. Flanking the flowers at the base were Dresden cupids backed by flame tipped tapers in crystal holders.

News of the wedding was revealed on wedding bells bearing the names "Patsy and Bill" linked by satin streamers with the wedding date, "July 31," inscribed. Tea dainties were in shapes of wedding bells and tiny sugarpan bells in blue, topped cake squares.

The wedding will take place in the First Methodist Church sanctuary.

Hereford High Graduates Miss Wiltshire is a Hereford High School graduate. She will complete her work for a degree at Texas Technological College in July. While at the Lubbock school she served as president of the Junior Council and historian for the Delta Delta Delta sorority. She was secretary of the Tech Chamber of Commerce, secretary of Horn Hall and secretary of Phi Upsilon Omicron, home economics honorary sorority.

Mr. Forbus, also a Hereford High School graduate, received his degree from Hardin-Simmons University on May 11, and plans to enter Baylor Dental School in Dallas next fall.

While at Hardin-Simmons he served as president of the senior class and was elected to Who's

Colorful History Is Found Behind Squaw Dress Designs

If Indian costumes could come to life, they would tell a story of customs and spirit kept in traditional loyalty to tribe and race.

The original squaw dress worn by Janice Craig in the Pioneer Day Parade could tell how long ago the missionaries persuaded the Indian women to accept the squaw dress in place of the skins they fashioned into garments, and which, once accepted, has become traditional.

It could tell how patterns were matched, colors blended or contrasted in ritualistic skill to preserve tribal doctrines and practices.

This squaw dress was made by an Apache Indian woman for Corinne Jennings when she went as a teacher to the White River Indian Reservation in Arizona in 1927. At that time, ironically enough, the Indians were being urged to accept a more modern type of dress, and now, 27 years later, the squaw dress is being copied and worn by American women from coast to coast. Even with choice of material however, the present day designers have found it hard to improve the design and colors so artistically worked out by the Indians.

It took 12 yards to make the dress and the Indian women wore the blouse hanging free over the skirt instead of the present tucked-in fashion. It is a rosy pink cotton with small blue and black figures with black tape trim.

In comparison, Sylvia McCracken wears the modern squaw dress, which has become an American fad. It was specially made for the Pioneer Parade from turquoise blue cotton with trimming in silver and white braid.

While the Indian squaw had no thought of suiting their colors to type or coloring, the modern girl uses the oldest form of art in selecting colors to give appropriate harmony for her style of beauty, as emphasized in Sylvia's dress.

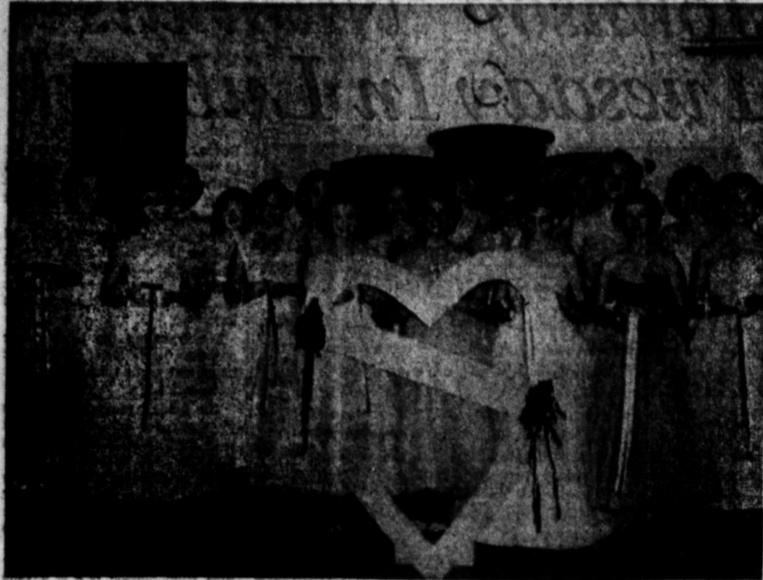

Today on the Indian reservations, the past is always present and the customs and traditions now being exemplified in song and dance by American youth help preserve the spirit of the freedom-loving Indian whose influence is still felt through the records of the past.

HOW TO FORCE

Recently we have had a lot of people requesting information on how to force hens to molt. Here quote James R. Miller, Associate Editor of Poultry Tribune is how to do it.

The first step in force molting is to be sure that the birds are comfortably housed. Take all the mess away from the birds and turn the water off for 36 hours. After this the birds are given water only two hours a day, each day until production takes a big drop. This usually takes 7 to 10 days. However, it is important that enough drinking space be allowed so all the birds may get a drink during the two hour drinking period.

The only feed which the birds should receive is grain, fed at 1/2 pint of the per hundred birds for the first five days. Increase this to 3/4 of a pint daily for the rest of the molting period. The birds should be fed three times a day. If the birds are thin or overweight, feed more or less grain accordingly. It is also important that the grain feeding contain extra Vitamin A.

If cannibalism becomes a problem, it will be necessary to take the proper steps to combat it. As soon as the birds have completed their molt, gradually increase their water intake until it reaches normal.

YOU MAY SAVE

Show your much more grain a week and save before he's a 200 percent. It averages 4 to 15 bushels a week. Worry pigs don't waste any more feed. But who take a chance when working with Purina?

Pig Wörmer is so easy. Just feed as a complete ration for 3 days when you wean them.

Merlin Kaul, who lives about a mile south of Westway, told me Friday that he sure did like this new Pig Wörmer, and it really got the job done for him. By the way Merlin has some 3 month old Purebred Poland China Boars for sale, and knowing his stock and the care he gives them, they should boost the blood lines in almost anyone's herd of swine.

PULLETS

Most of our customers regard the growing period as the most important time in a bird's life. If she doesn't develop a big frame and stamina to carry her through the year she'll never make the grade in the laying pen.

Switching to poor quality growing rations is a temptation that has tripped up a lot of folks with good intentions. Remember, next fall and winter you'll be looking for steady, high production. You can't expect much from your pullets unless you build 'em for it now.

I was just reading a pullet growing report from the Purina Research Farm. Purina-fed pullets at 20 weeks out-weighted their sisters fed an ordinary ration by 1 1/2 lbs. Then during the fall and early winter months—the period of highest priced eggs, pullets grown on Purina laid 21 MORE EGGS PER BIRD.

WE ARE READY, willing and able to give you fast, dependable, friendly service. Let us supply your feed and farm supply needs. Come in and get acquainted.

RECOLLECTIONS OF GRADUATION were strong when the Hereford High School class of 1929 held a reunion last Sunday in Hotel Jim Hill. An extra chuckle was evoked when Erle Marie Foster Brown, now of Lubbock, hobbled in, the victim of a recent fall. She graduated while using crutches, because she had been injured in a fall then. Those attending the reunion were, front row, from left: Ruby Wade Stevenson,

Class Of 1929 Holds Reunion

Hereford High School's class of 1929 held their first reunion last Sunday at a luncheon in Hotel Jim Hill.

For nearly all of them, it was a time when long-forgotten incidents were recalled, and once more they went over the roll, checking the names of some who could not be with them this year, and of others who will never attend another reunion.

George Heard, who had done much of the work in organizing the reunion, was reminded that he had played the piano at his commencement exercises, something that he had forgotten entirely. After the luncheon, the class will and class prophecy were read, and all of those present had a laugh as they recalled some of the careers which had been predicted for them.

Present Addresses
Names and addresses of all living members of the class were collected prior to the reunion. Present addresses of the class of '29 members include:

Dorothy Arnold Cowhan, 233 Ninth St., Idaho Falls, Idaho; Ollie Arnold Mitchell, Artesia, N. M.; Fred Axe, Rt. 3, Hereford; Frank Cogdell, 915 Park Ave., Hereford; Charles Ferguson, Woodville.

Erle Marie Foster Brown, 2220 Tenth St., Lubbock; Joemie M. Haberer, Star Rt., Muleshoe; Augustine Gregory, Hereford; John N. Jacobsen Jr., Hereford; Vera Hamilton Humphries, 1307 2th St., Lubbock; La Juana Hanna Allen, 2614 24th St., Lubbock.

George Heard, Box 346, Hereford; Vida Hicks, 311 Witherspoon Ave., Hereford; Keith Guthrie, 42 N. Des Cominos, Ventura, Calif.; Jewell Laney, Lubbock; Frances Lundrum Crawford, San Antonio; George Jowell, Box 47, Hereford; Bill Mitchell, Mitchell Implement Co., Roswell, N. M.; Alton Miller, 317 Sunset, Amarillo; Guilford Miller, 4611 Cole St., Amarillo; Mae Millard Curlee, 611 Elizabeth St., Wichita Falls; Wright Ireland, 3020 Westhaven Ave., Amarillo.

SPORT SHOTS

By Harold V. Ratliff
Associated Press Sports Editor

Arkansas has moved into Texas for football players and nobody's mad about it. The Razorbacks should have been doing this all the time. They're members of the Southwest Conference and certainly have a right to work the same territory as the other members, all of whom are in Texas.

One of the major results of the Arkansas aggressiveness in trying to build its football team with the plentitude of schoolboy stars from Texas will be to make the Razorbacks better attractions. The complaint has been that Arkansas is a poor draw playing a game in Texas no matter what kind of team it may have.

But with the acquisition of Texas boys, Arkansas can become an attraction comparable to the Texas teams. Local names always pull a crowd.

Some other state's schools going after Texas athletes creates the opposite effect. Take Oklahoma; it gets plenty of athletes from Texas and it doesn't pay any attention to Southwest Conference rules.

Charles Noland, Hereford; Duane Orr, 1424 Annapolis St., Corpus Christi; W. Ezell Patterson, Amarillo; E. Dora Smith Clark, 1884 26th St., Lomita, Calif.; Lillamae Smith Cornett, Rt. 2, Neodosha, Kans.; Evelyn Smith Pate, 1804 Fillmore, Amarillo.

Georgia Sparkman Andrews, Star Rt., Hereford; J. A. Tapp, 113 Manana, Clovis, N. M.; Imogene Wilson Rice, 1221 Peck, Duncan, Okla.; Liston Wilson, Hereford; Ruby Witherspoon Carmichael, 923 Blevins, Hereford; Ralph Wolf, Jacksboro; Ruby Wade Stevenson, 3007 S. Tyler, Amarillo; Leatrus Walsler Clark, 235 Ave. I, Hereford; and La Verne Baker Roberts, 310 Bruce, Dumas, Tex.

in doing so either. A boy can sign a letter of intent at some Southwest Conference school but Oklahoma will do its best to get him anyway. Oklahoma has been succeeding far too much for the comfort of the Southwest Conference members. Not that Oklahoma is breaking any rule, because it is not bound by the Southwest Conference's letter of intent, but the Sooners are making important inroads on top Texas material.

Arkansas getting Texas athletes is O. K. with the other Southwest Conference members because it will actually help the Southwest Conference. Oklahoma getting them, however, hurts the Southwest Conference.

The letter of intent, while it is beneficial to the Southwest Conference members in putting down the mad drive for athletes and preventing hard feelings between the conference schools since they are not going to be taking each others athletes after they are signed up, in reality works to the benefit of Oklahoma.

The boy who has signed a letter of intent is free from visitation by coaches of the Southwest Conference. So he's prime game for Oklahoma. He can be courted without interference.

The letter of intent has more benefits than detriments and the Southwest Conference isn't going to abandon it any time soon, if ever, just because it can not be enforced as to schools in other states. There are no prospects of an agreement with other conferences to respect the letter of intent. The only way to bring that about would be for the NCAA to have a general rule calling for letters of intent, or contracts as they actually are. It would cut out much of the criticism that is thrown at the colleges today over their recruiting. However, this is not likely to ever come about.

One thing the Southwest Conference schools could do to help the situation would be to move into Oklahoma and other states that do not recognize their letter of intent rule and do some recruiting of their own in those areas. Surely the Southwest Conference schools can offer as much as Oklahoma to a good athlete even though he might be in Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Ramey and their granddaughters, Ann and Kay Caraway, have returned home after attending the Rural Carriers Convention held at the Methodist Assembly Grounds in Sacramento, N. M. Following the convention group spent a day sightseeing Cloudercroft, Alamogordo, the V Sands, Tularosa and Ruid. While in Alamogordo they visited an old friend, Tice Elkins, a near minister.

HURRY, HURRY, HURRY, Last Call For "FEATURE ATTRACTION"!

PRESENTED BY YOUR
REDDY KNOWATT
 Electric Appliance Dealer

JUNE 12TH IS LAST DAY FOR ENTRIES IN BIG RANGE CONTEST
 FEATURE ATTRACTION, the interesting and exciting contest in which six lucky ladies are going to win modern electric ranges, is in the home stretch. June 12th, that's next Saturday, is the last day on which you can submit your entry, so be sure to see your Reddy Kilowatt Dealer and have him give you a complete demonstration of his range. After the demonstration, pick the feature which most appealed to you, and tell why it did in 25 words or less on the entry card that he will give you. It's that easy, but it's fun, and exciting, too. Don't be left out.

LOOK FOR THESE FEATURES—AND MANY OTHERS—ON MODERN ELECTRIC RANGES

CONTROLLED HEAT—You can actually melt chocolate or cook a frosting right on a surface unit. No need for a double-boiler.

ACCURATE—Your thermostat oven heat control, plus six-sided insulation, is your assurance of accurate oven heat measurement.

ECONOMICAL—The average family can cook electrically for 7 cents a day. Then there's the big economy that comes from electric cooking's cleanliness.

LABOR-SAVING—Complete meals can be prepared in the oven and deep-well, a great time-saver. Economical, too, for you use only one heating unit.

COOL—The cooking heat goes right from the element into the pan. None escapes to heat up your kitchen.

CLEAN—Most spillovers burn off, and drip trays are removed easily. Walls and curtains stay bright and shiny with flameless electric cooking.

AUTOMATIC—No more pot-watching when you cook on an electric range. Set the oven timer to turn the meal on and off. That's all there is to it.

FAST—High speed units heat up at once, and all of the heat goes into the cooking task. There's no waste heat in electric cooking.

LOOK FOR MANY OTHER FEATURES ON YOUR DEALER'S RANGE

SOUTHWESTERN PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

Here are the rules . . .
 Just list the feature you like best on the entry card your Reddy Kilowatt Dealer will give you, then tell why you like this feature in 25 words or less. All entries will be judged on originality, sincerity, and aptness of thought. Decision of the judges will be final, and all entries become the property of Southwestern Public Service Company. Your entry must be in by June 12, 1954.
 Dealers, distributors, Public Service Company employees, and their respective families, are not eligible to participate in Feature Attraction.

Long Range Communist Goal Is to Rule Free World

Kremlin Struggle Watched by West

By TOM WHITNEY

Associated Press Foreign News Writer

AMERICAN observers of Soviet affairs are watching closely the fate of a quartet of high-ranking Soviet officials. The answer to the question whether these four men will be able to keep their jobs or whether they get purged is believed to be a weathervane pointing the trend in the inner struggle for power in the Kremlin.

The men are:

Maxim Saburov, member of the Presidium of the Central Committee, chairman of the State Planning Commission and also deputy premier.

Ivan Benediktov, minister of Agriculture.

Alexei Kozlov, minister of State Farms.

Trofim D. Lysenko, biologist and president of the Lenin Academy of Agricultural Sciences.

All four of these men have incurred the public wrath of the powerful first secretary of the Kremlin's central committee, Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev.

Targets of Criticism All four—some in person and some in the name of the institutions they run—have been subjected to a constant running fire of criticism in the party and government press recently.

But all four—so far as is yet known—keep their important jobs.

The biggest fish by far in this particular pond is Maxim Saburov. He holds three big titles and has been one of the Big Nips who have been the dictators of the Soviet Union.

Saburov's State Planning committee came in for very severe denunciation from Khrushchev three months ago at the last plenum meeting of the party's central committee.

Close to Malenkov Saburov is generally regarded by Western experts on Soviet affairs as closely associated with Premier Georgi Malenkov. Ivan Benediktov is also important. As minister of agriculture for many years (except for several months after Stalin's death when he was ambassador to India) he has borne a fair share of responsibility for farm planning and policy. Khrushchev attacked him bitterly at the party plenum.

Pravda and Izvestia since Khrushchev's criticism of this pair have gone to considerable trouble to dig up dirt on the work of their ministries. High figures subordinate to them have been blamed for various errors and even ridiculed. Lysenko, former dictator of Agriculture and Biological Science, however, is the person who suffered from Khrushchev's heaviest artillery. Khrushchev caught Lysenko out on a limb for trying to force through a doctoral dissertation for a former official of the planning commission who had been fired and ordered to work personally on a farm. After Khrushchev's attack, Pravda followed up with a pore fiery matter.

After all that has been said about them and their institutions the real question to be asked is, "Why do these four men still remain in their high jobs?"

Fate Will Be Watched The only answer apparent seems to be that for all his power Khrushchev is still not powerful enough to purge them. If Benediktov, Kozlov and Lysenko actually get the heave-ho in the coming months, this will therefore be viewed by observers outside and inside the country as a sign that Khrushchev has triumphed and that his power is growing.

If Saburov goes, this in particular would be a big feather in Khrushchev's cap. If these men continue in office, conversely, it would seem to be a sign that Russian officials can incur Khrushchev's anger and still keep their jobs—which means they have support in quarters sufficiently strong to neutralize Khrushchev's activities.

Sidights The Retail Merchants Bureau of Fulton, Ky., is going to pray for better business. A half-hour devotional service will be held each Monday morning, before starting the week's work, with a member of the Fulton Ministerial Alliance in attendance.

In Gloucester, Va., a sign appeared alongside the new state liquor store with an arrow pointing to the entrance and a message: "If you buy here your family..." There was another arrow pointing to a mortuary next door and the balance of the message: "... will be buying here."

Classified Material It came about when the Wisconsin Republican clashed at the hearings with Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) over secret FBI material which McCarthy said he got from an officer in Army intelligence. McClellan said he thought it was illegal to give or receive such information.

McCarthy said, "If anyone wants to indict me, they can go right ahead." But he would not, he said, disclose the name of his informant. McClellan then said: "If this principle is adopted,

ATOM: Oppenheimer Out

Loyalty Not Enough

A special security board voted 2-1 to bar Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, physicist in charge of the wartime creation of the atomic bomb, from further access to the nation's nuclear secrets.

The board, held that Oppenheimer while a "loyal citizen" is nevertheless a security risk. The majority conclusion was based on the fact that Oppenheimer was an active fellow traveler of the Communists at one time and showed "poor judgment in continuing some of his past associations into the present."

Gordon Gray, former secretary of the Army and now president of the University of North Carolina, voted with Thomas A. Morgan, former president of the Sperry Corp., not to recommend reinstatement of Oppenheimer's security clearance.

The other member of the special board, appointed by the Atomic Energy Commission, dissented. He is Ward V. Evans, chemistry professor of Loyola University, Chicago.

Gray and Morgan listed four "controlling" considerations leading to their thumbs-down decision although they admitted reaching a "clear conclusion that he is a loyal citizen."

They said that Oppenheimer showed a "disregard for the requirements of a security system," displayed "susceptibility to influence," conducted himself in a "disturbing" manner toward the hydrogen bomb project and was "less than candid" at times during the board's hearing.

Science

Expanding Star

Light from a gigantic exploding star, first observed May 4, took about 20 million years to reach the earth, according to the California Institute of Technology.

When such a space explosion produces a star it is called a "supernova." Caltech scientists said the explosion was 100,000 times brighter than the sun and its force "was so violent that by comparison an H-bomb is as mild as a falling feather."

The supernova was discovered by Paul Wild, institute research assistant, on a picture he had taken with the 18-inch Schmidt telescope at Palomar Observatory. Later spectrographic studies with the 200-inch Hale telescope at Palomar indicated the bright light of the explosion had to travel 20 million years before reaching the view of man. Light travels at the rate of six trillion miles a year.

Intensive Studies

A supernova, astronomers explained, usually fades out not long after it has burst forth. For this reason a number of studies of the newly discovered star were launched immediately.

The exploding star was in a vast swirling mass of stars known as Spiral Galaxy NGC 5688. It is estimated this galaxy is hurtling away from the earth at 1,000 miles a second.

The stars, including the sun, generate their light and heat through hydrogen reaction. Scientists say, however, that the danger of our sun's exploding are pretty remote. They estimate that of the thousands of stars in the Milky Way, only one will become a supernova every 500 years.

Steel

Strike Threat Looms

Steel production has been inching up in recent weeks. Some producers are outwardly confident that the decline in steelmaking that started last year has definitely reversed itself, and that the long-range trend is headed in the other direction.

Others are somewhat less optimistic. They make the point that the recent production rise is not entirely due to a normal increase in demand but partly the result of "fear buying" by steel users who are worried about a strike.

Not a Certainty

This doesn't mean that consumers regard a steelworkers' strike as certain. But there are some users who would be hit so hard by a strike that they can't afford to take chances, even though the possibility seems remote.

Among such customers are the auto and the canning industries. The auto makers have been buying quite a lot of strip and sheet steel lately—more than current car production rates would seem to justify.

The obvious explanation is that a steel strike now would result in shortages later on—shortages that could play hob with model-changeover operations. At the same time, container manufacturers have been laying in large supplies of tin plate—so they won't be caught short for the peak food canning season.

Hedge Buying This hedge buying will of course leave that much less demand for steel in the likely event that the current contract talks are settled without a strike.

The O O Steelworkers of America and the big-steel companies are reportedly miles apart on the wage raises and "fringe" benefits the union wants included in the new contract.

The negotiations up till now have proceeded on an orderly basis. One thing is just about certain: an settlement will mean an increase in payroll costs. Several top steel executives have said they'd like to pass this increase on to the consumer in the form of higher prices—a move that may take quite a bit of doing in the current buyer's market.

Timetable or Not, Red Plan Is Real

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.

Associated Press News Analyst

SEN. KNOWLAND made public this week what purported to be an outline by Mao Tze-tung, the Chinese dictator, of the Communist timetable for world conquest. At the same time, President Eisenhower asked Congress for an extra appropriation of a billion dollars to build up American Air Force installations.

There was no connection between the two, except as they are considered against the background of the world situation.

Students of Communist affairs are always inclined to be skeptical of documents outlining policy purporting to come from behind the Iron Curtain.

Too frequently they turn out to have been planted by Kremlin propagandists for their own obscure purposes. Spreading terror, and the idea of the inevitability of the Communist conquest, is one of the oldest forms of Red propaganda.

Blueprints Are Rare The other thing is that the Reds do not ordinarily draw up any more than other nations draw up, concise blueprints to be followed by administrators of foreign policy. All foreign tactics develop in accordance with the times. The Russians, in particular, are great chess players, disinclined to make up timetables, but applying their tactics according to the conformation of forces on the board.

One of the tenets of communism reiterated by its leaders is that it has no timetable; that its forces will ebb and flow according to the resistance and success they meet.

This does not mean, however, that the document produced by Sen. Knowland from undisclosed sources is necessarily inaccurate. It conforms perfectly with known Soviet policy. The Communist objectives of first Asia and then Africa are a part of the policy they actually published two years ago.

Well Known Elements Isolation of the United States, splitting off France from the Allies and immobilizing her by playing upon traditional French fears of Germany, interfering with German and Japanese rearmament, are all long-recognized parts of the Soviet plan. So are incorporating Formosa into Red China, the capture of Indochina with India, Burma and Thailand to fall by infiltration, coups in the Middle East and the Philippines through "united fronts."

For them to be enclaved by Mao Tze-tung would be merely an effort on his part to maintain a position as a partner rather than a satellite in the movement. The document refers to the Sino-Russian partnership.

The economic collapse of Western Europe which the Communists expect to produce by cutting it off from the colonial hinterlands will, the document says, push the Western Hemisphere up against the economic wall.

Goal Is 20 Years "Twenty years from now the revolution will be an accomplished fact," it says.

By stating that the United States will start a war, if ever, before the loss of Japan, the Philippines and India to the Communist cause, the document suggests that if she doesn't do so by then, she won't be able to afterward.

The Reds might be fooled on that premise. United States officials have been considering it too. That is why the administration, considering actual intervention in Indochina to break up the Communist timetable, if there is one, has been taking a new look at last year's "new look" in the Defense Department.

The additional appropriation for Air Force installations asked for on Tuesday is an extension of last year's program, to put the United States in better position for "massive retaliation." But it is in addition to the $1 billion dollars the administration thought at first it could get by for defense purposes this year.

The objective is to meet Communist aggression wherever it must be met, at whatever time. Timetables, and billions, won't count.

The Communist program is real, whether the latest "timetable" is or not.

Roberts

PROBE: It's Now McCarthy vs. Ike

The Lines Are Drawn

For months it has been plain that there are serious differences of policy and philosophy between Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy and President Eisenhower, but these differences have never really been threshed out.

McCarthy has frequently been blunt enough in posing challenges or near challenges to the administration, but the President has been reluctant to let things get to the pitched battle stage. In response to press conference questions he said he would not discuss personalities, that he hoped the Army-McCarthy hearings soon would be over.

But now the White House has picked up an issue and some of McCarthy's fellow Republican senators are standing up to be counted for him or for Eisenhower.

Classified Material It came about when the Wisconsin Republican clashed at the hearings with Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) over secret FBI material which McCarthy said he got from an officer in Army intelligence. McClellan said he thought it was illegal to give or receive such information.

McCarthy said, "If anyone wants to indict me, they can go right ahead." But he would not, he said, disclose the name of his informant. McClellan then said: "If this principle is adopted, that every federal employee should reveal everything he knows—that is, information about Communists—then you have no security system in America."

McCarthy urged that federal employees "give us any information which they have about graft, corruption, communism" and contended "there is no loyalty to a superior officer which can tower above and beyond their loyalty to their country."

Executive Responsibility Whereupon Atty. Gen. Brownell pointed the issue even finer in a statement saying that the executive department is responsible for enforcing the laws, including security laws, and: "That responsibility cannot be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of the land or to override the orders of the President."

The statement was given the prestige of being issued through the White House by Eisenhower's press secretary, James Hagerty, who said the President had approved it. Hagerty stated, directly that it was aimed at McCarthy.

At his midweek press conference, the President confirmed the Brownell statement had been issued at his order.

Senatorial Reaction Sen Knowland of California, Senate Republican leader, said he thought McCarthy was treading "highly dangerous and doubtful grounds."

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) said he was shocked at McCarthy's attitude.

Sen. Ferguson of Michigan, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said he thought McCarthy was wrong.

"I don't think we should invite everybody who has a complaint to come first to Congress. I'm sure the executive is just as anxious to clean up corruption, subversion, and all other crimes as we are."

But Sen. Young (R-Ind), secretary of the Policy committee, said it is "natural for the executive department to try to withhold information and natural for Congress to seek it," and that "it is very important" for Congress to get the kind of information McCarthy wants.

Vermont Vilrion Criticism of McCarthy by senators reached a crescendo in a speech by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt), who had denounced McCarthy previously.

Flanders said in the Senate: "Were the junior senator from Wisconsin (McCarthy) in the pay of Communists, he could not have done a better job for them."

Even as Flanders spoke, McCarthy was telling the hearing: "I will not abide by any security directive of anyone." He denounced Flanders' speech as "vicious and dishonest."

Italians Nice, Helpful; And Naples Is Peaceful

By Cecile B. Eubanks
(Editor's note: Mrs. Eubanks is on a tour of Europe and the Middle East, with no definite plans as to how long the trip will last before she returns to Hereford).

One of the first things you hear when you reach Rome is that you must, simply MUST visit Napoli. Never, oh, never, Naples. The softer "Napoli" appeals to the aesthetic ear of the overseas visitor. The man-on-the-street Italian has never heard the city called else.

You are convinced of this when you ask him something about Naples. He looks blank. A puzzled look spreads over his face. You ask something else, substituting "Napoli."

He is a new man. His eyes sparkle, he smiles and smiles and smiles and launches into a flow of Italian words that halts only when he runs out of breath. You can't help knowing that he wants very, very much to do something to help you. So you decide to give him that so keen satisfaction.

You shake your head regretfully. It is evident you do not understand him. A worried pucker gathers between his now sorrowful eyes. He repeats. He gesticulates wildly. He chatters. When he stops for a quick breath you start waving your hands and chattering.

This is the moment, if you are smart, to let enlightenment sweep over your countenance; to show clearly that you understand; to beat a hasty retreat. But you're not smart. You still want to see him happy and he can be so only if he has helped you.

So instead of running you shake your head again. You throw out your hands, palms-up in a gesture of futility. His anxiety has developed into intense pain by this time. He wants so very, very much to help this old lady from far away America. Even if all Americans are crazy as everyone knows. Don't they throw money away and drink water? Besides, they come from afar to see his beloved Italy. And no American fresh from home can disguise his accent so that anyone over here won't recognize his origin.

By now, acute anguish fills his dark eyes. He stops a passerby; speaks rapidly still using his hands to emphasize what he is saying. Your helpers number two now. Within a half minute the process has been repeated until you are the hub of a revolving wheel of warm-hearted, helpful men-of-Italy's street. Perhaps a few women have joined us. All are excited and high voiced. Not shrill as are American voices. Musical. Even the language lends a liquid quality to the sound. Each new arrival must have a full explanation of the situation from each and all the others.

Voices become more insistent. A rising note of irritation slips in. Not irritation with the poor woman who has caused all this lovely excitement. But at each other because of inability to help her. As they talk faster and faster, as hands move about like rapidly flying white birds you wonder who will strike the first blow. Or when will they start tearing each other limb from limb?

This is your cue to have visions of an arriving riot squad of police in a bell-clanging vehicle with iron grill doors. And keys as big as golf clubs. Even handcuffs!

What is the penalty here for starting a street fight? Would the United States fleet riding the crest of the quiet harbor really be of any help to you? Where is the United States consul? Where, oh where?

Thinking wildly that the best policy is to at last understand, your mouth falls open to indicate you know what they are saying. What you hope looks like intelligence sweeps across your face. You bestow your entire Italian vocabulary on them. "Gracia, Signorens and Signora, Gracias." Maybe it's wrong, but they understand that you understand. The surrounding multitude smiles, wave their hands about and melt into the passing traffic. They are all very happy. You are happy. Everyone is happy.

And that is what Italy was meant to be. A happy land. Perhaps some of America's unrest and tension would be dissipated if our way of life were happiness. If it were a national philosophy with us. I believe we could learn a lot from Italy.

But, of course, I came to Naples. Scusa, please Napoli.

The curve of the famed harbor is something Walt Disney-no-a Greater Artist dreamed up. It is a vision of loveliness come true. Especially at race up the hills to tryst with the twinkling lanterns of the sky.

You are living in a fairy-tale setting as you stroll along the water's edge in the soft, whispering darkness. Music drifts across from pleasure-boats anchored off-shore. Ship's lights sway gently in the distance. Oars splash in a muffled ripple as fishermen row by in the night. On their bows, lights. In their work-worn hands spears and nets. In their hearts a great love for the bambino's their catch must feed. Perhaps they are so close you could reach out and touch their extended fingers if they leaned over and extended them. Someway you wished they would. You wanted to be a part of this peaceful world. This place of contentment. It brings healing to frayed and roughened nerves.

When at last you get sleepily into bed, you feel that, momentarily at least, all's well with God's world.

Old Timers Recall Days When Black Dusters Blotted The Sun

The dust blows and hides the sun and covers up the victuals on the table and people set up a howl but the sandstorms this spring have put old timers to reminiscing about the dust bowl days and have turned up some incidents to smile about out of the sand.

In the northwest part of the county, which has never let a breeze pass without trying to stir up something, the people who had to travel long distances remember some of the experiences they had in getting to where they were going and back.

G. T. Oliver of Amarillo, who formerly owned what is now known as the Godwin place northwest of town, had Calvin McIver, a brother to Bill, then a high school student in Amarillo, to drive him over on Saturdays in the spring of '34 to see how his wheat crop was getting along—no doubt it was getting along to some other section. They always brought a shovel with them in case the dust would start blowing and fill the ruts with sand before they started back home and they would have to dig their way out again.

Atha McIver, who also lived in a narrow lane packed with tumbleweeds had herself and her sister boogered for a while before they finally plowed their way through to the home of their parents Mr. and Mrs. H. A. M. White, who lived at the end of the lane.

Some Directions: Miss Sadie Lee Oliver, who came to work as Home Demonstration Agent in 1938, recounted in a letter to Mrs. Draper last week an experience she had in getting out to the Bippus Club.

Judge Wilson gave her the following directions, writes Miss Oliver. "Go west 25 miles straight to Bootleg corner — no there is a jug 15 miles out — then 10 miles to that big metal barn, then west to Charlie Hoover's and north to Morrisons. You had better ask directions there! I did. That last lane was a relic of the Dust Bowl days — a gully to me! between almost covered fence posts. At club no one was down hearted or planned to move away. That impressed me as nothing else could have."

There was another story about a fellow who attempted to navigate one of these thistle-filled lanes and did so much spinning in an effort to get through that the thistles were wedged under the car until they lifted the hind wheels off the ground and he was left high and dry on a high center.

Jack Fortemerry, who has lived in the northwest part of the county for 27 years, says conditions were too bad to talk about.

The black dusters with their great black and yellow columns that rolled up with a foreboding silence were a frightening experience to the natives of west Texas who had been used to seeing the old fashioned sandstorms start out with a warning breeze in the morning and continue to gain momentum until by noon it was throwing rocks at you then the wind would begin to die down and one could go to sleep with the assurance that the sun would rise on a bright sand scrubbed world in the morning.

Fall Of Doom These dust storms settled down in a heavy pall that put the lights out of business, sent people to hospitals with dust pneumonia, and hung in the air and stuck to the furniture until the housewife abandoned all efforts at housekeeping. People who had recalled how

More real estate changed hands by air lift during the years of 1934-35 than had been recorded on paper and while the womenfolk continued to dread but not to fear the dusters, ranchmen cursed the farmer for breaking the grassland into sod by the sections and starting such a calamity and the farmer cursed himself for thinking anyone could farm in such a wilderness.

Rutherford's Now One Of Top Teams With Only One Loss

By Billy Paul Knox

Rutherford's defeated Summerfield 12-8 in the first game while Don Morgan pitched a five hitter to lead Piggly Wiggly to a 7-3 victory over Dawn in the second game. Rutherford's is now one of the top teams, having lost only one game.

In the first game Rutherford's led all the way, scoring in every inning except one. Summerfield failed to score five times.

Rutherford's shelled losing pitcher Joe Streun for 10 runs and seven hits. Bob Clark pitched the last two innings giving up two runs and three hits. Ken Walterscheid pitched the complete game for Rutherford's. He gave up eight runs and 11 hits. Rutherford's made one error compared to four made by Summerfield.

Six of Rutherford's 10 hits went for extra bases, five doubles and one triple. Summerfield also banged out six extra base blows. All were doubles.

Early Lead
Rutherford's took an early lead by picking up one run in the first inning. A walk, an error, and a single by Duane Albracht drove it across.

Walterscheid held Summerfield scoreless for the first three innings.

Rutherford's one run lead was strengthened to three runs in the second. After the first two men had walked, Burdine doubled, driving both runs in.

They also duplicated their first inning output by scoring one in the third. An error and a single produced the marker.

In the fourth Rutherford's scored for the fourth straight time, producing their largest total thus far. They scored three runs on two walks and two doubles by Albracht and Summers.

Trailing by 7-0 going into the last of the fourth, Summerfield narrowed the lead by scoring two runs in this inning. A walk and three straight doubles by Jack Streun, Howell and Joe Streun were fully responsible.

In the fifth Rutherford's scored three more runs making it 10-2. Two walks and a double by Knox sent the markers across the plate.

Summerfield had their big inning in the last of the fifth. Six runs crossed home on four walks and four hits by Botkin, Howell, Neil and Bob Clark. Rutherford's made their only error of the game in this inning.

Scoreless Sixth
Both teams went scoreless in the sixth while Summerfield also drew a horse-collar in the seventh.

A walk, an error and two hits by Suttle and Albracht drove across two runs in the seventh inning for Rutherford's rounding out the scoring for both teams.

Duane Albracht led Rutherford's with three hits. Bob Clark also got three hits to lead Summerfield. Rutherford's has now won three and lost one. Summerfield's record is three and two.

Piggly Wiggly picked up their second straight win handing Dawn their third loss by defeating them 7-3 in the second game. Don Morgan pitched a five hitter for Piggly Wiggly.

Morgan started out in fine fashion. He held Dawn scoreless for the first five innings. He gave up only two hits in this period and all of these were bunched in the first inning.

Piggly Wiggly was scoreless in the first but took the lead by scoring three runs in the second. Two doubles by Wallace and Brock, a single by Bybee and a walk were the major factors.

In the third Piggly Wiggly made it 4-0 by scoring one run. Singles by Wilson and Dement combined with an error produced the run.

Greenway blasted a home run to manufacture the only Piggly Wiggly run in the fourth.

An error and two singles by Dement and Brock sent across the final two runs scored by Piggly in the fifth.

Dawn scored their complete total in the sixth inning. A walk, two errors, and singles by Stewart and Burrus sent them across. Ray Stewart led Dawn with three hits. Bybee led Piggly Wiggly also with three hits.

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP)—Several little girls ran across Richmond's main street U. S. 40 en route to school. A little shoe flew from one foot in the middle of the busy highway. But the girl couldn't stop because of the heavy traffic. The driver of a big semitrailer stopped, got out as other traffic sped by, picked up the shoe and carried it to its little owner, waiting anxiously on the curb.

A Town Never Stands Still; It Either Continues Forward Or Moves Backward

"What's the matter with Hereford?" The question was posed by a fellow citizen this week and, we admit, came as rather a shock. Hereford, we had always figured, was a pretty good little town. However, when we considered the question and answered honestly, it seemed far from perfection.

Fondling over the idea, we also have to admit that the town has lost some of the zest and push which sent the community bounding from a sleepy little hamlet, population 2,300 in 1940, to a modern town of 5,200 population in 1950. Hereford is still a good town, a wonderful place to live and an ideal community in which to rear a family. Furthermore, it is still growing and, thanks to crop diversification, it is comparatively prosperous.

All in all, though, we are inclined to agree with our fellow townsman: Hereford is coasting on its reputation. The blame, if any, lies with no single individual. Instead, it might be attributed to general lack of interest on the part of all citizens. Too many of us are often too busy (or tired) to contribute time, effort and money to the thankless jobs of "keeping the town on the ball." In addition, some of the projects and efforts have boomeranged on past accomplishments, leaving many community leaders reluctant to push additional projects.

Loss of the community hotel came as a blow in 1954, following closely upon heavy credit losses from the 1953 lettuce crop. It is only natural that some ventures will not materialize profitably and, in cases of community promotion, they are bound to result in criticism. On the other hand, we doubt the wisdom of folding our hands and admitting that we are whipped. Such attitude, to say the least, was not the same as that which spirited the community into its present enviable position.

Basically, Hereford is today in an enviable position. Even critics will admit that the lettuce crop hurt, but did not bankrupt and demoralize the entire area. The situation actually proves our point in that diversification of crops is so spread that loss on one commodity will be carried by other commodities. This is the situation which makes the position of Hereford enviable. The hotel loss was bad - but we still have the hotel as a nucleus around which the community can continue to grow and expand.

All Hereford needs now is a revival of interest on the part of the general public, along with energetic optimism in leadership. Certainly, we cannot coast too long. Like we have always said, "A town never stands still - it either goes forward or backward."

Swimming Pool To Open This Week

With tentative opening date of the Hereford municipal swimming pool scheduled for tomorrow, interest in the universal sport this week ranges from "small fryers" right on through the 'teenagers and into the adult stages.

This is good. It is, in fact, the chief reason why Hereford or any other city maintains a swimming pool. In addition, it is remunerative in view of the fact that the Hereford pool, despite scores of dire predictions, has managed to operate on a break-even basis and occasionally contribute a few dollars to the city coffers.

While the boys and girls are interested primarily in "having fun" and, at the same time, exercising in good, clean surroundings, opening of the swimming pool in 1954 likewise stands as a tribute to a progressive community. It places the youth of Hereford in a position where they can be taught but proud of the town in which they live. Furthermore, it is another reason why many of them will want to make their homes in Hereford, rather than moving to some other community to raise their families.

Hereford needs these boys and girls in future years. The swimming pool is but one of the many advantages which will draw citizens into the community. These things, all the result of progressive community spirit, are topmost in the reason that Hereford has continued to gain in population while literally hundreds of other small towns in Texas have consistently lost.

Unusual Wills

If some of you readers are contemplating making your wills soon, these examples may prove of value in setting the pattern:

One woman in Cherokee County, North Carolina, named God as her beneficiary of her will. To settle the estate, a case was filed naming God as a party thereof. A summons was issued, but the sheriff filed a report which stated: "After due and diligent search God cannot be found in Cherokee County."

An Oklahoma City woman willed her sunny disposition and her beautiful neck to her two daughters. A hen-pecked husband provided that in the event his widow remarried, the new husband was to receive $10,000. "Him that gets her will deserve it," she will stated. Another bitter husband left his wife a quarter "for bus fare to some place to drown herself." A benign boozier directed his friends to wet their whistles over his grave, and his will provided a barrel of beer for that purpose.

Christopher Janus of Chicago inherited four Egyptian dancing girls under the terms of his wealthy uncle's will. A Boston philanthropist bequeathed $100,000 to be divided in the form of prizes to polite public school pupils.

One woman had her will tattooed on her back. A man used the back of a turtle. An Englishwoman corked hers in a bottle and threw it to the ocean. The under-step of a Jagger and a nurse's starched apron have also served.

Even the famous have gone in for strange and unconventional legacies. Robert Louis Stevenson left his birthday to a young girl, who "was born on Christmas Day, and is therefore, out of all justice, denied the consolation of a proper birthday."

Hmp! And They Called ME A Pioneer

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Most Old Timers Seem To Favor Pioneer Day As Annual Event

Are you in favor of holding Pioneer Days every year, or would you prefer a big celebration at wider intervals?

MRS. C. C. FERGUSON

"Some of the pioneers could not come if the celebration was at wider intervals. So many of them pass on. If the celebration is really for the pioneers I think that it should be held every year."

W. R. METCALF

"I think that Pioneer Days should be held every year instead of at wider intervals. The main reason is that it is rather a custom and most of the people expect it and look forward to the good times."

MRS. J. C. CUMMINS

"I believe that the Pioneer Days lasted too long this year. There just wasn't enough going to fill up so many days and I heard several people say the same thing. The first day was wonderful and we old timers really had a nice time. If it would help the activities any I think that we should wait longer to have the celebration."

J. W. ROBINSON SR.

"I believe that having Pioneer Day every year is too often. A lot of people may not agree with me but I think a lot of people get tired of having it every year."

MARY BODKIN

"I think Pioneer Day is a good thing and that it should be held every year. If we waited several years in between times we old folks would forget."

MRS. W. H. RUSSELL

"I think that five years is too long to wait, maybe two would be alright. When they gave it up for awhile a few years ago the interest in the celebration just played out. It has the people's interest up now and after all we old folks are not going to live always. I just believe they should go right ahead and have it every year."

A. C. TROMPSON

"I believe that we should have Pioneer Days every year and not wait longer times. A lot of us are getting pretty old and we can't afford to wait too long. That is a wonderful meeting especially for us old timers, and I don't believe we should stop having it every year."

Little Vicki Criswell is only three but apparently she hadn't seen too much rain in her life up to a week or so ago when the Dalton Criswell's were out east on Highway 60 where Lowell Sharp was directing traffic through the high water about four miles from town. Vicki baffled by the sudden results of the big rain and hail said to the Sheriff, "Let's hurry and get out of this big tub of water."

Things have been entirely too quiet around our house since Cliff has gone back to South Dakota to spend the summer with his parents but we know how happy they are to have two lively teenagers to break the silence of a long winter with only grown-ups in the house. Albert Ricketts went with him so there isn't likely to be a dull moment for either of them.

Buster has accepted the prospect of the summer alone and has settled down to his usual routine of farming and funny books since he has his report card and knows that he passed to the seventh grade. After the teachers have threatened, and wheedled and stretched his grades to the very limit all the year about the last two weeks each school term he gets all steamed up and begins to worry about his grades and wishes he could make his dog go get his report card.

AUSTIN — Most discussed subject in Austin is the United States Supreme Court decision abolishing racial segregation in the public schools.

Not only are the people talking about this important ruling, but they are taking their pens and pencils in hand to let Governor Shivers know how they feel about it. There is no doubt about how Texans feel on the subject for the mail shows a 30 to 1 ratio in favor of maintaining segregation.

Governor Shivers pointed out that "the Supreme Court has indicated it will have more to say on this matter later this Fall, and there is very little that can be done until we know its final opinion."

The Texas Education Agency has advised schools in Texas to plan for continued segregation in the term starting next September.

Roy M. Hall, executive director of the Texas Association of School Boards, said that the segregation problem will be mostly a local headache and that in most instances it will be at least several years before the reality of non-segregation becomes evident.

Insurance Company Probe
Hottest news out of Austin is the insurance company probe.

Indicted by a Travis County grand jury were Leslie and Paul Lowry of Beaumont, D. H. O'Fiel, Beaumont, and Spencer Treharne of El Paso.

Nine indictments charged these four persons with criminal violations of Texas insurance laws. In addition to perjury counts against the four, Paul Lowry was charged with submitting a false statement.

All the indictments concerned submission of alleged false reports to the State Board of Insurance Commissioners regarding funds of insurance firms at Beaumont, Ennis and El Paso.

Insurance firms concerned were the Texas Mutual Insurance Co., of Beaumont; Texas Fire Insurance Co., of Ennis, a subsidiary of Texas Mutual; and Texas Western Assurance Co., of Beaumont.

Investigations which have been going on since the first week Attorney General John Ben Sheppard took office in 1953 reveal that some insurance companies have been formed in Texas with borrowed capital which banks deposited to the credit of the insurance firm, but with the understanding that the money was not to be withdrawn.

Once the firm was approved by the Insurance Commission and a charter granted, the bank's money was returned, the loan canceled and the insurance company was in business. Loser in the transaction was the policy holder who was dealing with an insufficiently financed firm.

Sheppard has been working closely with Travis County District Attorney Bob Long in connection with the grand jury's investigation. One of Sheppard's top assistants, Willis Gresham, has been appointed by the attorney general to handle

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson farm takes a look at the world situation this week, and glibly retreats. Can't say we blame him.
— O —

Dear editor:
Understand, I've got enough problems of my own out on my Johnson grass farm on Goathead Prairie to use up the think power I have or ever will have, when a man crops get in the shape mine are in, the world's problems don't seem pretty little, but I never did believe in a man being selfish and devoting all his time to his own problems. I have been doing some thinkin lately on the world problem.
The way I see it, the world's crops are pretty grassy with a poor stand to start with, and there are some people who ain't sure a crop is gonna be made this year.

The trouble is, there's an outfit in Russia worse than all insects a farmer was ever bothered with, and up to now he anybody figured out the proper insecticide.

It goes like this: they break out say in Korea, and we spend two years tryin to get em under control, and we finally at least we back em up to the fence row and keep a gun posted, and then they break out in Indo-China, and the next day I read where there was indications they're gonna break out in Guatemala, down in South America, which is get even closer to home, and they're spotted all through Europe and Asia.

It's sort of like fightin gophers by sittin by the hole for one to stick his head up. Even if he sticks his head up you hit him, another one may come out at a hole a little further over, and down below they're still multipliyin faster than you can get ready.

Ordinarily, you might say the thing to do is root out headquarters, the source of supply, but these gophers are like the prairie kind, they got powers of retaliation to an extent there might be some question of who was responsible who. While maybe we could handle em in the long run we'd sure suffer a lot in the process.

What to do with them Russians, with their unlimited labor producun bombs and airplanes for three sorry megal days, is more than I can figure out, and the more I read newspapers the more I discover I ain't by myself.

Personally, I'm glad I'm in the farmin business instead of the statesmanship business. Mine's a snap.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Let's Cook Something

Traditionally speaking, the June bride demands Wagner and Mendelssohn nuptial music, wears a white, carries flowers on a prayer book, and, in short, follows a prescribed pattern.

In the matter of food, too, custom decides. The wedding cake remains the most important item. Three tiers with a miniature bride and groom atop is probably the most popular design, and for decoration there must be a basic white icing with added touches of frosted flowers, exquisitely fashioned and delicately tinted.

Here is a beautiful and delicious wedding cake you can make yourself, and is just about the right size for a medium number of guests.

Mrs. P. H. Gilliland is an expert cook and delights in making beautiful cakes. Her wedding cake is so professional looking that many think they are difficult to make, but they aren't. Follow the directions and the recipe given below, which she has proportioned perfectly, and you will be assured of success.

The Wedding Cake

- 2 cups Crisco
- 4 cups sugar
- 2 cups milk
- 7 cups sifted cake flour
- 7 level teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 12 egg whites
- 2 teaspoons vanilla or lemon extract

Blend shortening and sugar until creamy. Sift flour before measuring, add salt and baking powder and sift again. Add flour and milk alternately to shortening mixture and blend well. Last, fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites and add flavoring.

Line bottoms of one 10x10x2 inch, one 8x8x2, and one 5x5x2 square pans with waxed paper. Pour batter into pans to the same depth in each pan and bake in a 350-F oven for 40 to 45 minutes or until done.

Prepare Wedding Cake Frosting, then place the 10-inch cake on large flat tray or plate. Frost top generously and sides thinly—Place 8-inch cake on top, centering evenly. Frost top generously and sides thinly. Adjust 5-inch cake on top and frost sides, reserving some frosting for decorating.

With cake decorating tube, make garlands and flowers around the sides of layers, using silver dredges if desired. Place miniature bridal couple or other wedding ornament in center of top layer.

Wedding Cake Frosting

Mrs. Gilliland uses a seven-minute frosting for the cake, but prefers one with a powdered sugar base for decorating.

Seven Minute Frosting

- 4 egg whites unbeaten
- 3 cups sugar
- 10 tablespoons cold water
- 3 teaspoons light corn syrup
- 2 teaspoons vanilla

Put egg whites, sugar, water and corn syrup in upper part of double boiler. Beat with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water, beat constantly with rotary egg beater, and cook seven minutes, or until frosting will stand in peaks. (Do not overcook) Remove from fire, add vanilla, and beat until thick enough to spread.

FOR DECORATING

This frosting, which Mrs. Gilliland uses for decorating, blends in nicely with the seven minute frosting for the cake.

- 2 cups powdered sugar

1 tablespoon water
white of 1 egg, unbeaten
Place all ingredients in electric mixer and beat until creamy. Divide in parts and color as desired, using the decorator's tube for designing.

Individual Wedding Cakes

The wedding cake recipe may be baked in shallow rectangular pans about one inch thick and cut in desired shapes. Arrange the cakes in rows about three-fourths of an inch apart, on a wire rack and place rack on tray. Quickly pour over them, in a heavy stream, the following:

- Petit Fours Icing
- 1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin
- 2-3 cup cold water
- 8 cups sifted confectioner's sugar

- 1 tablespoon white corn syrup
- 1 egg white

Coloring if desired
Soak gelatin in cold water; mix with confectioner's sugar in top of a 2-quart double boiler. Stir in remaining ingredients. Heat over hot water to 110 F. (lukewarm).

Immediately pour icing over cakes, move from left to right and completely cover tops and sides of cakes. Scoop up icing that has dripped through rack, add 1 teaspoon water to replace that which has evaporated, and reheat over hot water to 110-F.

Put on second coat of glaze by repeating the above process. Each time icing is reheated, add 1 teaspoon water.

Continue until all cakes have been iced. The above recipe, which Mrs. Leo Forrest uses often, turns out just right and has that professional glaze. It makes enough to cover 70 little cakes with one coat of glaze or 35 little cakes with two coats.

Tightening of Insurance Laws?

Legislation tightening the state's insurance laws is indicated. Acting Governor Ben Ramsey has called the legislative council into session to begin a study of existing laws.

Court disclosures of loopholes, lack of safeguards, and loose enforcement which permit improper organization and operation of small insurance companies, prompted the move.

Executives of the 1,884 insurance companies doing business in Texas have been asked by Ramsey to submit recommendations for remedial legislation. Changes recommended by the legislative council will go to the Legislature next year.

New Duval Grand Jury

The way has been opened for the appointment of a new grand jury to look into the jumbled affairs of Duval County.

The Court of Criminal Appeals refused to set aside 79th District Judge A. S. Broadfoot's discharge of a grand jury commission the judge ruled was lax in selecting fair and impartial grand and petit jurors.

Judge Broadfoot can now appoint a new commission which in turn will set up a new grand jury.

Pushbutton Theft
OMAHA (AP) — Police reported car strippers tried to steal the horn off a car, but couldn't budge it so they settled for the horn button. They also took the engine, radio, heater, gear shift assembly, transmission, muffler, battery, fender skirts, three hub caps and three tires.

Family Education

NORTHFIELD, Minn. (AP)—Every year since 1900 when Imbert Roe enrolled at St. Olaf College there has been at least one Roe registered at the school. Alfred Roe of Montevideo, Minn., who entered St. Olaf this year, is the 45th member of the family to become a student there.

Under the Romans, scouring always preceded crucifixion.

During the Russian blockade of Berlin in 1948, about 64 per cent of the cargo air lifted into the city was coal.

Delayed
A dispute over the amount of land to be given for highway purposes has snarled the proposed development of Padre Island as a big vacation spot. The obstacle arose when County Judge Oscar C. Daney of Brownsville said that the 100 feet which developers want to give for the island's highway right-of-way is insufficient.

C. S. Eidman, Jr., of Brownsville and one of the island's land owners, said all the property owners had agreed that 100 feet was enough for the right-of-way. The squabble will be aired at a public hearing before the state highway commission.

Inks Lake Resort

Construction of a state-owned $1,000,000 tourist resort at Inks Lake State Park, northwest of Austin, will start in the near future.

Two years has been spent getting this project ironed out.

Board Chairman Frank D. Quinn reports that all preliminaries have been successfully completed.

When completed the Inks resort center will be the biggest tourist facility in Texas. The project is self-liquidating, being financed through the issuance of revenue bonds. It is the first of three similar big-scale revenue-financed undertakings by the state park system. Others would be in Eisenhower State Park near Lake Texoma, and on Possum Kingdom Lake in northwest Texas.

Draft Quota High

Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield has issued a draft call for 1,187 men for July. It is the largest draft quota in six months.

The state director of Selective Service declared that calls for the next 12-month period will be on an increased level. Cause of the increase, General Wakefield asserted, is the fact that more men will be getting out of uniform during the government's next fiscal year.

Coke Fights Congress

Coke Stevenson Jr., Texas Liquor Administrator and newly elected president of the National Conference of State Liquor Administrators, is readying a blast against federal interference with state liquor laws.

The National Conference adopted a strong resolution to be presented to congressmen pointing out that the repeal amendment returned to the states the licensing and supervision of the liquor industry. There are bills now pending in Congress prohibiting beer and liquor advertising.

Need Industrial Safety Law
Elevators in Texas are not inspected for safety, says C. H. Cavness, state auditor. He advocates inspection laws similar to those in many other states.

Cavness' commented also on the need for an industrial safety law, with proper authority for enforcement.

He noted that 247,371 accident claims were handled last year by the Industrial Accident Board. This compares with 179,152 cases eight years ago. Claims last year totaled $22,000,000 as compared with $10,581,000 eight years ago.

Present laws do not require safety inspections of boilers in schools and courthouses. The Labor Department will ask the 1955 legislature to pass a law requiring such inspections.

Dairymen to Promote Industry
June is dairy month. Dairymen of Texas will contribute two cents per hundred weight of the milk and one-half a cent per pound butterfat in cream they sell this month to the state ADA headquarters in Austin.

Sam Von Rosenberg, state manager of the American Dairy Association of Texas says that it is a voluntary plan proposed to the 30,000 milk producers in the state, to provide $150,000 annually to promote an increase in the sale of milk, butter, ice cream, cheese and other dairy products through advertising.

More Wild Life
Wild animals seem to take a liking to the rugged area west of Austin. There has been a panther scare for several months. Latest report is the appearance of a 33-inch long alligator — which walked out of Shoal Creek almost in the heart of this capitol city.
