The Hereford Brand, Hereford, Texas, Thursday, July 4, 1957

By Jimmie Gillentine

Folks who work in stores with refrigerated air conditioning are sure watching the clock these days. None of them want to go home a minute ahead of time.

Field work, on the other hand, is pretty tough. I heard about a farmer who quit baling hat at mid-afternoon Monday to tend to some chores in town. He went into the grocery store first, where he cooled off a bit; then, at the hardware store, where he found it even a bit cooler. At the dry goods store, chill bumps began showing on his arms, but the bank was the place they really had the air conditioning on high. The farmer, after waiting several minutes, was literally shivering when he sat down at the desk. Turning to the banker, he remarked:

"You know, if this spell continues the rest of the afternoon, I think I will kill hogs tomorrow."

THE WEATHER is not slowing down the boat enthusiasts, as anyone who showed up at Buffalo Lake Sunday afternoon will testify. Fishermen, too, seem undaunted, despite prospects of "more than 100 degrees". Irene Telchik warns, however, that folks going into New Mexico should be careful not to use more than one line per person at any given time. Irene had out five lines and was really hating it up at Conchas Lake when the game warden came along and made her reel back all but one. Bruce Miller is off to Ft. Worth, where he is attending the Texas Bar Association annual meeting. Bruce is on the resolutions committee this year, which is quite an honor for Hereford and the 69th judicial district.

Roy Clark and Sterling Holmesley, Brand news editors, have been out chasing mosquitoes and finally captured one, which they are photographing for reproduction. They have this nice big fellow in a bottle and Sterling is as proud as punch because it is a male instead of a female. I challenged them on how could they tell the difference, all of which (they assure me) is simple indeed. When I pursued the point, Sterling replied:

"Aw, you just don't know anything about mosquitoes, or you could tell."

Roy, on the other hand, says that you determine the sex of a mosquito by looking at its proboscis, or snout. I am willing to believe that these two young men are trying to carry me a little bit fast. I don't believe that they are such authorities as they might lead one to believe.

PAUL HARVEY and I got to comparing notes about California this week and found that we have quite a bit in common: we saw many of the same things, ate in a lot of the same places, got snarled up in the same traffic — and both of us are now financially behind the eight ball.

C. J. Crump and family are also just back from the Golden Bear state — and have a crumpled fender to prove it. What makes C. J. so mad is the fact that he exercised every caution and navigated the traffic in fine style. He wouldn't even stop downtown to eat where the traffic was heavy, waiting until he reached the outskirts where he located a place with a huge parking lot less than one-fourth filled. Just as he pulled into the white lines and turned off of the key, "Wham!" Some old gal pulled out and banged into the rear side of his car. Naturally, she didn't have a penny's worth of insurance.

EXCITEMENT ran rife when Junior Rose burned his wheat stubble west of town Monday night. Most everyone, thinking to see a genuine wheat field blaze, rushed out on Harrison only to discover that it was a stubble field, an annual event on the Rose farm. In addition to the trouble they encountered in turning around, everyone who went seems to figure that "other people" should not be allowed to follow the trucks and observe the fires. Without question, large crowds are collecting to the point where they are hampering the efficiency of the fire department. The situation is getting serious, according to department personnel.

AGAIN FAMILIAR these days

is the expression, "I sure hope it doesn't hail this afternoon." This is the first pretense Hereford has made at a wheat crop in seven or eight years, and many people have forgotten how costly a general hail can be at this time of year.

I have heard much comment, pro and con, concerning the Man-orville, N. Y., doctor who rendered the $1,500 statement to parents of the little boy rescued from the well. Apparently, there was some justice in the complaints in view of the fact that the bill was later adjusted by the medical society. Had the parents received similar bills for all services rendered in this instance, even that from the men who dug the auxiliary holes and tunnels would have been quite sizeable. Meanwhile, it is well to remember that the doctor did stay on the job vigilantly and contributed toward saving the youngster's life. The American people, it seems, just do not like to mix money and sentiment in such huge proportions.

The hustle and bustle on Main Street Monday morning was a tribute to Hereford's monthly Dollar Day promotion. It was also in sharp contrast to the Main Street appearance after 7:30 on most any given evening. I never saw a more forlorn, deader looking street in my life — anywhere, any time. Hereford is a good example of the old saying about "rolling up the streets" at night.

Earl Springer, just back from Colorado, says there is still lots of snow on the ground, the rivers are high and muddy; that fishing, in general, is poor. Come to think of it, the now sounds maybe better than the fish.

Meanwhile, people are talking about the new heat records, measured at 102, 105, 108, etc. For my money, it doesn't make a lot of difference after the mercury passes 100 degrees. That's hot enough for anybody!

SHREDDED MAIL. BERTHOLD, N. D. — Sorting the mail at this North Dakota village became a major project the other day after a train ran over the mail sack.

BARGAIN WASTED. SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Three Dollars in postage on a 3-cent letter caused postal clerks to wonder.

Postmaster William Krenning found two mistakes. A clerk at a district post office had sold $5 of the new $1 stamps as 1-cent stamps. Mrs. Mary Erwin had put three of them on a letter she was mailing to a friend in another part of the city.

BIG BUILDING. DENVER — The Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Co. says Denver has the largest telephone exchange building under one roof in the United States.

Vacation Projects Offer Fun, Profit

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D. AP Newsfeatures

Long months of idleness are not good for an active robust teenager. Sometimes it is very difficult in the narrow confines of home for a youngster to find enough to do to keep his energies well directed.

And yet there is so much to do in the world — so many projects that just cry out for the help of active dynamic youngsters. We need to get the projects and the young people together.

Service opportunities for high school and college students have been organized all over the United States. There are hundreds of work camps where a group of young people work under the direction of leaders on community betterment.

Work campers live together cooperatively, work hard six to eight hours a day on a project of social significance and learn about the problems of the surrounding community through lectures, discussions, field trips and talking with the people of the community. The combination of work, play, worship and study brings to each member of the group a rich experience of fellowship and spiritual growth and leaves a lasting contribution to the community which is more than the physical aspects of the job done.

THE AMERICAN Friends Service Committee directs projects on Indian reservations, in migrant workers' communities, in underprivileged urban neighborhoods. It also has projects in Mexico, in Europe, in northern Africa. The domestic programs involve home building, recreational planning, establishment of community centers. The foreign programs vary tremendously according to the local need.

The Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. has over a score of summer projects located all over the United States. It has several projects in Alaska.

The American Baptist Convention, the American Jewish Society and many other organizations plan and direct projects. All of them are anxious to have the help of young people.

A youngster learns by doing. A young boy or girl who can spend a summer in a new community comes to understand problems vividly because he lives them — an entirely different experience than just reading or talking about them. He knows because he feels what racial discrimination may mean, what the refugee faces, what it means to live in rural isolation or in a city slum. In the small intimate intense fellowship of the group the young person is accepted for what he is, pretense and barriers fall away. In accepting himself the youngster learns to accept others of different background, different race, different opinions.

Young people serve on these community projects for many reasons, to meet new friends, to visit new places, to find a meaning for life. Because of the many purposes which bring these people together, each often finds his own objective sharpened and gains insight into how he wishes to spend his life.

The community projects on which young people may work have almost endless variety. For some the youngster pays his own way; costs however are always at a minimum. For others he is paid for his work and may even end the summer with a small balance in his pocket. Even for those where the youngster is expected to contribute financially there are usually scholarships available.

A list of service opportunities may be obtained from the National Council of Churches of Christ in U. S. A., 120 East 23rd Street, New York 10, N. Y.

H. D. CHATTER Garbage Burial Controls Flies

By ARGENT DRAPER
To Mrs. John Jacobsen, Sr.: I have checked up on the depth of burying garbage. Dudley Bayne, City Manager, tells me that three or four inches is deep enough to bury garbage.

In the fly control program which the club women have studied during June the question came up as to the depth of burying garbage. The garbage barrel is one place where flies do breed if damp vegetable peelings and so forth are not completely burned. Burying the garbage is a fly control measure as well as soil building practices.

To Audni Miller: I am mailing the recipe for Casserole White Bread which I promised you. This is the easy "Mix-N-Pour" way for making one loaf of casserole white bread. It really is a delicious product and will add variety to the meals.

Audni is one of the 4-H girls who is really taking advantage of summer vacation to practice on cooking. When some of the leaders met with Audni's mother, Mrs. H. H. Miller, Audni served us hot butter cake. This is one of my favorite desserts for refreshment. She is also making dinner rolls and loaf bread which is very popular with the family and the farm hands who eat with the Millers. This casserole bread recipe is the one which home demonstration club women used two years ago when they were studying bread making.

Congratulations to the C. G. Carrs for putting up the sign with the direction to their place. It is a lot of help to people travelling in the county to have the farmers names on signs with the direction to their place. The Carrs live on Gilbreth Road about five miles out. Mrs. Carr and her daughter, Mary came to the Westway Improvement Club Saturday night. Mary is a very beautiful girl and she tells me she is a sophomore at Texas University.

The Pat Sullivans will be in Hereford this weekend. There will be a picnic for them tomorrow at Dameron Park. This is your invitation to join their friends in visiting with them on Friday night. Bring a picnic supper, dishes for your family and drinks.

I was very pleased to be able to visit with Cultural Home Demonstration Club Friday when the members of the Happy Workers 4-H Club gave the program. Mrs. Louie Olson is the leader and Mrs. Abe Davis the assistant leader. Each member of the club gave part of the program. Refrigerator desserts was given by Becky Duncan and Anna Mae Schroeder. Here's the recipe: Dissolve one package of flavored gelatin in one-half cup hot water.

Whip one tall can of evaporated milk. Add one-fourth cup lemon juice to the whipped milk. Fold the gelatin into the whipped milk and pour over crumbs made from 40 vanilla wafers with four Tablespoons melted butter added. Sprinkle with nuts or wafer crumbs. Chill in refrigerator.

The rest of the program was: What 4-H stands for, 4-H pledge and pledge to the flag. All the girls wore the dresses which they had made in workshop. Other members present were: Beverly and Barbara Barrett, Jimmie Davis, Helen Ann Davis and Belinda Vines. Some of the other club members who could not attend were: Carol Rickman, Kathy and Shirley Mustion, Barbara Clements and Virginia Ruth Clark.

Mrs. Jim Gandy is a new member in the Cultural Club. 4-H clothing workshops are progressing nicely. Dorothy Pro-well tells me that eight workshops are completed and 80 girls and leaders have attended.

The clothing workshop for women and the 4-H workshops for girls inspired Mrs. Edgar Telchik to teach a church group dressmaking. This group is made up of girls of different ages and they meet in Mrs. Telchik's home. They may decide to have their dresses scored and give prizes. This is the kind of teaching that we really appreciate. We are always glad to co-operate with women who are teaching other groups good home-making practices.

Cultural H. D. Program Given by 4-H Girls

The Cultural Home Demonstration Club met June 28 in the home of Mrs. Art Lewis, with the Happy Homes 4-H girls giving the program. The 4-H club members discussed quick desserts made with dairy products.

Present were Mesdames Louie Olson, P. M. Houser, Grady Parsons, Edgar Telchik, W. E. Holcumb, Earl De Hart, Ralph Packard, Paul Corbett and the hostess. Visitors were Mrs. Abe Davis, Mrs. Jim Gandy, Belinda Vines, Barbara and Beverly Barrett, Anna Mae Schroeder, Jimmie and Helen Davis and Becky Duncan.

IMPORTED PLANT—Mrs. George Turrentine of the Westway community displays an 11-inch blossom of her hydrangea plant at her home. The plant was transplanted four years ago from Missouri and is not a native of the Panhandle. It is now about seven feet wide and four feet tall. (Staff Photo)

Tag Team Bout on Tap for Mat Fans

Dory Funk and Bob Geigel will team up against Bulldog Danny Plechas and the Great Bolo Saturday night in the main event wrestling event at the Bull Barn. The bout is scheduled for two out of three falls or one hour.

In two short preliminary matches Funk will meet Bolo for one fall or 20 minutes and Geigel and Buldog are to meet for the same length of time.

Last week Bulldog and Bolo whipped Don Curtis and Sonny Myers in the main event. Bulldog and Bolo took the first and third falls.

In the preliminary matches Bolo took Myers in 18 minutes and Bulldog was disqualified to hand Curtis a win.

Casanova of the Bicyclers Stops for Hereford Visit

A 20-year-old ex-marine last week sent his would-be bride back to her home in Oklahoma and continued his fifth trip across the United States by bicycle.

Charles L. Holder, originally from Teaco, Tenn., who came through Hereford Saturday on his way to Hollywood, said he planned to bring a bride along for the rest of the trip, but "she couldn't take bicycle riding."

He met the girl, Jackie Britt, in a garden near Hitchita, Okla., where he stopped to ask for a drink of water. The two talked for a while, he said, and decided she would go with him to Oklahoma City where they would be married and buy another bicycle.

After talking to her parents, she hopped on behind him and they traveled to Oklahoma City. But "I had to send her back on the bus," he said. "She wasn't used to riding a bicycle, and she couldn't take it." Asked if he planned to go back to see her, he replied, "I guess so."

Holder said he has made four other trips across the country, two in 1955 and two in 1956. "I've only worn out one set of tires," he boasted. "I've gone over 58,000 miles." He started out in Syracuse, N. Y., and after appearing on some television shows in Hollywood, he plans to follow the same route back to New York City.

"I think the London Mirror is going to sponsor me over to London, and from there I'll go around the world," he said. It should take me five to 10 years."

"I'm hoping to set a world record in distance traveled on bicycle," he added.

Tips for Hamburger Addict

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
EVEN The most fervent of hamburger addicts have been known to welcome that perennial dish prepared a new way. So whether you cook your summer burgers indoors or out, here's a suggestion. We are of the school of thought that believes a hamburger should be charred on the outside, pink and juicy inside. To achieve this state, we cook the hamburgers as rapidly as possible in the beginning, then turn down the heat to let the inside change gradually from blue-red to rose-pink. If you're using your kitchen range, a heavy iron skillet will be fine for this method.

MUSHROOMBURGERS

Ingredients: 1/2 pound mushrooms, 1 small onion, 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 1 1/2 pounds ground lean beef, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 3 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce.
Method: Rinse mushrooms in cold water and dry on a towel; slice very thin. Peel and chop onion fine. Melt butter in a skillet (9 or 10 inches) and add mushrooms and onion. Cook over moderately low heat, stirring often, until wilted — about 10 minutes. Mix ground beef with cooked mushrooms and onion, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Shape into 6 patties. Cook to desired doneness. Makes 6 servings.
Note: Canned shoestring potatoes make a good accompaniment for these mushroomburgers; be sure to heat the potatoes before serving. Pan-fried or broiled tomato halves will also be attractive with the burgers. You might like to try seasoning the tomatoes with a little sugar and curry powder.

MUSHROOMBURGERS with shoestring potatoes and broiled tomatoes makes a novel but tasty supper.

Sun Hat Easy To Make

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
SUMMER IS the time when a girl can indulge her yen for lots of silly sun hats. They won't make a dent in her clothes budget, either, if she makes them herself from one of the many hat patterns available.

For instance, one standard pattern offers the directions for a hat for a seafaring girl. The stiffened brim shades the eyes from the glare of sun and water and extends far enough to avoid a tip-of-the-nose sunburn. Wind and rain in her hair may sound poetic, but it can ruin a new hair-do. The solution is a cover-up scarf, attached to the brim.

SUNBONNET, 1957—It's easy to make and fun to wear. Brim is straw cloth and scarf a bandanna handkerchief.

Local sewing center experts tell how to make it. Only two pattern pieces are required. A quarter yard of fabric is needed for the scarf, and the brim may be made of any number of things, from vinyl plastic to strawcloth. You may make a brim by sandwiching a piece of stiff interfacing between two pieces of fabric, or you can use stiffened burlap or a plastic place mat.

The pattern envelope includes three other hat styles, all easily made and all designed to be decorated with fringe, seashells or anything your fancy dictates.

If you are sewing on plastic, remember to baste with transparent tape, since pins leave holes which might tear. Set your machine with a long stitch and a medium needle.
Bias tape is used to form a decorative edge on the brim. The scarf part may be tied either in back or under the chin.

Don't Get 'Stuck' By Selecting Wrong Glue

It's easy to get "stuck in selecting the correct type of glue to use for home repair jobs, hobbies and woodworking.
Glue is one of the easiest materials to use, particularly those types of glue sold in tubes of one type or another. This ease of application often leads the novice to feel that any glue will hold together anything. That notion, however, is erroneous.
A liquid hide or fish glue comes as a ready to use liquid. It has good holding strength, but won't stand much moisture. It is often used for gluing together wood, as are casein and resorcinol glues.
Quick setting glue may be a resin type. Use it where exceptional holding strength is not necessary.
A plastic - resin glue is strong and water resistant. It is especially good in filling poorly made joints. This glue will not hold well on oak, lemon or other oil woods, however.
Use a resorcinol glue for outdoor projects, such as patio furniture. If you want to cover your kitchen counter or a table top with a laminated plastic, then a contact bond type of adhesive is recommended. These are strong glues and, as the name implies, don't need any clamps to hold the plastic down while the adhesive sets. The hitch here is that you have to be right the first time — the cement grips so well that it's practically impossible to move things about after even a brief moment of contact.

No matter what glue you use, you should remember that most of them do not attain their maximum strength or water resistance for several days.
Also, take care to keep the glue when you are using the glue. Any prolonged exposure to air will have a deteriorating effect on adhesives.
Above all, don't fail to read and heed the manufacturer's directions, especially those which — in some cases — call for the glue to be applied in a room where the temperature is 70 degrees or more.
Heat Resistant Finishes
Silicone resins are chemical mixtures used in making heat resistant coatings. They may be applied by brushing, silk screening, dipping or rolling the material in them.

Nearly two centuries ago in the fateful course of human events Liberty was born. With justifiable pride we declared our Independence... Liberty and the rights of all men. The spiritual aspect of the proposition of freedom, equality and justice for all was fundamental in the development of these new ideas. Liberty loving fathers, possessed of unyielding faith and vital religious convictions supplied the genius. Before a government could be founded on the brotherhood of man... there had to be the Fatherhood of God. Then let us preserve this freedom through eternal vigilance, unceasing prayer and unyielding faith. Independence!!!... the Fourth of July. *Let us ever remember the source of our freedom... The Book. Beauty At Home

Q. My skin seems always to have a greasy appearance. What can I do about this?

A. This condition can be aided considerably by regular washings in distilled water, to which are added a few drops of extract of lavender, or orange, or rose.

Q. Will a honey facial mask help a complexion that is lifeless and pale-looking?

A. Honey is a wonderful stimulant for this type of skin. Pat a thin film of honey over face and throat, leave on 15 minutes, then remove with a damp cloth.

Q. What are the approved eyebrow adjustments for either a high or low forehead?

A. The prominence of a high forehead can be relieved by arching the brows higher and keeping them fairly heavy. You can "open up" a low forehead if the brows are thinned somewhat and the space between them widened to produce a more "open" look.

Q. Will you please suggest an exercise that will encourage slimmer ankles?

A. There is none better, I think, than regular rope-skipping, being sure to keep on the toes throughout the exercise.

Q. How can I remove mildew stains from one of my washable frocks?

A. Wash in sudsy water and hang outdoors with mildew spots exposed to the sun. If the spots persist, rub with some lemon juice and salt, and bleach in the sun. Finish by laundering in suds as usual.

Q. Do you condone the use of hot irons for curling the hair?

A. Not too frequently, as this tends to make the hair dry and brittle. Much better to put up the hair in curlers, or to invest in a good permanent.

Q. How is skin freshener properly used?

A. Skin-freshener, not to be confused with astringent lotions, is not ordinarily drying to the skin. It is "washed" across the face with a cotton pad, with the usual upward and outward strokes. After you have finished, slap the hands gently under the chin and around the jawline, allowing the back of the hand to hit the skin with a loose, flapping motion. This helps to firm the throat muscles and stimulates the blood circulation in both the throat and the face.

Q. Please suggest a good after-shampoo rinse for naturally blonde hair.

A. A level teaspoon of borax to a gallon of water is quite good.

Q. How does the size of one's nose govern the application of the rouge? A. Rouge must not be brought too close to a larger-than-average nose. And if the nose is very small in comparison with the rest of the features, you should bring the rouge fairly close to it.

Q. When is lacquer best used on the hair?

A. When one is facing an outdoor, windy day. Lacquer should then be used in minimum, because it does tend to give the hair a hard look if used too profusely. You can, of course, always use an "invisible" net under these circumstances.

Q. I have quite an oily skin. How can I make my lipstick stay on longer, and prevent its caking?

A. Before applying the fresh lipstick, put a generous dusting of powder over the lips. Then, with a brush or lip pencil, make an outline of the mouth. Fill in with lipstick, and blot the excess up with some tissue.
