IN CHAMBER POLL

Residents Split On State Issues

The Chamber of Commerce reported the results of its second Legislative Action poll today. Results indicated a much greater division of opinion on State issues than on National issues.

An interesting observation was that exactly the same number of votes were counted this time as were on the first ballot. However four ballots more were received this time but were not counted because they were not signed.

The individual votes of each member are kept strictly confidential with only the Chamber Manager seeing the individual cards. The compiled results are sent to congressional representatives in Austin and Washington. Very appreciative letters were received on the first poll from Walter Rogers, Ralph Yarborough, and William Blakley...

The first issue appearing on the ballot was HB 234 providing for organized driver education for pupils in the public free schools. Seventy-nine voted for, 17 voted against and four had no opinion.

The second issue was HJR 5 proposing a Constitutional Amendment so as to authorize city governments to make certain grants as an incentive for establishing business enterprises. The vote was 42 for, 53 against and again four expressed no opinion. HJR 23 proposing an Amendment to the State Constitution to repeal the poll tax was defeated by only one vote with 47 for, 48 against and four not voting.

On the National issues there was much more agreement, 94 voted against, three voted for. (Continued on page 2)

Farmers Invited To Grain Meet

A conference of great interest to grain sorghum growers of this area will be held March 7 and 8 at the Herring Hotel in Amarillo. To be conducted in the Crystal Ballroom, there will also be facilities for information sessions by individuals or groups with the two-day activities.

Announcement of the forthcoming conference was made by Frank Moore, president of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association. The Association is joined by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and Texas Technological College in sponsoring the meeting...

Perrin Files For Office Of County Trustee

J. V. Perrin filed as a candidate for county school trustee from Precinct 4 shortly before the deadline Wednesday afternoon.

He will oppose incumbent H. M. Benson in the only contested county trustee race.

Filing for re-election last week were Melvin May, Commissioner's Precinct One; J. C. Morrison, Precinct Two; and Benson.

Jim Monroe is the only candidate for the trustee place on the Walcott board, Jack Weaver, whose term expires this year, did not seek re-election.

There were no more candidates to join the six who announced before the Wednesday deadline for the two Hereford Rural High School trusteeships. Those running include incumbents Tom Robinson and W. P. Axe, plus Donald L. Baugous, Dr. Westlie B. Owen, Labry E. Ballard and Johnny Johnson.

Terms are for three years. Both elections will be held Saturday, April 1.

Ray Cowsert And J. T. Boynton Seek City Posts

There will be contested races in two of the three city elections, slated for April 4.

Ray Cowsert, Hereford attorney, filed his candidacy for mayor shortly before the deadline Friday afternoon. He became the third candidate for the post.

Also announcing his candidacy was Hereford grocer J. T. Boynton. He will run for the post of Commissioner, Place Two.

Thus, the ballot will show three candidates for mayor, two for Place Two and one for Place One.

In the mayor's race are Cowsert, Howard Gault and Troy Moore. Gault is a cattle raiser and grower-shipper for vegetables. Moore is a wholesale and retail petroleum dealer.

Opposing Boynton will be incumbent Gid Brownd, who is finishing up his first two-year term.

Moore presently is serving his second two-year term on the Commission. His term as Commissioner does not expire until 1962.

Only unopposed candidate will be W. L. "Bill" Davis Jr., who is a candidate for Commissioner, Place One. The present commissioner, Don Little, did not run.

DEFENDING CHAMPS

Baseball Opens Here Tuesday

Defending their District I-AAA title, the Hereford High baseball players get their first taste of action here Tuesday at 4 p.m.

The will host the powerful Plainview Bulldogs here in the first of three games between the two teams. Hereford will return the honors with a doubleheader in Plainview Saturday.

Head coach for the Whitefaces is different this year, but that is about the only change. Athletic director Cuby Kitchens will direct the Herd this year, assisted by Harlan Voyles. Kitchens was assistant to Joe Smith last year. Smith decided not to coach this season.

Only one player was lost by graduation from last year's conference championship team.

That was pitcher Donnie Marcotell.

Kitchens still hadn't named his starting line-up this weekend and wasn't expected to decide until after Monday's workout.

But the probable starting line-up would include: Wesley Fouch, junior and one-year letterman, catcher; Charlie Burrus, senior and two-year letterman, first base; Greg Combs, senior with two letters, or John Buck, junior with one letter, second base; Edwin Thomas, senior with two letters, third base; Jim Collier, senior and two-year letterman, or Combs, shortstop; Ronnie Botkin, senior and two-year letterman, left field; Charlie Thomas, senior and two-year letterman, center field; and Dan McDowell, junior and two letters, right field.

Sophomore Bill Steele is pushing Burrus hard for the first base spot, but Burrus' booming bat in practice sessions probably will give him the nod.

Junior Ronnie Grey is looking good at third and shortstop, while sophomore Dick Combs also is fielding well at the shortstop position.

Starting pitcher for the Herd hasn't been named yet, but the nod is expected to go to big

Feed Grain Survey Slated Mar. 6-21

Deaf Smith County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office Thursday morning announced that it will conduct its first Feed Grain Survey March 6-21 to supply information requested this week by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

The ASC office in Hereford has asked that all county farmers submit information on 1959-60 feed grain acreage for their crops of corn, grain sorghum, barley and oats.

Faust Collier, County ASC office manager, said the information is "urgently needed" as it will be used in connection with any feed grain legislation which the Congress may enact at this time or any future feed grain legislation.

"We feel the most practical way of compiling this report is for the farmer to come to the ASC office and supply the needed information concerning his acreage of crops grown on his farm during those two years, regardless of their use," Collier explained.

If a farmer is unable to supply the information in person, at the ASC office, he should call or notify the office immediately and a report form will be mailed to him. The report will cover more than 1300 farms in this county.

"If it is not possible for us to get this information from the owner or operator of the farm," the office manager said, "it will be necessary to estimate the acreage. This is never satisfactory if accurate information can be obtained."

Due to the short time in which the complete report must be compiled, field men would be unable to contact every farmer in this county — and the procedure would be expensive as well as time-consuming, Collier commented.

"We feel that any farmer who produces feed grains will want his base acreage established as accurately as possible since the base established will possibly affect his use of any feed grain program that is offered now or later," Collier said. "We have always had wonderful response on these calls for the assistance of the farmer."

13 County Clubs Schedule Four-H Week Observances

Hundreds of 4-H Club members in Deaf Smith County will observe National 4-H Week, March 5-11, with special gatherings and activities.

Majority of the members will attend morning worship services at the Avenue Baptist Church on March 5. Members of the Clubs at Walcott and Adrian will attend services at the Adrian Baptist Church.

Programs will be presented to the Optimist Club on Tuesday and the Lions Club in Hereford on Wednesday by 4-H members. The programs will include some methods demonstrations and a sampling of the skits which were presented during the Share-the-Fun Festival here last week.

From 7:45-8 a. m. Monday through Friday, members will present original radio programs over KPAN.

Three window exhibits will be on display in downtown stores in Hereford. These will be at C. R. Anthony Co., Tannahill Variety Store and Streu Hardware. There also will be exhibits at Walcott and Adrian Schools. These have been planned by 4-H members, their leaders and the assistant home demonstration agent, Miss Loreta Fowler.

There are 13 clubs in the county, ten for girls and three for boys. Miss Fowler is coordinator for the girls' clubs and county agriculture agent J. W. (Continued on page 2)

Family To Get Honor Sunday

The Marvin S. Diller family of St. Anthony's Parish in Hereford, recently chosen Catholic Family of the Year for the Diocese of Amarillo, will be presented with a Papal Blessing received from Pope John XXIII Sunday morning.

The family will receive the Papal Blessing from Bishop John L. Morkovskiy, D. D., of Amarillo following the 8 a. m. Pontifical Low Mass to be celebrated in St. Anthony's Church.

On basis of religious practices and contributions to the community, parish and the familial life of others, the family was named for the honor in January. The Dillers live on a farm 13 miles northeast of Hereford.

Mrs. Berend Is Buried Saturday

HEREFORD FIREMEN probe beneath a floor to see that no flames remain at a house fire Friday morning. The call to 111 Lake Street at 6 a. m. is one of five fires in the county in a 24-hour period after a time of little activity for the fire department. Damage to the unoccupied house belonging to Norman Gandy of Lamesa was estimated at $3,000. A roll of linoleum left on a floor furnace was believed responsible for the smoldering fire.

This is one division of the Seventh District, Texas Federation of Music Clubs. Other division festivals will be held at Borger and Lubbock.

How Can I?

BY ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make the peeling of hard-cooked eggs much easier?

A. By adding salt to the water in which eggs are hard-cooked, you harden the shell and make it much easier to strip off. A quick dunk in cold water helps, too, as does rolling the egg around to crush the shell somewhat before you begin peeling.

Q. What decoration idea will "lower" an old-fashioned high-ceilinged room?

A. You can make this room appear lower by painting its walls a dark color, the ceiling very light or white.

Q. How can I improvise a cork when I've lost the real article?

A. A very satisfactory substitute for a lost cork is an inch or two of candle. Soften up the wax a bit and your candle "cork" will fit.

Q. How can I remove scorch stains from a white shirt?

A. Scorch marks are not, strictly speaking, stains. They are burns. If not too serious and is treated in time, it may be removable. Sponge with a cloth dipped in peroxide, and then iron again. Or, cover with a cloth dipped in peroxide, put a dry cloth on top, and then iron again.

Q. How can I remove some grease spots from wallpaper?

A. Make a paste of cornstarch and water. Let remain until dry, then brush off. If this doesn't work try a paste of fuller's earth and carbon tetrachloride, and use the same manner.

Q. How can I prevent cream from curdling when poured over acid berries of fruits?

A. By mixing a small pinch of baking soda with the cream before serving.

Q. How can I make a candle fit firmly into a too-large holder?

A. Burn down an old candle stub - or a half-inch from the bottom of the new one - in the holder. Next, press the heat-softened bottom of the new candle firmly down on the still-burning stub. The candle will then adhere to its new holder-fitting base.

Q. How can I make some of the locks in our house work less sluggishly?

A. A shot of graphite powder into your locks about once a year will keep them in smooth operating condition. If you don't have any graphite handy, blow some pencil-point shavings into the lock - this works fine, too.

Q. How can I insure knit woollens keeping their shape when laundering?

A. You can do this if you'll dry them by blocking back to shape on special dryers. Never put knit woollens into an automatic dryer!

Q. How can I restore butter which has taken on the flavor of something else in the refrigerator?

A. Soak the butter for 12 or 16 hours in cold water, to which a pinch of bicarbonate of soda has been dissolved. The taste of the butter will then be as pleasing as ever.

Although both are observing their "week" at the same time, we can't think of groups we'd rather salute than the public schools and the 4-H Clubs.

Some say, "The schools are great!" While others contend they don't rate. This week, leave opinions behind. Visit and see what you might find.

The legislation proposed by President Kennedy to provide medical care for the aged through an increase in Social Security Taxes was opposed 90 against to eight for with two not voting.

Chamber Manager Bill Thompson stressed Saturday that these results do not necessarily reflect a position of the Chamber of Commerce. They are the voted opinion of approximately one-third of the present membership of the organization.

Individual expressions of opinion written directly to Congressmen are still a far more effective instrument than any such polls said. The Chamber of Commerce stands ready to assist any one to address a letter to his Congressman regardless of which side of the issues he may favor.

In junior high, the students are counseled as to their needs in future studies and the types of work which they might seek.

Study in high school becomes choice as to subject matter. Emphasis is placed upon a well-rounded education, working both to prepare students who will attend college after graduation, and those who will marry or go to work.

How Can I?

Q. How can I reney kitchen linoleum whose pattern is badly worn, but which is still usable?
A. Wash the linoleum well, then apply two coats of any desired color of paint. When dry, use a combination of any two or three colors of quick-drying enamel and apply each separately with a whiskbroom. To apply, dip lightly in the paint and stipple drops of different sizes on the linoleum base. Let dry overnight. Then apply a light coating of clear shellac. An attractive floor covering at small cost is the result.

Q. Have you any suggestions for improving the flavor of hams?
A. After boiling the ham, wrap it in buttered paper, bake for an hour, and then broil over its improved flavor.

Q. How can I clean white enamelware?
A. By dipping a wet cloth into baking soda, and rubbing this on the ware - and you don't have to spare the soda.

Q. How can I deodorize gasoline?
A. By adding five or six drops of oil of sassafras to each quart of gasoline used.

Sighted Sub . . . 'Spudded' Same

HONOLULU (AP) - The destroyer escort O'Bannon has many citations and battle ribbons but its crew is proudest of a plaque awarded the destroyer by the Maine Potato Growers Assn.

The bronze plaque was presented the Pearl Harbor-based destroyer for sinking a Japanese submarine with potatoes.

It happened in the South Pacific during World War II when the O'Bannon caught the submarine napping on the surface. A well-placed hit from the destroyer sheared off the sub's conning tower.

The sub moved in too close for the destroyer's big guns to bear on the target. Japanese crewmen poured on deck with small arms.

The destroyer's pistols and rifles were below in the armory. The only close means of defense was the potato locker. O'Bannon crewmen bombarded the enemy with potatoes. One Japanese crewman was knocked overboard. Others thought the potatoes were hand grenades.

The confusion gave the destroyer time to move away far enough to fire on the sub and sink it.

The O'Bannon went through the battles of Guadalcanal and Leyte Gulf and holds three Navy Crosses, three Silver Stars, two Legions of Merit, a Presidential Unit Citation - and the only potato throwing citation in the world.

Walter's affection for stones goes back to his childhood. "I used to come home with my pockets full of rocks," he says. "And my mother would throw them away."

It's just a hobby with them, for they are members of the Lapidary and Gem Society of New York. And they're a diverse lot.

President Joseph Rothstein is a Navy engineer, secretary Martin Walter a hotel manager, Walter Lustig an attorney, Sam Sankman drives a taxi, Catherine Paige is a beautician. There are about 50 of them in all.

You will find Martin Walter most any Saturday morning hunched over his gem cutting equipment in a dusty corner of the hotel carpentry shop, practicing what the society preaches.

Gem cutting as a hobby, says Walter, has grown mightily in recent years. Most larger cities have lapidary societies, particularly on the West Coast where the nearby desert offers a rich supply of stones.

The New York society is a 10-year-old offspring of the Mineralogical Society of New York, and rather a black sheep.

"The mineralogical society looks down on us for spoiling good mineral specimens to make gems of," says Walter.

Most of the society's specimens come from New Jersey and Connecticut. Hardly anything turns up in New York City.

"The only thing I ever found was some chert and Jasper in a small excavation at 96th St. and Broadway," says Walter.

"Professor Dan O'Connell, who used to be at CCNY, told me there once was a stream running down what is now 96th Street.

"He thinks the excavation must have uncovered a dump for an Indian arrow maker. The material I found had been very definitely chipped."

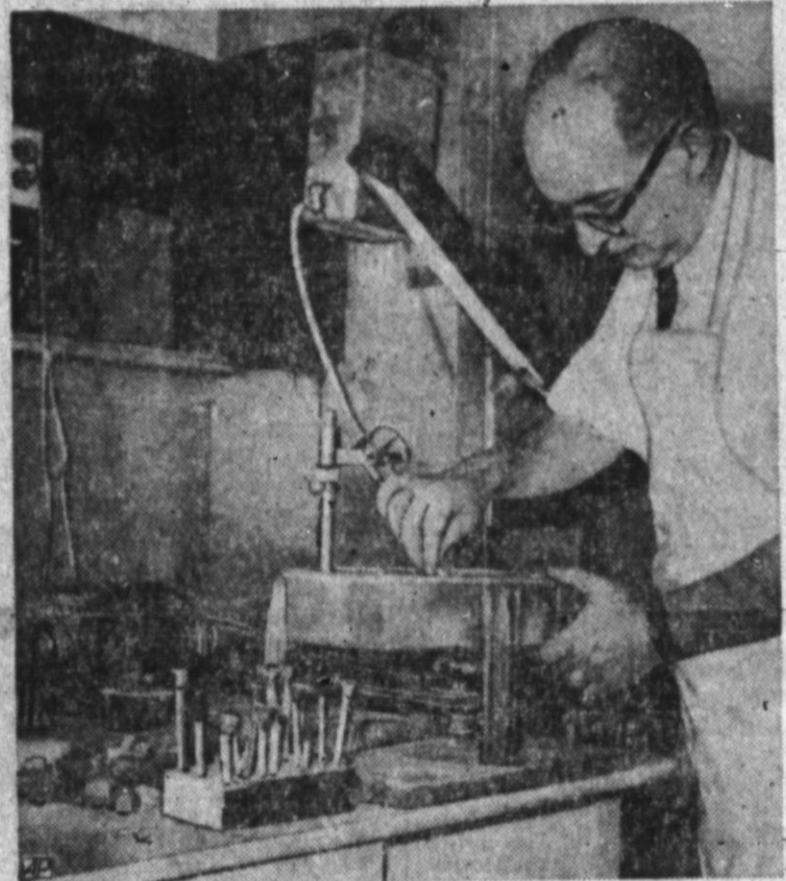

Walter makes occasional field trips on Sunday to collect stones - rose quartz, smoky quartz, aquamarine, cornelian, prehnite, agate, sunstone, terraline. All of them are pretty, but none very valuable.

With his cutting equipment - grind stones and polishing material worth about $50 - he cuts the stones into round, oval or diamond shaped gems. Then he mounts them in pendants, necklaces, bracelets and the like.

Analysis Work Done At A&M

Texas A. and M. College scientists are busy these days developing and building a teaching and research system which is still relatively new in the field of qualitative and quantitative analysis of materials.

The program is known as the Activation Analysis Project and involves the analyzing of substances through use of atomic energy, electronic counters and sorters, and electronic computers.

The classical system of qualitative and quantitative analysis of materials has been, and still is, by chemical methods. Qualitative analysis is the determination of elements present in a substance. Quantitative analysis is the determination of the kind and amount of elements present.

According to Dr. R. E. Wainerdi, who is heading up the Activation Analysis Project at Texas A. and M., chemical analysis is accurate but is often time consuming and tedious.

Dr. Wainerdi also is assistant dean of engineering and an associate professor of petroleum engineering.

Activation analysis promises to be fast, economical and highly accurate, he said, but the system is not likely to entirely replace standard chemical methods.

Associate head of the Activation Analysis Project Laboratory

More than 60,000 people come and go each month on the four air lines that serve Las Vegas.

Have you read the classified?

Dr. Derek Gibbons, associate professor in the A. and M. Chemistry Department and an outstanding English scientist who will be at the college for a year.

What is a typical activation analysis procedure? Briefly, it is the following:
 Any material, when made slightly radioactive, gives off radiation which tells what it is made of.

First a sample of the substance is placed in a vial and then put into an accelerator. The one at the A. and M. laboratory is a 150,000 volt accelerator that could sit on top of a large table. It is a compact version of the huge and more familiar atom smashers.

While in the accelerator, the sample is bombarded with neutrons, and the material begins to emit gamma rays. The rays are different for each element, and the number of rays tell how much of each element is in the sample.

Electronic apparatus then counts and sorts the rays and records the findings on punched tape. The next step is to feed the tape into a machine that transfers the information to IBM cards.

Finally, the cards are taken to Texas A. and M.'s Data Processing Center and run through electronic computers which work out the answer. The availability of these computers has made the whole project feasible.

After activation, the process should take no more than about 15 minutes, Dr. Gibbons said. In contrast, chemical analysis might take from several hours to several days.

Dr. Wainerdi said the whole activation analysis setup is still in the early stages of development, and there is much to learn about the technique. One of the features of the Activation Analysis Laboratory is that much of its complex equipment has been designed and built here.

Dr. Wainerdi emphasized that the work has been a group effort since early 1958 by A. and M. electrical engineering students and members of the college staff. At present there are seven staff members, including four electrical engineering graduate students working on the project. The graduate students are Lloyd Fite of Carthage, project engineer working on his Master of Science degree; John Lee Shanks of Beeville, a doctoral degree candidate; Walter Breen of San Antonio, and James E. Anderson of Woodville, both working on Master of Science degrees.

Project technician is Antonio Nemeo of College Station.

READING IS AN important part of instruction in the lower grades at Hereford. But the best time of all for the lower grades is when the teacher reads an exciting story to the class. These two girls were completely absorbed when Park-view principal and teacher, Mrs. Odessa Harris, read to the class. Parents are urged to visit classes during Public Schools Week, March 6-10. Home Management Is Program Topic

The Hereford H-D Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Wilma Bryan. The program on home management was given by Mrs. Jessie Ann Davis.

Mrs. Davis explained by chart how to learn to conserve time and what to do with time to serve to best advantage. She also gave fifteen rules to help gain better use of time.

These rules are:

- "Take time to define goals so that a cheerful, relaxed attitude can be maintained while working."
- "Take time to place a good work program."
- "Secure cooperation of family members in carrying out the plan."
- "Cancel all tasks that cannot be justified."
- "Group the routine tasks by saving time and energy."
- "Arrange equipment to save steps and motions."
- "Adjust the heights of working surfaces to permit good posture while working."
- "Keep equipment in good working order."
- "Eliminate equipment which is not used often enough to justify the required storage space."

"Work out easier methods of performing various tasks and stick to them until they become habits."

"Find a rate of speed which is efficient but not hurried."

"Include adequate rest periods in your schedule."

"Plan ahead to cut down meal preparation time."

"Take care of personal health and safety."

"Keep up enthusiasm for improvement."

Roll call was answered by "An Old Fashioned Thrift Practice" and "Saving For The Future."

Mrs. A. A. Hare reported on the T. H. D. A. state meeting to be held Aug. 9 and 10 at San Angelo. She also reported on a luncheon to be held at the Bull Barn for the commissioners on April 24.

Misses Roberta Campbell, Mrs. Wilma Bryan and Mrs. Clyde Smithers received special gifts for recreation. Mrs. Smithers and Mrs. R. A. Fullwood read poems. The committee reports were given. The next meeting will be at a luncheon in the home of Roberta Campbell on March 16. The members present were:

Mesdames A. A. Hare, C. L. Whitehead, Clyde Smithers, Lina Olson, Mary Bodkin, Belle Williams, Nancy Sensabough, Marcella Hoffman, R. A. Fullwood, O. C. Williams, Jessie Ann Davis, Marie Ward, Zelda Kendrick, Nancie Beauchamp, and Miss Roberta Campbell and the hostess, Mrs. Wilma Bryan.

SOLDIER VIEWS THE WAR

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — "Well, Mary," is the title of a new book comprised entirely of the letters of a Civil War soldier, written to a Wisconsin girl he later married.

The University of Wisconsin Press has published the volume which is made up of letters from John Brobst of the 25th Wisconsin Infantry to Mary Englesby of Gilmanton, Wis. They contain first-hand accounts of service at Vicksburg, with Sherman on the march to Atlanta, of scouting for food and enemy guerillas and of contempt for "the ineffective army of the Potomac."

Let Us Make a Cash Offer for Your Car

BY JIMMIE GILLENTE

Ed Dziuk Jr., is a pretty sharp boy as well as a good speaker. The other day I heard his talk on planting by moon signs, and now I can understand why my wife has such poor luck with our lawn. Ed bemoans the fact that too many people are inclined to attribute moon planting to superstition while, he says, it is a real active force of nature. He foresees the day when our government will appoint committees, establish bureaus, and distribute pamphlets on the topic far and wide. He is quite scientific in his studies on the subject, and predicts "fair" crop yields in 1961.

"Nothing sensational like 15,000 pounds of maize and 400 sacks of spuds on the average acre," says Ed, "but fair to middling returns, above the general average, perhaps." This is because Arles is out of kilter with Leo or some other sign — and there doesn't seem to be a heck of a lot anyone can do about it.

Anyway, Ed knows all about this stuff and if you are interested he can give you the straight dope. I think he should deliver his talk before all of the women's clubs, and maybe our wives wouldn't expect us to do the impossible. The way I get the deal, anyone can get good results if they plant under the proper signs but, if the signs are wrong, no one can do any good. It is that simple. Furthermore, Ed is good political material. We should run him for at least the legislature, maybe the U. S. Congress.

It really is a small world, according to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Perrin, now currently on Cotton John's around-the-world tour. They came to inevitable conclusion during an overnight stay in Agra, India, when they descended to the hotel dining room and ran smack into Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bradley, fellow townsmen, who are doing some long distance touring on their own. Needless to say, all four of the Hereford residents enjoyed the session which followed. The Perrins, report Mrs. J. W. Kirby, were scheduled to leave Jerusalem Friday, according to their most recent letter.

Earl Stagner is yelling because I called him a mail carrier. He insists he is an automobile salesman, but I keep telling him that Owen is the one who deserves the apology. Seriously, though, I did make a boo boo and wrote Earl, when I was thinking about Owen. They are both a couple of nice fellows, and I hope they will forgive me.

France has carried the social security program pretty far, according to a recent announcement through the Health Ministry, which says the government will help defray expenses for expectant mothers who wish to go on ski trips. Reason is French medical authorities have endorsed skiing as the "ideal" exercise for expectant mothers from five to seven months in their pregnancies, and the government figures the best is none too good for French motherhood. They do recommend only "moderate" slopes, but I know a few old gals in this country who wouldn't go for the deal even if they threw in free band-aids.

It is interesting, though, what a bunch of bureaucrats will come up with if you give them enough red tape.

Urlin Streu is getting a regional reputation for his talk on courthouses. I hear that he may be booked soon before at least one Amarillo luncheon club, and a lot of local club members are wanting him to come back for a second dose. His talk would be excellent for history classes, especially Texas history. Wouldn't it be a twist if Streu turned out to be a school teacher?

Recently, the Highway 60 Association issued a membership bulletin in which they gave Hereford a nice plug, centering around the "Town Without A Toothache." They mention such civic leaders as Sam Bell, Ernest Kendall, Bill Thompson and Guy Lawrence. The bulletin also had a nice plug for the museum in Canyon.

Thanks to Howard Armstrong for the following letter, which he clipped from the Amarillo Globe-Times:

I have been annoyed and upset for quite some time with all the screaming, crying and bitterness concerning taxes. The word "taxes" has actually become synonymous with the plague! Our people seem to have become so selfish and greedy that they think if they can't have their cake and eat it, too, they are really being taken advantage of.

Here we sit, getting fat physically, lazy mentally, enjoying the pursuit of happiness, and wanting something for nothing.

Well, I've got news. We're not going to get something for nothing, least of all freedom. We are lucky that we can hold our freedom with just money. It wasn't won with just money and it hasn't always been kept with just money. And the next war won't just be an inconvenience where we scream and cry about shortages, not being able to get our favorite cigarettes and high prices on the black market. I love my country, my freedom, my home and my family and I'm willing to pay the price, whatever it may be, to keep them. But I would like to exchange all chances of keeping my freedom with just money before I have to start paying with my life.

So I would like to say to everyone, before you start hollering about your taxes, think carefully, the freedom you save may be your own!

Syrian Beauty Harem-Bound

BEIRUT — A statuesque Syrian beauty queen who may someday be the Queen of Sheba is about to veil her face and live in seclusion in the Kingdom of Yemen.

Once inside the medieval palace at Sana'a, the face that was officially judged the second most beautiful in the United Arab Republic can never be seen again by any man but her husband and brothers.

Miss Nawal Ramli, a dazzling brunette in Paris fashions, has married Prince Abdul Rahman, 25-year-old deputy foreign minister and brother of Yemen's absolute sovereign.

The young prince is considered a possible successor to the aging Imam Ahmed as ruler of the tiny red sea kingdom, which tradition claims is the Sheba of ancient times.

For the bride, the marriage will be a journey into the middle ages and the not-very-exotic realm of the Arabian Nights, with occasional trips to the outside world.

Women In Black

Prince Abdul Rahman, "The Sword of Islam," speaks five languages, drives his own car and wears Western clothes when abroad.

But in Yemen, he is an aloof figure in flowing robes with a gold and silver dagger, and his wife is reduced to an unknown shrouded lady in black.

Daughter of a wealthy Damascus family, the glamorous new princess is accustomed to a life of parties and conservative gaiety. In Yemen, if tradition holds, she will be confined to her apartment in one of three palaces, and any trips outside the walls will be in a car with curtains carefully drawn.

A Harem Life

Only the palace doctor will have any idea that under the billow, shapeless harem clothes is a figure that was a handful of beauty contests.

Princess Nawal stands almost five feet seven inches tall, her 36-23-36 inch measurements made her runner-up in the Uar's official beauty contest in 1959.

Like other Yemenite women, she will be at the mercy of her husband, who can divorce her as he did his last wife merely by announcing his wish three times. And he still can take three additional wives, meaning the princess would live in a harem. Except on magic carpet trips abroad, only the other harem wives would see the jewels and finery the prince has given her.

A royal harem is up-to-date with radios and telephones, but the life is a tedious one of supervising the cooking and routine for the huge household.

Between tasks, the wives pass the time sipping tea and chatting with each other while the husband entertains his men friends on another floor of the palace.

TOMMY ROBERTS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Roberts, shows off in typical masculine fashion for Laura Ballard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Labry Ballard. Tommy wears an Eton suit of viscose pima cotton and silk. The white jacket and navy-blue short pants are styled for easy care and fashion flare. Laura models an exquisite pinafore of white imported organdy over a dainty dress of pima blue mist. Lace-trimmed bonnet and draw-string bag complete her ensemble. Fashions from Helen's.

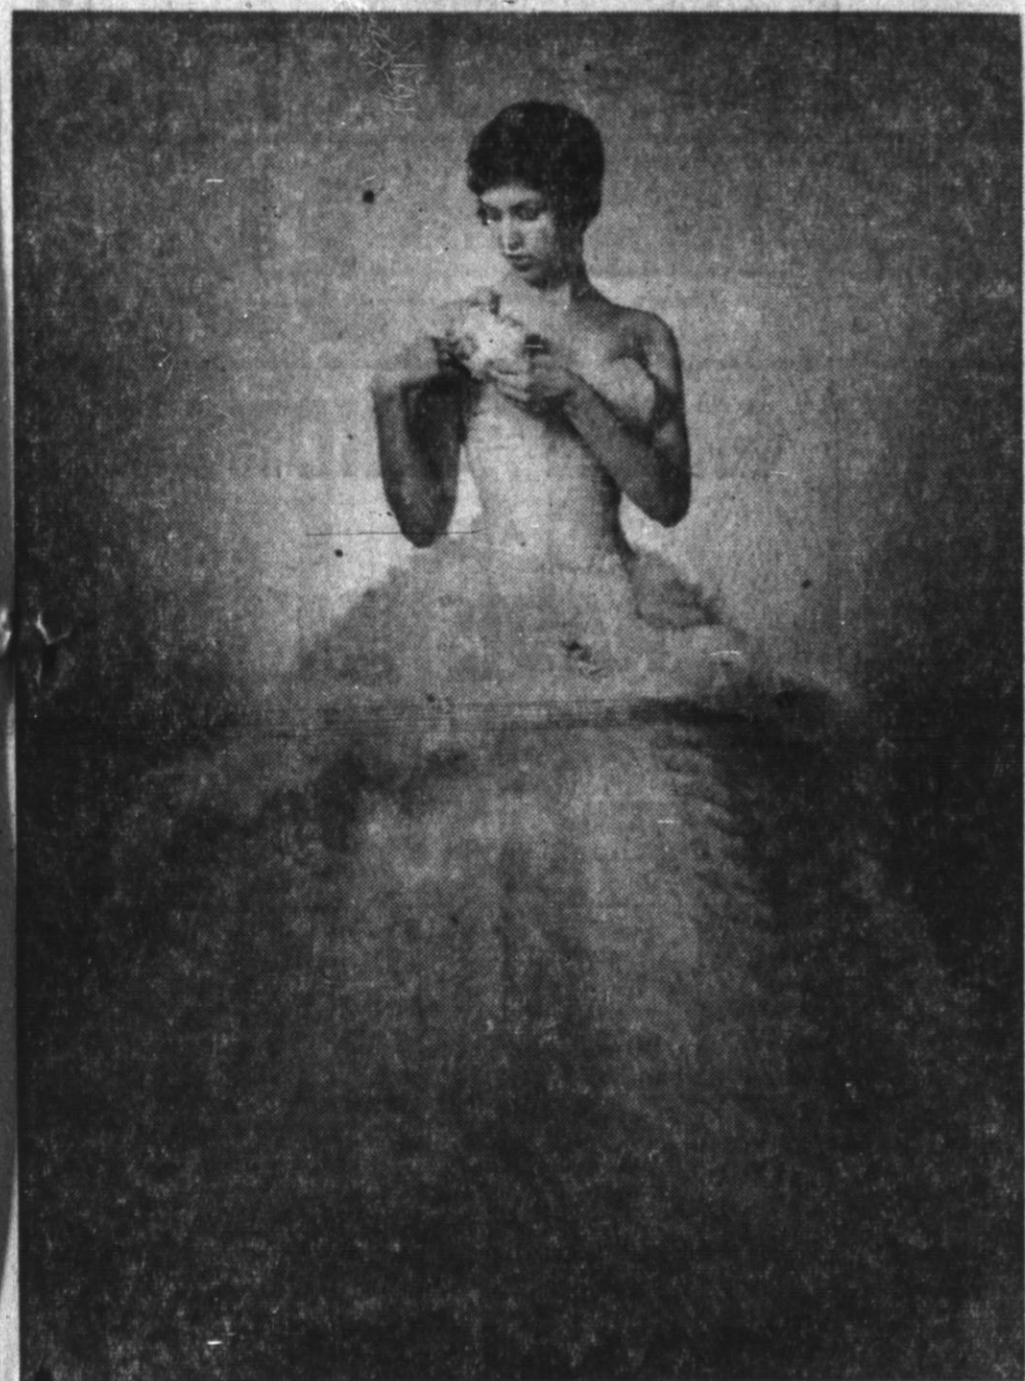

MISS ANNA MARTIN is the picture of poised young womanhood as she models a floor-length formal of sky blue chiffon over matching taffeta. The midriff is dramatized by white lace medallions scattered with rhinestones. Long white gloves and white beaded bag complement her costume. Fashion from Martin's Ready-To-Wear.

"MIGHTY LAK' A ROSE" is Miss Ann Braddy, modeling an orchid and white floral print dress made of pima Honan cotton. The scoop neckline and full skirt are just right for the Junior Miss at Easter or for that all important party occasion. Ann wears white gloves and white calf pumps for accessories. From Tannahill Variety Store.

See Story Inside

MISS VIRGINIA HIGGINS will be the belle of the ball wearing this strapless formal of jonquil yellow nylon net over matching taffeta. The elongated midriff is accented by row after row of ruffles that make up the bouffant skirt. The ruffled overskirt, accentuated with yellow rosebuds, sweeps to a train effect in back. Fashion from The Vogue.

MRS. CLAUDE McDOUGAL models a pure silk tailored sheath dress, adding white accessories and pastel flowered bag for touches of springtime. Outstanding features of the dress are skirtmaker collar, above-elbow roll-up sleeves and a tie belt. Fashions from Little's.

MISS BONNIE SPARKMAN is as fresh as Springtime as she models a red cultured pearl petti-point cotton sheath dress featuring a short bolero jacket. A red flower hat, short white gloves and patent leather bag and shoes complete her costume. Fashions from Rutherford and Company.

"LAVENDER BLUE, DILLY Dilly" could well be the background music as Mrs. Bud Martin models a formal gown of nylon tulle, colored with just a hint of lavender blue, crescendoing to a deeper shade. The bodice is accented with a wide band of satin, ending in a bow in back, trailing long streamers down the bouffant triple-tiered skirt. White kid gloves and beaded evening bag complete her ensemble from Gaston's Popular Store.

Dr. Hicks Guest Speaker At Club

Dr. Clarence Hicks, local physician, was guest speaker at a recent meeting of La Madre Mia Study Club, which was held in the Friendship Room of the Hereford State Bank building.

After a short business session, Dr. Hicks was introduced. He brought an interesting discussion on the subject of "Hypnosis."

"A typical form of hypnosis," he stated, "is our youngsters in front of the television set." He went on to explain that hypnosis is a complete removal of the mind but the subject of hypnosis, contrary to popular belief, cannot be made to do anything that he has a strong objection to doing. For a person to be a good subject for hypnosis, he should be able to concentrate and should be an intelligent and well-balanced person.

After Dr. Hicks had completed his talk, he led a question and answer period.

Mrs. Bobby Williams, hostess for the meeting, served refreshments to Mesdames Joe Brooks, Joe Locke, Joe Henry, James Brownlow, Homer Lee Owen, Harold Morton, Dean Herring, Dennis Lomas, Eugene Sparks and the guest, Dr. Clarence Hicks.

ON HONOR ROLL

Linda Hair, Hereford student attending Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene, is one of 50 students who earned places on the H-SU honor roll by making a grade point average of 3.58 or better on at least 12 semester hours of work.

REMEMBER WHEN?

BY CHARLIE SEEDS
The history of sports is full of stories of men who have won against the odds... because they wouldn't give up. But none is more inspiring than the record of Ed Furgol... who belongs in the elite group of U. S. Open golf champions.

A childhood illness had given Furgol a withered left arm... a real handicap in a game where one of the basic rules is the straight left arm. But Furgol wanted to be a golfer... and he overcame his handicap to become a good pro. Yet he never won a "big one." In eight years on the pro circuit, he was never a big money winner.

Then came the U. S. Open at Baltusrol... at a time when Furgol was just about ready to give up. Against the best in the game, over a long tough course with eight holes of 450 yards or more, he shot rounds of 71, 70, 71 and 72... to win! His determination and faith in himself finally paid off with a U. S. Open championship!

Remember the year? That was a good year for car buyers... with plenty of models to choose from and a competitive market... where you could shop for the best deal and the greatest savings.

The year was 1954. Never before was there a time when you could make a better deal than you can right now... on a brand new 1961 Ford from our big selection. Prices will never be lower... your car will never be worth more in trade! Save now - deal now at CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR Co., Inc. W. Hwy. 60, EM 4-2727.

Retired Air Force General Tells Threat Of Communism

BRIG. GEN. WILLIAM L. "Jerry" Lee, USAF Ret., told of the threat of communism in the United States today at the noon meeting of Hereford Kiwanis Club Thursday. The former commander of Amarillo Air Force Base urged the Kiwanians to become better informed on what communism is and to take steps in combatting it. He said every citizen of the United States should be alarmed at communism's vast growth in this nation during the past 15 years. (Staff Photo)

Brig. Gen. William L. "Jerry" Lee, USAF Ret., who has been staging a one-man fight against the threat of communism in this area since 1959, was guest speaker at the noon meeting of Hereford Kiwanis Club Thursday in L.O.O.F. Hall.

The former commanding officer of Amarillo Air Force Base who retired July 31, 1959, pointed out the gains that communists have made in the United States during the past 15 years as well as exposing several misconceptions of communism.

"Since my retirement, I have devoted much of my time as a 'bearer of bad news,' and I have been spreading the bad news as fast as I could," Gen. Lee told the Kiwanians.

"You will think I'm an alarmist," he continued. "And I am. There is ample cause for alarm."

Gen. Lee pointed out that Vladimir Lenin, Russian revolutionist and founder of Soviet Russia, in 1922 said, "communism will engulf that last bastion of capitalism—America."

Since Aug. 15, 1945, Gen. Lee added, 7,000 persons an hour have been enslaved by communism.

One of the misconceptions of communism, he explained, is that it is a mass movement. Communism is not a mass movement, Gen. Lee said; Russia was captured in 1917 by one-twentieth of one per cent of the nation's population.

No nation has ever become communist by a free vote, he commented. Communism does not necessarily enlist numbers—it manipulates the numbers. Another misconception he pointed out was the myth that communism is a poor organization.

"Communism is not a poor organization," Gen. Lee said. "If they (communists) want to buy a newspaper or a radio station for some strategic purpose, they buy it."

"People, in general, do not know what communism is," he further explained. "That's why Americans are being boiled to death by communism."

"You like everybody else," the speaker said, "are letting this communist conspiracy take us over. Americans have become too complacent."

The guest speaker was introduced by Hereford Kiwanian Bill Hardwick.

Guest at the meeting was Jim Bownds, representing Hereford Key Club were Lisle Patton and Austin Hodges, both Hereford High School students.

SPECIAL EDUCATION classes, along with others at Stanton Junior High, will be expecting visitors during Texas Public week. The special education classes are taught by B. H. Baldwin and Berkeley Kaufhold. (Staff Photo)

TWO ENTERPRISING sixth graders at Northwest Elementary School will have a practical invention to show visiting parents during Texas Public Schools week, which will be observed by Hereford schools March 6-10. Freddy Conyers, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Conyers, left, and Jerry Don Poarch, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Poarch, have built a box apparatus by which eggs are hatched artificially — quite similar to a real incubator. They are shown looking at 11 eggs they have placed in the box, which is equipped with an electric light bulb to produce heat and a thermometer for a quick check of heat. The box is covered by a glass top. (Staff Photo)

OFF THE Shelf

BY H. A. TUCK
A terrifying, yet appealing, book is The Endless Hours by Wallace L. Brown. It is a brand new non-fiction choice at the Deaf Smith County library.

Now a Captain in the Air Force, the author has written a wonderfully detailed book of a strange experience. On Jan. 12, 1953, he was a young Lieutenant on his first combat mission.

As co-pilot, he was flying in a bomber plane during a leaflet mission over North Korea. That mission was not to end for 31 months.

He had spent more than two and a half years as a prisoner of the Chinese Communists.

Brown tells of his thoughts as the plane was hit by shell fire and he bailed out during a bitterly-cold night. Captured, he was taken by Chinese "volunteers" into China and imprisoned. Brown was moved from place to place, but always under constant guard and in solitary confinement.

Imagine his surprise when he is accused of being a spy and criminal instead of a prisoner of war.

During his long days and nights alone Brown resorts to mental exercises to keep from going crazy. He invents elaborate machines, assembles and tests them . . . all in his mind. He is even forced to sit and sleep at attention with guards peeping into his cell every few moments.

Brown was held without seeing any of his fellow prisoners for more than seven months, although he knew from certain habits of the prisoners that others were being held nearby.

He was interrogated time and again. Once, in an incredible feat of human endurance, he stood at attention for six and a half days while being questioned by three teams of Chinese military personnel.

It wasn't until he had been held for some time that Red Cross personnel even were notified that he had been captured. And it was still longer before any of the many parcels sent to him were given him.

What a joyful day when another prisoner from Brown's plane became his roommate. But it wasn't so happy when he and the other crewmembers were brought before a farcical court and sentenced for their "criminal" activities.

The Endless Hours is the source of inspiration in the strength and courage of its author. It also describes in vivid detail the subtle methods used by the Chinese communists to break the will of those they capture.

Missionary Slates Talk Here Sunday

Special speaker in the morning worship service at the Church of the Nazarene of Hereford Sunday morning will be the Rev. John W. Pattee, a missionary.

The Rev. Pattee, Nazarene teacher and missionary to the Philippines, is on a furlough in the United States doing deputational work among churches of the denomination.

Pastor of the Hereford church, the Rev. Stewart L. Downey, announced that the public is invited to hear the talk and the showing of slides of the missionary program in the Philippines. The Rev. Pattee will speak at 11 a. m. Sunday.

The Rev. and Mrs. Pattee have had a major part in getting the work of the church established in the Philippines. For the past year, the Rev. Pattee has been teaching in a Nazarene bible school at Baquio City, 150 miles north of Manila, and preaching in the surrounding area.

The Pattées went to the Philippines in 1950 and have been stationed in Iloilo and Baquio City.

They first entered the Nazarene missionary program in 1936, when they went to North China. They were driven out of the northern part by the Japanese and interned eight months. They also served for three years in South China.

The Rev. Pattee was born in North Dakota and holds degrees from Northwest Nazarene College, Nampa, Idaho, and Pasadena College, Pasadena, Calif.

SOCIAL STUDIES

By Nan Neal

Our America has changed in many ways. From the beginning of the Industrial Revolution to its end it affected farming by increasing the demand of products. At the same time it gave the farmer improved tools with which to raise the crops in great demand. Population increased 42 million in the past 20 years. The average worker earns $47 more than 20 years ago. The national debt increased 32 million dollars. The public school enrollment has gone up 14 million in the past 15 years. Medical achievements are almost endless.

In 1852 the first compulsory school attendance law was passed in Massachusetts. This law required all children between the ages of 8 and 14 to go to school 12 weeks. Later when the age limit was raised, new teachers had to be hired and new textbooks had to be bought.

The new attitude toward society formed. The common form of democracy in the United States is liberal democracy. In this type of democracy, opinion is organized and expressed through representatives. The forms of executive power vary. This power is usually vested in a prime minister, and his cabinet, it is sometimes vested in an independently elected president. The forms of judicial power vary too, but liberal democrats stress its importance. For the citizen is held to possess fundamental rights and liberties, which are protected by "due process of law."

In the past 50 years the poor have been aided by the construction of settlement houses. The states, churches, and private organizations have given much help to the work to improve the ways of living of the people in the slums.

When the problem of liquor came up men joined to convince others not to drink. The temperance workers had some sign the pledge never to drink again. Some wanted the government to step in. By the early 1900's these "dryers" had succeeded in keeping liquor out of five states by prohibition laws.

The new inventions like the telephone, radio, modern farm machinery, mail services, automobiles, electricity, and natural gas have made our farm and agricultural life easier.

MATHEMATICS AT STANTON

By Rosemary Hershey, Judy Crume and Linda Martin

Many people have been under the impression that students take ninth grade general mathematics because of poor grades in eighth grade work. This is not necessarily so. Students are in this class for one of two common reasons. First, the student himself may wish to have more time to devote to other studies, or he may want to obtain a better background in mathematics; general math does contain some algebra. Second, the eighth grade teachers watch students' progress carefully. From this basis they are able to recommend that students either proceed to algebra or general mathematics, where they will receive additional drill and work in math fundamentals before they go on to algebra and other mathematics courses.

Eighth grade mathematics begins the year with a brief review of the fundamentals covered in the seventh grade. After this review period students progress into material that is both more difficult and more interesting. They have sampled compound interest, geometric problems, problems dealing with the Federal Income Tax.

The math teachers in junior high are Mr. Durham, Mr. George, Mrs. Hudspeth, Mrs. Legg, and Mr. Martin.

FRESHMAN ENGLISH

By Kay Coffman

The freshman class has two English instructors; they are Mr. Frank Jones and Mrs. Edna Mercer. An interview with each of these was arranged and the following questions were asked:

(1) Why do you teach English?
Mr. Jones: "I took a lot of English in college and enjoyed it, and I enjoy reading and suggesting reading to others."
Mrs. Mercer: "I enjoy studying."

Students Buy Many Books In Optional 'Paperbacks'

An article in the October 1959 National Education Association Journal was entitled, "Paperback Books Best Invention since the Sandwich." Students at Stanton Junior High School must believe this to be true if one can judge by the number of paperback books that they have bought since November.

These students have bought a total of 2,204 paperback books. For every four books that a student buys he receives one free dividend book. Last semester 229 dividend books were ordered. The spring semester dividend order promises to be even larger. Students are not obligated in any way to buy these books. The English teachers make the lists available to all students enrolled in junior high school. The students take the lists home, talk them over with their parents, and either order books or return the orders unused. There is no pressure applied to the student to buy any books; they are merely made available to him if he wants them.

Often the teacher tells the students that certain of the books are acceptable for book reports.

Roving Reporter

BY KATHLEEN KUPER

Your roving reporter has really been roving this month. Since this is the start of Public School Week, we decided to ask how school has changed in the past several years.

Mrs. C. O. Brown, English teacher: "We have consolidated schools, instead of one-room school where teachers taught all of several grades. We have modern buildings, inter-coms, better cafeterias, and better illustrated books. Our number of periods has changed from eight to six." These are just a few of the changes, according to Mrs. Brown.

Mike Watts: Our friend, Mike, doesn't believe in long answers, so he simply stated, "Each year it gets harder as I get more tired."

Patsy Huckert: "We have more activities than we used to have. We have a higher grading system and the work seems to be more challenging. We now have study periods and no study hall."

Janice Hagans: "The elementary schools are putting more emphasis on sports now than they did when I was in the lower grades. Because Hereford has grown our schools have grown, also. We have a new building for junior high."

Joye Martin: Like many of the students, the construction of new buildings has been noticed by Joye. She stated that Aikman and Northwest elementary schools were not yet in operation when she was in the lower grades.

Science Fair Draws Entrants

BY JUDY CRUME

During the week of March 24-31, the annual Panhandle Science Fair will be held in Amarillo. There are many Stanton Junior High School students who will be taking part in this activity. A student may enter either the physical science, or biological science divisions. Most of the projects from Hereford will be related to physical science. During Public Schools Week, March 6-10, two projects from each category will be selected to go to the Amarillo fair.

There are many rules which must be observed by the entries. Among these are (1) only displays prepared during the present school year may be entered. (2) All exhibits must be constructed exclusively by students. Motors, pumps, etc. are permitted. (3) Only one exhibit per person or group will be allowed. These are only a few of the many rules.

Library Facilities In Use Constantly

BY LINDA LONDON

You may think that a library is useless. Well, this is absolutely not true. Some days there are as many as 350 students in and out of the library at Stanton. Teachers bring their classes to the library on a first come, first served basis. Students may also come in before school or during homeroom period.

Mrs. Mercer is our librarian. Without her, there wouldn't be much of a library. She is certainly a credit to the library and school. About nine eighth and ninth grade girls help Mrs. Mercer in the library. Among other things, they check out books and help keep track of the fines collected. There is adequate room for 70 students to be seated in our new furniture. Pictures from the art classes add to the attractiveness of the library.

You can find whatever you need easily because all the books are catalogued under the Dewey Decimal System. Students have access to seven sets of encyclopedias. Some of these include World Book, Encyclopedia Americana, and our newest set, the Encyclopedia Britannica. There are two Webster's unabridged dictionaries. There are about twelve other sources of reference material.

The Amarillo Daily News and the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal are received daily, and the Hereford Brand and the Sunday Brand also are received. The library subscribes to 32 different magazines. This list includes such magazines, as Look, Popular Science, and the Saturday Evening Post, to name only a few. There are back issues of magazines dating from 1958. There is very good science material.

SQ3R Key To Improved 7th Grade Reading Skill

BY CAROLYN BOYNTON

Reading abilities in the seventh grade at Stanton Junior High School range across four, five, or even six levels. This has been revealed through the use of S.R.A. (Science Research Associates) Reading Laboratory which is being used in reading classes this year.

The students enjoy this plan because they can read at their own level and rate of speed.

At the beginning of school each student was given a timed test to determine his level of reading. Each student was given a record book and read and worked different exercises of his level. This has and will help the students to improve and understand their reading.

The exercises include questions on what he has just read, phonics, syllables, prefixes, suffixes, roots, and other skills needed in everyday reading. The S.R.A. method of reading is called SQ3R. This is a way of approaching any new reading material. SQ3R simply means Survey, Question, Read, Review, and Recite. The steps in Survey-Question go something like this: first look briefly at the picture, the title, the first sentence, and the last paragraph. Then briefly survey a word or phrase at the beginning of a paragraph here and there as your eyes roam down through the selection. Now go back to the beginning of the selection and read it through. The reading, reviewing, and recitation steps are self-explanatory. When a student becomes adept with this method of reading he should carry it over to his other subjects. After all, all instruction in reading is valuable if the student doesn't make use of it in all his school work.

In addition to the S.R.A. program, basal readers are provided to enrich the student's reading. Also several classics are studied in the seventh grade, some of these include: "The Christmas Carol," "The Courtship of Miles Standish," "Rip Van Winkle," and others. Booklets including questions to be answered, encyclopedia reports, pictures, and other things are made on some of these classics.

Most of the outside work in reading is centered around a subject notebook. After selecting a subject, the students read and make the following summaries: book report, magazine article, newspaper article, encyclopedia report, poem, a T.V., radio, or movie report. During all this reading, a vocabulary list of new words is compiled and newspaper and magazine clippings are collected. For extra work the student may interview an authority on the subject, visit a place of interest or give an oral report in class. Notebooks have included such titles as archeology, analytical chemistry, the Solar System, Tale of a Horse, and Indians.

Through the reading program in Stanton Junior High, students will learn to understand their reading more. This will make the road ahead of them easier.

To learn more about reading and other subjects, the public is invited to visit Stanton Junior High during Texas Public School Week, March 6-10.

Fodder Box

BY LINDA MARTIN

This next week is an important week for almost everyone in Hereford. It is Texas Public Schools Week. All the members of the faculty and student body extend a cordial invitation to each and every one of the people of Hereford to come and visit all the schools of our town.

Mrs. Wertenberger plans to find the best picture or project for each student and put it on display. Mrs. Brown is going to show the examinations and some posters that are regular decorations in her room. Mr. Shook plans to display some of his students' extra work, while Mrs. Holt will exhibit posters showing the invention perfected to improve our living standards.

The F.H.A.-F.F.A. Sweetheart and Beau party went over real well. Everyone seemed to enjoy it tremendously. We were really proud of Ruth Ann Allison and David Sorrels who were chosen as our Sweetheart and Beau.

One of the best assembly programs given so far this year was presented by Mrs. Sullivan's homeroom on Thursday, Feb. 23. We thank her and her students very much for that.

Sound Problem In Auditorium

BY ANN ATCHLEY

There has been some discussion on the problem of sound in the auditorium during our homeroom programs. It is really very boring to sit in assembly and not be able to understand or hear what the skit is about on the stage. There are about six loud speakers in the auditorium, but there is only one microphone. This isn't enough, however, for all of the some 600 students in our auditorium during assembly. We realize that the people on stage are supposed to talk loudly and clearly enough for everyone to hear and understand them. We need something more though.

If we had several drop microphones over the stage area, our problem wouldn't be nearly as large. Of course, there would be some expense involved, but it would be money well spent. If we are going to attend programs, we should be able to hear them.

New Practice Hall For Choir

BY JANA COLE AND RETHA KELLY

At last there is a new place for the choir students to have class! They are now meeting in the band hall.

They don't have the interruptions they had in the auditorium anymore. While in the auditorium, students in the assembly and devotional programs came in early and the P. E. students in the gym were always yelling so that choir members couldn't hear. But, at last none of that! Of course, they have to stand on the risers all period, but that is better than the interruptions.

The choir is especially appreciative of this atmosphere since it is busy getting ready for contest in March.

CAL FARLEY, founder of Boys Ranch, made three speaking appearances in Hereford Tuesday. He talked at a Hereford High School assembly in the morning, at the Optimist Club luncheon at noon and the Lone Star Study Club in the afternoon. He showed a new color film about the ranch, "A Shirttail To Hang To." Playing one of the major parts in the film was Earl Smith of Hereford, now a teacher at Friona. (Staff Photo)

Up In the Air

BY BENNY WOMBLE

With the coming of spring, there has been a marked increase of flying activity at the airport. There have been parachute jumps the last two Sundays as well as a lot of flying.

Jackie Allmon solved about a week ago and is now getting in some solo time every chance he gets. Frankie Longhofer has completed two solo cross-country trips already. I wouldn't say that Frankie got lost even though most people don't go around by Clovis to get from Littlefield to Hereford. You might ask him the next time you see him how he manages a trick like this.

There have been a lot of flying trips recently. The Blac-Air-Service Skylane has been to Oklahoma and Louisiana recently. Ron Steel flew the Skylane to Chickasha last week to get checked out in a 450 Stearman. Tommy Bryant made a trip to Colorado recently. Howard Gault left Wednesday on a trip. Ray Johnson went to Oklahoma City Sunday. Earl Springer made a trip recently in his Beech. Jerry Cady and Taft McGee have flown a Beech to Arizona recently. I am sure there are others that I don't know about. Leslie Sharp made two round trips to Oklahoma recently.

Seen in the pattern: Steve Clements in the 150 Cessna. Bob Hill flying his Champ. Eddie May flying the 150 Cessna. Hilrey Aven in his Tri-Pacer.

The days are getting light enough to do some flying early and still get to work on time.

I flew the Funk about 30 minutes this morning. I saw three big coyotes on W. W. Hill's pasture. I was about a thousand feet high when I saw them. It is hard for people who do not fly to believe that you can identify as small an animal as a coyote from that height. Anyway, I dropped down on them and sure startled these mangy critters.

Thursday night, Bud Cawthon and I flew the Funk for about an hour. If you haven't seen Hereford from the air at night you have missed a beautiful sight. Jerry Cady and Frankie Longhofer flew the 150 Cessna around the pattern with us so we wouldn't feel so lonesome. I don't know why there aren't more who fly at night as nearly every airplane at the airport is equipped for night flight and the air is always the smoothest at night.

Hereford looks like a big Christmas tree at night. If a person will choose a night with a full moon and calm weather, it is whose husband is pastor of the Avenue Baptist Church in Hereford. The Baldwins have been long-time friends of the Lynch family, having lived in Paducah a good many years.

Among those attending the Civil Defense Program at Dimmitt Thursday afternoon were Mrs. Harlen Barber, Mrs. Owen Andrews, Frank Robbins and Floyd Cole from this community. Dr. Ben Cook and Mr. Larry Burleson from College Station represented the Extension Service and gave discussions on the subject. They were there to acquaint the public with a program of information available for every community and to urge an educational campaign to teach everyone about the protection which can be made from a possible explosion. The Frío Home Makers Club is scheduled to have such a program on April at the home of Mrs. Earnest Harder.

Joe Shultz left Sunday to take his calf and one for Walker Parris to the show at Ft. Worth.

Having Sunday dinner with Mrs. H. M. Mobley and Austin Mobley were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cole and family, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Don Mobley.

as safe as daytime flights.

Both Friona and Dimmitt airports are now either equipped with lights or about equipped. Dimmitt has had lights for a month or two and Friona should have theirs ready by the time you read this. I am sure glad to see this progress as the day of the daytime airplane is about over and a person will sometimes be delayed enough for various reasons that they need lights for landing.

I understand the town of Friona has been well trained for lighting its airport, though when a plane came in after dark, they just buzzed the main street and about everyone in town turned out en masse to provide light for some thankful fellow. In fact, Elvie Jennings told me he wasn't sure he knew how to land by anything but car lights.

Dr. A. T. Mims and Dr. Dr. Bruce Beene were this week certified to give Class II and Class III FAA Flight Physicals.

Junior Red Cross Prepares Fire Rules, Walker's Code

BY KATHLEEN KUPER DOGIE STAFF REPORTER
The Junior Red Cross Safety Council has prepared a Walker's Code and also the Ten Commandments for fire prevention, and they will be working on tornado alerts and safety in March. The projects committee is preparing 200 Easter favors for the Amarillo Veterans Hospital; they are also collecting crossword puzzles and comic books.

The executive council is responsible for the overseas scrapbook which should be completed by May 11, at which time we shall have an awards program and an outside speaker on water safety will be present.

The Walker's Code
As a walker . . . I have two responsibilities: One, to myself; the other to the person behind the wheel. My responsibility to him is as great as his is to me. But my stake is larger . . . My Own Life and Well-Being.
For my own safety and for the safety of the driver:
I cross streets at marked crosswalks and watch for traffic from all directions.
I cross streets on proper traffic signals.
I walk, not run, when crossing a street or roadway.
I stay out of the street until the way is clear for crossing.
I watch for backing or turning cars.
I face traffic when it is necessary to walk on the highway.
I am especially careful after dark and wear or carry something easily seen by drivers.
I get out of cars, buses, and streetcars on the curb side and watch for moving traffic.
I set an example by obeying traffic laws, signs, and signals.

Ten Commandments of Fire Prevention
1. I shall not let anyone in my family use GASOLINE for cleaning purposes.
2. I shall not BURN TRASH on a windy day, or too close to any building.
3. I shall see that all ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES and EXTENSION CORDS in my house are kept safe for use.
4. I shall not let OILY RAGS and PAPER collect in and around my home.
5. I shall see that all MATCHES are kept out of reach of my SMALL BROTHERS and SISTERS.
6. I shall see that no one SMOKES IN BED at my home.
7. I shall not let DRAPES or CURTAINS hang too close to HEATERS in my home.
8. I shall locate the SECOND EXIT from ANY public building I enter.
9. I shall impress on all my friends the DANGER of turning in FALSE ALARMS.
10. I shall promote the NECESSITY OF FIRE PREVENTION when and wherever I possibly can.

Things to Remember
NO SCHOOL BUILDING IS COMPLETELY FIREPROOF.
NO FIRE DRILL IS FOOLPROOF.
NO CROWD of children is PANIC-PROOF.
WALK . . . DON'T RUN.
QUIET . . . DON'T TALK.
KEEP CALM . . . DON'T PUSH.

Students...
I don't know whether people realize it or not but school days are going faster and faster, and this year will soon draw to an end. There are only twelve weeks left; isn't that sad?

Fodder...

We have started having home-room programs every Friday. Most of the programs so far have been on subjects like good sportsmanship, keeping out of lockers, and hall rules. The students enjoy these while they are learning how to be a good student and citizen.

Our student of the month, Diederia Thomas, ate lunch with the Optimist club Tuesday along with the other students chosen for this honor from the grade schools, high school, and the Catholic school.

It seems that everyone who got their driver's license last week celebrated by riding around all weekend.

We hope everyone who went to solo contest had the very best of luck. We are so proud of everyone who participated. It was held in Amarillo on Saturday, March 4.

We wish all the choirs the best of luck when the go to contest later this month. We hope they bring some trophies home this year.

Science...
The exhibits at the Amarillo Science Fair will be judged on the following standards: scientific thought - 30 points, creative ability - 30 points, thoroughness - 10 points, clarity and dramatic value - 20 points, and technical skill - 10 points.

HOME STUDY CENTER

Many sincere people regard the Bible as the sole authority for Christian belief. And they reject the teachings of the age-old Catholic Church because these teachings and forms of Catholic worship are not mentioned by name in Holy Scripture.

"Where," some will ask, "does the Bible say anything about the Mass or Purgatory? And how about confession to a priest, praying to Mary, and those seven Sacraments Catholics talk about. They're not in MY Bible."

Catholics say that their teachings are found in the Bible. She teaches nothing that is not found in Sacred Scripture. If you wish to know more about Catholic teachings, write for a free pamphlet explaining the Catholic Church. Write to: Home Study Center, Box 5644, Amarillo, Texas.

The Bippus Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. G. V. Hall. The program on Americanism was given by Christine Fortenberry. Each member answered roll call stating how she could teach Americanism in her home.

Mrs. Fred Taylor and Mrs. Dick Shugert were admitted to the club. Regular members present were Miss Christine Fortenberry, Mrs. C. F. Homfeld, Mrs. J. G. Fortenberry and the hostess, Mrs. G. V. Hall.

The next club meeting will be March 8 in the Fortenberry home.

OFF THE Shelf

BY H. A. TUCK
One of the most delightful books we have read in some time is The Wax Foundation by Gwen Davenport.

The author, creator of Belvedere, has taken an unusual theme and built a sprightly novel around it.

When Mrs. Evalina Wagner Wax died, she left more than six million dollars to establish a foundation where selected applicants for "works hips" could develop their ideas for benefitting mankind.

It was a rude shock to her nephew, bachelor Aaron Wagner, who had expected to be her sole heir. Since graduation from college he had served Mrs. Wax as secretary and general manager of her mammoth mansion, Ten Towers.

At the age of 49 he was looking forward to his inheritance and a more carefree way of life. But he found that he had been appointed Resident Director of the Wax Foundation, at a salary of just $200 per month.

He, a serious young banker and the late Mrs. Wax's best friend made up the board of directors who selected the Fellows who would live in Ten Towers and work on their plans.

And the letters flooded in from all sorts of crickets and oddballs. From among them they selected the eight original Fellows.

These included a college professor who wanted to write a universal language, a retired sea captain who advocated a new calendar and a single time zone, a religious fanatic who implored all who would be saved from a nuclear catastrophe to join her in "God's Town."

Others were a precocious 12-year-old monster who was to rewrite Euclid for children, and a man who wanted to write a book, "Be Your Own Ideal."

But the most fascinating of all was Earl Wright, a Texas farmer who advocated "anocracy" and brought with him a buffalo and two trained chimpanzees to prove his theory.

The Foundation secretary was a lovely young girl who fell in love with a handsome Fellow with no scruples and a plan to redistribute the world's wealth. Aaron himself fell in love with a widow who had developed pills that would replace two meals a day.

Outside of his salary, Aaron could only wish for the death of seven ugly tropical lizards, each of whom had been willed $1000, which would revert to Aaron upon their deaths.

Add to this, the mammoth pig-organ in Ten Towers, servants who had been assured of their jobs so long as they remained and the problem of granting new workshops as the original group finished their projects.

All together, The Wax Foundation is a wonderful bit of humor with serious overtones. The author manages to make some witty comments, tinged with irony, about egocentric philanthropy.

Gwen Davenport has done it again with The Wax Foundation. The book has all the earmarks of the basis for a fine family comedy motion picture. It can be recommended to any reader who wants a dash of humor in his reading. The book is available in the Deaf Smith County library.

Up In the Air

BY BENNY WOMBLE

With the coming of spring, there has been a marked increase of flying activity at the airport. There have been parachute jumps the last two Sundays as well as a lot of flying.

Jackie Allmon soloed about a week ago and is now getting in some solo time every chance he gets. Frankie Longhofer has completed two solo cross-country trips already. I wouldn't say that Frankie got lost even though most people don't go around by Clovis to get from Littlefield to Hereford. You might ask him the next time you see him how he manages a trick like this.

There have been a lot of flying trips recently. The Blac-Air-Service Skylane has been to Oklahoma and Louisiana recently. Ron Steel flew the Skylane to Chickasha last week to get checked out in a 450 Stearman. Tommy Bryant made a trip to Colorado recently. Howard Gault left Wednesday on a trip. Ray Johnson went to Oklahoma City Sunday. Earl Springer made a trip recently in his Beech. Jerry Cady and Taft McGee have flown a Beech to Arizona recently. I am sure there are others that I don't know about. Leslie Sharp made two round trips to Oklahoma recently.

Seen in the pattern: Steve Clements in the 150 Cessna. Bob Hill flying his Champ. Eddie May flying the 150 Cessna. Hilrey Aven in his Tri-Pacer.

The days are getting light enough to do some flying early and still get to work on time.

I flew the Funk about 30 minutes this morning. I saw three big coyotes on W. W. Hill's pasture. I was about a thousand feet high when I saw them. It is hard for people who do not fly to believe that you can identify as small an animal as a coyote from that height. Anyway, I dropped down on them and sure startled these mangy critters.

Thursday night, Bud Cawthon and I flew the Funk for about an hour. If you haven't seen Hereford from the air at night you have missed a beautiful sight. Jerry Cady and Frankie Longhofer flew the 150 Cessna around the pattern with us so we wouldn't feel so lonesome. I don't know why there aren't more who fly at night as nearly every airplane at the airport is equipped for night flight and the air is always the smoothest at night.

Hereford looks like a big Christmas tree at night. If a person will choose a night with a full moon and calm weather, it is whose husband is pastor of the Avenue Baptist Church in Hereford. The Baldwins have been long-time friends of the Lynch family, having lived in Paducah a good many years.

Among those attending the Civil Defense Program at Dimmitt Thursday afternoon were Mrs. Harlen Barber, Mrs. Owen Andrews, Frank Robbins and Floyd Cole from this community. Dr. Ben Cook and Mr. Larry Bursleson from College Station represented the Extension Service and gave discussions on the subject. They were there to acquaint the public with a program of information available for every community and to urge an educational campaign to teach everyone about the protection which can be made from a possible explosion. The Frio Home Makers Club is scheduled to have such a program on April at the home of Mrs. Earnest Harder.

Joe Shultz left Sunday to take his calf and one for Walker Parris to the show at Ft. Worth.

Having Sunday dinner with Mrs. H. M. Mobley and Austin Mobley were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cole and family, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Don Mobley.

as safe as daytime flights.

Both Friona and Dimmitt airports are now either equipped with lights or about equipped. Dimmitt has had lights for a month or two and Friona should have theirs ready by the time you read this. I am sure glad to see this progress as the day of the daytime airplane is about over and a person will sometimes be delayed enough for various reasons that they need lights for landing.

I understand the town of Friona has been well trained for lighting its airport, though when a plane came in after dark, they just buzzed the main street and about everyone in town turned out en masse to provide light for some thankful fellow. In fact, Elvie Jennings told me he wasn't sure he knew how to land by anything but car lights.

Dr. A. T. Mims and Dr. Dr. Bruce Beene were this week certified to give Class II and Class III FAA Flight Physicals.

Cooperation of Local Government Could Be Key To Future Progress

Apparent success of the recent City-County meeting could well pave the way for additional City-County-School meetings...

Four such overlapping situations, in fact, were discussed at the meeting here last week, including fire protection, police protection, equalization and collection of taxes...

Consolidation of some phase of government work, under existing laws, not be possible, despite the fact that duplications are often

When A Senator Turns Lobbyist

We notice with some interest that Senator Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo is getting into hot water in Austin, and once again wonder why the good people of Potter County keep returning him to the state post.

First, it seemed to us that he attempted to subsidize his own personal dairy business with some special state legislation.

We do not think that Senator Hazlewood is so naive as to honestly believe his own statements, especially when small towns, such as Hallam City and Bowie for instance, are known far and wide as "speed traps".

In fact, with both county and city officials on the job, we would estimate that all small towns in West Texas, which the Senator represents, are more thoroughly patrolled than Amarillo, Lubbock, Dallas or Houston.

Frankly, it seems to us that after two decades in Austin, Senator Hazlewood has suddenly realized that he is not getting anywhere on his own merits, and that he is willing to say almost anything to get his name in the papers.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

"Man is like a rubber ball. The harder down he goes the more bounce... due to the Spirit," believes Don Alban.

Don was stricken with a muscle-crippling disease after graduating from high school, which confined him to a wheel chair for the past 25 years.

When I visited Don, there was a picture of Christ and a prayer on a wall. I noticed his difficulty in grasping a pencil. It takes him almost two days to write his column long-hand.

"In my early days," he told me, "a picture came to my mind's eye of sitting at a typewriter bating out my column... I was ashamed to tell others. They would think I had flipped... But in spite of my doubts I held that picture and—with years of hard work—it happened. Faith works like that."

Good Habits Mold Gay, Self-Satisfied Person

BY MRS. R. L. CRISWELL. Habits are queer things that can deal a lot of misery to those who are, shall I say, addicted to them.

one you meet and of giving them a cheerful "hello" is a habit well worth cultivating. I know one little miss who is otherwise shy of words, but the way she says "Hi" to everyone she meets is heartwarming, and the smile she gives to one and all is a joy to see. There are few faces that can keep from giving a smile in return.

One little lady said (she is 75 years young) "I don't mind the wrinkles; most of them are grin wrinkles anyway although some women call them crow's feet. I would rather have a crow's foot on my face as the result of smiling than the long droopy lines that come from having such a solemn visage. Smile lines turn up, frown lines droop down."

The habits one forms in early life cling on into old age. Older people who had chores to do in the early evening say that they have an urgency to hurry home when night begins to fall, even though there is nothing at all for them to do when they arrive, other than closing the doors and drawing the shades or draperies as darkness settles over the land.

There are habits that are detrimental to health, but once they become fixed it is very difficult to break them.

The old habit of early to bed and early to rise, to make one healthy, wealthy and wise, if begun when young is carried over into old age and even though there is no work for them to do the old habit wakes them at the same hour.

One old cowboy kept the habit to his death, which was almost ninety years. He regularly went to bed at eight o'clock and rose at four a.m. He would rise, dress and smoke until breakfast was ready, then he would take a long nap on his bunk so he would be ready for "chuck-time."

Everything belongs to the Lord, and we are only stewards; If God has given one more

School Week Is With Us Again

March 6-10 has been designated as "Public Schools Week" in Texas, and the occasion is one which each of us should observe with enthusiasm and interest.

We heard of a speaker recently who chided his audience that such a week would not be necessary, if they took sufficient interest all year.

If all of the parents checked the schools each day - even each week - our school system would likely be in a constant up-ramp. Worse still, so many people would be telling the teachers how to conduct their classes that a state of chaos would most likely result.

Without question, more people are deeply and intensely interested in schools than most critics realize. Attesting to this fact is the existence of five local PTA units, along with liberal attendance each year during Public Schools Week.

Because our schools effect our children, who will soon control our nation, schools always have and always will be close to the heart of every American.

Whether a similar situation exists in other towns and cities, we do not know, but we would guess that the condition is parallel. In addition, we predict that large delegations will visit the Hereford schools during the coming week.

City Bond Issue Shows Up Again

The City of Hereford has called for a $180,000 bond issue, designated specifically for street improvements and repairs.

Without question, it seems to us that this proposal deserves the support of the majority.

Frankly, we do not think that maintenance and repairs should be financed with bonds. Generally speaking, they represent an operating and maintenance cost and, in our opinion, should be paid with annual taxes.

Hereford, on the other hand, is faced with an emergency on street repairs. Taxes were lowered three or four years back, and no money is available with which to make the repairs.

At this particular time, it seems to us that there is little choice. The bond issue appears to be the only logical answer.

City officials, at the same time, should allocate reserves and maintenance funds to take care of anticipated street repairs which all of us know without question will be required from time to time.

50 YEARS AGO

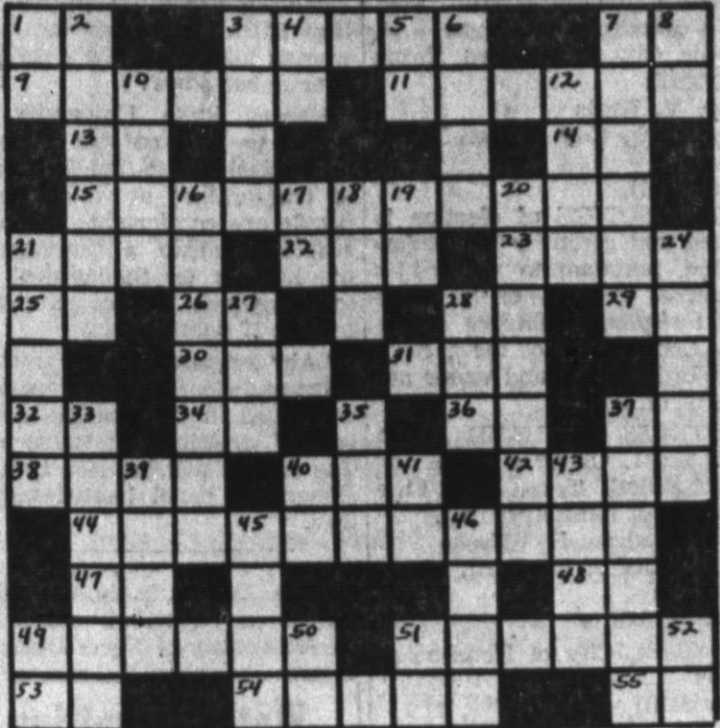

Farmers Pleased With Sub-Irrigation Method

The newest thing in the way of sub-irrigation has been discovered by J. P. Clement, who lives one mile west of Hereford. Last summer he gathered up a lot of cans and placed them end to end in a ditch about three feet from a sweet potato row.

25 YEARS AGO

Jim Wilson, 41st District Governor of Rotary International is looking for a great Pacific Ocean trade era, with the United States and Japan as the leading world powers, he told the Hereford Lions Club last Thursday night at a ladies' night banquet.

Beauty At Home

Q. What is a good pick-me-up for a tired hairdo in between shampoos?

A. Rub the entire scalp with some cologne-saturated cotton; use a few rollers or pin curls and spray lightly with cologne mist. Brush out minutes later, and your hair will look fresh and smell delicious.

Q. I have a forehead that "retreats" rapidly toward the rear. What sort of makeup technique will help to "bring it forward?"

A. By using a lighter shade of foundation makeup over this area, the lower part of your face will seem darker and more subdued, and the forehead is highlighted into greater prominence. Soft hair curls, or bangs, falling over the forehead, will help, too.

Q. What have you to say about the tweezing of the eyebrows?

A. Yes, by blending two shades of the base. A darker foundation cream will help camouflage a too-large upper arm, while the girl with skinny, "pipstem" arms will find that a lighter shade of foundation cream seemingly adds plumpness. Q. How can I remove some Christmas candlewax from one of my dresses?

A. After scraping off the excess wax, place the stained portion between two white blotters and press with a warm iron, and the blotters should absorb most of the grease. Then rub these areas with cold lard or turpentine, and wash in warm suds.

Q. Is it all right to apply moist rouge to the face without previous application of foundation cream or makeup base?

A. Not unless you want to risk the danger of the rouge's clogging and enlarging the pores of your skin. The use of moist rouge, with foundation makeup base, will give your face the illusion of natural coloring.

Q. Will the strategic use of base makeup help to correct arm faults, just as it helps with facial defects?

A. Yes, by blending two shades of the base. A darker foundation cream will help camouflage a too-large upper arm, while the girl with skinny, "pipstem" arms will find that a lighter shade of foundation cream seemingly adds

It isn't the few minutes you spend at the dining table that adds the extra pounds; it's the seconds.

TAKE NOTICE that an election will be held in the City of Hereford, Texas, on the 21st day of March, 1961, in obedience to an ordinance duly entered by the City Commission of the City of Hereford, Texas, on the 27th day of February, 1961, which is as follows:

"AN ORDINANCE by the City Commission of the City of Hereford, Texas, calling an election for the authorization of $180,000 general obligation bonds for a capital project, to-wit: constructing street improvements in and for said City; and enacting provisions incident and relating to the subject and purpose of this ordinance."

WHEREAS, the City Commission of the City of Hereford, Texas, deems it necessary, advisable and to the best interest of the City and its inhabitants that the bonds of said City be issued for the purpose hereinafter stated; and to that end has determined to submit the proposition for the authorization of such bonds to an election as hereinafter set out; therefore BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF HEREFORD:

SECTION 1: That an election be held on the 21st day of March, 1961, which date is not less than fifteen (15) nor more than thirty (30) days from the date of the adoption of this ordinance, at which election the following proposition shall be submitted to the resident qualified electors who own taxable property in said City, and who have duly rendered the same for taxation:

"SHALL THE City Commission of the City of Hereford, Texas be authorized to issue the bonds of said City in the total principal amount of ONE HUNDRED EIGHTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($180,000), said bonds to mature serially over a period of years not to exceed thirty (30) years from the date thereof, and to bear interest at a rate of not to exceed FIVE PER CENTUM (5%) per annum, payable annually or semi-annually for a capital project, to-wit: constructing street improvements in and for said City; and to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds by levying a tax sufficient to pay the annual interest and to create a sinking fund sufficient to redeem said bonds as they become due?"

The City Commission finds that the probable period of usefulness of the improvements for which the bonds funds are to be expended is thirty (30) years.

"AGAINST THE ISSUANCE OF $180,000 STREET IMPROVEMENT BONDS AND THE LEVY OF A TAX IN PAYMENT THEREOF"

AS TO THE foregoing proposition, each voter, shall mark out with pen or pencil one of such expressions, thus leaving the other as indicating his or her vote on the proposition.

SECTION 6: That a copy of this ordinance, signed by the Mayor of the City of Hereford and attested by the City Clerk shall serve as proper notice of said election.

SECTION 7: That notice of said election shall be given posting and publication of a copy of this ordinance at the top of which shall appear the words "NOTICE OF ELECTION FOR THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS": Said notice shall be posted at three public places within the City, one of which shall be at the City Hall, not less than fourteen (14) full days prior to the date on which said election is to be held, and be published on the same day in each of two successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation and published in the City of Hereford, the first of said publications to be made not less than fourteen (14) full days prior to the date set for said election.

HOT STOVE EXPERIMENT MANHATTAN, Kan.

How hot a hotfoot can the little woman take while she's slaving over a hot stove? Kansas State University is trying to find out in experiments designed to find the range of temperature at which most people are comfortable. The researchers strap a thermocouple harness on the subject to measure body surface temperature at 17 points.

"Air temperature, air movement and floor temperature are controlled in the conditioning room," explained an instructor. The results will be used by designers of panel heated buildings.

Her World Is Lilliputian

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "It was slim pickings at the start, but we have all the business we can handle now."

Slender, brown haired Virginia Green was telling of Architectural Models, Inc., a one-woman venture which today is doubling its business volume annually.

For four lean years Virginia, a former San Francisco school teacher turned sculptor, tried to convince architects that she could make precise scale models that would help their clients visualize how building and de- would look.

The idea caught on. Today these scale models bring her little firm thousands of dollars a piece. The business now extends across the nation and into the new states of Hawaii and Alaska.

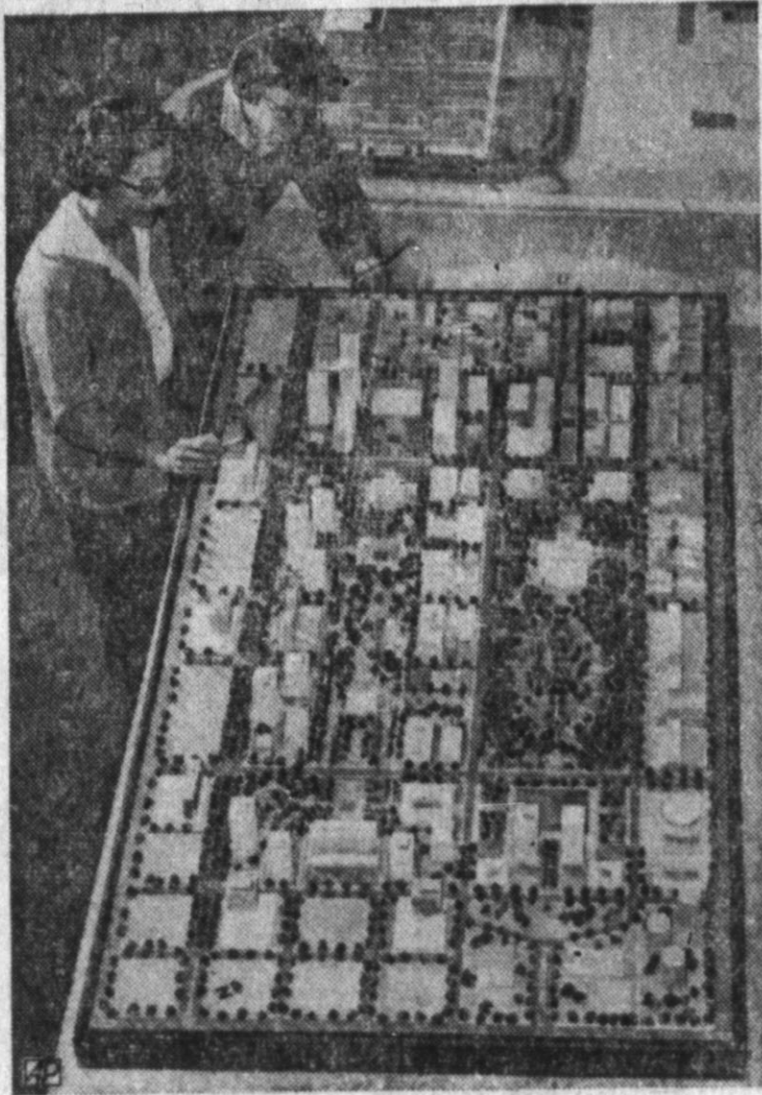

They have become the largest scale model manufacturer in the West and one of the two biggest in the country.

Models Valuable
Virginia started making scale models eight years ago at home. Three years later Leila Johnson, a former school teacher from Washington state, joined her as a partner. This year, with business mounting steadily, they incorporated.

"Leila and I had gotten our master of fine arts degrees at the University of Oregon in 1947, majoring in sculpture," Virginia says.

"After graduation, I tried to do garden and architectural sculpture. Then I met some architects who suggested there was a promising field in scale modeling of architectural projects. So I tried it."

The hard part was instilling confidence in architects. Actually, scale models are highly valuable to architects. They enable people to see just how a project will look, visualize the interior space and even room furnishings.

Many Projects Finished
Virginia and Leila, recently flew to Honolulu to study personally the multi-million dollar Ala Moana Reef project, on which they have just finished a scale model, complete with palm trees, hotels, public beaches and dazzling tropical blue waters.

The 72 x 42 inch model is costing the state of Hawaii several thousand dollars, but all who see it will know just how the beautiful project will look when completed.

The firm recently finished models for the University of Alaska; the University of California, which is planning a big new campus at Santa Cruz; the Pacific Development Plan at Sacramento, involving parks and areas near the state capitol; the Golden Gate redevelopment, which conceives turning San Francisco's rundown produce district into a spanking new apartment tower and business district along the Embarcadero, and numerous big business buildings.

Two Years Ahead
All of these models are built exactly to scale, buildings usually 1/8 to 1/16 inch to the foot and, in big sprawling developments, scaling 1 inch to 50 or

Promoter For Wrestling Uses Mob Psychology

BY EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO (AP) — Wrestling promoter Fred Kohler figures the key to successful sports promoting is a knowledge of mass psychology.

"A promoter has to know which personalities are going to have the greatest magnetic appeal to the public," he says.

Seated in his Marigold Arena office, Kohler, 57, looked at the wild and woolly world of wrestling. He found it good.

The year 1960 put him with the top sports promoters in the country. His gross last year was $427,593 for 11 consecutive ones.

Eight were staged at the International Amphitheater, the other three in Comiskey Park, home of the Chicago White Sox. His exhibitions attracted 143,671 fans.

Kohler's technique delivered four sell out houses at the Amphitheater. Many fans were turned away at the gate—no seating room.

At Comiskey Park, Kohler employed Bill Veeck's showmanship. He wound up a star mat card with fireworks.

Despite threatening weather, some 26,000 people paid $81,549 Sept. 16 at Comiskey Park.

Kohler started promoting wrestling matches 32 years ago with himself as a featured participant. He helped pioneer TV wrestling in Chicago in 1945.

Soon wrestling became a top attraction at Saturday night bars. This was encouraged when 13,000 Chicago taverns installed TV sets.

Although television was gaining in audience, Kohler was losing his. Privately-owned sets kept wrestling fans at home.

"I lost 50 per cent of my attendance in 1947," he says. "I came to the conclusion I would have to put up with it, get TV rights and produce it in as small a place as possible."

Kohler thus cut down overhead. He built up wrestling stars by creating new fans on television. He cashed in by promoting mat cards to live audiences throughout the Midwest. He has promoted matches as far away as Caracas, Venezuela.

Suddenly, the bottom fell out of wrestling. As a sport, wrestling was as unpopular as boxing seems today.

Lean years of 1957 and 1958 led Kohler to quit it as a losing proposition.

The Kohler's stars returned when weekly Saturday wrestling, appeared on network TV from the east, July, 1959. He sponsored the Chicago end of the show.

Washington, D. C. promoter Vince McMahon cooperated and Kohler began making matches. Wrestling had a lot of new fans itching to see behemoths battle in the flesh. Kohler calls this mass psychology!

TV seldom sees stars matched, a sure-fire Kohler method. "That was the method I used

Beauty At Home

BY LYNN CARTER

Q. Please, will you give me the basic procedure for giving myself a good manicure?

A. First, remove all the old polish carefully. Second, soak and scrub the hands and nails gently in warm soapy water, push the cuticles back with a towel when drying — never cut the cuticles if you want to cure or prevent the hangnail habit. Third, shape the nails with in-to-the-center strokes of your file. Don't be extreme — "claws" are more alarming than attractive! Don't file deeply into the sides of the nails, as this weakens the nails. Fourth, use three THIN coats of enamel (each well-dried), rather than two thick ones. And for in-between care, be sure to use hand lotion faithfully after every washing.

Q. My hair has suddenly become dry and brittle. What can I do about this?

A. You might cut down somewhat on the frequency of your shampoos for awhile. But brush your hair religiously every day, and massage the scalp by rotating it with your fingers. Hot-oil treatments prior to the shampoos are very beneficial, too.

Q. My skin is quite dry, and sometimes my face is sensitive to soap. At times like these, how can I cleanse it?

A. Warm milk is good for cleansing over-sensitive skin.

Q. Even though I select my food and meat, with an eye to calorie count and leanness, I still seem to gain weight. Why?

A. Perhaps you are eating as much "lean" meat or other low-calorie food as you want, not realizing that even a lean meat, like hamburger, has many of its calories in fat content. You cannot reduce merely by serving the "low-count" foods. You must also cut down your portions, and make a schedule of regular exercise.

Q. What is a good makeup corrective for a nose that is too wide and flat-looking?

A. Blend some darker - than-skin - tone foundation along the sides of the nose, and a lighter shade down the center.

Broken Key
If the Yale-type key breaks off flush in the lock, apply a small amount of solder flux to the broken end, then apply a bead of solder with the tip of a solder gun so that the solder flows onto the key. Hold the solder gun motionless until the solder hardens, then pull the key out.

Proper Food Rotation
Canned foods, if kept overlong, will often lose food value. To make sure the old stock is used first, stamp each can with its purchase date, using an adjustable date stamp from your local dime or stationery store.

Furniture Polish
You can avoid a furniture polishing pad that is soaked in one spot and practically dry in another, by using an ordinary clothes sprinkler top on the polish bottle to scatter the liquid evenly on the cloth.

Window Cleaning
Kitchens windows and auto windshield are tough to wash clean because of the grease and oil they are prone to pick up. If you have this trouble add a spoonful of plain kerosene to the water to help cut the grease. It works for cutting the putty oil left on newly-installed panes, too.

Button Snipping
When cutting buttons off of clothing, guard against accidental cutting of the fabric by sliding a thin comb between the button and fabric. The teeth of the comb will protect the materials from damage.

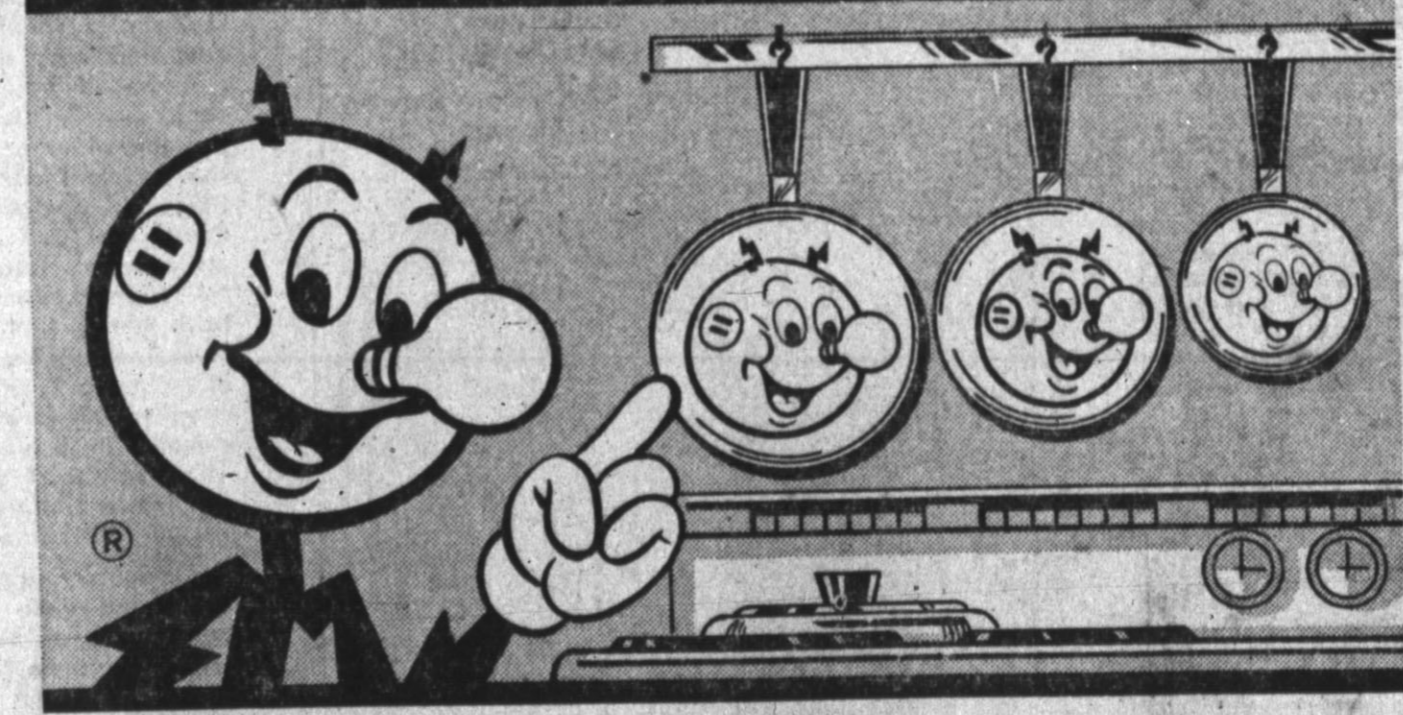

Matching Paint
Instead of buying paint to match a color already on hand, take white paint and tint to the color desired. If a can of white paint and a few tubes of color are kept on hand, you can mix to any color you want.

Hanging Pictures
Place one thumbtack in each lower corner at the back of a picture frame, and the tack heads will provide an air space between the picture and wall, thus preventing a dust line from soiling the wall surface.
