County School Post Candidates Are Very Scarce

While there are six candidates for two Hereford Rural High School District posts, a race for four county school posts remained at a relatively dead pace with only one candidate Saturday morning.

Deadline for filing candidacy for either school board is Wednesday, March 1.

Candidates to the two posts on the Hereford District board of trustees are incumbents Tom Robinson and W. P. Axe and Donald L. Baugous, Dr. Wesley B. Owen, Labry E. Ballard and Johnny Johnson.

Of the four posts open in county school boards, only one candidate has announced. A petition has been submitted to place Jim Monroe on the ballot for election to the Walcott Common School District board.

Jack Weaver's term expires this year on the Walcott board. Three posts are up for election on the Deaf Smith County School Board. Those whose terms expire this year include Melvin May in Commissioner's Precinct 1; J. C. Morrison in Commissioner's Precinct 2; and H. M. Benson in Commissioner's Precinct 4.

Terms on the Hereford District board of trustees expire this year for Robinson and Axe. Each have served two three-year terms on the board.

Both elections will be held April 1. Last day for filing candidacy for the Hereford District posts in the school tax assessor-collector's office is Wednesday, March 1.

In the county races, County Judge Don Zimmerman said that announcement of candidacy or submission of a petition bearing the names of five qualified voters must be done in the County Judge's office not later than 30 days prior to the election.

The Hereford school board is made up of seven trustees. The election will be held on April 1, at the school tax collector's office in Hereford and at Dawn School. Polls will be open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m., and trustees will be elected at large.

Polling places for the county school board election also have been announced. Commissioner's (Continued on Page 2)

COUNTY 4-H CLUB King and Queen were announced to conclude the Share-The-Fun Festival Friday night. This year's royalty are Jim Shearhart and Janis Higgins. The festival was held in the Aikman School cafeteria. (Staff Photo)

Janis Higgins and Jim Shearhart were named Queen and King to climax the second annual county 4-H Club Share-The-Fun Festival here Friday night. Their coronation closed two hours of stunts and skits presented by members of the various 4-H Clubs in Deaf Smith County.

Janis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Higgins. A member of the Willing Workers 4-H Club, she is 15 years old. She has been in 4-H work for six years. Her major projects have included clothing, foods, safety, bedroom improvement and marketing cooperatives. She is a member of the Civil Defense committee of the County Planning Council.

Jim is a member of the Hereford 4-H Club and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shearhart. He is 13 and has been in 4-H for four years.

He was named 4-H Wheat King at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo last fall, was chosen state grain sorghum champion and showed the Reserve Champion beef calf at the Junior Livestock Show here last month. Jim also has worked on home beautification projects and is a member of the program building committee of the County Planning Council.

The winners were crowned by 1960 King and Queen, Dick Plank and LuAnne Higgins. LuAnne and Janis are sisters.

Also nominated were Catherine Smith, Caroline Brumley, Linda Loerwald, Kathie James, Jan Higgins and Larry Hill. Willing Workers Club won honors for having the best skits of the evening. They presented a fantasy on "4-H in Space."

Winner of the Junior Division was the Dorothea Prowell Club for "Maid To Order." Honorable Mention in this division went to the Dawn Club for "Eight Pretty Maids."

First place in the Senior Division was won by the Willing Workers Club for its hillbillies in "We's 4-Hegs, Believe It Or Not." Honorable mention in this judging went to the Merry Maidens Club for its own version of "I've Got A Secret."

Judges for the skits were Mrs. Bobby Williams, Mrs. Elm Patterson, Darrell Rose and Harry Caylor.

Other skits included: "Newly-Weds" by Happy Workers Club; "Backseat Driver" by the Argon H. Draper Club; "The Questionable Well" by the Ford Club; "Nervous Father" by the Sadie Lee Oliver Club; and "Train Ride" by the Hereford Workers Club. About 400 persons attended the Fun Festival in the Aikman Elementary School cafeteria.

Davis Will Seek Commission Post

W. L. "Bill" Davis, Jr., Saturday morning announced his intention to file for election to the Hereford City Commission.

Davis told the Brand that he would file officially when the City Hall opened Monday. The City offices are closed on Saturday.

He will be a candidate for Commissioner, Place One. He thus became the third candidate for a city post. There are three offices up for election.

Only other candidate who has announced is Troy Moore, who has filed for the office of mayor. Moore presently is serving on the City Commission.

Offices which expire include that of Mayor and Commissioners for Place One and Place Two.

Present Mayor, Woodrow B. Wilson, has stated that he does not intend to run for re-election. Don Little, Commissioner for Place One, has not announced whether he will seek re-election. Gid Brown, Commissioner for Place Two, announced earlier that he would seek re-election.

Deadline for filing for a place on the ballot is 3 p.m. Friday, March 3. All offices have two-year terms.

Hereford general city election is scheduled for April 4.

A snowstorm that lashed the Panhandle was so quick it almost was unbelievable last week.

A case of "now you see it, now you don't" well describes the tiny blizzard that struck Deaf Smith County Thursday. After temperatures hit the high 60's Wednesday and early Thursday, they dipped quickly before a frigid blast that roared in from southeastern New Mexico with a low pressure system.

snow was falling in blinding swirls, soaking the ground. As temperatures continued to plummet, the snow started piling up. Within a matter of hours, from three to five inches lay on the ground, trees and everything else that was exposed.

About 20 inch of moisture was accumulated with the snow, a large part of the county's moisture for the year.

But almost before some folks knew it was snowing, it wasn't. By 10 p.m. the moon was shining through the blowing snow and two hours later, it was all over. The stars and moon were clearly visible and the clouds were moving to the east.

Speed was the main characteristic of the storm. It came up quickly, fell rapidly and was gone within a matter of hours. Despite low temperatures Friday (Continued on Page 2)

Boardman Gets Appointed As TCA Field Man

Herb Boardman of Hereford Friday was appointed field representative for the Texas Commission on Alcoholism.

Confirmation of his appointment was made in a wire from the state agency headquarters in Austin.

Although Boardman will continue to live in Hereford, he will be helping organize the area of the Panhandle and West Texas. His primary duties will be in helping organize and maintaining local councils on alcoholism. (Continued on Page 2)

Information On Missing Singer Is Sought Here

Hereford police Saturday morning said description of Gary Mills, a teen-aged California youth who lived in Hereford for about two months recently, matches the identity of a 16-year-old youth who has been reported missing from his Santa Paula, Cal., home since Oct. 6 last year.

Police Friday received information that Harry Clewley, 16, has been missing since Oct. 6 from his home at Santa Paula. The boy was reported missing by his mother, Mrs. Mayola Holloway, also of Santa Paula.

Hereford police said any person knowing the whereabouts of Gary Mills should contact police headquarters in City Hall. Mills, who was soloist with the Hereford High School Mixed Choir at the recent Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce banquet and who has sung for at least one civic club in Hereford, left Hereford earlier this month.

Mills worked at Hopsom Meat Co. while he lived in Hereford. He reportedly lived in this city for about two months.

Clewley, a noted singer in California, has made several per- (Continued on page 2)

Four-Year-Old Hurt In Wreck

A four-year-old Hereford boy was treated for a small laceration of his forehead and released from the emergency room of Deaf Smith County Hospital Wednesday afternoon following an automobile-truck crash in the city.

The youngster, Jackie Stone, was passenger in a 1959 model car driven by his mother, Mrs. Winogene Oates Stone, 24, 803 Brevard St.

Investigating Hereford police said the boy was thrown against the windshield when the automobile hit the rear of a 1½-ton truck driven by Teddy Dee Bryant, 27, of Amarillo. The accident occurred as both vehicles were headed east on park Ave., about 62 feet west of Star St., at 5:13 p.m. Wednesday.

Damage to the car was estimated at about $300 by investigating police Sgt. L. B. Bartlett. The truck was not damaged, the officer reported.

The youngster was taken to the emergency room of the Hereford hospital by a passing motorist.

Officers Investigate Armed Robbery Of Service Station

Deaf Smith County Sheriff's officers are searching for a man who Wednesday night staged an armed robbery at the Jim Walker Fina Station and held a 17-year-old station attendant at gunpoint until the attendant's release about 12 miles west of Hereford.

The unmasked bandit forced the employee, Gilbert Blea, 17, of Hereford to give him $14 from the station's cash register and ordered the station attendant to get into his car.

Blea, who was the only employee at the station at the time of the robbery, was taken to a dirt road 12 miles west of the city and released from the bandit's car.

The robbery occurred at about 8 p.m. The station is located on W. Highway 60, just outside the city limits.

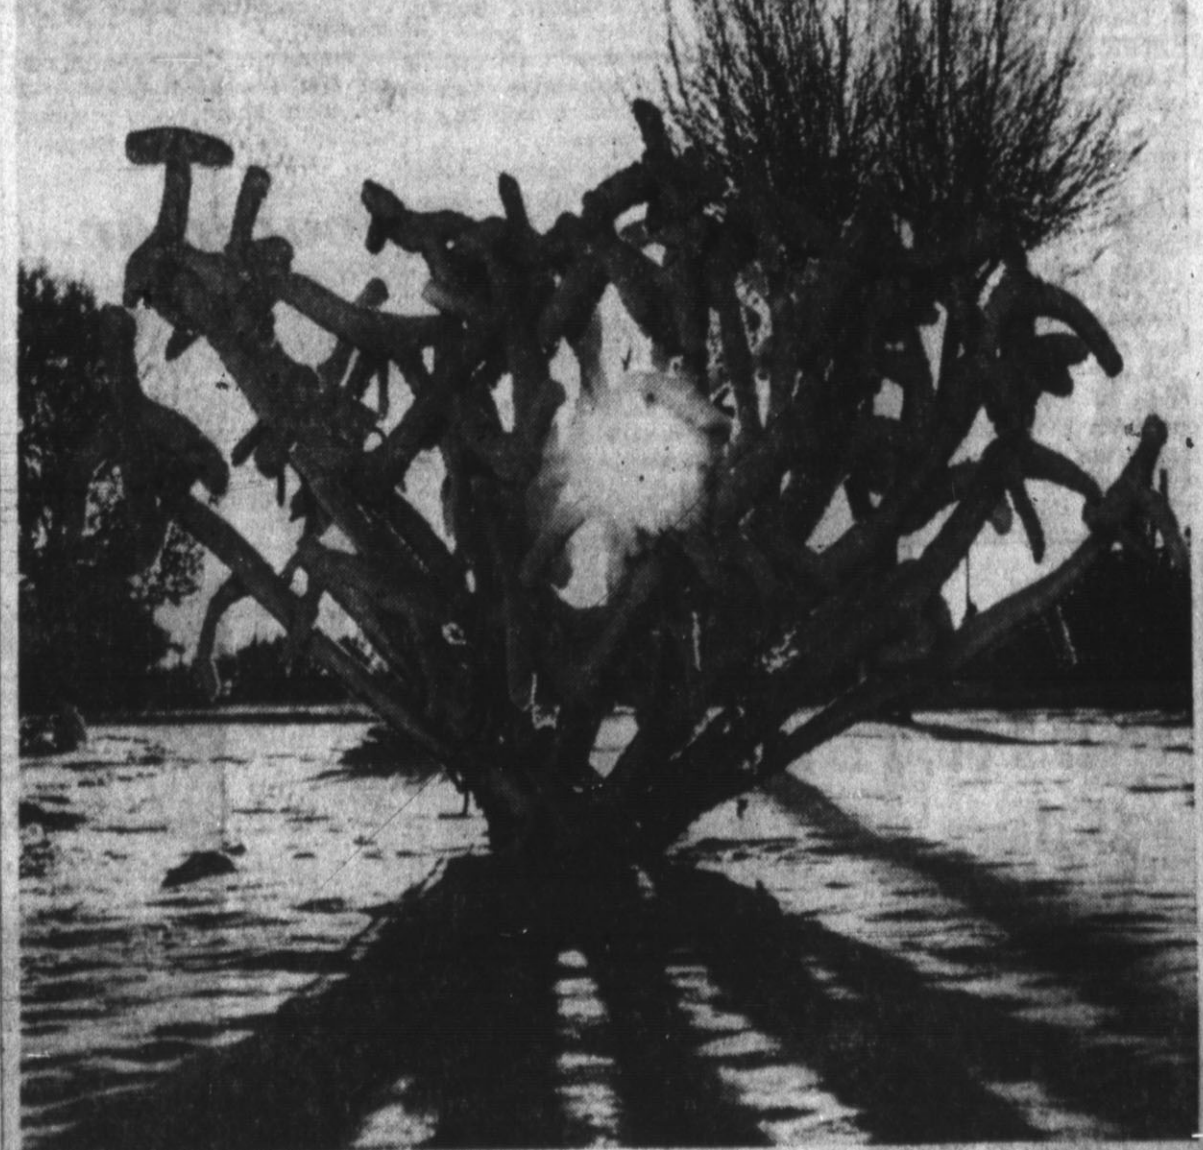

Blea told officers that the man drove into the station and asked him to put $1 worth of gasoline in his car. While Blea was pumping gasoline into the tank, the man entered the station and waited on the attendant, officers reported.

When the attendant entered the station, the man gave Blea a dollar. As Blea opened the cash register, the man pulled out a revolver and ordered Blea to give him the currency in the cash drawer, which totaled about $14.

After taking the money, Blea told officers, the gunman ordered the attendant to get into his (the gunman's) car.

day morning, a bright sun started working on the huge piles of snow on trees, fences, cars and houses. So fast was the thaw that water ran off roofs like rain.

But the brief storm did no damage, other than keeping most people at home. Attendance was sparse at the high school play production Thursday night and downtown Hereford was almost deserted.

With ice piled up like corrugated roofing on streets and roads, school officials declared a holiday. While driving was slick for a few hours, the ice soon melted. All roads remained open through the night, but were hazardous.

For a few hours Friday morning, the countryside was a glittering beauty as thick snow clung to every surface. The same was true in town, although sheltered areas remained fairly clear.

Although not the worse by any means, the brief blizzard should be classed as one of the very briefest on record.

The snow also was beneficial to the agriculture picture. Since Jan. 1, only .58 of an inch has been recorded in Hereford. This is far below the 1.54 recorded during the same period last year.

Many farmers have been concerned about the lack of winter moisture and fear it may reflect in dryland crop yields this summer.

that the gunman threatened to kill him after the two entered the automobile. The car came to a halt on a dirt road 12 miles west of Hereford.

"He told me to get out and start walking — slow," Blea said. The station attendant then walked to a farm house about two miles from where he got out of the car.

Jim Walker, owner of the station, had gone to supper in his trailer house located just behind the station before the robbery took place. Walker said he returned to the station and had waited on a customer before he discovered the cash register had been rifled of its contents.

Walker then notified the Sheriff's office that the cash register had been robbed. A county farmer drove Blea back to the station while Sheriff's officers were investigating.

Blea told Sheriff Sharp that the bandit did not want the checks in the cash register.

The gunman was described as being about six feet tall, from 20 to 24 years old, and was wearing dark pants and a dark jacket at the time of the robbery.

The automobile was described as being a white-over-black 1955 or 1956 model.

If you do this, be cautioned, keep your back door traffic to an absolute minimum.

Shoplifting in this area is not of a professional nature, he said, but the amateurs usually hit drug, variety and grocery stores. The professionals usually operate in expensive dress shops, stores which sell furs and jewelry stores.

"Aycock said he appreciated the merchants' vulnerable position about making a false accusation. But he urged merchants to call police if they were in doubt. He particularly asked that they call police if women or children were involved.

How Can I?

By Anne Hubley

Q. How can I improvise a good metal polish?
 A. A stick of ordinary blackboard chalk proves a capable substitute for regular metal polish. Just rub a little soft-grade chalk onto a dry or damp cloth and apply to the metal surface. There is just enough abrasive quality to the chalk to remove dirt and grease without scratching, and it leaves a nice glossy finish on the metal.
 Q. What can I do if some oil from my sewing machine has spotted the fabric on which I have been sewing?
 A. Apply immediately a liberal coating of talcum powder, let this stand for 15 to 20 minutes, then brush off. Repeat the process, if necessary.
 Q. How can I shorten a plastic raincoat?
 A. One very good way to accomplish this is to turn up the hem and stick it into place with some adhesive tape.

Blue Birds Entertain With Tea Wednesday

The Firefly Blue Birds from Shirley school entertained the Sunshine Blue Birds from Aikman school with a tea at the Community Center Wednesday afternoon.
 The table was covered with a white cloth and the centerpiece was a miniature cherry tree made by the girls. Candles flanked the centerpiece and red napkins were used to carry out the George Washington theme. Punch, cookies, (made by the girls) nuts and mints were served.
 Sunshine Blue Birds attending were Martha Baker, Sidona Bennett, Joan Coffey, Kerri Dameron, Becky Edlemon, Janice Edwards, Cynthia Ethridge, Karen Gilbert, Anna Hordnyek, Judy Jackson, Evelyn Kuper, Camille Langley, Debbie McKutcheon, Micah Smith, Rhonda Stewart, Peggy Summers, Sabra Traweek, Bonnie Walker and Jan West. Sunshine leaders attending were Mrs. Bill Dameron, Mrs. Sammie West and Mrs. Earnest Langley.
 Firefly Blue Birds include Debbie Boardman, Alleen Christianson, Prissy Crume, Annette Emmons, Ernestina Gonzales, Debbie Gholson, Simona Garcia, Christy Hair, Janey Little, Diane London, Joy McCathern, Julie Madison, Cyselda Martinez, Ann Mims, Judy Yarbrough, Karen Bain, Elise Beene, Karen Bell, Randy Borland, Melody Caraway, Darlene Coffman, Iratta Greenway, Kathy Hoffman, Cathy Jobe, Mary Sue Neff, Jolanda Pesina, Suzie Sanders, D'Shawn Sigman, Cordella Suttle, and Connie Walker.
 Firefly leaders are Mrs. Don Little, Mrs. Don Sanders, Mrs. John Madison, Mrs. Baxter London and Mrs. H. D. Boradman.

 Mrs. Nelson Rieger presented the program on "The Unfavored Child."

Beauty At Home

BY LYNN CARTER

Q. My waist is not as slim as I'd like it to be. Can you suggest a good exercise?
A. Here's a very good one: Standing with legs braced, reach over your head and clasp your hands. Bend twice to the right until the muscles pull, twice to the front, twice to the left, and twice to the back. Now swoop all the way around once. Repeat four times, concentrating on the side bends.
Q. How can I make my own underarm deodorant at home?
A. One very good one is a paste made of bicarbonate of soda and water. And a little bicarb added to your regular bath water is another very good idea.

showed us all of the electric carts — and the new garage is completely sold out — but we wanted to know who carried the bag of clubs from the cart into the lockers, and Harman had to admit that this was up to the individual player. Gaylord told him right off that a bag of clubs weighed more than a sack of groceries, and if he was going to tote something that heavy, it would be groceries.

Golf has come a long way, all right; they have eliminated the walking, which is fine, but you still have to balance the ball on that little peg and do your own club swinging. I hear that they are working on a robot which you can set for 100 yards, 150 yards, or 200 yards depending on the hole, and maybe the golfer can sit in the pro shop and watch the robot go around the course, which will make it even better; maybe the super deluxe model could be pre-set nine different distances, one for each hole, and you would know what your score would be before you ever started. Bud Posey has a pair of field glasses through which he can watch everything that happens on the course. The only trouble, he says, is that he never finds time to use them.

Mark Woodall is the first banker I ever saw who acted like he was unhappy to get money. He received his government insurance check the other day, which usually arrives in November, and says it is going to work a real hardship on him. Mark says his wife usually takes over the check for Christmas shopping but now that he has already spent the money, he doesn't know what he is going to tell his Mrs. Woodall next Christmas.

Jack Brown says the moisture was fine, but nothing will short out an electric fence quicker than a wet Russian thistle.

The English are supposed to be pretty good at figuring things out, and just to prove it here is a clipping from the London Daily Sketch:

"If a man's after money, he's money-mad; if he keeps it, he's a capitalist; if he spends it, he's a play-boy; if he doesn't get it, he's a ne'er-do-well; if he doesn't try to get it, he lacks ambition. If he gets it without working for it, he's a parasite; and if he accumulates it after a lifetime of hard work, people call him a fool who never got anything out of his life."

Things are really shuffling around on Highway 60 these days. The upshot, when construction is finished, indicates considerable general improvement — and several new firms. Even John Moody, who is responsible for much of the development, got quite excited this week and reported that he actually had Jack Messer and Jimmy Allred down in a pit shoveling dirt. These two boys at manual labor is the biggest news we've had around here since they outmaneuvered Clarence Morrison and Bernie Northcutt onto the roof of the Westway church.

I keep hearing a lot of talk about city candidates, but no one seems overly anxious to file. Dan Mudd looked it up the other day, and said that March 3 is the deadline.

Had one of those "wish you were here" cards from Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Easley, who are living it up in Honolulu. Grace is no doubt absorbing a lot of atmosphere and culture, but I'll bet that Oscar comes back doing the hula. Helen McCauley admits that she took some lessons while she was over there.

but I can't talk her into giving an exhibition. She says she never did get the hand wiggling part down pat. Helen says the whole story in the hula dance is told with the hand, which is good information to have, so next time you see anyone do the hula you can be sure and concentrate on the hands. I wish there was some way to get this information to Oscar. I know he would appreciate it.

I hear that Bruce Burney of Levelland recently bought the Darrel Blanton house on Texas Avenue and is moving to Hereford. Bruce already has a lot of friends in this territory, and is just about one of the nicest fellows you will run across.

Mutt Wheeler is really down on the weather department. He is a licensed pilot, to my surprise, and says that he called for information on the weather Thursday, got a "fair and warmer" clearance, then ran smack into the snow storm which hit here that afternoon. Ray Johnson, who charts a lot of flights, holds the weather department in about the same esteem. They are trying to get me to put in a commercial daily weather forecast service, but I refuse to consider it seriously. I figure I am going to have to pay taxes on anything I would take in from such a service, and the government would take my tax money and compete with me on a no-charge basis. When you look at it from this standpoint, weather forecasting just doesn't have any future.

OUT OF THE FREEZER: Lemon meringue, pecan and fruit pies, made as directed by Myra Waldo in a new cookbook "Cooking for the Freezer."

New Cook Books Yield Date, Fun

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Our guess is that more cook books are published in this country than in any other, although England may run us a close second.

Right now there are dozens of new ones, on many aspects of food preparation, to choose among.

The following should yield a generous number of dishes worth making, some valuable information and a good deal of reading pleasure.

Any hostess who numbers epicures among her friends and wants to entertain them in the style they like to encounter, would do well to look into "Menus for Entertaining" by Juliette Elkton and Elaine Rose (Hastings House). From its charming jacket to its last page, this book is a whole-hearted sharing of 400 carefully tested recipes. Its 72 party menus include breakfasts; brunches and lunches; picnic, barbecue—and patio meals; formal and informal dinners. Acquaintance with European cuisine and professional experience in this country as food consultants and cooking teachers have given these authors fine background from which to write, and Narcisse Chamberlain has done a splendid job of editing their material.

"Cooking for the Freezer" by Myra Waldo (Doubleday) has an attractive device. Recipes are presented double-duty fashion: each one tells how to prepare a dish so that half may be used at once and half be freezer-stored. Because the recipes are particularly suitable for company, cooks may have a rehearsal before guests come.

"Favorite breads from Rose Lane Farm" by Ada Lou Roberts (Hearstside) will lure any cook who enjoys or wants to learn to bake yeast breads. Because the author has full confidence in her recipes, she is most persuasive and offers some practical and homey asides. Convinced that ground ginger is a "yeast improver" Mrs. Roberts uses the spice in her recipes. Interesting, if true! As yet we haven't had a chance to prove this notion.

"The New Cruising Cookbook" by Russell K. Jones and C McKim Norton (Norton) may give summertime galley slaves helpful winter reading. All its recipes were tested under small-craft minimum-equipment conditions. The two gentlemen who

RACE TALKS IN S. AFRICA

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. D. Franklin Clark Fry, president of the United Lutheran Church in America, will lead a seven-man delegation of the World Council of Churches to discuss race relations with South African member churches of the council at Johannesburg in December.

Versatile Brazil Nuts Glorify Cakes, Wafers

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE
Don't let a wafer scare you. Those thin, crisp members of the cookie family may look delicate, but they are not hard to make. Most of them belong to the drop-cookie clan.

Once you get wafer-conscious, you may start collecting some fascinating recipes. Sweden and Norway, for example, have their famous Krumkakes—thin crisp cones that are baked on a special iron, then rolled into shape. They're a combination of sugar, eggs, butter or cream and flour, and they're flavored with vanilla or cardamom.

England calls her well-known wafers Brandy Snaps. They're concocted of sugar, molasses, butter and flour, and flavored with brandy and ginger. Denmark names one of her popular wafers a macaroon—these made with sugar, butter, flour, baking powder, oatmeal, eggs and nuts.

The following American wafer is a delicious cross between the English and Danish varieties. Chop the Brazil nuts called for in the recipe with a knife, but chop them fine. Or if you have a rotary-type grater, use it, making sure it has the proper blade for chopped nuts and doesn't grate them to a meal.

The ultimate destination of these wafers should be an old-fashioned afternoon tea. Their brittle texture will give pleasant texture contrast to other soft foods.

When Brazil nuts are in the kitchen you might also like to grind them fine and roll frosted cake squares in them. Or you can decorate frosted cupcakes with Brazil nut curls. To make this pretty garnish, simmer the shelled nuts in water for about 5 minutes, then slice thin lengthwise with a swivel-blade vegetable peeler.

LACY WAFERS
3/4 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup dark molasses
1/2 cup butter (melted)
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
1 cup finely chopped Brazil nuts

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar into a mixing bowl. Add milk, molasses, butter and vanilla; stir in rolled oats and nuts. Drop level teaspoons of the mixture, each 2 inches apart, on greased and floured cookie sheets. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 6 to 8 minutes. Cool about 1 minute; remove to wire rack. Makes about 8 dozen.

KEEPING UP TOUGH

DANVILLE, Va. (AP) — It's tough keeping up with Danville's Joneses.

Victor Samuel Jones was the city's first baby of the year. Patsy Lou Jones was named Miss Danville in the Miss America preliminary.

Ed Jones was presented the distinguished service award of the Chamber of Commerce of nearby Chatham.

Sara Lee Jones was chosen the city's candidate for Queen of Tobaccoland.

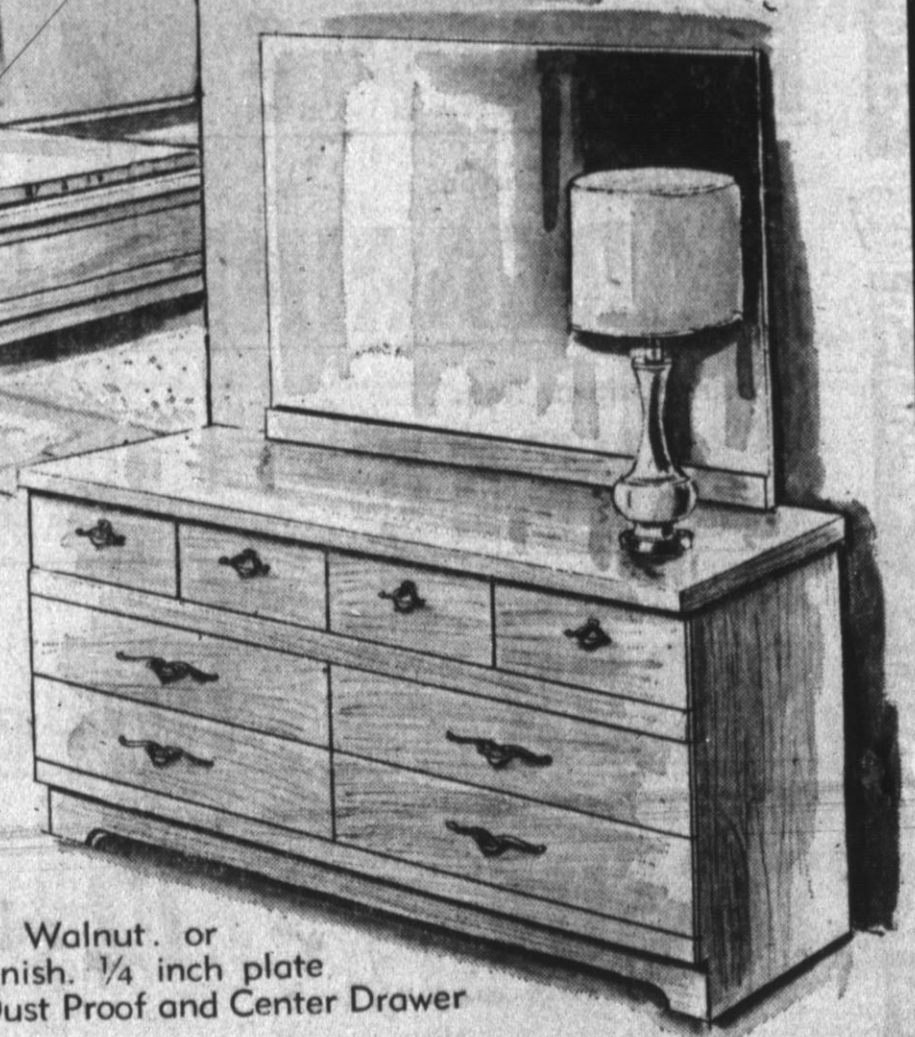

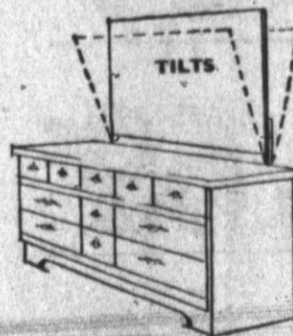

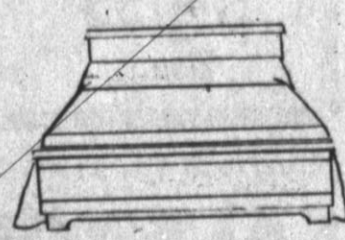

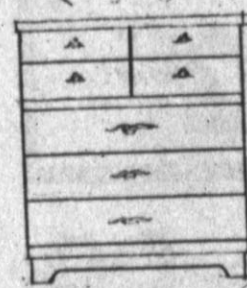

The Joneses are not related.

AIRBORNE JAYWALKERS

MISS LORETA FOWLER, assistant County Home Demonstration Agent, is given an assist by Mrs. J. J. Boydston, County librarian and Mrs. Lee Newman as she checks out a month's supply of library books for 4-H Club members at Adrian. Miss Fowler started the reading program at Adrian last fall. (Staff Photo)

4-H'ers Learn Correct Reading

With the help of the Home Demonstration Extension Service and the Deaf Smith County Library, 4-H club members and students at Adrian School are learning to read. And what's more, they like it.

Miss Loreta Fowler, assistant home demonstration agent of Deaf Smith County, goes by the library once a month to load up her car with a carefully selected assortment of reading material. These books are taken to Adrian School, where Mrs. Clarabelle Wyckoff, English teacher at Adrian, checks them out to the members of the Caprock 4-H Club.

If the 4-H members don't check out all the books, other students are allowed to do so. There are 33 students from Deaf Smith County who attend Adrian School.

This county-wide 4-H reading program was started in the late '40s, as the 4-H leaders saw the need of giving education more recognition.

When a member has read three books from the selected list, he receives a handsome certificate of commendation from the Home Demonstration Council's Education Committee. With each additional book that is read, the reader receives a gold star. A red star is given for every book review attended. The summit of achievement is reached with the award of a blue ribbon, signifying 20 books read.

Members of the Caprock 4-H Club are Gay Bell Brothers, Kathy Garrison, Gail Gruhlkey, Martha Gruhlkey, Glenda Hornfeld, Doris June Horton, Linda Pinnell, Peggy Sifford, Rita Speed and Myrna Lois Zaring. Mrs. C. F. Hornfeld is leader of the group, having served in that capacity for eight years. She has received a five-year silver service pin and last year was awarded a certificate for outstanding service.

The Caprock Club was organized in 1947, under the leadership of Mrs. Elmo Pinnell.

Mrs. Wyckoff says about the books: "One little girl came bringing another by the hand to get a book. We could use more, in fact we could use a boxful half as big as my room for the girls. The younger 4-H members are eager to read and are responding better than the high school age group."

Mrs. J. J. Boydston, Deaf Smith County Librarian, thinks this reading program a wonderful opportunity for the children. She and her assistant, Mrs. Lee Newman, have always encouraged children of all ages to read, knowing that reading promotes clearer thinking and self expression.

One thing for sure, mothers of 4-H'ers in this area won't give voice to the universal complaint: "Johnny can't read."

WOMEN OF INTEREST

Quaint Charm Adds To Personality

BY MONA JETTE BRAND WOMEN'S EDITOR

Fourteen months ago this writer had the privilege of meeting one of the grandest old women in existence. On first acquaintance, she seemed to be snobbish, old fashioned . . . and even ill-mannered.

But upon closer examination, it was discovered she wasn't so snobbish . . . maybe it was myself. She wasn't really old fashioned . . . just quaint. (There really is a difference.)

By most standards, she isn't very old . . . just 63 years. But what she has done with the years since her birth is unique in the history of the settlement of Texas. All of you know her . . . for her name is Hereford.

Many years ago, the waters of Tierra Blanca Creek flowed swift and deep, showing a lustrous blue at the greatest depth. Thus came into being the pioneer settlement of Blue Water.

In 1898, an enterprising young rancher brought a beautiful herd of Hereford cattle into Deaf Smith County. Someone suggested that the thriving community be called Hereford after these cattle. All agreed with this apropos suggestion and a new town was born.

Today, this same breed of cattle has brought Hereford world-wide fame. Over 33,278 head of cattle are shipped out of Hereford every year. She has also become a principal commercial shipping point with grain elevators, washing, grading and storage plants for Irish potatoes and onions; lettuce, carrots, sugar beets, cotton and all kinds of feed crops are grown on a large scale. Hereford also boasts of the largest non-terminal elevator in the world.

Hereford is a picturesque little city; her streets of faded red brick pleasantly shaded by stately cottonwood trees and elms. Rambling two-story houses blend agreeably with the more modern types of architecture, springing up in the new housing developments east, west, north and south of the business district.

Townpeople are proud of the community-mindedness of the residents. Such interested citizens can't be equalled in all of Texas, or for that matter, the United States. This can be realized by taking a look at past accomplishments, such as the fine Community Center or the fund-raising for the proposed Golden Age Home.

Thirteen civic organizations serve the male residents, from a Lions Club to a very energetic volunteer fire department.

For the woman, no less than 50 clubs are active in community and personal development, including study clubs, home demonstration clubs, garden clubs, parent-teacher organizations and even music clubs.

Therein, in this writer's opinion, lies the secret for the success of Hereford. With such civic-minded inhabitants, working earnestly together for a common goal, how could even the loftiest of projects fail?

And frankly, nicer people just can't be found. Many of the families living here have had family connections in this locale for decades, some over a half-century. Then there are the young couples just settling here, with an eye on the fine schools and opportunities to be found.

Hereford has her "character," just like any other town. These will always abound, as long as the idiosyncrasies of human nature exist.

Her locale helps her on her thriving way and her people like to think that this is "God's Country." The arrival of each separate season is breathtakingly beautiful, something to hold close as the year progresses.

First, there is the throbbing awareness of spring. The very earth seems to pulse with new life, as tiny leaf buds slowly swell and microscopic blades of grass push timid little heads up in curiosity. Then suddenly, almost overnight, a lush springtime that is Hereford's very own has arrived.

As summer approaches, the days get warmer and longer. One blue-hot day melts into another, broken occasionally by a brief but intense thunder shower. Dameron Park is full of jumping, twisting and running children, exuberant with the pure joy of just being alive. The balmy days extend on into September, the evenings tinged with the smoky haze of autumn. Trees all over town join in frenzied competition, each trying to outdo another in a riotous display of bright color. The melody of a Sousa march floats through the crisp evening air, as the high school band practices maneuvers at the football field.

One day, it is no longer fall, but winter. All plant life lies gray and lifeless, ready for a long winter's sleep. Old Jack Frost creeps in stealthily and tucks them in snugly with a pure PECAN PIES IN MINIATURE: Flavor may be varied deliciously by adding chocolate, pineapple or candied fruit.

Small Pecan Pies Are Delicious Hits

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
A professional baker had an alluring idea this season. She sent batches of miniature pecan pies all over the country to be sold in specialty food shops.

One taste of these and we were sure home cooks would like to make them because they are a natural for storing in the freezer.

Then friends offered a delightful suggestion: why not vary the pecan filling? So in the following recipe you'll find the nuts teamed with chocolate, pineapple and candied fruit — and each filling delectable.

The miniature pies may be baked in everyday small muffin pans. "But how do you cut pastry to fit them?" we have heard home cooks ask.

It's a matter of measurement. First invert the muffin pan. With a piece of string measure one of the cups, up one side, across the bottom and down the other side. Now snip off or measure this length of cord; choose a round cookie cutter whose diameter is the same length as the cord. The cutter will make rounds of dough that just fit the cups.

After rolling and cutting the pastry all you do is press the rounds into the cups, patting

TWO-WAY DOUGHNUTS: Batter may be pressed through a doughnut-making device, or it can be made into a dough and rolled out and cut.

It Is Time For Doughnut Dunking

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Did you ever use or see one of the first home doughnut making gadgets?

It was a cumbersome plastic affair with all sorts of parts. It came into being long before our space age but it looked like the shape of things to come.

We were reminded of it recently when we tried one of the sleek new aluminum devices for making doughnuts without rolling out the dough. To use it all you do is spoon the dough into its cone-like container and press down into the hot frying fat to release the shapes. We found this gadget worked well and was easy to clean.

If you haven't one of these new doughnut presses, you can still use the following recipe. Directions for adjusting the dough for patting or rolling and cutting are given after the rule.

This recipe calls for a special way of adding the flour; don't depart from this method because it is essential!

PRESSED DOUGHNUTS

- 2 2/3 cups sifted flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs separated
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted)
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 teaspoons grated orange rind
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 quart corn oil

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Beat egg yolks until thickened and lemon colored; beat in sugar gradually—mixture should be ivory colored. Add butter, lemon juice and orange rind alternately, beating constantly. Add 2 cups of the sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk to first mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Fold in remaining sifted dry ingredients. Spoon dough into doughnut presser and follow manufacturer's directions to form doughnuts. Meanwhile heat corn oil in a 3-quart kettle to 375 degrees or until a 1-inch bread cube browns in 40 seconds. Fry only 2 or 3 doughnuts at a time, turning once—about 2 minutes on each side or until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve plain or roll in confectioners' sugar. Makes about 1 1/2 dozen.

Regular Doughnuts: Increase flour to 3 1/2 cups and baking powder to 4 teaspoons. Turn dough out on lightly floured board; knead lightly until smooth. Pat or roll out to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut with floured doughnut cutter.

over the edges in a few places, and taking care not to stretch the dough.

Some southerners insist that pecan pie should be served with a drift of whipped cream. The cream topping won't hurt these miniature pies, but because they are not so devastatingly sweet as the big pies, it's not absolutely necessary.

Miniature Pecan Pies
Rich pastry (made with 2 cups flour)
2 eggs
2 1/4 cup dark corn syrup
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2/3 cup finely chopped pecans

Roll out pastry; cut into 24 rounds with 4-inch cookie cutter; fit into 24 small (each 2 inches by 1 inch) muffin-pan cups. Beat eggs enough to blend yolks and whites; add corn syrup, sugar, salt and vanilla; beat gently to combine. Stir in pecans. Spoon into pastry cups allowing about 1 tablespoon filling for each. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven 25 to 30 minutes. Remove from pans and cook on rack.

Variations: Make enough pastry to fit 32 of the 2 by 1 inch muffin-pan cups. The basic pecan filling may be varied the following ways.

Chocolate Pecan: Place a scant teaspoon drained crushed pineapple in each pastry-lined cup; add 2 teaspoons pecan filling.

Storage: Any of the miniature pecan pie varieties may be wrapped suitably for freezing and stored in the freezer for 2 weeks to 1 month. Unwrap and heat in a hot (400 degrees) oven until thawed and warm—about 5 minutes. Allow to stand at room temperature a few minutes for pastry to get crispier before serving.

Quaint...

Bone-chilling months pass... until one morning, a robin appears again. The cycle is complete.

Surely it is not all imagination. If it is, it is thrilling to know that each season is felt, not only in the earth, but in the heart. Maybe the arrival of each season is the same everywhere... but local residents like to think that this gentleness of Nature is Hereford's very own. Seventy-five hundred people can't be wrong. She's a wonderful town with the friendliest people in the world, "characters" and all. And the best thing about her? "She's home."

Lubbock Pastor Speaker Here

The Rev. Roy W. Ford, minister of the Lubbock View Christian Church of Lubbock, was a guest speaker at the Brotherhood Dinner of First Christian Church on the evening of Feb. 22.

The Lubbock minister was pastor of Hereford's First Christian Church from 1946-1952. Since that time, he has served churches in Albuquerque, N.M., Ft. Worth, and his present pastorate in Lubbock.

The Brotherhood Dinner is a part of the annual Week of Compassion emphasis which Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) observe each year. It is the purpose of Week of Compassion to confront American Christians with the pressing needs of people all over the world.

The topic of the Lubbock minister's address was, "Christ, Crowds, and Compassion." He urged increased concern for the world's hungry masses and increased generosity from Christian people that suffering humanity might be provided with food, shelter, clothing, hope and opportunity.

Dawn Musettes Hear American Music Parade

Members of the Dawn Musettes met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. C. Stewart for their regular meeting. Mrs. Ray Polan assisted Mrs. Stewart as hostess.

The music of Stephen Foster was the theme for the observance of the Parade of American Music, which is sponsored by the National and State Federation of Music Clubs each year in February.

Mrs. H. H. Miller was the special guest speaker and narrator for the program. She gave a brief resume of Foster's life, giving special consideration to the composer's songs.

"The manner in which Foster's songs are sung is most important," she stated. "The songs should be sung with much feeling and each tone held to its full length. There should be no empty or awkward moments."

Before the musical selections were presented, Mrs. Miller gave the story surrounding the composition. "Some Folks Do" and "Nelly Bly" were sung by Glenn Polan, Janice Galley, Phyllis and Ted Richardson Jr.

"Beautiful Dreamer" was presented as a piano solo by Laura Higgins, followed by a duet, "Beautiful Child of Song," sung by Janice Galley and Phyllis Richardson.

"Uncle Ned," "De Camp-ton Races," "Fairy Belle," "Masa's In De Cold Ground," "Old Black Joe," "Old Folks At Home," "I Dream Of Jeannie With The Light Brown Hair" and "My Old Kentucky Home" were sung as group numbers.

It was decided to have a practice Junior Festival Tuesday, Feb. 28, at the Dawn Baptist Church. The club also voted to give contributions to the Stillman-Kelly, MacDowell and Rural School Fund, projects of Junior Music Clubs in the National Federation.

NO SECOND GUESSING

BOSTON — During the drafting of American League players to stock the new Los Angeles and Washington teams for the 1961 season, general manager Fred Haney of the Los Angeles Angels told Manager Bill Rigney he could count on two things.

Haney said, "I also assured him he would never get fired in mid-season."

"Gosh, I don't know if I can manage under those conditions," Rigney told me.

San Francisco fired Rigney last summer with the Giants in second place.

Newest Stars Added To Kitchen In 1960

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE
New features Food Editor
New food products in 1960 were chiefly variations of the tried and true, so they are likely to continue to add interest in 1961.

For cake-eaters, a cake mix twice as chocolatey as its predecessors; two milk-chocolate flavored mixes; and one that includes toasted coconut. Fluffy 7-minute frosting comes lemon-flavored.

For the coffee break, a coffee-cake mix (plain or with dates); another with streusel through the batter; nut and date breads. In refrigerated rolls there are plain pan rolls and orange-flavored Danish-type buns.

For cereal consumers, a sugared ready-to-eat breakfast food, made of toasted oats and star shaped. For pudding partisans, the packaged pudding and pie filling mixes add chocolate-mint, pineapple and caramel flavors to their roll call.

For cooking and table, margarine made from corn oil without hydrogenation; unsalted oil of corn margarine.

For seasoning addicts, garlic comes in the same convenient packaged form as instant minced onion; a dry seasoning mixture for use in preparing Spanish rice.

For salad sorcerers, an Italian-type dressing made with corn oil, vinegar, lemon juice, garlic and other herbs; a new onion-flavored salad dressing mix accompanied by a cruet for mixing and serving; a creamy dressing especially for cole slaw.

For thirst-quenching, frozen beverage concentrates in four flavors — strawberry, grape, raspberry and pineapple — each with lemon juice added and no artificial flavor or color.

For meat-and-potatoes people, all-cuts of meat are given tendering treatment by a meat packer. Now oven-roasting, broiling and charcoal grilling may be used for any of these tendered cuts — including those ordinarily delegated to the stew pan or pot-roast kettle.

For quick cooks, frozen candy yams. For cookie makers, small spice-flavored candy-type pieces. Like their semi-sweet chocolate and butterscotch relatives, the spice tidbits may be added to cookies, other baked products and desserts.

For weight-watchers, an avalanche of liquid diet products in various flavors to be used as the sole food on strict reducing programs or as one or two of the meals in a day.

ABC IS EXTENDED
MILWAUKEE (AP) — The 1961 American Bowling Congress tournament has been extended four days. The 58th annual tournament opens in Detroit's new Cobo Hall on March 4 and runs through May 17. The extension will permit 320 additional teams to bowl.

FOUR SOFTBALL CHAMPS
NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The Amateur Softball Assn. of America crowned four champions during 1960. The Clearwater, Fla., Bombers won the fast pitch men's crown while the Raybestos Brakettes of Stratford, Conn., won the women's title. In slow pitch softball the open division crown went to the Hamilton Tailors of Cincinnati. Pharr Yarn of McAdenville, N.C., took the industrial division.

Napoleon used 60 bottles of eau de cologne each month — even when he was on the battlefield.

Olga Fishes For Money

BY JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Sixteen years ago a comely blonde with a Zsa Zsa Gabor-like accent peddled fish to Manhattan wholesale houses. On good days she made as much as $8 on her crates of sardines.

Eight years later this same Mrs. Magnus Konow owned two tankers and the nickname, "Oilboat Olga." And a puzzled Senate investigating committee was publicly marveling at how she had turned a $1,000 investment into $300,000 in commissions from sales of government boats.

Today Oilboat Olga is back in the money-hunting business. After several years of retirement in Europe, she is about to launch the first American flag steamship company headed by a woman. That is, she will as soon as she raises more capital.

"I've always directed things I didn't know anything about at first," reflects the still glamorous Olga in looking back to her girlhood in Mid-Europe. "When I was 14 I was trying to make already a dance studio."

Musical Keys
The fact that she herself could not dance did not deter her in the least. At 15 she played a piano in a silent movie house, but talkies ruined this career.

Olga DID know how to play the piano, though; even studied to be an orchestra conductor in Prague until World War II. Her first marriage dissolved after seven years and Olga came to the States.

Here she found and married handsome Norwegian yachtsman, Magnus Konow. "But I had some trouble with the money. I wanted a bit more than he had."

So she set up a one-room office as an agent for Norwegian sardines. Her secretary long-ingly filed her nails all day, she recalls, while she peddled her crates.

Money Game
At nights Olga sat with her Olympics medal-winning yachtsman husband and his shipping magnate friends, listening to them talk about their million dollar deals.

"My gosh, so I earned again $8 on the sardines, I'd sigh. One morning I told my husband I was going to go into the boat business even though I didn't have the cash."

"It was chance, good luck, optimism and courage really. I played with some blocks. Suddenly they fell into place."

In other words, she whipped up some stockholders and bought those oilboats for charter. But she made costly mistakes because she was ignorant about the business.

Dirty Ship?
"Somebody called to charter my ship to haul gasoline. Do I have a clean ship, he wanted to know. Oh my gosh, of course. What kind of an insult is that? I signed the contract. Then somebody told me my oil tanker would never do for gas, it cost me $30,000 to clean my dirty ship!"

But that's about the last money that Oilboat Olga lost on a deal. She learned fast enough to pick up a quick buck in brokerage fees by bringing buyers and sellers together for those three controversial government tankers in 1952.

Shortly thereafter she sold her stock in her two-tanker American Viking Corp. because "they offered me more money than I ever saw before." For too long she basked at Monte Carlo in summers, Norway in Winters. Then she was restless, lonesome for the land of opportunity.

Today Oilboat Olga's feminine intuition is telling her that again is the time to make many, many dollars in the shipin business.

Not long ago a charwoman from Manchester, England sent Olga a pound note to see how fast she could make it multiply. If the American banks had this much faith in her, she says she will be on her way again.

Election Post-Mortem Indicates Over-Emphasis On Third Street

Hereford held an election this week, and turned down a proposed bond issue of $220,000. This issue was designated for street repairs payment on Highway 60 improvements, and widening of Third Street.

Meanwhile, the facts still remain. Hereford is already obligated for approximately $10,000 on the Highway 60 improvements, and Hereford is also faced with making some needed street repairs, or losing several million dollars already invested in paving.

Had the bond issue carried separate issues on repairs and Third Street widening, it is highly probable that the repairs section might have passed. On the other hand, we heard many people say that they did not feel that we should leave a debt hanging for our children to pay off 20 years from now.

Meanwhile, some of our neighboring cities are clapping their hands and predicting that Hereford has finally reached a peak, and is now sliding down hill. This we doubt very much. In the first place, we have turned down numerous bond issues, especially on the school level, during the past 10 years. Frequently, these issues have

Texas Deficit Is Stupid Situation

Governor Price Daniel finally seems to have pulled in his horns and given up in his effort to pass a "state withholding tax" on employees. Needless to say, this appears to be the only wise move he has made concerning the proposed plan.

Texas is still faced with a deficit, however, and we doubt the wisdom of adding this burden to ad valorem and resource taxes, which are already carrying a lion's share of the load.

Sooner or later, the Lone Star State will resolve itself on a two-fold, long range answer to the problem. We will adopt some sort of state-wide assessing plan to equalize values throughout the state, and we will pass a general sales tax. A modernized plan of this type should finance all Texas problems and expansion for generations to come. We can only hope that it is budgeted wisely, and allocated where it will do the most good.

Texas is probably the most fortunate of all the 50 states in its natural resources. If states such as New Mexico, Nevada, Utah and Arizona can survive, it is a downright shame that Texas is not literally rolling in wealth.

The situation in Texas deficits, as they exist today, can be attributed only to inefficiency, poor management and "hard-headedness" such as Gov. Daniel has exhibited throughout the long and expensive sessions of recent weeks.

The Sunday Brand

Established 1948 Published every Sunday at 336 Main St. Hereford, Texas

James M. Gillentine, Editor and Publisher H. A. Tuck, News Editor

Entered as second-class matter July 6, 1948 at the post office at Hereford, Texas, under the Act of March 3, 1879. Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas. been revamped and passed. Whether they were right or wrong, it is our belief that most of the voters judged the bond issue on the basis of widening Third Street — and they were not sold on the merits of what they could visualize.

Most people, we believe, do want the streets of Hereford maintained and operated in an efficient, economical manner. Most of them, too, realize that needed repairs can be the best possible investment the community can make at this time.

The fact that our people turn down a bond issue with a representative vote the polls is healthy. It indicates that we are interested in our government, that we want to get the most for our money, and that we are aware and informed concerning growth and advancement of our community. It is, in short, democracy operating at its best on the grass-roots level.

'Quiet President' --End Depression

West Texas bankers recently had some sage advice from Jo Abbott, Phoenix banker, and authority on consumer credit, when he said the surest way to stop the recession would be to "Quiet the President."

Car dealers and home builders in particular will be likely to agree with Mr. Abbott, chiefly because they can well remember that things were moving along nicely until, in the middle of the campaign last summer, candidate Kennedy started yelling "depression." Since that time, it has continued to grow.

The campaign is long since over and while we realize that the President likes to needle the Republicans, we doubt that he would continue to preach "unemployment" and "depression" for this reason alone. President Kennedy does have some deep-rooted feelings about passage of aid measures to schools and medicine, however, and it appears that he expects to continue harping on "bad conditions" until sufficient pressure builds up to get some of these measures enacted into law.

Without doubt, President Kennedy apparently feels that the "end justifies the means" in this particular instance. Furthermore, we predict that it will probably work out just as he has it planned.

Meanwhile, regardless of his long-range intention, there seems little doubt but that the President is currently contributing to an ever-growing national recession, while conditions in general are possibly not so serious or grave as those faced in this country in 1954 and again in 1958.

Water Depletion Fair and Just

Filing of a law suit to establish cost-depletion income tax allowance on underground water in this territory may lead to correction of a tax inequity levied against High Plains farmers during the past quarter of a century. In addition, it could put millions of dollars into the pockets of local farmers and land owners.

Such a plan was suggested by the Brand more than 20 years ago as feasible and equitable, and we are happy to see the High Plains Irrigation District pursue the test case.

In effect, the using of irrigation water appears no different than the pumping away of oil reserves, which have been allowable down through the years. If, 50 or 100 years from now, all of the irrigation water has been exhausted, there is no question but that the value of the land will be decidedly lower.

Various governmental departments have always contended that the underground water in this area is expendable, and this one point will probably provide the basis for the forthcoming suits. Water levels, accompanied by district records, pretty well establish the fact that some form of depletion is nothing but fair.

Just as the owner of a building, or the corporation which operates machinery, is allowed a reasonable and fair rate of depreciation, it seems that the land owner should be given an equal opportunity to record and deduct his annual loss on water depletion. Furthermore, he should be allowed to deduct expenses involved in a re-charge program aimed toward keeping the water intact and flowing as long as possible.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Bradie

Manifesting the Old and New Testament truth, THOU SHALT LOVE THY NEIGHBOR AS THYSELF, Brotherhood Week has vitalized the American concept of "one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

The National Conference of Christians and Jews, sponsors of the Week since '34, have promoted "mutual understanding among men of good will of all religious and ethnic groups without compromise of religious beliefs." Sparked by '61 Chairman Bob Hope, Brotherhood Week has advanced "good will as a pattern of American living" in schools, offices, workshops and communities.

Superstitions Of Today Have Interesting Origin

BY MRS. R. L. CRISWELL | we, in this modern educated world, still superstitious?

25 YEARS AGO

Area Farmers Apply For Emergency Grant

Farmers, during the early part of this week, signed applications for emergency grants from the rural Resettlement Division with which to protect Deaf Smith County wheat from the ravages of wind during the blowing season. For more than two days they flocked into the county judge's office, where a large force of outside aid was called in from other offices to the court house to handle the rush.

Soil conservation work on the Deaf Smith demonstration tract "opened up" to everyone last weekend and as a result, county officials were hard at work to secure the WPA allotments for county projects, for which labor is expected to be made available. The National Re-employment Service signed 88 men Saturday, and they were started to work on the conservation tract Monday morning. Farmers and townspeople who desire work were taken. Every person who reported Saturday was signed and more probably will be given employment on the project within the near future.

Believe it or not we must be, from the little act of throwing salt over our left shoulder to prevent a quarrel if we have spilled salt, to halting the flight of one of our missiles, the Vanguard III, to allow some member of the crew to attach a St. Christopher Medal to it for luck or safety in reaching its destination.

Our own little colonies of 13 were guided in perseverance by George Washington after he had a vision that the colonies would win and become a mighty nation. He saw a civil war to be fought as well, but that the union would be preserved.

After the vision, he called his staff and ordered them to encourage their men in every way possible, for they "were" going to establish a nation. And who are we to doubt, when we see what the efforts of those few men accomplished and what our country is today.

Some ministers were greatly opposed to the attachment of the St. Christopher Medal and one of them said: "Would it have served as well in the 'trenches' if a man had been assigned to each stage in the process to cross his fingers and say 'Muggles,' or had anyone thought of placing a four-leaf clover on the missile?" Just why should the St. Christopher Medal have been placed on the missile and just who was St. Christopher anyway? Did you ever hear the legend?

Here it is — In the fourth century there lived a man who was very tall and very strong. He was a pagan and rather conscientious, as the story goes, and he was unable to keep a job for any length of time. As he was so strong, he was hired to carry people across a stream. This he had done for some time, carrying a staff only as he waded the swift stream and back.

SOIL FERTILITY DAY SET

Plans are being completed this week for the annual Castro County Soils Fertility Day to be held Feb. 28 in the Dimmitt High School auditorium from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Farmers attending will be treated to a free meal by the Castro County Chamber of Commerce and Dimmitt Lions Club during the 'noon intermission. The day-long program itself is under the general sponsorship of the Running Water Soil Conservation District, the Extension Service and Chamber of Commerce. Dan True, area weather specialist, will give a short talk on the weather during the noon period. Cotton Seeding Diseases will be the subject of a talk by Billy G. Gunter, area agronomist from the Extension Service in Lubbock. Dr. Tom Longnecker, superintendent of the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, will speak on flame drying and cultivating. Harvey Walker of the Lubbock Experiment Station at Lubbock, will speak on fertilizer placement. His appearance here was not absolutely confirmed by early Thursday, although it is expected he will appear. A brucellosis program for Castro County will be the topic of Elvis Burch, local farmer and rancher. George W. Piffenberger, manager of Plains Cotton Growers, will speak on Agriculture Program and Policies. Irrigated Pasture will be the subject of a talk by Jack Douglas of the Soil Conservation Service. The day's program will be completed by a talk on the sugar beet situation and production by Daniel J. Larson, Castro County farmer. Soils Fertility Day is held once a year to assist farmers in Castro County in keeping abreast of the latest in agriculture processes and trends. —CASTRO COUNTY NEWS (DIMMITT) —pp—

BEEF GROUP FORMS

Randall County farmers Monday night threw their weight behind a move for legislation to permit domestic production of more of the nation's sugar supply. They organized into a Randall County Sugar Beet Association. Hosea Foster was named president of the association's board of directors; Clarence Beckman, vice-president; and Levi Cole, secretary-treasurer. Some 200 persons attended the organizational meeting held at the new high school cafeteria. Cole said 46 farmers signed pledge cards and $925 was contributed to the war chest. Randall County's organization is one of more than a score of such associations across the area. Primary purpose is to secure legislation to permit growing of sugar beets and processing of sugar. Three Hereford men familiar with the sugar beet movement told the gathering that production of sugar beets could add as much as $15 million to the farm income of the Hereford-Canyon area. They said millions more could be added to the general economy. The three who appeared on the program were Lee Benefield, farmer and sugar beet producer; Jim Witherspoon, attorney; and Henry Sears, banker. —THE CANYON NEWS —pp—

TOASTMASTERS CLUB ASSURED

The new Dalhart Toastmasters club was assured in less than 24 hours after Monday night's meeting in the Citizens State Bank Community Room to determine if there was sufficient interest to organize one. At that meeting, Charles Steel, cashier of the bank, was elected temporary chairman. He and Don Koehler with the help of some others had signed up 23 members. A minimum of 20 is required. Steel felt the club was assured, so he phoned Toastmaster club headquarters in California and arranged for them to send Toastmaster kits and other charter materials immediately so they could be distributed at next Monday night's meeting. —THE DALHART TEXAN —pp—

The BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm is misinterpreting the economists, his letter this week indicates.

Deaf editor: The trouble with a lot of business men in this country is that they don't pay attention to the economists.

For example, I was reading last night in a copy of a newspaper a man in town handed to me earlier in the day. I imagine to get rid of me, that an economic advisor told a group of business men the other day "America's economy is geared to a general expansion of prosperity." He said if everybody stopped buying, the economy would collapse. We've got to keep using all these things business is producing, or we'll be in trouble, he said.

In this connection, I notice Washington is concerned over the present economic state and is taking steps to inject a little stimulation.

Therefore, taking both the economic experts and Washington at their word, I have been trying to do my part, but you'd be surprised at the number of business men who don't seem to know about the importance of injecting new life into business.

There are plenty of things I could use and would be glad to help stimulate the economy by buying them, but stores don't see it that way.

One of them just flatly told me, "You haven't finished paying yet for the stimulation you gave my business eight years ago."

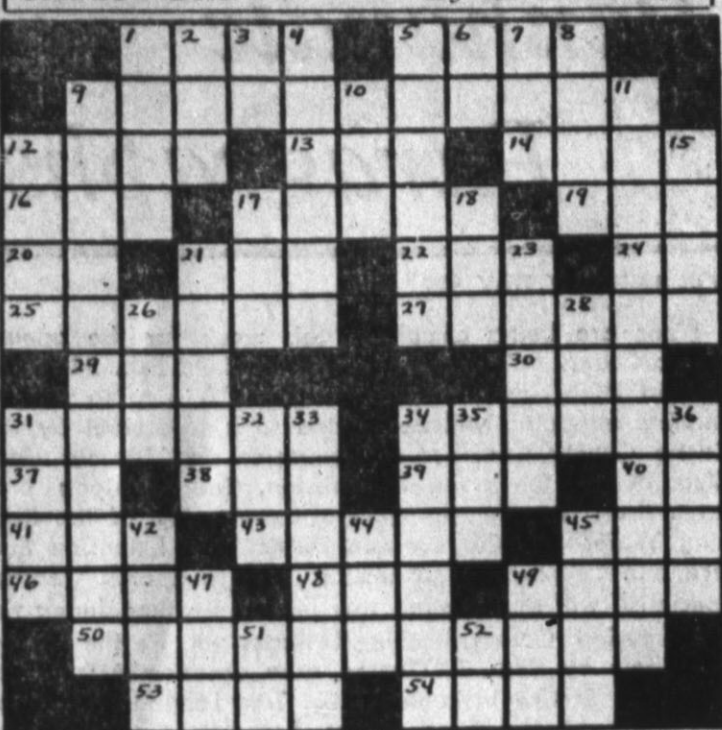

This is what I'm talking about. How are you going to have an ever-expanding economy if people keep dragging in things that happened years ago and letting them get in the way?

I could use a new tractor, new fences, new gates, a new roof, a new back porch, new front and back steps, a new well, a new pump, fifteen gallons of paint, etc., every one of which would go toward stimulating business and expanding the economy, but business men just don't pay enough attention to the experts.

I hope you're not in this category, and if my subscription to the Brand is coming due, just renew it, and you and me will do our part to stimulate the economy. Yours faithfully, J. A.

Superstition

was amazed to see that the little boy he had struggled so hard to carry was none other than the Christchild. He looked at him in unbelieving amazement. The Christchild smiled at him lovingly and told him to stick his staff into the mud along the stream; he did so wonderingly, and when he looked up the Christchild was gone, but Christopher was no longer a pagan, for he believed in the Lord Jesus.

When he came to work the next day he was astonished to see that his staff had grown into a giant palm tree.

People from far and near came to see the staff that had grown into such a lovely tree in so short a time. The tree and Christopher became famous and incurred the jealousy of the king, and he was thrown in jail. There he died a martyr.

In the ninth-century the Roman Catholic Church canonized him as the Saint of Safety. Just when the medals came into being is not known, but it is worn or carried as an amulet of safety by those of the Catholic religion.

Haunted houses, mountains of superstition, haunted mines — all have a human interest story and usually a very logical answer; but some came from the "Dark Ages." And as people become more educated, they look for logical answers. However, there are superstitions that have come down through the ages.

For instance, why is a black cat so ominous as a synonym of bad luck? Because the people of that age were positive the devil and his witches prowled the earth in the form of black cats.

"We used to stop and turn the horse and buggy or horses and carriage around and go a different way if a black cat crossed the road in front of us," said an old cowboy. "Why? Well you remember the old superstition, but I don't think the boys minded that, but we would have a longer drive in the moonlight if we went the longest way around and the sweetest way home — so it was as good an excuse as we could find to keep our sweethearts with us, and what more could you ask."

Do you knock on wood? This comes from ancient England and the Druids of the trees. Druid priests would touch a tree in the hope that the tree-god was in a good humor and would grant a favor; if so, the Druid would return the knock. That does not include knocking on one's head, huh? I suppose that comes from the slang name of "woodenhead," and aren't we all, to some extent?

Then we have the horseshoe as a good luck piece — if it is hung stirrup-side-up, it keeps the good luck from running out. The horse was a sacred animal in those days and iron was "known" to rout demons, so a horseshoe just must be good luck.

From all over we hear of people carrying a rabbit's foot, or wearing a certain garment to retain the good luck they have had. The rabbit was thought to be in league with the moon goddess and was especially feared when he thumped his hind feet in the moonlight. The moon goddess was universally worshipped and greatly feared.

Many primitive people are very superstitious about color, but science has proved beyond doubt that colors do excite emotions and some will calm as some depress. It is said that a mentally-unbalanced patient will sink into the depths of despair if enclosed in a room of intense blue.

I had always thought that holding one's hand over one's mouth while yawning was just plain good manners, but not so, say our ancestors. This was the way the evil spirits entered the body of people and they were fearful that the evil spirit would literally take their breath, or turn them into a wicked and fearful or demented person.

In business you say one of the reasons that the two dollar bill came into disfavor and was finally discontinued was that gamblers did not like a deuce and thought it to be very bad luck.

Then there is the 99-year lease which had its roots in a superstitious numbers game. Why? Even numbers were once considered very unlucky. There are mines and mines, reported to be rich in gold and other metals, all with much superstition. And many lives have been lost in searching for them, but bullets are man-made. In some cases curious circumstances have taken lives of the men searching for the lost and superstitious mines.

Haunted houses, where hants or haints (as they were called long ago) are still in many places. Houses with rattling chains, inhuman groans and frantic screams, guaranteed to raise the hair on almost any person falling asleep in some haunted room.

Margaret Alice Murray, English woman who wrote The God of Witches, said "I have slept in many so-called haunted rooms, but all I've learned is that old wood makes curious noises."

Then from the days of early rising without light comes the admonition. Put your dress or shirt on wrongside out — you must wear it until noon to stay the bad luck, but if you put your petticoat on wrong side out, "make a wish before you turn it right and everything will come out bright."

"If a bird flies into the house and you let it out without killing it, someone in the family will die within a month," is another superstition.

If you have an unwelcome visitor, sweep the dust of her tracks out the door as she leaves and she will never return.

If you drop a dishrag, step on it quickly or someone very hungry will be at your door before the next meal.

Right palm itches, shake hands with someone; left palm itches, money coming.

If your nose itches, get your mending kit handy as someone is coming with a hole in his britches.

If you wish good luck throughout the day, put your right shoe and sock on first.

Yes, there are people, even today, who believe in ghosts — but perhaps that is another story.

BY CHARLIE SEEDS

This was the first time a local war ever turned out to be a dress rehearsal for a major war to come. The conflict created a dictator who still reigns... Generalissimo Francisco Franco, leader of the rebel forces in the Spanish Civil War.

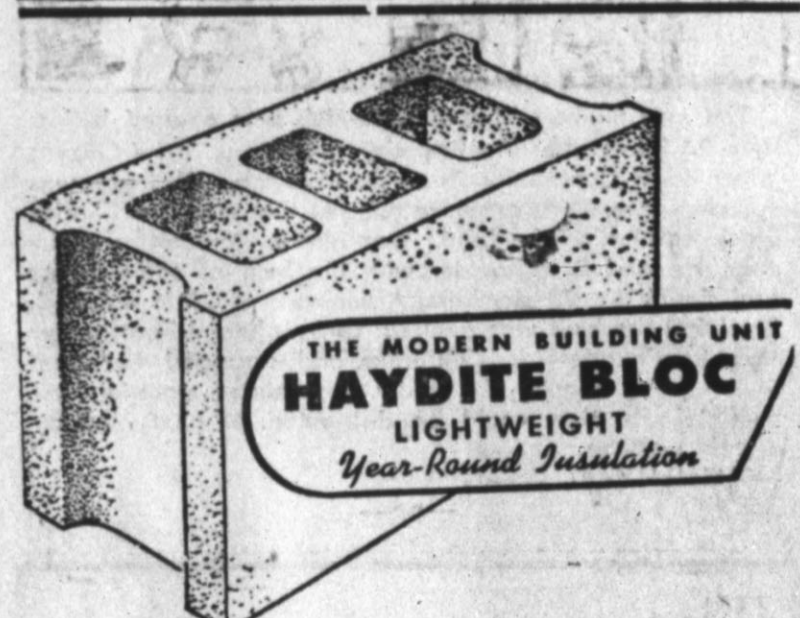

It was in July when Franco's forces invaded Spain from North Africa, beginning one of the most tragic wars in modern history, in which brother fought against brother with fierce violence.

But soon the war was more than the fight of Spaniard against Spaniard. First Germany and Italy threw support to Franco, supplying him with modern weapons, planes and ammunition. Then Russia adopted the Loyalist cause, providing arms and supplies.

For the Loyalists, help was too little and too late. German and Italian aid enabled the Franco forces to gain a strong foothold... and eventually to win. Remember when the Spanish war began?

Remember the year? Here at home, we had our own private fight... against the Depression. We were winning, too... and more Americans could think of buying the new things they needed... like that brand new car.

The year was 1936. If you've been putting off getting the new car you want now, don't wait! We're offering top deals right now. Don't put off the proud day when you can get behind the wheel of a new 1961 FORD from CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., Inc. W Hwy. 60.

What Is SIN?

Because the Episcopal Church doesn't urge upon its adherents abstinence from tobacco, card playing, dancing, and such like, it has gained the reputation of being "liberal about sin."

We who are Episcopalians don't agree with that idea. In fact, quite the contrary. We find that being Episcopalian involves some rather well-defined discipline.

But, on the subject of sin, let's ask—just what is it?

The way we look at it—that is, the way it's interpreted to us—sin is defined as the error of imposing our own wills over God's will.

That interpretation both simplifies and complicates. Knowing God's will for us, we find, demands a life of prayer, a life of faith, a recognition of God's constant presence, the frequent "strengthening and refreshing" of our souls through the Holy Communion.

We recognize the fact that God has given us all things, and that sin is not in the thing itself or its use, but rather its misuse. This must lead to the conclusion that any intemperance—overeating, for instance, is as much sin as any other abuse of God's gifts.

Wouldn't you like to know more about the teaching of the Episcopal Church? Visit the Episcopal Church near you—soon. Come and worship God with us.

ON MISSION CLINIC

Dr. Edwards Speaks At Kiwanis Meeting

Dr. Lena Frances Edwards, a member of the medical staff of St. Joseph's Mission Clinic, was guest speaker at the noon meeting of Hereford Kiwanis Club Thursday in I.O.O.F. Hall.

Dr. Edwards, whose specialty is obstetrics and gynecology at the mission clinic, is formerly of Jersey City, N. J., and has been in the practice of medicine since 1925.

She told the Kiwanians that her basic work at the mission clinic, which is located in Hereford Labor Camp, is with women in relation to problems in prenatal care and also to instruct and guide parents on how to keep babies and children in a healthy environment.

Poor health conditions often result from poverty and lack of education, she said. Dr. Edwards commented that she felt the community would profit by a maternal and child welfare center within the mission.

"To me," she said, "life is beginning at 60. Now that all my children are grown, I plan to devote myself to the mission's program."

Dr. Edwards last month was appointed to the associate staff of Deaf Smith County Hospital.

For 29 years, from 1925 until 1954, Dr. Edwards was in the practice of medicine in Jersey City. She was on the staff of Jersey City Medical Center, where she was an assistant attending gynecologist, and on the staff of Margaret Hague Maternity Hospital as assistant attending obstetrician.

Guests at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club were L. B. Bartlett and Ralph Owens, representing Hereford Key Club at the meeting were Gary Tannahill, president, and John Buck, vice president.

Dr. Edwards was introduced to the club by Dr. Bruce Beene of Hereford, a Kiwanian.

The Kiwanians voted in favor of contributing $100 to the exchange student program in Hereford. It was announced that the club's annual Broom and Mop Sale would be held on May 4.

OFF THE Shelf

BY H. A. TUCK
A wonderful adventure story is told by Ernest K. Gann in Fate Is The Hunter. It is a new non-fiction book from the Deaf Smith County library.

Gann's story is primarily an autobiography as he explains the narrow line between "lucky" and "unlucky." It is Gann's own narrative of his years as an airline pilot.

Ernest Gann started flying in the 30's when it was a cow

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lemmons were quite surprised recently when the community gave them a housewarming at their new home west of Dawn.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Ray Polan and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Triplets from Canyon, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. pasture sport and Sunday afternoon exhibition. From the time he first broke loose from the ground, he wanted nothing else but to fly.

He enrolled in a pilot training school for an airline. The students were pretty well divided into two groups, those who had worked around tiny airports in exchange for lessons and those who had been trained in the Army Air Corps.

After graduation, Gann started flying mail routes as a copilot in old DC-2 planes. Weather on this northeastern route was terrible and Gann learned by flying and observing the veterans who had the left-hand seat.

As his knowledge and skill increased, he started flying other routes. All had one thing in common. They offered new challenges and terrifying experiences with engine failure, moisture, clouds and icing.

Time and again, he skirted the thin edge of fate and lived to fly again.

He even had a frightening trip to South America on a ferry mission, flying without reliable charts and gasping for oxygen above 10,000 feet while unmapped mountains reared high above the plane.

When the Japanese started World War II for America, Gann and other pilots from his line were sent to Maine. They were to become the first Air Transport Command crews. But all they knew at that time was their planes were old and unreliable, their maps were given to marking "uncharted" across vast regions and their destination in Greenland was an obscure airport at the end of a long cul-de-sac.

As routes lengthened to England and Scotland, pilots and crews flew almost continuously without rest. During the first desperate months, German U-boats sank so many freighters that the ATC was called upon to keep supplies moving.

It was during this time that

Gann participated in a long, frantic search for a plane that had gone down in the uncharted Northern wasteland. The search area lay at the extreme maximum operating range and the plane was almost hidden beside a lake. It took three weeks to get the crew out.

Later, Gann flew many trips to Europe and then was transferred to fly the Hump in China. This was an ordeal, with a shortage of pilots, mechanics and the world's worst flying conditions. Gann landed at one remote field in the midst of one of the most tragic hours ever seen in flying history. Within minutes, three planes and 26 men were lost in single crashes. One of these occurred not 200 yards from Gann right after he had embarked from his ship.

Back on the airline, Gann finds he is backed into the copilot's seat by his low seniority number. He quits and joins one of the small cargo lines that are sprouting like toadstools.

Finally, he finds himself the captain of a new luxury Pacific airliner. But even this plush job has its own peculiar headaches.

For those who are fliers, or those who think the pilot just points an airplane from Point A to Point B, this should be a fascinating experience. For those who just enjoy adventure through the eyes of another, it should be memorable reading.

This is the ninth book by Ernest K. Gann, who is best known for The High and the Mighty and Soldier of Fortune. Of them all, Fate Is The Hunter should stand near the top.

Ed Dziuk Jr. received Hereford Toastmaster Club's trophy cup for the week at the weekly meeting of the speakers group in the ballroom of the Jim Hill Hotel Tuesday evening.

Dziuk, who tied with Alvin Smith as the best speaker of the evening, won the trophy by the toss of a coin. Dziuk spoke on "Planting By The Sign," and Smith's talk was on "Antiques."

Hereford Toastmasters will meet Tuesday, Feb. 28, at 7 p.m. in the Community Center.

At the meeting this week, topicmaster was Kenneth Rudd, who used as his general theme, "Vivid Experiences." Table topics and speakers included: "My First Swimming Lesson," Dr. Milton Adams; "My First Automobile," Hardy Benson; "My First Day In School," Kenneth Coker; "The Zaniest Pilot I Ever Trained," Curtis Traweek; "My Graduation Day," Dale Young; "The First Time I Became A Father," Alvin Smith; "An Unusual School Disciplinary Problem," Virgil Dodson; and "Learning To Drive A Tractor," Ed Dziuk Jr.

Presiding over business at the meeting was Dziuk, president of the group.

General evaluator of the evening was Curtis Traweek. Dziuk's speech was evaluated by Dr. Adams, and Smith's speech was evaluated by Virgil Dodson.

Program for the Feb. 28 meeting, and duties of the members will include: Alvin Smith, presiding; Hardy Benson, topicmaster; Virgil Dodson, toastmaster; and Kenneth Rudd, general evaluator.

Speakers and topics scheduled are: "Papayas, Parrots and Peons," Curtis Traweek; "I Have A Right To My Opinions," Kenneth Coker; "A Look Both Ways," Dale Young; "Who Should Become A Toastmaster," Ed Dziuk Jr.; and "Faith, Hope and Charity," Dr. Milton Adams.

Louis Machuca, who will represent the local Toastmasters in the area speaking contest, will be assigned a subject a few hours before the meeting Tuesday evening.

"Our Toastmasters club has a few vacancies for new members," said Virgil Dodson, the club's sergeant-at-arms. "If we have a full roster of 35 members, we can function more effectively in our community. The purpose of our club is to provide training for effective community leadership."

"We provide this training by actual participation in the various leadership functions of our community," Dodson continued. "The president of each organization and the chairman of each committee can improve his ability by participating in the training offered by Toastmasters." Dodson said all presidents or committee chairmen of all local organizations are invited to visit the club and observe how meetings are conducted and the training which is offered.

Texas History With Slides For Optimist Club

A short history of Texas was presented Tuesday to the Hereford Optimist Club by Urlin Streu of Hereford.

Streu showed a few of his slides taken during the past 12 years. During that time he took pictures of all 254 courthouses in the state of Texas, travelling about 15,000 miles to accomplish his mission.

Texas history is a hobby with Streu and he told little-known

It is scheduled to open April 22.

Also planned is a series of one-act plays by Lajos Egri and, perhaps, some other works by Del Vecchio.

Del Vecchio's philosophy is: "It doesn't matter where you put on a good original. The big thing is to do it. If it's good, there's a great deal of satisfaction to be gained out of just doing it." He adds hopefully, "And then there's always the chance ..."

newspaper serving the industry. He thrilled the cast by writing: "It looks like a hit." The troupe's next production was a 15-character costume piece, "Proclaim Liberty," which Del Vecchio adapted from a book he had written about Tom Paine. Caine again approved. The production last March was directed by Joseph Ryan, formerly of the Poet's Theater of Boston and the Boston Repertory Theatre.

Amateur Standing
New York City newspapers have not reviewed Idlewild Players because they are classified as an amateur group. The cast feels, however, that professional reviews could lead to Broadway. Del Vecchio, who was footed all the bills up to now, hopes to attract sufficient support in the near future to pay his players the minimum Actors Equity scale.

Del Vecchio remains a realist, however. Although his dreams are for Broadway, his plans are for establishing Idlewild Players as a permanent repertory theater at the airport with a stress on original plays and new actors.

The next planned production is an "original" although it was written by a master, the late Eugene O'Neill. The drama, "Servitude," is thought to have been written about 1914 but never produced. The plot involves a playwright and a triangle. Uncharacteristically for O'Neill, however, it has a happy ending.

Optimist Rudy Kessler outlined the rules of the club's new membership contest. The contest will last six weeks, he said. Wife of the individual winner will get a $50 clothing gift certificate from the club.

Present members are divided into four teams. Rules of the contest provide that the winning team members will be served steaks, while the second place team will be fed beans and salad.

Third place winners, he warned, will get beans and the last-place team will be required to eat two cold weiners.

Program chairman Bill Bradley announced that Cal Farley, founder of Boys Ranch, will speak at the club meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 28.

can over a flame until the heat melts the solder and the rim falls away. This simple chopper does an excellent job, especially when used in wooden bowls.

BRIGHTER BUTTONS

If the shiny buttons on a garment have been dimmed by repeated washings, try an application of colorless fingernail polish, which often restores the luster. To avoid danger of smearing, it's wise to slip pieces of paper under the buttons while touching them up.

LEFTOVER FOODS

The common variety of paper cup makes a good container for storing small leftover foods. It saves dishwashing, and if later you want to discard the leftovers, you can just throw away the container.

Pads Under Knickknacks

Felt pads under knickknacks will protect the finish of the table or bookcase on which they are standing, but if the object is of clear glass, the pad can be seen through the knickknack. In this case, clear cellophane tape used as a pad will not be seen through the glass.

Paint Stirrer

When you have a small can of paint to mix, first stir to loosen the pigment from the bottom of the can, then use a hand egg beater to mix the paint thoroughly. Better keep this egg beater as a permanent part of your workshop, rather than return it to the kitchen!

Toaster Cleaning

Use a coffee-percolator brush to rid your electric toaster of crumbs. The brush will clean the sides without touching and possibly injuring the elements.

Celery Cleaner

Cleaning celery is greatly simplified by using a piece of hacksaw blade, the teeth of which reach nicely into the tiny grooves in the celery stalk. A short piece of broomstick makes a good handle for the knife, or you can wrap several turns of tape around one end.

Smothered Odor

If milk or grease spills on a hot part of the stove and starts to burn, sprinkle salt over it immediately to prevent an unpleasant odor.

Substitute Bodkin

When you have to thread a tape, ribbon, or elastic through a hem, a bobby pin from your hair provides a good substitute for a bodkin. Run the end of the tape or elastic through the looped end of the pin.

Airport Players Aim For Stardom

By PAUL BUIAR
NEW YORK, (AP) — The road to Broadway and stardom has begun in many strange places, but never from the control tower of an airport.

Now even this is possible. Since last summer a concerted effort has been in progress to draw the multi-million dollar, jet-age New York International Airport at Idlewild into the orbit of the highly successful Off-Broadway legitimate theater.

Theater with a View
The instrument is "Idlewild Players," a group of professional, semi-professional and amateur actors. They operate in the "Skylark Theatre," a sound-proof, glass-walled, fourth floor loft of the 10-story control tower at the field.

Venetian blinds are lowered during performances. Before and after the show they are drawn, revealing the spectacle of planes landing and taking off. During warm weather months, the effects heightened by a huge water display at the airport's Liberty Plaza, with lights of different colors playing on the scene. The founder, promoter and guiding spirit of Idlewild Players is Thomas Del Vecchio, a newspaperman who has covered La Guardia and Idlewild airports for many years. Since his teens he has had an ambition to be a playwright and has written several plays during his 35-year newspaper career. None has reached Broadway.

Attracts Professionals
Del Vecchio likes to talk theatre. Through such uninhibited discussion with others at the airport he learned, to his surprise, that some airport employees were frustrated actors.

One thing led to another and Idlewild Players was founded in the spring of 1959. Word reached Broadway and unemployed professionals wanted in. "There's still a tremendous curiosity in the theater about a new thing," says Del Vecchio.

The group's first effort was produced in September 1959. It was a contemporary comedy, "Design for Scandal," written by Del Vecchio. Those who saw it in the 150-seat (folding chairs, rented) theater liked it. There was one review, by Milton Caine of "Aviation News," a bi-weekly

Cafeterias Explore World Foods

By Mrs. Jim McAndrews
In this jet age, it is perfectly possible to breakfast in Hereford, lunch in New York and dine in Copenhagen. We marvel at this a bit, being "relies" of a slower era, but what will our children do? Instead of Copenhagen, very likely it will be the Luna Dining Room on the Moon or Ye Olde Mars Mansion that will be their dining place.

The Foods and Health Division of the County Planning Commission thought it might be fun for the children of the community to become better acquainted with the foods that are eaten by our neighbors in the World Community before they start off to outer space, and so, with the cooperation of Mrs. Smith, every month the School Cafeteria will feature a dinner that could very well be eaten by their contemporaries in another land. The recipes will be given here and comments will be encouraged from the children.

This month we are using recipes from France. When we encounter something on a menu that reads pommes de terre sautee, we're liable to order almost anything in self-defense, when all that is meant is fried potatoes. Pommes de terre means "apple of the earth," a very charming term for the potato. Although potatoes are not featured on this month's menu, keep in mind the importance of eating at least one potato every day. They are low in calories (if you maintain a light hand with the butter) high in minerals and vitamins—especially Vitamin C... keeps those colds away... and a delicious addition to any menu.

Our menu reads as follows: Salade de Laitue, Assaisonnement Francais (Lettuce Salad, French Dressing)

Pot au Choclat (Chocolate Pudding with whipped cream)

Milk
Now you all know how to make a lettuce salad. The French housewife makes hers the very same way, only she doesn't have our good Hereford lettuce and consequently hers isn't quite as good. If you happen to have a couple of hard-cooked eggs about, they make quite a Frenchified garnish. You can grate the yolk and sprinkle it over the lettuce and chop whites rather coarsely and it adds a little flavor, a little extra protein and it looks pretty.

French dressing is always made with three parts of oil and one part of vinegar. Salt and pepper may be added to taste. Coarsely ground pepper is nice for this. An onion may be finely grated and then squeezed in a piece of cheesecloth or other coarse material, and the juice obtained, added to the dressing. The dressing should be added just before serving.

A marmite is an earthenware casserole. Petite marmite means "little" and "grande" is big so there you have the meaning of this recipe. If you use a big or a little casserole, the name changes. This is really not a soup, because of the large pieces of meat and yet it isn't stew either, but its good just the same. This is supposed to have pieces of French bread broken and put in with the broth to sop up all the liquid. The French dip the bread in the broth when they are making the soup and then let the bread slowly dry out in the oven. It is very tasty, crisply toasted also.

4 quarts liquid (several cans of beef broth and chicken broth may be added to increase flavor)

2 pounds lean beef (this need not be an expensive cut. Rump roast or pikes peak would do very well)

1 large stewing hen (you may use anything in the chicken line. The French would. Chicken breasts would be nice if this is a "company dish.")

1 onion, stuck with cloves
1 bunch little green onions
6 carrots, diced
6 stalks of celery diced, inner stalks, leaves and all
8 peppercorns.

Gently simmer the beef until tender. Cook the chicken in a separate pan until tender also. In still another pan (my, this does dirty a lot of pans) brown the onion, carrots, celery and green onions in a little butter, fish the big onion out and pop it in with the beef. Fish the green onions out and put those with the chicken. Save the carrots and celery.

When the beef and chicken are done, refrigerate until the next day. (You can use it the same day if you wish. It is just handy to get it ready a day ahead sometimes.) Skim all the fat off before reheating. Take the chicken off the bones and slice the beef in serving pieces. Put the whole works in your handsomest casserole and heat in the oven until bubbling. (The whole works includes the broth which I'm sure you saved and the carrots and celery.)

Now for the pudding. Well, this is really a sneaky way to make this because I'm sure the French housewife slaves over this, but this very famous French dessert can be turned out beautifully with our pudding mixes, but of course there is a little added trick to make it taste French.

Make a chocolate pudding, either with your own recipe or a mix and if you are counting calories, you may even make the pudding with a low calory mix, using skim milk. After the pudding is cool, fold in a cup of cream, whipped, saving enough for a little topping for garnish. The calory counter may use the low-calory whips, available at the grocery. (Incidentally, it is as well to go easy on them.)

Now the way this pudding gets its name is from the container too, so if you have any little custard cups, put this pudding in a custard cup to serve and it too, will have the authentic French flair. It will taste just as good out of a sherbet glass or sauce dish!

So there is our menu and the recipes to go with it. Not very different you may say, but yet when you look at it carefully you may think, have I ever served beef and chicken together in this fashion? Don't we usually serve the whipped cream on the pudding instead of folding it in? We serve crackers with our soup instead of breaking pieces of bread in it.

We learned too, that a marmite is a casserole and the French name for potatoes.

Let's visit Ireland next month!

Beauty At Home

Q. I'm very much worried over the large pores that are beginning to appear on my face. What causes these, and what can I do about it?

A. Improper cleansing method is a frequent cause. Extremely hot water should never be used to wash the face. Water should be warm, followed by two or three rinsings in clear water. Soap should be super-fatter, and stimulation should be invited through the use of a medium-bristle face brush. Friction should be sufficient only to bring a gentle glow to the skin. Follow your cleansings with some skin freshener.

CHARMED LIVES
RALEIGH, N.C. — Who says children don't lead a charmed life?

Thirty youngsters escaped injury when their school bus collided with an auto here. They climbed out, and transferred to another bus. The second vehicle skidded and turned over on its side into a ditch. This time two children were hurt — suffering minor cuts and bruises.

Delaware ranks last among the 50 states in the value of its mineral production.

How Can I?

By Anne Ashby

Q. How can I smooth my rough cellar walls before applying paint to them?

A. Use two parts of mortar cement to one part of sand containing some calcium chloride. Add water to get a thin-mud-like consistency. This produces a waterproof cement and may be applied and smoothed over your walls with a large metal mason's trowel.

Q. How can I keep eggs fresh for a fairly long time?

A. Rub very fresh eggs with oil, butter, or pure glycerin over the entire surface of the shell.

Q. Do you have any advice on the turning of men's shirt collars?

A. An easy way is to rip it off at the seam where the band and collar join, not where the band joins the shirt. Then turn and sew it back without having the trouble of making a new buttonhole on the band.

Q. How can I clean off the stains on some of my chinaware?

A. Be sure you're cleaning off the stains only, and not taking off the decorations with them! Instead of scouring powder, use salt and soda to clean away the offending spot.

Q. How can I prevent the curdling, scorching, and stringiness that often occurs in foods made with cheese or milk?

A. By being sure to cook these foods at low, low temperatures, and not overcooking.

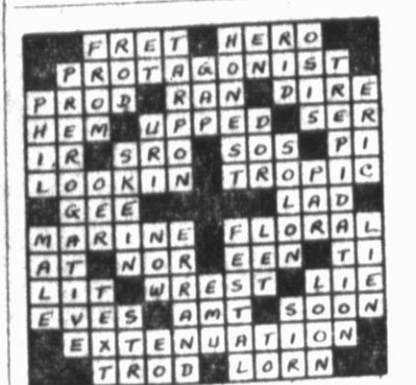

Q. How can I make a paint remover?

A. Use two pounds sal-soda, one-half pound lime in one gallon of hot water to remove old paint. Stir together and apply to the paint while still warm. This solution loosens the paint and it can be easily removed.
