The dirt was flying this week in the Plains Ave. area of northwest Hereford as Potet Construction Co. and sub-contractor A. E. Swift and Son moved in to begin work on the $151,000 city street paving project. The contractors reported finding a shortage of workers for the project on Monday and Tuesday, but succeeded in pouring over 3,000 feet of 30-inch curb and gutter and had grade-leveling work proceeding at a rapid clip. They had full crews at work by Tuesday noon.

Forty Western Electric workmen will be employed from July until December in installing the new crossbar dialing system in the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. building here. Bill Leavy, telephone company manager, said yesterday that 12 of the men are already at work on the project, and that the remainder are due to arrive during the next two weeks. "Many of the men will bring their families with them," Leavy said. Total value of the building and the

COURT TO CONTINUE TAX CHANGE

Angry Farmers Advise Court

ASSEMBLED in anger, 55 Deaf Smith County farmers and stockmen gave the commissioners' court some heated advice Monday morning: "Reconsider and table your proposal for a blanket tax raise on rural land." They asked for an answer before Thursday night, when another tax protest meeting will be held.

The June 26 tax raise proposal by the court members, and the operation of the county tax assessor-collector's office were severely criticized by both Bill Nafzger, spokesman for the rural landowners, and by a number of individuals in the audience.

At one point the meeting degenerated into a shouting and heckling session, as various persons attempted to express their views on the county tax situation.

The farmers asked, as a group, for equalization between individual rural properties on the present $5 to $20 per acre valuation scale, and that the commissioners' proposal for an overall increase in rural land taxes be tabled. They suggested that an adjustment of valuations and a complete assessment of personal properties should provide enough funds to eliminate any deficit in the county's budget.

THE GROUP meeting began shortly after 10 a.m. and lasted until 12:15 p.m. The commissioners were present for an hour, during which they were asked to explain their stands, as individuals, on the tax raise. Afterward, the landowners adopted three resolutions and appointed Colby Conkright and Max Drever to present them to the county board with a request for an answer prior to another farmers' meeting scheduled for Thursday night at 8 in the county courtroom.

Conkright and Drever summarized the resolutions for the commissioners Monday afternoon, as follows:

"1. We favor adjusting, not raising taxes.

"2. We suggest that the commissioners court take a year to study taxes and to make adjustments between relative values of rural property."

Action Taken Despite Hot Protestation

DESPITE a wave of farmers' protests against the raising of county taxes on rural lands, members of the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court voted 3 to 1 Wednesday morning to continue with the valuation change as a step toward equalizing the county tax levy.

Commissioner Charles Sowell, who cast the dissenting vote, said "I would like to see the original tax structure continued for one year to give the tax assessor a chance to get additional personal property on the rolls and to assess land according to its classification."

Other members indicated that they believe individual adjustments can be made at the tax assessor's office, or when property owners meet with the county tax equalization board.

The commissioners set 9:30 a.m. Friday as the opening date for the tax equalization board session. The county commissioners sit as the equalization board, in addition to their other duties.

NOTIFIED of the action by the commissioners, a spokesman for the tax raise protest group that Monday asked the court to reconsider its action said that a taxpayers meeting definitely will be held at 8 p.m. today in the courthouse. Purpose of the meeting will be to determine what steps might be taken regarding the tax raise.

After acting to reject the proposals of the protest group, the commissioners began a discussion of reapportionment of the county's tax levy. They gave tentative approval to a 17 cent cut, from 37 to 20 cents, in the road bond interest and sinking fund. This cut, if adopted, will result in some decrease in taxes to city taxpayers and possibly to owners of land in the $6 valuation bracket. The county tax levy is expected to remain at 95 cents per $100 valuation, which with the road tax at 20 cents, the water district tax at 5 cents, and the state tax at

Pistol Play Ends Fight Over Dice

Free on $2,000 bond after being charged with assault with intent to murder is Emanuel Webster, 45-year-old Hereford Negro.

Police officers said Webster tried to shoot another Negro, Willie Hiblow, 22, of 112 Catalpa, during a fight over a pair of dice about 9:30 a.m. Sunday at Webster's home, 135 Clement.

Charges against Webster were filed Monday morning by County Attorney Ed Line. Webster walked examining trial in justice of the peace court and J. P. Berry Miles set his bond and bound him over to the county grand jury which will convene Monday.

In his statement to officers, Webster said he fired the gun away from Hiblow, trying to scare him. Hiblow's statement said he ducked as Webster fired and then knocked the gun from Webster's hand. Webster said he threw the pistol down after firing the shot.

Officers found an expended bullet imbedded in the dirt outside the house. The shot passed through an open window, officers said.

Webster made the $2,000 bond Tuesday morning and was released from county jail. Hiblow was fined $25 in corporation court Monday on charges of gaming and affray. Police Chief Henry Aycock said Webster's gun and the expended bullet had been sent to the ballistics laboratory of the Department of Public Safety in Austin to determine if the bullet came from the gun.

NO SUCCESSOR NAMED

Sharp Resigns as Sheriff

Citing pressing business as a reason, Lowell Sharp resigned Wednesday as sheriff of Deaf Smith County.

Sharp said the resignation would be effective when the commissioners court appoints a successor. Sharp, 44, has been sheriff for 1 1/2 years and still had 3 1/2 years to go on a four-year term.

He was elected in 1952 and 1954 for two-year terms and won in the July primaries last year. The commissioners court considered Sharp's resignation in a meeting Wednesday. No action has been taken on appointing a successor. Sharp had informally offered his resignation Monday and gave the commissioners a formal letter Wednesday.

"I CAN'T take an active part in my business and do justice to the sheriff's job," Sharp said.

Sharp is a co-owner with Glenn Edwards of Plains Fertilizer Co. He and Edwards formed the firm in April, 1955.

"There is more future in my business than in sheriff's work. My partner needs me full time at the business," Sharp added. "I don't want to leave the commissioners in a tight and will stay on the job until they appoint someone to take the job.

"I HAVE really appreciated the confidence and support of the people of the county. I have enjoyed the work and still like it better than any other work I've done," he said.

Sharp talked to the commissioners twice Monday and told them of his intentions.

Judge H. E. Henslee asked Sharp to write a letter of formal resignation.

After hearing of Sharp's resignation, Chief of Police Henry Aycock said, "I've never known a more sincere or cooperative law officer. Whoever succeeds him will have some big shoes to fill."

PONY LEAGUE CROWN IS ON LINE TONIGHT

The second-half Pony League championship will be decided tonight at Veterans Park when the Red Sox and Tigers meet in the second game of a doubleheader. Both teams have six wins and two losses each and tonight the last scheduled game. The winner will meet the White Sox in a play-off for the overall championship.

The play-off for the league championship will be held sometime after the area play-off with Pampa, according to Pony League officials.

SEE SHRINE HOSPITAL IN DEAF SMITH COUNTY

"The door is wide open!" Such is the manner in which an enthusiastic quartet of Hereford men describe the possibility of locating a multi-million-dollar Shrine hospital in Deaf Smith County, following their return Saturday night from Minneapolis, Minn., where they reviewed their case before top Shrine officials of the nation.

"If another Shrine hospital is built soon, we believe that it will be located in Deaf Smith County," said Mike Baird and Dub Reeves, who acted as spokesman for the group which included Dr. L. B. Barnett and J. B. Noland. The group based their belief of this statement on the fact that Amarillo and Lubbock withdrew their hospital site proposals in favor of Hereford after the offers had been compared.

"Any Shrine hospital in this area will be under auspices of Khiva Temple, Amarillo," said Reeves, "and following the withdrawal of Lubbock and Amarillo, Hereford and Deaf Smith County had the blessings and full backing of the Khiva divan, officers of the organization.

Hereford's proposal to the national Shrine board included 100 acres of land on Highway 51 from the W. W. Hill estate, along with some $450,000 in pledges to help promote the hospital.

The group reviewed their proposal before Galloway Calhoun, chairman of the national Shrine Hospital Board, and placed data concerning the area and the offer with the board for more exhaustive study. In addition to the Hereford delegation, the audience with Calhoun included Chas. Sherrod, potentate,

Amounts of Moisture Vary Across County

Erratic showers Saturday and Sunday afternoon gave varying amounts of moisture to Deaf Smith County, the first for the month of July.

Jack Fortenberry, 45 miles northwest of Hereford, recorded a sopping 1.40 and A. B. Higgins went a little better with an inch and a half. Higgins is nine miles north of Hereford. In Hereford proper .23 fell Saturday afternoon while Sunday left only a puddling .09 of an inch.

Ira Ott, 15 miles southeast, notched .70 of an inch, while Harold Beauchamp, near Dawn, had .35.

Ken Radd, nine miles west and one north, measured half an inch and four miles farther to the north, he recorded 1.40. Luther Lesly, 11 miles north, had .80 of an inch.

REP. WALTER ROGERS WRITES:

New Version of Boy Who Cried 'Wolf'

YOU HAVE heard the story of the little boy who was left to watch the sheep and was told to call out if a wolf appeared. He called out several times when there was no wolf, to the dismay of the men who came to help. When a wolf finally appeared his cries for help went unheeded, and as the story goes, the wolf ate all the sheep, and some people say the little boy.

We have a modern day version of this which would do something like this. Once upon a time there was a little boy named Val Peterson, who had a friend called the President. The President had many, many things to do. Included among these was the responsibility of protecting the American people against a Russian bear. He thought the best way to do this would be to keep a sharp look-out, and whenever the bear attacked, he could warn the people so that they could scurry in to safe places and protect themselves from the bear. So, he bought a large whistle with a long string on it. He then sat his little friend, Val Peterson, by this whistle and told him that it was his duty to pull the string which would blow the whistle and warn the people that the Russian bear was coming.

Little boy Peterson was so fascinated with his job and so anxious to pull the string and blow the whistle that he devised a plan to blow the whistle even though there wasn't any Russian bear coming so that the people would scurry to places of safety. By this means he reasoned that a test would be run on whether or not there were enough places of safety for the people to scurry to and whether or not there were enough roads for the people to do the scurrying on. He advertised this plan widely, and on the appointed day pulled the string, and lo and behold the whistle blew. However, much to his dismay, the people didn't scurry. "Or some reason the people didn't understand that they were supposed to run and hide because the little boy had blown the whistle. However, the little boy was so enchanted by the sound of the whistle that he continued to pull the string each day, and it wasn't long before the people had become so accustomed to hearing the whistle it did not even cause comment.

IN FACT, the recent "Operation Alert," a mock air raid on the city of Washington and other major cities of the nation, designed to produce casualties of 54 million people, was executed. This operation even included the little boy's friend, Mr. President. He was provided with two helicopters which spirited him and the secret service men from the White House to a secret destination. As you can imagine, this was a major exercise of such proportions as to draw the attention of many millions of people, especially those who were supposed to be killed. The only catch was that the people had heard the whistle so many times they paid no attention to it and did not know anything about "Operation Alert" until they read about it in the newspaper after they were dead or maimed. This has caused a great deal of concern among those who conceived the plan, but it is rumored that a solution may have been found. It has been suggested that, since the little boy has blown the whistle so many times and the people have become so used to hearing it, the only effective warning should be the Russians approach, would be for the little boy NOT to blow the whistle.

The little boy was promoted recently to be Ambassador to Denmark. The moral seems to be — if you want to be an Ambassador, you don't have to toot your own whistle — you can toot the government's.

I apologize if this seems somewhat facetious, because I fully realize the great need for a proper warning system in the event this country is invaded. However, I think it is foolish to continue programs which cost the taxpayers lots of money and which are not producing the results that should be produced. I feel the plan or program should be weighed against the possible danger involved. I have never felt there was a great danger of this country being attacked by Russian planes dropping bombs or any other kind of bombs. There is no doubt that Russia could get some planes through to drop bombs on our major cities if she sent enough planes in the first place.

HOWEVER, this is not a one-way street. Russia realizes this country has the potential to retaliate on a ratio of at least 10 to 1 should anyone in Russia become foolish enough to attack this country. In the first place, the congested areas of Russia are so much more congested than in the United States that an equivalent bomb dropped on equivalent localities in both countries would do much

SUPPORTING the Hereford proposal was a letter from Dr. Paul Gregory, chairman of the Board of Orthopedic Surgeons, and Dr. Ben Wilson, chief surgeon, both of the University of Texas School of Medicine, assuring the Shrine board that resident doctors and interns for the hospital would be available.

The Shrine hospital under consideration for this area would be a slight variation from the 11 other hospitals now maintained and operated by Shriners in the United States in that it would add a convalescent feature to the usual surgery and corrective practices common to the hospitals.

A population of 1,750,000 people would be served through the proposed hospital, according to facts presented by the group. The area would be bounded by Denver on the north, Oklahoma City, Ft. Worth and El Paso. The nearest one in Shreveport, La., some 400 miles from the center of the area.

THE CURRENT hospital proposal follows one of similar nature made in 1948 by local Shriners and Masons, when Henry Sears represented the group and first contacted Calhoun. At that time, a favorable reception was reported, but the group was invited to return later in view of plans which did not include expansion into this area at that time.

"Our proposal will be further reviewed and discussed at a meeting of the medical board in February," said Reeves and Baird. "We are enthused and encouraged over the reception given us and the interest advocated by Mr. Calhoun. We really believe Hereford has something to offer and, with the help of all local residents and Masons, we think that the chances are good. Certainly, the door is still wide open."

The Hereford group left here July 16, attended the national Shrine convention in Minneapolis, placing their proposal in the hands of Calhoun at the meeting. They returned Saturday, July 20, making the trip by Rushmore Memorial and other points of interest in the Mid-West.

42 cents will result in a total tax rate to be collected through the county tax office of $1.62 per $100 valuation, compared to $1.75 per $100 last year.

COMMISSIONERS J. T. Guinn, Otto Massie and Donald Hicks, who gave approval to a motion to continue with the proposed tax changes, contended that the county has already "gone too far" on the program to "back down," and Hicks said, "The thing is, we've got to get started if we're ever to achieve equalization."

Guinn said that he is convinced the land classification survey now being jointly used by the school tax office and the county tax office is adequate for use in making adjustments under the new land valuation schedule. "The public is getting tired of waiting for us to act on this equalization," he declared.

Hicks said that he had found "a lot of people are for us in this, possibly more than are against us."

Massie, who made the motion to continue the program already adopted by the commissioners, said, "We'll run into a wave of protests just as bad as the present one, no matter when or how we raise taxes."

"3. We do not favor your employing an 'expert hired hand' to make such adjustments. It is the place of the elected assessor-collector to get out of his office and assess property."

Drever added that the group he represented would appreciate an answer before its next scheduled meeting.

COMMISSIONERS J. T. Guinn and Otto Massie indicated they favor continuing with the plans outlined by the board on Jun 26, when the court members voted unanimously to adopt a land valuation scale ranging from $6 to $30 per acre, based on a zone map drawn by members of the court.

Commissioner Donald Hicks said that he needed more time to consider the citizens' request. Commissioner Charles Sowell, during the public meeting earlier in the day, has assured the farmers that the board would discuss their suggestions.

County Judge Homer Henslee said that a decision now to revert to the former tax schedule would result in a delay in preparation of tax rolls for the current year. With this variance in the stands of the commissioners apparent, the county board recessed until Wednesday morning.

The board has scheduled its annual meeting as a county board of tax equalization for tomorrow (Friday). The commissioners now anticipate receiving a large number of requests for adjustments in individual assessments.

DURING MONDAY'S tax protest meeting, which followed meetings Friday night in the Dawn and Ford communities, and Saturday night on the courthouse steps, several points of concern to many Deaf Smith's farmers were aired, in addition to those presented in the resolutions to the commissioners.

"City people have consistently voted themselves into more tax raises, while farmers have consistently voted against them," declared Natzger. Later, the commissioners pointed out that such statements as this reflect a lack of information on the spending of local tax monies, and that country dwellers realize much more benefit from their county tax dollar than does the city resident.

"Sank Ramey (county tax-assessor collector) was elected as county tax assessor," declared Natzger.

Trouble along the Highway 51 construction route erupted in a new corner this week. Now, with the debate between city officials and the contractor apparently settled, the county commissioners have a problem. County Commissioner Charles Sowell told fellow court members Monday that he wants additional payment for damages to his property adjoining the road just south of the city limits. He previously received a $1,600 settlement for damages to his land on one side of the road, is now asking about $2,400 for damages to additional property he owns on the opposite side. The court tabled action on the matter.

A parking meter, post, and all, disappeared Monday night from in front of Rutherford & Co., 322 N. Main. Police Chief Henry Aycock said this is the second meter to be stolen this year. He said the last one was found near the railroad tracks and had been broken open and looted. Then again, someone might be setting up a private parking meter business.

ing sessions. The first night featured presentation of the regions as they were assembled in a large arena. Vice president Richard Nixon made a speech and a gigantic 45-minute fireworks display was presented. The closing session was a candlelight service.

The first stop after leaving Hereford Saturday, July 6, by chartered train was Washington, D. C. where the group was welcomed by Rep. Walter Rogers and Martin Dies, Congressman-at-large. They visited the Washington Monument, Mount Vernon, the White House, the Capitol Building and the Smithsonian Institute. At the Arlington Cemetery they witnessed the changing of the guard at the tomb of the unknown soldier.

Judge Henslee, after parrying a barrage of questions on the need for additional county funds, exploded, "Your county commissioners have set here for 20 years and not done a darned thing, until last year, except build roads. This court is not on trial here."

During an exchange with Natzger regarding the difference in assessed values of city and farm property, the judge established the fact that his $9,000 home on McKinley St. has been carried on the county tax rolls at a higher valuation than has a quarter-section of land owned by Natzger and valued by its owner at $40,000.

This wide variance in the assessed valuation of city and county property has been the point of contention among persons who sought tax equalization before the board's rezoning and revaluating action.

Natzger asked why the situation had been allowed to exist for years and years before the present controversy developed.

"Because we had a bunch of commissioners in here without the guts to do anything about it," the judge exploded.

THE GROUP'S spokesman, Natzger, then asked Commissioners Hicks and Guinn, "How come you two farmers voted for this and raised our taxes?"

Guinn replied, "Because they were out of line!"

Asked about the necessity for more county funds, Judge Henslee said that the money is needed to do such things as repair the courthouse and "other things that have been sliding along for years."

As the commissioners prepared to leave the room, Natzger cautioned that "if you fellows think this is all right, just go ahead. We'll see that we get some new judge and commissioners when election comes around."

A voice from the crowd then called, "Couldn't you cancel that deficit by picking-up things that are being-missed on the tax rolls?"

The judge replied, "That wouldn't be equalization."

NAFZGER then asked, "Isn't your equalization between town and country properties?"

"Yes it is, and when we get it we will be able to adjust taxes annually as needed. I'll say outright that land is too low," the judge said.

Commissioner Guinn asked, "Shouldn't the county and the city man pay equally for county services. Not one nickel of our budget goes for city purposes."

After the commissioners left the room, a proposal by Natzger concerning a farmers' boycott of Hereford merchants was put to a vote. It failed by a majority that appeared to be 50 "nays" to Natzger's yea.

Jan Wallace thought the trading was one of the most impressive parts of the Jamboree. He took some neckerchief slides that he carved and a lizard along with him to trade. George Davis said that a boy from Amarillo came back with a pair of deer antlers.

Bradley, Davis and Wallace all reported that they would like to go to Jamboree again. Davis was most impressed with the trip to Washington, and especially the Capitol Building. Bradley named the candlelighting service as his highlight. "All of the boys lit candles and held them up while they told the story of scouting," he said.

Maxwell reported that the 13 Hereford scouts seemed to enjoy the trip very much. "I think maybe they came home tried and given out and bug-eyed," he said, "but they were happy."

The tour included the Radio City Music Hall, a boat ride around Manhattan to the Statue of Liberty, Rockefeller Center and the United Nations Building.

The boys watched a baseball game between the Philadelphia Phillies and Chicago Cubs in Philadelphia Thursday, July 11, and returned the following day to see Betsy Ross' home, Lincoln's grave, Independence Hall and other sights.

The Big Top Circus was telecast from the Valley Forge arena Saturday, and church services were held Sunday with a round 40,000 boys attending the Protestant services.

Valley Forge tours filled the next four days, July 15-18. Scenes at the historic battle site included the church where Washington worshipped, the Washington Museum, Ford Washington and the inner and outer lines of defense during the Revolutionary War.

LEAVING Valley Forge Friday, July 19, the boys were taken to Niagara Falls, over into Canada, and from there to Detroit. They spent all day Saturday in the Ford Rotunda and the Ford Museum. Their last stop before coming home was Chicago.

Besides the regular activities, the boys made quite a deal out of trading articles with each other. Patches, neckerchiefs, caps and other uniform parts were traded, as well as many regional products. Jimmy Bradley traded with boys from Hawaii for seashell jewelry.

Most of the boys from this area took horned toads to trade. "They were a big attraction," Bradley said. People from the East had never seen them and they came around to our tents from all over to get some."

Robert Osborn from Friona took his stock of horned toads purely for selling purposes. Maxwell said Osborn sold one toad for as much as $3.50, and made $18.50 in all. He sold the animals to tourists who came to Valley Forge during the week.

Old-Time Furniture Sparks Modern Decor

BACK IN STYLE—This is an exact reproduction of a 165-year-old cradle, also recommended for use as a planter or wood box. Shown at Summer Furniture Show in Chicago.

AP Newsfeatures Homemakers who prefer furnishings with traditional roots are not disappointed in what designers are creating these days. Most contemporary furniture borrows from the past. It may be the silhouette, then again it may be a fabric pattern — or perhaps the unit as a whole will be a true reproduction of furniture long since relegated to the antique world. Among examples of this trend shown at the Summer Furniture Market in Chicago is an exact reproduction of a 165-year-old cradle originally made in New York of cherry wood. It is recommended for use as a cradle (now that rocking the baby is back in style), planter or a wood box. Lovers of the antique settle may spare themselves the trouble of rooting out antique shops and auctions. A combination cedar chest and bench, ideal for front hall or that certain spot in a colonial living room is made of maple and cedar lined.

MODERN SETTLE—Made of maple with red cedar lining, this cedar chest and bench was copied from Colonial settle.

Bible Words for Today

PHILIPPIANS 2:4—"Let each of you look not only to his own interests, but also to the interests of others." (RSV)

What a changed world it would be if that were true! Selfishness rules most of us most of the time. It is when we forget self and live only for others that we rise to heroic stature. The man who plunges into the raging current to rescue a stranger who is near drowning can do it only because for the moment he forgot about himself. A happy home is one where husband and wife are not so much each concerned about their own desires but where each is busy trying to do something for the other.

A politician may try to sugar-coat the problem and speak of "enlightened self-interest" but he has not evaded the consequences of selfishness no matter how he may rechristen it. The author does not ask us to forget self entirely but always to be intent as much upon the interest of others as we are upon our own.

 ired, but cashed in on errors and walks for their nine runs.

It took the Tigers two extra innings before they pushed across four runs in the top of the seventh to win the White Sox, 14-10. The Pony League has been playing five-inning games since it started playing two games per night.

The Tigers thrashed out 11 hits in their 20-5 win Tuesday. Wesley Poarch and Ronnie Caster each had three hits for the winners. The Indians managed only five hits.

Curtis Ritchie throttled a fifth-inning uprising of the White Sox to preserve the Red Sox's win. The Red Sox had scored three runs in the top of the fifth to lead 8-4.

However, the White Sox rallied and tallied three times before Ritchie got the side out.

Clyde Whitaker hit a bases-empty homer in the first inning for the Red Sox.

JOURNEY'S END

NOGALES, Mexico (AP) — Robert C. Martindale, assigned to the U. S. Consulate in this border town, packed his furniture in Buenos Aires and loaded it on to a ship to New York. It came by rail to Nogales and then was loaded on to a truck. After the furniture had traveled halfway round the world, the truck overturned a few miles from Martindale's new home and his belongings were carted to another destination instead — the junkyard.

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — When Midshipman Roger H. Rotondi of Winchester, Mass., toted up the number of tickets he'd need for relatives to see him graduate, he came up with 17. Usually the Naval Academy allows each graduate seven. But in Rotondi's case they waived the limit so his parents, 12 brothers and sisters, his fiancée and her parents could all attend as his personal rooting section. Cooking chicken livers? Make sure the bile sac on each liver is cut away or you'll have bitter flavor.

The Hereford Brand

By JIMMIE GILLENTE

EVERYWHERE you turn these days folks seem to be talking about "farm taxes." Nobody, it seems, can get quite as mad as an irate farmer. If you don't believe this, just ask any member of the Commissioners Court. In addition, The Brand is likewise coming in for its share of criticism. There seems to be the usual amount of misunderstanding—some intentional and some unintentional.

Personally, I think that the Commissioners Court went about the job of equalizing taxes—if such is what they had in mind—in the wrong way. On the other hand, I firmly believe that tax equalization is the one and only American way of life. To me, the only way to equalize taxes is to consider and weigh each piece of property on its true value. Drawing circles and classifying all property within the circle as equal is not my idea of true equalization. The result, in effect, is pretty well what the farmers complain about when they protest "a raise in taxes." Like the farmers, I doubt if the county needs much more money. Some, maybe, due to general costs and increased population, but not a lot.

As some of the critics point out, The Brand has consistently and loudly advocated equalization of school and county taxes. Never have we recommended a general tax raise. We do believe—in the face of reports from equalization boards—that an equalization program is in order. Furthermore, we believe that any existing inequalities in taxes should be corrected and maintained in keeping with the laws of the State of Texas and those of the United States of America.

As a newspaper interested in the welfare of the people of the community, it is our duty to point up any possible inequalities. If we faced the same chore again, we would do the same thing. Certainly, had the shoe been on the other foot, we would just as quickly have pointed out any extreme low town variations as compared with rural areas. Any newspaper which would not do as much is definitely not worth its salt.

HOW AND WHAT the county or the school board does is their business—because they invariably face the consequences. Whether we agree with the county or not, it is still their business and

4-H Clothing Classes End

By ARGEN DRAPER

The 4-H leaders and Dorotha Prowell have completed all the 4-H Clothing Workshops. Mrs. Prowell tells me that they have completed 33 class periods of three hours each. The leaders and Mrs. Prowell are to be congratulated on spending so much time and effort in teaching girls to sew.

Thirty-three club members made their first garment. Caprock had the largest number of girls to make the first garment. They had seven new club members.

Ninety-five girls in the county attended the dress workshops. This will be the first 4-H dress revue that I have missed since Deaf Smith County started the dress revue. I am depending on club women to attend the Dress Revue and support the girls and leaders in their effort. The state meeting dates conflict with the dress revue.

Don't forget the 4-H Dress Revue on Aug. 1 at 1:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Record books and garments are due in the office any time Thursday, July 25.

4-H leaders will meet today at 2:30 p.m. in the agents office. They will discuss their yearbook for next year. I am wondering if the girls would like to entertain club women next summer and let the women give the program. This year the women entertained the girls and the girls gave good programs to the home demonstration clubs. We will need to decide at this meeting about the program for June, 1958.

Thanks to Wylie Quattlebaum and Walter Easter for the fine cooperation which they gave us at Stanton Junior High. The 4-H girls used the homemaking lab their responsibility.

Frankly, it seems that a tax survey should be made jointly between the two groups—either local or outside. Actual values should be established on all areas, town and county in as fair and equitable manner as possible. The governing body, be it county or school, could then take its budget, figure the percentage necessary to operate—and use that percentage in levying taxes fairly on all persons within the bounds of that particular governmental sub-division.

TO CORRECT at least one rumor. County money goes into county channels and is not spent to defray city expenses. The swimming pool, paved streets, city hall and police force are paid through city taxes—and do not receive funds from school or county coffers. Likewise, the schools are operated by the entire school district. No funds are interchanged between the three bodies. Town people pay a third tax to handle town improvements; these costs are never paid by the county. Each body levies its own tax, then operates with its own funds.

If everybody concerned would settle down and sincerely try to do the right thing, I really doubt if there would be any trouble. Maybe I am all wet, but a few inches of "Golden Rule" could do more toward straightening out our woes than any other possible thing. Meanwhile, a fair, honest-to-goodness tax survey seems to be the only possible answer to an all-around equitable settlement of the question.

Meanwhile, these people who are taking off on vacations give me a pain in the neck. If they could just be quiet and slip away silently, it wouldn't be so bad. Nothing is quite so disgusting as a lot of vacation talk—after you get back from your own.

ABIE CRUME literally got my mouth to watering this week when she was telling me about the fishing mecca the Crumes discovered last week while vacationing near Santa Fe. Abie says she never fishes, but all of the kids were going past daily, with long strings of trout. She says her daughter was quite interested, which proves that some kids are smarter than their mamas.

The Shriners who went to Minneapolis—L. B. Barnett, Mike Baird, J. B. Noland and Dub Reeves—came back home through South Dakota, where they visited Rushmore Memorial and Lyle Blanton. They enjoyed Rushmore Mountain very much, but were a little bit disappointed in Lyle, who this year abandoned cattle in favor of sheep on his ranch near Belle Fourche. This was especially true in the case of Mike Baird a sure enough, old time cowman who doesn't think too much of sheep in the first place.

"It was bad enough," says Mike, "until he got to talking about a 'beautiful lamb'. Now, I ask you, who ever heard of a beautiful lamb?"

Mrs. Tom Howard was a visitor here for several days, due to car troubles. She left Monday for hometown Denver. Tom, she reports, is a full fledged junior and made an honorary accounting society. He is now in summer school—and waiting for the day when he can enter law school.

LEON COFFIN is the most consistent fellow I know. Almost like clockwork, he comes across with a nice batch of Hereford cabbage—and there is none finer, anywhere. Even when prices are high (now $35 a ton) Leon still comes across. It is a custom we hope he continues for a long time—and he gets a vote of sincere thanks from the entire Brand force.

"You'll have to stop that," she scolded.

"I have to do it, Mummy," the girl said.

"Why?"

"Because I'm Going to iron him."

The school, sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service, will include courses for Methodist and United Church women who live within the boundaries of the conference, plus all qualified girls who are juniors or seniors in high school or older.

Mrs. Cockrell, along with Mrs. Darris Egger of Dimmitt and Mrs. William Bublitz of Borger, will direct a workshop and clinic for the girls. Other workshops and clinics for the women will be led by conference officers. Outstanding women of the Methodist Church will be instructors for study courses.

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I make a good substitute for whipped cream?

A. Add a sliced banana to the white of one egg and beat until stiff. The banana will be entirely absorbed.

Q. How can I stop hiccupps?

A. One effective remedy is to put a few drops of vinegar on a lump of sugar and suck it. This usually stops hiccupps very quickly.

Q. How can I relieve dry and burning feet?

A. When the feet are inclined to be too dry and harsh-skinned, producing a burning sensation, a good remedy is to rub them thoroughly with olive oil, massaging it well into the pores.

Q. How can I remove scratches from dark oak furniture?

A. By rubbing boiled linseed oil on the scratches, rubbing until the marks disappear.

Artful Columbus Cop Very Quick on Draw

COLUMBUS, Ohio. — Thugs in this city are beginning to learn that the robbery squad of the Columbus Police Department has the assistance of a young patrolman who is quick on the draw.

Patrolman William M. Needles, 30, isn't any world beater at unlimbering his service revolver, but the "bad guys" are finding out that he's a whiz with pencil and charcoal.

Needles is a police artist and he has developed a knack of drawing fast and remarkably accurate pictures of criminals from word-of-mouth descriptions furnished by witnesses.

Needles started this kind of sketching in 1953 with remarkably good fortune. His first two sketches resulted in arrests.

The second attempt of the young police artist was particularly noteworthy. Just two hours after Needles' sketch appeared in a Columbus newspaper, a youthful gunman who had robbed a number of places was in police custody. The accuracy of the sketch was attested to by the fact a newspaper reader recognized the criminal and tipped off police.

Sgt. Robert Gloekner, head of the robbery squad, puts a lot of faith in Needles' "composites"—a term applied to such sketches in police circles.

A policeman since 1950, except for 18 months' active duty with the Navy during the Korean conflict, Needles paints in oil on his own time.

Once, when called on to sketch two men involved in a $3,600 hold-up, he recalls he worked with seven witnesses from 8 p.m. until 3 a.m. He has turned out a finished composite in only five minutes.

How does he do it? Needles explains:

"I start out with an egg shape and then gradually add details of the nose, eyes, ears and other appearances from descriptions given by witnesses."

The more-witnesses of various ages he has to help him, the more accurate his drawing. Needles points out, adding:

"An older person will remember quite a bit about clothes and physical characteristics, but a young kid will remember a lot that adults don't notice."

American Movies Return to Prague

By HANNS-NEUERBOURG

PRAGUE (AP) — American films have returned to the screens of Communist Czechoslovakia along with a record number of other Western movies.

The American movie "The Little Fugitive" has just made its debut in two Prague cinemas. Czech national film import officials said they are hopeful it will be followed by about eight others this year.

U. S. productions already approved by the film import commission and now subject to purchase negotiations include "Marty", "Trapeze", "Roman Holiday", "Picnic", "East of Eden" and "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea." Officials here predict Czech fans will soon have a new film idol after the first showing of Trapeze. Up to now, they haven't known Gina Lollobrigida, bosomy Italian star of the film.

"We are not so much interested in bosoms," Dr. Emil Polak, director of the Czech National Film Import Agency said. "But she is a great actress and I am sure she will become very popular. So will Burt Lancaster and Tony Curtis, her co-stars."

"For us the import of films is not a political question but a financial one," Polak said. "This will limit the import of American films because of the prices demanded for them are much higher than for European ones with the same artistic level."

Russia, of course, remains the biggest film exporter to Czechoslovakia. There will be 30 Russian movies shown in Czechoslovakia for the first time this year along with a lesser number from Poland, East Germany, Red China and other East Bloc countries.

The number of Western premieres will increase from 35 last year to probably more than 50 in 1957. With 2,000 cinemas for a country of 13 million people, the capacity is limited. The first 40 theaters will be equipped with wide screens this year.

Records Lend Atmosphere To Backyard Vacation Spot

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

AP Newsfeatures Writer

Backyard vacationers who prefer to summer in the city can simulate their own straw hat circuit, music festivals, outdoor concerts and other rustic cultural retreats by moving the hi-fi speakers out by the barbecue pit.

Want to sample the delights of Tanglewood without driving to the Berkshires?

RCA Victor provides the solution with two new records of the Boston Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Charles Munch. One offers Brahms First, a favorite with high brow summer audiences, and the other features Tchaikovsky's Serenade for Strings, Barber's Adagio for Strings and Elgar's Introduction and Allegro for Strings.

Another summer standby, Arthur Fiedler and his Boston Pops Orchestra, whips up an old time band concert mood for the backyard with three new RCA Victor Albums, "Curtain Going Up," "Hi-Fi Fiedler" and "except from Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker suite. This perennially popular orchestra, famed for its novel arrangements, has sold close to three million albums over the years.

Capitol Records takes the listener to the West Coast for a series of excellently recorded and inspiringly played concerts under the stars by the Hollywood Bowl Orchestra.

Summer record enthusiasts can run through a whole season's billing in one evening with such recent releases as MGM's "Silk Stockings," featuring the movie soundtrack; Columbia's "My Fair Lady," "L'H Abnee" and "Cinderella," RCA Victor's "Happy Hunting," Angel's "St. Joan" and dozens of other plays and musicals recorded by various companies.

For those unable to get to the American Shakespeare Festival at Stratford, Conn., and similar festivals honoring the Bard, Decca has a handy, home economized festival in its Parnassus series of spoken word records. One is an album of Shakespeare's "Immortal Scenes and Sonnets," featuring dramatic readings by Sir John Gielgud, Pamela Brown, Arnold Moss and R. E. Johnson.

Low brow stay-at-homes can transform their backyard into a German beer garden with RCA Victor's "Sour Kraut in Hi-Fi," featuring a genuine out of key German band made up of musicians incapable of playing in time or in tune; or into a Viennese vine cellar with Angel's "Souvernir of Vienna" and "Vienna's Favorite Songs;" or an Italian pizza parlor with London's "Gay Napoli" and "Neapolitan Serenade."

Music for the barbecue pit also can bring back the minstrel days with Epic's complete recording of an old time showboat performance, stimulate community singing with any of several records by the Norman Luboff choir, the Robert Wagner chorale and the Walter Schumann singers, and even capture the mood of any mountain tab-

Recipe for Success: Mix Cereal and Novelty Toys

By BILL NEWKIRK
 TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — "Waaah! I want the cereal with the magic watzis in the box!"
 Ever hear a tot roar out that demand in a supermarket?
 It may be murder for mother, but the younger generation's weakness for breakfast food premiums is the lifeblood of two scholarly brothers named Benjamin and Henry Hirsch.

The Hirsches, who specialize in the manufacture of cereal toys, literally sit up nights dreaming up new ones to make junior hunger for serealche raunchles instead of pippie wipples.

"We have to," said 52-year-old Ben, elder of the brothers by three years. "The novelty toys wear off quickly, and if you're not ready with a new one, you're dead."

SO FAR, the Hirsches show no signs of running out of ideas.

Their inventions include a "Nautilus" submarine which dives and surfaces under the power of a mysterious "atomic fuel" (baking powder) and a sailboat which glides along in a windless bathtub after "nuclear propellant" (a camphor-like substance) is dabbed on its stern.

Since all Hirsch toys currently go to a breakfast food manufacturer, buying cereal is the only way to get one.

Even with orders for toys running into the 10 millions the three-story brick building housing Hirsch Laboratories, Inc., operates as a factory for only about five months out of a year.

Then the 150 production workers go home and the Hirsches settle down with a skeleton staff to plan next season's toys.

"That," said Ben, "is when our work really gets tough. We start from scratch again and hope we can come up with something in time."

BY NATURE, the Hirsches are ideally fitted for a team job.

Ben, a chemist, can produce an "idea a minute" and enthusiastically defends every one to the last ditch.

Henry, who as an engineer must apply the ideas to a production line, has developed a defense mechanism that prompts him to mutter "I doubt it" whenever Ben has a fresh brainstorm.

The brothers have worked together since their high school days when Ben invented a cream to slick down stubborn hair. That enterprise started in their mother's kitchen, graduated to the garage, and eventually took them into a profitable cosmetics business.

A fire in 1944 ruined their business. The plant rebuilt, the Hirsches spent two years in a vain effort to get back into cosmetics. Finally acknowledging failure and almost broke, they decided to take a chance on toys.

"WE DIDN'T know much about toys, but we thought they held some possibilities for a chemist and an engineer," Ben explained.

The brothers devised tiny plastic skaters which scooted around on water on camphor tablets and found willing customers in the five-and-dime stores. Within two months after the skaters went on sale the brothers had sold more than a million and paid off all their debts.

In 1955, several toys later, the Hirsches approached a breakfast food company with a crude model of a toy submarine and made a bid for the cereal box business.

At first, the breakfast food people were dubious. But the Hirsches managed to come away with an initial order for 250,000 units of the toy, later patterned and named after the real atomic submarine, "Nautilus."

They delivered the order, and in a couple of weeks the breakfast food company was screaming for more.

THE EXACT figures on sales of the sub and similar toys are a secret of the cereal firms. Breakfast food moguls also display all the caution of automobile tycoons in guarding the designs of new premiums and model changes.

Right now, the Hirsches are trying to develop a cheap battery whose components can be run off on a printing press. If they succeed, the battery will be used to run their next toy, which...

Group Sponsors Quiz On Economic Problem

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 20 — The Committee for Economic Development (CED) announced today a competition to find what the best informed opinion of the Free World regards as "the most important economic problem to be faced by the United States in the next 20 years."

Assisted by a grant from The Ford Foundation, the CED invited papers on the question as part of the observance of its 15th anniversary.

Fifty prizes of $500 will be awarded to authors of papers submitted in competition and judged by CED's Research Advisory Board, a body comprising some of the country's most distinguished social scientists. Additional awards of $500 will be made without competition to each of 50 outstanding scholars and leaders in public affairs for papers on the same question.

CED is composed of 150 leading businessmen and scholars who, working together, conduct research and formulate policy recommendations on major economic issues, and promote education on the operation of the American economy.

Donald K. David, Chairman of CED's Board of Trustees, expressed the hope that the competition would "contribute to the growth and stability of the whole Free World by focusing the attention and energies of the American people upon likely trouble spots beyond the immediate horizon."

He was pleased, he said, that the competition was not limited to Americans, but "calls as well upon the best minds of our friends and allies overseas."

"BECAUSE the economy of our country plays such an important role in maintaining and strengthening freedom throughout the world," he added, "its functioning and its future have become the concern of thoughtful citizens throughout the Free World."

"Out of their thinking," Chairman David asserted, "CED hopes to anticipate economic difficulties and find means to avert them while the situation is manageable."

Papers submitted in the competition must not exceed 2,000 words in length, must be typewritten in the English language on one side of the paper only, and mailed before November 1 to Problems of

The only modern Short Stroke SIX!

Another reason why
Ford Trucks Cost Less

Under the broad hood of that boldly modern '57 Ford there's something you won't find in any other pickup. It's a six-cylinder engine with modern Short Stroke design.

Because of Short Stroke design, Ford engines — both Six and V-8 — have less internal friction. This means less wear, less repair. Coupled with new 8.3 to 1 compression ratio — it also means more miles from every gallon of gas.

Ford trucks cost less in every way! First cost is low; many, many models are priced below every other make. Ford resale value is traditionally high. And independent insurance experts have certified for the 12th straight year that Ford trucks last longer. Act now — save now and for years to come!

Sunday's Moisture Measures Over Inch

By MRS. S. N. THWEATT

After the rain Sunday afternoon, Boot Leg measured 1 1/2 inches; Frank Ford, 1 1/2; Jack Buse, 1.1. Walcott only had a sprinkle. Dan Guseman had a good shower on his section joining the Rose place.

Mrs. Jack Buse and children spent Sunday visiting her daughter, Mrs. Charles Markman of Hereford.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Thweatt had supper with the Bill Messick family in Hereford Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Messick and children Jannie and Robert left Wednesday for a short vacation in and around Denver, Colo. They plan on meeting friends there and spending a few days in a cabin in the mountains.

Pat Webb of Hereford was a visitor of the S. N. Thweatts Thursday.

Barbara, Rodger, Tommie and Earl Brown attended a birthday party in Clovis Friday for their cousin, Thema Shadix, who was six years old.

Mrs. Frank Ford of Lubbock spent the weekend at the ranch north of Boot Leg.

The Frank Ford family left Wednesday for a three week vacation. They will visit Mrs. Ford's mother in Oregon, and their son Frank Jr. in Washington. Frank Jr. and wife hope to join them in a three-day trip to Canada, when they will go by boat out to an island to visit friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson and son will be in Farwell attending the Thompson reunion July 27 and 28. They will also visit the Thweatts while there. They are from Pierre, S. D. They formerly lived at Boot Leg and taught school a number of years in Hereford.

Their son, Charles M. Thompson, attended the National Jamboree for Scouts in Valley Forge, Pa. the past week. Also attending the Jamboree was Johnnie Ford, son of Frank Ford.

Mr. and Mrs. Shorty Newman and family spent a week's vacation in and around Silverton visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Brown visited Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Thweatt Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Thweatt had company from Amarillo Sunday. They were Thweatt's two brothers, Spain and Buster, and a friend, Lewis Widney. Spain will spend a short while with the Thweatts.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brown and sons Earl and Rodger were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Potts Sunday.

W. D. Mount, nephew of Mrs. Bruce Coleman who is working for the Colemans, spent the weekend at home in Lubbock.

Jimmy White at Sales Meeting

By MARSHA COCKRELL

Jimmy White attended a sales meeting for the Ford Co. last week in Oklahoma City. He left Sunday July 14, and returned Friday. While he was at the meeting, Mrs. White visited with friends and relatives in Amarillo.

Kent Snare, brought his wife home from Kansas Sunday where she visited her sister, Miss Katharine Knowles in Wellington, and other friends and relatives in Wellington, Eldorado and Wichita.

The Howard Gores and Glenn Watts are back from their vacation in Silver Springs, Colo., near Denver. The two families, who left July 13, take their vacations together, every summer. The Larry Summers family usually goes with them but could not accompany them this year.

Naomi Hare is here visiting her parents, the A. A. Hares, on a month's vacation. Miss Hare teaches at the Mission School and does social work in Monterrey, Mex.

Martha Heard's letter from Mexico City in the Sunday Brand enabled us to get a glimpse of life in Mexico. The bus service must be very unusual in Mexico. The same day Martha's letter arrived, we received letters from two other girls who are attending the University of Mexico, and each letter mentioned the buses. It would seem that service is very insensitive — and very poor.

Mrs. H. M. Thomas entered the Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo Sunday for eye surgery.

Marsha and Nancy Cockrell spent the weekend in Abilene. Nancy attended a youth council meeting, and Marsha went to a social duo reunion. They drove back Sunday.

Guests in the Thomas L. Collins home are Mrs. Collins' sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hamilton Jr. and Myra Louise.

Mrs. Alby Cockrell, educational assistant for the First Methodist Church, reported that attendance at the morning service Sunday, July 14, represented 10 states and another nation. Visitors were present from Arizona, California, Connecticut, Kansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Ohio, Oklahoma, Texas, (Continued On Page 2)

Hill-Bred Horses Win in New Mexico

O. G. Hill Jr., 122 N. Texas Ave., bred five out of the six blue ribbon winners at the Fort Sumner, N. M., quarterhorse show Saturday morning.

Four champion quarterhorses were sired by Hill's stallion Showdown, including the grand champion stud, Alibi Hill, owned by Bill Kendall of Hereford, and Pandarita Hill, grand champion mare, owned by Frank Daugherty of Oton.

Two Main Events Set for Saturday

A double main event is scheduled for Hereford wrestling fans Saturday night in the Bull Barn.

Dizzy Davis is to meet Tommy Phelps in the first bout of the evening. It is also set for two out of three falls or one hour.

Last Saturday Geigel rallied after losing the first fall to whip Tokyo Joe. Tokyo Joe was disqualified in the second fall and Geigel took the third.

In the other event, Sonny Myers took the first fall from DiBlase in 12 minutes.

Myers was disqualified in the second fall for hitting the referee. In the third fall, Myers and DiBlase both were disqualified for rough tactics.

A return match between Myers and DiBlase will be scheduled in the near future.

BOOST FOR OPTIMISTS—The Hereford Optimist Club, hoping to boost its membership, has acquired this tired convertible to give present members an incentive to recruit new ones. Sam Long, left, club president, took the car first, after receiving encouragement from Optimist Lt. Gov. Ben Armstrong and his son of Wichita Falls. "The deal is," explains Long, "you've got to keep the car running until you've recruited a new Optimist. Right now, the orange-colored crate has fallen apart in the parking lot, but I still think it is a powerful recruiting gimmick." (Ange) Photo

LETTER FROM GERMANY

Mixed-Up Meeting On Bus in Geissen

July 15, 1957

Dear folks, Wednesday evening I had quite an experience! Helga and I had made plans to take pictures at Geissen and then to go to visit the Manjots. The bus I was to come in on stopped at three places and since Helga didn't know at which stop she would meet me, she said she would get on the bus and call me so I would know where to get off. Mr. Thome took me to Bieber where I boarded the bus to Geissen. It was a huge bus and was pulling another car behind it. We stopped at all three stops and Helga was at none of them.

I thought I should get off at the first stop and wait, but the bus driver had other plans. After a lengthy talk, to which I could only reply, "Ich verstehe Sie nicht!" (I don't understand you!) we got back on the bus and drove to the first stop. Helga wasn't there; then to the second, and when we were almost to the last stop I saw Helga running down the street and called, "Halt! Halt!" The bus driver stopped right there in the middle of the street and let me off. I can imagine the picture we must have made driving all over Geissen, a town of 59,000 inhabitants, in that huge bus and I as the only passenger. Helga had met the bus at the time it was supposed to have been there but it was early. Anyway, we had a lot of fun and a good laugh.

Later that evening we took a bus out to the Army base where we went to visit Lloyd and Rose Mary Manjot and their precious baby. We had a delicious dinner and spent a very enjoyable evening. It seems almost like being in Texas to visit with someone from home. Yesterday Mr. Thome, Uwe, Helga and I drove to Heideberg.

On the way we passed many beautiful fields of roses. It was quite unusual to see a field of so many pretty flowers between a field of barley and potatoes. Each year they have a rose festival and select a rose queen, etc., near Bad Homburg.

When we got to Heideberg, we had dinner and visited with some American friends of the Thomes. Just as we started out to look around and take pictures, it began raining. I was very disappointed as I couldn't see all I wanted to see from the car; however, it cleared up long enough for us to go up to the castle and look around. I never saw so many people as there were there. There were tourists from all over the world. Heideberg is a beautiful city which is quite old and very crowded. We had a nice time in spite of the rain.

When we started home it was really pouring rain! There were a lot of bridges over the autobahn on which we were driving and under each bridge there were crowds of people who had been riding bicycles and motorcycles and were seeking protection from the rain.

As we drove along we saw many cars stopped along the road waiting for the rain to let up so they could see better to drive. It is still cold and rainy today. One week we have hot weather and the next is cold. Variety is the spice of life, I guess.

It just occurred to me that so far I have failed to tell you about the most important part of my visit to Germany — my family, the Thomes. They are wonderful! I feel right at home and just as if I were a member of the family. At first we had a little difficulty with the language when Helga wasn't here to translate for us, but we kept a

Falls Are Costly on Farm Ranch

A fall on the farm or ranch can cost a rural family more money than a fall in prices on the agricultural commodities markets, according to the Texas Safety Assn.

The association points out that falls are the leading source of all injuries to farmers and ranchers in Texas.

However, injuries from all mishaps are expensive. In fact, a recent study shows that the average medical costs of such injuries runs $105 per accident. Piled on top of this, in many cases, the necessity of hiring extra labor or suffer a serious loss of production, besides pain and discomfort.

Common sense and good housekeeping can substantially reduce hazards according to the Texas Safety Association.

Around the yards and corrals, pick up loose wires, boards and scrap metal. Don't allow nails or hangers to protrude unnecessarily. Keep hand tools in safe racks. In the home, keep stairways clear of objects and well lighted. Have a stepladder or kitchen stool handy for reaching high places. And, don't carry a "lazy man's load" that will block your walking view.

Management Is Key to Ranching

COLLEGE STATION — Proper range management is an essential part of any successful ranching program.

The points to stress now for proper range management are feed reserves, deferred grazing and brush control, according to G. O. Hoffman and A. H. Walker, extension range specialists.

No chemical weed control can now be used effectively, for the weeds are too large and mature.

A feed reserve means the difference between profit and loss, advise the specialists. Excess forage should be stored for future use during winter and drought periods.

Deferred grazing should be practiced even if it is getting dry. Good deeprooted grass will still make considerable growth on the subsoil moisture.

The specialists then give a summary of the reports of several county agents in regard to brush control, grass growth and chemical weed control.

Karnes County reports show that grasses, for the first time in several years, are showing up on much of the root plowed ground.

In Brown County, chemical treatment has proved effective in tree control. The truck base treatment gave practically 100 per cent kill on mesquites and yucca.

In Young County, brush treated areas have produced twice as much grass as untreated ones, even under drought conditions.

Spraying to control brush has been found to be an economical method to provide additional grass.

Grass work is being carried on in Goliad. Good grass growth has been noted on soil where fenuron powder applications were made to control post and blackjack oak in February, 1955.

Chemicals made the difference between dead, harmless weeds and

PLAINS IRRIGATION SHOWS AN INCREASE

COLLEGE STATION — Almost a quarter of a million acres was added to the total acreage being irrigated in the High Plains area of Texas during the past year.

Water to take care of the additional acreage and to permit a better job of irrigating existing lands came from an additional 5,853 wells.

These facts are revealed in the annual survey of irrigation on the High Plains recently released by D. W. Sherrill, irrigation agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service with headquarters in Lubbock.

Sherrill's report covered irrigation activities in 42 counties. Information in the survey was obtained from data supplied by the agricultural agents in the counties concerned, and points up the great importance of irrigation to the Plain's agricultural industry.

The report shows that 18,344 farms in the 42 counties are irrigated. The total acreage under irrigation now stands at 4,568,880 acres and the number of wells at 42,225. Hale county farmers are now irrigating 500,000 acres and lead the area in that respect. Lubbock and Hockley counties have the largest number of irrigated farms and number of wells. Several counties in the area, Deaf Smith, Farmer, Castro, Swisher, Lamb, Hale and Lubbock, are listed as having in excess of 300,000 acres each under irrigation.

We do everything from playing hide-and-seek to learning German, and he is really a good teacher. Helga will finish high school in March and then plans to attend the university. I guess she will never stop talking about Hereford and the year that she spent there. We are planning for the time when she can come back. Metropolitan Museum Show Lures Many Vacationers

By W. G. ROGERS

Associated Press Arts Editor
NEW YORK. (AP) — The sailor in whites, the boy and girl hand-in-hand, the woman with the shoulder bag, the fellow in a loud-hued sport shirt, the unshaven, urbanized Bohemian, the lady with shoes that hurt her feet, the near-sighted visitor with his eyes almost rubbing the canvas, the proud papa and his two young pretty daughters looking at the nudes and not looking at the nudes—

This is a sample of the hot-summer-day crowd at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. At the Cloisters — the Metropolitan's Middle Ages showplace which has not only lovely gardens and walks of particular lure to warm-weather art lovers but also parking space — about one car out of every three bears an out-of-state registration.

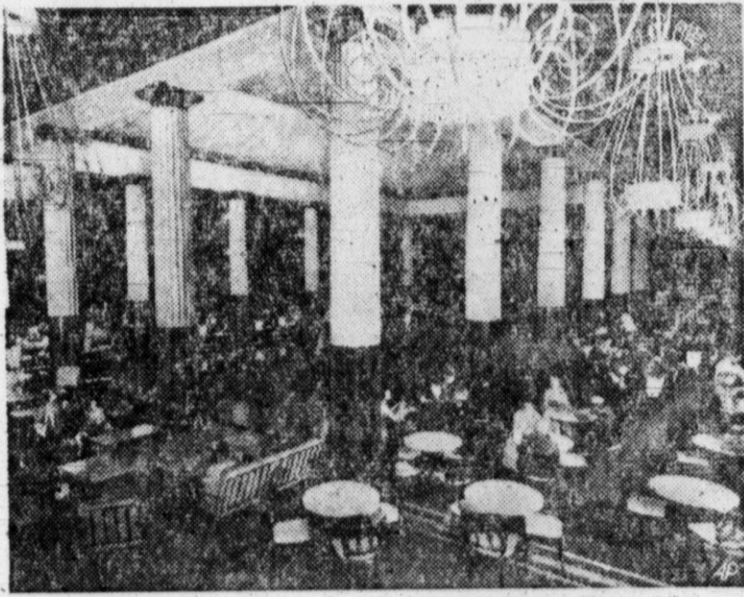

The Metropolitan figures its non-native visitors this season may be in the same proportion. If July and August attendance at the institution runs to the usual 350,000, that indicates that more than 100,000 people traveling to New York for a vacation take in the Metropolitan during their sight-seeing here.

"WE PUT on special summer shows for the guests," says the Metropolitan, "but as far as we can discover they really prefer the staples."

Perhaps the most frequent question at the entrance is: Where is the American Wing? People have old furniture of their own, or are redecorating, and want to examine the best, there is for comparison. Egyptian antiquities draw an especially large attendance, and still another popular section contains the French 19th Century painters. Many visitors ask for Rembrandts. The single picture that brings the greatest number of inquiries appears to be El Greco's "View of Toledo."

"Every week we get letters from across the country asking what's on display," the museum says.

Aside from the year-round fare, the Cloisters at Fort Tryon Park is now exhibiting Spanish lustreware of the 15th and 16th centuries. The 60 rare pieces are from the Hearst collections, bought through the museum director, James J. Rorimer, with John D. Rockefeller Jr. funds.

SPECIAL feature at the Met itself is a selection from private collections of more than 75 Impressionist and modern paintings. The lenders are mostly from this area; the artists include Braque, Cezanne, Corot, Degas, Derain, Gauguin, van Gogh, Leger, Manet, Matisse, Modigliani, Monet, Pissarro, Renoir, Seurat and Toulouse-Lautrec.

Another summer item also very much worth the out-of-town-er's time is "Faces in American Art," more than 100 photos of American artists, critics and collectors in an exhibit arranged by A. Hyatt Mayor, curator of prints. Among the photographers are Steichen, Stieglitz, Berenice, Abbott, Andreas Feininger, Florence Homolka, George Platt Lynes, Emily Winthrop Miles, Hans Namuth, Arnold Newman, Dorothy Norman and John D. Schiff.

Other temporary shows are Rodin sculpture, Greek vases and "A Century of Fashions" both European and American at the Metropolitan itself. The Cloisters is closed Monday, the Metropolitan

Woman Surgeon Stars at Bat or Foil

DR. CHRISTINE HAYCOCK—On duty in operating room.

PLAY BALL—Dr. Haycock is a member of the National Girls Softball League, plays with the Linden, N. J., Arians.

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — A tall, green-eyed brunette, senior resident surgeon at St. Barnabas Hospital Center here, has invaded a variety of fields marked "for men only."

No matter whether she wears rubber gloves for surgery, baseball gloves or even fencing gloves, many men will make a bow before Dr. Christine Haycock.

With her rubber gloves she performs surgery and she hopes to become the first woman certified by the Board of the American College of Surgeons in New Jersey.

After work, just to relax, she puts on her leather baseball glove and off she goes to play softball in the National Girls Softball League, with the Linden, N. J., Arians.

WITH THE fencing glove and foil she's equally at home—and, in 1949-50, while studying medicine, she became New Jersey's woman fencing champion. She's also a captain in the reserves and was the first woman intern at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital.

But don't think that the woman surgeon is interested only in fields reserved for men. She finds enough time for social life, and is an award-winning photographer and an accomplished painter.

Dr. Haycock says she became interested first in baseball, later in softball, by necessity; she was the only girl in an all-boy neighborhood.

"It was either play ball or be lonesome," she explains.

IN 1939 she went out for her high school baseball team but the coach wouldn't let her play. So, at the age of 15, she joined the Essex County Semi-Pro League and became the first girl to play on the team.

She played both baseball and softball until she entered the University of Chicago on a partial scholarship and then she began fencing with the university team. She came to New Jersey and won the women's championship. After graduation from high school, she worked in a factory as a solderer and while she studied pre-med she did private duty nursing at night to ease the tuition load on her parents. Mr. and Mrs. John B. Haycock now of Chicago.

COYOTE RAIDS
BERWYN, Alta. (AP) — A scarcity of mice and rabbits in this Peace River district is bringing coyote raids on settled regions. As a result, poison pellets are being set out in greater numbers. Last year the control program netted 5,500 coyotes.

MATTER OF POLICY
HONOLULU (AP) — The pilot of a Navy twin-engine patrol bomber made a forced landing on one engine on the island of Maui. He refused to give local reporters his name.

A Navy spokesman in Honolulu identified him as Lt. John G. Redmond.

"He should have given his name," the spokesman said. "You have to do that much even when you're captured by the enemy."

SHADES OF OLD

GUTHRIE, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma is celebrating its 50th anniversary of statehood this year but every once in a while it is reminded of its pioneer days. Sheriff Tom Grunden reported one oldtime practice is still around — horse thieves took two horses and two saddles from a farm near here. Later, two boys were arrested — still riding the stolen horses.

National Guard units took part in 11 campaigns and 34 assault landings in World War 2.

Beauty At Home

Q. How do you recommend shampooing the hair?

A. Use shampoo generously, working it vigorously into the scalp to serve both as a cleanser and an invigorating massage. Water should be changed three times, and the shampoo application repeated. Rinsing is done with warm, clear water, and be sure to rinse and rinse and rinse. Most dull-looking hair is attributable to incomplete rinsing. Thoroughly clean hair will "squeak" when a damp strand is pulled through the fingers. Towel-dry your hair at least partially before setting pins.

Q. How can I remove soft-drink stains from a dress?

A. These stains are usually colorless at first, but may turn brown if allowed to stand or if sudsed. Therefore, they should be removed at once by sponging with cool water or with a solution of equal parts alcohol and water. Rub glycerine into the stain, let stand for a half hour, rinse with water, then launder in hot suds.

Q. What is a good "homemade" underarm deodorant?

A. Bicarbonate of soda diluted with water is quite good. You can also add a little of this to your regular bath water as an extra treatment.

Q. What precautions should a girl with bleached hair take when swimming?

A. Bleached hair is particularly vulnerable to heat of any kind, so avoid too much sun. Wear a scarf or beach hat when sitting near salt water, since salt is a bleaching agent and the porous follicles will absorb salt spray. Always wear a cap when swimming, especially in the chlorinated water of swimming pools. A band of chamois tied around your hair under your cap will help to keep out salt and chlorine water. If some seeps in, rinse it off with clear water at once.

Q. I have quite a small nose,

Pause And Meditate

Just remember, when you see a queer old man, that he was once some mother's darling. — Gladys Miller.

but a protruding chin. How should I make up?

A. Shadow the chin with a darker shade of foundation cream, and highlight the nose with a lighter shade.

Q. What can I do about overly-fleshy thighs?

A. Sit on the floor, and starting at your knee, pummel the fleshy spots up to your hipline with your fists, then down to the knee again. Keep up this rub-a-dub pummeling for at least 20 minutes. This massage is called "compression massage," and it may be done on the inside of the leg, the buttocks, the thighs, lower legs, around the midriff. If your skin is tender, apply a little cream or oil beforehand — but do not spare your feelings! Knead deeply and pound hard for best results!

Q. Please suggest some good colors that can be worn by the black-haired woman?

A. Deep yellow, dark red, gold, and jade green are all colors that do something for the woman with raven tresses.

Loss and Gain

The older man is saying, "I have worked hard to make this farm pay. But I wonder if that is enough. What is ahead... how much loss and how much gain? He has asked this minister to explain it all. What does it profit a man if he gains the whole world and loses his own soul? Things do not satisfy. Man is a spiritual creature. He cannot be content with food and shelter. He was made for fellowship with God and his soul will always be hungry until he knows that he is a son of God and learns to walk with the Eternal Spirit. He must go forward with Christ. He must go to church and live in daily consciousness of the favor and blessing of his God. As he sharpens his tools to lose or gain, so must he sharpen his mind and his heart for God. Any business will pay when God is the senior partner.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then why with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday? "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

HERE'S HOW:

Match Furniture to Setting

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Writer
OUTDOOR LIVING requires special decor.

The sky is your ceiling, the lawn your carpet, the flowers lend motif just as your wallpaper does inside. These things should be kept in mind when you choose outdoor furniture if you want to make an impression as an amateur decorator.

An outdoor deck built of redwood for instance, will require different accessories than a flagstone terrace setting. The lawn may be flattered by more colorful furniture than that used on a screened-in porch.

Some people add to their outdoor furniture throughout the summer, and if purchased at sales, often these pieces do not match accessories they've been using.

AN OPEN wood deck looks better furnished in rugged pieces, inexpensive. Adirondack-type chairs or redwood accessories, sawback tables, benches, chaises. The screened porch may be highlighted by wicker and rattan. A covered terrace may use white wicker chairs, a variety of materials including brass and wrought iron.

We get colorful on the lawn where nature has provided brilliant greenery and floral hues. Ditto at the beach where sand and sky combine to invite color onto the terrace. New outdoor umbrellas and furniture so at home in these areas require less care than formerly. New weatherproof nylonite, a lamination of nylon and vinyl plastic, resists brilliant sunshine and summer heat, keeping cushions and fabric cool. It may be wiped clean with a damp cloth, is resilient and resists cracking, mildew, peeling and soiling.

The fabric available in upholstery for casual furniture, circular umbrellas, table cloths and cushions is in vibrant floral patterns, metallic prints, solid colors and textured effects. WHEN entertaining outdoors where the more colorful hues are used, you must take into consideration your menu. Food is important to your accessories. A garish ensemble in umbrella and table cloth, plus jazzed up foods, may take away the appetite of your guests. Nothing will deaden the appetite faster than lukewarm

"iced" tea. Sure the pitcher may be pretty, but what good is it if the lemonade is warm. Keep ice beverages cool by bringing the ice bucket to the table. Serve salad as chefs do — on a bed of ice using two bowls, one inside the other. Steak should be served hot. Thermo trays will

RARE SKELTON

LOS ANGELES, P. A. — A 100-year-old antelope skeleton has been discovered in Southern California.

The Theodore Dows of the Los Angeles County Museum says the species is so new to scientists that they haven't even a name yet. The prize find was made by two local collectors while mapping the Gorman area for a petroleum company.

Dr. Dows estimates that the antelope was a creature of the Pliocene Period and guesses that it was a plains animal similar to today's pronghorn antelope, although not nearly as large. This one was about the size of a medium dog, he says.

FISCAL PROBLEM

WEST POINTE, Va. — The town council here held a 10-minute fiscal decisions to make. There was too much money in the treasury.

The city fathers came up with this solution — water bill minimums to be $1 instead of $2, and town auto licenses to be reduced from $5 to $2.50. If this is the end of the surplus, more drastic steps will be taken.

Whipped Cream — The city fathers also decided to cut back on the city's milk supply.

Refrigerator Odds — If a few drops of oil of winter

Patching Plaster The usual trouble one has when patching holes in the wall is that the plaster of Paris or putty plaster sets too quickly when it sets with water. But the wall will crack if water is used to mix it instead of water.

House Plants To keep the leaves of the house plants looking green and healthy and to stimulate their growth by keeping the pores through which they breathe open, spray them with a solution of water and ammonia.

The Oven Wash the oven regularly to keep it free of grease and grime. Use a solution of water and ammonia.
