Annual Meeting Of Red Cross Set For Friday

The annual meeting of the Deaf Smith County chapter of the American Red Cross will be held Friday evening, July 10 at 8 o'clock, according to Mrs. Reed Williams, chapter chairman.

The meeting will be held in the district court room on the third floor of the courthouse.

Three directors are to be elected at the meeting, and some service awards will be presented, she said. Outgoing directors of the chapter are Mrs. Gladys Medkief, Mrs. Jones.

J. R. Richardson, and Mrs. W. L. county are invited to attend the meeting, Mrs. Williams said.

Extension Placed On Upland Cotton Loans

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced June 22 that Commodity Credit Corporation loans on 1952-crop upland cotton which have a maturity date of July 31, 1953, will be carried in a past-due status through July 31, 1954, according to Faust Collier, office manager for the Deaf Smith County Production and Marketing Administration committee.

Producers may either sell their "equity" in the loan cotton or redeem the cotton from the loan and then sell it in the open market. The market price of the various qualities of cotton has varied materially during the year, but at present prices farmers should be able to dispose of some quantities of cotton at prices that will give them some net profits above the loan and charges against the cotton.

The 1952-crop loan cotton not redeemed prior to August 1, 1954, will be purchased on that date by Commodity Credit Corporation.

Hereford Lions Club Representatives On Way To Chicago

Two Hereford Lions Club members and their wives left Friday afternoon for the Lions International convention which starts Wednesday at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago.

J. W. Robinson, Lion president, and Cecil Massey, Lions Club treasurer, will be the official representatives of the Hereford Lions Club.

To make sure that everyone at the convention will know that they are from Texas, the two men will be wearing chaps, big hats and other colorful cowboy regalia.

The two couples will leave Chicago on Saturday, July 11, and expect to be back in Hereford on Sunday, July 12.

Sgt. Billy R. Thompson Leaving For Walters AFB

Sgt. Billy R. Thompson, who has been spending a month's furlough here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thompson, will leave Monday for Walters Air Force Base, Mineral Wells where he will report to the 48th Engineering Aviation Brigade at Camp Walters.

Sgt. Thompson has been serving with the 841 Aviation Engineers attached to the 5th Air Force at Osan, Korea.

Drought Relief Forms Due In APMA Office Requests To Start Monday

Requests To Start Monday

WAITING FOR PRODUCE which may or may not be available for them, a number of heavy trucks and tractors with semi-trailers have been parking recently around the courthouse. Most of the trucks come from various parts of Texas, but several of them have out of state license plates. The area around the court house seems to be the only place available that is large enough to handle a parking situation of this type at the present time. Some of the truckers seem to be waiting for the potato harvest to get underway in earnest around here. (Staff Photo.)

PROCESSING SHEDS READY TO BEGIN OPERATIONS

Potato Harvest Moving Slowly Toward Hereford

Processing of the major portion of this year's potato crop in Deaf Smith County will not start until about Monday, July 13, according to informed sources in the processing business here.

"Potatoes in the county will need all the pounds they can get this year," one man commented.

Processing of potatoes around Olton has been underway for about 10 days, and the harvest season is moving slowly north, with digging and processing to start around Hart on Monday.

First Wreck Of Month Occurred On Miles Street

The first wreck for the month of July occurred Friday, July 3 on Miles Street.

Mrs. Louella Howard Ferguson, driving a 1950 Chevrolet, collided with a 1951 Oldsmobile driven by Eulatalage E. Allen. Both were going north on Miles Street.

Mrs. Ferguson pulled into a parking space and then noticed that it was a private drive and backed out, colliding with the right rear fender and bumper of the Oldsmobile.

Damages were estimated at $75 to each car by investigating officers.

Machinery Ready

Potato processing machinery in Hereford sheds is nearly all ready to go. Two machines are being installed at the Charles E. Huston shed on Highway 60, and will increase the total processing capacity here by about three carload of potatoes a day.

This compares, however, with the Gault sheds, which have a capacity of 18 to 20 car loads of potatoes a day.

One processor reported that a slightly low yield is expected here, and the plant will probably not operate at capacity.

Funeral For Marine Pilot Will Be Held In Dimmitt Thursday

Funeral services for Captain Joe Bailes of the Marine Air Arm will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the First Baptist Church in Dimmitt, according to Gilliland Funeral Home, which has charge of the arrangements.

The body will arrive in Hereford Wednesday afternoon, and will be reshipped from Hereford to Tyler Thursday afternoon following the funeral services.

Burial in Tyler. Burial will take place at 10 a.m. Saturday in Tyler.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Jane Kirkpatrick Bailes, principal of Dimmitt High School, and his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Portex Bailes, Tyler.

Capt. Bailes was flying Panther jet airplanes in Korea at the time of his death.

Leaving Items Of Value Out is Way to Lose Them

It isn't just very safe to leave items of value lying around where some one can take them easily, according to a warning issued by the Sheriff's office Saturday.

There have been several thefts recently, and in almost all cases something of value was left out in plain sight where no one was likely to see the theft occur.

Happens Every Year. "It seems like it is this way every year," the Sheriff's office spokesman said. "Only those who lose things start putting things away like they should, but then it is too late."

Leaving things in the open back end of a truck, out in the front yard next to the street, or in similarly obvious places is likely to be an invitation to theft, the spokesman warned.

Boy Breaks Arm In Fall From Motor Scooter

Marvin Leo Hedge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hedge, received minor injuries Friday afternoon when the wheel on his motor scooter locked. He was thrown from the scooter and broke his arm in the fall.

The accident occurred at the Y of Park Avenue and Highway 60.

About three weeks ago Marvin received minor injuries while driving the same motor scooter. He collided with a car.

Marvin said, "Two" wrecks on the same motor scooter in three weeks is enough for me," his dad agreed, so his father is selling the motor scooter.

Monday the Production and Marketing Administration office in Hereford is supposed to have request forms for hay and other feed under the drought relief program, according to Hugh Clearman, county agent and member of the drought relief committee.

Members of the committee met Friday morning with the county mobilization committee to make an estimate of the tonnages of feed and roughage which should be needed in the county for one month, and this estimate was telegraphed to B. F. Vance, state mobilization chairman.

Committee Members. Members of the drought relief committee, in addition to Clearman, are Farmers Home Administration supervisor Walter Johnson, N. E. Gass, chairman of the Production and Marketing Administration committee and head of the drought relief program, rancher Lee Coe, and Miles Roberson, vice president of the First National Bank.

The estimated feed needs for one month in the county, as sent in by the committee, are 675 tons of meal and cake, 2,500 tons of legume hay, 915 tons of mixed hay, 915 tons of grass hay, and 1,205 tons of other feed, with oats and corn preferred.

Immediate shipment was requested on three carloads of cake, one carload of oats, and 10 carloads of hay, but as yet the committee has no idea what may be forthcoming, or how soon.

Feed Prices. Prices on the feed are expected to be $35 a ton for pellets and meal, $1 a bushel for corn, $1.10 a bushel for wheat, and 50 cents a bushel for oats.

"There is no hay program set up at the present time," Clearman pointed out, "but something may be done on that soon. We shouldn't expect too much too soon, though."

During the winter, a hay program which brought feed to nearby counties was operating, but none of the feed was shipped into Deaf Smith County.

Strange Quirks. One of the strange quirks of the present situation is that thousands of acres of alfalfa hay were harvested in the county recently, and much of it was bought up by truckers and taken elsewhere, when local buyers were reluctant or unable to buy.

STAN BARRETT, low qualifier of the day, was Medalist winner Friday with a one under par 71. Those playing Saturday were Don Maytin, defending champion vs. Wayne Phillips, Dr. R. E. Lingenfelter vs. J. M. Posey, Frank Cogdell vs. Earl Stagner Roy Hardy vs. Stan Barrett. There were approximately 45 playing golf Saturday morning.

Camp Fire Leaders Make Plans For Summer Camp

Plans for the annual summer camp for Camp Fire Girls were made at a meeting of the Camp Fire Guardians Association held Friday morning at the Camp Fire Hut, Mrs. Louis Woodford, chairman, presided.

The camp will be held this year from August to the tenth through the fifteenth, at Western Life Camp near Las Vegas, N. M. Mrs. Woodford announced that August 1 will be the deadline for camp registration with each guardian being responsible for enrollment of the girls from her group.

Committees Named. Committees named for the camp include: Mrs. Homer Brumley, general chairman; Program—Betty Culpepper, Earline Plank and Mrs. H. H. Caraway. Food—Mrs. F. L. Alexander, Marian Jo Wilson, Janice Craig and Sue Channer Handcraft—Nancy Patterson, Eugenia Alexander Janie Bookout and Mrs. Herbert Haseloff Folk Games—Gracie Fotheringham, Gerry Patterson, Cecelia Wilkins.

Plans were also made for the Camp Fire Girls to have charge of concessions at the Lion Club Wrestling Match on July 11, with each group to provide four workers.

Plans For Bluebirds. Since Bluebird groups do not attend the annual camp, Camp Fire and Bluebird leaders met in separate groups with the Bluebird leaders planning local outdoor trips for the Bluebird groups.

Slides were shown to both groups of leaders by Mrs. Elmer Patterson and Nancy Patterson. The pictures were on Camp Fire symbolism with Mrs. H. H. Caraway reading the narration.

Members attending the meeting were: Mesdames Louis Woodford, Wesley Brown, Paul Hoff, H. H. Caraway, Jack Winget, F. L. Alexander, O. H. Culpepper, Ernest Langly, Elmer Patterson and Miss Nancy Patterson.

Around Town

A number of Rotarians are probably going to take more pictures, this week-end than they have in a long time, after listening to Bill Patton's talk about cameras Friday noon. Bill showed them everything from a simple "just push the button" box camera on through some of these $300 jobs that are supposed to do everything but think for the photographer. George Heard presided for the first time as Rotary president. A couple of visitors at the meeting were Ira Wood, past district governor and Bob Armstrong, both of Litchfield.

Pessimists around town who didn't really believe that almost everyone would close up for the Fourth got fooled. Main Street was so quiet at 8 o'clock Saturday morning that it seemed like Sunday in town.

The chimes at the Methodist Church still give us a few minutes of music each morning starting at 10 o'clock. Believe that the original idea was for everyone to pause for a few moments of meditation and prayer, in case you have forgotten.

Two men were taken from Hereford to the State Penitentiary at Huntsville last week. They are Charles Warden, who was picked up as a parole violator for failing to report for some two years, and Robert Spencer, who recently plead guilty on a forgery charge and was given a two year sentence.

Speaking of folks being incarcerated, a man who was released from the county jail last week called a taxi to take him home. Somehow, a cab there seemed almost out of place, but maybe it is just a sign of changing times. (Continued on Page 2)

THERE'S NO LABOR SHORTAGE in Deaf Smith County as long as the labor camp is full to capacity and rows of tents, such as this one, spring up to help take care of the overflow of workers. A number of the workers have been in the onion fields, while others have chopped cotton and done other types of field labor. A few seem to be just sitting and waiting for something to break. (Staff Photo)

City Pumper Has Been On Job For 23 Years

Every time a Hereford resident casually turns a water tap to get water for drinking, bathing or to water his lawn, much of the responsibility for the fact that the water is there when he needs it can be traced back to one man. Not that one man has laid the pipe, drilled the wells and done the multitude of other things necessary to complete the connections, but W. A. (Bud) Dobbins, sole pumper for the Hereford water system, is the man who keeps water flowing through the mains, and has been for slightly more than 23 years.

No Eight Hour Shift. For it was at 8 o'clock in the morning just 23 years ago last Friday that he first reported for work at the McKinley Street pump station, and that has been his life ever since.

It isn't the sort of job that many people would expect with the city. Dobbins doesn't work an eight hour shift then go home to find out what his wife has been doing during his absence.

Except for an occasional vacation or day off, nearly all of his time is spent either at the McKinley Street pump station or over at the C Street pump station, for he has living quarters in the pump house at McKinley, and lives there with his wife. Now the apartment is fairly large, and is as neat and clean as any place could be. That it has always been kept clean, it hasn't always been an apartment. When he went to work that July 3, the pump house was just one big room, and the main pump was set down in an open hole. (Continued on Page 3)

Member Drive Included In B&PW Program Plans

The program committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club held a planning session at the Jaycee Hut Thursday evening. Mrs. Pauline Howard, program president.

Among the activities planned were a membership drive in September which will be climaxed by a membership banquet in October, celebration of national B&PW Week in October, the annual Bosses Banquet in February, the Annual Style Show in March and the Emblematic Breakfast in April. Climaxing the year's work will be election of officers in May and installation in June.

Good Will And Friendship During the holiday months, good will and friendship will be stressed and in keeping with their safety program for the year, one of their projects will be cards for every driver of a car in Hereford which will include name, address, blood type, license number, and other information, as a safety measure. The general theme of programs for the year will be along the lines of economy, health and safety, Mrs. Earline Walton, president.

has announced. The club meets regularly and carries on its projects and activities throughout the year. The new year for the club will begin July 6, at a meeting held at the Jaycee Hut.

The members will sleep out, cook out, and everything they do will be "strictly for fun," members said.

The horses were loaded at 9 o'clock and the members left in cars. They will be joined at the ranch by Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Bean of Nara Visa, N. M.

Members On Trip Those making the trip were: Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Roberson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kendall, Mr. and Mrs.

Ralph Sears, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Noland, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Jack France, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Brumley, Robert Wagoner, and Harold Eastley.

This is the third year the club has gone to the ranch for a week end visit. They will return Monday.

More Cotton For Sheets Than Any Other Product

Sheets were the largest single customer of cotton in 1952, a new study by the National Cotton Council reveals.

Products following sheets as cotton consumers were shirts, automobiles, men's trousers, and drapery - upholstery - slipcover fabrics. These five top customers accounted for almost a fourth of the estimated cotton consumption.

Sheets consumed 523,000 bales of cotton in 1952. Cotton used in men's shirts increased last year, accounting for a total of 475,000 bales.

When ironing shirts, the job is made easier by sprinkling shirts with fine spray and folding them carefully as you go to prevent unnecessary wrinkling. Dampening with hot water penetrates the fibers faster.

Millions Of Bales Used For Bedding Each Year

It takes a pile of cotton to bed America down for an evening's sleep!

The National Cotton Council reports that more than 1.2 million bales of cotton and more than a half million bales of cotton linters are required annually for slumber needs.

An eighth of all local, state and federal taxes—more than 7.5 billion dollars a year—come directly from the manufacture, sale and use of motor vehicles and automotive equipment.

One of the prettiest decorations for the Fourth of July was seen at the Medkief Flowerland Gift shop. It was plastic foam with fire crackers shooting from it and red carnations and blue asters on the side.

July 19-25 has been proclaimed by President Eisenhower as National Farm Safety Week in the United States and Governor Shivers has also proclaimed the same period as Farm Safety Week in Texas.

Auto dealers provided more than 6,000 new passenger cars for high school driver training programs in 1952. The cars were valued at 12 million dollars.

In 1900, all of the hard-surfaced roads in the United States would not have reached from New York to Boston.

GRASS ROOTS

July 4, 1953 and if my calculations were correct Friday when I was writing this, I should be having my second cup of coffee by now in the Club Room at the Raton New Mexico golf course. It has been quite a spell since this outfit has been able to celebrate the fourth. I feel wise in making this suggestion and plan on carrying out my own preaching to the fullest extent. There will be more cars on the highway than ever this week end, so anyone in a hurry please leave early. There is always that "thug" who gets his radiator full of "fire water" and murders five or six innocent people. I know, because Jaynice keeps me posted, that our automobiles run faster than our highways were constructed to carry them, so I for one am going to leave a little earlier and is best to get after it before it drive a little slower.

Robert Veigel gave me quite a story about Grain Sorghum seedling. Robert soaked his seed one day in anticipation of seeding that afternoon but high winds held him off until the following morning. Robert claims that the seed had sprouted before he got into the seed box with it and that it was up in a matter of hours. Maybe we will see the time when we set out grain sorghum slips like we do sweet potatoes.

I have noticed several blue grass lawns that are turning yellow now. First indications are that there is a deficiency of plant food, but there are many lawns that have been fertilized and are still turning yellow. Mine did. We can cure this with Copperas, but there are some limitations on its use. Drop by and find out before you burn up your lawn. There is a heavy infestation of Dollar Spot and Brown Patch again this year and we are getting good control with a special fungicide. This disease can ruin a lawn pretty quick so it is best to get after it before it spreads.

A lot of discussion about the program the government plan to set up to come to the aid of the disaster areas. Am reminded of Teddy's famous statement, "Speak softly, but carry a big stick."

ANGELA FUNK, sister of Mrs. George Brashears of Hereford was married to Grant Stapp, June 19, in Germany. Stapp left Germany June 22 and will probably be in the United States next week. His wife and her mother will come over the end of July. Mrs. Brashears came to the states in April, 1948 from Germany.

to pay the $27.50 to $30 a ton price being asked for the legume hay. Commercial feeders are not supposed to take part in the present drought relief program unless they are trying to keep foundation stock it has been pointed out.

Those who met together Friday morning included Gass, Clearman, Johnson, and Roberson, of the drouth relief committee; and county mobilization committee members, Palmer Norton, Gerald McCaskill, Luther Lesly, Ira Scott, Carl Wimberly and Bill Stanford.

Shipments of cottonseed pellets have already begun to leave cotton oil plants in Lubbock, it was reported Friday night. Three car loads had gone to Paducah, and several more carloads are expected to be ready to leave Lubbock Monday.

KENT SNARE
These characters that continually talk themselves into trouble are still with us, two of the more prominent being Case Stengel of the timid Yanks and Mickey Livingston, ex-bigtimer and now the skipper of the Shreveports. . . Circumstance has muted Mr. Stengel, at the nonce, but apparently nothing in the way of a panacea to stop the diatribes of Mr. L. has as-yet been brought to light, although the following ascribed happening, left him speechless for the moment.

Mr. L. is an umpire hater and umpire baiter of no small proportions and he has never learned to set a sleeping mongrel repose but keeps needing his nibs, no end. . . If he doesn't see eye to eye with the arbiter, Mickey yaps at him constantly and on the loud side. Once this term, long after the call had been made on a close one at the plate Mr. Livingston stalked past Bud Newman.

To the slightly deaf umpire who wears a hearing aid Mickey snapped: "That doc made a mistake when he stitched you up after that appendectomy. He shoulda sewed up your mouth." "You see," Newman innocently explained "afterward," "he referred to my physical handicap, so I felt free to comment on his." Touche.

Malice For Mentor
I just took a gander at SMU's 1953 football schedule, and someone with malice pointed at the new mentor, Mr. Chalmer E. Woodard, must have rigged that roster. In addition to the six Southwest Conference bowls, the Ponies open with Georgia Tech at Atlanta and close with Notre Dame at South Bend, with Kansas and Missouri as extra chores.

They tackle the Jayhawks at Lawrence and the allegedly loaded Tigers at home. Texas U. shows an enrollment of 12,785 for the last school term and Houston U. shows 12 G's of students and at last reports the money available to each was somewhat comparable, and in both cases, adequate. I don't think Mr. Lee and the Houstonians run to the letter of intent idea and probably won't charge any SWC enrollees that change their mind and wind up at Houston.

Sooner Bound
An increasing number of Texas Panhandle youngsters are Sooner bound, footballers aiming at Norman and Mr. Ita attracting many a good basketballer to Stillwater, plus wrestlers, tracksters and baseballers. . . I would guess that the SWC coaching entry will see that the letter of intent question is mauled to and fro freely and mayhap evicted, summarily.

Fancy and Plain

Kansas U. picked up several Panhandle potential players too. . . Texas Tech has another 11 game trek to make this term and probably has more horses available for the trip. They play 5 Border conference foes, West Texas State, Texas-Western, New Mexico Aggies, Arizona and Hardin-Simmons.

One SWC Team
They have only one SWC team, Texas Aggies, on the schedule, which may be a finger pointing in itself. In addition they tackle Oklahoma Ags, College of Pacific, Mississippi State, Tulsa and Houston, all but the COP fracas will be afield. . . If the frantic and wailing Mr. Leahy can get his loaded Irish through the '53 schedule without the taint of defeat, then no one will deny him the National title. Michigan State is not on the roll but most of the other biggies are, including: Southern Cal, Georgia Tech, Navy, Purdue, Penn and Oklahoma. It still makes your season a success if you can sack up the Notre Dame enroute and they all take dead aim to try to do just that, makes for interesting Saturday PM's and much activity at the turnstiles.

The Big Ten is still the attendance champ of the fall sport, Ohio State had 453,911 paying customers at home last year; Michigan, 395,907; Michigan State, 248,445; Wisconsin, 259,767; Illinois, 267,996 and so on. . . You can bet they will provide future attractions so as to continue in a similar vein.

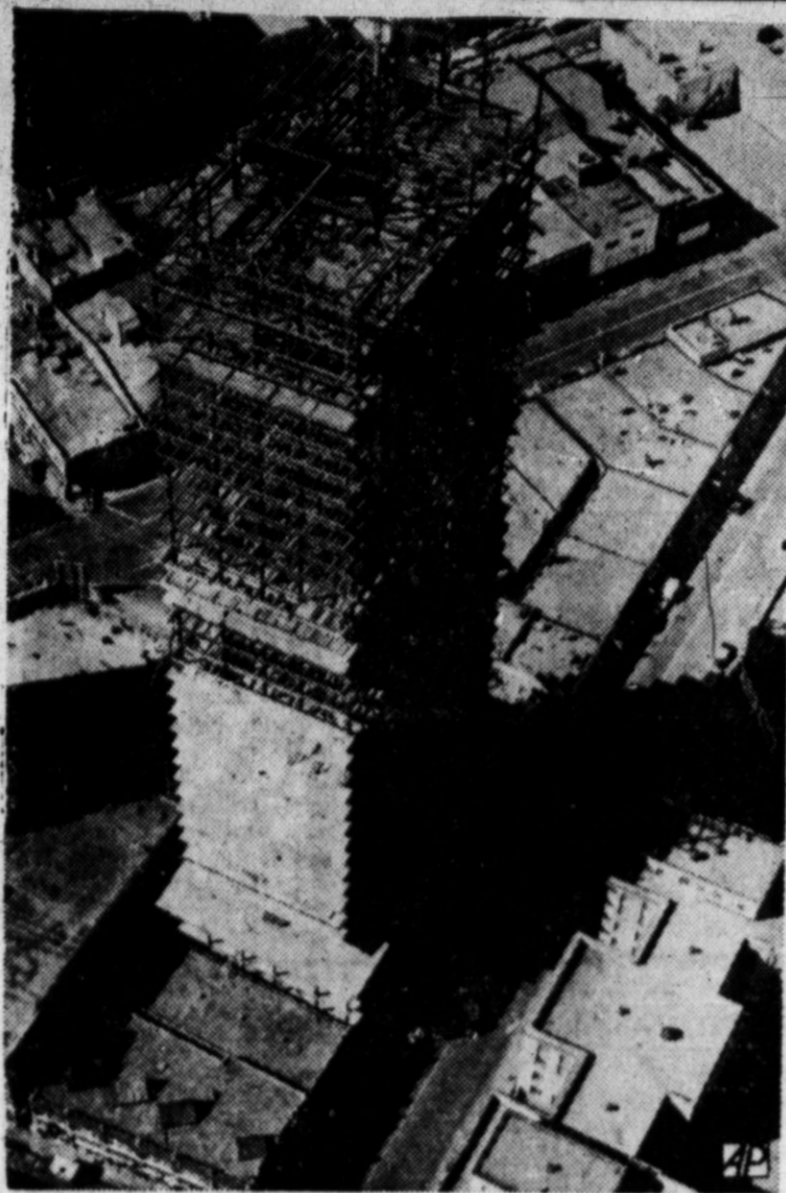

Roy Peet To Attend Meeting Of Florists

Roy Peet, owner of Western Flower and Gift Shop, will leave Sunday, July 12, to attend the Texas State Florists' Association's 40th annual Design school and Business Clinic in Ft. Worth, July 12-15.

The three-and-a-half day convention is built around an intensive, daily session design school with a business clinic and regular business meetings.

Approximately 100 wholesale florists from all parts of the US will exhibit flowers in a trade fair covering three floors of Hotel Texas. Johnny Glodt of San Antonio, Texas State Florists Association president, will preside over business meetings and election of next year's officers and directors.

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. Please suggest a good astringent for very oily skin.
A. Buttermilk is very good. This also acts as a slight bleach, but without the usual drying effects of most bleaching formulas.
Q. How can I treat enlarged pores around my chin and nose?
A. Bathe these areas regularly with lukewarm water and borax. What kind of shampoo will add gloss to my hair and help prevent dryness?
A. Egg shampoo. Beat an egg or two until frothy; then brush hair into sections and apply the egg all over the scalp, massaging as you work. After the egg has stiffened on your hair, brush it out. Shampoo as usual, and rinse well.
Q. How can I rouge my cheeks so as to give them the illusion of greater width?
A. Keep your rouge away from the nose and as close to the hairline as possible. Apply it horizontally.
Q. How should I make up my eyes, which are very round?
A. Use an eyebrow pencil to extend the line of the upper and lower lids at the outer corners of the eyes. Blend lines until only a faint shadow remains. The brow should be extended, too.
Q. How can I mix a good hand-and-arm bleach?
A. Mix cucumber juice with equal parts of rosewater and glycerine.

Make Application Now For Student Transfers

Parents who wish to transfer a child from one school district to another should file an application for such a transfer with the County Superintendent before the first of August, according to Horace L. Schloss, ex-officio county superintendent.
Applications for such transfers are made out in the county superintendent's office at the request of the parent, and after being approved by the County superintendent are either approved or cancelled by the County Schools board of trustees after due consideration of the desires of the school districts involved in such transfers.

Hereford Hardware Gets Lead With Thursday Win

By BILLY PAUL KNOX

Hereford Hardware took over undisputed possession of first place while Phillips 66 jumped into a tie for second after Thursday night's games. The Hardware boys rolled over the hapless Piggly Wiggly team, 14-3, in the second game of the double header. Phillips 66 smashed the K. C.'s, 21-8, in the first game. Both were five inning affairs.

Phillips 66 lead off with seven runs on five hits in the top of the first. They collected two walks and were aided by one error.

Phillips Best Inning Phillips 66 had their best inning in the second when they scored ten times again on five softies. There included home runs by Larry Summer and Raymond Lueb. Tommy Albracht again lost his control and walked four.

In the same inning the K.C.'s scored two more runs on walks to Chuck Dillar and David Enders, a double by Tommy Albracht and a single by Kenneth Walterscheid. Phillips 66 scored two more runs in the fourth when Massey doubled and Hamilton singled and sent Massey to third. Allen then dropped Raymond Cummings pop-up into short left-centerfield to score both of them.

K.C.'s Unable To Score The K.C.'s were unable to score in the third and fourth innings while Phillips 66 added one more tally in the fourth.

The 66's were held to their only scoreless inning in the fifth while the K.C.'s were scoring thrice. But this wasn't near enough to change the outcome.

Undisputed Possession Hereford Hardware took over undisputed possession of first place with their win in the second game of the night.

Player short Piggly Wiggly finally found enough men to barely manage a lineup which consisted of only five regulars. Hereford Hardware taking advantage of this scored four runs in the first while Piggly Wiggly couldn't score.

Hereford Hardware scored once in the second while Piggly Wiggly was again held scoreless.

Gave Five Hits Hereford Hardware's pitcher, Joe Culp, who gave up only five hits all night, set Piggly Wiggly down in order in the third while H-H picked up five big runs. Triples by Randy Thomas and Dick Ross were included in this inning.

It looked as though the game might go seven innings in the fourth when Piggly Wiggly scored twice. H-H scored only once. Piggly Wiggly scored once in the fifth but Hereford Hardware sewed it up with three runs in the bottom half of the inning to end the game.

Next Tuesday In next Tuesday's game, Phillips 66 meets Summerfield in the first game while H-H and Dawn battle it out in the second.

Hereford's Baseball team meets Nazareth at Vet's Park Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

MISS MILLICENT GRIFFITH DIES AT 85

Former Hereford School Head Was Buried Friday In Chicago

Funeral services for Miss Millicent Griffith, 85, former Hereford teacher and school superintendent, were held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, July 3, from Lane and Son Funeral home on 95th Street in Chicago, according to information received here by friends today. Miss Griffith died at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday morning in the Atwood Nursing Home, Chicago, following an illness of two years duration.

In addition to Hereford, Miss Griffith also taught school in Dimmitt, Hartley and other Plains towns.

Came Here In 1902 Miss Griffith came to Hereford as a school teacher in 1902, shortly after the town was organized. She taught here for a few years, then moved to Dimmitt, where she taught under Judge C. F. Kerr, County Judge and ex-officio school superintendent. From Dimmitt she went to Clovis for a brief time and in 1920 returned to Hereford as superintendent of schools. She continued in this capacity through the spring of 1923, when she went to Hartley for a brief time then to Chicago to join relatives.

In addition to her work in the schools, Miss Griffith was an active worker in the Methodist Church here. She was always a close friend of the Kerr family and the E. B. Black family and was well known by many people in this area, including numerous residents who attended school under her.

Mail Sacks Constructed Of Special Type Cloths

Cotton carries the mail. Latest figures from the U.S. Post Office Department show that a total of 762,948 mail sacks and pouches were put into service last year. Of these, 570,000 were made of Canvas. The remainder were of a lightweight cotton oxford cloth made especially for air mail service.

This postal preference for cotton is nothing new, the National Cotton Council points out. Over the past five years a total of 87,600 bales of cotton has been consumed in this use.

Texas May Furnish 15,000 Men For Draft During Coming Year

AUSTIN, Texas, July 1.—State draft boards are expected to furnish around 15,000 men for the armed forces during the next 12 months, as compared to more than 28,000 during the past 12 months.

That is the opinion of the deputy state director of Selective Service, Lt. Col. Morris S. Schwartz. He said he expected this to hold true, regardless of whether or not there is a truce in Korea.

The armed forces see a need for 475,000 men from over the nation in the fiscal year, July 1953 through June 1954, Colonel Schwartz said. They think 150,000 will enlist, leaving 327,000 to be drafted.

Texas Share "The Texas share of this expected need of 307,000 normally would be 15,000 to 16,000 men," Colonel Schwartz stated. "Regardless of the situation in Korea, we expected a decline in monthly quotas this summer."

Texas draft quotas began to fall sharply in June, when the June quota was 38 percent less than the May quota. The deputy state draft director pointed out that the number of men drafted depends to a large extent on the number finishing service and getting out.

Many Completed "We have just concluded a 12-month period," Colonel Schwartz said, "in which many men were completing their term of service. In the next 12 months, relatively few will complete service in comparison with the year before." Texas draft board members will have to make an estimated 150,000

U. S. Cotton Is Superior To That of 10 Years Ago

Cotton produced in the United States today is strikingly superior to that grown only a decade ago in two important qualities, fiber length and fiber strength. A recent survey by the U. S. Department of Agriculture reveals this gain in cotton fiber length and strength. The improved fibers make a stronger, more easily processed yarns and fabrics.

The study compares commercial cottons most widely grown in 1933-41 with those of 1949-51. It reveals that new cotton varieties with increased fiber length and fiber strength are being grown across the Cotton Belt.

The average length of fibers of nearly 12 million bales produced in 1939-41 was .98 inch. Ten years later the average fiber length of nearly 14 million bales was 1.04 inches.

Other entertainment will include a street carnival, dances, water polo, fairway, and many other surprises.

A parade will open the celebration Friday morning, July 17.

The U. S. Census Bureau estimates that 193,000,000 Americans will be operating 65,000,000 automobiles in 1975—one-third more than in 1952.

Since 1949, school buses have regularly totaled 70 per cent or more of U. S. bus output.

"Smart Clothes for Smart Women"

City...

 There was an open space for living quarters, and that was all. Even after Dobbins married in 1933 the place remained, that way for three more years, with the hum of electric pumps as an almost constant companion for the couple.
 Finally, a wall was built to separate the pumps and living quarters. Still later, Dobbins put up another partition to separate the small bedroom from the kitchen, and give them a living room. That is still considered the most comfortable part of their quarters in hot weather.

Two More Rooms
 It wasn't until about two years ago that construction was begun on the two "above-ground" rooms which gave them another and larger bedroom and a new living room. At the same time a butane gas system was put in, after Dobbins had been eating meals cooked on a coal-oil stove for more than 20 years. There isn't a gas line close enough to the building for them to get natural gas.

The pump room next to the down stairs living room is as clean and orderly as the apartment. A cabinet contains clean dust rags and other items needed for maintenance, and Dobbins makes almost as frequent use of a dust rag as he does of an oil can, unless he is very busy with other things.
 "Petting His Pumps"

Once when his wife and two grandsons went with him to the C Street pump station, Dobbins stayed in the pump house rather over a long, his wife thought, and made some comment about it to the boys.

"Don't worry, he's just in there petting his pumps," one of the boys said.

Dobbins is proud enough of the units to pet them, too. Some of the older motors have been there as long as he has, though they do a comparatively small amount of work now. Bigger and more efficient units have taken the load from them.

"When I took this job, there was just the one well, and school kids used to come and climb down the ladder into the hole," Dobbins says. "There was a side passage to another well, but the pump on it was just a booster pump and not strong enough to work the well. The kids loved to run down that passageway."

Hand-Operated Switches
 Hand-operated switches were used on all the controls for many years, and Dobbins became something of an electrician learning how to fix switches, rather than call an electrician to do the job. Now, except for a reset switch button which must be punched when lightning occasionally knocks it over, nearly all of the starting and stopping of the motors is done automatically.

Even keeping the water up in the big overhead tank used to be quite a problem, at times. A warning bell rang when the water got too low, and Dobbins sometimes had to get up as many as three times in a single night to turn the pumps on, then turn them off again when the tank was filled.

Still Keeps Busy
 Even with the automatic equipment, though, Dobbins finds plenty to keep him occupied. S and L traps must be emptied daily at the C Street pump station, and big traps at both stations must be cleaned out from time to time.

At the McKinley Street station, the trap must be drained and then flushed out with a high pressure hose to clean it thoroughly.
 At one time, the area around the pump house was nothing but a pile of gravel, but a woman at the place changed things. Dobbins brought in dirt, planted trees, and at one time had a sort of private park. Later, the land was needed badly for a city barn, and a corrugated steel shed was put up between the trees, which still grace the area. They still raise lots of flowers.

Wife Can Handle Things
 At nearly all times, either Dobbins or his wife is close around the pump house. If he is outside and she hears some change in the way the pumps sound, she calls him immediately. If he is away, though, she can tend to almost everything in the pump room herself "except changing the fuses."

Their recreation includes an occasional Sunday morning at church or some other outing, but mostly they stay at the pump station and let others come to visit them.

The job evidently isn't as lonesome as it sounds, for there are always the two of them, now, and there must be some tranquility in knowing that one is doing a job and, doing it well, for the Dobbins are evidently happy with their life.

It is estimated that the cost of eliminating all railway-highway grade crossings in the United States would involve expenditures of $45,400,000,000, which is greatly in excess of the total present railway investment.

The average haul per ton of freight on the nation's railroads in 1952 was approximately 430 mi. compared with an average of 304 mi. in 1920.

B&PW President Gives Plans For Coming Year

(Editor's Note—This is one of a series of articles being written about newly elected club presidents who will assume their duties early in the fall.)

Emphasis on citizenship, education, legislation and civic affairs will be the objective of the working program of the Business and Professional Women's Club for the coming year, according to Mrs. Floyd Walton Jr., newly elected president.

Mrs. Walton, who has recently returned from the state B&PW meet in San Antonio, spoke enthusiastically of the work ahead as she talked of the far reaching work done by the local club in the past and outlined plans for next year's work. Vice-president of the club last year, she had an active part in carrying out some of the club's projects.

She cited the civic and welfare interests of the club which will be broadened this year, and said the group was planning to make the annual style show bigger and better than ever. The group contributes to a scholarship fund, now being used by a medical doctor in Africa, and also to a scholarship fund for foreign students in the United States.

Looking To Increased Interests

"As a service club, we try to expand our activities each year and we are looking forward to increased interests the coming year," Mrs. Walton said.

A native Texan, Mrs. Walton calls McLean her home. She is a graduate of West Texas State College, Canyon, and will receive her master's degree from WTSC in August. She and her husband moved to Hereford in 1950. She is a member of the Shirley School faculty.

At WTSC she studied both voice and piano and was active in music circles of the campus and a member of the college sextet. She was a member of Alpha Chi, honorary society, and worked with the Future Teachers of America.

Enters Into Community Life

Mrs. Walton is one of those talented people who must keep active, and since coming to Hereford has entered into the community life with a real interest. She is a member of the Order of Eastern Star and is serving as marshal this year. A Methodist, she sings regularly in the church choir and is frequently the soloist.

She has had a little study in the use of pastels and hopes to take up painting in earnest some day. China painting also holds a great attraction for her. Sewing is in her blood, and she likes to design and make some of her own clothes. Growing flowers gives her a great deal of pleasure and she derives a lot of fun out of keeping house because she honestly likes to putter around in her own home.

The later part of this month she will join a WTSC tour for teachers which will include three weeks of travel and study in the north and west.

WSCS Names Mrs. J. F. Ward Woman Of Month

Hostesses for the luncheon, which carried out a patriotic theme in appointments, were, Mesdames Don Martin, Ed Warren, Laura Thomas, Jim Black D. H. Bryant, E. E. Fridley, and Clyde Cocoonougher.

During the business session members voted to honor one member each month as the woman of the month, naming Mrs. J. F. Ward as the July honoree.

Programs by Westway WSCS After the luncheon and business session members went to Ward Hall where the program was presented by seven members of the Westway WSCS. They included: Mesdames Roy Lee Wilson, Merlin Kaul, Jimmie Thomas, Bert Garrison, C. A. Saulcy, Joe Landers, and Dick Godwin.

Mrs. Jimmie Thomas directed the program of best loved hymns, telling how they came to be written, with Mrs. Dick Godwin, vocalist, presenting the hymn. Hymns sung were: "I'm a Child of the King", "Old Rugged Cross", "My Faith Looks Up to Thee", "Silent Night", "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go", and "Golden Bells."

MR. AND MRS. J. M. EDELSON

Pioneer Couple Holds Open House On June 28

Edelson's Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Edelson, who were married while sitting in a buggy under a pecan tree in front of the home of a Methodist minister in Milam County Texas, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at an open house held at their home, 208 Fuller St., Sunday afternoon, June 28. They were married June 28, 1903.

Mrs. Edelson, who was Miss Cora Davenport, was born in Carroll County, Ga. Mr. Edelson was born in Tipton County, Tenn. Both came to Texas with their families when they were young.

They met after her people moved to Milam County from Montague County and her first sight of him was "as he would ride by" like the wind on a Spanish-Tail pony. Her brothers liked to ride and she could ride with the best of them, so it wasn't long until the young folks were riding and racing their ponies together.

Farming And Ranching After Rev. George Cravey, the Methodist minister, had conducted the marriage ceremony, the couple went to Edelson's farm where they lived about two years, moving to Lampasas two years later for his health. They farmed and had some stock there until 1918 when they moved to Plainview where all of their six children graduated from Plainview High School.

In 1945 they decided to buy a ranch at House, N. M. and for five years cattle and horses were their main interests. He was persuaded to "retire" in 1950 and they moved to Hereford, purchasing their present home.

Edelson scoffs at the idea that he has retired, for he is, as active as ever, and rides the tractor on his son's farm near Friona for weeks at a time. "If I'm not working on the farm I have to work in the garden or water the lawn," he said.

Both the tall young man and the pretty girl of 1903 are now 72. His eyes twinkled when he gave his wife's age as two months older than he, and he chuckled when he said "I'll never be as old as she is."

Plenty For Family Although he could not remember how much he made the first year, he does recall that through the changing years, there has been plenty for their family of six children, even through the depression.

Their philosophy of life, "That if you do your best with what you have, things will turn out all right" has carried them through many ups and downs and disappointments—and they have reared their children by that philosophy.

Mr. Edelson heartily recommends work—and particularly the farm work for growing children.

"It must be that way," he said, and he is glad his children knew they had to share in the work as well as share in the good things that came along.

Race With An Auto Horses have been a main interest in his life since a child and as a young man he raced quite a bit. She liked the ponies too—and recalled a race with her pony and an automobile. The pony happened to be one that wouldn't let anything pass him, and when the man in the automobile started to pass the pony sped ahead. She laughed as she remembered that "that man thought 'that's only a woman driving that horse—I'll show her'"

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Cherry Spice Cake Just Right To Go With Tall, Cold Drink

That old rhyme, "Bright the Cherry Orchards Now—Hung With Fruit Along the Bough" comes to mind at this time of the year when cherry trees are laden with ripe, bright fruit.

There are so many delicious ways of using cherries, you could prepare them a different way every day during the local season and not run out of recipes. Most popular, of course, is the old fashioned cherry pie and the cherry cobbler and no one can blame the cook if she uses all her cherries in those dishes.

Cherry Spice Cake Mrs. J. B. Noland makes a cherry spice cake that is different and really delicious. It's a good dessert and goes just right with that tall cold drink. Here is how she does it:

Cherry Spice Cake 1/2 cup butter (Crisco may be used) 2 cups sugar 3 whole eggs 3 cups flour 1 cup thick sweetened apple sauce

1 scant cup buttermilk 1 rounded teaspoon soda 1 cup seeded cherries, drained and sweetened slightly 1 cup pecan meats 1 teaspoon allspice, cinnamon, and nutmeg. 1 teaspoon vanilla Cream butter and sugar and add well beaten eggs. Add the soda to the buttermilk and alternate with flour to mixture. Add apple sauce, spices and vanilla, then fold in the cherries and nuts.

Bake In Layers Bake in layers in a 375-F oven for thirty minutes. When cool, fill between layers and cover top with caramel icing.

Caramel Icing Make your favorite cooked icing or powdered sugar icing and add two tablespoons caramel sauce. The caramel sauce is made by browning 1 cup of white sugar in iron skillet, adding one cup of hot water and cooking slowly to a syrup. This sauce may be bottled and kept in the refrigerator for weeks and it may be added to pies, puddings and desserts, giving added flavor to suit the taste.

Highway For Full Length Of Padre Island Planned

CORPUS CHRISTI — With a second solid link between Padre Island and the Texas mainland taking shape, the two counties most vitally affected have swung into action to set the stage for construction of a scenic highway running the full length of the island.

Nueces County Engineer Jess Laurence today disclosed that Nueces and Cameron counties — located at opposite ends of the island — already are having a preliminary survey made at a cost of $8,000 to determine the most desirable road location down the island.

Survey Being Made

The survey is being conducted by the New York engineering firm of Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Hall, and Mac Donald.

The counties are splitting the expense.

Survey work was started shortly after the first of the year. It is expected to be complete before the end of 1953.

"The purpose of the survey is to bring to light all the facts involved in such an undertaking,"

Mr. Laurence said.

The idea of the survey resulted from a meeting last summer between the Texas Highway Commission and officials of several South Texas coastal counties regarding the island highway.

The findings are expected to be turned over to the Highway Commission.

Already Padre is the scene of tremendous activity.

Building Causeway

In Cameron County, construction of a $2,250,000 concrete causeway stretching two and a half miles from the town of Port Isabel to the island shore is in full swing. It is expected to be complete by next February.

The causeway is the first part of a long-range $10,000,000 island development program financed by the county. The program also will include construction of three huge parks covering a total of 932 acres.

In addition, a multi-million-dollar development of business, resort, and residential sites has been undertaken between the county park areas by John L. Tompkins and Company of Corpus Christi and Port Isabel, one of South Texas' largest real estate firms.

A causeway connecting the north end of Padre Island to the Corpus Christi area was constructed in 1950.

Island Highway

The proposed island highway would be 106 miles long, and — by Mr. Laurence's estimate — would cost around $3,000,000.

"That's a lot of money, of course," he pointed out. "But it isn't nearly as much as the total investment in the Cameron and Nueces county causeways.

"The island road is a project that is just as logical as it can be — and you can bet it will be built."

Sanitone Cleaning
C. & R. CLEANERS
Phone 160

Both Cameron and Nueces county officials have discussed the project in detail with the Texas Highway Department — and it's no secret that they are counting on state and federal aid.

Other Assistance

Other assistance may come from the other counties — Hobeberg, Kerley, and Willacy — which contain portions of Padre.

The highway, Mr. Laurence said is being planned down the center of the island at a level of about six feet above the tidal mark. It will be connected by numerous access roads with both the Gulf and Laguna Madre beaches.

It will be necessary, he added, to build a bridge over Yarborough's Pass, a slit through the mid-section of the island, and possibly over a smaller pass toward the south.

Final Link

The island highway will be the final link in a scenic short route from most sections of the United States to Mexico City, and the crowning touch to Padre's development as a resort and recreation area equalling America's finest.

"Once that highway is built, the Texas coast from the Corpus Christi area to the Lower Rio Grande Valley will be almost unlimited," Mr. Laurence said.

"That's why we are pushing the project — and why we intend to keep on pushing it."

Mrs. Ethel Key Died On Tuesday

Mrs. Ethel Harriet Key, 73, died in the Deaf Smith County hospital Tuesday after an illness of two years. She had been living with her sister, Mrs. W. A. Gearn.

Mrs. Key was born October 30, 1880 in Palmyra, Mo. She came to Deaf Smith County in March, 1953, from Hannibal, Mo.

Burial will be in Palmyra, Mo. Arrangements are being made by Smith Funeral Home.

He is a sports fan, enjoying a race of any kind on the radio and during baseball season he refuses to leave his seat by the radio. On Sunday he goes to church all day "on the radio".

Mrs. Edelmon's hobbies are knitting, crocheting and piecing quilts. She has carded the cotton and made at least half a dozen quilts for each child. As a child she learned to weave, knit and sew and creating clothes and home furnishings still hold great fascination for her.

Open House Is Held

Appointments for the open house held by the couple carried out a gold theme. The refreshment table was laid with a beautiful crocheted cloth which Mrs. Edelmon had made, and the center piece was an arrangement of golden-yellow roses.

The tiered anniversary cake was topped with the numerals "50" done in white icing and cake squares were decorated with tiny golden wedding bells. The children and grandchildren made up the house party and assisted with the serving.

Their children, all of whom attended the anniversary event, and their grand children, include: Mr. and Mrs. Willis Edelmon, Joe Don and Donna of Tioga, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Edelmon, Friona; Mr. and Mrs. Grady Edelmon and their daughter, Mrs. Joan Callom of Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. Finis Cannon of Quienten Patsy, Glenda and Eileen of Elda, N. Only Part Of GI Bill Still Going Full Force

The GI Bill for World War II veterans will be nine years old Monday, June 22, 1953. One of its benefits is still in full force, another is approaching the end, and a third has long since faded into history.

The Act, signed into law during the height of the war on June 22, 1944, in addition to other provisions furnished three major readjustment aids to veterans in their efforts to get back into the swing of civilian living.

One was a program of guaranteed loans for homes, farms and businesses another, education and training at Government expense, and the third, readjustment allowances for periods of unemployment.

The GI loan program still is in effect, and has four more years to run. It comes to an end for nearly all World War II veterans on July 25, 1957.

So far, the Veterans Administration said, some 3,300,000 veterans have obtained GI loans for homes, with VA guaranteeing or insuring about half the amount.

Ninety percent of the loans have gone to veterans who wanted to buy or build homes. The remainder have been for farms and businesses.

Veterans have turned out to be excellent loan risks, A said. More than 500,000 loans already have been paid in full. And only eight-tenths of one percent of all loans were defaulted to the extent that VA has had to make good the guaranteed portions to the lender.

The GI Bill education and training program reached its cut-off point for most World War II veterans on July 25, 1951. For the most part, the only World War II veterans now in training are those who started before the cut-off date and who have remained in training since, except for interruptions beyond their control.

During the nine years of the program, a total of 7,800,000 ex-servicemen and women — more than half of all who served in World War II — have taken some form of training under the GI Bill. All together, they spent a total of 140,000,000 months in the classroom, at the training bench and on the farm, or an average of about 18 months of training per veteran.

Types of training ranged from 339,000 veterans who were enabled to finish grade school and high school to 2,200,000 who attended college from 1,400,000 who trained on-the-job to nearly 700,000 who trained on-the-farm; from 361,000 who went to business school to 2,250,000 who took up trades in vocational schools. And an additional 750,000 trained in correspondence schools.

The end of the World War II GI training program comes for nearly all veterans on July 25, 1956.

The third major GI Bill benefit — readjustment allowances for unemployment and self-employment — passed out of the picture for all but a handful of veterans in July, 1949.

Under the program, about 9,000,000 veterans drew readjustment allowances that totaled $3.2 billion for unemployment and $600,000,000 for self-employment.

Most Vocational Ag Teachers From A&M

COLLEGE STATION — This year, about 40,000 Texas high school boys received a total of almost 9,000,000 hours of instruction from 937 vocational agriculture teachers.

According to a recent survey, Texas A & M College is providing a large portion of all vocational agriculture teachers in the state, Dean C. N. Shepardson of the college's School of Agriculture, said.

Of the 937 active vocational ag teachers at the present time, 323 of them are graduates of the college, and 110 of that 323 hold master's degrees granted by the college. In addition, 26 others who hold bachelor of science degrees from other schools hold master's degrees from A. M.

"I am drawing compensation, and I feel that my disability has taken a turn for the worse. Will VA accept a statement to that effect from my private physician, in considering my claim for increased compensation?"

A. Yes. A statement from your private physician may be accepted as evidence, but his findings must be verified by an official VA examination.

Although most veterans were eligible for one full year of the allowances, only one in ten exhausted his rights to the benefit. The average veteran, VA found, went to work after being on the rolls for only a month and a half.

Joint Degree-Awarding Program Is Announced

A joint degree-awarding program between Texas A & M College, and Texas Christian University has been approved by the Board of Directors for the Texas A & M College System.

Under the program, students at TCU may take special courses and programs for three years, then transfer to the School of Engineering at A & M College for two years and a summer session. Those who successfully complete the program would receive the bachelor of arts degree from TCU and the bachelor of science degree in one of eight fields from A & M.

Overheard a couple of newspaper boys talking about a picnic and from the trend of their conversation, it is safe to predict that at least one of them has the makings of a fisherman or golfer — or both.

"On our July 4th picnic," said the youngster, "two ants were running along at a great speed across the top of a cracker box when one of them suddenly stopped and asked, 'Why are we going so fast?' 'Don't you see,' said the other ant, 'it says 'tear along dotted line.'"

People sure did scatter around here for the holiday. Some went to Colorado, others to the races at Raton, scores to Buffalo Lake and several to Palo Duro Park. If anyone ever needed a rest it was the grocery people. They sure got snowed under all day Friday.

Albert Cooper, who publishes the Shamrock Texan, apparently thinks a lot of Rev. Hap Dunnam, the new Methodist preacher. Albert sent an envelope filled with nickels to Hap and wrote on the outside, "To buy coffee for the newspaper editor and radio big shots." Being a minister, Hap followed instructions instead of misappropriating the funds. Marshall Formby was out of town, so I came out fairly well on the deal.

Quite a few people have dropped in to find out what Dave Alexander was supposed to have said in the last column. The story was about raining on the "just" and Dave made the remark: "If it will rain on the unjust, I'll take a bucket of water and personally pour it on the just."

Somehow the printers in making corrections left out a line or two and inserted some from another article. I asked them about it and they contend that no one reads the Bull Column, anyway. Now I am trying to get them to explain away all of the complaints.

I guess I owe John McLean an apology. The other day he got strung out on a long story about how painters and paper hangers have the bifocal part of their glasses at the top of the frame, rather than in the lower section. George and I finally told him we thought it was a bunch of stuff. Friday morning I ran across Ervin Robinson and asked if I could see his glasses. He handed them over and I'll be darned if John wasn't telling the truth, except Ervin's glasses had two sets of reading lens: one at the top and one at the bottom. He explained it just like John was telling us, too. Said otherwise he would have to rear his head away back and always have a crick in his neck. He also says it cost him $17 extra for the additional grinding. I hate to admit it, but John was just as correct as he could be about the whole thing.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robinson, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Massey got away Friday for the Lions International convention in Chicago. J. W. is president of the local club and Cecil is secretary. I saw their wives around buying toothbrushes and other last-minute stuff Thursday afternoon—and got to wondering if they were going to have enough money left for gasoline. I guess they made it though. I can just picture those big oxes, both in the front seat, and their wives sitting in the back. The Lions Club may not do anything else this year, but they sure will have plenty of "beef" at the head table. Yes, sir.

A lot of people are complaining about the Republican administration. One fellow even said it is so bad that he had to go to work. A few alarmists even predict another depression. It has tightened up some, yes, but an out-and-out depression is not likely. The government cannot stand it. The national debt is so great that if income taxes and withholding taxes are cut too sharply, the government would be hopeless and helplessly under. I predict that they will devalue the dollar by actually printing more if things should get that bad. On the other hand, things are truly tightening up and some more prices will drop. Eisenhower, however, has consistently refused to cut taxes—until the deficit is wiped out. All of which goes to prove my theory. When the Korean war stops, defense spending will also wane. Things will probably get tighter still—but nothing like 1932. At least, that's my prediction. Maybe, as some

Tom Alderson says, for the first time in years, all of the upstairs rooms in his building are rented. The few other two-story buildings folks argue, it is based on sheer hope, but that is how it looks to me.

Sec. of Agriculture Ezra Benson's alteration in lines of thinking is another big point. It is partly due to pressure from Eisenhower and partly due to the fact that Mr. Benson is just now learning that he had a little bit to learn about agricultural economics. Another prediction: Regardless of the party in control, none of us will ever live to see the day when agriculture does not have some form of government support and, hence, some limited controls.

Francis Hardwick reports this one from the Star Theatre recently.

A fat man and his wife were returning to their seats after getting a drink of water or a sack of popcorn or something.

"Did I step on your toes as I went out while ago?" the fat man asked a fellow in the end seat on the row.

"You sure did," replied the other grimly, expecting an apology. "All right, M——," the fat man turned and said to his wife, "this is our row."

Looks like we got a bluff called. The Lamesa Daily Reporter slightly resents an item printed in this column a week or so ago, and they replied with the following front-page article:

IT AIN'T EDEN, ELMO, BUT WE GOT WATER

Here's another of those bristly-haired drouth stories about Lamesa. It was printed in the Hereford (Texas) Brand. Mrs. W. E. Hawkins, former resident of Hereford brought it in to us. "Do something about this," she said.

"Elmo Fridley dropped in the other day and said that he heard there are 700 vacant houses in Lamesa, due to the prolonged drouth. He also said they are cutting the teacher staff there by 30. The last rain they had was back when Adam and Eve were still monkeying around in the Garden of Eden, according to Elmo. A lot of those towns are bringing in water in tank cars."

Dear Elmo: If this is your latest information, you came through here just about the time of the last rain, when we had paths through the Garden. Or possibly you took one of those "U. S. Senator" tours—know all about everything in a 12-hour visit. We've lost 10 teachers—maybe—from our 103, and there are only 200 vacant houses. And we're selling water to tankers.

Fact is, we didn't know anybody still "had it so good." I'll bet Walter Rogers and those other congressmen were glad to find Lamesa, probably the only town in Texas where the cattlemen and farmers won't need any federal assistance. Or, perhaps, those boys get another version.

Shaky Kremlin Hold on Satellites Offers Opportunities

Ebb of Communist Power May Be Near

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

THE economic facts of life have caught up with Communist rulers, and a combination of fear and frustration may soon have heads rolling throughout the empire. The prospective meeting of the Big Three foreign ministers in Washington cannot come too soon. In the light of what has happened in East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland and inside the Soviet Union itself, the West urgently needs to re-examine its approach to the major issues of the day.

The situation contains innumerable possibilities, all the way from a headlong retreat of the Communists to the outbreak of a general war. All these possibilities must be examined carefully before the West, in concert, can go ahead with its planning for the future.

Civil War Possibilities

The possibility that events like the revolts in East Berlin and East Germany can lead to a German civil war—or to fratricidal warfare in other satellite countries—has not been lost upon leaders on either side of the iron curtain.

William L. Ryan

Such a development could be the spark on the powder keg that could set off the explosion of World War III.

The Soviet press has already indicated the Kremlin is quite aware of this possibility. It probably is just as chilling and distasteful an idea for Moscow as it is for any western capital.

The idea could well be the reason for the long list of concessions offered to the East German people to curb their wrath. The concessions could easily extend to lopping off the heads of the most hated Communist leaders of East Germany—Communist Boss Walter Ulbricht, for example—and to the sudden demise of Red bosses in other satellite countries.

Kremlin Shows Frustration

The angry and abusive outpourings of the Kremlin, characterized by an extraordinary three-column editorial of vituperation on the front page of Pravda last week, reflect Kremlin frustration. The Moscow leaders are impaled on the horns of a dilemma. If they give in to the wrath of the Germans, they show weakness in the regime of Premier Georgi Malenkov. But give in they must, taking a long chance that the East Germans can be kept in control thereafter.

Their campaign to neutralize Germany through the lure of hopes for reunification is too important to be discarded in favor of brutal suppression in the East Zone.

But signs of weakness are dangerous for the Malenkov regime. Already there are reports of the German defection spreading to Poland, Hungary and other areas of the satellite empire. Under Soviet orders, Communist leadership is being tightened all along the line. Communist bosses are being brought to book for economic failures which produced the mass popular discontent, even though the real blame lies with Moscow and its enforcement of the program of heavy industry throughout the empire.

If what happened in East Germany was symptomatic of conditions elsewhere in the Soviet captive empire—and this becomes more likely with each day's dispatches—the Soviet Union would have reason to be fearful.

Threats Loom

Such situations carry the threat of war, but the Kremlin would be aware that more than a half million troops in its satellite empire would be unreliable. Moreover, the situations carry a threat to the Moscow regime itself. It requires no penetrating analysis to disclose a very real fear of war among the Soviet people, fed all these years by Soviet propaganda and nourished by the memories of the last war's horrors.

It is just as evident that the Moscow regime, none too secure at home, is not too trustful of its own army leaders. There has been an insistent campaign in the Soviet press to convince the people that "heroes, generals and statesmen" should not be glorified, that it is only the people themselves who make history. Throughout the campaign is an indication of nervousness with regard to the Soviet army's potentialities.

An army revolt against Communist power in the USSR need not necessarily start within Soviet borders. The well trained, disciplined troops outside the Soviet borders also could constitute a threat, should the right "hero" come along to lead a military uprising. It is not at all beyond the bounds of possibility that the troops in East Germany could be so led in time of crisis.

Another Possibility

Such thoughts might well prove a deterrent to Moscow. But the West could hardly bank upon such developments. Should the prospect of civil war loom clearly in Germany, the West would be obliged to assume that Soviet troops would remain loyal. The possibility of World War III would become very real.

The foreign ministers' conference will be vitally important. If ever a solid front against the Kremlin was needed, it is now, when the Communist world gives every evidence of being caught off balance.

A united western front now would stand a good chance of success in keeping the Communists on the backward run. If economic conditions in East Germany, Eastern Europe and even Communist China are going to be alleviated, there must be a decided effect upon the Soviet industrialization program and the Soviet timetable. There will, even, in all likelihood, be a strong economic effect within the borders of the USSR itself, to say nothing of the political impact in the subjugated Soviet republics.

Unquestionably, the western foreign ministers will examine all these possibilities most carefully, perhaps with rising hopes that the ebb of Communist power is at hand, brought about by Communism's own self-devouring mechanism and without the horrors of a new war.

U.S. Likely to Keep Its Atom Rights

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

THE cautious reaction of private enterprise to the news that the government is about ready to relinquish its stranglehold on atomic energy for industrial purposes suggests that the government is going to be the principal developer for a long time.

Congressional hearings this week brought out the idea that since only a few private interests are capable of financing reactors and the other work involved, letting anyone in on the ground floor now would create the grave risk of establishing a great new monopoly of the future which would in actuality be based on an original expenditure by the whole people.

It was also a fact that none of the interests deemed capable of taking the plunge had indicated any firm intention of putting up $100-125,000,000 for the purpose.

Study Groups Formed
In order to get the private development idea under scrutiny, the Atomic Energy Commission several months ago formed five study groups from selected industries.

In general, the reaction as reported to executive sessions of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee seemed to revolve around continued government cooperation. Some wanted the government to help finance projects. Some wanted a guaranteed market for plutonium which would be produced as a part of power projects. Some wanted the benefits of continued government research in the power as well as in the explosives field.

The AEC apparently started from the premise that there was a good precedent in the radar and other electronic work done by the government during the war as a military measure and then thrown open to commercial exploitation afterward.

Atomic Investment
But the people of the United States have already made a twelve billion dollar investment for atomic development, and there was a growing feeling that the government should remain in a position to get back as much of it as possible if it ever begins to show commercial profits.

Nobody knew when this might be (though 10 years seemed about the average guess) nor whether there would actually be any great profit involved. But there was a hunch that it just might, one day, be the means of relieving some of the nation's great tax burdens.

Secretary of the Interior Key told the Congressional committee that benefits of the government's research should be spread over as wide a field as possible, meaning both large and small business. But small business had no way of getting in. Under Secretary of Commerce Walter Williams and Rep. Durham (D-NC) went on from there to how the government could retain a profitable financial interest in the process. And that note caught the ear of a good many who were following the hearings.

Ownership Theory
The idea was broached that the government should continue as the developer until the system was past the stage where such tremendous investments were necessary in what might prove to be only experiments, and until lowered costs of entering the field would invite a broad instead of a very limited section of industry.

There was little idea that industrial uses of atomic energy should remain a government monopoly, with government operation of power plants and the like after that becomes economically feasible.

But there was a growing idea that the government should retain at least the rights that a private inventor would retain under similar circumstances.

Defense
The United States still is dangerously vulnerable to atomic attack, defense mobilization officials say.

Chief danger is the intense concentration of population and industry in a few metropolitan areas. The top 15 metropolitan areas contain 30 per cent of the total population and 40 per cent of all manufacturing employment. The situation, says one defense official, is "an open invitation to attack."

The quickest remedy, he says, is for city defense planners to organize so efficiently they will be able to develop a maximum immunity from enemy attack.

ARTS AND SCIENCES REPORT

Music Note

The boss of America's music makers, James C. Petrillo, seldom goes in for diplomacy. But he plans to take a fling at it during his current European visit.

Petrillo wants to talk to Denmark's King Frederik IX about some long-hair phonograph recordings the king makes from time to time. The recordings have Mr. Petrillo ruffled because they sometimes find their way into U.S. radio stations.

So, Petrillo will drop in on the king and ask him to promise not to permit the use of his recordings for commercial purposes. It will be just a heart-to-heart talk, says the American Federation of Musicians chief.

Science

Armed with 30,000 hypodermic needles and 15,000 syringes, doctors this week threw a million dollar punch at the serious polio outbreak in Montgomery, Ala. It was the first mass attack on polio with the scarce anti-polio serum gamma globulin.

The serum provides immunity for only four weeks, but doctors hoped it would get the highly susceptible younger children through the worst of the summer polio season.

The Office of Defense Mobilization flew in 67 gallons of gamma globulin.

ma globulin. The National Foundation provided the hypodermics, syringes and other equipment and footed much of the estimated $1,000,000 inoculation tab.

Emergency centers for administration of the injections were set up in 12 white and Negro schools in Montgomery. Long before the hour the centers were scheduled to open, lines began forming.

Health authorities and National Foundation officials emphasized the gamma globulin tends only to ward off polio paralysis, but does not prevent the disease. Authorities hoped to cut the incidence of polio in Montgomery by 80 per cent with the injections.

The National Foundation announced, meanwhile, that a mass test of a new polio vaccine on many as a half million U.S. children may be undertaken this year.

The vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas Salk of the University of Pittsburgh will be used if the experiment is carried out. Basil O'Connor, director of the Foundation, said the vaccine had shown enough promise to warrant such a large-scale test.

Under the tentative program, a half million children would be given the vaccine and a similar number would get something else. Should the test be undertaken late this year, results could not be known until the fall of 1954, O'Connor said.

This year is shaping up as another heavy polio year—perhaps the heaviest, but 1953 may provide the final answers in the fight against the disease.

Education

A study of 522 school systems in the U.S. shows teachers tend to veer away from controversial issues in the classroom because of apprehension over Congressional investigating committees.

Results of the study were reported this week at the annual convention of the National Education Association in Miami Beach.

The convention's keynote speaker, Dr. Walter F. Tunks, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Akron, O., said:

"It may be that communism has filtered into some of our schools and churches. Whatever screening is necessary should be done locally by those to whom the schools and churches are responsible, rather than by Congressional committees too far removed from the facts and too often actuated by partisan politics."

He labeled the "recklessness of those who defend freedom by ways and means that are in themselves a denial of freedom" the real threat to the American way of life.

Other educators emphasized that children "cannot be reared in a vacuum and be expected to become competent in citizenship."

Dr. Martin Essex, superintendent of schools at Lakewood, O., urged school boards to develop orderly procedures to deal with "false super-patriots and fear groups that militantly prevent free inquiry."

The convention also took up the teacher shortage, building needs, finances and enrollment increases. The association is made up of 450,000 teachers and an affiliated membership of 950,000.

Church Disavows Reds

Delegates to the World Methodist Convocation on Evangelism in Philadelphia were concerned over allegations the churches have been infiltrated by Communists.

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam challenged critics of the church to "name one clergyman who holds a position of large responsibility in any Protestant Church who is a member of the Communist party."

Bishop Oxnam previously has taken issue with Rep. Harold Velde (R-IL.), chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Velde stated last March it was "entirely possible" his committee might look into Communist infiltration in churches.

In a recent speech in the House, California's Republican Rep. Jackson declared Bishop Oxnam "works for the Lord on Sunday and for the Communist front the rest of the week."

Oxnam, without naming either Velde or Jackson, told the Methodist convention the charge of Communist infiltration in the church "is the refuge of scoundrels."

The convocation marked the 250th anniversary of the birth of John Wesley, founder of the Methodist church. It also signaled the opening of a six-month drive by 40,000 Methodist churches to enroll 250,000 more members—1,000 for each year since Wesley's birth.

HARRY TRUMAN STEPS OUT ON THE TOWN

EX-PRESIDENT TALKS WITH NEW YORK CABBIERS

Private citizen Harry Truman took in the sights in New York this week. He shook hands with cabbies, posed for camera fans and had a good time for himself.

It probably couldn't happen anywhere else but in America. More than one New York hack driver might have said to his wife: "Bumped into Harry Truman on 43rd Street today. Nice guy."

But in one sense it was just like old times. Mr. Truman was talking politics and Republicans were talking back.

In his first formal speech since leaving the White House, private citizen Truman challenged budget slashes by the Eisenhower administration and blamed what he called a "reckless" wing of the GOP for cuts in the Mutual Security program.

TRUMAN OBLIGES AN AUTOGRAPH SEEKER

The ex-President delivered a warning against lower taxes at the expense of security.

Republicans reacted immediately. Said one high GOP official: "Mr. Truman is back at the old stand—soft on economy, soft on money and soft on communism."

Other Republicans asserted the Eisenhower administration would provide a "better defense" than the Truman administration.

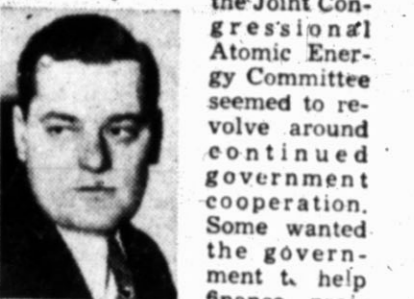

TAKING THE MORNING CONSTITUTIONAL IN MANHATTAN

But Harry Truman had hit on a controversial issue—even among Republicans. There was little doubt the Democrats planned to glean ammunition from the defense budget fracas on Capitol Hill for use in next year's crucial Congressional elections.

The criticism already had been offered that the GOP administration was planning to meet possible Soviet attacks on the U.S. with a well-balanced budget.

Republicans have sliced the Truman defense budget from about 41 billion dollars to 36 billion.

Mowing Machine Is Essential To Handle Pastures Properly

COLLEGE STATION — The mowing machine is one of the essential pieces of equipment needed for carrying out a good pasture building and management program provided it is used. That word comes from E. M. Trew, pasture specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Mowing at the right time, he explains, practically eliminates weeds sprouts, bushes, briars and vines from the pasture and favors their replacement by grass. Too, mowing tends to keep grass in a tender, growing condition, making it more palatable and nutritious to the grazing animals.

Weak When Blooming
Mowing to control weeds must commence when the first of the worst weeds begin to bloom and all weeds should be mowed before they have a chance to produce a seed crop, says Trew. Most plants are weak when blooming and are, therefore, more easily killed by mowing at that growth stage.

Eastern bitterweed, a common pest in bermuda pastures, requires early and repeated mowings to prevent it from producing some seed. The first mowing should be done with the mower set high but successive clippings should be made at lower levels. Fall blooming weeds may be weakened by earlier mowings but to make sure they do not produce seed, Trew recommends a fall mowing.

Mowing alone will not build a good pasture, points out the specialist. The soil on which the pasture crop is growing must be fertile enough to produce good yields from the grasses and/or legumes either growing naturally or from seedings, says Trew. He recommends that a fertilization program should be a part of any pasture building program.

More Forage
Bermuda grass at the Angleton Experiment Station when mowed produced twice as much forage and four times as much total protein and phosphorus as did unmowed bermuda. Results at the Station also showed that all grasses do not react the same to close clipping.

Mowing tall bunch grasses too often will injure the stand while the low growing grasses which tend to form a sod respond best to mowing. Bermuda grass harvested at three different stages of maturity showed considerable difference in protein and phosphorus content.

The protein content was 11 percent and phosphorus .41 percent at the young stage of growth; at the blooming stage the percents were .7 and .33 and at maturity, the percentages dropped to .5 and .24 respectively. This shows the value of keeping the grass growing and tender which a mowing program will do provided moisture and plant food is available.

Heavy Duty Equipment
Trew says almost any heavy duty power take-off mower, when properly equipped, can be used in mowing weeds, brush or sprouts up to an inch in diameter. Rotary mowers made from auto rear ends are excellent for pasture mowing when no large sprouts or brush are present. Commercially made rotary mowers and stalk shredders powered from the power take off on the farm tractor have also been used with success.

The rolling stalk-cutter type machine has proved highly satisfactory on jobs where the going was rough and tough. These machines give little trouble from breakage, have a low operating expense and are useable on rough land. They have another advantage — the blades tend to mulch hard soils and this may prove an aid to re-seeding or seeding operations by increasing the germination of the seeds sown.

It all adds up, says Trew to the fact that pasture mowing is a management practice which will pay dividends when used on pastures capable of producing good yields of forage either as grass, hay or silage.

AWARD WINNER
J. C. Sanders, Jr., 36, of 132 Camilla Street, Lake Jackson, Tex was named winner of the $1,500 top Texas state award in the General Motors Better Highways Awards contest.

Burras, Colts Are New Park Arrivals

Canyon.—Two baby burros and three colts are among the new arrivals at Palo Duro State Park. More are expected momentarily. The burros are solid black and park guides are hoping for one or more paint burro colts soon. The park herd, perpetual beggars and greeters, has been increasing rapidly in recent years. Several of them are to be sold this season as pets.

Sired By Wild Stallion
The horse colts were sired by Borger, the wild stallion of Palo Duro, who with a herd of mares roams the 15,103 acre park.

A new pet deer has joined Charley, the white tailed buck, about the gate and a rugged young steer with an exceptionally large set of horns has joined Evetts and Harold, the two old veteran Longhorn steers at the park. Tens of thousands of pictures have been made of the animals at the park.

A&M Board Of Directors Accepts Grants, Loans

Recent grants-in-aid, loans and gifts to the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas A & M College and Prairie View A & M totaling $60,321.71, were accepted recently by the board of directors of the Texas A & M College System.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station received $27,875 in grants-in-aid, $99.95 in gifts and $3,940 in loans.

Texas A & M College received $27,826.76 in loans and $500 in gifts. Prairie View A & M College received a $75 scholarship and a $5 gift.

Chop Down The Weeds, Too Heavy Waterings, Light Mulch Will Help Keep Home Gardens

COLLEGE STATION — The weather — always a favorite topic of conversation — is playing hob with home gardens. A month ago it was too wet in parts of the state and too dry in others and right now it's on the dry and hot side all over.

The yields and quality of garden vegetables will both be cut, says J. E. Hutchison, horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, unless steps are taken to offset the adverse growing conditions.

Keep down weeds and grass that compete with the vegetables for vital moisture and plant food, says the specialist. Cultivate just deep enough to get the weeds and break the surface crust. Cultivation, when properly done, leaves the soil in a loose friable condition so that air and moisture from either rain or irrigation can penetrate. Deep cultivation, explains Hutchison, disturbs and may even destroy the roots of shallow rooted vegetables such as squash, cucumber, cantaloupes and sweet corn.

A good mulch of organic materials will help conserve moisture that is in the soil and will also help control weeds and grass and lower the soil temperature.

Most garden soils need about an inch of water per week to keep the vegetables coming to the family table. If this amount of moisture is not forthcoming as rain, then supplemental irrigation should be used, advises Hutchison.

He says it takes about 20 minutes of average flow from a common garden hose to apply an inch of water to 100 square feet and that one good soaking every 7 to 10 days is much better than frequent light sprinklings.

And finally, he says, if insects are causing trouble, get them early for if allowed to multiply, they will soon take the garden.

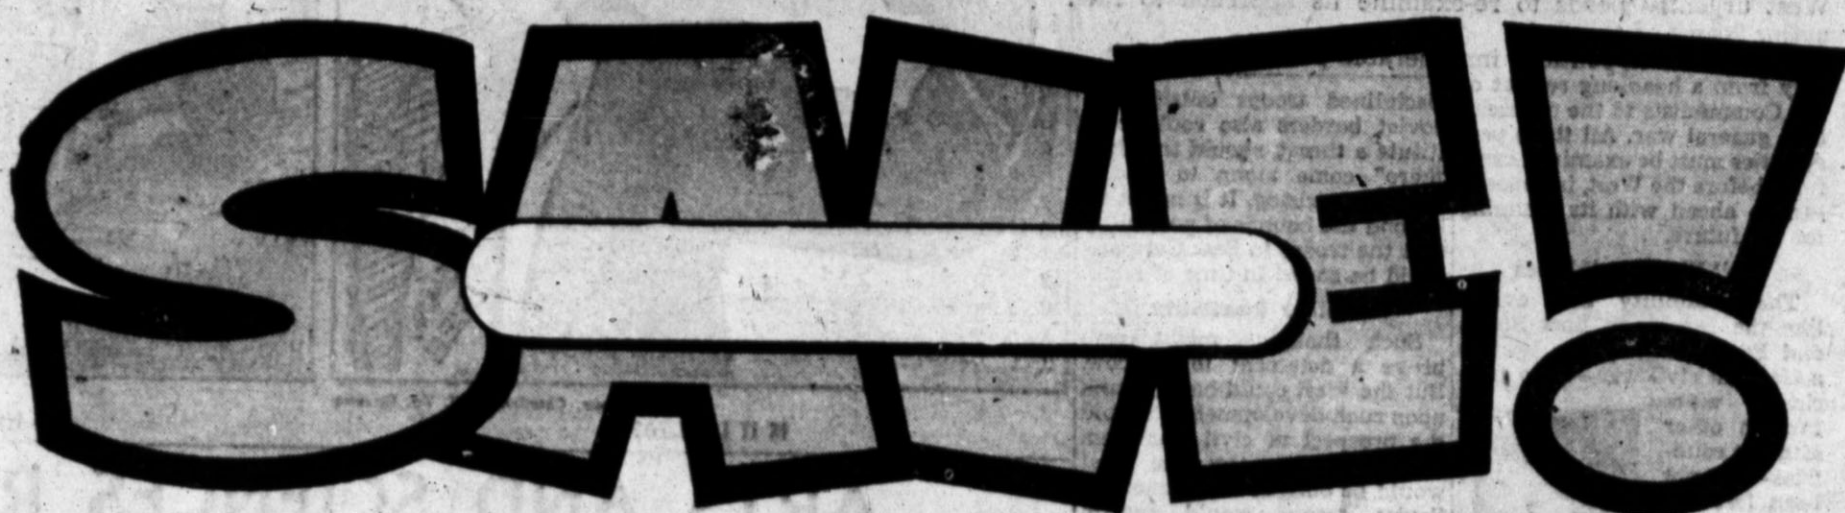

At law the word "counsel" means a person licensed to practice law.

PCA's Will Hold Meeting At Texas A&M In August

COLLEGE STATION — The Production Credit Associations of Texas will hold a statewide meeting at Texas A & M College August 9-12. Seventy-five persons are expected to attend.

"The meeting will be sponsored jointly by the School of Agriculture of A & M the 36 Production Credit Associations of the state and the Houston Production Credit Corporation," Dean C. N. Shepardson said today.

REA, Summerfield Teams Get Tuesday Night Game Victories

By Billy Paul Knox
 Russell pitched and batted team to victory Tuesday night. REA defeated Piggly Wiggly 10 in five innings, and Summerfield defeated Dawn.

Piggly Wiggly picked up two in the first on singles by Her and Monroe and a homer by Hershey but REA quick-taliated by scoring nine runs in the first. They got three hits in the big first but they drew four walks. Piggly Wiggly committed errors.

First Inning Duplicated
 Piggly Wiggly duplicated the first by scoring two runs on a by Anell Greenway and another by Homer Hershey. A further lengthened their lead by collecting nine more runs in the second. Again errors hurt the Piggly Wiggly team as they committed four.

Piggly Wiggly made three more runs in the third as REA made four errors.

Insurance Runs
 REA sent two more insurance runs across the plate in the third to further increase their lead.

Piggly Wiggly scored three runs in the fourth as REA was unable to score. Pitcher Jim Russel set Piggly Wiggly down with no runs in the fifth to end the game.

Russel led REA hitters with three hits. Hershey, Shaw, and Tucker all collected two hits to lead Piggly Wiggly hitters. REA had six errors while Piggly Wiggly had seven.

Dawn Went Down
 Summerfield defeated Dawn, 8-7, in the second game.

Neither team could score in the first as pitching held tight. Summerfield broke loose for two runs in the second on singles by Botkins and Streun and a tripple by L. J. Clark.

Seven of Dawn's men crossed the plate in the third inning, but those were their last scores. Horace Balze pitched shut-out ball the remaining four innings.

Lead Narrowed
 Summerfield narrowed the lead by scoring one in the third and one in the fourth.

Summerfield scored three runs on three walks and two hits in the fifth to tie the game.

The dramatic finish came in the seventh inning. Bob Clark singled, went to second on a grounder, third on a wild pitch and scored on a single by Cliff Harper.

L. J. Clark and Roy Botkins led Summerfield hitters with two hits each. Barton collected two hits to lead Dawn.

The same Panhandle weather prevailed as usual as the wind and sand blew throughout the game. This, no doubt, accounted for some of the errors.

Deaf Smith Sets Pace For World

Residents of this area can expect a complete report in the near future regarding experiments made with food products from this community during the past year. The research work was headed by Dr. L. B. Barnett in Dallas and he reported this week, will be continued there as well as in St. Louis for the next 12 months.

Findings from the experiments cannot be released until they have been published in some recognized medical journal, Dr. Barnett said, and this phase of the operation is now in progress. He says, however, that the findings are exceptional and more encouraging.

A national distributor of vitamin capsules is already producing synthetic vitamins for experimental purposes by the hospitals in Dallas and St. Louis, and the experiments are expected to spread to other cities possibly during 1953-54.

Actually, the development will mean little direct benefit to this community save through publicity and a satisfaction of having contributed to humanity and a possible longer life span. The chemical company in producing synthetic capsules uses the exact Deaf Smith formula, but gets the necessary ingredients from the most available and reasonable sources. Tests and experiments during the past year in Dallas established the Deaf Smith formula, which in every possible respect represents the exact duplication of contents of water, meat, vegetables and other foodproducts in this area. Chief characteristic of the formula is bone building which, in the case of fractured, has been reported as phenomenal.

Dr. G. W. Heard, discoverer of the Hereford food supplement, and Dr. Barnett, whose interest and personal devotion to the subject led to completion of the Dallas experiments, are the two men who deserve most credit for the point which has today been achieved. Each of these men has been honored by the community as "Outstanding Man of the Year"—and certainly the selection could not possibly have been more fit or proper. In addition to this recognition, The Brand would like to add a sincere:

"Thank you, Gentlemen, for a job well done."

Farm Population

Shortly after the close of World War I a song entitled, "How 'e You Gonna Keep 'Em Down on the Farm?" swept the entire country. Popularity of the song, no doubt, was due chiefly to the fact that the song title summed up an honest digest of a true situation.

Boys who grew up on farms had served in the armed forces and many of them were surprised to discover some of the conveniences which they had been missing. Today things are different, however. The introduction of electricity to the farm home made a long stride toward improvement of farm life. In addition to lights, it provided the means to overcome farm chores, pumping of water and scores of other factors which contribute to happier living.

Recent announcement that the new rural telephone system in this area is expected to "cut over" for outside service in the probable immediate future affords another convenience for the farm resident. Telephone service, although not an absolute necessity, does offer emergency communications and will bring much pleasure and satisfaction to rural residents.

Despite all of these things, however, only a small portion of the population in this area is rural. The 1950 census showed a total of 9,111—with 5,209 of this total living in Hereford. When you stop to consider the immense size of the county, which includes 1,507 square miles and is the fifth largest in Texas, the rural population is comparatively small with approximately 2.5 persons per square mile. The area, in fact, is far below the average—despite the fact that centralization into cities and towns has increased consistently since 1940.

Most peculiar about the whole thing, perhaps, is the fact that the people who can afford to move from cities into the surrounding countryside are the ones who do so, commuting to their offices and jobs in the cities. On the other hand, had not such improvements as electric lights, water systems, freezer chests and telephones come into the picture, it is alarming to estimate how low the rural population might have been today.

Airport Plans

The Chamber of Commerce recently announced establishment of an Airport Committee. The fact that even a committee has been named is within itself encouraging.

To date, Hereford and Deaf Smith County have apparently chosen to ignore the fact that air travel and air freight are possibly here to stay. A few people complain, but generally speaking the situation has created very little comment in the area.

If the residents of this community back in the years from 190 to 1910 had taken the same attitude, we would today be traveling to Dimmitt or Friona or Canyon each time we wanted to catch a train. People who have lived in towns with situations such as this will be the most prolific in telling you of its demerits. The situation means, without question, that the community can never expand or grow to any great extent. Lack of reasonable airport facilities, in our opinion, can produce the same identical result. Air transportation, like radio and television, is comparatively new—but it is growing and increasing annually as the years roll by. The time will come when it will be as necessary as trains, buses and trucks; possibly even to a more pronounced degree.

A small field for light planes will, of course, handle the immediate demand. The future is another item. Pioneer would probably be landing some flights in Hereford now if airport facilities were available. Other lines will, without question, bypass Hereford as air travel and air freight develop. The Chamber of Commerce committee is composed of capable, sound individuals. They will, we hope, look to the future when they make their plans and recommendations. A mistake in this direction could be a costly one for the entire area.

C-C Photo Slides

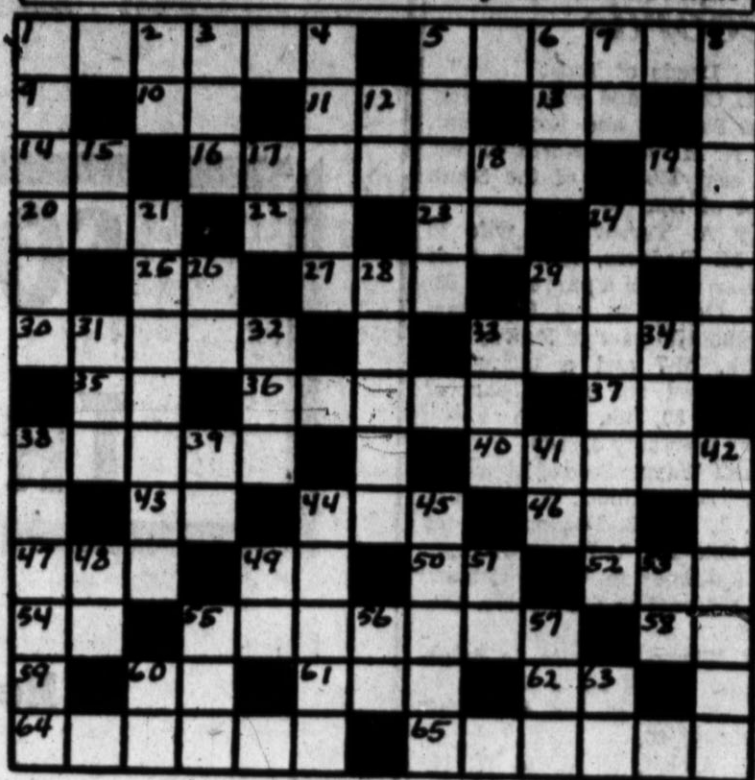

The Chamber of Commerce currently presents an idea which appears sound and practical in that it will provide excellent publicity for this area without undue expense.

The proposal includes placement of 35 mm. color slides in a community-wide contest from which the better slides will be copied for use in a Chamber of Commerce library. The slides, telling the full story of this area, will be shown in civic clubs and before interested groups over the country.

Due to the exceptional number of amateur photographers in this territory, the response should be generous. Many of these amateurs turn out professional type work and there are probably sufficient slides here to start the library even now. Since copies are to be made, the project will not cause any inconvenience for present owners.

Slides should include all types of material: irrigation, crops, ranches, cattle, homes, schools, churches and other interesting phases of life in this county. Photographers can do the community a worthwhile service by cooperating in the movement. In addition, it will be quite an honor to have photographs selected and included in such an important project.

Texas Press Association AUSTIN, Tex.—Federal officials are taking action on emergency drouth relief for Texas as requested by Governor Allan Shivers.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson conferred with the governor and toured drouth areas from Lubbock to San Antonio.

More than half of Texas has been labeled a disaster area by the Southwest's soil conservation chief at Fort Worth.

President Eisenhower had previously notified Shivers that the Federal Civil Defense Administration and the Department of Agriculture had been put to work on the drouth disaster problem.

The western half of the state is now in the fourth year of drouth. Conditions continue to grow worse, the governor reported. He asked for "credit extension and other relief" for farmers and ranchers.

Large Area Affected The governor said that reports indicate at least 128 counties seriously affected. A survey among livestock producers showed a growing sentiment that government aid, either by purchase of cattle or the sale of feed at disaster prices, may be necessary to prevent whole sale bankruptcy.

Emergency Discussed Farmer and rancher groups from various counties discussed the emergency with Secretary Benson, who was in Lubbock to speak before the American Cotton Congress. Among other things, Benson discussed ways of preventing dumping of beef cattle on markets from the Southwest.

Texas Commissioner of Agriculture John C. White says that the three-way squeeze of continued drouth, falling prices and rising costs had made the farm outlook this year "grim." He urged farmers to tighten their economic belts in order to get through this year.

The outlook for the cotton crop is about 3,808,000 bales, White said, or half of the potential of an average year. A wheat crop of 20 million bushels is expected in place of a normal yield of 60 million bushels.

Funds Available A fund is already available to drouth-hit farmers and ranchers, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The federal loan aid which they've been receiving for the last year is still available for seed, feed, fuel, groceries and other operating expenses.

Solution Offered A few solutions to water shortages have been offered by State Health Officer George W. Cox. He says that if the state had built reservoirs on Texas streams we wouldn't have a water problem.

"More than 85 percent of our storm waters reach the sea," he said. "That means that only 15 percent is soaked up by our parched earth."

There is no reason, Cox said, why these waters cannot be captured and transported to areas of scarcity.

Political Heat Wave The heat wave spread to Texas politics. Two Democratic Party organizations were getting steamed up over a complete break between national and state party machinery. And the beefed up Republican Party was trying to consolidate its gains, capitalize on the Demo spirit, and grab congressional and state offices next year.

The five-day visit in Texas this week of Stephen A. Mitchell, national Democratic chairman, apparently gives the national party blessing to the supporters of Adlai Stevenson in the last presidential race. Mitchell conferred with this group, recently formed as the Democratic Organizing Committee.

On the other side of the fence are Governor Shivers and the Democratic State Executive Committee, who supported Eisenhower for president.

Republicans Expand Texas Republicans at a recent meeting decided to start an early drive to place candidates in all political races next year. They are also expanding their campaign headquarters in Houston.

Since the Republicans gave Governor Shivers an overwhelming vote under the cross-filing system, they will have to hold primaries next year.

The Texas GOP could make further use of the cross-filing, which is strongly opposed by Stevenson Democrats. The Republicans could join forces with the Shivers group to put across the same congressional candidates on both tickets.

WATER SHORTAGE

An unidentified driver tried to play "leap frog" with a parking meter here early Wednesday morning.

The only trouble was—he forgot a car couldn't jump.

The result—one city parking meter demolished and one car, evidently suffering from a ruined radiator and other damages. Tracing the car by a path of water, evidently streaming from the radiator, police found the trail ended where the accident occurred, apparently as the radiator drained dry. And police report no other clues to the case of the leaping, then leaking auto. COLORADO CITY RECORD

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher obviously is on a wild goose chase this week, but there are certain chances about his proposal, even though he'll get nowhere with it with Congress.

Dear editor:

It's customary I know to take pot shots at Congress, a man who can't find something bad to say about Congress any given day in the week just ain't tryin', but I read in a newspaper last night where the House of Representatives in Washington voted a measure which I take my hat off to.

That is, I'll take my hat off to provided they extend the measure to take in the entire country.

The bill will allow a Congressman to deduct as legitimate expenses on his income tax whatever it costs him to live in Washington. As I understand this, Congress figures a Congressman's living expenses while he's in Washington are bonafide business deductions for income tax purposes, and if there ever was a step in the right direction, that's it.

It hasn't been the income tax rate that bothers people, it's the size of the tax itself, and the only reason the size is big is because the government doesn't allow a man to take off enough expenses.

Now under the new plan, provided it's extended to everybody, not just Congressmen, a man could take off all his living expenses on his income tax report. Now we're getting somewhere, I figure if I try hard enough I can always make my living expenses come out to where they exactly take up all my income tax, and under such an arrangement who cares how high the income rate goes?

But you take under the present system, it doesn't matter how far a man goes in the hole trying to make a livin', if he makes a paper profit he still has to pay an income tax, whether he's paid his grocery bill or not.

Of course, Congress may not intend to extend this new system to all the country, but I always say what's good enough for a Congressman ought to be good enough for me, and I figure my living expenses out here on my Johnson grass farm are just as important to me and the economic welfare of the country as a Congressman's living expenses in Washington, and I'm in favor of being allowed to deduct mine too.

People who've been harpin on the necessity of cuttin down on the income tax rate have been workin on the wrong end of the problem. All we need to do is increase the number of expenses we can deduct, and let the rate alone. Let me know the minute Congress extends this measure to everybody, as I sure want to come out even this year.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

Steak

You will choose a good piece of steak or other pieces of beef if you will see that the red meat is elastic and the fat firm and white.

Porcelain

Kerosene is excellent for cleaning bathtubs and other porcelain surfaces, but this often leaves a disagreeable odor. A half-lemon rind is a very excellent cleanser, too.

Jelly

If jelly will not thicken, put a grated carrot in a clean piece of cheesecloth and strain a few drops into the jelly. Then boil just a few minutes longer.

Paint Odor

The odor of paint can be destroyed by adding sulphuric acid to a basin of water and leaving it in a room that has been freshly painted.

White Furniture

Try cleaning the white furniture by dissolving some baking soda in warm water in proportion of one teaspoon to a pint of water and applying this to the furniture with a soft cloth, and rubbing with a dry cloth afterwards. Fingermarks and dirt are easily removed by this method.

Flowers

To make cut flowers last longer, add two or three small pieces of white soap to the water in which they are placed.

Irons

The irons will be kept clean if rottenstone is mixed with sweet oil and spread on a board. Then run the iron back and forth until bright and clean.

Screws in Plaster

When it is necessary to put screws into plaster walls and there is no woodwork available, at the right place, enlarge the hole about twice the size of the screw, and insert a little plaster of Paris mixed with water. Then put the screw into this and it will set and hold firmly.

Attorney Generals Meet
Attorney generals from Texas and New Mexico met in Austin to iron out several problems between the two states.

Among other issues is one over water rights. Texas has filed suit against New Mexico in the U. S. Supreme Court to compel the release of water in the Rio Grande River for irrigation in Texas.

New Mexico is reported ready to sue Texas for draining underground water across the border with numerous water wells.

Courtesy Needed
Simple driving courtesy on the highway would greatly reduce the accident rate, according to one traffic expert.

D. A. Weaver of State College, Pa., speaker at the first annual Motor Fleet Management Institute, explained that a man drives as he lives. A man who has a sense of social responsibility tends to be a better driver than anti-social people, he said.

The institute is sponsored by the Texas Motor Transportation Association and conducted by the University of Texas Division of Extension and Texas Education Agency.

When the minister-president of Bavaria, Dr. Hans Ehard, called upon Governor Shivers recently, they found agreement on one thing: both are opposed to any movement toward a "powerful, centralistic federal government."

SHORT SNORTS: An Austin livestock auction official sums up the price situation in this way: "The cow people are hurt so badly they aren't even talking; some come up to get their check—and that takes their breath."

The Texas Supreme Court held its session a day early this week in order to attend the State Bar convention in Fort Worth July 1-4. Rep. John Crosthwait of Dallas predicts that Rep. Jim T. Lindsey of Texarkana will be the next speaker of the Texas House, claiming over 100 signed pledges of support. Criminal District Judge Henry King of Dallas says he is thinking of running for the Court of Criminal Appeals next year, if Judge Harry Graves steps down from the bench.

Difference In Seaman's Wage Borne By Taxpayer

An American merchant seaman gets over $300 a month in wages while a sailor on an Italian merchant ship gets $33, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States reports. Despite this difference in wages businessmen who ship their goods abroad in American boats pay no more freight than they would if they shipped on foreign freighters.

This seeming paradox is explained by federal shipping subsidies. The government has to insure an American merchant marine for defense and national welfare. So shipowners who agree to make a certain number of trips a year, replace their ships when they become obsolete and comply with other government requirements get part of their high operating costs refunded by the government.

Contrary to common beliefs these subsidies don't guarantee the ship owner a profit. And if the subsidized ship owner does show a profit over the years, fifty percent of most of it may have to be returned to the government.

Eggs furnish complete protein, Vitamin A, the B Vitamins and Vitamin D—all necessary to growth and health. They also contain minerals, iron and phosphorus which are essential for building and maintaining strong healthy bodies.

High quality eggs are ideal for cooking in the shell, poaching and frying. Lower quality eggs may be economically used for other cooking.

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Committee urges every citizen to be careful with fire. Pastures, ranges and woodlands are in critical danger and as never before every pound of forage is needed by livestock. The continued hot, dry weather is increasing the fire hazard and the committee recommends that communities organize for fighting grass and woods fires.

Underground CONCRETE IRRIGATION PIPE LINES

Over 2,000 Underground CONCRETE Irrigation PIPE Lines have been installed in West Texas since 1949. Underground CONCRETE PIPE is a PROVEN method of transporting irrigation water from the well to the crop. CONCRETE PIPE is installed under-the-ground below the frost line... a hard freeze cannot damage it! CONCRETE PIPE is installed under-the-ground so hot summers cannot hurt it. CONCRETE PIPE is installed under-the-ground so the farmer can drive over it... so he can plow over it... farm over it... and bring his row up to it with no trouble at all.

Any type of open ditch loses a tremendous amount of water by evaporation on hot, windy days. Underground CONCRETE PIPE will deliver the same amount of water your well pumps to any part of your farm... Uphill or Downhill. An Underground CONCRETE PIPE Line is a permanent irrigation system.

We invite You to come by our office here in Hereford... we will be glad to take you out to see our systems in operation... and watch the ease with which our New "Row-King" Aluminum Pipe takes the water from the Underground CONCRETE PIPE Line and puts it into the rows. There is no water-loss-by evaporation, seepage, or otherwise.

The two scenes below were taken on the John Paetzold farm 5 1/2 miles southeast of Hereford. The Paetzold farm has almost One Mile of concrete PIPE with three wells tied together. Instead of ditches they use ROW-KING aluminum pipe (shown below). Walter Paetzold (shown below left) says, "I never fully realized how much water we were losing in open ditches unerrately. . . we are saving at least one day of pumping on each well per week. We run our three wells any place on our farm at anytime—all together or separately.
