Allison Heads Little League In 1961 Season

New officers for 1961 were appointed by Hereford Little League baseball officials during a meeting Thursday night in City Hall.

Named as president of the league was J. R. Allison. Other officials include: Dr. A. T. Mims, player agent; B. F. Cain, purchasing agent; O. Z. Golden, secretary-treasurer; and Henry Aycock, publicity director.

Allison will make other necessary appointments later.

A special meeting of all Little League officers, managers and coaches has been called for Tuesday, March 14, by Allison. The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall.

Tuesday's meeting will be devoted to selection of managers and coaches and making advance arrangements for the coming season of summer baseball for the boys 9-12.

Outgoing president Henry Aycock expressed his appreciation to the Little League officials and the public for their cooperation last year and urged continued support of the program.

Nolan Grady named acting postmaster

EFFECTIVE MARCH 18

Grady Acting Postmaster

Nolan Grady, 116 Ave. J, Saturday morning was named acting postmaster of Hereford Post Office. His duties to the post will become effective Saturday, March 18.

Grady, who has been a clerk at the Hereford Post Office for 13 years, will assume the position which has been held by Mrs. Florence Traeweek for more than three years. Mrs. Traeweek has been acting postmaster since March 1, 1958.

A. W. Pfannmiller, a mail carrier and post office inspector, notified Mrs. Traeweek of the appointment Friday night. The appointment was made through the United States Post Office Department in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Traeweek's last official day as acting postmaster terminates at close of business Friday, March 17.

Pfannmiller is scheduled to be in Hereford Saturday to transfer the office from Mrs. Traeweek to Grady.

The new acting postmaster took Civil Service tests for the position of postmaster on July 26, 1958. Grady has been a resident of Hereford since he was a child.

Prior to becoming a clerk in Hereford Post Office, Grady was a telegraph operator for Santa Fe Railway.

A 1944 graduate of Hereford High School, Grady attended Texas A & M College during the fall semester of 1944.

He was in the U. S. Navy 1945-46, attaining the rank of yeoman third class. Grady, his wife and two daughters live at 116 Ave. J. He belongs to Hereford Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4818.

Many Changes Approved By Harvest Festival Committee

Alter Schedule, Lengthen Dates

Initial plans for the third annual Hereford Harvest Festival were outlined during a breakfast meeting Friday.

First important change made in the yearly celebration was extending the dates through an entire week. Previously the Festival had been running for three days.

Dates this year will be July 24 through July 29. This was done to include some of the events which previously had been held before the Festival.

Also changed were the times for the parade and barbecue, which will be held Saturday, July 29. This year the parade will start at 4 p.m. with the barbecue set from 5 p. m. Saturday.

This was done so that more out-of-town groups could attend both events.

Another important change will allow displays at the Farm and Home Show to remain open longer. The Lions Club has agreed not to have its usual Saturday night wrestling matches during the Festival.

This will enable those having displays to remain open later on the final night of the Festival.

Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce will take over sponsorship of the parade, manager Bill Thompson told the group.

The Festival includes many events sponsored by different groups. Each of the groups is represented on the Harvest Festival committee, which is headed this year by Clint Formby.

Events which are scheduled include the Lions Club Carnival near the Bull Barn; Farm and Home Show, sponsored by the 4-H Leaders Council; Festival Queen contest, sponsored by the Hereford Junior Chamber of Commerce; Rodeo, sponsored by the Hereford Riders Club.

Parade, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce; Barbecue, sponsored jointly by the Rotary and Kiwanis Club; and Festival decorations, sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club and erected by the Optimist Club.

Formby called another meeting of the committee for 7 a. m. Friday, March 17, in the Western Wheel Inn. He said the committee would continue to meet once every week or two until all details had been worked out.

Club representatives attended the meeting. Also attending was Raymond White, 1960 Festival chairman, who told of some of the problems and suggestions for improving the annual celebration.

On Thursday the Beautification committee will meet to hear progress reports from the various sub-committee project chairmen. The meeting will be a luncheon at the Country Club.

Also on Thursday Kenneth Hart will present a training film strip used in the High School Distributive Education classes to the Trade Promotion committee. Retailers are invited to attend this 10 a. m. session.

Call Town Hall Forum Tuesday On Bond Issue

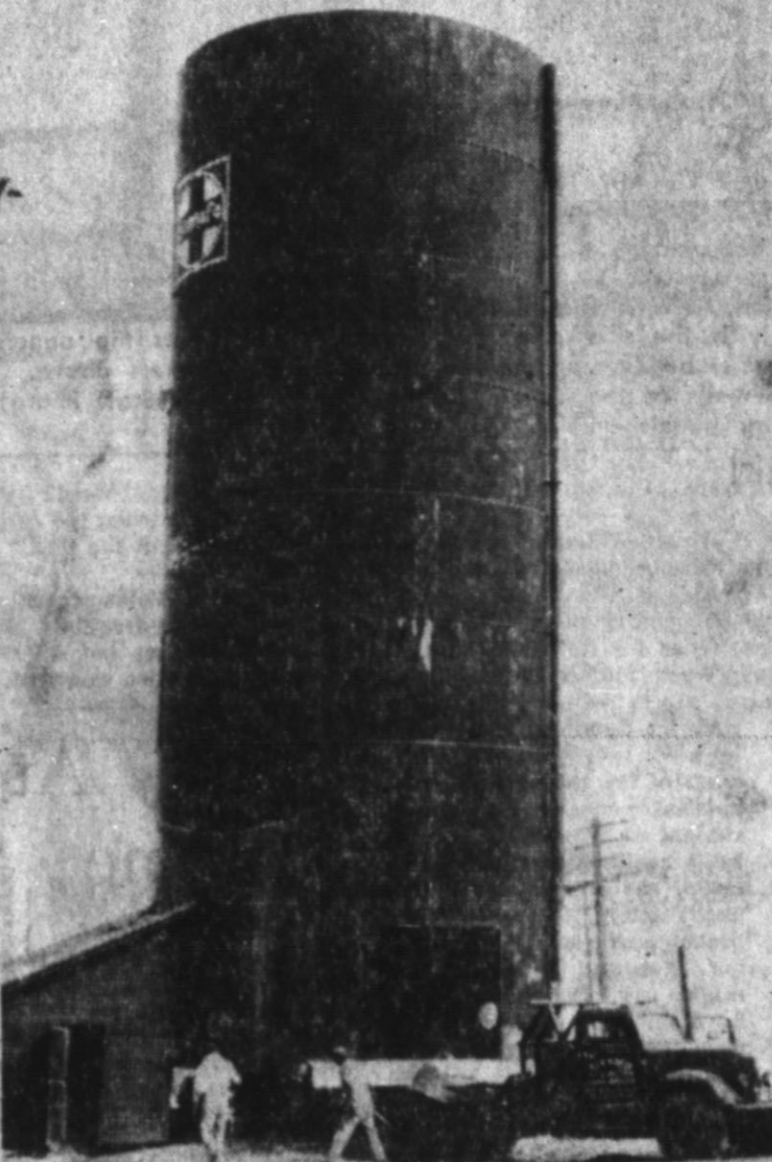

Proponents and opponents of the city's proposed $180,000 street improvement bond issue will have their chances Tuesday.

A Town Hall Forum to discuss the proposal will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday, March 14, in the ballroom of the Hereford Community Center.

Sponsoring the Forum is the government affairs committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Chairman of the committee is Dr. L. A. Beyer. He pointed out that the Chamber of Commerce is not taking sides on the question, but merely wanted to provide an opportunity for all aspects of the proposal to be thoroughly aired.

The Mayor and Hereford City Commission have accepted invitations to attend and present reasons why they called the vote, slated for Tuesday, March 21.

RESIDENTS GOT QUITE a shock Friday when they saw a 60-foot tall tank moving slowly along south of First Street. Closer views showed a truck carefully trundling the old Santa Fe water tank from its former location to a landfill east of town. The tank is shown here just as it was eased away from its original location. (Staff Photo)

Border Patrol Gets Man Here

United States Border Patrol officers here Friday night took into custody Javier Gonzales, 29, charged with violation of immigration laws and arrested in Hereford Friday afternoon.

Gonzales was arrested at 2:45 p.m. Friday at a residence on Norton St. Making the arrest was Hereford police patrol officer Claude Roper.

19 DAYS REMAIN

Half Of License Plates Not Sold

With only 19 days remaining in the renewal period, only half the estimated motor vehicle license plates for 1961 had been issued Saturday by the Deaf Smith County Tax Assessor-Collector's office in Hereford.

Tax office clerks Saturday morning reported having sold 2128 tags, which includes 1503 for passenger vehicles, 204 for commercial vehicles and 421 for farm vehicles.

Drivers have through midnight March 31 to purchase their 1961 plates. Renewal period for vehicle license plates in Texas began Feb. 1.

The 2128 total is slightly more than half of the 4000 tags the tax office expects to issue through the period. A total of 5077 plates on passenger cars were issued last year.

Plates in Deaf Smith County this year include "AU" and "A-T" identification prefixes. "AT" was the only prefix on 1960 plates.

A different style of letters and numerals have been used to make the plates more readable from a distance this year. Black letters and numerals on a white background is color scheme for 1961.

A new numbering system is being used for some classifications such as trailers, truck tractors and buses. These classifications have a one-letter prefix with from two to five digit numerals. The numbering system for other classifications remains the same as for 1960.

The tax office in Hereford stresses the importance of registering all automobiles and trucks in the county of the vehicle owner's residence. A tax office clerk must see the certificate of title and 1960 license

Around Town

Friday was a most remarkable day for weather. Although the change wasn't so drastic as is often seen in this area, it was outstanding because of the temperature variation. It was overcast until about noon, then quickly became suitable for shirtsleeves, at least for the grown-ups. Youngsters were resorting to shorts for real comfort in our neighborhood.

You wouldn't think people would particularly notice what is going on south of First Street. But we got more calls Friday about that old railroad water tank being moved than anything that's happened around town in quite a while. Jimmy Allred was among those who was astonished. He said, "I looked out the window and there was this huge tank moving behind the warehouse."

But the two main topics right now seem to be the feed grain bill in Congress and the way the sugar beet backers got short-changed by the House agriculture committee. That Sugar Act fight apparently isn't finished by a long way, but it seems that the U. S. State Department intends to hold the whip-hand on the allotments, with which to try to buy friends overseas.

Bill Nainger and Leroy Cappel of Deaf Smith County went to market to buy a fat pig... and they did. Leroy bought the top-rated boar, a Yorkshire, for $100 Thursday at the West Texas Swine Improvement Association sale. Then Bill bought the high-ranking Hampshire for $115. Alen Hoover of Hereford also bought a Berkshire, for $62.50.

A night class for beginners in oil painting will be instructed by Jeanne McGee. The class is for high school students and adults only. Call EM 4-3503 to enroll.

If your club or organization hasn't entered the Rotary Club Stunt Night, you still have time. Deadline is Saturday, March 18. Call Ben Childers or Gerald McCaskill to enter. Cash prizes will be given the winners.

Roy Wederbrook Post 4518, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will meet Thursday, March 16, for election of officers for the coming year. All members are urged to attend. The meeting will open at 7 p.m. with a free (Continued on page 2)

Lions Club Minstrel Show Slated Thursday And Friday

With banjos strummin' and jokes cracking from all corners, the Hereford Lions Club will stage a Negro Minstrel Show on Thursday and Friday, March 16 and 17, in the Hereford High School auditorium.

Curtain-time is 7:30 p. m. both nights. Proceeds from the show will be donated to the home for the aged which is to be built here. Director Charles Bell announced the following program: Overture by the Darktown Ramblers orchestra; opening number will be "Robert E. Lee" by the entire Jubilee Chorus; and "Where Is My Boss," a solo by Ben Gollehon. That old minstrel favorite, "Swanee," will be on next with the Jubilee Chorus; following will be "Interlude," a swinging solo by Bell; "Five Foot Two" is the theme for a chorus line, the High Brown Girls; A change of pace follows with the Dixie Quartet featured in "Swing Low, Sweet Charlotte," and "The Creation" by Sandra Moore; Rose Ann Frazer then takes the spotlight with "Basin Street Blues."

Glen Nelson then comes stage-center with his banjo for a tinkling rendition of "The World Is Waiting For The Sunrise," followed by the chorus arrangement of "Shine On Harvest Moon" and a saxophone solo by Buddy Hutson.

Mr. Interlocutor is Wayne Thomas, who will be trying to keep a semblance of order on stage. Not always helping him will be the end-men: Bosko, Marlin Gilliland; Liverlips, Johnny Johnson; Lockjaw, Reuben Knox; Prokechops, Buddy Hutson; Ly-sol, Trow Mims; and Alkali, Ed Skypala.

Members of the girls' chorus line, The High Brown Girls, are Sandy Blythe, Pam Clay, Zell Crump, Carol Kent, Rita Martin, Colleen Reeves and Suzie Yarbro.

Inspection Lines May Get Longer

Texas Highway Patrol unit in Hereford urges motorists to secure their 1961 vehicle inspection stickers "before the time gets short and the lines get long."

New 1961 motor vehicle inspection stickers will be available to Deaf Smith County motorists at approved inspection stations in Hereford through April 15. Vehicles not displaying the new sticker after April 15 will be operating in violation of the law.

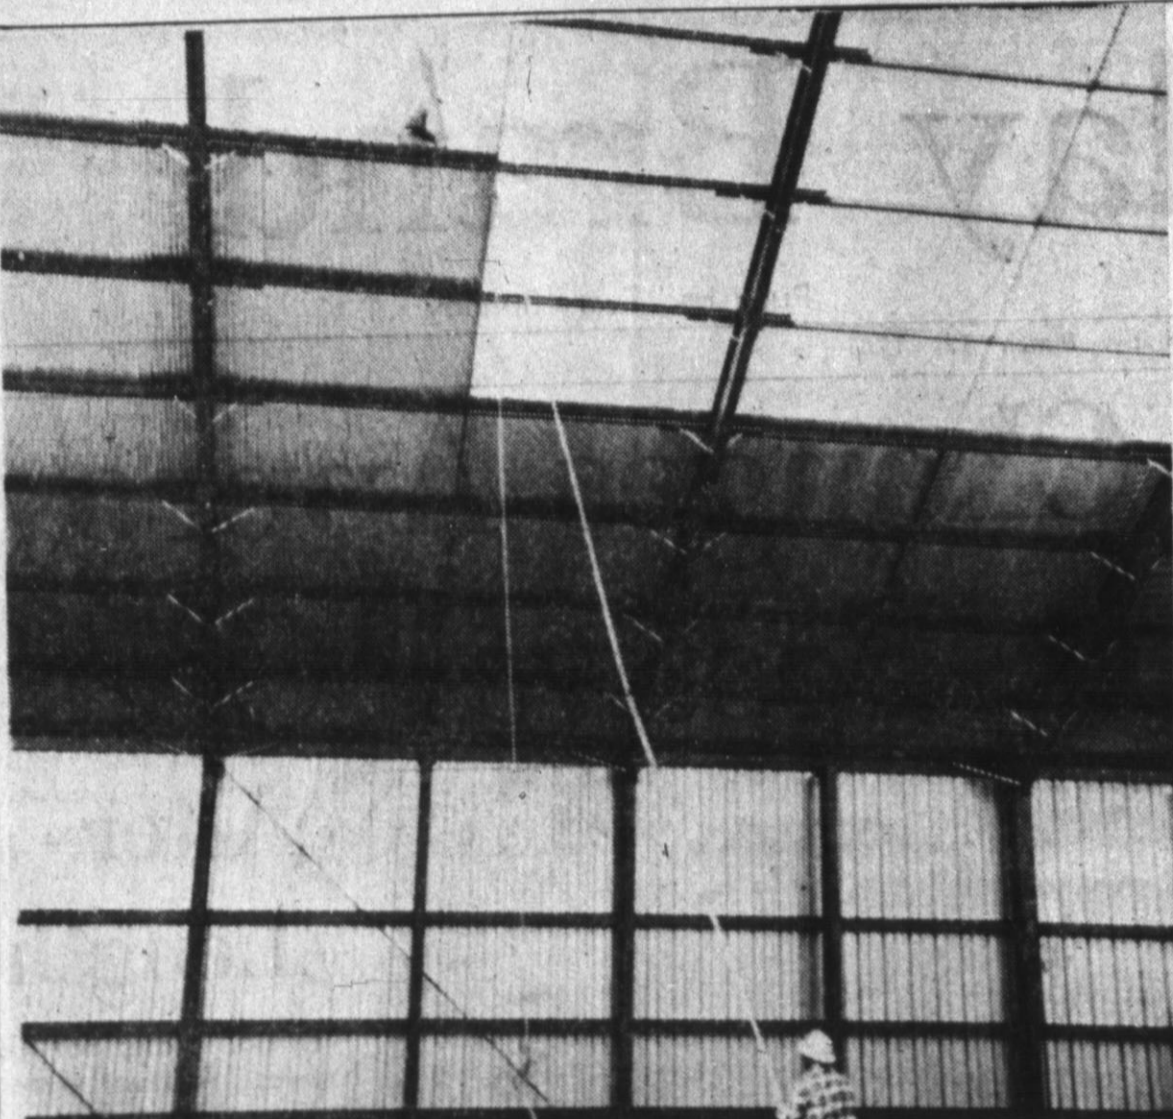

Inspection stations in Hereford include Sanders 66 Service, McCullough Motor Co., Charlie Seeds Motor Co., Osborn Buick Co., Orsbome-Norwood Chevrolet Co., Beavers Motor Co., Fullwood Electric, McRight Garage and Supply, Kemp Auto Repair and Phillips-Lawrence Texas Co. Station.

Drivers are advised to have their vehicles inspected as soon as possible to avoid the annual last-minute rush. Poor weather could cut down on the number of inspection days since stations cannot inspect vehicles under adverse conditions.

receipt before he can issue 1961 plates.
Penalty for operating a vehicle without home-county license plates is the same as operating a vehicle with no plates at all. Court fine can be as much as $200, plus being required to register in the home county with a 20 per cent penalty of the annual fee.
Deputy collector Mark Waddill of Hereford warns vehicle owners to buy their licenses before April 1, as vehicles with 1960 license tags cannot be legally operated after that time. Operation of those vehicles makes the owner subject to fines and penalties.

in the Hotel ballroom. The meeting will also hear a report from the Trade Promotion Planning committee.
The week's Chamber of Commerce meeting schedule will convene with a second Harvest Festival Committee meeting at 7 a.m. Friday at the Western Wheel Inn. On the agenda for the Friday morning breakfast meeting will be decisions as to the financing of the Harvest Festival promotion and the plans for the Farm and Home Show.

Verita Sanders, who used to work in the news department of the Brand, is a most unusual young lady. Now a student at West Texas and a radio continuity writer in Amarillo, she has been hobbling about lately after getting a broken ankle while ice skating. Not too unusual, you might say. But she had to have the cast replaced last week after wearing the first one completely out . . . while dancing! With new cast in place, she came wheeling into town this weekend with a tiny new Volkswagen she has bought. There's hardly room for both Verita and her cast in the thing at the same time.

C. M. Leffel, who lives at 216 Whiteface, was raising some young pheasants and game birds at his house . . . until last Tuesday. A pair of tiny boys in the neighborhood opened the cage door and away went pheasants and chukkers. Would it be true to say that when the birds left, Mr. Leffel got the bird?

She's drivin' a Volkswagen With one foot a-draggin'. But it bothers her not a bit A-dancin' until cast won't fit.

Beauty At Home

By Lynn Carter
Q. How can I go about treating oiliness and enlarged pores in my skin?
A. First cleanse your face well, then cover it with a piece of absorbent cotton wrung out of hot water, to open the pores. When this has cooled, remove the cotton and replace it with another piece of cotton saturated with good witch hazel. Then take an ice cube and "iron" this gently over the cotton mask with a circular movement. This will help to contract those gaping pores and stimulate the circulation in your complexion.

Q. What is a simple, skin-toning facial beauty mask I can prepare myself?
A. Just paint the white of an egg over face and throat, allow to remain on for about 10 minutes, then remove with warm water.

Q. My hair has a natural curl, but as it gets longer it seems to need more body to keep it in place. Is it wise to wave this type of hair?
A. Naturally wavy hair will take a permanent nicely, and many find that the hair is more manageable after a wave. Try either a very gentle rod-type of permanent or a pin curl permanent. Either is suitable to naturally wavy hair, or hair that takes a curl easily.

Q. What can I do about the muscles in my throat which are becoming somewhat flabby?
A. You might try regular, gentle patting with cream. Also a good daily exercise consists of throwing the head back as far as you can, then opening and closing the mouth several times. Make it a habit to keep your head and chin uplifted at all times as much as possible.

Q. How can I bleach a neck that is dark and stained-looking?
A. Try the regular application of the juice of one-half lemon squeezed into a glass of water.
Q. What are some good hints for nail polish application?
A. If you want to make the hands look longer and more slender, apply pale polish to the entire nail. To make them look shorter, apply dark polish, leaving the moons and tips white. For the older hand, light polishes are more flattering and call less attention to wrinkles and spots.

 From year to year the present school trustees have been playing host to all former trustees, generally during Public Schools Week. The occasion is always interesting. Some of the old timers who turned out this year were Jeff Gilbreath, Jesse Stanford, Cliff Ackers, Dave Alexander, and E. S. Ireland. These old boys can trace the history of our schools away back down the line — and they got a real bang out of a historical report which was given by Dr. L. B. Barnett. The only hitch was that Doc got his car stuck in an irrigation ditch and had to hitchhike his way to town, arriving some 30 minutes late, which put President Tom Robinson in somewhat of a dither when he realized that he was going to have to handle the program without a speaker.

Tom had each of the trustees introduce himself and give the date he was on the board — and not one out of three present could accurately recall the exact years he served. Finally, when Doc came dragging in Tom said: "I was never so relieved to see a doctor in my life." He really meant it, too.

Goose Ramey and Tom Draper are a couple of promoters the likes of which you seldom find together. They have been doing a lot of coon hunting and, I hear, are planning a big coon feed in the near future. They have a fine, fat coon on cold storage in Dimmitt, and are putting out all kinds of propaganda about what a wonderful meal they expect to cook up. Personally, I don't figure either one of these characters can boil water and if Argen and Mrs. Ramey are as smart as I think they are, it is highly doubtful if this deal ever comes off unless our two heroes can locate a coon chef — and they are becoming harder and harder to find. Anyway, it provides an interesting speculation, and I can't think of any two people I would rather see in a jam than Goose and Tom.

Raylan Evans, former city commissioner and Hereford business man, has recently sold his ranch in Colorado, according to Marilyn Gilliland, who says that Raylan is going to buy a big trailer house and tour Canada as soon as school is out. Marilyn says he enjoyed his visit with the Evans in Colorado, except for a rule Raylan has whereby you always have to feed the cattle before you eat breakfast.

You never can tell about people. I discovered by accident the other day that Arthur Tietel is a fruit tree expert. He has all kinds of trees, but says that his apricots will have to make this year, or the canned supply will be gone. The apricots missed the past two years, due to late freezes, Arthur says.

Slim Wester says he pitched camp on an island at Conchas Lake last weekend and caught so many channel cat that he finally had to move the camp to another island. "That one," avows Slim, "got so thickly covered with cattfish heads that there wasn't room to build a fire."

Russell Carver and Owen Seamonds seem to think they are just about tops when it comes to flying kites. Owen says he does better when there is enough wind to get the kites up without running to start them, but Russell says that's what the boys are supposed to do. I offered to match Hap Cavness against them, but Bill Decker started telling how good he was — and I never did get the contest officially in orbit.

Folks who attended the school week exhibitions and open house were generally well impressed with what they say. The shop and home economics rooms seemed to be among the most popular, due probably to the fact that they turn out more tangible items. Some day I am going to get me a hammer and see if they will let an ordinary tax payer enroll for a course in shop. Better still, I might even get my wife enrolled. She says she has to make all of the minor repairs — and she already has a hammer and two screw drivers of her own. I wonder why they don't offer a shop course for women? Or do they?

I keep hearing rumors that we will get a new postmaster soon. Nolan Grady seems to have the nod these days, according to what I pick up on the street. A couple of weeks back, it seemed to be Billy Hutson. By now, I am so confused that I won't believe anything until they come down and swear someone in for the office. Whoever gets it will have a tough job to compete with the record of Florence Traweck. I sure hope they keep a Spanish language expert on the front counter. This seems to have done more to expedite mail deliveries than anything around our post office in a long time.

I notice where Mr. Poage, Texas representative on the House Agriculture Committee, says that we are handing the Dominican Republic to Fidel Castro. He says the sugar situation is "heads you win, tails we lose." In which case, why not turn the acreage back to the U. S. farmers, and let us produce our own sugar? At least, we wouldn't be at the mercy of these chicken-pluckers — and our farmers would be replacing a storage crop with a marketable product.

I notice, too, that our Texas lawmakers are in somewhat of a tizzy over the proposal to legalize horse racing in Texas. This always reminds me of the old saw about horse sense being that faculty which keeps horses from betting on people.

The Shat-U-Ayas have been taking beginners sewing for the past three weeks. Sharon Bezner, a Junior home economics student and 4-H girl, has been helping the instructors. Each girl has made a pair of house shoes. A big thrill for some was getting to sew on a machine. A program was given in Business Craft for which the club will receive two honors. The club is planning to take part in Birthday Week which will be March 19-25.

Mrs. Groves Reviews Book At La Madre Mia Meet

Mrs. Robb Groves presented a book review at Thursday evening's meeting of La Madre Mia Study Club. She reviewed the hilarious best seller, Father's Day Comes Once A Year. . . And Then It Always Rains, by Harold H. Martin.

Mrs. Groves kept guests in gales of laughter as she read excerpts from Martin's book. Martin, a reporter for the Atlanta Constitution, tells in his book of his delightful, but sometimes hectic, experiences with his four young children.

"One thing a father will never understand," relates Martin, "is why school should start so early in the day. Bells start to ring, thumps are heard on the upstairs floor and the plumbing starts roaring."

"Then voices start bellowing: Mommie, I can't find my handkerchief . . . or my socks . . . or my shoes," he writes disparagingly.

"But Mommie is in the kitchen," the author goes on to explain, "where she is cutting cantaloupe with one hand, frying bacon with the other, scrambling eggs with the other and making toast with still another, which makes Mommie an octopus; which she must be to get four kids off to school!"

Following the program, a short business meeting was held. Members decided to have a White Elephant party and salad supper the next meeting, slated for March 23.

Those attending were Mmes. Joe Henry, Harold Morton, John Smith, Charles Frye, Ted Hardwick, Eugene Sparks, Ben Gollehon, Joe Locke, James Brownlow, Dennis Lomas, G. C. Merritt Jr., Robb Groves, Dean Herring, Gerald Martin, Bobby Williams, Richard Pickens and one new member, Mrs. Harlan Voyles.

Recent Bride Is Honored At Shower

Mrs. Jerry Bellows, the former Patricia Byers, was honored recently with a bridal shower in the parsonage of the Church of Christ in Vega. Hostesses for the courtesy were Mrs. Harold Browning, Dolly Stone, Melvin Muse, Buel Buse, Otto Dowd, Maxey Dowd and Joy Buck.

Mrs. Taylor Bellows, mother of the groom; Mrs. John Byers, mother of the bride; and the honoree were presented corsages of white roses tied with white and silver ribbon.

The refreshment table was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with a crescent arrangement of yellow pom-pom mums. Appointments were in silver and crystal. The hostesses alternated at the serving table.

Over 40 guests called during the afternoon.

La Plata Meets In Little Home

The home of Mrs. Don Little, 133 Star, was the scene Monday for a regular meeting of La Plata Study Club.

The Project Committee gave a report on the needs of the Community Center, with a refrigerator topping the list. Club members voted to buy a refrigerator for the big kitchen at the center and also voted to donate $20 to the American Field Service for the exchange student fund.

Dr. Clarence Hicks, local physician, presented the program on the topic of "Hypnosis."

"The definition of hypnosis," Dr. Hicks told guests, "is the control of the sub-conscious mind."

He went on to say that everyone has experienced hypnosis at one time or another. Dr. Hicks told of the various uses of hypnosis in medicine, adding that it relieves pain and aids appetite for many cancer patients.

One important fact was brought out by Dr. Hicks . . . that it is illegal to practice hypnosis in the state of Texas unless the applicant holds a degree in medicine.

Attending the meeting were

WOMEN OF INTEREST

Walteen Beavers Is Named "Homemaker Of Tomorrow"

BY MONA JETTE
BRAND WOMEN'S EDITOR

Every year, thousands of senior girls all over the United States vie for the honor of the Betty Crocker "Homemaker of Tomorrow." This contest, sponsored by the General Mills Corporation, is held on local, state and national levels.

Walteen Beavers, 18-year-old senior at Hereford High School, has been named as "Homemaker of Tomorrow" at local level in the 1961 edition of the contest.

The dark-eyed beauty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Beavers, won over 36 contestants at Hereford High School. The knowledge and aptitude test, which is given to each girl, is sent to a national testing company, where it is graded by an IBM machine.

As winner, Walteen is entitled to wear the "Homemaker of Tomorrow" pin and her examination paper is automatically entered in judging for the State Homemaker.

The test sheet covers all phases of homemaking, including cooking and meal planning, interior decorating, home canning and sewing. And the questions aren't any snap, by any means. Many of them might stump a seasoned homemaker.

By winning the title at Hereford High School, Walteen sets a high example for girls throughout Texas who desire careers as homemakers. Such girls don't have pipedreams of careers in business or industry . . . their ambitions are on the home front. They want to be "just a housewife."

Walteen has been an active member in 4-H and Future Homemakers of America for a number of years. She also is a charter member of the newly organized National Honor Society and belongs to the Dawn Musettes, a musical group. Added to her busy schedule is her work in G.A.'s, an organization for young women at the First Baptist Church.

She is equally at home in the kitchen or at the sewing machine, handling both with the ease of a professional. Walteen does most of her family's home canning in the summertime and makes most of her own clothing.

"I don't know what I will do after graduation," Walteen confessed. "I might go to college . . . or even get married." This last was said with a dreamy look in her eyes, leaving little doubt as to her future plans. Perhaps she is ready to put her homemaking know-how to practical use.

Betty Louise Cook of Moody High School in Moody has been awarded the title of Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for Texas. She will receive a $1500 scholarship from General Mills and will become a candidate with 49 other state winners and the representative from the District of Columbia for the title of All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow. Winner of the national title will be announced at a banquet in the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Washington, D. C., on April 13. This winner will receive a $5000 scholarship.

For five days prior to the award banquet, all the state winners and their school advisors will be guests of General Mills on a tour of places of historical significance in New York City, colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D. C. Scores on the original test, the same which Walteen took, and observation on this tour will be the basis for the selection of the All-American Homemaker.

The test in this seventh annual national homemaking educational program was prepared and judged by Science Research Associates of Chicago, Ill. The 1961 Betty Crocker Search program saw 402,786 senior girls from all over the United States competing for the honor.

Walteen exemplifies the typical candidate in this year's contest. Bright and bubbly, attractive and well groomed . . . from these ranks of alert young women will come, not only our homemakers . . . but our mothers and citizens of tomorrow.

Walteen loves to cook and offers her favorite recipe for German's Sweet Chocolate:

- 1 pkg. German's Sweet Chocolate
- 1/2 cup boiling water
- 1 cup butter (margarine or shortening can be used)
- 2 cups sugar
- 4 egg yolks, unbeaten
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
- 1 cup buttermilk

4 egg yolks
Melt chocolate in 1/2 cup boiling water. Cool. Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks, one at a time, and beat well after each. Add the melted chocolate and vanilla. Mix well.

Sift together the salt, soda and flour. Add alternately with buttermilk to chocolate mixture, beating well. Beat until batter is smooth.

two-thirds cups.
Beat egg whites until stiff peaks form. Fold into batter. Pour into three 8 or 9-inch layer pans, lined on bottoms with paper. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) 35 to 40 minutes. Cool. Frost tops only with Coconut-Peanut Frosting or use any favorite frosting or whipped cream.

Walteen prefers the Coconut-Peanut Frosting. To make:

Combine 1 cup of evaporated milk, 1 cup sugar, 3 egg yolks, 1/2 pound margarine and 1 teaspoon vanilla in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture thickens, about 12 minutes.

Add about 1 and one-third cups shredded coconut and 1 cup of chopped pecans. Beat until frosting is cool and thick enough to spread. Makes 2 and

Style Show Big Success

The Business and Professional Women have done it again! And as was expected, they topped all past presentations with Tuesday evening's staging of their annual style show.

The season's newest fashions were shown against a background portraying a garden setting. A white picket fence, bordered with jonquils, tulips and greenery, ran the length of the stage. In each corner stood a circular arrangement of flowering apple, cherry and forsythia trees. Near the left center stage stood a flowing fountain encircled with potted yellow mums. At right, a colonial bench of white wrought iron was placed for accent. Fan-shaped trellises covered with wisteria formed entrance-ways at each wing.

Weldon Bright of KGNC radio and television in Amarillo played background music for the organ as Mrs. Sam Bell, narrator, described each model's costume. General chairman of the 16th annual production was Mrs. Kathleen Baker.

The first act was entitled "Heart Stealers," featuring fashions for toddlers and the younger set. Chubby toddlers twirled captivatively before the footlights, wearing frilly party dresses, smart dress suits for the little man and play clothes just right for the sandpile set.

Act II was given over to a travel scene, complete with traveler's standard paraphernalia and folders describing the scenic wonders of distant resorts. Pert young teenagers and attractive young matrons modeled the best of Spring's knits, neat shirtwaist dresses and "fun" outfits, all appropriate for travel ease and sure to please.

REMEMBER WHEN?

BY CHARLIE SEEDS

This was the year a "queen" became a princess. And the story of her wedding was the big news story of the year. It was a dream come to life, the real life success story for every girl who had ever dreamed of her Prince Charming.

The "queen" was really a movie queen, Grace Kelly. Two years before she had won an Academy Award Oscar for her performance in the movie, "The Country Girl." A former model and "Ipana girl," whose smile was familiar to millions, she was the daughter of a prominent Philadelphia family. The announcement of her engagement to Prince Rainier III of Monaco electrified the world.

Then came the day in April when Grace Kelly became a Princess, to reign with her Prince over the 370-acre Mediterranean realm which included fabulous Monte Carlo. It was the season's most glamorous social event... a fairy tale come true!

Remember the year? When new cars hit the showrooms that year, it was a big event. They were better than ever... and they were plentiful. Competition was keen, and a smart buyer could shop for a deal that meant real savings.

The year was 1956. This year's big event in the automotive world was the beautiful new Ford for 1961. And this is a real "buyer's market!" We're going all out to make the kind of deals you want, to give you savings that make it easier than ever to step up to a Ford, at CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., Inc. W. Hwy. 60 at Miles. Phone EM 4-2727.

Commission Has Panel On Issue Of Street Bond

Questions and answers flew back and forth during a panel program by the Hereford City Commission during a luncheon meeting here Thursday.

Members of the Hereford Kiwanis Club heard the Commission's reasons for calling a street bond election later this month and had opportunities to ask questions about the proposal.

Acting as moderator, Mayor Woody Wilson opened up the meeting with a short discussion of the proposal and why the Commission called it immediately after a similar vote failed.

"We have taken note," Wilson said, "that you do not want Third Street widened. But we felt the public should be able to say 'yes' or 'no' to re-surfacing our streets."

The second issue was called quickly, he said, for three major reasons. First was that the city felt an obligation to protect its large street investment; second was that bids should be favorable at this time since paving contractors are not working on state projects; and third, the bond market is favorable for sale of the issue at this time.

Wilson pointed out that the tax rate was raised from $1.25 to $1.40 per $100 valuation last week and cannot be raised again until next year.

This rate, he says, will produce an estimated $197,600 in tax funds on present appraisal, with a 45 per cent valuation of actual value.

"The tax increase was needed for three reasons," Wilson pointed out. "The first is inflation and the higher cost of operating the city, second is the growth of the city. Third is streets, streets and streets."

He told the group that Hereford had grown 47 per cent during the past ten years and was continuing to grow at the same rate.

Members and guests then asked the Mayor, four Commissioners and the City Manager numerous questions about cost, present bonded indebtedness and capital improvements.

MISSING TRUCK

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Two sheriff's deputies have decided Arizona still is a land of wide open spaces.

Edwardo L. Lonzo of Nogales was driving his truck across the desert when he ran out of gasoline. He walked to town, picked up some extra gas but couldn't find the truck again in the desolate terrain.

Deputy Randy Rendon spotted the truck while flying over the area. However, when he and Deputy Ken Sturgeon attempted to drive to the location, they couldn't find the vehicle, either.

Rendon went up in the plane again and this time drew a map. After several hours of searching on foot, the deputies finally located the elusive truck.

Hereford A Growing Part Of 172-Year-Old Postal Service

BY RICHARD LEGGITT
BRAND FEATURE WRITER
 "Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds." So said a Greek historian in the fifth century B.C.
 "Rain or shine, sleet or snow, the mail goes through." So said a Hereford, Texas, post office clerk in the 20th century A.D.
 Perhaps the United States Congress was not aware of either of these quotations on March 12, 1789, when it established the Post Office Department, but now nearly two centuries later, both are synonymous with the type of service delivered by our postal department.

 Today our national mail service reaches into over 35,000 post offices as it serves the universal need of all Americans for an efficient and trustworthy interchange of messages at a low cost.
 The history of the post office department is a story of courage, determination, ingenuity, and steady progress. Each of the nation's post offices has its own story. The post office at Hereford, Texas, is no exception.

 As anxious children wait for the final days of December, so did the citizens of Hereford wait for these days in the year 1898. Their waiting was rewarded, on December 23, old "Saint Nick" with the help of the United States Government, presented Hereford with a post office.
 Established as a fourth class post office, the Hereford office was the result of many weeks' work by the mail-hungry citizens of this community.
 The postal receipts for that first year show a great contrast with those of today. The amount of receipts for the first quarter year totaled $11.44. The amount of receipts for the entire year of 1898 totaled $114,051.83.
 Named to the position of postmaster for the newly opened office was Lyman A. Montgomery. Montgomery was the first of many postmasters to serve the small - but - bounded - bigger office. Some masters are easily remembered, others are long forgotten.
 Of the names which cling to memory, one that stands out is the name of J. R. Lipscomb who watched the post office put on the seven league boots of progress and enter the race for bigger and better service. Under Lipscomb's guiding hand, the post office flourished for nearly 20 years.
 Lipscomb was not the only progress-minded postmaster. There have been 12 others, five of them women. These 13 postmasters were the leaders of the local postal system for over 60 years. They saw the good times, the bad times, the times when the mail barely moved and the times at Christmas when it came like an avalanche threatening to bury them and their staffs.

 The 13 postmasters who served the local postal system so well are Lyman A. Montgomery, Bill Walters, Clarence Smith, Ralph Barnett, J. A. Stegall, Annie Anthony (acting postmaster), Mrs. Delphia N. Cox, J. A. Wear, E. L. Donner, Mrs. Mina D. Jones (acting postmaster), Mrs. Cecil Williams (acting postmaster), J. R. Lipscomb and Mrs. Florence Traweek, who is now serving as acting postmaster.
 The first post office was a small one-room affair located at the South end of Main Street. This early office had only 50 mail boxes. These boxes were rented by several families at a time. When one man came to town, he picked up the mail for his neighbors and saved them a long and dusty trip to town.

 Later the small office added more boxes and also established rural routes to carry the mail to the farmers. The first routes were ridden about three times a week by carriers in house-drawn wagons.
 In keeping with progress and the growth of Hereford the post office soon became crowded in its small building. So the mail was packed and the post office was moved and moved again and then moved once more. When all the shuffling was over and the growing pains had subsided, the post office found itself located at the opposite end of Main Street from where the moving had started.

 The new building had much more space, but the growing didn't stop and probably never will. Today the Hereford branch of the United States Post Office Department serves more than 15,000 people and handles nearly $500,000 annually.
 Each of the 35,000 post offices scattered around the nation has grown as the Hereford post office has grown. Together these post offices form a system that was organized exactly 172 years ago today.
 This system helps carry out the American ideal of freedom of expression. This right of men to speak freely is not always a matter of spoken words, but also of words that are written. Written words that are carried throughout the nation by our national mail service. This mail service is a priceless heritage of free men

Boy Of Year Gives Tips On Dating

BY VIVIAN BROWN

"There are lots of good boys around if you are seeking dates," Nick Beck, 17, of Hollywood, Calif., advises girls. "So why settle for less?"

Nick, the 1960 Boy of Year, ought to know. He had to win over some 600,000 other good boys (we hope) all members of the Boys' Clubs of America.

What kind of advice does this handsome, healthy, jolly boy dish up for girls? How does he say they can tell a good boy from a bad one? Here's a yardstick for you, girls. Let's see how that current date measures up:

- Date Yardstick
1. What kind of friends does the boy enjoy? (Birds of a feather flock together.)
 2. Does he take school seriously? (An indication of how he will apply himself to other projects.)
 3. How about his personal appearance? (He should be clean and well-groomed and take pride in himself.)
 4. Does he stand outside "beating the horn" when he calls for you at home? (He should appear cordial, polite, mannerly and greet your parents before you go out.)
 5. Does he persist in spending the evening at your house even though he has invited you out? (Either you can't see the reason he likes you or you don't want to see it.)
- Those are little guideposts.

says Nick, but they hold true of many boys. He adds:

"It's wise not to accept a date just because you want to be popular. It's dangerous. Dutch treats are all right until the boy becomes a serious dater. It is not good after you become engaged because the boy seems more like an escort than a permanent date, and you will feel that he really doesn't care enough to save his money for your enjoyment."

Nick doesn't believe in blind dates.

"The only time a blind date is all right is when reliable people get you together. It's wise in most cases not to go out with a boy about whom you know nothing."

What kind of girl does this sensible, intelligent, realistic boy like? His surprising ideal is: Beautiful, blonde, shapely and DUMB.

Why dumb? Nick explains:

"Marriage depends on the man's maturity more than the girl's. It is the custom of our society that the man should be head of the house, the wage earner, smarter than his spouse. It works out better when she's not as bright as her husband."

Although Nick is from the film city, he has no desire to be in the movies and would reject an offer, he says, because "there is no use trying to be something you aren't. It would ruin me character-wise." He adds:

"Besides I don't need a swimming pool. There's a perfect good big one at the Boys' Club of Hollywood."

Beauty At Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. I'm a young girl who is very embarrassed about her size 10 feet. Is there anything at all I can do about this problem?

A. Yes, you can stop fretting about it. According to statistics, at least a fourth of our most glamorous models of today wear size 9 or larger, and not one of them is embarrassed about it. Today's shoes have a long, slim look — ideal for your size of foot.

Q. How can I remove a scorch stain from a washable dress?

A. If the stain is a light one, launder in hot suds. If it is deep, rub with suds and bleach in the sun or dampen with hydrogen peroxide — then launder in hot suds.

Q. What can I do about wild eyebrows? It seems that no amount of brushing or slicking them down does any good.

A. Try taming those wild eyebrows of yours with mustache wax. If you'll apply it to your brows and shape them the way you like them, you'll find they'll start growing that way.

Q. What is the best way to treat skin blemishes on one's back?

A. The same as facial blemishes. Avoid squeezing them. Soften them with oil and creams and steamings, then brush them away and heal the enlarged pores with medicated cream or lotion. Naturally, diet is important, too. Indigestion, excess of certain foods, or constipation is quickly reflected by back blemishes. Keep healthy and stay beautiful!

Q. What can I do if my foundation cream refuses to spread easily and evenly?

A. You can try dipping your fingers into water, scattering a few drops over your face, and patting lightly. This should insure a nice, even distribution of your cream.

Q. How can I exercise to help reduce the overly-fleshy calves of my legs?

A. Here's an excellent one: Sit on the floor, weight of your body supported by your hands on the floor behind your hips. Pull your knees up to your chest, then slide them alternately down to the floor with good, vigorous, resounding thuds.

Q. Please suggest an after-shampoo rinse that will help to keep my naturally blonde hair light-looking.

A. One such treatment consists of the well-beaten yolk of a fresh egg added to a cup of cool water. After rinsing the hair of all shampoo, pour this mixture over it, rubbing well into the scalp and on the hair. Then rinse off.

Communism Dangles Bait Of Greed, Which Must Be Paid For In Freedom

Sometimes, we wonder how people can possibly turn to socialism and communism, especially when they finally compare results with those gained under our own democratic form of government.

Take the problems of the United States today, for instance, and compare them with the problems of Russia and Red China. In this country, our biggest headache stems entirely from over-production. We have too much wheat, too much cotton, too much grain sorghum, too many automobiles, and on and on. In Russia, the final result is exactly the opposite. The people have practically no automobiles, they lived on forced diets far below American standards, and they buy what few clothes they have from utter need, rather than from fluctuating styles.

There are many other phases to the argument, of course, but to practical people, who like to look at results rather than excuses, there seems to be little question concerning the superiority of our own system over that of communism or socialism.

Most people who rally to the cause of proposed socialistic changes and communistic trends, like the hordes who followed Hitler in pre-war Germany, are motivated by bait which center around personal improvement; they think they see a chance to better their own lot over that of their neighbors and fellow citizens. Or, to call a spade a spade, the primary motive is nothing but greed. The price,

Canyon People Halt Gyp Deals

Canyon, like many other West Texas cities, has a law requiring bond and a waiting period for itinerant salesmen of magazines, photographs, and numerous other house-to-house gimmicks. The big difference between Canyon and Hereford, along with several other cities, is the fact that they make the law work.

There is a reason the law works in Canyon. This reason is due to the fact that the law has the backing and the sincere support of the people who live in our neighboring city.

Last week, for instance, a group of seven men and three women, were hailed into justice court and wound up paying fines of $5 and $15.50 court costs each. They appeared in court because so many housewives and business men called the city police to report the peddlers. None of these Canyon citizens, fortunately, paid out their money for merchandise which they will not receive.

Public cooperation of this type can fast stamp out many of the "gyp deals" with which every community is infested, varying from special advertising schemes folders and fans to magazines and Bibles; it can also eliminate high-pressure deals on potographs and "guaranteed" hosiery.

No community wishes to build a wall around itself. On the other hand, most legitimate firms will be happy to secure a license and will gladly abide by a waiting period long enough to justify investigation of the service and products to be offered. All in all, we would say that the people of Canyon are reacting in support of their laws in a highly commendable manner.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

And he came out, and went, as he was wont, to the mount of Olives; and his disciples also followed him.

And when he was at the place, he said unto them, Pray that ye enter not into temptation.

And he was withdrawn from them about a stone's cast, and kneeled down and prayed, Saying, Father if thou be willing, remove this cup from me: nevertheless, not my will, but thine, be done. (Luke 22:39-42)

Warn Against Phony Two-For-One Gimmicks

Bill Thompson, Manager of the Chamber of Commerce, reported today that following a nationwide investigation of increasingly prevalent advertising of "two gallons of paint for the price of one," the National Better Business Bureau has issued a bulletin condemning "Buy

One - Get One Free" deals as deceptive, if two units are always offered at a single stated price. Pointing out that several firms in the paint business currently are offering two gallons of paint for the price of one, or for the price of one plus one cent, as their usual and customary method of selling paint, the National Better Business Bureau stated:

"A question arises as to whether this method of selling paint, or any other commodity, involves the sale of one unit and the gift of another, or whether in reality two units at a time are regularly and customarily sold for a single stated price."

"The Bureau believes that a public understanding of "Two-for-One-Sales" is that, for a limited time, two articles are being offered for the usual price at which one has been sold, as a single unit, in the recent regular course of business.

"When two articles are always offered together for a stated price, and cannot be secured individually in the normal course of business, the customary unit of sale is two, and to imply that the stated price is the regular price for one, and the other is "free" is fallacious. Such a scheme has the tendency and capacity to mislead and deceive the trusting and the gullible and to divert trade unfairly from those who do not use such pricing methods," the Bureau stated.

The NBBB bulletin makes the following recommendations:

"The National Better Business Bureau recommends that such terms as "Two-for-One-Sale," "Two-for-One, Plus One Cent Sale," "Buy One - Get One Free" and terms of similar import, may be used accurately to describe limited offers, wherein one article is being offered at the price at which is regularly sold independently, as a single unit, and another article is offered without extra cost, or for one cent, as the case may be.

"The National Better Business Bureau further recommends avoidance of such terms as "Two for One Sale," and terms of similar import, to describe an offer, wherein two articles of merchandise are regularly and continuously offered in units of two for a single stated price, or for a single stated price plus one cent, as the case may be."

Oklahoma Petitions To Annex Texas Panhandle

The following joint resolution of Oklahoma indicates that the Indians want to annex the Panhandle and then some to their wigwam. It may be that some of the counties of the Panhandle would consent to be cut off from the great State of Texas, because the legislature does not recognize them as a part of the commonwealth. Some south Texas counties and Jake Walters would be willing to give up the whole batch of dry counties as they are a disturbing element. "Whereas the geographical location, similarity of soil, climate, population and the general condition of state of development and many other manifest industrial, social and political advantages naturally suggest that portion of the State of Texas, lying between Oklahoma and New Mexico, should be a part of the State of Oklahoma, Therefore be it resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring therein that it is the sense of the legislature of the State of Oklahoma that the counties of Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Hansford, Sherman, Dallam, Hartley, Moore, Hutchinson, Roberts, Hemphill, Wheeler, Gray, Carson, Potter, Oldham, Deaf Smith, Randall, Armstrong, Donley, Collingworth, Hall, Briscoe, Swisher, Castro, Parmer, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cottle, Hardeman, Wilbarger, and Wichita of the State of Texas should be annexed to and become a part of the State of Oklahoma, and consent to such annexation on behalf of the people of the State of Oklahoma is hereby given upon such terms as well be said and just to the State of Texas and the people of said counties of Texas and the State of Oklahoma, providing consent thereto shall be given by the Congress of the United States and the Legislature of the State of Texas."

25 YEARS AGO

A survey will get under way in Deaf Smith county shortly to determine the number of individuals interested in rural electrification should it be made available for the territory surrounding Hereford, H. V. Hennen, acting secretary of the chamber of commerce, announced Tuesday. It is believed that about 70 home subscribers are available and that about 55 irrigation wells may be operated by electricity under this project, which the local chamber has been seeking for months. According to an announcement by Hennen at the chamber of commerce luncheon Tuesday, it is probable that a Diesel plant will be installed here to provide the power since utility rates have not been submitted. The plant calls for the formation of a cooperatives society among subscribers to provide the plant. A letter from Boyd Fisher, special assistant to the Rural Electrification administrator at Washington, requested that the survey be made.

always, is loss of freedom in exchanged for dictatorship and ultimate slavery.

When tempted with such socialistic enducements as federal control of schools, federal hospitalization and government medical care, it seems to us that people would do well to hesitate long enough to compare conditions which now exist under both systems. Over-production is not an ideal situation, but it is far better than under-production and starvation.

Never yet have people, under any system, created a condition where they consistently get "something for nothing." Money is still a far cheaper medium than those things which must be paid for from our fast dwindling reserve of freedom.

Meetings Account For 'Lost' Hours

If you are one of those people who wonders where all of your time goes, it might be well to check carefully the number of meetings you attend.

We noticed recently with considerable interest a report from the Community center that 346 adult organizational meetings were held in the building, along with 115 student club meetings, 271 campfire and 259 Boy Scout meetings. Add to this several sessions at each of the local churches per week, plus untold meetings held each night at the hospitality rooms of two banks and the gas office, and the total becomes staggering indeed, not to mention regularly scheduled sessions at the schools, Country Club, Chamber of Commerce, hotel, and other gathering places.

Very few of the meetings which fall in above categories are likely to be classified as social or educational, which leaves such things as bridge clubs, dance clubs, study clubs and private parties to pretty well double or triple the number.

Needless to say, much good is bound to come from so many meetings. Committees and gatherings of this type are definitely the backbone of modern America. At the same time, meetings do account for many of our "lost" hours for which we find it difficult to account.

Grandma, who carried water from the well to do the family washing each Monday, never dared dream of an automatic washing machine, much less a new-fangled dryer. Grandpa spent hours covering less territory in a wagon or buggy than we spend minutes today. Both, on the other hand, seemed to have far more spare time than does the average American in 1961.

Third Dimensions

An editorial in Life magazine has this to say about the proposal to increase the federal minimum wage and extend its coverage: "That is certainly not going to help the unemployed any. Some jobs just aren't worth more than $1 an hour and to make them illegal is to eliminate them."

The words are blunt, but justified. The extended coverage that is proposed, for example, would be primarily in the retail industry. This industry provides marginal employment for beginners, teenagers, part-time housewives and others whose productive worth is strictly limited. An out-of-line wage would force the elimination of as many of these jobs as possible.

Also, it is hard to square the minimum wage proposal with the President's urge that labor accept wage stabilization in order to help prevent more inflation. An increase in the lowest wage means increases all along the line—the higher paid, skilled workers naturally demand that their differential be maintained. Then the wage-price spiral is off to the races again.

CENTER BUILDING BEGINS

Permission was given to the Community Center committee to begin the remodeling on the center building as soon as possible. The City Council told the committee to start the work during the regular meeting Thursday night. The committee reported to the council that $14,200 has been raised toward the goal of $15,000. They also reported that Elmo Jones will be the general contractor, who will report to them for approval of bills. The committee will then be responsible to the council. In other action taken by the council, an ordinance was introduced that amends and strengthens the present parking meter ordinance so that delinquent tickets can now be collected. The new ordinance became necessary because of the large number of parking meter tickets that were unpaid.

HOSPITAL COMMITTEE PLANS PROGRAM

Members of the hospital met this week to lay plans for a hospital study designed to present a program to citizens of the community for improving hospital facilities in Ochiltree county. At a Tuesday night meeting, the committee discussed the problem with doctors from both local hospitals and with members of the commissioners court. Dr. Roy K. Sanford of the Sanford Hospital and Dr. G. L. Kengle of the Perryton Hospital stated to the group that both hospitals would close down immediately upon opening a county hospital. Both doctors said their facilities were overcrowded, their equipment was becoming obsolete, and that the cost of building hospital facilities was beyond the reach of their financial capabilities. Considerable discussion was held relative to the suggested size of a hospital, if it is to be built by the community. It was agreed that the new hospital should be at least 75 beds to offer much improvement over what the community has already.

GRAIN PLAN SIGN-UP SET

Monday and Tuesday of next week have been set for farmers in the Olton, Springlake and Earth communities to sign up for an Emergency Feed Grain Program for 1961. That word was passed on Wednesday by Lamar Aften, Lamb County ASC office manager at Littlefield. The most important part of the program, Aften said is that it provides a means to "get more money into the farmer's pocket". The program is not a law yet, he added, but approved by congress is expected momentarily. The House Agriculture Committee Monday approved the program by 25-5 vote. "Those entering the program will be eligible for price support of about 20 cents above the 1959-60 support price," Aften said. "Although this is a preliminary sign-up" he said, "it will be necessary to sign up every farm on which feed grain was grown in 1959-60."

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his blind-wood farm needn't look to us to help him out on the problem he discusses this week. That's his lookout.

Dear editor:

There's a peculiar occurrence that shows up in the news every once in a while that has always puzzled me.

For example, a politician in Austin or Washington will come out with a sensational statement that makes the headlines, then when it turns out he has stepped on somebody's toes higher up, or it didn't have the reaction he thought it was going to have, or maybe it made him look like a monkey, he calls in the reporters a second time and announces he was misquoted.

Now the strange thing about this is that everybody seems to accept this explanation, the newspapers carry it, and everything goes along like nothing had happened. The same fellow will be on television next week making another statement.

I am not criticizing this, I'm just asking why it can't have a more widespread use?

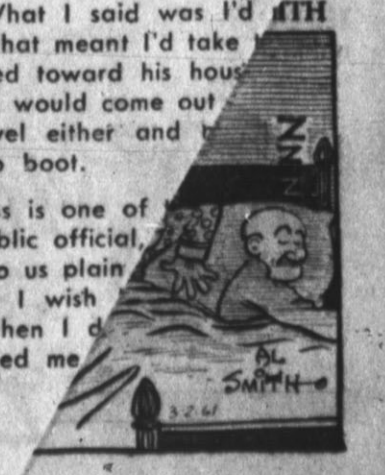

For example, say six months ago I went into the bank and told my banker if he'd let me have some money I'd pay it back on March 9, but here it is March 9 and I can't do it. Why can't I call up the bank and say, "Look here, I got this notice in the mail this morning saying my note was due. There's been a mistake. I been misquoted. I been misconstrued. I been taken out of context. When I said March 9, I didn't mean March 9, 1961, I meant March 9, 1971. There's a big difference, you know. Let's set the record straight."

I don't know why it is, they don't read the newspapers enough I guess, but if you tried to pull this on the bankers I know, the story wouldn't end there, like it does in politics.

Or take my neighbor. He's always misquoting me. Just this morning he came over and said, "Where's your pipe wrench you said you'd return in two hours you borrowed it month before last?"

I said no such thing. What I said was I'd return it in two hours, all right, but that meant I'd take it in returning it when I started toward his house. I said what day the two hours would come out would not up on the national level either and was mad to boot.

This misquotation business is one of the vices ever invented by a public official, to see its use trickle down to us plain when I may say something I wish these letters to you, and when I'd ready to admit you misquoted me.

Communism Dangles Bait Of Greed, Which Must Be Paid For In Freedom

Sometimes, we wonder how people can possibly turn to socialism and communism, especially when they finally compare results with those gained under our own democratic form of government.

Take the problems of the United States today, for instance, and compare them with the problems of Russia and Red China. In this country, our biggest headache stems entirely from over-production. We have too much wheat, too much cotton, too much grain sorghum, too many automobiles, and on and on. In Russia, the final result is exactly the opposite. The people have practically no automobiles, they lived on forced diets far below American standards, and they buy what few clothes they have from utter need, rather than from fluctuating styles.

There are many other phases to the argument, of course, but to practical people, who like to look at results rather than excuses, there seems to be little question concerning the superiority of our own system over that of communism or socialism.

Most people who rally to the cause of proposed socialistic changes and communistic trends, like the hordes who followed Hitler in pre-war Germany, are motivated by bait which center around personal improvement; they think they see a chance to better their own lot over that of their neighbors and fellow citizens. Or, to call a spade a spade, the primary motive is nothing but greed. The price, always, is loss of freedom in exchanged for dictatorship and ultimate slavery.

When tempted with such socialistic inducements as federal control of schools, federal hospitalization and government medical care, it seems to us that people would do well to hesitate long enough to compare conditions which now exist under both systems. Over-production is not an ideal situation, but it is far better than under-production and starvation.

Never yet have people, under any system, created a condition where they consistently get "something for nothing." Money is still a far cheaper medium than those things which must be paid for from our fast dwindling reserve of freedom.

Meetings Account For 'Lost' Hours

If you are one of those people who wonders where all of your time goes, it might be well to check carefully the number of meetings you attend.

We noticed recently with considerable interest a report from the Community center that 346 adult organizational meetings were held in the building, along with 115 student club meetings, 271 campfire and 259 Boy Scout meetings. Add to this several sessions at each of the local churches per week, plus untold meetings held each night at the hospitality rooms of two banks and the gas office, and the total becomes staggering indeed, not to mention regularly scheduled sessions at the schools, Country Club, Chamber of Commerce, hotel, and other gathering places.

Very few of the meetings which fall in above categories are likely to be classified as social or educational, which leaves such things as bridge clubs, dance clubs, study clubs and private parties to pretty well double or triple the number.

Needless to say, much good is bound to come from so many meetings. Committees and gatherings of this type are definitely the backbone of modern America. At the same time, meetings do account for many of our "lost" hours which we find it difficult to account.

Grandma, who carried water from the well to do the family washing each Monday, never dared dream of an automatic washing machine, much less a new-fangled dryer. Grandpa spent hours covering less territory in a wagon or buggy than we spend minutes today. Both, on the other hand, seemed to have far more spare time than does the average American in 1961.

Third Dimensions

An editorial in Life magazine has this to say about the proposal to increase the federal minimum wage and extend its coverage: "That is certainly not going to help the unemployed any. Some jobs just aren't worth more than $1 an hour and to make them illegal is to eliminate them."

The words are blunt, but justified. The extended coverage that is proposed, for example, would be primarily in the retail industry. This industry provides marginal employment for beginners, teenagers, part-time housewives and others whose productive worth is strictly limited. An out-of-line wage would force the elimination of as many of these jobs as possible.

Also, it is hard to square the minimum wage proposal with the President's urge that labor accept wage stabilization in order to help prevent more inflation. An increase in the lowest wage means increases all along the line—the higher paid, skilled workers naturally demand that their differential be maintained. Then the wage-price spiral is off to the races again.

Warn Against Phony Two-For-One Gimmicks

Bill Thompson, Manager of the Chamber of Commerce, reported today that following a nationwide investigation of increasingly prevalent advertising of "two gallons of paint for the price of one," the National Better Business Bureau has issued a bulletin condemning "Buy

One — Get One Free" deals as deceptive, if two units are always offered at a single stated price. Pointing out that several firms in the paint business currently are offering two gallons of paint for the price of one, or for the price of one plus one cent, as their usual and customary method of selling paint, the National Better Business Bureau stated:

"A question arises as to whether this method of selling paint, or any other commodity, involves the sale of one unit and the gift of another, or whether in reality two units at a time are regularly and customarily sold for a single stated price."

"The Bureau believes that a public understanding of "Two-for-One-Sales" is that, for a limited time, two articles are being offered for the usual price at which one has been sold, as a single unit, in the regular course of business.

"When two articles are always offered together for a stated price, and cannot be secured individually in the normal course of business, the customary unit of sale is two, and to imply that the stated price is the regular price for one, and the other is "free" is fallacious. Such a scheme has the tendency and capacity to mislead and deceive the trusting and the gullible and to divert trade unfairly from those who do not use such pricing methods," the Bureau stated.

The NBBB bulletin makes the following recommendations:

"The National Better Business Bureau recommends that such terms as 'Two-for-One-Sale,' 'Two-for-One, Plus One Cent Sale,' 'Buy One — Get One Free' and terms of similar import, may be used accurately to describe limited offers, where in one article is being offered at the price at which is regularly sold independently, as a single unit, and another article is offered without extra cost, or for one cent, as the case may be.

"The National Better Business Bureau further recommends avoidance of such terms as 'Two for One Sale,' and terms of similar import, to describe an offer, wherein two articles of merchandise are regularly and continuously offered in units of two for a single stated price, or for a single stated price plus one cent, as the case may be."

Oklahoma Petitions To Annex Texas Panhandle

The following joint resolution of Oklahoma indicates that the Indians want to annex the Panhandle and then some to their wigwam. It may be that some of the counties of the Panhandle would consent to be cut off from the great State of Texas, because the legislature does not recognize them as a part of the commonwealth. Some south Texas counties and Jake Walters would be willing to give up the whole batch of dry counties as they are a disturbing element. "Whereas the geographical location, similarity of soil, climate, population and the general condition of state of development and many other manifest industrial, social and political advantages naturally suggest that portion of the State of Texas, lying between Oklahoma and New Mexico, should be a part of the State of Oklahoma. Therefore be it resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring therein that it is the sense of the legislature of the State of Oklahoma that the counties of Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Hansford, Sherman, Dallam, Hartley, Moore, Hutchinson, Roberts, Hemphill, Wheeler, Gray, Carson, Potter, Oldham, Deaf Smith, Randall, Armstrong, Donley, Collingworth, Hall, Briscoe, Swisher, Castro, Parmer, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cottle, Hardeman, Wilbarger, and Wichita of the State of Texas should be annexed to and become a part of the State of Oklahoma, and consent to such annexation on behalf of the people of the State of Oklahoma is hereby given upon such terms as well be fair and just to the State of Texas and the people of said counties of Texas and the State of Oklahoma, providing consent thereto shall be given by the Congress of the United States and the Legislature of the State of Texas."

25 YEARS AGO

A survey will get under way in Deaf Smith county shortly to determine the number of individuals interested in rural electrification should it be made available for the territory surrounding Hereford. H. V. Hennen, acting secretary of the chamber of commerce, announced Tuesday. It is believed that about 70 home subscribers are available and that about 55 irrigation wells may be operated by electricity under this project, which the local chamber has been seeking for months. According to an announcement by Hennen at the chamber of commerce luncheon Tuesday, it is probable that a Diesel plant will be installed here to provide the power since utility rates have not been submitted. The plant calls for the formation of a cooperatives society among subscribers to provide the plant. A letter from Boyd Fisher, special assistant to the Rural Electrification administrator at Washington, requested that the survey be made.

CENTER BUILDING BEGINS

Permission was given to the Community Center committee to begin the remodeling on the center building as soon as possible. The City Council told the committee to start the work during the regular meeting Thursday night. The committee reported to the council that $14,200 has been raised toward the goal of $15,000. They also reported that Elmo Jones will be the general contractor, who will report to them for approval of bills. The committee will then be responsible to the council. In other action taken by the council, an ordinance was introduced that amends and strengthens the present parking meter ordinance so that delinquent tickets can now be collected. The new ordinance became necessary because of the large number of parking meter tickets that were unpaid.

HOSPITAL COMMITTEE PLANS PROGRAM

Members of the hospital met this week to lay plans for a hospital study designed to present a program to citizens of the community for improving hospital facilities in Ochiltree county. At a Tuesday night meeting, the committee discussed the problem with doctors from both local hospitals and with members of the commissioners court. Dr. Roy K. Sanford of the Sanford Hospital and Dr. G. L. Kengle of the Perryton Hospital stated to the group that both hospitals would close down immediately upon opening a county hospital. Both doctors said their facilities were overcrowded, their equipment was becoming obsolete, and that the cost of building hospital facilities was beyond the reach of their financial capabilities. Considerable discussion was held relative to the suggested size of a hospital, if it is to be built by the community. It was agreed that the new hospital should be at least 75 beds to offer much improvement over what the community has already.

GRAIN PLAN SIGN-UP SET

Monday and Tuesday of next week have been set for farmers in the Olton, Springlake and Earth communities to sign up for an Emergency Feed Grain Program for 1961. That word was passed on Wednesday by Lamar Aften, Lamb County ASC office manager at Littlefield. The most important part of the program, Aften said is that it provides a means to "get more money into the farmer's pocket". The program is not a law yet, he added, but approved by congress is expected momentarily. The House Agriculture Committee Monday approved the program by 25-5 vote. "Those entering the program will be eligible for price support of about 20 cents above the 1959-60 support price," Aften said. "Although this is a preliminary sign-up" he said, "it will be necessary to sign up every farm on which feed grain was grown in 1959-60."

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm needn't look to us to help him out on the problem he discusses this week. That's his lookout.

Dear editor:

There's a peculiar occurrence that shows up in the news every once in a while that has always puzzled me.

For example, a politician in Austin or Washington will come out with a sensational statement that makes the headlines, then when it turns out he has stepped on somebody's toes higher up, or it didn't have the reaction he thought it was going to have, or maybe it made him look like a monkey, he calls in the reporters a second time and announces he was misquoted.

Now the strange thing about this is that everybody seems to accept this explanation, the newspapers carry it, and everything goes along like nothing had happened. The same fellow will be on television next week making another statement.

I am not criticizing this, I'm just asking why it can't have a more widespread use?

For example, say six months ago I went into the bank and told my banker if he'd let me have some money I'd pay it back on March 9, but here it is March 9 and I can't do it. Why can't I call up the bank and say, "Look here, I got this notice in the mail, this morning saying my note was due. There's been a mistake. I been misquoted. I been misconstrued. I been taken out of context. When I said March 9, I didn't mean March 9, 1961, I meant March 9, 1971. There's a big difference, you know. Let's set the record straight."

I don't know why it is, they don't read the newspapers enough I guess, but if you tried to pull this on the bankers I know, the story wouldn't end there, like it does in politics.

Or take my neighbor. He's always misquoting me. Just this morning he came over and said, "Where's that pipe wrench you said you'd return in two hours when you borrowed it month before last?"

I said no such thing. What I said was I'd return it in two hours, all right, but that meant I'd take two hours in returning it when I started toward his house, I didn't say what day the two hours would come out of. But he's not up on the national level either and he wanted it right then and was mad to boot.

This misquotation business is one of the handiest devices ever invented by a public official, and I would like to see its use trickle down to us plain citizens. No telling when I may say something I wish I hadn't in one of these letters to you, and when I do, I hope you stand ready to admit you misquoted me.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Blue And Gold Banquet On Monday For Cub Scouts

BY MRS. R. L. PINNELL
The annual Blue and Gold Banquet for Cub Scouts was held Monday night in the Adrian school cafeteria. Special guests were the members of the newly organized Boy Scout Troop. Also attending was Louis Machuca, district scout executive from Hereford.

The boys and their mothers Mrs. A. P. Jones, Mrs. T. Lewis and Mrs. Earl Brown have been busy for several weeks getting table decorations ready for the occasion. The head table displayed a "Cub Scout Genius" complete to the light bulb installed in his forehead. Another table bore a "Genie" in full turban and named Geni-usnite.

Each boy brought the project which he had made from the Cub Scout Genius Kit with the help of his father. Covered wagons, sail boats, a train engine and several hurricane lamps were among the completed projects which greatly interested the attending guests.

The Rev. Gene Moore led the group in the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" which was followed by the invocation by the Rev. Ross Blasengame. Cub Scout Master John T. Lewis welcomed the guests and Louis Machuca introduced the local leader and special guests.

Everyone joined in a song fest led by the scout; and the Cub Scouts presented a stunt which left the entire audience in good spirits as the evening continued.

The Rev. J. R. Manning installed the boy who had attained the rank of Bobcat as the presentation of awards began. Receiving the Bobcat Award was Joel Blasengame.

Presenting the Wolf Award was Coach Don Johnson. The boys who attained the rank of Wolf were Bobby Harwood, Joel Brownlee, Freddie Fleschute, Bruce Kromer, and Wayne Bronniman. Attaining the rank of Wolf and also receiving other special awards were Jimmy Dale Clark who received two silver arrowheads and a pin for one year's service, Mike Perry, who received a dinner stripe and Jim Calvin, who received a one year service star.

Dwane Gruhkey, who attained the rank of Lion, was presented an award by Jim Calvin. Jim Perrin, presented awards to the scouts who had attained the rank of Bear. Attaining the rank of Bear and also receiving special awards were Charles Harwood, who received one gold arrow point and two silver ones along with a one year service star; Jim Bob Perrin, who received gold arrow point and a one year service star; Johnnie Lewis, who received a gold arrow point and a one year service star; and Raymond Jones, who received three silver arrow points and a two year service star.

Machuca installed the boys who had attained the rank of Webelos. Receiving the Webelos rank and other special awards were Larry Loveless, who received a three year service star; David Gruhkey, received a three year service star; Richard Harwood, who received a three year service star. Also receiving awards for attaining the rank of Webelos were Stanley Heaton, Alton Dale Whitten and Dale Gruhkey.

George Harwood received his certificate as den chief and the group was presented its charter by Louis Machuca. The Cubs gathered in a circle to give the Cub Scout promise to end the banquet which 80 people had attended.

Special recognition goes to local WSCS for the serving of the banquet. Mrs. N. L. Jacobs on was in charge of the kitchen. She was assisted by Mesdames E. N. Jacobson, V. E. Lemke, Lorin Creitz, Ernest Frank and M. H. Zaring Jr.

The local Lions Club fund raising Minstrel Show was termed a success despite the prairie fire which greatly affected the Wildorado club's personnel. An unofficial report stated that $400 was raised by this project. The side of beef was won by Tom Fields.

Work will now proceed on the city park. The men have planted a row of trees in the park and water has been installed. Future plans include a building concrete benches and tables, and a barbecue pit.

A cash donation will be paid on the new city fire truck. The Lions Club is taking this method of thanking the many people who helped with their project.

The local FHA group and several mothers greatly enjoyed the trip to Lubbock to attend the area FHA meeting which was held last Friday and Saturday. Mrs. Don Johnson led the girls through a tour of the Texas Tech campus.

The girls registered for the meeting Saturday morning at the Municipal Auditorium. The theme of the conference was "Freedom - The Heritage of America." The Texas Tech Band presented several numbers before the opening ceremony. The Army Air Force ROTC presented the colors and the girls were welcomed by many Lubbock officials.

Dr. W. E. Thorn, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church of Lubbock, gave the address. At 10:40 Saturday morning the house of delegates was presented and the elections were held.

Making the trip were Paula Creitz, Kathy Kromer, Donna Brownlee, Sue Brownlee, Madeline Weidner, Linda Gruhkey, Twilla Milner, Glenda Homfeld, Jo Heaton, Peggy Sifford, Coralie Fortenberry, Phyllis Peters, Michael Hayes, Mesdames Lorin Creitz, C. F. Homfeld, Bob Gruhkey and Don Johnson.

Mrs. Gene Moore was honored Saturday afternoon with a pink and blue shower in the fellowship hall of the Methodist Church. The serving was decorated in blue and white. The skirt of the table was fashioned to resemble a bassinet with netting and ribbon. The centerpiece was a low crystal bowl with a wire stand holding a tin in the middle of blue tinted water. Blue and pink egg shell creeds with tiny babies tucked neatly in blankets floated on the water.

Mrs. Nelson Seago mother of the honoree, Mrs. Roddy Seago sister-in-law of the honoree, both of Clarendon along with Mrs. Bennie Hill from Amarillo, sister of Mrs. Moore, were special guests at the affair. White cakes decorated with "Baby" in blue letters and fruit punch were served to the 40 guests that attended.

The Adrian Junior High basketball team attended the Panhandle Junior Conference Tournament held last weekend in Channing. The boys downed Hartley 35-12 with Mike Horton hitting 12 points. The girls downed Texline 23-19 as Linda Pinnell canned 16 points.

In Friday night's action, both teams fell to strong opposition. The boys' team was beaten by Texline 23-16 despite Bill Perry's hitting 10 points. The girls' squad lost to Channing 23-17 with Linda Pinnell scoring 11 points for the losers.

Saturday night the girls again lost to a hot Hartley sextet as Linda Pinnell scored 9 points. The boys rebounded from their earlier loss and downed Cactus to the tune of 43-37. Bill Perry hit 21 points to lead the Adrian quintet.

The boys' team was presented a trophy, and Bill Perry was selected for the boys' all-tournament team. The girls' all-tournament squad listed Linda Pinnell and Myrna Zaring.

Several of the local businessmen have made it possible for the high school track team to have new jerseys. According to Coach Johnson, the jerseys have been ordered and are maroon with a white sash. The businesses which contributed to the project are Loveless Oil Co., Adrian Mercantile, Adrian Wheat Growers, Messers and Mesdames Carroll Gruhkey, Billy Johnson, Wilbur Harris, Fred Harwood, Grady Fridmore, Bob Gruhkey, Loren Creitz, S. S. Fincher, W. C. Edmonds, and Lester Houston. Grady Skaggs also helped raise money for the jerseys.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Pounds left Adrian Saturday for Skelton, where they visited cousins, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Moran. On Sunday the two couples drove to Guymon, Okla., where they visited other cousins, the Tom Black family.

Dee Ballard of Purcell, Okla., is serving as relief operator at the Rock Island Railroad depot while Ed O. Lemons takes a two-week vacation.

The R. D. Sisk family, who have maintained the Lovess Courts for the past seven years moved March 1 to their new home in east Adrian. The home was formerly owned by the "Pappy" Griggs family.

J. L. Bell of Vega was injured on the Porter Ranch Wednesday when he was struck in the mouth by a lever on a branding chute. Lloyd Heaton, the ranch foreman, took Bell to Hereford where he was treated by both a doctor and a dentist. Bell was reported to have lost several teeth and to be suffering from severe lacerations around the mouth.

Jim Bob Briggs of Dalhart was visiting his grandparents, the W. C. Briggs, this weekend.

Miss L'Dada Morgan became a member of the James Morgan family upon her birth in the Army Hospital in Huntsville, Ala. Maternal grandmother is Mrs. Neil Morgan of Adrian. Paternal grandmother is Mrs. Jessie Jordan of Sudan.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Blasengame enjoyed a Sunday visit from his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Don Johnson of Amarillo, and Don's parents of Hereford.

Salesmen Honored

Thomas J. (Bill) Morris of Charlie Seeds Motor Company, has been selected as one of the nation's leading Ford dealership salesmen and has received the Ford Motor Company's Top Hat Award.

Morris, who was one of Ford Motor Company's ten top salesmen in the Oklahoma City district, attended the annual district awards banquet in Oklahoma City Saturday night. Attending the banquet with Morris was Gerald Wilson, who was also honored for his sales work with Charlie Seeds Motors.

The citation awarded to Morris is given to only one per cent of the nation's Ford salesmen annually, and represents the highest sales honor accorded by the Company.

Mrs. J. R. Caldwell of Bovina visited last week with the family of her son, the Bob Caldwell of Adrian.

Mrs. Cotton Johnson of Adrian left Friday with her children and her brother, Mrs. Dick McNabb, for Tucson, Ariz., where her mother is seriously ill.

Speaker Outlines School History

Dr. L. B. Barnett, a member of the present board, was guest speaker when the Hereford Rural High School District trustees entertained more than 50 past board members and guests Tuesday night at a dinner.

He spoke on the broad history of education and gave some background on the Hereford school system.

"Education really came into being about 4000 B. C.," he said, "when a written language came into being and enabled people to transmit ideas.

"But during 400-300 B. C. our present educational system came into being under the Greek democracy. They had two basic concepts of education: training for citizenship and a well-rounded individual.

"From them, we have maintained our basic concepts of training in mathematics, science, art, language and athletics."

By 1200 A. D. liberal arts training had made its appearance, but education was dominated by the churches.

The period 1300-1900 A. D. reopened the old Greek concepts with the Scientific Age and the Age of Reason.

"Education from 1600-1800 followed this pattern of the Greeks, but it was education just for a picked few leaders who would contribute to society.

"Our colonial government established state-supported 'free' schools with compulsory attendance rules. Higher institutions followed the educational patterns established in Europe.

"The first trade school was established in this country in 1751, while the first state-supported college dates back to 1830."

Dr. Barnett told the group that the pattern was well-established when this part of the nation was settled, with early education centering around the

"They only train a selected few and then train them well in only one narrow field. For instance, a Russian boy who is going to be a doctor decides in high school what his specialty will be. If he is going to be an ear doctor, he studies nothing else."

In concluding, he said, "Frankly, I have little patience with a parent who fusses about school taxes. . . . We mustn't be short on the training that takes up where home and church leave off."

bond issue passed on a 111-33 vote. Total valuation at that time was $1,132,000, with a tax rate of 50 cents per $100 valuation.

The budget that year, he commented, listed 10 teachers at $55 per month each, while the principal received $100 a month.

Apparently Hereford didn't grow much after that until wheat started becoming a big crop, Dr. Barnett said. In 1925, voters approved a bond issue of $125,000 for the old high school building (now Stanton Junior High's original building). This vote was about 3-1, but valuations had jumped to about $6 million.

At present, the Hereford school plants are valued at about $2 million, with $32 million valuation and a $1.70 tax rate.

"We now have about 2700 enrollment and operate at slightly below the national average cost per pupil per year. In 1880 the cost was $7-8 per child, it was $150 per child in 1940 and now averages $455 per child," he stated.

"You've all heard how poor our schools are compared with those in Europe and Russia," Dr. Barnett said, "But a school dominated by church, state or

OWN TAXABLE PROPERTY IN SAID CITY AND WHO HAVE DULY RENDERED THE SAME FOR TAXATION:
TAKE NOTICE that an election will be held in the City of Hereford, Texas, on the 21st day of March, 1961, in obedience to an ordinance duly entered by the City Commission of the City of Hereford, Texas, on the 27th day of February, 1961, which is as follows:

"AN ORDINANCE by the City Commission of the City of Hereford, Texas, calling an election for the authorization of $180,000 general obligation bonds for a capital project, to-wit: constructing street improvements in and for said City; and enacting provisions incident and relating to the subject and purpose of this ordinance."

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF HEREFORD:

SECTION 1: That an election be held on the 21st day of March, 1961, which date is not less than fifteen (15) nor more than thirty (30) days from the date of the adoption of this ordinance, at which election the following proposition shall be submitted to the resident qualified electors who own taxable property in said City, and who have duly rendered the same for taxation:

"SHALL THE City Commission of the City of Hereford, Texas be authorized to issue the bonds of said City in the total principal amount of ONE HUNDRED EIGHTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($180,000), said bonds to mature serially over a period of years not to exceed thirty (30) years from the date thereof, and to bear interest at a rate of not to exceed FIVE PER CENTUM (5%) per annum, payable annually or semi-annually for a capital project, to-wit: constructing street improvements in and for said City; and to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds by levying a tax sufficient to pay the annual interest and to create a sinking fund sufficient to redeem said bonds as they become due?"

The City Commission finds that the probable period of usefulness of the improvements for which the bonds funds are to be expended is thirty (30) years.

Wall Plaques

Pleasing wall plaques for a child's room can be made with a small frame, a piece of glass, an amusing decal, and some paint. Transfer the decal to the glass and paint the reverse side. For this purpose, aluminum or bronze paint is particularly suitable, as it will reflect the figure in the manner of a mirror. When dry, the glass is framed. Several such plaques will do much to add to the gaiety of the room.

Paint Stains

Soak the stains in paint remover and rub out as much as possible, then launder. To soften the paint rub in petroleum jelly or lard.

Good For Geraniums

Some cigar or cigarette ashes, dropped in the soil in which geraniums are growing, helps to promote a long and healthy life of the plant.

Furniture Polish

One simple and inexpensive homemade furniture polish is obtained by adding two tablespoons of olive oil and one of vinegar to a quart of warm water. Keep this solution warm while using. It will wash off dust and leave a light oil treatment on the wood. Rub dry with a clean, soft cloth.

Shoe Repair

If the insole from the bedroom slipper has been lost, it may be replaced by cutting one from a discarded felt hat. This kind of insole is also very comfortable when put inside the house shoes one wears

Sachet Powder

Good and cheap sachet powder for dresser drawers can be made by mixing one-half ounce of lavender flowers with one-half teaspoonful of powder and cloves.

Tighter Casters

If the caster assemblies fall out of the legs of furniture, try this solution: Select a dowel of a size that is a tight fit in the hole in the leg, coat the dowel with glue, and drive it in place. When the glue has set, saw off the dowel flush with the bottom of the leg. Drill a new hole slightly smaller in diameter than the sleeve of the caster, coat the sleeve with soap, and drive it into place.

Rubber Bathing Cap

Use a rubber bathing cap while dusting. It is also good to wear when working with kerosene, gasoline, or anything that might leave odors on the hair when the hands touch it.

Head Colds

A bad head cold can often be relieved by placing a piece of camphor in an old saucer, setting it on fire, and after burning for a few minutes, blowing it out and inhaling the fumes.

Organized Labor Growth Traced At Lions Club

Growth of organized labor in the United States was traced for the Hereford Lions Club at noon Wednesday by Roy Reinarz of Amarillo.

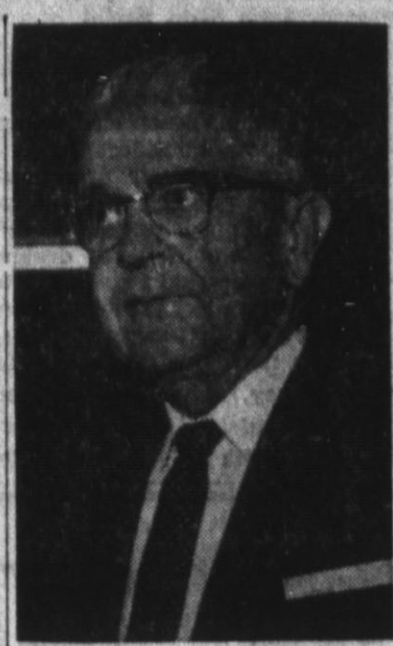

Using color slides to illustrate his points, Reinarz told how organized labor has grown from about 3.4 million members after World War I to more than 1.8 million at present.

"Kingpin of the 18 million members in 186 unions is the powerful AFL-CIO, which controls more than 15 million members," he said.

Organization of the Noble Order of the Knights of Labor in 1869 and its growth to 700,000 members was the start of the labor movement in the United States, he pointed out.

Reinarz then traced the growth as follows: 1886, the AFL was organized with Samuel Gompers president, with 138,000 members; half million members in 1900, 1 1/2 million in 1904; 2 million in 1917 and 4 million in 1920.

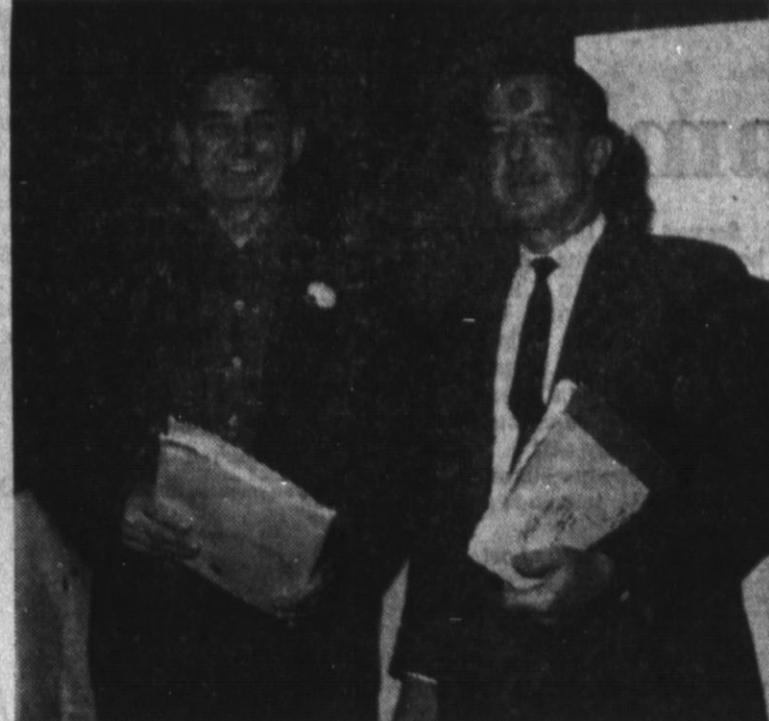

In 1913, he said, the United States Department of Labor was formed with cabinet rank during a period of strife. Since then there have been many federal legislative acts. The Railway Labor Act in 1926 established collective bargaining, the Davis-Bacon Act in 1931 allowed wage-setting, the Norris-LaGuardia Act in 1932 gave a freer hand to labor unions.

Until passage of the Taft-Hartley Act in 1947, he said, little was done to correct union evils. The 1959 steel strike, which lasted 116 days, cost the government, the workers, the companies, and the railroads about $4,850,000,000, Reinarz said.

TWO NEW MEMBERS were taken into Hereford Lions Club during Wednesday's meeting. They are Tony Bartis, left, and Ted Panceira. Another new member, Aubrey Cook, was not present.

Three new Lions were taken into the club. They are Aubrey Cook, Tony Bartis and Ted Panceira.

Irish Food Would Taste Familiar

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles about foods from other countries. The new dishes often, variations of familiar ones, are served one day each month in the Hereford school cafeterias. This is done through the cooperation of the Health and Safety Committee of the County Planning Council and the school dietitian, Mrs. Joe Smith.)

Can you guess which people in all the world, eat the most? Surprisingly enough, it is the Irish. They have the largest caloric intake of any country in the world.

Part of this is due to their climate, which is damp and rather chilly for the greater part of the year and part is due to the fact that a large and delicious assortment of foods is available to them. Ireland is not noted for its cuisine, but it is noted for its good food.

This seeming paradox is caused by the fact that the Irish cook, like her counterpart in our own Midwest, is content to put an unembellished dish on the table and let its own goodness tempt the appetite.

Dairy foods, fish, excellent beef and pork and potatoes and cabbage are all abundant. The onion is the vegetable used not only as a vegetable, but as the major seasoning.

A typical Irish breakfast would consist of oatmeal served with thick cream and bacon and fresh eggs. Tea would replace coffee, but otherwise the American visitor would feel right at home. Lunch and dinner would also please an American because he could sit down to ham, roast beef, lamb chops or stew with an accompaniment of familiar vegetables.

Served with these meals would be the delicious Irish soda bread and since that is the one dish that may be new to you, perhaps you might wish to try the following tested recipe:

- Irish Soda Bread
4 and 1/2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons sugar
3 and 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
6 tablespoons shortening
1 cup raisins
1 cup currants
2 cups top milk
- Sift flour, measure and sift with salt and baking powder. Work in shortening. Add fruit and milk. Mix well, but do not overmix. Turn into a loaf pan and bake in a moderate oven (350) degrees for 50 minutes. If you wish to substitute a cup or two of stone ground Arrowhead whole wheat flour for the white flour the result will be very good. Instead of a loaf pan, you may wish to form the dough into a round loaf and bake on a cookie sheet. This makes more typical "Irish" loaf. Brush the top with melted butter while it is still warm.

This bread gets even better after standing a few days . . .
If you can hide it that long! Now you may wish to take a look at our St. Patrick's Day menu. Here it is:

- Cabbage a la'Erin
- Irish Soda Bread
- Honey Butter
- Shamrock Pudding
- Milk

Just as the French chef, whose creations we considered last month, would never dream of serving a pudding without a fluff of whipped cream, so the Irish cook would never dream of serving a pudding without a pitcher of thick, golden cream to pour over that same pudding.

Our menu for this month is a homey, satisfying sort of meal which should be a favorite with all. Next month we will travel across Europe behind the Iron Curtain to sample Kolaches! See you then.

OFF THE Shelf

BY H. A. TUCK

Don't read Return of the Tiger by Brian Connolly unless you can be satisfied with an unfinished story.

Connell, through tedious research, got enough information to partially reconstruct the exploits of Ivan Lyon, one of World War II's unsung heroes.

A new book at the Deaf Smith County library, this non-fiction volume of 258 pages is exciting adventure.

Lyon was a young officer at Singapore at the opening of the war. As refugees streamed out of the city before the invading Japanese, Lyon's young wife and infant son were captured. Lyon and others of the British Army retreated raggedly, having no plan formulated to harass the enemy.

Back in Australia, Lyon became obsessed with the idea of a daring raid on Singapore. With his ever-present pipe and a large tiger tattooed on his chest, Lyon stubbornly chopped through red tape and staff objections until he got his wish.

With a tiny crew and a rickety old schooner, he sailed across 2000 miles of enemy-held ocean to the island chain near the port city. Leaving a skeleton crew on the ancient vessel, Lyon and five other men took three boats and paddled them into Singapore.

The Japanese, protected by friendly seas, had no security provisions and it was easy for Lyon and his men to attach small magnetic mines to seven ships. One of the pairs, however, had a frightening experience when a freighter crewmen looked at them inquisitively through a porthole while they attached the mines.

All seven ships exploded and sank, while the Japanese frantically sought the enemy agents who had planted explosives inside the ships.

Lyon and his crew returned to Australia without a scratch. On leave in England, Lyon heard of some small two-man submarines that could be used by divers using air tanks. Although only two had been built on an experimental basis, he managed to get approval for 15 of them for his next foray to Singapore.

He also managed to have a submarine and its crew turned over to him. It would allow the raiders to get much closer without detection.

In spite of his initial successes, many higher commanders were slow to approve the plan. But Lyon chipped away until he had gotten what he wanted.

After a period of training, the group sailed toward Singapore. There, the story became fragmentary. The assault crews were left behind while the submarine went hunting for tanker convoys. When the sub returned, there were no raiders.

There were some clues, but not many and finally the sub reluctantly returned to Australia.

After the war, some reports from natives and former Japanese army personnel began to come in, bits from here and pieces from there. But the story still doesn't tie together in a nice, neat package. Lyon and all of his raiders were dead following the complete failure of their mission. The reports which eventually came out were old and fragmentary.

Return of the Tiger, however, remains as a fine tale of daring exploits in enemy territory during the War. It also is a story of an unusual type of man, brooding Ivan Lyon, the man with the tiger on his chest.
