County considers electronic surveillance

Use of electronic supervision for Deaf Smith County defendants, under certain circumstances, will be explored and tested during the next few weeks.

After hearing a presentation Monday by Ray Dunn, representing Community Supervision Surveillance of Lubbock, Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court decided to study the program further.

Electronic supervision has been used by Deaf-Smith County juvenile probation on a limited basis and could be expanded to adult supervision.

County Judge Tom Simons will work with Sheriff Joe Brown and Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul to determine value of the program.

Simons said such a program could reduce jail population in the future by permitting certain offenders to stay in their own homes with electronic supervision.

A miniature transmitter is fastened around the ankle and signals a receiver when the defendant arrives or leaves home. Information is recorded and sent by telephone to a central computer in Lubbock.

Bids for chemicals, rejected last month when all three bidders submitted the same prices, were opened and commissioners awarded the bid to Terra International.

Cost of Arsenal was set at $155 per gallon in 30-gallon drums. Roundup was priced at $37.31 per gallon in 30-gallon drums.

Two other bidders, Tri-State Chemical and Tide, bid Roundup at the same price and Arsenal at $161 per gallon.

Commissioners heard and approved a request from Sgt. Marshall Henderson of the Department of Public Safety for parttime held in the Hereford office.

Concluding the brief agenda, the commission accepted an easement from Arliss Edwards and Friemel Farms for a waterway to a playa lake northwest of Milo Center. The waterway will permit drainage along a county road.

Blowing it out the kazoo

Larry Summers, right, grimaces as Margie Daniels tries to play "The Old Grey Mare" on the kazoo at the annual Celebrity Waiter A La Heart dinner Saturday at the Senior Center. The supper featured special tables and waiters who served a roast beef dinner. Proceeds benefitted the Deaf Smith County affiliate chapter of the American Heart Association.

DSGH plans screenings Wednesday

Deaf Smith General Hospital will host its monthly free blood pressure and glucose screenings Wednesday from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. at the Hereford Senior Center.

The screenings are held the second Wednesday of every month. This month the screenings come in the middle of National Hospital Week. The theme for the observance is "Around-the-Clock Health Care," and the hospital will host a health fair with a cholesterol screening from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. Saturday. A $10 fee will be charged for the cholesterol screening.

DSGH will play host to many displays, tests and activities during Saturday. The hospital recognized the importance of the glucose and blood pressure screenings several months ago and offer the tests at the Senior Center as a public service.

Changes in glucose or blood pressure may signal health problems. Problems found early can be treated before permanent problems develop. Cholesterol screenings can help make lifestyle adjustments necessary to ensure a longer, healthier life.

Blackwell wins state title

Turk Blackwell, left, a senior at Hereford High School, won the gold medal in informative extemporaneous speaking at the State UIL Academic Meet in Austin on Saturday. At right is his coach, Lana Hall. Blackwell was second after the preliminaries, then was named the top speaker by a three-judge panel. Blackwell also placed sixth in Lincoln-Douglas Debate and qualified for the national meet this summer in Fargo, ND. This is the second year in a row HHS has won the gold medal in informative; Camille Betzen won the title in 1991.

3 arrested for beating trucker

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Police and FBI arrested three men today in the televised beating of a truck driver in the early hours of last month's riots, officials said.

FBI and police special weapons team officers raided six locations in the South Central area at about 2:30 a.m. and took three men into custody, said Mike Botula, a spokesman for the district attorney's office.

ABC Network News reported that the men were booked for investigation of state charges of attempted murder, mayhem, robbery and torture of Reginald Denny and federal charges of interfering with a vehicle engaged in interstate commerce.

The men were taken into custody peacefully, ABC said.

On Monday, former CIA and FBI chief William Webster was picked by the Police Commission on Monday to lead an investigation of the riots, the worst in the United States this century. Fifty-two people were killed and damage was put at $785 million.

The violence was touched off by the verdict in another videotaped beating - the beating by police of motorist Rodney King.

Webster said his investigation of the riots will focus not only on the police response - the slowness of which has been blamed for Denny's beating - but on whether the mayor and the news media bear responsibility for the outbreak of violence.

It is the second civilian panel to investigate the Police Department since 1991 King beating. A commission headed by former Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher last year accused the department of racism and brutality.

"I'm not going to quibble with it," Police Chief Daryl Gates said of the new inquiry. "I think the important thing to do is to stop the media riot on the police department." The investigation will examine whether police planned and responded adequately and how news coverage and statements by public officials affected rioters, Webster said.

Alcohol meeting site changed

Today's meeting to address underage alcohol abuse in Hereford will be held at 7 p.m. at the Hereford High School cafeteria.

The meeting was originally at Hereford State Bank, but organizers said they felt they needed a larger meeting area for a crowd they hope will attend the meeting.

Tonight's meeting will feature a film and a panel of representatives of local law enforcement agencies. It is open to all interested persons.

County Judge Tom Simons will be the moderator. A film, "The Greatest Heartache You'll Ever Know," will begin the program. The film is 22 minutes long and details a state trooper's miseries about underage drinking and driving.

A panel including District Attorney Roland Saul, Sheriff Joe Brown, Police Chief Caydon Brush, Capt. Jody McCarthy of the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and Sgt. Marshall Henderson of the Department of Public Safety will discuss problems in Deaf Smith County and will answer questions.

Also to be discussed is a letter being sent to all parents of Hereford High School students. The letter, above the signatures of Brown, Brush and Saul, urges parents to take action.

"Alcohol use threatens our children's lives, disrupts our schools, shatters families and in some areas shatters communities," the letter says. "We cannot expect the law enforcement agencies to do the job without the help of parents and other community groups."

Another letter is also being used. The letter is sent to parents of all under-age persons "at a party where underage drinking was occurring," the letter says.

"No charges will be filed and we are not accusing your child of planning to consume alcoholic beverages," the letter says. "We are merely expressing our concerns so that you may prevent any harm toward your child."

All local law enforcement agencies have drawn up consistent guidelines to use for all underage drinking. All persons at the scene, whether a party or other setting, will be identified.

Mass murderer's proposal was spurned

PECOS, Texas (AP) - The Mother's Day massacre of a family in this far West Texas city had been triggered by a rejected marriage proposal, police say.

Gilbert Dominguez, 48, proposed to Glenda Hall on Saturday, but was rejected. Dominguez, who had a history of violence with the women, then called his son in Odessa before taking a high-powered rifle and knife to Ms. Hall's home.

Dominguez didn't find his estranged girlfriend Sunday night. Instead, he found and is believed to have slain his infant daughter, Ms. Hall's parents, and her brother before turning the gun on himself.

Killed were Deseray Hall, 18 months; Ms. Hall's parents, James McIver, 51, and Gloria McIver, 49; and Ms. Hall's brother, Robert McIver, 27.

"It's like a nightmare that won't go away," said Gary Bliss of Kermit, Ms. Hall's uncle. "You read about it happening to other people, but when it happens to you, you don't believe it."

He said family members knew Dominguez had problems.

"It's like a nightmare that won't go away. You read about it happening to other people, but when it happens to you, you don't believe it."

-Gary Bliss, Glenda Hall's uncle.

"But we didn't expect anything like this. When my son told me they'd been shot, I thought they were going to be OK."

Tamara McGinnis, Robert McIver's girlfriend, told the Pecos Enterprise that Dominguez had "beaten the hell" out of Ms. Hall previously.

"She feared for her life," Ms. McGinnis said.

Ms. McGinnis was present during the attack and said she survived because Robert McIver shoved her into a bedroom.

Ms. Hall's 10-year-old daughter, Jeanna Leigh, also escaped harm by hiding in a bedroom closet.

Investigator Clay McKinney said authorities found notes Dominguez had written about wanting to kill the family.

"They really didn't make any sense. There were some family names mentioned. But you could not interpret from reading them" that he planned to kill the family, McKinney said.

Dominguez had recently finished serving 10 years probation for the 1980 attempted murder of his ex-wife, Rebecca Dominguez. That same year, he had also attempted to kill a former girlfriend, who later dropped the charges.

Ms. Hall had complained at least three times to police about Dominguez. The most recent complaint came Saturday night.

Ms. Hall, a dispatcher at Smithers Transportation Test Center, was working when the shootings occurred. Dominguez, Robert McIver and Mrs. McIver also worked at the track.

"She's blaming herself. She took the whole load on herself," Bliss said.

Ms. Hall did not wish to be interviewed, Bliss said.

Police questioned Dominguez's son, but later released him.

Pecos Police Chief Troy Moore said the son had driven from Odessa to Pecos after getting the call from his father. He arrived during the shootings.

"Apparently he got scared and left," Moore said, adding that Dominguez's son sought help from authorities. Police would not release his name.

The quadruple murder-suicide is the worst violent crime in Texas this year. It also is the first murder in Pecos, a town of 12,000, since 1989.

The bodies of the victims were flown to San Antonio for autopsies. McKinney said 19 cartridges from a .30-caliber rifle were found, but not all were spent.

Funeral arrangements were pending.

Signatures exceed number needed

Petitions show grassroots power, says Perot

AUSTIN (AP) - Ross Perot says collecting about four times as many petition signatures as needed for a spot on the presidential ballot in Texas shows the power of his grassroots organizers.

"You've set the standard for all of the big states in this country by delivering Texas," Perot told about 3,000 cheering supporters after submitting his petitions on Monday.

"I guarantee you, folks in California and New York and Florida and those other big states couldn't sleep unless they could at least match you," Perot said.

Secretary of State John Hannah accepted the petitions, estimating the total at about 231,000. He said verification would begin quickly and take about a month.

To be placed on the ballot as an independent presidential candidate, Perot needs 54,275 signatures of registered voters who didn't cast ballots in the March presidential primaries.

Perot looked and sounded like a candidate after supporters paraded to the Capitol and held a rally on its grounds, with many chanting, "Run Ross run." Capitol Police Capt. Dwain Cox estimated the crowd at about 3,000.

"If the framers of our Constitution are looking down from heaven today, you know and I know they are smiling," Perot said.

Perot said "political experts" had predicted that his backers couldn't obtain the required 54,275 signatures by Monday's deadline, the earliest of any state.

"You didn't," he told the crowd. "You did over 200,000."

Although Perot mentioned "after November" several times during his speech, he declined in a brief interview to say when he might officially decide whether to run.

Asked when he would make an announcement, Perot replied, "Whenever we're ready."

Asked when that would be, he said only, "Pretty soon."

Surrounded by people wearing

"Ross for Boss" T-shirts and carrying Perot signs, the unofficial candidate said Monday was historic.

"Everybody who understands politics will tell you this - what's happening today could not happen," Perot said. "Keep in mind, the hard part starts after November. So every time they say just forget it, remember this hot day in the sun when you delivered."

"You are not ordinary people. you are very special people... You're part owners of this great country. You are setting the example to rebuild a government that comes from the owners. And God bless you for that."

Perot also took a shot at both Republicans and Democrats, accusing each major party of trying to play only to a fraction of the electorate.

"The other parties are now trying to split the melting pot into different pieces, pander to each of the pieces and then wonder why they can't put it back together after the election. We will not be a part of that," he said. "We're all in this together... If you hate other people, I don't want your vote. It's that simple."

The Dallas billionaire already is on the ballot in Tennessee and Utah.

Supporters also have turned in petitions bearing the required number of signatures in Delaware, Maine and New Hampshire, where formal certification is pending. In more than a dozen other states, supporters say they have collected more than enough signatures.

Perot's standing in public opinion polls has surged as he edges toward a campaign. A nationwide Times-Mirror poll two weeks ago showed him in a statistical dead heat with President Bush and Democratic front-runner Bill Clinton.

A Texas Poll last month showed Perot leading both Bush, an adopted Texan, and Clinton in Texas.

Clinton on Monday said if Perot runs, he'll have to lay out his positions on major issues, "and then the debate will unfold.... It's hard to say how all this is going to come down."

EMS Week being observed

In support of a special resolution passed April 11 by the Texas Board of Health, Gov. Ann Richards has proclaimed May 10-16 Texas EMS Week. The observance coincides with National EMS Week proclaimed by Congress.

This year's theme for the observance, "EMS--It Starts With You," reflects each citizen's responsibility for emergency medical services--injury prevention, emergency response, first responder training and citizen support of EMS.

Every year in Texas, emergency medical service personnel respond to more than a million calls for help. "Most of those calls come from alert, concerned citizens who know the importance of immediate care in emergencies," said Gene Weatherall, chief of the TDH's Bureau of Emergency Management.

The bureau licenses some 1,250 EMS services and "first responder" groups, and certifies some 40,000 emergency care attendants, emergency medical technicians, paramedics, firefighters and others. The bureau also offers training, approves equipment and helps secure financial support for local emergency units.

During the week, EMS personnel throughout the state will stress public awareness of how and when EMS should be called. Public service announcements and activities will underscore strategies for injury and illness prevention.

Weatherall said that public information and education materials on all aspects of EMS are available from the Bureau of Emergency Management at 512/458-7550.

Among the available pamphlets, guidebooks and posters are information on careers in EMS as well as volunteer participation and train. "Nearly half the people who work in EMS are volunteers," Weatherall said. "Emergency medical service in Texas could not exist without them."

Herd athletes honored at All-Sports Banquet

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

Hereford High School's finest athletes and finest young men and women were honored at the All-Sports Banquet Monday at the Hereford Bull Barn.

Shantel Cornelius and Leo Brown were named as the Athletes of the Year. Fighting Heart awards were given to Michael Campos and Teresa Baker, and the recipients of the Casey Smith Memorial were Derek Mason and Minerva Salazar.

Cornelius led the Hereford volleyball team to a 26-5 record and a berth in the regional finals. She rewrote the Herd volleyball record books, with marks including kills in a match (30); kills in a season (343); and kills in a career (761). Her career spanned four years on varsity.

After the season, she accepted a scholarship to play volleyball at the University of Texas. Among her other honors were District 1-4A Player of the Year, 4A All-State team member, Texas Girls' Coaches Association All-Star Game selection and member of Volleyball Monthly magazine's "Fab 50" list of the nation's top college players.

In the spring, Cornelius went back to track after a year off and showed her versatility by competing in the discus, shot and high jump. She was the district's discus champion, and she competed in the discus and shot put at regionals.

Brown, who was the only award-winner not in attendance Monday, was a record-setter for the Herd football, basketball and track teams. In football, he rushed for 1,577 yards, setting a single-season record for the Herd. He earned first-team all-district and second-team all-state distinctions. He'll continue his football career at Eastern New Mexico University.

In basketball, Brown led the team in with game averages of 17.2 points, 8.8 rebounds and 1.9 steals. His 264 rebounds this year is a school record. He made first-team all-district.

In track, Brown holds the school record in the triple jump at 46 feet and 3/4 inch. Before breaking his ankle in the long jump event at the district track meet, he had good chances at qualifying for regionals in the long jump, triple jump, 110-meter high hurdles and both relays. He did qualify in the long jump, finishing second.

In presenting the Casey Smith Memorial award, Coach Craig Yenzler quoted a newspaper article which hangs framed in the field house: "Casey always smiles. The longer the practices, the hotter the weather, the better he likes it." The award is presented to the Herd athlete who works the hardest to improve at a sport and shows a love of the game.

Mason lettered in football and basketball during his senior year. In football, he was a two-way starter for the Herd. He led the team with 11 catches for 251 yards from the tight end position. On defense, he started every district game at end--making 43 tackles, eight for losses, and sacking the quarterback three times. That earned him first-team all-district honors on defense, a year after making the second team at tight end. He'll go on to play football next year at Angelo State University.

Salazar ran cross country and track, winning the district championship in the 400-meter dash. She placed sixth at the regional meet in the same event, and also ran at regionals in the 1,600-meter relay. During her sophomore year, she competed at the state cross country meet and at the state track meet (in the 800 relay). During her senior year, she captained both teams.

The Fighting Heart Award is given to the overachiever--the Herd athlete who gets more out of his athletic ability than most people.

Baker was the only girl who lettered in three sports this year. She played volleyball, basketball and tennis. She found team success with the regional finalist volleyball team, and she found individual success in tennis. She won singles in the San Angelo tennis tournament just a few days after stepping off the basketball court and onto the tennis court. She finished high at several other tournaments: third at Borger, fourth at the Amarillo Relays and fifth in the Hereford tournament. She competed at the regional tournament as a doubles player in 1991 and as a singles player in 1992.

Campos moved into a starting role for the football team in 1991 and played so well he earned first-team all-district recognition at tackle. He also was the baseball team's primary catcher during his senior year.

The Whiteface Booster Club, which sponsored the banquet, honored Ed and Carlynn DeLozier as Co-Fans of the Year.

Coaches for all sports recognized their assistant coaches and their players on all levels.

The Hereford Brand and KPAN-Radio honored 12 athletes in 13 sports with Media Awards. The recipients were: Mason, football; Brek Binder, volleyball; Jack Borden, cross country; Ricka Williams, cross country; Jennifer Bullard, basketball; Brown, basketball and track; Baker, tennis; Torey Sellers, tennis; Salazar, track; Jake Head, baseball; Jayson Mines, golf; and Paula Britten, golf.

Binder, a senior, served as both setter and middle blocker for the volleyball team, and she earned first-team all-district status for the second year in a row. She was also an All-Tournament selection at the Amarillo Invitational. She set single-season school records in 1991 for assists (482), sets (1,026), points scored on serve (273) and successful service attempts (420). She'll continue her volleyball career at Angelo State University.

Borden, a junior, finished fourth at two cross country meets--the Plainview Invitational and the Brownfield Invitational--and he finished sixth twice--at Seminole and Dumas. He also finished sixth at the district meet, falling one place short of a trip to the regional meet.

Williams was the only freshman to win an award. Her highest cross country finish was fourth at Plainview, but her best race was finishing tenth out of 200 4A and 5A runners on a demanding course at the Lubbock Invitational.

Bullard, a senior, led the girls' basketball team in most statistical categories. She set records in some, including steals in a season (107) and in a career (243) and in three-point shots in a game (6), season (49) and career (97). She started three years for the Lady Whitefaces, and after her senior year she played for the winning team in the Golden Spread All-Star Game.

Sellers, a senior, joined with Jamie Kapka to form a doubles tennis team that was nearly invincible this year. They compiled a record of 31-4--along the way winning tournaments in Wichita Falls, San Angelo, Borger and Hereford. They were runners-up at the district tournament and finished third at regionals, making them alternates to the state tournament.

Head, a junior, led the Herd baseball team in batting with a .367 average (.357 in district play). He was second on the team with 15 runs batted in. He also led all outfielders in putouts and assists.

Mines, a junior, was the boys' golf team's low scorer at six out of nine tournaments in the spring. Individually, he was fourth at San Angelo and third at the Hereford tournament. In district, he led the team to a third place finish, and he finished sixth individually, earning all-district status.

Britten, a senior, will lead the girls' golf team into the state golf tournament this week. She finished high at every tournament the team entered: third at Fort Stockton, Hereford and the Amarillo Relays; and second at Perryton. She was the individual medalist in district play and finished seventh at the regional tournament. She led the team to second place finishes in district and at regionals.

The Soviet Union, competing for the first time in 40 years, did not win a gold medal in men's track and field in 1952.

A former major leaguer renowned for his power, Frank Howard, now a coach, is 6-8 and weighs 300 pounds.

On June 30, 1908, Cy Young, baseball's all-time leader in victories, pitched a no-hitter for the Red Sox against the Yankees.

Crist takes 1st in cutting horse contest

AMARILLO--Ron Crist of Hereford took first-place monies in the first show of The Non-Pro Cutting Horse Contest being held this week at the Tri-State Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Crist put Commandate through the paces in the third set of the Five/Six Year Old Non Pro, scoring a 218 and earning $1,520 in go-round money. It also put him in first place in a separate gelding competition.

Crist was followed closely by Phil Rapp of Lipan, who scored a 217 on Playboys Ruby. Other money earners were Paula Rogers of Stephenville, Julie Dborak of Ojai, Cal., and four others who tied.

The second competition of the day, the Four Year Old Non Pro, was won by Cindy Love of Sunset, who scored a 218 on Freckles Playdough.

All horses scoring above 180 will return today for the second go-round in both age groups. Finals for the events will be held beginning about 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Betzen wins in shotgun competition

Cameron Betzen of Hereford won one of many divisions in the Texas Zone 1 shotgun shooting championships held May 2-3 at the Amarillo Gun Club.

Betzen broke 187 of 200 targets to win Class B, and he also won the junior class of the handicap open competition.

Ronald Johnson of Dawn shot a 92 to win the 25-27 yard division of the handicap open division.

The championships included shooters from Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Colorado competing in more than 50 divisions.

HJH, JV netters plaster Plainview

Suns close to burial

PHOENIX (AP) - The Phoenix Suns have a mathematical shot at coming back from their 3-1 deficit in the Western Conference semifinals. And they did win in Portland at the start of the season.

But Danny Ainge of the Trail Blazers is taking the realistic view. "They're in the grave, but there's no dirt on them yet," Ainge said Monday night after contributing 25 points and a series of clutch shots to Portland's double-overtime 153-151 victory in the highest-scoring NBA playoff game ever.

The dirt could come Thursday night in Portland's Memorial Coliseum, site of Game 5.

The Blazers are 7-0 in playoffs after taking a 2-1 lead. Their 3-1 lead going back to Portland, where they are 37-8 this season, seems overwhelming.

Clyde Drexler led Portland with 33 points and Terry Porter had 31 points and 14 assists. But Ainge and Kevin Duckworth were the key performers in the late stages.

Duckworth, scoreless since the third quarter, had eight points in the second OT and put the Blazers ahead 152-151 when he made two free throws with 10.7 seconds left after grabbing an offensive rebound. He was fouled while attempting a jumper in the lane.

Membership dues due at Pitman

Annual memberships at Pitman Municipal Golf Course expired May 1, but the deadline for payment has been extended to Friday, it was announced this week by Dave Kaesheimer, city golf pro.

Since the city commission approved some changes in rates, the membership deadline was extended, explained Kaesheimer. Annual fees on lockers and handicap cards are also due. The handicap records are $7.50 per golfer. A waiting list is kept for locker space.

The pro also reported that the weekly Wednesday Scramble will start this week. The first 52 paid entrants will be flighted in the nine-hole event. Entry fee is $5 and signup has started at the pro shop.

NEW YORK (AP) - According to the Baseball Commissioner's office, there never has been a major league player whose last name began with the letter X.

However, all other letters are covered, ranging from A to Z, especially in the list of all-time home run hitters.

Hank Aaron leads the letter list, being the first name alphabetically and also in number of homers with 714. Gus Zernial is last in letters but still hit 237 home runs.

Kruk cooks in San Fran

By The Associated Press

Is anyone hotter so far this season than John Kruk? Maybe Matt Williams, for now. Or possibly Luis Alicea.

The New York Mets had been so torrid at home, they almost forgot how to lose. Los Angeles, though, knows defeat very vividly, especially since it comes so close to the end of Dodger games.

Kruk, Philadelphia's league-leading hitter, connected for his first two homers of the year in the Phillies' 10-inning 8-7 loss to the San Francisco Giants on Monday night.

The Philadelphia outfielder, hitting .396, also had a double and scored three times, but San Francisco won when Will Clark drew a bases-loaded walk from reliever Mitch Williams in the 10th inning.

Matt Williams, the Giants' third baseman, got his eighth homer to extend his power-laden hitting streak to eight games.

Luis Alicea, the Cardinals' fifth choice at second base, pounded the Atlanta Braves for a triple, two doubles and five RBIs in St. Louis' 8-3 victory.

And Andy Benes and the San Diego Padres snapped New York's 11-game winning streak at Shea Stadium 4-2, while Los Angeles was again beaten in the final at-bat, falling at Montreal 6-5 in 10 innings.

Also, Houston beat Chicago 2-1 in 10 innings.

There were no games scheduled in the American League Monday.

At Philadelphia, the Giants were able to overcome Kruk and the Phillies as Royce Clayton's suicide squeeze scored pinch-runner Jose Uribe and - after the Phillies tied it in the ninth - Mitch Williams (2-1) issued the bases-loaded walk to Clark.

Termites Swarming Here Now!

The idea of termites coming uninvited and eating away at your valuable home isn't a happy thought! That's why no one likes to find winged termites in or around their home. But it is an important finding - it may be your first sign that some hungry termites are eating away at the wood structure of your home, eventually causing thousands of dollars in damage. If you do have termites, it is better to detect and control them early than late.

Termites will be actively swarming in the months ahead. They fly out of their nests, sometimes by the hundreds and thousands, to mate and start new colonies. If you find some of the critters, first use this handy drawing to see whether it is an ant or termite. Many species of ants swarm at the same time, and it's easy to mistake the two.

Notice that termites wings are about the same length and have lots of veins, while ant wings have few veins, and their forewings are longer than their hindwings. Also, termites have broad waists and straight or curved antennae, while ants have narrow waists and sharply bent antennae.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a single mother with a 19-year-old daughter. What are my rights?

I've tried my best to raise my daughter alone. I was only 17 when "Amber" was born. You could say we grew up together. I've been living with a man for the past 14 years, have a responsible job, and am quite happy with my life. But it hasn't been easy.

Amber refuses to go to school, where she is a junior, nor will she get any kind of a job. She says it's my responsibility to support her until she is 21.

I say she is old enough to accept some responsibility for herself. I want her to graduate from high school, but if that is asking too much, she should at least get a G.E.D. and then a job.

Am I legally bound to support my daughter until she's 21? We have both gone for counseling from time to time but it hasn't helped much. It hurts me to see Amber throwing away her life.

I worry about where she's going to end up. Please help me if you can.--Short on Hope in Long Island

DEAR LONG ISLAND: In New York State, a parent is legally responsible for an able-bodied child only until 18 years of age. If the child is not self-supporting, however, and must file for state welfare (should the family throw her out), the state can charge the parents for all payments it makes until the child is 21.

You say you both went for counseling but it didn't help much. I implore you to try again with another counselor--and soon. Your daughter needs to understand the importance of a high school education. Don't give up on this girl or she'll give up on herself and the problems will be unending.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is in response to the letter writer who signed herself "School Is No Place For Sick Children."

I'd like to make it clear that there's more to the problem than just sick children. We have a school nurse who sends our kids home with anything from a runny nose to a stomach ache and the time they miss is counted against them.

If a child is out of school for three days a doctor's note is required before that youngster can re-enter. Most parents can't afford to take their children to the doctor every time they miss a couple of days of school.

That's not the half of it, Ann. I've received several letters from the school authorities reminding me that if my children (I have two) miss a certain number of days within a six-week period, the teacher can fail them. Not once have they mentioned that their absences affected the quality of their work. All they're interested in is how many days the children missed. This makes absolutely no sense to me.

The school system says we must keep our children home if they're sick and then penalizes us when we do. I believe this system is patently unfair and I'd like to know what you think about it.--Mrs. G., Cedar Lake, Ind.

DEAR INDIANA: I can see why you are upset, but there are no blanket solutions to this problem. Every school must abide by the regulations of the board of education.

In your particular set-up, I believe it is unfair to flunk a youngster based on days missed if he makes up the work and passes the tests. Your complaint on that score is perfectly legitimate--and you can quote me.

Do you questions about sex, but no one to talk to? Ann Landers booklet, "Sex and the Teenager," is frank and to the point. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Teens, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Bride-elect honored

A bridal shower was held for Misty Reed, May 23 bride-elect of Jason Lueb, Saturday, May 2, in the home of Cindy Burns. Welcoming guests were, from left, Martha Lueb, Mary Lou Homer, Ann Lueb, the honoree Misty Reed, Loretta Reed, Clarice Reed and Jimmie Bonds.

New study on Parkinson's Disease

Who is most likely to get Parkinson's disease—a serious disorder of the nervous system that leads to difficulty with movement, including the initiation of movement? A new study found some surprising answers to that question.

It's often believed that Parkinson's disease, or PD, occurs only in elderly people, but that isn't true. Parkinson's can occur at any age, although it is rare for symptoms to appear in people under 30. A study in Germany which divided patent into early onset (before 40), middle onset (40-60) and older onset (over 60), found that in the early onset group of patients, males predominated, although this predominance levelled off with later age of onset. It has been noticed that it is rare for people with PD to be cigarette smokers, but this German study found that more of the younger onset group were smokers.

Whatever age that parkinson's strikes, it's important to receive early diagnosis and treatment, which may help to slow the progression of the illness. Misty Reed honored during bridal shower

Misty Reed, May 23 bride-elect of Jason Lueb, was feted with a bridal shower Saturday, May 2, in the home of Cindy Burns, 309 Douglas.

Greeting guests with the honoree were Loretta Reed, her mother; Jimmie Bonds and Clarice Reed, her grandmothers; Nikki Reed, her sister; Martha Lueb and Mary Lou Homer, the prospective bridegroom's grandmothers; Ann Lueb, his mother; and Julie Lueb, his sister.

Hostesses served refreshments of mini muffins, chocolate covered strawberries, apricot honey cookies, quiche, cheese balls, crackers, iced cranberry tea and coffee.

The refreshment table, covered with an antique white lace cloth, was enhanced by a silver vase holding fresh cut spring flowers, silver serving trays outlined with fresh spring flowers and teal tapers in silver holders.

A barbecue grill was presented to Miss Reed by hostesses: Mary Beth White, Cindy Burns, Janette Fowler, Kay Williams, Carolyn Evers, Melody Betzen, Claudia Smith, Connie Backus, Donna Warrick, Carla Vasek, Cheryl Betzen, Alice Hund, JoAnn Jesko, Glenna Caraway, Betty Anderson, Nancy Spinhirne, Paula Miller, Valorie Artho, Sharon Cramer, Annette Albracht, Francie Farr, Janie Banner, Wanda Stanley, Charlotte Paetzold and Kathy Revell.

4-H method demonstrations presented to Cultural club

Members of the Deaf Smith County 4-H gave method demonstrations for members of Cultural Extension Homemakers Club when the women met Friday, May 8, at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

Betsy Weaver gave a demonstration on "Ears to You" telling of the history of corn, its production and the preparation and nutrition of corn. She also gave a demonstration on "How to Make Patterns Last" by using cleaner bags and tissue paper. Robin Bell and Jaime Steiert gave a demonstration entitled "Welcome by Design" explaining how to have a barrier-free and functional home. They also stressed how to adapt a home for a handicapped person. "Brownwood Bound" was the 4-H method demonstration presented by Kinann Campbell and Lee Harder. The girls pointed out how to buy luggage and how to pack to ensure wrinkle-free clothes.

President Perry Keyes presided at the business session. The opening prayer was voiced by Edna Marnell, and Naomi Hare led the pledges to the flags. The opening exercise was given by Wilma Goetsch as she read "Word of FDR 'The Four Freedoms'." Minutes were read by Fannie Townsend, and Byrdie Fellers gave the financial report. Jewel Hargrave gave the council report. Goetsch reported that the next meeting will be a luncheon at noon May 22 at the Community Center. Each one is asked to bring a white elephant gift.

Keyes announced that members of the club will be hostesses for the next council meeting May 18.

Virginia Sumner presented the committee report on proposed changes in the by-laws. She gave recommendations that will be voted on by members in September. Hargrave reported on Nell and George Pope, and Sumner reported on S.T. Walton.

Those present were Sumner, Fellers, Hargrave, Keyes, Marnell, Hare, Tonwsend, Goetsch, Edith Hunter and Vernis Parsons. Guests were Linda Weaver and Jim Steiert.
