Officials Ponder Dogs, Fines, Litter

"Build special walks for kids to ride bicycles!" "Send 'litter bugs' to the principal." "Hold all stray dogs for 30 days, then turn 'em loose." "Add 50 cents per month to all bills where careless residents allow water to waste by draining into the streets!"

Track Team Ranks High in Area Meet

In weather made for the occasion, Hereford's track squad qualified in all events during the tryouts in Lubbock.

Registrations Are Down On Passenger Cars

Registrations in Deaf Smith County showed a decline of 111 passenger cars for the first four months in 1956, according to Don J. Hastings, deputy tax collector, this week.

Table showing registration counts: Passenger Cars (1955: 3687, 1956: 3576), Commercial (611, 625), Farm Trucks (1271, 1135)

Fewer sales of new cars, creating two registrations during the year for some families was considered as a possible cause for the drop, since the trade-ins previously registered here, were often resold to persons in other areas, according to dealers.

Notices Mailed Of Charter Election

Approximately 2100 notices of the proposed city charter election May 25, were mailed this week to residents of Hereford.

The notices carried an explanation note and complete text to two proposed amendments to the charter which would: 1. Change the number of city commissioners from two to four persons; 2. Establishing a city Corporation court in Hereford.

"We mailed notices to all known qualified voters appearing on the city tax rolls," said Thelma Jersig, city clerk. "If there is anyone who missed getting their notice, we invite them to call at the office or to telephone and we will be glad to mail them a copy."

Around Town

"Girl of the Year" honors Friday night went to Mrs. Glenn Nelson at the annual Founders Day meeting of Beta Sigma Phi sorority. Mrs. Nelson was especially cited for her work as sorority chairman in the Cancer Crusade, and for her work as extension chairman in helping to organize the Tulla chapter. The presentation was made by Mrs. James W. Witherpoon, sponsor, who pointed out that the honor is annually awarded and that the selection made by vote of members, is based on all-around activities. Mrs. Nelson has also been elected president of the group for the coming year, succeeding Mrs. Cecil Massey.

Boys and girls turned out in droves, Saturday morning for the big Optimist sponsored bicycle parade. Winners of $10 each for the best decorated bicycles were: Anna Martin, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Martin, a seventh grade student, and Douglas Watson, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watson, a third grade student. Marvin Coffee, chairman, reported 57 boys and 20 girls entered in the contest. The entire group, following the parade, attended a free show at the Star Theatre.

There's a rumor going around that Straw Hat Day is slated for the very near future, so if you are still faithfully clutching the well-worn felt, better start looking around. This year, stylists tell us, there's a style for every man, a color for every suit and a price for every pocket book.

Much Interest Centers On Precinct Meetings

'Shivers - Johnson' Fued To Spark Issue

Precinct conventions, often overlooked and unsung in today's modern Democratic party machinery, are scheduled to hold the limelight through Texas on Saturday, May 5—and Deaf Smith County will be no exception, according to current reports.

A total of 48 precinct delegates will be named in 10 precinct meetings during the day, according to Henry Sears, county Democratic chairman, who listed meeting times and places for each of the 10 voting precincts in the county. S. H. Slagle, precinct 1 and Hank Williams, precinct 2, are the only two elected precinct chairmen in the county, Sears said. He added, however, that chairmen will probably be selected in the other eight precincts as they meet. He also listed the following meeting times, places and delegate strength:

- Precinct 1 meets in district courtroom, Hereford, 11 a.m. to select 11 delegates. Precinct 2 - district courtroom, 10 a.m. to select 19 delegates. Precinct 3 - E. W. Mitchell residence, 3 p.m. to select 1 delegate. Precinct 4 - Simms School, 3 p.m. to select one delegate. Precinct 5 - Daniel School, 3 p.m. to select one delegate. Precinct 6 - Ford School, 3 p.m. to select one delegate. Precinct 7 - Dawn School, 3 p.m. to select two delegates. Precinct 8 - Garcia School, 3 p.m. to select one delegate. Precinct 9 - Ripps School, 3 p.m. to select one delegate. Precinct 11 - Central School, 10:30 a.m. to select 10 delegates. Precinct conventions are open to all Democrats who are qualified voters," Sears pointed out, adding: "A large, interested turnout is always a healthy sign of an active democratic government."

CECIL MASSEY . . . Resigns City Manager Post

City Manager Will Go To Haltom City

Resignation of Cecil Massey as City Manager of Hereford was announced Saturday by the City Commission. The resignation will become effective June 1, 1956, at which time Massey will go to Haltom City, a suburb of Ft. Worth to become city manager.

Chief reason for Massey's decision to leave Hereford was, he said, to be in the form of promotion to a large city, plus a sharp increase in salary. Haltom City, populated largely by industrial workers in the Ft. Worth-Dallas area, is an incorporated town of approximately 20,000 population. Massey was employed at a beginning salary of $9600, plus a car and expenses.

Leaves With Regret In offering his resignation, Massey said: "I cannot tender this resignation without expressing to each member of the Commission, those commissioners having served this city during my employment and to each city employee my personal appreciation for the opportunity I have had to be associated with you in the growth and development of Hereford."

CAROLYN VIRDEN JIMMIE DALE AUTEN

HONOR STUDENTS—Carolyn Virden will be valedictorian and Jimmie Dale Auten salutatorian of the 1956 graduating class of Hereford High School. Carolyn, granddaughter of Mrs. Alice Virden of Hereford and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Virden of Amarillo, made a grade average of 96.625 during her junior and senior years, one of the highest ever recorded at the school. Runner up, Jimmie Dale's average was 95.9375. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Auten. By virtue of these grades, these two seniors will make the traditional salutatory and valedictory addresses at Commencement, May 31.

A SCRUB FOR THE TUB

Memorial Day Set For Swimming Pool Opening

Preparations are now underway for opening the swimming pool on May 30, Memorial Day, according to Cecil Massey, city manager. "Everything seems to be in good shape, and we don't plan any major overhauls, although we may possibly redecorate the dressing rooms. We will begin cleaning out the pool about the middle of the month," he said.

Ted Moore To Study in France

Ted Moore, a junior in Hereford High School, has been notified by the American Field Service that he will spend the summer in France as an American exchange student. He was told that he will live in one or more homes and that he will spend some time in Paris.

Highway Bids To Be Taken in May

Actual work on Highway 51 came one step nearer reality this week when Mayor Henry Sears received a letter from the Texas Highway Department stating that bids on the project will be taken May 15-16. The letter, submitted by James G. Loft, district engineer, said that bids will cover the proposed underpass south of town, along with surface work on Highway 51.

Sue Kirby Chosen For Girl's State

Sue Kirby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kirby, has been named Girl's State delegate from the local American Legion Auxiliary to the state convocation in Austin, June 6 through 14. Alternates will be Kay Skypala, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Skypala.

Guthrie Funeral Rites Here Today

Funeral services for George Wesley Guthrie, 83, of 826 Knight Street, will be held this afternoon, April 29, at 4 p.m. at the Assembly of God Church. Interment will be in West Park Cemetery.

Mr. Guthrie was born Nov. 3, 1872. He passed away Thursday at Vivian's Nursing Home in Amarillo after an illness of several months. Pallbearers will be Homer Thomas, Berch West, G. B. Hagar, Alton Monroe, Alvin Williams and Virgil Morton.

to be sold and eaten on the school area. The commission, however, agreed unanimously that all children caught throwing wrappers on the school ground should be sent to Mr. Dan Trew, the principal, for "a talking to."

The City Manager presented to the commission the complaint of school children riding their bicycles on the school ground. Discussion followed:

"Special sidewalks should be built for bicycles by the City."
"Children should always ride 30 inches from the curb only."
"Mothers don't want their children riding in the streets."
"All children should be required to ride busses."
The Police Chief David Grubbs

was called to the meeting for his opinion, however no official action was taken at this time regarding the matter.
The problem of dogs running at large in the City was presented to the commission for their consideration.
The commission felt that the city should pick up all stray dogs and keep them for one month and if they were unclaimed, they should be turned loose, but if the owner claimed the dog, he should pay the city for feeding it.

Mayor Douglas Watson expressed his opinion to those present that if any suggested that all dogs be destroyed, he would vote against it. He also stated that he felt that all dogs should be put in a special pen, but that they should not be tied to a post because lots of dogs will chew into whatever they are tied with.
No definite policy was given City Manager Mike Watts to carry out, but the commission was aware of the problem.

The problem of citizens allowing water to run off their yards into the city streets was presented to the commission.
Mayor Douglas Watson stated that he knew one boy that took a hammer and beat off chips out of a curb where water had stood in the gutter.
The commission agreed after calling in the water clerk for discussion that she add 50 cents to each person's bill that wasted water.

The matter of placing a city license tax on bicycles was discussed, and after discussing the matter with the city tax collector, the commission took the suggestion submitted by Pamela Beavers that being that the tax be levied, but only on those children able to pay, and if they could not pay the tax, they should be allowed to ride their bicycles the same as others.
The commission took a tour of the city jail, but did not take any action regarding its remodeling.
The commission allowed City Manager Mike Watts to conduct City Court during this session at which time he assessed a $1.00 fine against Mr. Alex Thompson for failing to put money in the parking meter; a set trial for the same violation was granted Mr. John McLean as he pled not guilty and a fine against Mr. Dub Reeves was dismissed for running a stop sign as he stated that he did not see the sign and would not run one again.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

APPROVED:
Douglas Watson, Mayor
City of Hereford

Class members attending the session were Pamela Beavers, Jimmy Bell, Edith Bennett, Mac Beauchamp, Nancy Boyer, Ann Cunningham, Antonio Delacerto, Darrell Gilliland, Gordon Golden, David Grubbs, Jimmy Gutierrez, Priscilla Linden, Jerry Don McCaslin, Dale Minor, Linda Oakley, Vinita Pitts, Johnny May Presley, Mike Reed, Beverley Roberts, Trudeneo Rodriguez, Jerry Sheppard, Lynn Sowell, Douglas Watson, J.

"THAT'LL COST YOU . . ."—City Manager Mike Watts, left, reviewed several cases in traffic court during his hour of duty. Mike got soft hearted with Dub Reeves, center, however, when Reeves said, "I'm sorry, Judge. And I promise never to do it again." He dismissed Reeves' charge of running a stop sign, but said that John McLean, right, would have to come back next day for a jury trial.

"S'MANUAL" ... PLEASE?

'56 Annuals Hold Students Interest

By CAROL INMAN

"S'manual." "S'manual?" "S'manual!"

Yes, once again it is "s'manual" time in the corridors and classrooms of Hereford High School. In case you're wondering what "s'manual" is, the formal interpretation is "Will you please sign my annual?" The new annuals were distributed to students of THIS last period Thursday afternoon, along with free "Cokes."

Maroon, gold, and white are the cover colors of the Round-Up, with the standardized senior ring featured. The senior ring is symbolized throughout the annual. This year the annual was dedicated to the 50th anniversary of Hereford High School.

Sammie McLallen and Tommie Weemes were selected as Most Versatile in the Round-Up. Most Intellectual seniors were revealed as Carolyn Virden and Jimmie Dale Auten. These students were selected by the high school faculty.

Mr. and Miss Hereford High are Daleine Tindin and Wayne Smith, with Tommy Weemes and Mary Lou McCallough as runners-up. Sue Kirby and Lynn Boomer are Personality Queen and King, with runners-up Jackie Brown and Taylor Sims.

Selected as Most Beautiful and Most Handsome are Genelle Benson and Don Sigle, with Annette Berend and Wayne Smith as runners-up. Dolly Paetzold, who was crowned earlier this year, is the annual queen.

Each division is introduced by the senior ring inscribed around a picture portraying that certain division. The annual features five main divisions; administration and faculty, organizations, sports and

ORANGE WALNUT LOAF—Fine to have for snack time.

Nonfat Dry Milk Adds Nutrition To Family Meals, Tween Time Snacks

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor

Do you ever improve the food value of your family's meals by preparing some of your everyday dishes with instant nonfat dry milk powder? You can pack in extra protein, calcium and other minerals, plus B vitamins, thiamin as well as riboflavin by re-inforcing ordinary dishes in this economical way.

Here, for example, is an orange-flavored walnut quick bread. It's made with biscuit mix, and a half cup of instant nonfat dry milk powder adds extra nutrients. You will find this loaf is pleasant to serve with a springtime salad; it is good, too, with a glass of milk or a cup of tea or coffee. The high proportion of milk solids in the loaf gives it a rich brown crust and a golden-brown top and it slices well.

ORANGE WALNUT LOAF

Ingredients: 1 egg, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 1 1/4 cups fresh or frozen orange juice, 2 1/2 cups biscuit mix, 1/2 cup instant nonfat dry milk powder, 1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts.

Method: Beat egg in medium-sized mixing bowl enough to combine yolk and white. Add sugar, grated orange rind and orange juice; beat until well blended. Add biscuit mix and instant nonfat dry milk powder; beat gently just until dry ingredients are moistened. Fold in walnuts. Grease the bottom of the loaf pan (9 1/2 by 5 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches); turn mixture into pan. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 50 to 60 minutes, until bread has shrunk from sides of pan and top is golden brown. (Top will crack). Turn out on a cake rack. When cold, store in a tightly covered container. This bread may be cut in attractive slices as soon as cold; but for cutting in very thin slices, leave in tightly covered container overnight.

Note: If frozen orange concentrate is used, dilute according to directions on can, then measure the amount called for in recipe. The loaf may be made without the grated orange rind but it will not have a pronounced orange flavor.

FOR SMALL FRY

As an after-school snack, we think your youngsters will like this Taffy Milk Shake. (We enjoyed it ourselves during the testing!) It's a wonderful way to give children extra milk nutrients. Make this up before your youngsters come from school and refrigerate it so it's delightfully chilled. And perhaps you'll want to note that this makes a fine cold drink for the hot days ahead.

RICH TAFFY MILK SHAKE

Ingredients: For each serving—1 tablespoon dark molasses, 1 cup homogenized milk, 1/4 cup instant nonfat dry milk powder.

Method: Beat the molasses and homogenized milk together in a bowl with a rotary beater. Sprinkle the milk powder over the surface. Beat together until the milk powder dissolves; make sure the molasses dissolves, too, because it has a tendency to stick at the bottom of the bowl. Serve at once or refrigerate before serving.

Note: For a more economical Taffy Milk Shake, use 1/2 cup homogenized milk and 1/2 cup very cold water. This won't be as full-bodied as the rich version, but it will have a good flavor.

Bootlegging Gets Expensive For Two Hereford Men

The cost of bootlegging got definitely on the expensive side this week when two Hereford men, one in a jury case and the other on a guilty plea, were assessed a combined total of $550 and 90 days in jail in county court. Both men had appeared on previous charges.

Leroy Brown, a Negro, plead "not guilty" before Judge Homer Henkle Wednesday afternoon to charges of sale of liquor in a dry territory and was granted a "jury trial."

The jury cited a former conviction in the recommendation of 90 days in jail and a fine of $500 and costs, which were assessed by Judge Henkle.

Serving on the six-person panel were Lawrence McFee, foreman; Ray McCullough, R. L. McAnally, H. I. Newman, Mrs. Earl Ripper and Miss Thelma McMin.

Draws 30 Days, $250 Fine Ray Riley appeared in county court Thursday, also on a charge of sale of liquor in dry territory, but plead guilty. Riley drew a sentence of "30 days, $250 and costs." It was his second charge in 1956.

W. M. Twiner was tried this week on two counts of worthless checks. Tuesday he plead guilty regarding a check issued to Phillips and Lawrence, drawing a first offense fine of $1 and costs. Twiner appeared again Thursday on a check issued to Rocky's Service. This time, he drew 10 days in jail and a fine of $10 and costs.

FINAL MEETING IN SERIES

School Administrators Discuss Counseling and Guidance Problems

The final meeting in a series of four planned to improve the instructional programs in area schools was held here Wednesday with 21 administrators and representatives from area schools meeting in the high school library. W. V. Swinburn, superintendent of Tulla Public Schools, conducted the meeting, and Dr. J. B. Roberts, head of the Education Department at West Texas State College, served as consultant.

A series of similar meetings is being conducted throughout the state under the joint sponsorship of the Texas Education Agency and the Texas Association of School Administrators. Tulla schools have served as pilot for the area discussion, with the first meeting held there. Other gatherings have been in Canyon and Amarillo.

Cumulative Records Studies
Counseling and guidance were the chief areas for discussion by the administrators. Given careful attention were cumulative records for students, helping each teacher to be a counselor, and a 12-year standard testing program for students. Procedures, techniques, and materials were produced and participants attempted to arrive at conclusions to strengthen the counseling and guidance programs in their schools.

Attending the meeting were Rex Reeves, L. H. Brotherton, Joe Gibson and Dr. Roberts, all of Canyon; M. G. Moreland and O.C. Rompley, Silverton; Sam Bryan, and Mrs. Vivian Wesley, Happy; J. W. Adams, J. Ernest Jones, Mrs. Grace Scott and Mr. Swinburn, Tulla; J. G. Ward, Lazbudde; Charles Harmon, Vega; D. Kelley, Friona; and Supt. Fred J. Cunningham, Principals Buck Overall, Dan Trew, W. C. Quattlebaum and D. C. Martin, Mrs. Dalton Criswell and Miss Della Stagner, all of Hereford.

HOSPITAL EDUCATION

DENVER (AP) - For 28 years Adore Berman has kept a pledge to himself not to become dulled by long hospitalization.

At 63, Berman is still a patient at the American Medical Center which he entered when he was 35. He is still under care for tuberculosis.

As librarian at the hospital since his admission, Berman not only has kept track of 17,000 volumes but has learned to play the piano and violin, taught himself to read Spanish, Greek and Italian, among other things.

"These modern books are frankly too spicy and sexy for me," Berman observed. "I've been designating much of my time lately to the study of philosophy, psychology and sociology. I hope I can stay here with the books for a long time."

AFTER LUBBOCK MEET

Southern Ire Is Up: Farm Bureau May Split

The possibility of forging a Southern Farm bureau — after secession from the parent organization — in true Southern fashion filled the Lubbock hotel to overflowing last Tuesday, according to a Hereford delegation which attended the meeting as guests. The dissension among area members centered around problems concerning milo and cotton, both of which were "aired out" during the meeting.

Another meeting, held Thursday night in Littlefield, also attracted wide interest, large attendance and followed the pattern of the Lubbock assembly.

"The question will be brought to the attention of our board of directors in their next meeting, May 10," said George Heard, president of the Deaf Smith Bureau. "Further action will depend upon the opinions of local members and upon what comes out of discussion groups."

Hereford Men Attend
Representing the Hereford FB organization at Lubbock, in addition to Heard, were: Stanley Sigman, service agent; Jim Kirby and Edward Dziuk Jr. A summarized account of the meeting follows, as reported by the local group.

Following the regular business of the District group an address by Texas President Walter Hammond pointed out the weakness of a group fighting a minority battle without a large organization to air their views. Following his address, several County Bureau Presidents expressed their dissatisfaction with the parent group's handling of the problems concerning milo and cotton.

Protest Veto
Many Bureau officers representing the views of their county groups bitterly protested the veto of the recent farm bill passed by Congress. It was pointed out that the Texas group favored the rigid 90 percent support on commodities with the Soil Bank plan for laying out acres.

There was also a protest however, regarding the bill's classification of cotton staple as "average" which would bring the staple to around one inch as against the present 7/8 inch middling spot. It was brought out that this would discriminate against the High Plains farmer whose storm proof variety of cotton seldom yields the long staple and so would cut the prevailing support by about three cents.

H. L. (Hub) King, District Two Director, pointed out that of the 21 cotton producing states, only Texas and Oklahoma favored the 7/8 staple as a basis of support and only eight states voted for the 90 percent rigid support.

Sorghums and Corn
The question was also raised regarding the proposal to tie the support of sorghums to that of corn. Mr. King said that the advisory committee appointed from each Texas district to assist the directors felt that this would not be in accordance with the wishes of the membership. The majority wanted 90 percent support for all commodities while corn at that time was supported at only 81 percent of parity and on a flexible basis. This tieup with corn would have supported milo at only 73 percent of parity and would have placed acres under reduced allotments.

One of the Bailey County group pointed out the hazard of tying sorghums to corn. He quoted Department of Agriculture figures which showed that only four percent of the corn crop went into the loan in 1954 and only seven percent went under loan in 1955 which was the largest corn crop in history. Between 50 percent and 60 percent of the milo crop has been going into the loan for the past two years. He felt that the corn growers were not as dependent on the support program and might vote out the government program if pushed too much by the sorghum competition.

Milo Increasing
Some felt that the milo growers should have a program of their own since the demand for milo is increasing on the world market. It was shown that the price of milo for export has risen about 45 cents during the past year.

Dissatisfaction in the present distribution of the 10 percent reserve acreage allotment was voiced. This reserve allotment has been gobbled up by East Texas small growers. If this reserve were put into the whole allotment and distributed, the High Plains growers would get more acres.

President George Heard of the Deaf Smith Farm Bureau summed up the meeting by pointing out that "We were outvoted by the northern, eastern and western states on the matter of high parity and by the southern states of the Cotton Belt on the 7/8 inch cotton staple. We were also outvoted by East and South Texas on the matter of cotton reserve. It looks like the High Plains is on the minority side of everything."

Household Tips

Some mincemeat leftover from holiday pies? Add it to muffin or cup cake batter.

Add light cream to maple syrup for a delicious sauce for steamed pudding.

Cuban specialty: Steamed rice topped with black beans and finely chopped onion. Serve in soup bowls as a first course.

Pork chops are half an inch thick will need to be braised, after browning, for one-half to three-quarters of an hour.

Serve a salad-dessert after a dinner menu that features a roast. Arrange orange sections, bananas and sliced onion on salad greens. Blend mayonnaise, whipped cream and grated orange rind for the dressing.

Add a little grated onion and a mixture of your favorite herbs to a half cup (one stick) of butter or margarine. Spread the herbed butter over 16 slices of white bread — toast in the oven, cut in strips and serve at a buffet supper party. Good with sliced turkey and ham.

Want English muffins to taste extra good? After they are split, toasted and spread with butter, put them under the broiler for a minute or two. Be generous with the butter!

The teen-age set likes apple cider heated with whole cloves and served in mugs with sticks of whole cinnamon for stirring rods.

Making sandwiches ahead? Wrap them tightly in waxed paper and then cover them with a damp towel; store in the refrigerator. The sandwiches have a good chance of tasting fresh this way.

Fireside delight for small fry: a hot toasted marshmallow and a square of milk chocolate sandwiched between two graham crackers.

Quick supper: Heat and brown frankfurters, cut pennywise, in a large skillet. Add ready-prepared tomato sauce and drained canned green beans; reheat.

Here's a delicious accompaniment to broiled lamb chops. Just spread well-drained canned pineapple rings with soft butter or margarine and sprinkle lightly with ground nutmeg. Put the pineapple rings under the broiler about five minutes before the lamb chops are finished.

Blend dry mustard with paprika, salt and pepper. Store in a small tightly covered jar. Add some of this spicy blend to flour to be used for coating meats or poultry.

LANGLEY TO HEAD LIONS

Gridiron Skits, Oratory Feature Campaign Night

Gridiron skits and silver-tongued oratory combined Thursday night in Shirley Cafeteria to present an entertaining program preceding election of a full slate of Lions Club officers for 1956-57.

Earnest Langley was named president of the organization; Homer Brumley, secretary; Ed Line, first vice president; Rex Lee, second vice president; Jimmie Allred, third vice president; Neil Cooper, Lion Tamer; H. E. Wester, director; D. B. Roberson and G. E. Brown tied for the other director's place, which will be decided next Wednesday.

A ladies night program and was attended by approximately 300 Lions, wives and guests.

Ray Cowsert, campaign manager for Langley, "waxed eloquent" in the type of political oratory made famous by Jim Ferguson, to literally steal the show as he reviewed the life of his candidate. Cowsert's tones ranged from suave to snide remarks, then soared to trembling heights in a take-off of days past. The audience, in addition to rolling in the aisles with laughter, completely forgot their three hours of continuous watching.

Wayne Thomas, campaign manager for Dr. L. B. Barnett, also staged an interesting show which concluded with an "operation in which our candidate could well participate."

Strangely enough, the runner up for interest and entertainment centered around the office of "Third Vice President." Wayne Edwards, did a TV skit on his candidate Bert Boomer, based upon the program, "This is Your Life." Off-stage voices, all faked of course, presented humorous situations in the life of the candidate. "Ray Conaway, appearing as an early teacher, dubbed the candidate "Little Bertie" and from this point on, appeared police, an orchestra to recall the "Elvis Presley of his day," and other trumped up incidents.

Musicians participating were Jimmie Chambers, electric guitar player and soloist, Peggy Albright, pianist, Travis Venable, and Harrell Mays, electric guitar players.

Not to be outdone, Cleo Meharg presented a group of high school girls in pantomime in behalf of his candidate, Jim Wiman, also seeking the office of third vice president. They are Pat Dawson, Martha Logan, Joan Brown and Gladys Lee.

Another TV skit, based on the $64,000 Question was jointly conducted by W. B. Wilson and L. B. Russell in behalf of their candidates, Ed Line and Ronald Bablone in the race for first vice president.

"They were all good. Really good." Such was the summary of a critical audience as they filed out of the banquet room.

A complete list of offices, candidates, and campaign managers appear below in that order:

The Hallmark of Circulation Value

In the same way that STERLING on silver signifies a standard of known value, so is the A.B.C. emblem a symbol of integrity for the circulation of newspapers and periodicals. It means that circulation so identified is measured according to the rules and standards of the AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

The A.B.C. is a cooperative and non-profit association of 3,450 publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Organized in 1914, these buyers and sellers of advertising brought order out of advertising chaos by setting up standards for paid circulation and establishing rules and methods for measuring, auditing and reporting circulations.

Therefore, the work of the A.B.C., of which this newspaper is proud to be a member, provides you with a direct and valuable service. You can buy advertising as you would make any other sound business investment — on the basis of well known standards, known values.

At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. The results of this exacting audit show: How much circulation we have; where our circulation goes; how it was obtained; and many other FACTS that you need in order to know just what you get for your advertising dollars. This audited information is published by the Bureau in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which are available to our advertisers on request. Ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

Mr. And Mrs. James M. Corbett To Make Home In Longview, Texas

In a candlelight ceremony arranged with clusters of white Calla lilies, stock, and gladioli against a background of Southern smilax and Emerald fern, Miss Zuma Le-gay Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Holt Henderson of Longview, became the bride of James Martin Corbett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Corbett of this city in the Longview First Presbyterian Church April 14.

The double ring ceremony was read at the late twilight hour by Dr. Thomas H. Talbot in the presence of relatives and friends. Miss Verta Erkman, organist, played a prenuptial concert while guests were arriving and accompanied Mary Ruth Shamburger, soloist, who sang "Wonderful One," and "Because." Miss Erkman also played wedding music as vows were spoken and the traditional wedding marches were used.

Aunt Is Attendant—The bride was attended by her maternal aunt, Mrs. Leneve Dunbar Bell of Shreveport, La., who wore a full skirted dress of pale pink tulle styled with fitted bodice and pink satin cummerbund. She carried a gold French imported basket, filled with pink rosebuds and carnations.

Timothy Hanna Corbett, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and ushers were Gilbert Carlyle of Hereford and Joe Bill Franks of Denton. Candlelighters were Deanne and Judy Dunbar, cousins of the bride, who wore identical dresses of hydrangea pink embroidered Swiss organza with hais of pink carnations.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Alencon lace and French net over white bridal satin, designed with fitted bodice having a sweetheart neckline embroidered in sequins and seed pearls, with the same trimming used on the long pointed sleeves. The chapel length voluminous skirt was worn over white satin petticoats and the costume was completed with a fingertip veil of illusion bordered with lace, attached to a tiara of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of white purple-throated orchids, surrounded with white carnations showered with satin streamers caught with sprays of orange blossoms.

Mother Wears Lace—Mrs. Henderson, mother of the bride, wore a lace frock in ice blue and her corsage was a specimen purple orchid.

The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of mauve lace over matching taffeta and wore a corsage of white orchids.

Following the wedding the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in their home. The bride's table was overlaid with white linen and elaborately decorated in pink and white flowers.

The bride's book was presided over by Miss Jean Black of Dallas. Members of the house party included Mesdames Hunter Stark, Homer Harman, Grady Ray, R. V. Shamburger, T. W. Henderson, Ira B. Newman, W. M. Dark T. W. Dunbar and Miss Ann Henderson.

Greeting guests in the dining room were Misses Deanne Dunbar, Judy Dunbar, Carol Harman, and Mary Ruth Shamburger. Presiding at the bride's table were Mrs. Betty Blount, of Tyler, Mesdames T. J. Dunbar, Mrs. W. M. Mirney, and Mrs. William McVeigh of Dallas. Miss Leah Wells Saye of Austin presided at the serving table.

When the couple left on a short honeymoon trip to points in Texas and Louisiana, the bride was wearing mauve-pink costume suit that was trimmed in bugle beads with matching hat of velour, also trimmed in beads and pearls, white gloves and black patent bag and shoes.

Has Traveled Extensively—The bride is a graduate of Longview High School, University of Texas and in accounting from the Prudential School of Insurance, Newark, N. J. She has traveled extensively in Canada, Mexico, Bermuda, British West Indies, Caribbean Islands and spent a year as an employee of an oil company in Caracas, Venezuela, South America.

Mr. Corbett is a graduate of the Hereford High School and of North Texas State College, Denton. He also attended Texas A&M College and West Texas State Teachers College. He served a short time in the Coast Guard and is presently serving as coach and physical education teacher in the Longview Junior High School. They will make their home in Longview.

Spring Sewing Boom Stars Fancy Stitches

THE STAGE IS SET for the spring sewing boom. The leading lady, of course, is the talented gal who does lots of sewing at home. Tops among the supporting cast is the zigzag stitch.

New variations are being developed constantly on the back-and-forth movement of fabric or needle that is the basis of automatic decorative stitching. Women with automatic swing-needle sewing machines or automatic zigzag attachments are having a wonderful time, putting gay decorative touches on practically everything.

However, if you have trouble deciding just which of the many fancy stitches will look best on which garments, or where decorative stitching should be placed for best effect, you can drop in at your local sewing center and look at a series of patterns especially designed for decorative stitching.

An example is a child's outfit, made from a standard pattern, featuring decorative stitching on the ruffled sleeves of the fiesta blouse and emphasizing the long-legged look of the tapering trowsers. Instructions for making these designs on your sewing machine are right in the pattern envelopes, with directions for tight and stitch lengths.

Other patterns in the series include a man's Italian style shirt, with three decorative stitches combined in a bold horizontal band. Children's and misses' clothes, too, feature unusual combinations of stitches.

If you are interested in decorative stitching, but not sure how to do it most effectively, these patterns will be a wonderful help. For a free booklet, showing the patterns which include decorative stitch instructions, with close-ups of the stitches used and sewing tips on doing automatic stitching, write to: Decorative Stitching, P. O. Box 415, Grand Central Station, New York 17, N. Y.

KEEP 'EM IN STITCHES—This gay fiesta blouse and trowsers are trimmed with decorative stitching, easy to do on your own sewing machine.

EYES ON TV
CHICAGO — An official of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness says watching television will not wear out your eyes.
Mrs. Virginia S. Boyce of New York, assistant director of the society, said observance of a few "viewing rules" will prevent eye fatigue. They include:
Don't watch TV in a completely darkened room.
Avoid looking at the screen from too great an angle.
Sit as far from the screen as visual comfort permits.
Keep your set in good working order so it will produce clear, properly adjusted pictures.

Robert Diller, a 16-year-old sophomore student of Hereford High School, was the winner of the Ford tractor driving contest held Wednesday on the farm of W. H. Engle, and sponsored by the Hereford Farm Equipment Co., local Ford tractor dealer.

Diller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Diller, who operate a farm between here and Dimmitt.

Prior to the activities on Wednesday afternoon, a total of 12 boys from the FFA department of the local school had participated in an elimination contest some 10 days ago, held on the Paul Conway farm, John Kelly, manager of the sponsoring dealership, reported.

The three finalists included Diller, Jeryce Rowland and Jody Bezner.

TRACTOR DRIVERS... Jeryce Rowland, Robert Diller, Jody Bezner

er, Jeryce Rowland and Jody Bezner.

Entrants in the first elimination contest were chosen on the basis of written examinations, held in the FFA department. Maintenance and safety were stressed in the written part of the contest, with judging on driving pointed up by uniformity of depth and cultivation, straightness of rows, tillage and trash coverage. In the Wednesday run-off, Diller scored a total of 2773 points out of a possible 3000.

Judges were Jack McCracken, assistant county agent for Deaf Smith County; Les Reeder, district manager for Ford tractor dealers, of Oklahoma City; and Vance Crume, salesman for the local company.

The various county winners are to compete in district contests which will be held before June 13, with locations to be announced.

VACUMED FISH
ANTIOCH, Calif. (AP)—A giant vacuum cleaner is keeping the fish fishermen and the power company happy along the San Joaquin River.

A pipeline sucks 400 million gallons of water daily from the river to cool the generators of the power plant. Along with the water come a huge of unwanted fish eggs and fish sucked in from a striped bass spawning bed. Biologists estimate the total at 19 million a year.

The utility company isn't in the fish business. So it built a huge concrete room with mechanical dip nets, hydraulic fish lifts, traveling screens, bladeless impeller fish pumps, and a massive vacuum cleaner to send the fish and eggs shooting back into the river through another pipeline.

The company says 90 percent survive the free ride.

Following the development of the refrigerated car, the first train load of California oranges left Los Angeles for eastern markets on Feb. 14, 1886.

Demonstrations on Weed Control Are Scheduled May 1

Farmers in this area are invited to see a demonstration of weed control methods Tuesday, May 1, at the John Gallagher farm, south of the dehydration plant, according to County Agent Hugh Clearman, who says all interested people are asked to attend the demonstration on the use of Karmex-W which will begin at 2:30 p.m.

Interest in weed control methods was heightened this week by the ninth annual conference on weed control methods held at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Bushland. Approximately 10 people from this county were among about 200 present, to view the test plots showing how bind weed and blue weed could be controlled by applications of 2-4D or by use of a soil sterilant.

Other displays showed how cultural methods could be used to control weeds, primarily by planting wheat, which grows during the winter and matures earlier than weeds. In plots of one-half acre or less soil sterilants were decreed the best possibilities.

How Can I?

By Anne Kelly

Q. How can I remove the shiny parts from a woolen suit?

A. Sponge with a solution, 1 tablespoon of ammonia to 1 quart of water. Then cover with a wet cloth and press with an iron not too hot. Follow by brushing the garment with a stiff brush to raise the nap.

Q. How can I make candles last longer?

A. Place them in the refrigerator for a day or two before using, and they will last twice as long and will not trickle down the candlestick so readily.

Q. How can I bring out all the lights in blonde hair?

A. Use a solution of a level teaspoonful of borax added to a gallon of water as a rinsing water.

Q. How can I change the flavor of bread pudding?

A. When preparing bread pudding, sprinkle each buttered slice of bread with desiccated coconut instead of currants, and spread some on the top. This will be a pleasant change.

Q. How can I pack eggs successfully?

A. Before packing eggs, coat each egg thoroughly with lard and butter. Use a large stone jar and place the eggs small end downward in layers of dry salt.

Q. How can I prevent water bugs around the kitchen sink?

A. A little kerosene poured down the kitchen sink at night is a precaution.

Q. How can I remove tarnish from nickel?

A. By making a paste of powdered pumice stone and sweet oil. Rub with this paste, then polish with a dry, clean cloth.

Q. How can I remove worms from cabbage?

A. Sprinkle ice water on the plants. Sprinkle during the hottest time of the day and the worms will roll off and die.

Q. How can I drive mice away from closet shelves?

A. Lay gum camphor along the backs of the closet shelves or any other haunts of mice.

Q. How can I restore a paper dress pattern that has become badly wrinkled, due to improper folding?

A. Press the pattern until smooth with a warm iron. Never try to use a wrinkled pattern, as the garment might be ruined by doing so.

New Taste with English Muffins

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
One of the best ways to enjoy an English muffin is to cut out its center, give it a brief toasting in the oven, drop an egg in it, sprinkle with grated cheese and bake. Prepared this way, the muffins taste wonderfully good for Sunday brunch. They look so neat and tidy, too.

TRICK OF THE WEEK—Eggs are baked in English muffins.

Serve this main course with the browned pork sausage links and preface it with chilled orange juice. Have a cereal course also if you like. After the eggs, you might like to serve whole unbudded strawberries with mounds of powdered sugar, or halve the hulled berries and serve them with heavy cream. A pecan coffee ring can then be offered for those who, after breakfast, like to nibble something sweet with extra coffee as they sink back into comfortable chairs in heavenly lassitude.

MUFFIN EGGS
Ingredients: 4 large English muffins, 4 eggs, 4 tablespoons butter or margarine (soft), $\frac{1}{4}$ cup grated Romano cheese.
Method: Preheat oven thoroughly at very hot (475 degrees). Put the eggs in a bowl of very hot tap water to warm while oven is preheated. Cut the center from each English muffin almost to the bottom with a 3-inch cookie cutter and work out circles with a fork, making wells as deep as possible. Spread wells of muffins and rough surface of cutout portion with butter and place muffin wells on a sheet of aluminum foil. Toast in preheated oven 5 minutes. Remove from oven. Break an egg into each buttered muffin well. Cover eggs with grated Romano cheese. Return to oven and bake until whites are opaque and yolks are as firm as desired — about 5 minutes for soft-cooked yolks, about 10 minutes for firm yolks. Muffin will be craggiest when baked 10 minutes. Meanwhile toast the buttered cut-out portions in the oven; if they do not get brown enough to suit you, put them under the broiler. Serve each muffin egg with a cut-out portion at once. It makes 4 servings.

Note: The Romano cheese will probably supply enough salt for the eggs for most eaters; but a pepper grinder and extra butter may be added. A 1 1/2 inch cutter may be used for cutting out muffin centers; because muffins are placed on aluminum foil it won't matter if eggs are large and whites run over outside of muffins a bit. The Romano cheese may be bought in 6-ounce wedges, use a French rotary grater for shredding the cheese if one is available.

Syncopation and Rythm Is Theme For Music Club

"Syncopation" was the theme of the Music Study Club lesson Monday afternoon when the regular meeting of the club was held in the home of Mrs. C. J. Mountz. Mrs. J. E. Eeyer was program director.

Mrs. Eeyer explained the modern trend toward syncopation in music today citing examples pointing out the changes in rhythm. Selections on the program included "The Third Man Theme" (Karas) played by Mrs. J. R. Allison, "My Hero" (Strauss) played by Mrs. B. Y. Crosthwait, "Blue Moon" (Rogers and Hart) played by Mrs. Bill Bradley and Mrs. Sam Albright and a vocal trio "Finale" (Dietrich) sung by Mesdames A. O. Thompson, Troys Carmichael and A. J. Schroeter with piano accompaniment by Mrs. S. M. Dunnam.

During the business session the members made plans for the two-piano program to be presented at the Deaf Smith County Federation of Women's Clubs Tea to be held May 4, and also voted to sponsor a junior musician, Raymond Wells in his senior voice recital which is being held this afternoon. Those attending were Mesdames J. R. Allison, Sam Albright, J. E. Eeyer, Bill Bradley, W. T. Carmich-

Mrs. Dunnam Presents Program For Pioneer Club

Climaxing the season's programs based on "Around the World with Religion" Mrs. S. M. Dunnam, guest entertainer, presented a musical program at the Pioneer Study Club meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. H. E. Miller.

Built around the theme "Around the World with Religious Music" Mrs. Dunnam gave 11 numbers with descriptive narration, representing as many countries.

For her first number Mrs. Dunnam played "Kol Nidri" an old Hebrew Melody, explaining that present day Jewish music is a combination of old Hebrew style and prevailing forms of today. She continued with Rossini's music of Italy "Cupis Animam" (Mother at the Cross), France "Fauri-The Palms," and Bizet's "O Lamb of God.

Belgium (and France) Cesar Franck—"Modest and Noble Soul" and Panis and Angelicus — "O Lord Most Holy." Music from Hungary featured Beethoven's Hymn, "Hymn to Joy" although Beethoven wrote no hymn tunes as such (the contemplative quality of his music has caused his music to be adapted to hymns.)

Joseph Haydn — Austria's apostle of joy, criticized for the joyous note in his works represented Austria. Mrs. Dunnam played "The Heavens are Telling" from "The Creation."

Hymn of Russia was followed by Sibelius' "Finlandia" the nationalistic tone poem of Finland. "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "The Lost Chord" were played as England's contribution and America was represented with Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer," "The King of Love," and other hymns, concluding with a Negro spiritual.

The grand finale was Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus." Mrs. Wirt Phillips gave the meditation.

Smith's 9.7 Century Is Fastest In State

Wayne Smith's 9.7 clocking in the 100-yard dash at the Amarillo Relays established him as the fastest high school athlete in Texas along with speedy Mike McLellan of Stamford this week. An Associated Press dispatch said this week.

Wayne Smith of Hereford and Mike McLellan of Stamford have recorded the fastest time in the 100-yard dash, a 9.7. Smith's performance was at the Amarillo Relays and McLellan's at the regional meet, the release said. The state record for Conference A is a 9.7 set by Charley Thomas of Cleveland in 1956.

The dispatch made no mention of statistics in the 220-yard dash. At that event, a 21.3, is second best to McLellan who has a 21.1.

Both athletes will be given a chance of tying or breaking the Conference A 100-yard dash record at the state meet in Austin. Overall state records, however, probably will present too great a challenge.

State record in the 100-yard dash was set by Charles Parker of Thomas Jefferson High School of San Antonio in 1943. Parker paced the century in 9.5. The 220-yard dash record of 29.5 set by Olson's J. Frank Daugherty in 1933 would be recorded as a national record, but wind velocity was too high. Conference A record in the 220 is 29.9 by Charley Thomas in 1956 and Hollis Gaine of Colorado City in 1955. The national high school record in the 100-yard dash is only one eighth of a second off the world record. Jesse Owens of East Technical High School of Cleveland, Ohio, stepped the distance in 9.4 in 1933. Then James Jackson of Lameda High School, Calif., ran the 100 in 9.4 in 1954. The 220 record is jointly held by Jesse Owens and Eddie Southern of Sunset High School, Dallas. Owens set the record in 1933 and Southern tied it in 1955.

The only other national records held by Texans are in the 440-yard dash and the mile relay. Eddie Southern of Dallas set the 440 record in 1955. The other is held by Robert E. Lee High School of Baytown. Their mile relay team of Anton Smaajstra, Joe Robins, Victor Davis, and Wallace Wilson ran the distance in the magnificent time of 3:17.9 in 1955.

KNOX'S KNOTHINGS

By BILL KNOX

One fact stood out among all others at the Regional 1 Track and Field meet in Lubbock last Saturday.

Three teams, all from District 1, walked off with top place. They copped first and second while another tied for third at the Lubbock meet. This is a big boon for District 1 and it all goes toward the proof of a fact which we have emphasized in the past.

That is that District 1 is the roughest AA (A in track) district in the state.

Not many people will argue with us. Too many facts are right there staring them in the face. That statement covers a lot of ground, but plenty of good athletes from schools such as Phillips, Hereford, Dumas, Canyon, Perryton, Dalhart, and Shamrock (?) furnish scores of fine athletes to back us up.

Wayne Smith, whose speed has put Hereford on the face of the map trackwise, will have his hands full at Austin. The main problem confronting him will be a lad by the name of Mike McLellan.

McLellan, all state footballer of the state champion Stamford Bulldogs, has matched Smith in one race and boasts a better time in another. He has a 9.7 100-yard dash and a 21.1 220. Smith also recorded a 9.7 100, but his best time in the furlong is 21.3.

However, we must take one fact into close consideration. Smith never has been pushed too badly. Therefore, we think it reasonable to assume that he has never brought forth his whole potential.

No sprinter turns in a peak performance unless he has to. This is a sanctioned practice. Smith's closest race, the Amarillo Relays, was not actually close as short sprints go. That's when he recorded the 9.7.

Mike McLellan has been in the company of San Angelo's Billy Hollis all year and has been accustomed to running against rugged competition. After surveying the facts, here's our conclusion: 9.7 is Mike McLellan's peak performance; 9.7 is not Wayne Smith's peak performance.

One fact also remains clear, however. Smith will have to run like he has never run in his life to beat McLellan. It all makes for an extremely interesting race.

This is election year and you never can tell what will happen next. The latest development around here, however, was the appearance of a baby chick with four legs. It turned up in the brooders at West Texas Feed and Seed Company and has created no end of talk. Just to prove how unusual it is, Jack Wright says it is the first and only one he ever saw. Rube Adams admits the same. Finding something about chickens these two boys have seen is rare enough, but getting them to admit it is really something. It's true, though, because they showed me the carcass, which they are thinking about preserving in alcohol. The baby chick died when it was a few days old.

Almost too late comes a warning from Texas Employment commission in Austin that several thousand Texas employers are about to let a new tax deadline, April 30, slip up on them unheeded. The TEC tax comes about through a change in the law to cover businesses which employed four or more people in 20 weeks during the last half of 1955. The notice cites penalties for violations, along with the fact that 10,000 employers have not reported.

The Lions talked Ray Cossert into making another of his now famous political speeches at the Lions Club election last Thursday night—and he did it again. No where else in the country is there a fellow who can put so much zip into a take-off on the old time politician. Honest, you never saw anything like it. He is really good. I doubt if anything in vaudeville or on TV could touch Ray when it comes to this sort of thing. In fact, judging by the brand of entertainment this year, the Lions could make a nice sum of money by opening the event to the public and charging admission.

One of the other speakers also came up with words of wisdom: "I don't see how a young man who wasn't good enough to marry her daughter could suddenly become the father of the smartest grandchild in the world." Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Knox, former Hereford bakery operators who are now in the ready-to-wear business in Friona suffered extensive damage Tuesday, when fire demolished a large portion of their stock at around 8:30 p.m. The Knox's were in Clovis when the fire occurred. Glenn Weir, longtime Hereford citizen, was owner of the building, which was also near total loss. The blaze was believed to have started from faulty wiring.

Down on the South Plains folks are still bickering about water. Lubbock, the big bad wolf in the story, recently put Muleshoe and Bailey County in a dither when they bought a large "city water" tract in that area. Now Lamb County seems to be getting worried. They had a meeting this week of business men and farmers from over the county and formed an organization which will seek to purchase 20,000 acres of Sandhills land. The object: To keep Lubbock from getting it. Estimates on cost of the purchase have ranged around $1,200,000. Last summer, the City of Littlefield bought 7300 acres of the sandhills and Southwestern Public Service controls 17,000 acres. A bond election is considered as the only likely way to finance the purchase.

killed the goose that laid the golden eggs.

There seems to be an undue amount of excitement about whether a Hereford man was recently a suicide victim or not. JP Berry Miles, coroner, pronounced the death as suicide. Friday, however, there was a Texas Ranger in Hereford investigating the case. Also, the Clovis Chief of police, a relative, was reported to be checking the case. No statements had been issued Saturday morning, however.

People are possibly more interested in politics than ever before in the history of the country. That's what all of the smart boys have been saying we needed most. However, I am beginning to wonder. Down in Texarkana folks are boycotting merchants who don't happen to agree with them about a dam across Little River. The Negro question in the South has drawn the same fire. Last year, several Hereford merchants got the "treatment" because they signed ads supporting the candidate of their choice.

We send our kids to school to learn to be broadminded and to be good Americans, yet we set them an example of the narrowest possible thinking by our own actions. Actually, there are few, if any, candidates worth losing a friend over. Our constitution is based upon the right of free speech, freedom of religion, freedom of press and freedom to vote for whom we please. This boycott reaction is definitely out of order. A Hereford merchant told me the other day about being actually threatened with boycott, due to a political stand. In addition to being mighty small, this sort of thinking will lead quicker to the downfall of freedom and democracy than any other single development.

The merchant has as much right to his opinion as does the farmer. When two men get together in a heated political argument, then walk away laughing as friends should, you have two real honest-to-goodness Americans.

Credit is a wonderful thing. It enables people to look as though they're getting up in the world when they've only made the down payment.

ATTEND BOARD MEETING

Mrs. Alex O. Thompson and Mrs. W. T. Carnichael were in Amarillo-Friday to attend a meeting of the Executive Board of the Seventh District, Texas Federation of Music Clubs. The meeting was called by the president, Mrs. E. Glenn Ross for the purpose of electing a district president. Mrs. John Fagan of Borger was chosen to fill the office for the next two years. After the meeting was adjourned, the ladies attended a luncheon in the Herring Hotel, honoring Mrs. Ross, retiring leader.

Collision Causes Minor Damages

Minor damages resulted in a car-truck collision here Wednesday at 4:05 p.m. at Avenue K and Mable Street.

A 1954 Ford, driven by Mrs. Edna H. Edwards, and a 1956 International 2T Butane Truck, driven by Lynn D. Robbs and owned by Blanton Butane, collided, police said.

Robbs was going south on Avenue K and Mrs. Edwards was going west on Mable Street and she failed to see the truck coming and ran into the left rear fender of the truck.

Approximately $60 damage was done to Mrs. Edwards' car and no damage to the truck. Mrs. Edwards was charged with failure to grant right of way.

Minor damages resulted in another car-pickup collision here Friday at 7:45 a.m. at the intersection of Main Street and Fourth.

A 1946 Dodge Pickup, driven by Joe Kreig, and a 1954 Buick, driven by Edger Wester, collided, police said.

Kreig was going south on Main Street and slowed down at the light to make a left hand turn. Wester passed Kreig as he started to turn left and Kreig hit the right door of Wester's car.

Approximately $65 damage was done to Wester's car and no damage to the pickup. Wester was charged with failure to grant the right of way at an intersection.

Question Box For Program Used By Club

The Question Box provided the program for the Lone Star Study Club Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Robert Thompson. Following a short business session when reports were heard and plans were made for the closing luncheon May 8, Mrs. H. E. Henslee directed a program of questions and answers. Each member placed a question in the question box which was answered in a general discussion when removed from the box. What's This Well, it's annual time again I betcha. By the time you read this H.H.S. will have a new vocabulary which consists of one word, "amanuel!" But you will hear this word constantly—it will be on every tongue and every ear and consequently nearly everyone will be tardy at least once during this major ordeal, and some even more than once. Of course all of you know what "amanuel" means. Yes, annual time is always a great occasion, but especially so for some of us because it will be our last time.

Well, Well... What was wrong Glenda, Myrna, Peggy and Mary Jane? Didn't you enjoy the show? Or did you just forget your footrest? That must have been it! It's just about this time of the year when little toes start crawling out of their shoes and the class snoozer dominates. A combination of the two creates a very uncomfortable situation though. While "Beautiful Dreamer" is sawing logs a mile a minute, there is always some "obnoxious" person, like Merle who thinks it would be quite funny to make off with one of the little jewels. When the bell so rudely interrupts the snoozer's dreams, and it's time to wake up long enough to drag to the next class, what happens? You guessed it! He or she gets the most peculiar look on his or her face and Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Looking-known to mutter wonderingly... "Hmmm, I could have sworn I wore them both today." Well, that is spring for you, and if you ever get the chance to view Marlene Gilliland's feet at the disrobing stage, take a good look and see if you agree with Mrs. McDougal's opinion that she has the nicest, slimmest, and prettiest toes ever. Poor little Marlene! Just because her face turns such a delicious shade of scarlet, she always catches the brunt of Mrs. M's impishness. Oh well, we all understood that it's only in fun. Well Nancy! You were having a bad little thought while talking to

Spring Keynotes Art-Fashion Show

Advent of spring in all its beauty and color provides the theme for the annual style and art show sponsored by the Art Department and members of the Homemaking Clothing classes of Hereford High School on May 3, at 8 p.m. in the High School auditorium. The entire performance will be presented along the central theme of a spring color festival against a background setting featuring a huge artist's palette flanked by profusions of spring flowers.

Art students will display their designs at the same time the girls are modeling the dresses for which the designs may be used.

The show will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Virgil Dodson, art teacher, and Mrs. Joel Hodges, homemaking teacher, assisted by Mesdames J. W. Barnett, Frank Lookingbill and F. L. Alexander.

Hybrid Grain Yields Please Deaf Smith County Farmers

Texas Certified Hybrid Grain Sorghum Seed, produced by Deaf Smith County farmers, will be placed on the market in 1957, according to several men who recently returned from Mexico where test patches of the grain have been raised.

Chester Wiggins, Wirt Albracht, Ed Dziuk, Troy Carmichael accompanied by Doc Kramer, of the Texas A&M experimental station in Lubbock, made a hurried trip to the Gulf Coast of Mexico, to check on progress of grain which was raised last year in this county for hybrid seed.

It was planted in test rows under the supervision of the extension service last November and is now ready for cutting. With a harvest of 2200 pounds established as a "good" yield, local growers were delighted with their hybrid grain results which were making as much as 4000 pounds on neighboring strips.

"Varieties used as pollinators looked like they would make about 2200 pounds or so," said Carmichael, "and our hybrid grain looked like everything they said it would."

Hybrid types, a combination of milo and kafir, produces a red grain; since it will not reproduce itself, it must be developed for each planting season.

Growers eligible to participate in this hybrid seed growing program have to serve an "apprenticeship" during which time they produce a test plot on home soil under the guidance of extension personnel from Texas A&M.

They become eligible to buy male sterile seed supplied by the extension department who supervise and inspect it at least four times during production. It is tested and must be approved before it can be put on the market.

There were other towns in Texas represented on the Tampico test acreage, but farmers in this locale had by far the largest plot.

Kelly Picture To Show At Star Beginning Sunday

TO CATCH A THIEF

"To Catch a Thief," the Paramount thriller, which will show on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Star, stars Cary Grant and Grace Kelly in the rocket-paced story of a reformed jewel thief forced to call upon every criminal skill at his command to save his own life.

Cary Grant portrays a retired Raffles who is living respectably on the Riviera when a series of burglaries reminiscent of his former technique break out. Knowing the police will immediately suspect him; jail him and ask him questions afterwards, he is forced into hiding and an undercover quest for his imitator.

In the course of his unorthodox sleuthing, he meets the rich, lovely and spoiled Grace Kelly and conceives the dangerous plan of using her and her diamond-laden mother as bait. He is set to catch a thief, but Miss Kelly has other ideas. She is set to catch Grant, and according to glowing advance reports, the romantic sparks that fly between these two are enough to up the already torrid Riviera climate another 20 degrees.

Miss Kelly was liming this picture when she met Prince Ranier and it seems that the people resented her kissing Cary Grant, when they saw the picture.

"Hell's Island" is a half hour long, Payne is up to his brassy neck in violence and enormously intriguing adventures that keep you gasping to the tale's smashing, unexpected end.

"Hell's Island" will replace the "Flame of the Island."

DOUBLE FEATURE

"Down Among the Shattering Palms," which will show Tuesday and Wednesday at the Tower Drive In, is a beautiful, bright, melodic production packed with lulling song hits, a lush South Sea island background and loaded with eye-filling sarong-clad native girls.

Gay and hilarious entertainment from start to finish, "Down Among the Shattering Palms" concerns a contingent of GI's who are assigned to occupation duty on a Pacific island only to find themselves the victims of a military order barring fraternization with the natives. How the resourceful GI's circumvent the rulebook provides rich humor in abundant quantity.

Handsome William Lundigan effectively scores as the military governor who has to set an example for his men although he is the romantic target for three lovely gals, Jane Greer, Mitzi Gaynor and Gloria DeHaven, as pert and luscious a trio one can desire. The attractive young ladies are superb as they sing, dance and romance their way into Lundigan's heart.

Also showing will be Audie Murphy in "Tumbleweed."

THE SQUARE JUNGLE

"The Square Jungle," a powerful drama of the prizefight ring, which will show Wednesday and Thursday at the Star, starring Tony Curtis, Pat Crowley and Ernest Borgnine, is a film rarity of its kind. It is designed to please both boxing fans and those who prefer good strong drama.

Tony Curtis takes the role of three-cornered fighter for possession of a fabulous stolen ruby—a battle waged by ex-D. A. John Payne, a guy whose law career has been smashed by his ex-fiancee; by Mary Murphy, who not only jilted and ruined Payne but fights him for the ruby at every turn; and by Francis L. Sullivan, who claims ownership of the gem and hires Payne to find it.

HELL'S ISLAND

The treacherous, complicated maneuvering of a woman obsessed with ambition and a blind need for wealth are tautly dramatized in "Hell's Island," which will show Sunday and Monday at the Tower Drive In. The picture, which stars John Payne and Mary Murphy and features Francis L. Sullivan, Eduardo Noriega and Arnold Moss, is a gripping and suspenseful lesson in how deadly the female of the species can be.

"Hell's Island" is an exciting three-cornered fight for possession of a fabulous stolen ruby—a battle waged by ex-D. A. John Payne, a guy whose law career has been smashed by his ex-fiancee; by Mary Murphy, who not only jilted and ruined Payne but fights him for the ruby at every turn; and by Francis L. Sullivan, who claims ownership of the gem and hires Payne to find it.

All Payne finds is trouble of a spectacular and terrifying kind, as he journeys to a primitive tropical island in his search. To complicate matters for the rugged Payne, Sullivan, a massive killer confined to a wheelchair, begins to distrust the man and sets his hirelings on him. Before "Hell's Is-

WELL-KNOWN DEPUTY

SUMMERVILLE: S. C. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Mark Fowler, widely known in the moonshine trade hereabouts as a still sleuth, tells this one on himself.

Aware that most moonshiners recognize his automobile, he borrowed one to make a raid. He and his companion parked it in the woods, and set off on what turned out to be a fruitless search. When they returned they found someone had let the air out of the tires. Fowler had to walk three miles to borrow a pump.

Career Possibilities Surveyed As Seniors Ponder Futures

By CAROL INMAN

Interesting lectures and spirited conversations were conducted during Career Day at Hereford High School Tuesday as the senior class, composed of 108 students, had their morning classes suspended and attended their choice of various discussions.

This was the first "Career Day" in HHS, but the administration is planning to have one each year in the future because of the excellent results of Tuesday.

Interest of the students seemed very high, although several complaints were heard about the limitation of subjects to choose from. Subjects offered were engineering, business administration, medicine and nursing.

A perfect example of a doctor's life was illustrated first period when Dr. William Lawrence called the school to say "he couldn't make it" because of an emergency operation. Dr. Lawrence had been scheduled originally to conduct a session on medicine.

Mrs. Springer said that she wouldn't do anything except nursing as a career if she had to make her choice again. It's one of the most wonderful professions you can be in, because it gives you a life of wonderful service," declared Mrs. Springer.

Dr. A. T. Mims was introduced to a group by Martin Reid Moore. Mims expressed his feelings of advantages and disadvantages in the medical profession. Irregular hours are very commonplace in a doctor's life, and there's not as much money in it as there seems to be. However, doctors are looked up to and respected by the public, and this helps to influence many young people of today who are planning to enter this field, he said.

On Business Administration Dolores Loerwald, Edna Morrison, and Jackie Campbell introduced Joel Hodges, vice-president of the First State Bank, as the speaker for the business administration sessions. The students divided into groups and decided upon various questions they were pondering about.

Hodges, and Leo Forrest, REA administrator, willingly answered those questions which students brought before them. Hodges told the group that "never before has there been a time when opportunities have been greater than they are today for people that are qualified for the right vocations. You simply have to start at the bottom of the ladder and climb to the top."

Probably one of the most interesting sessions for most seniors was homemaking. Three periods were devoted to Mrs. Argon Eninger, Deaf Smith County Home Demonstration Agent. She recommended marriage, but suggested that a girl get a job and work a while before she marries to enable her to know the value of money better.

Job Opportunities
Mrs. Draper told the group that many jobs were open for home-making college graduates as dietitians, home demonstration agents etc. "Many ideas can be obtained from general conversation with other homemakers," Mrs. Draper said, "but taking homemaking courses in school will help a girl going into nursing, science, or the food lines."

She was introduced in the various classes by Iriene Galley, Marlene Legg and Carolyn Virden.

Exact Work
"Engineering, like physics, is very exact. If you have a habit of shunning work, or are unwilling to think about difficult problems, then engineering will not be an interesting field to enter," stated W. H. Newborn of Public Service of Amarillo. Bill Albracht and Jimmie Auten introduced this speaker to the classes.

Newborn also told the groups that in the next 10 years, America needs 40,000 engineers in different fields. He also said that courses in public speaking and commercial law are extremely helpful in this field.

Bruce Miller, resident of Hereford for the past six years, and member of the legal field for 19 years, spoke of the advantages and disadvantages of law. Interest of the students seemed very high in these classes, especially of the senior girls, when Miller told the group he didn't think "women have the physical stamina for making good lawyers." He especially advised against the field of criminal law for women.

Bob Bradley and Barbara Hall introduced Miller to the classes.

Nurses Speak
Daleine Tinnen and Marlene Gilliland introduced Mrs. Ella May Childress and Mrs. B. J. Rudd, nurses at Deaf Smith County Hospital, to groups interested in nursing. They explained advantages and disadvantages of entering the field of nursing.

Both agreed that nursing work is rewarding, and nursing for women is very good because they can drop out for an indefinite time and return to their profession later. A E.S. and R.M. can be obtained in five years.

It Costs To Farm
Hugh Clearman spoke to two groups on agriculture Tuesday morning. He was introduced by Parsons. The groups discussed the cost of running 160 acres for a year. General discussion was also held on all types of agriculture. Clearman declared that small farming doesn't seem practical in this area, and that it was most important for a boy to attend college even though he planned to be a farmer.

A larger and better "Career Day" is being planned for next year, with a broader scope of subjects. There is also a possibility that students other than seniors will be allowed to attend the sessions, to enable them in their choice of vocations earlier in life.

At the end of 1955, the U. S. population was 168,740,000.

Shamrock Woman Is Good Samaritan

SHAMROCK (AP) — Riders on a stranded passenger bus found Mrs. Carl Linkey a veritable "Good Samaritan."

The bus, en route from Amarillo to Shamrock, broke down about seven miles east of McLean at about 5 a.m. It was not long before the dozen children on the bus were ready for a breakfast that was nowhere in sight.

Mrs. Linkey, who lives on a ranch about 14 miles northwest of here, saw the bus while she was bringing her daughter, Mickey, to Shamrock High School and stop-hours in 1930.

ped to investigate. After she learned the trouble, Mrs. Linkey rushed into town and reported the breakdown to bus company officials. Then she hurried back to her ranch home and appeared at the bus with a big jar of milk, doughnuts and paper cups for the children. There was even enough milk left over for two or three of the elderly riders who needed nourishment during the five hours the bus was stranded.

The number of Americans over 65 years old is about 14 million. It takes an average 34 man hours to produce 100 bushels of U. S. corn compared with 127 man hours in 1930.

Should Precincts Operate Separately Or As A Unit?

Centering around the use of a "nail picker," owned and paid for with funds allocated for use within one individual precinct, arose a controversy in Commissioners court this week. The situation, in our opinion, merits some publicity and further investigation because it does effect every single person in every precinct in Deaf Smith county.

Certainly, The Brand does not pretend to settle the controversy; nor do we pretend to say who is right or who is wrong. Instead, we attribute the situation to a system of operation, rather than to persons or individuals involved. Furthermore, we believe that similar situations will continue to arise from time to time so long as the existing system continues.

In a nutshell, the circumstances can be summed up with the phrase, "Precinct Rights." The whole situation centers around one question: "Should each of the four precincts own, maintain and operate separate sets of equipment and hire precinct employees?" Or, in reverse, "Should all machinery, expenses and employees be pooled and established for county-wide use?" There are, without question, valid arguments on both sides.

As we understand things, Deaf Smith county operates on the "unit," or overall cost sharing basis, on all things except roads. Out of the road and bridge funds, our present system calls for allocation of tax money to each of the four commissioner precincts on a basis of wealth within the precinct, namely in the form of valuations. This year the county did make a more equal division of monies from the sale of license plates, however.

As previously expressed, The Brand feels that the Commissioners Court should carefully investigate a county-wide "unit" system on roads. Such a system is, working well and paying handsome dividends in some other Texas counties, including Ochiltree. Chiefly, such a plan would locate a machinery warehouse in the center of the county and employ a full time supervisor, who would be in charge of all county roads, being responsible and reporting regularly to the four commissioners. He would also ride the roads each week with each commissioner in his individual precinct, and would make purchases in a systematic manner on a bid basis of gasoline and other large items. The proposed plan is good in that all equipment could be utilized at all times by throwing an idle maintainer from one precinct to the other, according to immediate needs. It might be bad in that priorities would have to be established on use in the individual precincts, according to actual and immediate needs. It should, however, do much toward eliminating the enormous road bills which Deaf Smith county has accrued over the past 25 years.

Looking at the situation from the standpoint of the taxpayer—the man who finally pays the bill—there is no question that Precinct 1 and Precinct 2 carry the heaviest valuations, due to the fact that these are the two precincts in which the city of Hereford is located. It is equally apparent that the Hereford streets are city-maintained, thus eliminating considerable cost to the county. However, each business man and each employee within the city limits of Hereford is either directly or indirectly dependent upon farming and farm produce as a livelihood. Even these people are bound to admit that they are also dependent upon good roads in Precincts 3 and 4—if they are to be prosperous and happy. A grain elevator or a potato shed, for instance, is directly interested and might even prefer good roads leading into their precinct above roads within the precinct.

The county tax payer pays for and deserves good roads within his precinct, also in the area of his operations and residence. However, we doubt if very many people, after pondering the question, would want to maintain four independent little counties within the boundaries of Deaf Smith. By working together, it seems to us, more people can be served with greater efficiency and at less cost.

Our Commissioners have considered the question to some extent. They will, without doubt, appreciate your suggestions and your thinking on the subject. As we said there are good arguments on both sides, and we do recognize their merit. Most important, though, is that citizens of the county—the people who pay the bills—make up their minds and let their wishes be heard.

MRS. S. S. WILLIAMS . . . community builder

Community Builders

The leader of the Tanda Camp Fire Girls for five years is this week's Community Builder, Mrs. S. S. Williams, and at present she is chairman of the Ward's Committee.

Born Faye Raper in 1897 at Jacksboro, Mrs. Williams started to school there and when she was 12 years old her parents moved to Plainview, where she attended school until her marriage to S. S. Williams in 1915 at Plainview.

In 1920 they moved to Canyon, where they farmed. Then in the year of 1934, they moved to the west part of Deaf Smith County. Here they lived during all the bad sand storms and moved to town in 1937.

Mr. Williams is still ranching and farming in New Mexico and South Dakota. They have one daughter, Ella Marie, a sophomore at Hereford High School and they had one son, Quentin, who was killed in a plane crash in 1948.

Mrs. Williams attends the Methodist Church and is a member of the Friendship Class, of which she is vice president.

She has been an active member in the South Hereford Demonstration Club since 1940. In the past Mrs. Williams has held all offices in the club and at present she is secretary. Mrs. Williams is also a member of the Hereford Garden Club.

When asked what she thought of Hereford, Mrs. Williams replied, "I think Hereford is a wonderful little place." Her reply to the needs of Hereford was "I don't think Hereford has anything wrong with it that a good rain wouldn't help."

The hobby of this week's Community Builder is sewing.

HONESTY PAYS OFF

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. —U. S. Dist. Judge Carl Hatch usually is pretty tough with tardy attorneys.

But when attorney Edward Apodaca said he had no excuse for failing to show up when his client's case was called, Hatch said the explanation was "sufficiently rare" and there would be no reprimand. Then Apodaca said his client, Cipriano Jose Sandoval, 25, likewise had no excuse for his offense. Sandoval had pleaded guilty to making false claims for railroad insurance act benefits.

Taking note of Sandoval's "honesty" and the fact the money was repaid, Judge Hatch gave him a one-year suspended sentence.

MAIL ORDER STORE TO OPEN

Although company officials could not be reached for confirmation; it was reliably reported that Sears Roebuck & Co., planned to sign a lease last week with Dr. and Mrs. M. G. WATER FIGHT CONTINUES

West plains farmers and businessmen, fighting to protect their water rights from encroachment by the City of Lubbock, have been joined by similar groups from Curry and Roosevelt counties in New Mexico, all intent on finding a way to stop or at least delay the plan of Lubbock to pump an estimated 40 to 60 million gallons of water daily from beneath Bailey County to Lubbock for industrial purposes. The New Mexico delegation met with area men in Mulshoe Sunday afternoon to lay out a plan of action that includes an interstate study of the threat to underground water resources in the western Plains of Texas and eastern New Mexico.—THE MULESHOE JOURNAL.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his farm discusses soil banking this week, a subject he knows about as much about as he does financial banking.

Dear editor:
I was out here wandering around over my farm yesterday speculating on where I'd put my soil bank if Congress passes one, as I understand it, if it gets passed, it'll be too late this year actually to take any land out of cultivation, but the government will go ahead and pay us on the basis of fifty per cent down and the balance next year, so a thinking man ought to be figuring out now where he wants his idle land to be located.

Now here's the thing—it looks like the proposed bill is liable to be discriminatory. You take a man like me, who foresaw the surplus coming years ago and let a lot of his land lay out, it seems to me I ought to get the full payment this year. If the purpose of the bill is to pay a man for refusing to contribute to the surplus, it seems to me the farmers who are already in the swing of the thing could be paid this year.

I can show you pieces of land out here on my farm which haven't contributed to surplus in years, and I believe I'm entitled to some back pay for my far-sightedness. Furthermore, as I understand the bill, the idea is to take some land out of cultivation, then plant some soil-building crops on it, lock the cows out, and let the fertility accumulate, with the government footing the bill. Keep your crops in an underground soil bank instead of in a price-depressing warehouse, is the idea.

Now this is a fine program, but I hope the government is thinking ahead and is prepared to stay in the soil banking business for a long time. This can't be no fly-by-night scheme. You let farmers build up a part of their land to where it'll produce twice as much as it is now, and then in a few years close the bank and let them start planting it again, and the surplus we've got now will look like the end of seven years of want in Egypt by comparison to the one we'll have then.

As I see it, either the country has got to learn to eat and wear more, or when Congress writes that soil bank bill it had better put in a requirement that the land still in use be farmed in the worst manner possible, rows running down hill and the land exposed to washing, so when we switch over to the built-up land, we won't be right back in the surplus business. It looks like what we need is for half the farmers to be soil bankers and the other half soil bank robbers, if this thing is ever to come out even.

As it is, it looks like Congress is fixing to pay us for being better farmers, surplus-producing farmers with a vengeance, five years from now, when what we really need is worse farmers, non-surplus-producing farmers. Personally, I'm glad I'm not a Congressman.
Yours faithfully, J. A.

'Grass Roots' Conventions Saturday Are Forerunner Of Good Government

"Who will lead the Texas Democrats at the National convention in Chicago August 13?"

Around the answer to this question is currently centered one of the hottest political battles ever seen in the Lone Star state. Everyone is interested. Few realize, however, that they can and should help write the answer in Deaf Smith county Saturday, May 5.

Next Saturday actually starts the Democratic machine rolling, when the Democratic Precinct conventions are held. As a result, Deaf Smith county Democrats will elect 50 delegates from 10 voting precincts. These 50 delegates will, in turn, appear at the Deaf Smith county Democratic convention on Tuesday, May 8, and will name four delegates to the State Democratic convention to be held on May 22. The state delegates will elect national delegates to the Chicago convention and, in the process, will also name the Democratic leader of Texas.

Accusations and counter-accusations between Senator Lyndon Johnson and Governor Allan Shivers have indicated that there might be some suspicion that past precinct and county conventions have been railroaded; also, that they have failed to attract sufficient interest to represent the actual wishes of the precinct and county populations. Whether this be true or false, the record does show in many instances that county delegates have, in state conventions, voted contrary to the popular vote later cast in various counties.

If you follow the processes of the Democratic machine from its origin—the Precinct Convention—it stands that the delegates will vote the wishes of the precincts and, consequently, of the counties and states. However, if the precinct or county conventions are railroaded or controlled by foreign interests, it is obvious that the wishes of the people cannot be truly represented.

Precinct conventions are open to the public, including any qualified voter who belongs to the Democratic party. It is not only the privilege, but the duty of all Democrats to appear at their individual precinct conventions. In addition, they should consider possible delegates to the county convention, basing their decisions upon their area interests and the interests of the nation as a whole.

The Precinct Convention is the very heart of our Democratic form of government in Texas. If we attend and take part, we can expect our thoughts and interests to be carried out. If we bypass the meeting, we can expect that someone else, possibly with different interests, to take over and do our thinking and voting for us.

About Career Day

If you have a teenage son or daughter, you have probably been hearing a completely new term, "Career Day." There is also an equal chance you have not yet learned the "whats" and "whys" concerning the subject.

Career Day appeared this year for the first time in the vocabulary of Hereford High School students. It concerns specifically members of the Senior Class but, at the same time, created quite a bit of conversation in other school circles.

The object of Career Day is a series of conferences with seniors concerning the possibilities, limitations and probable future offered through careers designated by interested members of the class. Local leaders, business and professional men are secured to help conduct the conferences and, most important of all, to answer questions concerning the specific careers. Reviewed this year were business administration, medicine, en-

We always thought that a misbehaving little rabbit, different from his brothers and sisters, was just something that people wrote stories about for first grade children but this week when we were irrigating we discovered at least one unruly little cottontail.

When we turned the water out of the ditch we didn't know a nest full of the little fellows was right back of us until the gray babies began to crawl from underneath a wet blanket.

One jumped out of the nest and made off through the water in search of a dry spot (and there wasn't one anywhere near).

While he waded away we hurriedly built a dam around the bed to keep it from being flooded and then went to return the little wanderer to his nest.

Over the edge he went again and we were getting pretty disgusted with him after we waded mud and brought him back the third time. On our fourth try he climbed up the bank of the ditch, fell in and swam out to the other side so we quit worrying about the determined little creature not three inches long.

Last January when we were getting up at night to check the pump and the water we thought we wouldn't mind doing such work if the weather were warm but now that spring seems to be with us we still don't like it.

The only rewarding part of it all that we can appreciate now was seeing the Northern Lights in the sky on Thursday evening just after dark and the beautiful moonlight nights we wouldn't have seen if we hadn't been forced outside.

gineering, law, nursing, agriculture and home economics.

In addition to the scope of salaries and monetary returns in the various careers, the guest experts also presented a birdseye view of hardships, personal satisfactions and general aspects to be encountered in future years. These sessions, when coupled with aptitude tests, place the student in a position to efficiently evaluate and screen various fields toward choosing a career.

The combination is not infallible, of course. It does, however, serve an excellent purpose in helping the student make a sound decision concerning his future, thus eliminating wasted years in college or apprenticeship, due to changing his career two or three years after he is out of high school. It serves the same purpose as the plans of an architect in the construction of a building and, to us, appears as a down-to-earth application of plain old fashion horse sense.

Lake Whitney, Bull Shoals Are Tourist Targets At Fishing Time

By CAROL INMAN

It's fishing time once again in Hereford and you know what THAT means!

Just returning from Lake Whitney near Hillsborough were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lipscomb. Says Jim, "caught lots of black and white bass... really had a wonderful time except for the bad dust storm which followed us down".

W. Sparks and Earl Virden returned Saturday from Lake Kemp near Vernon. Ernest and Bess May journeyed to fishing spots at Lake Whitney and plan to go on to Missouri and Arkansas after a couple of days to visit relatives.

The Ralph McCulloughs left Tuesday for El Reno, Okla., to pick up Mr. and Mrs. L. A. McCullough. They went on to Arkansas to brother H. L. McCullough's. All of them plan lots of fishing at Bull Shoals, Ark.

The Bill Bratchers, former Hereford residents, were back in town last Saturday for a brief visit with friends here, including the Alvin Schmuckers and the Glen Nelsons.

And it's family reunion time again for the C. O. Wilkins family. Daughter Elvye and her family, husband Billy Smith, daughter Suzanna, and son Gary, arrived Friday night from Brawley, Calif., where they now make their home. Bill is with Whitman Seed Co., an import and export firm, and will leave his family here when he flies to Mississippi on business.

Cecilia, another daughter of the Wilkins, plans to come home for a visit from Northwest Texas School of Nursing in Amarillo, where she is a student. The family is now in the midst of plans to go to Dallas where son Bud and his family live. Bud is with Prudential Insurance there.

shrug by saying, "You can't have everything, I guess, but I came pretty close."

Sammie, chosen Texas Home-maker of the Year, was given a trip to Washington D. C. and Philadelphia... which turned out to be a star to dream on. Then she rushed back to Texas and swooped down to Ft. Worth as a special guest at the Future Homemakers of Texas meeting. With her were her mother, Mrs. S. B. McLallen, and the Hereford FHA delegates, Betty Paetzold, Paula Wright, Doina Guseman, Helga Thome, and Carlynn Williams.

After the conclusion of the meeting everybody planned to go over to Dallas to see Cinerama, which, as you must know, plays no closer to Deaf Smith County than Big D. But the McLallens hurried home so they could see a recap of Sammie's big adventure on TV and what happens? Although it was scheduled to show Saturday afternoon, without warning, the station moved the program up to Saturday morning and the McLallens not only missed Cinerama — they missed Sammie on television too!

Houseguests in the Ray McCullough home recently were Shirley and Harold Brothers and Tom and Beverly Newhouse of Amarillo. Mrs. Brothers is the former Shirley McCullough.

The Carl McCasins are due back about now from what sounds like a wonderful trip down south — down south as far as Guatemala, in fact. They left here two weeks ago bound for New Orleans... met friends there... and foursome journeyed on to Havana... then on to Guatemala aboard a cruise ship. They found time somehow to send several postcards from Morro Castle and to comment on a bumby trip over. This adventurous foursome may or may not have flown back to the mainland, but at any rate, they'll soon be home to account for themselves.

And Hereford's population is growing by leaps and bounds! Add two newcomers who've arrived within the last week or so. Mrs. Maude Hackworth of Stayton, Ore., mother of Mrs. Urin Streu, who is deserting all those trees and rainfall on the west coast for the favor of the town without a toothache and those infamous dust storms. She is living at 305 Roosevelt, and incidentally, this is the first time she's ever seen 19-month-old Ray Streu, her only great-grandchild.

And then there's Mrs. C. W. Fisher, who now makes her home at 904-B Miles, and she, too, is exchanging hot summers and Texas coastline down around Houston for the cooler, dryer High Plains. Since Mrs. Fisher's only child, Mrs. A. T. Mims, makes her home in Hereford, she'll now have time

Gardening--Plain or Fancy Still Costs Some Money

Gardening may be a rewarding, but it is not exactly an inexpensive hobby.

According to a survey made of local hardware and automobile parts supply houses, all of whom sell gardening equipment, the basic garden tool outfit costs about $70, and the professional gardener may have as much as $350 wrapped up in equipment alone.

Basic tools are an inevitable expense to any homeowner, whether he has the gardening virus or not. Actually, he needs them just to keep the place from looking abandoned.

Even if the only green thumb on the place belongs to a pair of gloves, any family who takes pride in their yards will need a few basic tools.

A recommended basic kit, includes a 16-inch hand mower, 50 foot plastic hose, adjustable brass nozzle, ring sprinkler, pruning shears, steel rake, D-grip spade, steel leaf broom, hand trowel, a hand cultivator, garden cart, weed digger and grass shears.

On the local market here in Hereford, the average price was $70. More expensive equipment can be bought, and it is possible to spend a little less, but that's the average cost.

to spend with three grandchildren.

But as gardening skills grow, particularly if father gets ambitious in this direction, fancier equipment may find its way into the tool shed.

The true devotee of garden grubbing may eventually round up an assortment of tools ranging from a 21-inch rotary power mower which costs about $100 up to tank sprayers, lawn rollers and three spike aerator.

An all-round outfit includes the power mower, one gallon gasoline filler can, 50 foot soaker hose, back and forth sprinkler, house-mount hose reel, electric hedge trimmer, grass whip, electric edge trimmer, pruning saw, pole pruner, long-handled shovel, hoe, wheelbarrow, lawn roller, spreader, lawn sweeper, aerator, three and a half gallon tank sprayer, cultivator, digging fork.

Good quality tools, if used with reasonable care and kept clean and rust-free, will last indefinitely. In the long run, they will prove more economical than lower-priced tools for the difference in durability is tremendous.

ELK CITY, Okla. (AP)—Holly Jean Hancock, infant daughter of the pastor of the First Baptist Church here, had been crying every Sunday when she was left in the church nursery.

However, the attendants in the nursery soon found a way to make the child coo — they switch on the public address system and when the baby hears her daddy's preaching voice she is perfectly happy.

Does Your Yard Yearn To Be A Lawn?

(Ed Note: This story on basic steps in lawn care was prepared for the Sunday Brand by Mrs. Dorothea Prowell, assistant home demonstration agent.)

By DOROTHA PROWELL

It's that time of year again! New homeowners are frantically seeding new lawns and complaining: "I've planted it over THREE times already," while many other weary workers are staring out the window at brown spots, yellow spots, or worse yet, bare spots, on established lawns and wondering "What do I do now and what went wrong THIS time?" Because a beautiful, well kept lawn adds to the material value of a home and is a basic requirement for a completely attractive yard, this is the time to start work on yard problems, whether they concern planting a new one or giving an old one a shot in the arm. There are three phases to be considered when establishing a lawn: (1) preparation of the soil, (which includes grading, drainage, supplying organic matter, or adequate plant food and the actual preparation of the seed bed); (2) establishment of the grass; and (3) care and maintenance of the grass.

Preparing the Soil

A lawn will be no better than the soil it is planted in. A sandy loam high in organic matter is considered most satisfactory. If your soil contains too much clay, coarse sand should be added. In all cases, organic matter such as compost, decomposed gin trash, leaf mold or similar material should be added. The organic matter and sand should be thoroughly mixed with the seed bed. Incorporation of these materials provide for aeration and drainage and improves the water holding capacity. The area should be properly graded to provide for surface drainage. There should be a gradual slope away from the house. After all soil conditioners are worked into the soil it should be harrowed, raked or otherwise smoothed.

Before the last grading, a complete fertilizer should be added and the area thoroughly watered. An application of 4 to 5 pounds of 16-200 or ammonium sulphate per 1000 square feet is, generally speaking, sufficient. This should be evenly spread. Coutrou should be used since a too large application will burn rather than help.

Final Grading

The last step in preparing the soil is the final grading. Thorough watering will have melted clods and firmed the seed bed. The area should be raked free of all large clods and stones which may have worked to the surface. Any depression which showed up as a result of firming or settling should be filled and the high places worked down. The area is now ready for seeding, sprigging or sodding.

Seeded, Sprigged, Soddied

Whether the lawn should be seeded, sprigged or soddied will depend on the type of grass used and the rapidity of cover desired. If you are using seed be sure it is of high quality with a high percentage germination and purity. This information is required by law on all seeds sold in lots over 10 pounds. Low priced seed is often more costly because of low germination and purity. A "lawn mixture" is not recommended. These mixtures are cheaper because they are usually diluted with useless grasses. Only one species will ultimately dominate regardless of how many are sown.

The use of small distributors is recommended but hand sowing of seed is satisfactory. Divide the seed in two lots of equal parts, one to be broadcast as one walks back and forth in a given direction, the second lot to be sown as one walks at right angles to the first distribution of seed.

Water Lightly, Often

Following seeding, the area should be watered lightly and often enough to keep the surface moist until a good stand of grass is established. This will vary from seven to 14 days depending mainly on climatic conditions and variety of seed.

If you want to use sprigs or small sod blocks...set them in small holes or furrows dry in the area. Sprigs of Bermuda may be covered; those of other grasses only partially covered, but they should be packed firmly into the soil.

As the seedling develops or the sprigs take root and grow, the frequency of watering should be reduced and the amount applied at a given time increased in order to establish a deep root system and ultimately reduce the amount of water needed.

When to Clip

The height to clip will depend on the species planted. The average lawn should be clipped when the seedlings are 1 1/2 to 2 inches high. Clip often enough to prevent removing more than 1/4 to 1/2 inch at any one clipping until the turf is well established. Weeds may be controlled by frequent clipping. Too close clipping encourages thinning of the turf, shallow rooting, and allows drying and baking during the hot summer. Proper mowing requires a sharp, well adjusted lawn mower. Time spent in picking up sticks and rocks ahead of the mower is well spent.

Supplying the necessary plant food for an established lawn is often neglected. If the lawn is clipped often enough that no more than one-half inch is removed, the clipping should be allowed to remain on the lawn. They will return some plant food to the soil if allowed to decompose.

Plant Food Elements

Plant food elements required in largest amounts by grass plants are nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium. Nitrogen is the key element in turf production. It produces vegetable growth and gives the plant a deep green color. Phosphorus stimulates development of a good root system. Potassium affects the physiological process of the plant. When these three are properly balanced, other elements necessary for plant growth are usually present.

Knowing the proper time to feed your grass is just as important as knowing what to feed it. In general one application in the spring and one in early fall is required.

Aerify the Soil

If a lawn is to do good, air must be present in the soil. A hollow tined fork or spading fork can be used to aerify the soil and also helps prevent water run off. Weeds never become a problem on a properly managed lawn. If it is well watered and fed to keep a thick turf, weeds have little chance to grow. Most weeds can be eliminated by hand pulling, mowing or chemicals.

Check for White Grubs

If the lawn has a ragged appearance and is brown in spots and handfuls of dead or dying grass can be pulled up by the Records of explorers indicate the ice cap on the antarctic continent is 900 feet lower than it was a century ago.

Run the shovel under a block of turf and turn it upside down. If grubs are present, the soft-bodied, wingless, wormlike grubs will be apparent. If six or more grubs are found in a square foot area better apply insecticide.

Chlordane has shown promise for treating lawns. Aldrin, dieldrin and heptachlor are also good. They are available as wettable powders or emulsifiable concentrates and they should be handled and applied according to manufacturer's directions.

It is good to sprinkle the lawn after the insecticide has been applied. This will wash the poison down into the soil where it can reach the insects.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Plans for Soil Stewardship Sunday Being Completed by Local Churches

By JIM WIMAN

All supervisors were present at the regular monthly meeting of the board of supervisors of the Tierra Blanca Soil Conservation District on Monday morning. The group met at the Western Wheel Inn Cafe. Plans for the observance of Soil Stewardship week were completed.

It was announced that many of the churches in Hereford have made known their plans for participation in the observance with special services on Soil Stewardship Sunday, May 6. Board chairman Luther Lesly said church programs with covers emphasizing the observance are being made available to all churches who care to use them.

Plans for the land judging contest were reviewed. Detailed plans had been previously worked out by a committee composed of Herbert Bruns, Hugh Clearman, Gerald McCaskill and Jess Robinson. Other matters taken care of were of a routine nature. Members attending besides Lesly were Ira Scott, Carl Wimberley, Hardy Benson and Charles R. Hoover.

C. C. Wimberly, who is a District cooperator and farms in the northwest part of the District, came in last Monday to let us know he's ready to build some more diversion terraces. Mr. Wimberly has some slopes that would be considered gentle except for the fact they are so long they accumulate enough water in heavy rains to cause some gulying. His plan calls for breaking these long slopes with diversion terraces that will turn the water harmlessly out on native grass land.

He built two such diversions last year and has already completed one this year. His plans call for a couple more in the next few days.

Lesly and Benson asked us to go with them to a meeting in Borger Wednesday. We left at 7 a.m. and were joined by Joel Hodges and Hoover at the Borger Hotel where we all attended a gathering of bankers and soil conservation district supervisors. Purpose of the meeting was to promote understanding of mutual problems of the two groups in the field of soil and water conservation.

It was pointed out in the discussions that while a six percent surplus is now being produced annually and has a depressing effect on farm commodity prices, the picture is in for a change in the not too distant future. The reason is that the population is increasing by two and one-half million people per year while top soil from the equivalent of 30 quarter section farms is being carried into the Gulf daily by the Mississippi river alone, when at flood stage. Dust storms are damaging or ruining many more acres each year. About 70 men from the panhandle area of Texas attended the meeting.

Some excellent land judges were discovered among the entrants of the second annual land judging contest sponsored by the District on Tuesday afternoon. Don Guseman was champion of the men's division and was followed closely by Lee Roy Williamson and W. G. Harris in that order. Head man among the boys was Pete Plank. In second place was Wayne Couch and following him was Sam Lesly. The Hereford State Bank will present awards in the form of handsomely engraved plaques to each of the six winners.
