County Shocked By 31-Cent Milo Price Cut

1959 4-H ROYALTY Sharon Bezner and Joe Reinauer were crowned Friday night at the annual 4-H Share The Fun Festival held in the Bull Barn...

By DAN MUDD
BRAND STAFF REPORTER
Deaf Smith County maize growers this week expressed more than a mild state of "shock" after the United States Department of Agriculture announced that support levels on grain sorghum, this county's basic crop, would be cut 31 cents per hundredweight nationally.

The drop in price support of sorghum, classified by USDA as one of the nation's "supplementary crops", will have short and long-range effects on the economy of the county and will touch nearly every business in one way or another.

The cut in price from $1.83 to $1.52 received an unpopular local reaction as many thought the rate would be as high as $1.90 per hundred. Few speculated that the rate would be decreased to $1.52.

Taking into consideration the eight cents per hundred taken from the price for port shipment differentials in addition to an estimated 13-cent elevator storage deduction, many farmers will realize only $1.31 per hundred on this year's crop.

A meeting of Deaf Smith County grain sorghum growers and elevator operators with the county Grain Sorghum Producers Association is slated for 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Bull Barn, according to Grant Hanna, county president.

Bill Nelson of Amarillo, vice president of the state GSFA, will be main speaker. Viewpoints of the group will be sent to Washington, D. C. cost of rent on land, fertilizer, water and paying hired help.

Cuts in support levels on grain sorghum had their greatest impact in the High Plains, where about 40 per cent of the nation's grain sorghum is produced.

Plains farmers believe that rate leaves the grower little or no profit. This compares with last year's net of $1.60 per hundred-weight. The price of grain sorghum will be the lowest in 15 years and is a drastic reduction from the $2.75 per hundred in effect when Benson took office.

County elevator operators feel that the tenant farmer will not be able to realize enough profit to make it worth his while to plant sorghum this year.

Bill Gentry, who planted 450 acres of maize last year, is a tenant farmer. He plans to plant a crop this year, but does not expect to realize much profit from it. Gentry estimated that about 50 per cent of the farming in the county is done by tenant farmers, and that the price support places the tenant farmer (Continued on Page 2)

A five-day drive to collect $40,000 to help build a Community Center in Hereford starts Tuesday morning. That is the amount needed as the public's part for a large center, which will be debt-free when constructed.

School Approves Collection Suits For Back Taxes

The Hereford Rural High School District has contracted the law firm of Witherpoon, Thomas, Langley and Alken to file suits for payment of delinquent taxes.

At the last meeting of the school board Bert Boomer, president, appointed B. F. Cain, Marcus Latham and Tom Robinson as a committee to begin action on delinquent school taxes.

The committee contracted the law firm of Witherpoon and immediate action was taken to compile a list of delinquent tax payers with the tax collectors office. According to Wayne Thomas of the Witherpoon law firm, upon completion of the list, notices will be sent out and, ultimately, if the request for payment is ignored, suits will be filed.

Decker Files As School Candidate

W. M. "Bill" Decker, Hereford insurance firm partner, Saturday authorized the Brand to announce his candidacy for a place on the Hereford Rural High School District board.

Decker is the first candidate to file for one of the two posts being vacated. The terms of Bert Boomer and Marcus R. Latham expire this year. Terms on the board are three years. "I would like an opportunity to serve on the school board," Decker said. "I feel that I have the time to devote and am sincerely interested in the actions and operation of our schools in Hereford. If elected, I will try to serve the best interests of all concerned."

Deadline for filing for the April 4 election is March 4.

Lake View First Regional Battle

Hereford will tangle with the tall Lake View Chiefs of San Angelo Friday evening in the first round of the Region One basketball tourney. The round-robin will be played Friday and Saturday, Feb. 27 and Feb. 28, in the Lubbock Coliseum.

Meeting in the first game of the regional tourney, Hereford will try for its second consecutive regional title. The game with Lake View is set for 7 p.m. Following at 8:30 p.m. will be a game between Graham and Andrews.

Consolation finals, pitting losers of the first two games, will be at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, followed by the championship match at 4 p.m. Coaches and school officials from the four district winners met in Lubbock Saturday morning to decide on the regional play-offs and to draw for opponents.

Hereford and Graham are repeaters from last year's tourney and clashed in the finals, which the Herd won on a sudden-death overtime shot. They subsequently lost in the first round of the state meet in Austin.

In their first regional contest, the Whitefaces will face their tallest opposition of the season. The Chiefs have a 23-5 season record and won the District 3-AAA crown with a 7-1 mark. Their only conference loss was to Lamesa, who won the upset (Continued on page 2)

Set Bond On Pair Charged In Theft

Bond for Tony Lee Miller, 17 or 18, and Leonard D. Spears, 21, charged with burglary, was set at $1,000 each by Justice of the Peace Berry Miles Thursday after the pair was returned to Hereford from Rockford, Ill., Wednesday evening.

Miller and Spears were turned over to county authorities after their return by Chief Of Police Henry Aycock. They were placed in Deaf Smith County Jail, in lieu of bond.

Their arrest brought the total to four in custody for allegedly burglarizing the Star Theatre and taking more than $750 in cash from the building about Feb. 11.

Two juveniles, 16 and 17 years old, were arrested shortly after the burglary. One is in Randall County Jail, in lieu of $500 bond, and the other was released (Continued on page 2)

Burglary Charge Against 2 Boys

Two Hereford juvenile boys, 15 and 16 years old, were placed in the custody of their parents after being charged with burglary Monday by Hereford police.

The 15-year-old boy, declared a juvenile delinquent Monday after arrest in Canyon Monday while operating an automobile reported missing here Sunday, said he and the other youngster burglarized a home on Blevins St. and Shirley School Sunday.

Taken in burglaries were $40 in cash from a home on Blevins St., a coat valued at $50 from a car owned by Jack Gilliland and several hubcaps from parked cars.

The coat and all the cash except $14 has been returned to owners. Most of the hubcaps also have been recovered, according to Melvin Byrd, investigating officer.

Nothing was taken from the school, Byrd said, and an attempt at burglarizing a car owned by Jack Bradley failed. The youths said they spent some of the money at Palo Duro Canyon Sunday. They took only $40 from a purse containing about $110 at the home on Blevins.

They were scheduled to be tried in a juvenile hearing Thursday, but due to Judge Homer Hensle's absence, trial has (Continued on page 2)

Hungry Boys Give Up, Leaving Dry, Hot Car

While law officers were investigating an abandoned car about 18 miles west of Hereford Friday evening, two hungry 15-year-old North Dakota boys turned themselves in at Deaf Smith County Sheriff's office, and admitted the theft of the car from Hettinger, N. D., Wednesday.

The two youngsters told Sheriff Charles Skelton they had hitch-hiked to Hereford after their car ran out of gasoline on the Harrison Highway.

In the meantime, Deputy Sheriff Bill McCarver and Highway patrolmen Kenneth Maxwell and Charles Skinner were investigating the abandoned car, which was reported by Joe Muri, a Hereford resident.

McCarver said the North Dakota license plates had been torn from the car and were placed in the trunk of the vehicle.

The 1955 model car was travelling west at the time the gasoline supply ran out, McCarver said. In an attempt to pick up the hitch-hikers, Maxwell and Skinner searched the highway to the New Mexico border.

The youngsters, who said they had eaten only a small portion of peanut butter since leaving Hettinger Wednesday, said they decided to turn themselves in to authorities when the car ran out of gasoline.

They were placed in Deaf Smith County Jail, and authorities in Hettinger have been notified of the arrest.

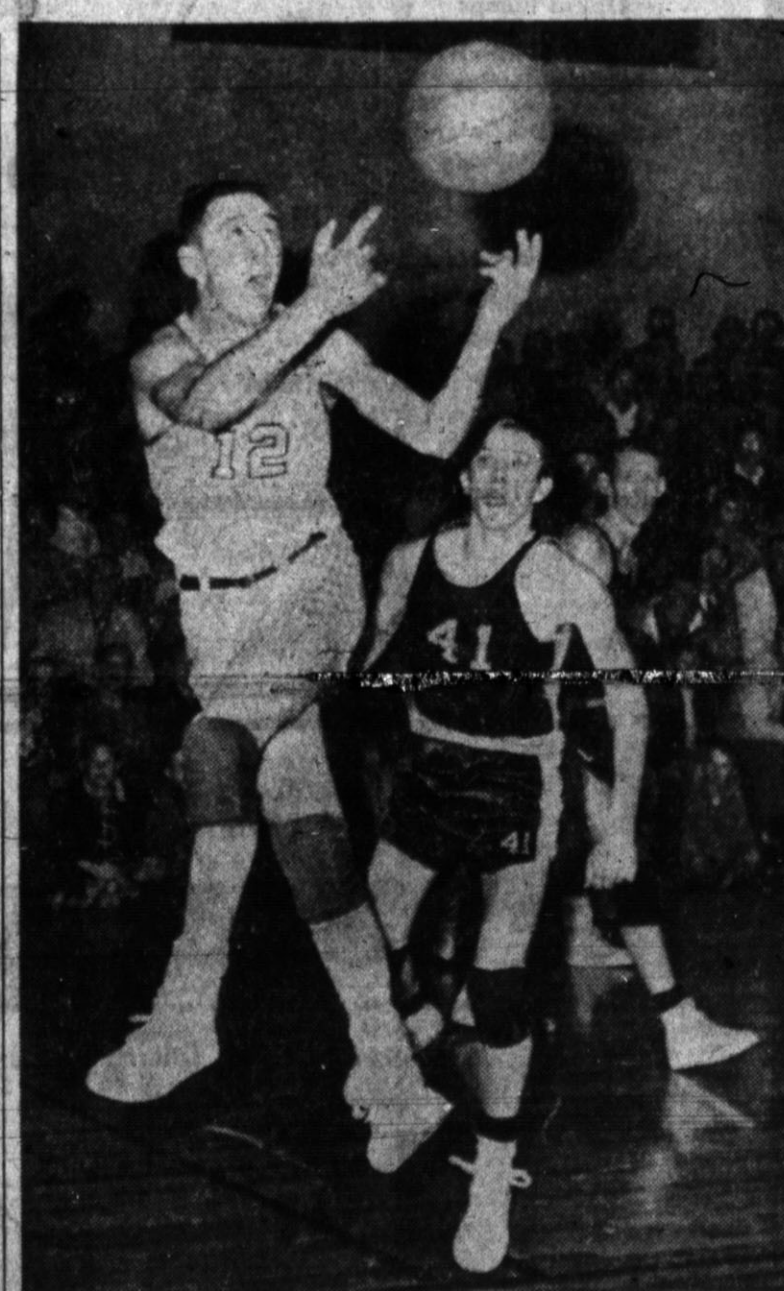

Seminole's Indians Scalp Herd, 66-64, In Tune-Up

In a battle of champions, Hereford took its second straight loss to close out the regular season. Seminole's Indians, District 4-AA title-holders, beat the Whitefaces, 66-64, at their own game: running and shooting.

For Hereford, it dropped their record to 26-5, while Seminole stands 26-3.

Hereford and Seminole were tied three times as the game started, but the Indians broke it open with a fabulous 90 per cent average in racing to a commanding 26-13 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Filing Time Near For Six Trustees

Frazier Milling Fined $2,000 On Fraud Charge

Fraser Milling Co. of Hereford, operator of a Dove Creek, Colo., elevator, was assessed a $2,000 fine in Denver federal court Friday on charges of fraudulently using 427,500 pounds of pinto beans as security of a $20,000 bank loan.

The fine resulted from an indictment returned in August, 1957, centering around a bank loan on May 1, 1956.

In connection with the incident, Alton Fraser, corporation president, pointed out that issuance of the warehouse receipt on beans was a clerical error in the Dove Creek offices. He presented copy of a letter on May 1, 1956, to the Dove Creek Bank instructing a $20,000 loan on a warehouse receipt for wheat. Minutes of the corporation also called for issuance of a warehouse receipt on wheat rather than on beans.

Mr. Fraser also pointed out that the loan had been repaid in full a year before the indictment, and before he had any knowledge of the error. "I feel that I have been badly treated in this connection," (Continued on page 2)

April 4 has been set for the election of three members for the Deaf Smith County School District, one trustee for the Walcott Common School District and two members for the Hereford Rural High School District.

Deadline for filing as a candidate is 30 days prior to the election, or March 4.

Members of the Hereford Rural High School District board whose terms expire are board president Bert Boomer and member Marcus R. Latham. Neither has announced whether he will be a candidate for re-election to another three-year term.

In the County School District, those who terms expire are N. R. Miller from Commissioner's Precinct No. 1; J. C. Morrison from Commissioner's Precinct No. 2; and H. M. Benson from Commissioner's Precinct No. 4.

Term of Glenn L. Burrus expires this year on the Walcott Common School District No. 6.

In the case of the county and Walcott school boards, filing must be done at least 30 days prior to the election in the office of the County School Superintendent in the County Courthouse.

Names may be placed on the ballot in two ways: a candidate may announce his intention to run for trustee by filing an announcement or a petition (Continued on page 2)

Room For Future Planned In Proposed Jail Building

By H. A. TUCK
BRAND NEWS EDITOR
(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of articles about the proposed new county jail and courthouse renovation. These articles are written solely to present the facts to the public.)

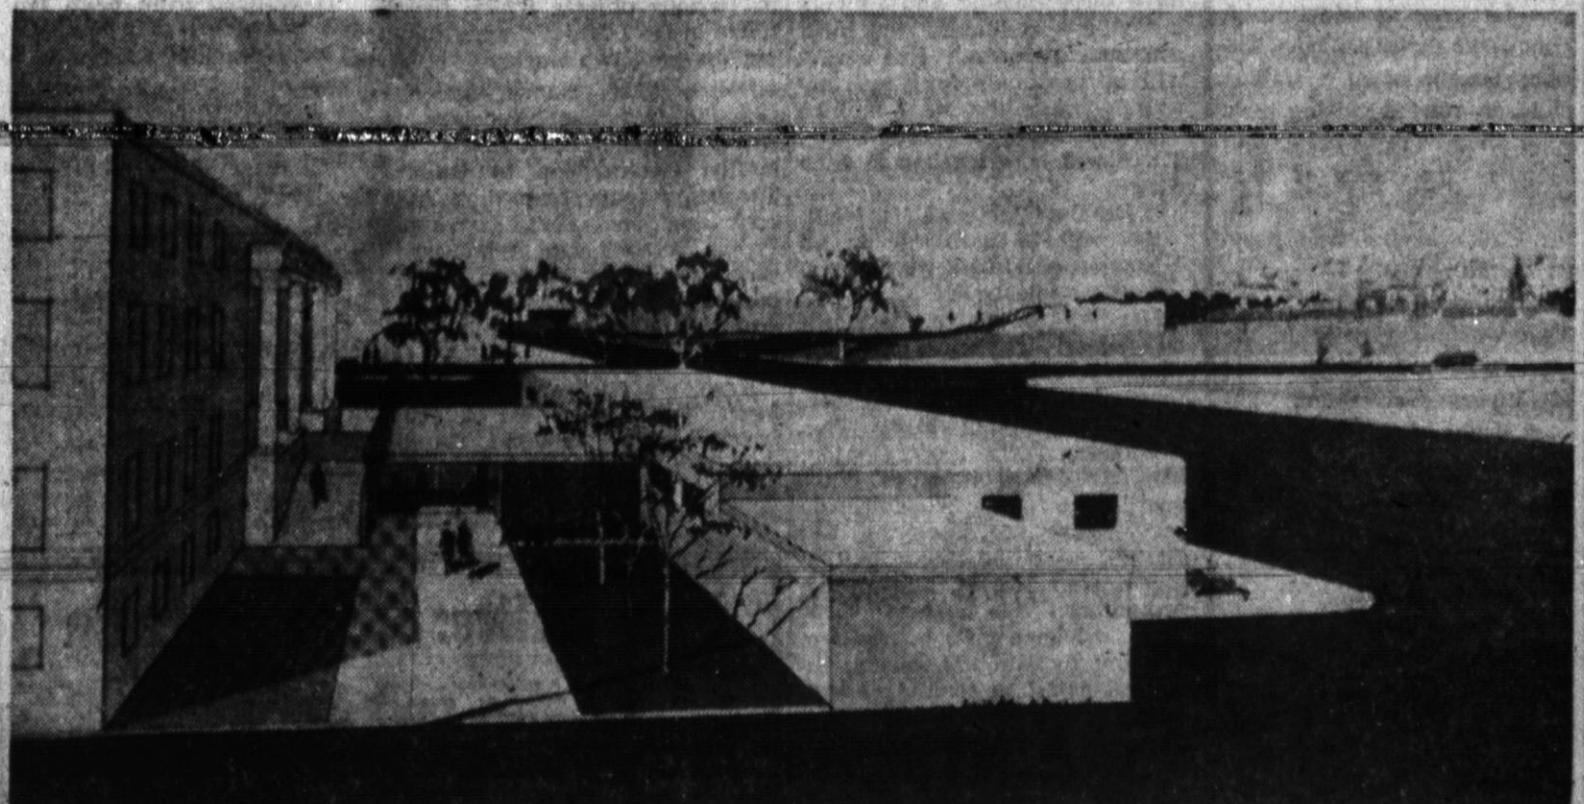

What can the public expect to receive if it votes in favor of $200,000 for the construction of a new jail?

Most important, the county would get a sturdy, handsome, functional jail that would be adequate for many years to come.

Also, voters could be sure of complying with a new state law governing facilities which must be incorporated in county jails.

Third, it might prevent unnecessary expenditures for maintaining and transporting prisoners to other jails and money which would be wasted on repairing existing confinement facilities.

Sheriff's department records show that the present jail is too small to accommodate the average number of prisoners in even minimum comfort. Built in 1905, the present jail has an average of 14.26 prisoners confined each day, with bunks for just 14, which means that some prisoners must sleep on the floor. Although the present jail has (Continued on Page 2)

County...

"The drop in farm commodities will mean a terrific financial setback to all farmers in the area," Grant Haas, president of the county Grain Sorghum Producers, said Friday.

John Douglas Pitman, elevator operator, predicted that "if a farmer has had breaks, he'll lose money; if he has an average crop, he'll break even; if he has an outstanding crop, he'll make money," under the present program announced by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson.

It was estimated that the maize crop in this county last year grossed at least $6,000,000. V. O. Hennen, executive vice president of the First National Bank of Hereford, said the price drop would mean a big reduction in gross income this year. Hennen said the $1.52 rate came as a surprise to him as he expected support to increase slightly more than last year's rate of $1.83.

On the basis of $1.31 per hundred, and an average production of 4,000 pounds per acre on irrigated land, minus $35 per acre production costs, area farmers cannot hope to make much more than $7.40 per acre.

To the dryland farmers, figuring at the average rate of $2,000 pounds per acre and a production cost of $15 per acre under the new support rate, farmers cannot hope to clear more than $11.20 per acre.

Another "supplement to a crop," which has gained significance in the county in the past two years, is barley. Support on barley was cut from 97 cents to 77 cents.

Tom Draper, a maize grower south of Hereford, plans to plant a crop this year. "But I'll have to live on my wife's salary to do it," he said. (His wife, Mrs. Argen Draper, is County Home Demonstration Agent.) "I still like like — I have been eating too well these past years anyhow," he added.

Fearing a "false economy," Townsend Douglas, president of Hereford State Bank, feels that Benson's plan to cut acreage and increase production per acre will backfire. Douglas predicted more acres will be planted this year, and that farmers would reduce cost of production by using less fertilizer, water, etc. That will constitute a false economy, he said.

Hennen, in contrast, predicted that farmers would cut down on acre volume and try to increase yield per acre.

He said many farmers, in increasing yield per acre, would probably have their land analyzed for proper types of fertilizer and use more care and water on their crop.

Douglas said the farmer would have to manage business well and do an extra good job of farming to make his crop pay off because "what he buys is going up and what he sells is going down."

About 95 per cent of the grain sorghum produced in the county is sold on the market. Farmers planted about 200,000 acres of maize last year, and less than five per cent of the crop was used for feed purposes on the farm. Most of the sorghum produced is of the Number 2 type, which comes under the $1.52 price rate.

Many residents think that the program will promote more sorghum — feeding programs in the state as result of the reduction in price support.

The Grain Sorghum Producers Association has been trying to promote feeding programs in foreign countries as well as in the United States recently. Up to two years ago, Hennen said, little sorghum was used locally for feeding purposes.

Draper, who owns 40 hogs, predicted that the "beating" the grain growers took may lap over into the business of the feeder.

If the farmer feels that he is getting more value from the grain by feeding it to stock on his farm than selling it on the market, it will definitely hurt the business of the livestock feeder, Draper said.

Many considered the possibility of growing some other crop instead of grain sorghum this year. But they say they are practically "limited to beans."

Faust Collier, manager of the county Agricultural Stabilization office, said pinto beans could be grown here, but that the market is poor. Broomcorn also can be grown, but lack of market also make it impractical.

Also, peanuts could be grown in the county, but Collier doubted that an allotment could be obtained for the crop in this area. Vegetables, of course, grow well in the county, he said, but overproduction on that crop also presents a problem, he said.

One elevator operator said the cut in prices means only one thing — there will be fewer farmers in Deaf Smith County this year. The burden placed on the tenant farmer, he said, will be just too much to make maize growing profitable.

County Agent J. W. "Lefty" Thomas said the price drop would cut out much of the stable crop, the basis of agriculture economy in the area.

Practically all farmers in the area grow sorghum, Thomas said. Thomas felt that more vegetables would be planted this year, and that the price drop would increase feeding of the grain to livestock.

Community.

(Continued from page 1) Proposed location for the building will be near the public swimming pool, tennis courts and park and will have ample parking space.

Policies for operation of the building will be made by the City Commission and enforced, most likely, through an appointive board to be named by the city.

Facilities in the new Community Center will include a banquet room with room to seat 240 persons, with adjoining kitchen, several meeting rooms and a smaller reception room.

The L-shaped building will have three heating and air conditioning systems for the most economical control. One wing will be primarily for youth activities, while the other will be designed mostly for adult use. There will be a kitchen in each wing.

The building and its facilities will be available to all groups and to all ages, planners emphasized.

Heading the drive for funds as general chairman is Ben Childers. His committee chairmen are: Mrs. Argen Draper, rural coordinator; Mrs. Tom Robinson, city coordinator; Mrs. Art Manjeot, ladies' clubs coordinator; Mark Woodall, business area coordinator; Bill Patton, civic clubs coordinator; and Gwinn Morris, student coordinator.

The advance gifts committee, heading by Woodall, swung into action last week and expected to be finished with its work not later than Tuesday.

Room...

(Continued from Page 1) served well for more than half a century, it is now showing the effects of advanced age and would be very expensive to repair and maintain. Current facilities will not approach the standards demanded in a new state jail law, which goes into effect in 1961. Nor does the present facilities be remodeled to meet these standards.

If the present jail is still used when the new law goes into effect, it will become necessary for the Sheriff's deputies to transport prisoners back and forth to jails meeting minimum standards. In addition to the transportation cost, the county would have to pay other counties for care and feeding of Deaf Smith County prisoners.

"It is not our intention to provide anything extra-comfortable or luxurious in the new jail," Sheriff Charles Skelton declared. "All we want to do is meet the state requirements and have enough room for our prisoners, now and in the future."

The proposed jail plan calls for the installation of 49 bunks, more than four times the present number. This would be large enough to take care of all county prisoners for the next 50 or more years, even with the most optimistic estimates of growth. There are also provisions for the addition of cells to house 16 more prisoners, which brings the potential of the new jail to 65.

Of concrete block and brick, the new building would be located on the north side of the present courthouse. This, to the county commissioners, seems to be the most feasible location.

On the east side of the one-story building would be a garage, from which prisoners could be taken directly to the confinement areas.

Included in the tentative plans are two single cells for juvenile girls, two single cells for juvenile boys, one single cell for a hold-over (person wanted by another state or county), a drunk tank and two single cells for females.

Also adjacent to the garage would be a small room for searching and booking prisoners as they are brought in.

Center section of the jail would include two felony blocks, with provisions for 12 and 6 prisoners in two cells and three 6-man cells in the other. A day room would be near each of the two cell blocks, and would be furnished with toilet and shower facilities, tables and chairs.

At the west end would be a single cell for first offenders, two single cells for homicidally-insane or violently — dangerous prisoners and a single cell for isolation of a prisoner who is ill or diseased.

Plans also indicate that new rooms for the Sheriff's department would be located on the northwest side of the ground floor of the courthouse. These would be connected to the jail by a passageway and offices.

The passageway would include a room where attorneys or relatives could visit with prisoners, a photographic darkroom and fingerprint area and radio room.

Inside the courthouse would be offices for the sheriff, deputies, files, interrogation, justice of the peace and Texas Department of Public Safety. Small areas for weapons and evidence storage also are contemplated. (To Be Continued)

Another Pair Of Boxes Show

With the report of two more balloons and boxes carrying transmitter equipment found by farmers about 25 miles northwest of Hereford Thursday, Hereford police have intensified their investigation of the four mysterious objects which have fallen in Deaf Smith County during the past two weeks.

Police chief Henry Aycock said the department received a call from the Federal Communication Commission in Dallas Thursday requesting that Aycock send one of the boxes to Dallas. Aycock said a box was sent to Dallas Friday, and from Dallas the object will be sent to the FCC in Washington, D. C.

Residents northwest of Hereford reported that two balloon-carried boxes landed Thursday, and thought that they resembled two other boxes which landed in the county recently.

Around Town

After a couple of weeks of speculation, it's settled: Hereford will play Lake View Friday at 7 p.m. in Lubbock for the first-round regional playoff. Local fans are hoping the last two losses will prove beneficial to the team.

If you paid your poll tax and plan to be out of town on Saturday, March 7, this is a reminder to vote absentee on the special county bond election. Absentee voting opened on Feb. 14 and will close on March 4. Not one absentee vote has been cast yet.

St. Anthony's Parish will sponsor a ham and bean supper Sunday, Feb. 22, at 6 p.m. in St. Anthony's School. The public is invited.

The Hereford Road Knights are sponsoring Miss Ruby Brewton as their candidate for queen of the Sixth annual Autorama which started Saturday in Amarillo. The show winds up today.

A general Little League meeting will be held Monday, Feb. 23, at 7:30 p.m. in the Hereford High auditorium. An election of officers will be held and suggestions for operation of the league will be aired. All interested persons are invited to attend.

The deadline for getting a state vehicle safety check is approaching. One of our public-spirited residents went out Saturday morning and took a look around the courthouse square.

His investigation showed that two of the four cars on the north side had 1959 stickers. The south side was better as 13 had new stickers, while 11 didn't. The margin was still greater on the east, where six hadn't gotten new stickers and just three had. And on the west side, there were 11 with 1958 stickers, 8 with 1959 stickers and three with no stickers at all!

The law was changed last year and school board filing deadline now is 30 days prior to the election. Candidates must file not later than March 4.

Lake View...

Single defeats have been handed Lake View by Brownwood, Borger, San Angelo Central, Abilene Christian High and Lamesa.

Only common foe is Borger, which downed the Chiefs by one point in the Snyder tourney and dropped the Herd by ten points. Big gun for the towering Chiefs is 6-5 Bill Keel, who plays the post position and grabs most of the rebounds. He shared scoring honors in district play with teammate Jim Tomlinson, 6-2. Each got 135 points in eight games for 16.8 averages. Tomlinson prefers the long set shots.

Backing them up was the loop's third high scorer, Billy Winans, 6-3, who is the playmaker and averaged 13.6 in conference.

Rounding out the squad are James Phillips, 6-1, who averaged 2.5 in conference; and Bob Shuffield, 5-11, who averaged 5.7. The number one reserve and a good rebounder is Ken Phillips, 6-5, the brother of James.

It was a see-saw battle in the third, as the lead changed hands seven times. The last time Hereford was ahead came with 1:50 left in the third quarter, 50-49. But the Indians lashed in six points, while Hereford got just two, and clung to a slim 55-52 margin at the end of the third period.

Hereford got within two points of the Indians with 1:20 left in the game, but Harold Doyle pushed in a field goal to clinch the victory. The game ended with Seminole ahead 66-62, but Hereford's Ken Clearman was awarded a pair of free throws at the final whistle. Amid a milling throng of spectators, he sank both to squeeze the margin back to two points.

The talented Indians, with four starters back from their state-playing team last year, were cool and terrific. They hit an outstanding 63 per cent of their shots from the field and made 10 of 16 free throw attempts.

Hereford probably lost the game with poor shooting near the basket and a bad night at the free throw line. Hereford hit 18 of 30 charity attempts, but missed several critical one-and-one shots.

For Hereford, Bobby Shelton garnered 21 points, while Ken Clearman swished in 20. Paul Higgins had 10. Pacing the Indians was big Ronnie Norton, who hit 19. Also in double figures were Bill Davis, 15; and Dan Cobb, 12.

There was no "B" team game.

Aycock, notified of the arrest of Miller and Spears in Illinois Sunday, arrived in Rockford Tuesday afternoon and took custody of the prisoners.

Aycock said the youths had about $32 at the time of arrest. They were believed to have had about $400 when they left Hereford a day after the burglary.

Less than half of the money taken from the building has been recovered. When the two juveniles were arrested, about $220 was recovered.

Miller and Spears travelled to Rockford in a car which belongs to a Hereford youth. Spears, planning to purchase the car, was driving the vehicle on a trial basis at the time he left Hereford, Aycock said.

The car was impounded at Rockford and will be taken to General Motors Acceptance Corporation at Madison, Wis., Aycock said.

Aycock said Miller and Spears were arrested on a warrant issued shortly after police were told the youths might be headed for Chicago.

Spears formerly lived in Rockford, where he allegedly had been arrested before on petty charges. Rockford is about 100 miles northwest of Chicago.

"NEW POLIO VACCINE TRIED ON HUMANS." When that story was first published, it wasn't a very big story. Outside of the medical profession not many people even knew the experiment was going to take place.

Not many people had heard of Dr. Jonas E. Salk a 38-year old professor of research bacteriology at the University of Pittsburgh. Soon everyone would know his name. In March came the announcement of the results of the first test. Ninety children and adults received the vaccine Dr. Salk had developed... with complete success!

Now the world took notice. People heard about the new polio shots. But do you re-gan for mass production. A year later the mass inoculations began when millions of children started getting their polio shots. Preparations be-mem-ber the news of that first experiment... when the Salk vaccine was proved on humans?

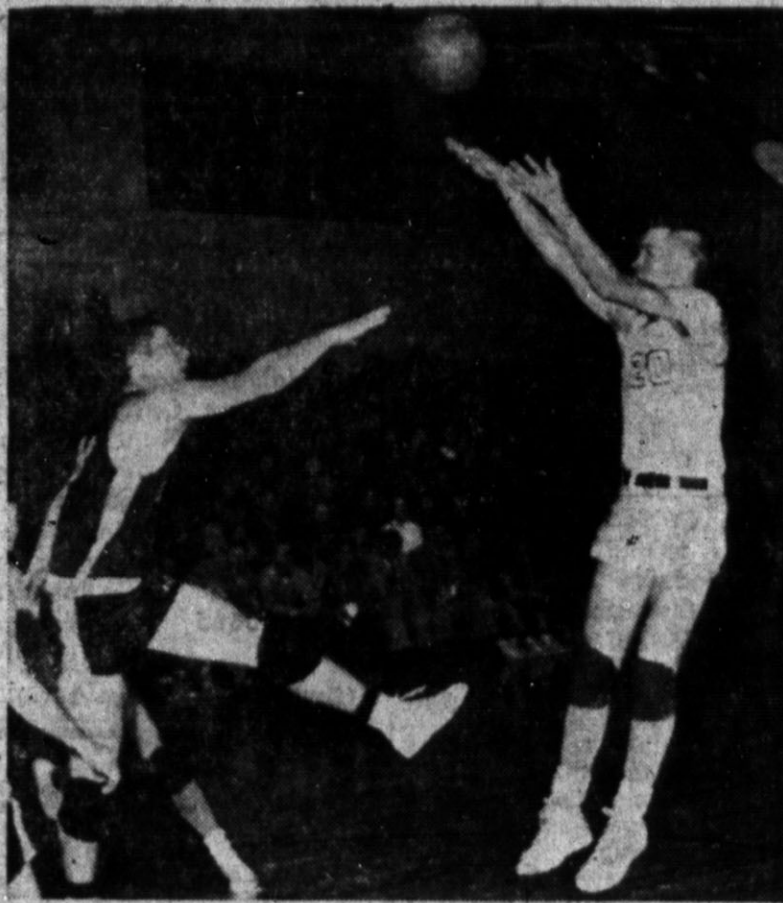

Remember the year? That was a big year in the auto business... with a lot of buyers discovering that they could shop for savings. Competition got stiffer... and sometimes the claims about "deals" got a little confusing.

PLATE COLLECTION—Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Brown of Corpus Christi, look over part of their collection of plates in their cafe. Customers and friends have sent them the 405 plates over a five-year period. (AP Wirephoto)

Collection Of Plates Starts From Scratch

Merchants Hire Decorating For Pioneer Days

In their regular Friday meeting, Hereford merchants voted to approve a contract for storefront decorations with the Harbin Decorating Company, Dublin, Texas. The company will decorate for Pioneer Days and the Rodeo, which are slated the latter party of July.

Merchants attending the meeting also were urged to write Texas congressmen in Washington protesting the cut in grain sorghum support prices and urging that the price be raised to its former level.

In a talk to the group, Bruce Miller outlined the merchants' positions in regard to making arrests of suspected shoplifters. He pointed out that they were less likely to be sued for false arrest or defamation of character under provisions of a proposed state law.

Presented as House Bill 65 and Senate Bill 9 in Austin, the proposed shoplifting bill now is being studied by congressional sub-committees. Miller urged that the merchants write to Sen. Andy Rogers and Rep. Jesse M. Osborne, asking that they support passage of the bill.

CORPUS CHRISTI — Five years ago Mrs. O. J. Brown bought three small decorative plates from home and hung them on the wall of the cafe she and her husband operate here. Today there just isn't room on the walls to hold any more.

Friends, customers and people she doesn't even know have sent her souvenir plates from every state in the U. S. and ten foreign countries until her collection now numbers 405.

Many of the pieces are gifts from truckers who make the Brown cafe their regular stopping point on trips. Tourists who drop in and see the interesting collection often send Mrs. Brown a plate from some spot along their travels or one from their native state when they return home.

Other plates have been sent by servicemen, once stationed in Corpus Christi, now overseas. One plate is decorated with German-type lettering and so far

Mrs. Brown hasn't been able to find anyone who can — or will — give her the translation.

Another depicts the Leaning Tower of Pisa and made its way from Italy without damage. Perhaps the most unusual piece in the collection is a white plate with blue lettering announcing the birth of the Brown's son, Michael Oscar, on Feb. 1, 1957, another gift of a customer. It now hangs in the place of honor, just above the cash register, at the entrance of the cafe.

Many women customers browse around the cafe for hours looking at the collection and Mrs. Brown figures if she gets many more the building will have to be enlarged or she will have to find a way to hang them from the ceiling.

Brown says they've never tried to put a price value on the collection. "After all," he explains, "you can't put a price tag on friendship and that's how we've come by the many plates."

She was married to Garrett Fox Aug. 29, 1945, in Hereford and the couple lived in Lubbock before moving to Kansas five years ago.

Rotary Scholar To Speak Here Monday Evening

Hereford Rotarians, their wives and guests will celebrate the 54th anniversary of the founding of the international service organization with a dinner in the Jim Hill Hotel ballroom Monday, Feb. 23, at 7:30 p.m.

Highlight of the evening will be a talk by Florence Coffee of Canyon who recently returned after a year of study at the University of Sidney, Australia, as a Rotary Fellow.

The first Rotary Club was established in Chicago on Feb. 23, 1905. It has grown until now there are 10,000 Rotary clubs in 111 countries, with a membership of nearly half a million.

As a part of its motto of "Service Above Self", the Rotary Clubs of the Texas Panhandle and South Plains, District 573, sponsor the overseas study of a college student every other year.

Miss Coffee studied in Sidney for nine months, working toward her doctorate in political science. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herschel Coffee of Canyon. He is chairman of the division of social sciences at West Texas State.

After attending West Texas her freshman year, Miss Coffee was graduated from the University of Texas and received her master's degree in political science from Duke University in 1956. She taught English at Tulsa High School in 1957.

Miss Coffee went completely around the world, leaving from New York and travelling through England, Europe, North Africa and Asia en route to Australia. She returned by way of the Hawaiian Islands, landing in California in December, 1958.

Staying in the homes of Rotarians most of the time, Miss Coffee was able to tour much of

ONE INJURED—Patsy Ann Evans, 19, Summerfield, was treated for minor injuries and released from Deaf Smith County Hospital Thursday after she lost control of a pickup truck on a dirt road near Summerfield. Highway patrolman Charles Skinner said the driver must have lost control of the truck after hitting loose dirt on the road and hit a bar ditch. The driver was taken to the hospital by Kreig-Marcum ambulance. (Staff Photo)

BETTER ATHLETES

ATLANTA (AP) — "College football teams are more nearly matched in potential than ever before," says Coach Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech. "Every college has so many good players that they can elick on a certain day and beat any of the others. Look at the upsets every week. It all goes back to the fact that high school coaching is so improved because of coaching clinics and other factors, and they are sending better prepared athletes to college."

Dodd calls the improved balance of power from coast to coast the outstanding development in college football for 1958.

Swaps earned $409,400 as a 4-year-old.

the huge continent that is Australia. With a land mass about the size of the United States and a population about the size of Texas, she was particularly impressed with the vastness of the country and its sparsely settled interior region.

No matter where you eavesdrop, the big topic of conversation is the drop in grain sorghum support prices. I am a natural born optimist, but the only bright lining I could see in the cloud is that we may be forced into a livestock feeding program. For some time, The Brand has been advocating such a program through editorial columns, based on the new Texas markets in Ft. Worth, Dallas, Houston and other population centers. A lot of our grain is being fed in California today, which proves that it is practical. I also hear that Amarillo packing houses are importing up to 60 per cent of the beef and pork they process. All in all, it could turn into a natural.

Fact is, the situation might be the best thing that ever happened to us. Wayne Edwards thinks this is, likewise, a good location for a cottonseed oil mill, which could well supply a large portion of the North Plains country. It sure would fit in with a feeding program, about which we seem to have little choice.

The big question is whether such a program will work best with a few head on each farm, or if it should move into big scale feeding pens. The few head per farm would probably result in the best balanced economy. However, the big scale operation has paid well in Iowa and has provided a ready market for the farm products. We might even have a little shot of both methods, and if anyone is going to establish a big feeding pen corporation, they will never see a better time than right now.

The Bob Lammis are living it up down Mexico way. I had a card from Bob, who said: "Mexico is bigger than Hereford, and no parking meters. We're coming out of the Palace of Fine Arts and who do we see but Mr. and Mrs. Ira Scott. It's a small world, at that; 4 million people live here — plus 1/2 million tourists — and we run into some one from home."

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Beyer are currently visiting in California. Had a card from Joe, detailing "Fisherman's Wharf". Joe invited me to come on out and go fishing. He adds that the Californians are having lots of fun over the jet plane, "boom" which created so much fuss around here. "They say it was an earthquake," Joe adds, "and that it was recorded on their seismograph. They also say we should have some more so we will know an earthquake from a jet!"

Meanwhile, I am having a hard time just staying at home. If anyone has a half-gallon of old fashion sorghum syrup, I am in the market. Jesse Stanford has me in the doghouse. Says I called him a "useless old codger". He admits I didn't actually say it, but contends that the inference was there. I am real sorry, because no one has contributed more to the community than Jesse. He was president of the school board for years and years, and has been a leader in many other phases of community life. Knowing his sense of humor, I hope he was kidding about the whole thing. I would like to deliver him some sorghum syrup. Jesse really goes for the stuff in a big way.

I am also carefully evading Mary Harman because she thought because she came from Kansas that she was a native, and referred to her as a Yankee. Now, I learn that she was born and reared in Texas, and merely resided in Kansas a few months. The bad part is, I can't help but agree with her. "You-all" know how we Texans feel about Texas — and don't mention Alaska. Who ever heard of measuring the size of a glass of tea by the amount of ice it contains. Anyway, I feel that I owe Mary a sincere apology.

Clint Formby should appreciate this plug. B. H. Baldwin is in charge of the exceptional children's class at school and has a project of making radios. The class has already made one radio, and they would like to make one for every member. They need some old AC radios which they can dismantle for parts, then use the parts to build other sets. If you have an old radio or two in the basement, garage or attic, why not get in touch with Mr. Baldwin. As a last and final resort, you might even bring them to The Brand office and we will see that he gets them. This sounds like a pretty good deal.

Dr. Clarence Hicks is a rather sharp young man. He was giving a talk on heart conditions before the Lions Club the other day and, in the course of his talk, showed an electrocardiograph slide with all of those little ups and downs. When question time came, Marlin Gilliland asked:

"Will puppy love make those little ups and downs on the graph, Doc?"
"Yes," replied Hicks, "but I would have thought you were a little bit too old to be affected by that disease!"

The Market Research Corporation recently did a survey on eating habits of the average American family, which pretty well proves that a lot of us are not average. For instance, breakfast is now considered the "family meal" all over America; more members of the family gather for this meal, which also turns out to be the one meal of the day with the greatest number of dishes, or specific varieties of food. Breakfast is also the meal where Americans eat 10 per cent of the cheese consumed in the nation.

They say that three-fourths of all meals are eaten in the kitchen. Preparation ran as follows: 89% of the evening meals require 30 minutes to prepare; 27% take 60 to 90 minutes; 21% need only 15 minutes, and 6% are thrown together in less than 15 minutes. Preparation of lunch, of course, was a much speedier activity. Folks in the South eat more poultry, while those in the Northeast drink the most milk.

Here's another one of those mathematical equations. It appears, courtesy of Mrs. G. K. Horton. I tried it, and it works, too.

1. Write down your age.
 2. Double it.
 3. Add 5.
 4. Multiply by 50.
 5. Subtract 365.
 6. Add amount of loose change (under $1) in your pocket.
 7. Increase by 115.
- Your change is the last two figures of the total, while the other two figures are your age.

Too Many 'Do's' To Be Done

IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By BETTY BABIONE

Dear Cousin Winnie,
Mary Southward (one of our good farm neighbors out "West way") confessed to having the "don'ts" on Monday. But I go Mary seven times better, for I seem to have the "don'ts" every day of the week. As you know, Cousin, that's a pesky-malady when there are so many "do's" to be done!

Among the multitude of things I haven't done is being regular in writing to you, dear Winnie (and staying on schedule with this column, I might add — hope you missed it last week — mainly on account of it wasn't there). Anyhow, it is my intention to get a letter off to you via The Sunday Brand once a month from now on. Although it means having other people read your mail, perhaps you'll agree to this idea since hearing from me amuses you.

Another thing I didn't do was check the calendar before disclosing that the best-dressed women contest results would be announced the last Sunday in February. 'Tis my desire for readers to have the whole month to get their votes in, so the tally-up can't come till next column, which will be on the first Sunday in March — this is getting confusing. What I mean is, there is one more week to go . . . and I hope those who haven't voted will take advantage of it. . . please!

Well cuz, you may have heard by now that Elizabeth Wombie and Jim Witherspoon became Mr. and Mrs. on Valentine's Day. One thing for sure, Jimmy shouldn't have any problem remembering their wedding anniversary. And another thing for sure, their friends are extremely happy for them! The newly-marrieds are presently away honeymooning. The last we heard of them, they were in New Orleans on Wednesday (this we know because Eula Lee Cave phoned them then and there — Euly just couldn't understand why Elizabeth couldn't rush back to be present for bridge on Thursday).

Say Winnie, if you had been in Hereford on Friday the 13th, you certainly wouldn't have lacked something interesting to do. It's being a supposedly-unlucky day didn't seem to bother as queens of the ball and their respective husbands were beaming even more . . . and certainly deserving mention are lovely-lasses, Yaita Harris and Emma Suit, who reigned as princesses for the evening and whose husbands, Vern and Ray, almost out-beamed everybody!

And of course you know our Whiteface basketball team won their game that night, and they may play soon in the state tourney, and there will likely be an impressive caravan of fans to follow the team when the great day comes.

You will be interested to know that the B&PW Clubs have set Monday night, March 23, as the date for their annual style show this year. Kathleen Baker tells me that tickets will go on sale soon but the main thing now is to keep the date in mind. "Symphony of Fashion" is the theme to be used in the show — sounds as if these gals are gonna come up with another beautiful production!

Winnie, have you seen the movie, "The Ten Commandments"? It is especially wonderful for youngsters in that it so vividly dramatizes the life of Moses and the Israelites during his time. However, it would be wise to familiarize one's self and one's children with the actual Bible text before seeing it. I saw it at the Star Theatre (it's showing now, by the way). In general it is a fine movie of an extra-ordinary type indeed. It's a typical Cecil B. DeMille epic but I don't see that that is anything against it — my one great criticism of it is that Yul Brynner was cast in a bad-man role.

Have got to run now dearie. Love,
Cousin Betty

Sheer Wool Is A Versatile Fabric

By DOROTHY ROE
Sheer wool is one of the most versatile of all fabrics. In gay prints, solid colors or light-weight tweeds, it can do year-round duty in any situation, from boudoir to ballroom.
Sheer, printed wool is a great idea for a party dress, which will be as correct and comfortable for summer as winter. Local sewing center experts suggest a short formal dress in sheer wool print, strapless and full-skirted, becoming to any figure. It's easy to sew, if you use a steam iron to smooth seams as you sew.

A girl planning spring formal dances might choose a sheer wool print in tones of lime and melon on a white ground, with a hem-length sash of green satin. A standard pattern gives full directions, calling for about six yards of fabric, plus a couple of yards of wide ribbon for the sash. A surprise bodice treatment is a new note.

To adapt this dress to the Empire mode, simply bone the sash so it rises high at the midriff, allowing it to slope down to the natural waistline in back. Add a rose or jeweled pin at one side. For the more formal-minded, the pattern also provides directions for making a net overskirt.

Former Hereford Girl's Husband Killed In Calif.

Fred Levinson of Los Angeles, Calif., the husband of the former Helen Alston of Hereford, was killed in a home accident on Feb. 10. He was 28. He was fatally injured when a jack slipped while he was working under a car.
He is survived by his wife and one son, Steve, five months. Among Mrs. Levinson's relatives who attended the funeral on Feb. 14 were: three sisters, Mrs. Baxter London and Miss Margaret Alston of Hereford and Miss Carole Alston of Big Spring; a brother, Richard Alston of Hereford; and her mother, Mrs. J. H. Alston of Big Spring.

No matter where you eavesdrop, the big topic of conversation is the drop in grain sorghum support prices. I am a natural born optimist, but the only bright lining I could see in this cloud is that we may be forced into a livestock feeding program. For some time, The Brand has been advocating such a program through editorial columns, based on the new Texas markets in Ft. Worth, Dallas, Houston and other population centers. A lot of our grain is being fed in California today, which proves that it is practical. I also hear that Amarillo packing houses are importing up to 60 per cent of the beef and pork they process. All in all, it could turn into a natural.

Fact is, the situation might be the best thing that ever happened to us. Wayne Edwards thinks this is, likewise, a good location for a cottonseed oil mill, which could well supply a large portion of the North Plains country. It sure would fit in with a feeding program, about which we seem to have little choice.

The big question is whether such a program will work best with a few head on each farm, or if it should move into big scale feeding pens. The few head per farm would probably result in the best balanced economy. However, the big scale operation has paid well in Iowa and has provided a ready market for the farm products. We might even have a little shot of both methods, and if anyone is going to establish a big feeding pen corporation, they will never see a better time than right now.

The Bob Lamms are living it up down Mexico way. I had a card from Bob, who said: "Mexico is bigger than Hereford, and no parking meters. We were coming out of the Palace of Fine Arts and who do we see but Mr. and Mrs. Ira Scott. It's a small world, at that; 4 million people live here — plus 1½ million tourists — and we run into someone from home."

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Beyer are currently visiting in California. Had a card from Joe, datelined "Fisherman's Wharf". Joe invited me to come on out and go fishing." He adds that the Californians are having lots of fun over the jet plane, "boom" which created so much fuss around here. "They say it was an earthquake," Joe adds, "and that it was recorded on their seismograph. They also say we should have some more so we will know an earthquake from a jet!"

Meanwhile, I am having a hard time just staying at home. If anyone has a half-gallon of old fashion sorghum syrup, I am in the market. Jesse Stanford has me in the doghouse. Says I called him a "useless old coddler". He admits I didn't actually say it, but contends that the inference was there. I am real sorry, because no one has contributed more to the community than Jesse. He was president of the school board for years and years, and has been a leader in many other phases of community life. Knowing his sense of humor, I hope he was kidding about the whole thing, but just to be on the safe side, I would like to deliver him some sorghum syrup. Jesse really goes for the stuff in a big way.

I am also carefully evading Mary Harman these days. I thought because she came from Kansas that she was a native, and I would be able to talk to her. Now, I learn that she was born and reared in Texas, and merely resided in Kansas a few months. The bad part is, I can't help but agree with her. "You'll know how we Texans feel about Texas — and don't mention Alaska. Who ever heard of measuring the size of a glass of tea by the amount of ice it contains. Anyway, I feel that I owe Mary a sincere apology.

Clint Formby should appreciate this plug. B. H. Baldwin is in charge of the exceptional children's class at school and has a project of making radios. The class has already made one radio, and they would like to make one for every member. They need some old AC radios which they can dismantle for parts, then use the parts to build other sets. If you have an old radio or two in the basement, garage or attic, why not get in touch with Mr. Baldwin. As a last and final resort, you might even bring them to The Brand office and we will see that he gets them. This sounds like a pretty good deal.

Dr. Clarence Hicks is a rather sharp young man. He was giving a talk on heart conditions before the Lions Club the other day and, in the course of his talk, showed an electrocardiograph slide with all of those little ups and downs. When question time came, Marlin Gilliland asked:

"Will puppy love make those little ups and downs on the graph, Doc?"
"Yes," replied Hicks, "but I would have thought you were a little bit too old to be affected by that disease!"

The Market Research Corporation recently did a survey on eating habits of the average American family, which pretty well proves that a lot of us are not average. For instance, breakfast is now considered the "family meal" all over America; more members of the family gather for this meal, which also turns out to be the one meal of the day with the greatest number of dishes, or specific varieties of food. Breakfast is also the meal where Americans eat 10 per cent of the cheese consumed in the nation.

They say that three-fourths of all meals are eaten in the kitchen. Preparation ran as follows: 30% of the evening meals require 30 minutes to prepare; 27% take 60 to 90 minutes; 21% need only 15 minutes, and 6% are thrown together in less than 15 minutes. Preparation of lunch, of course, was a much speedier activity. Folks in the South eat more poultry, while those in the Northeast drink the most milk.

Here's another one of those mathematical equations. It appears, courtesy of Mrs. G. K. Horton. I tried it, and it works, too.

1. Write down your age.
 2. Double it.
 3. Add 5.
 4. Multiply by 50.
 5. Subtract 365.
 6. Add amount of loose change (under $1) in your pocket.
 7. Increase by 115.
- Your change is the last two figures of the total, while the other two figures are your age.

Too Many 'Do's' To Be Done

IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By BETTY BABIONE

Dear Cousin Winnie,
Mary Southward (one of our good farm neighbors out "West way") confessed to having the "don'ts" on Monday. But I go Mary seven times better, for I seem to have the "don'ts" every day of the week. As you know, Cousin, that's a pesky malady when there are so many "do's" to be done!

Among the multitude of things I haven't done is being regular in writing to you, dear Winnie (and staying on schedule with this column, I might add—hope you missed it last week—mainly on account of it wasn't there). Anyhow, it is my intention to get a letter off to you via The Sunday Brand once a month from now on. Although it means having other people read your mail, perhaps you'll agree to this idea since hearing from me amuses you.

Another thing I didn't do was check the calendar before disclosing that the best-dressed women contest results would be announced the last Sunday in February. 'Tis my desire for readers to have the whole month to get their votes in, so the tally-up can't come till next column, which will be on the first Sunday in March — this is getting confusing. What I mean is, there is one more week to go . . . and I hope those who haven't voted will take advantage of it . . . please!

Well cuz, you may have heard by now that Elizabeth Womble and Jim Witherspoon became Mr. and Mrs. on Valentine's Day. One thing for sure, Jimmy shouldn't have any problem remembering their wedding anniversary. And another thing for sure, their friends are extremely happy for them! The newly-marrieds are presently away honeymooning. The last we heard of them, they were in New Orleans on Wednesday (this we know because Eula Lee Cave phoned them then and there—Euly just couldn't understand why Elizabeth couldn't rush back to be present for bridge club on Thursday).

Say Winnie, if you had been in Hereford on Friday the 13th, you certainly wouldn't have lacked something interesting to do. It's being a supposedly-unlucky day didn't seem to bother as queens of the ball and their respective husbands were beaming even more . . . and certainly deserving mention are lovely lasses, Yaita Harris and Emma Suit, who reigned as princesses for the evening and whose husbands, Vern and Ray, almost out-beamed everybody!

And of course you know our Whiteface basketball team won their game that night, and they may play soon in the state tourney, and there will likely be an impressive caravan of fans to follow the team when the great day comes.

You will be interested to know that the B&PW Clubbers have set Monday night, March 23, as the date for their annual style show this year. Kathleen Baker tells me that tickets will go on sale soon but the main thing now is to keep the date in mind. "Symphony of Fashion" is the theme to be used in the show — sounds as if these gals are gonna come up with another beautiful production!

Winnie, have you seen the movie, "The Ten Commandments"? It is especially wonderful for youngsters in that it so vividly dramatizes the life of Moses and the Israelites during his time. However, it would be wise to familiarize one's self and one's children with the actual Bible text before seeing it. I saw it at the Star Theatre (it's showing now, by the way). In general it is a fine movie of an extra-ordinary type indeed. It's a typical Cecil B. DeMille epic but I don't see that that is anything against it — my one great criticism of it is that Yul Brynner was cast in a bad-man role. Have got to run now dearie. Love, Cousin Betty

By DOROTHY ROE
Sheer wool is one of the most versatile of all fabrics. In gay prints, solid colors or light-weight tweeds, it can do year-round duty in any situation, from boudoir to ballroom.
Sheer printed wool is a great idea for a party dress, which will be as correct and comfortable for summer as winter. Local sewing center experts suggest a short formal-dress in sheer wool print, strapless and full-skirted, becoming to any figure. It's easy to sew, if you use a steam iron to smooth seams as you sew.

A girl planning spring formal dances might choose a sheer wool print in tones of lime and melon on a white ground, with a hem-length sash of green satin. A standard pattern gives full directions, calling for about six yards of fabric, plus a couple of yards of wide ribbon for the sash. A surprise bodice treatment is a new note.

WOOL PARTY DRESS . . . Beverly Bently, Miss Wool of 1959, wears a short formal of printed sheer wool, made from a standard pattern.

To adapt this dress to the Empire mode, simply bone the sash so it rises high at the midriff, allowing it to slope down to the natural waistline in back. Add a rose or jeweled pin at one side. For the more formal-minded, the pattern also provides directions for making a net over-skirt.

MRS. IRVING ALEXANDER displays her collection of fine china. (Staff Photo)

China Tells A Story

Mrs. Irving Alexander tells the interesting story of her lovely Willow ware china which is depicted on every authentic piece — the love story of Koong See, daughter of a mandarin who fell in love with her father's secretary, Chang.

When the mandarin discovered the love affair, he imprisoned his daughter in her apartments and built a high wooden fence to the edge of the river (this is always clearly visible). He then betrothed Kaang See to a vice-roy named Ta-Jin. When Ta-Jin arrived for the ceremony, he brought fabulous jewels, but during the excitement surrounding the wedding preparation, Chang and Koong See eloped to a little island where lived a loyal servant.

There, they were married. This island is at the left hand corner of the design, and on the bridge can be seen three figures — Koong See, carrying a distaff, symbol of virginity, Chang bearing Ta-Jin's jewels and the mandarin in close pursuit with a whip. The couple is finally killed and the two doves at the top of the design represent the spirits of the lovers forever joining into each other's eyes. Whatever the variations in design, whatever the makers mark or at whatever time it was made, the blue is the same and the story it tells is ever the same.

The pitcher at the left is English Parian china, which was developed in England in the middle 1880's. A distinguishing mark of Parian is bunches of grapes and leaves which decorate it — and the inside of the pitcher is glazed. The silver-leaf-topped table was custom made in New York. It is all hand done and wreathed in flowers in shades of mauve, pink, orchid and purple.

MRS. S. S. DODSON makes and paints china dolls. (Staff Photo)

A Hobby For Original Gifts

Mrs. S. S. Dodson became interested in ceramics and china painting while recuperating from an illness several years ago. She soon found an outlet of expression in the desire to create beauty.

Beginning with the study of ceramics, she went on to china painting and then she began making dolls. That was when she lost herself, not only in the pleasure of creating beautiful objects, but in the joy of making others happy as she set aboat making a doll for each of her thirteen nieces.

She finds her biggest thrill in draping the porcelain lace and opening the kiln to see how it all comes out. . . Of the 200 dolls she has made, all have been given away but four.

In the picture, Mrs. Dodson is shown holding the porcelain greenware form for a doll and the lovely little lady next to her is dressed in all-white ruffles and yellow net adorned with pink rosebuds. Her hat is in yellow and her hair is auburn.

The Chinese lady has black hair and her dress and hat are in delft blue with tiny pink rosebuds tucked in the skirt. The doll on the stand is the first one made by Mrs. Dodson. Her dress is in pink lace, edged in gold with gray puffs of net and pink rosebuds. Her hair is gray and her big hat matches her dress.

The fourth doll is all over pink lace edged in gold. She has a sash of orchid ribbon tied in with talisman roses. Her hair is brown.

Mrs. Dodson also shares in the interest of her husband's coin collection, which has become valuable through the years. She helps catalog the coins. They began collecting old and rare books when he inherited a collection of books. One a world history published in 1858, including a steel engraved map, and another is a Bible well over 100 years old which belonged to his great, great aunt.

Hobbies With Foreign Accent

Art Travels From Far

Mrs. J. R. Hickman holds one of her favorite hand painted pieces, a small plate, and one of the latest acquired in her collection of fine china. The matching pink and blue demitasse cups and saucers have been in the Hickman family for many generations.

They were brought to New Orleans from France by General Francois Gannin after the fall of Napoleon's Empire. The hand painted vases and salad bowl are from Czechoslovakia. They were purchased in New Orleans in 1949 and are about 50 years old.

The cut glass collection includes a tall lead-bottom pitcher and six matching water glasses, an oval flower bowl and a flower-basket. These are heirlooms in the Hickman family and were handed down to her by her late mother-in-law, Mrs. Julia Hickman.

The black lacquered tray, also an heirloom piece, is of Japanese design inlaid with a thin dragon.

Mrs. Hickman thinks it great fun looking for matching pieces or pieces in the same period, everywhere she goes to make her collection grow.

The pleasure of possession may lead to the development of a hobby that will carry you around the world in its interest. Collecting the old and the beautiful, the historic, the symbolic, the rare or expensive as a hobby reaches in every direction as a means to amusement, knowledge, or sometimes, wealth. Whatever the collection may be, it is usually of more value to the collector than the actual value of the individual articles that make up the collection. Once a hobby is started, there seems no ending and the longer pursued the more valuable it becomes. Most hobbyists are convinced that every one should have at least one hobby, and some believe the pursuit of a hobby will keep that fallacy of old age from catching up with you.

Art In Ancient Glass

Mrs. Robert Tyler has many antiques among her collection and spends much of her spare time studying their history. All through history, antiques reflect the times, tastes and achievements of man. She first became interested in antiques when she inherited some antique china and marble topped tables handed down in her own family.

Some of the furniture is still in her home town of Missouri awaiting the time when she and her doctor husband move into a home of their own in Hereford. She considers her most valuable collection the four Cobalt Blue plates which are centered with reproductions of famous paintings. These have been appraised at a valuable figure by antique dealers.

The Royal Saxe porcelain plate at the back is well over 100 years old. She loves the Prussian hair receivers which her grandfather purchased on a cattle trip to Chicago for her mother, and the little glass hen, the fourpoint star Bavarian bowl had belonged to her great grandmother.

The Staffordshire English vase is one of a pair that graced Dr. Tyler's great-grandmother's piano. An identical vase is now in the Alamo Museum in San Antonio, also more than 100 years old.

The Tylers also treasure a gas lamp given to his great-grandfather from an old lodge hall, which has been handed down from generation to generation. The figurine Mrs. Tyler so lovingly holds has been in her possession about a year. It is one of the oldest pieces of bisque, age-lined and authentically initialed.

Bible Words for Today

LUKE 1:35 - "And the angel said to her (Mary), 'The Holy Spirit will come upon you.'" (RSV)

There can hardly be a person alive who has not held in his hands something alive and warm, like a kitten, puppy, baby chick, or even a little human baby. One feels the little muscles tensing and surging with miniature power. The warmth from the little body imparts a pleasant sensation.

Alive and warm! This also describes a person's experience with the Holy Spirit. The glorious reality of life is that the Spirit is alive, moving about, imparting power and life and love to the responsive human spirit. The Holy Spirit's promise to Mary was uniquely fulfilled. We can receive the blessings of the Spirit's presence, too. As our hearts are strangely warmed we will become more mature persons, looking beyond narrow boundaries to unlimited horizons, seeing the wholeness of all things, and meeting every situation with calmness and good judgment. These powers the Holy Spirit brings to you!

Nine WINTROATH PUMPS USED BY THIS SUCCESSFUL FARM FAMILY

"We purchased our first Wintroath years ago, and have added 8 more since then. We have been very satisfied with their dependable and economical operation year after year. We consider our Wintroath a smart investment."

Palm Farms, Calif.

The Banducci's, Joe G., and Fred J., and James, Jr., are a successful farming family that own both Palm Farms and Sunset Ranch in Kern County, California. They were one of the first to farm rice in the county. Today, their cotton, grain and other crops are among the finest in the state.

Contributing to this success is a well-planned irrigation system that provides adequate water where and when it is needed. Typical is the 125 h.p. Wintroath pump, shown here which was installed in 1956. It delivers 5000 GPM from the pump to fill a 14" discharge pipe.

'A Touch Of The Poet' Reviewed By Mrs. Clint Formby At Meet

Mrs. Clint Formby, guest speaker, presented the program at the Bay View Study Club session held Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Lee Benefield. Mrs. Ansel McDowell was program leader.

Mrs. Formby gave a review of Eugene O'Neill's "A Touch of the Poet", current Broadway play, and one of the last to be completed before his death.

Taking the parts of the three main characters, at times, she brought the drama to life to reveal the complicating web of emotion linking an Irishman's family with their Yankee companions. The wit and humor that characterizes many of O'Neill's plays, was portrayed realistically, as well as the Irishman's pride which vanished in sadness and pathos.

Mrs. Will S. Kerr, president, presided over a short business session when members voted to pledge a contribution to The Community Center.

Or Do We Sit On Our Tails and Moan?

Livestock Feeding Could Be Answer

Announcement this week that the grain sorghum support price will drop to $1.52 on the national average is an item which merits long consideration on the part of every citizen of the community, chiefly because it hits our pocketbook a hard jolt.

The national average last year was $1.83 on grain sorghum, which means that local producers will this year receive 31 cents less per hundred on the crop. Last year many farmers complained about the $1.75-per-hundred support price in the county, based on farm storage. By the same extensions, we can anticipate a $1.44 grain sorghum support price, again on the farm stored base, during the next season. Both figures, of course, are subject to additional costs on elevator storage, which handles most of the grain in this area.

The plight, when you analyze it, is serious. For the sake of round figures, let us say that we will have a 3,500-pound yield per acre on irrigated grain sorghum; this returns a gross of $45 per acre. The landlord takes his third for rent, leaving a $30-gross-per-acre to the average farmer. By the time he buys fertilizer, pumps water, hires help, provides machinery and tills his land, he certainly cannot have much—if anything—left from the $30 gross.

We are not experts, but it does seem to us that the dry land grain sorghum grower who is fortunate enough to average 1,500 pounds per acre might well clear $10 an acre from his estimated $19.25 gross.

The big difference, as we have consistently pointed out, rests in the fact that the Department of Agriculture classifies grain sorghum, along with barley and rye, as a supplemental crop. In Hereford and Deaf Smith County, however, it is a basic crop; a way of life or, as the department might say, a "commercial crop." Grain sorghum, to us, means the same thing that cotton means to Alabama and that corn means to Iowa. Because of this overall classification, we are literally caught in the squeeze.

This brings us face to face with the big question: "Which way do we turn?" Honestly, we do not see a perfect answer. Certainly, the department is not attempting to help very much. Instead of increasing our cotton allotment, the acre-

Civic Center Merits Support

Scheduled this week is the drive to finance Hereford's proposed Community Center. It coincides with a county bond election, and with news of lowered supports on grain sorghum, which is far from ideal.

However, there are several things which we should keep in mind concerning the proposed center. First and foremost, we are getting a $100,000 building for $40,000, thanks to the estate of Jim Hill. Second, it will be with us as a community service for at least 40 years, which means an invested cost of $1,000 per year. Third, had we paid full price, plus bonded indebtedness, the building would be costing us $200,000—instead of the proposed $40,000.

Most important of all, think of the people who will most use the Community Center. We grow a great variety of crops in this area but, all of us are bound to agree, our young people are by far the most valuable crop we produce, this year or the next, or the next.

All in all, the Community Center is a real bargain. Dig as deep as you can, and we believe it will take its place as one of the best investments you ever made.

age has been cut from 11,557 acres in 1958 to 10,157 acres in 1959; wheat acreage offers no better solution. Sugar beets, also on allotment, afford fewer than 2,000 acres.

Pinto beans? This is a possibility, and the beans do well. Last year they brought $5.87 bagged and cleaned, which isn't bad—but it is usually difficult to find a market. Soy beans provide another possibility; last year this crop carried a $2 support, which many observers expect to be whittled back to $1.50 this year.

A few of the milo growers will turn to the vegetable business, still suffering from a bad year in 1958. The sickness of the vegetable business has been traced to over-production, however, and if a large number of growers shift full-tilt into the picture, it can only become sicker and sicker in 1959.

In this irrigated area, where we have achieved great efficiency through diversification, it seems impossible to find ourselves in this condition but, like the old boy who couldn't be put in jail "for that," here we are! The only consolation lies in the fact that it would be so very much worse without the diversification we enjoy.

Meanwhile, there seems to be only one direction in which to turn—and that is the feeding of our grain sorghums to livestock. Not in Iowa! Not in Kansas! Not in California! But, right here at home. We can accomplish this with small herds of swine and cattle on the individual farm, or it can be done on a large scale in feed lots. The Brand has editorially advocated such a program for the past two years and, now that we are faced with dire necessity, it behooves us to study the condition even more carefully.

Our banks have always been liberal with small livestock loans. If we need a large scale feed lot, without doubt we can promote and establish such a lot with local capital. We may mess up the livestock picture in years to come but, meanwhile, we can survive and meet our obligations.

Because a feeding program is sound, practical and feasible, it is possible that we are being forced into one of the best situations we have ever known. Necessity, the mother of invention, could well provide our long-desired industrialization and solve our immediate problem.

The people of this area faced pretty well the same situation when they pioneered grain sorghum expansion on the High Plains. Today, we have the same choice we had back in 1941. We can roll up our sleeves and go to work toward a better future—or, like the old hound dog, we can sit on our tail and moan.

It is an old, old story but, as usual, the answer is pretty well up to us.

Horse Sense In Automobile Era

A topic discussed extensively in recent school study meetings has been that of "careers." In addition, the subject is emphasized in recent articles in the Whiteface school page, and by a publicized 100% high school session in Borger.

The fact that high school students are sincerely interested in career study is not unusual but, to some adults, it may come as quite a jolt. All in all, it is what the adults have been saying our students needed a lot more of through the years and, to give them credit, scores of business and professional men have devoted untold hours to help the boys and girls acquire accurate, practical information.

Most generally, career studies and aptitude tests are confined to seniors. Now, many people are thinking they should be sponsored on the freshman level. There are plenty of arguments on both sides.

Because most students do shift career preferences between the freshman and senior levels, it seems practical to us that a period—anywhere from one day to one week—might well be established for all high school students as an annual event. Aptitude tests could be given on the freshmen and senior levels. If these tests are accurate, and we feel that they are generally on the right track, they could be even more valuable on the freshman level than at any other period. To argue otherwise, it seems to us, would be to admit a serious defect in our high school educational methods.

All in all, it is heartening to see the interest and demand for these studies come from the students instead of being an adult idea. It shows that the youngsters are doing a lot more thinking than many adults give them credit for, and that horse sense didn't go out with the horses.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

Two traveling salesmen, who prayed together in a dreary Wisconsin hotel room more than 60 years ago, started a movement which has provided inspiration to sojourners ever since.

A near-hopeless alcoholic who stole a Bible from a Virginia hotel testifies: "I began to read it daily... I have been sober since through His grace and the Alcoholics Anonymous program."

A young man jailed in Los Angeles says: "I was sitting in my cell completely disgusted with myself when I noticed a Bible on a shelf... I could feel a change take place in my heart and soul."

The Bibles were placed in hotel and cell by Gideons International, an association of Christian businessmen founded by the two praying salesmen.

Since their founding, the Gideons have placed 38 million Bibles and Testaments in hotels, prisons, hospitals, army camps, trains and airplanes in 30 different countries.

APPENDECTOMIES ON KITCHEN TABLE

Miss Morris Lives In County's First Hospital

By MRS. R. L. CRISWELL
Miss Jessie Morris, 83, 515 Union Ave., has lived in Deaf Smith County for 53 years.

To her, Hereford is a fine town with wonderful people. "I visited in Deaf Smith County during the summer for four or five years," said Miss Morris. "I am sure that the bright summer sun and the wonderful water saved my life."

"My family feared that I might have tuberculosis, but I have not been ill for years. I have been told that I am disgustingly healthy, but I am very thankful for my health and enjoy living as much today as I ever have in my life time."

"I have lived in this house for 51 years. That is a long time, but has been enjoyable. The different members of my family and I knew almost everyone in the county in the old days, but this not true now."

"I suppose you could call this house the first hospital in Hereford or Deaf Smith County. The ranchers and farmers who lived so far away from a doctor would bring in their sick folk and leave them with us so they would be near a doctor. We would put them in the upstairs bedrooms and care for them under the orders of Dr. LeGrand and Dr. Price."

"They performed a number of appendectomies on the kitchen table and lost only one patient. When you have men and horses working together with cattle there is plenty of room for accidents and we cared for them until they were well enough to go back to the saddle."

"We had everything from mental cases, typhoid, scarlet fever, ect.—even one suicide. This was a poison case, a young woman. She lived for several days because, as the doctors said, she took a lethal dose of two poisons, which would have been fatal in a short while, but since they were mixed, they caused much suffering before death came. Her fiancé stayed with her to the end."

"The ranchers would bring in their expectant wives and there have been quite a number of the people in Hereford born in this house. Some that I remember, and of course I cannot remember them all, are Keller Muse, Gayle Nell, Willie McIntosh, and many others. Mrs. Connally and I did most of the nursing, but if a registered nurse were needed, the doctors brought them in and they boarded with us while nursing their patients back to health. We cooked for a great number of people almost every day."

"We did the cooking—with cowchips, and I have spent many a day walking over the prairies helping gather them in by the wagon load. If they were damp, we poured Beaumont Oil (that was the only kind which was shipped in during those years) over the chips to dry and get a fire burning. I hated (Continued on Page 2)

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Population, Food May Be Most Challenging

Will the most critical problem of the United States 50 years from now be population, food, water, nuclear warfare or some other challenge to the nation? Why?

JACK ROGERS—My kids.

DR. M. C. ADAMS—I think it will be water, because of all the natural resources we are most wasteful with water. GLENN WILLIAMS—Population will be most critical, the other problems listed will be side effects caused by population problems. This problem will increase rapidly because of the rapid increase of our birth rate and the increased longevity of people due to medical progress.

J. C. REESE—Well, probably all of those problems listed will be the really important problems 50 years from now, but as to which of them will be the most crucial I just couldn't say.

LYNN KESTER—Fifty years from now we just couldn't tell what it would be—even five years from now, for that matter.

MRS. CECIL LADY—With the way the world is today, I wouldn't even predict what might happen tomorrow.

REV. ALBY COCKRELL—I'd say food. With the increase of population I think we'll find that food is going to be an increasing problem as it already is today in most of the world.

ED SCHROETER—I really believe that it's going to be food because of the ever decreasing amount of rainfall in the farming areas and over population in the dense rainfall areas will cause less production of food. I think it will be less than 25 years before we won't have surplus.

KENNETH COWAN—As far as being critical I think it would be population due to the increase we're having now and the way the country is growing, food production and water shortage and other of those problems listed are a direct result of an increased population.

URLIN STREU—According to the things which I have read the most critical problem will be food for the vastly increased population and water for both household and industrial consumption. All of the current projections seem to indicate a great increase of population due to added longevity of life and more disease control.

CITY GETS GAS STUDY PLEA

A petition is due to be submitted to the Dumas City Commission Monday asking for a study of the city's present gas department with reference to rates currently charged by the city-owned utility company. H. Bob Porter, attorney for a group of citizens who are asking the study, appeared before the commissioners in a special meeting last Monday and requested the study on behalf of a group of clients who had retained him to approach the city government. Because of what the commission said "would be expense involved with such a study" the attorney was then asked to submit a written petition, showing "sufficient names to justify the cost of study." The controversy concerning the natural gas came after the Railroad Commission ordered the city to shut off a Dumas-owned well and to purchase gas from outside producers until the schedule of production for the well was in line with state allowables. Purchase of gas from El Paso Natural Gas, the commission says, plus the cost of laying new pipe to obtain the gas, has necessitated a hike in the cost of gas for city users.—MOORE COUNTY NEWS (Dumas)

TALL TALE OR NO?

A black West Texas dust storm moved in on Littlefield and blew a Latin American man right up a tree here Monday. The tree almost hung him. At least that was the story the man told city officers. John Esquibel, 51, dangled in 60-m.p.h. winds by his neck almost 20 minutes while officers were trying to rescue him. Not one, not even Esquibel, could say how long the Latin American had been hanging there. Esquibel had been drinking, officers said, and was in no condition to say. Officers found a crowd of onlookers at the scene, when they arrived. Esquibel was found hanging with his neck caught in a fork of the tree. He was about 15 feet off the ground. Pretty soon a Southwestern Public Service truck arrived and men used a ladder on the truck to get to the man. They had him down in a few minutes, all in one piece, but with a raw place on his neck. The lower limbs of the tree were out of Esquibel's reach, officers said. And they figured he wouldn't have been in shape to shimmy up the trunk. Esquibel simply blamed it all on the dust storm. But he found officers and onlookers hard to convince.—LAMB COUNTY LEADER (Littlefield)

FIREMEN HUNT BLAZE

Seventeen men of the Dimmitt Volunteer Fire Department were roused out of bed about 2 a.m. Wednesday morning to look for a fire that apparently didn't exist. It seems a phone call was received here that a fire was taking place at the Huseman farm near Nazareth and directions were given. The fire department followed the directions which put them on the R. W. Huseman farm, but there was no fire there. They then rushed to all the other farms in the area occupied by Huseman families (five altogether) and there was no fire on any of these. The weary firemen finally returned home about 4 a.m. This has happened at least once before in recent months. Anyone reporting a fire should give their name and precise directions for reaching the fire. The fire should also be identified, such as house, barn, shed, small or large. The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his hindweed farm is talking about new cars this week, in a theoretical sort of way.

Dear editor:

I have always contended that American business must know what the American public wants, as it always manages to keep the latter's income tied down in installment payments for months and years ahead, but I read an article in a newspaper last night that makes me wonder.

According to it, car manufacturers, waking up to the fact more and more of those little foreign cars are showing up on the streets of this country, have decided to go into the small-car business themselves.

But, the article pointed out, while the cars will be shorter and generally smaller, their price won't be a lot less than present cars.

This is what I'm talking about. I don't think anybody really objects to a long car, it's the long payments that hurt. It's not the fact that riding around in a tail-finned, chrome-plated automobile is embarrassing, it's just that it's sometimes embarrassing to pay the gasoline bill to keep the thing going.

I know it's hard to park one of the long models, but if you cut it half in two and sold it to two people instead of one, both of 'em would still be contending for the same parking space. I know some people say in horse and buggy days we didn't have any parking problems, but if we had as many horses and buggies as we have cars, the problem would be worse, or have you ever measured the distance from the head of the horse to the tail end of the buggy? And have you ever tried to parallel park in a buggy?

What appeals to a lot of people when it comes to foreign cars isn't the fact they're foreign, it's not that they're easier to park, it's simply that they're easier to pay for and cheaper to drive. People don't mind how much car they get for their money, what stumps them is how much money they give for their car.

Of course though I could be wrong, I don't own any automobile manufacturing plant and advice is cheap. Most of the advice I've had on farming has come from people who don't own a farm. Everywhere you look, you see new cars. And it's a good idea too. If you don't look, one of 'em will hit you.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Before Taking Up Fishing Hawk Was 'Just A Bum'

By EARL GOLDING
AUSTIN — State bass champion Dave Hawk has moved to Austin and he has a very definite reason. It is a fishy reason, of course, since Hawk eats, sleeps and lives fishing. "I believe," the 36-year-old tackle manufacturer says, "there are more bass within a 100-mile radius of Austin than any place in Texas." So Hawk moved to Austin to set up his own bait business after serving as manager of a major tackle concern on the coast for several years. Before coming to Texas, Hawk was a tackle maker and professional guide on the big lakes in Arkansas, and he's been a fisherman all his life. Or most of it.

One time a lady asked Dave how long he'd been fishing. "For 28 years," he said, "since I was eight." "What did you do before that?" the nice lady asked. "Before I started fishing," Hawk said, "I was just a bum." He's as ready with a fishing line as with a witty reply, though, and he's been the most successful fisherman in the Lone Star State in the competitive meets, both salt-water and freshwater. Last May, he won the state bass title on Granite Shoals from a field of 648.

Before that, he took the Tackle Reps' Tournament on Lake Whitney, with pros and semipros from several states competing. Later in the summer, he won the over-all championship of the big saltwater tournament at Port Aransas.

He was second in the National Professional Fisherman's Tournament at Port Aransas. He was second in the National Professional Fisherman's Tournament in Arkansas last year, after finishing sixth the year before.

Hawk has written a book, "Eighty Years On Bass," which is quite popular among Texas anglers, but Dave doesn't consider himself an author. He says he wrote it after his father, a guide in Arkansas, "always said he was going to write a book but never did."

Dave has a brother who is a commercial artist. "He went to college and got smart, and ulcers," Dave says. "All dad and I ever got was healthier." Hawk doesn't believe in using swivels on your line, doesn't like spinning, doesn't like a long rod, and says a good place to start fishing for bass in the cold weather is "near the dam." He does like fish. "They're just like people," he cracks, "only wetter."

WOOL PARTY DRESS . . . Beverly Bentley, Miss Wool of 1959, wears a short formal of printed sheer wool, made from a standard pattern.

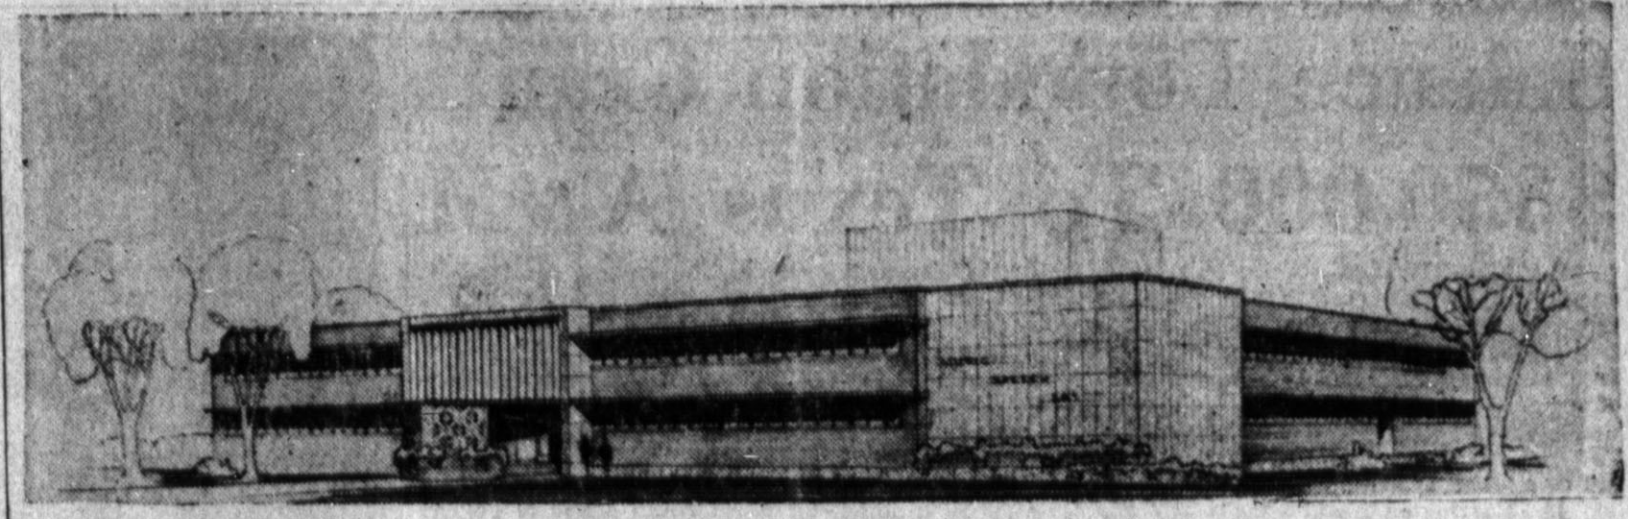

Sheer Wool Is A Versatile Fabric

By DOROTHY ROE
Sheer wool is one of the most versatile of all fabrics. In gay prints, solid colors or light-weight tweeds, it can do year-round duty in any situation, from boudoir to ballroom.

Sheer printed wool is a great idea for a party dress, which will be as correct and comfortable for summer as winter. Local sewing center experts suggest a short formal dress in sheer wool print, strapless and full-skirted, becoming to any figure. It's easy to sew, if you use a steam iron to smooth seams as you sew.

A girl planning spring formal dances might choose a sheer wool print in tones of lime and melon on a white ground, with a hem-length sash of green satin. A standard pattern gives full directions, calling for about six yards of fabric, plus a couple of yards of wide ribbon for the sash. A surplice bodice treatment is a new note.

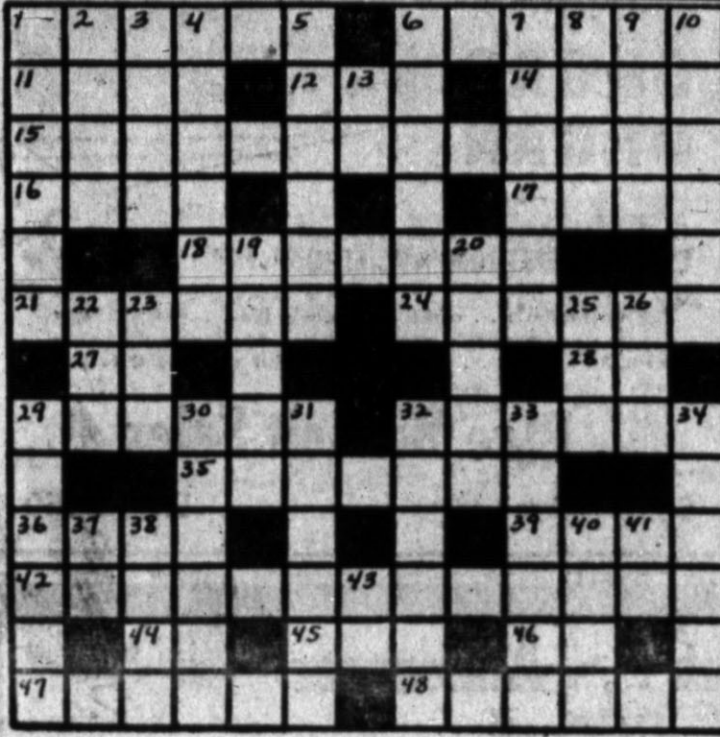

To adapt this dress to the Empire mode, simply bone the sash so it rises high at the midriff, allowing it to slope down to the natural waistline in back. Add a rose or jeweled pin at one side. For the more formal-mind-

We believe it is just as necessary for us to tell you what you get for your advertising dollars, in terms of known circulation value, as it is for you to do business with your customers on the basis of recognized standards. That's why this newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

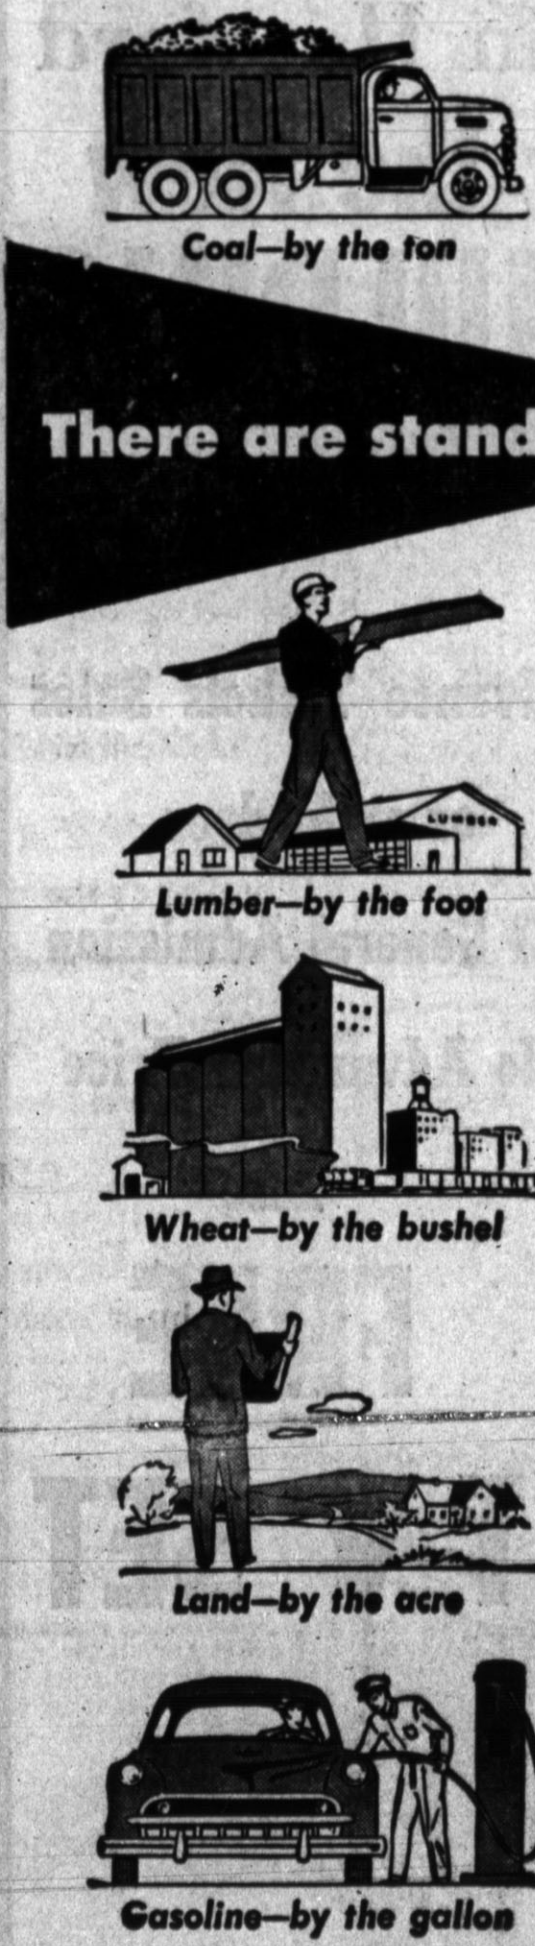

WHAT IS THE A.B.C.? The Bureau is a cooperative and nonprofit association of 3450 publishers, advertising agencies and advertisers in the United States and Canada. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring, auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

WHAT A.B.C. DOES FOR YOU. At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors comes to our office and makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. Science Foundation Grants $350,000 To Texas A & M

COLLEGE STATION — Receipt of a $350,000 grant from the National Science Foundation by the Texas A and M College System for the development of a Nuclear Science Center, was announced recently by Dr. M. T. Harrington, president of the A and M System.

Dr. Harrington said the $350,000 would be added to $75,000 allocated by the A and M System board of directors in February, 1958, for the first phase of construction of the center. It is designed to serve both research and educational needs of colleges, universities, medical schools and research institutions throughout Texas and the Southwest.

The initial unit of the center is expected to be in operation by the summer of 1960. The completed facility will call for some three to five million dollars' worth of construction and will include the main reactor building, laboratories and offices. It will be built near Easternwood Airport, Texas A and M College's airport, three miles west of the main campus at College Station.

Dr. Harrington announced today that he is writing presidents of other educational institutions in Texas and the Southwest, as well as heads of other interested groups, inviting them to visit the campus and consult with members of the Nuclear Center staff regarding plans for use of the facilities, when they are ready.

He pointed out that the planned Texas A and M College System Nuclear Science Center will be a versatile facility, capable of use for both research and teaching, in such widely varied fields as agriculture, veterinary medicine, oil exploration, nuclear chemistry and physics and a number of other "life" and "physical" sciences. "We believe these facilities should be made available to scientists in all institutions and agencies of the Southwest to provide needed research tools," his letter states. "It is our intention to make them available to members of your staff."

"The Nuclear Science Center will include, in addition to a multi-megawatt research reactor of the swimming pool type, a controlled irradiation cell, a hot cell, a radiochemical laboratory and an automatic activation analysis facility.

"The wide variation in requirements among the groups composing the Texas A and M College System has caused us to design the Nuclear Science Center to permit it to serve essentially all branches of the physical and life sciences equally well. We believe this versatility will also make it useful to many educational groups and other institutions outside of the Texas A and M College System."

"We invite you or your interested staff members to visit with us to explore more fully the details of our design and the potentialities that might exist for your utilization of the Nuclear Science Center," the letter states.

Unique features of the A and M System center, Dr. Aaron Rose, director of the System's Texas Engineering Experiment Station, pointed out are based upon the flexibility of design, which allows the center to be used for research in widely scattered fields, or for a number of purely educational functions.

"Dr. Rose calls the center an "intermediate" step between the small nuclear training reactors now fairly common on college campuses (A and M received its nuclear training reactor over a year ago) and the large plants like Oak Ridge or Los Alamos. Substantially, the proposed center at College Station will be the only facility of its type available between Michigan on the North, California on the West, and Georgia on the East.

Work on the center at A and M has been proceeding through the planning and design stage for approximately the past three years. The college received its first grant in support of nuclear research from the Atomic Energy Commission, in March, 1957, which was used to purchase an AGN-201 training reactor now in operation on the campus.

In February, 1958, directors of the Texas A and M College System set aside $75,000 for the preliminary planning, design and construction of phase one of the center.

At the present time, Convair of Fort Worth, which was awarded a contract for design in the summer of last year, is making plans for the first section of the Nuclear Science Center, housing the main reactor building and certain laboratories.

Construction is scheduled to go before directors of the A and M System in April, and if approved, construction should get under way by mid-summer of this year. Allowing time for check-outs after the workmen leave, officials of the System expect to put the first part of the center into operation by the early summer of 1960.

Partners In Marriage; Partners In Profession

DALLAS (AP) — A pair of Dallas doctors who also are husband and wife are facing what will be the most strenuous and rewarding year of their lives.

But they are looking forward to it with the same kind of enthusiastic planning that has guided their careers and their lives for the past 29 years.

The doctors are Floyd Norman and his wife, known professionally as Gladys Fashena. Both pediatricians, they have been partners in marriage since 1938.

Recently Dr. Norman was installed as president of the Dallas County Medical Society, the highest honor in the gift of Dallas' 1,000 practicing physicians. Dr. Fashena, meanwhile, will be busier than ever as Children's Medical Center in Dallas continues to expand its regional congenital heart disease program, of which she is director.

Later this year, both doctors will be closely involved in the building campaign for a new Children's Medical Center. Dr. Norman has served as chairman of the long-range planning committee for the new center.

In addition to all this, they still find time for their active private life, which includes being parents to two growing children, Gordon, 10, and Gail Ann, 12, running a new home and operating a farm in Northwest Dallas County. "It's going to be quite a year," says Dr. Fashena, "but we think it will be lots of fun, too."

The two met and became engaged in New York City in the 1930's when they were both pediatric residents at New York Hospital.

After finishing their training,

Jennie Clark conducted a quiz program.

Members present were Mesdames C. B. Williams, J. F. Ward, I. H. Spratt, Dorothy Ross, A. C. Thompson, A. A. Hare, C. M. Hicks, A. L. Thomas, G. H. Whitaker, William McGeehee, Mary Woolery, Jennie Clark, Laura Thomas, A. C. Pierce, Ida Ricketts, M. F. Cherry and Miss Lula Botsford.

District 2-B Basketball Opens In Vega Tuesday

By MRS. R. L. PINNELL
The district 2-B basketball tournament began Tuesday evening in Vega's Longhorn gymnasium. In the district each team must play each team twice. The winner must also win the district tournament to be the champion team.

Should the winner lose to any team at the tournament the tie will have to be played off before the Regional Tournament in Canyon in early March.

The Vega and Texline girls won from Channing and Hartley respectively Tuesday night.

The Hartley boys played Adrian with a final score of Adrian, 75, Hartley, 63.

Box score for the Adrian-Hartley game:

The score is not indicative of the struggle by both teams. One minute in the fourth quarter the score was tied 48 to 48.

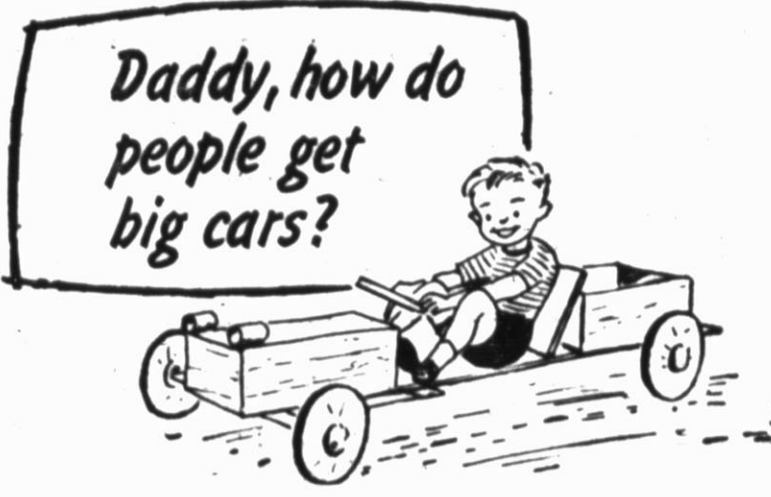

The Adrian girls drew a bye so they will play Texline Thursday. Texline is at present high in the district after having won the round robin.

American Music Topic Of Dawn Musettes Meet

A program on American Music was featured at a meeting of the Dawn Musettes held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. N. R. Miller.

Lucy Beth Miller told of the life and works of Meredith Wilson, composer and conductor, whose idea of the musical "Music Man" grew out of childhood memories at River City, Iowa, and out of those memories grew his desire to remain in that state.

Ann Gentry gave a discussion of the life of John Phillip Sousa, the march king of America, who served 12 years as director of the U. S. Marine Band.

The "Spirit of Taps" and how it was composed was told by Laura Higgins. David Miller told of the differences between band instruments.

Musical selections included "Washington Post March" (Sousa), played by Audni Miller, "Patriotic Airs", played by Mrs. Clarence Betzen and Beverly Betzen, "Mocking Bird Hill", Judy Sarton; "Skip To My Lou", Laura Higgins; and the "Marine Hymn" was sung by Robert Galley, Jon David Miller and Robert Caraway. The hymn of the month, "O God Our Help", was sung by the entire group.

Festival numbers were played by Linda Stewart, Alice Ann Caraway, Judy Sarton, Robert Caraway and Laura Higgins.

In the business session, members voted to sponsor a stunt and variety program early in April.

Others attending were Walthe Beavers, Janice Galley, Gall Miller, Glenn Polan, Dorothy Stewart and Mesdames Orval Galley, Andy Sarton, W. Gentry and Carl Wimberley.
