Around Town

MELODY SKELTON, daughter of Sheriff and Mrs. Charles Skelton, 241 E. 4th, returned home Friday evening from St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo. Melody received a severe skull fracture in a fall from a horse Tuesday near Range Riders Arena. Her mother said yesterday afternoon Melody would remain in hospital for another week at least for the rest of the summer, but refrain from any violent activity.

Three moisture reports obtained yesterday morning — all other rural telephone lines were out of commission — were from Draper, seven miles south, 1.35 inches; Wilburq, nine miles southeast, 1.35 inches; and 15 miles southeast, one inch. Ronald Bablone reported receiving 1.45 inches in 45 minutes from a rain Thursday evening on his farm north of town.

William S. Lee, 37, 107 Ave. K, was released from Deaf Smith County Jail.

Auto Lights Aid Planes Landing

The efforts of about 30 motorists helped two planes land safely under emergency conditions at Hereford Airport Thursday night.

Answering a police call to angle their parking lights across the airport runways, where the landing lights had not yet been installed, the motorists enabled Bob Hill, operator of Hereford Airport, and Lyle Blanton of Hereford to land their planes. Hill landed his Bellanca plane at 10:15 p.m. He had run into bad weather and was late getting back from a trip to Socorro, N. M. He radioed for help after first trying to reach Amarillo when he found the Hereford airport dark as he circled the field.

Blanton, who had taken a taxi to the airport, was also present.

Moisture Hits Telephone Lines

From 400 to 450 telephone lines were out of order in Hereford Friday night or Saturday morning as a result of heavy rain and possible lightning damage.

Six or seven cases of cable trouble, starting about 5 p.m. Friday, caused the phones to go temporarily out of commission, according to Frank Farmer, wire chief of the Bell Telephone System exchange in Hereford.

Farmer said he thought the telephone lines in Hereford would be in order by Saturday afternoon. Only two lines were found during the investigation, a pair 1.35 inches in Hereford Friday and Saturday.

Rains Delay Golf Tourney

Rains washed out play in the annual City Golf Tournament Saturday, delaying semi-finals until today and the final until next Sunday, according to course pro Bud Eason.

Some flights will begin as early as 6:30 a.m. today, and the championship flight will start at 10:45 a.m. Should more rain fall, semi-finals will probably be put off until next week.

Defending champion Charles Seed got started on another successful 54-hole, defeating John Renner, 5 and 3, Friday.

Other winners in the championship flight were Don Martin over Wimpy Walker, 5 and 3; Max Drever over John Ehrhardt, 4 and 3; and Bob Lindsey over Dr. J. H. Channer, 2 and 1.

FIRST FLIGHT: Joe Kerr over George Gross, 7-6; Jim Wood over W. W. Gilbreath, 1; J. A. Pittman over Owen Semonds, 4-3; and Joe Butler over Don Bridges, 6-5.

Police Continue Investigation of Baptist Burglary

City police are still investigating the burglary of the Baptist Church Conkright Building which occurred sometime between Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, but have been unable to uncover new clues related to the case.

The building was entered sometime after custodian Earliest Phillips locked the doors Tuesday night and when it was opened Wednesday morning by R. Allison, according to investigating officer Patrolman Eugene Martin.

Martin said one frame of the window on the north side of the building was broken and the window unlocked. The desk was locked, the investigation revealed, but the burglar apparently forced the drawer open, taking two $5 bills, be in order by Saturday afternoon. Only two clues were found during the investigation, a pair 1.35 inches in Hereford Friday and Saturday.

Pony League Tournament To Be Held In Hereford

Hereford will host the district Pony League tournament July 21-22-24, according to the local league president, Don Martin. Team players and managers to represent the local league were chosen during a recent meeting.

Pampa, Borger, Littlefield and Hereford will consist of the teams in the tourney, which will be a double elimination event with every team playing at least two games.

The winner will go to Lubbock for the regional meet, then possibly to the state and national playoffs.

Fifteen players were selected from the four local teams: Gary Smith, Bill Steele, Raddy Dowell, Ben Greenway, Roger Albracht, John Bickel, Bill Nelson, Royce Lee Turner, Tommy Smithers, Ken Loerwald, Eugene Jennings, Joe Mac Hale, Jim Hasey, Gary Kendrick and Tommy Coffman.

Jay Boynton, Jim Bridges and Billy Brown were named alternates. Coaching the all-stars will be Rocky Lee, of the Indians, and Glenn Nelson, Tigers.

TWO GAMES will be played each evening, starting at 6:15 and 8:15. Hereford will take on Borger the first night, following the Pampa-Littlefield tilt. Losers and winners will play each other Tuesday evening.

After Tuesday evening, one team will have been eliminated and two will have one loss to their credit. The two teams with one loss will square off Thursday evening and the winner will play the team without a loss.

Should the two-game winner lose the third night, a playoff will be held Friday. Hereford JayCees and Kiwanis will aid the league during the tournament, JayCees caring for the playing field and Kiwanis selling and taking tickets.

Funds Set Aside for Highway 60 Expansion

DEAF SMITH was one of 16 Panhandle counties named by the Texas Highway Commission Wednesday to receive almost $10 million during the next two years for construction of highways.

The county's part amounted to $1,473,000.

Earlier this year, after it was first announced Highway 60 was to become 4-lane, but not divided, from Randall county line through Hereford to the west city limit, $114,500 was set aside by the state for procurement of right-of-way land.

Included in the projects for the county are: Addition of two lanes and reconstruction on existing lanes on US 60 from the Randall County line to the east city limit of Hereford, $936,000.

An additional $21,000 for two miles of right-of-way on US 60 from the Hereford east city limit east. The amount mentioned above was to cover land purchased up to two miles east of the east city limit.

For widening US 60 in Hereford from State Highway 51 to the east city limit, $318,000.

The two last allocations were for work not mentioned before in any public releases by the Highway Commission, nor was it mentioned in any of the joint meetings of the County Commission and Highway Department representatives.

They include $167,000 to widen and rebuild State Highway 51 from south of Hereford to the Castro county line and $35,000 to widen the Tierra Blanca Creek bridge on highway 51.

All the widening of Highway 60 from Randall county line to Hereford is to be done on the north side, officials have said, because the south side is owned by Santa Fe Railroad. The expansion will cause considerable movement of buildings and other structures in Dawn.

WIDENING, as plans were introduced, will require 300 feet right-of-way, and the present space consists of 125 feet. The 300 feet, however, pertains only to highway outside city limits, where widening will take in only 13 more feet.

Erza Norton was hired early in the spring after a contract was signed by the county commission with the highway department to negotiate procurement of additional right-of-way land from the Randall county line to Hereford. The commission was given an alternative of obtaining right-of-way, or turning the entire project over to the Highway Department.

Other counties listed as slated for highway construction or improvement were Potter, Randall, Oldham, Oehlertree, Hempfhill, Hartley, Hansford, Garay, Hale, Dallam, Castro, Carson, and Deaf Smith.

Building Permits For June $34,540

Building permits issued in the city hall during June amounted to $34,540, for 16 permits including improvements on homes and commercial construction.

Breaking down the total amount, $19,850 was for new construction and $15,690 for alteration and improvement.

Growing Boom In Hereford?

If new connections by gas and electricity are any indication of the growth of a city, Hereford was in a boom period during June.

A combined report of new hook-ups from Pioneer Natural Gas and Southwestern Public Service reveals 99 new connections were made by both or one of the utility companies.

LISTING THE NEW connections and their addresses:

Transit Laborer Dies in Hospital

A TRANSIT laborer died in Deaf Smith County Hospital at 9 p.m. Wednesday, four days after he was found lying beside a tractor on the E. R. Edwards farm, 30 miles northwest of Hereford, where he was employed.

It was discovered at the hospital that Vincent Terrell (Terry) Johnson, 18, was a diabetic victim. He had worked on the Edwards farm only a half day prior to becoming ill.

Mr. Johnson was found by Edwards about noon after Edwards noticed that the tractor Mr. Johnson had been driving was stopped. Mr. Johnson was rushed to the hospital after he was found lying on the ground beside the tractor by Edwards.

The only identification Mr. Johnson was carrying at the time of his illness was a letter of recommendation from a radio station in Charleston, S. C. In an effort to notify his parents, Hereford police called the station manager, who referred them to Georgetown, S. C., police.

The Georgetown police said that Mr. Johnson's mother was returning from a trip from Jacksonville, Fla., and the father was working on a tugboat out of Charleston, and that they would notify his parents of the illness.

Mr. Johnson's body was shipped Friday to his home in Georgetown for services and burial. Arrangements here were by Kreig-Marcum Funeral Home.

Mr. Johnson was born April 3, 1940, in Pulaski County, Va. He had worked at Adrian before coming to the Edwards farm.

Survivors besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Johnson Jr., are two sisters, Susan and Patricia, of Georgetown, and his grandmother, Mrs. George W. Johnson Sr., of Bluefield, W. Va.

Oil Activity In High Gear

Spudding in the Humble Oil and Refining Co. well was scheduled to start Saturday morning and F. H. Lindsay No. 1, owned by Royalty of America, Inc., effective July 2, was tested from 7:50 to 7:55 p.m. Wednesday and showed gas and stain to be favorably high.

Drilling operations at the Humble well were delayed last week because of lack of heavy equipment.

Potato Businessmen Honor A. E. Mercker

Area potato salesmen and shippers gathered at Jim Hill Hotel last night to honor a man who worked as head of the U. S. Department of Agriculture potato division and is now secretary for the National Potato Council in Washington.

Visiting Hereford for the past four days and is leaving sometime today is A. E. Mercker, known probably to every person in the potato industry for more than a quarter of a century.

Here from Alliance, Neb., for the meeting also is Dr. Matt Felton, manager of the Nebraska Certified Potato Growers Association, which furnishes much of the local potato seed each year.

When asked about the impression Hereford's potato production has made on the people in Washington, Mercker said "It's coming along kinda' explosive, by leaps and bounds."

HE SAID the quality of Deaf Smith potatoes is good, "but whether it will maintain the quality for another 20 years, I don't know."

Mercker gave California as an example of a territory which had produced good potatoes for a long time, which has now contacted "degenerate diseases in the soil and has the ground put, fed up with fertilizer."

"The best eating quality potato comes from land without fertilizer used on it," he stated. Mercker was head of the US DA potato division from 1929 through 1956 before becoming secretary to the National Potato Council. "They're just as tough a bunch to work for as the USDA," he said about the later organization.

When asked about how Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson was to work for Mercker, Mercker stated flatly "We certainly have an honest man in Washington in Mr. Benson." "He believes in a man selling his own produce, rather than turning it over to the government to handle and getting paid for it. His (Benson's) program is paying off for cable people right now, and the same for poultry people. It will be the same for all the rest in the future," he said.

This was the first visit in Hereford and the Panhandle area for Mercker.

Boosters Disband But Will Remain Working Group

The disbandment of the Hereford Boosters was made official during a general meeting of the merchant's organization Thursday in Hotel Jim Hill, but members will continue functioning as the Merchant's Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Elected as chairman of the Committee was Gene Moore, J. P. Jones has served for the past year as president of the Boosters.

Reason for disbanding the Boosters was explained as "We have become a downtown group instead of all merchants, which isn't the purpose we are trying to achieve by organizing," one merchant stated.

Woman Injured In Wreck Here

Two intersection collisions damaged four cars and injured one person in Hereford this week. Police issued tickets in both cases.

A collision Wednesday at 5:50 p.m. at the W. Fourth and Lee intersection involved Mrs. Rose Hernandez Valdez, 22, of Hereford, and Jim Cramer, 24, of 122 Catalpa. Mrs. Rose's mother, Mrs. Robert Hernandez, 45, of Hereford, was taken to Hereford Clinic for facial cuts and was released later.

Mrs. Valdez's car hit a tree on the corner of the intersection after glancing off the Cramer car. She was issued a ticket for no driver's license and failure to grant right-of-way. Cramer was issued a ticket for no driver's license. Damage to the Valdez car was $250, and $275 damage was done to the Cramer car.

The other collision happened at the intersection of Ave. D and Union at 10:35 a.m. Friday, and involved Walter E. Kirkland, 21, 139 W. Ninth, and Jesse Randolph Barrett, 42, 342 Ave. D.

Damage to the Kirkland car was $75, and $35 damage was done to the Barrett car. Barrett was issued a ticket for failure to grant right-of-way.

FIREWORKS AND EXPRESSIONS—Children's expressions are always interesting, especially at a 4th of July fireworks display such as was put on Friday evening at the Tower Drive Theatre. On the left, two small boys found the earlier rains had cooled temperatures off considerably, but solved the situation by wrapping in a heavy comforter. Second from left, a burst of fireworks high in the air brought out the desire to capture its beauty with this young fellow's hands. Third from left, this youngster had no intentions of letting two different desires distract from, each other, so he sat on the grass eating his hotdog while viewing the display. On the right, loud reports from the explosions in the air brought smiles as well as hands to the ears. (Staff Photos)

Hereford Teacher Attending NEA Convention This Week

How many children have been tagged indelibly with an intelligence quotient (IQ) regardless of its accuracy and without knowledge by the teachers and others of the meaning of the score?

This simple, but rather brutal question was raised during work sessions at the 96th annual National Education Association Convention which this week has chalked up an attendance of 15,000 teachers and school administrators.

Attending the convention is Stanton Junior High art instructor Lottie Wertenberger, who is a delegate for the Texas State Teachers' Assn., District IX. Children and teachers tend to play out the roles assigned by an IQ regardless of its accuracy, the school leaders contend. Boys and girls may under-shoot the mark on a single test, partly because of previous imperfect appraisal of their abilities by some teachers, and for the rest of their school years be undervalued.

Testing was only one of the subjects geared to the convention theme "Our Future Goes To School Today." Delegates also discussed the myth of the "average student."

THEY POINTED out the danger in using this term in that it tends to confuse the thinking and working of teachers. It refers to a mythical composite of individual human beings, but no one boy or girl is what the average purports to show.

Delegates have heard speakers declare that the American school system must grow up in a hurry to meet a "science fiction" era come true. Others have pointed out that 6 1/2 million city grade school children — just about 55 per cent of the total — are in classes of more than 30 students each this year. Almost 300,000 students in city grade schools are on half-day schedules this year — as compared to just under 250,000 in 1955-56.

Monday was spent with the art group of the N. E. A. Discussion groups meeting, dinner and a tour of the Art Institute of Western Reserve University.

Clark Gearney, professor of art at Amarillo Jr. College, is in Cleveland working on his Doctorate and is a teacher at the Institute. Tuesday, the group attended the Texas State Teachers Breakfast and worked on policies and revisions. They were among the 2500 ticket holders for the Classroom Teacher Banquet Tuesday evening.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

for advertising, too!

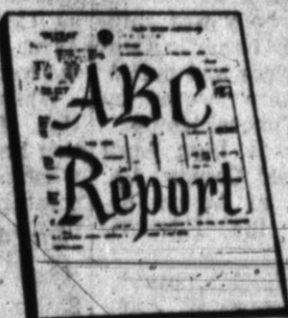

What a fix we'd all be in without those standards of measurement for the goods you buy and sell. Imagine the confusion, waste and doubt in business transactions if we didn't have accepted standards of weights and measures—known values.

We believe it is just as necessary for us to tell you what you get for your advertising dollars, in terms of known circulation value, as it is for you to do business with your customers on the basis of recognized standards. That's why this newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

WHAT IS THE A.B.C.? The Bureau is a cooperative and nonprofit association of 3450 publishers, advertising agencies and advertisers in the United States and Canada. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring, auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

WHAT A.B.C. DOES FOR YOU. At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors comes to our office and makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. He has access to all of our books and records to obtain the FACTS that tell you what you get for your money when you advertise in this newspaper.

WHAT A.B.C. REPORTS TELL YOU. The circulation FACTS obtained by the A.B.C. auditor are condensed in easy to read A.B.C. reports which tell you: How much circulation we have; where the circulation goes; how it was sold and many other FACTS about the audience we provide for your sales messages. Make your advertising investments on the basis of this audited information. Ask for a copy of our A.B.C. report.

Water Safety Class Has Big Enrollment

Enrollment topping participation in the water safety program of the Deaf Smith County Red Cross Chapter was reported at the conclusion of the first term instruction by Bill Hardwick, water safety chairman.

He reported 194 of the original 25 enrolled in the term starting June 16 are completing the instruction and that most of them will take the test and receive certificates for completing their work.

The second series of courses will begin at the municipal pool Monday, Hardwick said.

A new pre-school group is being started Monday. This is the first time instruction has been adult beginners' class celebrated completion of their course with a party at the pool Wednesday evening.

Regular children's groups, for children up to age 12, will be held at the pool from 9 to 12 a.m. each day, beginning Monday. Classes will include beginners, intermediate, and advanced intermediate.

Junior life saving classes will be conducted from 8 to 9 a.m., and senior life saving classes will be held from 6 to 7 p.m. As many as are ready in each class will be given tests at the end of two weeks, and certificates will be given to those who pass. Instructors then will concentrate on those who need further instruction. A $2 pool fee is the only charge, Hardwick said.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By CHARLIE SEEDS

He was a young Negro from Detroit, with an impassive deadpan face, a shuffling gait, and thunder in both fists. They called him the "Brown Bomber," and his name was Joe Louis.

Two years before, he had fought the ex-heavyweight champion, Max Baer, and knocked him out in the fourth round. Only a loss to Max Schmeling marred his record as he fought his way to the top. . . to the moment when he stepped into the ring to fight again James J. Braddock for the heavyweight championship of the world.

That night saw a new champion crowned, and it was the beginning of a new era in boxing, recalling the great days of Dempsey, with a true champion reigning as king of the heavyweights. Remember the night when that era started. . . when Louis won the crown.

Remember the year?

Auto prices were a lot lower that year than now. . . but so were salaries. And a buyer shopped around for the best deal then, just as he does today. He looked for a car that would give him top performance. . . and a dealer who would give him a top trade.

The year was 1937.

If you're looking for the top performer of 1958, take a test ride in the new 1958 FORD. And if you're looking for a top deal. . . with the highest trade-in and terms that mean real savings. . . then sit down and talk it over with us. We're ready to deal, at CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., INC. 146 E. Second. Phone EM 4-2727.

ONE INJURED—Mrs. Robert Hernandez of Hereford was taken to Hereford Clinic for minor injuries after two cars collided at the intersection of W. Fourth and Lee Wednesday. She was released later. The car in the foreground was driven by Jim Cramer, 24, of 122 Catalpa. The other car, which was driven by Mrs. Rose Hernandez Valdez, 22, of Hereford, ran into a tree after it glanced off the Cramer car. Both drivers were issued tickets. (Staff Photo)

D. E. Cleveland was named secretary of the Committee, replacing Gerald McCaskill.
Several promotions which are being discussed by the group for possible dates, but have not had all details worked out as yet, are: a mall plan for new car showing about September; a Vegetable Festival sometime in July of 1959; a Mexican festival in September; and the possibility of giving away an airplane at the formal opening of Hereford's Municipal Airport.

The Committee's next meeting will be held Friday morning.

Regular meeting of the Hereford Rural High School District board of trustees will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the superintendent's conference room.
Mrs. Dick Ross was returned to Hereford from El Paso early Friday evening. Her local attending physician said yesterday her back, broken in an airplane wreck in which she was riding with three other local people, was very satisfactory in recovering and was "doing very nicely." Two specialists will arrive in Hereford this morning from Dallas to examine her severely burned feet.

Supplements to the Hereford High School annual were sent out from the publisher late last week.
A Day Center was opened Thursday at the Labor Camp to take care of youngsters whose parents are working in the vegetable fields and sheds.

Hereford police and sheriff's officers, hearing the report of planes in trouble, drove through town to recruit cars to help light the runway.
Hill made his landing about an hour after he first reported difficulty in approaching the Hereford Field.

equipment, but the rig arrived Monday. The slush pit has been completed and the water well is in operation.
The rig is good for 14,000 feet, according to Joe Reinauer. The well is located on the Reinauer Bros. property, 35 miles west of Hereford near the New Mexico state line.
The Lindsay well is located on Gregg County school land, labor no. 18, one-half mile south and one-fourth mile west of La Mance No. 1.

CONTRACT DEPTH of the Lindsay well is 8800 feet, and Mark Williams and John H. Nicholson, geologists, said that sediments were changing rapidly and that they could run into something favorable in some of the granite wash sections below. They added that there would be a favorable limestone section at about 8400 feet.
The section between 7759 to 7780 feet would be given special attention when electronic logs were run, they said.
Tentative plans for testing the Humble well has been set at 10,000 feet, but Reinauer said that drilling would go deeper if necessary.
A total of 40 loads of equipment were transported from Spearman to form the Humble rig, Reinauer said.
The Humble Co. has leased 9200 acres of land on the location, but 8500 acres in the vicinity has not yet been leased, Reinauer added.

A Damp Damper Fell on Our 4th

IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By BETTY BABIONE

Not meaning to be funny, I would say there was a bit of a damper put on the July 4th celebration this week.

I wager there were more than a few outdoor events spoiled by the weather and many a barbecue or picnic supper eaten indoors.

State and local authorities have been actively and vociferously concerned (and well they should be) over prevention of accidents and property damage from fireworks — do you suppose their "song and dance" brought on the rains, Indian-style? To be sure, the moisture eliminated the danger of accidentally setting fire to grass, stubble, or other dry material. . . don't think there was a dry spot in the whole county.

Purchasers of fireworks found that not only were there heavy restrictions on where they'd be allowed to shoot them, but also the size and explosive power of the fireworks were limited by law this year. No more giant rockets. No more cannon-size firecrackers. Every-teacher and the adherence by the players to the standard rules of bridge courtesy. . . I say "standard" because the rules are not original with Mr. Goren, but are universally acknowledged as correct-bridge etiquette (and many of them extend into other card games, too).

And speaking of bridge manners! . . . Some customs have been so widely practiced and for so long by the average run of players, that many people think they are rules. For example: the dummy's laying down of trumps before a card has been led (a custom of which no one seems to know the origin, and is oftentimes to the distinct disadvantage of the person playing the hand).

Another inadvertent infraction of rules (this one also is actually more unwise than outright discourteous) is the habit of declaring honors the instant the bidding is closed. Rightfully, honors are to be declared at the completion of the hand, rather than at the beginning (and for some, might prove to be a memory test!).

While I'm at it, I may as well mention a couple more little items. Such as: When players draw for the deal they should not draw from the four cards at either end of the string, and their cards should not be exposed until the last man has drawn his card. And high-card holder is not only supposed to deal, but is also supposed to keep the score.

There are any number of other instances along this line and they, like these, may come as a surprise to many players, whether they be of the old or of the new school.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fullwood and small son, who make their home in Philadelphia, the seat of our nation's independence, recently returned here after an extended visit with Ralph's family here. During their stay Mrs. Fullwood — Janet — accompanied her lovely sister-in-law, Dorothy Nolan, to Dorothy's bridge class and was interested to note that here, as in Philadelphia (and everywhere, I imagine), there is a definite trend toward the study and use of the Goren point-count system.

Janet was also interested in the emphasis made by the Presbyterian National Assembly early in June (to be elected as a delegate to the Assembly is a distinct honor, by the way). As a family group, the Wiferts traveled to Louisiana, Illinois and various interesting places. . .

Lyle and Eunice Woodford returned from Chicago all aglow with accounts of son Tom's wedding and praises for his beautiful bride. Eunice adds good-humoredly that she hopes she has opportunity to get some good out of her elegant clothes she bought to wear to the wedding. . .

The Bob Hamiltons were encountered at a local drive-in on the evening they were scheduled to attend a Jaycee supper. Bob, it seemed, in being typically male, had neglected to mention to his little woman that couples were supposed to furnish their own food. Picking up ready-made sandwiches was a prize solution to Delores' dilemma.

Oh gee. Got lots more to tell ya but no time — I think I left some windows open and I bet it's raining in. See you next week!

6th BIRTHDAY PARTY
Celebrating her sixth birthday, Prissy Jean Crume entertained a number of her young friends with a backyard swimming party on Thursday afternoon.

Following games and refreshments, favors were given to Mariene Tooley, Jean Ann Gore, David Watts, Danny Boyer, Camille and Carolyn Langley, Dona Seay of Laidbuddie, Brenda and Dennis Martin of Belen, N. M., and the young honoree. Also present was Prissy's grandmother, Mrs. W. H. Graham Sr., of Farwell.

Woman Creates Button Gardens

MINIATURE MAGIC—Mrs. Ora Kehn with two of the tiny formal gardens she constructs for hospitalized children.

DENVER — A button off a man's overcoat seems an unlikely setting for a formal garden. But youngsters at Children's Hospital could tell you a thing or two about that.

Every year 50 bedfast children at the hospital delightedly receive miniature gardens, built on large buttons, from a little widow, Mrs. Ora Kehn.

She has been enchanting sick youngsters this way for 15 years. Each tiny button garden has miniature figures, bits of living plant life, peaised seashells, thumbnail acorns. Each is different from the others.

Mrs. Kehn is lame from a hip injury and has had arthritis for years, but she forgets all this as each year she turns her kitchen table into a workbench for more of the dainty gardens-on-buttons.

Friends and relatives help her with materials. One in Massachusetts sends acorns to her, another in Hawaii mails seashells.

Plants, figurines, shells and the rest are fastened firmly to the button base with airplane glue. Enfranchised boys and girls water their gardens daily with

HOLDS HOBO PARTY
Miss Judy Crume entertained four of her friends Tuesday evening, with a hobo party in the back yard of her home at 218 Ave. J.

The girls cooked hobo-burgers over charcoal and ate in typical "hobo" style, with tin cups, rag napkins and miscellaneous utensils for food holders and plates. Hobo-ing it were Susan Stapp, Sharon Tinnin, Ann Cunningham, Linda Dooley, of Norman, Okla., and the hostess.

GILLILLAND'S RETURN

Marriage Plans Are Told At Tea

The engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Gladys Lee was revealed at a tea given Sunday afternoon, June 29, by her mother, Mrs. Otis Lee, in the home of Mrs. J. B. Snead.

Calling hours were from 3 to 5 p.m. Miss Lee will be married to G. C. Merritt, Jr. on Aug. 16.

The entertaining rooms carried out colors of pink and white, which will be featured in the wedding.

The refreshment table was laid with a pink net cloth over pink, and news of the romance was revealed in the center piece, where a Dan Cupid upheld a pair of floral scales balanced by pink-sweetheart rosebuds and baby's breath entwined with smilax.

A white lace fan backed by pink rosebuds told the story on a pink satin scroll, bearing the wedding date Aug. 16. Pink satin streamers extended out over the table. The punch bowl was surrounded by pink rosebuds and smilax.

On the table, where guests signed their names in the bride's book, was a pink fan surrounded by pink sweetheart roses.

Members of the house party included Martha Bookout and Betty Snead at the guest register, Glenna Gault and Joan Brown, who provided piano music during the afternoon and Mrs. Jim McDowell, Betty Ferguson and Sylvia Wiman at the table.

Other included were Mesdames F. R. Curtis, J. O. Clark, Herman Drake, Clyde Rayburn, Jimmie Mercer, Jimmie Alfred, Bill Morris and Sue Curtis.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Lee, the bride-elect, Mrs. G. C. Merritt Sr., the future bridegroom's mother, Mrs. J. E. Springer of Seminole, his aunt, and Charlotte Moore and Clydene Alfred, who will serve as attendants at the wedding. A total of 145 guests signed the bride's book of names.

Mrs. George McLean Honoree At Informal Reception Thursday

Mrs. George H. McLean, a recent bride, was named honoree at an informal reception given in the home of Mr. McLean's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McLean, 243 W. Fifth St., Tuesday afternoon.

Flowers in shades of pink and white were used about the house, and the refreshment table carried out a pink and white theme. The table was laid with a white embroidered cloth of Irish linen, and the center-arrangement, placed at the back of the table, was of pink carnations and feverfew, combined with pink grapes, from which rose five pyramiding white tapers for candlelight. Appointments were in crystal and silver.

Members of the house party included Mesdames A. O. Thompson, W. E. Dameron, Colby Conkright, Dick Gowder, Jimmie Gillentine, Urlin Streu, Jeff Gibbreath, J. E. Beyer, W. M. Lenderman and Wayne Ledy.

Besides Mrs. McLean and her daughter-in-law in the receiving line were Mrs. Knox Kinard of Pampa, formerly of Hereford, and Miss Aline Walker of Dallas.

A total of 125 guests called during the afternoon to meet the honor guest.

Church Groups Hold Supper

All groups of the Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church met at the home of Mrs. Jim Loving Wednesday evening for a covered-dish supper party.

Following the meal a program on "Mission Work" was presented, and a film on the work of the church in Belgian Congo was shown.

A contribution to the Day Center at the Hereford Labor Camp was made as a part of the work with the United Council of Church Women.

Hi-Neighbor Party for George McLeans

Mr. and Mrs. George McLean were guests at a Hi-Neighbor party given by close neighbors the past week. The party was in the form of a back yard picnic at the Jimmie Gillentine home as a welcoming to the couple.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Beyer, Mr. and Mrs. Urlin Streu, Mr. and Mrs. I. O. Crosthwait, Mrs. Clarence Schulz and James Edior, Mrs. Clara Loerwald and Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine and the honorees.

Miss Bonnie Lewis Favored At Shower Courtesy Tuesday

Miss Bonnie Lewis, bride-elect of Robert Bradley, was favored at a shower courtesy given in the home of Mrs. Troy Moore, 203 N. Gough St. Tuesday afternoon.

Assisting Mrs. Moore as hostesses were Mesdames Oscar Easley, Fred Sims, Ivan Block, T. J. Clay, Bess Moore, Ceell Billingsale, Jack Brown, Gaylord Newell and Debbs Knox.

The bride-elect's chosen colors of yellow and white were featured throughout the entertaining rooms. The refreshment table was laid with a white organdy cloth over yellow. Miniflour yellow chrysanthemums and yellow and white daisies garlanded two crystal hurricane lamps and formed the center attraction. Yellow tapers burning in the lamps cast a soft mellow glow over the scene. A single hurricane lamp was used at the table where guests registered.

In the receiving line were the hostess, the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Art Lewis, and Mrs. Jack Bradley, mother of the bridegroom-to-be, Mrs. Glenn Wilson, Judy Bradley and Joy Story who will be at the wedding.

Miss Irene Witherspoon and Miss Joan Brown presided at the table, and Miss Gladys Lee was in charge of the guest

Mrs. Lisle Thomas Woodford, formerly Miss Martha Virginia Melin. (Stejskal Photo)

Woodford-Melin Wedding Vows Are Read In Hinsdale Church

Miss Martha Virginia Melin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Melin of Hinsdale, Ill., repeated wedding vows with Lisle Thomas Woodford, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Woodford of Hereford, on June 21 at 4 p.m. in the Union Church of Hinsdale, with Dr. Vernon Loescher, pastor, officiating.

Palm trees and lighted white tapers in branched candelabra formed the background for the green and white setting. White peonies and gladioli were used at the altar, which was backed by a panel of greenery.

Miss Jackie Brown's Wedding Date Revealed

Mrs. Jack Brown was hostess at the home of her mother, Mrs. W. S. Fluit, 141 N. 25 Mile Ave., at a tea Wednesday afternoon to announce the forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Miss Jackie Brown, and Bill Gore of Albuquerque, N. M. He is the son of Mrs. W. R. Gore and the late Mr. Gore of Albuquerque.

The wedding will take place on Sunday, Aug. 17, in the First Methodist Church.

Decorations for the Fluit home carried out the bride-elect's chosen colors of turquoise and white. The refreshment table was laid with a white imported French lace cloth over turquoise, and centered with a Steuben bowl filled with white carnations. Silver candles in silver holders flanked the arrangement.

Two cherubs told the nuptial story holding white satin streamers inscribed with the wedding news "Jackie and Bill - August 17," inscribed in silver.

White daisies and lilies were arranged throughout the house, and an open white Bible on the coffee table gave the sacred suggestion to the coming event. Presiding at the table were Kaye Kershen, Sandra Caraway, Clara Beth Holt, and Carolyn Williams. Dorothy Faye Daniel and Sue Springer kept the guest register.

Others in the house party included Mesdames Tom Robinson, G. W. Newsom, Robert Wagoner, Edgar Skypala, Art Lewis and Lee Kent.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Fluit, the bride-elect, Mrs. Jack Brown, Joan Brown, and Kaye Kershen and Jane Newsom, who will serve as bridesmaids in the wedding.

ganza gown, styled with a fitted bodice, portrait neckline and short sleeves. The full length skirt, worn over hoops, was dramatized by Belgian lace, appliqued leaves and flowers in overskirt effect, and terminated in a chapel length train.

Her veil of illusion was held by a tiara of seed pearls, and her only ornament was a drop pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore a rose-beige organza dress, styled with back floating panel. She wore a flower hat and a white orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore mauve lace and chiffon dress, with matching flower hat and white accessories. Her corsage was also an orchid.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was hosted by the bride's parents in the North Assembly room of the church. Baskets of peonies and gladioli were used in decorative accent.

When the couple left on a short wedding trip to Geneva, Lake, Wis., the bride wore a brown cotton suit with white collar, brown feather hat and brown accessories. The couple have returned to Hereford and are now making

Weddings Hold Social Spotlight

By MRS. JOHN McLEAN
Society Editor

Many a blushing lass will be wending her way to marriage this month and next, for although June is a traditional favorite with brides and bridegrooms, and it is still the most popular matrimonial month for tying the knot, July and August are close runners-up as the number of weddings continues to climb.

With wedding bells for some ringing in the distance, life for all takes on a brighter hue, and whether you set the day in June or January, you'll have plenty of company.

Church Class Meets Tuesday

Faithful Workers Class of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Tuesday morning. Mrs. Roy Calvert gave the devotional lesson on "Winning For Christ."

During the business session, members voted to adopt a senior girl in the Buckner Orphans Home at Waco as a project for the coming year.

Coffee and other refreshments were served to Mesdames J. D. Bruner, Ralph McCullough, H. E. Miller, Grady Parsons, Floyd Tucker, Roy Calvert, Miss Della Stagner and the hostess.

Vows Are Exchanged In Oklahoma Church Rites

The First Baptist church of Duke, Okla., was the setting at 7 p.m. Saturday for the marriage of Miss Margaret Gaynell Leverett and Melvin Ross Lomenick of Hereford.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Leverett of Duke, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ross Lomenick.

The Rev. Robert Young, pastor of the Baptist Church of Rush Springs, Okla., read the double ring ceremony as the couple and their attendants stood before the altar, banked with palms and greenery and seven branched candelabra holding wedding tapers.

Mrs. Gene Thomas, organist, and Janette Minler, vocalist, provided the wedding music. Mrs. Thomas presented a brief concert of nuptial music preceding the ceremony and accompanied the vocalist, who sang "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer." She also played the traditional wedding marches, and "O Promise Me" was played softly as the vows were spoken.

Miss Beth Sada Leverett was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a waltz-length gown of sky-blue polished cotton with matching cummerbund and overskirt of nylon chiffon. Her flowers were blue split carnations with streamers of blue satin ribbon bows.

Bud Leverett, brother of the bride, served the bridegroom as best man, and the bride's father gave her in marriage.

The bride chose a wedding gown of white chantilly lace over net and taffeta fashioned with Sabrina neckline and fitted bodice attached to a waltz-length full skirt tacked to the bodice by a wide chiffon cummerbund. Completing her costume was a lace jacket that buttoned down the back and had three-quarter length sleeves. Her mits were of matching nylon lace.

The wedding veil of nylon tulle fell from a pill box hat of lace accented with insets of rhinestones, and she carried a cascade of white feathered carnations showered with streamers of white satin ribbon and lilies of the valley, also a white Bible. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls.

The bride's mother wore navy lace with shoulder corsage of white carnations, and the bridegroom's mother wore a pastel blue dacron cotton with a white carnation corsage.

For the wedding trip to points in the northern states, the bride wore a navy shunting suit with white accessories and a boutonniere detached from the wedding bouquet.

After July 7, the couple will be at home at 407 E. Third Street. Mrs. Lomenick has made her home in Hereford for the past year. She is a teacher in Central School and will continue her work here this fall.

Tuesday Bridal Shower Honors Mrs. Patterson

By MRS. HAROLD RUDD

Mrs. Carl Patterson was honored with a bridal shower Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Herbert Owens. Mrs. Merlin Kaul assisted with the hospitality.

Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. W. D. Patterson made up the receiving line, and Sandra Patterson presided at the guest register. An arrangement of white hydrangeas, shasta daisies, bells of Ireland and blue forget-me-nots formed the centerpiece on the table, laid with blue cloth covered with white lace. White tapers flanked the centerpiece. Appointments were in crystal. Mrs. Merlin Kaul presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Herbert Owens provided organ music as the guests arrived and as the honoree opened her gifts. Mrs. Kaul gave readings on "What Men Are" and "A Recipe for Making a Home."

Others present were Mrs. T. D. Alston, Mrs. G. C. Merritt, Mrs. Weldon Miller, Mrs. Kenneth Rudd and Mrs. Paul Douglas, Mrs. R. L. Wilson, Mrs. Harold Rudd, Mrs. Joe Landers, Mrs. Buck Green, Mrs. Marlin Pierce and Danny and Glenda Patterson.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sims and Ronnie of Goldsmith and Mrs. Waldon Rector of Roby spent Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Edd and family. Sims took the ladies to Amarillo Tuesday morning to catch a train for Portland, Ore., to visit one of their sisters, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Daffern. Ronnie Sims remained to visit with his sister and family for about three weeks. Mrs. Bess Werner attended the southern-fried chicken supper the Hereford Ground Observer Corps gave in honor of the Summerfield corps Monday at the Bull Barn.

Mrs. W. B. Nunley and Rickie and Ronald visited with Mrs. Guy Lawrence in Hereford Wednesday.

Girls Tell Shirt Tale

By DOROTHY ROE

"It's all a matter of shirt tails," says the girl in the gray flannel skirt. "Wear 'em outside and you've got the new look."

Smart girls who live on a budget have discovered that it's not necessary to invest a small fortune in new clothes when the fashion changes. They get through the uncertain transition period smoothly and smartly by doing a few tricks with blouses and belts. Inexpensive blouses are available this summer in shops all over the country, cut on new lines and finished so they are equally effective worn in or out of the skirt. In many cases it's possible to buy skirts to match — also for pin money — so that a girl may acquire the chemise look without breaking the budget.

"I've shortened all my skirts about two inches," continues our thrifty working girl. "I've invested in several new blouses, all cut on middy or chemise lines — and I'm all set."

This penny-wise young lady also has some one-piece shirt-waist dresses left over from last summer. This season she wears a belt just below the bustline — and there's the Empire look. The same trick works for the sheaths which have been popular for the last few seasons.

"Another new idea I worked out," says she, "is to wear head bands to match the color of my blouse or dress. I make them from grosgrain ribbon from the ten-cent store."

TOP STORY—This versatile sleeveless overblouse by Judy Bond is nubby shagbark cotton, available in white, black and seven other colors, right for wear in town with skirts or for summer holiday weekends with shorts or slacks.

West, Litsch are Kiwanis Program

Kiwanians Clinton West and Dale Litsch were the program Thursday for the regular weekly Kiwanis Club meeting, each talking on his respective occupational classification.

The club members voted to accept a request to handle all ticket sales responsibilities for the coming Pony League baseball tournament.

President Don Little announced a new director will be elected at the next regular meeting to replace Bob Naylor, who had served only six months of a two-year term before moving.

Hereford Cadet Attending Camp

FORT HOOD, Tex. — Cadet Ronald J. Kershen of Hereford is attending a six-week summer camp at Fort Hood under the Reserve Officer Training Corps program at Texas Tech. The training will end Aug. 2.

Kershen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wm. Kershen of Hereford, is a 1955 graduate of Price College high school in Amarillo.

SPIRITUAL AWAKENING URGED

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Leaders of the Church of the Nazarene, observing its golden anniversary in 1958, have called on members "to work and pray as never before to advance a mighty spiritual awakening in our generation" and to help keep American Protestantism a vital force at home and abroad.

PAULISTS HONORED

NEW YORK (AP) — Distinguished Roman Catholic prelates across the country will join in various ceremonies this year commemorating the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Paulist Fathers by a convert from Methodism, Isaac Thomas Hecker. The order is dedicated primarily to bringing Church teachings to those outside the fold in the United States.

RACE QUESTION

NEW YORK (AP) — A statement issued by the National Council of Churches for Race Relations Sunday, to be observed Feb. 9, says: "Christians everywhere must be searching their souls for an answer to the question: 'Do we love our neighbor as ourselves?'"

NAME RECOMMENDED

CHICAGO (AP) — Representatives of four Lutheran churches engaged in negotiations for a merger — the United Lutheran Church, the Augustana Lutheran Church, the Suomi Synod and the American Evangelical Lutheran Church — have recommended that the united body be called: "The Evangelical Lutheran Church in America."

will begin at 8 p.m. After the service there will be a reception in the Education Building.

The Evereth Holmes Chapter of Intermediate and Junior Road Ambassadors of the Summerfield Baptist Church met Monday evening at the church. The boys elected officers, Ambassador-in-chief and Program Embassey, Ronnie Botkin; First assistant, Jackie Lee; chapter recorder and chapter custodian Joe Wright; chapter herald, Ken Walsler. The boys elected Billy Gene Cotton, the counselor, as their song leader.

LOOKING LIBRARY

TORREN, Mexico (AP) — In the window of a Baptist book store here, a large, open Bible is displayed. Each day a page is turned. Scores of people, apparently without Bibles at home, stop as they go to and from work for their daily scripture reading.

TRAVEL TIP: Penalty for Packing Heavy Bad as Taking Too Little

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Next to leaving home an essential, the worst thing a traveler can do is take along too much.

"Much of the pleasure in a trip can be lost because of too much luggage," insists Miss Frances Knight — who, besides handing out passports for American tourists headed overseas loses considerable traveling on her own. She recently went on a five-week trip around the world, carrying one (yes, only ONE) 7-inch suitcase.

Miss Knight — in public life the director of the State Department's Passport Office and in private the wife of magazine publisher Wayne Parrish — appeared on television recently, doing a brief and incomplete demonstration of her packing techniques on "Person to Person." The result was such a flood of letters asking for a complete blueprint of her streamlined luggage and wardrobe that she now has set it down in complete detail.

"I limit myself to one suitcase whether it is for a long or short trip," she says. "For a short trip I take a small overnight case, and for a long trip I use a 7-inch suitcase."

Miss Knight is a firm believer in planning and gives herself a week's time to pack for a long trip. In spare moments she puts such essentials as toothbrush and paste, brush, comb, manicure set, travel alarm clock, small flashlight and a cosmetics kit. Miss Knight has reduced this last item to makeup, an all-purpose face cream, a deodorant, liquid shampoo containers (each containing enough for one shampoo) and a tube of quick-lather soap for use in hard water and other small grooming aids. She substitutes cleansing tissues for handkerchiefs.

Assembling her travel wardrobe is a longer process. She wears one set of lingerie and packs another — both made of drip-dry fabric — and a combination pajama-robe-slipper set of similar material.

"I allow nothing to interfere with a nightly schedule of doing my laundry," she says. "I take a tablespoonful of a detergent soap powder and seal it in a small envelope, allowing one envelope for each washing while on my trip."

Her outside clothes are carefully chosen — dresses, hats and shoes of one basic color with variations and accents from colorful accessories. She finds dark dresses, of course, more practical than light. For summer travel she takes dresses and suits made of easy-to-laundry synthetic fabrics.

"It is very simple to pack three or four dresses in a suitcase, providing they are not bouffant and fussy," she has found. "I am partial to drip-dry sweaters and blouses which can be made dressy with scarves

MASTERFUL PACKER—Mrs. Frances Knight, U. S. Passport Office director, prepares to fill the single suitcase she allows herself on any trip. She says she's partial to drip-dry sweaters and blouses, which can be made dressy with scarves or collars.

or beaded collars. I usually take two sweaters and two blouses. I take two pairs of shoes in addition to the pair in which I travel. I put my stockings, belts and gloves in the shoes to conserve space."

says Miss Knight, "because there are few places in the world today where you cannot purchase any of the items which may break or be mislaid. The only extra which is advisable would be eyeglasses if you need them."

Her hats are chosen partly for their crush-proof qualities, and they compliment the dresses and suit. She uses a light wool stole instead of an evening jacket. She carries a combination raincoat, hat and boots which fold into a plastic bag.

For the maintenance of her wardrobe she has a small travel iron which is convertible for use in foreign electric outlets, and a small sewing kit.

A reversible topcoat and a big travelling handbag complete the wardrobe. The handbag is large enough to hold a small jewelry case, identification papers, tickets, passport, cosmetics, a solid perfume, and such other odds and ends a woman needs often. "It is not necessary to be overburdened with extras,

In the past year, Miss Knight has done much traveling around the Passport Office's field offices throughout the country — much of the time carrying her overnight bag. In the coming months, her job will take her to passport offices in our embassies and consulates, so the 7-inch suitcase will be working overtime.

"Actually," she confesses, "I had to work this packing system out. My husband won't let me take more than one suitcase on a trip."

High School Bandmen Invited To Attend Music Camp at WT

CANYON (Special)—Places for about 100 more high school bandmen remain open for the sixth annual West Texas Music Camp, scheduled Aug. 8-15 at West Texas State College.

A limited enrollment of 300 is accepted each year for the camp, which features two weeks of concentrated instrumental, choral and twirling study. Each student participates in one of three or four bands, in choir, or in twirling and drum majoring classes, as well as small ensembles and private lessons.

Three bands will be formed, according to David L. Kaplan, camp director, and a fourth, or reading band, will be composed of students interested in playing new materials.

A Symphonic Band, composed of the most advanced camp musicians, chosen by audition, will be directed by Dr. Ronald D. Gregory, director of bands at the University of Indiana. The Concert Band will be conducted by James Kerr, director of bands at the University of Wichita, and a Junior High Band will be directed by J. W. King Jr., band director at Hale Center.

Dr. Houston Bright, director of the West Texas State A Cappella Choir, will conduct the camp choir. Mrs. Bonnie Williams, twirling instructor at Holmes Junior College (Goodman, Miss.), will teach drum majors and twirlers. Kaplan, assisted by two college graduate students, will teach woodwind instruments, and Dr. Ted Crager of Lubbock, slated to become new music department head at WT this fall, will give brass instruction. Miss Matilda Gaume and Royal Brantley, two West Texas State faculty members, will teach piano and voice, respectively.

Each band member will spend an hour daily in an instrument class, learning the fundamentals of playing—such things as tone concept, embouchure, intonation, blend, tonguing, fingering. Additional time will be

Friona Soldiers In Firing Test

HANAU, GERMANY—Two soldiers from Friona, Rex E. Blackburn and Billy W. Nazworth, recently participated in a field firing test conducted by the V Corps' 57th Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion near Todendorf, Germany.

They entered the Army in December, 1956, and completed basic training at Fort Hood. Blackburn is a mechanic in the battalion's Battery B in Hanau. He is a 1952 graduate of Friona High School, and attended Texas Tech. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Blackburn.

Nazworth, whose wife, Shirley, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Nazworth, live in Friona, is a supply clerk in the battalion's headquarters battery in Hanau. He is a 1952 graduate of Friona High School.

'The American Way of Life' - - and One Phrase We Would Like To Forget

Not long ago, we met a man who had never ridden in an airplane and, furthermore, said that he would never ride in one except in case of extreme emergency. The man was sincere, well informed and substantial—but he could not see the use of taking the unnecessary risk.

Our purpose is not to argue the merits or demerits of aviation but, at the same time, we cannot understand why this same man will exceed speed limits, glide through stop signs and generally violate a dozen other traffic regulations—any one of which account for more fatalities each year than all travel by plane. Finally, we came to the conclusion that a lot of our traffic troubles must be due to the attitude of the average citizen toward traffic laws.

Many people seem to look upon driving as a game in which they seek to outwit the officers. Instead of considering that the laws are made FOR their protection, many people assume that the traffic laws are passed merely for the purpose of preventing them from having a good time.

People who are at all other times cautious and conservative, once behind the wheel of the family car, are prone to throw all caution to the winds. The same father who would not think of allowing his son or daughter to go swimming without an adult nearby, often seems to forget who are riding in the back seat of his car. These people have read the statistics. They know the risk but, somehow, seem to think that they are immune; that accidents are only for other people.

How to stop the slaughter? No one seems to have the answer. The man who wouldn't think of riding in an airplane sits back and looks at the crops as he

Tender Gender Shows Its Muscles

In May, 1922, the official journal of the barber's trade announced the new fad for women's bobbed hair had reached amazing proportions but would not last out the summer, in all likelihood.

Until this time, the barber shop was physically and spiritually verboten for women. The saloon topped legally, but women almost beat the men climbing into the trap doors of the speakases. The ball park, long the sacred preserve of bald heads and mustaches, had succumbed to organdy invasion strikingly attending the ubiquitous "Ladies Days." Now the barber shop, the common man's wonderful country club was cluttered up with "it" the girls from six to 60. This terrible sacrilege left the men speechless.

The barber shop was the last citadel of popular debate. In 1922 there was no storage of talk, but mercy on us, what kind of talk was it? These mop-heads didn't know George Sisler from Georgie Porgie. They didn't know the "Manassas Mauler" from the Battle of Bull Run. This incessant dishwasher about kids, curtains, sweet peas, and cooking was enough to make a barber hide his razor to contemplate the desirability of suicide or homicide. But after a while, the long hairs got up their own social clubs under the flimsy guise of beauty parlors. The men returned to the checker, boards and the ball scores. But you may as well kill a man as scare him almost to death. Things haven't exactly come back to normal yet.—Raleigh (N.C.) News and Observer.

Rest Day Important To Human Economy

DR. G. W. HEARD

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written by Dr. G. W. Heard, 91, 611 N. Main, and is just one of several hundred, many of which have been published in various magazines. Dr. Heard is the man mainly responsible for Hereford being known as "The Town Without A Toothache," through his untiring efforts during the late 1890's and early 40's.)

By GEORGE W. HEARD
From time immemorial we have been admonished to recognize the Sabbath day and keep it holy as a day of rest. During all the centuries and ages since we have had history, not one time have we, as a people, obey this demand or command.

It appears that this day of rest set apart by divine intelligence is as necessary as the obedience to mathematical law when we have a theorem to demonstrate. When we disobey this mathematical law, we fail to solve the problem.

The day of rest is as important to human economy as the obedience to mathematical law when we are solving a problem. There are many problems to be solved, but the one which is most important and the one we have neglected most is the day of rest.

The most vital of all the musts is the rest of our digestive organs. It is the day of digestive house cleaning. This days rest is a must if the six days following is to be satisfactory and free from attacks of any of the 101 diseases.

We were placed here to rule. This is to say that what we have, disease or health is ours, and these are no better or no worse than we make it. All through life we never paddle our canoe. We drift with the tide of human neglect. We think we are obeying God when we attend church on Sunday, then eat dinner which creates more disturbance than the six days between sabbaths.

We are admonished to remember the Sabbath and keep it holy. The only way to keep

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Citizens Agree Alaska Should Not Be Divided

Should Alaska be divided into more than one state before being admitted into the United States?

MRS. T. D. ZANRUS—I don't think they should. I haven't given it too much thought.

LYNN C. KESTER—I don't think so. Population isn't very dense up there and I think with the population like that, there isn't need to.

MRS. J. D. WILLIAMS—I don't know as I think it should. I hadn't really thought too much about it. I'm really very glad it is to be admitted and I think it would be a good idea to add Hawaii. But about dividing, I guess I don't think it should.

LLOYD SHARP—I don't know enough about Alaska and its admission to the Union as a 49th state to say whether it should or should not be divided.

MRS. G. M. TREADWAY—I don't know. I think it should be all one state if they're going to admit it.

GRANT FULLER—No, let them have the biggest state. I think that question is already answered, since it's already admitted.

MRS. R. R. STEWART—Why sure, you don't want it to be bigger than Texas, do you? I sure don't want that.

ANSEL McDOWELL—I don't see any reason for it. Texas has been a pretty big state. Maybe now they can brag more than we can.

DOLORES LOERWALD—No, I don't think so, because the population is too small. I really think it would be rather foolish and a waste of a lot of work that could be used elsewhere.

GUY LAWRENCE—I don't think so. I don't think the population would warrant anything like that.

It holy is to clean the digestive house preparatory to another six days labor. The rest of our digestive organs are more vital than all the six days' activity.

The diseases which attack us are of our own creation. Just like our garden and lawns and parks. When we are busy with other duties, the lawns and garden are attacked with weeds. When we are busy seven days of the week, loading our digestive organs with more fancy eats than they can manage, it chokes down and creates incurable diseases—incurable because we continue feeding disease creating foods.

Our body can't throw off disease while we continue feeding disease creating food. Our body can't rest while the seven days are filled with hard labor. Neither can our various organs and tissues throw off diseases when our organs are crowded with foods of no value and no rest days set apart for our digestive organs to clean house.

If we have failed, we create the failure. There is no one else to do it. No one besides ourselves to create our diseases and mistake. Our digestive organs need rest, and when we feed our digestive organs foods which have been changed—refined—the natural food values eliminated as in white sugar and white flour and in dozens and dozens of cakes, pies, candies, soft drinks and what have you, it is impossible to remain in good health.

While our bodies need one-seventh of our time for rest, our digestive organs need fully as much rest in order to maintain perfect health.

We were placed here to rule, and when adversity comes, we have done the ruling. We have made our choice. Disease cannot appear when the law has been obeyed. This law of creation is always present. The soil must contain all the elements of which our body is made, so that when the plants grown in this soil, these plants take up these food values and stores them in the plants as food for life. One plant can not contain all of them; therefore, we must select food which covers and contains all the food values.

When these are not cared for, heated, aged, exposed or in any other way, these minerals and vitamins are damaged and our body organs are not nourished. Then the organs fall or break down, and we call this disease. When these body organs and tissues are well-fed, they are, by nature, immune to disease.

These organs of digestion and assimilation need rest the same as the entire body. Just as sure as we over-supply these digestive organs and give them no rest, they fail. This failure is called disease, depending upon the symptoms. We treat these symptoms and leave untouched the cause; therefore the incurable develops.

And as an illustration, when anyone over eats of cooked meats, gravy and white bread, one of the diseases—which appears is called pyorrhoea. Dentists treat the disease, leaving alone the cause. (This holds true with all orthodoxes.) When more of the refined foods of the carbohydrate family—sweets, sugars—decay of teeth appears and again the dentist treats the symptoms. These refined carbohydrate eaters often develop heart failure, cancer, polio, and what have you. While we are treating the disease, we need to remove the cause.

This is not a visionary cracked—brain theory. I in my own body have demonstrated this mode of reason. I had anemia, low blood pressure, auto intoxication, arthritis, and catarrh until I stood on the banks of the stormy Jordan, but refused to cross. The only thing which prevented was my determination to live. The last minute of total darkness, I met Harry Brown. Harry told me that my body was food-poisoned. The only thing was complete abstinence from food until my body eliminated from food all poison through the intake of hot water.

Through the 27 years since then, not withstanding the mistakes and attacks which have been mine along the route, modern ideas have eliminated all the attacks. Now in my 85th year, my health is free of ailing since its beginning. The secret lies in the obedience to the law (God) which governs. When the law is obeyed, there is success, when disobeyed, there is failure.

Letters To The Editor

I read with interest your editorial about the Negroes and all the indifference. If folks will search our oldest history, the Bible, they will find that God made every color and kind of people for a purpose—to inhabit His earth, each after his own kind. All have souls and eternity will be the same for us all, the soul being saved or not saved. But you will also find we can mix only so far with any race.

All humans are a separate being, let alone the different races. I do not believe in causing harm or heartaches to anyone, no matter the color. I believe in being a neighbor and helping the Negro people, but we can not go into their homes and churches and mix like we can our own kind. God didn't intend it that way.

We'll never in this world make our races to be alike and understand alike. It is not in our power.

The Negroes and Mexicans are much happier grouped together of their own kind. They feel freer, they have something in common and they understand each other. They all love their own way—their way to worship in their churches—and would be more at ease in their own schools.

The colored people are losing their freedom by trying to mix in our schools and a lot of white people are to blame. We have a cold civil war going on about all this and if people would let well enough alone, it would soon die down.

Colored leaders are being put over our boys in the armed services with much resistance, causing serious trouble—I happen to know this. They should let each kind be over his kind.

The Negroes feel just as much out of place trying to mix and mingle with us as we do them. Why? Because it was planned that way from the world's beginning—but not by man.

BOOK ANALYZES THEATERS
NEW YORK (AP)—The special problems of proscenium theaters, from acoustics to walls, are analyzed in a how-to-do-it booklet just prepared by the Greater New York Chapter of the American National Theatre and Academy.

The group's board of standards expects to issue a series of books with the aim of encouraging "the better planning of new professional theaters." Docketed in the agenda are volumes concerned with theater-in-the-round and the growing open-stage movement which is modelled on the showmanship format of Shakespeare's day.

HARVEST ALMOST FINISHED

Moore County's wheat harvest roared toward completion during the weekend, with huge amounts already in storage or shipped out. More than 90 per cent of the bumper crop has been cut, according to estimates by elevator operators and agricultural officials. With just a few fields still uncut, it appears that late hail damage will hold the total yield to somewhat less than an expected 3,000,000 bushels for the county. By Saturday noon, more than 2,325,000 bushels had been brought to local elevators. This does not include the 700,000 bushels which has been stored at the Capps Elevator, just outside Moore County. Many northeastern county farmers sent their grain to this elevator. County Agent Martin Gossett Saturday was still hopeful that the total yield would hit three million bushels, or about $5,000,000 in income for county farmers.—MOORE COUNTY NEWS.

NO REPORT ON 'HOPPERS'

Swisher County Commissioners Court is not at present participating in the grasshopper control project in which counties share the cost equally with the state and federal governments inspraying highway right-of-ways. Judge Claude Shelton said that Swisher farmers have not yet complained of damage to their crops as a result of the grasshopper menace which has plagued the North Plains areas in Colorado and Kansas in recent days. He added that the court does not feel that this limited control would greatly affect the overall picture. If the menace becomes greater and complaints of damage are received, the court will reconsider the problem. The federal government will share up to one-third of the cost of highway spraying, but not exceeding 25 cents per acre. The Texas Department of Agriculture, the State Highway Department and the Texas National Guard will bear an additional one-third with local governments furnishing the remainder. Swisher is one of 19 new counties invited to join the program.—THE TULIA HERALD.

NEW BANK BUILDING

The Citizens State Bank late Friday afternoon announced signing a contract for construction of its new, ultra-modern building on the corner of Fourth St. and Denver Ave. The contract was signed with Doyle Construction Co. of Amarillo, headed by H. Grady Doyle. Construction begins about July 15. Completion is scheduled within 200 calendar days. The architect is John S. Ward Jr., also of Amarillo. The new building will include what is generally known as a Community Room to accommodate small community, civic and committee meetings. It will seat up to 40 people. The site for the new bank lies on seven lots that will give the building a 175-foot frontage on Denver Ave. The site, 140 feet deep, lies on the east side of Denver and the north side of Fourth St. The front will have large glass areas. The residences formerly on this Fourth and Denver site have been moved and the site prepared for the new bank since announcement of the expansion program was made by the Citizens Bank last Sept. 18. The bank will also have two drive-in windows for convenience to customers.—THE DALHART TEXAN.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his birdseed farm reports on economics this week, without any effect on the situation.

Dear editor:

As I understand the reports from Washington, the recession, if we had one, has now hit bottom and things are picking up, although you've got to understand us economists speak only in general terms and it's possible to have a private recession in the middle of boom, and I suppose a private boom in the middle of a recession.

At any rate, I've been interested in what caused the thing and yesterday afternoon I found out from a newspaper the wind had blown against a fence out here on my farm. When a fence has no more wind resistance than mine, it's not good farming practice to leave a newspaper lodged against it, so I pulled this one off and read it.

According to it, nine economists were called on by a Senate Committee to explain what caused the recession and they thought it over and reported "the recession was caused by the good times of previous years."

This seemed to suit the Senate Committee, but it doesn't suit me. That is, I'm not arguing over whether it's right or not, what I want to know is: if good times are to blame for bad times, and everybody is always struggling and hoping for good times, aren't they just inviting a recession? When Congress passes a law trying to end a recession, isn't it just arranging for good times which will in turn bring on another recession?

I tell you, I don't like this theory of economics. It's like arguing the only way to end a rainy spell is to have a drought, or the only answer to a drought is a flood. It's sort of like blaming war on too much peace, or divorce on marriage.

Generally you might be able to argue that too many Democrats too long in power will bring on too many Republicans too long in power, with the thing switching back and forth every few years, and that might be right, but I'd just as soon have some other arrangement for the economic system. Politics is all right for entertainment, but economics is where your bread and butter is.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Bus Rides Free in Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The inflationary spiral knocked the five-cent bus ride out the window long ago, but another burgeoning American problem has brought Toledo bus riders an even bigger bargain.

They get their bus rides free. Not all over town, of course. The free rides are granted only inside a 24-block zone covering most of the downtown business section.

It's all part of a system to speed up traffic flow and encourage downtown shopping. Traffic jams have been virtually eliminated in the process.

Passengers riding into the zone pay upon entering the buses. Outgoing riders pay when they get off. Rides beginning and ending in the free zone cost nothing at all.

The big advantage of the system is that it speeds loading and unloading in the downtown area. Bus drivers no longer have to spend time counting heads and change at each downtown stop.

The system was inaugurated in December, 1955, after city officials noted that much of the downtown traffic congestion was caused by the buses' long curb stops.

Community Traction Co., franchise operator of the buses, agreed to try out the free zone plan and downtown merchants pounced on the idea. They promoted it as an answer to the threat from suburban shopping centers.

A later development involved a tightening of on-street parking restrictions. On many streets, parking was banned entirely during morning and evening rush hours. Remaining metered parking places were put on a skip-space basis to enable cars to get in and out of traffic.

Paul Robinette, city commissioner of traffic engineering, says the zone system and revised parking laws have resulted in a 30 per cent improvement in the movement of downtown traffic.

FREE RIDE—Bus driver Charles Bub waves away Donna Coe's attempt to pay for a bus ride inside Toledo's downtown "free ride" zone. The plan speeds loading and unloading, thereby relieving traffic congestion.

C. H. Forsgard, president of Community Traction, says the system has cut downtown loading and unloading of buses by as much as 50 per cent, bus running time through the downtown area by 30 per cent and total bus trip by 15 per cent.

To the bus company, the free rides within the neutral zone are a necessary evil, unavoidable if the drivers are to be freed from taking fares downtown.

But, Forsgard says, "Any possible loss of fares and transfers has been compensated by speed of loading and improved public relations."

Q. How can I clean sterling silver articles?

A. Wash in baking soda and a little warm water, using a brush if desired; rinse in clean water and dry thoroughly.

Q. How can I repair a small hole in a window screen?

A. Fasten a piece of mosquito netting over the hole. Give it a coat of shellac, and a second coat if necessary. When dry it will be as stiff as the rest of the screen.

Q. How can I clean candles?

A. Decorative candles that have become soiled can be cleaned to look as nice as when new by sponging with a piece of absorbent cotton dampened with alcohol.

Q. How can I soften shoe polish?

A. The can of shoe polish that has become hard can be renewed by moistening it with a few drops of kerosene.

Q. How can I avoid breaking the meringue when cutting a pie?

A. Dip the knife into cold water before cutting each slice of the meringue pie, and see how neat the slices are, without breaking or sticking.

At a road speed of 60 m.p.h. approximately 3,000 gallons of water are circulated through the average automobile radiator each hour.

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. Does one's hairstyle really play a big part in shaping one's face?

A. Hairstyling is vitally important in making the shape of the face, the contour of the head, the outline of the figure. Consider the arrangement of your hair first in a hand mirror, to see the effect on the features. Second in a hand mirror and wall mirror together to see the effect on the shape of your head from every angle. And finally in a full-length mirror to see how your hair affects your height and the proportions and silhouette of all your body. Only in this way can you tell whether you are right in wearing bangs, a bob, long or short hair, or whatnot.

Q. What is a good facial beauty mask that will also help to bleach the skin?

A. Add the juice of a lemon and enough powdered oatmeal to one beaten egg white to make a paste, and apply this to the skin in the usual manner.

Q. Please suggest a good bleaching lotion for the hair on the legs.

A. One part ammonia mixed with six parts of peroxide. Q. Are there certain foods which encourage beauty and health in the hair?

A. Foods containing iodine are most important for hair beauty—such as sea greens (powdered), codliver oil, fish, and pineapple. Peelings of apples, potatoes, and other fruits and vegetables contain much iodine. Eat them for more beautiful hair!

Q. How can I exercise to develop and firm the muscles of rather flabby thighs?

A. Try the "fencer's lunge." Stand with legs wide apart, toes of right foot forward, toes of left foot pointed to the side, arms up. Put weight on right leg and bend right knee as far as it will go, the left leg remaining straight. Stretch and bend right leg 20 times, or as often as possible. Then repeat with the left leg.

Q. What can I do to accent eyes which are very small?

A. Usually, mascara is applied only to upper lashes—but in the case of small eyes, use some on the lower lashes, too.

Q. What makeup technique will help to minimize the appearance of a long, thin neck?

A. Use a foundation cream on the neck that is one shade lighter than your natural skin tone. Long-necked persons should also dress their hair as low as possible, and refrain from wearing dresses with low necklines which tend to accentuate the neck length.

Q. What is a good treatment for inducing strength in the fingernails?

A. Regular buffing of the nails is very good. Colorless iodine, painted over the nail and around the cuticle periodically, is a healthful practice, too.

Q. How can I remove a light scorch stain from a heavy woolen garment?

A. Try wetting the stained area with water, sprinkling cornstarch over it, and rubbing this well in. When absolutely dry, brush the powder off.

Q. Please suggest something I can do for enlarged pores in my face.

A. More frequent cleansings of the face tend to shrink these pores. Large-pored skin usually accompanies oiliness, so use lots of soap and water. Next, apply skin lotion to do an extra-careful rinsing job. Finish with vigorous patting with astringent. For social times, camouflage these openings with a heavy makeup base or skin paste.

'MUSIC MAN' HAD TROUBLES

NEW YORK (AP)—Add "The Music Man" to the wry list of smash Broadway hits that had pre-opening financial troubles.

When the Meredith Willson musical comedy was in the planning stage, one of the potential backers approached was the Columbia Broadcasting System, which had gotten into show business by underwriting the cost of another great success, "My Fair Lady."

According to trade sources, however, network executives felt the new prospect was "too corny" to find boxoffice success.

Other backers put up the necessary $300,000—and the heavy demand for tickets following rave notices makes it likely that the entire investment will be returned by March 15, after which the show can gross a capacity profit of $17,000 per week.

IDEA PAYS OFF

NEW YORK (AP)—A performer doesn't always have to act in a Broadway hit to share its financial success.

Mildred Dunnock first called the script of "Look Homeward, Angel" to the attention of Producer Kermit Bloomgarden because she thought there might be a part in it for her.

Bloomgarden immediately decided he would bring it to the stage. Instead of casting Miss Dunnock in it, however, he gave her a 2 1/2 per cent interest in the ownership of the production.

The highly hailed drama is expected to pay off its investment and begin paying dividends by February.

Hartford discovered Miss Brooks at a small suburban London theater where she has been acting for a year and a half.

Singer Burl Ives Getting Reputation as an Actor

HOLLYWOOD — A 300-pound ballad singer is fast getting a reputation as one of the finest character actors since the later Walter Huston.

"BIG DADDY"—Burl Ives relaxes on the set of "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," film version of the Broadway play in which he scored in the meaty role of "Big Daddy."

And Burl Ives' success is confounding the Actor's Studio graduates with whom he works on Broadway and in Hollywood. "Big Daddy," they say to me, "how did you learn so much theater overnight?"

Ives, a character long before he became an actor, answers that one: "Hell, I've gotten up on a stage all alone with a guitar before thousands of people all over the world. Don't those kids know that's theater too?"

Ives has made four movies in 13 months, playing roles that call for a Huston or a Tracy. He soon will be seen in "Desire Under the Elms," "The Big Country," "Across the Everglades" and the re-creation of his stage hit "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof."

Who discovered that Ives, the international folk singer, was a dramatic actor?

"I did," he answers with absolute modesty. "I knew it long before anybody."

Back in 1946, Ives wanted to break from singing "Jimmy Crack Corn" and go in for serious drama. He grew a beard and posed for some dramatic stills.

MGM, the studio where he is making "Cat," saw the photos and called him in for a test. Director Robert Siodmak hired Ives on the spot for a role in "The Great Sinner."

But Siodmak was overruled by the front office and Huston got the role. Apologetically, the director told him that the big-wigs didn't want any ballad singer.

Then Elia Kazan, who seldom listens to front office casting, cast Burl as the sheriff in "East of Eden." The performance was so good that Kazan gave him the role of "Big Daddy" in Tennessee Williams' "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof." For Ives, the performance was a critical blockbuster — and Hollywood has been after him ever since.

"And they don't even ask me to bring my guitar anymore when I'm invited to parties," he laughs.

Some people have called Burl a hobo who got lucky. He denies this.

Always husky, he went to Eastern Illinois State Teachers College intent on becoming a football coach. He made the football team, the glee club and the drama society. Then one day in the middle of an English class, he gazed out a window.

"It was spring. The sun was warm and the outdoors looked so alluring that I just got up in the middle of the class, walked out of the door and traveled all over the country."

He started with a banjo and 15 cents cash — and literally sang for his supper. He claims this is where the hobo legend started.

"Actually, I was just a tourist without funds," he recalls. "There's quite a difference." But that two-year tour — hobo or tourist — gave Ives a folk song repertoire unique in musical history. He became a historian of American folk music and decided to make it his career. His way with a guitar and a ballad brought him his first fame on radio. By 1940, he was a favorite of the folk song and Bohemian set.

Concerts during the next few years took him all over the world and, along with proceeds from records and acting, made him millions. But his mode of living is not exactly typical.

For instance his home is a 32-foot sloop. His two cars are 1934 and 1936 Packards.

"I keep the 1934 job out here because it is a Phaeton and has that sporty look for California. The 1936 is my town car. I keep that in New York."

His wife and 11-year-old son live on the sloop when the Ives are not traveling.

Despite his weight, Burl is his own stunt man in the movies. It's partly because he wants realism in his own performances and partly because there's not a stunt man in the business near his size.

In "Desire Under the Elms," he does a somersault and a wild dance that was an open invitation to a heart attack.

"I told them to be sure and have those cameras in focus because I was only going to do it once." It's a highlight of the picture.

When they were shooting "The Big Country," Burl had to pose for some pre-production stills sitting on a horse. The script had not called for him to do much riding — something the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals must have had a hand in.

"But I once saw a painting of Ghenghis Khan sitting on a horse. It always fascinated me. So when I posed on the horse, I sat in the saddle Ghenghis Khan style. Willie Wyler (the director) has a good eye. So he had me do more riding in the picture than John Wayne does in his movies."

WHAT MAKES A SAINT?
SIOUX FALLS, S. D. — What are the hidden, inner motives that make some people become dedicated saints?

That question should be explored by churches on a systematic basis if they want to shape their appeals to produce the most results, says the Rev. Dr. Dean Goodwin, communications director of the American Baptist Convention. Unconscious motives, he said, produce more action than conscious ones.

SHOW MUST GO ON
PHILADELPHIA — The show must go on — even if the producer has to do the performing.

That is what happened during the tryout here of a new musical comedy, "The Body Beautiful." Leading man Jack Warder came down with laryngitis just before curtain time.

With no understudy available, Richard Kollmar, co-sponsor of the show and a former singer, took over the assignment and carried through without dropping a note.

VANCOUVER SETS FESTIVAL
VANCOUVER, B. C. — Vancouver is joining the summertime festival procession with a 10-feature program of music, dance and drama next summer.

Features are to include presentation of a play "The World of the Wonderful Dark," by Lister Sinclair, the miming of Marcel Marceau and Mozart's opera "Don Giovanni." The festival, from July 19 to Aug. 16, is under patronage of Vincent Massey, governor general of Canada.

'CRY FOR HAPPY' SET AS MUSICAL

NEW YORK — Originally planned for conversion into a comedy, the new novel "Cry for Happy" is now slated for Broadway arrival as a musical. The score for the George W. Campbell story will probably be done by Burton Lane, last represented on the Main Stem with "Finian's Rainbow" 10 years ago. The production is planned for next fall.

RACIAL SOCIALIZING LIMITED

NEW YORK — Findings of a survey reported in the current issue of the Catholic Digest are that only 3 per cent of northern whites and one per cent of southern whites have ever entertained Negroes in their homes. Among Negroes, only 2 per cent of the northern and less than 1/2 per cent of the southerners have ever received whites socially in their homes.

Trapeze or Chemise?

"I don't know what all the fuss is about," says Leonard Arkin, veteran New York dress manufacturer. "People keep on arguing about the chemise, but as for us — we just sell them. Women must be buying them, or we wouldn't have so many reorders from all the stores."

"The chemise silhouette is standard now in our regular line," says his son Andrew. "It's no novelty any more and it's selling like hot cakes. We have one summer chemise in black cotton lace that has sold over 5,000 units, not to mention all the copies that are all over the place."

The Arkins, father and son, don't worry about whether American husbands like the sack silhouette, so long as American wives and daughters buy it. And that's just what they're doing, in big cities and little towns all over the country, according to the reports of the Arkins and other New York dress manufacturers.

"The trapeze silhouette is newer than the chemise," says Andrew, "and it's even more popular, because it's a little easier for the average woman to wear. It's the novelty in our line, and we're making lots of trapeze dresses and suits for fall — not the whole line, of course, but a good part of it."

For the transitional season between summer and fall, the Arkins are showing dark cottons and silks and a special group of cotton tweeds, perfect for travel or town wear in late summer and early fall. Among the most successful designs in this group are a flaring trapeze suit and a sleeveless chemise with slightly fitted front and loose back with a long fringed panel tied low in back.

FIRST HINT OF FALL—Cotton tweeds make the transition from summer to fall. Left is the popular trapeze suit; right, panel-back chemise. By Leonard Arkin.

Woolens
Lukewarm washing and rinsing waters are best when laundering woolens. Make up mild soap or soap powder into fluffy suds and place in the washing water just before putting in the woolens. Soap should not be rubbed directly on them as this tends to break the threads or stretch the garment out of shape.

Match Scratches
To remove scratches made on wood by scratching matches first rub the marks with a cut lemon, and then with a damp cloth and a little whiting. Rinse, and polish with a soft cloth.

Croquettes
Croquettes will keep their shape much better if they are formed about two or three hours ahead of time, and are thoroughly chilled before they are fried.

Cake Batter
If you find that you have added too much flour when mixing cake batter, add beaten egg gradually until you have obtained the right consistency. Do not add milk, as this is apt to toughen the texture of the cake.

Window Shades
To paint window shades successfully give them a coat of flat paint that is thinned to a cream-like consistency.

Puddings
The flour can be prevented from lumping when making pudding, if the sugar and flour are mixed well together before adding the milk.

Old Lace
To remove yellow spots from old lace, wet the lace and spread where it will freeze, or wet and spread it in a very hot sun. Either method may require several days to bleach thoroughly, and the lace must be kept wet all during the process.

Ferns
Sometimes a fern that is thought to be dead can be revived by placing the pot in a tub of hot water for about an hour, or until the water becomes cool.

Fruit Stains
Use cold water and wipe up at once any fruit stains on the floor. Do not use hot water as it sets the color.

Rusted Screws
Loosen a screw or nail which has become rusted in wood by applying a little hot paraffin to it. Let the paraffin soak in for a short time and see how easily the screw or nail will yield.

LATIN LOVERS OVERRATED, SAYS BRITISH MISS

NEW YORK (AP) — After a 22,300-mile jaunt around the land, actress April Orlich has decided that American men have it all over Latin men when it comes to romance.

"The reputation of Latin lovers is overdone — a lot of fancy flourishes that mean nothing," says Miss Orlich, a 24-year-old British miss who spent most of her teen-years in South America.

During her tour, on behalf of the movie "Pursuit of the Graf Spee," April gained attention by declaring her determination to wed a Yankee.

"I had six proposals but none were right," she says. "It bothers her that U. S. women don't seem to appreciate their men fully."

"That's what happens when something is always around," she says.

Girl Gains Fame In Music World

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Every lady had to learn to play the piano in Grandma's day. When Mom was a girl the player piano took over, becoming the gathering spot for teenagers when they got together. The group belted out "Lover Come Back to Me," "Together" or "Among my Souvenirs," and there didn't seem to be much reason to take piano lessons when your feet could make music by pushing pedals. So the piano dimmed in popularity.

More than one young adult is asking the family to find a place for a piano nowadays, however. Van Cliburn's victory abroad and his ticker tape reception in New York may put the record player back a few light years as young adults try to counterpoint their way to fame.

And now Linda Babits, 17, of New York City, has realized her own ambition in the music world. Her "Western Star" concerto for piano and orchestra was first choice of over 200 manuscripts for symphony orchestra submitted during the last year to the Salt Lake Philharmonic.

The piece was conceived by Linda on a lonely evening when she was attending the University of Rhode Island Summer Camp.

"I was recalling childhood memories, stories Dad used to tell my brothers and sisters and me. Lovely tales, they were, about the days when he was a poet cowboy blazing trails of verse across the Southwest. I decided to put all these thoughts on paper, tales of the brooding night, wind on the prairie, the muted beat of falling rain, the lowing of cattle, thunder, stampede, a campfire and cowhands, songs of hope filling the mountainside and plains."

Linda's "Western Star," glowing in brilliance, wanes in the sky, and a new day is born as "hooves quicken as they hurry homeward."

Linda put all her thoughts that night on paper, and sent them to her father — "a letter from a lonely girl," says Linda. Linda has played a Town Hall in New York, a triumph in itself.

"But little did I dream," says Linda, "that I would win the Salt Lake City competition."

The performance of "Western Star" will be one of the highlights during the "Days of 47" festivities commemorating the entrance of the Mormon Pioneers into the Salt Lake Valley. Conductor Eugene Jeselnik described Linda's concerto as "an early American work of eloquent symphonic proportions."

What a fix we'd all be in without those standards of measurement for the goods you buy and sell. Imagine the confusion, waste and doubt in business transactions if we didn't have accepted standards of weights and measures—known values.

We believe it is just as necessary for us to tell you what you get for your advertising dollars, in terms of known circulation value, as it is for you to do business with your customers on the basis of recognized standards. That's why this newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

WHAT IS THE A.B.C.? The Bureau is a cooperative and nonprofit association of 3450 publishers, advertising agencies and advertisers in the United States and Canada. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring, auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

WHAT A.B.C. DOES FOR YOU. At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors comes to our office and makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. He has access to all of our books and records to obtain the FACTS that tell you what you get for your money when you advertise in this newspaper.

WHAT A.B.C. REPORTS TELL YOU. The circulation FACTS obtained by the A.B.C. auditor are condensed in easy to read A.B.C. reports which tell you: How much circulation we have; where the circulation goes; how it was sold and many other FACTS about the audience we provide for your sales messages. Make your advertising investments on the basis of this audited information. Ask for a copy of our A.B.C. report.

OUR AMERICAN HERITAGE:

Soup Modernizes Old Idea

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Going camping this summer? On a long motor trip with an outdoor cooking outfit in the back of the car? Running up meals on a boat? Or is your family "camping out" in a summer cottage with limited kitchen facilities?

The chances are that when you make up your food lists for such vacation enterprises, you'll include some neat envelopes of soup mix. Small enough to tuck into a pocket, these mixes are in our opinion some of the best of modern quick food products. Maybe because no one has yet put into them the synthetic vanilla that is omnipresent in cake mixes!

This soup mix idea isn't exactly new. A century ago American cookbook authors gave directions for a portable soup. "If you have any friends going on the overland journey to the Pacific, a box of portable soup may be a most useful present to them," one of these early lady authors counseled.

Those portable soups of the 1800s took several days to make and were extracts of meat and bones. When the soup was finally boiled for the last time for six or seven hours, it was brought "to a proper thickness, which should be that of a stiff jelly, when hot; and when cold, it should be like hard glue."

"If well made it will keep for many months in a cool, dry place — a piece of this glue, the size of a large walnut, will, when melted in water, become a pint bowl of soup." Then, just as we might advise nowadays, cooks were told that "by using less water, you have it much richer."

"If there is time and opportunity, boil with the piece of soup a seasoning of sliced onion, sweet marjoram, sweet basil, or any herbs you choose." This counsel "to doctor up" portable soup reminds us of our present way of fixing up soups to give variety and extra good flavor.

Those pieces of soup are a far cry from the delicious portable soups of today. Take one of our modern favorites, prepared dry onion soup. Small shreds of dried onion team with a full-flavored powder containing beef extract, onion powder and vegetable protein. When you want to change the onion soup mix's flavor, add grated cheese and carrot, a few extra seasonings and white sauce to it and you'll have what we think is an unusually delicious dish. Try it now on your family; keep it in mind for those rainy spells later on when bowls of hot soup in front of a log fire are one of summer's delights.

SAVORY CHEESE SOUP

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons prepared dry onion soup mix (just as it comes from the 1½ ounce envelope), 1 cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons finely grated carrot, 2 tablespoons flour, 3 cups milk, 1 cup medium-grated cheddar cheese, ¼ teaspoon salt, pepper, 1/8 teaspoon dry mustard.

Method: Stir onion soup mix into boiling water and simmer

PALATABLE PORTABLE—This "savory cheese soup" was concocted from an envelope of onion soup mix. Modern soup mixes are improvements of the portable soups in the 1800's.

10 minutes. In a 2-quart saucepan or kettle over low heat melt butter and cook carrots until tender — 3 to 5 minutes. Blend in flour, then onion soup mix; stir until thickened. Add milk, cheese, salt, pepper and mustard. Stir constantly over low heat until hot. Do not boil. Makes 4 servings.

Wind, Rain Hits Vicinity But No Damage Reported

By MRS. CARL WIMBERLEY

Approximately 1/3 to 1/2 inch of rain fell in the vicinity of Dawn last Saturday night. Winds of extremely high velocity followed the rain, but no damage to crops has been reported.

Dawn residents who are in hospitals in Hereford and Canyon are reported to be improving. Mrs. Bill Tucker is in the hospital in Canyon and Alfred May is in the Deaf Smith County Hospital in Hereford.

The Rev. Paul McClung resigned Sunday as pastor of the Dawn Baptist Church, effective July 7. He has accepted the pastorate of the Rocky Mountain Baptist Church at Overton. The McClungs plan to move next week.

The Rev. McClung has been the local pastor since August, 1951. He attended East Texas Baptist College in Marshall and completed one year of work at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth while here at Dawn. He has taught the weekly Sunday School lesson over KPAN in Hereford for the past three and one half years.

Visitors at the church services Sunday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Smith and children of Hereford and Mr. and Mrs. Finis Wright of Amarillo. Smith, who plans to attend the Assembly of God Seminary at Waxahachie this fall, is a radio announcer at KPAN.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Bassett of San Marcos, Calif., visited this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Fuller Sr. and sons. The group went to Palo Duro Canyon and attended the wrestling matches in Amarillo Thursday night. They visited Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Weed and family in Amarillo Friday.

Glen Fuller spent Thursday night in Amarillo with his grandmother, Mrs. Millie Fuller.

Mrs. Clarence Betzen attended a coffee Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. Howard Walker in Hereford.

Dinner guests Sunday in the Clarence Betzen home were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Luke of Hereford, Jane Wilhelm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilhelm of the Frio community, visited Sunday night with Beverly Betzen.

Warren Jett, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Muri Little the past several weeks, has returned to his home at Cheyenne, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Spicer and children of Bovina were guests in the Muri Little home Sunday.

Mrs. Tony Benson of Roswell, N. M., visited from Tuesday until Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Smith. Benson arrived Saturday night and they returned home Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. A. T. Frye, Mrs. Jim White of Canyon and Mrs. Baker Womble of Hereford were guests of Mrs. Ernest May of Hereford on a fishing trip to Conchas Lake in New Mexico Friday and Saturday. They stayed in the Mays' new cabin. Mrs. Frye reported they caught quite a lot of fish. All the ladies are formerly of Dawn.

Mrs. R. T. Stewart won a clock radio Monday from the Women's Club of the Air on an Amarillo Radio station. Mrs. Stewart has been a member of the club for some time.

Mrs. H. H. Miller, rural service and public relations representative of the Dawa area, attended a Red Cross meeting at the courthouse in Hereford Thursday afternoon. She reports that the Water Safety Courses sponsored by the Red Cross are now being held, and people of all ages may take these by paying a $2 fee for the use of the Hereford swimming pool. Several people from here participated in these events last summer.

Mrs. I. A. Bynum and Mrs. Paul Frye Sr. of Amarillo visited Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Frye.

Phyllis Ann Wimberley visited over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Pruet in Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Williams and children of Dallas visited Saturday through Monday with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gentry and family. The Wil-

Chambers Family Has Reunion in Lubbock

A Chambers family reunion was held Friday in Lubbock in the home of J. C. Chambers.

Sisters who attended were Mrs. L. R. Blevins and children, Jo, Cherry Ann and Sally, of Carmichael, Calif.; Mrs. Monroe Horton and children, Joyce and Virginia, of Benture, Calif.; Mrs. Wayman Davenport and Miss Mary Francis Chambers, both of Amarillo; Mrs. J. J. Kennen of Roswell, N. M.; and Mrs. Elmer Patterson of Hereford.

Brothers who were present were Bill Chambers of Clarksville, Ark.; Bob Chambers of Umbarger and J. C. Chambers. Prior to the reunion in Lubbock, Mrs. Blevins and children and Mrs. Horton and children visited in the home of their sister, Mrs. Elmer Patterson in Hereford.

WEDDING DATE SET

Marjory Bearg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bearg, of Hiawatha, Kan., has chosen Aug. 24 as the date of her marriage to Whitney Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hicks, of Garden City, Kan. The groom is the grandson of the late W. E. Hicks, formerly of Hereford.

Businesses were en route to California for their vacation.

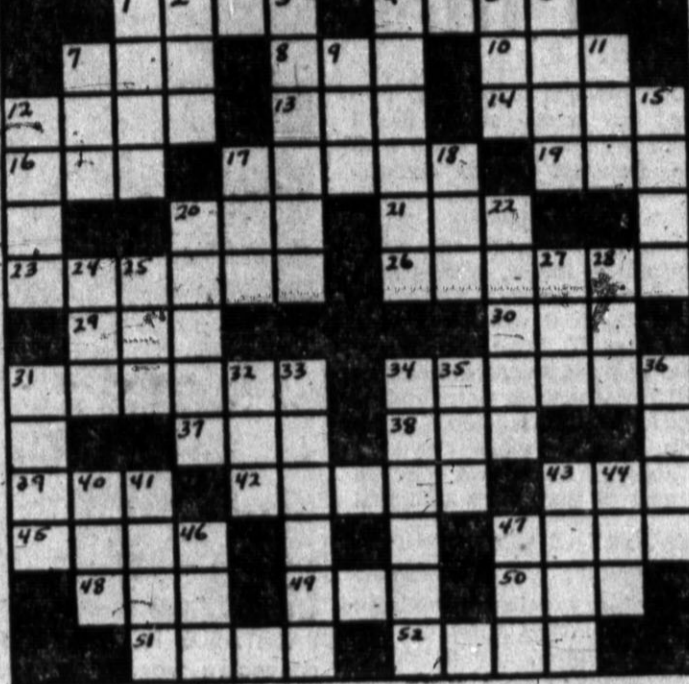

Mrs. H. H. Miller visited Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Cora Bentley in Hereford. Mrs. Miller and children visited Miss Vera Crawford in Canyon Saturday. Miss Crawford is badly bruised from a fall Wednesday. Linda Tooley spent Sunday night with Sandra Vaughn in Hereford.

Mr. and Mrs. Hazel Quinn and baby of San Antonio were dinner guests last Wednesday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Neal. The Quinns were en route to Bowie, Ariz. Gayle Neal left Monday on a business trip to Uvalde.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Smith visited last Sunday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Hewitt at South Plains.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dow Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Toney and children of Clayton, N. M., and Della Ruth Dow of Hereford.

HERE'S HOW:

Build Trellis Planter

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If you like plants but can't quite keep them under control, consider making a trellis planter. These are several advantages to the planter: (1) it will offer your plants a leaning post to encourage growth and (2) keep them in a neat arrangement. It may be an ideal screen for the summer fireplace, or an addition to a window sill, picture window or porch.

Start with a wooden flower box, the required length for the area you wish to decorate, making frame and planter of redwood, fir, pine or what have you. If it is to be used indoors, give the box several coats of thinned shellac or paint it.

After the box area is set, make uprights for the side of the box, depending on the height you want, using a frame of 1 by 3 inch wood, and joining it by a bar across the top, placing eyelets about 6 inches apart across the bar.

Place the eyelets the same distance apart on the length of one side of the box. Rope or nylon clothesline may be laced in an X design along the flower box from the top row of eyelets to the row along the rim of the box. You may open the eyelets with pliers for easier lacing.

Line the box with tinfoil and set the plants in it right in their own clay pots, adding more soil to bring the planter to a level to conceal the pots.

A pretty arrangement may combine variegated ivy that climbs up the trellis with geraniums, Begonias and philodendron make another attractive combination. A background of ivy may be cultivated to a massive display with plants in the foreground changed to suit seasonal moods. African violets, dwarf marigold, dwarf zinnias, ageratum, petunias and bleeding hearts may offer variety with climbing plants for hand-some displays.
