The "Spring Roundup" of preschool children who plan to enroll in Hereford public schools for the first time in September will be held at the high school auditorium between 12:30 and 3:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday. The Health Council of the Hereford Public Schools, assisted by the Parent-Teachers Assn. is sponsoring the "roundup," which will include a health and dental check of the youngsters. Mothers are advised to bring their child's birth certificate, record of diseases, and record of shots given for protection against communicable diseases, when they bring the youngster to the auditorium.

About 250 Hereford kiddoes turned out for the Police Department's Easter egg hunts held Saturday and Sunday afternoon in Veterans Park. Chief Henry Aycock said 1,500 eggs were hidden and most of them were found.

Tunny and Jerry Malone have purchased Mutt Wheeler's Texaco service station at 142 E. 3rd. The Malones assumed control of the business this week. Wheeler will operate the Dairy Freeze on Highway 60.

The King and Queen of the County 4-H Clubs, Jody Beznar and Nancy Parsons, and the first three winners of the 4-H Share the Fund Contest are scheduled to appear Saturday on Cotton John's television.

Legion, Auxiliary Will Convene Here

Legionnaires and Auxiliary members from the 18th Congressional District will convene here Saturday and Sunday, for their annual spring convention. Post Commander J. N. Roberts announced today. Registration will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Jim Hill Hotel. At 2 p.m., the American Legion Auxiliary will hold a work shop for a two-hour period and will be followed by a meeting of the 40 & 8, which is the fun loving organization of the Legion. The annual banquet will be staged at 7:30 p.m. At 9 p.m. a dance will be held for registered delegates and Auxiliary members.

Sunday morning the joint session of the Legion and Auxiliary will get under way promptly at 9:30 o'clock. R. W. (Bob) Sisson of Lubbock, past chairman of the Rehabilitation Commission, past department Adjutant of Arkansas and now manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office at Lubbock, will deliver the principal address.

A Memorial Service will follow, to be conducted by Harry McCain of Amarillo.

The morning session will adjourn in time for all delegates to attend the church of their choice. Special programs have been arranged at each of the churches.

Last Rites Today for Noah Ewton, Former Resident

Funeral services for Noah Ewton, 65, former resident of Deaf Smith County will be held this afternoon in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Mr. Ewton, a former rancher, county commissioner and member of the hospital board here, died Tuesday morning in Colorado Springs.

He left Hereford in 1951. He came to Hereford in the mid-1920s and had large land holdings in the area.

Surviving are his wife, Belle; a daughter, Mrs. Garner McKnight of Delta, Colo.; a son, Wiley of Colorado Springs; two brothers, Homer of Gulnare, Colo., Oscar of Sayre, Okla.; a sister, Mrs. Addie Clement of Amarillo and one grandchild.

At noon the registered delegates will attend a smorgasbord dinner.

In the afternoon, the American Legion and Auxiliary will hold their separate business meetings. The Legion session will be presided over by 18th District Commander Dow Stevens of Berger. Mrs. Ira Ott of Hereford, district auxiliary president, will preside at the auxiliary session.

Delegates and Alternates to the National Convention, to be held in Atlantic City, N. J. Sept. 16-19, will be elected.

At the business session, Commander Stevens will award citations; given by the department, to posts in the 18th district that have exceeded their 1957 quota. Posts and their commanders are: Bovina, Tom Hartwell; Canadian, Billy G. Hodges; Canyon, C. E. Thom.

Many Entries Seen for Annual Horse Show and Contest

Hereford Riders, Inc. officials Show and Cutting Horse Contest will be a well-attended event, judging by entry applications already received.

The fourth annual Quarter Horse show will begin at 1 p.m. in the rodeo arena at the eastern city limits, just off Highway 60, and the second annual cutting horse event will start at 8 p.m. Saturday. The public is invited to attend both the show and the contest. Admission is free.

About 60 horses are expected to be entered in the halter and reining show. Trophies and ribbons will be awarded by the riders club to owners of the top horses. Cutting horse riders compete for cash prizes, based on the division of $20 entry fees.

Judge of the show will be Roland Moore of Channing. The competition is approved by the American Quarter Horse Assn. Gene George, Amarillo, will judge the cutting horse contest which is approved by the National Cutting Horse Assn.

Harold Beauchamp is president of the Hereford Riders, and Meredith Ireland is horse show secretary.

$175,000 BOND ELECTION PROPOSED FOR NEW JAIL

County Board Action Expected on Monday

A $175,000 bond election to provide funds for a new county jail is expected to be called Monday by the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court.

Bob Davis of Amarillo, agent for Columbian Securities Corp. of Texas, was instructed to draw up legal forms for the election after he met this week with members of the court and discussed the county's financial situation. Davis was instructed to specify May 18 as the date of the election.

In their regular session Monday, members of the court agreed to locate the proposed new county facility on the lot now occupied by the present jail, "if it is possible to do so."

Earlier, the commissioners had considered building the jail adjacent to the courthouse. Complaints aplenty, mostly centered around the "clash" between differing styles of architecture, were registered with County Judge Homer Henslee and Commissioner Otto Massie, they noted in Monday's meeting.

Commissioners Charlie Sowell, J. T. Gunn and Don Hicks said they had heard "nothing against" building the jail on the courthouse grounds, but voted with Massie on the proposal to plan construction of the jail at Fourth and Schley, the present jail site.

KERR & KERR of Amarillo, architects - engineers, have been engaged by the county board to draw plans for the new jail. Representatives of the firm will be asked to attend the court's special session Monday, Judge Henslee said. The judge said this week that "nothing definite" has yet been decided regarding the design or specifications for the new jail.

In preliminary sketches prepared at the court's direction recently, Kerr & Kerr outlined a building of two-story, modern design, with cells for about 40 prisoners, plus additional space for women and juvenile prisoners. The building, with just over 7,000 square feet of floor space, also provided space for sheriff's department offices and jailor's quarters.

Kerr & Kerr proposed air conditioning for the part of the building designated for occupancy by law enforcement officers. No air conditioning was proposed by the architect or considered by the commissioners for the prisoners' cell blocks. The architect also included an elevator in his design as an "optional" arrangement.

BUT NEITHER Sheriff Lowell Sharp nor members of the commissioners court appear to favor installation of an elevator in the proposed jail. Sharp recently told the court, "We certainly do not need an elevator."

The commissioners are convinced, however, that the county needs a new jail to replace the present one, built for $6,000 in 1906.

Part of the $175,000 bond issue to be proposed in the May 18 election would be earmarked for tearing down the old jail. Another portion would be spent in furnishing the new one.

ABOUT $160,000 will be required for construction of the new jail, according to estimates by the commissioners. This total would include at least $40,000 for steel cell.

New Coach Meets Players, Slates Training Schedule

Hereford High School's new head football coach and athletic director will send football hopefuls through their first day of spring training Monday.

Practice was scheduled to begin Tuesday of this week, but Harris changed the date. Training will be held the last period of each school day until May 18, making a total of 21 days practice.

Coach Harris met some of his prospective players Tuesday afternoon and watched a boys physical education class play touch football.

Harris doesn't know as yet how many boys will be out for the spring drills. He has 10 lettermen returning from last year's squad.

He will use the split-T formation.

At Nocona High School, where he was head coach and athletic director, Harris compiled 17 wins against 13 losses in three games. In 1954 he had an 8-2 record; 7-3 in 1955 and 2-3 in 1956.

The new coach is a big man, standing 6-3 and weighing about 220 pounds.

He is staying in a Hereford tourist court while his 14-year-old daughter completes the eighth grade at Nocona. Mrs. Harris is working at Nocona.

Harris will bring his family here after school is out.

He said he will bring in at least one new assistant, a line coach. He will have three assistants.

Harris is 34. He is a graduate of Breckenridge High School and holds BS and ME degrees from Hardin-Simmons University.

He has 11 years of coaching experience.

Showers Received Over Area; Alert for Storm Sunday

Scattered showers brought moisture in varying amounts to the Hereford area Saturday afternoon, Sunday and Monday. A tornado warning alert for the region was broadcast Sunday evening and radar observers in Amarillo reported sighting a tornado funnel 12 miles southeast of Hereford but no reports of damage were received.

A high wind accompanied by some dust from local fields where the surface was powdered by the showers occurred on Tuesday.

Top moisture total reported was 1.55 inch at the Ira Ott farm 15 miles from Hereford in the extreme-southeast corner of the county. Mrs. Ott said that much of the moisture there fell on Monday.

The Clearman farm near Summerfield received about 1 inch of rain on Saturday afternoon. Most all sections of the county received at least .25 inch during the flurry of thundershowers. Even Charlie Burk, near the New Mexico border had .20, while .50 was gauged

Annual H. D. Honor to Mrs. Homfeld

Mrs. C. F. Homfeld of the Bippus' Home Demonstration is Deaf Smith County's 1957 Home Demonstration Club Woman of the Year.

The announcement was made Wednesday by an out-of-county judging team which chose Mrs. Homfeld from a field of nine nominees.

She was nominated for the honor by members of her club.

MRS. HOMFELD has lived in the Bippus community since coming to Texas as a bride in 1932. She and her husband and three of their four children live on a farm 54 miles northwest of Hereford.

Their oldest boy, Kenneth, 21, works on a farm near Amarillo. The children at home are Lloyd, 17, Jerry, 11, and Glenda, 13.

She has been president of the Bippus H. D. Club several times and has served as secretary, council delegate and reporter.

As club reporter she won a prize for putting all the club news in The Brand. She was chairman of the 1953-54 year book which won first place.

Last year she was education and expansion chairman for Precinct 4.

SHE WAS 4-H county chairman for one year and she is leader of the Caprock 4-H Club. She assists in sponsoring suppers and 4-H parties.

All of her children have been active in 4-H work.

Mrs. Homfeld and her family are active in their community. They attend Sunday School and church and singings at the Bippus community house.

She has been Red Cross chairman for the community for several years.

Cooking is one of her favorite activities. She does a lot of baking for her family and friends, specializing in cakes, cookies, pies and bread.

She has her own garden and raises vegetables for canning.

Formal presentation of the award, which includes a certificate and $25 in cash, will be made next month. The award is sponsored annually by The Brand.

Little League Tryouts To Begin Next Tuesday

May 20 has been set as the starting date for Little League baseball in Hereford by officials of the league. Player tryouts will start Tuesday, April 30, and the player auction will be held May 8.

These dates were set in a meeting held Tuesday night in the Friendship Room of the Hereford State Bank.

THE LEAGUE, which consists of a major and minor league, each with four teams, will play a split season of 18 games, nine the first half and nine the second half. The season, including the playoff, will end July 27.

Winner of the first half will meet the second-half winner in a two-out of three playoff series if needed.

The league's schedule will be carried in The Brand and mimeographed copies will be given out to spectators at the season's first game.

Tryouts will be held at City Park, 13th and Ave. I, on April 30, May 1, 2, 3, 6 and 7. Candidates are to report at 5:30 p.m. each day.

Candidates are to be broken down into four age groups and each group will practice at a backstop tagged with its age number. The groups are 8 and 9, 10, 11 and 12.

EACH TEAM will carry 15 men on its roster. Age limit for players is 8 to 12. Officials voted the lower limit Tuesday night.

A boy must be eight by April 30 in order to participate.

Minor league games will begin at 6 p.m. and are to be over by 7:30 p.m. Major league warmups will start at 7:40 and the first pitch will be thrown at 8 p.m. Games must end by 9:30 p.m. Six-inning games are played.

Games will be played on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of each week.

Application blanks for prospective players will be published in The Sunday Brand and mimeographed forms will be available.

Both parents must sign the application. BOYS ALREADY on the rosters of the major league teams are asked to report to their manager on the day tryouts begin.

Names of the teams in both leagues are Yankees, Giants, Cardinals and Dodgers. Major league managers are Joe Smith, Yankees; Loyd Neill, Giants; Raymond Lach, Cardinals; Larry Summers, Dodgers. No managers for the minor league clubs have been named as yet.

Dick Ross is umpire in chief of the league.

In other action at the meeting Tuesday night, officials of the league were authorized to borrow up to $1,000 to defray expenses. The money will be repaid at season's end. The league has an income from concession stand sales and donations made at the games. Clint Formby was named chairman of the public address announcers.

The group voted to buy accident and hospitalization insurance for the entire league at an expense of $90 and public liability insurance at $45. The insurance will be bought through national headquarters of the Little League.

County...

In the past, a grand jury has criticized the 1906-model jail as inadequate and unsanitary. It was designed without provision for confinement of women or juveniles. Judge Henslee said that rudimentary toilet facilities have been installed to permit short term confinement of women and juveniles, but that if juveniles are kept for more than a day and women for more than two days, the county officials deem it necessary to confine them in a jail in some other county — usually at Dimmitt.

The commissioners had previously considered issuing time warrants for construction of the jail. This would have made it unnecessary to call a bond election; but after discussing relative costs of the two procedures with Davis, the commissioners decided an election would be more desirable and a less costly procedure.

DAVIS TOLD the court that Columbia Securities will guarantee to buy the $175,000 in bonds at 3 1/2 per cent interest. They will be based on 10 years maturity and sold on the basis of low bid.

The securities agent characterized the county's financial structure as good, and noted that the issuance of $175,000 in bonds should be payable out of the 25 cent tax levy for permanent improvements without the necessity for an increase in taxes.

Judge Henslee said that with less than $60,000 indebtedness now, the county government would be able to make payments on the low interest 10 year bonds without increasing taxes for that purpose.

Commissioner Hicks told Davis that some increase above the 1956

Following Orders Brings Criticism to Bobby Morrow

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Of The Associated Press

Bobby Morrow, one of the great runners of all time whose courage is beyond reproach, is in the peculiar position of being criticized for "quitting."

Morrow, when he sees a race is hopeless, pulls up. He did it in the 440-yard relay of the Southwestern Recreation meet at Fort Worth and he did it in the 880-yard relay at the Texas Relays. In each instance, he had taken the baton too far behind the University of Texas anchor man to hope to catch up. He, therefore, just slowed down and came in without effort.

There was a lot of talk of the great Morrow not following the tradition of track — always finish a race. It has been axiomatic in this sport that the runner who pulls up or drops out, no matter how far behind he may be, gets in the coach's dog house.

There have been track meets won by boys, 30 yards behind, running out the race. There is always the chance of disqualification of some boy who has placed. But in the case of Morrow he still would have that chance even if he pulled up and eased in. It's a good bet that if anything depended on it, Bobby would have been digging into that track to the bitter end.

Actually, Morrow shouldn't be criticized for his actions because he was only following the coach's orders.

Yes, Coach Oliver Jackson of Abilene Christian College, has a standing rule that one of his men is to ease up when he sees he is hopelessly beaten. There are other races to be run and Jackson doesn't want his boy taking a chance on a pulled muscle from the strain of trying to run faster than he can or tiring himself in a futile gesture of fulfilling the tradition of track.

So Jackson shouldn't be criticized for looking after the best interest of his athletes and also looking for a victory on another day. Coaches in all other sports do it.

This may create a new trend in track. Look for many coaches to shy away from the time-honored tradition of always finishing a race if they can gain the success Jackson has gained with his method.

Tiny Hot Cross Loaves Make Hit

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

MINIATURE HOT CROSS loaves are so inviting that they'll be carried off and eaten before you can say "Lent."

A Michigan colleague of ours passed along the idea of baking regular hot cross bun dough in tiny loaf pans and, thanks to her ingenuity, a new culinary tradition may have been founded!

The small pans — each measuring about 4 1/2 by 2 1/2 by 1 1/2 inches — are widely available. We found ours in a dime store at 15 cents apiece on a counter that held cooking utensils for small fry. The pans may be used for many dishes besides this Lenten one — for miniature sponge cakes, fruit cakes, meat loaves, molded salads.

Our hot cross loaves are faintly colored and scented with cinnamon and studded with currants and candied fruit. Because the dough is not overly sweet, we used a generous amount of white frosting to mark the tops. Delicious when sliced and served with butter soon after they come out of the oven, the loaves are also unusually good sliced and toasted after they are a few days old — if you can keep any of them around that long.

MINIATURE HOT CROSS LOAVES

Ingredients: 3/4 cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/3 cup sugar, 1/4 cup shortening, 1/2 cup warm (near 105 degrees) water, 1 package active dry yeast, 2 eggs, 1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon, 4 1/2 cups (about) sifted enriched flour, extra shortening (melted), 1/3 cup currants (rinsed in hot water and drained), 1/3 cup chopped candied fruit, 1 egg yolk, Confectioners' Frosting.

Method: Scald milk; stir in salt, sugar and shortening; cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large mixing bowl; sprinkle in the yeast; stir until dissolved; stir in lukewarm milk mixture. Beat 2 eggs enough to combine yolks and whites; add to yeast mixture with cinnamon; stir well. Add half the flour; beat until smooth. Stir in additional flour. Turn dough out on lightly floured board; knead. Place in greased bowl; brush top lightly with melted shortening. Cover over with clean towel; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk — about 1 hour. Punch dough down and turn out lightly floured board; knead currants and candied fruit into the dough. Divide dough into 8 equal pieces, shape into small loaves (elongated rolls). Press into greased miniature bread pans (each 4 1/2 by 2 1/2 by 1 1/2 inches). Beat together 1 egg yolk and 2 tablespoons cold water; brush tops of loaves with the mixture. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk — about 1 hour and 15 minutes. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven about 25 to 30 minutes. Remove from pans to racks; cool and decorate with Confectioners' Frosting.

Confectioners' Frosting: Mix 3/4 cup sifted confectioners' sugar, 3 teaspoons milk and 1/8 teaspoon vanilla until smooth. If not thick enough for spreading consistency, add extra confectioners' sugar. Drop from tip of small coffee spoon, making several crosses on tops of cold loaves.

Shad Are Problem Now in Popular Possum Kingdom

AUSTIN - Problems in modern fisheries management are pointed up in a new study showing that rough fish now dominate all species in sprawling Possum Kingdom Lake, according to Marion Toole chief aquatic biologist for the Game and Fish Commission.
Field men have recommended that tighter control of the undesirable fish in that popular lake is vital to better sports fishing and found that gizzard shad are particularly numerous.
This prolific, inedible species has been the target of major fresh water lake renovation projects throughout the state. Last big lakes to be treated were Inks Lake of the Highland Lakes and Lake Walk near Del Rio on the Mexican border, and Diversion Lake of the Wichita Falls chain of lakes in Northwest Texas.
Texas has pioneered in some phases of the rough fish control technique and the Commission's long range fisheries program calls for elaborate use of this method to improve sports fishing, all subject to the funds made available.

an easy nourishment for the game species to the extent that the latter will not respond to the fishermen's baits.
The crew making the study of the lake qualified the "quite expensive" observation attached to the possible selective kill of gizzard shad, by describing the ruggedness of the bottom in the area where substantial vegetation comprising such as large pecan trees and other hardwood trees, along with mesquites and cedars, were inundated when the lake was filled. These combined to obstruct routine sampling.
Selective kill of gizzard shad, as the term has become known to commission technicians, comprises use of a chemical compound in lake waters. This concoction kills the shad which are unusually sensitive to this treatment while sparing all but a comparatively few of the assorted game fish.
Possum Kingdom Lake is a multi-purpose reservoir created in 1941 - it extends into Stephens, Young and Jack Counties with the major portion in Palo Pinto County. Possum Kingdom for years has been a favorite recreation spot for the heavily populated Fort Worth-Dallas Area.

STAGE COURTESY
MILWAUKEE (AP) - Arthur Treacher was most accommodating when a group of about 35 women arrived at the Fred Miller theater 10 minutes after the start of the play starring the British born actor.

1. "The increase of rough fish in the catch, both by number and weight indicates a greater need for better rough fish control methods."
2. "The dominance of gizzard shad is more pronounced in each succeeding segment. This species is controlled very little by the contract netting operation since there is no market for them. A selective kill of shad could serve a useful purpose, but would be quite expensive."

"Let's start the play over again," he said. Then Treacher began the play, "Clutterback," once more.

THOUGHTFUL HINT
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) - Municipal Judge Harper Harb recessed the hearing after the defense persistently contended three teen-aged boys were innocent of a charge of attempting to steal gasoline from trucks.

"As the teen-agers started to leave the courtroom, a defective called to one: "Don't forget your gas can."

The first United States census, taken in 1790, listed 3,929,214 inhabitants.

Test Grading Gets the Modern Touch

ALLAS — Nowadays, when a student at Southern Methodist University wants to make a complaint about a grade, he may be arguing with a machine. And instead of blaming a professor for a mistake in grading, he may be blaming a blown vacuum tube or a blown fuse.

ches any of a set of number of contacts, the electrical circuit is completed, causing a needle on the machine to move up one point for each answer.

For at SMU, machines are easing the professors' burden of grading students' test papers. During a year's time, 35,000 tests were graded by machine methods. And Mrs. Gladys Whisenhunt, in charge of most of the machine grading, says the machines are more accurate and speed up the process about five times.

While such automatic grading devices have been used for a number of years, they are receiving wider service all the time. Several institutions in addition to SMU use the university's test scoring machine.

By Jimmie Gillentine

Hereford may not be very long on the display of bright lights but, what with this new game of "tornado hopping", no one can truthfully say that the night life around here is dull.

Following a long series of tornado warnings across this area Sunday evening, most folks finally went to bed and were snoring away when the fire siren cut loose around 12:30. For some reason, the siren substituted its usual long wail with a series of short snorts—and nine-tenths of the population was pretty sure that one of those tornadoes was on the way. Our whole family wound up in the basement, including the dog. Mrs. Gillentine assumed the self-appointed role of tornado expert and, after some 30 minutes, decided it would be safe for me to go up and take a cautious peek.

I came back down to report bright stars showing all over the southwest and southeast horizon. So we went up to make a personal follow-up survey and, ultimately, decided it was OK to go back into the house. I slipped out into the hall and asked the operator about the tornado signal, which she said was a real honest, legitimate fire signal. All of which, being a married man of long standing, I was smart enough to keep to myself.

The sum and summary of the whole deal was that the only person around our house who got a decent night's rest was that doggone, pesky white rat with 12-inch tail, which now occupies the abandoned parakeet cage.

The whole thing reminded me of the days when I was a kid growing up down in Collingsworth County. On such occasions we always made a bee-line for the storm cellar, generally shared with two or three neighborhood families. Lots and lots of times, I have sincerely felt that it would be far better to be blown away than to spend the rest of my life running to the cellar. On occasions, we would go three and four times a night. I remember one time in particular when I was about 13. The folks roused me out of a deep sleep and, about half awake, I took off every stitch of clothing, and dashed for the cellar. Still only half awake, I came bounding into the cellar just before the door closed—and created more comment than the threatening tornado. Fortunately, one of the neighbors had brought along a quilt in which I curled up and went to sleep. Right today, however, some of those folks still like to kid me about the deal when I get down that way.

Robert Veigel got all of the professional coffee drinkers to wondering the other day when he pointed out that we never had any tornadoes in this country before around 1948, when that one struck the Lee Coconougher place south of town. No one could figure out why they suddenly started. I put my mind to it, however, and came up with the answer: "It's all because of those Oldies!" Anyway, the tornadoes started about the time of the big transmigration from Oklahoma. I'm not calling any names, but everyone knows that "tornado dodging" was invented in the Sooner State—and that it is the No. 1 sport and pastime. Kansas ranks second, and I'm still not mentioning any names. Not even Merlin Kaul.

Joe Beyer and Ezra Norton seem to have a little private deal going, whereby they take care of each other's yard while the absent one is visiting in California. Joe got back a few days ago, so Ezra took off. It may not last, though, chiefly because there wasn't much yard work during the winter while Joe was gone and, right now, the grass is beginning to grow.

Work started on the airport on Tuesday morning, according to reports. If we wind up with as many private planes as we have boats, it is due to become a busy place in a few months.

Claude Ricketts is one of several people who travelled up to Oldham County to see the new oil well. Claude says he couldn't tell much about it, but everyone is sure they found some oil. How much and what kind is still the $64 question up Vega way.

By this time next week a lot of people will be happy because they are through moving. Cowsett and Bybee, along with Ed Line, will lead the parade, opening in new quarters around May 1. Ansel McDowell has the same thing in mind and, right on their heels, will be consolidation of the two barber shops through which Carrol Kreig, Charley Morris, Abe Martin and Pack London will open in the old drug store location. Furr Food is also busy enlarging their parking space on Park Avenue. Looks like May-Day will be a busy one.

Clarence Carnahan says he figures that Postmaster General Summerfield should get elected for president. He thinks that Summerfield just about told off everyone in the government recently—and that he might even be able to outsmart Ezra T. Benson.

Today is the big shindig day for REA and RTA and, once again, it puts the new Bull Barn in the limelight. A lot of people who have not visited the building are in for a pleasant surprise. The fact that the building is being used extensively by all sorts of organizations proves that it was needed—and that the Commissioners Court did a good job in planning it for all-purpose use. The fact that Mr. Jelon is coming all the way from Ft. Worth to serve the barbecue maybe indicates something else.

Hereford continues to grow and prosper. Such is indicated at least by the fact that we now have a full-time seller of the Stauffer reducing plan. Mrs. Bruce Rose was by the other day and says she will devote her entire energies to the work.

Arthur Tiefert's 3-year-old daughter, Marcia is right at the stage where she has a hard time pronouncing words and generally substitutes "G" for "D." The other evening she was watching Matt Dillon in "Gunsmoke" and casually observed to her dad, "I know the folks in that cemetery are dead, 'cause Matt Gilliland put 'em there himself."

HEFTY THEFT

Rain Boosts Wheat Hopes

By MRS. S. N. THWEATT
Bootleg Corner received 50 inches of rain over the week-end. N. A. Brown and J. E. Rouse measured 92 on their places while Bruce Coleman south of Bootleg got 70. The wheat and grass were beginning to need it. The farmers still have hopes for a small wheat harvest.

The C. W. Graves attended the church services in Hereford Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Coleman, Gary and Cinda and Mrs. Josey Busby went to Lubbock Saturday to visit relatives. Mrs. Busby remained in Lubbock. The Colemans returned home late on Sunday night.
They reported heavy rainfall at Littlefield and rain all the way to Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Brown had Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Potts, of Rosedale, N. M. On Sunday afternoon the Browns visited Mrs. Brown's father, L. W. Potts, also of Rosedale. Potts had returned home Friday from an hospital where he underwent surgery. He is up and around and doing as well as can be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Thweatt visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Burks Saturday night. They played 42 and visited.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brown, Ed and Roger, Mr. and Mrs. Brown and Tommie and Geneva King visited Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Shadix of Clovis Saturday. They had a picnic lunch at the Clovis park and then visited the zoo.

Mrs. Ruth Coleman had company Monday. Her daughter, Mrs. D. E. Coldiron and children, Romna, and David of Amarillo visited.

Mr. and Mrs. Raynold Lewis and daughters of Wheeler visited Mr.

and Mrs. N. A. Brown Sunday night. They had supper at the Ernest Brown home. A family reunion developed before supper was over. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brown, Roger and Earl and Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Brown and Tommy returned from Clovis in time to join the others for supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Merrell and grand children were at the Bootleg County Barn Sunday. They watered the grass which Merrell planted.

Mrs. Bruce Coleman gave the sewing demonstration in her home Thursday to her group of H. D. Club members. Attending were Mesdames E. M. Jack, Bob Howard, W. D. Howard, J. E. Rouse, and Elmer Northcutt.

Another demonstration was given by Mrs. Floyd Brown in her home Friday afternoon. Present were Mesdames N. A. Brown, S. N. Thweatt, Eldred Brown, Ernest Brown and Miss Geneva King. Mesdames N. A. Brown, J. E. Rouse and S. N. Thweatt attended the county home demonstration council meeting in Hereford Monday. They also bought patterns for the sewing course being given by Mrs. Argen Draper, county agent.

Wayne Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brown, entered an Amarillo hospital Tuesday morning for surgery on his arm which was mashed when he caught it in a washing machine ringer. X-rays made Monday reveal a blood clot in his arm.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Pulliam of Rosedale, N. M., parents of Mrs. Ernest Brown, visited in their daughter's home Sunday.

An Easter egg hunt was held in the N. A. Brown's yard early Sunday morning. The Brown's grandchildren, Barbara, David, Tommie, Roger and Earl hunted the eggs. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Head of Rosedale, N. M., visited Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brown Thursday.

TAG TEAM BOUT TOPS MAT SLATE

A tag team match featuring Don Curtis and Rip Rogers against Tiny and Al Mills head the wrestling schedule for Saturday night at the Bull Barn.

The tag team bout is the main event and scheduled for two out of three falls with a one hour time limit. Al and Tiny Mills are brothers.

Rogers will encounter Tiny in the first event which is scheduled for one fall or 20 minutes.

Curtis and Al will meet in the second event which is scheduled for the same as the first bout.

Big Train Clements will referee all the bouts. In the action last Saturday Professor Roy Shire won the first fall from Rip Rogers, only to have Rogers rally and take the last two falls for the victory.

Don Curtis took Jim Blood in two of three falls, using an atomic drop to take the first one in two minutes and gaining the last one with a drop kick.

Water District To Issue Well Permits

On May 1 the district office of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District will begin issuing certificates of valid water well permits.

A situation has developed lately which district officials say requires some protection for purchasers of land or mortgages advancing money on land on the strength of existing wells. For example, suppose a land owner drilled a well in violation of the district rules and before appropriate action could be taken to close the well, the violator either sold or mortgaged the land. This would give the district the unpleasant task of proceeding against the party who was misled.

The district, to prevent the occurrence of this situation and prevent a cloud on the land title, will begin issuing certificates to met April 16 in the home of Mrs. Clara Shore for its regular monthly luncheon and business session. Thirteen were present for the luncheon and 19 members came to the business meeting. Mrs. Argen Draper gave the program on pictures for the home and methods of hanging them. The club also met April 2 (the report to this paper was delayed) in the Methodist Church for a tea honoring the Westway club. Mrs. Nolie Elston gave a book review of "All My Darlings."

Attending from the Westway club were Mesdames Joe Turrentine, Charles Owens, C. A. Sauley, Ken Rudd, Paul Rudd, C. B. So-well, Morris Easley, Harold Rudd, R. L. Wilson, Merlin Kaul and Nolie Elston.

South Hereford members attending were Mesdames Eldon Craig, John Draper, S. S. Williams, J.P. Slaton, A. C. Flowers, John Haeker, D. L. Moody, Otto Massie, D. H. Bryant and Miss Evelyn Bell. Games were played and refreshments served.

North Hereford Home improvement was the subject for the North Hereford club when it met with Miss Roberta Campbell April 18. Mrs. Argen Draper gave the program on arrangement of pictures in the home.

The club will entertain the Messenger H. D. Club with a picnic at the Fullwood apartments Friday at 1 p.m. Mrs. R. L. Campbell and Mrs. Margaret Bennett of Amarillo were visitors.

Members present were Mesdames Paul Loff, A. E. Hodges, C. L. Whitehead, Dick Barrett, G. L. Williams, E. E. Bishop, O. C. Williams, Otto Massie, W. H. Russell, B. A. Fullwood, Frank Brinkman and Otto Olson.

Ford The Ford H. D. Club met April 17 at the home of Mrs. Earl Dyer to hear a program on home improvement by Mrs. Argen Draper. Members present were Mesdames Hardy Benson, William Gil-land, Dwaine Walker, J. L. Fite and Earl Dyer.

The club's next meeting will be held May 1 at the home of Mrs. Henry Browning.

Cultural The Cultural H. D. Club was host to the Progressive H. D. Club April 12 at the home of Mrs. Pat Robinson. Miss Elisabeth Brummer, exchange student from Sweden, gave the program.

Miss Brummer told the group how she became an exchange student and told of life and education in her home country.

Present from the visiting club were Mesdames Clifton Robinson, T. J. Parsons, Horace Hershey, Cecil Boyer, C. V. Burgess, Earl Plank, and Pete Carmichael. Attending from the Cultural

Delegates to State H. D. Convention Are Selected

THE DEAF SMITH County home demonstration council met Monday in the county courtroom with all clubs present.

Mrs. T. J. Parsons, Mrs. Elmo Hall and Mrs. T. J. Richardson were named as delegates to the state H. D. convention. Mrs. Zed Stewart, Mrs. H. L. Ward and Mrs. Carlos Vaughn were selected as alternate delegates. The state meeting will be held in Houston July 31-Aug. 2.

Clubs with 100 per cent representation were Bippus, Cultural, Dawn, West Hereford, Ford, Progressive, Westway, North Hereford and South Hereford.

Mrs. N. A. Brown, parliamentarian, read the fourth page in parliamentary procedure to the group.

MRS. PARSONS gave a report on the district meeting held recently in Amarillo. Mrs. C. A. Sauley gave a report on civil defense.

The year book committee will meet May 27 and each club is to bring two suggestions for the year book.

The council's committee on education and expansion will meet with the commissioners court on May 27.

Mrs. J. E. Rouse of the recreation group spoke on Texas Day, as Monday was San Jacinto Day.

ATTENDING from the Bippus Club was Mrs. Elmo Hall; Cultural, Mrs. Louie Olson, Mrs. Edgar Telchik; Dawn, Mrs. H. S. Fuller; Ford, Mrs. Hardy Benson, Mrs. Dwaine Walker; Messenger, Mrs. N. A. Mosquito Control Meeting Slated

By ARGEN DRAPER

On Tuesday, April 30 at 11 a.m., there will be a meeting in the District Court Room on "Mosquito Control." This meeting will be conducted by W. D. Power, field representative of the State Health Department. His headquarters are in Lubbock. The public is invited and every person in the county who is interested in encephalitis control should attend. Mrs. Jack Higgins is chairman of the meeting and has made the arrangements for this meeting.

There is a new vegetable gardening bulletin in the office. It was received this week and you may come by the office for a copy or call for one. One of the usable things now are the varieties and planting guide. There are many things in the bulletin that will improve your gardening.

The Westway Community has entered the Rural Neighborhood Progress Contest. Some of the citizens from Westway plan to go to Black for the judging of the Black Community Contest. This is one of the best things for a community and we hope that Westway will get organized and begin work on the contest. We understand there are four committees. They are:

Plains Cotton Growers Join National Group

LUBBOCK — Directors of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., recently voted to affiliate with the American Cotton Producers Association, Memphis. Joel A. Hodges Jr., Deaf Smith County director, reported this week.

Fifty-three directors and guests heard proposed plans of the ACPA explained by Geo. W. Pfeifferberger, Executive Vice-President, and W. L. Edelman, Friona, who attended a recent meeting of the ACPA in Memphis.

The directors also voted to send Pfeifferberger, Edelman, and Ben Dopson, Lamesa, to Memphis again to attend an ACPA meeting which was held April 18.

Twelve principals of the ACPA cotton program that were adopted by the Plains growers were to be presented to representatives of all segments of the cotton industry for approval at the April 18 meeting.

The ACPA has obtained a hearing in Washington May 7 for presentation of this industry-wide program to Congress.

The principals in brief are:

1. Prepare the 1956 loan stocks for sale as soon as possible after Aug. 1, 1957.
2. Adjust the export program after Aug. 1, 1958 to improve marketing and still keep it competitive.
3. Curtail the soil bank program drastically.
4. Permit a reasonable increase in acreage annually for the next five years.
5. Continue acreage allotments and marketing quotas for the purpose of preventing unlimited acreage increases but adequate to provide for demand.
6. Continue a loan program for orderly marketing thus giving stability to the price structure.
7. Extension of Public Law 480, which provides for sales of surplus stocks for foreign currency or trade.
8. Intensified research and quality improvement program be an

Art, Music and Literature Sway Huge Captive Audience

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Imagine a place with a population of, say, 4,500, where every single person reads an average of over five books a month, where there are two permanent orchestras and a band, where art classes are held daily.

And that isn't all: Music comes with the meals. Potted plants, sometimes cut flowers, decorate every available niche. Original oils, watercolors and sketches are spread out in all the rooms, halls and corridors and on the walls.

Walls they are, too — that's the hitch. It may sound too good to be true, but there is such a place. It is Stateville, at Joliet, where Illinois holds tight to its toughest criminals.

Warden Joseph E. Ragen is the subject of a book, "Warden Ragen of Joliet" (Dutton), out on Monday by Gladys A. Erickson, with forewords by Ragen and Harry Reutlinger and containing, incidentally, some frank, dissenting and uncensored opinions of a couple of the hardest-boiled inmates, like Roger Tougy who cannot be persuaded to like his prison even with all the books, music and pretty flowers.

SUPPOSE this is a "captive" audience — is that where the word originated? Even so, the people don't have to read, but they do read; they don't have to play in the orchestra or paint pictures, but they do play and paint.

What does it do for them? Warden Ragen, a tall, husky, quiet man who looks as though he could take anything in his stride, told me on a New York visit:

"It takes their minds off their troubles. It supplants the unlawful, improper concerns that bother them."

It was the warden who started the flower gardening. Prisoners now set out 500,000 plants a year, and many of them, once returned to civilian life, earn good money in greenhouses.

"They throw themselves into these activities," the warden stated. "They act as though they owned the little plot of ground they tend. I've seen men who were bad mess ups, who simply could not get along with their fellows, but changed their ways remarkably when they had flowers to grow."

"The library has about 22,000 volumes. All but about 1,000 of the men read regularly. The branches in the cellhouses distribute catalogues every week, the men indicate what books they want, and they get them."

LAW BOOKS are popular here, as in most prisons, for the men think they may figure out a way to win freedom. They also like popular novels, historical and romantic. Crime fiction is barred.

Every prisoner has a set of earphones and is allowed to take his pick from three radio programs, again with crime topics barred. There are numerous requests for such programs as the Metropolitan Opera, the New York Philharmonic and the music festivals in Chicago.

"An Italian bandmaster comes in every day," the warden continued, "and works with the band which consists of several scores of instruments, and the orchestras, of about 10 men apiece."

ART CLASSES result in the display of pictures all over the place, in recreation and dining halls, and in the quarters of the warden and his assistants.

"I have myself," he said, "a very fine 'Blue Boy,' or so I'm told by people who should know, that was copied for me by one of our art students and that I think is beautiful."

The men do some writing, but they are not allowed to send anything out to publishers during their terms. However, they have their own magazine, named for the one everlasting preoccupation of them all, "Time," which prints news, and also short stories and poems. Did he ever have any writers there?

"Novelists, no. But writers, yes," he gave me a smile. "Newspapermen, yes. People in every field get into trouble."

UNCANNY COP

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Erv C. Clark is gaining a reputation for capturing lawbreakers without leaving his chair at police headquarters in nearby Maumee.

Confined to a wheelchair since 1944 when he was stricken by polio at the age of 30, Clark operates radio receivers and microphones as senior police dispatcher. Squad car men say he combines a photographic memory and "an acute sixth sense" in directing them to set up roadblocks, pursue wrongdoers, or watch for trouble.

Beauty At Home

Q. What do you recommend as a good hair-shampooing procedure?

A. First brush the hair thoroughly to loosen dirt and any dandruff. Then wet the hair, unless directions on your shampoo specify otherwise. Apply shampoo, and be sure to reach every part of the scalp. Use a little brush to rub suds around hair line, behind the ears, or wherever dandruff might be prevalent. Rinse, then suds the hair again, after which rinse very thoroughly, preferably under a shower. Rub with towels, brush with a scrupulously clean brush, and dry.

Q. What are some of the causes of extreme dryness in the skin?

A. Dry air, poor circulation, too much sun, nervousness, hard water, extreme fatigue, illness, and under-nourishment are some of the prime causes of this condition.

Q. What can I use to bleach dark facial fuzz?

A. A half-cup of peroxide to which you've added three or four drops of ammonia.

Q. How should gray hair that is long and straight be dressed?

A. In the first place, I'd suggest you eliminate the "long and the straight" of your hair, as this type of gray hair adds years to your appearance. Wave it softly, and dress it at a becoming angle. Don't have a big knot at the top of your head or at the nape of your neck — since hair knots also are aging.

Q. How can I exercise for a firmer bustline?

A. Lie on stomach on floor. Bend elbows so that palms are flat on floor just above shoulders. Push body up with hands, knees straight. Return to stomach, and repeat.

Q. Is there any kind of facial mask that will help to "reduce" freckles?

A. You can try this: Mix an egg white with the juice of a lemon, and blend this with enough almond meal to make a thin paste. Spread this mixture over the face, leave on for at least 20 minutes, then rinse off with warm water.

Q. Does alcohol, applied to facial pimples, help in the "battle" against them?

A. It does. It tends to dry the pimples up, also acts as a disinfectant.

Q. How can I prevent the patent leather covering which is on the heels of some of my shoes from cracking?

A. By coating it with some colorless fingernail polish.

Q. I would appreciate anything you can suggest which will help me to make a better job of my lipstick application.

A. If you will make a practice of putting a light coating of powder on your lips before applying your lipstick, the color should remain on longer, it will go on more smoothly, and it will hold a more even line.

Q. I have naturally blonde hair and wish to avoid its acquiring any drab, brown streaks in it. How can I do this?

A. Before shampooing, beat two egg whites with two tablespoons

W. O. Fortenberry, Lubbock, President of the FGG, explained that in affiliating with the ACPA, the Plains group was not in any way sacrificing its individuality as a separate organization.

"However, we do believe that by affiliating with the ACPA, both organizations can become stronger and we can contribute something together for the good of a cotton program," Fortenberry said.

In other action at the board meeting the PCG directors endorsed a one-price cotton legislative program over a two-price program and will oppose any change from the present acre basis to a pound or bale basis in figuring allotments.

of rose water, and massage this well into the hair and scalp. Then follow with your regular shampoo.

Q. What can I do about fingernail polish which has become aged in its bottle, and is too thick and gummy to use?

A. A little polish remover added to it will thin it out to a usable consistency.

Turning in an editorial column to the problem of marketing, editor A. C. Elliott wrote:

The Hereford Producers Assn. will never accomplish anything so long as their meetings are all wind and no water — all bark and no bite. The Brand favors stopping the talk and getting down to business by organizing a stock company to be known as the Hereford Produce and Storage Assn., the shares not to exceed $10 each and a capital stock of at least $2,500 to start with. The Association to engage in the business of storing, buying, shipping and selling for the benefit of its members anything and everything that may

Lack of Hot Blood in Broncs Slowing Down Western Rodeos

By JOHN M. BRUNER
DENVER — A shortage of good bucking horses is threatening to make western rodeo as dull as an eastern horse show.

Take the word of Verne Elliott of Platteville, Colo., a rodeo hand for half a century.

"It's a headache finding bucking horses. There are no more big horse outfits, like there used to be. And the horses aren't tough. . . top bucking horses today aren't any better than my second or third string even 10 years ago."

Elliott says he has little selection today. Once he could pick two or three of the best from a string of 100. Now he has to pick a dozen from half as many prospects.

Elliott is associated with Lynn and Jake Beutler, livestock contractors of Elk City, Okla., for the million dollar rodeo industry.

The solution?

"I DON'T KNOW. Maybe we'll have to start bucking Fords or something. I do know one thing. We've got to get some hot blood (thoroughbred strain) into what horses are left if we get any good buckers. There are some horses in Canada but they're mostly of the Clydesdale strain and they're cold blooded. And they don't ship well."

"There's a lot of quarter horses being raised, but they don't make good bucking stock."

Quarter horses were developed in the early days of the west. They are fast for short distances, a quarter of a mile, and are extremely agile in working cattle.

"Maybe a fellow could, if he thought it was worth the gamble and he could make some money, cross breed some horses. Then he would have to have some men spoil 'em when they were young to make buckers. The best buckers you get are horses that have been spoiled when they were young," Elliott said.

By "spoiling" Elliott did not mean physical abuse. Fright from something as innocent as rolling tumbleweed may turn a promising colt into a buckler.

"I WOULDN'T want to gamble on it myself. I'm about out of the business and I'm glad, but it has been good to me and I've done all right."

Elliott began contesting when in his teens in Cheyenne's Frontier Days shortly after the turn of the century. He quit contesting in 1913. He became associated with the late Eddie McCarty of Cheyenne in rodeo contracting in 1921. They, with the late Tex Austin of New York City, produced the first Madison Square Garden rodeo in 1922.

Elliott and McCarty, and later Elliott by himself, owned what are regarded as two of the greatest bucking horses of all time—Midnight and Five Minutes to Midnight.

Both are buried on Elliott's ranch near Platteville.

"THEY BROKE" the pattern when they made those two," Elliott said. "You just don't find any stock like that anymore."

One bright note is that bucking horses often live to a grand old age. Midnight was about 27 when he died and Five Minutes was 37. A comparable age for humans would make them the last survivors of the Civil War.

Both were active in the rodeo arenas until just a few years before they died.

At least one outfit is trying to do something to beat the bucking horse shortage — Ken Roberts and his father, E. C. Roberts of Strong City and Mayette, Kan.

They have been in the business of trying to raise outlaw horses for about seven years. They have about 250 head of mares and geldings. They are trying crosses of the giant Percheron strain, to get heavy bone, with thoroughbreds, for spirit.

"Some are doing pretty good and some aren't," said Ken Roberts who is an active rodeo contestant in bronc, bareback and bull riding.

"WE PUT A few 3-year-olds in VANISHING BREED: A black bronc named Leo demonstrates the kind of bucking rodeo fans like to see—but won't be seeing much longer.

wild horse races and some bareback contests. Then we rest them while they're 4s. When they're 5 we hope to get some good broncs, but it's been pretty costly so far."

Roberts has been a rodeo contestant for 25 of his 39 years and he knows his broncs. Raising "bad horses" is his only solution to the shortage problem. And with the drought and mounting feed costs he finds his experiment quite a gamble.

But as Elliott sums up the situation: "Something's got to be done.

When horses get so everyone can ride 'em the show's going to get pretty dull."

UNUSUAL SAWYER, Okla. — Farmer Joe Hendricks has a ewe that is attempting single-handedly to make Oklahoma a big sheep producing state. In six years, the ewe has had two sets of triplets; two sets of twins and two singles.

The birth of triplets occurred consecutively — a most unusual feat according to agricultural experts.

Models Give Grooming Secrets

By VIVIAN BROWN
It's that shaggy look of arms and legs that can ruin an otherwise chic appearance. A woman — the housewife or career girl — may be dressed to the teeth, but if she doesn't have hair removed from her arms and legs (especially now with sleeveless dresses so popular) she'll mar her appearance.

How? Just rotate your glamor chores. Do a little bit each day. Shampoo your hair one day, give yourself a facial the next day, a manicure and pedicure the next day, detuz your arms and legs another day, she suggests.

There is no excuse for neglecting leg and arm routine any more. Electric razors are made especially for women these days. One even has a specially constructed head for defuzzing underarms to avoid irritation. It used to be you'd have to be a contortionist to do that properly. Now razors are feather-weight too, and available in chic colors — Princess pink, spray blue moon-glow yellow.

It's a good idea to use an electric razor when the skin is dry. Dust talcum powder over the area first to insure dryness. Then in a matter of seconds the shaver will clear away the hair. Work on a small area at a time.

Other grooming pointers passed on by Mrs. Ford include this list which she says are musts for her model:

A model must be clean from head to toe — this means a daily bath.

Her lingerie must be entirely fresh.

She must care for hands and feet, giving herself a manicure and pedicure at least once a week using a medium color matching polish on both hands and feet. Chipped nail polish must be changed daily.

Professional weekly care of hair and daily personal care.

Constant hair brushing. Daily creaming of skin if needed, particularly important as one passes 25th birthday. Even more important past 35.

HAIR-FREE GLAMOR—Bare-armed look requires more attention to underarm area. New razor is especially constructed to avoid irritation.

beauty chores, she'd be just as snappy as anyone else," she says. The difference is she must toe the line of fatiduousness or lose job. A girl can't be a glamorous fashion model and neglect her grooming routine.

The average model spends about an hour a day at home and four hours a week in a beauty salon having beauty repairs. But you don't have to do that, says Mrs. Ford, who advises, instead that you may get the same results by devoting 15 minutes a day to a grooming plan.

Emotional Tensions May Cause Stuttering

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE M.D.
AP Newsfeatures

Almost all children stutter a little when they are beginning to talk. Of course most of them get over it as they learn to talk more easily, but a few don't; they may even continue to stutter up into adult life.

It is because of this possible danger that parents are often much concerned about little breaks in a young child's early speech habits.

There is much that we do not know about stuttering. It does seem to run in families, and boys are more prone to it than girls. A child's emotional state has a lot to do with it — tense, unhappy children sometimes stutter. But not all tense children stutter. Occasionally a child will show that there is undue strain upon him by sucking his thumb excessively or wetting his bed or having temper tantrums, or by any one of a dozen "tension outlets." But some children stutter when things are going badly with them. It seems as if stuttering comes easier to such children — and we do not know why.

It HAS BEEN thought that making a left-handed child use his right hand may be the straw that breaks the camel's back, and start a youngster, prone to stuttering, to speech impediments. The part of the brain that controls speech is closely connected with the part that controls the hands. If you interfere with the use of the hand a child normally prefers, it may interfere with his speech — if he is one of those people whose speech is a little uneasy anyway.

A child prone to stutter will show the symptom when he is upset — this much we know for sure. What we don't know is why some children express their agitation by this means instead of another.

When Sammy was four he stuttered quite badly when his beloved grandfather died. Slowly his speech came back to normal, but he began stuttering again after the birth of his baby brother, and once again when he entered school. When Sammy begins to stutter his mother knows he is worried and upset, and she does her best to make him feel more comfortable. As soon as she succeeds Sammy's speech becomes easy and fluent again.

THERE IS no cause for alarm when little children hesitate in their speech; almost all of them do. Often a little fellow's thoughts get ahead of his words and he just can't think of how to express them. This is very frustrating and leads to repetition of a sound, a syllable, or sometimes a whole word or phrase. Grown-ups also do it when they get flustered.

The chief job of a parent is to go easy with the child. Pay attention to him when he is trying to say something; give him time and opportunity to get the important lucas of his across to you.

If he repeats or hesitates, ignore it completely. If you talk about it, or nag him (even pleasantly) to "slow up," to "think before you speak," to "start over again," this only increases his annoyance with himself and is very apt to make his speech worse, not better.

For the older child with a real speech problem that you seem unable to solve by yourself, go talk the problem over with your doctor or with a child psychiatrist. Do this before you take your child to a speech teacher. Stuttering is an emotional problem; it is not caused by tongue-tie or anything else wrong with the mouth. The solution of the problem must be to get at the cause, which is almost always in the emotional life of the youngster.

How Can I?

Q. How can I make an inexpensive furniture polish?

A. Use equal parts of raw linseed oil and turpentine. Pour into a bottle and shake. Put a little of the oil on cheesecloth, rub over the entire surface, and polish with a clean cloth.

Q. How can I make moist crackers crisp?

A. When crackers absorb moisture, they lose their crispness. Place them on a pie pan or baking sheet, and bake in a hot oven for about 10 minutes.

Q. How can I remove stains from knives?

A. The majority of stains on knives can be quickly removed by rubbing with a piece of raw potato.

Q. How can I remove ink stains from wood?

A. Moisten with oxalic acid, let it remain for a few minutes, and then rinse. Do not apply to finished wood or furniture, as this removes the varnish.

Q. What is a substitute for vinegar when making a salad?

A. A good substitute for vinegar, when making a salad dressing or mint sauce, is the juice of a lemon.

Q. How can I quickly remove white wash?

A. One of the easiest methods is to scrub the whitewashed surface with vinegar and water.

Q. How can I stop a leak in a pipe until a plumber's services can be secured?

A. Mix whiting and yellow soap into a thick paste, with a little water. Apply to the leak and it will stop at once.

Q. How can I prevent custard from curdling?

A. Custard will not curdle if it is put into a pan half-filled with cold (instead of hot) water. It will heat more gradually and will be firm and smooth.

Q. How can I keep the sink pipe free from grease?

A. By pouring clean, hot water down the pipe every time dishes are washed.

Q. How can I make a cheap waterproof dressing for shoes?

A. By melting tallow and mixing with neatfoot oil in the proportion of 7 parts of the oil to 3 parts of tallow. In cold weather, use less tallow, about 1 part to 3 parts of oil.

Q. How can I remove a stubborn glass cork from a bottle?

A. By wrapping a hot cloth around the neck of the bottle.

LONG INTERVAL

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — Rep. Marvin J. Howard of Londonderry is serving his second term in the Vermont legislature this year! After a lengthy interval. He served the first one 47 years ago.

Howard, a Republican, was a member of the House in 1910. He says his business — undertaking — kept him away from the capital for nearly half a century.

"No special rush in undertaking," the 78-year-old Republican says, "but business enough so I couldn't leave to go to legislature."

GRIM GAG

BALTIMORE (AP) — The fact that Maryland's highway death toll in this year reached a near record apparently didn't phase some vandals near here. They altered a 30-mile-an-hour speed sign on a street near the Ritchie Highway to read "80 m.p.h."

Babies Enjoy Mealtime Best

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Count your blessings, babies! Mothers know more about feeding you than ever before.

The moment you are ready to handle those eating tools, Mom will encourage you to do so. She starts with letting you drink out of a cup. Did we say drink? Lap up is what we mean and any resemblance to a kitten is not coincidental. When you are about five months old, you'll be putting a hand on the cup while you're drinking. After that you'll reach for the cup. Of course you will have some spills, but the day will come when you'll be right there with the rest of them, enjoying your daily beverage on your own.

By the time you are a year old, chances are you'll be wielding a spoon. Of course a lot of baby food will dribble down your bib, but you'll have fun and you'll be learning something about free enterprise. You probably won't mind when Mother shovels in a mouthful while you bang the table with the spoon. From your point of view, spoons were made to do double duty.

If your mother is a smart girl she'll supply you with a bib that is really big, made of terrycloth on the side that shows and spill-resistant material on the side that goes next to that cute sweater you are wearing.

Never forget that a young man is entitled to preferences. You have a right to a few food likes and dislikes. After all you take after your Pop. You may also get a yen for a particular plate or bowl and there's nothing wrong with standing on your rights until you see it filled with chow.

When it comes to trying new foods, you'll be one of two types. Maybe you're a big adventurer and will gobble up any of those "main dish" combinations that come in handy containers. Or perhaps you're the timid type. In that case your mother, if she is wise, will use the "just a little taste" technique. Then when you get used to that new combination, you'll be welcoming a good-size portion.

In case you want to know what lies ahead of you in the main dish category, here are some junior-food combinations introduced in recent months: macaroni, tomato, beef and bacon; split peas with ham; beef and noodles with vegetables; egg yolks and ham; chicken noodle dinner.

You seem to enjoy these specialties combining meat and vegetables. Do they give you the illusion that you are eating one of those casseroles your Mom is always dreaming up for the grown folks who come to her buffet suppers?

AND SPEAKING of parties, mother may want to celebrate when it's time for her to put one candle on your birthday cake. You don't like crowds, so she'll probably invite a friend with a baby who was born about the same time you were. While the mothers are having cake and coffee, you and your friend can lap up your favorite junior fruits — served in paper dessert dishes with plastic spoons. The party will probably take place in your play pen and it will not last too long. By some great good fortune, maybe your mother and her friend can get you and your friend to take a nap while they hash over the fascinating things you both did yesterday.

Easter Party Honors Students

Sue Suggs, student at Hendricks Memorial School of Nursing in Abilene, and G. W. Suggs, student at the University of Texas, were honored at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Suggs, at a party with former classmates in Hereford High School as guests. A special guest was Miss Georgiana Arakaki of Honolulu who is also a student at Hendricks Memorial, and orchids used in decorations were flown to Hereford for the party by Miss Arakaki's relatives in Hawaii.

Those attending were Nelson Rutter, Earldeen Gandy, Clayton Rutter, home from the University of Texas for the Easter holidays, Mary Lou Francis, also a student at U of T; Wayne Stagner, Elaine Waldrop, David Goldston, home from Texas A&M College; Ken Lowery of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tucker of Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burk, the honorees and the hosts.

WOMEN'S CLUB BOARD SLATES FINAL MEET

The executive board of the Deaf Smith County Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its final session of the year in the county court room at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Mrs. P. B. Sowell, president, has announced that schedules for the 1957-58 club year are ready and will be released at the board meet.

The fourth quarterly session of the CFWC will be held in the form of a tea May 3, in the educational building of the First Baptist Church. Mrs. Troys Carmichael will have charge of the Fine Arts program.

Hostess clubs will be Bay View Club, B&PW Club, Music Study Club, Hereford Garden Club and Wyche Home Demonstration Club.

Bud to Blossom Club Has Program on Landscaping

Bud to Blossom Club met with Mrs. John Sands Friday afternoon. The program was presented by Mesdames Preston Hagans and Irving Alexander, with Mrs. Hagans telling about "Tulips to Every Taste" and tracing the history from its beginning as a wild flower to its cultivated varieties now being planted the world over.

Mrs. Alexander spoke on "Planting for Year-Round Color" outlining landscape designs for the yard that will prove both attractive and colorful.

Mrs. Ray Godwin made the arrangement for the day choosing pink and purple hyacinths.

Members attending were Mesdames Irving Alexander, R. A. Daniel Jr., W. B. Goates, Preston Hagans, J. F. Martin, W. H. Patton, Pat Robinson, Ira Scott, Jimmie White, Delmo Williams, W. Glenn Williams, Jim Wood, R. N. Yarbrough, Glenn Bilibrey, E. R. Kendall and the hosts.

Jeffrey Shipley Honored at Party

Jeffrey Lynn Shipley was honored on his third birthday Friday afternoon at a party given by his mother, Mrs. Donald Shipley.

The group met in the Shipley home and went together to the Kiddie Park for games before enjoying an Easter egg hunt in Dameron Park. Back at the Shipley home refreshments were served and favors of balloons and toy rabbits and thimbles were given to each little guest.

The birthday cake was in the shape of an Easter bunny on a nest of coconut filled with candy Easter eggs. Individual cakes were topped with tiny chickadees.

Children attending the party were Deveny Hardwick, Ray Streu Alisa Kirby, Phillip Carnahan, Ricky and Bill Godwin, Linda Kay Ritter, Sheryl Cox, Kathy Woodward and the honoree.

"DROP DEAD" FILE PHILADELPHIA — Mayor Richardson Dilworth keeps on his desk a "Hate File." There he stores all anonymous "drop dead" letters he receives and shows them to people who wonder what it's like to be mayor.

Dilworth says, however, that most of the 50 to 100 letters he gets a day are from citizens with real problems or serious questions. The mayor of Philadelphia has to keep many people happy — he has more citizens to report to than 22 governors.

Uncle Bob Keeps Close Watch On County Money

SAN ANTONIO — "Uncle Bob" Uhr still has the first $5 he ever earned.

And it was his lifelong principle of saving money that earned him the title of "watchdog of the county treasury."

Uhr, 81, served Bexar County and the city for nearly four decades.

And he doesn't like the way the local government is being run. Among his criticisms is the separation of city and county governments. He says they should be combined to save money.

Born and reared in the country, Uhr came to San Antonio in his youth and got a job as a carpenter at $1.25 a day. When he drew his first pay of $7.50 in cash, he took a $5 gold piece home "to mama to keep safe for me."

He still has that $5 gold piece, tucked away in his old-fashioned roll-top desk.

Uhr has plenty of experience on which to base his assertion that county and city governments should be combined—he has been both a city and a county official.

His first venture into politics was in 1911 when he was elected to the city council, a post he held for two terms. Then for two years he was city police and fire commissioner.

In 1926 he was elected county treasurer, a job he held until 1930. He retired from politics in 1946 after serving as a county commissioner for 16 years.

The sparse, tall octogenarian still stands straight and speaks with a bite in his voice, especially on the subjects of economy in public spending and honesty in government officials.

"I was the people's servant, never their master. I couldn't get along with selfish high-pressure groups. I think the record of the commissioners' court will show I was a servant of all the people, regardless of color, creed or wealth," he declared. When it was pointed out that some public officials in Texas recently had been convicted of dishonesty, Uhr recalled: "I handled all of that money for the county and came out $1.20 long."

He likes responsibility of government, and on the local level.

An outspoken foe of the city manager form of government, Uhr says:

"I don't like it. First place, I'd never bring a man from out of town. Second place, why have a manager? Why not have a strong mayor and be done with it?"

HIS DAY—Our Duty

Welcome to church!... but wait a minute. Have you bothered to invite a friend or a stranger to share the pew at your church? Someone is waiting for your invitation... a business partner... a club member... a neighbor. What sort of church member are you? Do you care enough to invite another to share its blessings with you? Do you get genuine spiritual uplift in the public worship of God's house? You are your brother's keeper. Then, you should want to invite him to God's house. You should long for an opportunity to pray with him. Strength gained through worship in God's house on Sunday fortifies us for the entire week ahead. Then, "Come Let Us Go Into The House Of The Lord." It is His day and our duty.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

CANNON REPORT

CINCINNATI (AP) — A police drive to collect dangerous war souvenirs netted a flock of lethal devices, including hand grenades and shells up to 75-millimeter size. But some of the souvenirs showed that owners took NO chances. Police Lt. Lawrence McCarthy said, "One man brought in a two-inch cannon ball that must have been used in the Civil War."

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To: Virginia Lopez
 Defendant, Green

You are hereby notified to appear by filing a written answer to the Plaintiff's Petition or before 10 o'clock A.M. of the first Monday after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being Monday the 27th day of May, 1957, at or before ten o'clock A.M. before the Honorable District Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas, at the Court House of said County in Hereford, Texas.

Said Plaintiff's Petition was filed in said court, on the 9th day of April A. D. 1957, in this cause, numbered 3980 on the docket of said court, and styled, Librado Lopez, Plaintiff, vs. Virginia Lopez, Defendant.

The names of the parties to this cause are as follows:

Librado Lopez is Plaintiff and Virginia Lopez is Defendant.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit: Suit for divorce on grounds of mental cruelty as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

If this citation is not served within ninety days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs. Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Hereford, Texas, this 9th day of April A. D. 1957.

Attest:
 Lucille Posey, Clerk,
 District Court, Deaf Smith County, Texas.
 (SEAL) T-15-4c.

Clothes Shine
 When a dress suit of dark serge becomes shiny with wear, sponge with hot vinegar and press it the usual way. No odor of vinegar will remain, the shine will disappear, and the material will be much improved in appearance. The dye will not stain.

On Woolen
 Stain spots can be removed from woolen goods with one ounce of powdered borax in one quart of boiling water. Bottle and keep in convenient place for use when needed.

Oily Skin
 A good remedy for an oily skin and shiny nose is to wash the face once a day with fresh, clear water, into which the juice of one lemon has been stirred.

Saving Coal
 One can economize in coal by purchasing an ash-sifter and sifting the ashes regularly. The partly burned coal that has fallen through the grate bars can then be used again. Sometimes a tin of ash can be saved from an empty supply.

Filled Grapefruit
 Filled grapefruit can be made by cutting the fruit evenly, and moving all the pulp and juice. Fill the shells with pieces of grapefruit. Sometimes a tin of ash can be saved from an empty supply.

Part and Amber Beads
 Rub some olive oil on the pearls and amber beads with a piece of flannel or cheesecloth. Don't use too much oil and don't rub too hard!

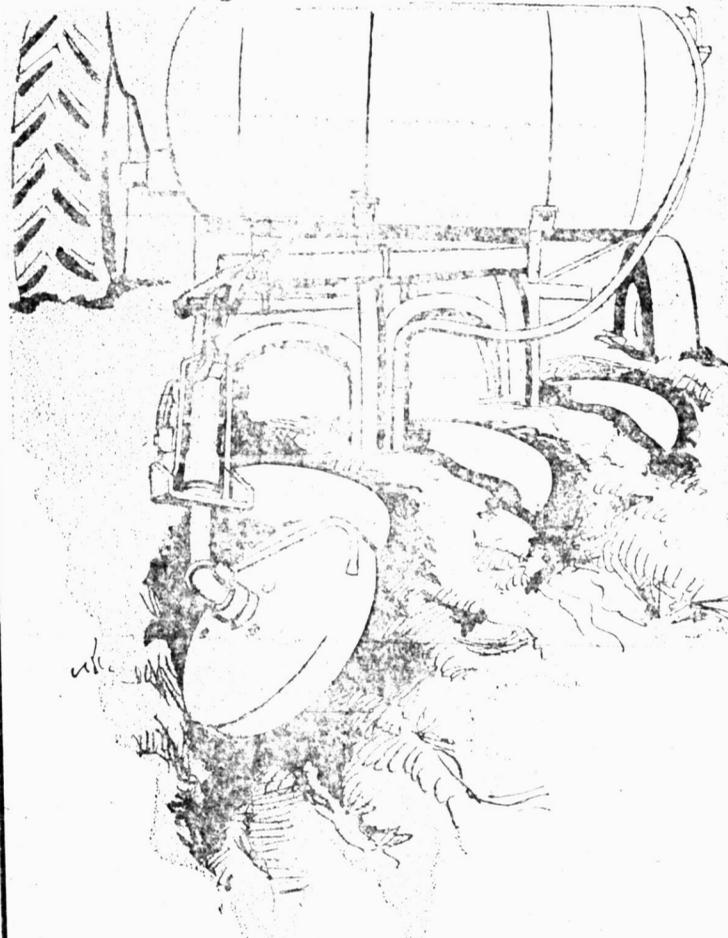

Hat Bands
 Hat bands can be renovated by brushing with a sponge or small brush, with a solution made by dissolving 1/2 oz. each of sulphuric ether and water of ammonia. Now rinse in clear rain water.

Quail Suffered in Drouth Years, but Prospects Are Up

AUSTIN — Impact of Texas' record drouth on the Animal Kingdom was reflected in still another way by incomplete quail population statistics confirming that generally the bobwhite hatch was far below normal, reports W. S. Jennings, assistant director of Wildlife Restoration for the Game and Fish Commission.

He said research by Wildlife Biologist Clyde Holt shows that North Central Texas habitat apparently was hardest hit since quail wing returns from 10 counties in that area showed 50 per cent of the harvest bobwhites were young birds.

The assistant director said that in normal years quail hatched during the preceding spring comprise from 75 to 85 per cent of the population on the average. He explained that technicians, by studying the wings sent to the Commission by cooperating sportsmen, can determine the spring hatching success from the number of young birds in the hunters' bag. Also, he went on, valuable data is compiled as to hatching dates and age classification of the harvested population.

The partial returns were announced in connection with a renewed movement by the commission to again encourage quail hunting. The program, that was launched last year, depends on public aid in providing food and cover.

FOR THE North Central zone, only 2.06 young per adult were determined on the basis of 1,205 wings counted from that area.

Deep East Texas fared better, according to wing study returns from Wildlife Biologist Dan Lay at Buna. He said reports from 22 counties showed 50.4 per cent young in population, with 3.64 young per adult hen, as determined by the sample of 914 wings sent in.

For East Central Texas, known as the Post Oak belt, returns from 17 counties showed 4.12 young per adult hen, comprising 60 per cent of the harvest period population and that 95.18 per cent were hatched before July 15.

THE PANHANDLE reports, as yet not compiled, probably will be nearer normal as to nesting success since all indications pointed to another good bobwhite harvest in that far north area last fall. During the recent years, the Panhandle has provided most of the good quail hunting in Texas, said Jennings.

He said indications also justify anticipating a fairly good report on South Texas quail when all the material has been assembled for that region.

Jennings said Texas' thousands of quail hunters apparently will be able to look forward to a more nearly normal quail population next fall, on the basis of optimistic habitat reports arising from recent substantial rains.

"The other main factor in that long-delayed bobwhite comeback," he said, "is the sportsman himself. We seem to have the weather back on our side. If the hunters, through their clubs or as individuals, will work with the landowners to provide housekeeping quarters for Mr. and Mrs. Bob White, we are bound to have a happy ending to this prolonged crisis. Because the seed quail exist in most areas and everybody knows that quail with a very little encouragement reproduce in amazing numbers."
