Reagan picked for second term

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
AP Political Writer

President Reagan, celebrating a 49-state landslide over Walter F. Mondale, said early today he means to extend his conservative mandate "into the next decade and the next century," but his was a split-ticket victory.

Despite the sweep, many Republicans were left on the sidelines as Democrats kept control of the House and trimmed the GOP majority in the Senate.

"What we've done only prepares us for what we're going to do," Reagan told exuberant supporters in Los Angeles as they chanted, "Four more years, four more years."

But Democratic House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. was quick to claim, "I don't think there was any mandate out there whatsoever."

From the time the first vote totals began rolling in Tuesday night, it was clear that Mondale's dream of a presidential upset was not to be. Reagan was a big winner in state after state, and finally Mondale appeared before supporters in St. Paul, Minn., to say he had called the president to congratulate him.

"He has won," said Mondale. "We are all Americans; he is our president, and we honor him tonight."

Mondale beaten badly

His Democratic running mate, Geraldine Ferraro, who made history in a losing cause, consoled her backers, telling them, "American women will never be second-class citizens again."

Vice President George Bush, celebrating "this wonderful hour of victory" in Houston, called on Americans to "come together as one people, united and indivisible."

In a $22 million Senate race, Republican New Right leader Jesse Helms of North Carolina fought back a tough challenge from Democratic Gov. James Hunt to win a third term. The contest in which Helms spent $14 million and Hunt $8 million broke all spending records for a Senate race.

Republican Sen. Charles H. Percy, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was defeated by Democratic Rep. Paul Simon, which put Helms in line to head the prestigious committee if he chooses to give up his chairmanship of the Senate Agriculture Committee, a post his state's tobacco farmers view as more important.

The closest statewide race in the nation was for governor of Vermont where Democrat Madeleine Kunin held a narrow lead over Republican John Easton.

Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., who used his chairmanship of a House Appropriations subcommittee to wage a powerful action against Reagan's Central American policy, was defeated by Republican challenger Helen Dietrich Bentley in her third run against the veteran House member.

Reagan won 49 states with 525 electoral votes. Mondale won the District of Columbia with three electoral votes and was leading in his home state of Minnesota, with 10.

Reagan's electoral vote total was the highest in history, surpassing Franklin D. Roosevelt's 1936 total of 523 electoral votes.

The battle for control of Congress saw the Democrats pick up two Senate seats. In the final race decided Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich., beat back a challenge from Republican Jack Lousma, a former astronaut. Republicans entered the election with a 55 to 45 margin in the Senate.

In the House, the Democrats had won or were leading for 253 seats; the GOP had won or were leading for 182 others. If that trend holds, the GOP would gain 14 seats, short of the 26 seats they lost two years ago. The Democrats entered the election with a House majority of 267 to 168.

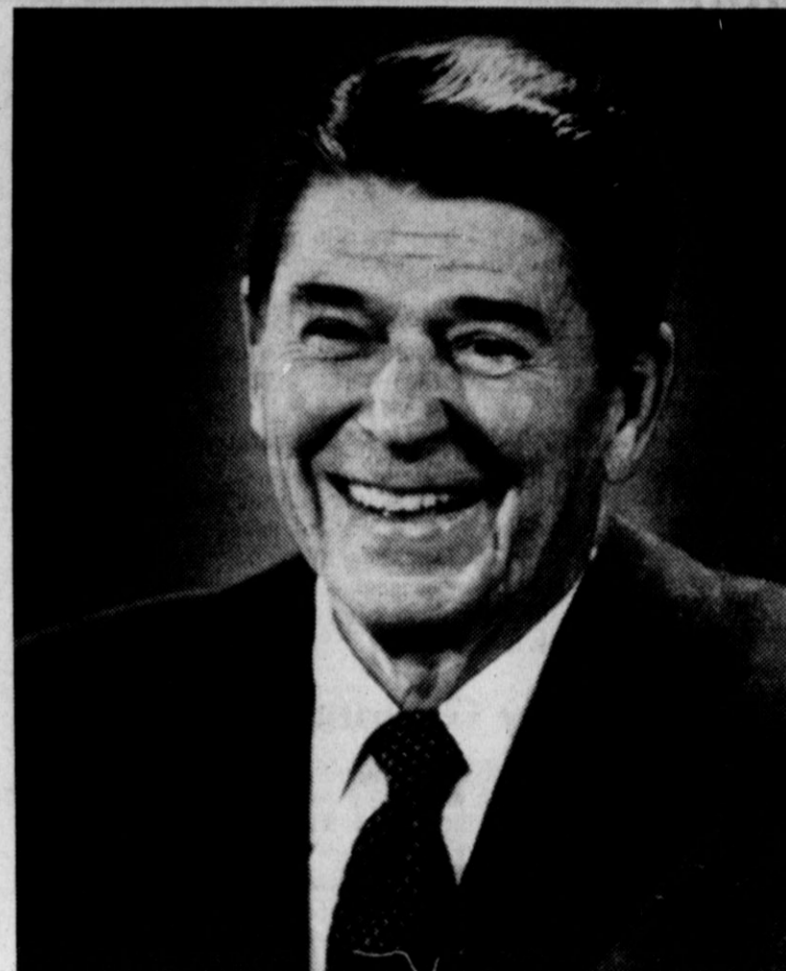

In the 13 races for governor the Republicans were winners in four states previously held by Democrats, while two GOP incumbents — John Spellman of Washington and Allen Olson of North Dakota — lost to Democratic challengers.

Democrats captured Republican Senate seats in Tennessee and Iowa, while Republican Mitch McConnell upset Democratic Sen. Walter Huddleston of Kentucky.

The winner in Tennessee was Rep. Albert Gore Jr., who easily defeated Republican Victor Ashe in the battle for the seat vacated by Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr.

Rep. Tom Harkin defeated Republican Sen. Roger Jepsen in Deaf Smith County voters generally favored the Democrats over the Republicans in key local, state and federal races Tuesday, though some local voting precincts picked the GOP contenders.

Record voter turnout was recorded by the Deaf Smith County Clerk's office, with 6,324 - 64 percent - of the county's 9,887 registered voters going to the polls.

Democrat Troy Don Moore nabbed the County Commissioner Precinct 3 seat with 1,179 votes over Republican Bill Allen's 1,025. However, Allen carried the race in Precinct 11, where a total of 501 votes were cast.

Hereford's Justin McBride, Democratic candidate for 86th District State Representative, was favored by Deaf Smith County voters over Republican victor John Smithee of Amarillo. The county's tally was 3,427 for McBride and 2,560 for Smithee, with rural Precincts 3, 9 and 10 the only ones choosing Smithee.

Former Hereford resident Don Richards carried the county in his Democratic bid for District 19 U.S. Representative, although Republican winner Larry Combest was picked by voters in Precincts 3, 9, 11, 12 and by absentee balloters. Richards had 3,107 votes countywide to Combest's 2,799.

At the top of the ballot, the county agreed with voters nationwide who gave Ronald Reagan another shot at the nation's highest office. With 6,324 votes cast Tuesday in the 12 precincts and absentee, Reagan and Bush were awarded 4,762.

Democratic contenders Walter Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro grabbed 1,485 of the county's votes, while Independent Party presidential candidates Lyndon H. LaRouche and Billy Davis came in third with 36 votes. Local voters did not write in the names of any of the three pairs of hopefuls certified as write-in candidates in Texas.

Republican U.S. Senate candidate Phil Gramm was picked by local voters as well as the rest of the state, with 4,379 votes compared to Lloyd Doggett's 1,751. Gramm carried all of Deaf Smith County's voting precincts.

In local uncontested races, voters gave incumbent county tax assessor-collector Nell Miller the most support with 3,995 votes. Sheriff Joe C. Brown, also with no opponent, gathered up 3,743 votes. Leroy Johnson, asking to be the county's first constable in more than 20 years, was awarded 3,259 votes.

Bill Bradley, incumbent Precinct 1 County Commissioner who ran unopposed, was given 819 votes out of the 1,240 votes cast in eligible Precincts 1, 7 and Absentee.

With latest information available showing the race too close to call between Railroad Commissioner candidates incumbent Mack Wallace and challenger John Thomas Henderson, local voters chose Henderson by a narrow margin. Henderson had 2,857 local votes while Wallace got 2,708. The Associated Press showed Henderson

Republican candidates rise to triumphs

Deaf Smith County will have Republican representatives in Austin and Washington, voters decided Tuesday as the GOP wave carried all the way down to county races in Texas.

Larry Combest, Lubbock Republican, was declared the winner in the 19th Congressional District race over Democrat Don Richards, and Amarillo's John Smithee scored a big win over Democrat Justin

Executive vice president announces

Although Deaf Smith county voters went for the Democrats in the two races, the district vote totals were solidly in the Republican column. Smithee polled 27,933 to McBride's 12,475 in the latest returns from Deaf Smith and Randall counties this morning.

McBride won in his home county but the margin was not near what his campaign supporters had hoped for Tuesday. McBride showed only an 867-vote margin in Deaf Smith where he polled 3,427 and Smithee got 2,560. As it turned out, a solid vote for McBride in Deaf Smith wouldn't have turned the tide.

Early this morning, McBride said he thought he was "a victim of the Republican landslide." He said he'd like to express his appreciation to "the people of Deaf Smith who worked so hard in the campaign and to The Hereford Brand for its endorsement." He said the 57 percent support in his home county was "good in view of what happened to Democratic candidates across the board."

Combest scored big in Lubbock and Odessa and latest returns this morning from the 19th District showed him with 95,047 votes to just 69,285 for Richards.

From his campaign office in Lubbock this morning, Richards said "it's hard to explain what happened, but you can't complain when the majority of voters turn out and you get beat by that many votes."

Richards said he felt strongly that he'd carry the rural areas of the district and split with Combest in the larger cities. It didn't happen. In Parmer County, for instance, Richards carried the county by 80 percent in the primary, but he won by only about 200 votes Tuesday. That pattern continued across the district.

Chamber's directors selected

For national, state political posts

Mike Bowles, Terry Bromlow, Bill Harris and Doug Manning have been elected as new directors for the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, it was announced Tuesday by Mike Carr, executive vice president.

The four will serve three-year terms on the C of C board beginning in January. Results of the election by mail ballots to chamber members were released by Carr Tuesday. Other nominees were David Hutchins and Gerald Morgan.

Bowles is manager of Pre-Feeders

Feedlot; Bromlow is executive vice president of Hereford State Bank; Harris is a vice president of Security Federal Savings & Loan and manager of the Hereford office, and Manning is an author, counselor, lecturer, and owner of In-Sight Books of Hereford.

Directors whose terms expire this year are Danny Boyer, John Stagner, Irene McKinster and Bob Owen. Since Owen is the outgoing president, he will remain on the board as past president.

Holdover directors will be Charlie Bell, Rosie Griffin, Gary Phipps, Steve Nieman, John Hays, Rex Easterwood, Jim Arney and Joe Reinauer Jr. Betty Drake will serve on the new board as Women's Division president, succeeding Arvella Lauderback.

Port couple wants jury meeting

HOUSTON (AP) - A prosecutor and a defense attorney were refusing to say why they thought the parents of a teen-ager charged with murder had asked to meet with a grand jury investigating the killing.

Bernard and Odette Port have been jailed since Sept. 12 for contempt of court because they refused to testify about their son David, 17.

David Port is charged with murder in the June 7 shooting death of Debora Sue Schatz, a 23-year-old mail carrier who disappeared while on her rounds in the Ports' affluent west Houston neighborhood. He is free on $20,000 bond.

The mail carrier's body was found in a rural area of northwest Harris County June 9.

Prosecutor Jim Lavine said he believed it would be possible to convene the grand jury today as the Ports had asked.

Asked why he thought the Ports sought the meeting, Lavine said, "I have suspicions, but I can't speculate."

The grand jury, whose term has been extended until Jan. 31, was not scheduled to meet until Nov. 28.

Friends say Gramm no different

DALLAS (AP) - Those who know him from high school say Phil Gramm, elected to the U.S. Senate seat once held by Lyndon Johnson, hasn't changed a bit from his days at the Georgia Military Academy.

"He always spoke his mind so freely," said ABC News Washington correspondent Tim O'Brien, a high school friend who renewed his relationship with Gramm when the former Texas A&M conservative economist went to Congress in 1978.

Gramm, a staunch conservative who swamped his liberal Democratic opponent Lloyd Doggett Tuesday to replace retiring U.S. Sen. John Tower, held true to form in acknowledging victory, promising to unleash his wrath on the federal budget and cut $20 billion "in three to five years."

It was Gramm who, as a Democrat in 1981, used his House Budget Committee seat to co-sponsor President Reagan's economic plan.

The move so angered the Democratic Party leadership that Gramm, 42, was stripped of his seat. Undaunted, he resigned and won re-election as a Republican last year.

Winds postpone shuttle launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - Strong, "erratic," high-altitude crosswinds today forced postponement of the launch of space shuttle Discovery, and liftoff was rescheduled for Thursday for a mission in which free-flying astronauts are to capture two off-course satellites for return to Earth.

"We are no-go today and will have to scrub," launch director Bob Sieck told the astronaut crew of four men and one woman just 32 minutes before the planned launch time of 8:23 a.m. EST.

A weather balloon detected the stiff shear winds between 20,000 and 50,000 feet above the launch pad early this morning. When they failed to subside sufficiently, shuttle managers decided to call off the effort for the day.

The winds ranged from 66 to 80 mph, but from different directions. "The winds are very erratic," launch control spokesman Hugh Harris reported.

At about 40,000 feet - 7½ miles - a shuttle is subjected to maximum dynamic forces as it pushes up through the atmosphere toward orbit.

White House eyeing Soviet plane

WASHINGTON (AP) - American officials have watched closely for weeks a Soviet freighter believed to have docked in Nicaragua, but the White House warns against assuming the vessel contains MiG-21 combat aircraft.

The Nicaraguan Embassy issued a statement here Tuesday night denying broadcast reports of a shipment of MiG-21 warplanes and accusing the administration of trying to set the stage for an attack on the Central American nation.

In Los Angeles, White House spokesman Larry Speakes said he was "not prepared to say here what the cargo is," but he did say that if the freighter carried MiG-21s, the administration "would certainly consider that an extreme escalation of the situation."

Speakes, speaking to reporters Tuesday night, said the administration has been "monitoring this situation for a number of days and watching it closely for days and weeks." He warned not to "jump to any conclusion" about what type of aircraft were aboard the vessel.

Speakes said it was "our belief that the ship docked this evening in Nicaragua."

Reagan himself was only issue

NEW YORK (AP) - The economy helped President Reagan while Geraldine Ferraro may have hurt Walter Mondale, but television network exit polls said that in the end only one thing really mattered in Tuesday's 1984 presidential election.

A lot of Americans just plain like Ronald Reagan.

"His victory was not an ideological one," Sheldon Gawiser, an NBC News poll spokesman, said. "It's the economy and his general leadership personality."

In the ABC News poll, for example, more than 80 percent of the 30,000 people questioned said it was not important to them how Reagan and his Democratic challenger stood on issues such as nuclear arms, abortion and an equal rights amendment.

Eighty-two percent said the two debates between Mondale and Reagan had little to do with their voting decision, and 84 percent said it didn't matter which party the candidates represented. Ninety percent said the president's age - he is 73, the oldest man ever elected president - did not matter.

Police confess to murder

WARSAW, Poland (AP) - Three Polish secret police officers have been charged with murder after confessing they kidnapped and killed a pro-Solidarity priest, the government says.

The three were among four Interior Ministry officials arrested in connection with the kidnap-murder last month of the Rev. Jerzy Popieluszko, 37, a popular Warsaw priest and outspoken supporter of the outlawed Solidarity labor movement.

In response to the developments, the Communist Party's ruling Politburo said Tuesday that Polish leader Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski would assume personal control over party work in the Interior Ministry, the official news agency PAP reported.

Col. Zbigniew Pudysz, director of the Interior Ministry's Investigation Office, told a parliamentary commission that Popieluszko probably died of strangulation "caused by either hand pressure, a noose or a gag which disturbed the breathing action."

Gramm, president clobber opponents

By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) - President Reagan and GOP Senate candidate Phil Gramm, rolling over their opponents by landslide proportions in the state, left GOP officials jubilant and top Texas Democrats talking about rebuilding their party.

Republicans were ecstatic, with state GOP chairman George Strake saying the results show a "complete realignment of voting patterns in Texas."

Reagan routed Walter Mondale in Tuesday's voting. With 92.8 percent of the precincts reporting, Reagan led by a 64 percent to 36 percent margin, 3,062,371 votes to 1,749,460.

Gramm, who had firmly grasped the president's coattails throughout the campaign, swamped liberal Sen. Lloyd Doggett in the race for retiring GOP Sen. John Tower's seat by a 58.5 percent to 41.5 percent margin, 2,783,228 votes to 1,972,509.

As he had predicted a week ago, Gramm's margin was the largest ever for a Republican candidate for statewide office.

The GOP also gained ground in the congressional races, picking up at least two seats previously held by Democrats. The GOP's gains trimmed the breakdown from 21 Democrats and six Republicans to 16 Democrats and eight Republicans, with three races too close to call early today. Republicans also picked up several seats in the Texas House.

"Democrats are now faced with the job of building themselves a new foundation," said Gov. Mark White, who was part of a statewide Democratic sweep just two years ago.

"We can swim upstream, but it's a little hard taking on a tidal wave," concluded Doggett, 38, who spent more than $4 million in his bid against Gramm.

Gramm, 42, a three-term congressman who switched from the Democrats to the GOP last year, said the results were a victory not for the candidates but for conservative ideas.

Gramm, author of President Reagan's economic program, benefitted from his ties to the president and his efforts to link Doggett and Mondale.

"Our economy boomed, and I think the overall feeling of the people of Texas was that the Reagan program was working," Gramm said.

The Senate race was the most expensive in Texas history. Gramm raised more than $7.3 million and their combined spending was expected to top $12 million.

A former Texas A&M economics professor, Gramm pledged to work for all Texans, not just those who voted for him.

"To my opponent and those who voted for him, I am going to be their senator," Gramm said. "On Jan. 3, I will be Lloyd Doggett's senator and I intend to represent him."

Democrat John Hill, riding on name recognition and his experience as a former attorney general, was elected chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court over Republican John L. Bates of Waco.

In the Texas Railroad Commission race, incumbent commission chairman Mack Wallace, a Democrat, held a narrow lead early today over GOP challenger John Thomas Henderson. The margin, with better than 90 percent of the vote counted, was 50.44 percent to 49.55 percent.

In another see-saw battle with more than 90 percent of the vote in, Democratic incumbent Sam Houston Clinton was running ahead of Republican Virgil Mulanax of Gilmer by 51 percent to 49 percent in the race for Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 1.

Texas voters also approved six amendments to the state Constitution, including one which will set up a $100 million annual appropriation for capital expansion projects at state universities.

But they rejected two amendments, one to increase the amount of daily expenses paid members of the Legislature and one that would have public funds to be used to pay some mutual insurance companies' premiums.

Republicans picked up a number of seats in the Texas Legislature.

ahead by less than one percent while UPI had Wallace winning by a razor thin margin.

With John Hill the predicted winner of Supreme Court Chief Justice, the local court showed Hill with 2,991 votes over opponent John Bates with 2,695.

The only other contest race on the ballot was between incumbent Place 1 Court of Criminal Appeals Judge Sam Houston Clinton and challenger Virgil E. Mulanax. While latest wire stories showed Houston ahead by less than one percentage point, local voters gave the race to Mulanax by just 46 votes. Mulanax got 2,693 local votes, Clinton 2,647.

Only about half of local voters bothered to mark their ballots in uncontested state races, with 3,362 approving of Franklin Spears in his unopposed bid for Place 1 Justice of the Supreme Court. C.L. Ray captured 3,343 votes in his lone run for Place 2 on the same court. W.C. Davis and Bill White earned 3,413 and 3,513 votes, respectively, as unopposed candidates for Places 2 and 3 on the Court of Criminal Appeals.

State Senator Bill Sarpius, also a former Hereford resident, grabbed 3,769 of the county's votes in his uncontested race.

Charles Reynolds, the lone candidate for Chief Justice of the 7th District Court of Appeals, got 3,335 votes locally.

While more voters than ever traveled to the polls Tuesday, the percentage of registered voters was still a bit lower than in 1980, when 65.9 percent of the 9,082 eligible voters marked their ballots. Five thousand, nine hundred forty-seven persons voted four years ago in Deaf Smith County.

Local voters oppose four of amendments

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN

While Texans approved all but two of the proposed state constitutional amendments on Tuesday's ballot, Deaf Smith County voters showed their disapproval of those and another two of the propositions brought before voters.

Local voters agreed with those statewide who said thumbs down to proposed Amendments 6 and 8, and also voted down Propositions 3 and 5.

Amendment 6, which would have allowed public funds to be used to pay mutual insurance companies' premiums on insurance policies and annuity contracts, was turned down by 3,227 of the county's registered voters going to the polls. The county clerk's office showed 1,669 in favor of the proposal.

Deaf Smith said no to the tune of 3,651 votes to Amendment 8, which would have eliminated the fixed per diem payment for state legislators in session and made it a floating amount based on federal income tax allowances. In favor of the idea were 1,233 of the county's voters.

party voting was reversed," said Richards. "There were more people voting straight Republican tickets than ever before, and it appears the new voters joined the GOP ranks."

Richards carried Deaf Smith County by a small margin—3,107 to 2,799—but he lost big in Lubbock (41,408 to 27,348) and Odessa (27,323 to 12,240). Richards felt that Hale County was one of his stronger territories and he lost by 200 votes there. "Combest didn't campaign strong in the rural areas, and he still came close in most of them," said a disappointed Richards.

While the state voted in Proposition 3, adding dependent parents and siblings to the list of survivors eligible for state aid when public safety officers are killed in the line of duty, local voters disapproved by a slight margin. A total of 2,626 were against the amendment while 2,578 approved.

The county also disagreed with the state's approval of Amendment 5, which requires the Senate president pro tempore to convene the Senate within 30 days to elect a replacement after a vacancy occurs in the lieutenant governor's office. Saying no in Deaf Smith were 2,560 persons, while 2,419 thought the amendment should pass.

The remaining successful amendments, also approved by local voters, passed by good-sized margins.

Penny auction scheduled Thursday

Bedford Forest of Amarillo is to serve as auctioneer at the penny auction planned for Thursday night at West Texas State University.

Several thousand dollars worth of new merchandise has been donated by area businesses, including several in Hereford, for the auction, which is to benefit the rape crisis center in Amarillo. The center accepts clients from the entire Panhandle region.

The event is being staged by the Sociology-Social Work Club at WTSU, which is sponsored by Dr. R.K. Rornakrisau of Amarillo.

Willie Salazar, a HHS graduate who is co-chairman of the auction, said items to be offered for sale include everything from a full-length mink coat to electric scissors.

The auction begins at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Virgil Henson Activities Center on the WTSU campus. The public is encouraged to attend.

Reagan wins big

My newspaper column appearing in more than 300 newspapers - each election time - is in the hands of the publisher five days before the election.

The publisher is asked to print the column - right or wrong - the day after the election.

Thus the columns announcing EISENHOWER WINS and CARTER WINS and NIXON WINS - have been written before the polls opened.

So far I have never embarrassed myself. Not even the "Truman surprise" of 1948 was a surprise.

It's done with mirrors.

I spend each campaign time traveling the nine-tenths of our country that's still country. That "mirror" reveals things to come much more reliably than any formal survey.

It's that time again.

"Reagan Wins Big."

But how could we know for sure?

Republicans in the United States are outnumbered. For a Republican to be elected president requires courting and winning at least 25 percent of all Democrats.

Instead of nailing down that traditional Democratic constituency, Mondale went on a treasury hunt - grasping at innovations to counteract his bland image.

It will be argued forever whether his choice of a woman running mate was a mistake. I suspect that Mondale thought this decision through steps "A" and "B" without considering steps "C" and "D."

The ticket was not thoughtfully packaged for this election. His choice of a woman running mate this time might help him four years from now, should he be a candidate again.

Mondale myopically imagined that blatant honesty about "we have to raise taxes" would redound to his credit. It boomeranged.

His efforts at shirt-sleeve folksiness dated him; came through condescending. Blue-collar Americans want their leaders in a white collar and tie.

One-dimensional metaphors, pseudo-clever phrases, glib remarks aimed at the 10 o'clock news - lacked substance.

In short, Mondale made many mistakes; Reagan made no serious ones.

Could anybody have beaten photogenic, eloquent, nice-guy-sounding Reagan? Perhaps not.

So this election for the first time my findings were in agreement with the professional pollsters.

As a footnote, might one hope we would always have such "dull" elections, such minimal polarization, two candidates as honorable, decent and as selfless as politicians can be.

Ann Landers Stoned drivers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why don't people realize that a stoned driver is just as dangerous as a drunk driver? Most pot smokers I know say their driving is not affected by their smoking, but I know different.

A friend who tested stoned drivers for the California Justice Department told me pot smokers couldn't back up straight, couldn't get around S curves and got lost a lot. Although the peak effects of pot wore off after 30 minutes, the volunteers turned in their worst performances two hours after they had a joint.

Can you add anything to this, Ann? People need to be informed.—Off Everything And Feeling Great In Philly

DEAR F.G.: Surveys show that pot smokers have impaired short-term memories. They forget to use turn signals and can't remember what street they are on. Their reflexes are slower. They cannot brake in time if the car ahead stops suddenly. Their perception of time and space is inaccurate. They believe they have ample time to pass a car and often this error results in a head-on collision.

Stoned drivers are a threat to your life and mine, the same as drunk drivers, and should be dealt with in the same manner.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You may have addressed this question in your column before but because I was not concerned with it, I paid no attention. Is it OK for a 13-year-old boy to sit and visit with his mother while she takes a shower, dries herself and dresses?—Concerned Grandmother

DEAR CONCERNED: No—it is not OK. In fact, it is extremely seductive behavior. Some 13-year-old males are pretty close to manhood and it is foolish to think of them as little boys. The mother should be set straight. Hand her this column and suggest for the boy's sake that she discuss the situation with her family physician.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you printed a letter from a woman who complained that after she and her husband moved across the country to be near their grown daughter, that selfish child had the nerve to expect Mom to babysit. Mom, who wanted to spend her time enjoying life, didn't say what she expected to her daughter.

Several years ago, I moved nearly a thousand miles and began a new life at age 32 to escape my domineering martyr mother and chauvinistic father. They had spent five out of every seven days for the previous 10 years "being near" me—sitting in my living room, telling me what to do and how to do it. To them "being near" meant appropriating my husband, undermining my efforts to instill values in my children, rearranging my schedule and destroying my self-esteem. I took it because they were my parents.

Perhaps you were right in agreeing that the daughter was selfish. People learn the fine art of selfishness somewhere, and parents who would hound a grown daughter across the country—demanding the pleasures and shirking the responsibilities—sound like fine teachers.—Free (And Happy) At Last

DEAR FREE AND HAPPY: Go back and read my answer again. The bottom line is this: No one can impose on you without your permission.

How to—and how much? Find out with Ann Landers' new booklet, "How, What, and When to Tell Your Child About Sex." For your copy send 50 cents along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Workshop scheduled Thursday

Louise Walker, county extension agent, will present a workshop entitled "Blooming Vest" at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Heritage Room of the Deaf Smith County Library.

The program will last approximately an hour and is free of charge. Individuals attending are asked to bring a notepad, pencil and a pair of scissors. Walker will have two or three vests completed so participants may see variations of the vests.

The vests are made from six layers of cotton that have been quilted and cut. After washing, the vest blooms. It gets prettier as it is washed. The vests can be worn with skirts, dresses, pants and jeans.

For further information, contact Walker at 364-3573.

Holiday Fashions

An array of holiday fashions will be modeled during the "Festival of Fashion" Style Show scheduled at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Hereford Country Club. Jana Green is shown wearing an after-five dress finished by The Vogue. The taupe chiffon dress trimmed in natural lace is designed with a V-neckline, swing skirt belted by a ribbon sash and full, long sleeves.

Satellite Center clients to conduct local bowl-a-thon

Hereford Satellite Work Training Center clients are raising money for their special activities fund by having a bowl-a-thon on Thursday at 10 a.m.

Interested individuals may sponsor a worker by pledging any amount of money for every pin that the worker knocks over. Sponsors will be accepted until Thursday.

The activities fund is used for trips to Dallas and Austin for the special olympics as well as for summer trips which enable the workers to gain different experiences. Past summer trips include Six Flags, Oklahoma City and camping.

Anyone interested in sponsoring a worker may call the Satellite Center at 364-5861.

Port couple wants jury meeting

HOUSTON (AP) — A prosecutor and a defense attorney were refusing to say why they thought the parents of a teen-ager charged with murder had asked to meet with a grand jury investigating the killing.

Bernard and Odette Port have been jailed since Sept. 12 for contempt of court because they refused to testify about their son David, 17.

David Port is charged with murder in the June 7 shooting death of Debora Sue Schatz, a 23-year-old mail carrier who disappeared while on her rounds in the Ports' affluent west Houston neighborhood. He is free on $20,000 bond.

The mail carrier's body was found in a rural area of northwest Harris County June 9.

Prosecutor Jim Lavine said he believed it would be possible to convene the grand jury today as the Ports had asked.

Asked why he thought the Ports sought the meeting, Lavine said, "I have suspicions, but I can't speculate."

The grand jury, whose term has been extended until Jan. 31, was not scheduled to meet until Nov. 28.

Friends say Gramm no different

DALLAS (AP) — Those who know him from high school say Phil Gramm, elected to the U.S. Senate seat once held by Lyndon Johnson, hasn't changed a bit from his days at the Georgia Military Academy.

"He always spoke his mind so freely," said ABC News Washington correspondent Tim O'Brien, a high school friend who renewed his relationship with Gramm when the former Texas A&M conservative economist went to Congress in 1978.

Gramm, a staunch conservative who swamped his liberal Democratic opponent Lloyd Doggett Tuesday to replace retiring U.S. Sen. John Tower, held true to form in acknowledging victory, promising to unleash his wrath on the federal budget and cut $20 billion "in three to five years."

It was Gramm who, as a Democrat in 1981, used his House Budget Committee seat to co-sponsor President Reagan's economic plan.

The move so angered the Democratic Party leadership that Gramm, 42, was stripped of his seat. Undaunted, he resigned and won re-election as a Republican last year.

Winds postpone shuttle launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Strong, "erratic," high-altitude crosswinds today forced postponement of the launch of space shuttle Discovery, and liftoff was rescheduled for Thursday for a mission in which free-flying astronauts are to capture two off-course satellites for return to Earth.

"We are no-go today and will have to scrub," launch director Bob Sieck told the astronaut crew of four men and one woman just 32 minutes before the planned launch time of 8:23 a.m. EST.

A weather balloon detected the stiff shear winds between 20,000 and 50,000 feet above the launch pad early this morning. When they failed to subside sufficiently, shuttle managers decided to call off the effort for the day.

The winds ranged from 66 to 80 mph, but from different directions. "The winds are very erratic," launch control spokesman Hugh Harris reported.

At about 40,000 feet — 7½ miles — a shuttle is subjected to maximum dynamic forces as it pushes up through the atmosphere toward orbit.

White House eyeing Soviet plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — American officials have watched closely for weeks a Soviet freighter believed to have docked in Nicaragua, but the White House warns against assuming the vessel contains MiG-21 combat aircraft.

The Nicaraguan Embassy issued a statement here Tuesday night denying broadcast reports of a shipment of MiG-21 warplanes and accusing the administration of trying to set the stage for an attack on the Central American nation.

In Los Angeles, White House spokesman Larry Speakes said he was "not prepared to say here what the cargo is," but he did say that if the freighter carried MiG-21s, the administration "would certainly consider that an extreme escalation of the situation."

Speakes, speaking to reporters Tuesday night, said the administration has been "monitoring this situation for a number of days and watching it closely for days and weeks." He warned not to "jump to any conclusion" about what type of aircraft were aboard the vessel.

Speakes said it was "our belief that the ship docked this evening in Nicaragua."

Reagan himself was only issue

NEW YORK (AP) — The economy helped President Reagan while Geraldine Ferraro may have hurt Walter Mondale, but television network exit polls said that in the end only one thing really mattered in Tuesday's 1984 presidential election.

A lot of Americans just plain like Ronald Reagan. "His victory was not an ideological one," Sheldon Gawiser, an NBC News poll spokesman, said. "It's the economy and his general leadership personality."

In the ABC News poll, for example, more than 80 percent of the 30,000 people questioned said it was not important to them how Reagan and his Democratic challenger stood on issues such as nuclear arms, abortion and an equal rights amendment.

Eighty-two percent said the two debates between Mondale and Reagan had little to do with their voting decision, and 84 percent said it didn't matter which party the candidates represented. Ninety percent said the president's age — he is 73, the oldest man ever elected president — did not matter.

Police confess to murder

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Three Polish secret police officers have been charged with murder after confessing they kidnapped and killed a pro-Solidarity priest, the government says.

The three were among four Interior Ministry officials arrested in connection with the kidnap-murder last month of the Rev. Jerzy Popieluszko, 37, a popular Warsaw priest and outspoken supporter of the outlawed Solidarity labor movement.

In response to the developments, the Communist Party's ruling Politburo said Tuesday that Polish leader Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski would assume personal control over party work in the Interior Ministry, the official news agency PAP reported.

Col. Zbigniew Pudysz, director of the Interior Ministry's Investigation Office, told a parliamentary commission that Popieluszko probably died of strangulation "caused by either hand pressure, a noose or a gag which disturbed the breathing action."

Gramm, president clobber opponents

By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — President Reagan and GOP Senate candidate Phil Gramm, rolling over their opponents by landslide proportions in the state, left GOP officials jubilant and top Texas Democrats talking about rebuilding their party.

Republicans were ecstatic, with state GOP chairman George Strake saying the results show a "complete realignment of voting patterns in Texas."

Reagan routed Walter Mondale in Tuesday's voting. With 92.8 percent of the precincts reporting, Reagan led by a 64 percent to 36 percent margin, 3,062,371 votes to 1,749,460.

Gramm, who had firmly grasped the president's coattails throughout the campaign, swamped liberal Democratic Sen. Lloyd Doggett in the retiring GOP Sen. John Tower seat by a 58.5 percent to 41.5 percent margin, 2,783,228 votes to 1,972,509.

As he had predicted a week ago, Gramm's margin was the largest ever for a Republican candidate for statewide office.

The GOP also gained ground in the congressional races, picking up at least two seats previously held by Democrats. The GOP's gains trimmed the breakdown from 21 Democrats and six Republicans to 16 Democrats and eight Republicans, with three races too close to call early today. Republicans also picked up several seats in the Texas House.

"Democrats are now faced with the job of building themselves a new foundation," said Gov. Mark White, who was part of a statewide Democratic sweep just two years ago.

"We can swim upstream, but it's a little hard taking on a tidal wave," concluded Doggett, 38, who spent more than $4 million in his bid against Gramm.

Gramm, 42, a three-term congressman who switched from the Democrats to the GOP last year, said the results were a victory not for the candidates but for conservative ideas.

Gramm, author of President Reagan's economic program, benefitted from his ties to the president and his efforts to link Doggett and Mondale.

"Our economy boomed, and I think the overall feeling of the people of Texas was that the Reagan program was working," Gramm said.

The Senate race was the most expensive in Texas history. Gramm raised more than $7.3 million and their combined spending was expected to top $12 million.

A former Texas A&M economics professor, Gramm pledged to work for all Texans, not just those who voted for him.

"To my opponent and those who voted for him, I am going to be their senator," Gramm said. "On Jan. 3, I will be Lloyd Doggett's senator and I intend to represent him."

Democrat John Hill, riding on name recognition and his experience as a former attorney general, was elected chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court over Republican John L. Bates of Waco.

In the Texas Railroad Commission race, incumbent commission chairman Mack Wallace, a Democrat, held a narrow lead early today over GOP challenger John Thomas Henderson. The margin, with better than 90 percent of the vote counted, was 50.44 percent to 49.55 percent.

In another see-saw battle with more than 90 percent of the vote in, Democratic incumbent Sam Houston Clinton was running ahead of Republican Virgil Mulanax of Gilmer by 51 percent to 49 percent in the race for Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 1.

Texas voters also approved six amendments to the state Constitution, including one which will set up a $100 million annual appropriation for capital expansion projects at state universities.

But they rejected two amendments, one to increase the amount of daily expenses paid members of the Legislature and one that would have public funds to be used to pay some mutual insurance companies' premiums.

Republicans picked up a number of seats in the Texas Legislature.

Just Wait A Few Years

Too young to vote, these girls accompanied their parents to the polls and seemed interested in what was going on behind the curtains Tuesday during voting at Deaf Smith County Courthouse.

LOCAL

ahead by less than one percent while UPI had Wallace winning by a razor thin margin.

With John Hill the predicted winner of Supreme Court Chief Justice, the local count showed Hill with 2,991 votes over opponent John Bates with 2,695.

The only other contest race on the ballot was between incumbent Place 1 Court of Criminal Appeals Judge Sam Houston Clinton and challenger Virgil E. Mulanax. While latest wire stories showed Houston ahead by less than one percentage point, local voters gave the race to Mulanax by just 46 votes. Mulanax got 2,693 local votes, Clinton 2,647.

Only about half of local voters bothered to mark their ballots in un-contested state races, with 3,362 approving of Franklin Spears in his unopposed bid for Place 1 Justice of the Supreme Court. C.L. Ray captured 3,343 votes in his lone run for Place 2 on the same court. W.C. Davis and Bill White earned 3,413 and 3,513 votes, respectively, as unopposed candidates for Places 2 and 3 on the Court of Criminal Appeals.

State Senator Bill Sarpalis, also a former Hereford resident, grabbed 3,769 of the county's votes in his un-contested race.

Charles Reynolds, the lone candidate for Chief Justice of the 7th District Court of Appeals, got 3,335 votes locally.

While more voters than ever traveled to the polls Tuesday, the percentage of registered voters was still a bit lower than in 1980, when 65.9 percent of the 9,082 eligible voters marked their ballots. Five thousand, nine hundred forty-seven persons voted four years ago in Deaf Smith County.

Local voters oppose four of amendments

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

While Texans approved all but two of the proposed state constitutional amendments on Tuesday's ballot, Deaf Smith County voters showed their disapproval of those and another two of the propositions brought before voters.

Local voters agreed with those statewide who said thumbs down to proposed Amendments 6 and 8, and also voted down Propositions 3 and 5.

Amendment 6, which would have allowed public funds to be used to pay mutual insurance companies' premiums on insurance policies and annuity contracts, was turned down by 3,227 of the county's registered voters going to the polls. The county clerk's office showed 1,669 in favor of the proposal.

Deaf Smith said no to the tune of 3,651 votes to Amendment 8, which would have eliminated the fixed per diem payment for state legislators in session and made it a floating amount based on federal income tax allowances. In favor of the idea were 1,233 of the county's voters.

party voting was reversed," said Richards. "There were more people voting straight Republican tickets than ever before, and it appears the new voters joined the GOP ranks."

Richards carried Deaf Smith County by a small margin—3,107 to 2,799—but he lost big in Lubbock (41,408 to 27,348) and Odessa (27,323 to 12,240). Richards felt that Hale County was one of his stronger territories and he lost by 200 votes there. "Combest didn't campaign strong in the rural areas, and he still came close in most of them," said a disappointed Richards.

Penny auction scheduled Thursday

Bedford Forest of Amarillo is to serve as auctioneer at the penny auction planned for Thursday night at West Texas State University. Several thousand dollars worth of new merchandise has been donated by area businesses, including several in Hereford, for the auction, which is to benefit the rape crisis center in Amarillo. The center accepts clients from the entire Panhandle region.

The event is being staged by the Sociology-Social Work Club at WTSU, which is sponsored by Dr. R.K. Rornakrisav of Amarillo.

Willie Salazar, a HHS graduate who is co-chairman of the auction, said items to be offered for sale include everything from a full-length mink coat to electric scissors.

The auction begins at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Virgil Henson Activities Center on the WTSU campus. The public is encouraged to attend.

While the state voted in Proposition 3, adding dependent parents and siblings to the list of survivors eligible for state aid when public safety officers are killed in the line of duty, local voters disapproved by a slight margin. A total of 2,626 were against the amendment while 2,578 approved.

The county also disagreed with the state's approval of Amendment 5, which requires the Senate president pro tempore to convene the Senate within 30 days to elect a replacement after a vacancy occurs in the lieutenant governor's office. Saying no in Deaf Smith were 2,560 persons, while 2,419 thought the amendment should pass.

The remaining successful amendments, also approved by local voters, passed by good-sized margins.

Reagan wins big

My newspaper column appearing in more than 300 newspapers — each election time — is in the hands of the publisher five days before the election.

The publisher is asked to print the column — right or wrong — the day after the election.

Thus the columns announcing EISENHOWER WINS and CARTER WINS and NIXON WINS — have been written before the polls opened.

So far I have never embarrassed myself. Not even the "Truman surprise" of 1948 was a surprise.

It's done with mirrors.

I spend each campaign time traveling the nine-tenths of our country that's still country. That "mirror" reveals things to come much more reliably than any formal survey.

It's that time again.

"Reagan Wins Big."

But how could we know for sure? Republicans in the United States are outnumbered. For a Republican to be elected president requires courting and winning at least 25 percent of all Democrats.

Instead of nailing down that traditional Democratic constituency, Mondale went on a treasury hunt — grasping at innovations to counteract his bland image.

It will be argued forever whether his choice of a woman running mate was a mistake. I suspect that Mondale thought this decision through steps "A" and "B" without considering steps "C" and "D."

The ticket was not thoughtfully packaged for this election. His choice of a woman running mate this time might help him four years from now, should he be a candidate again.

Mondale myopically imagined that blatant honesty about "we have to raise taxes" would redound to his credit. It boomeranged.

His efforts at shirt-sleeve folksiness dated him; came through condescending. Blue-collar Americans want their leaders in a white collar and tie.

One-dimensional metaphors, pseudo-clever phrases, glib remarks aimed at the 10 o'clock news — lacked substance.

In short, Mondale made many mistakes; Reagan made no serious ones.

Could anybody have beaten photogenic, eloquent, nice-guy-sounding Reagan? Perhaps not.

So this election for the first time my findings were in agreement with the professional pollsters.

As a footnote, might one hope we would always have such "dull" elections, such minimal polarization, two candidates as honorable, decent and as selfless as politicians can be.

Ann Landers Stoned drivers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why don't people realize that a stoned driver is just as dangerous as a drunk driver? Most pot smokers I know say their driving is not affected by their smoking, but I know different.

A friend who tested stoned drivers for the California Justice Department told me pot smokers couldn't back up straight, couldn't get around S curves and got lost a lot. Although the peak effects of pot wore off after 30 minutes, the volunteers turned in their worst performances two hours after they had a joint.

Can you add anything to this, Ann? People need to be informed.—Off Everything And Feeling Great In Philly

DEAR F.G.: Surveys show that pot smokers have impaired short-term memories. They forget to use turn signals and can't remember what street they are on. Their reflexes are slower. They cannot brake in time if the car ahead stops suddenly. Their perception of time and space is inaccurate. They believe they have ample time to pass a car and often this error results in a head-on collision.

Stoned drivers are a threat to your life and mine, the same as drunk drivers, and should be dealt with in the same manner.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You may have addressed this question in your column before but because I was not concerned with it, I paid no attention. Is it OK for a 13-year-old boy to sit and visit with his mother while she takes a shower, dries herself and dresses?—Concerned Grandmother

Drug abuse program set Nov. 13

A program on preventing drug abuse will be sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Chemical People Task Force on Nov. 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the Banquet Room of the Community Center.

Speakers for the program will be Barbara Miller, chairman of the Caprock Chemical People Task Force, and other committee members of the task force.

"We look forward to working with other Task Forces in the Panhandle to share ideas about preventing drug abuse," Miller said.

The program is scheduled to last one hour, and parents and their children are encouraged to attend this free program.

The Caprock Chemical People Task Force was organized in December of 1983 and focuses on preventing drug abuse in ten Amarillo schools. The office, located in the Maverick Club in Amarillo, provides a 24-hour hot line telephone service and has been instrumental in forming a parents' support group.

The force has also been involved with sponsoring a Haunted House, a drug free recreational facility on Friday and Saturday evenings and workshops for school counselors. For more information, contact Paula Kopecky or Mike Moon at Hereford Family Services, 364-6111.

When the space shuttle begins to carry passengers, bus riders will feel right at home: The windows won't open.

Indian Artifacts

Floyd Carpenter is pictured with only a few of the Indian artifacts which are in his vast collection. He has collected the pieces all of his life, and has some which have been handed down in his family for 250 years. The objects, which have come from throughout the United States and several foreign countries, range in age from 2,000 years old to 20,000 years old.

Country bazaar scheduled

A "Country Collectibles" bazaar will be held Saturday at the Dawn Community center from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday with proceeds going to the Dawn Community Organization.

The event will feature furniture, antiques, China and "trash to treasure" items for sale. Food items will also be available with a chili lunch served by the Baptist youth group at Dawn.

Auxiliary plans sale

The Hospital Auxiliary met in the hospital conference room Monday for its monthly meeting.

Theda Seiver, president, opened the business meeting with a prayer. Plans were finalized for the yearly bake sale to be Nov. 20 in the hospital waiting room.

Members present were Seiver, Etoile Manning, Betty Brooks, Mary Lou Spinhirne, Baxter London, Grace Covington, Gwen London, Helen Brown, Bea Hutson, Bonnie Sublett, Mary Williamson, Jane White, Nell Culpepper, Lupe Cerda, Bertha Dettmann, Karen Barela and Irene Reinart.

Christian author to speak at church

Keith Miller, Christian author, will be speaking from his latest book, "The Scent of Love," at the First Presbyterian Church on Nov. 16 at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 17 at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. and on Nov. 18 at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m.

He is perhaps best known as the author of "The Taste of New Wine," published in 1965. An oil-entrepreneur-turned-author, Miller's experience in business management blended with his own spiritual thirst, resulted in a direct, honest approach to faith.

In 1950, Miller graduated from the University of Oklahoma with a bachelor's degree in business administration. He subsequently studied theology at Berkeley Divinity School in New Haven, Conn., and received graduate degrees from Earlham School of Religion in Richmond, Ind. in theology and from the University of Texas in psychology-counseling.

Garden Club sets date for wreath making workshop

The Bud to Blossom Garden Club was called to order by Pat Robinson, president, who welcomed guests Marcie Ginn and Mela Barela.

Roll call was taken by everyone telling of their favorite Halloween decorations. Reports were given by those attending the Flower Show School in Lubbock on Oct. 22 and 23. Those attending were Paula Hamby, Karen Barela, Elaine Holly, Kim Lappin, Donna Johnson, Wilma Bryan, Robinson and Winnie Wiseman.

Robinson then asked for nomination of delegates to the Northern Zone meeting in Borger on Nov. 12. The group was reminded of the district board meeting in Lubbock, also on Nov. 12.

The wreath-making workshop has been set for Nov. 29 in the home of Tracey Duncan. Everyone is encouraged to attend and asked to bring their own material, fresh or dried.

Linda Seth announced that pictures from the Flower Show should be selected to send in to national. The meeting adjourned with the workshop following on corsage making given by Wilma Bryan.

Members present were Hamby, Spann, Barela, Seth, Holly, Lappin, Susan Kokjohn, Johnson, Duncan, Bryan and Robinson.

Annual intracity football games

Stanton wins two from La Plata

By DENNIS BALL
Sports Editor

The intracity rivalry between Stanton and La Plata Junior High Schools was brought to Whiteface Stadium Tuesday night, with Stanton getting the best of it.

Stanton took two of four games from La Plata, the 7th-grade B-team contest and 9th-grade game. La Plata won the 7th-grade A-team game, and the eighth grade teams battled to a 0-0 tie.

Stanton controlled the ball in the 7th-grade B-team game, winning by a count of 14-8. Jesus Torres scored both touchdowns for Stanton, the first on a 70-yard run and the second on a 20-yard sweep left. Stanton quarterback Jonathan Haney successfully ran the extras to stake his team to a 14-0 halftime lead.

After intermission, La Plata got on the board when Eddie Cantu followed his tackle over the stripe from the two-yard line. Cantu also got the conversion points on a sweep.

Final score: 14-8, Stanton.

In the A-team game, La Plata seventh grader Jim Andrews hit a quick opener on fourth down from the 1-yard line to put the Mavericks on top for good.

Stanton drove to the LP's 24-yard line the following possession, but the scoreboard clock killed the drive and ended the first half.

In the fourth quarter, Stanton punter Carlos Ramirez ran from deep formation 75 yards and an apparent TD. An illegal motion penalty brought the ball back, however, and secured the victory for La Plata, 6-0.

Another 75-yard play was nullified in the 8th-grade game, but this time La Plata suffered from the call. A touchdown reception by La Plata receiver Brad Smith from quarterback Jason Scott was wiped out by an offside penalty.

La Plata had the ball inside Stanton's 5-yard line twice. Once, however, time ran out and once Stanton's defense held tough.

The 9th-grade game provided a little more offensive firepower, Stanton winning 24-14.

Stanton's Chad Larkin made the scoreboard light up first when he scored on a one-yard dive. The PAT was no good, as were all of Stanton's extra-point attempts.

Michael Phibbs tied the game for La Plata on a 34-yard counter play. La Plata's kick for the extra point, was no good and the score was tied.

That was as close as La Plata would ever be, though, Stanton scoring three unanswered touchdowns.

"I think we gave people their money's worth," Stanton 9th-grade football coach James Salinas said.

"We just never could get ahead, and they beat us," La Plata 9th-grade football coach Bill Talley said.

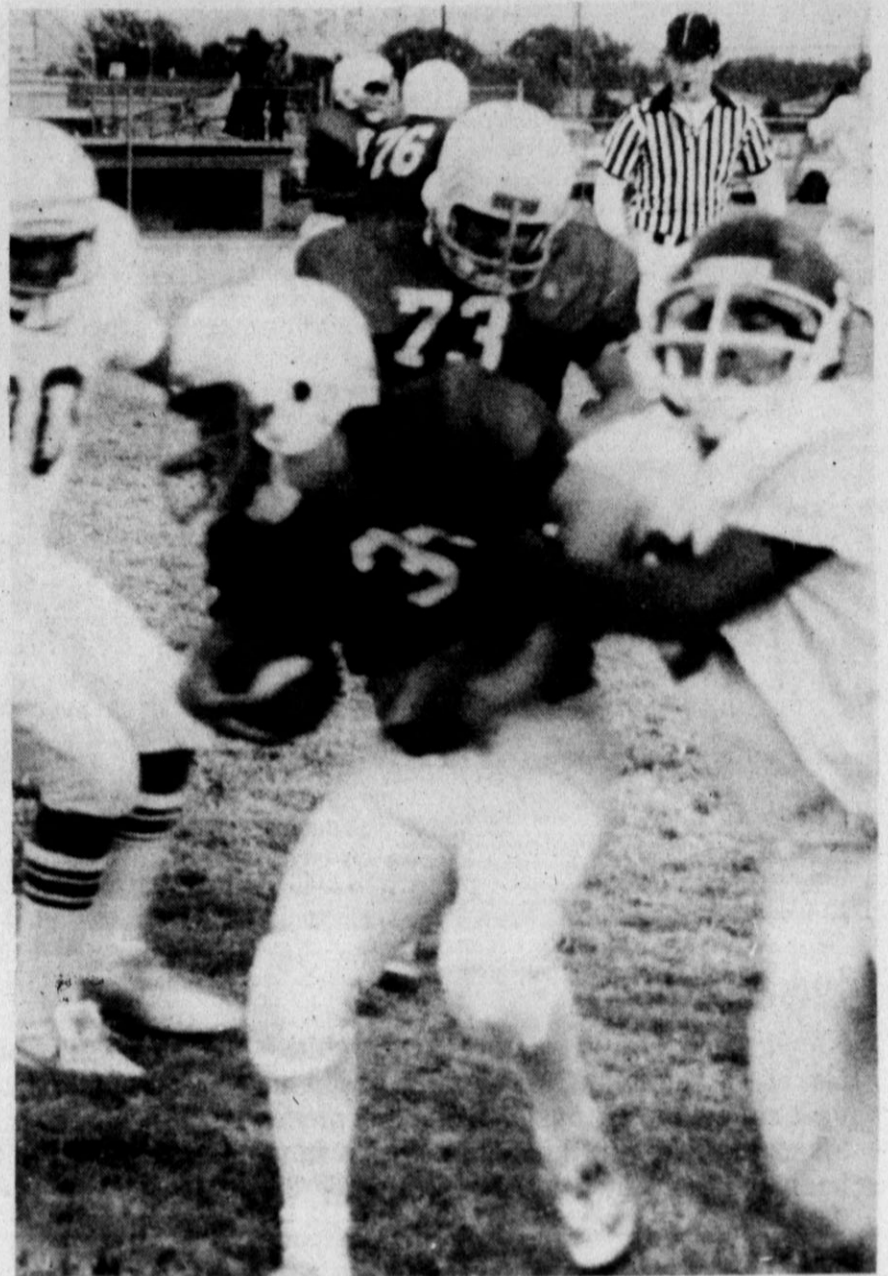

Stanton scored twice in the second period. Quarterback Bill Ruckman hit Robbie Collier from the 17-yard line for the first score. It was the first of three TD passes for which the duo combined.

Also in the second quarter, Ruckman hit Collier on a 7-yard toss with only :31 remaining.

"That was a big, big play for us," Salinas said. "It gave us some momentum heading into the second half."

Ruckman passed to Collier from 30 yards away for Stanton's final score. La Plata put its final points on the board when quarterback Raymond Romo pushed the ball across from the 1 on a sneak.

Phibbs ran for the extra points.

Dragged Down

Stanton 7th-grade running back Masen Morgan is brought down by a La Plata defender in the teams' football game Tuesday at Whiteface Stadium. Luis Reyna (73) arrives a little late to provide his teammate with help.

The Belmont Stakes, the third leg of racing's Triple Crown, was first run at Jerome Park in New York in 1867.

When Man o' War won the 1920 Belmont Stakes, only one horse, Don-nacoña, opposed him. Man o' War won by 20 lengths at odds of 1-20.

Hernandez named AL MVP

Cy Young winner doubles awards

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Puerto Rico's Election Day restrictions cramped Willie Hernandez's party, but not his exuberance upon learning he had been voted the American League's Most Valuable Player.

No alcoholic beverages, not even beer, can be sold on Election Day in the U.S. Commonwealth. Friends, though, joined the Detroit Tigers' ace relief pitcher in polishing off two bottles of champagne left over from last week, when Hernandez celebrated winning the AL Cy Young Award as the league's best pitcher.

"After last week, winning the Cy Young Award, a lot of the people were telling me I was the one who was supposed to win this," Hernandez said Tuesday. "But it's unbelievable, winning these two awards in the same year for a relief pitcher... it's kind of difficult, kind of impossible," said the left-hander, who led the Tigers to the world championship with a 9-3 record, 32 saves in 33 opportunities and a 1.92 earned run average.

"It was unbelievable. It was like I have another win, like winning the World Series again," he added.

Hernandez became the fourth American League pitcher to win both awards in the same season. Rollie Fingers of Milwaukee did it in 1981, Oakland's Vida Blue in 1971, and Denny McLain of Detroit, the last Tiger MVP, in 1968.

National League pitchers Bob Gibson of St. Louis in 1968, Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles in 1963 and Don Newcombe of the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1956 also scored sweeps.

Hernandez is the third Puerto Rican to win a Most Valuable Player award. Orlando Cepeda was selected the National League MVP in 1967 when he was with St. Louis and the late Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates was the NL choice in 1972.

Hernandez received 16 of the 28 first-place votes and 306 points in balloting by baseball writers to out-distance Minnesota first baseman Kent Hrbek, who had five first-place votes and 247 points. Hrbek batted .311 with 27 home runs and 107 runs batted in, leading the Twins into surprising pennant contention last season.

Dan Quisenberry, bullpen star for the Kansas City Royals, finished third with five first-place votes and 235 points. Quisenberry was 6-3 with 44 saves, one short of his major league record.

After the World Series, Hernandez exercised his contract option demanding that the Tigers trade him. The move was considered a negotiating ploy, but he would become a free agent on March 15 if the club is unable to sign him or trade him.

Baltimore first baseman Eddie Murray, who received the other two first-place votes, finished fourth in the balloting, followed by AL batting champion Don Mattingly of the New York Yankees, Detroit's Kirk Gibson, Tony Armas of Boston, the Yankees' Dave Winfield, Detroit's Alan Trammell and Willie Wilson of Kansas City.

Basketball coach pleased with effort

The basketball scrimmage Tuesday night in Canyon for high school teams from Hereford, Sudan and Canyon served its purpose, Hereford girls basketball coach Larry Sowers said: "we learned something from it."

Sowers said he had the chance to look at all the players in the warm-up affair and would better be able to tell more about the girls after next Tuesday.

Another scrimmage has been set for Tuesday in Amarillo for teams from Hereford, Panhandle and River Road.

"We did better than Mondale," Sowers said. "Overall, I'm not too unhappy with our performance last night. We did some good things, and I got a pretty good look at us."

Sowers did say, however, he felt his man-to-man defense had to improve. Also, Hereford's second team didn't do as well as the coach would have liked, he said.

Sowers explained that rarely, if ever, will the entire second-team be playing as a unit, as was the case in Canyon.

"We won't be playing them all at the same time," he said. "I may insert one or two here or there at any time, though."

The team has been practicing together only since Oct. 22, so Sowers said he expects to improve.

Herd meets Tascosa at 7:30 p.m.

Regular season ends Thursday in Amarillo

By DENNIS BALL
Sports Editor

At 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Amarillo's Dick Bivens Stadium, the 6-3 Hereford Whitefaces meet the 2-6 Tascosa Rebels to wind down regular season play in District 3-5A football.

Thursday, as in six days since the last football game. Thursday, as in leaving only three days for Tascosa football coach Duane Huey to prepare for the Whitefaces.

"It (playing on Thursday) cuts out a day of workout time," Huey said. "We now have to crowd everything into three days instead of four to get ready for what Hereford might do. That's going to be a problem against Hereford's offense and defense."

Huey said his Rebels, however, would approach the game like they have every other contest this year.

"We have to get ready for a good throwing game and a Hereford running game that is coming on," he said.

Last week against Monterey, Hereford backs rushed for 131 yards. The ground total tied for second best this season for the Whitefaces.

But Hereford football coach Jerry Taylor has to get ready for a Tascosa running game that not only is coming on, but one that is already here. In Tascosa's game against Coronado last Friday, senior running backs Arthur Guerrero and Wood Norvell ran the ball for 135 and 121 yards, respectively.

How does that make Taylor feel?

"Terrible," he said Monday. "Tascosa's two running backs are pretty awesome. They're very strong. And that will be their intention (to run)."

Huey credited his offensive line for Guerrero and Norvell's success against Coronado.

"The whole team is a good one," Taylor continued. "Tascosa has a much better team than people would like us to believe, or than their record would indicate."

Huey said he didn't necessarily plan to run the ball against the Whitefaces.

"Whether we'll run just depends," he said. "There are not many people moving the ball against Hereford, either on the ground or in the air. And on defense, I don't think you can key on anybody in particular. You just have to play sound football."

Taylor pointed out that Tascosa's 1-6 district record isn't as bad as it may sound. The Rebels were defeated by league champion Plainview 14-0 Sept. 21 and current second-place Palo Duro 15-7. Also, Amarillo beat the Rebels by just 14 points, Taylor said.

"We've got a tremendous challenge in front of us just to move the ball," he said. "Tascosa has a defense that is very, very strong."

Huey said that the Rebels line-up in a 29 defensive set, starting six players from his offensive unit.

The playing status of Hereford noseguard David Parsons was questionable as late as Tuesday. The 199-pound senior reinjured his ankle last Friday against Monterey and was not to workout Tuesday, Taylor said.

"He still was hobbled badly Monday," Taylor said.

With a win Thursday, the Whitefaces force Palo Duro's hand against Coronado on Friday. The Dons then would have to win to tie the Herd for second place in league play.

Due to a PD win over Hereford earlier in the season, however, the Dons would get the runner-up playoff position and face Odessa Permian Nov. 16 in bi-district action.

Will the Herd be thinking about the PD-Coronado game Friday?

"I think once we give the players our scouting report," Taylor said earlier this week, "they'll realize we have more than our hands full with Tascosa. It's over anyway if we lose."

In 1965, Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears made 22 touchdowns to set an NFL record for scoring by a rookie, with 132 points.

At Your Service

True to his word, Deaf Smith County Clerk David Ruland provided "curb service" to elderly and handicapped voters who wanted to mark their ballots in Tuesday's general election. The service was available at all the county's 12 voting precincts.

On election outcome

Local winners, loser comment

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

Winners of county elections said they were glad the 1984 campaign has ended, while the only loser praised his opponent this morning in telephone interviews with the Brand.

In the only race contested here Tuesday, Democrat Troy Don Moore defeated Republican foe Bill Allen by 174 votes. They were vying for the Precinct 3 county commission seat being vacated by Bruce Coleman, who was elected to five four-year terms.

"For a long time, I wondered if that was going to be victory or not," Moore said in reference to the period Tuesday night when returns were coming in piecemeal.

Moore, a 40-year-old commodity broker, said he felt fortunate to win in light of what he termed a nationwide Republican landslide. "Towards the end of the campaign," he said, "I knew it was going to be a close race."

Allen, according to Moore, made a "well-structured, well-done" attempt to be elected. "I congratulate him for running a gentlemanly campaign."

Saying he was pleased the race is over, Allen had kind words for Moore. "He ought to do a good job," Allen said. "I congratulate him from that standpoint."

There has reportedly never been a Republican elected to a county office, and Allen was the first GOP candidate Deaf Smith County has had in several years.

"There's a lot of dear people out there I've met during this (campaign)," Allen said. He wished to salute them for being "entered in the (political) process."

The certified public accountant said he has not yet decided whether he will seek public office again.

Moore also expressed thanks for those who have helped with his campaign, with his family being singled out for special praise.

"There are a lot of things happening in this local community which are going to require a lot of attention," Moore said. "It's a learning process. It's going to take some time."

"I'm glad the political aspect of it is over," he continued. "I feel like I've run for three offices." In addition to the Tuesday election, Moore also appeared on the ballot for the May primaries and a June runoff against Lynn Jones.

Moore offered some kind words for the man he is to replace on the county governing body.

"After getting involved and visiting with people," Moore said, "I think Bruce Coleman has done a very professional job in serving his terms as a commissioner."

Other county officials elected Tuesday included Joe Brown as sheriff, Leroy Johnson as constable and Nell Miller as tax assessor-collector. Bill Bradley, the Democratic incumbent, ran unopposed for his Precinct 1 county commission seat.

"I'm really, really glad it's over with," said Brown, who was appointed sheriff in the summer of 1983 after Travis McPherson announced his resignation. The former police officer survived a bitter primary campaign last spring against Dean Butcher, who served as chief deputy sheriff under McPherson.

"I had a good campaign, a good campaign manager and a lot of good people working for me," Brown commented.

"I'm certainly pleased," Miller said, "and I'm thankful I did not have an opponent this year. I feel really fortunate." She was first elected to her county post in 1960.

Neither Bradley nor Johnson could be reached in time for comment.

In Texas House of Representatives

Republican gains may hit 50

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Republicans, apparently getting a boost from President Reagan's overwhelming popularity, may have reached the magic number of 50 in the state House of Representatives.

Twenty-five Republican state representatives ran unopposed, and incomplete and unofficial vote counts early today showed 25 other GOP candidates were leading.

"I had hoped we could pick up at least five new Republican seats in the Texas House with possibly 10 and an outside chance of 12 or 13," state GOP Chairman George Strake said Tuesday night.

"If we can get up to 50, that will give us a veto power over any legislation that comes down the pike, especially redistricting. Redistricting is where they kill us now," Strake said.

In the Senate, two of the five Republicans ran unopposed and the other three GOP incumbents were safe with two more years to go on their four-year terms.

With 70 percent of the votes in San Antonio counted, Republican lawyer Cynthia Krier claimed victory over Democratic Sen. Bob Vale, which would make her the only woman in the 31-member Senate.

Ms. Krier, 34, led the 20-year legislative veteran by nearly 30,000 votes. Her husband, Joe, lost a state court race in 1982 as a Democrat.

Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Mesquite, led Republican Richard Harvey of Tyler 51 percent to 48 percent with 84 percent of the precincts reporting.

Thirteen Democratic incumbents trailed in House races but margins were narrow in some races and could change.

In races with 100 percent of the vote counted, however, Democratic incumbents Jay Gibson of Odessa and Froy Salinas of Lubbock were losers. With 97 percent of the vote in, Rep. W.O. "Bill" Harrison, D-Corpus Christi, also was an apparent loser.

In the Lubbock area, Democratic Sen. John Montford led Republican Sol Thomas, a Lubbock attorney, by nearly 35,000 votes with 88 percent of the precincts reporting.

Rep. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, led by 35,000 votes for the state Senate seat vacated by U.S.

Senate candidate Lloyd Doggett with 77 percent of the vote reporting in his race against Republican Pat McNamara. McNamara said several weeks ago he had no chance to win and would not campaign.

Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, was unopposed and an automatic winner but a recent grand jury indictment apparently cost him votes. Late Tuesday, Parker had nearly 37,000 votes but as many as 59,000 votes had been counted in other races, so some voters did not vote in the Senate race.

Parker was indicted on charges of perjury, promotion of prostitution and wholesale distribution of obscene material, and even though he was unopposed he ran re-election ads. "I campaign year round," Parker said.

Hard Work

Our early settlers knew that, if they were going to survive in their new surroundings, they would have to work hard. Everyday there were many chores to be accomplished around the home. They could rely only on themselves to get the job done.

In 1900, the First National Bank of Hereford was founded. The folks who started our bank knew it would take a lot of hard work to make it successful.

As we look back over 84 years, we're glad we could lend a helping hand to a lot of people. We're proud to be a part of Hereford and the Texas Panhandle.

But our hard work isn't finished yet. At First National Bank of Hereford, we're still pioneering new ways of service and security for you and your family.

SENATE

Iowa, a state that has not re-elected a senator from either party in two decades.

The big winners among Democratic senators included Sam Nunn of Georgia, Bill Bradley of New Jersey, Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island, Joseph Biden of Delaware, David Pryor of Arkansas and Max Baucus of Montana.

All of them won easily despite the fact Reagan also was a big winner in their states.

Rep. Phil Gramm of Texas, who was elected to the House as a Democrat in 1978 and switched to Republican in 1983 after emerging as a key Reagan ally, defeated Democrat Lloyd Doggett in the race to succeed veteran GOP Sen. John Tower, who did not run for re-election.

Republican senators once thought to be facing tough re-election challenges but who won easily were Gordon Humphrey of New Hampshire, Thad Cochran of Mississippi, and Rudy Boschwitz of Minnesota.

Among the new faces in the Senate will be Democrats John D. Rockefeller IV of West Virginia and John Kerry of Massachusetts.

Microwave heating extends freshness

COLLEGE STATION—Consumers can use their microwave ovens to restore a fresh taste to week-old milk without affecting its nutritional value, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service food and nutrition specialist.

Researchers at Cornell University have tested microwave heating as a way to kill the souring bacteria that develop in stored milk, reports Dr. Dymple Cooksey. Their tests show that a two-minute treatment at 2450 MHz reduces the bacteria in a cup of 10-day old milk to the level present in fresh milk.

Milk "goes bad" long before it is actually unsafe to drink, noted Cooksey. One study has shown that over 40 percent of 10-day-old milk samples rated poor because they have a fruity, fermented and rancid off-flavor, she explains.

One of the main causes of deteriorating quality is psychotropic bacteria which lead to stale, bitter or sour flavors as milk is stored. Milk becomes contaminated with these bacteria during handling, so the pasteurization process which improves the quality of fresh milk cannot prevent the development of these off-flavors, says the specialist.

But microwave heating of pasteurized milk when it is eight to eleven days old reduces the contaminating bacteria and the off-taste as well, says Cooksey.

According to the specialist, one advantage of microwave heating is that it uses fairly low temperatures, so the milk is not left with a "boiled" taste. Most importantly, microwave heating does not destroy any of the important nutrients in milk, she emphasizes.

The microwave treatment is most effective on store-bought milk that is about eight days old, or two to three days before the "pull date" marked on the carton.

Milk can be kept in its original paper or plastic carton for microwaving. Heating the milk to 60 degrees C or 140 degrees F at 2450 MHz would preserve it up to 21 days, or double the average shelf life, the specialist says.

Most microwave ovens run at a frequency of 2450 MHz, but consumers should check the oven manual to make sure, Cooksey adds.

Hereford couples receive awards

Two Hereford couples received awards during a combined Thanksgiving dinner and awards presentation held Saturday in Amarillo for members of Panhandle Blue Grass and Old Tyme Music Association.

Jack and Helen Nunley were presented a plaque for outstanding service for promotion Blue Grass and Old Tyme Music in the Hereford area. In March a benefit concert was held with the proceeds going to help a newly organized club, Friends of Bluegrass, in Clovis, N.M.

Another benefit was scheduled in September with the proceeds going to help defer medical expenses.

Tex and Eva McKnight were given a plaque for outstanding service for hosting an annual Blue Grass meeting at their home in the Ford community.

Each July the McKnights' host an all weekend campout event with people coming from the Panhandle of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico to enjoy playing and listening to Blue Grass and Old Tyme music.

Lowering fat in diet major key to good health

COLLEGE STATION — A change in your cooking methods may help protect you and your family against heart disease, hypertension and other health problems, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist Mary K. Sweeten.

"Lowering the percentage of fat in the diet appears to be one of the major keys to a more healthful lifestyle," she explains.

The specialist recommends reducing butter, margarine, oil, mayonnaise, lard and salad dressing. To adapt your favorite recipe, start by cutting fat by a third or a half.

For example, in a casserole calling for 6 tablespoons of margarine, try 3 or 4. Or if a muffin recipe suggests a cup of oil, try ¾ of a cup. If that works, use only two-thirds the next time around.

"You should experiment," says Sweeten. "Cutting the fat in cakes can be difficult, but you should have success with most casseroles and quick bread recipes."

When recipes call for onions, green peppers, mushrooms or other vegetables to be sauteed in oil or butter, you can often cut the amount of fat in half or leave it out entirely. Just add several tablespoons of water or broth. Then steam in a covered pot.

Sweeten says you don't even need fat to make an acceptable roux or gravy. Brown flour in a slow oven or in a heavy pan on top of the stove, stirring constantly. Cool, and then slowly add cold water or broth.

After it is smoothly blended, stir the mixture constantly over medium heat until it comes to a boil and thickens. You can make a white sauce or pudding the same way by adding cold milk or fruit juice directly to flour or corn starch.

Another way to reduce the fat in your diet is to trim the fat from meat edges and remove the skin from poultry. Also, broil or bake meat on a rack so that the fat drips off.

Brown ground beef and then drain well in a colander before you add other ingredients. Chill soups overnight and remove hardened fat.

The nutritionist says low fat plain yogurt works well as a substitute for sour cream in cold dips. It can also be used to stretch mayonnaise in coleslaw, tuna and potato salads and dressings. Try half yogurt and half mayonnaise.

Yogurt can also be used in place of sour cream in cooked foods. To keep it from separating and becoming watery, just whisk some flour into it before cooking.

Better still, add the yogurt after removing the cooked food from the stove. If you need extra incentive, Sweeten says to remember that per cup, low fat plain yogurt has only 150 calories, whereas sour cream has more than 450 and mayonnaise more than 1500, mostly from fat.

"You will be surprised at how soon your family will become accustomed to the adapted recipes and may even prefer the new lighter taste and the less heavy feeling after eating," she observes.

Texas voters approve six of eight amendments

DALLAS (AP) — Texas will soon have a new way of financing construction at its state universities that has some officials tickled pink, but at least one legislator isn't too happy with how Texans voted on another constitutional amendment.
Voters overwhelmingly approved a compromise Amendment 2 in Tuesday's elections, setting up a $100 million annual appropriation for collegiate capital expansion projects.
With 95 percent of the precincts reporting, about 72 percent of the voters favored the new fund.
"It may seem like a breeze now, but we put a lot of work into it," University of Texas President Peter Flawn said Tuesday night. "We're very pleased about it."
But House Speaker Gib Lewis was not pleased with the fate of Amendment 8, which would have improved the daily payment for lawmakers during legislative sessions. Voters axed that proposal by a 67 to 33 percent vote.
"I don't think the general public realizes how much time is required to serve in the Legislature," a disappointed Lewis said of the payments. "I don't think many realize the salary schedule and cost and expenses."
He said the proposition's chances were damaged by "the negative attitude the press has drawn of the Legislature over the years."
While approving five of the remaining constitutional amendments, voters said no to Amendment 6, which would have allowed public funds to be used to pay some mutual insurance companies' premiums.

That proposal was rejected by about 65 percent of the voters.
Among the other amendments that Texas voters settled Tuesday:
— Amendment 1 grants state-chartered banks, about 48 percent of the banks in Texas, all rights and privileges that nationally chartered banks in the state now have. Almost 75 percent of the votes favored the amendment with 95 percent of the precincts reporting.
— Amendment 3 adds dependent parents and siblings to the list of survivors eligible for state aid when public-safety officers are killed on hazardous duty. Before, only the surviving spouse and dependent children were eligible for the funds. About 63 percent of voters approved.
— Amendment 4 allows voters in Bexar and Collin counties to abolish their county treasurers' offices. If the offices are abolished in county-wide referendums next year, the duties would pass to the county clerk. About 68 percent agreed.
— Amendment 5 requires the Senate president pro tempore to convene the Senate within 30 days to elect a replacement after a vacancy occurs in the lieutenant governor's office. Before, the pro tem assumed that post automatically. About 62 percent voted yes.

— Amendment 6, which would have allowed public funds to be used to pay mutual insurance companies' premiums on "non-assessable" life, health and accident insurance policies and on annuity contracts. Nearly 65 percent voted no.

— Amendment 7 changes the membership of the 11-member state Commission on Judicial Conduct. The amendment replaces one court-of-appeals seat and one district-court seat with seats for a municipal-court judge and a county-court-at-law judge. About 77 percent voted yes.

— Amendment 8, which would have eliminated the current fixed-$30-per-day payment for legislators during sessions. Instead, the per diem payment would have been a floating amount, equal to the maximum federal income-tax deduction allowed for state legislators on legislative business.

Amendment 2 is a long-awaited compromise, designed to keep Texas A&M University and University of Texas officials happy while appeasing other colleges.

State universities other than Texas A&M, many left without capital improvement cash after the state dumped its property tax in 1982, have been pushing for more state money or a share of the Permanent University Fund.

The PUF, a $2 billion endowment funded by oil and gas revenues from University of Texas lands, has helped make Texas and A&M among the richest universities in the nation.

But universities not covered by the PUF have had to go to the Legislature each time they wanted money for a capital expansion project.

"That has been thought unfair because those schools can't plan long-term," said George Christian, an Austin businessman who set up a campaign to educate the public about the amendment.

"You can't use what appropriations you get in a fiscally sound way when you don't know what you'll get from one year to the next," he said.

Amendment 2 changes that to set up a new dedicated appropriation of $100 million per year, starting in 1986. The 26 eligible institutions can apply to use the money to acquire land, construct or equip buildings, rehabilitate buildings and acquire capital equipment and library materials.
