"One slight change has been made in the registration schedule," Cunningham said. "The students in all elementary schools will enroll Thursday, Aug. 28, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the school which they will attend; this includes Dawn and Parkview, along with the elementary schools in Hereford."

Cunningham said that Friday was dropped from this schedule in order that parents would not be required to come both days, where they had children in different grades.

Where Will You Go To School?

"Students who may have previously registered will be expected to attend registration at the time designated for their classes," Cunningham said. They will be issued cards and can discuss any other measures which might come up regarding the student or school curriculum.

The High Plains Underground Water Conservation District will open a five-county office in Hereford, possibly within the coming week, according to announcement today of Tom McFarland, manager.

Around Town

Temporary breaks in the heat wave seemed to have started things rolling Around Town the past week, or maybe it was scheduled opening of the 1958-59 school terms Tuesday, Sept. 2.

School Bus Runs To Begin Sept. 2

The 20 school buses which serve Hereford Rural High School District will begin operation Tuesday, Sept. 2, on the opening day of school, again under supervision of Bob Wilson, who said today that most of the routes will have the same drivers as last year.

E. D. Stanley, bus 35, route 11, Ford community, west and south; B. R. Flowers, bus 35, route 13, Westway and north; Jim Garner, bus 37, route 3, Wyche and south; J. Hunter, (Continued On Page 2)

T. E. Seigler, recently resigned manager of Deaf Smith County Hospital, was also wrapping things up in preparation of moving to Bay City, where he will manage a hospital. Leonard Watson, his replacement, arrived here Thursday from Pampa, and T. E. plans to leave next Thursday. His family will remain in Hereford, however, "at least until the mid-term school break."

Business Good At Post Office

Business is good! Such is the case at the Hereford post office, where receipts for the past four weeks soared almost 50 per cent over the same period in 1957.

Final Rites For Mrs. Pat Lackey Set Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Pat Lackey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hardwick, will be held from The Presbyterian Church in Hereford Monday afternoon, at 2:30 p.m., under direction of the Rev. Russell Winger, pastor.

Committee members on the West Texas Stadium drive for this area will meet in the director's room, Hereford State Bank, for a pre-drive session on Tuesday, Aug. 26, at 5:30 p.m., according to Chairman Townsend Douglas.

Other drivers and their routes were listed as follows by Fred Cunningham, superintendent: J. C. Reese, bus 24, route 20, Labor Camp; B. E. Harris, bus 25, route 18, west of Hereford; Mrs. J. D. Tyler, bus 26, route 8, Progressive; A. J. Hudson, bus 28, route 14, Westway and north-west; L. L. Chisum, bus 29, route 17, Summerfield and south; John Gandy, bus 30, route 2, south of Hereford, east of Frio; Mrs. J. Dawson, bus 31, route 19, Frio community and west; Mrs. B. Hutson, bus 32, route 12, Ward community; W. Vaughn, bus 33, route 16, Summerfield, north and west; Mr. Battenhorst, bus 34, route 10, Ford community, east and south.

"Money orders, as usual this time of the year, accounted for a lot of the business," she said. She also said that the General Delivery window handled from 10,000 to 15,000 pieces of mail each week this year, attributing the rush to replacement of Mexican Braceros crews with migratory labor from the Texas Valley.

No Encephalitis Cases This Year

No cases of encephalitis or "sleeping sickness," has been reported here this season, according to Dr. E. E. Wills, County Health Officer, Saturday. Municipal spraying, the early date and "good fortune" all three probably contributed to the happy situation.

AS NEWS EDITOR:

Tuck Joins Brand Staff Tomorrow

H. A. Tuck Jr., 29, will join The Brand staff tomorrow as News Editor. A native of Dumas, Tuck was graduated from Dumas High School, New Mexico Military Institute and received his BA degree in Journalism from Texas Tech. He started his news career with the Moore County News in Dumas and worked one summer as News Editor of Station KDDD in Dumas. After serving as Assistant Director of Public Information at Tech while a senior, he joined the staff of the Amarillo Times, where he worked until he was called to active duty with the Army.

later assigned as editor of an Army weekly newspaper in Germany. While in this assignment, he became one of less than a dozen Americans who have been initiated into the Black Guild, traditional German printing guild that is believed to have been started by Gutenberg. After completing three years Army duty, Tuck became Assistant News Director and photography instructor at Texas Tech. He was assistant News Director of KDUB Radio and Television in Lubbock until he became News Editor of the Moore County News two years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Tuck and their two sons, Terry, six, and Tommy, three, will live at 812 Broadway.

"It is still too early to feel safe," said Dr. Wills. "However, we are hoping that the record for 1958 will hold on through the year." Generally spread through the Culex tarsalis mosquito and sometimes carried by birds, encephalitis spread over the Plains country in 1956. Dr. Wills said Saturday, however, that no cases of the dreaded St. Louis type were recorded in this immediate area in 1957.

Run-Off Draws Fewer Votes Than Expected

Earlier estimates of 800 votes to be cast in the Second Primary were being pared down-ward shortly after noon by election judges, who reported balloting as "extremely slow" Saturday morning.

A total of only 197 votes has been cast in Boxes No. 2 and No. 11, the only two boxes involved in the election of a County Commissioner for Precinct 2. The courthouse box reported 109 votes at 1:15 p.m., while the No. 11 box at Central School had received only 88 votes. Judges said the 109 votes in the courthouse box might be well compared with 300 votes cast in the same box by noon during the First Primary, July 26.

No indication was available as to who was leading in the Commissioner race between Otto Massie, incumbent, and J. C. Morrison. Judges said that no announcement could be made until after the polls close at 7 p.m.

Meanwhile, the state run-off between Robert W. Hamilton and J. Edwin Smith in the race for Associate Justice, Supreme Court, Place 1, appeared to be drawing very little interest in this county. General predictions estimated fewer than 200 votes in the eight county boxes, other than in Precinct 2. A comparatively good majority of the voters in the two Hereford boxes were expected to vote in the race, "chiefly because they were already there, anyway."

Burglars Hit Two Businesses Here

Two businesses, the Hereford Bakery and Wade Cleaners, located next to each other in the 500 block of Park Ave., were burglarized late Wednesday night or early Thursday morning, according to police.

Considerable vandalism damage was reported at Hereford Bakery. Entry into both businesses was gained by breaking out the windows of doors leading to the alley in back of the buildings.

Change, "but they didn't bother with the pennies." A rock, approximately 12" in diameter, was thrown through the door window at Wade Cleaners to gain entry, police said. The window at the baker had apparently been broken out with a piece of iron, which was found just outside the door Thursday morning, they added.

Wade discovered the burglary as he was opening his business at 7 a.m. Thursday. The bakery burglary was discovered at 4 a.m. Thursday by Boyd Knox and John Finley, employees.

Owners at both businesses said that no apparent attempt had been made to break into safes. Police found fingerprints on the door of the cleaners and have recorded them.

Police have questioned several persons in connection with the burglaries, but have made no arrest. They are continuing investigation and plan to question suspect.

Ernest Wade, owner of Wade Cleaners, said that approximately $90 in clothing was taken from his business, including two garments which belonged to him.

Debbis Knox, owner of the bakery, said that in addition to money stolen from two cash registers at his business, the burglars cut open twelve 100 pound sacks of flour and scratched several others with a knife or sharp instrument.

CHATTING SESSION—Judges at Precinct 2 polls in commissioner's court room reported little activity Saturday morning. Only 80 people had voted at the poll up to 11:30 a.m. But they compensated for the lack of voting activity by rehashing events of the week in Hereford. (Staff Photo)

Whitefaces Face Rugged Schedule

The 1958 Hereford Whitefaces, headed by Coach Bob Williams, will begin fall practice Friday, Aug. 29, and are determined to better their 1957 showing, despite having a rough, tough schedule ahead.

"We'll have the physicals taken this week sometime, and then begin practice Friday," Williams said. "We'll have two sessions on Friday, two Saturday, and then continue until opening game with a practice session daily."

The Whitefaces, who won two, lost seven and tied one last year face a schedule filled with some powerful opponents. Plainview, Littlefield, Levelland and Phillips are expected to be the most difficult to defeat. All of these teams dropped Hereford last year by a wide margin. Plainview beat them, 27-7; Littlefield defeated them, 33-6; Levelland won, 42-19; and Phillips beat them, 19-0.

Phillips will probably be the toughest. The powerhouse eleven is picked by many of the experts to be one of the top teams in the State.

Coach Williams is not sure about his team as of yet. "I don't know for sure how I'm set for boys," he said. "I know of a few I've lost already and I'll probably lose more because of after school jobs. I'll probably have a better picture of the team after the physicals this week. We're anticipating a large turnout, however, and a week. (Continued On Page 2)

Negro Woman Charged For Child Desertion

Arrested for child desertion in Dimmitt Thursday was Mrs. Luella Stone, 45, Negro, Dimmitt. Her arrest came about after two Negro boys, one age 15, the other age 7, were apparently deserted here early last Sunday morning. Bond for Mrs. Stone was set at $1,000 by Berry Miles, Justice Of The Peace. She is now being held in Randall County Jail in Canyon.

Man Charged For Seduction

A 19-year-old Latin-American was charged for seduction Saturday after a Latin-American woman, who is estimated to be under 25 years old, filed a complaint at the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department.

Sefirino De Los Santos, 19, Box 661, made $1000 bond Saturday morning and the case will be taken up at the next Grand Jury session. Santos was arrested at 9:05 a.m. Saturday, after a woman made a complaint that Santos had seduced her with the promise to marry her.

HACKED SACKS—Debbis Knox, owner of Hereford Bakery, looks over sacks of flour which were cut open by burglars Wednesday night or Thursday morning. Besides vandalism damage, Knox reported $58.41 was taken from two cash registers. Wade Cleaners, located next to the bakery, was also burglarized. (Staff Photo)

Hereford Postmaster Appointment Is Vague

Thirteen Deaf Smith County residents who took Civil Service exams, with an eye toward permanent appointment as Hereford postmaster, this week found themselves in about the same position as on June 28, when the first examination was held.

Temporary Postmaster Florence Traweck still fills the vacancy, and may well continue in the post for some time, depending upon future developments.

However, most of those taking the examination said that they had received cards indicating that they passed requirements of the test, but did not know if any recommendation has yet been made either to the postal department, or to the President. The 13 who took the examination were: Sue Jaftes, Bess Werner, Brucie Rose, Ernest Ford, O. J. Remling, Bill Miller, Bob Lamm, J. H. Early, Elmer Patterson, Roy Watson, Marvin Knox, B. D. Hutson and J. N. Grady.

Current procedure in appointment of postmasters, is recommendation of three names by Civil Service to the Post Office Department; these three candidates are selected on grades made in the test, points secured through military service, experience and ability. One of these names is then recommended by the President to the U. S. Senate, which makes the final appointment.

The thing that puts local candidates in a quandary is probable adjournment of the Senate in the near future. This would mean delay in any appointment until after January, 1959. In addition, the Senate recently approved only 30 names. (Continued On Page 2)

Officers Seek Man Charged In Rape Case

The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department is still looking for a 43-year-old Latin-American (name held pending arrest) who was charged Sunday for the statutory rape of his 16-year-old daughter. A complaint was filed early this week by the young girl's married sister. The father left Hereford Sunday morning. The girl told her sister that she had sexual relationships with her father earlier this month and "four or five times in the last six years." The father was engaged in farming here, and the last address of the family was in Lamb County. The mother was reported to have died about a year ago. The girl is now staying with her sister at the Labor Camp.

Hereford...

School...

(Continued From Page 1) ance program, Cunningham said that it will be offered again this year. Cost will be $2 premium per student with blanket coverage on all students the first week. He said that students will bring home forms for inspection of parents who, by signing, may keep the insurance in force. He added that the insurance is optional with parents and that it is not operated by the schools — only sponsored; he further said that the schools are not responsible for accidents any further than making statements regarding claims which may occur within bounds of school operations and activities. The 1958-59 terms will get underway, as usual, immediately following Labor Day. Proposed enrollment is expected to exceed the 2,500 last year by 100 to 150 students. Teachers, administrative officers and other faculty members, however, will open the year Monday with a teacher conference, scheduled to run Aug. 25-27, in order to acquaint the group with policies, general activities and plans for the coming terms.

School Bus...

Johnson, bus 43, route 15, Harrison Highway, west and south; J. Grady, bus 44, route 9, Eskimo Ranch and dairy road; Al Smith, bus 45, route 4, Wyche Community.

Cunningham said that busses will operate into the same schools as last year, unless changes are required due to shift in population which might over-crowd one of the schools. "Passing while school busses are stopped to discharge passengers," Wilson reported as being the greatest hazard on the long haul each day. He reviewed state laws, as stating that cars meeting halted school busses, in either direction, must stop, then pass the bus at a speed not exceeding 10 miles an hour.

"This worries us more than any other single hazard," Wilson said. "Most people cooperate wonderfully well and, we feel if others stopped to realize the danger involved that they would also comply with the state laws in an effort to make our school busses safer."

JERRY SUE BRADLEY

Woman Becomes Deputy Sheriff, Fulfills Dream

HARLAN, Ky. (AP) — "Sorry," the judge told pretty Jerry Sue Bradley, "you can't be a deputy sheriff until you're 21." Jerry Sue waited — for a week — until her birthday. Then she advanced on County Judge Cam Smith again. This time he swore her in as Harlan County's first lady deputy sheriff. It was the answer to the girl's lifelong dream. Tall, blonde Miss Bradley will operate a new two-way radio system for the sheriff's department. She'll carry a 38-caliber revolver if she chooses and will have the same authority as other deputies. "Most of all I'm proud of my badge," she told Judge Smith. The judge, after swearing her in, admonished: "Keep your powder dry."

NATIONAL STUDY REVEALS:

Hereford Residents In High Income Bracket

NEW YORK Special — Taken as a whole, residents of Hereford are now in higher income brackets than are people in most parts of the United States. A larger proportion of them are in the "have more" category, and a smaller proportion are in the "have less" group. This is made evident through a nationwide, county-by-county breakdown of 1957 incomes, conducted by sales management. The copyrighted study reveals, for each community, whether the figure given as its "average income" represents earnings evenly distributed or whether it is made up of a small number of people with very high incomes compensating for a large number with depressed incomes.

In Hereford, the more uniform situation prevails. Over 66.7 per cent of local households have spendable incomes, after taxes, of $4,000 or more. This compares favorably with the distribution of earnings in the rest of the United States, where only 59.9 per cent of all households are in the plus $4,000 brackets. In the State of Texas, there are 51.8 per cent. In terms of everyday business, the local situation makes for a better market. The average family can afford finer food, better clothes, more luxuries and more vacations.

Bride-Elect Is Feted At Parties

Gift parties honoring Miss Bonnie Axe recently included a shower tea given in the home of Mrs. N. D. Bartlett Jr. and a coffee given in the home of Mrs. George L. Olson. Miss Axe will be married to Mr. R. Wright of Abilene on Aug. 31. The tea table for the shower tea emphasized the colors of Roman rose and white, chosen by the bride for her wedding, in decoration and appointments. A shirred floor-length cloth of white maline was used over Roman rose taffeta with Roman Beauty roses and white stock combined with white tapers as the center piece.

Williams was issued a ticket for negligent collision by following too closely. Damage to the Sigman car was estimated at $75 and the Williams car, $80.

HOME ACCIDENTS

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Home accidents in the United States claim some 28,000 people killed each year. O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois, says it is important to build as much safety into your home as possible. A few safety tips he suggests include putting controls high enough on overhead garage doors to keep small children from reaching them. Flashing around chimneys and vent pipes should be provided, and fireplaces should be equipped with damper and wind shelf. Light switches should be placed out of reach of bathtubs and showers. Closet locks or bolts should be located above the reach of small children.

Their arrest was the result of a fight at a dance at the Labor Camp at 10 p.m. Friday, in which one boy was cut across the stomach with a knife. He was taken to Deaf Smith County Hospital, and was released later. Officers said that one boy has already been fined and released by Justice Court. The others were still in jail early Saturday afternoon. They were arrested by Bill McCarver, deputy Sheriff.

McGee Furniture of Hereford Conducts Tests On Nylon Carpet

McGee Furniture Company of Hereford has been selected by DuPont and Patcraft Mills, manufacturers of quality DuPont Nylon carpets, as a reputable carpet dealer to perform a special series of proof tests on nylon carpet. Hereford has been selected as the site of these tests because it has extreme conditions of sand and grit and soiling which cause ordinary carpets to lose their usefulness rather quickly. A piece of Du Pont Nylon Carpet has been installed in the driveway of Farmer's Drive-In Service Station on Highway 60. In this location the nylon carpet will be subjected to extreme conditions of rain, sun, sand, grease and tire marks from automobiles and trucks. The weight of these vehicles passing over the carpet will have a sand paper like action on the dirt and grit that will pack itself into the carpet. "The carpet which has been in this location for the past three weeks will be taken up and one-half of it will be cleaned and restored to the original condition so that a comparison to the original carpet can be made. The public is invited to inspect the carpet at any time before and after the cleaning. It will be on display at the "Grand Opening" of McGee Furniture Company, 511 Main. "Previous tests have shown that carpets of Du Pont Nylon will outlast all other carpets of equivalent construction more than five times. They also show that nylon carpets have resiliency or recovery from crushing far superior to any other carpet fiber. The colors which are dyed from special Du Pont dyes are far more color fast than dyes in other carpet fibers; it is virtually impossible to remove the twist and texture from the nylon yarns which are "heat set" at very high temperatures. "As a result of other tests made previously, carpets made by Patcraft Mills of Du Pont nylon yarns are guaranteed in writing not to wear out for period up to ten years." (adv.)

Top Cutters See Action In Contest

THIRTY-ONE HORSES, including four of the nation's top ten money winners, competed in O. G. Hill Jr.'s first annual cutting horse contest held in Hereford Thursday afternoon on the O. G. Hill stock farm, six miles west on the Harrison Highway.

The contest was approved by the National Cutting Horse Assn. at Fort Worth and the Golden Spread Quarter Horse Assn., an affiliate of the American Quarter Horse Assn. and the National Cutting Horse Assn.

There were 17 horses in the open division, competing for a portion of the $653.75, which was divided among the four top winners. Entry fee for the contest was $25, and O. G. Hill Jr. added a $250 purse.

JOE'S LAST, owned and ridden by James Kenney of Carlsbad, N. M., placed first in the day's activity and took home the big money and a trophy donated by the Golden Spread Quarter Horse Assn. The horse was victor with 147 1/2 points.

Number two winner was Poco Stampede, close with a 147 points. He was owned by Mrs. G. F. Rhodes and ridden by Jack Newton, both of Abilene.

Slats Dawson, with 146 1/2 points, placed third. He was owned by George Pardi and ridden by Minor Johnson, both of Uvalde, Tex.

There were three horses tied for fourth place: Poco Bob, owned by Hillard Miller of Colorado Springs, Colo., and ridden by Jim Hennigan of Raton, N. M.; Hollywood Sweetheart, owned by Larue Gooch of Simla, Colo., and ridden by Elmo Favors of Dumas; and Mighty Black, owned and ridden by Gayle Bourland of Olton, Tex.

Joe's Last, Poco Stampede, Slats Dawson and Poco Bob are all among the nation's top ten cutting horses. Slats Dawson is number one in the nation. The 1958 top cutting horse will be named at the State Fair of Texas.

Fourteen horses entered in the novice division, those horses that have won less than $250. Winner of this class was Poco Dorothy with 144 points. He was owned by George Pardi and ridden by Minor Johnson.

Second was Buster Cole, owned by George Lopsch of Glen Rio, N. M., and ridden by Weldon McConnell of Dalhart. He had 143 points. Guthrie Blue, owned and ridden by Gayle Bourland and Miss Copper, owned and ridden by Ray Carpenter, tied for third with 141 points.

Judges were Buster Cole of Goldsmith, Tex., and Warren Shoemaker of Watrous, N. M. Officials were Faust Collier, announcer; O. G. Hill Sr., bookkeeper; Toby Cardway, arena manager; and Harold Easley, engineer.

O. G. HILL JR., originator of the contest, thought the event was a success despite the somewhat bad weather. "I received a lot of compliments from the riders," he said. "I'm planning to have another contest next year."

Hill had more horses to enter the contest than he expected. "If we have the same success next year, I don't believe I'll have any trouble bringing an annual cutting horse contest to Hereford," he said.

Newest Highway Patrolman Likes Hereford "All Right"

By DAVID STOKER

—Sidekicking with Patrolman Kenneth Maxwell on the Texas Highway Patrol to supervise traffic on rural highways in this area is David Stringer, a rather lean, soft-spoken young man who has been in Hereford since the sixteenth day of last month.

The 23-year-old lawman (the youngest in this area) is new to this part of Texas, but says he likes Hereford "all right." Life began for him in Delia, Tex., in Limestone County, where he was born May 29, 1935 to Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Stringer. His father was a farmer.

Stringer spent the first 13 years of his life at Delia, before his parents moved to Mount Calm, a city near Delia. Here he remained until he graduated from high school when he was 17-years-old. Immediately following graduation from high school, he joined Uncle Sam's Air Force.

He spent four years in the Air Force, from 1952 to 1956. When he completed his service, he took up schooling again at Kingsville A&I at Kingsville, Tex., in Kleberg County, located on the coast. Here he saw two semesters. During those two semesters he worked in oil fields, roughnecking in his spare time to help pay his college bill. He finally left school and worked in the oil fields awhile until he decided to join the State Highway Patrol.

"I had been thinking about joining the Highway Patrol ever since getting out of service," he says. "I don't know exactly why. I just thought it would be a good life and interesting work."

In picking the Texas Highway Patrol, Stringer chose one of the best law enforcement agencies in the country. It's not easy to become a Highway Patrolman, and Stringer found this out. Like all Highway Patrolmen, he had to attend the Patrol's Law Enforcement Academy at Austin, a tough school that gives the men attending a complete knowledge of traffic laws and general law enforcement. "It was pretty tough," Stringer admits. "We had 69 to begin in our class and 44 to finish. At times I didn't think I was going to make it. I guess I was lucky."

He spent 15 1/2 weeks at the Academy and graduated July 11, of this year. He immediately was assigned to the Hereford area, one that is in great need of Highway Patrolmen.

"I like Hereford all right. Like it fine," he says. The blond headed patrolman is living at 605 Schley St. He enjoys swimming and loves movies. He is single. Something for the girls?

Farmers Await Rain For Planting Wheat

By MRS. S. N. THWEATT
The farmers are awaiting rain in order that they may begin wheat planting. The land is beginning to need rain badly.

L. D. Chiles and family of Dallas, Arlon Miller and family, W. E. Miller and Verl Miller of Floydada, Alta Wylly of Friona and Butram Jack and family were guests in the E. M. Jack home over the weekend. The Chiles family were on their way to Gunnison, Colo., for a two-week vacation. Verl Miller spent the week in the Butram Jack home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Coleman and sons, Teddy, Tex and Jo, spent the week with his mother. They returned home Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Billy Turner and children returned home with the Colemans for a short vacation.

Mrs. S. N. Thweatt is home from a four-day stay in Austin, where she attended a Texas Home Demonstration convention. Mrs. Thweatt went as a delegate among the 515 other voting delegates present at the convention. A number of people visited points of the city, but found the governor and family were out-of-town on a vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brown and Dinnie made a business trip to Oklahoma City Sunday. Barbara and David remained for a visit with their grandmother. Mrs. N. A. Brown.

Miss Betty Potts of Rosedale, N. M., visited with the Brown children Sunday while Mr. and Mrs. Brown were away.

Mrs. Frank Ford Sr. and son Johnny, spent the week at the ranch. Johnny and his father, Frank Ford Sr., left the first of the week for summer camp while Mrs. Ford joined their daughter, Susan, in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Brown and Tommy and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brown, Earl and Koller attended the wedding of their sister, Miss Geneva King, to Wendell Armstrong of Grady, N. M., Aug. 9, in Hereford. The couple left for points in New Mexico following the wedding. They plan to make their home in Clovis, N. M., on their return.

Mrs. J. E. Rouse visited with Mrs. S. N. Thweatt Wednesday. Mrs. Frank Ford, Mrs. V. A. James and mother visited Mrs. S. N. Thweatt Monday. Mrs. James still can't walk, but is improving from her injury received when she was thrown from a horse.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson and son of Pierre, S. D., were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Thweatt Monday. They were returning home from a Thompson reunion in Farwell. They will return home by way of Colorado where they plan to visit with Mrs. Thompson's sister and family.

Dealers Report 'No Strength' In Vegetables

Reporting "no strength" in vegetables of any type, Hereford dealers Saturday said that a similar situation exists all over the country. They attributed the condition to the "first home gardens" in several years as rainfall replaced drought, especially in the Southwest.

Potatoes, nearing the wind-up, were bringing from $1.25 to $2, depending on quality; top reds were going at $1.75 in a few instances, while A-1 whites occasionally brought $2.

Carrots were selling around $2.60 a carton as compared with $4 last year, and were bringing from $20 to $30 a ton to growers — a far cry from the $60-a-ton in 1957. Yields, too, were generally down in the area, a situation attributed largely to untimely rains and excessive heat.

Grand Jury Still Set For Oct. 13

The Grand Jury is scheduled to reconvene Monday, Oct. 13, unless ordered to convene prior to that time by District Judge Harry Schultz, according to Lucille Posey, district clerk, Friday.

Mrs. Posey also said that pre-trials are slated to begin Aug. 27, including the $22,300 damage suit against the City of Hereford.

Possibility of an earlier session of the Grand Jury was anticipated by some, however, in view of inspection of the Labor Camp this week, as ordered by the Grand Jury, along with two charges of statutory rape in the county, pending action of the Grand Jury.

"Any earlier meeting will be ordered by Judge Schultz," said Mrs. Posey, "and the jurors will be notified." She said that Judge Schultz was in Chicago this week.

Pardy Liner No Local Yokel IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

Our famed Pardy Liner imported a noted guest writer for this week - no "lokal yokel".

One thing I've noticed since I have been back is the serious bridge playing in Hereford, thanks to Wilma Hill, Cora Lewis and Charles Goren. By the way, one of our local residents is distantly related to the great Mr. Goren. Her name is M. S. While on the subject of bridge you'd think someone with as many lessons and experience as B. E. would know how to bid a hand correctly. The bidding progressed to six hearts (how or why I don't know) the antagonistic opponents doubled and B. redoubled. They went down to the tune of sixteen hundred points, thereby coming out loser for the evening.

Vacation time - for Earnest and Helen Langley in Red River; Fred and Virginia Kroll in Iowa; Ivan and Francis Block, Darrell and Nadine Blanton in Colorado Springs; Mutt and Virginia Wheeler, Delbert and Alma Scott in Raton; the Betty Babioness (not Ronald) in Oklahoma; Carl and Lois Hollingsworth to Lake Kemp to try out their new boat. Our young Missies are visiting away from home too. Peggy Devenport went to Clovis to visit with her namesake, and a reluctant Lenore Cox put Sheryl on a Greyhound, "Leave the driving to us", but to visit her grandparents. I'll bet that bus driver knew more about Hereford than I do by the time they arrived.

F. H. and Geneva King are back from their annual trek to Mineral Wells to the reunion of the Lost Battalion; Freda Beauchamp is back from Kansas; T. M. and Leqore Cox returned this week from Salida, Colo.; Bill and Joan Yarbrough and Herbert and Mary Louise Haseloff are still talking about their trip to Raton - so sorry to hear the Haseloffs are moving to Vernon. Several parties have been given this past week. We shall certainly miss them. Back for a visit with her folks is Mary Louise Miller from Albuquerque. She and Virginia Winget are working on a class reunion to be held next year. Also here is Winona White from Borger. She is visiting some of her friends in Hereford. While at the T. M. Coxes, it happened again! Lenore dahsed off to the deep end of the swimming pool

Sack or Chemise Dress Good Buy For Youngsters

By MRS. R. L. CRISWELL
When buying school clothes for the subteen, preteen, teen and junior sizes, the new sack or chemise dress is a good buy. With its long torso, easy waist and pleated skirt, it is a natural for the little miss to look well-dressed and comfortable, or to throw a ball or stoop to pick one up. Made of checked gingham with a self collar and bow and washable buttons, this dress would be a good buy for either the small fry, or the subteen and teen-ager.

classic and with the wash and wear fabrics, is a work-saver for busy mothers. Look for fit in the shoulders, under the arms, across the back, the hang of a gore in the skirt, the width through the middle — these all mark the difference between a coat, dress, blouse, or jacket that is unfitted or one that just doesn't fit.
Line is certainly the headline news for fall, but the new colors and fabrics are no less new. Chemise and trapeze should be made of different fabrics to be at their best. The trapeze requires heavy fabrics, such as corduroys, twill, bulky woolsens, knits and velveteens, and cotton of the weight of upholstery fabrics, for their lines are shaped by cut, fabric and underlining for the grownup. But for subteen or teen-agers, they can flap free. The trapeze requires the proper petticoat, just as the bouffant petticoats are for the very full skirts with their natural waist line, and these are still featured with their crinolin petticoats or nylon nets.

something more glamorous or as Mae West put it, something that "does something for me."

The chemise is passable on subteen and teenagers and the junior sizes, but for the woman who cares for her appearance, the woman of the world, she buys them only because of style and because there is nothing to buy in place of them. I agree with the man who said, "The only man who likes the chemise is the dress manufacturer and the merchant." If the manufacturer goes very heavily on these, he may be cut short. "Sure they like them," said Irving Alexander. "Women love new lines, and the chemise and trapeze are different. The ladies, bless their hearts just say 'if we can't lick em, jine em,' and the new lines are here to stay. Oh! for seven or eight years at least. They love the new blousons, easy waist and the shorter skirts which show a bit more of the legs, which have been covered for several years. The ladies are always glamorous, and in the new colors are beautiful. The new greens, blues and Persimmon are the best — selling colors at this time."

One gentleman refused to be quoted, but said the ladies of the earlier years were much better dressed than the ladies of today? "Who knows? A matter of taste huh?"

The most fashionable chemise or trapeze looks out of proportion if it extends half way down the calf, and must be shortened accordingly — so say the clothing specialists of the Extension Service, College Station, Tex.

The difference of opinion on the chemise and trapeze is well illustrated here. "The little girls love the chemise dresses, but their mothers do not. They beg to try them on, but invariably the mothers tell them to take them off," said Pauline Wilson.

Children have a way with parents, and the little girls win a greater part of the time. On children, they are cute and I believe they will last, but not for grownups. The ladies try them on and say, "Not for me. Why buy something that does nothing for me. I have better looking dresses in my closet."

Short skirts, the extreme ones, "Never. They are too uncomfortable; I refuse to wear a dress so short that I must spread a handkerchief over my knees." I would say about 20 per cent like them and the other 80 per cent are waiting for

Shrine Circus Girls Are Trim, Lithe, Talented

They don't come bulky in the circus any more — not the girls of the 1930s. The girls of the Shrine Circus, coming to Hereford Sept. 5, at Whiteface Field under the sponsorship of the Oasis Shrine Club. They are lithe, they are lovely and they are talented. And no matter if they risk their lives high in the air or perform difficult feats on the ground, they flaunt no bulging biceps or corrugated calves. The girls of the 1958 performance, dance and soar in beauty.

There's a reason. Circus girls start their training at kindergarten age, practice faithfully daily through their teens and at the age when most girls are attending high school, are performing hazardous feats as part of the family act. As their very lives depend on physical condition and co-ordination, most circus girls are in bed shortly after the close of the evening performance. You must keep regular hours to maintain the perfect condition that is required of all circus girls.

The new, big production numbers, especially the giant story-book spectacular, "Once Upon a Time," requires more girls than ever this year, adding scores of lovelies to the huge ensembles. As is customary, through the co-operation of local business firms, Oasis Shrine Club will see that every school child gets to see at least one performance of the circus.

Helicopter Spraying Crops On Farms In Community

By MRS. CARL WIMBERLEY
Potato harvest is underway on the W. H. Gentry farm. Quite a lot of interest has been shown in the helicopter which has been used to spray feed in the vicinity of Dawn this week. The pilot reports this type of plane is more economical to operate and sprays under the leaves of vegetables as well as on top.

The Dawn P-TA held an executive committee meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home of the president, Mrs. Ray Polan. Others attending the meeting were Mrs. H. H. Miller, Mrs. Jack Higgins, Mrs. Dick Golden, Mrs. Orval Galley and J. N. Killingsworth of Canyon.

Mrs. Andy Sartor were elected to fill the secretary office due to the vacancy caused by the Rev. Paul McClung's moving to Overton.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Stewart and children, Linda and Jerry, returned home Sunday from a two-week trip to the west coast. The Stewarts went the northern route on Highway 66. They toured the Grand Canyon in Arizona and went to Hoover Dam in Nevada. Places to camp were scarce, but they camped one night in Sequoia National Park, Calif., then went through the Yosemite Park. They saw the Giant Redwood forest at Sequoia and Mt. Whitney. The scenery was reported to be "gorgeous."

At Richmond, Calif., the Stewarts visited Mr. and Mrs. John Hall and family, who took them on a weekend sight-seeing trip to San Francisco. There, they visited China Town and went on a boat trip around Alcatraz Island and under Oakland Bay Bridge.

In Los Angeles, the Stewarts got two tickets to attend "Queen for a Day," but children under twelve were not allowed so they didn't see that program.

A day was spent at Disneyland, which Mrs. Stewart described as a "child's paradise." The piano museum there was of particular interest to her and Linda. A trip to Knott's Berry Farm and the beach were the rest of the highlights in California. The family returned by way of Phoenix, Ariz. Because of rain, the weather throughout the desert was reported to be pleasant.

Mrs. J. W. Murphy and Mrs. Louise Fayne of Clarendon visited Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Neal last Wednesday. Mrs. Neal and children, Nan, Billy and Carrie, went home with them and stayed until Saturday.

C. V. Williamson of Midland is working on construction here at the present time. The company he works for in Midland is on strike. He is Ray Polan's brother-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Hagar and children left Wednesday for Wichita Falls, where they plan to visit Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stellwell and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Benson of Roswell, N. M., visited with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Smith Friday until Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baird and family of Clayton, N. M., and Mrs. John Cammack arrived Sunday for a visit in the Smith home. Mrs. Baird is Mrs. Smith's sister and Mrs. Cammack is their mother.

On Monday, Mrs. Baird and daughters, Toni and Barbara, and Mrs. Smith visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Sam McCarty in Amarillo. The Bairds returned home Tuesday. But Mrs. Cammack remained for an extended visit here.

Miss Bertha Frye visited with Mrs. Ed Money in Canyon last week. Miss Frye and Mrs. A. T. Frye visited in the home of Mrs. Baker Womble in Hereford Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Inez Wedel and son, Karl, of Amarillo visited last Thursday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Miller.

Mrs. Miller, Audni and Dion, visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Plank Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Stewart and children of Weed, N. M., arrived Monday for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Zed Stewart. The Stewarts all went to Channing Tuesday evening to visit Mr. and Mrs. Harold Robinson and children.

Mrs. Boyd Stewart and son, Parker, arrived Wednesday to visit with the Stewarts.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gentry and family returned home Wednesday from a week's trip through Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee and Mississippi. In Arkansas, they visited in the homes of three of Gentry's friends who were in boot camp with him during World War II at Paris, Tex. These families were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Faulks at Piggott, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Godfrey at Marianna and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fields at Batavia, Ark.

The Gentrys reported that the Ozark mountains were beautiful and crops all through Arkansas were very fine. In Kentucky they visited a recently discovered ancient buried city which was at one time inhabited by the mound dwellers. The Gentrys reported that the weather for the most part was cloudy and rainy.

In Greenville, Tex., they visited Mrs. Gentry's twin sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Lechner. Jean Lechner came home with the Gentrys.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stewart of Canyon visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Russell Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Galley and children, Robert, Janice and Paul, arrived home Sunday from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Galley at Center, Colo. While there they saw the Great Sand Dunes in the San Luis Valley and drove to Gunnison by way of Cochetopa Pass and through the Box Canyon. The Galleys returned home through the Ute National park and the Red River pass.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Stewart and family vacationed in Colorado the past week. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller and family at Delta from Friday until Sunday afternoon. They visited in the Walter Galley home at Center Tuesday.

Besides having some car trouble going, Buddie Stewart became ill Sunday and had to be taken to the doctor. The Stewarts did quite a lot of cross-country driving, seeing much new scenery. They returned by way of the Arkansas River Canyon and stopped at Fort Jordan near Clayton, N. M., where there are many interesting things to see — antique cars and pianos, the Lincoln Hearse, a herd of buffaloes and a zoo.

The Stewarts reported that Jessie Miller is working through the summer months for Jack Owens, who lived in Norbourne, Mo. The Millers and Owens formerly lived at Dawn.

Sam A. Thomas, agricultural development manager, and Roland Hussey, electrical engineer from a public service company in Amarillo, were here Friday taking pictures of the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Miller who use electricity for energy exclusively. The radiant heating system which the Millers have had for nearly seven years was of prime interest to the Amarillo men. Pictures were also taken of the irrigation wells on the farm which are also on electricity and of the tile lines systems.

These pictures will be used as part of an advertising program.

Railways in India consume about one-third of the coal produced in that country. Many of the Indian rail lines are now being electrified.

Wedding Solemnized In Church

The wedding of Miss Jacqueline Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown, and William Roy Gore, son of Mrs. W. R. Gore and the late Mr. Gore, 3802 Veranda Rd., Albuquerque, N. M., was solemnized Sunday, Aug. 17, at 3 p.m. in the First Methodist Church. The Rev. Alby Cockrell performed the double-ring ceremony.

Arrangements of white gladioli and asters and Emerald palms formed a background for an archway of white chrysanthemums at the altar. Graduating wedding tapers, rising from branched candelabrum, flanked the arch.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Dick Godwin sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly". Miss Sue Kirby of Lubbock, organist, played a short prelude of nuptial music and accompanied the vocalist. She also played the traditional wedding marches.

ATTENDANTS to the bride were Barbara Williams of Moriarty, N. M., Jane Newsom, Kee Skypala, bridesmaids, and Joan Brown, who served as her sister's maid-of-honor.

All the feminine attendants wore identical ensembles of turquoise taffeta, made in the new trapeze style with fitted front bodice and released fullness from the neckline in the back. They wore tiny hats of turquoise sequins and carried bouquets of white asters.

Ray Cowan of Albuquerque, N. M., assisted the bridegroom as best man, and ushering were Bill Bragg, Julien Garcia and Ed Griffith of Albuquerque, and Manley Allen of Santa Rosa, N.M. taffeta, styled with fitted bodice coming to a point at center front and highlighted by opalescent sequin trim at neckline and long petal point sleeves. A wide panel of full lace marked the center front of the bouffant skirt worn over hoops, and alternating ruffles of tulle and lace formed the back panel, which fell into a short train.

Her circular veil of illusion fell to fingertip-length from a halo crown of opalescent sequins and seed pearls. The bridal bouquet was centered with a single white orchid, surrounded by white rosebuds showered with white satin streamers. Her only jewelry was an antique turquoise and pearl ring.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Brown chose a pink lace dress with satin trimming, a pink feather hat and pink lace mitts.

Mrs. Gore, the bridegroom's mother, wore beige lace with long beige gloves and an orange-red picture hat. Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

An open house followed at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Fluitt, 141 N. 25 Mile Ave., for the wedding party and out-of-town guests.

The bride's table was laid with a white imported French lace cloth over turquoise taffeta, highlighted by a tiered wedding confection, topped with sugarpun wedding bells and a miniature bridal couple. The top tier was removed and reserved for the first wedding anniversary. Silver candle holders and turquoise tapers completed the setting. The bridegroom's cake were of German chocolate. Punch and hors d'oeuvres were served with the cakes.

WHEN THE COUPLE departed for a wedding trip to points in Colorado, the bride was wearing a black and white suit with white feather hat and black accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from the wedding bouquet.

TELEPHONE TALK

by W. L. Leavy, Manager

LONG DISTANCE CALLING

The telephone activity has really stepped up on Hereford lately. There were over 2,200 long distance calls placed last Monday. About a third of these were dialed by the customers themselves.

By the way, the company has announced plans to put a form of direct dialing in Amarillo and Lubbock in the future.

TELEPHONE GAIN

The total number of telephones is showing a big increase too. Last month we had a net gain of 75 telephones in town.

NEW CURE FOR THE BLUES

I've always heard that women have a sure cure for the blues. Go out and buy a new hat!

Well, I'm not knocking hats or anything like that but next time you need perking up, try ordering yourself a new extension telephone—in color.

Phones now come in cherry red, moss green, pastel yellow, aqua blue, light gray, rose pink, ivory, white, and light beige. They're not expensive, either. The one-time charge for a color phone is just $10. Installation and monthly rates are exactly the same as for a standard black extension.

With a glamorous looking, step-saving, extension phone in your kitchen or bedroom, or alongside your sewing table, you'll be just a whole lot perkier.

TIPS FOR TRAVELERS

Whether you're on vacation or business, traveling by auto is a pleasant and handy way to go.

And when you're making a trip, Long Distance telephone service can be a mighty useful traveling aid.

When you start out on a long trip, for example, you can't always be sure how far you'll get by nightfall. By lunch time or early afternoon, though, it's pretty easy to decide on an overnight stopping point. And that's the time to get to a telephone and call ahead for reservations.

At the end of a long, hot drive, just knowing you have comfortable accommodations waiting is worth a lot to your peace of mind.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

RADAR METHOD SOLVES AGE-OLD PROBLEM

Where is the water? How much is there? The principles of radar have been applied after many years of research to give positive answers to these questions. Radar Technique determines depth and thickness of one or more water bearing horizons and also the relative quantity of water that can be expected at any given location. If survey indicates water, we GUARANTEE POTENTIAL TEST QUANTITY! Here, at last, is what land owners, real estate developers, municipalities and industries have dreamed about but never thought possible! No more dry holes, no more costly test drilling.

Winter Pastures Help Production

COLLEGE STATION — Most of Texas has had a good pasture year, but winter pastures will still be needed to supply green grazing while summer grasses are dormant, reminds E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist.

Winter pastures reduce the cost of wintering livestock and help maintain growth and production, points out Trew. He says many dairymen have reported net returns of $25 to $50 per acre from winter temporary pastures.

Winter pastures pay off from the soil standpoint, too, says the specialist. They cover the soil and prevent washing and blowing and the roots add organic matter.

Trew advises planting at the regular time in the fall, even if it is necessary to dust the crop in. He points out that operators who have dry plants in the past were ahead when rain did come, because the plants came up, grew off and gave grazing much sooner than where seed were not sown until after the rain.

The use of fertilizer can't be overlooked, for it will pay big dividends when needed, says Trew. A soil test is the best fertilizer dollar that can be spent, for this is the best way to determine the type and amount of fertilizer that is needed.

If the crop has to be dusted in, the specialist advises putting down the fertilizer, too. He says it won't be lost, because if rain doesn't come for the winter pastures, the fertilizer will still be there for use by the succeeding crop.

Varieties of plants to use varies with different sections of the state. Trew advises contacting the local county agricultural agent for this and other information about winter pastures. They also have copies of L-258, "Winter Temporary Pastures," which is loaded with information on the subject.

Hereford, Texas, Sunday, August 24, 1958 Section Three

Labor Housing Is Still Community Challenge

The Hereford Labor Camp has undergone scrutiny of the State Health Department, and seems to have met or bettered minimum requirements. In a nutshell, Health Officer R. R. Wilks seems to have pretty well hit the nail on the head when he told the Commissioners Court:

"The Labor Camp may be unclean or dirty, but I know of no violation of sanitary regulations from a general health standpoint."

The big question now seems to be "Where do we go from here?" Do we forget the whole thing, adopt an attitude of smug complacency, and let nature take its course? Do we, on the other hand, make an honest effort to improve conditions?

We were quite impressed with the word of caution dropped by Carlos Castillon, Executive Committee of Texas Migratory Labor, when he said:

"Sooner or later, conditions must be improved—or you will cease to get labor in the area."

Mr. Castillon cited examples, including importation of Mississippi Negroes into the Valley, in support of his claims. Furthermore, it appears to us that the man may well have pointed up the basic problem which faces people of the community.

In many respects, the people of Hereford and Deaf Smith County find themselves on the same spot they stood when the present Labor Camp was established back down the line. Housing is a basic necessity if you are to have sufficient labor and, in failing to furnish sufficient housing of the right type at the Labor Camp, we apparently have conditions within the city limits of Hereford which are actually worse than those found at the camp, where an effort is at least made to control sanitary conditions.

Several suggestions have been made on the subject, centering around private operation, county operation, city operation, moving the labor to individual farms and continued operation at the present time. Another suggestion has centered around appointment of a representative citizens committee, similar to recent school study groups, to investigate the situation, consider possibilities and make specific recommendations.

As we said before, every man, woman and child in the area economically benefits directly or indirectly from migratory labor in the community. Growers benefit most, merchants and professional people also benefit greatly; in addition, many clerks and salesmen can easily trace their jobs back to additional business resulting from infiltration of migratory labor.

In an area of this type, labor is actually worth more to the community than the combined deposits in Hereford's two banks. Also invaluable is the health and welfare of our citizens, our boys and girls, along with the health and welfare of the migratory laborers and their children.

We think Mr. Castillon was right when he said "Something must be done sooner or later." The question is, "Do we want to do it while we can—with careful planning—or do we let the labor problem, like Frankenstein, become so tremendous, that we shall fall victims to our own negligence, indifference and greed?"

Our Crime Wave

Currently, Hereford finds itself within the throes of a crime wave. The situation is worse right now than average but, all in all, we doubt if it will consistently improve too much.

Peace officers, both city and county, seem to us efficient, diligent and honest. This factor is the only one which can actually be controlled in regards to crime. The rest depends upon the people.

In part, the situation can be attributed to growth. As the community grows, it is inevitable that the number of crimes will increase. Despite everything you may do, that's just the way people are made: 1,000 people just do not commit as many crimes as 10,000 people.

Some types of local crime, however, have taken an alarming turn. It is possible that these things have been going on for a long time but, as they come to light, they present a tremendous problem and, if the trend exists and continues all over the nation, one cannot help but wonder about the future of the United States of America.

The Old West

In addition to drawing entries from over the Southwest, the cutting horse contest sponsored Friday by O. G. Hill Jr., resulted in focusing general interest on this area.

A scant generation away from "cow country days," this area has many citizens who appreciate horses and contests involving their skills. In addition to immediate success of the event, it also provides excellent public relations for the community. Mr. Hill merits approval for a good idea, well staged.

O. L. Culps Remember Hectic Model 'T' Ride

By MRS. R. L. CRISWELL

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Culp live at 218 Ave. H, in a small, pink house set back from the street. They will have been married 50 years on Dec. 25, 1958.

"I was born in Arkansas, said Mr. Culp. "The old days are also to remember, but I would not want them back. I remember helping my mother wash clothes. This was before the days of rub-boards or washing machines, even the hand-operated ones. We made our soap with a lye hopper and wood ashes."

"The hopper was made up of a couple of split logs nailed together to form a V. This was set at a 30 degree angle and filled with wood ashes. Water was poured into this until it was thoroughly wet and was allowed to drip into a pail at the low end."

"Mother used a battling bench, made of a split log with four legs attached to prevent her stooping so low. The clothes were boiled with the soap, lifted out of the boiling water, spread on the bench and battled with a battling stick again and again until they were clean. The clothes were beautifully white."

"Of course we had no clothes lines or clothes pins, but the clothes were spread over bushes, or if the grass made a thick carpet, they were spread on the grass to dry."

"Mother knitted all our socks, and each night she and father would spin the yarn until there was enough to make the number of pairs needed. I can hear the cluck of that old spinning wheel yet. It took my father a long time to learn to turn a heel and toe, but he kept on until he mastered the art. He and mother each would knit a sock a night until we had enough for family needs."

"Father loved farming, and when the first riding cultivators came in, he would not buy one; in fact, he said he would not have one if someone gave it to him. This I could not understand, and when I asked him why he didn't buy one, he said 'why son, the neighbors would think I was lazy; imagine riding all day when I am well able to walk.' It was five or six years before he finally bought one."

"I met my wife in a cotton field, where we were picking cotton. She was very pretty, even in her everyday clothes. I guess I liked that because I thought she would be neat and lovable every day of the week. We were very young, but also very much in love. We planned to elope, or as we called it then, we were running away to be so young, we were afraid our parents would not allow us to be married if I asked for her hand in marriage as was the custom in those days."

"We left our home to drive to the County sea, Meridian, and since it was on Christmas Day, the Courthouse was closed and we had to hunt the County Clerk. We did not know where to find him.

"As we were driving around town looking for his residence, we saw several of her brothers and sisters who had driven over for a lark. As it was almost noon, I took them into a restaurant and bought their lunch for them so we could find the clerk without having them follow us. We were married in the Courthouse by the Justice of the Peace. Although we had a rather hectic day in Meridian, we thought it was a very happy one."

"My wife did not have a wedding suit, but I did, and this is how it came about. My father was buying a suit for me, and we were looking over the different ones in my size. There were two I especially liked—one a gray suit for $12, the other a blue one for $20, which really took my eye. I told myself, I really must have it for my wedding. The clerk was an elderly man and wore glasses. Since I was so set on the blue, he peered at me over his glasses and said 'going to be married eh, son?' I answered, 'No,' (rather too quickly I think), 'you are badly mistaken.' But I don't think I fooled him. Father bought me the suit."

"We farmed a few years, and my brother and I bought a freight line and operated it together from Cranfills Gap to Hico and Hamilton. We worked together, and when we were tired or sleepy, we would take turns sleeping while the other drove. In that way, we made good time. We had keys to all the business houses, and whatever time we arrived, we could load or unload and not call or disturb any one. The merchants would leave their orders where we could find them. We carried a lot of money from Hico to Cranfills Gap."

"We handled the money in a townsack. Of course we had it in a regular money bag, but we would put the money bag in the townsack and toss it on top of our load of freight and did not think of it again unless we left the wagon to eat. Then we would take it with us and set it on the floor near the table. We did not think of anyone holding us up, although there were, at times, thousands of dollars in the bag."

"Now, I suppose we would have to carry guns, and then would probably get ourselves shot if anyone knew we were carrying money in such an unguarded way. Usually there was a letter to carry with the money, and we had to have an answer to the letter when we made the return trip. Later, we left the freight business and I carried the mail between Cranfills Gap and Clifton with one stop each day at a little post office of Norse."

"I had bought a few oil stocks while doing this, and I really made good on them as I had enough money to go into the Ford car business when I sold my shares. I had worked as a mechanic on the old models which had the brass lamps and a bulb-horn, and I began selling them along about the time of the first models which had a Cowdash. I do not remember what model these were."

"My wife always drove the old company car out when I had a new car to deliver. She always complained that I drove the new cars and she had to drive the old ones. But I had to drive the new one in order to have it in perfect running order when I delivered it to the new owner."

"On one special delivery, we had to go over a long hill about a mile or more, and on the way down we had trouble. But it worked out very well. On the old Model 'T' the floor boards were loose, and when going over rough road they often bounced up, and under the brake and it was impossible to put the brake on."

"This road was very rough, and when the boards bounced up, she could not slow the car. Down the hill she flew, faster and faster. She was really scared, but she drove off the road and into a ditch to get the car stopped so she could put the floor boards back in place."

"The Ford business remained good until 1919, and we went broke after selling too many cars and Ford tractors on time. The farmers just could not pay for them and did not have enough collateral to clear them."

"We have always gone to church and tried to live as Christ would have us live. One Sunday, we went to hear the Holness preacher and he told a joke I will never forget."

"A young preacher was preaching on the love of Christ and the love of husband and wife for each other. He asked each married person to stand if they had never had a cross word with their life partners. On saying this, he put one hand on the pulpit and stooped way over, with his head almost between his knees, and said 'Deacon Jones will you take the count?'

"I am very proud of the fact that all four of our children are Christians. They accepted Christ at the family altar in our home. We try to visit the sick and invalids and others who are lonely. God has been very good to us indeed," he concluded."

"I was very anxious to meet this young man," said Mrs. Culp. "I had been told of him by a number of friends, and they all spoke highly of him. The girls all told me how handsome he was. Of course I wasn't at my best in cotton picking clothes, but he seemed to understand about them and we were interested in each other from the very first meeting."

"I did not have a wedding dress as I was afraid to ask for one. I was almost sure my parents would not let me be married if they knew of it, as I had heard them talk against people being married too young."

"I wore a white silk blouse with a wide lace ruffle below the yoke and rows of lace up and down the yoke to the neck, which was high. Lace was at the throat, and this with a plain dark skirt with high-topped button shoes."

"I did not know much about cooking, but it did not take me

NEW NURSES SCHOOL

Officials of the South Plains College in Levelland announced this week that plans are being completed for a Licensed Vocational Nurses Training program to be conducted in cooperation with several South Plains hospitals. Hospitals in the training program include the Littlefield Hospital, Medical Arts Clinic, both of Littlefield, Cochran County Hospital of Morton and Phillips-Dupre Hospital and Reneger-Campbell-Walsh Hospital, both of Levelland. Facilities for 17 students will be available from the two Littlefield hospitals. Students will be paid a rising-scale salary while attending school and will receive other fringe benefits. During the first month of instruction, classwork will be offered at the South Plains College. Starting the second month, 10 hours of clinical experience in the hospitals will be coordinated with 30 hours of classwork per week. Tuition fees for the course are as yet undecided, due to the newness of the college. These fees can be paid on monthly installment, officials stated.—COUNTY WIDE NEWS (Littlefield).

MORE BLOCKS RELEASED

Tulia City Council Thursday night released additional units for paving to the contractor. All streets designated for paving in the vicinity of the public school campus were included in these units. Released was North 1st St., from Austin to Collin; Bowie Street, from North 1st to South 2nd, and Collin from Broadway to North 2nd. Other streets near the school were released prior to last night. One block was withdrawn from the paving project, the 100 block of South Collin. To answer several inquiries concerning sidewalks, the council re-announced the policy of permitting sidewalks to be constructed wherever the resident wants them, either along the property line or along the curbing. The council accepted a proposal of the county commissioners court to participate in a cooperative effort to place street lights around the courthouse square. The county will furnish the light fixtures and the city will provide metal poles, wiring, transformers and the installation labor.—THE TULIA HERALD.

FLOYDADA FAIR

A good progress report on the plans and arrangements for the annual Floyd County Fair, Sept. 11-13, was made this week by Secretary Sam Puckett, following Friday night's meeting of the directors, held at the Fair Building on Highway 70, adjacent to Lockney. "Interest is good, contracts are being signed for the commercial floor space, and progress is further along than last year at the same time," said Puckett. "Also things are falling into place better than ever before. Some of the plans are still in the formative stage, but we are sure of some of the best features already, and are confident we will have a well-rounded program completed before the time for the fair. There have been a few changes made in some departments, and prospective exhibitors and visitors should get one of the 1958 catalogues and premium lists, which are now in the hands of the committee in sufficient quantity for general distribution.—THE FLOYD COUNTY HESPERIAN.

NEW ELEVATOR

Work on a new 340,000 bushel flat storage elevator in the Flagg Community is expected to be completed in time for the milo harvest this fall. To be known as Flagg Grain Co., Inc., the new elevator will be owned by J. R. Brown, Bruel Brothers, and George Blanton. Blanton will be manager and operator of the new concern.—THE CASTRO COUNTY NEWS.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm apparently is making excuses for the way he farms, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

Every once in a while somebody asks me why I don't do a better job of farming.

How come you've got more weeds in your crops, they'll ask me. How come you're always late in breaking your land, late in planting, late in plowing, late in gathering, late in starting over again? How come your fences are down, your gates sagging, etc.?

Well, now, I'll tell you. When a man spends as much time as I do thinking on the international level, he naturally adapts his farming methods to the international plane, and I consider my farm a perfect example of international diplomacy.

For example, says it's time for me to do some plowing and time for the leaders of the world to hold a summit meeting.

Do we jump right in?

Anybody who knows me or the world knows better. Nobody holds a summit meeting until he knows what's going to be discussed and what the answers are and what conclusions can be reached, just like when I start out on a crop, I don't just climb on the tractor and start, I sit down and figure out how much I think I can make, how much plowing it'll take, what the price may be, what I'll do with the money, etc.

To some people this may sound like over-caution, but that is because they don't think in international terms. In the last 15 or 20 years the world has had eight or ten summit meetings, and if the world is any better off than it was before the leaders met, it's hard to tell, and consequently it doesn't matter how long it takes to get ready to meet at the summit. Rushing into a summit meeting is like me rushing into a farming year. Not going to get anywhere anyway, so me and the world leaders might as well take our time.

The way I figure it, the world and this farm both are going to be here, whether the statesmen are at the summit or I'm under a shade tree.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

New Stadium

How Hereford will respond to the idea of helping finance the West Texas State College stadium at Canyon is an unknown quantity.

Unquestionably, West Texas State means more to this community than any other school in the nation. This is evident as a matter of convenience, general cooperation, and the large number of ex-students now residing in the community.

When sponsors say that the new stadium will "benefit the Panhandle," they are partially right in view of the host of fans who travel to Lubbock, Austin, Dallas, Waco and other Texas cities to watch collegiate football. Adequate facilities would bring some good games to our doorstep.

Some people, no doubt, will not like the idea, while others will be delighted. All in all, though, it seems safe to predict that Hereford will come through in good style. There is no community in Texas which boasts more sports fans—with bigger hearts.

long to learn. Mr. Culp kept asking me to make buttermilk gravy. I had never heard of such a dish, and I hadn't the faintest idea how to make it without no recipe or directions. I finally made it, under his directions, and this is how I made it:
5 or 6 strips of bacon, and drippings
2 tablespoons corn meal
2 cups fresh buttermilk
4 fresh onions
Salt and pepper to taste.

"Fry the bacon until crisp and lay it aside to drain. Add the cornmeal to drippings and brown lightly, and add milk and cook until of the proper consistency. Cut the onions into small pieces, blades and all, and add the cooked gravy. Crumble the bacon and add and serve on hot biscuits.
"This had a tart flavor, and my sister had dinner with us. When she reached home, she told my mother I was a very poor cook as I had served soured gravy.
"I surely remember that wild ride in the old Model 'T' Ford, and how frightened I was at driving it into the ditch. I was afraid it would turn over, but luck was with me and it stayed right side up. I was very glad I did not meet anyone on the road while I was flying down that hill. I shudder yet to think of it."

RIGHT SPIRIT
CARROLLTON, Ky. (AP) — Nancy Danher, Gereth Lindsey and John McClung went on a fund-raising drive for the new Carroll County Memorial Hospital.
They turned their money over to the hospital — all 85 cents of it. Nancy, 10, and Gereth and John, both 8, danced and sang in their backyard theatrical production and sold concessions, too.
The money will be used to help buy books and games for a children's room at the hospital.

ASK ANY WOMAN. She'll tell you, if she runs a house, that all in one day she's likely to be a carpenter, chef, fire, gardener, seamstress and laundress besides being the chief cook and bottle-washer. On occasion she may also become a recipe doctor. The last calling is an interesting pursuit. Feeding a family and guests often make it strictly necessary.
Here's an example of our own recipe surgery. A summer supper for a dozen or so was in prospect. The weather was hot. Weight-watchers would be among the guests.
We had decided that the main course would be a simple dish of chicken and vegetables. There would also be a rice casserole and buttered rolls for the slim ones and those who throw avoidpops to the winds. We would have a big salad — with dressing severed separately for the calorie-conscious.
What for dessert? Lemon chiffon pie would fill the bill, but so usual. Besides, there would be pastry shells to bake or graham-cracker crusts to make when we might want to be out sunning.
Still we liked the thought of that refreshing lemon chiffon. So we doctored up our pie recipe to suit the occasion and our mood. The filling was prepared as usual, but to take the place of the usual crust we used ready-bought lady fingers. Just before serving, a garnish of fresh berries was added. (For some willing eaters, we also added dollops of slightly sweetened whipped cream.)
That dessert was so successful that it has gone on our permanent list of popular desserts that are easily made. Perhaps it will fit into a menu of your own. If you're not having a party, you'll find it easy to halve the recipe.
We like to serve our lady finger lemon dessert in delicate china rice bowls. But a friend of ours who borrowed the recipe uses sherbet glasses. Take your choice!

LADY FINGER LEMON DESSERT
Ingredients: 1 envelope unflavored gelatin, 1½ cups sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 6 eggs (separated), 6 tablespoons water, ¾ cup lemon juice, 1½ teaspoons grated lemon rind, 12 lady fingers (one 4½-ounce package).
Method: Stir together thoroughly in a saucepan the gelatin, ¼ cup of the sugar and the salt. Beat together the egg yolks, water and lemon juice until combined; add to gelatin mixture. Place over very low heat and stir constantly until gelatin dissolves — about 5 minutes; or use a double boiler and stir over simmering water. Remove from heat; stir in grated lemon rind. Chill until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in remaining ¾ cup sugar; continue beating until very stiff. Fold in chilled gelatin mixture. Spoon into 12 dessert dishes. Split and cut lady fingers in half so you have 4 pieces out of each lady finger. Perch 4 halves around edge of each dessert. Chill until

NEW YORK (AP) — The comedy hit, "Auntie Mame," is rapidly becoming the most widely distributed play in show business.
Five editions of the laugh-maker are shaping. In addition to the longrun Broadway version, there is a company on the West Coast and three touring troupes in various stages of development.
Constance Bennett is currently on the road and another company headed by Sylvia Sidney starts out soon. The fifth band is being planned for the summer theater circuit with Shirl Conway starred.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By CHARLIE SEEDS
In this day and age when breaking through the sound barrier has become commonplace, 400 miles an hour doesn't sound very fast. But when it's done on land, it's fast... and the first time it happened it made front page headlines.
The driver was John Cobb. He already held most of the world's speed records, and he had brought his sleek racing car to the Salt Flats at Bonneville, Utah, for another try. There was a flock of reporters and newsreel cameramen on hand to see if the world's fastest driver could break through the "400" barrier.
On the southward run, Cobb pushed his car over 385 mph. Then, on the return sprint, he pushed his foot to the floor. The needle climbed until it hit the incredible speed of 403.1 miles per hour! Another "unreleasable" mark had been broken!
Remember the year?
That was a year when there were long waiting lists of people wanting to buy new cars. When they came through, a buyer took the extras that were on the car, and took the deal he could get.
The year was 1947. Times have changed. When you buy one of our new 1958 FORDS, you can almost name your own deal. "MY ELECTRIC HOME FREEZER MAKES MEAL PLANNING SO Easy!"
SAYS Mrs. H. S. Hackfield, 2132 56th STREET, LUBBOCK, TEXAS
"An electric home freezer is the perfect answer to meal planning, especially for working wives," says Mrs. Hackfield. She continues, "There are many advantages of owning a freezer. For example, it's such a convenient appliance and, because we can buy in quantity when prices are lowest, our freezer lets us realize a big savings in food costs. But, getting back to meal planning — when I have odd moments I can prepare complete meals in advance, freeze them, and then when we have dinner guests it's a simple matter just to 'heat 'n serve.'"
The same advantages that Mrs. Hackfield speaks of can be yours just as soon as you get that electric home freezer you've been wanting for so long — why wait — there's never been a better time to buy!

Labor-Saving Is Easy With That Handy Grill

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Around Labor Day, Mom's the busiest person in town. She's lengthening all of Susie's dresses — small fry having a way of sprouting up during the summer.

She's taking Johnny shopping for new shoes — and trying to get him to say which pair really fits.

She's searching out last year's pencil boxes and half-filled note books and persuading her back-to-school set these important accessories are still usable.

In between she's getting Dad's winter suits and the family's heavy coats out of storage.

And of course warm-weather slip covers have to be taken off the living-room furniture, laundered and put away.

That's just the moment she remembers she asked an old school chum and her family to supper on Labor Day.

If something like this happens to you, and you feel sunk, there's a way out. Encourage Dad to take over and produce the best cook-out of the season.

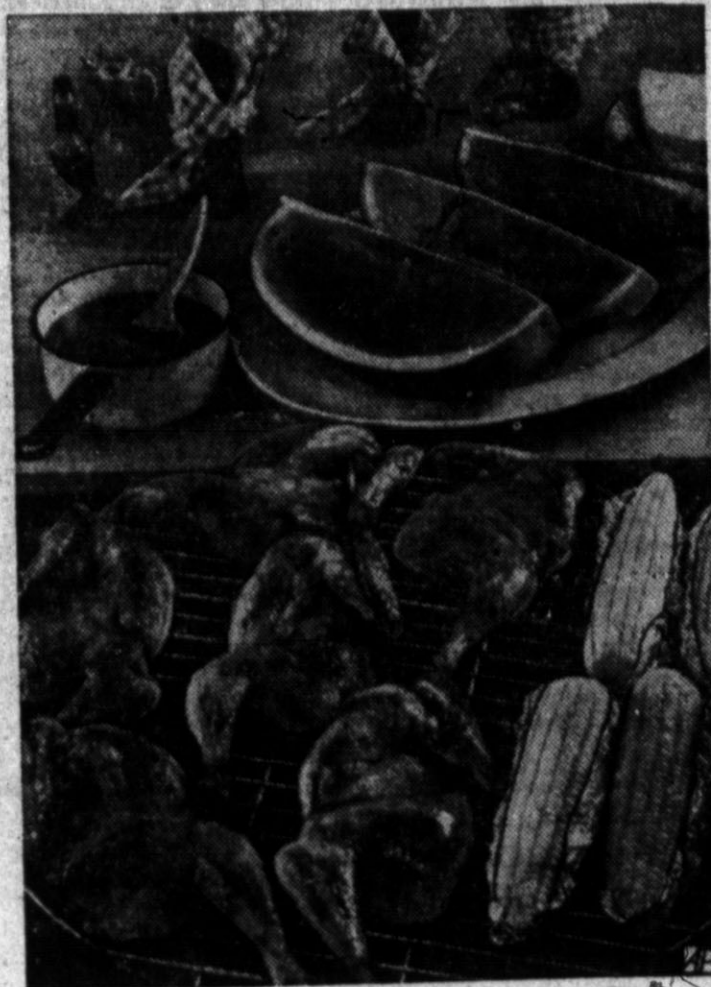

If Father is willing, we have a suggestion. Make up a batch (or more) of our savory new tomato sauce and order some tender young chickens so he can barbecue the birds over the outdoor grill. We call this sauce new because it's our own concoction using one of our favorite canned products — stewed tomatoes.

Add corn on the cob to the menu, and another pick-up-in-your-hand item — celery (or endive if you can get it) stuffed with a mixture of cream cheese and Roquefort. Watermelon will fill the desert bill if you decide to rely on the chance of visiting friends bringing a box of cookies or candy.

NEW TOMATO SAUCE FOR GRILLED CHICKEN

Ingredients: 1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes, 2 tablespoons salad oil, 2 tablespoons dark brown sugar, 2 tablespoons vinegar (any variety), 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, tabasco sauce (to taste), 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1/2 teaspoon chill powder, 1/2 teaspoon chill con carne seasoning (if desired), 1/2 teaspoon onion powder, 1/2 teaspoon celery salt, 2 broiler - fryer chickens.

Method: Force tomatoes and their juice through a fine strainer with a wooden spoon so there is only a little residue and seeds to discard; or run until smooth in an electric blender. Add remaining ingredients, except chicken. Simmer sauce in a 1-quart saucepan, stirring often, for 20 minutes or until reduced to about 1 1/2 cups.

To Use on Outdoor Grill or Range Broiler: Halve, quarter or disjoint chickens. Brush inside surfaces with tomato sauce; grill or broil until half done and browned, brushing with more sauce during cooking. Turn skin side up, and repeat process. Chicken is done when drumstick may be twisted out of thigh joint easily.

Note: This sauce, as is, makes a pleasant accompaniment to

TOES IN THE TEMPLE—Church is where a six-year-old boy should be on Sunday morning but a brand new pair of tight shoes is a little too much. So, off they had to come, thought Mickie Klatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Klatt of Lubbock, and suiting thoughts to action did just that. No one would have known if he had only not forgotten to put them back on when church was over. He got caught, sock-footed, that is. (AP Photo)

LANDRUM, S. C. — The Thermal Belt Telephone Co., is cutting down on long-windedness on the telephone here.

A buzzer sounds on the line after 5 minutes of yakety-yak. A minute later, if the call hasn't been ended, the parties are automatically disconnected.

Most effective, customers complain.

FLYING LOW

HENDERSON, Ky. — The Rev. George Wood, slated to conduct a funeral here, showed up with nine stitches in his nose. He collided with an airplane. The minister's hat blew off earlier while he was at the airport. Mr. Wood darted after it, right into a whirling propeller.

New Product Tests Ability of Gunmen

DRAW, PODNER—A law officer goes into action against the autogun, a device developed to measure speed on the draw from start to first fatal hit.

BUFFALO, N. Y. — Note to cowboys, cops and self-styled gunslingers: So you think you're quick on the draw, eh? Well, a 6-foot gunman here is ready to call your bluff.

The gunman, called the autogun, is a machine — the imaginative product of three local men. They have encased a 6-foot silhouette of a man in a plywood and plexiglass rectangle, wired with electrical circuits like a pinball machine.

The head and chest area, made of plywood, correspond to the normal "kill" area of the human body.

To test the speed of a draw, an operator at a control box presses a button that lights the eyes in the gunman's head. At this signal, the contestant reaches for his gun and fires.

A timing mechanism, tinking at one-tenth second intervals, stops only after a bullet hits the kill area.

A scoreboard flashes the time — just like a pinball machine. The device is being used to sharpen the reaction of Erie County deputy sheriffs.

Only wax bullets are used, because often in his haste to fire, a would-be Wyatt Earp lets fly before he clears the holster and pumps a bullet into his own foot. Also, the wax bullets don't puncture the machine.

The autogun was designed by Deputy Sheriff Davis M. Sheldon, Mortimer A. Sullivan Jr., an ex-air patrolman, and William J. Pike, an electrical engineer.

DISARMING SHERIFF

ELIZABETH, N. J. — Mrs. Anita Quarles has been a deputy sheriff for Union County for 20 years, but it hasn't soured her on people. The gray-haired grandmother says, "I have never had a bad person in my custody. People in trouble with the law are no different from you or me. . . they are just unhappy and unfortunate."

YOUNG LOVE

ROCKFORD, Ill. — Rockford police have heard many a tale of marital difficulty, but this one beats all.

They arrested a delinquent 14-year-old wife who complained that her husband of one year was running around with a younger woman.

The 14-year-old's husband is 26. Her rival is 12.

Easy Treat for Summer Party

TIME-SAVING TASTE TREAT—You will have no crust worries with this lemon chiffon dessert. Just add a few lady fingers and a fresh strawberry to the chiffon. If you're not watching the scales, use a topping of slightly sweetened whipped cream.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, Associated Press Food Editor
ASK ANY WOMAN. She'll tell you, if she runs a house, that all in one day she's likely to be a carpenter, seamstress and laundress besides being the chief cook and bottle-washer. On occasion she may also become a recipe doctor. The last calling is an interesting pursuit. Feeding a family and guests often make it strictly necessary.

Here's an example of our own recipe surgery. A summer supper for a dozen or so was in prospect. The weather was hot. Weight-watchers would be among the guests.

We had decided that the main course would be a simple dish of chicken and vegetables. There would also be a rice casserole and buttered rolls for the slim ones and those who throw avoidupois to the winds. We would have a big salad — with dressing served separately for the calorie-conscious.

What for dessert? Lemon chiffon pie would fill the bill, but so usual. Besides, there would be pastry shells to bake or graham-cracker crusts to make when we might want to be out sunning.

Still we liked the thought of that refreshing lemon chiffon. So we doctored up our pie recipe to suit the occasion and our mood. The filling was prepared as usual, but to take the place of the usual crust we used ready-bought lady fingers. Just before serving, a garnish of fresh berries was added. (For some willing eaters, we also added dollops of slightly sweetened whipped cream.)

That dessert was so successful that it has gone on our permanent list of popular desserts that are easily made. Perhaps it will fit into a menu of your own. If you're not having a party, you'll find it easy to halve the recipe.

We like to serve our lady finger lemon dessert in delicate china rice bowls. But a friend of ours who borrowed the recipe uses sherbet glasses. Take your choice!

RIGHT SPIRIT
CARROLLTON, Ky. — Nancy Danner, Gereth Lindsey and John McClung went on a fund-raising drive for the new Carroll County Memorial Hospital.

They turned their money over to the hospital — all 85 cents of it. Nancy, 10, and Gereth and John, both 8, danced and sang in their backyard theatrical production and sold concessions, too.

The money will be used to help buy books and games for a children's room at the hospital.

'AUNTIE MAME' BUSY
NEW YORK — The comedy hit, "Auntie Mame," is rapidly becoming the most widely distributed play in show business.

Five editions of the laugh-maker are shaping. In addition to the longrun Broadway version, there is a company on the West Coast and three touring troupes in various stages of development.

Constance Bennett is currently on the road and another company headed by Sylvia Sidney starts out soon. The fifth band is being planned for the summer theater circuit with Shirl Conway starred.

RALEIGH, N. C. — The fellow looked at the pretty policewoman and shook his head sadly.

"She arrested me once already," he sighed. "I told her that it would be nice if we could go to her house and talk it over. And I was so taken by her that she was on the jail elevator before I knew what she was really doing to me."

"She booked me for drunk."

HE STRIKES AGAIN
RALEIGH, N. C. — The State Highway Patrol dressed up a dummy as a patrolman, put it in a patrol car by the side of a road and placed a false speed detector across the highway.

When two patrolmen returned to the car later they found a note on the windshield. It read: "All cops are dummies like this one." It was signed: "The phantom."

LADY FINGER LEMON DESSERT
Ingredients: 1 envelope unflavored gelatin, 1½ cups sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 6 eggs (separated), 6 tablespoons water, ¾ cup lemon juice, 1½ teaspoons grated lemon rind, 12 lady fingers (one 4½ ounce package).

Method: Stir together thoroughly in a saucepan the gelatin, ¼ cup of the sugar and the salt. Beat together the egg yolks, water and lemon juice until combined; add to gelatin mixture. Place over very low heat and stir constantly until gelatin dissolves — about 5 minutes; or use a double boiler and stir over simmering water. Remove from heat; stir in grated lemon rind. Chill until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in remaining ¾ cup sugar; continue beating until very stiff. Fold in chilled gelatin mixture. Spoon into 12 dessert dishes. Split and cut lady fingers in half so you have 4 pieces out of each lady finger. Pith 4 halves around edge of each dessert. Chill until

REMEMBER WHEN?

By CHARLIE SEEDS

In this day and age when breaking through the sound barrier has become commonplace, 400 miles an hour doesn't sound very fast. But when it's done on land, it's fast... and the first time it happened it made front page headlines.

The driver was John Cobb. He already held most of the world's speed records, and he had brought his sleek racing car to the Salt Flats at Bonneville, Utah, for another try. There was a flock of reporters and newsreel cameramen on hand to see if the world's fastest driver could break through the "400" barrier.

On the southward run, Cobb pushed his car over 385 mph. Then, on the return sprint, he pushed his foot to the floor. The needle climbed until it hit the incredible speed of 403.1 miles per hour! Another "unreachable" mark had been broken!

Remember the year? That was a year when there were long waiting lists of people wanting to buy new cars. When they came through, a buyer took the extras that were on the car, and took the deal he could get.

The year was 1947.

Times have changed. When you buy one of our new 1958 FORDS, you can almost name your own deal. You CAN name exactly the extras you want... and you'll get a higher trade-in that will make your monthly payments easy. Make your deal now, at CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., INC. 146 E. long to learn. Mr. Culp kept asking me to make buttermilk gravy. I had never heard of such a dish, and I hadn't the faintest idea how to make it without no recipe or directions. I finally made it, under his directions, and this is how I made it:

- 5 or 6 strips of bacon, and drippings
- 2 tablespoons corn meal
- 2 cups fresh buttermilk
- 4 fresh onions
- Salt and pepper to taste.

"Fry the bacon until crisp and lay it aside to drain. Add the cornmeal to drippings and brown lightly, and add milk and cook until of the proper consistency. Cut the onions into small pieces, blades and all, and add the cooked gravy. Crumble the bacon and add and serve on hot biscuits.

"This had a tart flavor, and my sister had dinner with us. When she reached home, she told my mother I was a very poor cook as I had served soured gravy.

"I surely remember that wild ride in the old Model 'T' Ford, and how frightened I was at driving it into the ditch. I was afraid it would turn over, but luck was with me and it stayed right side up. I was very glad I did not meet anyone on the road while I was flying down that hill. I shudder yet to think of it."

 2132 56th STREET,
 LUBBOCK, TEXAS

"An electric home freezer is the perfect answer to meal planning, especially for working wives," says Mrs. Hackfield. She continues, "There are many advantages of owning a freezer. For example, it's such a convenient appliance and, because we can buy in quantity when prices are lowest, our freezer lets us realize a big savings in food costs. But, getting back to meal planning — when I have odd moments I can prepare complete meals in advance, freeze them, and then when we have dinner guests it's a simple matter just to 'heat 'n serve.'"

The same advantages that Mrs. Hackfield speaks of can be yours just as soon as you get that electric home freezer you've been wanting for so long — why wait — there's never been a better time to buy!

Labor-Saving Is Easy With That Handy Grill

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Around Labor Day, Mom's the busiest person in town. She's lengthening all of Susie's dresses — small fry having a way of sprouting up during the summer.

She's taking Johnny shopping for new shoes — and trying to get him to say which pair really fits.

She's searching out last year's pencil boxes and half-filled note books and persuading her back-to-school set these important accessories are still usable.

In between she's getting Dad's winter suits and the family's heavy coats out of storage.

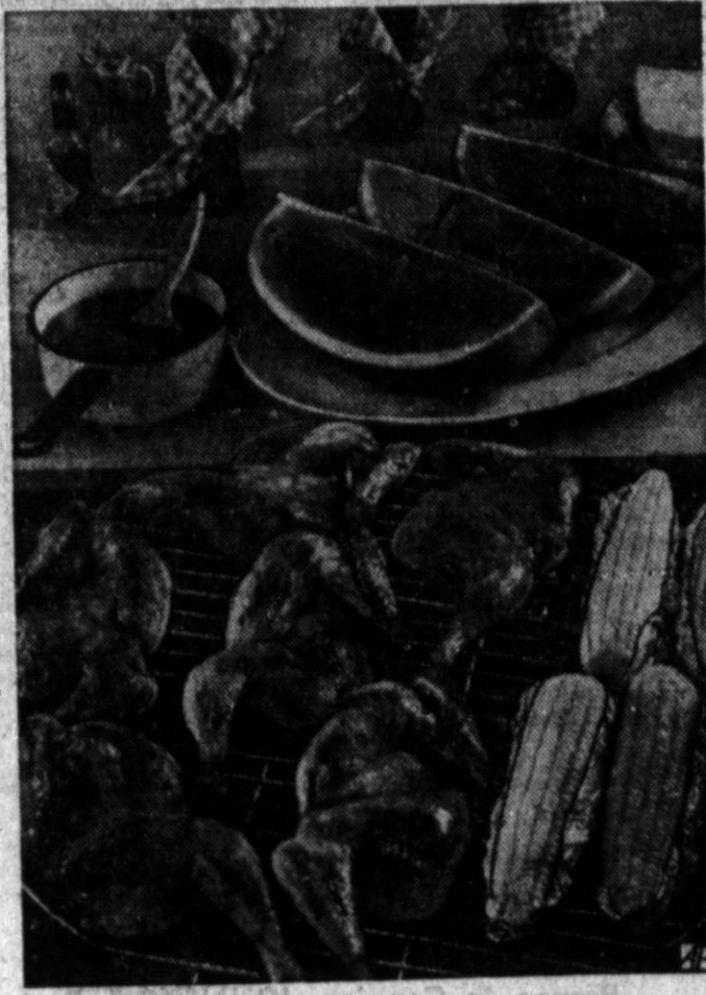

And of course warm-weather slip covers have to be taken off the living-room furniture, laundered and put away.

That's just the moment she remembers she asked an old school chum and her family to supper on Labor Day.

If something like this happens to you, and you feel sunk, there's a way out. Encourage Dad to take over and produce the best cook-out of the season.

If Father is willing, we have a suggestion. Make up a batch (or more) of our savory new tomato sauce and order some tender young chickens so he can barbecue the birds over the outdoor grill. We call this sauce new because it's our own concoction using one of our favorite canned products — stewed tomatoes.

Add corn on the cob to the menu, and another pick-up-in-your-hand item — celery (or endive if you can get it) stuffed with a mixture of cream cheese and Roquefort. Watermelon will fill the desert bill if you decide to rely on the chance of visiting friends bringing a box of cookies or candy.

LABOR SAVING SOLUTION—Mom, up to her pretty neck in back-to-school chores on Labor Day, might consider encouraging Dad to get out the grill. The suggested menu: Barbecued chicken accompanied by corn on the cob and followed with watermelon.

NEW TOMATO SAUCE FOR GRILLED CHICKEN

Ingredients: 1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes, 2 tablespoons salad oil, 2 tablespoons dark brown sugar, 2 tablespoons vinegar (any variety), 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, tabasco sauce (to taste), ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard, ¼ teaspoon chili powder, ¼ teaspoon chill con carne seasoning (if desired), ¼ teaspoon onion powder, ¼ teaspoon celery salt, 2 broiler-fryer chickens.

Method: Force tomatoes and their juice through a fine strainer with a wooden spoon so there is only a little residue and seeds to discard; or run until smooth in an electric blender. Add remaining ingredients, except chicken. Simmer sauce in a 1-quart saucepan, stirring often, for 20 minutes or until reduced to about 1½ cups.

To Use on Outdoor Grill or Range Broiler: Halve, quarter or disjoint chickens. Brush inside surfaces with tomato sauce; grill or broil until half done and browned, brushing with more sauce during cooking. Turn skin side up, and repeat process. Chicken is done when drumstick may be twisted out of thigh joint easily.

Note: This sauce, as is, makes a pleasant accompaniment to rice when it is being served with grilled or broiled chicken. More vinegar may be added for a spicier sauce.

UNMOUNTED PATROLMAN

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Mounted Patrolman William R. Blaylock suffered only minor bruises and a red face when his horse slipped and fell on him.

Blaylock was almost struck by a motorist who ran a red light. He yelled for the driver to halt and was approaching the car when his horse slipped on an oily spot. Blaylock went down and the motorist went on.

Tourist travel in Israel increased between 1956 and 1957 by 56 per cent during the month of September.

TOES IN THE TEMPLE—Church is where a six-year-old boy should be on Sunday morning but a brand new pair of tight shoes is a little too much. So, off they had to come, thought Mickie Klatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Klatt of Lubbock, and suiting thoughts to action did just that. No one would have known if he had only not forgotten to put them back on when church was over. He got caught, sock-footed, that is. (AP Photo)

'Corsetless Era' Puzzles Today's Corset Industry

By DOROTHY ROE
 Are the second-generation flappers of 1958 shedding their girdles like their mothers used to do?
 This is a question that has had the corset industry in a tizzy this year, since the return of other fashions of the 1920s — the sack dress, the wind-blown bob, knee-length skirts and three yards of beads.
 All that was needed to put a corset buyer in a suicidal mood last spring was the sight of an old John Held Jr., cartoon showing an "It-Girl" of the Jazz Age parking her girdle in the check-room at a dance. Corset manufacturers were subject to nightmares dominated by ungirdled girls with jiggling hips and rolled stockings.
 Some determined optimists pointed out that the so-called "corsetless era" of the Twenties wasn't really corsetless after all, that corset sales held their own and even showed a slight increase in the years from 1919 to 1929, that most women were not shaped like little boys, and so had to resort to artificial aids to achieve the fashionable boyish form of the flapper era.

 By the time of the recent corset market week in New York this summer, however, the gloom of the industry had lifted. Sales figures for girdles and bras in the first half of 1958 showed less of a drop than those in other garment fields.
 Manufacturers had rushed into production with new kinds of foundations specifically designed for wear with the new "relaxed" silhouettes. And at buyer's forums the consensus was that the new dress fashions had stimulated rather than harmed corset and bra sales.
 There are several reasons for this state of affairs. First and most important, say buyers, is the fact that the nipped-waisted foundations of recent years don't look right with the new styles.
 Second, modern women have become accustomed to wearing light-weight, tonetess underpinnings and don't feel right without them. Today's corset is far different from the steel-and-whale-bone torturers of the pre-flapper era, often referred to as "Old Ironsides."

 Third, any girl who has had a rear view of herself wearing a chemise and no girdle is impelled to run, not walk, to the nearest corset department.
 Fourth, the new fashions — empire, trapeze or sack — require a completely different bustline if they are to be even remotely wearable. The exaggerated, pointed bosom looks grotesque with the new styles, and so women have to buy new bras with rounded, natural lines.
 The most popular foundation garments of the new era of fashion, say buyers and manufacturers, are the long-legged panty girdle, the all-in-one corset and the bandeau bra with rounded cups. There no longer is any need to wear waist nippers, since the waist has disappeared from modern fashion. But there is strong necessity for retraining hips and thighs — the places where the chemise dress must fit.

 One more reassuring note is sounded — women will not again bind down their bosoms in an effort to look like boys. Too many remember the sad results of this practice in the Twenties, when they permanently damaged their bosoms and had to resort to falsies when curves became fashionable again.
 American women bought 600 million dollars worth of girdles and bras (at retail price) in 1957, almost twice as many as in 1947 and six times as many as in 1937.

 Corset and bra sales were about 125 million dollars in 1919, and remained around that level all through the "corsetless" Twenties, actually hitting bottom in 1933, the depth of the depression, when they fell to around 93 million.
 There is one other reason why today's flappers are not expected to shed their underpinnings en masse. That is — the corset industry has had a war chest ever since 1929, devoted to educating the American woman to the social and esthetic advantages of wearing foundation garments that will improve the fit and appearance of her clothes.
 It was in 1929 that the first war chest of $70,000 was raised, and two industry leaders, Lucien T. Warner of Warner Bros. and George Mayer of the Srouse, Adler Co., were sent to Paris by a frightened industry. That was the year the Paris silhouette changed, the boyish form went out, and feminine curves came back in style.

ELEMENTARY, MY DEAR WATSON
 ELIZABETH, N. M. (2) — Retired Detective Capt. Gustave Steffens recounts this poser from a case he once solved.
 An elderly man is found dead in the water with his watch stopped at 4 o'clock, and police must determine whether it was 4 a.m. or 4 p.m. — but how? Police reasoned an elderly man is likely to have regular habits, and a check with the man's family showed the man always wound his watch at a certain time. The company that made the watch provided the length of time the watch would run under water, and a check of the number of turns left in the winding stem gave the police their answer.

Woman Finds Home Aboard Ancient Ship

By TED MCKENNA

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The oldest iron sailing vessel afloat has been the home of tiny, rugged Miss Grace G. Hoff for 14 years.

Miss Hoff, bronzed and lithe as any seagoing sailor, says she knows and loves every inch of the weather-worn ship, the Star of India.

Docked at the waterfront, the Star of India is operated as a maritime museum. Miss Hoff is custodian of the ship, which is owned by the Aquarium Society of San Diego.

The decks of the old sailing vessel are kept slick and clean through the fond efforts of Miss Hoff and her "crew," two teenage schoolboys who assist after school, on weekends and during vacations.

When she went to the ship there was no electricity. The only heat was from a wood and coal-burning stove. Electric appliances now furnish heat and refrigeration.

Miss Hoff admits that she didn't know the "bow from the stern" when she came to the ship. Her speech is now liberally sprinkled with nautical terms.

Much of knowledge of the ship was given to her by her uncle, Edwin Fox, who served as custodian of the vessel 20 years.

Fox asked his niece to help him when he became ill. After his death, Miss Hoff took over the ship's command.

She has become so familiar with the slight roll of the ship that she feels lonesome for it when she is on land, she confesses.

Miss Hoff has nicknamed the Star of India "My Baby." Her brown eyes twinkled with merriment as she explained the nickname.

"The ship ties me down just as much as a baby," she says. "I'm not able to leave unless I get a sitter."

The Star of India was built at Ramsey, in the Isle of Man, late in 1863, and she cleared Liverpool for Calcutta, on her maiden voyage, on Jan. 9, 1865.

The ship was named Euterpe, in honor of the goddess of music. For many years, it operated in the cargo and emigrant trade out of New Zealand under the Union Jack. She also flew the Hawaiian flag before the Stars and Stripes.

The vessel was sold to the Alaska Packers' Assn. and re-named Star of India. She made her last voyage under sail in 1923 and was brought to San Diego from San Francisco in 1926 for use as a maritime museum.

IT WILL PAY you to see your ARCADIAN dealer for non-pressure URAN Nitrogen Fertilizer Solution. URAN gives you quick-acting, long-lasting nitrogen that's ideal to build big crop yields. You spray or dribble it on the soil from a simple tractor-tank rig. Pumps and machinery do the work. You have no bags to lift, no high-pressure equipment to fuss with.

Wheat and other small grains need plenty of nitrogen and URAN supplies it handily. Apply URAN before you plow for small grain. Or top-dress in fall, late winter or early spring. URAN is ideal to make small grains produce a green feed crop for grazing as well as a crop for grain. With rice or other irrigated crops, you can apply URAN with an airplane, or add URAN to irrigation water and let water do the work of spreading your nitrogen.

JOHN 14:6 — "Jesus said to him, 'I am . . . the truth.'" (RSV)

In recent years, we have been hearing a great deal about the "Four Freedoms — freedom from want, freedom from fear, freedom of speech, and freedom of worship." Jesus gave the secret of real freedom when He said, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." And in response to a question by one of His disciples He declared, "I am . . . the truth." In effect He said the same thing to the woman of Samaria when he showed her that the only true religion was to be found in Him, that only He could satisfy the deep, spiritual needs of her innermost being. Jesus Himself is the "one truth" which men need to know at first hand if their hungering and thirsting souls are to be satisfied and they are to know the freedom that comes only to the children of God.

Hair Stylists Need More Imagination

By VIVIAN BROWN

"We can't have one hairdo for everyone just because it happens to be flattering to the chemise look," says hairdresser V. George of Fifth Avenue, New York, commenting on the bubble cut coiffure, now all the rage, even in wig styles.

"Hairdressers must use a little more imagination," he says. "We must still design coiffures with an eye to individuality. Naturally hairdos will be varied because dress styles have changed, but a woman with a broad forehead, long nose or pointy chin still will need to have her particular coiffure adjusted to her features."

One of George's new hairdos is the trapeze, one example of a new hairdo for new fashions. But it can't be worn by everyone, he reminds us. A nicely tailored hairdo, ideal for the older woman who does not want the tousled look, it has full bangs slightly waved across the forehead with the balance of the coiffure sleek but waved.

The hair at the sides of the head is turned away from the face at the ends, with one wide wave at the top leading height.

The simpler the dress, the more intricate hairdos are likely to become, he explains. The new tousled look, that has such strong appeal for the young, is a coiffure that looks simple, but in most cases it is designed for a softer, higher look, skillfully shaped to give height or width, depending on the head.

Hair is not really much longer this season, says George. He thinks that a length of 3½ inches is just about right, and permits a hairdo to become convertible, easily recombed into another style at whim.

Hair coloring is growing in popularity, says George, because it is simpler: "One can get a permanent wave today, immediately following a hair coloring, the whole project taking less than 2½ hours."

MRS. ANN SAXER

Bowling Is Morale Aid to Sightless

HOUSTON, Tex. — The blind are bowling in Houston. Doing a good job of it, too. Take Mrs. Ann Saxer, who has been completely blind for two years. She started with a game of 30. She now is bowling as high as 190.

The idea came from a Houston Chronicle story about Mrs. Saxer. Rewritten in braille, it appeared in the Texas braille newspaper.

It gave hope to many sightless people that they too could bowl. A league was suggested and formed.

Just imagine throwing the heavy bowling ball down a 60-foot long, 42-inch wide lane. You've never seen what the pins look like. In fact you don't know what the ball looks like.

You're in complete darkness. Sounds impossible. Yet these blind bowlers have made scores up to 190.

Jan Hard of Fort Worth is only in her 20s but her sight is gone. She is bowling near the 100s. Walter Trimble rolled 119 after two weeks of bowling. He is partially blind.

"It's the first time we've had a chance to compete against sighted folks," says Childre. "It has been one of the greatest morale boosters ever started here for the blind."

Woody Sandifer, assistant director of the Houston Lighthouse for the Blind, says, "We owe a lot to the seeing bowlers who have kept our interest burning so brightly."

"Without them it would be impossible to bowl," says Mrs. Saxer. "They tell us what pins we missed after our first shot. They help us obtain the proper ball and blade give instructions and aid to all the blind bowlers."

"I've never seen such courage and sportsmanship," declares the league secretary, Mrs. Dody Partridge. "I've gotten more out of the league than they have, I know," says Clyde Cannon, who invented a special device that lets the blind bowler feel how many pins are left and where they are.

Young Swimmers Need A Buddy

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M.D.

Good old summertime means swimming to most youngsters. Swimming is a wonderful exercise. It's good fun and what's more every child should learn this important skill.

But like all good things there are a few drawbacks that go along with it.

Almost every child is timid about his first encounter with a big body of water — anything bigger than the bathtub. It doesn't make too much difference at what age this first experience takes place — he is going to be wary of getting more than the big toe wet.

Every summer at every beach you see enthusiastic fathers carry screaming children into the water. And every time you see this you can be sure there is a child who will be a long time getting over his fear of the water — if he ever does. Don't push, don't nag, don't belittle a child for being a sissy. Let him play on the beach, dig in the sand, or fool around the edge of the pool. Be on hand to go in with him when he is ready but wait for the signal from him that he is ready.

Waiting and doing nothing is often the hardest thing to do. Especially is this true if the trip to the beach has been made with infinite trouble and is not soon to be repeated. You had wanted so much to see your youngster enjoy the water and you leave with the feeling the trip is wasted if he doesn't go in. You will just have to swallow your disappointment. It takes some children a whole summer before they will venture in above the knees.

be out of sight for 10 or 15 minutes before the adult in charge misses him.

The buddy system not only helps the adult in charge but also gives the youngsters themselves some sense of responsibility and an awareness of the dangers of swimming.

In our household we had the rule, no child or children can swim unless there is an adult along. Finally the boys grew up to be so much better swimmers than I that they finally changed the rule to Mom mustn't go swimming unless one of the boys is along!
