Crop Duster Is Killed In Crash

Funeral services for a 30-year-old crop-dusting pilot were still pending Saturday following his death Thursday afternoon when the plane he was flying crashed into a guy wire on an irrigation well rig and then hurtled into a maize field nose first.

Killed in the crash was Ray Vernon Owen, 30, of Fort Cobb, Okla. Owen was found dead in his cracked-up Stearman bi-plane by Jimmy Lawhon of Hereford at about 8:45. Lawhon was hunting for the downed plane along with sheriff's deputies, city police, highway patrolmen and other volunteers.

Final rites will be held in Fort Cobb at the Oak Grove Cemetery. Arrangements were not complete Saturday. Mr. Owen is survived by a seven-year-old son, a five-year-old daughter, two sisters and a brother, all of Oklahoma.

Owen had been flying in Texas since March of this year when he moved here from Fort Cobb. He was flying an American Duster Co. plane of Chickasha, Okla., and Hereford.

The pilot left a landing field in Hereford at 6:15 with enough fuel to stay aloft about 40 minutes. An alert was sounded at about 8 p.m. when the pilot had not been heard from. Lawhon found the crashed plane just a few feet from a county road in a maize field owned by Walter Russell.

Officers were guided to the scene of the crash by Lawhon, who had tried to free the pilot from the plane, but failed to do so. He rushed to a telephone and phoned city police who radioed to a nearby sheriff's department car. Lawhon then met the patrol car on Highway 60 and led them to the crash scene.

First officers to reach the scene were Deputy Sheriffs Neil Young and Charles Skelton. They, with the help of others who arrived soon afterwards, freed the pilot from the plane.

Owen, who was described as an excellent pilot by fellow workers, was flying low, apparently still on his way to a field near Dawn which he was to spray, when the accident occurred. The guy wire on the rig stretched across the road and the pilot apparently failed to see it. The wire snapped off at the top of the rig from the force of the crash and whipped into the grain field. The plane flipped over and landed in the field at a 45 degree angle, nose first.

When officers arrived the pilot was hanging from the cockpit, held up by his safety strap. The plane smelled strongly of insecticide, and officers said it was still fully loaded.

A Gilliland Funeral Home ambulance brought the body back to Hereford where Justice of the Peace S. O. Wilson ruled accidental death.

Wheeler Gets 20 Years For Murder With Malice

A Deaf Smith County Sixty-ninth District Court jury Friday afternoon returned a verdict of murder with malice in the trial of Melvin O. Wheeler. The jury of six men and six women ruled that Wheeler should serve 20 years in the state penitentiary for the knifing death of Mike Huckert more than two years ago.

The verdict came at 5 p.m. before a hushed group of spectators who had waited two hours for the jury to reach its verdict. The trial had started Monday afternoon.

Jury Foreman W. M. Decker handed the written verdict to Mrs. Lucille Posey, district clerk, who read the decision. Wheeler sat with eyes downcast and jumbled his fingers on a table as the verdict was read. Defense Attorney Earnest Langley rose to his feet and asked for a poll of the jury. The jurors, who had started to retire, returned to their seats and as Mrs. Posey called each one's name, said "it is my verdict."

In finding Wheeler guilty as charged, the jury refused to believe the defense's argument that Wheeler was temporarily insane or that he was acting in self defense. They also refused his request for a suspended sentence.

Although Judge Harry Schultz had warned spectators against a show of emotion, several women in the audience, including Wheeler's mother, burst into tears when the verdict was read.

J. W. Witherspoon, chief defense attorney, said he would file an appeal.

Wheeler was charged in the stabbing death of Mike Huckert which occurred Oct. 1, 1953. He was indicted Nov. 6, 1953 and this is the fifth time the case had been called for trial.

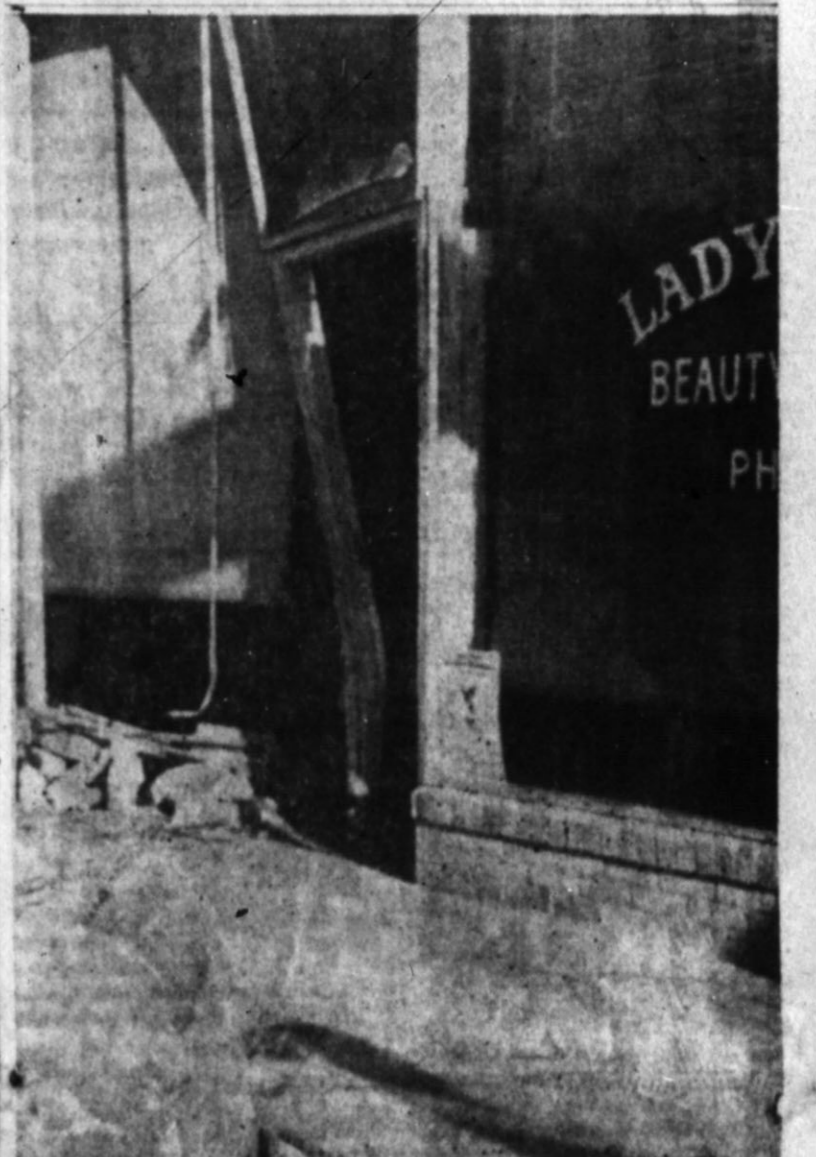

District Attorney Floyd Richards of Dalhart had told the jury in his final plea that "if this is a murder case it is a murder with malice case." He asked the jury to return such a verdict and "give him (Wheeler) a number of years to think it over in the penitentiary."

Richards, who had said all through the trial that he believed that Wheeler had wanted to kill Huckert in front of Margaret Wheeler, the defendant's wife, changed his reasoning in the final plea. He told the jury he believed Wheeler had not killed Huckert earlier because he couldn't get up the courage. "After drinking out of the same bottle with him (Huckert)," Wheeler got the needed courage, the district attorney said.

The State began its case against Wheeler Wednesday afternoon. Richards put six witnesses on the case before asking for a recess Wednesday afternoon. Sheriff Lowell Sharp was the first witness to take the stand. He testified that he had been called to the O. L. McKee home the night of Oct. 1, 1953 by Mrs. McKee, the mother of Wheeler's wife. He said when he got there he found Mike Huckert still alive, but lying down in the back yard. He said he and a city policeman who arrived at the scene shortly afterwards, took Wheeler to the courthouse.

Second witness for the State was Dr. T. P. Churchill of Dalhart, the pathologist who performed the autopsy. (Continued on Page 7)

WRONG PEDAL — Ann Drye got to work with a bang Friday morning. When she pulled up in front of her beauty shop, Ladyfaire, she reached for the brake but hit the accelerator instead. The car shot into the building, smashed in the front of it and broke out the plate glass. Damage was estimated at several hundred dollars. (Staff Photo)

Around Town

Apparently all news is bad news this week—at least most of it. That's the way it appears in today's Brand at any rate, and conversation Around Town is running the same way.

Among all the other tragedies, tax notices from the county and state went out this past week. Everyone hates to think it is that time of year again. Next up: Christmas.

That pay raise for county workers that was mentioned in Thursday's Brand will not become effective until the first of the year. Date the raise would go into effect (Continued on Page 5)

Mrs. Jack Wins Top Fair Prize

Mrs. Bertram Jack of Friona was winner of the grand prize clothes dryer awarded Thursday night at the close of Hereford's first Appliance Fair. The promotion, sponsored by several appliance dealers, closed following a two-day exhibition which featured display and demonstration of numerous types of modern day appliances.

Each of the seven individual dealers also awarded door prizes, which went to the following: Mrs. Harry Schultz, a steam iron awarded by Morgan Appliance; Mrs. Ellen Morgan, silverware, awarded by Parker Bros.; Flora D. Hutchinson, portable radio, awarded by B. B. Goodrich Store; Norma Cummings, cooker-fryer, awarded by (Continued on Page 5)

To Work Out Marketing Agreement

Area Potato Growers To Meet Here Oct. 5

Potato growers of the Panhandle area will meet in the courthouse in Hereford Wednesday evening, Oct. 5, at 8 o'clock for the purpose of working out a marketing agreement for the area, according to Jack Renfro, president of the local organization.

"It is highly important that all growers and prospective growers attend the meeting, which will establish the basis for an area-wide marketing set-up," Renfro pointed out. He also added, "It is the one thing that can help our price and overall situation."

In addition to growers and shippers from over the Panhandle area, the meeting will also be attended by Jack Gannaway of Denver, who heads a 14-state division of the fruit and vegetable section for the Department of Agriculture. George Crisp of Harlingen, who heads the Inspection Service in Texas, will also attend the meeting in an effort to acquaint Panhandle growers with current problems.

Suspect Is Held Following Theft Of 22 Batteries

Deaf Smith County officers are holding a North Carolina man on a charge of theft of about 22 batteries.

Charged with theft is Wayne Clark. He allegedly stole the batteries from irrigation wells in the Hereford area. They have been recovered by the Sheriff's Department here. Several of the batteries have still not been identified by owners and Deputy Sheriff Charles Skelton said that owners can get them by calling at the sheriff's office.

Scouting Will Be Featured At C-C Breakfast

Scouting will be featured at the regular monthly community breakfast to be held Wednesday morning in the ballroom of the Jim Hill Hotel, Ralph Hastings, president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, said Saturday.

Jury Had Soft Time At Trial

Jurors in the Wheeler murder trial had a "soft time of it" during the last few hours of the trial.

Rites Held For Markham Infant

Deborah Lynn Markham, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Markham died Friday, shortly after birth. Services were conducted by Rev. Russell Pogue, pastor of the Temple Baptist Church, in the Rose Chapel at Gilliland Funeral Home, Friday afternoon. Burial was at the West Park Cemetery.

One Person Hospitalized In Crash Of Two Pickup Trucks Thursday

One person was hospitalized Thursday following a collision between two pickup trucks about a half mile east of Hereford on the Dairy Road.

One person was hospitalized Thursday following a collision between two pickup trucks about a half mile east of Hereford on the Dairy Road. Lester H. Lee of Lubbock was treated for injuries at the Deaf Smith County Hospital and later released.

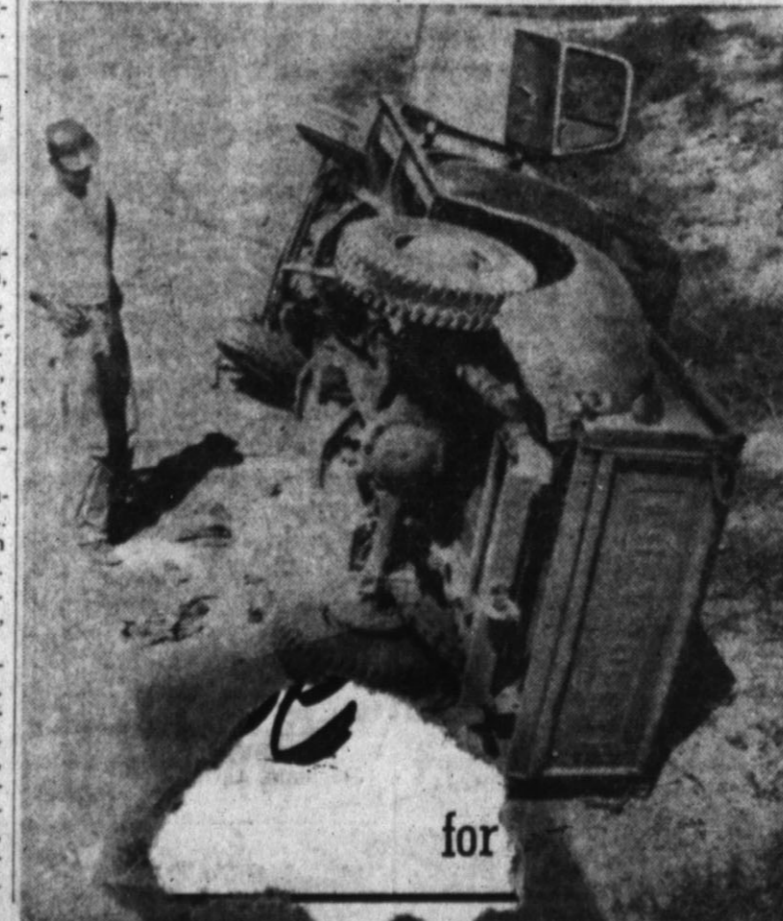

Highway Patrolman J. R. Kirkwood, who investigated the accident, said Lee was traveling north on a county road and that Jack Streun was going east on Dairy Road when the mishap occurred. Lee's 1955 Chevrolet pickup was turned on its side and Streun's 1950 Ford pickup turned over and completely around and then was smashed into a utility pole. A hog which Streun was carrying in the back of his pickup was

Potter Trial Is Set For Nov. 14

The murder with malice trial of Clifton D. Potter has been re-set for Nov. 14 in District Court. Potter is charged with murdering George Thompson, who died several weeks after being shot. The defendant, who will be represented by the Jas. Witherspoon law firm, was indicted June 10.

New Switchboards Installed Here

Workmen are busy installing and wiring seven new telephone switchboard positions at the telephone office. This work is scheduled to be completed in November, according to A. O. Thomas, district manager.

These seven additional switchboards are being added to take care of additional growth and telephone usage in Hereford, he said. Thomas gave the following figures on the increase in average daily calls placed here. He said that in January of this year the average was 12,509 calls daily and in August the average was 17,959 local calls. In January the average toll calls was 842 a day and in August the average had climbed to 1058.

In 1952 the daily average for local calls in January was 11,590 and the average toll figure was 570. In August of the same year the local average was 11,885 and the toll average was 584.

MYF To Have Supper

The Senior MYF of the First Methodist Church held a covered dish supper last Wednesday night at 7:30. At that time plans were made for the programs in the month of October. seed have a natural affinity," he says. "If you're feeling more venturesome try ginger garlic, a combination of ginger and garlic mixed with salt."

And here's Weaver's own recipe for dilled pork chops. It serves four.

DILLED PORK CHOPS

Ingredients: 4 pork chops; 1 teaspoon salt; 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard; 1/4 teaspoon paprika; 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper; 1 teaspoon dill seed; 4 tablespoons sour cream; 2 tablespoons vinegar; 1/2 teaspoon finely chopped parsley.

Method: Sear chops in a hot lightly greased skillet. Combine all the seasonings and sprinkle chops on both sides. Continue to cook at high heat, turning to avoid sticking. Mix vinegar and sour cream and pour over chops. Cover the pan closely and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) from 30 to 40 minutes. Baste frequently. Remove to hot platter. Sprinkle with paprika and chopped parsley.

Herbs And Spices Give Cooking Variety, Interest and Character

Women are spending more and more time making themselves attractive. And in the same spirit, they're using more herbs and spices to give their cooking variety, interest and character.

That's the philosophical conclusion of Norwood Weaver, head of a spice importing house, who's been observing changing customs most of his 65 years.

"Young housewives are always asking me how to use spices and herbs. I advise caution. The best way is to consult a good cookbook and then use the spice or herb sparingly. Always start with a little."

These same young housewives are also learning, he says, that "a pinch of imagination and a pinch of spice can transform a supermarket meal into an epicure's delight."

Just take scrambled eggs, for example. With an unusual type of pepper, or a herb blend, or hickory salt to give a smoky flavor, or a bit of sherry—wonderful things happen to scrambled eggs.

"After all, the art of cooking is, in the last analysis, using spices and herbs to add a note of distinction. These give that unforgettable quality that makes dinner at one home an event, while at another it is only a meal."

Men are buying more herbs and spices too, Weaver says. He says this is because U. S. soldiers in Europe and the Far East ate native dishes away from camp, became interested in how they were cooked and brought back a taste for variety in food.

"Men are adventurous and try new things," says Weaver proudly. "So they became backyard chefs. They wanted their dinners to be remembered for their distinctive quality and they turned to spices and herbs as the best way to get it."

He suggests dill seed sprinkled on a pork roast and inserted in little cuts in the meat for a new and different note. "Pork and dill

Japanese Language Visible And Audible, Noted Writer Explains

(Editor's Note: William Faulkner, Nobel prize-winning novelist wrote the following "Impressions of Japan" at Nagano City. He gave them there to the Japan Summer Seminar on American Literature, at which he was featured lecturer; the seminar forwarded them to the U. S. Embassy in Tokyo, which makes them public. They are random and sometimes disconnected observations and reflections. But because they are the Mississippi novelist at his best—rich in color full of feeling, romantic, as significant for America as for Japan—they are printed here.)

By WILLIAM FAULKNER

TOKYO, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Japanese language is visible and audible, spoken and written too: a communication between man and man because humans speak it; you hear and see them. But to this one western ear and eye it means nothing because it resembles nothing which western eye remembers; there is nothing to measure it against, nothing for memory and habit to say, "why, this looks like the word for hour or home or happiness;" not even just cryptic but acoustic too, as though the splash of symbols of the characters held not mere communication but something urgent and important beyond just information, promising toward some ultimate wisdom or knowledge containing the secret of man's salvation. But then no more, because there is nothing for western memory to measure it against—so not the mind to listen but only the ear to hear that chirrup and skitter of syllables like the cries of birds in the mouths of children, like music in the mouths of women and young girls.

The Faces: Van Gogh and Manet would have loved them: that of the pilgrim with staff and pack and dusty with walking, mounting the stairs toward the temple in the early sunlight; the temple lay-brother or perhaps servant, his gown tucked about his thighs, squatting in the gate of the compound before beginning, or perhaps having already set it into motion, the day; that of the old woman vending peanuts beneath the gate for tourists to feed the pigeons with: a face worn with living and remembering, as though not one life had been long enough but rather every separate breath had been needed to etch into it all those fine and myriad lines; a face durable and now even a comfort to her, as if it had by now blotted up whatever had ever ached or sorrowed behind it, leaving it free sleeves until there remains one unbroken chalice-shape of modesty proclaiming her femininity where nudity would merely parade her mammalian femaleness. A modesty which flaunts its own immodesty like the crimson rose tossed by more than one white flick of hand, from the balcony window—modesty, than which there is nothing more immodest and which therefore is a woman's dearest possession; she should defend it with her life.

The National tennis championships will be held at Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 2-11, inclusive.

When Deb Garris won the 1940 National League batting title with .355 it marked the last season in which he played more than 100 games. He played in only 103 games in 1940.

down. He scored all three Portales touchdowns. The kick was no good and Portales was not to score again.

After Frazier's fourth-quarter sprint the Herd began to roll once more. Hereford got the kick off on the 50. Then Bryant and Weemes carried over for the score. Merritt crashed over for the score. Danny Elliston made a fine catch of a pass for the point-after to make the score 46-19.

After that nothing went right for Portales. John Bryant intercepted a screen pass and raced 40 yards to score for the Herd's final touchdown.

When the Rams got the ball on the kickoff Bobby Veigel this time intercepted and carried to the Ram 22. But Calloway fumbled and Portales got the ball. The game ended with Portales on their own 20.

Coach L. B. Russell was high in his praise of the Whitefaces, but he was staying mum about the next game with Phillips. "The boys played good ball against Portales. We were ready for them," he said.

For Portales the crashing line play of Roy Whittington on the defense may have prevented the Whitefaces from running up a larger score. Tommie Weemes and Bill Calloway both played outstanding games on the defense for Hereford.

Wheeler Gets

topsy. Dr. Churchill testified that Huckert had been cut several times with a knife and that death was caused by a stab wound in the heart.

County Attorney Ed Line was the next witness. When the State tried to offer a confession taken on the night of the killing, the defense objected, and the jury was removed from the courtroom. With the jury still out of the room, Phyllis Allmon Deaton of Houston, who had taken Wheeler's confession in shorthand, was put on the stand. The Court ruled the confession permissible and Line was returned to the stand with the jury in the box. Line was asked if he took the confession and said yes. Mrs. Deaton was then returned to the stand and the confession was read to the jury.

In the confession, Wheeler said he would start his story 10 days before the day of the killing. He told how he had returned from work that day, stopping to pick up some groceries his wife had ordered. Near his farm house he saw a green pickup truck with two men in it. He said he believed one to be Mike Huckert. When he got home and his wife was gone, he said he decided she must have been in the pickup.

Wheeler said he hunted down Huckert and got him to admit that he had been with Wheeler's wife in an Amarillo tourist court for several days. He said he got Huckert in his car and drove to Amarillo hunting for his wife, but he couldn't find her. When they returned to Hereford, Wheeler told of thinking that Margaret could be at a farmhouse near here. He said he and Huckert drove out to go to the house, but that Huckert kept him on a wild chase, going back Adv. and forth without finding the house. He told Huckert that "I've fooled with you long enough," and now I'm going to take you "to the law," and they will bring us both out here. On the way back to town, however, Wheeler said he decided to go by his mother-in-law's house just once more. He said that when he reached the house, Mrs. McKee came to the front door and wouldn't let him in. She said "I've got company," Wheeler said in the statement taken a few hours after the killing, "and I said, yes, I think it's your company that I want to see."

Wheeler said Mrs. McKee told him to go to the back door. He said he and Mike Huckert went around to the back and "waited and waited while she was inside calling the police." When she finally came to the door, Wheeler said, Mrs. McKee and his wife were both yelling at him. Then I decided to go into him (Huckert), Wheeler said in the statement, "because I knew that he was the guilty guy."

R. L. Gulbert, city policeman at the time of the killing, was the next State witness. He told how he helped the Sheriff take Wheeler to town and also about finding the knife which the State introduced as the murder weapon.

Sheriff Sharp returned to the stand briefly and then the district attorney put O. L. McKee, Wheeler's wife's step father, on the stand. McKee testified that Wheeler came into the house and began chasing Margaret with a knife. He said at one time Margaret had a 22 rifle pointed at the defendant, but that he and Wheeler were able to take it from her. He described Wheeler as the "wildest man I ever saw," a statement which did not appear in his statement taken the night of the killing, and one which Richards demanded to know more about. He asked McKee why he hadn't told him about it before or why he didn't tell about the condition at the time he made his original statement.

At this time the State announced it was almost ready to rest its case, but needed a little time to get more witnesses. With the permission of the Court the Defense then put on two witnesses. One, Tildon Slagle, was a character witness, and the other, Bill Overstreet of Amarillo, testified about the six day stay of Huckert and Mrs. Wheeler in an Amarillo tourist court.

Overstreet, who was managing the courts at the time of the alleged almost week-long "party" held by Huckert and Mrs. Wheeler, testified he had seen them together there for six days. He said there was also another man present and sometimes another woman.

Thursday morning the State put Neil Young, deputy sheriff, on the stand. Following his description of the scene of the killing, the State rested its case at 9:30 Thursday morning.

The Defense then returned Mrs. Deaton to the stand. She testified that the words "I guess" were in her shorthand notes, but not in the typewritten statement (Wheeler's) typed by County Attorney Ed Line. The statement was, "I was swinging my knife at him, cutting him across the chest," and then the words, "I guess," appeared in the original notes.

Then the Defense put 15 character witnesses on the stand in the following order: E. E. Hollett of Friona, G. B. Buske of Friona, John Aldridge of Farwell, H. V. Fields of Hereford, Paul Rudd, Alton Frazier of Hereford, W. O. Shelton, Everett Story of Amarillo, J. M. Hamby, Elton Venable of Bovina, Walter Freeman of Moore County, Clarence Dickson of Friona and John Turner of Hereford.

Then Wheeler himself took the stand. He told of his military career, of winning the silver star for gallantry in action, and about not remembering the actual fighting he did to win the medal.

He told about the 10 day period after Margaret had left him and before the killing. He said he could not eat nor sleep and was "definitely worried." He said, "I wanted to know if she left because she wanted to or what."

He denied he planned to kill Huckert, saying, "I told him if he would help me find Margaret, I'd forget any grudges, and he said he would."

He said when Mrs. McKee opened the back door, he heard his wife and his mother-in-law screaming at him and Mr. McKee pointing a rifle at him. At the same time, he said, Huckert grabbed him around the neck. He said he thought his life was in danger and began to fight. He said he didn't actually remember what happened.

Asked by the DA why he had not mentioned Huckert grabbing him on the neck when he made his original statement, he said "I'm not sure that I didn't." He said he had not read back the statement and didn't pay any attention to what it said.

Two medical doctors were then put on the stand by the Defense. Both Dr. John Blaschke of Dalhart and Dr. L. B. Barnett of Hereford testified that they believed Wheeler was temporarily insane at the time of the killing. Both described him as a paranoid schizophrenic. The doctors said he had a "split personality."

Both admitted under cross examination that they had not examined Wheeler until about 18 months after the killing. They said they were basing their decisions on his life history. The doctors were both asked if they were not basing their opinion on what Wheeler told them, and they admitted that they had to believe most of what he told them.

Following the doctors' testimony the Defense rested at 3:55 Thursday afternoon. As rebuttal testimony, the State put M. E. Buzbee on the stand. Buzbee, owner of a local cafe, testified he heard Wheeler tell Huckert in his cafe on the night of the killing that "if I catch you with my wife or find out you have been with her it's going to be too bad for you." He also said he heard Wheeler tell Huckert that "I'm going to get you sooner or later." He said he, Wheeler, Huckert and two others went out to a vacant lot and all had a drink. It was apparently this testimony that made the district attorney change his story of how the killing probably happened.

In the Court's charge, the jury was instructed that they could find the defendant guilty of murder with malice if they believed the evidence justified, and could sentence Wheeler to as much as death or as little as two years; or that they could find him guilty of murder without malice and return a sentence of from two to five years; or that they could find that he was temporarily insane and find him not guilty; or that they could find that he acted in self defense and thus return a not guilty sentence.

Your Credit Record is an Open Book

Accurate records of how you pay your credit accounts are kept by the local Credit Bureau.

This information is available to members of the Bureau, and to the members of something like 2,000 other Credit Bureaus from coast to coast in the United States, Canada, Hawaii and Alaska.

The purpose of the Credit Bureaus is not merely to keep people from buying things for which they cannot or will not pay, but to encourage the sound use of credit as an indispensable part of the modern business system.

Therefore, while the Credit Bureau records often prevent irresponsible people from abusing the credit privilege, they also serve as a favorable reference and recommendation for those with sound credit habits.

If your record on file with the Credit Bureau is good, you find it easy to establish your credit with new people, in a new neighborhood or even a different city. And it may help you in other directions, too, for a good credit record is a mark of character in business circles.

Your credit record is, indeed, an open book, in which people can read how trustworthy you are. It pays to keep this record straight.

The World Series has everyone in a dither. This is especially true of the women, many of whom are becoming rabid baseball fans. A lot of men have to work during the broadcast hours—then get sandwiches for lunch. The advent of TV is the cause of this revolting development.

Back in the "Good Old Days" it was different. I was talking with Alex Thompson and he recalls that away, way back down the line—even before radio came into common use—that the Hereford business men would close their establishments during the World Series hours and gather down in the Bull Barn. Everyone would chip in a quarter or so to help offset the telegraph tolls and at intervals in would come a telegram reviewing the past inning. Alex says that they had a big blackboard and that someone would diagram the plays for the crowd.

"We had real fun," declares Alex, "and if anyone had told us that we would someday be watching the World Series, play by play, over

TV, we would have laughed him out of the place—or locked him up on grounds of "Non Compos Mentis."

The really big news in this change—in my opinion—is not the introduction of TV. Instead, it centers around the advancement and recognition of the "weaker sex." The girls have really handled things pretty smoothly. Washing dishes, changing diapers, hanging out clothes, and emptying the trash were chores once thrust upon the women. This will be hard for a lot of the younger generation of males to believe, but it is really true. With these outdoor grills and backyard barbecues, the men are already doing the cooking when the family entertains—and, first thing you know, they will have the full cooking job.

They don't have to worry about the shopping, though. The women are cagey. They will handle that, along with the rest of the salary check. Statistics show that around 70 percent of America's purchases are made by women—and this includes the men's clothes.

Even nature has succumbed to the wiles of the fairer sex. Back in the days when the men met and enjoyed the World Series at the Bull Barn, the mother was the only person who could possibly feed the baby. Now days, when Pop gets through with the dishes at night he sterilizes the bottles and sets the alarm clock. He's the guy who gives the baby its 2 o'clock bottle. About the only time you ever see an example of "male superiority" these days is when there happens to be a tire to change or a lawn to mow.

The most amazing thing about the whole deal is the manner in which the women have maneuvered the change and, at the same time, managed to avoid the responsibilities. Jury service, despite the liberal exemptions, is the big responsibility that the American women have inherited, along with all of the privileges. They have also become "cigarette addicts"—but can only blame this upon themselves. Even smart people like the "little woman" are bound to make a mistake once in a while.

This is a far cry from a few generations back when women were actually hitched to plows when the men felt like tilling the fields. What's more, I'll have to admit that the world is a more civilized and better place to live—especially for the women. The time when the man of the house "wore the pants" is gone, both literally and theoretically. If you don't believe it, just ask any grade school boy or girl, "Who's the boss at your house?" You'll find out plenty quick.

Furthermore, if you are a man, and if there is still any question in your mind, just ask yourself: "Am I a man or a mouse?" The answer will be, "Squeek, Squeek!"

My one conviction from the entire situation is that we need to put the U. S. diplomatic service in the hands of the American women. First thing you know, they will have the rest of the world eating out of our hands. If American womanhood could manipulate the men of other nations with the adroitness they have managed at home, we would have world peace for several generations—at least, until the women of all the other nations smarten up to the point where they can elevate themselves to the same enviable pedestal.

I notice where the dry cleaners are following the barbers with a 25 percent raise on suits and dresses. They attribute the increase to rising costs. A little bit here, a little there—and they say all of the profit is gone.

Meanwhile, farm prices and farm income are declining all over the country. This puts agricultural areas in a real squeeze. It is the retail merchant, however, who is hurting most. The prices have upped a few cents a dozen on nearly every item he sells and he has been forced to absorb the increase, chiefly because the raises have been so small they didn't justify a retail boost. Coffee, of course, was different. Only through generally increased volume in most places has the situation been able to continue.

The newspaper is the public's best buy. The Thursday Brand, for instance, sold for the sum of five cents in 1901—and it still costs a lousy nickel in 1950. Sunday costs a dime with practically all of the extra nickel going to offset the cost of comics. This is possible, of course, because the major portion of tremendously increased production costs have been absorbed by advertising. If the newspapers had no advertising, they would cost from 25 cents to 50 cents an issue—and there just wouldn't be any weeklies or small papers like The Brand.

The interesting thing about the set-up is the fact that the advertising, at the same time, increases volume, thus making mass production possible—and results in lower retail prices to the consumer.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Miss Drager, Mr. Kieschnick

In a double ring ceremony attended by close friends and relatives, Miss Adeline Drager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Drager, Rt. 3, was married to Mr. Herman Kieschnick Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Kieschnick of Lincoln, in the Immanuel Lutheran Church on Sunday evening at 6 p.m.

Rev. Harold Kaestner, pastor, read the ceremony before the altar arranged with white chrysanthemums and gladioli in front of the large transparent cross in the background. Baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums flanked the cross with seven-branched candelabra giving added illumination to the light of the cross. Greenery and white flowers were entwined about the chancel rail and pews were marked by white satin ribbon bows.

Mrs. Howard Scott provided a concert of wedding selections preceding the ceremony and accompanied Miss Martha Jean Brown who sang "Because" with "The Lord's Prayer" sung in conclusion of the ceremony. The wedding march from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's wedding march were used and "O Perfect Love" was played softly as vows were spoken.

Candles were lighted by Betty Buse and Bonnie Wagner wearing yellow net over taffeta dresses and corsages of white chrysanthemums tied with yellow ribbon.

The bride's attendants presented a rainbow of color in pastel pink, green, lavender, blue and white net gowns fashioned identically with fitted bodice having shirred folds of the material cuffing the off the shoulder neckline, and full floor length skirts. Bridesmaids were Sue Springer, Ruthie Kieschnick of Lincoln, and Irene Drager with Janalee Drager, sister of the bride, serving as junior bridesmaid. Bonnie Axe was maid of honor. All carried arm bouquets of white chrysanthemums tied with ribbon to match their dresses.

George Kieschnick of Giddings, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man and ushers were Elmo Kieschnick, brother of the bridegroom, and Eldor Umlang of Lincoln and Walter Vogler.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore traditional white satin. The fitted bodice was covered with lace and featured appliqued lace flowers studded with rhinestones at the low neckline and on the voluminous tulle skirt which ended in a chapel train in the back. The long fitted sleeves came to petal points at the hands. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a bonnet brim trimmed with tiny ruffles of tulle dotted with rhinestones.

She carried out the bride's custom of wearing something old, new borrowed and blue with a lucky coin in her slipper. Her only ornament was a pearl necklace, the gift of the bridegroom, and the bridal bouquet was of white rosebuds and stephanotis showered with white satin streamers.

The bride's mother wore a navy nylon dress with navy and white accessories and a white carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore brown crepe with black and avocado green accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Reception in Church Following the ceremony a reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church. The refreshment table was laid in white linen and the bride's bouquet, together with those of the attendants, were used as table decorations. The tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple. Bernice Beckman, cousin of the bride, presided and Cleta Betzen assisted guests in registering.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to points in New Mexico, the bride was wearing a navy frock with navy and pink accessories and a shoulder corsage of pink rosebuds.

After Oct. 2, they will make their home near Lincoln where he is engaged in farming.

District President Here For Music Club Luncheon

Music Study Club held its opening luncheon of the 1955-56 season in Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church at 1 o'clock. Highlight of the meeting was the address given by Mrs. E. Glenn Ross of Goodlet, president Seventh District, Texas Music Clubs, who spoke on the state and district aims and objectives. After outlining projects sponsored by the state organization she told of the D'Auna Scholarship which she founded in the Seventh District. She explained the need for a scholarship fund and told of the student who received the scholarship for this year.

Mrs. H. A. Close, president of the club, welcomed the group and urged cooperation in the coming year's work. She also presented the guest speaker and introduced two former Presidents of the club here for the luncheon, Mrs. C. H. Dillehay of Bonham and Mrs. H. L. Broadwell of Amarillo. New year books were distributed and discussed. Those attending were Mesdames J. R. Allison, John Sims, Sam Albright, J. E. Beyer, Bill Brady, W. T. Carmichael, H. A. Close, R. P. Conaway, B. Y. Crosthwaite, Cliff Estes, C. C. Ferguson, H. K. Fox, Ed Line, J. C. McCracken, Cecil Massey, C. J. Mountz, C. W. Parker, A. J. Schroeter, W. J. Stanford, Wayne Thomas, A. O. Thompson, S. M. Dunnam, W. E. Dameron, Glenn Snyder, Jeff Gilbreath, A. C. Thompson, S. O. Wilsson, C. R. Smith, and Misses Frances Dameron and Mattie Mae Swisher.

Hewitts Honored On Their 50th. Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hewitt, former Hereford residents, recently celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary with a family reunion and an informal open house at their home at 405 West Grand, Artesia, N. M. All of the couple's eight children were present, and 50 friends called during the afternoon.

A family dinner was held at noon. Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames A. L. Hewitt, Hagerman, N. M.; J. W. Jones, Artesia; Frank Hewitt, Artesia; E. C. Hewitt Jr., Linda and Bob, Brady; L. C. Hewitt and Suzanne, Hereford; A. J. Hunsley, Joey and Gary, Kansas City, Kan.; Mrs. Paul Kelly and James, Artesia; Mrs. W. O. Cowan, Emory; Mrs. Ted Ayres, Hoqueam, Wash.; and a great-granddaughter Becky Ayres, Hoqueam, Wash. Two grandchildren, Joyce Kay and Wayne Hewitt were unable to attend.

E. C. Hewitt and Miss Carrie Davis were married Sept. 15, 1905 in Tucumcari, N. M. Following their wedding the couple made their home in Flomot, where they lived until 1913 and then moved to Roswell, N. M., where he engaged in ranching north of Roswell. They moved to Hereford in 1932 and Mr. Hewitt farmed southeast of town until he retired in 1948. They moved to Artesia in 1952.

Golden giant chrysanthemums and tiny gold pompons with gold and Autumn leaves in a crystal bowl centered the tea table. Crystal holders held Golden tapers on each side of the floral arrangement. A three tiered wedding cake was served during the afternoon with pineapple punch, gold mints and nuts. Assisting with the serving were Mesdames A. L. Hewitt, Frank Hewitt, E. C. Hewitt Jr., L. C. Hewitt, Ted Ayres and M. D. Sharp.

El Nino Study Club Hears About 'The Little Stay Home'

Mrs. Bill Waldrep presented the first study program of the year at the El Nino Study Club session held in the home of Mrs. Jim Bookout Monday evening.

The subject for the day was "My Little Left-at-Home and Me" and the speaker discussed the problem confronted by a mother with a two to six year old when an older child starts to school. She said in part "In many children this brings on a physical and mental emotion that should be handled with tact and understanding. Authorities suggest that mothers consider a play group which would mean a small group of mothers taking turns in their homes to supervise children left at home in work and play. To give the child a feeling of importance and something to do, each mother should have something different from the other. Records one day, stories another, and some handcraft."

Secret Pals Are Revealed

Golden Circle Class of the First Baptist Church met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Robert Calhoun in a farewell party for class members who will go to other groups on Oct. 1.

Secret pals were revealed and gifts were exchanged. Mrs. O. H. Herring opened the program with a prayer and Mrs. Roy Calvert gave a tribute to the teacher, Mrs. R. H. Hale, giving an original poem dedicated to her. Mrs. Calvert also gave a humorous reading.

Hostesses were Mesdames Sandford Smith, E. Ward, J. E. Young, R. H. Hale and Leonard Davis, L. Culpepper, Coy Phillips, Roy Thompson, G. P. Owen, O. H. Herring, G. E. Harris, Alice Cox, Sank Ramey, C. E. Beauford, Sandford Smith, and Hazel Sparks.

A round table of the play group plan was held after the program.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Darrell Blanton, Ivan Block, Elizabeth Bonesio, Ben Childers, T. J. Clary, R. A. Daniel Jr., Bill Decker, O. G. Hill Jr., John Jacobsen Jr., Sam Nunnally, W. J. Reeves, Edgar Skypala, Wayne Thomas, Bill Waldrep and the hostess.

Tea Courtesy Is Given For La. Visitor

Mrs. R. M. Sibley of Shreveport, La., who is a house guest in the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. M. Cogswell, was honored at a tea courtesy given by Mrs. Cogswell Friday afternoon.

Informal conversation made up the entertainment for the afternoon and tea-time refreshments were served from a table laid with a lime-green satin cloth. The floral centerpiece was of pink roses and orchid asters stemming from a silver bowl, flanked by white tapers in silver holders. Presiding at the silver services were Mrs. Ralph McCullough and Mrs. Jeff Gilbreath.

Invited guests included Mesdames Cliff Estes, Earl Phillips, W. J. Krumbain, J. R. Allison, Carl Luke, O. M. Dickey, Jim Higgins, J. R. Lipscomb, Jim Black, J. M. Gilliland, S. O. Wilson, Reed Williams, W. S. Flutt, C. J. Mountz, H. G. Conkright, Frank Gyles Sr., W. J. Stanford, John Patton, Wirt Phillips, Geo. Staumbaugh, Rex Tynes, Myrtle Wright, Vivian Major, E. F. 'Good Members' Is Topic For Lone Star Study Club

"Good Club Members" was the topic discussed by Mrs. Elmer Patterson, guest speaker, at the Lone Star Study Club meeting held on Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. R. G. Blue. Mrs. H. E. Henslee was cohostess.

Mrs. Patterson suggested that club members learn to be good speakers, able to present their part on the programs in a clear and condensed pattern, to carry on any business with efficiency, to cultivate a sense of fair play and loyalty, to express their views on any given subject and to cooperate with officers and members alike.

Mrs. Leo Forrest, president, presided over a brief business session. Members attending were Mesdames Roger Corbett, V. E. Dodson, Leo Forrest, H. E. Henslee, C. D. Kelton, Joe Kendall, Vivian Major, G. W. Newsom, Coy Phillips, Earl Phillips, Earl Springer, Robert Thompson, Ed Warren, L. L. Womble, Glenn Witherspoon, Frank Lookingbill and the hostess, Mrs. Nola Cooper of Enid, Okla., who is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. R. G. Blue, was a guest.

Pioneer Study Club Opens New Season's Work

Beginning a study course titled "Around the World With Religion" the Pioneer Study Club held its first program session in the home of Mrs. Fred Barrett Tuesday afternoon.

"Safety" was the subject for the afternoon with Mrs. Delmar Sigle and Mrs. A. G. Bell presenting the program.

Mrs. Sigle reviewed an article "Send For an Ambulance" by Grafton, in which the author advises calmness in time of accident and giving the correct address when calling for an ambulance. Mrs. Sigle urged the group to be careful drivers and told how to obtain the quickest ambulance service.

Mrs. A. G. Bell conducted a drivers quiz using the Drivers Handbook as her authority on rules.

Mrs. Ray Johnson, president, presided and refreshments were served to Mesdames A. G. Bell, H. A. Close, Burl France, O. H. Herring, O. G. Hill Sr., E. S. Ireland, Ray Johnson, F. M. Kester, A. L. Manjeot, Ralph McCullough, H. E. Miller, Mary Seigler, Delmar Sigle, F. L. Terrell, Bess Werner, Myrtle Wright and the hostess.

Mrs. Owen Stagner Is Installed As President Of W.M.U. At Tea

To mark the beginning of a new church year, the Women's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church entertained with an installation tea given at the church Wednesday afternoon. New members of the church were special guests.

Mrs. G. N. Allison of the Avenue Baptist Church served as installation officer using the rainbow as the theme and featuring rainbow colors for the ceremonies. New officers include Mrs. Owen Stagner, president (re-elected); Mrs. O. M. Dickey, first vice president; Mrs. George Graham, second vice president; Mrs. E. B. Moseley, recording secretary; Mrs. G. P. Potter County Shows Decline Of 3.5 Percent In Underground Water

The portion of Potter County within the boundary of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District covers approximately 23,000 acres of land. The underground reservoir in the Ogallala formation beneath the area within the Water District contains approximately 344,000 acre-feet of ground water in storage available for pumping. The map in plate 1 shows the thickness of the water-bearing strata between the water table and the redbeds in 1938 before an appreciable amount of water had been pumped from the reservoir. The map in plate 2 shows the decline of the water table from the spring of 1938 to January 1955.

The volume of water remaining in the underground reservoir was determined by subtracting the volume of material unwatered since 1938 from the total volume of saturated material in 1938 and multiplying the remainder by the coefficient of storage of 15 percent. These data show about 376,000 acre-feet of water was in storage available for pumping in 1938, and about 32,000 acre-feet of water has been removed from storage since 1938. In other words approximately 8.5 percent of the volume of the available water has been removed since 1938.

The approximate quantity of underground water in storage, available for pumping, beneath an individual farm may be determined by multiplying the number of acres in the farm by the thickness of the water-bearing strata underlying the farm and then multiplying by the storage coefficient of 15 percent.

Suppose the farm consists of 160 acres and has 150 feet of water-bearing strata underlying it, then 160 acres x 150 feet x 0.15 percent equals 3600 acre-feet of water available for pumping. An acre-foot of water is the quantity required to cover one acre to a depth of one foot, and it is also equal to 43,560 cubic feet or 325,829 gallons.

An individual may use this information to determine, within reasonable limits, how long the quantity of underground water in storage beneath his farm will last at any annual rate of withdrawal. This assumes, of course, that his neighbors pump a comparable amount of water per acre on their farms.

These maps and studies of this type are parts of the regular hydrological work in progress by the staff of the Water District. Similar maps and information will be prepared, as rapidly as practicable, for all the counties within the Water District. Maps of Deaf Smith, Parmer, Castro counties and a portion of Potter County are now available.

Mrs. Grant Hanna
New President Of UCCW In Hereford

The United Council of Church Women met Friday, Sept. 23 in the First Methodist Church for their regular quarterly meeting. The meeting was opened with a prayer by Mrs. Paul Hoff, president, who presided. Mrs. Leo Forrest gave the devotional. The election of officers for the coming year was held. Mrs. Grant Hanna was elected president; Mrs. Jack Winget, vice president; Mrs. E. L. Naugle, second vice president; Mrs. Jess Carter, secretary; Mrs. Fred Axe, treasurer. Installation of officers will take place in November. Mrs. Don Root gave a report on the summer's work at the Latin American Day Center. She was reporting for Shirley Root, who taught at the Day Center throughout the summer. Mrs. Root reported that much had been accomplished and Shirley had enjoyed her work. A tea followed the meeting. Classes are held every Thursday for the different groups. All of those who conducted these classes have been pleased with the results, a spokesman said. Mrs. Jack Winget had a class for the girls. Mrs. Paul Hoff was in charge of the boys. Alice Cox conducted a class for mothers designed to teach them craft work and Mrs. Ed Dziuk held classes for the pre-school children. Mrs. Hoff asked for rummage to be sold at the Center.

Mrs. Lee Foster will give a book review on Loula Grace Erdman's book "The Far Journey" Oct. 20 in Fellowship Hall. Tickets will be $1. The proceeds will go to the work of the Migrant Labor Camp. Mrs. Foster is a member of this district of the Migrant Labor Board of the United Council of Churches of Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Owen Neel of Dallas spent Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. W. Bobby Mayberry Completes Tour

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Bobby C. Mayberry, seaman, USN, son of Carl J. Mayberry of Hereford, is scheduled to arrive here Oct. 1, aboard the escort aircraft carrier USS Badoeng Strait after completing a tour of duty in Western Pacific waters.

The carrier, with her submarine hunter-killer aircraft, participated in maneuvers off Japan, Formosa and Okinawa, and was the first of her type to utilize the S2F-1 Sentinel, a twin-engine submarine killer.

The ports of call included Japan, Okinawa, Formosa and Hong Kong.

experiments in over-sized laboratory tanks as well as in farm ponds, lakes and the ocean.

WHY FISH BITE
NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. — Chumming, competition and agitation are three of the major reasons why fish bite, says Dr. James R. Westman of Rutgers University who began research on the subject 16 years ago. Competition means the presence of a large number of fish. Chumming is the giving of a nonhooked handout to the fish. (It makes the fish careless). Agitation is caused by currents, air jets, propeller blades or lure action.

Dr. Westman says the ordinary fisherman should be able to hook an extraordinary amount of fish if these three factors are working. He says he did it many times in

Walser's Home Grounds Is 'Yard Of The Month'

Chosen as the September "Yard of the Month" by the Hereford Garden Club, sponsors of the yard of the month series of pictures, is the S. L. Walser home grounds at 102 N. Texas St.

This corner place was selected for the development of two basic fundamentals in landscaping; the overall development of the entire plot and the lawn which is the second step in good landscaping. The lawn is beautifully and well done in blue grass and clover and may well serve as an inspiration to others in landscaping new homes.

Of great interest is the attractive and substantial fence which gives protection to plantings, privacy for the family in the living area and contributes background for plantings. It is also in keeping with the architecture of the house and ties in with colors of the exterior.

What the Walsers have done in a short time is a revelation. Both front and back lawns are completely sodded. Shrubs are growing and flowers are blooming.

Good balance at the entrance area catches the eye immediately. This has been produced by planters aglow with blooming Firechief Petunias and coleus. The harmonious color-blend between the brick of the house and its trim, and the flowers spells a ready welcome to guests and passers-by.

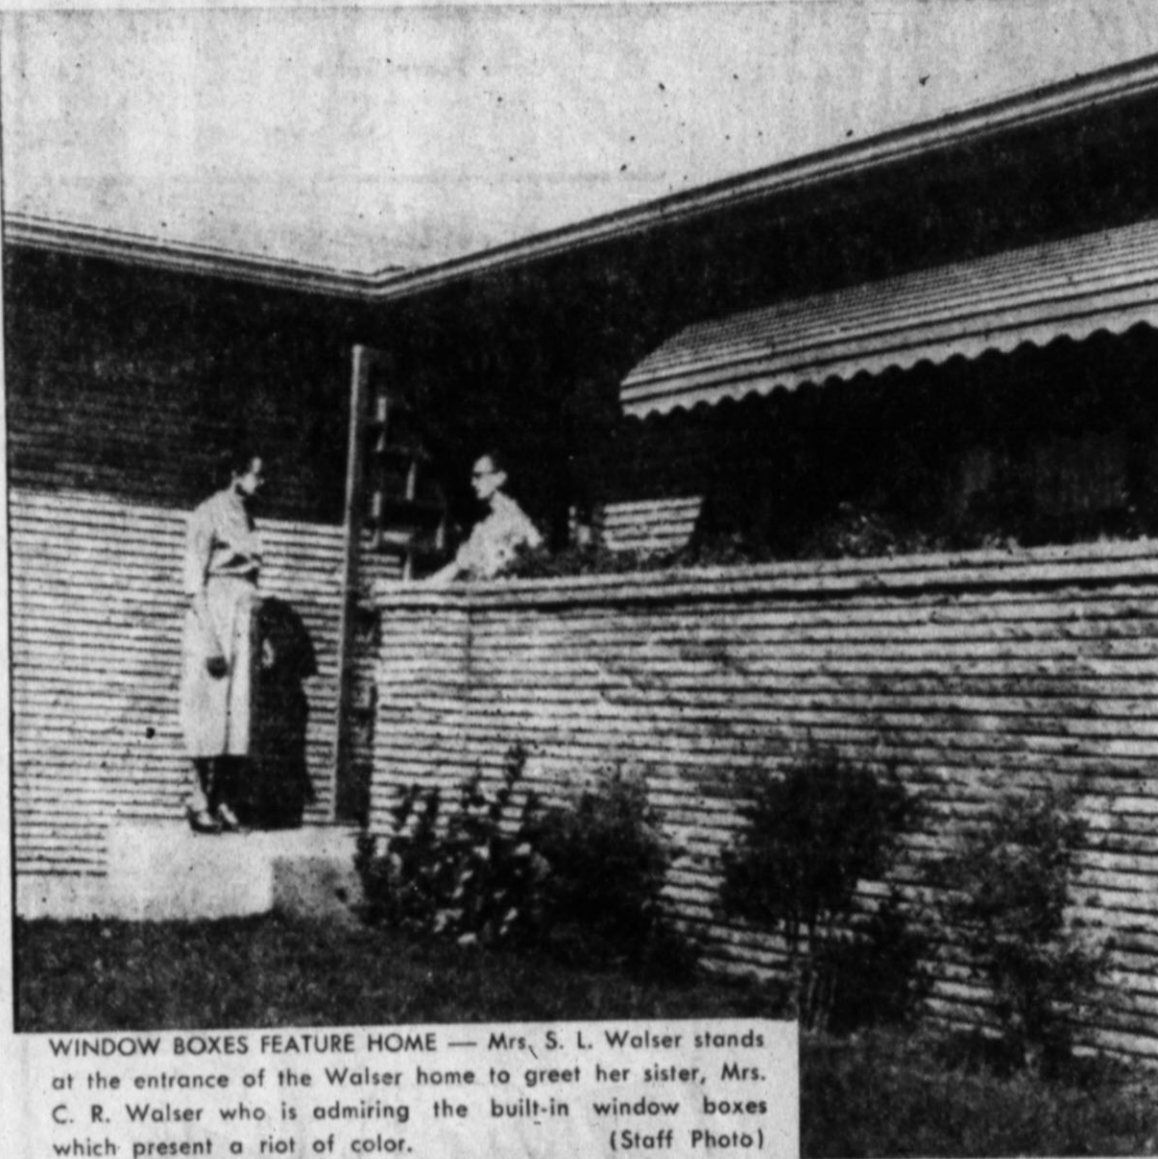

Cutting Yard
Joining the outdoor living room at the back is the cutting garden which is Mrs. Walser's hobby. There you'll find snap dragons, asters, zinnias, gladiolus, dahlias, poppies, and verbenas. There are hybrid tea roses and climbers and shrubs include mahonia, lagustrum nandina, red barberry and evergreens. Also featured are the red-leaved maple trees, and for variety okra and tomatoes grow along side, adding practicality as well as beauty to the garden as a whole.

The landscaping is far from complete and members of the Garden Club committee making the selection for its remarkable showing in such a short period of time, think it will be interesting to watch future developments in landscaping at the Walser home.

Rev. Hintze To Speak At Rally

Rev. Otto Hintze of New Guinea will be the special speaker at the fall rally of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League of the Panhandle, Oct. 4. An estimated 100 out-of-town guests are expected.

The Lutheran Church Missouri Synod has missions in New Guinea approximately 150 air miles inland from Madang in the area of Mount Haggen where there are eight missionaries, one teacher and his wife, 11 lay-builders and two nurses.

Rev. Hintze reported that of the 200,000 Enga people in this area, some five to six thousand natives are reached with the gospel every Sunday. There are 600 children enrolled in the Christian Day School and 600 adults are in special classes preparing for baptism.

According to a spokesman, everyone is invited to attend this convention.

Wrecks Cause Minor Damage

Two wrecks caused minor property damage in Hereford Wednesday.

The first accident occurred at the intersection of Avenue K and Forest Street when a car driven by M. R. Kimbrough going north on Avenue K collided with a 1947 Ford driven by Christine Strain, traveling west on Forest.

Police said tall weeds obstructed the vision of the two drivers. Miss Strain was attempting a left hand turn, police said, when the Kimbrough car hit the right rear fender of the Ford. No tickets were given. Damage to both cars was estimated at $150.

The second accident occurred on Schley Street, 70 feet north of East Second Street. Police said a 1954 Chevrolet driven by Dean Williams, was traveling north on Schley when a car driven by Sank Ramey came out of the H. and W. Implement Company used car lot and ran into the left front fender of the Chevrolet.

Ramey was ticketed for failure to grant right-of-way. Damage was estimated at $140.

Household Tips

Tiny strawberry tarts make a delightful ending to a company meal. Spoon a layer of cream cheese—softened with a little cream—into each small pastry shell, then fill with strawberries. Pour a little melted currant jelly over the strawberries for a glaze.

Know how to fix radish fans? First remove the stems and root tips from the radishes. Then cut the radish almost through in close-together crosswise slices. Dump the radishes into a bowl of ice water and place in the refrigerator until the paper-thin slices fan out.

Dice cooked beets and mix with creamstyle cottage cheese; mound on salad greens and serve with crisp crackers.

Remember that fluid milk, made from nonfat dry milk powder and water, needs to be refrigerated. Chill it in a covered container as soon as you have mixed it.

Add diced green pepper or celery to canned baked beans before heating. Makes good texture contrast.

A bottle of capers on the refrigerator shelf? Add them to a sandwich spread of tuna, salmon, crabmeat or hard-cooked eggs. Gives piquant flavor!

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hagar and Edith, Mrs. M. T. Hagar and Mrs. Ruby Daub went to Lubbock last Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ira Cottrell and children, Deborah and Bruce. Mrs. Cottrell is a daughter of Mrs. M. T. Hagar.

Ketti Frings Says, 'If You Want To Write, Go Ahead And Write'

By VIVIAN BROWN

If you want to be a writer, just don't sit around and whine about it. Write one of the country's successful writers, Ketti Frings.

"Wishful thinking will get you no place," she says. "Aspiration is no good without perspiration." Mrs. Frings whose recent writing achievements include screenplays for "The Shrike" and "Foxfire" (Universal), says you'll need to start out as a bread-and-butter writer if you'd learn to write at all. Forget about writing the great American novel is her advice. If you succeed in getting in the swing of writing at all, you can worry about the novel later, she explains.

"A job on a newspaper or as a copy writer or other writing for profit will keep you tapping the keys—the essential thing in writing. Performance and deadline are necessary to a writer's moral. Do not theorize. Get a thought and learn how to express it by putting it right down. Rules in grammar and punctuation are abused today by the best writers, so form does not count as much as ideas."

Good writers are usually lonely people, the kind who do not express themselves in other ways, she says. They enjoy day-dreaming. Loquacious types and good orators seldom have stick-tuitiveness for creative writing.

Concentrate on short pieces. The lengthy novels are on the downhill in popularity, Mrs. Frings believes because writers haven't the time to produce them. Television and pocket edition writing makes a hit because readers want an idea conveyed as quickly as possible.

Correspondence helps for practice in description, she says, but "letter writing is getting to be a lost art." It's so easy to pick up a phone, and long distance rates are cheaper, so young people seldom bother writing.

You must be a good reader to be a good writer, she believes. Read as much as you can. Newspaper reading is one of the greatest sources of stimulation for would-be writers, she says. Travel is essential too if you'd be a good writer. If you can't find a job working at writing, follow night courts and viewpoints might be obtained on one story, so keep sending it out until you strike the person who likes it. Along the way, too, you'll pick up some good constructive criticism if it is needed."

Mrs. Frings who was born Katherine Hartley in Columbus, Ohio started her career as a copy writer for a Newark, N. J. department store, went on to writing radio dramas, then left for Hollywood where she wrote for movie fan magazines. She wrote a novel "Hold Back the Dawn"—also a movie, another novel "God's Front Porch" and a play "Mr. Sycamore" produced by the New York Theatre Guild.

She used to work consistently at the typewriter, but now finds a pencil makes her more thoughtful. If you haven't got a typewriter that can't be one of your excuses for not writing either.

What's This

By Chris

The ball's high and outside, here comes the third pitch and—it's a hit!! Wow! Oh—uh excuse me. I guess I was thinking out loud. It's the most! I mean of course, getting to hear the world series between the Dodgers and Yankees during our classes and in study hall. I realize of course that it would be much better if someone would install a TV set so we could root for "our" team, but so far, no one has thought of that.

Oh well—Sale-lé-gaire—Everyone had a chance to get all steamed up at our political convention Wednesday. It was quite an affair, with all those speakers and campaign managers. Especially "Putt" Knox. Now there was a speech! The candidates for president and vice president of Student Council, and their campaign managers were: Tommy Weemes, with manager Martin Reid Moore; Don Sigle, with Lynn Boomer as manager; vice president, Bill Woodford, with Sue Kirby as manager; and Bobby Viegel, whose manager was John David Bryant. Ask Kay, Sarah Jo, and Jan what happened to them one day at fifth period. Chuckle—Of course, they may not tell you.

Glenn! What do you mean, pushing Dalene on Mr. Sullivan's grass?? Although it looked like a lot of fun. Yeah, that's right, Glenn Mutter. Who else would do such a thing?

Oh by the way, that was an interesting looking gavel Mr. Sullivan was flashing around Wednesday, wasn't it? I meant to ask him if he meant that "for official," don't DO that!

or if he brought it along for safety's sake.

Billy Don Combs, and his horse-shoes have got to go! He lars the entire upper floor when he walks into study hall and I've heard it rumored that he shakes the chandeliers on the bottom floor.

So now Kay is a "cherub." Well, what do you know? That's what Mr. Smith called her.

We all think Dora Fern is a cute gal don't we? Since we've all agreed, I'll tell you something funny. She blushes so pink, especially when she opens her mouth to sing one of those notes that is high like a tree (you know?) and nothing comes out, and especially when she's singing a solo. That's all right, Dora Fern, even Caruso had his days.

Jack Rovers had better watch his step! When he starts swineing those two by fours around, that's when I'm leaving. You never can tell.

It took Bill Calloway and Glenn Gault three years to make up, but I guess everything's ok now, because everywhere you look, there they are, swining hands just the way they used to do. Another couple that gave us quite a surprise was Barbara and Sammy.

Do you remember Mackie Redwine, that cute little trick who moved to Clovis about two years ago? You remember that Gary Crist had the third finger of her left hand occupied for ages. Well, they finally tied the knot. They were steadies for about four

Beauty At Home

By LYNN CARTER

Q. What can I do to strengthen and firm flabby chin muscles?

A. Make a habit of patting these muscles regularly and practice the daily exercise of throwing your head back as far as you can, then opening and closing the mouth. This will help considerably!

Q. My skin is oily and tends to be eruptive. What can I do?

A. You must give your skin more frequent soap-and-water cleansing. A medicated soap is best. Don't use perfumed soaps, as the perfume might be irritating. Always rinse with cold water, then sponge with an astringent lotion.

Q. What are some good bust-developing exercises?

A. Stand erect with torso stretched to full height. Thrust arms out in front, then upward, then downward, repeating rapidly. Or, hold arms straight out at sides at shoulder level and twirl twenty times forward, twenty times backward, holding elbows rigid.

Q. What should I do at first indication of a bunion on my toe?

A. Bathe the feet in warm water that has 1/4 ounce of boric acid added to each quart, for half an hour. Repeat several times daily. Avoid wearing tight shoes.

Q. What are some good eye-make-up hints for teen-agers?

A. Be sure to brush the eyebrows regularly. Pluck out the offending hairs, but be sure to pluck in direction of hair growth. Don't jerk them, or you will break off the hair at the roots. A tiny bit of cream, brushed on the brows and lashes, will aid in making them look glossy. Don't camouflage the eyes with mascara and eyeshadow.

Q. Is it true that perfumes react differently on different skins?

A. Quite true. The same perfume does not give forth the same scent after application to the skin of any two women.

How Can I?

Q. How can I renovate the leather seats of chairs, or any other articles of leather?

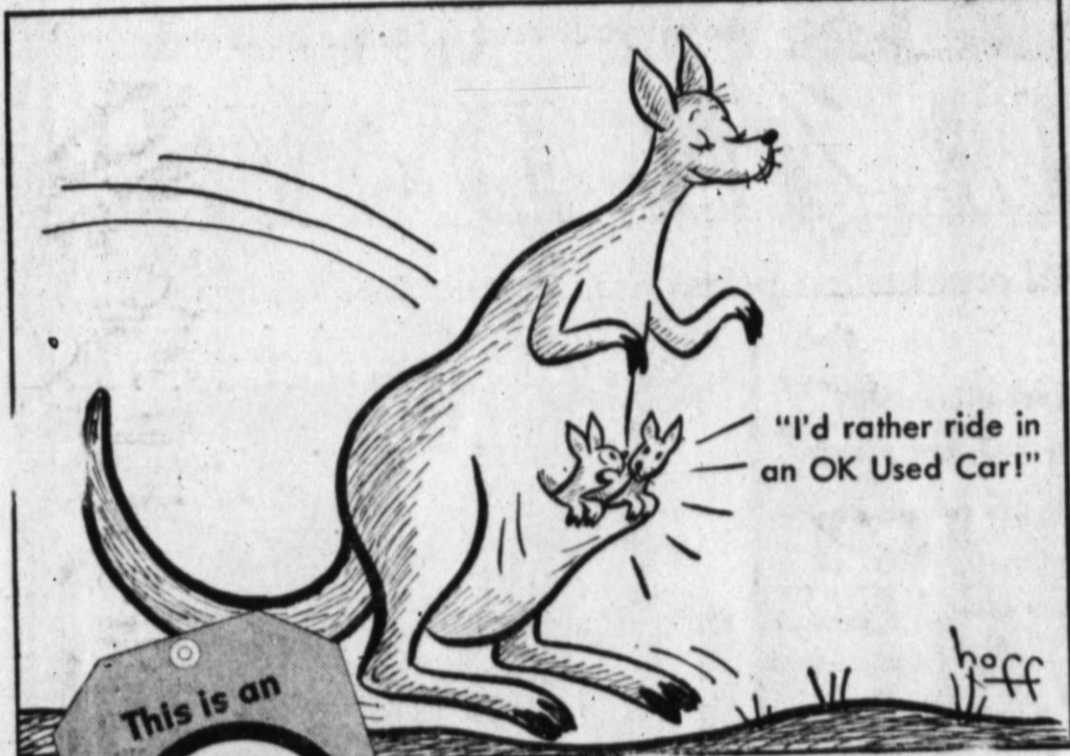

A. Beat the white of an egg to a froth and smear it over the surface with a soft cloth. Allow it to dry and then rub it well with another soft cloth.

Well, folks, guess what's waiting patiently for me? Macbeth, here I come.

Q. What can I do if the rain takes the dye out of a garment?
A. Place the article in milk overnight and it will usually restore the color.
Q. How can I clean soiled feathers?

A. Cover them with warm pipe clay and allow to stand for several days. Then beat out the powder.
Q. Does flour absorb odors?
A. Yes; do not keep flour near vegetables-or meat.

Like hot biscuits hot? Bake them in a pie plate and bring them right to the table in the plate. If you use two small pie plates for the baking, you can bring one to the table and leave the other in the turned-off oven to keep hot.

County Unit Plan Affords Possibility For Improved Efficiency, Lower Cost

Improvements and changes in various phases of life during the past few years have brought the United States from the "horse and buggy" stage into an era of automobile and jet travel. Adaptation of modern methods has spread the new formulas into even the most remote hamlet of the nation.

County government has changed little, however, since the early days of Texas. It was, therefore, with considerable interest that we noted the following article recently in the Ochiltree County Herald at Perryton:

"D. S. 'Bus' Maxwell has been recently appointed county roads overseer by the commissioners court and has been given full authority for maintenance of all county roads.

"The county is now operating on a county unit system instead of the precinct system and all county equipment is shared from a common warehouse.

Maxwell has been made responsible for all road work and all employees work under his supervision. He has the authority to hire and fire county employees and is to attend the regular meetings of the Commissioners court.

"He is to tour the roads in each precinct with each commissioner at least once a month.

"The county unit system of road maintenance has proved to be a more efficient and economical method than the precinct method, according to reports from counties which have tried both systems."

Value Of Freedoms Measured By Usage

During the past 10 years we have found frequent occasions to compliment Home Demonstration Club women of Deaf Smith County. The ladies this week instituted a program, however, which exceeds any other of their past accomplishments.

When the Commissioners Court met Monday to review and approve the budget, the procedure had been announced and advertised, according to all legal requirements. Other than members of the Commissioners Court, the meeting was attended by a representative of The Brand—and by nine Home Demonstration women, one for each club in the county.

The ladies asked questions, they took notes. What's more, they received excellent cooperation from the county officials. Next step in the routine will be a report by each of the representatives to her individual club.

These days we hear a lot about "Freedom of Speech," "Freedom of Press," and the people's "Right to Know." Appearance of the H-D delegates, however, was our first actual observance of groups or individuals who took advantage of their American heritage in a sensible and practical manner. In these days of rush and strife, it is not logical to expect that every individual will or could attend budget hearings of the County, City and School District. If each organization—civic club, women's club, American Legion, V.F.W., etc.—would choose a delegate to attend each of the hearings, then report at a scheduled club meeting or program, the nation's No. 1 problem will have been solved.

American "Freedoms and Rights" are worthless unless they are used. Public failure to understand government problems often leads to unjust criticism of officials. Lethargy and lack of interest on the part of the general public is today's outstanding threat to American democracy.

This initial step toward "Finding Out about My Government" on a grass roots level is the one thing which our nation needs most. It means that the United States can look forward to a continuation of "Government of the People, BY the People, and FOR the People."

Many a teacher who is easy on the eyes can be hard on the pupils.

Isn't it odd that it takes a baby two years to learn how to talk and it takes a man 40 years to learn to keep his mouth shut.

Roads are big business all over Texas. Take Deaf Smith County, for instance. The recent budget showed actual handling of $146,566 through the Deaf Smith road and bridge fund in 1954. It is estimated that $173,286 will be spent through the fund in 1955, and estimates for 1956 call for $163,730 in the road and bridge fund. Deaf Smith County has spent $197,560.72 on new road equipment during the past eight years, according to the 1955 County audit.

The Central Maintenance system, from a practical aspect, is highly similar to that employed by the school district in handling buses to serve various areas of the district. It affords the probability of having equipment where it is needed, when it is needed! At the same time, it offers the opportunity of holding down needless buying and eliminates the possibility of buying a new machine in one precinct, just because one may have been purchased in another precinct. Central purchasing and central supervision under the county unit system, likewise, has its advantages from the standpoint of efficient operation and low cost on good roads.

By contrast, the school transportation bill would more than triple if it operated without Central Maintenance, Central Purchasing and Central Supervision.

The idea, to say the least, provides "food for thought" for county officials and taxpayers. We know of no other $175,000-a-year business which operates without a manager. The "County Unit" System may be "old stuff" to most people, but it is new to us—and it could easily be the forerunner to better county government over the entire State of Texas.

Possibly even more important than offering an efficient, well organized business operation is the fact that the "County Unit" system recognizes the true importance of the County Commissioner. Since the automobile came into its own, creating big business in every county in Texas, the traffic, responsibilities and duties of the County Commissioner have multiplied many times over. Most people, however, still elect their Precinct Commissioner on the "horse and buggy" basis of his ability to build and maintain roads, whereas his TRUE duty these days more concerns the planning of finances and spending of more than $2 million during his four year term.

A Really Old One

Complaints were heard again this week from unsuspecting housewives who say that they are being high-pressured through telephone conversations which are presented as contests.

The chief difference in these contests is that there seldom fails to be a winner. The question this year is "What Texas City passed the million mark in population." If the housewife falters, the obliging saleslady carefully points out that it is Texas' largest city, that a great Texas statesman bore the same name, and that it is located in the gulf coast area. By this time the housewife usually gets around to saying "Houston" and, after due congratulations on her good fortune, is offered the opportunity of purchasing some photographs on a special deal.

The sales pitch, although an old one, is apparently profitable to the studio and, so far as we know, is within the law. The housewife, like any prospective customer, can say "Yes" or she can say "No." Personally, we would rather buy on the basis of a more conventional paragraph, one which at least gives us a feeling of having normal intelligence.

The sales pitch is such an "oldie," in fact, that it is providing considerable amusement and entertainment to quite a few Hereford women. One housewife was telling us that she first guessed "Amarillo" and, when the saleslady pointed out that the city in question was near the Gulf coast, the housewife guessed "Orange". The third additional clue cited the city as being named for a famous Texas statesman, so the lady timidly suggested "Austin". When the saleslady gave another clue and invited her to continue, the Hereford woman replied: "Well, it must be Houston. Furthermore, I don't want any of your old pictures."

"I'M AFRAID THAT YOU HAVE THE WRONG OFFICE, SIR."

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

'We Like Them,' Citizens Say Of New Traffic Signs

Hereford drivers have had about two weeks to get used to the new yield right-of-way signs. Do you think they are a good thing or not?

MRS. LOUIS BECHMAN

My husband and I like them better. And I think they are doing good.

WILBER BELL

I like them a lot better. They save a lot of time.

MRS. J. E. COCKRELL

I certainly think they are a good thing. They are a great protection.

MRS. E. A. MAYFIELD

I think they are a good idea. And I certainly hope they help.

W. J. MESSICK

I think these signs are a great improvement and Hereford needs more of them. This way you don't have to stop when you know it's safe, this speeds up traffic.

MRS. DALTON L. ROBERTS

I think the new signs are wonderful. I was really proud when I saw them. They will be a great help to traffic conditions.

CARLYNN WILLIAMS

I certainly think they are a good thing, I only wish there were more of them.

MRS. M. T. RUTTER

I do believe the new signs are a good thing. People are more likely to yield a right-of-way than coming to a stop.

MRS. SAM WOODY

I think they are a good thing if will just do as the signs say.

MRS. R. C. WHITE

I think they are a good thing and worth while.

MRS. G. O. THOMPSON

I think they are a good thing. They seem to be placed on intersections where you don't have to stop to see if any one is coming.

'Tater Peelin's' by Roberta Campbell

Personal note to a column writer in The Dallas News who quoted from Tater Peelin's a month or so ago: — There isn't a young'un in Deaf Smith County old enough to have its eyes open that hasn't seen rain—good soaking rain—from three to five inches of it in the last week. Just when we had decided the weather pattern had been changed permanently in our section of the country, we woked up to find an old fashioned rain had set in that kept coming down for two or three days. The bullfrogs blew the dust out of their pipes and people on main street began to hum the Boating Song before a mildewed sun finally peeked out again.

We hope we haven't overlooked anybody who came out after blackeyed peas this year that we promised to call when the cream peas were ready. If you have been waiting and haven't heard from us then they are ready for picking.

We also still have a good many nice blackeyes, both shells and snaps, and should have some along until frost.

—tp—

The Do-It Yourself Idea that has gained momentum lately doesn't appeal to us anymore.

When we built our own kitchen cabinet while back, Buster helped us install the plumbing for the sink and ever since we have been turning faucets off backward and following our guests around to see that they didn't leave the water running to fill up the cesspool.

Before school started, while our well was still as dry as the Sahara, we decided to do the job over and now we have to watch ourselves to see that we have the hydrants shut off.

Creatures of habit? Yep, just now quit looking for honey bees to fly out when we open the cabinet doors, after living with them for three years.

Community Builders

By MARY JO PETERS

This week's community builder, Mrs. Earl Plank, has always found time to help others as well as play her roll in our community's activities. Her main work however is with the youth. This has not been an easy job since Mrs. Plank is a farmer's wife who lives four and a half miles out of town. She also has three children, a daughter Earleen, a sophomore in college and two sons, Pete, a freshman, and Dick, who is in the fifth grade.

It has been through the wonderful cooperation of her husband and family and Mrs. Plank's ingenuity that she has been able to play such an active part in the community.

When Mr. and Mrs. Plank first came to Hereford they took on the task of consolidating the schools of the surrounding area. The Planks were also among the first to help organize a P-T.A. Mrs. Plank held an office that first year. At the present time she is secretary of the school board, the third woman to serve on this board and the first one to serve since the 20's.

For five years our Community Builder worked with the Camp Fire girls; she belonged to the leader's association of that group for two years. Not only did she see to it that the girls went on trips and tours and teach them crafts, but she taught them how to help others and enjoy it. As one of the girls under her leadership said, "It seemed like we were always helping others but we had fun doing it." At the present time, she is a Cub Scout Den Mother of Den 4, Pack 51, teaching them in a way that will help them become good future citizens.

Mrs. Plank is very active in her church; if you want something done, put Mrs. Plank on the committee. She is junior superintendent of the Methodist Church and project member of the W.S.C.S. She has served in several other offices of her church throughout the past years.

Mrs. Plank was instrumental in organizing the Day Center out at the Labor Camp. There was a five-month-old baby at the Labor Camp whom Mrs. Plank took into her home for three months; she also took care of four children for seven months while their mother was in the hospital.

Mrs. Plank and Earleen are the ones that came up with the idea of having a Foreign exchange student come to Hereford. This student is sponsored by the F.H.A.

For the Home Demonstration Club Mrs. Plank serves as reporter and delegate to the Federation of Women's Club. She was elected chairman of the Citizenship Committee for the coming year. In the past she served on the expansion committee of this group.

In politics, Mrs. Plank was Alternate Delegate of Deaf Smith County at the Democratic Convention a few years ago.

At present, Mrs. Plank goes to school three days out of the week at West Texas State College. She is taking economics, salesmanship and speech. Her hobby is carpentry. She designed and did much of the work on her own home.

Mrs. Plank was born in Francisville, Ill., attended grade school in Sapulpa, Okla., and high school in Pampa. She went to college at Texas Women's College. On July 10, in Pampa she married and in 1943 the Planks came to live in Hereford from Portales, N. M.

Mrs. Plank believes this is the most perfect place in the world to raise children because, in her opinion, there is no place like Hereford.

TULIA GETS FIRST COTTON

Lloyd Whitfill delivered the first bale of 1956 Tulia Cotton to Sefcik Gin Friday afternoon. The Empire cotton was grown on the Julius Hansen farm at Faffir Switch. It weighed 420 pounds and produced 1710 pounds of seed cotton. Observers estimated that the cotton would yield about 1 1/4 bales to the acre.

AIRPORT MANAGER RETIRED

Members of the city council of Levelland at a regular meeting Monday evening approved pavement of $29,889.87 as the city's part in a $68,837.88 summer paving job here. A total of 30 blocks of seal-coat are involved in the project. Also at the meeting councilmen voted to renew the contract of Julian Sirmans as manager of the Levelland Airport for the coming year at a lease price of $50 per month.—Of the total project, $36,814.91 is being paid by Levelland property owners.

UMBARGER TO BUILD SCHOOL

Umbarger school trustees of the Common School District No. 11 approved a $30,000 bond election to provide a new high school building at a meeting recently. Studies concerning building a new high school building have been in progress for more than a year, and the trustees have been assisted by an advisory committee of citizens.

GINS READY FOR HARVEST

With the cotton raisers of the county poised to begin the harvest of an 85,000-acre crop, a survey of the cotton ginning industry of the county reveals that more than $2,000,000 is invested in the gin plants of the county which have been made ready to handle the 1955 crop in Floydada.

RAINS CLOSE ROADS

Rains continued to dot the Plains this past weekend and early this week, but most weather observers believe the showers came too late in the season to be of any material use in increasing the harvest this fall. Some late cotton and grain in the low places may put on more, but the general picture is not too hopeful. Roads were closed to westbound traffic on Highway 84 for two days.

ENROLLMENT DROPS

Enrollment in Shamrock Public Schools the first two days of the 1955-56 term was 31 less than in 1954-55, Elmer J. Moore announced this week. Early enrollment for the five schools totaled 855. The 1954 enrollment was 886.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's Note: The Bootleg Philosopher is worried again, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

When a politician sets out to help the voters, I always pay attention, but sometimes the thing can be overdone. Over-enthusiasm is sometimes worse than unconcern.

Last night I was reading in a newspaper which some outfit sent me as a free sample where a government official in Washington said he was worried over the plight of older men, which he described as men over 40.

According to him, business is reluctant to employ a man over 40, even more reluctant to hire one over 50, and when he gets 60, it's harder than ever to get business interested.

This, he said, was a deplorable situation, to use his words, and something ought to be done about it. Business ought to be encouraged to hire older men too.

I want you to know I appreciate this man's concern, but as far as I'm concerned he's talking when he ought to be listening.

If big business says when a man gets over 40 he ought to slow down, then you ain't gonna catch me questioning big business. If an older man wants to keep on working, or quit his present job and start another one, that's his business, I'm in favor of it, but when you start making blanket statements taking in everybody, I'm one fellow who wants out from under the cover.

You keep up this agitation for hiring older people and somebody will take you seriously and before long somebody will get the idea an old age pension check shouldn't start fill a man's 70, when they raise it to 80, and finally wind up allowing you a small burial fee.

Retirement age is not a fixed age. If Winston Churchill wants to keep on forging ahead at 81, that's his business, but if I want to hang up my hoe a lot sooner, that's my business, and the last thing I want is some Washington official out shaking the bushes to find me a job. I don't think he could do it, but there's always the possibility he might.

The right to retire when you feel like it and not have somebody hunting up a job for you is one of the fundamental rights of free enterprise, which gives a man not only the right to be energetic but also to sit down and watch other people being energetic.

Yours faithfully,

J. A.

Mouse Trap
After a mouse has been caught in a trap, do not use the trap again until it has been thoroughly scalded, dried, and aired, to take away all scent. Do this, or use a new trap. These traps can be purchased so cheaply, that many women prefer to throw them away with the mice in them.

Keeping Onions
Onions can be kept for a long time if they are dried thoroughly in the sun, then tied in bunches and suspended by strings from the attic ceiling.

Removing Glass
An aid in removing a broken pane in the window is to pass a red-hot poker slowly over the old putty.

Fern Tonic
Use the leftover coffee as a tonic for the ferns. Pour a little fresh water through the grounds to weaken the coffee slightly, then pour around the ferns. Do this about once a week.

Refreshments
Every housewife should keep root beer, a stock of lemons, or gingerale on hand. If unexpected guests call, she will not have to send out for more expensive refreshments.

Paint Stains
Equal parts of turpentine and ammonia will seldom fail to remove paint spots from a woolen garment, regardless of how old the stain may be.

Rinse Well
The successful laundress pays particular attention to rinsing everything thoroughly. It gives colored clothes a bright, clear color, and helps make the white clothes "snow white."

Fresh Fruit
Oranges, grapefruit, or lemons will stay fresh when only half is used, if the cut surface of the remaining half is covered with a piece of waxed or oiled paper.

Cleaning Steel
One of the best ways to clean steel is to rub it with a paste made of emery powder and oil, mixed to the proper consistency.

How Can I?

By Anne Kahley

Q. How can I save time when cleaning silver?
A. Make a solution of 1 quart of boiling water, 1 teaspoon baking soda, and 1 teaspoon salt. Pour into an aluminum vessel and place the silver in it. Allow it to remain for a few minutes, then rinse with clear hot water. Clean the kettle at once.

Q. How can I keep fish fresh for a day or two before using?
A. Cover the fish with salt and wrap in a cloth wrung out of vinegar. Place on ice, and when ready to use, rinse with cold water.

Q. How can I make glass opaque?
A. Rub it with a lump of putty. Apply evenly and carefully, rubbing only one way.

Q. How should faucets be cleaned?
A. Try using lemon rinds, after squeezing out the juice, for polishing nickel faucets. Rub thoroughly, then wash and polish with a dry cloth. The faucets will shine like new.

Q. How can I get rid of flies?
A. Flies will disappear quickly if a few drops of lavender oil are put on a cloth and fastened to the top of the screen door where the flies collect.

Q. How can I smooth out crumpled tissue paper?
A. To make tissue paper, or other wrinkled paper, look like new, press with a medium warm iron.

Q. How can I remove indelible ink stains?
A. Indelible ink marks can sometimes be removed from fabrics by sponging with equal parts of ammonia and turpentine.

Frio News

By FRANCES ANDREWS

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Benson have returned from a two week's tour of the New England States. They accompanied his brother, Rev. and Mrs. William Benson of Fort Worth. They report some of the highlights of the trip were seeing the Washington Monument, the White House, the New York State Capitol and the Statue of Liberty. They visited and shopped in the famous Maccys, of New York and went over into Canada. Niagara Falls was worth the entire trip, they report. They visited with a sister, Mrs. Ben Malone and family, at Shepardsville, Ind., on their return. Their daughter, Genelle visited Doris Turner, in Hereford while her parents were away.

Several members of the Mother's Needle Club, their husbands, and visitors enjoyed a watermelon supper at the C. N. McClure home Thursday night. Those attending were Messrs. and Mesdames H. F. Benson, W. T. Gunstenson, M. J. Noel, H. E. Lindley, Luther Ellis, J. L. Brooks, Earl Cole, A. T. Jones, Gilbert Masten of Sudan, Owen Andrews, W. H. Awtrey, Mrs. A. L. Frazier of Sudan, and the McClures.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brock and family of Corpus Christi, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brock of Dimmitt, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brock and Richard of Hereford, visited in the Leonard Schmidt home Wednesday evening.

The Frio Home Makers Club met Tuesday with Mrs. Jack Jones. Mrs. W. A. Springer gave a demonstration on the simplified way of ironing a shirt. A discussion of work-saving tips was the roll call answer. The next meeting place was changed to the home of Mrs. Owen Andrews, and is to be Oct. 11. Members are to bring samples of gifts that can be made at home or bring ideas about them, for roll call. Those present for the meeting were Mesdames Floyd Cole, Frank Robbins, B. M. Sadduth, W. A. Springer, Owen Andrews, J. H. Dobbs, E. F. Vogler, Roy Hume and the hostess.

W. A. Springer was taken to the hospital, Thursday, after suffering a stroke. He was resting easier Thursday night.

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. What after-shampoo rinses are good for adding softness and luster to one's hair?
A. Either vinegar or lemon. When using vinegar, add three tablespoons to a quart of water. If using lemon, one is usually enough although some women prefer two to four quarts of water. Follow either of these rinses with one of clear water.

Q. How can I prevent my fingernails from constantly splitting as I use my typewriter at my office?
A. You can prevent much of this trouble if you apply your nail polish over the ends of your nails clear to the other side. This usually helps to reinforce the nails.

Q. The skin on my neck is dark and stained-looking. What can I do about this?
A. Try bleaching this skin with a half-lemon squeezed into a small glass of water.

Q. What exercise will help reduce my waist measurement?
A. Stand erect, feet separated. Bend both elbows with fingertips of each hand on back of head at hairline. Keep elbows up and back. Bend your trunk to the left, trying to touch your left elbow to your left leg (or as far as possible). Repeat to other side, and keep alternating—first to the left, then to the right.

Q. How can I help remove some calluses from my hands?
A. Try cuticle remover on these, allowing to remain several minutes, then rinsing off and rubbing dry with a rough towel. Repeat this treatment, if necessary.

Q. Please suggest a good facial beauty mask I can mix myself.
A. Add three teaspoons powdered milk to the white of an egg, and apply to face and throat. Let dry, then remove with tepid water.

Q. How can I keep my oily skin smoother and less moist?
A. Try an astringent lotion chilled with ice. This should help firm any flabby muscles and stimulate lazy pores through which too much oil is exuding. After removing your cleansing cream, or after washing, apply the lotion with some cotton and then slap your face dry.

Q. How do I go about bleaching the hairs on my legs?
A. A periodical application of a mixture of one-half teaspoon toilet ammonia and three tablespoons of peroxide should help. This must be mixed fresh for each treatment.

Q. Can you give me a formula for a good "homemade" deodorant?
A. Boric acid 2½ ounces; zinc oxide ½-ounce; talc ½-ounce.

Q. How can I lipstick my mouth in a natural way?
A. Don't moisten your lips before application, as this causes the rouge to roll, and take on a caked appearance. Always make up the upper lip first, then gently but firmly close the mouth, rolling the upper lip over the lower, thus imparting the correct outline on your lower lip. Apply freely and remove excess by pressing and blotting with tissue. To obtain a clear, well-defined lip outline, your best bet is the use of a sable lipstick brush.

Q. Is there anything I can do to make my baby's hair curly?
A. I don't think so, but you can encourage curls by daily training of the hair.

Q. How can I quickly and easily freshen "stale" makeup?
A. Squeeze a pad of absorbent cotton in cold water, then dip it into skin freshener and press this over the face lightly. This absorbs oil and shine. Then add a bit of powder.

Q. How can I reduce my upper arms, which are too heavy looking?
A. Massage is good. Relax the arm first by resting the back of the hand on the table. Then spank the unwanted flesh smartly with the palm of the other hand and finally with your fist. Be vigorous and faithful with this massage.

Q. How can I get lipstick stains out of unwashable materials?
A. First work white petroleum jelly or lard into the stain to loosen it. Then sponge with carbon tetrachloride, or dip into a bowl of this solvent. Should a trace of color remain, sponge with denatured alcohol.

Q. Is it all right to use a cake of soap for shampooing the hair?
A. I don't recommend this. It makes thorough rinsing of all soap from the hair too difficult. Much better is the use of liquid soap shampoos.

How To Tell German Measles From The More Serious Red Measles

ROBERT V. WHIPPLE, M.D. You know the difference between measles and German measles. The word measles is too bad the word measles is used for the name of two such different diseases. It's important to know these diseases apart. German measles, though a mild disease, can do serious harm during pregnancy. Measles, sometimes called red measles or regular measles, is a serious disease that almost everyone has some time in life. Usually it comes in childhood. It begins with a fever, cough, runny nose and red inflamed eyes. These symptoms last for a few days, then a rash appears. Fevers go pretty high in measles and the youngsters get quite sick. Measles is very communicable and so often occurs in epidemics. One attack of measles usually leaves a life time immunity. German measles, or three-day measles, on the other hand is a very mild disease. There may be a slight fever (often there is none at all) and a rash. The rash looks something like the rash of measles, but here's where the similarity between the two diseases ends. With German measles there is no cough, no running nose, no red eyes. The disease is mild and short-lived. The first symptom is usually the rash while with regular measles the child is sick for several days before the rash appears. When you hear the story that a child broke out with measles in school you can be pretty sure it's German measles. With regular measles the youngster is at home in bed when the rash appears. German measles like regular measles leaves a lifetime immunity.

If this were the end of the story on German measles we could almost forget about such an inconsequential disease.

Unfortunately German measles has one very serious aspect. If the disease is acquired during the first three months of pregnancy it may do serious harm to the unborn baby.

The relation between German measles and injury to the unborn child was unknown until in 1941 an Australian eye doctor observed an unusual number of babies with an eye disease which led to blindness. He finally tied these unusual cases in babies to an explosive epidemic of German measles the year before. He published his hypothesis which has been abundantly confirmed since then. Not only blindness, but deafness, heart disease and mental retardation frequently occur in babies whose mothers had German measles during the first three months of pregnancy. The disease does very little harm to the mother but the virus circulating in her blood can play havoc with her developing baby. Since the relationship of German measles and injury to unborn babies has been definitely known much work has been done to try to find some way of avoiding such disasters. Medical science has not come up with any real solution. No method of immunizing against the German measles has been found. The best way to be safe is to have the disease in childhood. German measles is very mild. If you know of some family where there

SINGS DIFFERENT TUNE

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—Once billed as the singing bartender, Buddy Morris now is a non-singing bartender in a Rockford tavern.

Morris wrote music for his show business career that dates back to 1921. Now 48, he once sang with Wayne King's orchestra and was popular in the 1930's and '40's.

Morris says he quit show business because "show business is too rugged. And it isn't show business any more."

UNWARY BURGLAR

OMAHA (AP)—It's questionable whether the burglar who entered a home through the back window and stole $30 while a party went on in another part of the house could have done so if he had known who lived there.

It was the home of the pro wrestler Ernie Dusek.

Teach Children To Beware Of Deadly Black Widow Spider

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

Spiders will bite human beings if they are disturbed when they're hungry. The bite of most spiders is painful but not serious. However there is one type of spider, the black widow, whose bite is very serious—so serious that it may cause death.

It's a good idea to know about this most poisonous spider so that you can avoid him.

Black widow spiders are found in practically every part of the United States. They are more abundant in the south than in the north.

The spider seldom enters houses but is frequently found in basements, garages, sheds, outdoor toilets, culverts. It is often to be found under rocks, in hollow logs, in partly rotted wooden fence posts.

The web of the black widow looks rather different from that of most spiders: It is loosely woven, irregular and made up of coarse strands. It looks like a pulled out ball of cotton and lacks the lacy pattern of other spider webs.

Three or four hundred eggs are laid at a time and placed inside a dense whitish silken ball the size of a large pea. The eggs hatch in 3-4 weeks and the tiny spiders scatter over the web.

The female black widow spider is a shiny jet black on the upper surface of the body. On the underside there is a characteristic red mark shaped like an hour glass.

There may be one or more red spots near the tip of the body. The body of the fullgrown female is about 1/2 inch long. Male black widows are smaller. Young spiders and adult males have yellowish markings on the upper part of the body.

The bite of the black widow spider causes a stinging sensation. It leaves a tiny red spot on the skin which is often surrounded by a whitish area. Within a few minutes to an hour there is a sharp pain in the region of the bite and there may be some swelling. The aching pain spreads up the body and finally reaches the chest and the abdomen. The abdomen becomes rigid, breathing becomes forced and irregular, sometimes there are convulsions of the entire body. The heart rate becomes slow and irregular.

Whenever a tourniquet is used, it is most important to loosen it from time to time. The object is to slow the absorption of poisonous material from the bite. But circulation must not be completely cut off for more than a few minutes at a time or serious damage may be done to the nerves. Loosen the tourniquet then tighten it again every 3 minutes.

In case of a bite from a black widow spider, put an ice pack over the spot. If the bite is on an arm or leg, put a tourniquet around the limb above the bite. A tourniquet

"We have five electric water heaters for our home and motel, and we have found that electric water heating is economical. All you have to do is install an electric water heater and forget it."

"Always plenty of HOT WATER with my ELECTRIC Water Heater!"
says Mrs. Buford Dulin
DENVER CITY, TEXAS

"We have the water heaters in closets, right where clothes are stored. Because electric water heating is so safe and clean, the clothes are absolutely safe from fire and soot."

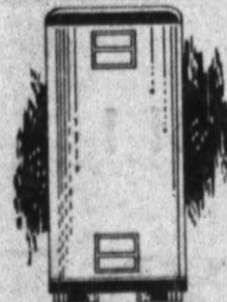

"The rooms in our motel stay much cleaner with the electric water heaters. And, of course, while the water is hot, the electric water heater is cool and doesn't heat up the house or the motel rooms in which they are installed."

"We have four small boys and we have absolutely no fear of letting them play around the electric water heaters. We know there is no danger of being burned." Want economical, clean, safe water heating? Then you want modern water heating. Of course, it's electric.

Molly Bettis Enrolls At Mary Hardin C.

Miss Molly Bettis of Hereford has enrolled at Mary Hardin-Baylor College for the fall semester, the registrar's office has reported. Miss Bettis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Bettis of 222 Avenue H. She is a senior, majoring in English. She is the president of the Student Government Association and a member of the Royal Academia Society and the Young Women's Auxiliary.

SAMARITAN
NEWPORT NEWS, Va. — A well dressed stranger stepped into police headquarters and asked if there were any prisoners serving terms because they could not pay fines. The answer was yes.

He asked the desk lieutenant to pick out one at random. The stranger paid the prisoner's fine and departed. The bailor and the bailer did not meet.

Police Lieutenant J. P. Farry said the incident was the only one of its kind in his 23 years of experience.

POSES AND POISON
IMMOKALEE, Fla. — Ollie Hancock captures poisonous snakes for excitement and wild orchids for pleasure during his spare time.

Although the hobbies sound poles apart, he explains that he can do both at once, because the reptiles and flowers are found in the same jungle-like woods in this area.

Household Tips

When you are using cooked giblets in a poultry stuffing or gravy, or in a sandwich spread, be sure to cut away the cartilage or gristle from the gizzard.

Use some of that applesauce this way: mix it with coconut and raisins and put a little of it on pastry rounds. Fold the rounds over and press the edges together with the tines of a fork; bake in a hot oven. Be sure the applesauce is thick and sweetened.

Doctor up those canned bake beans to give them a homemade taste! Add maple syrup, catchup, Worcestershire sauce and finely diced onion and heat the beans thoroughly.

Add a bit of tarragon seasoning powder to the flour, salt and pepper in which you dip fish filets before frying. Good flavor!

Vary your favorite recipe for tomato aspic by adding chopped cooked egg and chopped green asparagus spears (canned) to it.

Your family tired of the same old carrots - and - green - peas combination? Then try serving them in a well-seasoned thin cream sauce and sprinkling with crumbled crisply cooked bacon.

Like coffee flavor? Add a tablespoon of instant coffee powder to a package of vanilla pudding-and-pie-filling mix when you are adding the liquid called for in the package directions. When the pudding has cooled pour it into sherbet glasses and chill; serve with whipped cream beaten with confectioner's sugar and cocoa.

Good soup accompaniment: Just spread buttered toast with soft cheddar cheese and brown under the broiler. This tidbit is delicious with a cream of tomato or other creamed vegetable soup.

Cook coarsely grated carrots in consommé; season further with butter. Use just enough consommé so there will be only a tablespoon or so of the liquid left by the time the carrots are tender.

Light cream, called for in some recipes, means cream that contains 18 to 30 percent butterfat.

Fold stemmed seedless grapes into sweetened whipped cream; top with freshly grated nutmeg and serve for a light and delicious dessert. Commercially-prepared sour cream may be used instead of the sweet whipped cream.

Save the gelatin around canned ham; use it in a raisin sauce when you serve some of the ham sliced and heated.

Celery fans help make salads or relish trays look pretty. To make them, cut the ribs of celery into three-inch lengths. Now fringe the ends by making fine cuts in them. Refrigerate the celery after putting in ice water until the ends curl.

Have you tried Butternut Squash lately? After you remove the seeds and stringy portion from the inside of the squash, and you peel it, cut it into small pieces. Simmer in a small amount of lightly salted water, then drain. Mash it with butter, salt and lots of freshly-ground pepper.

To make those creamed dishes interesting, serve them with steamed rice and crisp Chinese noodles. Creamed ham, chicken, turkey or veal are all good candidates for this treatment.

Canned tomato aspic helps to make a pantry shelf meal interesting—especially when you serve it with mayonnaise seasoned with curry powder.

EARLY AIR CONDITIONING
SIDNEY, Ohio — Part of one of the first air conditioning systems in the United States was dismantled by the Peoples Federal Savings and Loan Assn. here.

The original conditioner, being given modern improvements, was installed when the bank was built in 1917—an idea of the Chicago architect, Louis Sullivan. It used rain water from the roof of the building. City water will be used in the more modern system.

MOVE OVER!
SPRING VALLEY, Calif. — Mrs. J. C. Mounts headed by bus for Fort Worth, Tex., to care for her daughter who had just had an operation. As she reached for her suitcase upon arriving in Texas, Mrs. Mounts fell from the upper deck of the bus, broke her leg. A half hour later she was in the hospital room with her daughter.

Packs of wild dogs in Indochina, Malaya and India are reputed to be so ferocious that they drive tigers away from their kills.
