$122,000 FOR AIRPORT IS REQUEST TO VOTERS

City And County Boards Plan Separate Elections

To permit construction of a small airport with land for future expansion to serve the needs of a growing community, the County and City Commissions have scheduled bond elections for Dec. 18. A total of $122,000 increase in bonded indebtedness is asked on the proposals, with the funds to be matched by a similar sum allocated by the federal government for land purchase and construction of an airport in the Hereford area. The local bonds would bring to $244,000 the total available for land purchase and construction work.

The county board in special session on Friday afternoon agreed to propose a $52,000 bond issue. County participation in the joint venture is to be limited to selection and purchase of land for the airport.

A $70,000 bond proposal to provide funds for construction of a mile-long runway and other essential airport facilities won approval of City Commissioners during a called meeting on Saturday morning.

If One Falls, Both Fall When presented to the voting public on Dec. 18, both of the proposed bond issues must gain approval if the community is to gain a modern airport.

The city's construction and operation project will hinge on approval of the county's proposal to acquire a site. County Commissioners have indicated that they will purchase land for an airport if their bond proposal carries only in the event funds are provided for its construction through the city election.

City residents will be asked to vote twice on the coming election day, once in their county precinct on the county's bond proposal, again at the city polling place on the city bond proposal.

Rural area residents will not be qualified to participate in the city election, but will find all of the regular county polling places open at the usual hours.

A total of $139,500 in federal funds was allocated last June by the Civil Aeronautics Authority for construction here of an airport meeting basic requirements for modern usage. The CAA authorizes expenditure of a lesser amount, but any such funds expended must be matched by local governmental appropriations.

The $122,000 proposed here when combined with federal funds for the project is considered adequate for construction of an airport by members of both commissions. The commissioners have indicated that they believe the CAA's estimates of construction and land purchase costs are too high.

If the bond issues as now proposed gain voters' approval, members of both boards have agreed to spend only as much of the available funds as is absolutely necessary for land purchase and construction needs.

Bonds will be issued as costs are incurred. Mayor Henry Sears has explained. Short term—10 year—bonds are proposed for the project, and officials of the two Hereford banks have said they will purchase bonds for the project at 3 1/2 per cent interest.

A total of $244,000—half of it from the federal government—will be available for the airport if the bond issues gain approval in the coming elections. City officials see a possibility of getting "more for our dollars than the CAA expects" through use of the city-owned road-maintenance and repair equipment for construction work.

"We need a 5,000-foot-long runway, but we don't need any frills," said Mayor Sears. He cited the runway length as adequate for use by feeder airline type aircraft, and told city commissioners on Saturday that the two-year-old airport at Dumas is now being lengthened to 5,100 feet from its original 4,300 feet due to the increase in usage.

RECORD COTTON YIELD—"Cotton that is cotton!" said observers who saw Mr. and Mrs. P. L. (Posey) Burrell working the past season in their cotton patch just across the road from the Hereford Riders Club arena. When the last boll was pulled, Posey had broken the county record for yield-per-acre with 18 bales from his original five-acre allotment. (Staff Photo)

"THAT DOUBLE-ROWED COTTON"

BURRELL SET RECORD

When farmer P. L. (Posey) Burrell told a Brand reporter last summer that his cotton should yield four bales to the acre, he created a big stir among second guessers. Putting it bluntly, not too many people took his estimate seriously despite his having established a county cotton yield record in 1955 with 2.4 bales to the acre on a 10-acre field.

Now the cotton is in, and sure 'nough, Posey overestimated. But he did get 18 bales from his five acres of "double-rowed" plants. That gives him a new county record of 3.6 bales to the acre and is exceptional cotton anywhere in the world. And few farmers can boast of so high a yield on five acres.

Burrell isn't bragging, but he is rather proud of taking 8,800 pounds of staple off his small field that brought an average of 30 cents per pound to the gin.

His "double-rowed" plants attract a lot of attention, but stem primarily from the fact he is set up to produce vegetables and feels the expense of acquiring single row to the bed planters is unnecessary.

He plants cotton, grain sorghum, lettuce and other produce with the same converted 1610 wheat-drill. He feels it gives him excellent control of the quantity of seed planted and depth of planting.

But he credits deep plowing—he breaks his land 14-inches deep when preparing for planting—and the use of phosphate fertilizer (cotton takes a lot of it) with his ability to get exceptional yields. Cotton wasn't the only crop Burrell had that got up in the high brackets during the past harvest season. He had a 31-acre field of Martin and Plainsmen grain sorghum that produced an average of 6,022 pounds to the acre.

To get his cotton crop off to a good start, Burrell put down 560 pounds of fertilizer per acre at a cost of $31.80 prior to planting. His principal departure from general practice here was in making 200 pounds of the chemical booster a 55 per cent phosphate product, DAP.

To keep it growing and putting on bolls, he applied frequent doses of insecticide—another $40 per acre in cost. "The lights over at the riders arena sure cause the bugs to flock in here," Burrell says of his high insecticide cost. And of course, there was plenty of water: "I gave the field one pre-planting irrigation, watered four times afterward."

High Plant Population Burrell had an exceptionally high plant population, possibly 50 per cent higher than the maximum recommended currently by research specialists. He planted 60 pounds of delinted Paymaster 54 seed per acre on April 16. The resulting stand gave him around 60,000 plants per acre.

When asked "What did you learn that can be applied to next year's crop?" Burrell said, "First that phosphate fertilizer can pay-off here despite the presence of plenty of phosphate in the soil. And from its use on a field of carrots this year where the soil was kept in amazingly good condition, I think that a new trace minerals "soil conditioner" may help boost our yields another year."

Wind Threat Still Ahead; No ACP Funds

Thursday's duster was an odd one: Dalhart and Amarillo reportedly caught the brunt of it, with just the remainder settling like fog over relatively calm Hereford. But many observers saw it as a preview of what we can expect this winter.

Farmers in the western and northern dryland areas of the county have been listing and chiseling at a steady pace in recent weeks in an effort to get their fields in shape to withstand the winds to come, and all of the 1957 funds advanced for emergency field work here have been exhausted.

ASC officials report that the sum already expended in precautionary work totals 25 per cent of the total earmarked for the Agricultural Conservation Program here in the coming year.

Select Committee On School Needs

A Citizens' Advisory Committee, composed of 19 men and women and one student, was appointed Tuesday night during a special meeting of the school board of trustees. The committee will be asked to study and make recommendations concerning an anticipated school building program, said Robert Wagoner, board president.

Five items are suggested for the committee as areas for study:

- 1. Present and future needs for school buildings in consideration of present enrollments and census figures.
2. Types and systems of building and construction to meet school housing needs.
3. The needs of the school program of building facilities to meet accreditation standards.
4. The needs of the school program concerning organization of schools.
5. The financial structure of the school district concerning the valuations, tax rate, bonded debt and Senate Bill 116.

The trustees are expected to propose to the 20 committee members that sub-committees be appointed to study and evaluate each of the five items specifically designated for their consideration.

Wagoner said, "The committee's work should begin as early in December as possible and be finished by March 1, 1957, if possible." Consultants and research people will be made available to the committee to aid them in evaluating the various problems they will encounter, said W. R. Hair, board secretary.

Announcement of committee members is pending notification of acceptance by the various appointees.

Twice before in recent years, 1952 and 1955, the school board has appointed citizens' committees to aid in evaluation of problems. The first was a committee on buildings, the more recent investigates the teacher-student ratio problem. Trustees on Tuesday made their appointments in a manner calculated to gain both a diversity of opinion and experience to the board, and to see that all areas of the district and fields of thought will be represented, Wagner noted.

Three Burglaries Solved In Arrest Of Trio Of Boys

Three recent burglaries, involving about $16 in cash and several minor items from Hunters Market, Causey's Fruit Market and the Dairy-Cream store, were solved last Sunday night when Patrolmen Marvin J. Hoover and Rex Cowart arrested three Latin-American juveniles who confessed to the charges.

Custody of the boys was transferred by the city police to county authorities.

One of the juveniles was sentenced to a term in the Gatesville reformatory, two were released on probation, reported County Juvenile Judge Homer Hensalee. The arresting patrolmen were not called to testify in the hearings.

Graveside Rites For Smith Infant

Graveside rites for Vickie Le Ette Smith, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Connie Smith, were conducted on Saturday afternoon in West Park Cemetery with the Rev. A. C. Carlson, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, officiating.

The infant died at birth on Friday at the Deaf Smith County Hospital.

Survivors include the parents; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Staylor; the paternal grandmother, Mrs. S. L. Smith; and two sisters.

Approximately $45 million dollars have been spent in restoring Williamsburg, Va., to its days of the American Revolution.

Mrs. McMahon, 75, Rites Conducted Here On Thursday

Funeral services for Mrs. Lula Mae McMahon, 75, were conducted on Thursday afternoon at the First Methodist Church with the Rev. Alby Cooley, pastor, and Dr. J. Chess Love, abbot of officiating. Burial was in West Park Cemetery.

Mrs. McMahon died on Wednesday at 3 a.m. at Deaf Smith County Hospital after an illness of several weeks.

Pallbearers for the services were Jack Johnson, Tommie Smith, J. G. Ship, Cleo Meharg, Neice McRight, Robert Wagoner, Tom Robinson, John Robinson, R. V. McMahon, Dick Dixon and Paul Kinard.

Mrs. McMahon was born April 7, 1881, in Joplin, Mo. She was the daughter of the late Jessie and Mary K. Woods. She and J. P. McMahon were married April 8, 1906, in Newport. They came to Deaf Smith County in 1922 from Newport. Mrs. McMahon passed away in 1943.

Survivors include three sons, Charles of Fort Worth, Clyde of Big Spring and Jim of Lubbock; two daughters, Mrs. Opal Dixon of Lubbock and Mrs. Gladys Click of Hereford; seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The funeral arrangements were under the direction of Gilliland Funeral Home.

Aikman Ceremony Attended By 400

A special guest for the dedication ceremonies of the Ela Aikman Elementary School Sunday afternoon was Roy Aikman of Oton, brother of the late Ela Aikman for whom the new school is named.

The dedication address for the school was presented by Ernest L. Langley, Hereford attorney. Langley spoke to an audience of about 400 persons who gathered in the school's gymnasium for the program.

Two musical selections were sung by the high school chorus, under the direction of Don Moore. During the open house which continued for most of the afternoon, more than 500 looked over the new school facilities and visited with the teachers in their classrooms.

Rites On Friday For C. W. Cogdell, Pioneer Resident

Death came unexpectedly to Charles White Cogdell, 64, at his home north of Dawn on Wednesday. Mr. Cogdell came to Deaf Smith County from Mexico in 1902 and was engaged in farming in the Dawn community at the time of his death.

Final rites were conducted Friday morning at the Palo Duro Baptist Church with the Rev. Henry Eason, pastor, and the Rev. Henry Eason of Amarillo in charge.

Serving as pallbearers were C. D. Carmahand, Boyd Knox, Keller Muse, R. B. Hutson, Claud McBroome and Alton Higgins.

Burial was in West Park Cemetery with Gilliland Funeral Home in charge of the arrangements. A native of Mexico, Tex., Mr. Cogdell was born on Sept. 5, 1892. His parents were the late W. M. and Lizzie Cogdell.

Stinnett Defeats Farwell Here In Turkey Day Tilt

Brilliantly led by 185-pound quarterback Larry Dawson, Stinnett's Rattlers clubbed the Farwell Steers, 24-0, here Thursday for the Class A Regional championship. About 1,500 people attended the game.

The Dawson-led Rattlers plainly outclassed the gallant Steers. The Rattlers were state runners-up in Class A last year, and the Farwell triumph was their 12th straight this year. It was Farwell's first loss of the season after winning nine and tying one.

The Rattlers' fine defense never allowed the Steers to penetrate the Stinnett 35-yard line. The Rattler offense was never under pressure.

Soil Conservation Awards Program Scheduled In May

Hereford is on its way as a conservation city. The 1957 region one soil conservation awards program is slated to be held here in the new Bull Barn on May 9, according to Townsend Douglas, president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber's invitation was issued to the Fort Worth Press, sponsors of the awards program, with the statement that adequate facilities are now available in Hereford for such an event. Acceptance came this week from Walter R. Humphrey, editor of the sponsoring newspaper. Humphrey is expected to be here as the featured speaker for the awards program.

Walter Jetton, nationally known caterer from Fort Worth, is to serve the banquet on the evening of Nov. 9. He was here last January to cater the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet held in January.

Winners in the soil conservation contests will be announced on May 4 by the Press, and the program here will mark the beginning of a state wide series of awards banquets. Approximately 800 people from the 62 counties of region one are expected to attend the program.

Around Town

The Grain Sorghum Producers Assn., directors will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the chamber of commerce office. The topic for discussion will be memberships, according to Ivan Block, president.

La Madre Mia Study Club will sponsor a toy parade on Monday night. Scheduled from 6 to 9, the event will be staged in the Park Avenue Shopping Center. Admission is 50 cents for the whole family. Proceeds will go to purchase of furnishing for the new hospital wing. Santa Claus will be present to visit with the children.

The Hereford Whitefaces will play their third game of the season and their second home game Tuesday night when they encounter the Brownfield Cubs in Whiteface Gymnasium. The Herd has won one and lost one thus far.

Hereford 4-H Club meeting has been scheduled for "after school" in the courthouse on Wednesday, Dec. 5, according to Hugh Clearman, county agricultural agent.

The muddy water in Hereford mains during the past few days resulted from cutting the new Ave. C reservoir into the system. The increased pressure flushed old sand that had collected in the lines to the consternation of water system users. City Manager Dudley Bayne said, "The situation should be much improved by Monday, and you can expect mostly good, clean clear water from now on." The new reservoir is the second to be cut into the expanded system and its use marks completion of the water improvement program begun earlier this year.

Superintendent Tells of HHS Home-Ec Program

Supt. Fred J. Cunningham presented an overview of the high school homemaking program at the third meeting of the Home-making Advisory Committee in the superintendent's office last Monday. Details of the program were filled in by Mrs. J. J. Durham and Mrs. Joel Hodges, homemaking teachers, and Susie Loerwald and Dolly Paetzold, students.

In a study of withdrawals, Mr. Cunningham reported that there were 46 drop-outs from 950 junior high and high school students last year. Causes cited for withdrawal were moving, marriage, and quitting school to go to work.

Mrs. Durham reported that 45 per cent of the girls who finished high school last year had had three years of homemaking. However, she and Mrs. Durham pointed out that only 26 girls are enrolled in third-year homemaking this year, compared to 80 enrolled in first-year courses. They agreed, in their report, that more emphasis should be placed on second and third year courses.

Dolly Paetzold reported that 151 girls are enrolled in the Future Homemakers of America program. Susie Loerwald told of the community activities of the F. H. A. girls as they work toward their junior, chapter, and state degrees.

points to run his first half total to 18.

Third Quarter Action

Plainview managed to maintain and increase their small lead by one point during the course of the third quarter. It was again Taegel who did most of the damage for the Dogs. Third quarter score was 42-38.

The fourth quarter saw the Whitefaces overcome the deficit. After the Herd had tied the score at 42-42, the lead saw-sawed back and forth. The Bulldogs led, 48-46 with only 30 seconds remaining when Jim Curtissinger tied the score with his shot from the floor.

The game apparently was headed for an overtime session when Taegel saved it for the Bulldogs with his shot.

Two Hereford starters, Bill Durkin and Leroy Morrison, had fouled out late in the third quarter and early in the fourth period. Plainview's Bob Grace fouled out midway in the fourth stanza.

Hereford's next game will be against the Brownfield Cubs Tuesday night in Whiteface Gymnasium.

"But I believe we can build this longer runway for the same amount of money or less than the CAA figures we would require for a 4,300-foot one," the mayor declared.

Mayor Sears and County Judge Homer Henslee were approved as a site selection committee-of-two during a joint city-county meeting held last Monday in the courthouse. The decision for action followed six months of indecisive wrangling on the airport proposal.

"AN ORDINANCE by the City Commission of the City of Hereford, Texas, calling an election for the authorization of $70,000.00 general obligation tax bonds for the acquisition of a capital project, to-wit: establishing and equipping an airport for said City, including buildings and other facilities incidental to the operation thereof; enacting provisions incidental and relating to the purpose and object of this ordinance and declaring an emergency."

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF HEREFORD:

SECTION 1: That an election be held on the 18th day of December, 1956, which date is not less than fifteen (15) nor more than thirty (30) days from the date of the adoption of this ordinance, at which election the following proposition shall be submitted to the qualified electors who own taxable property in said City, and who have duly rendered the same for taxation:

"SHALL the City Commission of the City of Hereford, Texas, be authorized to issue the bonds of said City in the total principal amount of Seventy Thousand ($70,000.00), said bonds to mature serially over a period of years not to exceed twenty five (25) years from the date thereof, and to bear interest at a rate of not to exceed FIVE PER CENTUM (5%) per annum, payable annually or semi-annually, for the acquisition of a capital project, to-wit: establishing, constructing and equipping an airport for said City, including buildings and other facilities incidental to the operation thereof; and to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds by levying a tax sufficient to pay the annual interest and to create a sinking fund sufficient to redeem said bonds as they become due?"

AS TO THE foregoing proposition, each voter may mark out with black ink or pencil one of such expressions, thus leaving the other as indicating his or her vote on the proposition, or, in the alternative, each voter may vote on the proposition by placing an "X" in the square appearing on the ballot beside the expression of his choice.

POTPOURRI

LONG, LONG HOLIDAY SEASON KEEPS THINGS MOVING ALONG

By MARGARET BELL
Seldom has such a controversy raged as did the one just finished about when everyone would observe Thanksgiving. Some people were so concerned about the conflict that they really took little time to bow their heads to give thanks.

As a true blue Texan, we admire any efforts on the part of the Lone Star State to maintain its individuality — but we carry this thesis only up to a point. Before another fifth Thursday in November rolls into view, it is hoped that the problem of being thankful when all America is giving its thanks will be settled.

And Now Christmas
Another question which is bothering people everywhere is that of Christmas ballyhoo beginning before the other major fall holiday is over and the turkey left-overs disposed of on hapless visiting relatives.

The merchants insist that people want to do their Christmas shopping earlier, plan their home decorations, buy their Christmas cards and generally get the Yule Log rolling. Perhaps a special season could be set aside for these anxious folks sometime in August so that the less eager could observe Thanksgiving in peace before beginning the clamor which always precedes the holidays.

And remember that merchants have been Christmas conscious for all these many months, having purchased their Christmas merchandise way back in the summer.

Letters Pour In

A rush of letters to Santa Claus has already begun to arrive here at The Brand office and the requests are as many as the letters. Every boy and girl seems to have his or her eye on a different special gift for Santa to deliver in his pack. All children of Hereford and the surrounding area are invited to write to Old St. Nick, care of The Brand, with all messages relayed directly to the North Pole.

Visitors Report
Reports of Thanksgiving trips and company are coming in, indicating that the brief break in school days has given the folks an opportunity to relax and do some good visiting — and cooking for those visitors.

Mrs. H. V. Stanton spent Thanksgiving Day with her son David, who is a student at Abilene Christian College in Abilene. He is employed at the radio and television station, KRBC, in Abilene.

Another visitor in Abilene for the holiday is Tommy West, who is spending some time with his brother, Kenneth, who is a junior student at ACC.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Patterson and Sheryl spent Turkey Day with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bennett, who also live in Abilene. Sheryl stayed for a longer visit and will return Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Axe and family who went to Abilene Friday to visit with their daughter, Yvonne, who is a student at ACC.

Some Didn't Go
The holiday plays of many Hereford families which appeared in The Brand on Thursday were just that — plans. So if the story stated that the Smiths were going to Kalamazoo for Thanksgiving Day and they were seen eating turkey right at their own table, just remember that plans do sometimes change.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Kester had company for Thanksgiving and from the guest list, it seems that plenty of food and dish washing were probably part of the day's activities. From Amarillo came Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Findley and Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Covington. Lubbock sent Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Robertson, Sharon and Ronnie; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Polk, Melinda and Shelly, Albert Findley and Miss Lucile Pierce, Rev. and Mrs. Tommy Strather of Spur, Mr. and Mrs. Randle Findley, Nancy, Randy and Johnny of Shallowater; Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Findley, Weldon Jr., and Lyndon of Littlefield; and Carolyn Kester and Johnny Burkett, both students at W. T. in Canyon, were also on hand to enjoy the good fellowship.

For A Change
Striking a happy medium between the two holidays were the J. C. McCrackens who had a family dinner on Saturday evening, Nov. 24. Attending the festivity were Mr. and Mrs. Pat McCullough of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Forbus of Dallas and Wanda Moll of Oklahoma City.

More good news from our college students! Marsha Cockrell, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Alby Cockrell, deserves a word of congratulations as the winner in the Sigma Tau Delta annual literary contest in the short story division. Marsha, a student at McMurry in Abilene, hasn't yet spent much time in Hereford but we are proud to claim her anyway.

Cronin In Club Office
J. T. Cronin, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bruner on Rt. 1, has been elected program chairman of the Mathematics Club at Hardin - Simmons in Abilene. This is the first year for H-SU to have a Mathematics Club with the membership open to students who are majoring or minoring in mathematics, or to students who are interested in it. J. T. is a senior and his other activities on the campus include membership in the Science Club.

If there is any doubt in your mind that the old year of 1957 is running out, take another look at your calendar. That lone sheet, representing all that is left of a good year, fluttering in the breeze reminds us that it's time to begin working on those New Year's resolutions that we really don't intend to keep anyway.

"Gone Fishing"
Edward Jacob of Hereford has spent the past week at the Mustang Cottages at Port Aransas, fishing and visiting with his brother, Ben, who lives in Wilcox, Ariz. Both men have caught some nice fish with Edward's catch listed as six drum, eight redfish, four sheephead and 17 whiting. This report was issued several days ago so the total has surely mounted by now.

Another nice Thanksgiving occasion was the dinner served by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Waits on the evening of Thanksgiving Day. Mr. and Mrs. Emmette Johnson and two daughters, Anna Jane and Donna Ruth and son, Billy Dale were guests. Also Mr. and Mrs. Horace Johnson and Miss Norma Hamby, along with Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Burnett and small son, Harvey Donald, were there. The Waits were assisted in entertaining by their sons, James and Gene.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Sprowls and daughter, Patsy, and son, John, of Farwell spent Thanksgiving Day here with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Calvert.

Mrs. Ada Lou Gordon of Klemath Falls, Ore., left Thursday for her

Classic Story of Alexander And Real Holliday Hit Show at Star

A giant of the motion picture screen and a tremendous Broadway hit will show at the Star Theater in Hereford this week.

ALEXANDER THE GREAT
Robert Rossen's "Alexander The Great," motion picture epic opens at the Star Theater, with Richard Burton, Fredric March, Danielle Darrieux and Claire Bloom starring in the United Artists release.

The film story of the life and times of the Macedonian conqueror was written, produced and directed by Rossen whose past film hits include "All the King's Men," "The Brave Bulls" and "Body and Soul."

Richard Burton, who scored in "The Robe" and "Prince of Players," fills the title role of "Alexander the Great." Fredric March, the distinguished stage and screen star, portrays Phillip of Macedonia Alexander's father, the man who developed the army that Alexander led to dominate the world of 2,000 years ago. Danielle Darrieux plays Olympias, Alexander's wild and beautiful mother, while Claire Bloom portrays Barsine, the one true love in Alexander's life.

THE SOLID GOLD CADILLAC
Judy Holliday, who garnered an Academy Award as best actress of the year for her delightfully devastating portrait of the dizzy blonde in "Born Yesterday," reportedly has a role even richer in laughter in Columbia Pictures' "The Solid Gold Cadillac." As the blonde chick who likes to play around the Stock Market, Miss Holliday stars with Paul Douglas at the Star Theater starting Wednesday. Douglas himself is seen as a tycoon with Wall Street to Wall Street carpeting, a big businessman who gets the business from the irrepressible Judy.

Mrs. Dyer Holds Candy Clinic For 4-H Club

By MARGARET BELL
Plenty of tasting and testing was in store for the members of the Jolly Girls 4-H Club when they met at the home of Mrs. Jessie C. Roberts last Saturday for a demonstration on candy making by Mrs. J. E. Dyer. Five different recipes of Christmas candy were cooked during the afternoon's affair.

Mrs. Dyer is rated as an expert candy maker because of her past experience of working in a candy kitchen, making many varieties of candy each day. She is also the adult leader of the Jolly Girls Club.

The demonstration began with the making of fondant, a very versatile type of candy. The recipe used is almost "fool-proof," Mrs. Dyer told her 4-H girls, if the basic directions are followed. Ingredients needed are 6 cups of sugar, 1 cup of corn syrup and 1 cup of water. This mixture should be stirred well and then cooked with the lid on to a very soft ball stage. When the candy has reached this stage, the mixture should be poured into a platter and cooled to lukewarm. It is then beaten until creamy and smooth.

The eight basic points to remember in making candy are as follows: measure carefully; beat crystalline candy (such as fondant) when lukewarm; pour candy into cooling pan quickly when ready;

use a wooden spoon to beat; remove candy from fire when testing in cold water; add a little hot water if candy gets too stiff to pour; do not stir candy while cooling; do not scrape pan, may cause large crystals.

These pointers were discussed for the girls by Mrs. Dyer and they were given a mimeographed sheet with the instructions, along with basic candy recipes. Variations of the recipes were also suggested.

Other 4-H clubs have also had the candy demonstrations with peanut brittle a popular choice of the groups. Mrs. Dorothy Prowell gives the following recipe as being simple to make and "very good."

Peanut Brittle
2 c. sugar
½ c. water

1 c. white corn syrup
1 T. butter
2 c. raw peanuts
1 t. vanilla
1 T. soda

Cook sugar, syrup and water in heavy skillet until it spins a thread (230 degrees F-236 degrees F). Add peanuts and cook until golden brown. Add vanilla and soda. Stir just enough to bubble. Pour into greased plate and pull out from edges of dish.

Members of the Jolly Girls Club present for the demonstration by Mrs. Dyer were Peggy Browning, Fern Coursey, Wynona Roberts, Joy Pickens, Sharon Bezner and Nancy Browning. Mothers attending were Mrs. J. H. Pickens, Mrs. H. A. Bezner and Mrs. Jessie C. Roberts.

LA PLATA STUDY CLUB FETES HUSBANDS AT TURKEY DINNER

La Plata Study Club held its annual Thanksgiving dinner event at the Camp Fire Hut Tuesday evening. Husbands were honor guests.

The Thanksgiving theme was noted in flowers and appointments and a turkey dinner with all the trimmings was served.

Leon Alexander gave the invocation and Mrs. M. C. Adams presided at the introduction of guests.

Following the dinner, a variety of games provided entertainment. Those in attendance were Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Adams and Messrs. and Mesdames F. L. Alexander, Leroy Aven, Johnny Blocker, Jay Boston, Homer Brumley, S. S. Dodson, J. R. Johnson, Don Little, Claude McDougal, Ansel McDow-

MRS. MARVIN I. FINLEY (Angel Photo)

Miss Wiseman, Mr. Finley Nuptial Vows On Sunday

The Palo Duro Baptist Church was the scene at 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 25, for the wedding of Miss Shirin Wiseman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Wiseman, and Marvin I. Finley, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Finley. Rev. Leroy Patterson, pastor, read the double ring ceremony in the presence of close friends and relatives.

Greenery, lighted tapers and baskets of pink carnations were used in decorations at the church altar and wedding music was provided by Verna Kay McBroom, pianist, and Carroll Willoughby, vocalist. Traditional selections were used and "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" were the vocal offerings.

Miss Stella Jo Wiseman, the bride's sister served as maid of honor. Her street length dress was of pink cotton satin with darker pink accessories. Her corsage was of deep pink carnations.

Kenneth Finley served his brother as best man and ushers were Bob Perkins of Amarillo and Travis Sheldis.

Candles were lighted by Jaquita Miller and Clelan Meharg.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of beige lace over matching taffeta. Fashioned with a wide scoop neckline and short sleeves, the bodice was attached to the full skirt by bow-trimmed bands of taffeta circling the waist. Her satin pumps were of beige satin. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was attached to a laee half-hat and her only ornament was a single strand of pearls. The wedding bouquet of pink rosebuds tied with matching streamers, was carried atop a white Bible.

The bride's mother wore a mauve suit with black accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a navy dress with navy accessories. Their flowers were white carnations.

Following the ceremony the couple was honored at a reception held in the church parlors. The bride's table was laid with a beige lace cloth over pink and centered with an arrangement of pink carnations. The four-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom standing beneath an archway of tiny flowers.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Carlsbad, N.M., the bride was wearing a charcoal gray suit featuring red accessories. They are making their home at 120 Kibbe St.

The bride is a senior in Hereford High School and plans to continue her school work. Mr. Finley attended Hereford High School and is presently employed with the Robert Wagoner Trucking Co.

ENGAGEMENT IS REVEALED

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Euler of the Summerfield community have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jeannette, to Mr. Robert R. Tiffany of Taos, N.M. The wedding date has been set for Dec. 21.

Charlene Lee - Jack Howell United In Recent Ceremony

Miss Charlene Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lee of Summerfield, became the bride of Jack Howell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Moss Howell of Dimmitt in a ceremony at seven in the evening of Nov. 22 at the Summerfield Baptist Church. Rev. Wayne Lee, brother of the bridegroom, performed the single ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums arranged in baskets against a greenery background. A white wrought iron fence garlanded with greenery marked the nuptial space. Miss Rose Stephan, organist, provided wedding music and played the traditional wedding marches.

Mrs. Carlyle Sargent, sister of the bride, was matron of honor.

She wore a powder blue orion frock fashioned princess style with flared skirt and a small white hat trimmed in sequins and seed pearls.

Another sister, Carolyn Lee, served as bridesmaid. Her dress in navy blue was fashioned identical to the honor matron's and both wore white carnation corsages. Herb Howell, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and Jack Streun served as groomsmen. Ushers were Jimmie Howell, Carlyle Sargent and Don Larkin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a wedgewood blue woolen suit for her wedding. She wore a white blouse and a small white satin hat. The wedding bouquet of white rosebuds, streamered with white satin ribbon tied with love knots, was carried on a white Bible.

The bride's mother wore a mauve silk dress with black accessories and small black hat. The bridegroom's mother wore navy blue with white accessories and white hat. Their corsages were of white roses.

Reception Is Held

Following the wedding a reception was held in the church parsonage where the bride's table carried out her colors of blue and white. White chrysanthemums centered the table and the three tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple.

Assisting in the house party were Mesdames Jack Streun, Otis Lee, and Gladys Lee and Gayle Howell. Following a short trip to points in New Mexico the couple returned to Dimmitt where they will make their home on a farm.

Mrs. Howell is a graduate of Hereford High School and Mr. Howell graduated from Dimmitt high school. He attended Texas Tech before entering the service where he served four years in the Navy.

ATTEMPT MEANS ATTEMPT

MEXICO CITY (U-P) — The Mexican supreme court has ruled that a person can not be imprisoned for "attempted homicide" unless an actual attempt is proved.

On an appeal, it freed Javier Rios Vergara of a 12-year sentence on such a charge. Vergara admitted he took part of a fee promised for killing a local official but said he really did not intend to go through with it. No evidence of an actual attempt was presented.

GHOST TRAINS PREDICTED

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (U-P) — "Ghost" trains operating without crews may run the railroads of the future.

Speakers at the second annual Railroad Management Seminar at the University of Michigan said crewless trains have been operated by electronics for up to 10 miles on a trial basis. But the perforated tape that masterminds the operation is likely to be restricted to freight yard operations for the next several years.

PRIORITY TICKET

IDABEL, Okla. (U-P) — The Idabel City Council, at the urging of Police Chief Sam Sellers, voted to back a crackdown on parking regulations. The first ticket went to Chief Sellers.

A Pin-Up Page Of Fine Christmas Cookery

The Holiday Comes Early To The Kitchen

Mrs. Bill Hardwick starts her candy making, decorating and getting gifts packaged ready early so she will have more time for Christmas for Santa Claus.

Christmas comes early to the kitchen. There's much to be done in the way of holiday preparation and it takes a long time to do it. It's the time of the year when homemakers make up delicious batches of traditional recipes, and frequently extra amounts to package for gifts.

One of the most delightful times during the Christmas season begins early in December when the gentle scents of spices blending with melted butter fill the house and everybody knows somebody is getting ready for Christmas.

Homemade Holiday Sweets
Good homemade candy is that something extra-special at Christmas time which helps you tell your friends "We've been expecting you."

Chocolate Fudge
Here is Mrs. Bill Hardwick's recipe for chocolate fudge. It has become one of her family's favorites because it is simple, easy to make and never fails. The recipe makes five pounds and is wonderful for packing. It keeps so well you can make it early in December and it's ready for any occasion.

4 1/2 cups sugar
1 large can condensed cream
1/2 pound of butter or margarine
Bring to a rolling boil and cook for 7 1/2 minutes (by the clock).

Stir all the time the above mixture is boiling and when time is up, add immediately:

3 packages Nestles Chocolate drops

1 - 8 oz. jar Marshmallow cream
1 tablespoon vanilla
1/2 pound shelled pecans
Stir until creamy and pour in a greased flat pan. Allow to cool and cut in squares.

Quick Peanut Brittle

If Santa Claus could be around at the proper time he would like to sample this peanut brittle. Mrs. Hardwick makes it often during the holidays.

1 cup white Karo
1/2 teaspoon soda
3 cups uncooked peanuts

Combine the sugar and Karo and cook until it threads long strings. Remove from heat and add the soda and the peanuts. Then cook until it crackles. Pour in well greased shallow pan and cool partially by lifting around edges with knife. When firm, turn. When cold break in pieces.

An "Easy To Fix" Meal

Easy to fix meals are so wonderful to have during the month of December when there is so much hurry and flurry getting ready for Christmas, and it's a nice idea to prepare low calorie meals, because when turkey time comes with all the other loaded-with-calories food, nobody can resist.

You can make left-overs spark the family's interest too. Add a dash of spice, a pinch of herbs or a sprinkle of cheese and you can have something different each time.

Mrs. W. M. Lenderman has worked out a low-calorie complete meal which may be used for the family, and with as much approval, for parties. It is a satisfying meal any time of the year, tastes good, looks good and good for those who count their calories.

Here is the menu:
Tomato juice — Add a dash of lemon and tobasco sauce.

Iced nest of lettuce garnished with celery hearts, radishes, olives green onions and carrot sticks.

Spanish salad — Swedish Meat Balls

Asparagus Surprise — Hen Delight

Stuffed Prunes — Angel Whip

Here are the recipes:

Spanish Salad

1 package lime Jello
1 2/3 cups water
1/3 cup lemon juice and liquid from salad olives
1 cup grated carrots
1/2 cup drained pineapple chunks
Dissolve the Jello in the boiling water, add lemon juice and olives liquid, and when beginning to jell add the carrots, and pineapple and pour into moulds to jell. Garnish with sliced olives and chopped pimento. For variety add a stuffed prune with cottage cheese and hot pickle relish filling to the salad plate.

Swedish Meat Balls

2 pounds ground lean steak
2/3 cup wine
1/3 cup wine vinegar
1 egg
1 can mushroom soup
2 tablespoons Worcestershire

Sauce

2 crushed cloves of garlic
1 Kosher Dill Pickle chopped
2 bay leaves
salt and pepper to taste
2 tablespoons flour
1/3 cup water

Marinate meat in 1/3 cup of the wine for 15 minutes (wrap in foil). Mix meat, salt and pepper, egg and flour and roll into balls the size of a walnut. Brown in hot fat and then add remainder of ingredients in a heavy sauce pan or chafing dish. Cover and simmer slowly for 45 minutes. Remove bay leaves and serve on a nest of cooked rice or spaghetti.

Asparagus Surprise

1 can asparagus tips juice of 1 lemon
salt and pepper to taste
toasted almonds
pimento strips
Simmer asparagus in sauce pan at low heat for 15 minutes. Serve in low bowl garnished with toasted almonds and strips of pimento.

Hen Delight

Boil one half dozen eggs until hard, peel and let stand in cup, filled to cover half the egg, with green cake coloring. Then reverse ends of egg and let stand in cup filled to cover the other half of the egg with red cake coloring. Remove egg yolks from whites and devil with crisp crushed bacon, lemon juice, salt and pepper and 1/2 teaspoon sandwich spread. (Note—These eggs delight the eye as well as the taste and make wonderful holiday fare.)

And for a festive company dessert contrasting the fresh taste of mint with strawberry flavor and tart cherries, Mrs. Lenderman uses Angel Whip to top off the meal.

Angel Whip

1 box Strawberry Jello
1 bottle Maraschino Cherries
Candy Mints
1 3/4 cups water
Mix Jello with boiling water, cool and let start to jell. Beat with an electric mixer until stiff, and pour into dessert dishes. Garnish with mints, chipped fine, and the whole cherries.

Want to send some of your friends a small gift from your kitchen this Christmas? Then we suggest a jar of pickled and spiced fruits—cherries, figs or mixed fruits. All are easy to prepare and interesting to serve with holiday birds.

Because these fruits need to be refrigerated, we suggest that they be given to neighbors or friends and relatives who are nearby. Just deck the jars of fruits out in Christmas trimmings, if you like. Though they look so pretty and colorful "as is" in their glass containers, they need only a minimum of wrapping.

PICKLED SPICED CHERRIES

Ingredients: 1 jar (1 pound and 1 ounce) sweet cherries, 1/2 cup of white vinegar, 2/3 cup cherry syrup, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 4 whole cloves, 1/2 teaspoon pickling spices.

Method: Remove lid from jar, save lid. Drain cherries; save syrup. Mix vinegar, 2/3 cup cherry syrup, salt and sugar together in a saucepan. Place cloves and pickling spices in a small bag and add to other ingredients. Bring mixture to a full boil. Reduce heat and cook gently for five minutes. Remove spice bag. Cool slightly and pour spiced liquid over the cherries in jar. Recap jar tightly. Cool. Store in refrigerator until ready to use.

PICKLED SPICED FIGS

Ingredients: 1 jar (1 pound and 13 ounces) whole figs, 1/4 cup cider vinegar, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon powdered cloves, 3/4 teaspoon powdered allspice, 3 thin orange slices.

Method: Remove lid from jar; save lid. Drain syrup from figs into a saucepan. Bring syrup to boil and continue to boil gently for five minutes. Add vinegar, sugar, cloves and allspice to syrup; stirring constantly until sugar is dissolved. Cook five minutes more. Remove from heat. Cool slightly and pour spiced syrup over figs and orange slices in jar. Recap jar tightly. Cool. Store in refrigerator until ready to use.

PICKLED SPICED MIXED FRUITS

Ingredients: 1 jar (1 pound and 13 ounces) fruits for salad, 2/3 cup honey, 1/2 cup cider vinegar, 1/3 cup fruit syrup, 5 whole cloves, 1 stick (2 inches) cinnamon.

Method: Remove lid from jar; save lid. Drain syrup from figs into a saucepan. Bring mixture to a full boil. Reduce heat and

Armenian Recipe Is Basis Of Fine Cake

Christmas revolves around fruit cakes, but there are so many varieties of packaged fruit cakes that are so delicious, many housewives find themselves buying the prepared cake and preparing a simple apple sauce cake that may be eaten before Christmas time. This method of making apple sauce cake has become a tradition with Mrs. Richard Godwin, and sometimes she has to make two or three to satisfy the family. It is equally as good fresh as it is two or three weeks after baking. The recipe is so variable extra fruit may be added to suit the taste. And it is delicious served with whipped cream.

While her husband was attending Boston University, Mrs. Godwin persuaded her landlady to give her her Armenian Applesauce Cake recipe. While some of the spices cannot be obtained here, it's plenty good as is. The more you eat the better you like it.

Armenian Applesauce Cake

1 cup sugar
1 cup sweetened applesauce
1/2 cup shortening
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 eggs
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/4 cup raisins
6 cherries quartered

Put sugar, applesauce and shortening into sauce pan and heat until melted. Set aside. Into a large mixing bowl put flour, baking powder, salt, soda and cinnamon which have been sifted together. Add well beaten eggs and then melted ingredients and mix well. Add nuts, raisins and cherries last and pour into lightly greased and floured 9-inch layer cake pan. Cook in pre-heated 350-degree oven for 45 or 50 minutes. Just before placing in oven dot with quartered or halved cherries. Nut halves may be added.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. McBride of Dallas and Mrs. Ross Wilmoth of Fort Sumner spent the weekend here in the home of their mother and sister, Mrs. E. J. Williams and Mrs. M. C. Kalig.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Neel of Lubbock ate Thanksgiving Day supper in the home of his grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Vick.

Mrs. Dick Godwin's small son Rickie, watches eagerly while she cuts the apple sauce cake.

Mrs. W. M. Lenderman is all set to serve angel whip and punch to guests. She keeps some sort of delicious dainty and her coffee maker handy for unexpected callers. (Staff Photos by Roy Clark)

FRUIT TIPS

When you give these pickled sliced fruits as gifts, be sure to add a card saying "Store in refrigerator until ready to use."

The spiced syrup from the fruits may be used for basting a ham. The fruits themselves are delightful to serve with baked ham or a ham loaf.

'Phantom' Plays Two Nights This Week On School Stage

Curtain time for the opening night of Hereford High School's second annual All-School Play will be at 8 next Thursday night. A second performance will be given Friday night. Students from each of the four high school classes are members of the cast for "Phantom of the High School," a three-act mystery-comedy by Anne Coulter Martens. The play is a recent publication of The Dramatic Publishing Co. of Chicago.

Eight of the 18 parts went to members of the sophomore class. They are: Lawanna Lookingbill, who plays Julie, a popular member of the high school crowd; David Larson, appearing as Alan, who plays opposite Julie in the pageant being produced at Bensonville High School; John Gilliland, as Randolph, the spoiled son of the high school principal; Eugenia Alexander as Nina, Janie Bookout as Sue, and Jan Wallace as Chuck, all members of the vigilante committee who are busily engaged in enforcing the shaving and cosmetic permits for the centennial celebration; Richard Leggett as Lanny, hen-pecked nephew of the aristocratic Miss Benson; and Gwinn Morris, as Marty Redmond, a newspaper reporter.

Representing the senior class in the cast are David Wertemberger, as Rick, the masculine lead, who manages to get himself accused of stealing money contributed for the celebration by the high school students; Sue Springer, as Miss Harker, a high school teacher who becomes the victim of foul play; Larry Boston, as Mr. Gibney, the harried high school principal, and Mary Kathrine Huckert, as Norma Janeway.

Members of the junior class won four parts in the play cast. The feminine lead is played by Virginia Cox, as Mindy, whose reputation for a big imagination robs her of needed help when she is really in trouble. Martha Bookout is cast as Miss Winslow, an attractive young high school teacher who makes Marty Redmond yearn to return to his high school days.

Evelyn Cole, secretary to Miss Benson, is played by Linda West, and Gene Waits appears in the cast as Sgt. Madrigan of the police.

Kay Sims, one of the two freshmen in the play, assumed the difficult role of Miss Benson just a week ago, when another cast member was forced to turn in her book because of the heavy demands of her after-school work. Twyla Springer plays the part of Betty, a member of the vigilante committee.

Kee Skypala, a senior, is student director, and the faculty directors are Mrs. Elmer Patterson, speech teacher, and Miss Linnette Smith, a new member of the high school English department and a graduate of the University of Texas with the class of 1956.

"Phantom of the High School" is packed with exciting and amusing incidents, as members of the high school student body rehearse the centennial pageant, written by Miss Benson, the domineering and aristocratic descendant of Jed Benson, founder of Bensonville. The Phantom costume, which was to have been worn by Rick in his role as the Phantom in the pageant is donned by first one, then another of the cast members. At first it is all in fun, but events take a serious turn when Miss Harker is victimized by the "Phantom" and the money contributed by the students for the celebration is stolen.

Since Rick had been playing the part of the Phantom in the pageant, he is accused of the theft. His life is further complicated by the fact that he has dented the fender on the principal's new car. Events lead rapidly to a tense climax, still fraught with fun provided by the high school students.

Curtain time for both Thursday and Friday's performances will be promptly at 8 p.m. Admission prices are 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students, and tickets are on sale by members of the high school Speech Club and members of the speech classes and will be available at the door both nights. Proceeds go into the speech fund to finance speech activities throughout the year.

PERFUME NOTE

When selecting perfume for a Christmas gift be sure you take the personality of the recipient-to-be into consideration. It wouldn't be a good idea to give your little old school teacher aunt an exotic scent or your baby sitter a powerful aroma. It's a good idea in questionable cases to choose light, floral odors.

LOOK, NO CLING

Dry cleaners now have an added gimmick — a new lint-free, cling-free process that will keep clothes from sticking to lingerie. The new rinse works particularly well on synthetic fabrics and silks.

MAIL 'EM EARLY

Mail your Christmas cards early. If you have a great many to send make up your list early and address a few each day. The sealing stamping jobs are enough of a chore in these last days.

SCENES FROM THE PLAY—ABOVE: Miss Winslow (Martha Bookout) helps Miss Benson (Kay Sims) from the room as the antics of the high school crowd rehearsing the Bensonville Pageant become too much for her. LEFT—Mindy, played by Virginia Cox, is not too excited by the Phantom until she discovers that the person wearing the pageant costume is not Rick but someone else, who is trying to gain possession of a valuable book in her possession. This scene is from "Phantom of the High School" to be presented at the high school auditorium Thursday and Friday nights.

STUDY CLUB ENTERTAINS WITH FALL SUPPER AND GAME NIGHT

A Thanksgiving turkey dinner and party was the order of the day for La Madre Mia Study Club on Tuesday evening when members of the club feted husbands at the Camp Fire Hut.

The feast was served from a buffet table centered with a large horn-of-plenty overflowing with ruddy toned fruit, flanked by brown candles. Tables laid for eight were covered with brown cloths and centered with small cornucopias and miniature turkeys.

After the dinner games of monopoly, "42" and cards were enjoyed.

Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames Don Fudge, R. V. Hale, Ted Hardwick, Glen Hopson, Cubby Kitchens, Dennis Lomas, Hershel Miller, Bobby Owen, Troys Riddle, Donald Shipley, Eugene Sparks, Arthur Tinsley, Glen Wilson, John Poindexter, Richard Pickens, and Travis Hendricks.

FIRE CONTROL

PORTALES, N. M. (AP) — R.F. Callis, Portales, was filling his tank truck from an 18,000 gallon supply tank at a wholesale depot. A metal lid fell and struck a spark. Flames burst from the gasoline flowing into the truck. Callis jumped to a valve and cut off the flow. Then he climbed into the cab of the flaming truck and drove it a safe distance from the loading dock, jumped out and summoned firemen.

They snuffed out the blaze which officials said could have been a major fire. There was little damage.

Callis was warm but unhurt.

Sometimes it looks as if the federal government has so much red tape that it completely loses its original objective. Trying to buck Texas on the date of Thanksgiving, for instance, appeared to be a waste of time. Now it turns out that maybe the federalists were right all of the time. The freak duster blew in Thursday afternoon and just about deflated Turkey Day for a lot of folks out here on the Golden Spread. . . which, incidentally, was really spread.

About the nicest thing that happened Thanksgiving was the incident over in Canadian, where folks chipped in the pennies, dimes and dollars and wound up bringing hope, cheer and happiness to several Hungarian refugees. If this is the modern application of true Thanksgiving, we need more of it. Out in this country where we need "more people and more farms," it seems logical and practical that some effort might well be made to entice more of these newcomers. The refugees come nearer to coinciding with the conditions under which our original Pilgrims landed than any other people over a period of several decades.

SOME JOKES

When a sit down strike was called among the employees of a small Detroit machine shop, the company president decided to settle it quickly. "Boys, you might as well be comfortable," he told the strikers; and sent out for blankets and three cases of brandy. When the brandy was almost consumed, he sent in 20 young ladies to amuse the strikers. At the height of the festivities, he brought in the strikers' wives to view the proceedings. The strike was called off immediately.

In a Paris cafe at an early hour a guest sat sleeping at his table. One waiter said to another, "Now I've seen you wake" that fellow five times. Why don't you send him home?"

"Do you think I should?" questioned the other. "Each time I wake him up he asks for the bill and pays it."

Meanwhile, Christmas is just around the corner. I understand that an effort will be made this year to sponsor a theme of "Put Christ back into Christmas" in the local parade, store windows and other Yuletide projects. All of which sounds like a wonderful idea. Too often, people lose the true meaning of the occasion.

Already Hereford has some exceptionally attractive display windows. One of the most unique and most attractive windows I have ever seen was that put in last week by Jean Streu and Mrs. Wilkinson. It is on the north side of the store and, for my money, is really a prize winner.

Another thing, it is beginning to look as if conditions out in this country aren't as good as some of us may think. I notice where the desk pens have been stolen twice from the post office. Also, someone broke a window and entered The Brand office Thursday night. Both of these incidents indicate the same conclusion: either the people aren't very smart, or else times are pretty tough. A post office pen and what you can steal from a newspaper office are about the lowest items on the totem pole. Things should be simple for Chief Leo Box. All he has to do is find a man who is still broke—and can't write.

Remember those little stickers which read: "Made in Texas by Texans"? Out in Hollywood they are getting back at the Lone Star state with similar stickers which read: "Made in Rhode Island by Midgets."

Bad as I hate to admit it, Texas A&M seems to have one of the best football squads ever fielded in the Southwest. It is a shame they cannot appear in the Cotton Bowl. When all of the chips are down, it is probable that A&M did no worse than the other schools. They just happened to get caught. I am sure this is right, because I got it straight from several of the Aggie Exes. Seriously, though, it really is a shame.

Natural Look Marks Girls As Lovely Dates, Boys Report In Student Poll Conducted At High School

By CAROL INMAN

Teen-age glamour girls, slathered with make-up, may inspire wolf whistles, but it's the lass with a natural look who gets the dates.

From a survey made among 75 high school boys and girls last week, they all conclude that there is something about excess make-up that freezes a young man in his tracks.

Most of them declared that a young girl using heavy make-up reminded them of a "clown, or an early American Indian on the war-path." Almost unanimously, the male students agreed that a dab of powder and a light touch of lipstick are enough to set off a girl's natural beauty.

"I also like for my girl to wear perfume, but none of this stuff that will knock you out 10 feet away," said one student.

Fifty-five students agreed that the lipstick and powder were enough, but 12 girls stated that most girls should use a little mascara, eyebrow pencil, and have curled eyelashes. "But just enough to be able to tell that you have eyes, and not enough to make it noticeable that you are wearing eye-makeup," says one senior girl.

Three girls and two boys said they thought the amount and type of make-up depended on the occasion. "A person wouldn't wear nearly as much make-up to a hay-ride as she would to a party or dance," declared a junior lass.

Boys favor the All-American Girl look. They say heavy cake-makeup, mascara and rouge are all right for movie stars, but not for the girls they want to be seen with.

Casual, clean clothes got the most votes for dressing on dates among the students. One youth comments, "None of these slinky dresses for my girl. Ugh!" Boys like for their dates to wear better-than-school dresses and flats. "And hose are for the birds," one boy declared.

And what do girls think about how their dates dress? "No levis, please!" states a senior girl. Over 50 girls agreed that a boy should wear dress pants, sport shirt, and sport jacket on a date. And neatness is an important point with them also.

Only one boy stated that he would like for dress pants to be required approval for male students and 74 said "No!"

As for the teen girl, being a femme fatale won't keep the wolf (young and two-legged) away from her door, but it probably will the boy, she'd really like to go out with.

However, girls today dress neater and look better than girls of a decade or two ago. From information on high school students of today and yesterday, our teenager dresses more neatly than even her older sister 10 years ago.

She wears sweaters and skirts that show her figure and thus she has to watch her weight. Her boyish coiffure is kept neatly combed close to the head instead of the former fly-away fashion, or it is growing to a flattering shoulder length and for school she adopts a tidy pony-tail.

Today's teenager wears costume jewelry less obviously and shows a taste for simplicity. If she prefers large, showy bracelets, she chooses them with good taste. Today's young moderns, for the most part, however, prefer charm bracelets, or dainty bracelets with "a casual look."

In the survey, over 98% of the students dated, and their ages were disclosed to be between 14 and 18.

Today's young woman dates two years younger than the girls of 10 or 20 years ago, and she will marry about two years younger, according to national surveys.

Hand in hand with the growing consciousness of looks, popularity, and responsibility is interest in health and diet.

This emphasis has developed mainly in the last decade also. For example, out of the 75 students interviewed, over 11 percent take vitamin pills. Nine percent declared that they always got balanced meals at home, which took their health problems away.

Two girls and one boy take vitamin pills only to improve the color of their face and their complexion.

Young moderns' diet-consciousness is especially apparent in girls 13-17, although over seven per cent of the boys declared that they were watching their weight because they were "skin and bones." They want to gain some manly muscles.

Seven of the students stated that they watch what they eat. Weight-watching starts young, and 12 percent of these Hereford teenagers consider themselves "too hefty to be hep." Only four per cent of them, however, follow a strict diet regime for losing weight.

Eighty-one per cent of the boys and girls said they consider themselves to be "just right," and several admitted that they watch their weight and meals in order to keep it that way.

For the "serious" complexion trouble most young moderns seem to pass through in an early stage of their teens, nine per cent of the students thought that they needed to do "something about my complexion."

But many more than that — over two-thirds in fact — confess that they worry about pimples. On complexion diets under doctors' directions are five students, and 52 of the skin worriers are trying on their own hook to control their eating habits, using medicated soaps and creams, and "scrubbing" regularly and thereby improve their skins.

"Sure I worry about pimples," says a popular senior girl, "don't all girls?"

Fifteen students stated that they didn't do anything to their face except keep it clean with good old-fashioned soap and water, and they never had any trouble with pimples and blackheads popping out at crucial moments.

Differences of opinion were widely shown about the question of seeking entertainment out of town. When asked, "Do you and your date often leave Hereford to find entertainment in nearby towns?" 40 students said no, 11 said yes, and 23 said "sometimes," and one student wrote "always."

"It's not that we don't have plenty to do here in Hereford," says one teenager, "but it's more fun to be able to leave town once in a while. We usually don't leave town without permission of our parents, and it's always for something special such as a good show in Amarillo or a special live stage show of some sort."

But another teenager states that "there just isn't enough to do here in Hereford. We don't like to have to seek entertainment elsewhere, but going to the show two or three times a week gets old after a while." Several stated that they would stay in town on date nights if they had more recreational spots or a youth center to belong to. Ninety-three per cent of the youths stated "movies" as their destination when they dated, and others commented on football and basketball games, private parties, or to a get-together at someone's house.

"I wish the people of Hereford would put a nice place in somewhere where the teenagers could go to dance or just sit or talk. If we ever want to dance, we have to go to so much trouble finding a place that we're exhausted by the time everything's arranged," emphatically stated a teenage boy.

"If folks could remember what they did when they were young—or maybe that's what they're doing—they would know how starved we get for some good clean recreation instead of having nothing to do except ride around town for hours at a time, or going to Canyon or Amarillo."

New Airport Proposal Is Geared Down Fundamentals - - And To Public's Idea

The airport question, a concentrated wad of local TNT, is back with us and, this time, it appears to have been curtailed to the point where it coincides with public thinking.

Both the county and the city bodies have expressed opinions that any airport program in Deaf Smith County should be "long on land," and "short on frills." This idea appears to be general in scope. Most people feel that the taxpayer cannot lose on an investment in land, and the situation is all the more emphasized by the fact that half of the land will be purchased with FCC (federal) money. This situation, for all practical purposes, makes the land available at one-half price.

Opponents of the airport are quick to point out that federal funds are really paid locally which, consequently, makes the land cost full price. Pursuing the question further, however, it is obvious that the federal money—if not spent on Deaf Smith County land—will certainly be spent in Lamb County, Tarrant, Dallas or some other county across the nation. Without question, we are going to pay the federal portion anyway, and by adapting it to our own community and advantage, we are going to be better off than to subsidize competitive communities.

All in all, the proposed County-City airport plan is one which should meet with the approval of the voters. It is geared down to public thinking on a conservative basis. The airport can and will contribute much to both governmental subsidiaries. It is where it should be. It is how it should be. If the people do not vote for the airport on the present-proposed basis, you can write it off. They just don't want an airport. Period.

Meanwhile, we do think that it will pass. It is a good deal. It has the sanction and backing of many large taxpayers. A modern airport represents progress, continued growth and general prosperity. It is a step in the right direction. Furthermore, it is the very first progressive step. Hereford and Deaf Smith County have offered to the people over a period of more than five years.

Milo Growers Set Pace For Farmers

Less than a decade ago, Deaf Smith County was a wheat country. In 1956, and recent years, however, grain sorghums have surpassed wheat as the major income crop of the territory.

The movement started because of unlimited acreage allotments and high support prices. Grain sorghum was highly adaptable and, consequently, prospered its growers and sponsors in this area.

In reverse, however, grain sorghum growers howled long and loud when government restrictions curbed price supports on the crop, last year. Despite the earlier advantages, grain sorghum producers faced a discriminating situation. They went to bat in 1955 in an effort to remedy the situation and, with a lot of outside help, the growers did achieve more favorable conditions.

Most encouraging of all, however, was a recent meeting in Hereford, when grain sorghum men pitched in full tilt and faced future responsibilities. They will ask for some outside help—and certainly should get all they ask—but primarily they expect to wage their own battles. In many ways, you might say that they have actually grown up overnight.

There can be no question about the future of an organization of this type and caliber. It possesses the same spirit which brought white men to the United States and, in later years, settled and civilized the west. The grain sorghum producers in our opinion have acted with wisdom, foresight and independence not yet shown by any other group of farm producers. They have replaced a questionable gathering in 1955 with an active, going organization in 1956. Furthermore, they achieved this condition without the prodding, suggestions or guidance of federal representatives often found in many present day organizations.

Yes, the grain sorghum producers have come a long way. What we like most about them, though, is the fact that they believe in their cause enough to carry their own weight.

After All, Who Isn't Confused?

The dispute continues between Price Daniel and Allan Shivers over how and when we Texans are to be allowed to choose another U. S. Senator, and we're as confused as the next one.

Daniel says he has resigned; Shivers says Daniel has not resigned until Jan. 15.

As we get it, Daniel has offered to resign on Jan. 15, 1957, or on an indeterminate date conditioned upon the qualification of his successor at an earlier time.

Shivers says this isn't the proper wording—Daniel should resign as of a specific date earlier than Jan. 15, in order for a special election to be held.

All this dispute has done so far is to lead to bad feelings between the two men and a feeling of frustration on the part of Texas citizens.

We all know we are going to have a new senator to fill out the term of Price Daniel. The only question is who, and how, and when? —Perryton Herald.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Hereford A Popular Choice As Home In Recent Survey

If you had your life to start over, where would you choose to live? Why?

MRS. FRED BATTERMAN: I like it better at Del Rio, Texas, than anywhere. The wind doesn't blow; it's warmer; it doesn't snow in the winter and the temperature seldom gets below 32 degrees.

MRS. ELAINE ERDMAN: Hereford, I know everybody here because I was born here and my family is all here.

T. M. COX, JR.: Right now, I wouldn't choose any place but Hereford. I like the central location for my business and we have nice churches, plenty of water, etc. The important thing to me, though, is the location.

MRS. G. W. EDWARDS: I believe it would be right here in Hereford. We like the people, the climate and the community and think it is really clean and fine. We have certainly enjoyed living here.

MRS. J. M. PAYNE: Lubbock. It's in a prosperous country with lots of cotton grown. That's the kind of farming we like to do best.

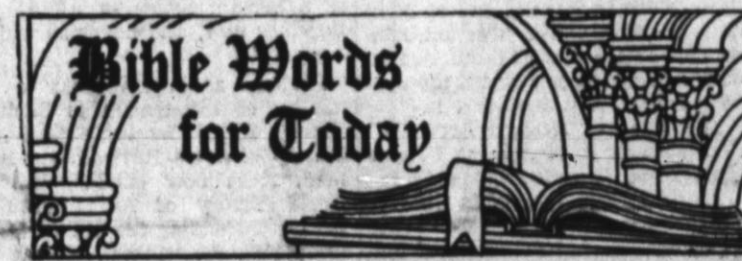

JACKIE MUDROCH: Hereford. I like the climate and the people.

MOLLY PRICE: Florida. It has the climate I'd like. I'd like the kind of terrain and scenery in Florida.

MRS. DELMO WILLIAMS: Hereford is just fine with me. It's a very pleasant town to live in.

ROBERT WAGONER: I never have lived but two places, Groom and Hereford, so I'd choose one of them. I like Hereford and have a lot of friends here. I've lived here the better part of my life. Can't tell you why I moved here, just liked the looks of the country and I like to live here.

MRS. J. M. DAVIS: I've lived on the Plains all my life and I guess if I had it to live over, I'd just still live somewhere on the Plains.

PROVERBS 25:11—"A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in a setting of silver." (RSV)

Do words, when "fitly spoken," merely sound well? Or do they change people for the better?

A woman started a transforming friendship with a homeless orphan boy through these first words alone with him: "You are lonely, and that is why you took that dollar from my purse, isn't it?" Two men discussed whether to take a certain action or not; with things evenly balanced, a friend said, "I once learned 'when in doubt, don't.'" (They didn't!) A mother rallied her daughter, heartbroken when not re-appointed to a country school, with "Good! Now—it's back to Teacher's College, a higher license, a better school next year. Good!" At a religious camp a leader started a boy choosing his profession with "Bill, have you ever thought of being a minister?"

Words, moving from someone's insight to another's need and fitly spoken, are like apples of gold in a setting of silver.

Panhandle Paragraphs

FINDS LIFE IN PANHANDLE ATTRACTIVE

"Farwell is beautiful" said Simone Maignie, a Frenchwoman who with her son has just flown to this country from Paris and will make a home for herself and her son Harold in the Western Panhandle town. "You Americans don't know how lucky you are," she continued. To think that Harold can have a free education here! And Harold has some adjusting to do. When told Wednesday morning that they were going to New Mexico, he spoke to his mother about getting their passports in order to show the police. His mother enjoyed telling the little boy "that is not necessary in America." —THE STATE LINE TRIBUNE.

LITTLEFIELD WATER SITUATION VIEWED

Littlefield's present water and sewer facilities are due for a major expansion if a proposed $1,700,000 bond issue is approved by voters on Dec. 11. After the water supply situation became critical in the summer of 1955, citizens began to view the future with alarm. Now, with a new city commission in office, Littlefield has begun a "long range plan" with the purchase of water rights under 1 1/2 sections in the Sandhills. An engineer has surveyed the present situation for the city and reported: "The present well field is an area that is highly developed with agriculture and irrigation has created the necessity of going elsewhere for the municipal water supply." (The Sandhills) . . . "should provide a permanent source of supply for the city." —LAMB COUNTY LEADER.

NEW FEDERAL THOROUGHFARE PROJECT

Work on the development of state Highway 86 into a federally designated east-west thoroughfare is underway. T. A. Singer of Dimmitt, a workhorse in the Highway 51 Assn. is sponsor of the new East-West route project. Visualized as a parallel route to Highway 66, the Route 86 would take tourists closely along the old Ozark Trail which once carried covered wagons through this area. After contacting people along the proposed thoroughfare from Los Angeles, Calif., to Little Rock, Ark., Singer reported, "We are very pleased with the response to our idea all along the proposed route, and I see no reason why the vision of another transcontinental highway through Dimmitt could not become a reality." —THE CASTRO COUNTY NEWS.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm is mixed up on the international scene, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

Among all the things I don't know anything about, the international situation, especially the Mid East, stands pretty close to the top, and while I'm not ashamed of this—why should I be ashamed when nobody in Washington or London is ashamed and they apparently don't know much more about what's going to happen next than you or me—still I keep on trying to pick up information on it here and there, and yesterday I picked up an idea from the international field that I would like to see adopted around here.

I noticed in a newspaper which blew out of a teenager's car as it went around a corner out here on two wheels—I think his car had weak tires on one side and he was trying to protect them by making the corner on the two good ones, who says teenagers don't think ahead—where the United States had sent Russia a note opposing Russia's plan to send troops into Egypt to help Nasser protect the Suez Canal, and the Russians had read the note, closed it up, and returned it marked "Unreceived."

This seemed to be customary diplomatic procedure, nobody in Washington was disturbed or surprised, and I've been wondering why we can't get up on the international plane around here and adopt this system in our own communications.

For example, if a store sends me a bill for a past-due account, with maybe a firm notice at the bottom like, "This bill is past due, PAY IT," and I could seal it back up, mark it "Unreceived" and mail it back and all he could do was shrug his shoulders and say, well, he out-smarted me that time, and go on to other business, then life would sure be a lot more even-tempered around here.

Off-hand, I can think of dozens of uses this system could be put to, it would be first-rate for handling bank correspondence along in the fall of the year when notes come due, it would sure solve the medical expense problem from the patient's standpoint, would be handy in handling small matters like cafeteria bills kids bring home from school, in fact, everybody can figure out his own uses for the system, without any help from me.

If you think this international system has any possibilities, I wish you would try it out and if you get by with it, even fifty per cent of the time, let me know immediately.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

A Few Ideas On Foreign Aid

In Washington tomorrow, the House Foreign Affairs Committee begins hearings on the government's foreign aid program.

Extensive postwar foreign aid began under former President Harry Truman with the Marshall Plan in 1947. In some respects it was a courageous, benevolent policy.

After the war Europe was in shambles. It had to get on its feet. Our interest was in those countries closer to us; specifically, in seeing that, in their despair and wreckage, they did not go Communist.

In 10 years, then, we have shoved some $60 billions in direct relief and loans to Western European allies and others in the hope that, economically, they could improve themselves and not look to the Kremlin.

As an over-all policy, these factors should be considered:

1. Mere fact that we can extend aid does not mean we should extend it.

2. There should be bipartisan agreement on how much and where it goes.

3. It ought to be remedial and not just relief. Our money should help a country remedy a condition that hurts it.

4. Perhaps there should be a reasonable aid for countries our foreign policy has hurt—but not a penny should be given to somebody who is going to kick us in the teeth.

5. Strict accounting is needed. Congress has a right to expect from recipients trustworthy records of what they do with the money. That's plain Yankee economics.

6. As far as possible, our aid should help a country's trading efforts, if that country must trade to live. Nobody loves you if you force him to hold a tin cup all the time.

7. Care must be taken that American industries are not forced out of business by American taxes that go into foreign aid.

8. There's a limit to what we can give.

9. Those who are on our government's payroll in foreign countries administering foreign aid should be watched closely. They tend to exaggerate the need to keep their jobs. —Dallas News.

Victorian Dessert For Dinner

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Late Victorian cook books usually give recipes for a puffy dessert called a "foam," "snow," or "sponge." Fruit-flavored and fashioned with egg whites — with or without gelatin — this light-as-air conceit must have "eat" well after those old-fashioned, large and heavy dinners.

PINEAPPLE SNOW—Patterned after a favorite Victorian dessert.

Recently we served such a sweet on a Sunday dinner menu whose main offering was a meat roast. It made a most appealing ending. With the Snow comes a silky-smooth Custard Sauce and to color that a rich yellow we used a kitchen trick.

This recipe for a Snow is modernized: lemon-flavored gelatin is used and the gelatin and egg whites are beaten together. In less up-to-date rules, gelatin and egg whites are beaten separately.

The Snow may be piled into a pretty glass bowl and served from it. Or it may be put into individual molds; after it has set, it may be turned out of the molds and it will keep its shape. If you have half-cup size molds with a small indentation in the center, you can use this center "cup" to hold some of the Custard Sauce and spoon more of the sauce around the Snow. When we served the desserts this way, we unmolded them on a flat plate and placed them (with a wide spatula) in shallow blue bowls. The white of the Snow, flecked with pineapple yellow, and the golden custard sauce contrasted very prettily indeed with the china.

PINEAPPLE SNOW

Ingredients: 1 package (3 ounces) lemon-flavored gelatin, salt, 1 cup very hot water, canned pineapple juice and water to make 1 cup, 2 egg whites, 1 cup well-drained canned crushed pineapple, Golden Custard Sauce.

Method: Add gelatin and salt to very hot water; stir until gelatin dissolves. Add the 1 cup mixed pineapple juice and water. Chill until slightly thickened. Place bowl firmly in larger bowl of ice and water. Add egg whites and whip with rotary beater (hand or electric) until fluffy and thick. (Volume should be at least tripled.) Fold in drained pineapple. Pour into large bowl (about 2 quarts) or into individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold, or serve from a bowl with Golden Custard Sauce. Makes 8 to 12 servings.

Note: Cover and refrigerate any leftover desserts; they will stand up well for 1 or 2 days. If a No. 2 can (1 pound and 4 ounces) of crushed pineapple is used, there will be about 1/2 cup of the drained pineapple left over.

GOLDEN CUSTARD SAUCE

Ingredients: 1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1/4 cup sugar, 3 cups milk, salt, 2 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon vanilla, turmeric.

Method: Put cornstarch and sugar in a saucepan (about 2 quarts); add a little of the milk and stir until smooth. Stir in remaining milk and a dash of salt. Cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until bubbly and thickened.

ed. Beat egg yolks slightly; stirring constantly and vigorously, gradually add a little of the hot mixture to the beaten yolks; stir back into saucepan. Cook and stir over low heat for a few minutes. Place over cold water, stirring occasionally. Add vanilla. Stir in turmeric, pinch by pinch, until the sauce is a golden color. Cover and refrigerate. Makes about 3/4 cups sauce.

LITTLE ROCK, Mo. — The law is the law, even in the case of a 200-pound hog which was docketed at Little Rock Police Headquarters. ## Modern Art Books Illustrate Abstract Works Here To Stay

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK, (U.S.)—Modern art is here to stay.

Somebody has said that every two or three years since World War I, and maybe this is the time to say it again.

The proof of it lies not only in the museums and galleries with their paintings of purple cows and blue horses, their sculpture that wiggles its wire arms, and their fur-lined teacups.

It lies also in half a shelf full of books which, as it happens, are being published in just these few days. Even in its title one of them hails the new unreal, abstract, non-representational world of the like of which no eye ever saw till the contemporary artist recorded it.

The title is "Modern Art USA" (Knopf) and it concludes: "There is no let-up in sight."

There is further proof in the jacket designs of these books — the splashes, streaks and blobs of color on "Modern Art USA" suggesting Pollock, or Miro; the Mondrian-like shapes on "Art Today" (Holt) by Ray Faulkner, Edwin Ziegfeld and Gerald Hill; the Henry Moore as part of the design on "The Art of Sculpture" (Pantheon - Bollingen) by Herbert Read.

One measure of the extent of the new vision is suggested by Read, who says: "At least nine-tenths of all the sculpture ever carved is devoted to one subject—the human body." Then he looks around at today's sculptors who ignore the body. They find their inspiration, subject matter and sometimes material in the movement of crane and derrick, the motion imparted by motors, and the properties, completely free of any hint of the body, of steel plaques and rods. Among them are Gabo's "Kinetic Sculpture," which actually moves; Pevsner's "Dancer," which seems to move; Calder's own personal invention, the mobiles, which move in the wind or at a breath, never so popular as they are now, and never so widely copied.

Perhaps a surer witness to the vitality of modernism is Sheldon Shneyer. In 1937 he wrote "A World History of Art." Revised and reissued, it is now called "A New World History of Art" (Viking). Without rereading the old text, but comparing the indices, I find a tacit acknowledgment that modern art may have a long and happy life.

In the 1937 version there were no Leger, no Ozenfant, no Calder, omissions which are now all rectified. Where there was one Rodin illustration there are two; for the two Cezanne illustrations there are now three; for the original two Picassos, three; for Frank Lloyd Wright without any illustration there is Wright with a photo of his Bear Run house and a new paragraph about it. In the chronological list there are these new names: Marc, Klee, Dufy, Mattisse, Ensor, Maillol, Munch, Kandinsky, Bonnard.

"Modern Art USA" is by Rudi Blesh, who in previous books has paid tribute to the staying power of jazz. His subtitle is "Men, Rebellion, Conquest: 1800-1956." He tells the lively and dramatic story of the 1913 Armory Show and its spectacular, its howling success, and then of the subsequent years during which the modern artist with only world, the modern world, has entrenched himself in the public's affections, and mind, and in museums and galleries.

In connection with the publication of the Blesh book, nine metropolitan galleries are holding special shows in which there are examples of the works of some 60 of the artists who are 20th century keynoters.

As a background for the modern period, there comes from the Museum of Modern Art's publication department "Post-Impressionism from van Gogh to Gauguin," by John Rewald. It covers just the years 1886 to 1893, but more thoroughly than ever before.

All of these books are generously illustrated, mostly in black and white but some in color. The Rewald, for instance, has 489 plates; the Read, 224; the Cheney, nearly 500.

names has been made to determine what is happening to street signs and their designs.

Today's average street name has almost seven letters, but the average is held down by such old-time favorites as Oak, King, Queen, Walter, River, High, East, West, North and South.

The higher average is due to the suburbanite's desire for a quaint or exclusive sounding street like Wyldhaven, Frost Woods, Briar Cliff, Trestle and Magnolia.

Streus's Diary

November 30, 1956

DEAR DIARY:

I'm too darn full of turkey and stuff that I can hardly think, much less write coherently. What with eating too much and sitting around watching football games on TV, I'm developing quite a bay window — which will no doubt get larger between now and Jan. 1st. Thereafter it's "diet" again. Ah, well.

Jean got in a couple of gadgets she thought you might be interested in seeing — an ash tray that fits the telephone — a real convenience for only 75 cents — and an ash tray that fastens to the wall with a bracket for 90 cents. She states that there are lots of new items on the bargain table for 5 day. Still new merchandise coming in for the Xmas-shopper — guess we'll be getting shipments up till Dec. 25th.

Hey, kids, if you want an RCA Victor '45' player for Xmas get your personal Santa on the job — we are getting low and looks as tho' we might have trouble getting more — as of today we have most every record player, radio, clock radio and Hi-Fi shown in the RCA catalogue. Have yours placed on Lay-Away now — a small down payment will hold until Xmas, and convenient terms can be arranged on the balance. Quit foolin' around, and get on the ball!!!

Received a nice shipment of Xmas records last week, but most are gone already — ordering more — be in about Wed. or Thursday, along with the newest RCA releases — check our record department for the new RCA Save-On-Records program which will allow you to save up to $24 a year on record purchases and gives you several free records, too! So asking us, no?

Silly Suggestions for Xmas: A new fly rod for the mother of two or more children — can be used like the buggy whip of bygone years for beating hard-to-catch children. Lovely adjustable leather horse collar for Dad to put in his den — gives that hard-to-achieve odor and authenticity to any room.

I find it increasingly hard to get along this season with A&M exes. Last year it was the Tech exes who were high — heaven help us if A&M and Texas Tech ever get good teams the same year!!!

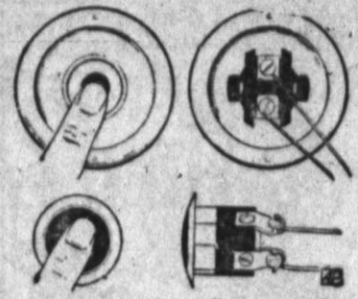

There, now, I'm almost through and didn't even mention a single time that we have RCA Victor TV sets from the 8 1/2 inch up to the big, big 24 inch screens in variety of cabinet styles and colors from which to choose. We need some used 17" table models in the worst way, and will offer good trade-ins on same. See us pronto.

 DO... if the wires are connected properly, touch both terminal screws at the same time with the blade of a screwdriver.

DON'T... when the bell itself is at fault, neglect to look for loose connections or dirty contacts.

Camera Fans, warning! Christmas is not weeks away... It is right now if you plan to send a personalized, photographic holiday greeting. If you haven't done so already, this is the deadline for selecting a specific idea to photograph and the suitable method for carrying out the idea to its ready-to-mail completion.

If you're going to shoot a picture to order, it would be very helpful to include the complete holiday message or greeting as part of the set-up. Or an area might be left where the message can be added in ink on the negative or on the print. These would then require only straight printing, either by contact or a slight enlargement, to make the finished card.

Table-top photography lends itself easily to making all-inclusive personal cards. A visit to the dime store should turn up a good many accessories in the way of Christmas figures and decorations that will convey the proper holiday mood. However, it is usually necessary to use special close-up lens attachments in order to get a large enough image on an ordinary camera.

With time so short, you might be able to use one of your recent photos as the basis for this year's greeting. Go through everything you've taken lately and study them carefully for a likely candidate. Perhaps cropping or using one figure or a section of a picture will do the trick. A recent portrait of the children, family activities, scenes, vacation mementoes or hobby shots are acceptable provided the one chosen is of general interest and good quality.

Here is where you find out the value of saving and filing negatives. In almost all cases of photo printing, best results are obtained from the original negative. If you can't find it, a copy negative has to be made resulting in a loss of quality and an extra cost.

The simplest, most inexpensive method of printing Christmas cards is to make contact prints on deckle edged, double weight matte paper. These can be printed in a home darkroom or at your camera store. They come with matching envelopes in packages of 25 or in larger quantities of 100.

A large variety of Christmas card designs and greetings are available in prepared negative mask sets for home darkroom printing. Space is left for the addition of your own negative.

The work can also be done by your photo shop. In each case, you should bring your selected negative to the camera store to determine whether you need a vertical or a horizontal format and to get the proper grade of paper if it's to be a home-made job.

What's new? One of the first new camera devices introduced at the recent Photokina in Cologne, Germany, is now available in this country. It is the first battery-operated 8mm. movie camera and is manufactured in Vienna, Austria.

Four penlight batteries supply the turning power for the electric camera. They are good for at least

PROJECTING a holiday message, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Siodmak, Jackson Heights, L. I., took two separate photos. First they posed with the projector and then they posed in front of the screen holding the camera. This second shot was cut out and pasted on the blank movie screen of picture number one. The message was added in pen and ink and the combination copied to complete this card.

10 rolls of 8mm. film. If battery replacements aren't handy when the power gives out, there'll be no more picture taking for there's no crank or spring standing by for emergency.

The camera has a fixed focus f/2.8 lens and shoots only at the normal speed of 16 frames per second. It can take a single frame at a time, however, for trick effects or for titles.

Accessories include a 33-foot remote control cord so that the photographer can get into the pictures himself and run the camera from a distance. There are also lens attachments to obtain telephoto and wide angle effects.

A new design in a 35mm. slide file has been impregnated with an anti-bacterial agent said to combat film destroying fungi. While we can't vouch for the manufacturer's claim about the added fungus protection, we do agree that it is not likely to be lost around the house — you can smell it!

Any device that will induce camera fans to keep their slide pictures in some sort of system is to be recommended. This one looks good — in four optional colors — feels good — in contour design — and smells good.

Supt. Cunningham-Speaks For P-TA Holiday Supper

By JUDY PINNELL
Thanksgiving was ushered into our midst with the annual Parent Teachers Assn. Supper Monday night in the high school gym. The whole atmosphere was charged with the old fashioned spirit of the occasion. Neighbors and friends joined together to make the affair the success that it was. Fall leaves and candles with golden ribbons bedecked the white tables with all the colors of an artist's palette. Amidst the colorful leaves and gourds were small dolls dressed as pilgrims with white aprons and caps. Others had miniature ceramic roosters and hens. One table bore a cardboard scene of a log cabin and stand-up characters gathered for a Thanksgiving service. At the long end of the gym was a long white banner with the shimmering foil inscription "O Give Thanks Unto The Lord." After the meal served by the 1957 Senior Class, a very fine talk was given by Supt. Fred Cunningham of Hereford. Mr. Cunningham re-nuded us of the advances made in our public schools since those pioneers first started this business of school — something for which each individual has reason to be proud and thankful. An estimated 150 persons were in attendance. A vote of thanks was given by the group to the hospitality committee headed by Mrs. Earl Brown, Mrs. Homer Ehresman, and Mrs. Carroll Gruhkey for a job very well done.

Teachers Enjoy Holiday
Thanksgiving is a time when all the teachers get a well deserved vacation, too. Supt. Jones and his family visited with relatives in Lubbock, Fort Worth and Dallas. Coach Pat Shipp and Mrs. Shipp were dinner guests of Coach Cullender and his family. Mrs. Williams was at her home in Amarillo. Her son and family, Sgt. and Mrs. Don Goretas and family and Mrs. Lloyd Williams all of Amarillo, were all together to eat turkey. Mrs. Chilton visited with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shields of Amarillo. Mrs. Vickrey enjoyed her vacation tremendously — she rested. Mrs. Ferris Kromer and her family left Wednesday evening for Shamrock where they visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen King. All were back on the job Monday morning.
Organize Cub Troop
Last Monday a group of boys and their mothers met and organized a troop of Cub Scouts. Mrs. Modene Williams and Mrs. Bob Gruhkey were elected Den Mothers. Den chief will be Kippy Morgan, Terry Williams as denner, Mack Fortenberry, assistant denner, and Billy Perry, keeper of the buck skin. Each boy was weighed and measured which will be a standard procedure each month. Mrs. Bill James and Mrs. Modene Williams served refreshments to 13 boys: Billy Perry, Ricky Gruhkey, Mike Cullender, Mike Horton, Gary and Billy James, Carroll Weidner, Mack Fortenberry, Terry Williams, David Whitten, James Whaley, Tommy Loveless and George Harwood. Good luck, boys!

TOMB FOR TOAD
OKARCHE, Okla. (AP)—A wrecking crew was surprised when it broke open a block of concrete and found a live toad had been imprisoned in it. The concrete was from a bank building erected in 1907 and apparently the toad had been in the block all that time. Wreckers said small cracks permitted air and insects to enter the concrete tomb.
After he was freed, the toad was offered several juicy bugs. He looked at them, then topped over dead.

Household Tips

Sliced mushrooms will "fancy up" whole-kernel corn (frozen or canned) when you are having company.

The best way to remove the stem from a fresh pineapple is to protect your hand with a cloth and twist off the top.

A French wire lettuce basket—the kind that does not collapse—makes a useful and decorative holder for your kitchen store of onions.

Quick supper: a can of tomato spaghetti sauce (meatless) with mushrooms served over cooked rice and sliced hard-cooked eggs.

New idea for stew: sprinkle beef cubes with chopped onion, crushed garlic and oregano the night before you plan to cook it; cover tightly and refrigerate. Next day brown the meat and onions in fat and proceed as usual.

Small fry will like raisins added to mashed sweet potatoes.

Dice that small amount of roast beef that's left over and add to mashed potatoes. Pile into a pie plate and heat and brown the top in a hot oven.

Recipe trick: next time you make chocolate souffle, butter the sides of the souffle dish and then sprinkle them with granulated sugar. The rough sugared surface is supposed to help the souffle to climb high!

Ever add sliced pimiento-stuffed olives to corn muffins? Good with chili con carne.

Add a can of minced clams (including the juice) to a thick potato soup. Mix in the clams just before serving and heat without boiling. Sprinkle with minced chives or parsley before serving.

Layer sponge cake with sugared sliced strawberries and top each serving with a scoop of vanilla ice cream and a few whole berries. Company fare!

You've probably made a milk shake with mashed banana and homogenized milk. But to make this drink extra super, add honey to taste and a dash of nutmeg.

Something different for that buffet supper. Cook pearl barley in beef or chicken broth with a little chopped onion. Serve with baked ham.

Always drain excess batter from Help your community light up for a gay Christmas greeting. Ever since that First Star, one of the symbols of Christmas is the bright light — of the creche, tree or home.

Outdoor decorations have become increasingly popular in recent years. These are used in profusion even at the tiniest house. It's a good idea to plan your lighting arrangements as you would any other project that you plan at your house. Here are some suggestions offered by the Christmas decorating service of one lighting company:

1. Check the location of your outdoor electrical outlets. You will likely need several outlets if you are planning an elaborate lighting display. The practice of getting current from indoor sockets is not recommended. Outdoor outlets may be installed for between 16 and 32 an outlet. Later these may be used as a source of power for electric lawnmowers, portable power tools, garden lights, etc.

2. Plan your decorating scheme as completely as possible before you do any buying. This may involve a visit to your local department and hardware stores to see what's new in Christmas novelties and decorations, but suggestions and ideas you pick up can save much time and trouble when you do the actual decorating. Avoid conflicting points of interest. These will detract from each other and make for a confused and cluttered effect rather than a gay harmonious picture.

3. Measure fixtures and areas you plan to decorate, including lawn lamp - posts, doorways, window frames, roofs, etc. Don't rely on your memory as the result may be novelty figures which are out of scale with your home, or the wrong lengths of wires to complete the job, or not quite enough lights.

4. Choose illuminated novelty figures as an investment. Make sure you select one you will not get bored with after a few years. Try to select items you can use over and over in different areas with varying decorative effects.

5. Before putting up your Christmas lights, make sure each lamp is screwed tightly into its socket, and check for burned out bulbs. Follow the practice of commercial displays and use only new lamps in sockets that are to be mounted in hard-to-reach places. This should minimize burn-outs.

6. Greens, lights and other decorations should be securely fastened to the building so they can withstand strong winds and storms. Use insulated staples or brass cup hooks to attach lamp strings to buildings. Make sure lamp bulbs do not come in direct contact with combustible material such as dry evergreen fronds.

onion rings before adding them to hot deep fat so as to avoid the danger of the fat bubbling over.

Ever add sliced bananas to that packaged lemon pudding-and-pie filling? Top with whipped cream!

Use a deep bowl when you are beating egg whites, rather than a wide shallow utensil.

PINE BRANCHES can be woven through a rose trellis for a glowing Christmas greeting spray. SURE FIRE GIFT—She'll remember you all the year if you give her a "thoughtfulness album" of cards or decorated note paper.

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — The Pueblo city government has billed Congress for $4,400 to pay for repairing an airport runway the city claimed was damaged by an Air Force transport flying flood relief supplies to Tampico, Mexico.

Jack Keefer, director of aviation, said the city had to remove the runway blacktop, repack the base and relay surfacing after the transport's landing here.

"Baking results become really important when I'm cooking several fruitcakes at a time!"

says MRS. BILLY HENRY
520 WEST VIRGINIA ST.
FLOYDADA, TEXAS

GETS CONTROLLED HEAT
"I've cooked electrically for years, so naturally when I bought a new double oven range, it was electric. When I am working with expensive fruit cake ingredients, my baking temperature must be exact. I have found that an electric oven gives me exactly the controlled heat I want."

RANGE DOES PERFECT JOB
"The double oven model is excellent, not only in my fruit cake baking, but comes in handy for family dinners and entertaining friends. Handy, too, for quick snacks are the surface units... they're so fast. I find my new range does a perfect job whether it's a quick snack or the fully loaded ovens."

LIKES ELECTRICITY
Mrs. Henry describes her home as an electric one and she says, "We are all proud of our electric appliances which make living more enjoyable."

Christmas is coming and Mrs. Henry has turned her love for baking fruit cakes into a profitable business during the holiday season. Last year she baked over 500 pounds of fruit cake in two weeks... a tribute to the exactness and accuracy which electric baking gives.

'FARMERS AT THE CROSSROADS'

Who Are The Farmers - V

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth in a series of installments from the book, "Farmers at the Crossroads," which is written by and presents the views of the Secretary of Agriculture regarding farm problems and needs, and their solutions. The views expressed or implied are not necessarily those of The Brand or its editors.

By EZRA TAFT BENSON
Many of the people on our farms are troubled and rightfully so. Their prices have declined and their costs have risen. They are in a painful price-cost squeeze.

Just who are the farmers? In 1955, within the borders of this nation populated by more than 167,000,000 Americans, there were about 22,200,000 persons living on about 4,800,000 farms. Of these farms, about 2,200,000 full-fledged, practically all family operated, produced 88 per cent of the market volume and formed the solid substance of American agriculture.

Among our other "farmers" are some people who are engaged in businesses or in the professions and who have "bought places in the country." Many of them bought when they heard of the high farm income of the war years and when they were able to write off the costs of the farm on their income taxes. One of the first requests to "do something about the farm problem" when I became Secretary of Agriculture came from a very successful dentist who had been attracted into agriculture by the high war-time prices and had got into trouble.

Of the 4,800,000 farms, there are

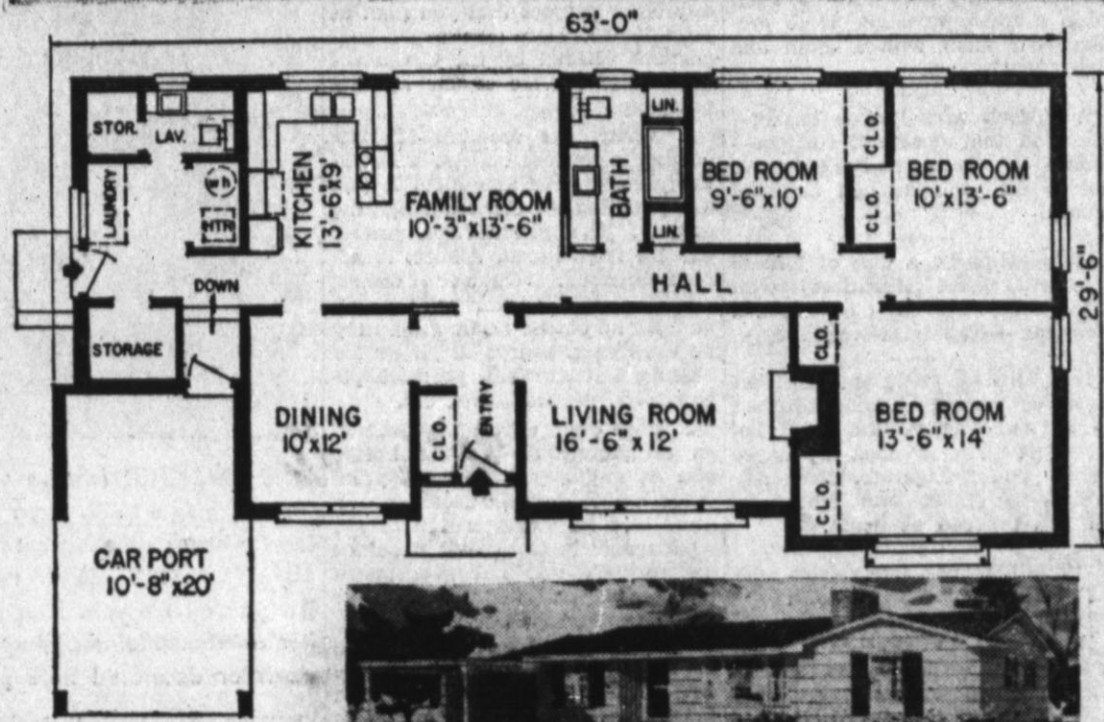

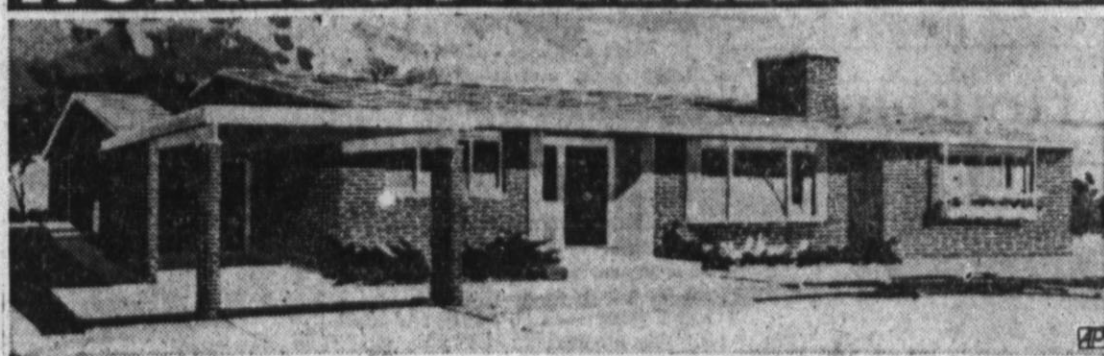

2,600,000 small plots defined as farms by the Census, but nearly 1,000,000 of these are residential farms, the owners of which do not really depend upon farm income for their living.

Then there are about 1,100,000 small commercial units, and 475,000 part-time farmers who derive most of their income from other work. Neither type of farms brings in much income, most earning annually less than $1,000 net in cash.

SMALL FARM CONTRIBUTES LITTLE

The commotion over government aid to the farmer has been largely academic to these small farmers, for few or none of the aid devices have fitted them. They supply only 11 per cent of our agricultural production. Their owners' problem is how to get more volume and to improve their efficiency. Admittedly, this problem is tough, but it is not one which price supports can solve.

The proportion of farmers in our population has been declining for many decades — and more recently even the actual number of farmers has declined. The farm population in 1940 was 30,500,000. Fifteen years later, in 1955, there were 22,200,000 on the farms—a decline of 27 per cent. Today our population is almost 90 per cent urban and industrial, whereas not so many years ago the reverse was true. But despite this reduction in the farm population and a proportionate decline in the farm labor force the output of agriculture in these same years has sharply increased. Fifty years ago each farmer raised enough for himself and for six others. Today he produces enough for himself and 19 others.

Truly, it may be said that never before have so few produced such abundance for so many. Despite the rapid growth in our population, per person farm output has steadily increased.

THE AGRICULTURAL REVOLUTION

This has been made possible partly by the basic independence and self-reliance of our farmers, and partly by greater use of capital and new farming techniques developed by science. Today's farming is more highly capitalized, per man, than is the rest of our economy. About $20,000 worth of capital per worker is the average for commercial family-operated farms. The comparable figure for manufacturing is far lower.

In 1955 the average farm size was 242 acres as compared to 215 acres in 1950, and 157 acres 30 years ago. When the Russian farm delegation visited Iowa last summer they found a father and 12 year old son operating 320 acres without hired help. One of the Russians commented that it would take 100 men to operate a farm of that size in Russia.

Had it been possible to transport a farmer from Biblical times to an American farm of 100 years ago, he would have recognized almost every implement then in use. Today he would hardly recognize any!

economic partnership with urban industry. All this means that today's farmer is a business man. He has many of the same problems of using capital wisely, maintaining a skilled labor force, and meeting costs. In addition, he has all the problems centering upon a biological industry that is affected by too much or too little rain, by hail or frost and by insects or disease. And he has the price problem that so frequently haunts the producer of raw materials.
