Around Town

It'll happen every time! No sooner do we write astory about the wheat farmers needing some rain and get it in print than it comes a nice-sized shower. If we knew it would happen every time, we'd try to be a little more timely with our reports on current weather needs.

Hereford doctors tell us there is another virus going around. This one hits the mid-section with the force of a hand grenade. If it's caught soon enough, the effects can be curtailed, but victims we've talked to say it can be almost as bad as last year's "Flue Manchu".

The community Thanksgiving worship service has been scheduled for the evening of Nov. 26, Wednesday, at the First Methodist Church. More details will be announced later.

Merchants were told Friday morning, during their weekly meeting, that the big Christmas tree for Third and Main had been ordered from the Ruidoso, N. M., Lions Club and would be ready for movement to Hereford by Thanksgiving weekend. Plans for the Community Christmas Program are beginning to take shape now. Trees for the parking meters are expected about Dec. 1.

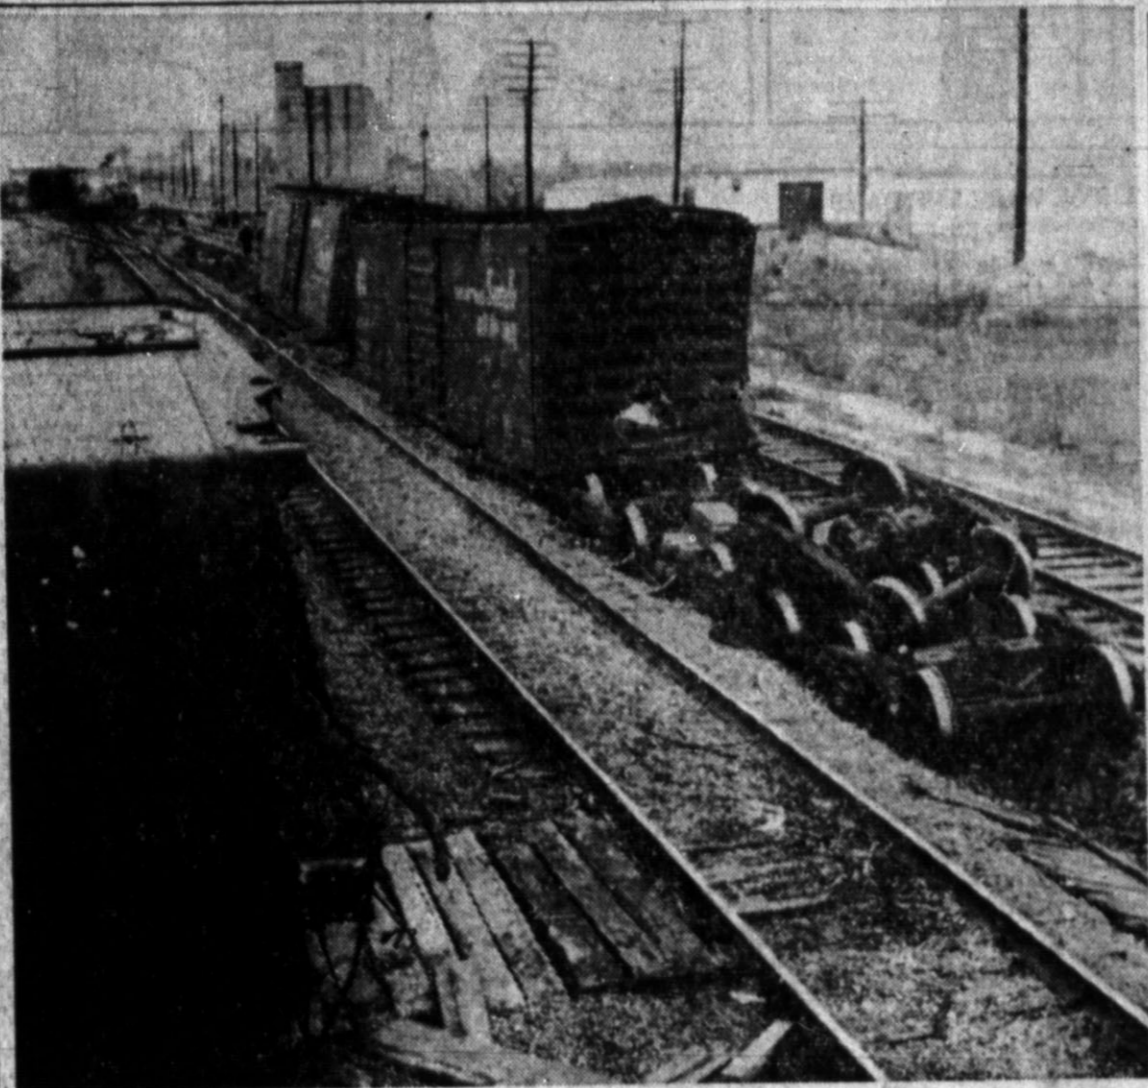

We have firmly resolved to be most careful of our driving. Reason: we met the new Texas Highway Patrolman assigned to the Hereford area. He's Charles K. Skinner, newly-graduate. (Continued on Page 2)

Pellam Funeral Monday Morning

Funeral services for Earnest L. Pellam, 72, will be held at 10 a.m. Monday morning at the Rose Chapel, Gilliland Funeral Home.

Mr. Pellam was born June 16, 1886, at Newport, Tex., and in 1941, moved to Leaf Smith County from Hatch, N. M., to farm in this area. He was a member of the Grace Gospel Church in Hereford.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Sam of Dallas, and Bob of Amarillo; three daughters, Edith Landers of Delano, Calif., Norma Engler of Pampa, and Estillene Collier of Westlake, Tex.; one brother, Willie of San Pedro, Calif.; two sisters, Vera Carter of Comville, Okla., Vina Meely of Vallan-gar, Tex.; also 16 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Services will be handled by Gilliland Funeral Home.

RIPPED FROM THEIR WHEELS, three boxcars were derailed in southwest Hereford early Saturday morning. Two came to rest between the busy Santa Fe tracks, while the third overturned. Officials from the line said the mishap had been traced to a burned journal box. Lower photo shows how the force of the wreck turned a rail into a huge horseshoe. (Staff Photo)

Derailed Cars Tie-Up Santa Fe Here Saturday

Three boxcars from a 100-car Santa Fe eastbound express were derailed southwest of Hereford early Saturday morning. All members of the train's crew escaped injury. The boxcars were dumped from the tracks just west of Associated Growers Inc. at 1:40 a.m. Saturday. About 100 yards of railroad ties were torn loose from point of derailment before the cars came to a stop.

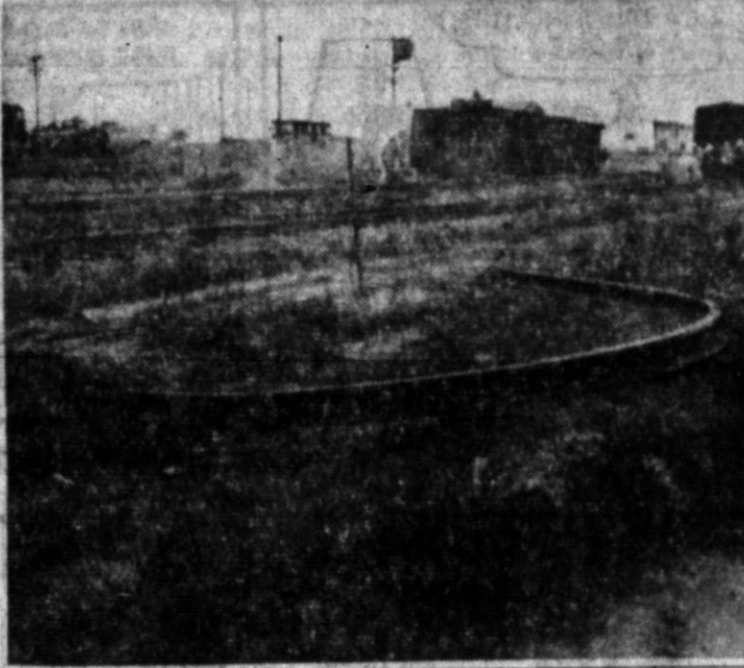

A burned wheel journal was the cause of the derailment, railroad officials said Saturday morning.

The section derailed was located about three-fourths of the length of cars behind the engine. The train carried a crew of five.

The train, heading for Amarillo, was coming from Clovis.

VFW District Meet Set Here

More than 150 Veterans of Foreign Wars and Ladies Auxiliary representatives are expected to gather in Hereford for a two-day District 13 meeting Nov. 22-23. Fourteen VFW posts will be represented at the meeting. (Continued on Page 2)

Herd Battles, Bows To Levelland, 41-6

Hereford's Whitefaces stood up to Texas' fourth ranked AAA team for two quarters, before bowing to Levelland's superior attacking forces Friday night, 41-6.

A large crowd of Herd boosters came to their feet again and again as the out-manned gridders fought the Lobos through the entire game. But Levelland's vaunted offense made the difference as they clinched their second consecutive 1-AAA district title.

Hereford started the game with a bang, as quarterback Billy Dirks tossed a running pass to halfback Danny Martin for 16 yards. Two plays later Levelland recovered a Herd fumble, but lost the ball on the next play.

After forcing Hereford to punt the Lobos took over and marched 59 yards in eight plays. Levelland's All-District quarterback Doug Cannon, who's just a junior, proved his play was as good as his reputation, as he completed two 13-yard passes to end Jerry Garrison and carried 23 yards. Cannon blasted over from one foot and then passed to Garrison for two extra points with 2:55 left in the first period.

Starting another drive late in the first period, Levelland scored with 9:15 left in the second quarter, capping a 71-yard drive in ten plays. Cannon hit Garrison for 21 yards and fullback Don Mason for five yards. Halfback Larry Tipton blasted over from one yard.

WT Rural Co-op Granted $170,000

The Rural Electrification Administration in Washington, D. C., Thursday granted a $170,000 loan to the West Texas Rural Cooperative of Hereford to expand its telephone system in Deaf Smith, Bailey, Lamb and Parmer counties. This loan and three other earlier loans from the administration have totaled $1,104,000 in helping to provide telephone service to 1,325 rural telephone subscribers in the four counties. Expansion plans include general improvement to permit ready access to telephone service in all rural areas in the four counties, according to Howard Walker, Hereford office manager. The West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative was started seven years ago and the $170,000 loan marks the fifth for expansion. (Continued on Page 2)

Local residents who attended the meeting held in the Littlefield County court room Thursday night of the Texas High Plains Vegetable Council were Coleman D. McSpaddin and George Paetzold, representing Associated Growers of Hereford. The council is under the auspices of Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers.

Kenneth Probasco of Floyd County acted as chairman during the meeting and Dan Gregory of Hale County was secretary. Dr. Raymond Elliott of Texas Tech talked on a request for the establishment of a vegetable research program for the High Plains of Texas. The agricultural experiment station at Lubbock has agreed to set aside 80 acres for experimental research of vegetables for the High Plains district.

Counties to be involved in the program are Hale, Floyd, Lamb, Lubbock, Swisher, Bailey, Crosby, Cochran, Castro, Parmer, Deaf Smith, Dawson, Gaines, Lynn, Yoakum, Perry and Hockley.

Other speakers during the meeting were Jess Osborn, state representative; Joe Cole, extension service; Jim Hildreth, in charge of research at Texas A & M; and Bud Jones, district agent over County agents of this area.

Mr. Toothachre, representative for Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers, presented a bill which would provide for the appointment of a citrus and vegetable commission for Texas. The commission would regulate standards and conditions of vegetables being processed and sold in Texas.

The bill will be presented to the state legislature in January. Anyone wishing to read a copy of the bill should contact Mr. Toothachre at 306 E. Jackson, Harlingen, Tex.

Vegetable production on the South Plains has expanded from less than 6,000 acres in 1949 to over 53,000 acres in 1959. The estimated income from the 1959 crop, with normal prices and yields, will be approximately $36,000,000. The amount represents six and four tenths per cent of the total crop income from only one and two tenths per cent of the irrigated land in the area.

The present need for vegetable research lies in the fact that rapid development of vegetable production on the High Plains has been largely dependent on information obtained from vegetable research and grower knowledge in the Rio Grande Valley, Arizona and California.

For sound development of the vegetable industry on the High Plains, research is urgently needed to evaluate locally the principle factors that influence yield, quality and market ability of crops. Examples of these (Continued on Page 2)

State Committee To See Migrant Labor Housing

A governor-appointed committee, Texas Council of Migrant Labor, will arrive in Hereford for a meeting with the Hereford Housing Committee Wednesday. Time and place of the meeting will be announced later, according to City Manager Dudley Bayne.

Headed by Carlos Castillon, executive secretary of the council, the group will present a study of housing for migrant labor. A $100,000 bond issue, taken at the site of a Colorado labor camp, will highlight the meeting.

Castillon, Bayne said, plans to arrive in Hereford Monday to study the migrant labor housing problem here before the meeting.

Guilty Of DWI

Raymundo V. Garza, 24, Hereford, pleaded guilty to charge of driving while intoxicated in County Court Friday morning. He was fined $100 and court costs and sentenced to 10 days in County Jail.

Garza was arrested by City Patrolman Melvin Byrd at 2:37 a.m. Sunday near the intersection of Second and Miles. He was turned over to county authorities Wednesday.

Two Hereford School Burglaries Believed Tied To Similar Thefts

Two Hereford schools were hit in an upshot of burglaries in Panhandle schools Wednesday night.

Burglars who broke into two Hereford schools Wednesday night netted about $75. Method of gaining entry to the buildings were the same methods used for breaking into three other schools in the circuit of burglaries — in Friona, Dimmitt and Umbarger — on the same night, investigating officers said.

Burglarized here were Hereford High School and Central Elementary School. Entry to both schools was gained by prying doors open.

After the burglars entered the high school, according to Patrolman Arthur Findt, investigating officer, they entered the principal's office and pried open a steel cabinet.

From there, they entered the lunch room office, where they found a money box. Between $50 and $75 was taken from the two offices. They entered the high school through the northwest door, Findt said.

After entering Central school at the southeast door, the burglars entered the principal's office and pried open a filing cabinet, where they found about $3 in small change, according to Patrolman Melvin Byrd, investigating officer.

At Umbarger sometime Wednesday night, burglars lifted less than $2 in small change from the parochial school there. Entry to the Umbarger school was gained by prying open a door.

Randall County sheriff's officers think the burglars may have been looking for some of the money taken in Sunday at the Umbarger fall festival.

Other burglaries occurred in schools at Dimmitt and Friona, but the amount of money taken was not known to officers there.

Three Guilty Of Hauling Liquor

Three Hereford men entered guilty pleas to misdemeanor charges of transporting liquor without a permit in Potter County Court-at-Law in Amarillo Thursday.

They are James Harper, 35, bricklayer, Frank White Jr., 31, service station worker, and Julio Alfara Valdez, 25, laborer. Each was fined $100 and court costs.

At the time of Harper's arrest, 30 bottles of whiskey, two cases of beer and a bottle of wine were found in his possession. When White was arrested, 10 bottles of whiskey, a case of beer and two cartons of beer were seized.

Statutory Rape Charges Filed

A charge of statutory rape was filed against Ted Tjerina, 42, Hereford, Thursday morning. He allegedly assaulted his 14-year-old daughter about Oct. 1 in their family home.

Bond for Tjerina was set at $5,000 by Justice of the Peace Berry Miles Thursday morning. The case is scheduled to be put before the District Grand Jury in its next session Jan. 8.

Tjerina, a laborer who lives three miles north of Hereford, was arrested by Sheriff Charles Skelton and Deputy Sheriff Bill McCarver at 9 p.m. Wednesday near Progress Road.

Complaint was filed against Tjerina Wednesday afternoon by his daughter, who was accompanied by an older sister. The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department is continuing investigation of the case.

C. T. Guseman Rites Pending

Funeral services for C. T. Guseman, 67, were incomplete Saturday afternoon following his death shortly after 3 p.m. at his home, 503 Fifth Ave., in Hereford.

Known over the entire Panhandle as "Cecil", Mr. Guseman came to Hereford in 1926 from Kansas and, since that time, has been engaged in the cattle business here. He is recognized as one of the larger cattle shippers in West Texas, and with his brother, Dan Guseman, operated the "T-V" Ranch in the west part of Deaf Smith County.

Always generous in his support of community and civic improvements and drives, Mr. Guseman contributed much to the growth of this area, and was probably one of the most widely known men in the entire county. (Continued on Page 2)

MOVE ASIDE, says Hereford back Don Scott (22) as he dives to recover a Levelland fumble Friday night. Also going for the loose ball was Levelland's right half Leidon Brown. Scott covered the fumble after Levelland had completed a 14-yard pass-play late in the fourth period, only to be jarred into making the bobble. (Staff Photo)

BURNED journal box, on foreground wheel, was cited by Santa Fe officials as the cause of a three-car derailment in southwest Hereford early Saturday morning. There were no injuries, although more than 100 yards of track-age was ripped loose. (Staff Photo)

Former Resident Dies At Portales

Funeral services were conducted last Monday for Mrs. J. A. Vernon, former resident of Hereford, in the Fourth Street Church of Christ in Portales, N. M.

Mrs. Vernon resided in Hereford before moving to Portales about 21 years ago. Three of her seven daughters are still Hereford residents.

Survivors include her husband, J. A. Vernon of the home; four sons, Durward of Albuquerque, N. M., Perry of Flagler, Colo., Ivan of Yuma, Ariz., and Ralph of Portales; seven daughters, Mrs. Ova Pitts, Mrs. Uva Harett and Mrs. Loretta Ellred, all of Hereford, Mrs. Alva Sommers of San Diego, Calif.,

Mrs. Veda Huggins of Santa Paula, Calif., Mrs. Freeda McBride of Portales, N. M., and Mrs. Yvonne Johnson of Los Alamos, N. M.; 30 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

For the Hereford Lions, it climaxed a dream of several years and the intensive efforts of the past six weeks to see the club come into being.

Honored for their efforts in extension of Lionism were two Hereford club members, Dub Reeves and Ray Cowert. They were recognized by Ed Judd, special representative of Lions International.

Jimmie Gillentine, chairman of the Hereford extension committee, called the meeting to order and Wayne Thomas, who was graduated from Adrian High School, acted as toastmaster.

Don Zimmerman of Hereford, deputy district governor, introduced the special guests and pantomimist Larry Kelley of Amarillo, who presented five numbers.

In his speech presenting the charter, Governor Hunter used the theme of "Cooperation", stressing that it must be present at the local level in order for any group to accomplish worthwhile projects. He also gave some hints on community improvement efforts which could be handled by a small Lions Club.

Accepting the club's charter was M. W. Blankenship, president of the Adrian Lions Club. His short talk was built around liberty, intelligence and our nation's safety.

Neil Cooper, president of the Hereford Lions Club, presented a gong and gavel to John Skaggs, secretary of the Adrian Club. Labry Ballard, first vice president of the Hereford club, presented "something which isn't here" to Ray Brown, first vice president of the Adrian club. Ballard was scheduled to present a banner to the Adrian group, but it failed to arrive.

A coffee and doughnut hour will open activities of the second day. The coffee will be held from 9 to 10 a.m. at the Rock Club House.

From 10 to 11 a.m., a joint meeting will be held, with J. P. Jones, post commander, as chairman. During the meeting, Bill Lenderman, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce manager, will give the welcome address.

A luncheon, following church services, will be held from 12:30 to 1:15 p.m.

The conference will end with separate meetings of the Ladies Auxiliary at the Rock Club House and a VFW closed meeting at the Veterans' Home.

Decorations for the Adrian Lions Club charter banquet Thursday night included pumpkins and dried ears of corn. And it didn't take long for the Hereford Lions to show the new members in Adrian that those hard corn kernels made better throwing material than biscuits. Local Tall Twister Dub Reeves really filled up his fur-lined pot with fines, but he probably would have taken the whole billfold if anyone had thought of heaving one of those pumpkins across the room.

Guseman...

(Continued from Page 1) His death came as a surprise to family and friends, who felt that he was improving following an attack earlier in the week.

Mr. Guseman was born Dec. 13, 1891, in Lewistown, Mo., moved later to Kansas, then to Hereford.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Cecilia Monroe; a son, C. T. II; one sister, Mabel Arnold, Coldwater, Kan., and one brother, Dan, Hereford.

Funeral arrangements will be under direction of Gilliland Funeral Home.

All-School Play Cast Continues Rehearsals

Rehearsals for "Charley's Aunt" are coming along very well, according to Carroll Hickey, high school drama instructor. Tickets for the comedy, to be presented by the cast of the fourth annual All-School Play, will go on sale tomorrow.

The show will be staged in the Hereford High School auditorium Nov. 24 for a two-night stand. Price of admission will be 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for school children. Preschool children will be admitted free of charge. Curtain time for performances will be 8:15 p.m.

The plot of the play depicts a situation which originates when two college boys ask a friend to impersonate an aunt from Brazil who was scheduled to visit them but was delayed.

The boys, roommates in college, had asked their girl friends to meet the aunt and did not want to disappoint them. Right in the middle of the visit, the real aunt shows up.

Cast of the play includes Durward Jacobs, Richard Leggett, John Gilliland, David Larsen, Jan Wallace, Jimmy Hair, Suzanne Langley, Jeanne Brown and Shirley Thompson.

Mrs. Carroll Hickey is in charge of all costumes in the play, and set design is under the direction of Erin Wertemberger and Ann Wingert.

Hickey is confident that "Charley's Aunt" will prove to be one of the most successful plays the group has ever done here. He says that any performance of this farce depends, to a large extent, on the efforts of the young man portraying the title character.

"In Gilliland," he said, "we think we have a person worthy of the performance. Also, we feel that other members of the cast are well-selected for their roles."

Stars such as Jack Benny, Ray Bolger, Jose Ferrer, Charles Ruggles, Syd Chaplin and John Mills have been casted in the lead role in appearances in America and England.

"Probably the most unusual performance of the play," Hickey said, "took place during the Second World War. Several actors of different nationalities met by chance in Sheppard's Bar in Cairo and found that they had all played in "Charley's Aunt" at one time or another, and they arranged on the spot to give a performance for charity.

"There was no one language they spoke in common, so each acted his part in his native tongue. But the audience was able to follow them easily, since most of them knew the play almost as well as the actors did."

The author of the play, Brandon Thomas, was born in 1848. The play became an inspiration to Thomas after the famous London Comedian, W. S. Penley, in 1890 said to Thomas, "I'm thinking of going into management. Why don't you write a comedy for me?"

Thomas, delighted, asked, "You've played every character under the sun — have you ever thought of playing a woman?"

Bennett were the first men to fly over the Greenland Icecap and the first men to fly over the North Pole. Byrd was also the first man to fly over the South Pole.

ABILENE VISITOR

Mrs. Thomas Armstrong of Abilene visited over the weekend in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCullough.

In Alexandria, Va., still stands the apothecary shop where George Washington had his medical prescriptions filled.

Thus, "Charley's Aunt" was born and has been successful in every country which has ever scheduled performances of the play.

Mrs. Hewett Plans Visit To England

Mrs. L. C. Hewett is going home to her native country, England, on a visit. She and her husband and two daughters, Suzanne, three, and Beverly, two, live on a farm about 2 1/2 miles east of Hereford.

The girls will accompany their mother on the trip, but Hewett couldn't get away from his work to be gone as long as would be necessary to make such a trip.

They plan to be away until spring, possibly in April.

Mrs. Hewett's parents have visited here, but other relatives have never seen the girls and Mrs. Hewett has not been back for eight years.

She came to this country as a war bride in 1946. The last time she visited England was still under the rigid restrictions of a war economy, and she feels that this time it will be back to normal ways of life.

Her home town was Derby, which is about the center of England, and is an industrial town.

Mrs. Hewett expected to leave Hereford Saturday and spent Monday night in New York City, sailing on the "United States" Tuesday at noon.

The ship is scheduled to reach Southampton, England, at noon-time the following Sunday.

The United States continued to head the list of countries that bought from and sold to Turkey during 1957.

Hold Hobo Picnic For Winter Fun

Cooler weather is likely to be a challenge to young people when it comes to fun. Summer-time in the mountains or at the shore has much to offer from picnic to picnic with recreation that includes swimming, water skiing, beachcombing.

But when it comes to sitting around the fireplace instead of holding fort around a bonfire, we may be at a loss for good, clean fun ideas. A party can get pretty dull even when it is an indoor picnic, popular recreation for young people during winter months.

One fun idea is a hobo picnic complete with red or blue hobo scarves for napkins, wooden reeds for toasting hot dogs over the fire, a wash pail of ice for Coke bottles, spuds wrapped in aluminum foil for roasting. Little cheesewiches, pairs of crackers with the cheese baked between, are easy to serve cold out of the refrigerator or piping hot from fireplace logs.

When everybody is sitting around cozily on the floor, begin a fiction story with each person participating in the telling. Each guest has just so many minutes to tell his part of the story, and cannot continue when the timer calls a halt.

You'll be amazed how interesting the story may become, especially if it gets to the suspense stage. A fiction story should get to at least 10 people each talking for at least two minutes. The last person must end the story, and thereby hangs the tale.

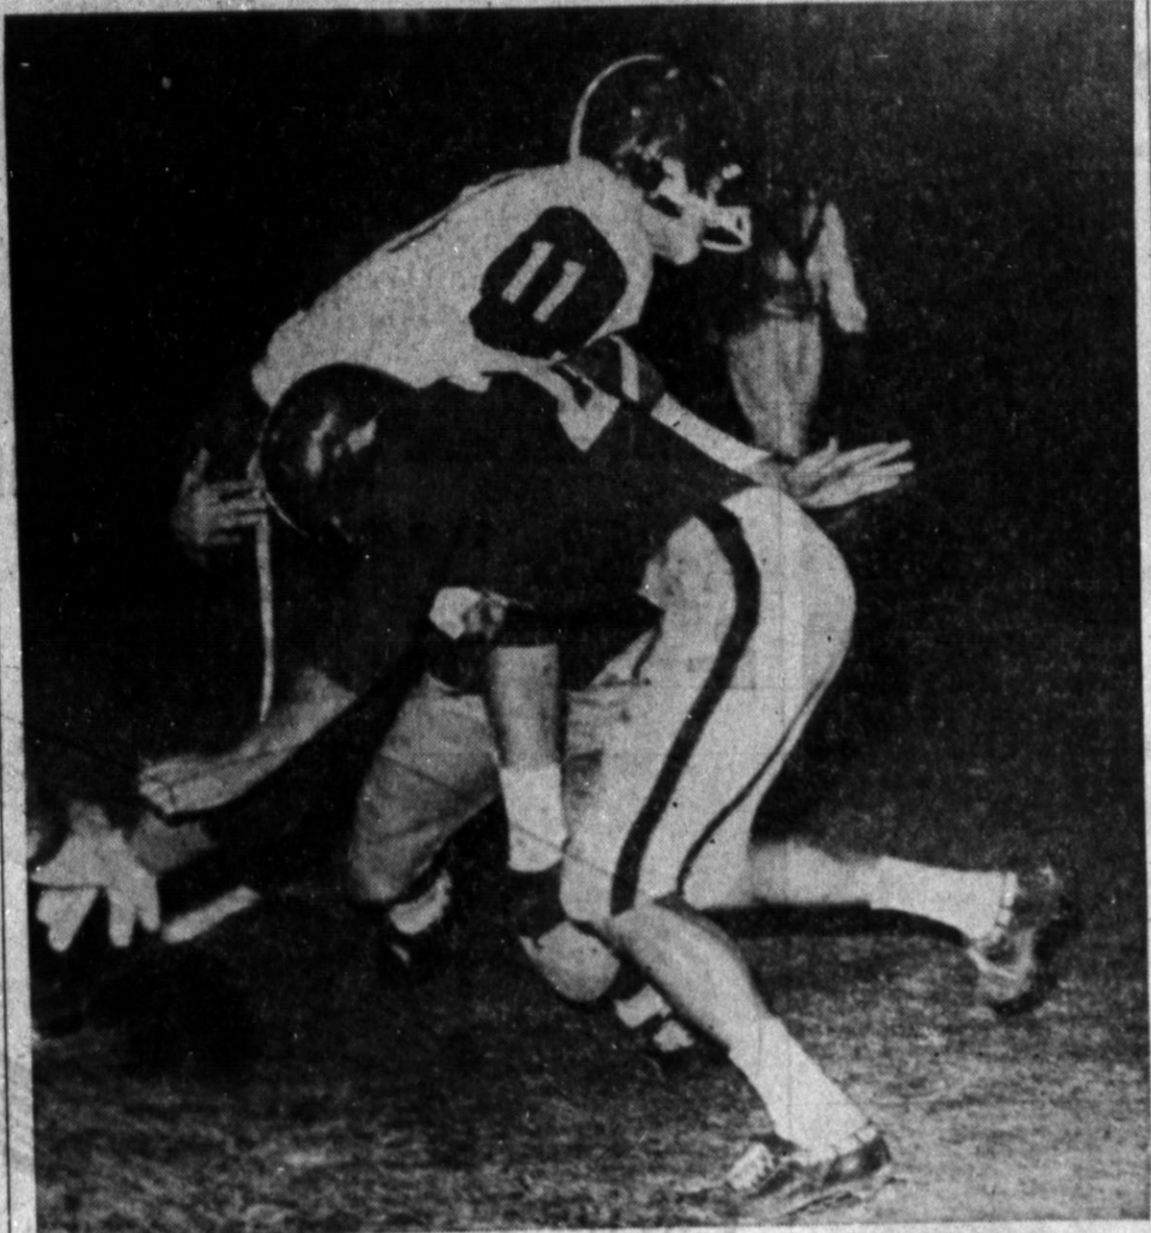

One Connecticut group of young people claims afternoon clan gathering can jazz up a study period. The idea makes a hit with parents so that a group can get together more often.

The trick is to choose a subject that is agreeable to the majority. If all members of the group are in the same class, so much the better. The session could be home work, and dull as it sounds just think of all the helping hands one could meet.

If the thought of school work is depressing, an interesting educational idea is the travelogue, a trip adventure to another city, town, village, theatre, related by the traveler while everyone lounges around.

The tape recorder can supply a lot of laughs too on these occasions. Home movies ring a bell, particularly with sports-minded types. If you've had the foresight to photograph a series of steps in a new technique of water skiing or that big fish that almost got away, home movies can supply a million laughs. These are great ice-breakers when new pals are being initiated to a crowd. Anyone who acts bored shouldn't be invited again.

WHITEFACE 'B' TILTED, 28-20

Hereford Calves Stampede Littlefield Freshmen, 26-12

By RICHARD LEGGITT
Hereford's fine freshman team racked the Levelland Frosh over the coals Thursday night in Levelland with final score of 26 to 12, while the tough Hereford "B" team lost a heart-breaker to the Littlefield Bees, 28 to 20, at Littlefield.

Dennis Hodges started off the scoring in the first quarter of the Freshman game with a 65-yard gallop over right tackle. The try for points failed and Hereford led six to nothing with the game in the opening moments.

Quarterback Joe Mack Hale added his share to the first quarter totals with a 25-yard scamper to make the score 12 to nothing. The try for points again failed.

Levelland finally got their offense rolling to make the score 12 to 6 early in the second quarter.

Just before the half Hale cranked up a scoring pass to Don McDowell for a 65-yard touchdown. Again the Frosh failed on the points after touchdown.

After the second half started, Dennis Hodges decided to take his try in the air and tossed a 35-yard pass to Randy Dowell for the last Freshman touchdown. After missing the fourth straight points-after-touchdown try, the Frosh led 26 to 6.

Levelland Freshmen again got their offense underway to put six more points on the scoreboard before the end of the game.

The final score was Hereford Freshman, 26, Levelland Frosh, 12.

The Hereford "B" team dropped a tough one to the Littlefield Bees after receiving a shock in the first half at being behind 22 to 6.

The Hereford Bees got hot and nearly pulled a crowd-irritator out of the fire. Hereford made its lone first half touchdown on a six yard scamper by Eddie Skypala in the first quarter.

Littlefield was picture perfect during the first period making three touchdowns.

As the second half started the boys from Hereford settled down to play ball. Lee Kimbell scored on a nifty play that netted 25 yards in the third quarter.

'Swanee,' Strangely, Inspires Housecleaning

IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By BETTY BABIONE
It seems that about the only time I get inspired to clean out the drawers around the household is when I can't find something that ought to be somewhere in one of them.

Take for instance the other day when I realized we weren't gonna be able to attend Eastern New Mexico University's production of "Swanee" and therefore weren't going to make first use of our Community Concert "family" ticket. I offered the ticket to a friend, she readily accepted the offer, and I was so happy that the ticket was going to be used that it took the edge off my disappointment over not getting to see "Swanee".

Then when she came by to pick up the ticket, I couldn't find it anywhere. Has anything like this ever happened to anybody else?

Yes, I cleaned out every drawer after first staging a hasty search and having to send my friend off to the program "without". In the lengthy process of cleaning, everything under the sun turned up except what I was looking for.

Wouldn't ya know it? . . . the only thing left to do now is to search every bookshelf, cabinet, nook and cranny where one might put something away to be sure to find it later. Ha.

Well, the family may miss all the concerts. But the drawers and nooks and crannies will be tidy and in order for a while.

Now then, This week's gossip will just hafta wait till next. Cause I want to share an entertaining essay written by a fellow columnist and bowler in Oakland, Calif. And I believe that even you readers who do not bowl will find it amusing.

THIS IS FUN?
By SAUL PATT
I have taken up bowling. I do not particularly like bowling but my boss does. So I have taken up bowling.

This is the latest example — and perhaps the worst example — of that creeping paralysis of American independence known as "togetherness". In Bowling, the disease is carried to the ultimate. Friends bowl together. Enemies bowl together. Management and labor bowl together. Remember when we were a

Local Woman's Mother Dies

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Dodson of Hereford have returned home from Albuquerque, N. M., where they attended the funeral services for her mother, Mrs. J. S. Tucker, 71.

Mrs. Tucker died Oct. 25 while visiting in the home of another daughter, Mrs. Naomi Sprague, in Albuquerque. She had been an invalid confined to a wheelchair for the past 15 years. Her husband preceded her in death by four years.

Funeral services were held in Exter Mortuary Chapel and burial was in Sunset Memorial Cemetery.

Mrs. Tucker is survived by seven children and 13 grandchildren.

One of the more pleasant chores involved with the newspaper business is that of going to the post office. This is one place where the editor and publisher stands out. It is his one mark of prestige and recognition that goes without challenge.

In the first place, necessity demands that he have one of the large size boxes — even if it does cost a buck or two more each quarter. Other people have the large boxes, but the pay off comes when they start getting out the mail. It is a source of genuine pride when you remove your mail along side a bank president — and calmly walk away with two or three times as much correspondence. Doctors and lawyers don't even count. Their daily mail is so meager that they usually send one of the girls and, in some cases, probably even get it on city delivery.

In the newspaper business you get a lot of special delivery letters, correspondence from Hongkong to Alaska and hardly a day passes that you do not have at least three letters from senators or congressmen. Once in awhile, the president.

Needless to say, most of the correspondence is from folks who want you to publish free some sort of advertising for which they should pay. However, the bankers and the elevator men don't know this, and what they don't know won't hurt them. The bad thing about it is that you have to search through the whole mess with a fine tooth comb for fear that you might overlook a check. It is worth the effort, though. When I get down in the dumps about something, I generally grab my hat and head for the post office. It is really good for the ego.

I guess the folks out Adrian way already knew it, but Webb Blankenship surprised the Hereford group when he delivered his acceptance speech at the Adrian Lions Club charter night banquet. Webb is a good speaker. I don't know if his wife helped him write it or not, but he also had a rousing good speech. A few more orations like that and someone will be trying to run the boy for Congress.

Deaf Smith County election judges merit a big hand for the speed and efficiency with which they handled the general election this month. Texas Election Bureau cited Deaf Smith as one of the four counties with more than 1,500 votes with complete returns. Precinct 11, often last by hours, was in before Precinct 1 or Precinct 2. The rural telephone network, along with cooperation of the various judges, also contributed a lot toward establishing the record.

Dr. H. A. Cavness was going down the street Friday morning with a 16-inch monstrosity that looked like deer antlers. Turned out, though, that it was a giant size molar which he had constructed for the Shrine boys to take down to Lubbock, along with the repainted fire truck. The idea, according to Doc, was to attach to the fang a sign concerning "The Town Without A Toothache". The Shriners had Bill Hampton all spruced up and carrying a half-grown pig. All in all, it sounds as if Lubbock will know that Hereford is in the district.

Pete Cowert, one time C-C manager, and wife, Rosa, visited in Hereford this week. Pete now manages Palo Duro Park and I guess Rosa manages Pete, which makes her a pretty busy girl. Anyway, it was nice to see them — without having to pay an entrance fee into the park grounds.

Probably the best thing to come along in many a moon are these new tranquilizer pills. I got to reading about them and decided to buy a bottle. When I got home with them, my wife made me turn right around, go back to town and trade them for a bottle of vitamin tablets. She says I need the B-12 vitamins, deal a lot more than I need tranquilizers.

This got me to thinking and I realized suddenly what a wonderful world we have. You can take a vitamin tablet and get all riled up, then offset the effects with a tranquilizer pill — and you haven't lost a thing. Fact is, if everything works right you have a 50-50 chance of being your normal self. For a shade under $20, too.

Jessie Stanford figures that people used to get by without these things because they kept a pitcher of sorghum molasses on the table at all times. Folks sopped up their vitamins along with hot biscuits and homemade butter — and some of them actually thought it was good. They didn't know any better, so they got along pretty well without the convenience of these little tablets which are so round, so firm and so fully packed with delicious cod liver oil. One consolation, though, they never knew what they were missing.

Dave McReynolds, who does a column in the Friona Star, says a bunch of the boys gathered for coffee at Sherman's Cafe the other day and the subject got around to duck hunting. Some of the nimrods were getting into big numbers about how many ducks they had killed. When duck feathers were getting waist deep around the table in walks a stranger dressed in a pale olive drab uniform. The conversation tapered off abruptly — and pretty soon not one duck hunter remained in the cafe. The fact that the officer was from the weights and measures department — and not the game department — probably wouldn't have made much difference, says Dave, because none of the boys stayed long enough to find out.

Grapevine reports indicate no likely action on the post office appointment soon. One of the applicants who did not make the "top three" is said to have filed a protest. No one seems to know how long it will take for the smoke to clear.

There has been considerable local confusion over identity of the three top listings. Very few people seem to know the candidates by their full and proper names as recorded on their birth certificates. Broken down to everyday, Hereford English they are: Nolan Grady, Billy Hutson and Billy Miller. Jack Grady, because Nolan is a "Jr." is often asked if he is after the job; Billy Miller, who works at McCullough Motor, has also been confused. Nolan and Billy Hutson are both currently employed at the post office.

Cliff Arnold got several phone calls about the answer to his problem about the three men who paid $10 for a hotel room, got back a $5 rebate, then gave $2 to the bell boy and wound up with $9 each. We also had letters from California, Colorado and several Texas cities.

All of the answers agreed: Each man was out $8 1/3 for his room, $2/3 tip to the boy — and had $1 in his pocket. This adds up to $10, sure enough.

June Neel of Amarillo sent in the answer and also sent along another stumper:
A man owned 23 horses and wanted to give them to his three sons. He wanted the youngest son to have 1/3 of them, the next son 1/3, and the eldest son 1/2. After con-

Adventures in ADVERTISING

Vash Young and the 52 PHONE CALLS

In his book, "The Go Giver", Vash Young tells of making a telephone call to one prospect for 52 consecutive weeks before he got results.

Vash Young is one of the all time great insurance salesmen. He used tact, diplomacy, intelligent presentation and persistence. In this particular instance he telephoned a prospect for an appointment. The prospect put him off until the next week. And then he put him off another week and another and another until the telephone calls got to be sort of a game.

Vash Young kept right on calling every week without ever getting an appointment. On the 52nd call he was startled when the prospect told him of another man who wanted to buy a substantial amount of insurance. Vash Young followed the lead and took an order for the largest policy he had ever sold.

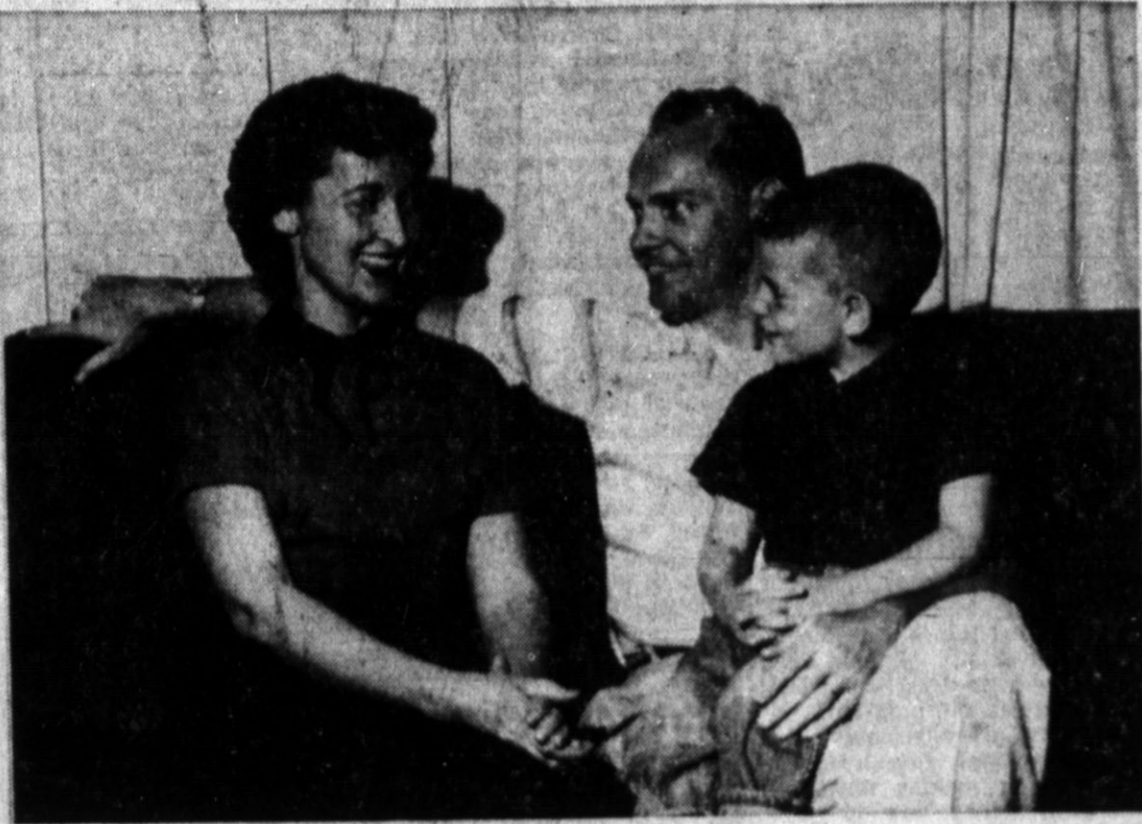

If Vash Young had given up after the second or third call he would never have sold the big order. And so it is with newspaper advertising. It takes more than one or two "calls" to the potential customers to get the best results. It is the consistent, persistent advertiser who eventually gets the "big order."

Birthdays Celebrated At London Family Reunion

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter London Sr. was the scene of a family reunion the past weekend, highlighted by birthday celebrations and many informal round-ups of relatives and friends. All of their children were here for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Hendrick and son Jamie of Imperial Beach, Calif., were the first to arrive, and on Sunday a family reunion dinner was held at the London home. Present were Mrs. Hendrick's twin sister, Mrs. Ted Meyers and her husband and son of Amarillo, Miss Ruth London, also of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Baxter London and two children, and Mr. and Mrs. Walton London Jr. and three daughters of Hereford. Also present was the mother of Mrs. Walton London Sr., Mrs. Baxter Easter, who makes her home with her daughter.

Two birthdays were being celebrated that day. Jamie Hendrick was honored on his sixth birthday, and Walton London Jr. was observing his birthday.

Tuesday evening the group was together again. This time a special guest, who will soon become a member of the family, was welcomed. She was Miss Rita Peterson of Enid, Okla., bride-elect of their son, Ray, of Amarillo, who accompanied her here for the dinner party.

The couple will be married in the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Amarillo Dec. 12. Both Ray and his fiancée are employed in Amarillo.

Other family affairs were held during the visit of the Hendricks, who also visited relatives in Oklahoma before leaving for their home Wednesday.

Study Club Holds Program Monday

A program on "Colonial Homes" was presented at the Monday night session of the Monday Study Club, held with Mrs. T. J. Clay.

Mrs. Wayne Thomas, president, presided over a short business session preceding the program.

Mrs. Byron Durham presented the program, beginning with the architecture of the 1600's, and tracing its development through the 18th Century. She discussed furniture of the early periods and told of the homelife in the early days, comparing the strict supervision of parents in those times with supervision of today.

She told of the private schools and commented on today's trends in reviving styles in architecture and furniture, as well as some methods in child training.

Refreshments were served during the social hour to Mesdames Darrell Blanton, Ivan Block, Jim Bookout, R. A. Daniel Jr., Bill Decker, Byron Durham, Virginia Hartman, Bill Waldrep, Wayne Thomas, Dorval Young and the hostess.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McBroom of the Daniel Community are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Verna Kay, to Wade Crist, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Crist, who live near Hereford.

The wedding will be held late in December, depending upon the future bridegroom's release from service with the U. S. Marine Corps. Plans are being made for the ceremony to be read in the Palo Duro Baptist Church, near Wildorado.

Miss McBroom graduated from Hereford High School last May and is currently a student at Draughon's Business College in Amarillo.

Marriage Plans To Be Revealed

Mrs. Thurmond Johnson, Route 3, Friona, will entertain this afternoon with a tea at the home of her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Johnson, 405 Ave. I, announcing the engagement of her daughter, Miss Helen Dawn Johnson, to Rodney Symons of Perryton. Calling hours are from 3 to 5 p.m.

The prospective bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Symons of Perryton. The couple will be married Friday, Nov. 21, in The First Methodist Church.

The house will be decorated for the occasion, with arrangements of white carnations. Refreshments will be served from a table laid with an imported white silk cloth, centered with white carnations in a silver bowl, flanked by white tapers in silver candelabra.

Names of the engaged couple and their wedding date will be announced on wide rose-colored satin streamers attached to the flowers.

Mrs. David Sowell and Mrs. Marvin Cunningham, cousins of the bride-elect, will preside, and Miss Ann Symons of Perryton, sister of the future bridegroom, will secure names for the bride's book.

Mrs. Tom Johnson, Mrs. Bud Gibbons, Plainview; Mrs. Cecil Morrison, Friona; and Mrs. P. B. Sowell, aunt of the honoree, will assist the hostess in the houseparty. Receiving the guests will be Mrs. Johnson, the bride-elect, Mrs. Roy F. Symons, mother of the future bridegroom, Miss Billie Sue Ward of Borger, who will be an attendant in the wedding, and the bride-elect's grandmother, Mrs. Henry Tiefel.

Miss Johnson is a graduate of Hereford High School and attended the University of Texas for one year before transferring to the University of Colorado. She is now a senior student at West Texas State College.

Her fiancé graduated from Perryton High School and also is a senior student at West Texas. The couple plan to continue their school work after their marriage.

'School Nurse' Meeting Subject

"Today's Need For the School Nurse" provided the subject of discussion at the Pioneer Study Club's November session, held in the home of Mrs. John Patton Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Fred Barrett and Mrs. J. E. Beyer were assistant hostesses.

Tables for the buffet luncheon, held at 1 p.m., carried out a Thanksgiving theme in decorations and appointments. Following the luncheon, Mrs. Ralph McCullough, president, conducted a short business session preceding the program.

Mrs. Earl Springer, Hereford School nurse, presented the program, giving a comparison of nursing schools of yesterday and today, telling of progress made in training and in educational requirements. She stressed the need for practical nurses and told of her work here in the public schools.

Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Sr., Seventh District, TFWC Community chairman, gave a report titled "Just the Facts Ma'am," in which she told about a recent safety conference held in Amarillo.

Members attending the meeting were Mesdames Fred Barrett, Allen Bell, J. E. Beyer, Burl France, J. M. Gilliland, O. H. Herring, O. G. Hill Sr., E. S. Ireland, Ray Johnson, F. M. Kester, L. H. Lookingbill Sr., C. N. McClure, Ralph McCullough, H. E. Miller, Wirt Phillips, Mary Seiger, Delmar Sigle, Charlie Walsler, Bess Werner, Myrtle Wright, Miss Roberta Campbell, and the hostess.

Miss Dorothy Hund Couple Planning January Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hund, Route 1, have announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Hund, and Anthony Brorman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brorman.

The couple will be married Jan. 14 in St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

The bride-elect and prospective bridegroom attended Hereford High School, and he has just returned from Germany, where he spent 17 months with the U. S. Army.

Miss Hund is employed at Deaf Smith County Electric Co-op.

Brorman is engaged in farming, and the couple plan to live on a farm near Vega.

Berends Observe 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Berend were honored on their 25th wedding anniversary at a dinner party given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Berend, 505 Star St., Sunday. Hostesses were Mrs. E. W. Berend and Mrs. Thomas Albracht.

The table was centered with a tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom and the numerals "25" done in silver. Gifts were presented, including a silver tree.

Those attending were the Rev. Father Cletus McGarri and Messrs. and Mesdames Ed Loerwald, Ed Dzuik, Clarence Betzen, Ed Jesko, Mike Betzen, Frank Bezner, Harold Hunsley, George Schulte, Frank Walterscheid, Gilbert Yasten, Lawrence Jentzen of Bushland, Earl Gibson of Bushland, Joe Franks of Canyon, the hosts and the honorees.

Former Hereford Couple To Hold Anniversary Open House Today

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Ferguson, 2016 Crockett St., Amarillo, formerly of Hereford, will observe their Golden Wedding Anniversary today with an open house from 2 until 5 p.m. at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson were both born in Montgomery, Miss., and attended the same school, where they met. They were married Nov. 16, 1908, and moved from Mississippi to Oklahoma in 1913, where they lived and reared their family.

In 1945, they decided to move to Texas and located at Amarillo. In 1948, they moved to Hereford, where they made their home until 1956. At that time, they returned to Amarillo to live, to be near their daughter, Mrs. Lawrence McGee, who had moved to Amarillo from Hereford. He is a retired railroad employee.

The couple have three children: George Ferguson of Tulsa, Okla., Mrs. Horace Johnson of Murfreesboro, Tenn., and Mrs. Lawrence McGee. They have six grandchildren.

West Hereford Club Studies 'Framing'

The West Hereford Demonstration Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Alice Cox for a lesson on Picture Framing.

Music Study Program Held By Club Monday

Mrs. C. J. Mountz was leader of the program when the Music Study Club convened Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Bill Stanford, 207 Star St. Mrs. B. Y. Crosthwait was co-hostess.

The program, dealing mainly with the works of Haydn and Scarlatti, included something of their early childhood and interest in music and their consideration of combinations of tones and chords in their relation to one another.

"Haydn turned to folk songs and dances, and although, a Catholic, even composed for the dance. Scarlatti was one of the foremost early composers of sonatas," she said.

Musical selections featured works of the two composers, including a vocal solo, "In the Country" (Haydn-La Forge), sung by Mrs. H. K. Fox, accompanied by Mrs. J. C. McCracken; a trio, "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair" (Haydn), sung by Mesdames W. T. Carmichael, C. J. Mountz and B. Y. Crosthwait, with Mrs. T. Carmichael, C. J. Mountz and B. Y. Crosthwait at the piano; and a piano trio, "Gypsy Rondo" (Haydn), played by Mesdames Bill Stanford, Joe Hacker, and Bill Brady.

The hymn of the month, "Come, Ye Thankful People, Come," was sung in conclusion of the program, with Mrs. C. J. Mountz as leader and Mrs. A.

J. Schroeter as accompanist. Mrs. W. J. Stanford presided over a short business session and refreshments were served during a social hour.

Those present were Mesdames J. R. Allison, Bill Brady, W. T. Carmichael, Ellis Coombs, R. P. Conaway, B. Y. Crosthwait, Cliff Estes, C. C. Ferguson, H. K. # Light, Spotty Rainfall Hits Area Wednesday

By MRS. CARL WIMBERLEY
About half an inch of rain fell here Wednesday night. It was lighter in some spots, but the dirt roads were very slick Thursday morning.

The Dawn School P-TA meeting has been postponed from Nov. 17 to Nov. 24. J. N. Killingsworth's pupils will provide special entertainment.

The Home Demonstration Club will have its annual Thanksgiving dinner for the members and their families Thursday evening Nov. 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Fuller.

The Dawn Baptist Church will participate Sunday through Thursday evening in an Associational School of Missions with a different Home or Foreign Missionary to speak at each session.

Mrs. Ray Wells returned to the classroom Wednesday after several days of absence due to illness.

A lot of people attended the farm sale at the Benny Womble farm Wednesday.

The members of the H. D. Club served lunch. The proceeds netted $100. Ladies who helped serve included Mrs. Marion Russell, Mrs. R. L. Johnson, Mrs. Orval Galley, Mrs. L. W. Tooley, Mrs. R. T. Stewart, and Mrs. H. S. Fuller. All the members helped furnish the food.

Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Neal and children were guests at a birthday dinner for Mrs. J. W. Murphy of Clarendon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Murphy in Amarillo Sunday. Others present included Mrs. Louise Payne of Clarendon, John Payne, a student at West Texas State, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Murphy and family of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thirby are the parents of a boy, Ricki Carl. Thirby worked for Gayle Neal the past spring and summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Vinton and Donald Vinton visited Sunday in the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hollensteln, in Hereford. Mrs. Anna Huseman of Nazareth was also a guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Vinton took her uncle, Antone Ther, to Amarillo Monday morning where he took a bus for his home in Spokane, Wash. Their had visited relatives in this area for the past month.

The Dawn Musettes will meet Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. H. H. Miller. The meetings are usually held on Tuesdays.

Mr. and Mrs. Rea Cox and children visited Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Cox of Plainview. Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cox of Farmington, N. M., were also present.

Demonstration On Holiday Candles

Farm and Ranch Club met in the home of Mrs. Norman Mink recently, with Mrs. Elmo Hall in charge of the program.

After a short business session, Mrs. Hall gave a demonstration on making Christmas candles, telling how to color, how to mold and how to decorate the holiday candles. Each member made candles for her own use during a work session.

Refreshments carrying out the Thanksgiving motif were served to Mesdames Elmo Hall, Waldron Melton, Max Heavin, Hershel Burrus and the hostesses.

Ruth Class Holds Meet

The Ruth Class of the First Baptist Church, with Mrs. Owen Stagner as teacher, met for a regular meeting Thursday night in the home of Mrs. Jack Gilliland. Mrs. J. W. Witherspoon was co-hostess. The meeting was opened with a prayer led by Mrs. Howard Scott.

The class voted to fix a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family.

Jaycee-Ettes Install New Officers At Dinner Party

The Jaycee-Ettes annual installation dinner was held in the Western Wheel Inn dining room Wednesday evening, with Mrs. Paul Schroeter and Mrs. Don Fudge serving as hostesses.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Gerald Hale, outgoing president, installed the new officers, using as a theme "The symbols of the bells".

She told how the bells may be used as a symbol of love or sorrow, a gathering together, a gathering to arms, a call to leadership and a call to worship, and suggested that the tiny bells attached to blue ribbon badges be worn with pride as reminders of their responsibilities as officers.

Those installed were Mrs. Paul Schroeter, president; Mrs. Wendell Morton, vice president; Mrs. Don McNeese, secretary; Mrs. Richard Pickens, treasurer; and Mrs. Dennis Lomas, reporter. Mrs. Gerald Hale was named state director.

The president conducted a short business session, naming the following committees: membership, Mrs. Don Fudge and Mrs. Wendell Morton; program, Mrs. Gerald Hale; cheer, Mrs. Walter Kirkland; telephone, Mrs. Stanley Slagle and Mrs. Bill Howard; and yearbook, Mrs. Gerald Hale, Mrs. Jesse Click and Mrs. Stanley Slagle.

The outgoing president, Mrs. Gerald Hale, named Mrs. Dennis Lomas as the club's outstanding woman of the past year and presented her with a gift.

Plans were made for the annual Christmas party which will be held in the home of Mrs. Paul Schroeter on Dec. 10. Mesdames Stanley Slagle, Dennis Lomas and Walter Kirkland were named to a committee to arrange coffee and sandwiches for the Jaycee's when they install Christmas decorations in the business district.

CHOICE: MONEY OR SOIL.
—GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. — Everett H. Ormsbee, 86, who operates a pear orchard in western Colorado, says he went into farming because he preferred the feel of the soil to the feel of money.

He was working in a bank at Harvard, Neb., 61 years ago when he had a chance to buy a farm. Nine years later he moved to the Grand Junction area. Ormsbee was the oldest delegate at the 1958 convention of the Rocky Mountain Farmers Union in Denver.

HIGH FASHION—The high bustline influence ushered in on the wave of Empire fashions calls for a different approach to jewelry accessorizing. Jewelry emphasis should be kept above the bustline, the Fashion Coordination Institute points out. Pins such as the one at left should be worn plumb center, they say, drawing quick and dramatic attention to the flattering high line. Shorter, fuller, more ornate big necklaces such as the bib necklace at right keep the eyes high.

'Living Art Program' Set At Junior High

A "Living Art Program," scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Stanton Junior High School auditorium, will feature students re-enacting subjects of world famous painting.

Price of admission to the show is 35 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Proceeds of the show will go toward funds for buying painting for three buildings to be added to the Hereford School System next year.

A ticket entitles the holder to view the living art program, the Colonial Art Exhibit from Oklahoma City, and a display of projects made by junior high school students.

Ten pictures from the 100-print Colonial Art Exhibit have been selected for the living picture show. Settings for the show were designed by art class students.

After the living art show, viewers will visit the other exhibits. The show will last for approximately one hour.

Participants in the show may buy prints on exhibit which will be on sale at the show. Elementary school children will view the show in connection with school work.

Participating in the living art program are art, music and shop departments at the school.

The show will feature the following paintings: "Sunday Afternoon at Grand Jatte" by Seurat, "Spring Song" by Glicklick, "Happy Days" by Iverd, "The Shepard Boy" by Lenbach, "Little Maiden" by Renoir, "St. Jerome" by El Greco, "Knitting Girl" by Botticelli, "Boy With A Red Vest" by Cezanne, and "Mona Lisa" by Da Vinci.

Bible Words for Today

JEREMIAH 8:7 -
 "Even the stork in the heavens knows her times; and the turtle dove, swallow, and crane keep the time of their coming; but my people know not the ordinance of the Lord." (RSV)

Jeremiah, who was a country boy and loved the world of nature, observed long centuries ago the wonderful migrations of the birds and marvelled at the unfailing regularity of their return when the seasons came round. The birds are always true to the laws of their nature. How different it is with man! He, too, has a law of his being - the law of God, written in his heart and in the Bible. But unlike the birds and other lesser animals, he fails to obey that law and so brings chaos and misery into the world. The tragedy of human life is that men refuse to be true to themselves. We are fully men only when our lives are fully conformed to God's will. It is the nature of the bird to return with the changing seasons; it is the true nature of man, at every season, to direct his life toward God.

500 killed - 3000 wounded!

Quite a slaughter, isn't it? That's a reliable estimate, however, of those who will be killed or injured by accident this hunting season.

There's only one tragic explanation for it - MISTAKEN IDENTIFICATION. Experienced hunters seldom cause these accidents.

If you hunt only once in awhile, be doubly sure:

1. That your vision is good enough.
2. That you hold your fire until you are sure.

Don't kill or injure your hunting friends. Have your vision examined by a professional optometrist EVERY year.

James Dale Young Approved As State Professional Engineer

James Dale Young of Hereford recently received approval from the State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers to practice as a professional engineer in Texas. Young is employed by Pioneer Natural Gas in Hereford as a District Distribution Engineer. The Hereford District serves seven major towns and numerous consumer-owned irrigation systems in parts of eight counties. He has been with Pioneer Natural Gas for three years.

Young attended Texas Tech and was graduated with a bachelor of science degree in industrial engineering. He has worked in the gas and petroleum industry since his graduation from college in 1954. Young and his wife, Charis, have been in Hereford for the past two years and have two boys and a girl. Young is a member of the Panhandle Chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers and of the National Society of Professional Engineers.

Area Management Of Crop Residues Good

There has been excellent management of crop residues in both the dryland and irrigated areas of the district this past year. This type of treatment means a great deal to the irrigated farmers in getting the most from both the irrigation water and rainfall. It also provides the dryland farmer with the necessary protection from wind erosion and a means of holding his rainfall in the soil.

Conditioning the soil means doing whatever is necessary to put it in the state where it readily absorbs moisture. Locally, this means working the residues into the surface of the soil on irrigated land and using sweeps or even a one-way on dryland in a manner that leaves most residues on the surface.

The use of all residues is a must if soil is going to be kept in a top productive condition. This soil condition affects root growth, movement of air in the soil, soil organisms and the amount of available moisture.

Many have heard the expression in speaking of some soils that they "flowed together like cement." This is an extreme in soil condition, but is found in varying degrees in clay type soils, where the organic matter in the soil is at a low state.

In striving to keep soil in a top productive condition it is well to remember that it takes a combination of different high residue producing crops, soil improving crops and fertilizer to do the job. Fertilizers do their best work where the soil provides the conditions necessary for good growth.

The nitrogen fertilizers are needed to get a rapid breakdown of the residues. This results in the addition of a maximum amount of humus to the soil. Burying residues too deep results in shutting out the air and retarding decay.

'What Tax Next' Popular Question

By GARTH JONES
Austin (P) — With all this talk about possible new state taxes, Texans are beginning to ask each other just what taxes they are paying now.

"Plenty" and "Too much" are the usual answers. However, the Texas State Tax Study Commission can furnish an answer that is more detailed. The Commission is a group of state senators and representatives working with the private League to gather tax facts for the coming Legislature.

Let's say you are a member of that white collar middle class who has had the growing realization that your taxes are rising faster than your pay check.

You have an income of $192,300 weekly or an annual salary of $10,000. You live in a new brick veneer residence with 1,800 square feet of floor space with air-conditioning which costs $20,500. Your car is a 1958 middle-priced job and you will drive it three years, buying 735 gallons of gasoline for it each year. You and your wife spend $152 yearly on cigarettes, $29 on beer and ale and $89 on liquor and wine.

If that is you, then you pay $396.44 in direct state and local taxes. That included $282 in property taxes, $3 for poll taxes, $2 for drivers' licenses, $21.12 auto registration fee, and $88.32 in selective sales taxes on such as gasoline, cigarettes, beer, liquor, motor vehicles, radios, television and cosmetics.

And that doesn't count the Federal personal income tax or the federal sales taxes which are added on top of the state sales taxes.

Suppose you are a laborer or maybe just out of school and making $67.30 a week or $3,500 a year. You live in a frame residence with 1,100 square feet of floor space that costs $8,000. Your auto is a 1956 low-priced car that you bought used for $1,200 and will use for four years. You burn 490 gallons of gasoline each year. You and your wife smoke $117 in cigarettes, drink $20 worth of beer and ale and $19 worth of liquor and wine.

Then your share of state and local taxes is $196.17, including $123 property tax and $55.57 in selective sales taxes.

No matter what your salary or social status, you pay five cents state tax for every gallon of gasoline. It was four cents in 1949. You add three cents to every gallon for the federal government.

Cigarettes that had a state tax is turned and water added at regular intervals.

of three cents a pack in 1949 have a five cent levy now — plus another eight cents for Uncle Sam.

The beer tax is $4.30 a barrel for the state and $9 for the federal government. Liquor is taxed about $1.41 a gallon by the state and $10.50 by the federal government.

Motor vehicle sales are taxed 1.1 per cent of the price by the state and 10 per cent by the federal government. The state taxes radio, TV and cosmetics sales 2.2 per cent compared to the 10 per cent additional for the federal government.

"What tax next?" is another question often heard.

Well, other states have state income taxes and sales taxes on cigars and chewing tobacco, oleomargarine, soft drinks, hotel and motel rooms, restaurant meals, lubricating oil, kerosene, and peri-mutual betting.

About Your HEALTH

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," goes an old truism. This is especially true in health matters.

In most medical diseases there are warning signals, often recognizable by the untrained eye, which give ample time to consult your physician for treatment. And thus avoid spending costly time in a hospital.

The same applies to mental illness, with the difference being the inability of the untrained person to recognize the signs of an approaching mental disorder.

We are all blessed with varying amounts of the wisdom of hindsight, but a recently published research project of the Division of Mental Health, Texas Department of Health suggests ways to put this hindsight to work.

How many mental patients were previously known to local community health and welfare agencies? Have certain types of agencies been in touch with certain kinds of patients before they are admitted to the State Hospital? How many of their families have had these previous contacts?

These and related questions about 148 residents of Travis County admitted to the Austin State Hospital during a single year, were answered by the study.

The study concerned patients who were admitted for care for the first time.

Dr. Wallace Mandell, research consultant directed the study, assisted by Isabel Cromack.

By checking the records of 11 agencies ranging from the City-County Hospital to the Salvation Army, they found that 46 per cent of the newly-hospitalized patients had direct or indirect contact (through their families) with one or more of the agencies.

In addition, several other facts were discovered opening new vistas of study in mental illness prevention. For instance, it was found that half of the 148 first admissions to the State Hospital had eight years of schooling or less. However, only one-fifth of all Travis County residents had eight years or less of formal schooling.

What does all this and other new-found facts mean?

According to Charles Mitchell, director of the Division of Mental Health, "It points out a need for available trained personnel in key points where they can help health and welfare workers recognize persons with borderline nervous disorders in time to keep them out of hospitals."

Falling Leaves Boost Gardens

College Station — Leaves which are now falling and cluttering yards and gardens can give a boost to next year's flower or vegetable garden if properly handled, says Bill Bennett, extension soil chemist.

Burning the leaves may be easier, but the extra time required to put them in a compost pile will return big dividends, explains Bennett. The compost can be used next year to increase soil organic matter or for mulching flowers, shrubs or vegetables.

Making a compost pile is a simple operation, points out the chemist. Scrap lumber or a few feet of net wire and four posts will take care of the enclosure. Then start with a six inch layer of leaves.

For every four square feet of enclosure, dissolve a cup of commercial fertilizer, such as 8-8-8 or 6-2-6, in water and sprinkle the solution over the layer of leaves. In areas where soils are acid, Bennett suggests adding a cup of lime to the fertilizer.

Continue adding layers until the pile reaches the desired height. Leave the top layer somewhat saucer shaped as a water-holding aid and cover it with a shallow layer of soil. Decomposition of the leaves will be speeded up if the material

Here's How... to Save $10<sup>00</sup> on your feed bill!

It's a proven fact that it costs you about $10.00 a year for every rat on your place. Here's the way this "rat tax" breaks down: 40 lbs. of feed eaten (worth $3); 80 lbs. of feed contaminated (worth $6); plus property damage of $1. Total, $10 per rat.

And just because you never see a rat, don't get the idea that your place doesn't have 'em. Rats move about mostly at night, seldom show themselves in daylight. As a matter of fact, if you should see even one rat, you can figure that he represents a dozen or so in hiding. So instead of $10, your rat bill might run $100 or more. STOP THIS "RAT TAX" NOW!

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

Ever hear of a person playing on an athletic team four years and never being in a losing game? That's the record of Rita Alexander, the all-time great of Wayland College's girl basketball team of Plainview that set the National AAU's record of consecutive victories at 131.

Miss Alexander was on the 1954-55-56-57 teams that won 104 straight games. It was in 1958 that the team, known as the Hutcherson Flying Queens, lost its first game in five seasons.

This fact is among many interesting ones in a book just produced by Harley J. Redin, coach of the Queens for the past three years. It's titled "The Queens Fly High" and it not only tells the glamorous story of this most famous girls basketball team of all time but also is filled with useful information on the methods of coaching.

The book is dedicated to Wilda and Claude Hutcherson for the very valid reason that these two are the greatest backers of the team. Hutcherson, Plainview business man and owner of a flying service, has for eight years furnished planes to transport the girls all over the continent. Redin came by his basketball skill through his own efforts — he was a member of the John Tarleton College team that won 86 straight games. He also played at North Texas State College.

Having been a pilot in World War II, Redin handles one of the Hutcherson planes that transports the girls to their games over the nation and into Mexico. Hutcherson flies one and Hutcherson pilots handle two more.

In 1947, 10 girls who played high school basketball got together at Wayland Baptist College and asked for a coach. Redin, who was coaching the boys team, was drafted: Sam Allen became the coach in 1948 and served until 1952 when Henry Garland did the tutoring. Allen returned in 1953 but in 1954 Caddo Matthews took over and that was the start of the great winning streak.

The girls put together 29 straight and won their first National AAU championship. They took 23 straight and another AAU title in 1955, then Redin became the coach again and in 1956 the Queens had a 23-0 record and in 1957 it was 29-0. Each year they won the AAU.

Redin says that "brains, ball handling and beauty," in that order, are the major requirements for playing on the team. And he has just that in the bevy of pretty gals that put on a ball-handling show in the way of the Harlem Globetrotters.

The history of the Flying Queens, revealing that Hutcherson became a sponsor in 1950 at the request of Dr. J. W. Marshall, president of the college, was written by Ailese Parten, Wayland director of public relations. There also is a foreword by Polk Robinson, basketball coach of Texas Tech, who recommends the book as good reading.

Redin writes the remainder of the book. One chapter deals with the spectator, telling him what to look for in the enjoyment of basketball. One thing he says you shouldn't watch is the official. "Many fans, and occasionally even the coaches and players, are so engrossed in second guessing the official, that they miss the actual Redin declares that good basketball calls for all-around performers — girls who can dribble, pass or shoot equally well, and who can change their style to suit the temper of the game. For instance, he said, in the one the Queens finally lost, the opposition had gone into a possession game, trying only crop shots, after the Queens had fallen behind, because of poor shooting. The Queens never could catch up.

He discusses how the individual player must be developed, and he says he wants the girls who are outstanding scholastically because "good scholars do make the best players."

He also says the coach has many responsibilities to the team, players, parents, officials and the public and adds that the success of the coach depends on just one thing — winning games. This pressure, he says makes it imperative for a coach not only to learn everything possible about his profession but also to be conscious of the complicated demands on him from many outside sources.

Redin discussed footwork and balance, and the many shots of basketball, handling the ball, rebounding, and the many plays with diagrams to show how.

It's a book that will be of interest to those who haven't even seen a basketball swish through the hoop, of which there aren't too many.

'The Far East' Is Subject Of Summerfield Study Club Meet

Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Sr. and Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Jr. entertained members of the Summerfield Study Club at a 1 p.m. luncheon Thursday in the home of Mrs. Lookingbill Sr., 115 Ave. J.

Table decorations featured arrangements of fall flowers and gave accent to the program theme "People of the Far East".

The program, which followed the luncheon, was presented by Mrs. Earl Lance, who told something of the aid given by the United States to Indonesia and The Philippines. Mrs. Ray Johnson told of The Indonesian Island, giving its historical background, habits and customs of the people, the religion practiced and the climate.

Mrs. Johnson displayed pure silk cloth from the Far East and showed pictures of the country and the people.

Mrs. Clifford Galley, dressed in a native Philippine costume, told something of the Island's history, describing the people and their mode of dress, as well as customs and habits.

During the business session, plans were made for the annual Husbands Evening Thanksgiving party which will be held Nov. 24.

Those attending were Mesdames J. R. Euler, Clifford Galley, Ray Johnson, Henry Kuper,

what does a discounter discount?

When you buy an item of merchandise, you buy two things: (1) you buy the item itself and (2) you buy the services which the seller offers with the sale. Before you buy from a firm which advertises discounts on everything all the time, get the answers to these questions:

- 1 Is the "discounter" willing to sell you the advertised items or does he try to switch you to others?
- 2 Is the "discounter" an established dealer for the item you are buying? If not, the manufacturer's warranty may be void.
- 3 Does the "discounter" back up the sale with his personal guarantee?
- 4 Will the "discounter" service the item if necessary, and at what costs?
- 5 Will the "discounter" deliver the purchases?
- 6 Does the "discounter" offer refund or exchange privileges?
- 7 Will the "discounter" extend credit privileges and at what cost?

Livestock Feeding Program Beckons To Farmers Of High Plains Country

Occasionally mentioned, then forgotten are possibilities of a stock feeding program in this area.

Recent reports indicate that feed lot shippers in the Mid-west are buying and contracting calves instead of feeders.

This leaves our average cattleman the alternative of going out of business, or of finishing out his own beef.

A cattle and hog feeding program in this area, on the other hand, offers more attractive points than does the two-year program for the Mid-west farmer.

In these days of acreage cutbacks, low prices and dwindling farm commodity profits, the situation opens a complete new vista.

Few people stop to realize how much cattle contribute to the community today. Hogs, almost a thing of the past, once placed thousands of dollars into local tills.

Sooner or later, the farmer is going to tire of producing low priced agricultural commodities on fewer acres.

Whether we will have giant fed lots, or whether every farmer will feed a few head on his place remains to be seen.

How soon this transition will occur, no one knows. We might also add that the time it arrives will be definitely reflected in our economy.

Water Cases May Bring Troubles

Up to now we have heard a lot of talk about wasted irrigation water, "tail water" and flooded bar ditches.

Announcement from the Commissioners Court this week that they will join with High Plains Water District to cure the situation will most likely bring out the other side of this question.

In a way, the whole question boils down to who owns the water? Is it private property, or is it a natural resource?

The history of Texas is dotted from border to border with test cases on water rights. Water has always been a controversial subject in our state.

The ideal situation in this case would be for all persons to make a sincere effort to eliminate wasted water.

Human nature, being what it is, indicates that this is not probable. It is almost certain that some law suits will follow.

Meanwhile, everyone is interested. Many people may not realize a personal interest but, nevertheless, the amount of their taxes, the future value of their property and their future income—regardless of the station in life—pretty well depends upon the decisions and actions which will result from these water cases.

Based upon the assumption that irrigation water is a public resource, rather than private property, every man, woman and child in the community is involved.

We see no reason why one law should be ignored while others are enforced. A clarification of this question is important and, once reached, the findings should become a part of our daily lives.

A Salute To Our Future Citizens

"The children now love luxury, they have bad manners, contempt for authority, they show disrespect for their elders, and love chatter in place of exercise.

Sounds familiar doesn't it? How many adults make these same statements daily? The above is not a quotation from our time, but was written more than 2,000 years ago by the wise, old, Greek philosopher, Socrates.

By virtue of the fact that an item is newsworthy, it must be interesting, unusual or unique; consequently, these factors focus attention on the juvenile delinquents of our day.

MAJESTIC STRENGTH is demonstrated in Stroud-Gary Hardware Store of Hereford in September, 1908. Standing on the oven door of a wood-burning stove in the Majestic Range Family, a popular appliance in those days, are a Majestic salesman from St. Louis and L. A. Stroud, co-owner of the stove and father of John Stroud.

Former Resident Recalls His Boyhood In Hereford

(Editor's Note: The following is part of a letter from John Stroud, who made himself well-known as foreman of the mythical Flying Pan Ranch, "Old Whiz". Stroud recently moved to California after living in the Panhandle for many years.

Dear Mr. Gillentine: Is till think of Old Hereford as the most natural town I ever lived in.

I can remember that the store sold the Bain and the Studebaker arm Wagons to the George C. Wright Land Co., which that company fitted out to carry wagonloads of land prospectors out to look at land west of Hereford.

L. Baskin was one of the main real estate dealers in Hereford. The winters in Hereford and the Plains country used to get rather cold. I can remember we used to buy a quarter of beef, hang it on the windmill tower and use off of it until it was gone and it still did not spoil.

My Dad was bookkeeper and store manager for the Stringfellow-Hume Hardware Company in Hereford and later was in business there for himself. I still have an old photo of the interior of the hardware store in 1908 (see below). The photograph was made in the Stroud-Gary Hardware Company, which had bought out Stringfellow-Hume. At the time the picture was made, the store was holding a sale on Majestic Ranges. When the sale was on they served hot biscuits and coffee every morning.

The last mustangs I can remember seeing were at Hereford, Canyon and Bovina. I've heard that there are still some of them left in the Cimarron Canyon. In 1907 they called these horses "broom tails".

When we first moved to Hereford, there were bunches of wild "booras" roaming the shores of the Tierra Blanca. I know we kids used to catch one, now and then, and use him for a saddle-horse. We would build our corral, where we kept our booras, under the lee of the while-chalk cliffs along the banks of the Tierra Blanca.

I remember that in 1906 they were still gathering up buffalo bones in the Plains country and feet warmer, but dry during cold, slushy weather.

I knew of one outfit that took good care of their cowhorses, especially during roundup time when the work was really rough on a saddle-horse. This outfit soaked their horses' feet in tallow and let it dry on the bottoms and around the edges of the hooves. They probably got this idea from the Indians. Anyhow, their horses had good feet.

One expert said the election results clearly indicated the country is more liberal, another said this isn't true, that he knows of candidates who got elected on the most conservative platform he'd ever heard of.

The main trouble with this is that the pure strains in both parties have about disappeared, mostly cross-breeds left.

And you take all these crosses, like liberal Republicans and conservative Democrats, conservative Republicans and liberal Democrats, liberal conservatives and conservative liberals, conservative conservatives and liberal liberals, and several who don't know how they got elected, and put them all in the same feed lot in Washington and it's no wonder the Presidency of the United States is considered the most back-breaking job on earth.

If the cattleman or the horse breeder or hog raiser or dog lover of this country registered their stock like political parties do, you couldn't tell anymore about what the offspring would be like than you can about what the next Congress will do.

You take two members from the same party, one with a mandate from the people in his pocket to vote conservative, and the other with a mandate to vote liberal, and turn them loose in Washington, and it's about like a football team with two coaches, one sending in word to pass, the other to punt.

Personally, I prefer to run this farm out here on bindweed. Nobody issues me any mandates. Yours faithfully, J. A.

The BOOTLEG

Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm has found out about the election a week ago, which is pretty fast work for him.

Dear editor:

Outside of reading what the political experts and analysts have to say before an election, I guess the next best reading comes from what they have to say after the election.

For example, last week as soon as the returns from the elections around the country came in, the experts rolled up their sleeves and started explaining what had happened and why, and I'll admit they've left me puzzled, although you understand I'm not crediting them with getting me puzzled, I've been that way for years on my own.

One expert said the election results clearly indicated the country is more liberal, another said this isn't true, that he knows of candidates who got elected on the most conservative platform he'd ever heard of.

The main trouble with this is that the pure strains in both parties have about disappeared, mostly cross-breeds left.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Contrasting Views On Greatest Single Asset

What is the greatest single asset to Hereford? Why? BILL HROMAS—Well, I think it might be the agriculture, because it brings in more revenue than anything else.

ABE MARTIN—I think it's people. Because people spend money, and when they spend money other people have money to spend and everybody profits in the long run. MRS. SYLVESTER SLAGLE—Well, I don't think you can say there is any one greatest single asset in Hereford because it takes all kinds of assets to make up a town.

MRS. LARRY PASCHEL—I think the potential expansion of Hereford is perhaps the greatest asset. There are unlimited fields and lines of business to grow with and so far no productive activities have been exhausted. I think the ability to grow and expand is Hereford's most important asset.

MRS. ARVELLA LAUDERBACK—Well, I think in any town the people are the greatest asset. Without the people nothing would be here. There also is the spirit of the people—the basic actions and cause of actions. We've only lived here 18 or 19 months and already, because the people are what they are, we feel completely at home.

MRS. ALBIE CRUME—Children. If our youth stay here in Hereford and set up their own businesses we have a great future in store for us. We have more children in Hereford now and they seem to be learning more and faster than children did in past years. After all, if you don't put your future in your children, what have you to put it in?

L. J. CLARK—The greatest asset, I think, are the possibilities for a great crop-producing area. That is, it could be great if it is ever arranged so the crops can be used on a market instead of being left in the fields.

MRS. CECIL PARKER—I say it is the water. This town would be nothing without our water. I mean for all purposes—practical and industrial. Just think what would happen if the wells, irrigation and city, were to dry up.

LOOK AT THE FOREST INSTEAD OF THE TREE

conduct. Meanwhile, literally thousands of youngsters contribute to the better activities and organizations. Statistics show that 95 percent of our youth are developing into solid citizens of the future.

Spearheaded by Optimist International, the past week has been dedicated to appreciation of the majority of our boys and girls as "Youth Appreciation Week." And The Brand joins the group in bringing the movement to a local level.

Bus drivers and transportation supervisors in the vast Hereford Rural High School system tell us that we have an exceptionally fine group of young men and young women. Their recent resourcefulness in taking over when a bus driver was injured as the result of a watermelon tossed through the windshield of his vehicle is a good example. Without their resource, a serious disaster might well have resulted. Time after time, similar reactions of our youth have brought about the same results.

Both county and city law enforcement officials agree. We do have an exceptionally fine group of young people in our community. As citizens, all of us are proud of them, and we are glad for an occasion in which to recognize their good qualities, instead of bad ones.

Good Neighbors

We live in a comparatively new country. Many of our citizens can recall the days of the "Old West" when folks pitched in to take care of their neighbors.

Such was the case recently when a group of Hereford people rallied together to build a home for an elderly man who lives across Tierra Blanca Creek.

The thinking of these people was parallel to that of rural residents who occasionally gather to work the crops of an ailing neighbor.

In all instances, sponsors of these projects have reported cooperation from merchants and dealers in furnishing supplies at cost, and often below.

Cases of this type are generally spontaneous. No one involved is seeking glory or remuneration, nor do they fall under the heading of charity.

How such causes fit into modern interpretation of the Bible would probably vary with different people. To us, however, they are motivated by a spirit of brotherly love and, whether the persons involved realize it or not, the spontaneous reaction to help a fellow man in distress still represents one of the finest Christian principles on record in this day of modern living.

In those days, it was a common thing to see antelope on the prairie; I know that in 1912 they used to chase antelopes in automobiles. The antelopes frequently were faster than some of the autos.

Another thing that I never saw in any western town except Hereford was a "toonament". This was a sporting event. The cowhands would set up a series of eight or ten wooden frames; an upright 4x4" timber, one end buried in the ground, the other end about 10 feet off the ground, about the height of a man mounted on a horse. A cross-piece was nailed across the top of this timber and extended out about four feet, then a 2x4" piece, about 12 inches long, was nailed to the end of the cross-piece, pointing toward the ground.

A short leather strap was nailed to the end of the 2x4, with a spring-back clothes pin firmly attached to the strap. Then, a harness ring was clamped into the clothes pin. They would usually erect about five or six of these "toonament Posts" about 20 feet apart in a straight line. These tournaments were usually held on Saturdays or holidays.

When all was ready, the cowhands would assemble with their favorite cow horse and get ready to ride for the prizes given by the hardware, boot and saddle stores. There was never any admission charge. There frequently was some betting as to which horse (not the cowhand) would make top-hand in the tournament.

The object was to see which cowhand was the best rider, too. The cowhand held a billiard cue in his hand. The object was to see which cowhand could, with his horse in a dead-run along the line of posts, bring in the most harness-rings on the billiard cue. He would ride lickety-split under the posts, spearing the harness rings as his horse ran. It was not such an easy thing to run the billiard cue through these small, two-inch rings.

The badger fights were always held over at Charlie Purcell's Livery Stable. Eastern "drummers" were usually the "badger pullers". They pulled the badgers out of their cages. If the drummer was good-natured when the badger jumped him, the boys would buy him a good cigar. If he didn't have a sense of humor, they left him alone.

Golden Circle To Aid Orphan

The Golden Circle Sunday School Class met Friday night for its regular monthly meeting, with Mrs. R. E. Caddell and Mrs. Leonard Davis serving as hostesses.

Mrs. G. P. Owens conducted installation services using for her theme "Faithfulness in Stewardship" and reading appropriate scriptures as she explained the duties of each officer. Her granddaughter, Diane Wilson, provided music.

During the business session, the class decided to adopt an eight-year-old boy at Round Rock Baptist Children's Home and send him a box of school clothing.

The next meeting will be a salad luncheon and Christmas party Dec. 5 in the Fellowship Hall of the church, with Mrs. Emmet Hale and Mrs. C. E. Beauford as hostesses.

Those attending were Mesdames E. M. Cox, Emmet Hale, Charles Hood, Herbert Duncan, Etheredge Ward, J. E. Young, Jess Carter, Leonard Davis, Hardy Benson, R. E. Caddell, G. P. Owens and Miss Diane Wilson.

Cats and dogs with transected pinal cords have been taught to walk by researchers in the psychology department laboratories at Illinois Institute of Technology.

High Plains May Produce Two Million Cotton Bales

LUBBOCK — A record-breaking two million bales of cotton may be produced from the 23 counties of the Texas High Plains this fall, agricultural officials recently said, as November brought warm sunshine and fair weather.

Delayed the past 10 days by damp weather, but very little actual rainfall, the most bountiful South Plains cotton harvest in history moved into November with a total production of 1,988,000 bales in prospect from the 23 counties, as less than a third of the crop is now ginned or harvested.

The combined Nov. 1 estimate of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and the Lubbock Cotton Exchange climbed 118,000 bales above the October forecast and places the anticipated 1958 total about 338,000 bales more than the all-time record of about 1,650,000 bales, produced in 1956.

"Observers agree that there is more open cotton on the South Plains now than at any time in history," reported D. C. Prince, secretary of the exchange. "We have ginnings ahead of us this season that are nearly equal to last year's total production."

The crop this year is expected to exceed the 1957 production of approximately 1,570,000 bales by some 400,000 bales. Open bolls along with cotton already ginned now comprise approximately 85 to 90 per cent of the crop.

The hike in the November estimate is due to "surprisingly high yields on both dryland and irrigated acreages, and the fact that the serious infestation of angular leaf spot failed to hurt yields, as was anticipated a month ago. Also, the recurrent wet weather apparently has not damaged the quality of the crop as much as had been feared. Should good weather hold and the expected yield materialize, it would surpass all past area crops and probably would be the most cotton ever grown in such a concentrated area in the world.

Freezing temperatures and a killing frost recorded over much of the area Oct. 31 were welcomed by most farmers. The entire crop is mature, and the frost will strip leaves, enabling farmers to begin machine harvesting within 10 days to two weeks.

W. E. Franklin, head of the USDA Classing Office here, said recent wet weather probably will not damage the overall quality of the area crop. Grades naturally will suffer somewhat, he explained.

Soybean Harvest Underway As Farmers Look For Rain

By MRS. CARL WIMBERLEY
Soybean harvest is beginning to get well underway now. Some cotton is being harvested, although the acreage in this is comparatively small. Lettuce and some carrots will be gathered later.

Farmers are also busy cutting stalks and deep plowing. The general consensus is that rain would be welcomed as the ground is quite dry and hard. Billy Lynn Miller, freshman, was among those who were initiated into the Hereford High School Future Farmers of America Monday evening at the school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Walker of Wray and Mr. and Mrs. Lou Hermesmyer of Amarillo visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. McCabe Sunday afternoon. The Walkers and Hermesmyers had been to the Fall Festival at Umbarger.

Mrs. McCabe visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carbel Friday in Black.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Alrhart Saturday and Sunday were Mrs. Irving Pursley and children of Pampa, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Alrhart and children of Dumas and Mr. and Mrs. James Alrhart and family of Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Muri Little and sons spent the weekend with relatives in Cheyenne, Okla.

The members of the Woman's Missionary Society are sponsoring a church-wide party Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the school house. Each family is asked to bring one dozen home-made cookies.

Hostess Problems Discussed By Club

Young Mother's Study Club met in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Bwonds Tuesday evening. Roll call was answered with "My problem with my children when I entertain".

Mrs. James C. Russell presented the program on "Entertaining Socially", speaking on "Hostess Problems" and the use of fine linen and silver and flowers.

She advocated using sterling silver every day to get the full enjoyment of it and suggested dressing up the dining table as often as possible. She recommended a white linen cloth, a good pad and matching napkins for formal dinners and colored cloths or mats and paper napkins for the informal table.

Mrs. Russell also told how to cut and keep flowers and suggested using holders with a heavy base.

Members attending were Mesdames Labry Ballard, Bill Brady, Wendall Burdine, Hugh Clearman, Arthur Dean, Dick Godwin, James Headstream, L. J. Jones, Gerald McCaskill, James C. Russell, Bill Stanford, Dale Young and the hostess.

THREE-WAY SERMON

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — The Rev. Martin Larsson of Sweden is a deaf Methodist minister who can speak no English.

He found himself in double trouble when he was scheduled to preach a sermon to a deaf congregation. He solved it by transmitting his Swedish sermon in hand signals to his wife, who verbally translated it into English to another woman, and she in turn relayed the sermon back into deaf-mute hand signs.

CONSTRUCTION BIDS TAKEN

We have invited a selected group of general contractors to bid on alterations and additions to the old central office at Hereford, among them is the Robert E. Thompson Construction Co. of Hereford.

Within the old building there will be alterations to provide an enlarged commercial office, outside plant storage room, an outside plant club room, an equipment room, and the construction superintendent's office. We are also taking bids on the possibility of a storage shed, which will measure 50 feet by 22 feet. The building will be made of concrete with a built up lightweight concrete roof and concrete floor. There will be an asphalt paved area, "L" shaped, around two sides of the building; all of which will be enclosed with a chain link fence.

A NEW FAMILY PLAN

For some time now, railroads and airlines have been telling people about "Family Plans." Well, I recently heard of an older couple who thought up their own "Family Plan" for get-togethers with their married children living out of town.

Since Sunday always seemed the loneliest day without the family around—and because long distance rates are lower all day—they set up a regular Sunday calling schedule for their sons and daughter. On the first Sunday of the month, Bill, the oldest son, calls and puts the whole family on the line; on the second Sunday, it's the middle boy, Ralph. Jane, the only girl (she has a little girl of her own now) calls on the third Sunday. On the fourth Sunday, it's Tom's turn. He's the youngest, and just married.

I didn't learn what happens when a month has five Sundays, but I do know these Sunday calls turn a lonely day into a happy one for the folks back home.

TOUCHDOWNS BY TELEPHONE

Many telephone employees aren't as lucky as I am when it comes to football. Usually—if I can duck all the projects my wife saves up for me to do on Saturday—I can enjoy a game on radio or television.

For other telephone people, football is work, because broadcasts and telecasts, as well as news accounts of the games, are flashed from city to city over telephone company lines.

Here in our part of the country, where there's so much interest in football, it takes a lot of skilled telephone and a lot of telephone facilities at work to keep fans in touch with what's happening to their favorite teams.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Maize Harvest Nears End; Farmers Awaiting Rainfall

By MRS. R. L. PINNELL

Maize harvest is practically completed and most farmers are now awaiting rainfall so that they can turn cattle in on wheat pasture.

The girls' basketball team honored the wife of their coach, Mrs. Malcolm Kennedy, with a pink and blue shower in the home of Ninette Pounds Sunday afternoon.

Those attending the shower were Sandra Heaton, Milanie Weidner, Gail Brown, Alma Mosteller, Cynthia Kromer, Wanda Pinnell, Sue Johnson, Ninette Pounds, Cathy Kromer, Mrs. E. K. Pinnell, Mr. and Mrs. James Sessions and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Pounds.

Several fans accompanied our basketball "A" and "B" team boys to McAdoo Friday evening. This team is remembered as the boys picked "most likely" at the regional tournament held at West Texas State College fieldhouse at Canyon last spring.

But in a great upset, the Adrian Matadors came out victorious only to let Claude slip up and take the regional honors to go on to state finals.

The McAdoo boys, who lost only one man, came back strong to turn the tables on the Matadors to the tune of 80 to 46. High point man was Lloyd Homfeld, with 20 points, followed by Phillip Pinnell with 14.

In the "B" game, the McAdoo boys also won. Final score was 48 - 31. High point man was Bill Gudgell with 12 points, and Terry Creitz pocketed nine.

A return match will take place Friday evening in the Matador gym.

Attending from here were Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Creitz, Mrs. Roy Brown, Gail and Sam, Linda Grubkey, Perry Grubkey, Clint Homfeld, Oscar Bronnman and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Pinnell.

The Sims Study Craft Club

met Thursday in the home of Mrs. Claude Bogle. Mrs. Jim Stocks presented a short historical study of Russian history in the late 19th century from an old book entitled "A Nemesis of Mis-Government", written by J. W. Bull. The study was brought to remind the members that "history does repeat itself."

Those attending were Mesdames Ada Hollobaugh, R. L. Pinnell, Jim Stocks, a visitor, Mrs. Jim Perrin and Joe, and the hostess, Mrs. Bogle.

Funeral services were held Friday in the First Baptist Church of Adrian for Mrs. Bea Fincher Troynham, who died in an Amarillo Hospital last Wednesday. The Rev. Bill Lewis and the Rev. Johnnie Williams officiated.

Survivors include her husband, Bill, in the U. S. Navy at Great Lakes; three brothers, Jack, Clyde and Dooly Fincher; Mrs. Gladys Wagner, Mrs. Wilma Kidder of Adrian, Artist of Abilene, Aubrey of Amarillo and Jessie of Dallas.

Mrs. Ralph Perry returned home Sunday afternoon from Childress where she took her mother, Mrs. J. P. McMinn, to Refugio, Tex. They left Childress Tuesday for the home of a sister, Mrs. W. E. Holtman, where Mrs. McMinn will remain for the winter.

Mrs. Bessie Spande and Mrs. Roy Brown visited Sunday afternoon in Hereford in the home of their daughter and sister, Mrs. Labry Ballard.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jacobson returned from their Denver vacation this weekend. While away, they visited with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Monahans at Loveland, Colo. The Monahans are former residents of Adrian.

School pictures were delivered to the school and distributed this week.

Mike Horton, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Horton, underwent a tonsilectomy Wednesday in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

Mrs. Chet Kidder and Jackie and Dooly Fincher left Saturday afternoon for Dallas to be with their brother, Jess Fincher, for an extended visit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wells of White Deer and their daughter, Mrs. W. L. Covington of Notress, Tex., visited Monday night in the home of their niece and cousin, Mrs. R. L. Pinnell. The Wells were returning from a month's vacation in Georgia and Florida.

Mrs. Bob Grubkey spent the weekend in Borger with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Eite.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Chism of Dimmitt visited Sunday afternoon in the R. L. Pinnell home.

Sheldon Proctor of Amarillo spent Saturday night and Sunday in the home of his parents, Mrs. and Mrs. John Proctor.

Barbara Pinnell of Clovis visited this week in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Pinnell.

Jim, Patty and Stephen Proctor of Amarillo were Sunday visitors in the home of Jim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Proctor.

Mrs. Hazel Chilton was ill Monday, and Mrs. Lorin Creitz taught her seventh and eighth grade classes.

Jimmie and Maxine Brown of Amarillo visited Sunday in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brown.

Visiting in the Rev. Johnnie Williams home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Davis and daughters of Amarillo, Mrs. Williams' aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. George Turner of Bovina, also visited in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jacobson, Mrs. Anna Witt and Mr. and Mrs. Chock Garrison and family visited Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Garrison in Channing.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Jones and Raymond visited Sunday in Friona with his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Jones.

Mrs. Modean Williams and sons moved Thursday into their newly-bought home in the west part of town. It's former occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Harris and family, moved just north of the store in the home formerly lived in by Mrs. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bishop and daughter of Plainview visited over the weekend in the

Send Foreign Mail By Air

Corinne Neeley, executive secretary of the Deaf Smith County Red Cross Chapter, announced that servicemen and women have asked that families and friends use air mail for all letters and Christmas cards.

Friends and relatives writing to service men and women are requested to put seven-cent stamps on the envelope and mark it "Air Mail" because it takes surface mail up to 40 days to reach such far away places as Turkey, Korea and Formosa.

The Post Office and Defense Departments advise that Christmas parcels should be mailed between Nov. 1 and Nov. 20 for delivery by surface mail - shipment to servicemen overseas, and by Dec. 10 for delivery by air mail. They urge persons in this country to keep in mind that the farther away from the U. S. the serviceman is stationed, the earlier the parcels should be mailed to insure delivery to him before Christmas.

Daring Story of Creation

The world's most popular book, the Holy Bible, serves as the source and inspiration for "Adam and Eve". The story centers on Adam (Carlos Baena) and Eve (Christiane Martel) as they face the wondrous experience of life on earth. With tenderness and simplicity, it follows their experiences and adventures, their first awareness of their mutual need for each other, their first taste of the delightful fruits in the Garden of Eden, their ultimate tasting of the forbidden fruit of the Tree of Knowledge, and the tragedy that engulfs them thereafter. It follows their harrowing trek across the bleak deserts, their exhaustion and thirst, the blessed rainfall that revives them, the terror of an earthquake, and their futile attempt to re-enter the Garden of Eden.

Due to the fact that Adam and Eve had to be photographed in the absolute nude throughout the first half of the story and until, as the Bible tells us, they became aware of 'sin' and fashioned covering from fig leaves, we will not sell any children tickets—but if parents are broadminded enough to want their children to see this Bible story, we see no reason why they should not be admitted, FREE, if accompanied by parents. Otherwise, children will not be admitted.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By CHARLIE SEEDS

They called him the "Wild Bull of the Pampas," and he was Argentina's man of the hour. On one night famous in boxing annals, he almost became the heavyweight champion of the world.

His name was Luis Angel Firpo. On that September night he stepped into the ring against scowling Jack Dempsey, the champion. From the start the fight was like a dockyard brawl. Dempsey was to say later that he didn't remember a thing after Firpo hit him the first time — he just started slugging back, fighting for his fistic life.

Then Firpo came close to fame. He caught Dempsey with a tremendous blow that knocked him through the ropes. The champion landed among the reporters at ring-side. A lot of boxing men argue that he never could have got into the ring in time by himself. . . but reporters shoved him back. . . and he climbed through the ropes in time.

Dempsey went on to club the "Wild Bull" into insensibility in the next round. . . to win one of boxing's wildest fights.

Remember the year? That was a year when hard bargaining was still in fashion. . . and a man buying a car drove a good bargain, shopping for the best savings. The year was 1923.

There's a limit to "bargains" these days, as there was then. You can't buy a good used car at junkyard prices. But you can buy a really good used car at real savings from our selection of new 1959 FORD trade-ins. Come in and check them out. CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., INC. 146 E. Second. Phone EM 4-2727.
