Will talk to construction workers Reagan visiting in Dallas today

Local officials vow to resolve problems

Voters complain of election handling

DALLAS (AP) — President Reagan, in a journey designed to highlight economic recovery, was touring a homebuilding construction site today and listening to pleas from builders to keep interest rates at a moderate level.

The president had lunch with assembly line workers on Wednesday at a Ford plant in Missouri. His visit with construction workers was to be at an undisclosed building site near the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport.

Afterward, he was attending a roundtable discussion among builders, real estate agents, and savings and loan executives sponsored by Builder magazine. It was entitled, "Building the American Dream."

"The No. 1 thing the industry worries about is interest rates," the publisher of the magazine, Michael W. Wood, said in a telephone interview Wednesday.

"The primary message is that this industry which is so important to the economy is terribly interest rate-sensitive so let's do everything we can to keep interest rates under control."

Wood, a good friend of deputy White House chief of staff Michael K. Deaver, has been offering to hold such a roundtable for the president for some time. The White House called him last Friday seeking the meeting today. About 14 industry repres-

It took almost two hours for some people to vote in three local elections at the Community Center Saturday, but city, school and hospital officials vow it won't happen again.

On the heels of the election, complaints started being heard this week by officials of the three governing bodies, and The Brand also received inquiries about the situation.

Most of the complaints centered around the length of time it took to vote, the congestion of lines within the Community Center, and the lack of directions on which lines went to which election.

"We apologize for some oversights in handling our election," said Deaf Smith Hospital Administrator Jim Bullard, "and we have talked to City Manager Dudley Bayne about resolving the problem. We will get together before the next election and plan for a more efficient operation."

Dr. Harrell Holder, superintendent of schools, said "we just didn't anticipate such a large turnout, and we'll try to do better next time." He said the school arranged for 17 clerks, and the voting went faster when another table was set up for registration and distribution of ballots.

Holder said he was called at home Saturday morning and informed there was a problem. He went to the Community Center and tried to help people find the right line in which to form. He added that the next two years will offer a different situation for the school district, since only single-member districts will be going to the polls. Voters in Districts 1 and 3 will vote next year.

The superintendent pointed out that all the local elections were moved to the Community Center as a convenience for voters, "but the crowded conditions made it an inconvenience this year." He doubted that moving locations would help. "With a large turnout, it would probably take voters longer to drive to three locations and still possibly wait in line."

Holder said some people had asked him about the possibility of putting all the elections on one ballot, but he said the law does not allow this. "Each governmental unit has a different jurisdiction, so they cannot be placed on the same ballot."

"If we have reason to expect a big turnout of voters, we'll set up our polling place to handle them in a faster method," he said.

A number of election officials feel the vote totals would have been even larger for the city, school and hospital elections if the lines had not been so long. The school reported a total of 2,587 votes cast, while the city counted 1,605 and the hospital district had 1,597.

The local option election was conducted in the county's 12 voting precincts. One of those boxes was also located at the Community Center. A total of 5,100 voters turned out for that election—reflecting a whopping 58.7 percent of the total registered voters in the county.

Healthy Solar Max back in space

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Challenger's astronauts returned a healthy Solar Max satellite to space as an orbiting sun watcher today, and the shuttle's skipper declared: "Satellite servicing is something that's here to stay."

"We pick up, repair and deliver," said commander Robert Crippen, obviously pleased with the historic first retrieval and repair of a satellite in space.

The satellite was dropped off at 4:26 a.m. EST by the shuttle's 50-foot mechanical arm, which had plucked it from space on Tuesday for in-orbit repairs. Two of Challenger's crew replaced defective parts during a record space walk on Wednesday.

"Solar Max is dead on the sun," said Mission Control in reporting the satellite had a firm lock on its target after a television picture showed it drifting slowly away from the shuttle.

"Good news," said Crippen. "It looks pretty out there."

Thus, after more than three years of circling the globe as dead weight, Solar Max was back to provide valuable information on giant solar flares that pour torrents of radiation into interplanetary space. What scientists learn from the satellite may help them better understand the sun and how it affects weather, radio communications and other conditions on Earth.

Crippen kept his ship close to the satellite for a time after the release, alert to pick it up again if anything went amiss.

The astronauts were starting to pack up to come home Friday. Where they land depends (See SHUTTLE, page 2)

Election is certified, liquor sales now legal

Deaf Smith County Commissioners spent about 30 minutes this morning canvassing the returns of Saturday's local option liquor election.

The commissioner's court found everything in order and no discrepancies on the tally sheets, enabling them to sign an order declaring that manufacturing, selling and distributing all forms of liquor is now legal in Justice of the Peace Precinct 1 of Deaf Smith County.

"As of this time, the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission can start accepting ap-lications for liquor licenses," Ruland announced. The time was 10:34 a.m. The court verified that 5,100 voted in the election, with results showing 2,659 for and 2,441 against.

Danny Williams, assistant supervisor in the district office of the TABC in Amarillo, said the office had already had "more than 30" inquiries from residents of Deaf Smith and surrounding counties before Saturday's election results were announced.

Williams said it normally takes two-and-a-half to four weeks for a license to be approved.

House okays hike in 'sin' taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to increase the tax burden on smokers, drinkers and businesses by $49 billion as Congress struggles to make good on election-year promises to make a down payment toward ending soaring federal budget deficits.

The House passed the tax measure Wednesday on a bipartisan 318-97 vote, and the Senate was struggling to finish work today on a similar $48 billion bill. Negotiators from each chamber will have to meet later to work out a compromise version of the legislation.

Also today, the House was set to debate a package of nearly $5 billion in spending cuts, but action on that measure was in doubt because of arguments over an amendment that would impose a one-year freeze on Medicare fees paid to physicians.

Meanwhile, the Senate Budget Committee on Wednesday narrowly approved the outlines of a $150 billion deficit-reduction package President Reagan has endorsed. But the Republican-controlled panel acted only after sending a clear signal that it thinks the package does too little to reduce government red ink.

There were 223 Democrats and 95 Republicans voting in favor of the House tax bill while 31 Democrats and 66 Republicans opposed it. The lopsided victory for an election-year tax increase reflected the fact that it carries the president's support, so long as major cuts in federal spending also are adopted.

Most of the $49.2 billion the House bill would raise through Sept. 30, 1987, would be paid by upper-income investors and corporations.

Individuals would notice the impact primarily through provisions that would:

- Raise the tax on a fifth of 100-proof liquor by 75 cents.
- Drop the 16-cent tax on a pack of cigarettes to only 12 cents next year, instead of the 8-cent level specified in current law.
- Retain the 3 percent tax on telephone service — 75 cents on a $25 monthly bill — for an extra two years past the Dec. 31, 1985, expiration date now scheduled.

Hereford's plans for observing the Texas Sesquicentennial include adopting a "twin city" in Bordertown, South Australia. We inadvertently placed the city in South Africa in another article this week.

Bill Johnson will be chairman of the Hereford Sesquicentennial committee, and a number of projects are being planned for 1986 in order that Hereford be formally declared as a "commemorative city."

Since a lady from South Australia came here to talk about the twin-city arrangement, we knew which country it was. We'll blame our mistake on becoming a full-time reporter again, due to the absence of editor Reed Parsell. Our young editor took a week off to attend his sister's wedding in France.

The local option election, as many predicted, was decided by a close margin Saturday. The interest was even greater than predicted by many observers, as 5,100 voters cast ballots in the election. That was a remarkable figure—since it accounted for almost 59 percent of registered voters.

It Could Be Worse

Oh, come on Peggy, it isn't that bad, is it? Peggy Fox, a receptionist at Thomas and Burdett Law Firm, located at 116 S. 25 Mile Ave., got a 'pleasant' surprise today when she drove up for work, a bigger-than-life size sign complete with balloons announced to everyone that she is 50-years-old today. Peggy took all the ribbing in good humor, however, and said she will 'live' through the day.

Local Roundup

Harassment complaint checked

Hereford police investigated a complaint of harassment on Wednesday night. A local woman claimed her next-door neighbor followed her around town for several minutes and only left when the woman pulled in to the police station. The woman who was being followed indicated she would file charges today.

Police also made one arrest for public intoxication and answered a call from a woman whose 17-year-old daughter appeared to be missing. The Hereford High School student failed to show up for work after school and none of her friends seemed to know of her whereabouts.

The mother told police she would file a missing persons report today if the daughter had not returned home by then.

The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department investigated a minor traffic accident resulting from a tire blow-out and otherwise had a routine night.

Hereford Volunteer Firemen extinguished a dumpster fire at 4 p.m. on Wednesday.

Walcott will host political rally

The Messenger Extension Club is to host a political rally at Walcott School beginning at 6 p.m. Saturday. All area residents are welcome to attend.

Invitations have been sent to all county and state candidates, according to club spokeswoman Verona Jack. A question and answer session will follow the candidates' speeches. Refreshments will be served and a pie and cake auction is to be held.

Mondale optimistic about Texas

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gary Hart says he's happy the fight for the Democratic presidential nomination is moving west to "our territory." But in Texas, Walter Mondale's state manager says his side is ready.

"I think we're going to do quite well," said Dwayne Holman, Mondale's Texas campaign manager. "I can't put a number on it, but it will be more than a majority."

San Antonio may get network

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — San Antonio could be the home base of a sophisticated global communications network if a project called Texas Teleport proposed by three companies becomes reality.

Texas Teleport would give San Antonio an exclusive window on satellite communications to Asia and Europe, said Andy Lagueruela, chairman of Sateco, a long-distance telephone company involved in the project.

San Antonio's geographic location makes it ideal for a major global communications center, Lagueruela said.

State officials named to committee

AUSTIN (AP) — A number of current and former state and Democratic Party officials have been named to a statewide steering committee for former Vice President Walter Mondale, who battles Sen. Gary Hart in less than a month for Texas' delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

State Treasurer Ann Richards, joined by other officials including Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, said Wednesday that Mondale, fresh from victories in New York and Pennsylvania, is in good shape for the May 5 Texas precinct conventions, which begin the national delegate selection.

With only 3½ weeks remaining until Texans choose their 200 Democratic National Convention delegates, it is too late for Hart to organize sufficiently to win, she said.

"I know what it takes to put together a campaign in this state. Even if Gary Hart had been able to mount some sort of effort in Texas, he would have had to start a long, long time ago and been much more effective than he has," Ms. Richards said.

Woman indicted after witness dies

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A woman has been indicted on charges she tried to hire an undercover policeman to kill her estranged husband and make the death look like a drug deal "gone sour."

Kathleen Burke Freudemann was named Wednesday in an indictment alleging criminal solicitation to commit capital murder.

The grand jury action came one week after a key witness against Mrs. Freudemann, Robert L. Gonzales, was gunned down in his sister's San Antonio home. No arrests have been made in the slaying.

Prosecutors said Mrs. Freudemann first asked Gonzales to kill her husband, Bernard, but that he went to the police instead.

Reagan courts autoworkers

With the Democratic presidential race at a midpoint lull, Walter Mondale is on the same mission as Republican President Reagan, courting autoworkers and claiming credit for the domestic auto industry's partial recovery.

Both Mondale, the re-established front-runner for the Democratic nomination, and Reagan, unopposed for renomination by the GOP, were in Missouri on Wednesday touring automobile assembly lines.

Mondale visited a Chrysler plant at St. Louis while Reagan was 250 miles away at a modernized Ford plant in Claycomo near Kansas City.

"Reagan in an auto plant is like a fox in the chicken coop," said Mondale. "This is the president who caused the worst trade year in our nation's history and who will not stand up against the flood of imports."

'Terms' opens in Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The movie "Terms of Endearment" opens Thursday in Mexico, in a premiere apparently intended to capitalize on the five Academy Awards it won Monday night.

The movie's Spanish title is "La Fuerza del Carino," and advertisements trumpet it as the winner of five Oscars including Best Picture and Best Actress, Shirley MacLaine.

American movies generally premiere in Mexico several months after they are shown in the United States, screened in English with Spanish subtitles. The price of a ticket at the best movie theaters is 100 pesos — about 60 cents.

The Oscar ceremony was shown Monday night on Mexican television.

Mexico may oust institute

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico announced the creation Wednesday of a commission to study whether the controversial Summer Linguistics Institute should be allowed to stay in the country.

The institute is made up of missionaries and linguists, most of them Americans, who try to preserve the more than 100 indigenous languages in Mexico. The institute has been working in the country for 44 years.

El Nacional, the official newspaper of the Mexican government, said Wednesday that President Miguel de la Madrid has named a commission "that will make a full report to be delivered to the chief executive of the country, to help decide whether or not (the institute) should remain in our country."

Wednesday. Dr. C.E. Rush accepted for the local chapter. The funds came from a weekly fundraising project of the club.

Lions hear about post office numbers

There were 360 million pieces of mail handled by the U.S. Postal Service today, and the Hereford Post Office accounted for 42,000 of that number.

Nolan Grady, Hereford postmaster, told members of the Hereford Lions Club Wednesday, that he ran a count last week and the office handled 251,000 pieces of mail in six days. That's an average of 41,833 a day. The local PO also handled 1,642 parcels last week.

Speaking at the civic club meeting, Grady reported 60 percent of the local mail is delivered by city carriers. Rural routes account for 22 percent of the delivered mail, while 18 percent is placed in post office boxes. He said about 19 percent of local mail is pre-sorted by the sender.

Nationwide, first-class mail accounts for 53.8 percent of all mail handled. Second-class accounts for only 7.7 percent, while third-class mail represents 34.1 percent.

Astronaut George Nelson and James van Hoften replaced two defective electronic units on the satellite during the longest space walk ever on Wednesday. Remote checks by experts at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Md., showed the once-crippled Solar Max was working well.

"Commands go in, commands go out, telemetry flows... the rest of the equipment looks good," said Goddard's Frank Cepollina, director of the rescue effort. "I'm absolutely ecstatic."

tatives were expected. Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said in advance of the presidential visit that Dallas was selected because it was building more new homes than any other city.

In general, the housing industry has been experiencing a resurgence. Not only did the sale of new homes climb 7.8 percent in February, but the construction of new homes shot up 11.2 percent that month to its highest level in nearly six years. Work on new homes in February was begun on a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 2.2

million units, the fastest pace since April 1978. Reagan flew here Wednesday afternoon from Kansas City, Mo., where he talked to automobile workers, hailing the upturn in that once recession-battered industry.

TAX

—Repeat a new tax break of up to $450 a year per saver before it is due to go into effect next year.

The pending Senate bill would not affect the tax on cigarettes.

A major part of the revenue in both bills would come from a crackdown on certain tax shelters and partnership transactions that high-income investors use to shield their earnings from the Internal Revenue Service.

Congressional leaders are counting on the tax increases as the foundation of an eventual package of deficit reduction actions that will total from $150 billion to $200 billion over three years.

Considering the emotional impact of the issue, we think the community survived a knock-down struggle and the election process went smoothly enough for us to retain a semblance of unity in the community.

We doubt the approval of package stores will benefit the community as much as some proponents claimed. We also doubt that it will have as bad an impact as some opponents claimed. Regardless of your vote, or feeling, on this issue, it's time for us to get on with the job of trying to make our community a better place in which to live, work and play.

Spring has to be just around the corner, according to Ruth Knox. She spotted a pair of Western Bluebirds in her backyard this week, and she adds that this is a good time of the year for birdwatchers. "We're treated to bird visitors we don't usually see in the Panhandle."

Ruth said Tommy Betzen told her of seeing a large bird he couldn't identify, so she went out with her binoculars and trusty birdbook under arm. The passing visitor was 4 feet tall with long legs and neck, a spearlike bill, and was blue-gray in color. She tagged it as a Great Blue Heron and is, next to the Sandhill Crane, the largest long-legged bird found in the West. Ruth thinks he was on his way to Alaska or Canada.

Top young farmer, homemaker fete set

Hereford's Outstanding Young Farmer and Outstanding Young Homemaker for 1984 will be named Saturday night at the annual Young Farmers-Young Homemakers Awards Banquet.

The banquet will get underway at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Country Club Drive at 7:30.

Individuals selected by the membership of their respective organizations will be named as recipients of the OYF and OYH awards, which recognize accomplishments within the program of work of the two educational organizations.

Hereford's Young Homemakers will also present a Distinguished Service Award in recognition of active service to club and community on the part of a chapter member.

The joint awards ceremony between HYF and HYH is a long-standing tradition in Hereford, recognizing the similar aspects of the two organizations and the intertwining of agriculture and homemaking in everyday life.

Following the banquet the two organizations will sponsor a fun night for their members, which will feature a variety of games. Each person attending is requested to bring a small gift item for use as prizes for the game night.

Officers of the Hereford Young Farmers include Gerald Marnell, president; Dennis Schilling, vice president; Toby Turpen, secretary; Tom Schlabs, treasurer; and Jim Steiert, reporter. HYF advisor is Monty Adams.

Hereford Young

Homemakers officers include Ann Kemp, president; Melinda Henson, first vice president; Dalene York, treasurer; Brenda Meewe, secretary; and Gail Blain, reporter. Advisor for HYH is Mrs. M.T. Burelsmith.

Texas Young Farmers and Young Homemakers are agriculturists and homemakers, respectively, who operate local organizations with objectives of education, leadership, service and recreation. Members also work to develop their own leadership abilities, provide needed community services, and sponsor recreational activities in their community.

Local sponsorship is through the vocational agriculture and home economics departments of Hereford High School.

House expected to vote end to Nicaraguan aid

By W. DALE NELSON Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) —

The Democrat-led House is expected to follow the Republican-controlled Senate in overwhelmingly condemning the CIA-directed mining of Nicaraguan harbors, and lawmakers of both parties say the House will probably vote to end aid to Nicaraguan rebels altogether.

The House scheduled action today on a non-binding resolution, approved 31-3 by its Foreign Affairs Committee on Wednesday, expressing "the sense of Congress that no additional funds be used to mine the ports or territorial waters of Nicaragua."

A resolution saying the same thing was approved 84-12 by the Senate on Tuesday.

Rep. William S. Broomfield of Michigan, the senior Republican on the Foreign Affairs panel, supported the resolution and predicted the House would pass it "by an overwhelming margin."

Expressing the complaints of many in Congress that the administration kept them in the dark, Broomfield said, "I was not informed of what was going on and I have been indignant about it ever since I found out about it."

During a sometimes acrimonious session with Deputy Secretary of State Kenneth Dam that preceded the committee vote, Broomfield told the State Department's No. 2 official:

"I can't help but believe that covert aid is down the drain."

Rep. Stephen J. Solarz, D-N.Y., agreed, saying, "As a practical matter, I think we've seen the end of this."

The Senate voted last week, before the CIA role in the mining became generally known, to grant the administration's request for $21 million to continue covert assistance to guerrillas fighting Nicaragua's leftist regime.

The bill containing these funds, along with $61.7 million in additional military aid for El Salvador, is in the hands of a House-Senate conference committee that will draft a final version for submission to both houses.

Rep. Jamie Quillen, D-Miss., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, agreed Wednesday to a request from 103 Democrats and three Republicans in the House that he insist the conferees eliminate the money for aid to the guerrillas.

Dam told the Foreign Affairs Committee that the harbor mining is legal because the United Nations charter specifically permits collective self-defense.

Rep. Lawrence J. Smith, D-Fla., said that in a later closed session, Dam "indicated that other countries besides ourselves were involved" but did not say what country, if any, had asked for U.S. aid.

Senior administration officials, speaking with the understanding that they be anonymous, said the mining was discontinued Friday, four days before the Senate vote, and was not likely to be resumed.

Some administration sources said it was pointless to resume the mining because it had accomplished its purpose of disrupting Nicaraguan arms shipments to Salvadoran insurgents.

But one senior State Department official said the political furor over the mining was a principal reason for its apparent abandonment.

Now You're Cooking

By LINDA CAUDLE
Lifestyles Editor

Can two sisters live together and really get along well with one another, even after they've been apart for many years, raised their own families, and been involved in altogether different activities?

In the case of two local women, Clovis Seago and Marie Stringer, one seems to sense a resounding yes. The two describe their relationships as "very good" though they were a little wary of the arrangement and decided to share a home on a trial basis at first.

"We hadn't lived together since we were growing up, and had not even spent much time together since then," said Marie. "Usually we were living in different states. I told her not to burn any bridges because we didn't even know if we'd get along."

Now, after being together again for more than three years, these sisters have found that with their varied activities they are able to spend time apart, and yet enjoy each other's company more than ever before.

"We had both lived alone and had not really thought that much about it, but now when one of us is out of town, we really do miss the other," noted Clovis.

Marie, who has lived in Hereford since 1968, enjoys gardening, working in the yard and growing houseplants, while Clovis, who has only resided here with her sister since 1981, keeps busy with much of the cooking and cleaning.

A second grade teacher at Aikman School for the past 16 years, Marie considers her career rewarding and fulfilling. She earned her degree in elementary education from Panhandle State University in Goodwell, Okla., their native state (the sisters were raised near Sayre).

Marie is an active member and serves as second vice-president of Delta Kappa Gamma, an international education association. She has also been on the scholarship committee for the organization. She likes to sew, read and do needlework.

Clovis, retired since moving to Hereford, had, in the past, worked as a travel agent and then as district property manager over a number of apartment complexes. She enjoyed these occupations very much and, like her sister, lived in quite a few different places before settling in Hereford.

Both, however, "think Hereford is the very best as far as people and the climate." "We've come to love it here. After living in large cities, we are so aware of the warmth of the people and their friendliness," they agreed.

Clovis, who is enjoying her retirement because it gives her more time to visit relatives, read, and write letters to many friends who live long distances from here, also spends a lot of time doing volunteer work.

She is serving on the welcoming committee for the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce and she is presently co-chairman for the Town and Country Jubilee.

Both she and Marie are involved with the activities of their church. They each teach an adult women's Sunday school class at First Baptist Church. Clovis works in the church library, which was featured in an open house recently, and as a member of the Women's Missionary Union, serves as president of the Day Baptist Women.

Marie Stringer and Clovis Seago

Clovis and Marie enjoy going to Glorieta Baptist Conference Center in New Mexico for conferences in the summer with other members of the church. "I've gone every year for about 25 years," smiled Clovis.

"Church work has always been very important to me," added Marie. "It provides an opportunity to get close to other people and share needs and concerns."

Marie has five children, Kay, who resides in Denver; Susan, who lives in Washington, D.C.; Carol of Austin; Hank, who resides in Dallas; and Stephanie of Harlingen. She also has a granddaughter and two grandsons.

Clovis has one daughter, Laura Lynn, who resides in Duncanville, and one grandson.

Since their children moved away from home Clovis and Marie have adapted their cooking to somewhat simpler menus, but they enjoy a variety of foods because their cooking preferences complement each other.

Clovis enjoys preparing meats and vegetables, specializing in fried chicken and Mexican food, while Marie loves to bake, and makes most of the breads, cookies and cakes.

Clovis shares a favorite hominy casserole recipe and Marie has submitted one of her favorite recipes for old fashioned, chewy brownies.

HOMINY CASSEROLE
2 cans hominy, drained
1 carton sour cream
3/4 c. chopped green onions
1 can chopped green chilies
1 small jar pimentos
1 c. grated cheddar cheese

Mix first five items together; bring to a boil on top of stove. Place in casserole and cover with grated cheese. Heat in 350 degree oven until cheese is melted.

EASY BROWNIES
1 stick margarine
1 c. brown sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
1 egg
1 c. flour
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. soda
chopped nuts
chocolate chips

Melt margarine in saucepan. Remove from heat and stir in brown sugar, vanilla and egg. Beat well. Add flour, salt and soda; beat well.

Pour in greased 9x13 inch pan. Sprinkle chopped nuts and chocolate chips on top. Bake in 350 degree oven 12 to 15 minutes.

Brownies will appear to be too soft but will harden as they cool. If a thicker brownie is desired, bake in smaller pan.

NOTE: The recipe for lazy daisy icing printed in last Thursday's Now You're Cooking (April 5, 1984) should have read as follows:

5 Tbsp. butter
9 Tbsp. sugar
4 Tbsp. cream
1/2 to 1/4 c. coconut

Mix the melted butter, sugar, cream and coconut together and heat until dissolved. Pour over hot cake and broil in oven until slightly brown.

Davidson presents program Tuesday

"Exploring the Bible" was the program given by Oneita Davidson when members of the Lone Star Study Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Grace Tinnin with Hilda Haven serving as co-hostess.

The speaker started her program by giving a Bible quiz and showed pictures of Jesus and his disciples. The pictures were portraits taken by Alberta Rae Richards.

After many years studying the lives of the disciples, Ms. Richards decided to make a series of photographic portraits of the disciples using people from every walk of life which included an accountant, a machinist, a student and a salesman as models. She looked into the faces of those she met for qualities that seemed to her symbolic of the disciples.

Ms. Davidson went on to say that for seven years, Ms. Richards put all her skill and artistry into this dedicated project. Her hope is that these pictures will give the public an opportunity to realize more fully the impact the disciples lives had on mankind for centuries.

During the business meeting, Ms. Davidson also presided in the absence of the club president. Minutes were read and it was announced that the next meeting will be a covered dish luncheon in the home of Carman Angel.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Angel, Davidson and Opal Bookout, Juanita Boynton, Evadne Cox, Bertha Dettmann, Mildred Elliott, Wilma Goetsch, Ella Higgins.

Also, Jessie Mae Dodson, Lucile Naylor, Verna Sowell, Billy Morgan, Winnie Wiseman, Zoe Williams, Ruth Womble, and Margaret Ann Durham.

Some 100 of every 1,000 children died before their first birthday 70 years ago, according to the American Council of Life Insurance. Today, because of medical and technical advances, the rate is 11 deaths per 1,000 infants born.

Ann Landers

Kidney donation successful

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Years ago I learned through your column about the Living Bank. I sat down, wrote a letter and became a member. It was a good feeling, knowing that if I should die suddenly another person might have a better chance of life.

One year ago my sister suffered total kidney failure. It was suggested that another sister and I be tested to see if we would be suitable donors. I was terrified! I had never been sick a day in my life. How could I go through major surgery when I couldn't even stand the thought of the tests? Besides, my sister never took care of herself. Why should I be asked to bail her out? We weren't even close.

The results of the tests showed that I was by far the better tissue match. I was horrified! For the first time in years I prayed. I asked God to help me, and He did. The burden had been lifted. I knew I would have the strength to see me through. I decided I had been given the opportunity of a lifetime and I dare not pass it up.

I donated the kidney in August and it was the greatest experience of my life. My sister is doing well and I shudder to think that I came very close to turning my back on her when she needed me most.—"Betty"

DEAR "BETTY": By sharing your magnificent experience you have encouraged others to do likewise and have saved many lives. Bless you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: TV has taken a lot of bum raps. Here is my response to the poem you printed recently:

NO TEE VEE
In the house
Of Mr. and Mrs. Spouse
The problem is me.
I hate Tee Vee.

I would rather engage in self-centered chatter
From dawn to dusk—inane patter!

You can bet
I resent that Tee Vee set.
I feel stunted
Because my desire to talk is blunted.

I cast the blame
On the "idiot box," "boob tube" whatever the name.
In this case, I'm way off base.

I constantly invade my spouse's space.
I don't have the grace
To control my noisy face.

If my words have real meaning,
There is time to converse
When Tee Vee is not screaming.

Most people unwind from the cares of the day
By watching Tee Vee. It's America's way!—33 Years Wed (West Palm Beach)

DEAR W.P.B.: Thanks for your offbeat poem. There's addressed, stamped envelope (37 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995 Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Can drugs be a friend in time of stress? If you keep your head together can they be of help? Ann Landers' all-new booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope," separates the fact from the fiction. Get it today. For each booklet ordered, send $2.00, plus a long, self-

Speaking of Sports

By STAN GODEK
Sports Editor

Baseball talk: Historic events took place, are taking place, and will soon take place.

Pete Rose, Charlie Hustle on the Montreal Expos, needs just one hit to become the first National Leaguer to reach 4,000 hits in the Major Leagues.

Rose is in hot pursuit of Ty Cobb's all-time hit record of 4,191 set more than 50 years ago.

Two other players are battling for the career strikeout lead in big league history.

Nolan Ryan struck out 11 as the Houston Astros lost to Philadelphia Tuesday. That boosted his total to 3,694, just 27 shy of the Phillies' Steve Carlton.

Both Carlton and Ryan broke Walter Johnson's career mark last year. Johnson's mark had stood for decades. Barring retirement, Ryan should eventually overtake Carlton - Ryan is 37 and Carlton is 40-years old.

Jack Morris threw this year's first no-hitter on national television Saturday as the Detroit Tigers beat the White Sox. I'm going to stick my neck out and say Jack Morris is the best pitcher and the Tigers are the best club this year.

Detroit will be trying for its seventh straight win tonight as it hosts the Texas Rangers.

Another record is constantly being set. That is the number of ball players being thrown in jail for possession of narcotics.

Monday, Atlanta Braves pitcher Pascual Perez was released from a Dominican Republic prison for having cocaine. He will meet with baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn today to discuss his future.

Former Cy Young Award winner Denny McClain entered a plea of "not guilty" to charges of racketeering, extortion, loan-sharking, bookmaking and conspiracy to smuggle drugs.

News releases indicate that McClain, "at times with others, worked through an equity mortgage lending firm that extended loans at interest as high as 150 percent annually."

"The government also claims that the expitcher used threats to collect debts, took illegal bets on football and basketball games and conspired to smuggle and distribute cocaine."

Locally, softball leagues and tournaments are being offered throughout the city. If anyone needs a five-year veteran of the softball circuit - gimme a call.

Mickey Mantle, one of the greatest switch-hitters in the history of baseball, hit home runs righthanded and lefthanded in the same game 10 times. It's a major league record.

Pitcher Rube Marquard set a major league record by winning his first 19 games for the New York Giants in 1912.

Time For A Change

This meeting on the mound during Tuesday's Monterey and Hereford high schools resulted in a pitching change. Coach Don Long (left) has just signaled for centerfielder Mickey Stengel to come in and replace Ronnie Collier (No. 7) as catcher Jeff Streun and first baseman J.D. High look on. HHS lost the game, 14-2. The Herd will try to improve on its District 3-5A record of 5-4 when it travels to play Lubbock High Friday.

Of 17 championships

Nicklaus plans bigger record

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus says someone some day will break his record of 17 major professional golf championships, and he'd like to make it a little more difficult by adding to his collection.

"Somebody will come along and do it," Nicklaus said Wednesday on the eve of the 48th Masters Tournament. "They always do."

"When they do, I'd like the record to be more than 19," Nicklaus said, adding a pair of U.S. Amateur titles to his personal list.

"I would like to win a lot more major tournaments," he said, adding that he is gearing his game each year to peak during the season's four major events — the Masters, U.S. and British Opens and the PGA.

"I have as good a chance as anybody else here this week," Nicklaus said before beginning his quest for a sixth Masters title today on the 6,905-yard, par 72 Augusta National layout.

Nicklaus, generally acclaimed the greatest player in the history of golf, has not won the Masters since 1975.

At age 44, Nicklaus said he doesn't know how long he will continue to play, but he will perform as long as he thinks he is competitive.

The only five-time champion in Masters history fired a 66 in a practice round Saturday, and says he is more confident than he's been in recent years.

He faces a tough field of 87 other international players, including defending Seve Ballesteros, the dashing Spaniard who hopes to become the only player other than Nicklaus to put together consecutive Masters titles. Jack did it in 1965 and 1966.

Turns 43 Friday

Rose nears 4,000 hits

CINCINNATI (AP) — Montreal outfielder Pete Rose can celebrate a wedding, a birthday, a hitting milestone and a home opener in Montreal all in the same weekend.

After failing to get a hit in his hometown Wednesday, Rose was ready to board the team plane with his new bride and a determination to get his 4,000th career hit in the Expos' home opener Friday — one day before he turns 43.

The former Cincinnati Reds star drew four walks and grounded out in Montreal's 9-3 victory Wednesday at Riverfront Stadium before a boisterous crowd that littered the field in disgust when Reds pitchers gave Rose little to swing at.

His next swing at becoming only the second player ever to reach 4,000 hits should come Friday against the Philadelphia Phillies — the team that signed him as a free agent after the 1978 season and released him last year. "Who's pitching? Carlton?" Rose said, figuring his big hit could come off Phillies' left-hander Steve Carlton, baseball's all-time strikeout king.

Told the Phillies plan to start Jerry Koosman, Rose snapped his fingers in disappointment and said, "I thought it would be Carlton."

The 18,923 fans in Riverfront Stadium Wednesday hoped it would be either Bruce Berenyi or Frank Pastore giving up No. 4,000.

"I'm going to get another hit this year," he said. "I'm not worried about that. I'm just happy we won today's game. I'm a little disappointed (at not getting 4,000 in his hometown), but it's just one of those things that happen."

The Denver Nuggets, who will give up more points than any team in the National Basketball Association for the fourth straight season, are heading for the playoffs for the third straight year. Although starting center Dan Issel missed the game because of a hyperextended elbow, the Nuggets defeated the Houston Rockets 130-110 Wednesday night to clinch a spot in the Western Conference playoffs.

Pistons 126, 76ers 113
Detroit stayed in a tie for first place with Milwaukee in the Central Division by winning at Philadelphia for the first time since Nov. 2, 1974.

Kelly Tripucka scored 37 points and Isaiah Thomas 33 for the Pistons, with Tripucka notching 29 in the second half. Detroit took control of the game by outscoring the 76ers 30-14 after Philadelphia had rallied from a nine-point halftime deficit to tie the score 71-71.

Andrew Toney led the 76ers with 27 points. Bucks 108, Cavaliers 95
Milwaukee also won on the road, keeping pace with the Pistons by holding Cleveland to 13 points in the third quarter.

The Bucks, who trailed 61-60 early in the third quarter, hit 14 straight points en route to outscoring the Cavaliers 28-13 in the period. Mike Dunleavy and Marques Johnson of the Bucks and Roy Hinson of Cleveland shared game scoring honors with 17 points.

Sign 6-8 forward recruit

TCU lands best prep cager in Texas

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Christian Horned Frogs pulled off the major surprise of 1984's basketball signing day by landing a Fort Worth schoolboy ranked by some as the best high school basketball player in Texas.

Norman Anderson, a 6-8, 195-pound forward from Fort Worth Southwest, signed with TCU Wednesday. He averaged 20 points and 13 rebounds a game last season and was named by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram as the state's No. 1 prep star.

Anderson had taken only one official visit, to Oklahoma University, and wasn't expected to sign with anyone until later in the month. He also was considering Texas Tech.

Texas A&M also caused heads to turn. The Aggies skipped over Texas players and signed three New York City players.

The Cadets inked Fred Burton, a 6-6, 220-pound forward who averaged 42 points a game at a New Hampshire academy as a junior before moving to New York last year and making the all-city team with a 31-point average.

A&M also signed Don Marbury, a 6-2, 185-pound guard, who averaged 25 points and seven rebounds a game last season for Farmingdale Junior College in New York. He, too, had been an all-city selection as a high school player in Brooklyn.

The other NYC signee for A&M was Reggie Hayes, a 6-8, 235-pound forward and center from New York City Technical Institute. He averaged 28 points and 15 rebounds per game last season.

Marbury and Hayes each will have two years of eligibility and Burton four years. Southern Methodist announced five signings Wednesday. SMU coaches inked Adrian Caldwell, a 6-7 forward from Corpus Christi West Oso; Terry Thomas, a 6-7 center from Dallas Carter; Glen Puddy, a 6-8 center from Houston Clear Lake; Coyle Winborn, a 6-7 forward from Pampa; and Alan Cozart, a 6-5 forward from Little Rock, Ark.

Texas Tech signed South Garland's Greg Crowe and Dallas Kimbell's Ed Robinson. Crowe is a 6-5, 190-pound forward who averaged 19.6 points and 10 rebounds last season. Robinson is a 6-6, 190-pound forward who averaged 13 points and 13 rebounds in his senior year.

"Both of these players are good rebounders and will help us in that area," he said. "Basically we recruited guards last year and we needed to sign some forward types this year. These two will fill that need."

Baylor announced the signing of Frank Williams of Dallas Samuel, a 6-8, 210-pound forward, and Michael Williams of Dallas Carter, a 6-1, 165-pound guard. Frank Williams, visited Oklahoma, Texas Tech, Lamar and Southern Methodist before signing with Baylor. He averaged 19.7 points and 12.3 rebounds a game and was selected to two all-state teams during his senior year at Samuel.

Michael Williams was the state's leading scorer last season with his 30.9-point scoring average. He scored 61 points against Conroe in a playoff game at the end of last season and was named to several all-state teams.

"We are elated to have both Frank and Michael in our program; they have great talent and will add offensive punch and speed in our lineup," said Baylor Coach Jim Haller. "Both can put the ball in the hole and they give us a good start in our recruiting."

Arkansas signed a 6-8 post man, Darryl Scott of Wynne, who averaged 14 points, 11 rebounds and five blocked shots per game. Stephan Moore, a 6-8 forward from Cushing, Okla., also committed to Arkansas. Moore averaged 19 points and 11 rebounds per game.

Texas signed another Arkansas player, Doug Dennis, a 6-8, 230-pound center from Class 3A state champion Harrison who twice was voted most valuable player of the state tournament. Dennis hit more than half of his shots from the field and averaged 23 points and 12 rebounds last season.

Texas Coach Bob Weltlich said he thinks Dennis can come in and contribute immediately as a power forward.

Texas also signed Kelvin Collins of Waterproof, La., a 6-3 1/2 guard who averaged 27 points a game. He twice scored 47 points.

Rice signed Dave Ramer, a 6-8 center from Merced Junior College in California. Ramer, from Washingtonville, N.Y., averaged 15.3 points and 9.7 rebounds last year.

Only three players have played for an NCAA championship basketball team one season and for the NBA champ the next. They are Bill Russell, Henry Bibby and Magic Johnson.

Q. Is the installation of rear shock absorbers something I should attempt myself?

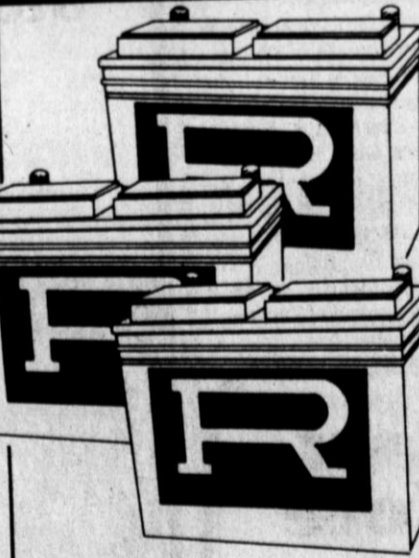

A. With a little care, certainly. If one shock is malfunctioning, it's best to replace both. First, check the front wheels and jack up the rear. Use jack stands under the rear axle housing. Remove fasteners from the top of the shock with a box-end or socket wrench. Apply oil to the bolts and if necessary, use a hammer and punch to remove bolts. Remember the order in which you remove washers and retainers from the shock if installation instructions aren't included with the new units. Remove fasteners from bottom of shock. Remove Shock absorber. Attach top mount fastener on new shock. Grasp the lower portion of the shock and align with lower mount. Install fasteners.

Let the new generation of hybrids do for your sorghum acres what Pioneer has done for Plains corn.

8222 Big yield potential under full irrigation. A widely adapted hybrid, 8222 has produced a superior record under many different environmental conditions. But it's especially adapted to full-season production in this area. Provides outstanding stress tolerance, plus excellent resistance to MDMV and head smut. It's an attractive, medium height hybrid with semi-open heads of bright red, hard-textured grain. Leaves that are above average in width help provide first-rate shading. And outstanding root and stalk strength keeps plants standing for maximum harvest.

8493 Especially adapted for dryland or very limited water conditions, this is a fast maturing hybrid with exceptional drought tolerance. It has the ability to take full advantage of normal early season rainfall; then it makes efficient use of available ground moisture to produce all that the season allows. Under tough growing conditions, the standability of many hybrids often suffers. But not 8493. Strong stalks and roots keep medium height plants standing straight for easy harvest of dark red, high test weight grain. It's the standard for resistance to greenbugs.

8333 Pioneer plant breeders developed this great new hybrid to make the most of what the growing season has to offer. This one has outstanding drought tolerance, too—but you must plant it on good dryland or under limited irrigation to take full advantage of its maturity and yield potential. In irrigation tests throughout the Plains, 8333 has produced exceptional yields. The field appearance of the bronze, hard-textured grain is most attractive. Harvesting is made easy, too, by excellent head exertion and very good standability. For late season plant health, 8333 is highly resistant to MDMV, head smut, and Biotype C greenbugs.

Choose the combination best suited to your land and your conditions — and get ready for a great sorghum crop.

Speaking of Sports

By STAN GODEK
Sports Editor

Baseball talk: Historic events took place, are taking place, and will soon take place. Pete Rose, Charlie Hustle on the Montreal Expos, needs just one hit to become the first National Leaguer to reach 4,000 hits in the Major Leagues.

Rose is in hot pursuit of Ty Cobb's all-time hit record of 4,191 set more than 50 years ago.

Two other players are battling for the career strikeout lead in big league history. Nolan Ryan struck out 11 as the Houston Astros lost to Philadelphia Tuesday. That boosted his total to 3,694, just 27 shy of the Phillies' Steve Carlton.

Both Carleton and Ryan broke Walter Johnson's career mark last year. Johnson's mark had stood for decades. Barring retirement, Ryan should eventually overtake Carleton - Ryan is 37 and Carleton is 40-years old.

Jack Morris threw this year's first no-hitter on national television Saturday as the Detroit Tigers beat the White Sox. I'm going to stick my neck out and say Jack Morris is the best pitcher and the Tigers are the best club this year.

Detroit will be trying for its seventh straight win tonight as it hosts the Texas Rangers.

Another record is constantly being set. That is the number of ball players being thrown in jail for possession of narcotics.

Monday, Atlanta Braves pitcher Pascual Perez was released from a Dominican Republic prison for having cocaine. He will meet with baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn today to discuss his future.

Former Cy Young Award winner Denny McClain entered a plea of "not guilty" to charges of racketeering, extortion, loan-sharking, bookmaking and conspiracy to smuggle drugs.

News releases indicate that McClain, "at times with others, worked through an equity mortgage lending firm that extended loans at interest as high as 150 percent annually."

"The government also claims that the ex-pitcher used threats to collect debts, took illegal bets on football and basketball games and conspired to smuggle and distribute cocaine."

Locally, softball leagues and tournaments are being offered throughout the city. If anyone needs a five-year veteran of the softball circuit - gimme a call.

Mickey Mantle, one of the greatest switch-hitters in the history of baseball, hit home runs righthanded and lefthanded in the same game 10 times. It's a major league record.

Pitcher Rube Marquard set a major league record by winning his first 19 games for the New York Giants in 1912.

Time For A Change

This meeting on the mound during Tuesday's Monterey and Hereford high schools resulted in a pitching change. Coach Don Long (left) has just signaled for centerfielder Mickey Stengel to come in and replace Ronnie Collier (No. 7) as catcher Jeff Streun and first baseman J.D. High look on. HHS lost the game, 14-2. The Herd will try to improve on its District 3-5A record of 5-4 when it travels to play Lubbock High Friday.

Of 17 championships

Nicklaus plans bigger record

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus says someone some day will break his record of 17 major professional golf championships, and he'd like to make it a little more difficult by adding to his collection.

"Somebody will come along and do it," Nicklaus said Wednesday on the eve of the 48th Masters Tournament. "They always do."

"When they do, I'd like the record to be more than 19," Nicklaus said, adding a pair of U.S. Amateur titles to his personal list.

"I would like to win a lot more major tournaments," he said, adding that he is gearing his game each year to peak during the season's four major events — the Masters, U.S. and British Opens and the PGA.

"I have as good a chance as anybody else here this week," Nicklaus said before beginning his quest for a sixth Masters title today on the 6,905-yard, par 72 Augusta National layout.

Nicklaus, generally acclaimed the greatest player in the history of golf, has not won the Masters since 1975.

At age 44, Nicklaus said he doesn't know how long he will continue to play, but he will perform as long as he thinks he is competitive.

Turns 43 Friday Rose nears 4,000 hits

CINCINNATI (AP) — Montreal outfielder Pete Rose can celebrate a wedding, a birthday, a hitting milestone and a home opener in Montreal all in the same weekend.

After failing to get a hit in his hometown Wednesday, Rose was ready to board the team plane with his new bride and a determination to get his 4,000th career hit in the Expos' home opener Friday — one day before he turns 43.

The former Cincinnati Reds star drew four walks and grounded out in Montreal's 9-3 victory Wednesday at Riverfront Stadium before a boisterous crowd that littered the field in disgust when Reds pitchers gave Rose little to swing at.

His next swing at becoming only the second player ever to reach 4,000 hits should come Friday against the Philadelphia Phillies — the team that signed him as a free agent after the 1978 season and released him last year.

"Who's pitching? Carlton?" Rose said, figuring his big hit could come off Phillies' left-hander Steve Carlton, baseball's all-time strikeout king.

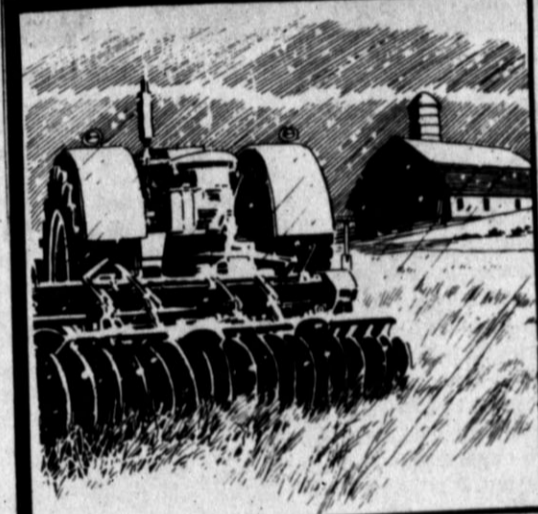

Told the Phillies plan to start Jerry Koosman, Rose snapped his fingers in disappointment and said, "I thought it would be Carlton."

The 18,923 fans in Riverfront Stadium Wednesday hoped it would be either Bruce Berenyi or Frank Pastore giving up No. 4,000.

"I'm going to get another hit this year," he said. "I'm not worried about that. I'm just happy we won today's game. I'm a little disappointed (at not getting 4,000 in his hometown), but it's just one of those things that happen."

THE YOUNG CRIMINAL

More crimes against people

Juvenile arrests in the United States have risen at an alarming rate. Arrests of youths for crimes against people — including murder, rape and robbery — rose 28.4 percent during a 10 year period (1971-80), according to recent Justice Department figures. Arrests of youths for crimes against property rose 4.7 percent.

Snuff, chewing tobacco possibly very poisonous

AUSTIN (AP) — Mamas, if you do let your babies grow up to be cowboys, think twice about letting them use snuff or chewing tobacco, a physician warns.

Writing in the April edition of Texas Medicine, Dr. Bernard M. Patten of Houston says using snuff or chewing tobacco can cause high nicotine levels in the blood and lead to nicotine poisoning.

Patten says that within five minutes, a single pinch of snuff results in a nicotine blood level that is 28 percent greater than the level reached by smoking a cigar for 65 minutes.

"The nicotine peak with snuff matches that achieved with those old Havana-type cigars and exceeds that found in heavy cigarette smoke," Patten wrote in the latest journal of the Texas Medical Association.

A continually high level of nicotine from constant use of snuff "could pave the way for chronic nicotine toxicity," Patten added.

Nicotine poisoning from snuff dipping or tobacco chewing can lead to nerve damage, severe muscle weakness, fatigue and weight loss, he said.

Patten said adverse effects of nicotine on nerves and muscles depend on several factors, including an individual's susceptibility, state of nutrition, liver function, type of tobacco and the nicotine content.

Patten, associate professor of neurology at the Baylor College of Medicine, cited the case of a 20-year-old man who "led a vigorous life of working cattle, riding bulls and jogging."

He became ill about the time he began using snuff and chewing tobacco, and his condition worsened over a six-month period. His snuff dipping became continuous as his consumption reached two tins a day. He lost 35 pounds without change in appetite or diet, the physician reported.

"His muscles became thin and weak and ached, especially after exercise. Despite attempts at weight lifting and other exercise, the muscles wasting continued and especially involved muscles around shoulders and hips," Patten wrote.

Patten said that once the man stopped using tobacco, he began to feel better. The aches disappeared within a week, and his body weight and physical activity returned to normal within three months.

As an experiment, Patten said, the man resumed using snuff and the symptoms returned. He stopped a second time, and his physical condition again returned to normal.

Scholarship to be given

The Hereford Fine Arts Association met Tuesday evening at the Community Center with June Owens, president, presiding over the business session.

It was decided that a $250 scholarship would be given to a deserving art student at the awards assembly and a donation of $200 was made to the Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center.

Also, during the meeting, it was announced that plans are underway for the Jubilee of Arts Show to be held this summer in conjunction with the Town and Country Jubilee.

An informative program was given by Phyllis Askew of Amarillo. An accomplished artist, Ms. Askew's program was entitled "Painting with the Right Side of the Brain."

She pointed out that the brain is in the shape of two halves of a walnut. The left hemisphere controls the right hand and the right hemisphere controls the left hand. The left side was noted as being the strong, dominant business side denoting all things verbal, such as talking, math and being practical.

She said, "the right side is the non-verbal side, the artist in you, where you live, see, draw and paint. It is just as active as the left side but is very reluctant. Each side has a different way of thinking."

While the left side is very controlled and business-like, the right side lets the person imagine, create, draw, picture. It has no sense of time. It does not name or categorize but regards things as they are.

Ms. Askew pointed out how one's signature is a picture of one self. It can change with each feeling. She gave a demonstration of how she moves the strong dominant left mode to the right side, actually making a mental shift each time one picks up a paint brush presenting it with a task it can't turn down. One can know this has been accomplished when it seems everything that is painted or drawn comes out right.

Using this theory, Ms. Askew said, "We can turn over our problems to the light-hearted side making painting fun and creative, stating that a painting done with the left side will probably be stiff while the one done with the right side is much more pleasant to the viewer."

Enjoying the presentation were Jean Lyles, Louella Cowser, Ms. Owens, Melba Dillars, Venita Wear, Linda Minchew, Norma Hendon, Mary Aguirre, Shirley Wyssman, Suzy Wall, Sonja Paetzold and Euman Lyles.

Also, welcomed as guests were Barbara Allen, Zelma Dillars and Neva Raybon. Refreshments were served by Suzy Wall and Sonja Paetzold.

Others in attendance included Janice Carr, Janice Conkwright, Barbara Kerr, Joyce Lomas, Mary McWhorter, Betty Martin, Donna Parris, Karen Payne and Susan Perrin.

Members of L'Allegra Study Club met recently at Deaf Smith County Library for their Fun Day. Serving as hostesses were Mary Kay McQuigg, Naomi Schroeter, Ella Marie Veigel, Linda Reinauer, Hilda Peralez, Margaret Carnahan and Jody Skiles.

Refreshments of assorted sandwiches, dip and chips, doughnut dots, cokes and coffee were served from a table decorated with a Peter Rabbit theme. For entertainment the group played "Trivia Pursuit." Potted plants were given as prizes as three different intervals to winning teams.

Prior to the beginning of the games, final plans and order blanks for the upcoming sale of geraniums and petunias were distributed to members. Plants may be ordered by contacting any club members.

Members brought sack lunches, and Vice-president Karen Barela conducted a brief business session prior to the program.

Ms. Raney told the group that linen or linen-look fabrics will be the number one material for spring and summer fashions.

She discussed key colors, prints, textures and silhouettes which will be popular this season, illustrating her talk by using clothing and accessories: borrowed from local merchants.

The return of similar symptoms after the patient resumed use of snuff and remission of symptoms when he again quit using snuff speak for a definite role for tobacco in causing his weakness," Patten concluded.

Today in History

Today is Wednesday, April 11, the 102nd day of 1984. There are 264 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On April 11, 1947, Jackie Robinson played his first major-league baseball game — an exhibition between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees.

In 1951, President Harry Truman relieved Gen. Douglas MacArthur of his command in the Far East.

For service awards

Five local women nominated

Five residents of Hereford are among the 91 nominees for the Texas Panhandle Distinguished Service Awards which will be presented on Saturday at West Texas State University.

Nominees from Hereford are Margaret Bell, Charlotte Clark, Mildred Fuhrmann, Rosemary Shook and Naoma Spann.

Nominees from 24 Panhandle and South Plains communities have been selected by individuals and members of organizations. Ten recipients will be presented during the ninth annual luncheon at 11 a.m. at the WTSU East Dining Hall.

Dr. Marjorie Bell Chambers of Los Alamos, N.M., will address the theme, "One World - Where Women Are Concerned," at the luncheon. Tickets are $10 each and may be purchased through today by calling the Returning Student Program which annually hosts the luncheon.

Chambers, co-founder of Bell-Chambers Associates, Inc., a consulting firm, is a former college president and has served as a presidential appointee to a number of national and international groups.

Honorary chairpersons for the 1984 luncheon are Mrs. Gail Shannon of Canyon and Bobby Henson of Happy. Planning the luncheon as co-chairpersons are Dr. Charlotte Rappisber, dean of the WTSU School of Nursing and president of the Canyon branch of the American Association of University Women, and Lois Lowe, president of the Amarillo AAUW branch.

Bell has been nominated by the Deaf Smith General Hospital Auxiliary, United Methodist Women of First Methodist Church and Lone Star Study Club.

Bell retired last June after teaching since 1949. A graduate of WTSU with bachelor's and master's degrees, she taught at Panhandle and Fort Stockton before coming to Hereford. She also directed a private kindergarten and taught freshman and sophomore English in the Amarillo College community classes at Hereford.

Her teaching experience has earned her leadership roles in educational organizations including Texas State Teachers Association committee chairperson and state Outstanding Retired Teacher Award.

She also has contributed her efforts to United Methodist Church where she has taught a Sunday School class for 27 years and received a trip to the Holy Lands in honor of her service. She is a member of Los Ciboleros Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

She and her husband, Charles, are parents of four children.

Los Ciboleros Chapter of DAR has nominated Clark, who has been head of the dietary department at Deaf Smith General Hospital since 1977.

Clark also shares her skills in nutritional counseling at King's Manor Methodist Home, Inc., Home Health Care in Hereford and Dimmitt, and Hereford Senior Citizens Association. She has earned degrees from Texas Tech University and Ohio State University.

In addition to her duties as a dietician, Clark also has worked as a bookkeeper for the family farm and cattle operation for 21 years. She is a member of the Los Ciboleros Chapter of DAR and has volunteered for Cub Scouts, Camp Fire, Inc., and American Cancer Society as a crusade chairperson for two years. She received the 1984 Kiwanis International Distinguished Service Award for Public Service.

She and her husband, Arthur, are parents of one son and two daughters.

Deaf Smith and Castro Counties Legal Secretaries Association has nominated Fuhrmann. She worked as a legal secretary for 24 years for Witherspoon, Aikin and Langley law firm until her retirement. She became a Professional Legal Secretary in 1975, been a member of Deaf Smith-Castro Counties Legal Secretaries Association since the charter in 1974 and wa Legal Secretary of the Year in 1976-77.

She also teaches shorthand as a volunteer, is a member of United Methodist Church, King's Manor Auxiliary, Operation Good Shepherd, Friends of the Library and co-chairs the blood bank committee of the Deaf Smith County Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Fuhrmann and her husband, R.L., are parents of seven children.

AAUW chapter in Hereford has nominated Shook, who has taught in Hereford schools for 23 years.

She lobbied successfully to obtain a signal light for schoolchildren to safely cross one of the busiest intersections in Hereford, obtained a piano for Deaf Smith County Library and organized a science fair at Shirley School. She also is a member of the educational task force to study social problems among schoolchildren.

Shook is president of the local Texas State Teachers Association group and a member of Women's Division of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce, La Plata Study Club, Deaf Smith County Friends of the Library and First United Methodist Church.

She and her husband, Phillip, are parents of three daughters.

Spann has been nominated by the Bud to Blossom Garden Club.

A homemaker, Spann also writes poetry and short stories and hopes to have her works published. She is a member of First United Methodist Church where she helped compile and publish a cookbook, Big Brother-Big Sister organization, Bud to Blossom Garden Club and has worked with the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame for which she writes for "Sidesaddle" magazine.

She is a former resident of Panhandle and she and her husband, are parents of two children.

Decision, Decisions

As little girls get older, their taste in clothes runs from tennis shoes and jeans to pumps and frilly dresses. With the Little Miss Hereford Pageant scheduled at 7 p.m. Saturday, April 28, in the Hereford High School auditorium, pageant entrants are busy getting their ensembles ready. Registration deadline is 5 p.m. Friday at the Chamber office and registration fee is $5. From left are Trisha Teel, who won the Little Princess division last year and will be distributing trophies at this pageant, and Sheija Teel, who is entering the Miss/Petite division. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Teel. Also, pictured is Stacy Culpepper, an entrant in the Little Princess division, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Culpepper.

Study Club hosts student musicians' day

Twenty-two young music students performed at the annual student musicians' day sponsored by Hereford Music Study Club this week in the Heritage Room of the Deaf Smith County Library.

Mrs. Wayne Thomas introduced each number and rewarded the young musicians with candy Easter rabbits. In addition to piano and vocal numbers, there were also solos on trombone, oboe and violin.

Chris Gallagher played "Andante" and "Allegro" on the trombone and Pat Hund played "Romance" on oboe. Both were accompanied by Mrs. Ken Waiser on piano.

Bliss Burdett's oboe solo, "Sonata," accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Tom Burdett. Scott Shaw played "French Folk Song" on the violin accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Sid Shaw.

Piano solos included Jennifer Cansler, "Rondo"; Bri Reinauer, "Smoke Signals"; Jodi Wallace, "Sugar Cookies"; Bliss Burdett, Bach's "Invention No. 8"; Lee Reinauer, "A Little Square Rock"; Robin Conkwright, "Lament."

Also, Amy Coneway, "Castanets"; Jill Reinauer, "Seven Dwarfs"; Lauren Caviness, "Chug Boat"; Brenna Reinauer, "Winter Wind"; Santry Hacker, "Midnight Express."

Other piano solos included Dorie Burdett, "Ming Ling"; Jeanette Grotgeut, "Scherzo"; Camille Betzen, "Sicilian Tarantella"; Stefan Hacker, "Scotch Poem"; and Scott Hamby, Bach's "Joy."

In addition, Scott Hamby and Stefan Hacker played "Havah Nagilah" as a piano duet.

Mrs. Allen Cansler accompanied her daughter, Jennifer, as she sang "One Hand, One Heart." She also accompanied vocalists Melissa Sims on "When Love is Kind," and Robin Conkwright and Clay Stribling as they sang together "Nay Bid me not Resign, Love" and "It Might as Well be Spring." Dana Cabiness sang "Old Mother Hubbard" accompanied by Mrs. Waiser.

Following the program, the young musicians, guests and music club members were served refreshments by Mmes. Joe Wallace, Brent Caviness, Bill Bradley, Joe Reinauer Jr. and Cansler.

Guests included Christi and Cal Wallace, Janice Conkwright, Brenda Reinauer, Marian Goodin, Avis White, Gertrude Grotgeut, Elizabeth Criner, Trevor Criner and Johnny Martinez.

Other members present were Mmes. Lynton Allred, J.R. Allison, Thomas Betzen, Burdett, Mary Carter, W.E. Dameron, A.T. Griffin, Joe Hacker, Paul Lyons, Donald Meyer, J.D. Neill, Joe Reinauer Sr., Jim Summerhill, A.J. Schroeter, and Wayne Thomas.

Bradly speaks to study club

Members of Pioneer Study Club met for a luncheon and business meeting Tuesday in the home of Mary Herring, with Fern Sigle and Mable Heard serving as co-hostesses.

Goochie Bell gave the invocation and the Pledge of Allegiance was led by Gladys Miller. Bessie Hill led the salute to the Texas flag.

Program leader Leatrus Clark introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Bill Bradly, who read excerpts from the book, "Confessions of a Totalled Woman" by author Karen Wise.

"I dedicate this book to those who always end up choosing the slowest line in the grocery store or the bank. It's for those who get irritated with the guy who doesn't use his turn signal, but exhibits six religious bumper stickers for you to read while you are waiting for him to go left," she quoted.

During the business meeting, with Eunice Petersen presiding, library dues were paid by each member and Ms. Miller gave a report on the Top of Texas District Convention held recently in Amarillo.

The next meeting was scheduled at 2 p.m. May 8 in the home of Mary Panciera. Bell Hromas will present a program on fine arts.

Others present included

Beatrice Hutson, Billie Johnson, Etoile Manning, Ms. Panciera, and Fannie Rudd.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, in accordance with rules and orders promulgated by the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of a public hearing to begin at 10 a.m. on Monday, May 14, 1984, in the offices of the Public Utility Commission, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Austin, Texas, concerning proposals made by the company to add three optional services and delete two services from the list of local exchange services available to its Texas customers.

Proposed additions to the local exchange tariffs include an optional Local Measured Service under which all residence customers and single-line business customers could pay monthly rates less than flat rate for one-party service, with an additional charge for each completed outgoing call to be determined by the time of day, distance and duration of each call; and a subsidized LIFELINE local service to be made available to qualified individuals, as determined by the Public Utility Commission. The monthly rate for LIFELINE service would include an allowance of 25 outgoing calls per month, plus a charge for each additional call.

Proposed for deletion from the local exchange tariffs are one-element measured service offerings for residence customers and single-line business customers, but current customers would not be affected.

The company does not anticipate that these additional services will result in an increase in revenue to Southwestern Bell Telephone.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. ### Aviso al Publico

Por medio del presente aviso y en conformidad con las reglas y dictámenes de la Comisión de Servicios Públicos de Texas, la compañía Southwestern Bell Telephone anuncia la audiencia pública que se llevará a cabo a partir de las 10 de la mañana del día lunes 14 de mayo de 1984 en las oficinas de la Comisión de Servicios Públicos, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Austin, Texas, con respecto a la propuesta de la compañía, que consiste en agregar tres servicios opcionales y suprimir dos servicios de la lista de servicios telefónicos locales a disposición del usuario en Texas.

Las adiciones propuestas al arancel del servicio telefónico local incluyen un Servicio Medido Local opcional según el cual todos los clientes residenciales y los clientes comerciales con línea única pagarían tarifas mensuales menores que la tarifa fija para servicios de línea única, con un cargo adicional por cada llamada completa efectuada desde ese teléfono, establecido según la hora, la distancia y la duración de cada llamada; así como un servicio local subvencionado de LIFELINE que estaría disponible para determinadas personas, según lo establezca la Comisión de Servicios Públicos. La tarifa mensual para el servicio de LIFELINE incluiría 25 llamadas mensuales con un cargo adicional por cada llamada en exceso de 25.

Se propone suprimir del arancel del servicio telefónico local las opciones de servicio medido de un elemento para clientes residenciales y clientes comerciales con línea única, pero esto no afectaría a los clientes actuales.

La compañía no espera que estos servicios adicionales produzcan un aumento de ingresos para Southwestern Bell Telephone.

Toda persona que desee intervenir o participar en el proceso debe notificar a la Comisión lo antes posible. Las solicitudes de intervención, participación o información deben dirigirse a: Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Para obtener mayor información debe llamar a Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division, (512) 458-0223 o (512) 458-0227, o al (512) 458-0221 si requiere teletipo para sordos.

Behind the numbers

Thousands reported still jobless

DETROIT (AP) — Anthony and Vivian Davis were enjoying two big paychecks a week when they suddenly wound up as numbers on Ford Motor Co.'s layoff rolls.

Two years later they no longer are numbers — but they don't have jobs either. The Davises, having sold their three cars and gone on welfare, are among thousands whose names are being scratched from the list of Americans who can list their occupation as autoworkers.

The car industry has rebounded to record profits and Detroit is selling cars faster than they can be made. But it has left behind dozens of shuttered assembly and parts plants — and people like the Davises.

"I had been working since I was 15 years old," said Davis, who was hired at Ford at age 20 and now is 26. "I used to say, 'Well, I'll just go out and get another job.' But I can't do that today."

This month the U.S. auto industry reached what appeared to be a milestone when the number of workers on indefinite layoff fell to below 100,000 for the first time in five years. It had reached nearly 300,000 at one point during the four-year auto sales slump.

On Wednesday, speaking at a Ford plant outside Kansas City which the White House had picked as a model of resurgence in the auto industry, President Reagan noted that "more than 100,000 autoworkers went back to work in 1983."

But such figures leave out people like the Davises, who no longer are listed as laid off because their jobless benefits have run out. The number of blue-collar U.S. autoworkers has shrunk to 510,000 today as compared to 735,000 in 1978, the United Auto Workers union says.

The industry's work force, including white-collar employees, numbered 1.5 million in 1978 but could fall by 1990 to as low as one-third of that — 500,000 — if automation continues and more cars and car parts originate overseas, according to union economist Lydia Fisher.

Davis said that of eight acquaintances who were hired with him at Ford, "one is still getting payments and the rest are not — and none of them have jobs."

The jobs of people like the Davises "are lost and gone forever," said John Hammond, an auto industry researcher at Data Resources Inc. in Lexington, Mass.

"From their perspective, the auto industry has all its capacity in place now. If they're not working in the industry now, they never will be," Hammond said.

"This is happening throughout smokestack America today," he said. "These workers have no choice but to make the expenditure and retrain (for other jobs) or move to lower-paying jobs. That's very painful."

The Davises were hired in 1978 at Ford's sprawling Rouge River complex in nearby Dearborn. He assembled Ford Mustangs. She put together frames for Lincolns, put stripes on cars and tested new models for water leaks.

"I was working 10 hours a day, six days a week," said Mrs. Davis, also 26. After taxes, she said she "was making $350 a week including overtime."

Both were laid off several times, but had enough seniority to be called back — until October 1981. That's when Davis was laid off. In March 1982, Mrs. Davis was laid off. Neither has worked since.

The Davises received supplemental unemployment benefits, at 90 percent of their base earnings, for several months; unemployment and federal Trade Readjustment Act payments lasted until a year ago.

Now the couple and their 1-year-old daughter, Jessica, live on about $500 a month in relief payments and food stamps. They have no car in a city where mass transit has been cut back drastically. Relatives take them to the supermarket.

Davis completed an 18-month Ford-UAW-sponsored mechanical drafting course at Henry Ford Community College. "They said we're going to retrain you and get you out to the job market," he said. "But it was so little, and the employers said to me, 'We're looking for someone with five years' experience.'"

Mrs. Davis said she has tried to get minimum-wage jobs at fast-food restaurants and department stores. "But they say we can't take someone who was making $9.10 an hour," she said.

The Davises said their high school grades were good enough to get them into college, but they chose instead Detroit's high wages and plentiful work.

Mrs. Davis, the youngest of nine children, said seven of her siblings went to college but she felt an obligation to help her mother pay bills.

Her husband, the oldest child in his family, said that despite his skills in school he chose to be an autoworker "because I wanted to be on my own."

Although no longer listed as laid off, the Davises said their names do remain on one other list — for former Ford workers eligible for company-paid retraining.

Davis said he has signed up for more courses that he hopes will lead to on-the-job training as a draftsman. Mrs. Davis said she hopes to be trained as a probation counselor.

Students Place At Contest

Several students from Terry Beavers' general mechanical repair class at Stanton Junior High School participated in an Area VI VOCT (Vocational Opportunities Clubs of Texas) contest held recently in Dumas. Among those

In Texas twisters

Green Thumb workers learn to survive

When the storm sirens blare and the radio warns that a twister is on the way, what can be done to improve one's chances of surviving a Texas tornado?

More than 52 Green Thumbs from six Texas counties attended a recent training session at the Swisher County Senior Citizens Center to learn how to save their lives should a tornado come their way.

Attending from Deaf Smith County were Alice Gilleland, Jim Scott, George Frerich, Emmitt Vaughn, Anna Wilson, Leo Martinez, and Olivia Brown from the Red Cross.

Members of the group were told that if they were inside at the time, they should stay there. Studies show that only three out of 1,000 people in houses hit by tornadoes are killed — or put another way, 99.7 percent survive.

This somewhat comforting statistic is especially welcome to the older workers enrolled in the Texas Farmers Union Green Thumb employment program, because most of them live and work in the northern half of the state so often assaulted by spring storms.

"In the case of severe storms, there truly is no place like home," said Green Thumb director Diane Parrish of Waco, "provided your home is a sturdy house."

Parrish used a slide presentation to illustrate the kinds of tornadoes that can develop and described the techniques most likely to enhance survival. Slides of twisters that hit Lubbock, Waco, Wichita Falls, San Angelo, Clarendon, and northeast Texas were used in the presentation.

According to Parrish, most tornado deaths result from head injuries caused by flying debris. People in mobile homes are at much greater risk, and in fact may be even more vulnerable than persons in cars.

"The key to survival is to stay in your house and put as many walls as possible between you and the tornado," she said, adding that most tornadoes approach from the west and southwest. "And don't try to outrun the storm—many people are killed when they try to escape in a panic."

Jackson qualifies for state contest

Juan Jackson qualified for the state VOCT (Vocational Opportunities Clubs of Texas) contest scheduled May 11-12 in San Antonio, and received an award for the most accumulated points in his division at the Area VI VOCT contest held recently in Dumas.

Jackson, who placed first in job interview and small engine parts identification and second in tool identification, participated in the contest along with classmates in Terry Beavers' CVAE (Coordinated Vocational Academic Education) general mechanical repair class at Stanton Junior High School.

Earning second place in small engine parts identification was Heath Maxwell. Israel Olivo took third in tool identification and fourth in small engine parts identification, while Ernest Barrera placed fourth in tool identification and Lupe Zuniga received fifth place in small engine parts identification.

Johnny Villegas and Saul Aguirre were district winners in the notebook division.

Spurgins given party

Melba and K. Don Spurgin were surprised Wednesday evening with a house warming. They recently moved into their new home at 328 Hickory.

Surprising the couple and presenting them with a house plant were 20 members of the Adult 5 Sunday School

Department of First Baptist Church. A variety of desserts, coffee and punch were served.

The Stamp Act went into effect in the British colonies in 1765, and it aroused stiff resistance from the American colonists.

Health

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Will skin sag?

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 26-year-old woman about 60 pounds overweight. I've recently started a diet and exercise program to shed the pounds. I'd like to reach the normal weight for someone my height, which is approximately 110 to 115 pounds.

I'd like to know if someone can lose this much weight and have a taut, trim, lean figure if she works hard enough at exercise. I realize the skin has been overstretched. Will it sag?

DEAR READER — You have an important thing going for you: age. The younger you are when you lose excess body fat the better your chances are that the skin's natural elasticity will prevent too much sagging skin. After 40, elimination of excess body fat usually results in lots of excess skin. However, even young people can have persistent saggy skin after losing body fat. It's best not to get fat in the first place if you want to avoid those problems.

Otherwise, people in good health should be able to get a strong, lean body that's firm and better looking by simply staying with a good exercise and diet program. Exercise is an important part of the program. You need to use all the muscles, not just those in the legs from walking or jogging.

I want you to read the Health Letter 20-10, Doing Something About Body Fat, which I'm sending you. It will clear up a lot of myths. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Good luck on your program — you'll be glad you did it.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'd like to take issue with your advice that all patients should find out exactly what their doctors want them to do regarding medicines.

I wish doctors would tell their patients exactly what they want them to do regarding medicines. I feel it's the doctor's burden and not the patient's. Most patients aren't professional patients and are probably frightened and uneasy about new medicines.

DEAR READER — It's a dual responsibility. Of course, the doctor has a responsibility to be sure his patient knows what he needs and how to properly use the medicines or procedures prescribed.

But patients must also learn to accept some responsibility for their own health. Doctors can't cut down on calories, or exercise for their patients or take their pills for them. A high percentage of health problems are caused by what people do to themselves, in terms of improper eating, smoking, drinking too much alcohol and too much coffee, as well as not exercising. Patient responsibility is a must for better health.

In 1981, an estimated 25,000 babies were born with heart defects in the United States. About 6,500 deaths resulted from congenital heart defects that year.

The doctor can't escape his responsibility. But he can't read his patient's mind. If a patient doesn't know what he's supposed to do he should speak up. Studies of tape-recorded conversations between doctors and patients often show that despite the doctor having given instructions, patients interpreted what the doctor said quite differently.

Such communication problems aren't unique to the world of medicine. Putting instructions in clear, understandable, typed or printed form helps to avoid some of these misunderstandings.

In capital murder trial

Jury to resume deliberations

By MIKE COCHRAN Associated Press Writer
SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) — Confronted by a "unique" case, a jury of eight women and four men resume deliberations today in the capital murder trial of self-styled mass killer Henry Lee Lucas.

The panel, which got the case Wednesday night, must determine if Lucas raped and killed an unidentified hitchhiker in October 1979 and if so, was he sane or insane. "I expect the death penalty," Lucas, 47, told attorney Hugh Aynsworth after the month-long trial reached the jury stage. "What else can I say?"

If convicted, Lucas, who claims to have killed 360 people, could be condemned to die by lethal injection. The panel of eight women and four men got the case at 7:20 p.m. Wednesday. Shortly before 10:30 p.m., State District Judge John Carter sent the sequestered jury to their hotel for the night. Deliberations were to resume at 9 a.m. today.

Lucas previously received a life sentence in Denton County for the slaying of his 15-year-old girlfriend and was assessed a 75-year prison term after pleading guilty to the murder of an elderly Ringgold woman. In an unusual courtroom twist, the defense in closing arguments portrayed Lucas as a mentally ill, sexually deranged liar whose professions of guilt should be disregarded by jurors.

"This is a very unique case," said defense lawyer Don Higginbotham. "This is the first time I've ever had to stand before a jury and try to save my client by saying he's a liar."

Many murder claims may never be confirmed

DALLAS (AP) — Drifter Henry Lee Lucas may have killed more than 350 people, as he claims, but authorities will never be able to tie many of them to him, a Louisiana police sergeant predicts. "I don't think (the claims) will ever be confirmed," Sgt. Danny Miller of the Monroe, La., police force said Wednesday.

He is one of several officers whom The Associated Press talked to by telephone on Wednesday concerning Lucas' claims and his possible connection to murders in their areas. "There's a strong possibility they (Lucas and sometime companion Otis Toole) may have committed them, but we're not able to say 'Yeah, he did it,' and close the book."

Law enforcement officers from 20 states met for a second time in Monroe earlier this year to compare notes on Lucas, who has told officers he killed people in at least 16 states from 1972 to 1983. Miller said authorities consider him a suspect in at least 103 killings nationwide.

In a videotaped statement made Feb. 16 and played in a courtroom during a capital murder trial for Lucas now under way in San Angelo, Texas, the 47-year-old drifter and handyman told investigators he believes he has killed 360 people. Puffing cigarettes, Lucas calmly narrated a tale of torture and death — a forbidding story of victims that detectives tracing his bloody trail said they can neither confirm nor discredit.

"I'd estimate 60 (in Texas) but I know there's a lot more," a calm Lucas said in the interview. He said he shot, stabbed, burned, beat, strangled, hung and "crucified" his victims, and that some had been "fileted like fish." He added, "I killed them most every way but poison. ... As far as I know, there's no way I haven't killed them."

Texas Rangers are compiling a record of Lucas' investigations nationwide and a chart of the drifters' travels since his 1976 release from a Michigan prison. It is a reference, they say, for detectives checking Lucas against unsolved killings. But neither the Rangers nor homicide investigators from the Pacific Northwest to Florida can say how much truth exists in Lucas' recently disclosed claims to have killed 360 people.

"It doesn't think (authorities) will ever be able to have an accurate count," said Metro-Dade homicide investigator Greg Smith in Miami. "It happened over a span of several years, and many times he took great precautions to dispose of the bodies so they would never be found." The current trial in San Angelo is for the 1979 slaying of an unidentified woman hitchhiker near Georgetown. He pleaded guilty to killing one woman in Texas and was convicted of killing another.

Besides the current trial, Lucas is charged with eight Texas murders, five of them capital cases. He also is charged with murder in Maryland, Florida and Louisiana. Smith, who interviewed Lucas in Georgetown last January, said although he said he doesn't believe authorities will ever have an accurate count of Lucas' victims, he does believe that Lucas' claims could be true.

In a pickle?

DEAR POLLY — Can I use regular salad cucumbers rather than special pickling varieties to make pickles? I'm planning my garden now and I'd like to plant only one variety, but I do want to try some pickle recipes this year. All the recipes I've seen specify pickling-type cucumbers. — MRS. H.B.

DEAR MRS. H.B. — No problem. I've made delicious pickles out of salad cucumbers, both the standard variety and the European-type seedless variety. The main advantage of pickling varieties is that they stay smaller and are sometimes crispier when pickled, but you can have small pickles by using small, immature salad cucumbers. You also can use the bigger chunks, slicing them or cutting them into sticks, spears or cones for pickles.

When you're planning your pickling later this summer, don't forget to take advantage of the bounty of other vegetables in your garden. You can pickle zucchini or other summer squash using standard cucumber pickle recipes, green immature tomatoes, snap beans, onions, and many other vegetables. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When you hang clothes outside to dry, turn colored items inside out to prevent sun-fading. Empty a pound of baking soda into a pound coffee can. Store it near the stove with easy reach in case of a grease fire.

Jewelry doesn't have to be worn in what most of us think of as the usual places. Try placing a pin on your sleeve or use it to clip a pretty belt slash in place on your hip. Some bracelets and necklaces look beautiful when twined through a dressy hairdo. These unusual accents can really perk up an old outfit! — MARGARET

Formulas for making fingerprint, library paste and play dough are featured in "Kids' Crafts." Send $1 for each copy to POLLY'S POINTERS, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1216, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to include the title.
