Grasshoppers Threaten Crops

A heavy infestation of grasshoppers posed a serious threat this week to wheat and maize crops in Deaf Smith County.

Most severe damage from the insects is in the western part of the county, near the New Mexico border, although damage has been reported throughout all portions of the county.

Pasture land also is being stripped by the hungry horde of hoppers, as are gardens and some commercial vegetable fields. Cotton farmers also are being cautioned about heavy infestations of thrips in the young plants.

Crops and fields in the Bootleg Corner area, 24 miles west of Hereford, seem to be the hardest hit. S. N. Thweatt, who farms near Bootleg Corner, told the Brand that the grasshoppers seem to be breeding on unsprayed soil bank land and then migrating into cultivated fields as they grow larger.

Most of the crops in the Bootleg area are not irrigated and farmers stand to lose all dry-land wheat if the hoppers are not controlled immediately. Some farmers in the area also report that the insects are chewing on some early-planted maize, which is just beginning to get above the ground.

A Hereford plant entomologist, A. D. Hutton, said there were three major types of grasshoppers posing a threat in the county this year. They include the lesser migratory, the long wing and the differential. Several other varieties also are contributing to the crop damage. Carl Ferrin, who farms in the northwest section of the county, has reported severe infestation and some crop damage.

Soil bank land probably will be most heavily damaged. Hutton predicted if the infestation continues. Damage so far is fairly small, he said, but could become "terrific".

Start Measuring Cotton Acreage

The Deaf Smith County ASC began measurement of cotton crops Friday after holding a school to train crop reporters.

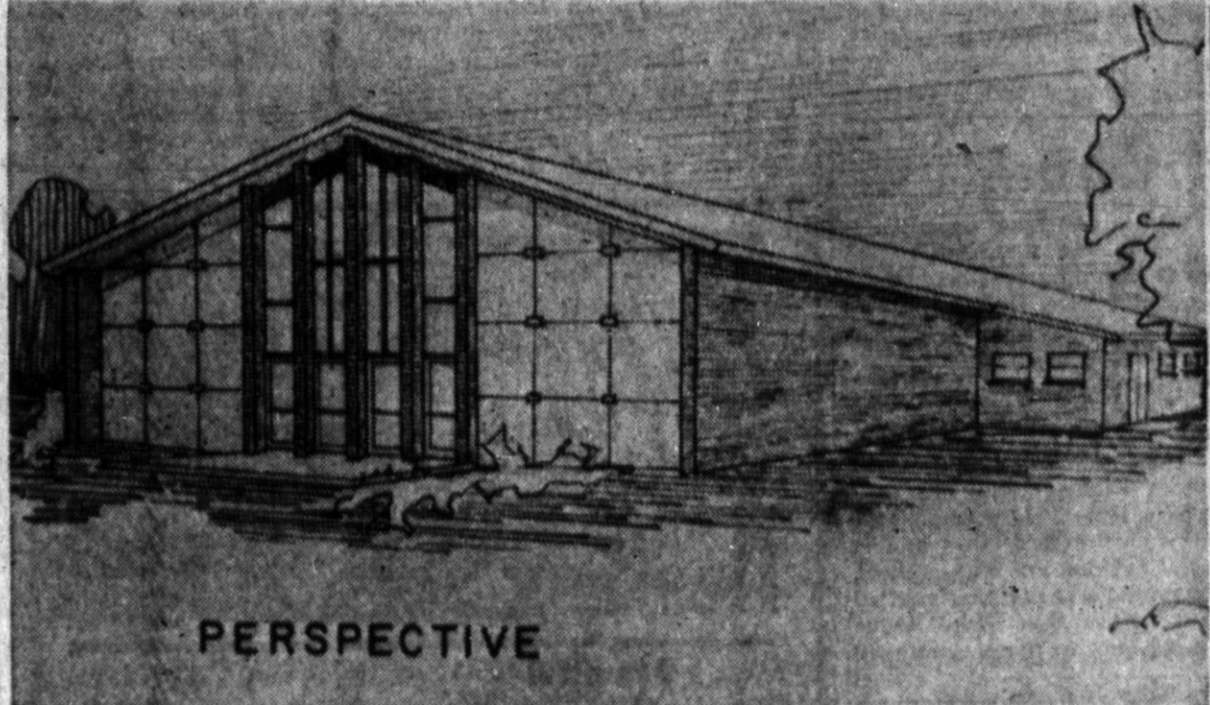

Planning to finish the report by the first of July, the ASC office feels that more satisfactory results will be obtained if either the farmer or representative will be on hand to direct the reporters to the crop.

Under the crop quota regulations any body of land must be one tenth of a chain wide and contain at least .05 acre to be eligible for a deduction. Any deduction in the field must be two tenths of a chain wide and contain one tenth of an acre.

In strip crops, the normal row must be at least 36 inches wide and the idle land between strips must be as wide as four normal rows. If the rows are wider than 36 inches, the idle strip must be as wide as the four-row strip.

REMAINS of a garden planted by Mrs. H. D. Buse were scanty this week after grasshoppers feasted on the tender, young plants. The damage near Bootleg Corner took place in less than 12 hours. NEW ADDITION for the Temple Baptist Church will be started with a ground-breaking ceremony following services Sunday, June 14. The $60,000 structure will contain educational facilities and a sanctuary. (Architect's Drawing)

Ground-Breaking Today On Temple Baptist's Addition

Ground-breaking ceremonies for a semi-modern $60,000 addition to the Temple Baptist Church will be held immediately after the church's morning services Sunday at the corner of Forrest St. and Ave. K.

The masonry-brick construction will be built under direction of D. C. Miller of Hereford, general contractor. In the planning stage for the past six months, the addition should be completed by the first part of November this year. The Rev. Robert Lacey, pastor, said. Officiating at the ceremonies will be Bill Youngblood, building chairman, R. A. Daniel, Joe Evans and the Rev. Lacey, all of Hereford.

The new construction will be annexed to the church's education unit. The second unit of the educational space was completed three years ago.

Included in the addition will be four nursery departments, a pastor study, a young peoples' department, two junior departments, a department for young married couples and an auditorium which will seat more than 400.

A 15 by 56 foot portion of the addition will house the pastor study and departments for young people and young married couples. The auditorium will be 52 by 73 foot, and the remaining 52 by 109 foot space in the building will house the other departments.

Around Town

If nothing happens, it should thaw by the first of the week. Seems like hot weather sneaked up on us this year after a long, cool spring. With the mercury bouncing around the 100 mark, the summer season is really with us.

Got a note from Leo Forrest that he and his wife, Mary Elizabeth, have been having a ball during the Rotary International. (Continued on page 2)

Twenty-seven Boy Scouts from Troop 50 in Hereford will leave for Camp Don Harrington Sunday for a week-long outing. They will return to Hereford Saturday morning.

At the camp, which is located between Canyon and Amarillo, they will participate in programs of swimming, archery, marksmanship and camp crafts.

They will participate in the second of four summer camp periods scheduled there this year. Troop scoutmaster Wayne Lawrence and Otto Gilliland and Arnold Wall, assistant scoutmasters, will accompany the group.

Hold Man Sought As Witness In Ft. Worth Case

Hereford police this week are holding a 44-year-old Fort Worth man wanted as a witness in connection with a gangland disturbance earlier this year in Fort Worth. The man and a companion from Alabama were arrested by police here Monday and fined after pleading guilty to a charge of theft under $5 in Corporation Court.

The Fort Worth man is Earl Emmanuel Vincent, who was arrested with Jerry Thomas Barnard, 38, New Holt, Ala. They were arrested in connection with the theft of two wrenches from the First Baptist Church in Hereford earlier this month.

After filing a guilty plea to the charge Tuesday morning in Corporation Court, they were fined $25 each. Barnard then was released.

Theft Charges On California Boy

A 15-year-old runaway boy from Brawley, Calif., was charged with theft under $50 by the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department this week.

The boy, arrested by city police in Vernon, was charged in connection with theft of $30 in cash and a wrist watch from three businesses in Hereford about the first part of this month.

Deputy Sheriff Bill McCarver Wednesday evening transferred the boy from Vernon to Hereford, and placed him in the County Jail here. California authorities have been notified of the arrest.

On probation in California, the boy was charged with theft of $15 from East Side 66 Station, $15 from Hereford Wrecking Co. and theft of a wrist watch from a display board at City Drug in Hereford.

The youth is believed to have been missing from California for about four months, McCarver said. He was reported to have travelled in a car registered to his name.

A moderate stream of applicants for youth jobs flowed into the Youth Employment Service office on the second floor of the City Hall on its opening day, last Friday.

According to Jeanette Rayburn, one of the receptionists in the office, 25 applicants were processed and five of them were placed on jobs.

Miss Renfro related that the office has been complimented on its fast work in filling the jobs that have been registered with the office.

Most of the male applicants have requested any type of work available. The girls are requesting department store work and office jobs.

The rather slow response by employers has limited the placement of workers. According to Linda Renfro, the other receptionist, there have been no jobs opened for girls and the boys have been placed on such jobs as unloading vans and doing yard work.

Age limits for YES are 13 to 19. Applicants for youth jobs should register at the youth employment office at the east end of the hall on the second floor of the city hall.

Prospective employers should register their jobs by phoning EM 4-3743.

ASC Sets Date For Wheat Voting

Deaf Smith County wheat producers will go to the polls July 23 to decide by referendum whether or not marketing quotas will be placed on the 1960 wheat crop.

If quotas are approved, the law provides that farmers, who comply with their wheat acreage will be eligible to market all their wheat without restriction. A grower who exceeds his allotment will be subject to marketing quota penalties on his excess wheat if he has more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest as grain.

If quotas are not approved, there will be no restrictions on wheat marketings.

Should quotas be approved for the 1960 crop, it would mark the seventh consecutive year they have been used for wheat. Wheat quotas and acreage allotments apply only in the 30 commercial wheat states, of which Texas is classified as one.

HARVEST OUTLOOK

Barley Dribbles In; Wheat Slow

Deaf Smith County barley farmers started dribbling grain into county elevators this week as wheat producers plan to start harvest operations within the next two weeks.

From an estimated 29,000 acres of barley in the county, elevators received their first loads of the grain this week. Moisture content ranged from nine to 15 per cent.

Fair skies and warm breezes this week have made wheat cutting likely within the next few days. Elevator managers expect to place the first wheat in storage by the end of this week.

Damp weather delayed harvest of wheat this month, but combines will probably hit fields at full speed by the end

Tigers Pull Upset To Drop White Sox In 15-12 Victory

The Tigers used a whirlwind second inning to upset the White Sox 15-12 in Pony League play Friday night.

A preview of disaster came to the White Sox when the Tigers retired them in the first inning without a score.

Jim Barnett took his base on a walk to start the ball game for the Tigers. Advancing to second, and taking third on a fielder's choice, he managed to score for the Tigers before the side was retired.

The second inning saw Ron Roberts get one by third base to take position. After advancing to second he used errors to bring him to pay dirt for the Sox.

Everything seemed to break loose for the Tigers in the second inning. Mike Kelly took his base on balls. Randall Long scored after using a single to get to the bases. Orville Williams and Jerry Bybee both made walks pay off.

When Barnett batted the second time, the pitcher gave him

Roger Owens went to first for the Dodgers when he was hit by a pitched ball. He accounted for the only first inning score for the Dodgers.

Short work was made of both teams in the second inning and both sides retired scoreless.

Miss Wingert Sails June 18 For Germany

Anne Wingert, Hereford's student who will participate in the American Field Service summer program for study in a foreign country this summer, recently received further instructions for her period of study abroad. Miss Wingert will leave Monday, June 15, by plane for New York where she will have two days to tour the city. On June 18 she will leave there, sailing on the Zuiderkruis for Kaiserslautern, Germany, where she will begin her summer studies.

While in Germany she will make her home with Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Conrad and their 17-year-old daughter, Helga, who speaks English. Conrad is occupied as a turrier in his home. Kaiserslautern, an industrial city of about 65,000, is located 40 or 50 miles from Heidelberg in the province of Pfalz. Like Miss Wingert, the German girl is also interested in music and art and the city sports a large concert hall and art school. When she completes her summer of study, Miss Wingert will probably return by charter plane to New York around Sept. 5. Miss Wingert, 16, is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Russell A. Wingert of 306 Star St. and will be a senior in Hereford High School in the fall. She was chosen this year to participate in the American Field Service summer program after submitting her application. The program is sponsored by the Future Homemakers of America with the help of the community.

Graduates of 20 years ago were really having themselves a time Friday and Saturday as the 1939 class had its first reunion and 20th anniversary. Lots of giggling and private jokes that meant something only to those concerned.

In answer to some questions: Yes, there will be a big Harvest Festival in Hereford. Lions Club carnival starts rolling on July 25, with the big days set for July 30 and 31, and Aug. 1. There will be a parade, barbecue, three rodeo performances, beauty contest, exhibits and formal airport dedication. Better set aside those days for a big time in Hereford.

City Commission is slated to meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall.

The Homemaking students of Hereford High School will make pecan pies for the Lions Club carnival on Wednesday and Thursday, June 17 and 18. Volunteers are asked to attend. Donations of funds or pecans, sugar, syrup or eggs all are being sought. The pies will be sold during the carnival with proceeds going to the student exchange program fund.

Ernest Joiner, renown editor of the Ralls (Tex.) Banner, will be guest speaker for the Wednesday meeting of the Hereford Lions Club. Joiner, who has recently sported out with a bushy mustache, is famed for his caustic, no-holds-barred comments. Some of his gems of sarcasm were quoted in Time magazine a couple of months ago. Although his topic is supposed to be "Americanism", there is no telling what Joiner might decide to talk about.

He is survived by the parents and two brothers and one sister, all of Hereford.

of the month. The harvest period usually is about a month long. Maize planting is beginning to get in full swing, growers report. Sorghum producers expect from 150,000 to 200,000 acres to be harvested from September through November, in spite of a 31-cent drop per hundredweight in price support announced early this year. Cotton farmers continue to replant their previous plantings which were battered by rains in the county the first of the month. About a week remains in the planting period of the crop. A below-normal yield on dry-land wheat farms is expected this year as result of the late arrival of moisture. A normal crop on irrigated wheat farms, however, is expected.

Seven more runs in the last inning of the game clinched things for the Yanks. Scores were made by Terry Hill, Danny Baize, John Dowd and Danny Lester. Three more runs were accounted for by Duvall, Hodges and Strange. In the minor league the Dodgers outscored the Yanks 15-10. Steve Hodges, relieved by Danny Lester, was the winning pitcher for the Yanks. Danny Loerwald was the losing pitcher. He relieved Roger Owens.

drin and a combination of Diel-drin and Parathion seem to be having the most success. The latter is said to be particularly effective against thrips on cotton, although three applications are needed. N. A. Brown of Westway has reported severe infestation of hoppers in crops. Although most of the wheat will be harvested before the grasshoppers can damage it too heavily, the threat appears to be strong for severe damage to maize and some vegetables. County Agent Lefty Thomas suggested that Aldrin might be a good spray for large pasture and soil bank acreages. He said that checks in some of the fields around Bootleg Corner had shown a count of 200 or more hoppers per square yard. Checks have shown that some cotton bud leaves are being eaten by thrips. Farmers have reported finding as many as seven thrips on each leaf before it had uncurled.

Red Sox Upset Indians, 4-3, Move Into First Place Tie

Playing heads-up ball Thursday night the Red Sox moved into a tie for first place in the loop by beating the Pony League Indians 4-3. It was the first loss for the Indians.

Barry Gabbert, the Sox catcher, teamed with the pitchers Drew Kershner and Gary Kendrick to keep the Indians scoreless through the first three innings. In the second inning Kershner got on base through a first base error and John Virra walked. A beautiful double by Gabbert chased Kershner and Virra in to give the Sox a lead.

The Indians were hitting fairly well and were getting men on base each inning, yet they were denied a score until the fourth.

The third inning added one more score to the Sox collection when Gary Smith connected with one to lose it over the center field fence.

In the fourth inning Dick Combs helped the Indians get off the ground by taking a walk to first base. A double by Bill Steel arranged his passage home to end the inning with a 3-1 score.

Having had the taste of blood Jim Haney kept the Sox from doing anything but a single in the fifth. Pretty fair infield work kept the Sox from getting a score at all.

Indian Eugene Jennings seemed like the feel of the ball when he came to bat in the fifth inning. At any rate he connected to drop it over the fence for a home run. Jim Haney followed him and slugged a single. A double by Dick Combs assisted him in to make it anybody's game, with the score 3-3.

Early in the sixth inning a dust storm blew in with a blast well calculated to peel the hide of ball players and spectators. The game was ended with the field very much in the player's eyes.

Playing tight ball, neither team allowed runs from then until the bottom of the seventh. Butch Hoff hit a single in the fifth and by fielder's choice made it to third but he died there when heads up fielding turned all the following batters out before they got to first base.

In the seventh, the Indians were retired scoreless, and the game was still tied after the top of the inning. Gabbert used a left field error to represent the Sox on first base. Then Gary Smith hit a single and Glen Baker batted Gabbert in with a single to end the ball game 4-3 favoring the Red Sox.

Kendrick, who relieved Drew Kershner in the fifth inning was the winning pitcher for the Red Sox. Jim Haney went the distance as losing pitcher for the Indians.

 There was a very cautious man
 Who never romped or played.
 He never smoked, he never drank,
 Nor even kissed a maid.
 So when he passed away, they say,
 The company wouldn't pay,
 Insurance was denied, they cried,
 For since he never, never lived,
 They claim he never died.

As The Cards Lie

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of weekly bridge columns, published as a public service by The Sunday Brand. Each column will carry one duplicate hand played earlier in the week, with an explanation of how it should be played and why.)

In duplicate bridge play at the Rock Clubhouse Thursday night, Margaret Sigman and Geneva King won first, with Wilma and Francis Hill taking second. Stan Sigman and Dale Blakney placed third.

Today's hand is one which helped Margaret and Geneva win high. Everyone is familiar with sacrifices at a high level. At duplicate, you must often sacrifice at a low level, since the score on every hand is important.

At the other tables, East-West had been allowed to play the hand for 2 spades, making 2 for a score of 110. When the 2-spade bid was passed around to Margaret, she doubled, requesting Geneva to name the sacrifice suit.

At three diamonds, they went down one, losing 3 diamonds, a heart and a club at the end. This held their opponents to a score of only 50. If East-West goes to 3 spades, they will go down for the same results.

Miss Della Dow Becomes Bride Of Kenneth DeHart

Mrs. Kenneth Ray DeHart, formerly Miss Della Ruth Dow (Angel Photo)

Miss Della Ruth Dow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Dow of Pampa, became the bride of Kenneth Ray DeHart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl DeHart of the Westway Community, Sunday, June 7, at 2:30 p.m.

The First Baptist Church was the scene of the double-ring ceremony read by Dr. Howard E. Scott, pastor.

Vows were exchanged before an altar banked with basket arrangements of white gladioli and blue tinted daisies and pyramiding candelabrum holding white wedding tapers.

Mrs. Howard Scott, organist, presented traditional wedding music preceding the ceremony and accompanied Mrs. LaVern Corder, vocalist, who sang "O Promise Me", "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer", offered in conclusion of the ceremony.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Iriene Galley, who wore a street length dress of pale blue organza. The dress was worn over blue taffeta and fashioned with fitted bodice having a bateau neckline. A wide criss-cross sash in front ended in long streamers down the back of the full gathered skirt, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Fred Robinson of Claude assisted the bridegroom as best man, and ushers were James Dobbs and Jack Rogers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a chantly lace gown over slipper satin.

style with molded lace bodice. The portrait neckline featured a lace design embroidered with sequins, and the long fitted sleeves came to points over the hands.

The skirt, made entirely of ruffles of tulle, was fitted at the waist to an empire cummerbund of tulle banded at the top by a satin fold. The waist length veil of silk illusion was held by a crown of lace fastened at the sides with matching clips. Her only jewelry was an heirloom necklace set with an onyx which had belonged to her

Telchik-Morgan Marriage Slated

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Telchik are announcing the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Mozelle, to William L. Morgan of Little Rock, Ark. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Morgan of Washington, D. C.

The couple will be married on July 16 in the Hereford Central Church of Christ.

Miss Telchik is a graduate of Hereford High School and both the bride-elect and her fiancé are graduates of Harding Christian College, Searcy, Ark., where he has been employed as an instructor in accounting.

They plan to make their home in Little Rock, where he will be employed by Safeway Stores Inc.

Mr. And Mrs. Merlin Kaul Observe Silver Anniversary

Merlin Kaul couldn't carry his bride over the threshold when they came to Hereford on their honeymoon because of the sand and dirt piled in the doorway. It was in 1934, when the frequent black northers covered the fences and farms with drifts almost as high as the houses.

Mrs. Leta Ann Stoner and Merlin Kaul were married at the home of her parents in Sabetha, Kan., on June 12, and that night they were serenaded with an old fashioned charivari in the form of discordant noises made on kettles, tin horns, etc., to honor newlyweds.

They came to Texas to make their home on a half section of land he had been farming for five years, and lived in a one room house. But the dust storms blew all the wheat away and they moved to East Porter, Colo., where she taught in the public schools. Their older son was born there.

In June of 1937 they returned to their farm here and added another room to the house. She taught in the Westway schools and when another son, Walter, was born they added two more rooms to the house, where, after further remodeling and modernizing, they still live.

She began teaching in the Hereford Public Schools in 1946 and is still a member of the faculty. In the meantime, she has received B. S. and M. A. degrees from West Texas State College.

Both have continuously taken active part in community interests and the Westway Methodist Church. He is a member of the school board and serves as a trustee of the Westway Community Center. Last year he served as president of the Westway Community Progress Club.

Mrs. Kaul has worked in the Sunday School and church and in all community interests. She has worked with the Red Cross in Hereford, is chairman of the United Fund Drive and a member of the Hereford Child Study Club. She also is a teacher of music. One of her main hobbies is growing beautiful flowers, and she has written many stories and covered much news for the Hereford Brand.

Friday the couple celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary with relatives and close friends at their home. Mr.

DOUBLE FIRE TROUBLE
DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A police radio dispatcher sent a car to a Denver fire station with this message:
"Turn out the fire under the roof."
Seems the firemen had departed in a hurry to put out a weed fire. The cook forgot to turn off the oven.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By CHARLIE SEEDS —
FIRST always make history . . . and the name of Florence Chadwick, a young girl from San Diego, Calif., is listed in the record books for her famous first.
Florence was a long distance swimmer. She had mastered most of the world's long distance swims . . . including crossing the English Channel from France. But other women had done these things before her. There was one remaining challenge . . . something no woman had ever done . . . swim the English Channel "the other way," from England to France, going against the tricky currents.
This was a challenge Florence couldn't pass up. So the day came when she slipped into the water at Dover and started across. For 16 hours and 22 minutes she fought the icy currents . . . until she finally dragged herself ashore at Sangatte, exhausted . . . and triumphant. She had scored her famous first.

REMEMBER DAD ON HIS DAY!

HARMAN'S

ELLIOT LAKE, CANADA, June 9 — This town, just 2½ years old, has a population of 30,000 people — and is the uranium capital of the world, producing approximately 80 per cent of the uranium in North America. The most interesting thing about Elliot Lake, however, is the fact that it came from the drawing boards of engineers and architects. Instead of just growing, as most towns do, it was planned every step of the way.

The town is divided into 500 to 900 residential units. Each has its own shopping center and grade school, while banks, utilities offices, large stores, the high school and the hotel are located in the downtown area.

Right now they have a semi-weekly newspaper about the size of The Brand, and plan to go daily probably in another year or two. They also have a community hall and numerous other civic refinements which the average town seldom realizes — at least without much sacrifice and effort on the part of citizens. The homes are prettily well constructed by the mines and sell around $18,500 each — but with only $1,000 down payment. Financing is liberal and seems to be underwritten by mining and state interests.

Income of a qualified miner is between $6,000 and $6,500 a year. Things, generally, seem to run a good 10 to 25 per cent higher than in Hereford. A can of lighter fluid, for instance, runs 35 cents. Hudson's Bay Store was advertising Robin Hood cake mix 3 packages for 79 cents; weiners at 49 cents a pound, rib roast 69 cents a pound and 3 dozen eggs for 89 cents. Hudson's Bay, like all other stores, is strictly modern since the entire town has been constructed since 1956. It is the only town I ever saw with plenty of parking space.

Remember, I said I was determined to have a good time? Well, I thought it was tough when my luggage got lost on the airlines and took a free round trip to Boston. However, I found that even worse things can happen. These Canadian tour guides do their best to make us happy. If you did not request a room mate, they assign one from an adjoining state. I wound up rooming with an Okie. Wayne Edwards will never, never let me hear the last of it. His name is Wheeler Mayo and he is from Salisaw. Also, I hate to admit it, but he is a swell fellow. He is a personal friend of Chester on the Matt Dillon show — and says Chester comes from that area. I told him I would much rather have a room-mate on close terms with Miss Kitty, but he doesn't even know where she hails from.

We have been meeting a lot of local celebrities on the trip. Woody Wilson will be happy to hear that the mayors are all addressed as "Your Grace" — and that they really rate here in Canada. However, the labor sections seem to heckle all city commission sessions to a fare-you-well. Chamber of Commerce leaders also carry top-notch ratings, second only to the city officials.

We have Inspector Doug Wilson of the Ontario Provincial Police as a special escort on the trip and he tells me, much to my alarm, that everyone who makes the trip gains an average of 11 pounds. Some more, some less, of course — and I can't afford to gain this much. However, I have been eating everything they put before me — and the food is unquestionably an outstanding feature of the tour.

There are 30 editors on the tour, representing as many states. All of us have been surprised at the industrial development in Canada. Monday we went through the Algoma steel mill at Sault Ste. Marie. They use both open hearth and hydrogen furnaces and, according to our directors, turn out much of the sheet steel used in the automobiles we drive back home. They have a 3-year contract with the union, negotiated in 1958, but figure that they will be controlled largely by any settlement made by the steel companies back in the U. S. A.

Strangest of all is being completely shut off from sources of U. S. news. Absolutely no American newspapers in this area. We have no radio or TV newscasts and, if we did, they would probably be concerned more with Canadian events. They are having an election Thursday — and the people we contact are most interested. The average man also seems to indicate more political interest than you find in the States.

Before we left the Soo, I was talking with the mayor and he told me that the Queen will be in the town only four hours. The Algoma mine was paving roads for her brief visit, they were completely remodeling the hotel and have already spent thousands of dollars, in preparation for the brief showing. Everyone, everywhere, is quite excited about the Queen. I am sure it will be even more emphasized in the Ottawa and Toronto areas.

The scenery has been a disappointment to me, so far. Much like the border areas in Michigan and Colorado, but so far no huge trees. More of a semi-forest country. It is also quite hot. Even tonight seems far warmer than the nights in Hereford at this time of year.

We had lunch today at Melweil Lodge, a fishing resort. The blueberry pie was something I will not soon forget. Understand they have to cope with bears to get these berries, which the couple freeze for future use. Blueberries, they say, are a favorite of bears and they frequently encounter the animals while picking them.

Like the English, our tour leaders frequently use the expression "bloody"; they also refer to people as "chap". So far, however, we have had no confusion resulting from phrases or area accents.

Things are strictly informal all over Canada. They do not seem to go in for formal dress. The men who meet us often wear short sleeve sports shirts, some in loud colors. Women, everywhere, appear in slacks.

"We are loyal to Great Britain and the Queen because they are ours by choice," a native Soo dignitary told me. "In England, for instance, they have no choice, whereas we have selected them of our own free will." Patriotism is a byword with all Canadians I have seen. They fly more flags than are seen in the U. S. A.

By now practically everyone in our group is smoking English cigarettes. "Players" seems to be the most popular brand among our crowd, although quite a few are buying the English "Marlboroughs". Anyway, 95 per cent of the editors came in by plane — and I would estimate that 25 per cent of them lost some of their luggage. It is quite a chore, too, since once found it still must clear customs.

Canada is a sprawling, bustling, growing country. Ontario has 250,000 lakes and is 1½ times as large as Texas. It is one of 10 provinces and is the only one we will tour, since this trip is sponsored by the Ontario ministry of travel and public relations. Many of these lakes are tremendous in size and all of them are filled with water from snow. Here at Elliot Lake they tell me they had 8 feet of snow last winter, and the man added:

"I speak as an old timer. After all, I have lived here the entire 2½ years the town has existed." In addition to the fabulous uranium mines, this area mines nickel and copper. They say Thomas A. Edison conducted a party in the area back in the 1800's — and missed the big nickel strike by a distance of 27 feet. This, of course, was before uranium came into its own.

This Okie and I are having quite a time as to the merits and demerits of our respective states. The Canadians, bless their hearts, are not prone to remember that Alaska is part of the Union. However, they always mention that Ontario is larger than the Lone Star State.

Despite it all, however, I am really having a wonderful trip. No fishing as yet, but they keep telling me that I will get a chance before the tour ends. We travel in a chartered Greyhound bus to North Bay, and from there will make an overnight

Davis - Thomas Vows Exchanged Saturday

Miss Martha Janice Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack M. Davis of Wellington, became the bride of John Gordon Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thomas of Hereford, at 6 p.m. Saturday, June 6, in the Wellington First Methodist Church. The Rev. J. F. Michael, former pastor of the couple, performed the double-ring ceremony.

A screen of jade leaves formed the background decorations for the altar area, which was centered with a white wrought iron arch entwined with white gladioli. Cathedral tapers burned in seven branched candelabra at either side. Centering the immediate nuptial area was a white wrought iron prie-dieu.

Mrs. Kelly Pigg, organist, presented a prenuptial concert of wedding selections and played the traditional wedding marches. She also accompanied L. B. Bratton, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte.

Miss LaVerna Murdock of Wellington was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Mary Ruth Stall of Pampa, Miss Janet Hagler of Dalhart and Miss Patricia Eagle of Dallas. They wore dresses of coral crystal peau de soie in empire style with cowl necklines and with headpieces of coral lulle. They carried bouquets of French carnations on open fans.

Raul B. Fernandez of Laredo assisted the bridegroom as best man, and the ushers were Steve Paul Voinis of Houston, Don Roy Raburn of Denton and Carroll Joe Davis, brother of the bride. Jack Thomas of Hereford, brother of the bridegroom, lighted the candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown of her own designing, trimmed with sequin-and-pearl studded re-embroidered Alencon lace appliques. The portrait neckline repeated the applique effect.

The bouffant skirt featured a chapel train caught at the floor level by a large satin bow. A caplet of lace and illusion outlined with seed pearls held her fingertip veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of Grenched carnations surrounding a white orchid resting on a white Bible. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Davis chose a dress of champagne emroidered lace over pistache green, with matching accessories, and Mrs. Thomas, the bridegroom's mother, wore a peacock blue dress with black patent accessories.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church. The bride's table was laid with a pale green organdy cloth and appointed in milk glass. The bride's bouquet formed the centerpiece.

Miss Sue Ward of Ada, Okla., aunt of the bride, served the wedding cake, and Mrs. Joe Lindsey of Hereford poured. Guests were registered by Mrs. Don Rummel of College Station, the bridegroom's sister.

When the couple left on a wedding trip, the bride was wearing a blue sheath with matching lace jacket and white accessories. Her corsage was the orchid detached from the wedding bouquet. The couple will be at home at

OPTOMETRY: The Art and Science of Visual Care

for Mr. Suellen, who invented that vision test in 1863. But not for today's needs, for much more is involved.

Children in school today do not learn at 20 feet but at near distances, 10 to 18 inches away. That's why testing for skillful vision at "near" is so important. Evidence shows that most children who fail the 20-foot test usually are in the UPPER fourth of their class.

Seeing problems increase as the grade advances. In grade school 9 per cent, in high school 24 per cent, and in college 40 per cent of the students have deficient vision.

Be sure YOUR child is examined for NEAR vision. That's important!

Cards Slaughter Giants On Grand Avenue In 15-3 Win

Slaughter on Grand Avenue was the theme Thursday night when the Little League Cardinals tromped the Giants, 15-3, with a no-hitter.

Mike Ranspot put a single by second base to get the Cards started in the first. Jerry Mudrock hit a single and then Steve Coneway tried to put the ball into orbit. As it was, the ball dropped on the other side of the fence as he orbited the bases and chased two scores in.

The Giants took their turn in the scoring department to tally three runs and tie the game at the end of the first. Mike Miller and Alex Moore walked and Tony Castillo took an error to get on. All three scored.

The Cards hit, walked and used every means except street car to score in the second inning and made a very lopsided score of 11-3 when the inning was over.

Lewis Barnett and Jerry Collier walked. Frank Cain hoisted one out there for a triple and Jerry Mudrock used a second base error to join the track meet. Steve Coneway hit a double and Ed Mims tapped a single and Gary Stagner and Gary Payne walked to account for the scores.

The Giants were retired with men on second and third.

Short work was made of the Cards in the third when they were retired scoreless, thanks to fielding work done by short stop Robert Higgins and second sacker Terry Hulsey of the Giants.

The Giants placed men on all three bases to no avail in the third.

Jerry Fowlkes tapped a single for the Cards in the fourth inning to finally score, but the Giants were retired in order.

One more Card run came from a double by Frank Cain who was helped by Jerry Mudrock, who managed to use an error to establish residence on the bases and die there.

The score at the end of the fifth was 13-3 for the Cards.

A walk put Jerry Collier in scoring position and a fatal fielder's choice put Mike Ranspot where he could make the final score of the game to end it 15-3.

Perhaps some consolation is found for the Giants in that their little brothers murdered the Cards 24-0 in the minor league game.

As far as pitching honors are concerned Frank Cain won the game for the Cards. He relieved Ed Mims.

Mike Miller was the losing pitcher for the Giants. He was relieved in the fifth by Jerry Don McCaslin.

Men Should Notify Selective Service Of Status Change

AUSTIN — Selective Service officials are becoming increasingly concerned about the number of men of draft age who do not advise their local boards about changes in their status.

This was reported Friday by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, who has recently returned from a conference of state and territorial Selective Service directors in Washington.

He says officials are worried because up-to-date and accurate information can be "very valuable if this country were to get into an emergency."

boards are required by law to advise their boards about everything from a change of job to a change of address. The law gives them 10 days to get the information to their boards in writing.

The official regulation reads: "It shall be the duty of every classified registrant to keep his local board currently informed of his occupational, marital, family, dependency, and military status, of his physical condition, of his home address, and of his receipt of any professional degree in a medical, dental, or allied specialist category. Every classified registrant shall, within 10 days after it occurs, report to his local board in writing every change in such status and in his physical condition and home address and his receipt of any such professional degree."

Ho Hum Attitude Looms Above U.S. In A Strong Threat To Democracy

An attitude of "Let George do it" may prove to be a far greater menace to our republic than the hammer and sickle shadow of communism.

Leaving Constitution Hall at Philadelphia when his work was completed, Benjamin Franklin was asked what had been done. Franklin replied, "We have given you a republic . . . if you can keep it."

Since that time, it has been traditional for all Americans to work for what they wanted, creating a better land in which to live. But recent developments indicate that the deadly paralysis of complacency has been sweeping the country.

If the present trend continues, Russia may never have to heat up the cold war in order to dominate the United States, and the world. Our own indifference may defeat us.

Our "do-it-yourself" democracy seems to be turning into a "let-others-do-it" socialism.

What is this complacency we should dread? It is lack of interest in government, an indifference to the actions of our elected officials. It shows itself in the gradual invasion of public education by the government, in the restraint of free trade, in higher taxation.

Our children show it in their search for security, rather than in opportunity. It is manifest in recent court decisions which infringe upon individual rights and in the power of trade unions.

What is needed to combat this slow destruction of our traditional rights and freedoms? Action and lots of it. Each individual should appoint himself as a one-man committee charged with guarding those rights and freedoms. Each person should adopt the outlook that he can do something constructive and should work accordingly.

The "ho-hum" attitude must be shaken off or we will have no freedom to pass on

Revise Group For A Cross-Section

A truly representative cross-section is vital for any endeavor for a community. That is the primary reason behind the decision to abandon the relatively-new Merchants Committee of the Chamber of Commerce is a commendable attitude.

The new organization, to be known as the Business Council, will have greater representation. It can, if it is successful, give Hereford and the county a big boost in top-notch promotions and civic endeavors.

One of the big things in favor of the new group is to take the sting out of the old gripe, "It's the Main Street Merchants who decide what's going to happen." While it was true, the centrally-located business were singularly unsuccessful in getting additional help for the larger promotions and events, which benefited the whole community.

From now on, it won't be just one group of businesses tackling a job. It will be a cooperative effort including all services, professions and businesses in Hereford. If a promotion falls on its face, everyone will be to blame, instead of a few working and a large crowd on the sideline pouring forth destructive criticism and commenting sagely, "I knew they couldn't do it."

No one denies the old saw about getting out of a town just what you put into it. Under the new Business Council they will have a chance to prove it. We are looking forward, with great anticipation, to a better town, with everyone working for the common good, rather than just a few pulling, to keep it out of a rut.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

The Faith Americans Live By

"You will be happy as long as you do God's will," said Fred B. Snite, Jr., who lived the last 18 of his 44 years in an iron lung, which he could leave for only 23 minutes at a time or, with a chest respirator, for two hours daily.

Stricken with polio in China while on a world tour, he struggled for life in an iron lung and then made the arduous trip back to America, his life dependent on the flow of electricity. The faith of this devout Catholic was strong. He went to Lourdes, not expecting a miracle, but to ask God, if he were not cured, to give him the strength to live in the tank the rest of his life.

He married and became the father of three children. He attended sports events and church in the lung. He played in championship bridge tournaments. He was known across the nation as the smiling "Boiler Kid."

"Like Frederick, we are all helpless creatures," said his wife Teresa, "but with God's help we can become pillars of strength . . . his real story is of his beautiful soul, his flawless spirituality, his love of God."

The Pretty Loco Weed Was Deadly To Cattle

By MRS. R. L. CRISWELL

F. H. Oberthier, 127 Ave. F, came to the Staked Plains for the first time in 1901. His brother John came to Castro County looking for cheap land. The two had agreed to go partners and he checked on F. H. for his share of the land.

John Oberthier moved to Castro County and batched for two years before he married a Castro County girl in 1903.

"I was born in Rusk County, ninety years ago and moved to Comanche County in 1876," F. H. said. "This was 83 years ago. I grew up there and attended the little county school of very short duration."

"After John came to the plains and married, I came out and bought his share of the partnership, stocked the ranch with good cattle and hired Lint Merritt to manage the ranch. He was a fine man and a fine manager and it was an unlucky day for me when he married and left my employ."

"I was running a cotton seed oil mill in Comanche but left it and came to the Plains to take charge of the Castro County ranch. We shipped our household goods and ten horses and mules in an emigrant car."

"My family came by passenger train. There was no direct railroad to the plains from Comanche; we went to Fort Worth and boarded the Fort Worth and Denver for Amarillo and to Hereford on the Santa Fe. This country was on a horse and mule basis of transportation.

"After our arrival in Hereford, we spent some time in the Iowa Hotel, managed by a Mr. Howard. (That old building was moved to Canyon and is still standing as a boarding house there). We built the house in which I now live and have lived in it for 51 years."

"Jock Sanders, a handler of mules, drove a herd of 150 head of mares and young mules to Castro County in 1900. He had driven the stock pretty hard and did not stop and let them graze along the way as most drivers did. They were very hungry when turned to graze on the prairie."

"Stock will not eat loco unless they are very hungry, and since they had been short for days, they were very hungry and they ate too much of the loco and soon there were many dead and others very sick. Once livestock acquire the taste for loco, it becomes a habit and they will eat nothing else."

"Consequently, in a few weeks the whole 150 head were dead while the buyer returned to his home, a poorer but wiser man. I have seen cattle so crazed from loco that they would stop several yards from the water and go through the motions of drinking."

"As we came across the plains we wondered what the lovely plant that covered so much of the prairie was. The leaves were lacy and green with a beautiful purple flower and a nice perfume. We were surprised to learn that the plant was deadly to livestock."

"An infestation of worms came along and completely destroyed the plant. They ate not only the heart of the plant but ate the roots down into the ground until it all disappeared. I haven't seen a sprig of loco in 20 years. God's ways are wonderful indeed, for if the weed had continued to flourish, the great plains would have been ruined for livestock."

"Since it drove the stock blind, it was said an animal had 'blind staggers' before it was known that the weed caused their blindness and in a short time, death. Luckily for us some bone hunters came along and (Continued on page 2)

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Baseball League For Older Boys Favored

With great interest in Little League and Pony League baseball, is Hereford ready for a summer baseball program for graduates of these two leagues, such as American Legion or Babe Ruth-type organizations?

DON WILLOUGHBY—Yes. All the boys that have graduated from the Pony League are ready for High School ball. If a summer program like the American Legion type baseball were run right, it would be a great help in getting the kids ready for high school ball. The graduates of the Pony League need something to keep them in shape.

MRS. LUDWIG KOVACS—Yes. My boy plays on a Pony League team and I think he would like that very much. BARRY GABBERT—I think they are. It would give the older kids something to do in the summer like the Pony League has.

MRS. JOHNNIE HANEY—I hope so. This is Jim's last year in the Pony League. I'd like to see something for the older boys to do.

MRS. JOHN KELLY—Yes, I do think that Hereford should sanction a Babe Ruth league. Youth is comparable to adulthood. You have to take a stand. Those boys are in-between. Nobody wants to bother with them.

MRS. BUCK HALE—Yes. Definitely. I have a son too old for Pony League. He played his last year last summer and he wants to play so bad that he doesn't know what to do. He just goes down to the park and drools. He came home one night last week saying that he would give anything in the world to be able to play ball. I don't see why Hereford could not sponsor such a league. We have a good group of boys of that age and that is the age that needs something done for them. I would be willing to support such a league.

PAPER WORK SLOW'S PROJECT

Floyd County taxpayers are not getting fast action as they anticipated when they voted $294,000 last spring to provide right-of-way for cardinal highway widening on Highways 62 and 70. A great deal of work is being done that is not apparent on the surface, but participation of the state in providing right-of-way multiplied the paper work by a great deal. Of considerably more than 100 parcels of property, it will be necessary to acquire before work can be started on the road projects, the county had actually acquired title to three last weekend. Appraisals followed by title search, then negotiations with property owners, have consumed a great deal of time and will consume more. Every move made by the local authorities has to be approved in the Austin office of the Highway Commission.—LOCKNEY BEACON

COUNCIL BUYS SWEEPER

Friona now has a new street sweeper and a new 500-gallon fire truck on the way following action of members of the city council at their regular meeting Monday night in city hall, Texas Machinery & Equipment Company's low bid of $8,357.62 including interest, for a three-year capacity Elgin street sweeper was approved by the council. The interest comes from a lease-purchase type of agreement which was to be included in the bids. The winning bidder offered the city $1,500 for the old sweeper which is owned by the city for a trade-in on the new model. In addition, the city will pay for the new machine in installments, the first of which will be due about Christmas. Delivery will be made within two weeks.—FRIONA STAR

NEW GRASSHOPPER THREAT

An urgent call to "man the barricades" came this weekend as signs became more apparent that the plague of grasshoppers which hit Moore County last summer might play a return engagement. Despite a colder-than-average winter, the "hardy" insects are coming out again in increasing numbers and farm experts are warning that the hatching season isn't over yet. Last year about five million acres of rangeland in the Panhandle was infested with grasshoppers and despite some spraying, almost five million dollars in area grassland was lost. County Agricultural Agent Magzin Gosselt this weekend outlined several possible avenues for dealing with the pests. He advises that two ounces of Aldrin, a chemical, should be applied on each acre along fence rows. Moore County last year was in the mid-section of a plague in which billions of hungry insects descended on the area causing costly damage and bringing the need for extensive spraying and combatant activities.—MOORE COUNTY NEWS

RAIN, HAIL BATTERS CROPS

Pounding hail storms and heavy rains have spelled virtual disaster to Castro County's crops this year. Wheat has suffered most. A heavy hail Monday night blanketed the south part of the county and pounded nearly all wheat crops into a mass of straw. Only isolated areas were spared from a line about three miles south and parallel to Highway 86 to the Castro-Lamb county line. Some hope remains, however, for cotton farmers who have until the latter part of June to replant. Some farmers say they would plant as late as the 25th, but others claim the cut-off date would be the 15th or 20th. The major problem here is whether or not fields will be dry enough to plant sometime between now and then. Week before last a hard hail battered the north part of the county, causing similar havoc to wheat and cotton farmers there. Cotton then, as happened this week, was washed out. Vegetables in the county also were ruined by the onslaught of crop-battering weather.—CASTRO COUNTY NEWS (Dimmitt)

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his blindweed farm adds his two-bits worth to the monkeys flight into space. This is known as inflation.

Dear editor: As a student of space, by which I mean I guess I've stored off into it as much as anybody, I have been very interested in reading about those two monkeys that were sent 300 miles out into space and successfully brought down.

That is, what has interested me most is what a lot of people have imagined the monkeys' reactions were to the flight; and while a lot of words were written about the "press conference" the two animals held in Washington, nobody seems to have hit on what the monkeys' reaction probably was.

I can tell you. It was, and I will add it's also what the first space men will say too if they ever get out there and back: WE'RE SURE GLAD TO GET BACK HOME AGAIN.

I still say travel into space may be sort of like some men going off to war. At the time, it seemed like an exciting thing to do, they were sort of bored with life at home anyway, but after they'd been there a little while, home sounded like the most exciting place in the universe.

And as for the death of one of the space monkeys after it got back, I can explain that. Before it was sent up, it was put to sleep with an anesthetic so a small recording instrument could be placed under its skin, then when it got back, you know, it was given another anesthetic so the instrument could be removed.

Now here's the thing. Monkeys may not be as smart as people, although I'm not prepared to say this as I don't know as many monkeys as I do people, but that monkey wasn't so dumb and he thought, just as they started to give him that second anesthetic, the first time they did this to me, shortly afterwards, I was put into a capsule and blasted 300 miles into space at 10,000 miles an hour.

The thought the second time around was too much for him and he died of shock.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

OFF THE Shelf

By H. A. TUCK

Richard Gordon Moores appointed himself the official spokesman for his generation in writing Hell Is Not Anywhere, a new fiction work from the County Library.

Although the story is a good one, Moores has fallen far short of becoming another Scott Fitzgerald or John Dos Passos in chronicling the attitudes and outlooks of an entire generation.

Reed Elliott's life in many ways is a typical one. He is a Midwesterner, a veteran of World War II, a medical student. He is the only son of a hard-drinking doctor, who has passed on to his son his interest in medicine and his liking for liquor, and of a rather wealthy mother who has done her best to teach her son her own false values.

The story pivots around the time immediately following the death of Reeds father and his meeting with Irene, a drive-in waitress.

Reed sets out to seduce her systematically, but with results beyond his grasp.

Summary: Hell Is Not Anywhere provides good reading, but without the depth and scope you would expect from the ambitions of its author.

"This Plains land is an enchanted land, all cleared and ready for the plow and the richest soil one would care to till and underlaid with the finest supply of water. It is my theory that the water comes from the heavy snows that fall in the mountains of Colorado.

"I do not suppose there is any way of verifying this, but of most of the water that falls in this area, I would say a possible 99 per cent of it is lost through evaporation. The lakes cover such a large acreage and most are very shallow, and this

REALLY TALL

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—People are always commenting on Tom Carille's height—6 feet 8 inches—and, Carille, an advertising man, shrugs off most of the wisecracks. One he remembers was: "I'll bet you have snow on your shoulders six months of the year." Carille says: "It was not a great line, but I liked it."

SIGN IS PREPARED

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A signboard showing three small girls, each holding her nose with a tissue, was put up on Harbor Drive. Just across the highway is a sewage disposal plant.

fact added to the quick warning of shallow water make it evaporate much more quickly than otherwise.

"In 1911, D. L. McDonald dug the first irrigation well on the plains. He was very anxious to do this, but did not have financial backing. Finally, he got a number of men together and told them, if he had $4,000 he would dig a well and show them what this wonderful land would do with plenty of moisture.

"At last, 40 men put up $100 each and he dug not only one well but 50. His pet saying was 'a man was crazy to farm dry-land when all he needs to do was dig a well for the purest water he had ever tasted'.

"The Staked Plains owe Mr. McDonald much for his discovery of water and the Golden Spread should build a monument in his memory, for without irrigation, the plains would not be what it is today. His contribution to the development and production of these counties can never be evaluated.

"Eighty per cent of the wealth of the Staked Plains is the water he made available. Now the $64 question is how long will the water last before it is exhausted. If the water gives out, our land values would drop $100 per acre the first year.

"An incident which happened long ago will give an idea of the high winds that had free sway across the plains. My brother John was riding the prairie and tending the cattle when the wind came up in a gale.

"He was wearing a brand new Stetson hat of which he was very proud. Stetsons were even more expensive then than today, according to the value of a dollar. He pulled his hat low on his forehead and turned toward home. There was some fences then, but fairly far apart.

"Suddenly a heavy gust took his hat from his head and set it rolling across the prairie. He set out after it and chased it for about two miles before it wheeled under a fence and kept right on rolling. He gave up, knowing that by the time he lowered the wire to get across it, the hat would be so far gone he would never catch it. Ruefully, he rode on home, bemoaning the loss of his hat and never expecting to see it again.

"Several days passed and he ran into a neighbor who began to tell him of an unusual incident. 'I had hurried in to escape the wind and just as I stepped down into the dugout and was lowering the door, a large hat blew in under the door. I was never so surprised' said he. My brother, too, was surprised and told of losing his own hat in the wind and how he hated to lose it. He gave a description of the hat and the man declared, 'It's your hat, I'm sure of it'—and it was.

"A prairie fire was the great hazard the early settlers faced, and the prairie was a network of fireguards, plowed by ranchers and farmers alike in the hope that the fires would not leap them and burn miles of grass as well as destroy livestock, homes and improvements as well. There have been many descriptions of prairie fires, but I doubt if any one has ever portrayed the terror and swiftness in which a prairie fire could travel and the black destruction it can leave in its wake.

"Teachers of today are very well-paid indeed when you check the salaries of the teachers of long ago. Trustees' made contract for a three or four month school. The contract called for $5 per month. Most teachers were paid by the parents of the children and an education was hard to get. Now, anyone who wants an education can get it if he is willing to put forth the effort.

"The schools of today are wonderful when compared with the schools of my day. We not only had one room for the whole school, but we had only one teacher as well. We would have been amazed if we had had a room to play in, and if it had been spacious as of today with a polished floor, we would have been afraid to play upon it.

"What did we play on? A 30-foot iron pipe hung between the forks of two trees. We learned to skin the cat, chin ourselves many times and do many other stunts that called for strong muscles. All learned and performed on the pipe in the forks of the trees.

"I am thoroughly set against remodeling our beautiful courthouse. Air conditioning? Yes, making it comfortable in summer and winter and redecorating it, but not a number of other things that are to be done.

"Our courthouse is built of Georgian Marble, the finest we could buy at the time, and the building has the best of foundations and supports. It cost $125,000 when built and it took a year to finish. I know one man who worked the full year and for $1.25 per day.

"To me, this is the most impractical thing our county has set out to do. Our beautiful courthouse should be left as it is, an historical building to be treasured by the coming generations, not to be rebuilt at a cost of thousands of dollars. If all the government offices were moved out, there would be plenty of room for all county offices. Government offices could be housed in an additional floor added to the Post Office.

"A jail should not be a place of luxury or so extravagant that the average vagrant would prefer to stay in jail, where he would live in comparative luxury and without working to earn his own living.

"I have read in newspapers that we are living in the golden age of our country, that our production is at its peak. We are depleting the soil in raising surplus crops, importing oil and gas and iron. Our forests are being replaced to some extent, but at the rate of our expanding birth records it was started much too late.

"The same paper prophesied that by the year of 2,000 we will have used our gas and oil and we will have a much lower standard of living with a lower class nation for this reason. Our national debt is staggering to say the least and we are leaving nothing for future generations to pay it.

"There is the story of the wealthy widow. She decided to help the poverty-stricken widows of her neighborhood. This was done regularly on a certain afternoon each week.

"One day she was detained and the women had to wait an hour or so for their dole. They became so angry while waiting that they uprooted the shrubbery around the widow's home because they had to wait to be given their money. Are we to become a nation of hangers-on?

"One more thought of the long ago and the luxurious cars of today bring it to mind. I bought the 39th licensed car in Deaf Smith County in 1908. It was second-hand and did not have any tires. I bought four tires from Renfro and Price and had them put on. I drove opposite the First National Bank and one blew out. That car cost me a quarter section of land, and if I had driven it off a bluff right then, it would have saved me a considerable amount of money.

"Claude Meadows and I built the first light plant here. He managed it for a year, then got homesick for Comanche County. My wife had some land in Comanche and she traded it to Meadows and I was stuck with the light business.

"When Judge Kelso's high line was built in here from Plainview, the plant was discontinued although we used a Corliss engine fired by coal and we had two steam boilers.

"Steam power was out of date, and we had to ship our fuel (coal) in from Colorado. Hereford was a good customer of Colorado coal in those days, but no more. Oil was much cheaper, but I was glad to get out of the light business and have never regretted giving it up.

"I am glad I moved to Hereford on that day in January, 1908. I think we have lived longer than we would have lived in the hot part of Texas. I like Hereford and the Plains and want to stick around awhile and see what happens," he concluded.

Conchas Lake Attracts Many Local Residents

By MRS. GENE WELCH

Conchas Lake attracted many residents of the community during the past week. Among those going were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Braxton and sons, who went over on Thursday and returned Sunday and spent their time fishing, boating, and water skiing; the Ellis Tatum family, who spent the weekend there; and also Mrs. Helen Fangman and sons.

Linda and Connie Stone, daughters of the Travis Stones attended Girl Scout day camp each day last week. The camp was held from 7:30 to 11:30 a.m. each morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Welch and children visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Welch, in Amarillo Tuesday evening.

Don't Burn Old Attic Magazines

HOLLYWOOD — Before you burn those old magazines which have cluttered up the attic for years, better check Hollywood's movie set dressers.

A 1929 Redbook is worth $2; a Judge of the same vintage $1.50.

Liberty also brings $2 for the same year but highest prices go to the Chicago Tribune for its issue covering the famed St. Valentine's Day massacre.

That cost Ed Boyle, Oscar-winning decorator, $8 for a single copy.

The magazines and paper were used for "Some Like It Hot," the Marilyn Monroe, Jack Lemmon and Tony Curtis starrer. The picture is laid in Chicago, 1929.

"Director Billy Wilder wanted everything authentic," says Boyle. "He got authenticity but it cost him plenty because one set was a magazine stand of that day."

P. S. — The Star Theatre will pay the above prices for the magazines listed. . . Adv.

THIS IS 'THE BIG COUNTRY'

This is the story of the giants who bridled the untamed land... the wilderness that rolled down from snow country to sun country, and sprawled sea to sea. It is the story of more than conquering giants. It is fired and fished with the women who shared their path-blazing, their power—yes, and their passions, too. And what a huge star-cast has been assembled to re-create the mightiest of American dramas! Gregory Peck as the stranger who came from the ocean, to tame a Texas sea of sun, sand and violence... Jean Simmons as the girl who stood proud and alone... Carroll Baker, of "Baby Doll" fame, as the woman of uncontrollable love-hungers... Charlton Heston, in his biggest role since "The Ten Commandments", as the ruthless foreman... Charles Bickford, as the unrelenting range-baron... Burl Ives as the fierce, proud buccaneer of the plains. And it is only fitting that this giant among motion pictures should come from that giant among Academy Award-winning directors, William Wyler, whose credits read like a catalogue of all-time screen greats. "The Big Country" is America... the stampeding land... the pinnaled mountains... a million stars overhead... and six great ones below! It's the biggest ever made!
