Australian Couple Visits Hereford For Second Time

An Australian couple on their second world tour in four years made it a special point to return for a visit to Hereford last week...

This time, they arrived earlier in the year, and were met with a dust storm, whereas the last time they had seen the fields green with irrigated crops.

"If this were Australia," George H. Allen commented as he looked out at the blowing dust, "you could expect to be going into a lean period."

Studied Cycles
By studying the cycles, Allen has learned that he had to build big barns and keep plenty of wheat back during the good years...

Mrs. Melinda Clingan underwent surgery Friday morning in the Amarillo Osteopathic Hospital. She is reported doing fine.

New Ordinance To Change Trash, Brush Handling

Hereford has finally enacted, and published, an ordinance which, it is hoped, will put their trash and garbage collection work in the black...

Under the new ordinance, the city will charge $7.50 per truck load, with a minimum fee of $5.

As the situation had stood in the past, many persons had taken advantage of the city trash pick-up to have tree trimmings, large quantities of weeds and tin cans...

Removal of trees which have been cut down has posed one of the greatest problems, for it has sometimes been necessary to get a winch truck to handle the logs...

A few, according to Mayor Henry Sears, had gone so far as to let trash and garbage accumulate for an entire year...

It is primarily to stop the abuses of the trash and garbage pick-up service offered by the city that this ordinance was passed...

Definitions
The ordinance defines "brush" as tree trimmings, weeds, landscape trimmings, and trees not exceeding three inches in diameter...

Removal of waste and debris resulting from the clean-up of a vacant or improved lot will no longer be done as a regular service of the city...

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM T. GOLLEHON

Dimmitt Couple Celebrates Golden Wedding Anniversary

Last Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. William T. Gollehon of Dimmitt celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary with an open house.

Approximately 140 persons signed the guest book during the afternoon. It was back in February of 1904 that Miss Margaret Susan Turner and William T. Gollehon were wed in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Turner of Dimmitt, with Judge C. F. Kerr reading the service.

After the ceremony, the couple went to their farm in Castro County where they resided until Gollehon retired several years ago, at which time they moved to Dimmitt.

At Open House

At the open house last Sunday, the serving table, laid with a cut-work cloth, was centered with an arrangement of gold mums, miniature daisies and jonquil, surrounded by gold candles in silver holders.

Mrs. Noel Gollehon presided at the silver coffee service and Mrs. W. E. Kirkpatrick served slices of the tiered anniversary cake. They were assisted by Mrs. Lester Dowell and Kathy Gollehon.

Others in the house party, all nieces of Mr. and Mrs. Gollehon, were: Mesdames Elvis Burch, Bobby Meyers, E. B. Noble, J. O. Ayers Jr., C. J. Jonson and Roland Shepard, and Miss Wilma Noble. Mrs. Ted Wood played soft music during the afternoon, and accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Noel Gollehon as they sang, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie."

The First Baptist Church, read a passage of Scripture, and offered a prayer for the couple, after which Noel Gollehon led the group in singing, "Blest Be The Tie That Binds."

Departing guests left gifts and well wishes for many more happy days together for the couple.

Gad, That's History!
GADS HILL, Mo. (AP)—This town is remembered by the old folks and historians as the site of one of Jesse James' train robberies, the first such robbery west of the Mississippi river.

But it had one other claim to infamy, too. A resident was riding along a road in his buggy before the turn of the century and some irate neighbors reined in, grabbed him and cut off his ears. They stuffed the auditory appendages in his vest pockets and counseled him to quit gossiping about the womenfolk in the area.

A recent historical reports the fellow never was very talkative after that.

Trash Accumulations
To make sure that debris does not pile up, the ordinance makes it unlawful to allow trash, rubbish or debris to accumulate for a period of more than three days. Teeth are put in the ordinance by making it a misdemeanor to violate any section of the new ordinance, and making the person guilty of such violations subject to a fine "in any sum not to exceed $200, and each day of such violation shall constitute a separate offense."

This ordinance does not affect the regular garbage collection ordinance, but affects only the collection, disposal and hauling away of all brush, rubbish and debris. The ordinance was unanimously adopted by the City Commission.

An old lady fell down the stairs and broke her leg. The doctor put it in a cast and warned her not to walk up and down the stairs. The leg was slow to heal, but finally, after three months, the doctor announced that it was time to remove the cast.

"Can I climb the stairs now?" asked the lady. "Yes," replied the doctor. "Oh, I'm so glad," she said, "I'm sick of climbing up and down the drain pipe all of the time."

It is a smart man who buys his wife such exquisite china that she won't let him dry dishes.

The doctor came out of the sick room and gravely said to the wife, "I'm afraid your husband will never be able to work again." Dabbing at her tears, the wife replied, "Oh, let me tell him, Doctor. I know it will cheer him up."

DES MOINES — Toni Tolleson introduced the 9B's at Callanan Junior High School to a new kind of political campaigning but it didn't pay off.

The gist of the letters was that she had no criminal record and must therefore be a person who could be trusted with council funds. But Toni was unsuccessful in a field of eight candidates.

Neighborhood Help

Have you ever seen 23 tractors in one field? This was exactly what you would have seen Tuesday in the Marlin Pierce field had you driven by. Marlin, who recently underwent surgery and had not been able to do any of his early spring plowing, found what having friends and neighbors really means when the men of the neighborhood came in with their equipped tractors and fertilized, disced, harrowed and listed his field.

The ladies brought lunch to help Mrs. Pierce feed the crew of workmen. The day had quite an air of an old time threshing and even through the dust was thick when night came the men all felt good because it was "just a neighborhood deed."

Those participating in the day's work were: Messrs. and Mesdames Mayo Phipps, R. L. Wilson, Garland Cox, Joe Wagoner, Clarence Sauley, Elmer Combs, G. C. Merritt, George Turrentine, Elvin Wilson, Leo Ohlig, Charles Owens and Jimmy Thomas. Messrs. Lyle Rickman, Pat Ranspot, Luther Bingham, Willie Nunley, Kento Martinez, Justo Robles, Leon Huton.

McCarthy, Warren, Geneva Disputes Peril GOP Unity

Bitterness Rises With Each Clash

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

ALTHOUGH the election campaign has been under full steam now for several weeks, the rift between the Eisenhower Administration and certain Republican factions in the Senate has not been closed by the necessity of presenting a united front to the Democrats, but actually seems to be widening.

The President himself and three of his high appointees have been involved in the latest flareups.

They are the conflict between Senator McCarthy and Army Secretary Stevens over the treatment of a general at one of the McCarthy hearings, the Langer attack on Chief Justice Warren, and the criticism by a considerable group, including Senate Majority Leader Knowland, of John Foster Dulles for agreeing to meet with Red China at Geneva.

J. M. Roberts Jr.

Although the original Bricker amendment, designed to superimpose the power of the Congress and the states on the President's treaty-making authority, was dead, proponents of a substitute still continued their efforts to amend the Constitution.

Broader Tax Cuts

Republicans as well as Democrats were expressing determination to broaden the base of the President's tax cut proposals and revise Secretary Benson's farm program. Their eyes were on the November voting, but the effect of their efforts, if successful, would be to increase the deficit envisioned in the President's budget.

Eisenhower did not step into the latest McCarthy brawl immediately. But Secretary of Defense Wilson issued a statement supporting the action of Stevens in ordering officers not to testify at the McCarthy hearings after he claimed one of them had been insulted. McCarthy claimed the Army Secretary's action was an attempt to take the military out from under civilian control. Stevens said morale in general would be ruined if the honesty of high officers could be impugned with impunity. He'd do the testifying himself.

The Warren Row

The President did step directly into the row raised when Senator Langer, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, assailed the character of Chief Justice Warren. The continuing row was not over him, but over the nature of the Langer attack, with its broad general accusations of what would be criminal actions and attitudes. The growth of this practice among senators, speaking under the privilege of their offices, was increasingly subject to biting editorial attack across the country as well as in Republican circles which fear these displays of disunity are going to cost the party heavily.

Dulles made no claims that the Berlin conference had resulted in anything more than a surer knowledge that, insofar as Europe is concerned, Russia is determined to maintain her military position there, and that she will block any negotiations which might tend to threaten it. But Dulles did claim he had agreed to the Far Eastern conference, because he could not refuse to negotiate at a point where intransigence had not yet been definitely proven, because the truce required a Korean peace conference, and because French public opinion made it impossible for the French government to turn down any approach with regard to Indochina. Some senators growled that reference, because he could not refuse to negotiate at a point where intransigence had not yet been definitely proven, because the truce required a Korean peace conference, and because French public opinion made it impossible for the French government to turn down any approach with regard to Indochina. Some senators growled that Dulles better not let it lead to ward diplomatic recognition and United Nations membership for Red China. The bitterness on this score was kept more or less under wraps, but it was there. Dulles merely replied that he had required Molotov to agree that this issue was not involved before the Geneva conference. But it was self-evident that

From the party standpoint, the major point in all this was not so much the individual issues but its effect on the Eisenhower legislative program. All were agreed on Eisenhower's popularity with the public, though perhaps not on how it stacked up against his popularity a year ago. maintain the slender Republican control on Congress, the President and the party had to be effective as well as popular. Senators don't always drop the bitterness of one fight when they go into another. And the bitterness between the administration and many individual congressmen, as well as some blocs, was rising.

Red Trade Drive Is Threat to U.S.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

IT COULD be dangerous to regard the current Soviet trade offensive as purely propaganda. It is true that the offensive pursues political aims, but the United States faces a grave problem in deciding what to do about it.

With the prospects of billions of dollars in orders being dangled before the eyes of West European businessmen, the United States is being placed in the position of either (1) agreeing to such trade between East and West, or (2) offering some alternative.

The only alternative which seems to present itself short of outright support of the countries involved is to offer a market for goods we don't want sold to the Communist world. That would entail profound problems involving our own economy and standard of living.

William L. Ryan

Political and propaganda aims aside, the Soviet Union and its bloc badly want foreign trade.

The political aspect of the trade offensive is obvious. It not only pictures Moscow as feverishly intent on peaceful production and enlivened international trade, but it places the United States in the position of hampering trade and thus being responsible for economic strains in Western European countries.

Those who insist the Soviet Union's trade offensive is entirely propaganda contend that the U.S.S.R. has nothing much to sell the West. It is true that with its own civilian economy on a hand-to-mouth basis, Moscow isn't likely to be able to sell much in the way of consumer goods. It needs them at home.

Political Aspect
The political aspect of the trade offensive is obvious. It not only pictures Moscow as feverishly intent on peaceful production and enlivened international trade, but it places the United States in the position of hampering trade and thus being responsible for economic strains in Western European countries.

Propaganda Aspect
But at the same time there is much the Soviet Union can export to areas where it will do good. If Soviet purchases start textile mills going where thousands had been unemployed, that is potent propaganda. If Soviet raw materials start factories going and men back to work, that is a victory for the Soviet offensive.

Red Gold
There is yet another aspect. The Russians cannot buy for rubles in western markets but they can buy for gold. So long as they have gold to export, they have cash. They have been shipping gold to western European countries in relatively large quantities.

Nobody in the West knows how much gold the Soviet Union has, but estimates range between two and five billion dollars. The Soviet Union is mining gold cheaply, with forced labor, probably at the rate of about 150 million dollars a year. Soviet gold is beginning to pour into European markets.

Much of this gold, eventually, probably will wind up in American vaults at Fort Knox.

Crucial Question
The question arises, however, whether the United States can afford, in the light of the Cold War, to absorb Soviet gold indirectly. By doing so, it would be helping both the internal economy of the Soviet Union and Moscow's external propaganda, inherent in its trade drive.

The offensive apparently still is in its early stages. There is little evidence, for example, to support the theory that Soviet unloading of gold is responsible for depressing gold prices. These dropped from $37.50 an ounce last summer to the minimum level of $35 at present. So long as the United States continues to buy it, the price does not go below that level.

Barometer of Peace
But the drop of the world market price actually began before those reported shipments of Soviet gold. Gold prices follow the fortunes of war and peace. When there is danger of war, gold prices go up, because gold is hoarded for fear. When prospects for world peace brighten, prices go down and gold comes out in the markets. The Soviet display of turning inward to the problems of the home economy evidently convinced many of brightening prospects for world peace.

Religion

Mission to Britain
Evangelist Billy Graham invaded staid London this week, intent on kindling more zeal in English religious life. But before he even landed, his crusade set off a minor political explosion.

What caused the furor was some advertising material sent to England in advance of the young evangelist's arrival. It declared "Socialism" had undermined the country's religious faith.

British Laborites—also known there as Socialists—snapped back sharply and indignantly. Graham radioed a profuse apology from his ship. His office in Minneapolis also voiced regrets.

The word "socialism" with a small "s," the office added. Failure to make a last-minute printing correction was blamed.

Graham was given a tumultuous welcome by psalm-singing crowds on his arrival in London.

Economic Trends To Watch in March

By FRANK O'BRIEN
Associated Press Writer

WHAT signs and portents will President Eisenhower and his economic advisers be looking for in March to help them decide whether the economy needs big scale government help?

The President said on Feb. 16 it would be a very definite warning, calling for a number of measures (possibly including tax cuts), if employment does not pick up this March as it does most years.

He spoke just after the Census Bureau announced that by its old monthly survey method unemployment has risen 509,000 during December to 2,359,000 in early January.

Frank O'Brien

But that by a new method (for which December figures were not available) unemployment in January stood at 3,087,000.

But unemployment is only the fever a sick economy shows. An unemployment reading, like a temperature reading, does not tell what is wrong, or how seriously, except that the higher it is the sicker the economy is.

So Eisenhower and his advisers will be looking behind the unemployment reading to determine whether it is a flash fever burning out a mild cold, or something deeper set.

Here are the symptoms, beyond employment, that will count heavily in deciding how the March winds blow economically:

RETAIL SALES—Dr. Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, says this is the economic chart he is watching most closely at the moment.

Burns said business spending shows no sign of slowing down and "we might really be in trouble if it did." It hit a record 28 billion dollars last year.

INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION—A report on this comes from the Federal Reserve Board about the middle of each month for the previous complete month. It shows the rate at which the nation's factories and mines are working.

A board official, Winfield W. (All Rights Reserved, AP Newsfeatures)

Polio Injections NATIONWIDE TESTS START

Pittsburgh, First

A batch of Pittsburgh school youngsters took their shots of Salk's vaccine this week—an injection that may save them and thousands of others from polio.

Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the vaccine, gave each of the shots personally, as he will do to 5,000 more Pittsburgh children in the first large-scale test of the new preventive. The test will continue through June 19.

Dr. Salk believes his vaccine will produce immunity by building up anti-bodies—killers of the polio virus—in the bloodstream. Unlike other vaccine injections, such as that for diphtheria, a person who receives it does not contract the disease even in a mild form.

The Pittsburgh test is only the first for the Salk vaccine. During the spring, hundreds of thousands of first, second and third grade children throughout the nation will receive injections in a campaign conducted by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Gamma Globulin Survey
Meanwhile, the reaction of the medical profession—particularly state and local health officers—to a somewhat inconclusive report on the use of gamma globulin against polio may determine its use this year.

A group of 17 polio experts, appointed by the U. S. Public Health Service, reported that found no evidence that first widespread use of GG last summer had any effect in preventing or limiting paralytic polio.

It reported also that it found no evidence that GG was effective when given to family contacts of persons stricken.

However, the committee qualified its statement about the Indicted: By a federal grand jury, 18 persons, including Julius C. Holmes, special assistant to Secretary Dulles, and 7 corporations, on charges of defrauding the government in surplus ship sales.

Reported: By the State Department, only 11 of 590 employees separated last year as "security risks" had been held to be disloyal.

Accused: By British shipowners, the United States of using naval cutters to "shadow" British merchant ships trading with Far East communist ports.

Insisted: By Clarence Manion, that his support of the Bricker amendment, triggered his dismissal from the President's Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.

Voted: By the First Unitarian Church of Los Angeles, 206 to 31, against signing a loyalty oath, required by state law of all non-profit organizations seeking property tax exemptions.

mass inoculation program by saying that observations did not provide enough data to permit a conclusion as to whether or not GG had an effect in preventing or alleviating the disease when used in this way.

Three Million Doses
Foundation president Basil O'Connor said his organization would make available for use this summer three million doses of gamma globulin, worth 19 million dollars.

O'Connor pointed out the report of the experts on the use of GG in mass inoculation programs does not rule out the possibility of its effective use.

The committee said that in most cases last year, mass inoculations were given after the epidemic peak in that area had been reached so that there was little chance to demonstrate any effect.

Tests to Start Soon
Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director of the foundation, said he was certain state health officers this year will cancel polio vaccine tests in counties in the event of an epidemic.

Dr. Van Riper said the nationwide tests will begin in the South in late March or early April. Counties in which school children will be inoculated have not yet been announced. The children elected to receive the vaccine will be given three doses over a five-week period.

Finance

A Long Look at 'Shorts'
The "shorts" are making news in Wall Street.

A "short" is a trader who borrows somebody else's stock and sells it on the supposition that the market is going down and he can buy the stock back later at a lower price. The difference is his profit.

This month the "short interest" (the number of "borrowed" shares which had been sold short) was the highest on the New York Stock Exchange since May 1932.

Mechanics of Short Selling
A big increase in the short interest obviously lends itself to a "bearish" interpretation of market trends, but the bulls—people who want to see the market go up—can derive some comfort from a large short interest, too. The shorts will eventually have to start buying the borrowed stock back again. That buying will help cushion the market's fall. In that way, the activity of the shorts can help stabilize the market.

An advancing stock market can put the short seller in a tough spot. Forced buying by shorts will speed the market's rise. If he has to pay a lot more for the borrowed stock than he sold it for, the short seller can get himself into real trouble. An ancient Wall Street jingle describes his plight:

"He who sells what isn't his 'Must buy it back or go to prison."

Education

Psychiatric Study
A Columbia University survey indicates 10 per cent of the nation's public school children are emotionally disturbed and need mental guidance.

The study also indicated that the majority of schools lack both the trained personnel and facilities to do the job.

The three-year survey, conducted under auspices of Columbia University's Department of Psychiatry, involved 2,540,888 children in 350 school systems in all 48 states. They comprised about 10 per cent of the country's public school pupils in 1950.

Dr. David Abrahamson, psychiatrist in charge of the study, listed these significant findings:

Some schools reported as many as 60 per cent of their pupils emotionally disturbed, others as few as .06 per cent.

Eighty per cent of the schools had no classroom discussion of mental hygiene problems.

Eighty-five per cent of the schools where such problems were discussed had no staff personnel trained in mental hygiene.

Seventeen per cent of the schools said they had no mental hygiene services of any kind.

In addition to recommending greatly expanded clinical facilities, the study suggested that personality be assigned a much heavier role in the screening of teacher applicants.

Wall Paper Cleaner
Make a thick paste by mixing 3 cupfuls of flour, 3 tablespoonfuls of ammonia and 1 1/2 cupfuls of water. Roll this into balls of convenient size to fit the hand. Rub a ball over the paper and it will clean thoroughly.

Door Mats
Make serviceable door mats by coiling a rope and tacking each coil with strong cord on the underside. The mats can be made round, square, or rectangular.

Roach Powder
A good roach powder that has proven effective is made of equal parts of plaster of Paris and powdered sugar.

Table Linen
A good way to test table linen is to secure a sample and dip it in any kind of oil. The linen threads will become almost transparent, enabling one to see very readily how many cotton threads it contains.

Cleaning Tinware
Make a paste of powdered whiting and ammonia, olive oil or sweet oil. Dip a rag into this solution and rub the tin thoroughly. When dry, polish with a soft cloth.

Pies
Set the pie on a wire rack when it is taken from the oven, where the air can strike the bottom of the pie, until it is cool. This keeps the crust crisp and prevents sogginess.

Pancakes
The next time pancakes are to be made, instead of greasing the griddle, try heating it first and then rubbing it with a slice of freshly cut raw potato. It prevents sticking, as well as an unpleasant odor.

Toilet Water
An excellent toilet water can be made by mixing two ounces of elder flower water with an equal quantity of distilled water.

Frosted Glass
Glass may be given a frosted appearance by covering it with a mixture composed of 6 ounces magnesium sulphate, 2 ounces desferin, and 20 ounces of water.

China and Glass
China and glass can be toughened by placing the new articles in cold water and slowly bring it to a boil. Allow it to boil for three or four hours and then let it stand until cool. If this is done, hot water will never crack it.

Q. What is a good exercise for developing the bustline?

A. Lie on back on floor, arms resting on floor overhead and holding a weight in each hand (an iron or book will do). Slowly lift your arms and bring them to the floor on either side of the body. Then slowly return arms to their first position overhead, heaping the elbows straight throughout the exercise.

Q. I have a "weak" looking chin. How should I make up?

A. Try wearing your rouge high, and powdering your chin several shades lighter than your cheeks. A. A bluing rinse should be the answer to this. Ordinary bluing, made by a reputable firm, is all right, but use it with discretion. Your water should be warm, and not hot—as hot water tends to discolor gray hair.

Q. Please suggest a treatment for overly oily skin.

A. One often-effective treatment is regular sponging of the face with equal parts of cologne water, witch hazel and rose water. Cutting down on fatty foods in the diet is good, too.

Q. How can I dress to de-emphasize the appearance of large legs?

A. You can wear darker shades of hosiery and moderately high heels.

Q. How can I keep my eyes bright-looking and sparkling?

A. First, get plenty of sleep? Regular baths with an eye cup and a weak solution of boric acid are good. Or, put pads of cotton soaked in witch hazel over the eyes for a minute or two.

Q. What is a good after-shampoo rinse for softening the hair?

A. Three ounces of vinegar added to 1 pint of warm water.

Forest Industries Furnish Thousands Of Jobs In Texas

Fifty thousand workers hold steady jobs within the forest industries of Texas, according to Paul Hursey of Trinity, chairman of the Texas Forest Industries Committee. He added that thousands more are employed in allied industries which depend largely upon forest products for their existence.

"Through the wise management of our timber resources, through such programs as the Tree Farm system and the Keep Green movement, Texas can forever enjoy the prosperity that comes from a sustained timber yield," the lumberman said. "Timber is a renewable resource, but we must recognize it as a crop which must be protected and harvested in a manner that insures continued production."

Receipts from the products of the state's forest industries amount to about $70 per year for every man, woman and child in Texas.

While Texas leads the nation in Tree Farm units and Tree Farm acreage, the industry committee chairman is shooting for a substantial increase in 1954. This can be done, he said, with the cooperation of private landowners who realize the wisdom of timber management.

"Texas now has 501 Tree Farms covering 3,345,770 acres," said Mr. Hursey. "I believe we can add at least half a million more acres to the program this year."

The Texas Tree Farm system is sponsored by the Texas Forest Service, the Texas Forestry Association and the East Texas Chamber of Commerce. It is sponsored nationally by all the wood-using industries through the American Forest Products Industries.

Mr. Hursey said a new book entitled Texas Forest Facts published by the American Forest Products Industries, Inc., is now available to industries, newspapers and radio stations of the state without cost.

Many Texans Still Favor Hillbilly Music

By Bruce Henderson Associated Press Staff

That good old mountain music is still good enough for many a Texan.

Record distributors say "pop" and "cat" have cut into hillbilly sales, but not enough to displace country music as a fixture in the Texas scene.

Texans drop thousands of nickels daily into juke boxes to hear their favorite hillbilly — or, if you prefer, western — crooner. Hoe-down, guitar-thumping fiddly music still wafts from dance halls and all-night truck stops from the Red River to the Rio Grande.

Record Classifications
Records are classified mainly as hillbilly, straight popular "pop" and rhythm-and-blues "cat".

For the uninitiated, the latter can be identified by its strong, swaying rhythm and wailing saxophones. "Cat" records are frequently by Negro artists.

How does hillbilly rank? One distributor, whose area covers the state's north half, says: "Hillbilly has fallen off slightly in Texas, probably because 'cat' and 'pop' are gaining popularity. But hillbilly is still going strong. It's here to stay."

He estimates that 8 to 10 million records were sold in Texas last year, and a third were hillbilly.

Opinion on hillbilly music, of course, differs. Its trademark—the singer's nasal twang — excites varied reactions. Some listeners feel an urge to head for the door.

Others get a kick out of it. Why? One distributor, in the business 15 years, says:

Reasons For Liking

"It's mainly a matter of association. Many who grew up on farms or ranches were born into it. They learned to like it. When they grow up and maybe move to the city, they still enjoy hillbilly."

"I like to look at hillbilly this way. It's folk music. Tells a story in ballad form, like in old English and colonial times. That's when it began, and the style has been handed down. Maybe the story is about a wife slipping around on her husband. Maybe it's about grief when a loved one dies. It always tells a story." Country music took its form, he said, because in the early days a guitar or fiddle was cheap, easy to carry around.

"All you had to do was pluck a few chords, your neighbors could gather around and sing. You had your own entertainment."

A best-selling platter on a recent week was "You All Come," written and sung by Arlie Duff of Dallas who formerly taught school in Warren, near Beaumont.

In this one, which has a fast tempo, Duff sings that when you live in the country everybody's a neighbor, so — "You all come see us by and by."

Other current hits include "Cheatin' a Sin," "There'll be Peace in the Valley for Me," and "I'm Walking the Dog."

Often Popularized

Hillbilly music is often "popularized." Duff wrote "You All Come" as country. Recordings of it by Bing Crosby and others are selling fast as "pops."

Another distributor illustrates the place hillbilly music holds in Texas with these estimates: Texas probably absorbs 3.75 to 4 percent of total national record sales. But the state buys 10 to 12 percent of all hillbilly records.

"I would think hillbilly is as hot as ever," this industry spokesman declared. "People like it. It's homespun."

He ordered one car to stop and the driver asked:

"What do you want me for?" "This looks like a liquor car," Thurman replied.

"It is," the driver admitted. He pulled out his federal agent's badge. "We picked it up and I'm taking it in."

Grass Roots, USA, Shows The Way...

"Neighbor - A person who lives near another."

Such is the preferred definition shown in the dictionary and, we feel sure, it may well apply to many of our own personal interpretations of the word.

The folks out in the Westway Community apparently do not take the definition literally, however, if we are to judge by their actions in 1954 -- and years past. To them a neighbor is a friend -- and a neighbor in need is a situation to be reconed with in the fashion of the old West.

Last week, for instance, the plight of Marlin Pierce came to their attention as the result of two major surgeries in recent months. The party lines started jangling and Tuesday morning 18 tractors rolled into the Pierce yard. Along with the tractors came various and sundry equipment, willing and eager men who wanted to work and scores of women with covered dishes. Everyone pitched in to help this neighbor and, as a result, 200 acres were harrowed, fertilized, listed and re-listed. When the work was finished, they all gathered around for an old fashion get together and, greatly though the volunteer work was appreciated, it certainly went no further than did the comforting fact that the neighbors and friends of an unfortunate family were on hand to give assistance, and cheer and prove that they really "did care" for their friends.

Great, though the proportion of this single deed, it is still secondary to the urge which motivated it into being. A similar thing happens, in fact, almost every year in Westway, along with a few other communities in this area.

It was upon the premise of an occasional "helping hand" and "the latchstring hangs outside the door" that this Western country was settled. These two factors, in the early days, meant survival. They never have been and never can be classified as charity. They are as Christian as the church and they exemplify, the Golden Rule in actual operation. Greed and selfishness have contributed largely to the disappearance of such deeds in America. Today we have, instead, such ABC bureaus as Social Security, Old Age Pensions, WPA, special loan divisions and unemployment insurance. These things may be necessary, but they will never, in our opinion, replace the feeling of friendship which led this group of farmers to help a neighbor in time of need.

You often hear expressions about "Grass Roots," America, leading the way. Perhaps this incident in Westway last week is indicative. Perhaps the small communities can lead the way. To say the least, if every neighbor in America proves his mettle by the same standards adopted in this small community, the nation need never worry about its future.

Public Is Urged To Visit Schools

Governor Allen Shivers recently designated the week, March 1-6, as Public School Week in Texas, along with some comment which sought greater general interest in Texas schools. The following paragraphs quote the Governor in what we believe to be a timely and worthwhile message to the people of Deaf Smith County:

"One of the great and basic institutions upon which we rely for the furtherance of our American ideas is our public school system. It is the birthright of every American to attend our public schools and to there acquire the essentials for making an honorable living, as well as an understanding of the reciprocal privileges and responsibilities of American citizenship, the advantages of our way of life, and the place of our country in the world.

"We in Texas are proud of the school system that has been developed in our State. We like to believe that the opportunities afforded our children for sound basic education are not excelled anywhere. If we are justified in this conclusion it is only because the people of our State have shown a personal interest in education and because public spirited men and women have been willing to devote their lives to the teaching of youth.

"Our school system can meet the objectives expected of it only when there is a widespread public understanding of our schools and the type of education they provide. This kind of understanding can best be developed by the intimate knowledge that comes from inspecting the school houses, knowing the teachers and seeing the work of the pupils.

"With these thoughts in mind, I, Allan Shivers, Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the week March 1-6, 1953, as Public School Week in Texas, and I urge every citizen to visit at least one public school during this period and to become personally acquainted with the programs and accomplishments of our educational system."

Machine Counties Now Under Fire

Texas "machine counties" are now under fire with the main turrets focused on Duval County and Political Boss George B. Parr.

This situation has, for a long time, been a disgrace to Texas and to the United States. In many ways, it is reminiscent of the gangs which were bred in the slums of Chicago and spread their grasping fingers over the entire nation.

A democracy is primarily based upon an honest count at the ballot box. When the people of any political division are deprived of this right, the residents no longer enjoy the heritage of free men. In addition to testimony in recent trials, actual vote counts over a long period indicate that Mr. Parr and his Duval County cohorts displayed hands which were not always lily-white.

Bucking a political machine of this magnitude took courage and fortitude upon the part of Texas' governor and attorney general. Instead of smiling quietly and winking their left eye, as numerous of their predecessors have done, they started waging the battle to give the people of this area their true American heritage. Regardless of your opinion of these officials, and we know that it is well divided, we should definitely remember this incident as a worthwhile accomplishment for our state and our nation. It will certainly be remembered for a long time by the people of Duval county.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Slower, More Careful Driving Needed To Lower Traffic Deaths

"What positive action should we take to stop the slaughter on our highways?"

J. R. THOMAS

"I think that accidents would be cut down if everyone would drive 60 miles an hour. I know that there is a law that says that we can't exceed this limit, but I think that it should be enforced."

MARGARET HARE

"About the only thing that I could think of would be for every individual to take it upon himself to drive more carefully. I think that we just need more sane driving."

BARNEY HELTON

"Cut down on the speed limit would be about the best thing. I guess that the only way to do that would be to pass a law and then enforce it."

LEON JONES

"I think we should stop a lot of the drinking that goes on while people are driving. I don't know how we could do this though. I think that drinking causes more accidents than anything else."

MRS. SYLVESTER SLAGLE

"My opinion is to watch the other drivers and yourself too. What I think causes most of our accidents is speed. However, I can think of no way to make people drive slower. I think about everything that could be done has been done about speed."

MRS. S. S. WILLIAMS

"I think that something should be done about the fast driving, I believe that speed is the main cause of accidents. About all we could do about that is for the manufacturers to stop making cars that will go so fast. I believe that is the only way to stop fast driving."

AUSTIN — March 15 is tax time in Texas in more ways than one. It's Federal income - tax - paying time. And it marks the opening of a specially called tax assessing session of the Texas legislature... to raise the pay of teachers.

Members of the legislature will assemble at noon on March 15 for the beginning of what may prove to be a stormy session. Stormy because there are repercussions any time you assess a tax.

Most everyone seems to feel that Texas teachers merit a salary raise... so long as somebody else pays for it.

The legislators' job is to put the finger on somebody to foot the bill. That's when the fighting will start. It will take about $24 million per year to up the teachers' pay by $402.

Replacement Tax
Governor Allan Shivers said, in calling the special session, that he would recommend a "replacement" tax. By that he meant that he would suggest a revenue bill to take the place of one, passed by the last legislature, that was ruled out by the U. S. Supreme Court. It was a gathering tax on gas.

Attorney General John Ben Shepherd prepared three bills that would bring in about $36 million per year from the natural gas industry.

House Speaker Reuben Senterfitt warned that it will not be easy to pass the tax bills -- and some House leaders agreed with him.

Speaking to the legislative council and legislative budget board, Senterfitt said Shivers had put the lawmakers on the spot by calling the session.

"You and I have no choice in the subject matter before us," Senterfitt said. "That responsibility rests upon the governor, and you and I can only do our best at the job that is handed us."

Other Propositions
As if the teacher pay headache were not enough, the governor had two other propositions to place before the Legislature: providing more funds for building programs at Southwestern Medical Branch at Dallas, the Dental College at Houston, and Texas School for Deaf, Austin; and to set penalties, including death, for Communists.

Lid May Blow Off
San Diego prepared for the lid to blow off of the controversy between George Parr and state and federal authorities.

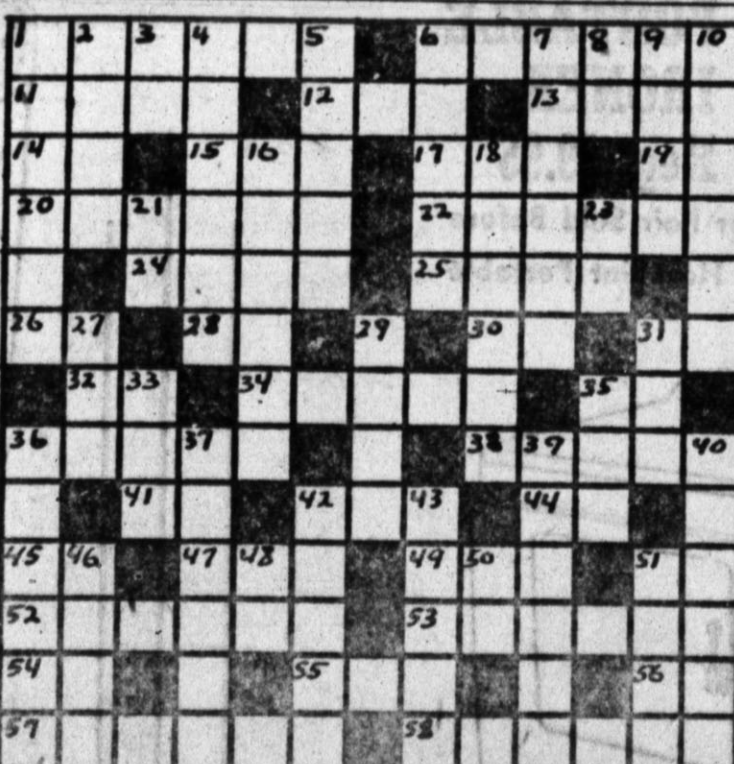

Attorney General John Ben Shepherd said that he and his agents "found what we wanted to find in an investigation of Duval County records."

From those records he took three envelopes of material, which he held for evidence.

Parr said he did not know what was in the envelopes, but that he is ready to answer in court any charges that may be brought

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has a good idea this week, but we don't know whether he'll get anywhere with it.

- O -

Dear editor:
It's sometimes hard to tell just by lookin when I'm under the weather as I don't rip and tear much even when I'm in the best of health, I always figured if feelin good meant you had to get into motion and burn up your energy you might as well feel bad to start with, after years of practice I've managed to sit still and enjoy health as much as the fellow on the run, but what I started out to say was that lately I've been sort of under the weather, with a bad cold.

And I've been thinkin. We've got nearly every kind of money-rain drive you can think of in this country, with the exception maybe of one to raise money to stamp out ingrowing toenails, but there ought to be one more.

There ought to be a drive on all over the country to set up a fund to figure out how to whip a bad cold. Personally I don't think man has any business spendin money for example on rocket ships to explore space before he finds out how to cure a cold. And if you ask me, color television has no more business comin ahead of a prevention for the common cold than holdin office has comin ahead of gettin elected. I can't think of anything more ridiculous than a high-toned, expensive color television program bein called off on account of the star comin down with a cold. It's one thing for me to call off a day's plowin for that reason, even if it is in natural color, but any race of people smart enough to send color pictures through the air ought to be smart enough to whip a cold.

I know we probably have too many drives already, but we may have too many fillin stations and grocery stores and I know we've got too much cotton and butter, and we ought to find room for one more.

If you'll go in with me, we'll launch the National Bad Cold Drive, with President Eisenhower as honorary head, as I understand he's already come down four times with a cold since he's been in office, and raise enough money to put some scientists on the job with instructions to isolate the germs, and figure out a vaccine.

Any country able to split an atom, fly 1500 miles an hour, build a car that shifts its own gears, sell canned biscuits, and run up a national debt of 275 billion dollars, ought to be able to figure out how to prevent a cold. Let's get this organization going.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Investigations

These national committee hearings are demanding wide attention. Charges are bantered back and forth and, too often, they involve the patriotism of the nation's "big boss."

To say that the hearings are "all wrong" would be absurd. Conditions which made possible the Pearl Harbor massacre proved this much. On the other hand, they are confusing the American people beyond the bounds of reason.

If such hearings are merely political, the sponsors would seem to be doing more actual damage than are those they find guilty. However, if they are honest and sincere, it is definitely time for the country to do away with its higher-echelon parasites. Committees, it seems to us, should not be necessary. The treatment demands an iron hand.

Loyal Americans still compose the rank and file of this nation. These loyal Americans would like to see President Eisenhower literally clean house. If no other single thing were accomplished during his administration, ridding the federal government of "Red" sympathizers would be the greatest service he could do for this country.

State and federal investigators inquired particularly as to the expenditure of public funds in Duval County and its two school districts.

Also probing was a Duval County grand jury, dismissal of which was sought by Sheppard on the grounds, he said, that Parr can tell seven members what to do because they are obligated to him.

Parr, meanwhile, asked a federal court for protection, alleging that two Texas Rangers want to kill him.

Sheppard quickly announced that he would defend the Rangers, Captain Alfred Allee and Ranger Joe Bridge, who have been indicted by a Jim Wells County grand jury on charges of assault to murder Parr.

Parr has hired a famed New York lawyer, Arthur G. Hays, to represent him.

A courthouse brawl was the basis for the indictment; also a conversation between Parr and Allee in San Diego.

Temporary Order
Seething developments brought a temporary order, issued by Federal Judge Ben Connolly of Houston, restraining two banks from removing their records.

Involved are the San Diego State Bank and the Texas State Bank of Alice. Parr is president of both of them. The order was issued at the request of internal revenue agents.

And State Auditor C. H. Cavness said he found "irregularities in practices, procedures, and items" in the records of Duval County and the San Diego Independent School District.

Related Case
A case, that was related to the Duval County turmoil proceeded in the Texas Supreme Court.

Involved is District Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin of Alice, elected with Parr's support.

Ouster proceedings against Laughlin were brought by 10 attorneys practicing in his district.

Clint Small of Austin, counsel for Laughlin, told the supreme court in a written brief that the proceedings violate the Fourteenth Amendment of the Federal Constitution, which guarantees civil liberties and due process of law.

Small contended that the case should be dismissed.

Oral arguments had previously been heard, and the court gave attorneys time to reply.

Small's contention was considered an indication that if the Texas court rules against Laughlin, the case will be appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Fire by Incendiarists
Incendiarists caused 50 percent of forest fires that reached epidemic proportions in Southeast Texas, the Texas Forest Service reported.

More than 20,000 acres of trees have already burned this year, as compared with 25,000 acres for the entire year 1953.

Biggest fire loss, according to A. D. Folweiler, director of the

THE DUST STORM February 19 had some powerful winds, and the service station at the corner of Highway 51 and Harrison Highway seemed to be in the exact place to take the brunt. However, notice that the missing glass was blown outward, as evidenced by broken glass lying behind the overturned telephone booth. The plate glass window on the left nearly went out before a gasoline truck was parked in front of the hole for a temporary windbreak. (Staff Photo) forest service, was in Hardin, Tyler, Jasper, Newton, and Cass counties.

Why would the firebugs strike at Texas timber? That, said Folweiler, is a matter of conjecture.

New Insurance Laws
New laws are needed to protect Texans against insurance evils says District Judge Charles O. Betts of Austin.

His comment was made in granting a temporary injunction against continued operation of two El Paso companies, United World Life Insurance Company, and United Lloyds Insurance Exchange.

"The public is suffering by reason of the fact that so many companies already are in receivership," Judge Betts said, adding:

"Under various special laws, the public is not properly protected. The insurance commission has no way of maintaining the proper protection."

Quick to agree with the judge was Garland A. Smith, chairman of the State Board of Insurance Commissioners.

Smith blamed some banks for their willingness to help insurance promotion schemes.

"As presently written, the laws encourage speculation in which the insured and not the organizers undergo the risks," Smith said.

Secretary of State Howard Carney also is advocating changes in the laws. His department supervises most insurance stock sales, and he points out that no state agency inspects the securities which insurance companies offer to the public, unless the company voluntarily submits its stock issue for examination.

Appearance Invited
Senator Wayne Wagonseller of Bowie has been invited to appear before the State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools regarding his demand for an investigation.

Wagonseller has charged that the board let a building contract at Big Spring State Hospital to other than the lowest bidder.

Claud Gilmer, member of the board, suggested that the invitation to Wagonseller be issued so that he might state his case. The board approved Gilmer's suggestion and offered the senator its cooperation in a full investigation.

New Health Head
Dr. Henry A. Holle, a native of Texas and a New York City public health administrator, has been named Texas state health officer to succeed Dr. George W. Cox, 73, who headed the department for 17 years before he resigned last month.

Dr. Holle, a native of Brenham, attended Texas A&M College and is a graduate of the Texas Medical School. He will receive $10,600 a year, but a member of the health board said an increase would be asked to bring the salary up to $15,000 or more.

Streu's Diary

February 26, 1954

DEAR DIARY:

It's been a long time—this is the first Diary of 1954—and may be the last if this confounded dirt keeps blowing and settling as it has for the past week!! The housewife has a bit of a job keeping a clean house, but did you ever consider keeping 11,000 items clean?? We have vacuumed, broomed, dusted, wiped and washed — all to little avail since the dust just keeps seeping in—phooey!!! Will admit we have sold more house-cleaning tools and products the last ten days than we have in months—"tis an ill wind, etc."

Our TV business has been very good—possibly because in every neighborhood where there is an RCA Victor TV—it has the best picture, the best sound, and the lowest upkeep of any set in that neighborhood. Out of 90 odd antenna installations, we had one go down in the "Big Blow." In addition to the fine reception recorded by RCA Victor TV sets in this area, we have found that the famous FINCO Antenna has been delivering even better results—I might remind you that several dealers have been selling antenna that look like Finco—for less than the price of a Finco—but some of them are not Finco. Be sure that when you order Finco—you get Finco!! We have them.

Jean has a few specials for Dollar Day—barrel tumblers (water glasses to you) were 90 cents doz.—now 59 cents doz.—$3.25 Dazey Super Juicers for $1.95. Dazey coffee dispenser (measures the coffee you use and can save on your coffee bill) was $4.95—close out at $2.95 while they last. Jean also has the Balcony Special Table loaded again—30 cents for any item with values up to 5 bucks thereon.

Streu Hardware was 30 years old this month, and this month happens to be my birthday also—I am 39 years old—again. I really believe that I have enjoyed living more during the last five years (when I passed 39) than I ever enjoyed any similar period in my life. Seems that I have gradually learned a few of the secrets of living and happiness and relaxation — friends seem closer — acquaintances seem friendlier and those who dislike me seem to dislike me a little less—it is possible that like good cheese and good liquors, age has a mellowing effect on people. Be that as it may, thanks to everyone for everything nice that happens to me.

STREU.

HENS IN CAGE IN 80% PRODUCTION

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Tarlton, living on North Street, have about 440 hens that are laying about 335 eggs daily. That's over 75% production. They also have 20 hens in Laying Cages that are now in over 80% production. All these hens are fed Purina Layena and Topfed Booster Checkers.
 Mr. Tarlton says, "The reason my hens do so well, is that I start with good chicks, give them good care, and good feed."

IT TAKES A GOOD RATION TO MAKE HENS LAY

If you have grain to feed your layers, you'll find Purina Lay Chow goes with that grain to help keep up egg production. Lay Chow comes in the Checker-Ett form that hens like so well. Add egg-making power to your grain with Purina Lay Chow. Get a few bags today. START . . . GROW . . . LAY . . . PAY . . . feed Purina all the way!

Frio News

By Mrs. Owen Andrews
 The Frio Home Makers Club met Tuesday, in the home of Mrs. C. N. McClure for a program on "Sheets," with Mrs. Henry Andrews discussing "Things to be made from Sheets," and Mrs. J. H. Dobbs giving pointers on "How to Buy and Care for Sheets."
 Mrs. Andrews had illustrations of various home decorating ideas and attractive clothes to be made from sheets. Mrs. Dobbs explained about the different thread count, and sizes, and how to judge quality.
 The club decided to send a gift to the Heart Fund in memory of Mr. H. V. Stanton rather than a floral offering.
 Those attending the meeting were Mesdames W. A. Springer, Jack Jones, Glenn Gripp, H. E. Lindley, Henry Andrews, T. L. Sparkman Jr., H. F. Benson, J. E. Warrick, J. H. Goodin, Carl McClintock, E. F. Vogler, Owen Andrews, Henry Dobbs and Miss Alma Andrews.
 The next meeting will be on March 9 in the home of Mrs. H. F. Benson.
 Visiting in the Carl McClintock home, Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Carl McClintock Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Brown and son and Mrs. Waltha Littlepage and daughter, all of Tahoka, and Mr. and Mrs. Dwain McClintock and daughter of Morton.
 Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Buttrill were in Clovis on business, Tuesday.
Surprise Call
 The W. H. Thompsons were pleasantly surprised, Tuesday night by a telephone call from their son Milton in Vallejo, Calif., to wish Mrs. Thompson a "Happy Birthday" and to report that Mr. and Mrs. Don Cox were the parents of a daughter, born on Tuesday. Mrs. Cox, the former Gladys Thompson, is in a Naval hospital at Vallejo, where Don is stationed with the Navy. They have named the baby Rebecca Rae.
 Next Thursday night is the time for the regular Community Meeting. A surprise program has been arranged so everyone is urged to come and find out for himself. All of the programs so far have been both educational and interesting.

Let's Cook Something

When Mrs. Clara Shore returned after the Christmas holidays from a visit in Vanderbilt with her daughter, Mrs. D. C. Laird Jr., and family, she brought with her a recipe for cheese dips, delicious little concoctions just right for television or snack suppers.
 They make a tasty addition to the buffet supper with cold sliced ham or roast beef. You place the cheese mixture in a bowl, allowing each guest to dip her crackers into the bowl as she wishes. Soda crackers, Hi-Ho or the dainty little whole wheat variety may be used as preferred, or potato chips may be used.
Reds Have Collective Trouble
 TOKYO (AP)—Red China of late has given rather strong inklings that all is not well with the massive effort to change over millions of peasant farmers into collectivized communist groups. Recent Peiping broadcasts have said in so many words that many of these farmers just naturally prefer to work and sell on their own for private profit.
 The broadcasts also speak of: Poor leadership; antiquated farming methods; inability to get over the communist idea because the masses are uneducated; hostility of "middle peasants" who have experienced the role of "private owners"; peasant dislike of force; the necessity of making "low interest loans" and offering other government inducements; a tendency toward corruption in distributing the earnings under a collectivized system.
Cheese Dips
 2 small packages Philadelphia Cream Cheese
 Cream or milk to blend
 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
 1 teaspoon lemon juice
 4 tablespoons salad dressing
 Salt to taste and a touch of garlic and onion salt
 Have the Philadelphia Cream Cheese at room temperature and add just enough cream or milk to blend. Mix well, add the salad dressing and blend well. Add all the other ingredients and beat until mixed. The mixture should be thick enough to stay on the cracker, but if it seems too thick more milk may be added. One mashed avocado may be added if desired.
 Serve with plenty of crackers or potato chips for dipping so guests may return for as many as they like.

THAT'S WHY I WANT TO QUESTION THE CHILDREN AT THE SCENE OF THE ATTEMPTED CRIME~ THEY MIGHT REMEMBER SOME DETAIL THAT MIGHT LEAD TO THE CROOK'S CAPTURE~

NOW TELL ME WHEN YOU FIRST SAW THE POLICEMAN AND JUST WHAT HE LOOKED LIKE~

HE CAME FROM THAT WAY~ HE WAS AWFUL BIG AND HIS BLACK EYES WAS SCARY LOOKING~

HE HAD BLUE EYES~ HE WAS SHORT AND FAT AND HAD A BLACK MUSTACHE~

HEY~ YOU'RE WRONG~ HE DIDN'T HAVE NO MUSTACHE~ ANYWAY, IT WAS LIGHT BROWN~ NOT BLACK~

JOHNNY HAZARD

by FRANK ROSSIN

THERE WAS THIS SCAVENGIN' MONKEY CROUCHIN' ON OUR DECK ...WITH OUR LIGHTS CATCHIN' HIM IN THE ACT OF STEALIN'!

AS THE PACKET BOAT FLOATS DOWN THE HIDDEN STREAM, CAPTAIN SHARK CONTINUES THE TALE OF HIS SEARCH FOR THE LOST TREASURE CITY OF THAL!

SHARK... LOOK AT THAT PENDANT AROUND THE MONKEY'S NECK! UNLESS I'M BLIND... IT'S WORTH A FORTUNE!

IF IT'S VALUABLE THAT MONKEY SHOULDN'T HAVE ...IT'S OURS NOW!

NO, SHARK... DON'T...

YOU IDIOT! WHERE DO YOU THINK THAT PENDANT CAME FROM? ...IT'S PART OF THE TREASURE CITY JEWELS! THAT MONKEY COULD HAVE LED US TO THAL ...BUT YOU HAD TO KILL IT!

YOU CAN'T BE TRUSTED WITH A GUN ANY LONGER! GIVE IT TO ME ...

BUT "THREE-EYES" WAS NO MATCH FOR SHARK! A SHORT STRUGGLE ... AND HE WENT INTO THE DRINK!

IT HAPPENED NEARLY TWO YEARS AGO ... AND I'VE NEVER SEEN HIM SINCE!

THAT'S QUITE A STORY, SHARK! IF IT'S TRUE ... THIS COULD BE THE STREAM LEADING TO THE LOST TREASURE CITY!

I KNOW I'M RIGHT! SEE HERE ON MY HALF OF THE MAP... IT'S THIS STREAM THAT RUNS OFF THE EDGE INTO THE IRRAWADDY RIVER!

AND UP HERE IT PETERS OUT IN THE JUNGLE! THAT'S PRETTY WILD COUNTRY SO FAR INLAND!

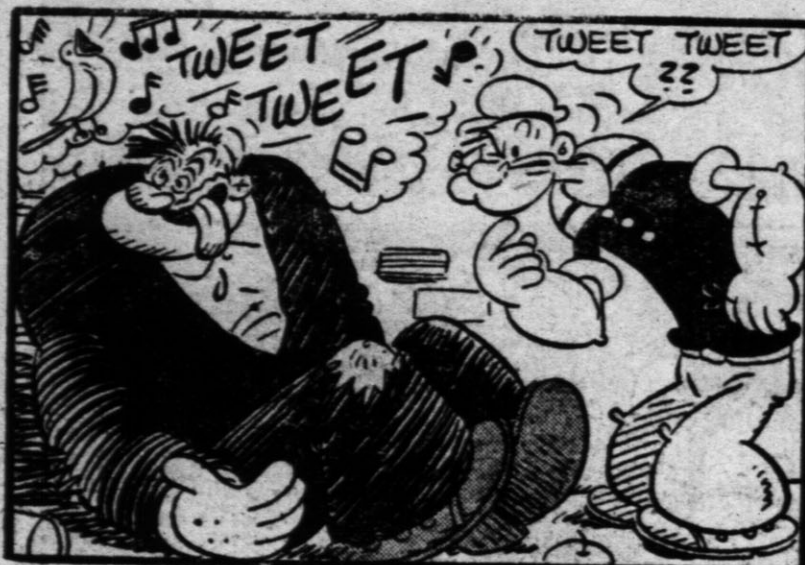

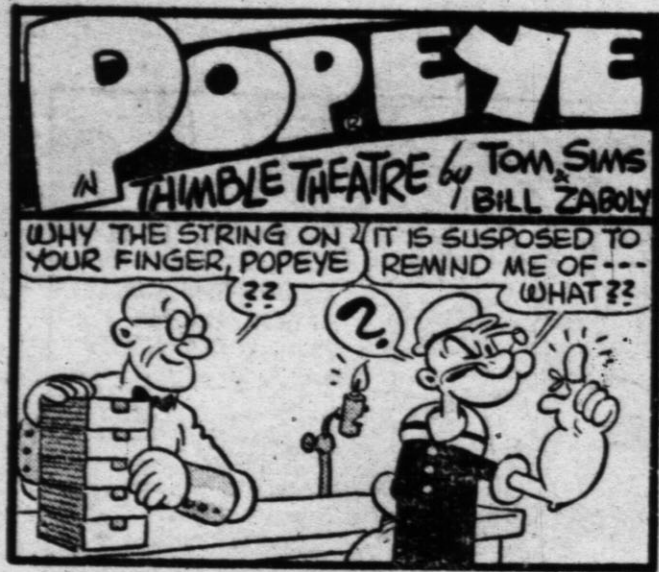

JOHNNY, LISTEN! DRUMS!

LANDED ON SYGNA BY CAPTAIN VAN AND URSULA, SCORCHY AND MARA ARRANGE FOR A SPACE SHIP TO GO IN SEARCH OF HER FATHER, WHO IS LOST IN DEEP SPACE. THEY REFUSE TO TAKE MARA'S MISCHIEVOUS KID BROTHER, JONNI, AND LEAVE HIM WITH AN AUNT. BUT JONNI HAS OTHER IDEAS...

GEE, I'M LUCKY! I THOUGHT SURE THAT GUARD HAD ME SPOTTED. THAT SHOULD BE THEIR SHIP!

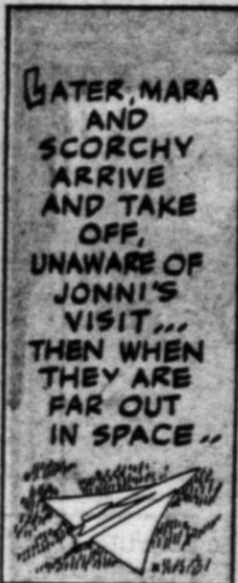

I'LL SHOW THEM THEY CAN'T LEAVE ME BEHIND! I'LL MAKE ROOM IN HERE AND HIDE!

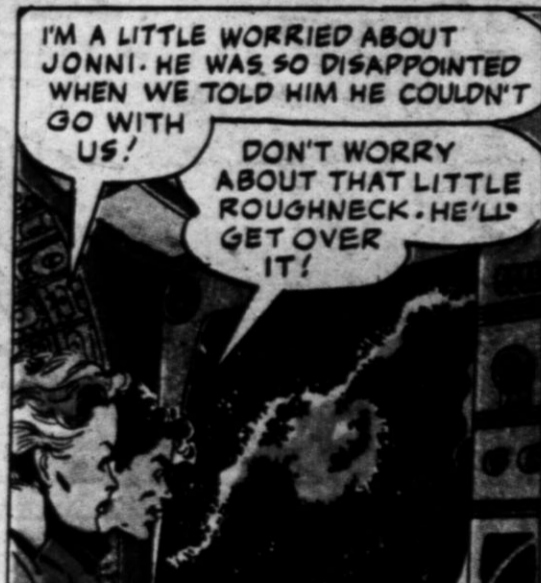

I'VE GOT JUST AS MUCH RIGHT TO HUNT FOR MY DAD AS THEY HAVE!

I'LL LEAVE THESE HERE. THEY DON'T NEED 'EM ANYHOW! THEY WON'T KNOW I'M THERE TILL IT'S TOO LATE!

LATER, MARA AND SCORCHY ARRIVE AND TAKE OFF, UNAWARE OF JONNI'S VISIT... THEN WHEN THEY ARE FAR OUT IN SPACE...

I'M A LITTLE WORRIED ABOUT JONNI. HE WAS SO DISAPPOINTED WHEN WE TOLD HIM HE COULDN'T GO WITH US!

DON'T WORRY ABOUT THAT LITTLE ROUGHNECK. HE'LL GET OVER IT!

SCORCHY! OUR FISSION DRIVE RODS HAVE BURNED DOWN. BETTER GET SOME REPLACEMENTS FROM THE FUEL LOCKER!

GOOD THING WE CARRY EXTRAS! WE COULDN'T MAKE THE NEAREST ASTEROID WITHOUT THEM!

I'LL RELOAD THE FISSION DRIVE AND THEN WE'LL KNOCK OFF FOR DINNER!

OKAY, SCORCHY!

JONNI!?

I'M HUNGRY! WHEN DO WE EAT?
