HIGH-FLYING IS FINE, except when you get faked out of position. Levelland player Rocky Hill looks like he plans to stomp on the ball. Actually he went high to block a shot he thought Hereford's Mack Canler (43) was going to make. But Canler faked and used a bounce pass to Charlie Burrus (35) who was waiting under the basket. New Grain Elevator Company Has Construction Underway

Continuous growth of this area's wheat and milo industries once again will be earmarked sometime in May or June, when a new grain elevator company casts its shadow upon Deaf Smith County.

Future development on the property would permit construction of 40 more cylinders and 21 additional storage buildings.

The cylinders reportedly will hold about 50,000 bushels each and the three storage buildings will store and handle a million bushels each.

A LONG AUGER trench was being dug from one of three steel storage bins to be constructed. Ten storage units are expected to be completed by the last of May this year. (Staff Photo)

Two new businesses in Hereford have their formal openings on Monday. Glenn Williams, who has been selling shoes in Hereford for a long time, is fully stocked at Glenn's Footwear. Another native, Bill Bradley, is opening Bradley's Studio for photo work the same day. Martin's Ready to Wear is just winding up its formal opening activities out on Park Avenue.

Although Abraham Lincoln's birthday Monday is nationally recognized, few people will give more than a passing thought to what this man contributed to our nation during a very difficult time. Youth Slightly Hurt In Upset Jimmy Ray Messer, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Messer of Hereford, was reported in good condition at Deaf Smith County Hospital Saturday morning after he sustained lacerations and bruises in a motor scooter accident near his home Wednesday afternoon.

Messer was injured when the motor scooter which he was operating hit a rough spot of a county road behind his home east of Hereford. He reportedly was thrown from the vehicle when the scooter hit a hole in the road.

The injured youth was taken to the hospital by two unknown men who happened by the scene of the accident. The scooter, which careened into a bar ditch, was only slightly damaged.

The boy and his parents lived two miles east of the city on Highway 60. The accident occurred at about 5 p. m. Wednesday.

House Of Representatives Getting Down To Business

BY VERN SANFORD
AUSTIN — Organized, but in some quarters, highly disgruntled, the Texas House of Representatives is down to business. Speaker James Turman did what comes naturally. He gave committee chairmen assignments, down the line, to those who supported him in his race for speaker. Key committees have a solid majority of Turman men. Supporters of Turman's opponent, Rep. Wade Spilman of McAllen, are not happy with their assignments. Mostly experienced legislative hands, they can be expected to do some land mining along the path of the slim Turman majority.

Two bills have been introduced to allow voters to express their tax likes and dislikes directly in a referendum at the April 4 senatorial election.

Rep. Wesley Roberts of Lamesa introduced a measure which would allow voters to make a choice between a sales tax, income tax or payroll tax. Rep. Henry Fletcher of Luling introduced a similar bill with the additional choice of selective sales taxes.

Meanwhile, these have been added to the money-raising measures introduced in the House: A two per cent general sales tax, exempting groceries, school lunches, prescription drugs, farm machinery, seed and fertilizer, by Rep. John Allen of Longview. Estimated yield: $90,000,000 a year.

A revised formula for franchise taxes on interstate corporations, by Rep. Franklin Spears Jr. of San Antonio. Estimated yield: $22,500,000.

Social security deductions from legislators' salaries will be paid by the state under a bill finally passed by both Houses.

This bill stirred up fireworks in the House where it passed only 76-65, Rep. R. A. Bartram of New Braunfels was spokesman for those who deplored the legislators' spending more money on themselves in the face of the recent salary raise and the state's need for more money.

New ground rules are being pushed for one of the hardest fought, most trouble-causing races in Texas politics.

A proposed constitutional amendment would allow newly elected House members to meet and elect their speaker at least a month before the regular session opening day. Reps. W. T. Dungan of McKinney and Ben Lewis of Dallas are sponsors.

This plan would give the winning speaker time to name committees and be ready to begin work on an organized basis at the start of the session.

Proposed amendment would also limit a presiding officer to one term, bar campaigning in the House and require monthly reports on campaign contributions.

Also proposed is that the post be an elective one the same as the Lt. Governor's office. That would let the people decide and settle the matter early in November.

Hundreds of bills on almost every conceivable subject have been launched on the legislative waters.

Some never will be heard of again. Some may change your way of living. Among these are proposals to: Up minimum retirement pay for teachers with 20 years' experience to $1,800 a year; Remove the constitutional ceiling on state payments for the needy aged and increase the ceiling for payments to the disabled; Abolish the requirement for a wife's separate acknowledgement on property transactions; Allow a woman to own property before marriage to continue to manage it without her husband's consent after marriage; Set penalties for giving false testimony under oath to legislative committee; Set a state minimum wage of 75 cents an hour.

Other Senate committee chairmen are: Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe, Agriculture and Livestock; Sen. Robert W. Baker of Houston, Banking; Sen. Charles Herring of Austin, Claims; Sen. The tea table was laid with a white maderia cutwork cloth over red, centered with a white heart-edged in a frill of red flowers. The centerpiece rested in a bed of white gardenias.

Classy B Squad Beats Levelland

Now holding an 18-5 season record, the Hereford Bees easily defeated the Lobos at Levelland 72-31 Friday night. Hereford was scheduled to travel to Clovis Saturday night for a non-conference tilt.

On the ever-tough Demons' court Tuesday night, the Herd will close out a very successful season. In their first successful game here, the Herd was overpowered by the junior Demons 60-51. Hereford will have its hands full again, as the Demons usually perform better in familiar surroundings.

Paced by Lynton Allred's 23 points, the Herd had no problems after the first quarter in defeating Levelland. Hereford gained a 12-9 advantage during the first quarter.

Limiting the Lobos to only one field goal in the second quarter, the Herd racked up 19 points to lead 31-11 at the half. Lynton Allred netted seven, as Randy Dowell and Dwight McGee added four apiece to lead the Herd in a 21 point third quarter.

Something new is always popping up. I notice where these new-fangled "Ground Effect Machines" are coming out of experimental stage and will likely go into service within a few months. The cars ride on a cushion of air a few inches above the ground (or water) and are getting preferential attention in Great Britain, along with several manufacturers in the United States. Experiments indicate that they can ferry 1,000-ton loads, or 1,500 passengers at a speed of 120 miles per hour across the English Channel.

And just my luck, I have an almost new set of tires. This invention will be about the nearest thing possible to the "flying saucer" — except it will not soar very high, according to present engineering.

Progress is fine, but it often causes headaches for many people. For instance, I notice that Hereford's official "Spit and Whittle" club has been forced to vacate the location at Third and Main, due to demolition of the Dameron Building, which has stood on that spot since 1904. This week someone retrieved the bench, and moved it to the south side of the Gunn Store, just one block north, at Fourth and Main. Some of the boys are a bit unhappy with the new location, according to what I hear; they say that the sunshine is just as good, but they miss the hustle and bustle of activity in the old spot — and they don't see near as many people, or half as many interesting things.

"Mostly, though," said one of the fellows, "it just doesn't seem like home! When you've set on a corner as long as we have set by the Dameron Building, you just naturally develop a lot of friends and, like anybody else, we miss our friends."

Lyle Woodford, who hails from the Bluegrass State of Kentucky, was telling me about the first time his father visited him in this country. He took his dad out to see the cattle and the old gentleman thought they looked fine. "But," he wanted to know, "what do they eat?" Lyle says we had unusually good grass that year, three to four inches high all over the place, but his dad couldn't understand how you could graze an animal on anything under kneehigh.

Bill Decker is always surprising me. I tried to call him the other day, and the young lady said he was in Washington, D. C. I've been trying to figure out ever since what Bill would be doing in Washington, but haven't been able to come up with a logical answer.

Slim Wester admits that he is a misfit. In the winter it gets too cold to pour concrete, but the fishing is lousy. In the summer, he is so busy pouring concrete, he can't find time to go fishing. All in all, he figures his profession affords little future for the angler.

Police Chief Henry Aycock has a good club talk on police work in Hereford. He quotes some interesting and near-amazing statistics, too. February, March and April are the safest months in which to drive, despite the fact that we have much ice during the period; Sunday is the most dangerous day to drive; parking meters take in just under $12,000 a year; 74 per cent of all accident victims are white people, 14 per cent Latin-American and 6 per cent are classified as "other," including Puerto Ricans and Negroes. Juvenile delinquency has decreased in Hereford over the past 10 years, but still hits around 3 per cent. In addition to all other things, the police department picks up 300 dogs a

Husbands Feted With Dance, Dinners For Valentine's Day

and Mrs. Howard Gore are shown as they decorate the ballroom of the Hotel Jim Hill prior to the dance held Friday night.

THE DECORATION COMMITTEE, composed of Mrs. Robert Spaulding, Mrs. James Alston and Mrs. Labry Ballard, works feverishly to complete the decoration for a dinner party to be given in honor of Veleda Study Club members. Scheduled for Tuesday night in the Community Room of the First National Bank building, a Valentine motif will prevail in table arrangements.

Hold Annual Ball

One of the outstanding social events of the current season took place Friday night as the City Council for Beta Sigma Phi hosted the sorority's annual Sweetheart Ball.

Gay red and white decorations carried out the Valentine theme, with an enormous red satin heart frilled with white net as center of attraction. Red and white twisted streamers were hung from the ceiling to the floor and tables were covered with white cloths, centered with red spiral candles in white styrofoam bases.

Highlight of the evening came as the Valentine Sweethearts from the Kappa Iota and the Xi Epsilon Alpha chapters were crowned. Also announced were the names of the attendant Princesses.

Guests danced to the music of the Ralph Williams Trio of Clovis, N. M.

Honor Husbands

Using the theme, "Wishing You A Happy Valentine's," members of La Madre Mia Study Club honored their husbands with a dinner party Saturday night.

The Community Room of the First National Bank was decorated throughout with a Valentine motif. Center of interest was a rustic wishing well, trimmed with green leaves. Photographs taken at last year's Valentine party were hung on the walls at strategic points.

A dinner of fried chicken, baked potatoes, salads, various vegetables and pie was served from a buffet table centered with a miniature wishing well. The rest of the evening was spent in playing bridge.

ADDING THE FINISHING touches to the quartet tables at a dinner party held Saturday night are Mrs. Bobby Owen and Mrs. Homer Lee Owen, members of La Madre Mia Study Club. The scene was enhanced with gay red and white table decorations, carrying out the "Wishing You A Happy Valentine's" theme. Guests of honor were member's husbands.

Mrs. Miller Is Guest Speaker

Mrs. H. E. Miller was the speaker for the Young Homemakers Home Demonstration Club meeting, when they met Tuesday, Feb. 7. The meeting was held in the Community Room of the First National Bank.

Mrs. Miller's program was on "Family Finance and Family Relations." She stated that since the husband's job was to earn the money, that the wife's job was to manage the money. She pointed out several ways to be better managers so that a family can have more and better things.

The minutes were read by Mrs. Melvin Shaw. The standing rules of the Young Homemakers were read and accepted.

Those attending the meeting were Mesdames Bruce Terry, Wayland Hukill, John C. Robinson, Charles Brothers, Melvin Shaw and the hostess, Mrs. Kenneth DeHart.

There were two new members, Mrs. Jerry Brown and Mrs. Bobby Finley.

Junior High Groups Have Talks About Nutrition

BY ARGEN DRAPER

Last Thursday and Friday 1 spent five class periods at Junior High talking to the P. E. classes on nutrition. I believe I've never had a more attentive audience. It reassured me that young people want to learn and are interested in feeling well.

Congratulations to Mrs. Earl Springer for being so sincerely interested in a well-rounded health program for Hereford students. Mrs. Springer is a person who is capable of inspiring others to do their best.

I appreciated the attitude of Mrs. Velda Tucker, Harlon Voyles and Alex Glass, and the fine job that they are doing for the Hereford students. Home Demonstration club women are studying "Americanism" and "Radioactive Fallout" during February. It is estimated 25 per cent of the people in the United States move each year. This week I've heard of a club family moving to California.

We've been watching the fall being torn down and it reminds me of the class from an elementary school that toured the jail several years ago. One of the boys in the class asked the sheriff to show them the electric chair.

Here are the trends in fashion for 1961: Blazing gold is a sky-high fashion color. Big box pleats are a standard feature. The blouson look, relaxed and easy, will be seen in loose-fitted suits with a tie.

Yellow as a coat color is very versatile, very prevalent.

The cardigan neckline is another trademark of spring, 1961.

The full gored skirt, marvelously mobile, makes a pretty appearance. The fresh cream colors, terribly rich, are newer than ever.

The important yoke is unmistakably this season's.

A spectacular skirt is the box pleated skirt.

Incandescent brocade is now a spring and summer fabric.

The lowered waistline is seen as an elegant bell-sleeved column of light-weight fabric.

Low stitched pleats, belling out at mid hipline, create a graceful new silhouette.

The trim zip-front closing is a smart jacket feature this spring.

The romantic cape - loose fitting - is high fashion. The three-piece costume is one you can wear jacketless; with skirt and matching over-b blouse it doubles as a dress.

Bees Trounce Littlefield 65-11 In Last Home Game

BY WAIN MILLER
BRAND SPORTS WRITER

In their last home game of the season, the Hereford Bees overpowered Littlefield to the tune of 65-11. Closing out the season with the last three games on the road, the Herd now claims 16 wins with only five shortcomings thus far.

Hereford travels to Levelland Friday night. The Herd has already scored a 55-24 win over the young Lobos. Games at Clovis Saturday and at Dumas Tuesday end the cage season for the Herd.

Holding the visitors scoreless in the first quarter, the Herd had little trouble in defeating the inexperienced Wildcats. Randy Dowell set a fast pace for the Herd with 18 points during the runaway game.

Compared with the visiting quintet, the Herd's defense sparkled in the first quarter. Two minutes had already gone by before the visitors were allowed across the center line as Hereford led 6-0. With two chances at the foul line, the fumble some Wildcats still faced a goose egg after the first quarter with the score at 16-0.

Johnson opened the second quarter with one of Littlefield's three field goals during the game. More of the same was in store for the visitors as Ronnie Welty, Dwight McGee, Mickey Stevens, and David and Randy Dowell took turns with pot shots at the net. Hereford led 27-3 at the half.

Allowing the Wildcats four points, the Herd rolled on to a 46-7 advantage during the third stanza. Randy and David Dowell, Charles Kelly, John Willoughby, Dwight McGee, and Lynton Allred combined talents in the final round to tack on 17 points with Hereford winning 65-11.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

HONOLULU (AP) — A. B. Herkes, retiring manager of the Hawaiian-Philippine Co., believes economic conservatism of the Philippine government has been a barrier to the economic growth of that country.

Herkes has worked in the sugar industry of Hawaii and the Philippines for over 30 years.

He said the Philippine government appears reluctant to work with foreign countries out of fear of losing its economic independence. Nevertheless, "Relations between the Philippines and foreign businessmen are extremely healthy," he said.

Things Are 'Looking Up' For American Farmers

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman appeared this week on a nationwide television interview and those who listened seemed pretty well inclined to agree with Hereford delegates who have personally talked with the man in Washington. Namely, Mr. Freeman has some good ideas, and he might be just the man to put U. S. Agriculture back on its feet.

His one strong point of "growing what America needs", instead of "planting the same old crops," for instance, fits closely with the thinking of farmers in this particular area, where we are making serious effort to shift a large portion of grain sorghum acreage to sugar beets. In view of Cuban relations, our nation could easily face catastrophe through a sugar shortage. Why then should our area, highly adaptable to sugar beet production, continue to produce a commodity which has storage bins bulging all over the nation?

Without mentioning any specific commodity, Mr. Freeman stressed this point in his talk and, without question, he is 100 percent right.

In addition, Mr. Freeman points conclusively to the fact that the American Farmer is the "paradox of the century". He is producing more than twice as much food with less than half as much effort as the people of any other country in the world. This fact has previously been cited in The Brand several times — and it is the one American achievement which most baffles Mr. Khrushchev and his commie buddies.

Mr. Freeman further says that America has not rewarded the farmer very well for his achievement. His figures indicate that the average farmer is paid on the ratio of 50 cents to 70 cents per hour as a reward for his work and capital investment. We agree with Mr. Freeman. The situation does not represent parity of economic equality.

Many of these troubles revert back to subsidies and price supports. Without federal supports, feed grains, wheat and cotton prices would already have reached such a low point that farmers would have ceased planting the commodities in question, and the problem would not exist. On the other hand, subsidies will probably be with us for many years to come, which means that current problems will and must be solved on the basis outlined by Mr. Freeman.

The farmer, without question, will cede another phase in the cycle of free enterprise if Mr. Freeman's plan is put into action. In addition to be told "how much" he can plant, he will also be told "what commodities" he can plant. Some producers will herald this phase as another step toward solid socialism; others will accept it with open arms, especially if it is accompanied with actual parity on a basis with other portions of American economy and income. It will, at the same time, mean an increase in the cost of living index, and will provide an impetus toward inflation.

In our particular area, based entirely upon agriculture, this news means that we can look forward to improved economy. Add parity prices to our increase ability to produce, and things should begin to hum. In addition our nation, for some reason, seems to fairly well follow the prosperity of the American farmer. When the farmer is prosperous, invariably the laborer, manufacturer, baker and candlestick maker also enjoy an economic boom. The farmer is definitely in the minority these days, but his buying power, small as it may be in comparison with the remainder of the nation, is pretty well the key to American economy.

All in all, it is possible that we are approaching the elusive corner around which ever-elusive prosperity lurks. Let us hope that it will be permanent instead of temporary.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

Abraham Lincoln was strengthened by his faith. He believed: "The will of God prevails. Without Him all human reliance is vain. Without the assistance of that Divine Being I can not succeed. With that assistance I can not fail. . . . Being a humble instrument in the hands of our Heavenly Father, I desire that all my works and acts may be according to His will; and that it may be so, I give thanks to the Almighty, and seek His aid. . . . I have a solemn oath registered in Heaven to finish the work I am in, in full view of my responsibility to my God, with malice toward none; with charity toward all; with firmness in the right as God gives me to see the right."

TRUSTEES REFUSE CONSTRUCTION BIDS

With other stumbling blocks apparently behind them, Dumas school trustees Thursday night faced yet another dilemma as the lowest bid offered on Cactus and North Ward construction projects was almost $10,000 over the bond issue. All bids opened at the special meeting were refused and the board indicated it would ask for new bids within 30 days. A school board spokesman said Saturday the high factor in the disappointing bid-opening was the inability of contractors to get competitive bids on fabricated metal outer-wall panels. School officials said they had allowed a normal period of time for contractors to compute their bids, but possibly the newness of the light-weight metal construction would cause fabrication firms to need more time. The pre-built, insulated panels involved will form the outer wall of the portable and semi-portable classroom units selected by the trustees for a new elementary school at Cactus and an addition to North Ward in Dumas. Timing of the land transfer between the time the bond election was called and actual sale of the bonds brought about the "instability", attorneys explained. State law requires that boundaries not be changed during this time because all taxable land in the political subdivision is dedicated to the new bonded indebtedness.

CITY OKAYS MORE PLANS

Preliminary plans for the new city hall and fire station were approved by the city council last week and architects immediately got down to detail work. Councilmen set another meeting with architects for Tuesday night at which time it is expected that a front elevation of the structure will be ready for viewing. The preliminary plans approved last week represented a number of changes in the first sketches previously submitted. Major alteration was inclusion of another 1600 square feet on the second floor of the city hall. First sketches place a second floor over approximately a third of the city hall. The council decided to increase the budget in order to provide for future expansion. Additional space on the second floor calls for three more offices primarily for an auditor, city attorney and planning and zoning commission. While these offices are not required at the present time, they will be needed in the near future as the city operation grows, the council decided. Also on the second floor which already had been planned, is a large city council meeting room, a waiting area, a mayor-council office and a drafting room.

THIRD DIPHTHERIA CASE

A 44-year-old Littlefield man became the third case of diphtheria for the town, the fourth for the county. Tests made late Friday revealed that the man was suffering from the disease. Medical Arts Clinic-Hospital authorities said the man was admitted Friday and his case was described as "much worse than the two previous cases." The man's wife is undergoing tests, the results of which are not yet known. His children have all had inoculation. The man's condition was described as "serious" by hospital authorities. The last diphtheria shot he received was some 15 years ago while in the service, it was reported. The County Health Officer issued a statement concerning the diphtheria cases in Lamb County.

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm discusses Russian farming this week, which takes the spotlight off his brand of farming.

Dear editor:

I have been reading some newspaper articles lately about the Russian agricultural situation, and I have discovered what the big difference is between a Russian farmer and an American farmer.

To give you a little background on the matter, although I suppose you read the newspapers the same as I do, Mr. Khrushchev has been pretty hot under the collar lately because Russian farmers haven't been producing enough. Why in one area, despite the streamlined, advanced supervision by a bunch of experts telling the farmers how to plant, when the total production was added up at the end of the season, it was found the area hadn't produced enough to feed itself, not to mention shipping anything off to Mr. Khrushchev in Moscow.

This came as a big blow to Mr. Khrushchev because he had been reading production reports from this area showing everything was booming and a bumper crop was being made.

Now right here is where the American farmer differs from the Russian farmer.

An American farmer, you ask him, just in a casual conversation, how much he made per acre on a given crop, and he'll stretch it a little. It doesn't make any difference what section of the country he's in, if you ask him how much corn for example he made, if he's a corn grower, it comes out a little better than it was. Or his apples turned out a little better, or his wheat, or his cotton, or his rice, or his calf crop, or his layers, etc.

But this is only when he's talking off the record, for neighborhood consumption. Now when it comes to telling the government, he gets out his pencil and figures it down, to the actual bone, with his sales slips in front of him, because exaggeration wouldn't lead anywhere except to extra income taxes.

Now the Russian farmer, he's just the opposite. Let a neighbor ask him how much corn he made, and he'll say, "Comrade, I ain't doing no good at all, my crop is lousy," but let the government ask him, and he's liable to stretch the figures upward, because he knows from experience in Russia it's the people's job to keep the government happy, not the other way around.

Russia is pretty good when it comes to shooting off satellites and spreading propaganda, but when it comes to farming, so far she seems to fall short. You can't propagandize a crop, it's got to be plowed, I know, I've tried both methods.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

A Brief Look At The Policeman's Point Of View On Traffic Tickets

Recently the Police Department of Hereford released their annual report, which contains numerous and interesting figures.

Whatsa Matter With People?

Time changes everything, they say, even the tastes and fancies of a fickle public — but who would ever have been so bold as to predict that America's "sidewalk superintendents" were doomed to oblivion?

During the past week three of the most interesting, most technical and most advanced stages of automation have been on exhibit in Hereford and, we are sad to say, not one of the trio of spectaculars has attracted more than passing interest. Specifically, we refer to the Witherspoon building where workmen are "blowing" in concrete basement walls without forms; the demolition of 11-inch concrete on Highway 60 intersections, which are pulverized and hauled away in minutes and never touched by human hand, and to demolition of the old county jail, a landmark overflowing with historical lure.

The few observers who view these super-accomplishments have generally been well beyond the half-century mark in age, and even this group wasted only a few minutes before they trudged along to greener pastures, and never a word of advice to the workmen.

Twenty-five years ago it was impossible for a contractor to run the foundation of a two-bedroom stucco house without attracting scores of observers — and thousands of words of sage advice. Fifty years ago, half the population of Hereford went down to the station to watch the old Santa Fe engine puff and steam to a screeching halt, whereas streamlined diesels — marvels in modern transportation today — went their way through our city without attracting a second glance.

What's the matter with people, anyway? Have they lost all sense of curiosity? Do they no longer feel that native urge to help a contractor who is doing something wrong? Do we no longer hold compassion and pity for our fellowman? Have we become so busy and self-occupied that we let personal greed overshadow public duty?

No wonder everybody says houses are not built so well as in the past. No wonder those scoundrels get by with "green" lumber, where the job needs cured timbers. Any red-blooded American knows you can not pour concrete without forms, yet we are letting those boys get away with it! Right here in Hereford, too.

Quite a few old timers are bound to be turning over in their graves, and no doubt about that. Furthermore, we are beginning to understand why each passing age knows beyond a doubt,

"This younger generation is going to the dogs."

Also included in the report is a little item labeled "The Policeman Vs. The Motorist", which views the traffic problems of this community through the eyes of the policeman. To us, it seems well worth reprinting.

"The traffic accident and congestion problems of today might be greatly alleviated if rapport between the police and the public on this problem were better. How can more harmonious and sympathetic relations ever be established between these two groups of people on this troublesome condition?"

"For every 1,000 motor vehicles in 1945, there are now 2,270. For every 1,000 drivers there are now 1,830; and for every 1,000 miles of vehicle operation there are now 1,230.

"The police, whose function it is to alleviate congestion and reduce accidents as much as possible, have no control over the physical plant — the streets and highways and the signs and signals. Neither do they have any control over the kind and number of vehicles the public may purchase, where they may be operated or how many miles they may be driven. The police are charged with supervising how drivers operate their motor vehicles. Their functions are to perform three general kinds of duties. These are to direct and to control traffic, investigate traffic accidents, and to enforce traffic legislation. The first of these functions is required to move traffic freely and expeditiously as possible through an overcrowded physical plant. The second is to determine, if possible, the cause of traffic failures which result in collision. The third is to cause the drivers to obey the rules of legislation by apprehending and charging those who break those rules.

"How do the police regard their function of traffic law enforcement? What if suddenly all the motorists of this country should decide to start observing the regulations that have been established for their protection. Then the police would have no occasion to arrest or cite motorist into court. One may rest assured that the police would be the happiest people in the world.

"As a matter of hard basic fact the motorist is fighting himself when he does not observe the traffic rules, and he always comes out of the fight the loser. The people of this country elect legislative bodies which pass the traffic laws, and mayors and governors who appoint policemen and have them take oath to enforce those laws. Having done this much, the people then get into their cars, disregard the legislation and then become enraged at its enforcement.

"The alleviation of this problem can come in only two ways. A police state where police action is law is one way. The other way, the easy and proper way, is for the people of this country to decide it is high time to begin to observe the traffic rules which they caused to be passed for their own protection."

American Supermarket A Symbol Of Freedom

BY MRS. R. L. CRISWELL

Atom bomb, outer space, superman, supermarket — all of these are relatively new words, and since we recover the monkey, now we can plan on having a Space Man in two short months.

But let's talk of the supermarket as it is seen by people from all over the world when they come to America. America, the world of luxuries and food, all kinds of food, from the lowly turnip to the most expensive of foods from all the exotic places of the world.

If Russia could produce the food that we in the United States produce it would really spread the work of communism. Russia brags on how many firsts they have made, but their people do not have the amount of the kinds of food needed for a balanced diet.

Khrushchev either has a wonderful way of persuasion, and of course we know that is done as much by force as by persuasion, but we also know that communism is their religion and man is a creature that must have a religion to be at all happy.

Now we read that there is so much alcoholism, not only in East Germany — but also in all communistic countries, that steps are being taken to prevent it. It would seem that the poor folk are taking to drink to forget their daily existence, and note I did not say living, for they are co-existing and that is the pet word of their leader.

There are about 14 people employed by each supermarket; these are two to four checkers, which are of either sex. There is a food clerk, a butcher or market manager, assistant manager, and last, but not least, the manager. Each has his own particular job of keeping the store running in smooth efficiency and keeping the customer satisfied, not only with the food he buys but also with the personal service of the whole crew.

When there is a mistake, the policy of most stores is "the customer is always right," and it is usually settled to the customer's satisfaction. But the rule is always an exception that makes the customer furious and they invariably change to another store, for the time being at least.

The manager, assistant manager, market manager and food clerk are subject to transfer to any city or town if the district manager thinks it will improve the service at such a place or will improve the work of the individual transferred. Usually these transfers are several years in one place unless there is a clash of personalities which sometimes causes quicker changes.

Each employee must love his work, love people and have a good personality. He must be willing not only to work and work hard but also to stand on his feet for hours and hours and still more if he has one of the better paid jobs as sometimes it is necessary for them to put in several hours after the other employees have gone home to an evening of entertainment or rest.

They must learn not to resent anything a customer says to them for if there is a short answer it might lessen the store profit, and that, of course, must not be done.

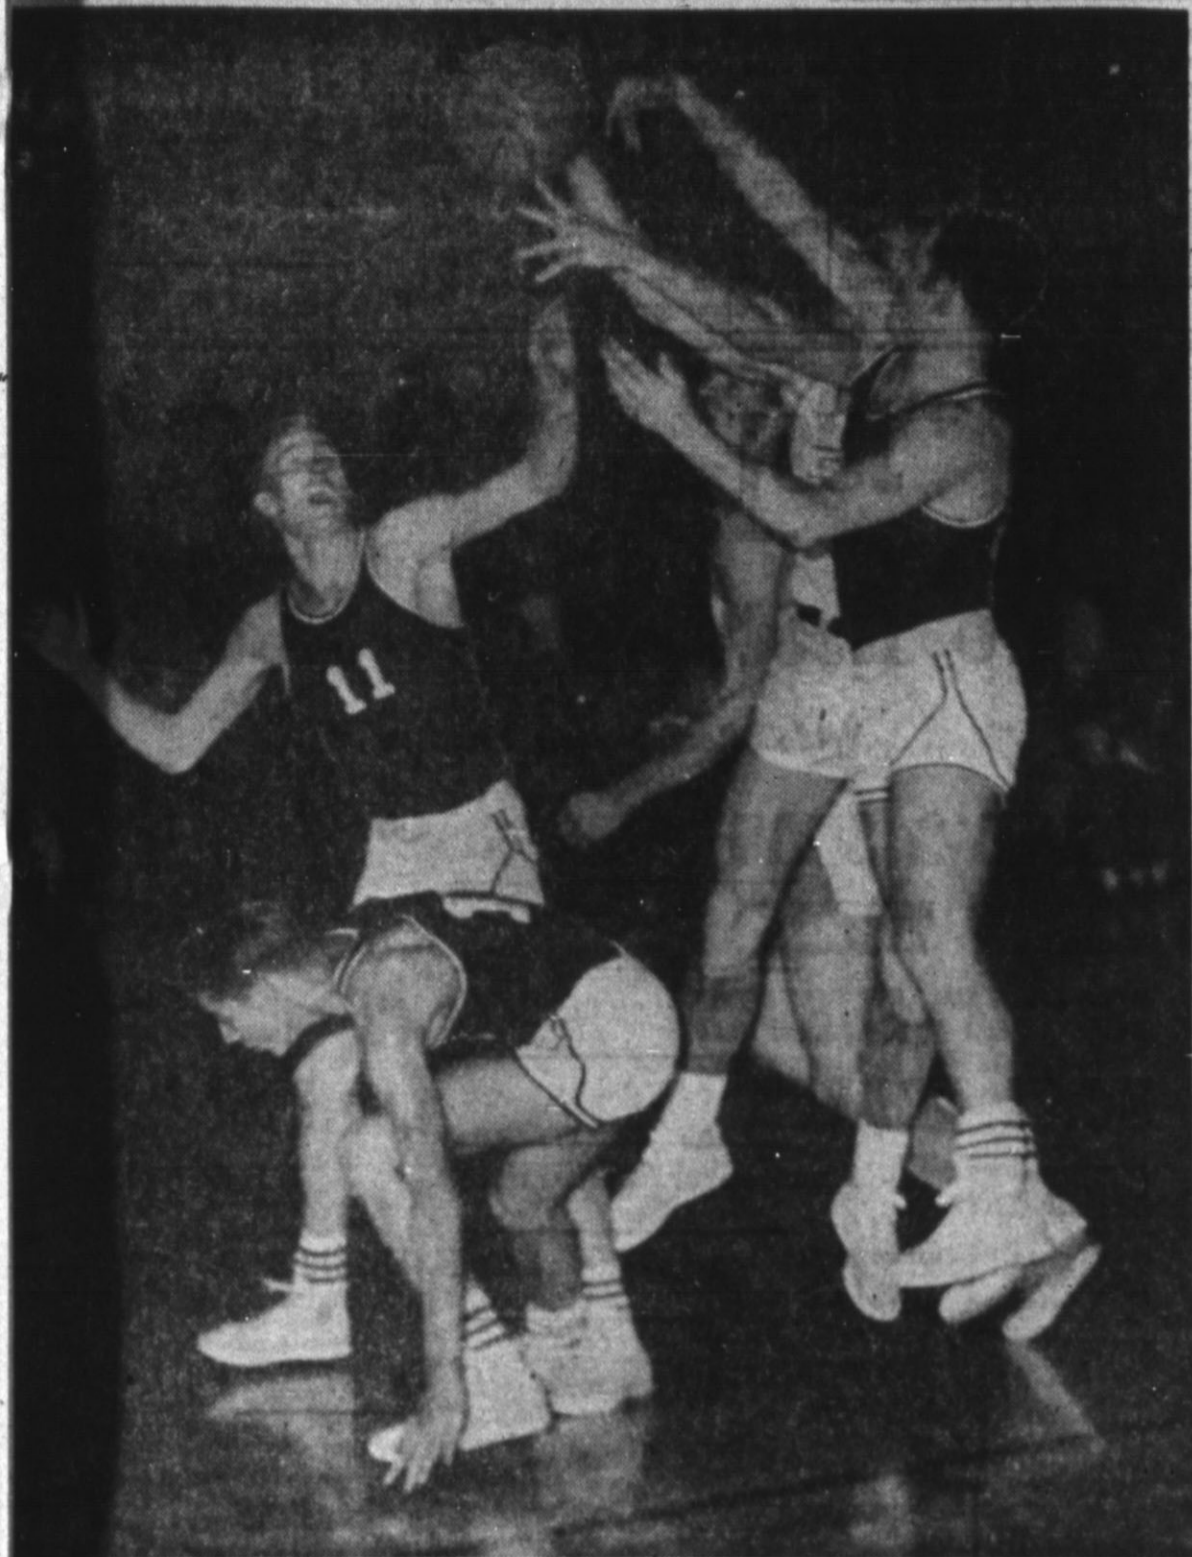

All the workers must be ready to move at any and all times as they never know when there is to be a transfer, but a number of years are usually spent in one location.

There is always an annual picnic, usually in August or September, for the whole family, children and all and the Christmas party is for the wives or husbands and it is a dress-up affair and one of the high-lights of the year, especially for the wives as they can don their best "bib and tucker" and have a wonderful time.

50 YEARS AGO

See Deep-Strata Wells For Irrigation Supply

Sinking wells into water bearing strata to secure irrigation supplies is now being resorted to as never before. New and broader conceptions of the relations of subterranean water to irrigation have recently prevailed. This follows because it may be much cheaper to raise water to adjacent towers than to catch it in a remote ravine and pipe for miles. However this may be, irrigation undertakings have been recently established very largely upon wells and pumps or upon flowing wells, wherever they can be had. In California during the last three years there have been perhaps ten times as many pumping outfits set up for irrigation as has been employed during the whole earlier irrigation of the state. Large irrigation companies sank groups of wells and pumped from them into their distributing ditches and flumes when, for lack of rain, their immense reservoirs went dry. Individual irrigators sank wells and bought pumping plants when the ditch water failed, and have now learned the superiority of home supply, to be drawn up just when it can be used to the best advantage, and often to be had for much less than the rates of the ditch companies. Large regions which had never secured irrigation systems, and doubted, perhaps, the need of them, were forced by drought to seek water, and having found it below ground in ample quantities they will not fail in the future to use irrigation as a supplement to rainfall.

DIAMOND RUPERT was almost worth his weight in diamonds after setting the all-time record for a bull sold from a carload division on the National Western Stock Show in Denver, Colo., last month. He became worth $30,000 as former Governor Roy J. Turner, owner of Turner Ranch, Sulpher, Okla., bought half interest for $15,000; this made Diamond Rupert worth $30,000 as the Dameron Hereford Ranch of Hereford kept the other half interest. The bull was the first calf by Onward Rupert, owned jointly by DHR and Kansas State University, and a heifer's first calf. The 15-month-old bull weighed 1160 pounds.

WOMEN OF INTEREST

Aiming For Ten Year Badges

BY MONA JETTE
BRAND WOMEN'S EDITOR

In 1954, sixteen lively young girls were organized into a Bluebird group, under the leadership of Mrs. James Roberts. Known as the Jolly Bluebirds, these girls were to spend many happy and character building years together in the Campfire Girl program.

Mrs. Carl Stapp and Mrs. Vance Crume became leaders at a later date and were to stay with the girls for many years. These were the carefree years, with the girls learning to get along with one another and acquiring a knowledge of the meaning of working together.

The Jolly Bluebirds began to have a yearly Sweetheart Banquet on Valentine's Day, honoring their fathers. By 1959, this celebration had snowballed into a city-wide affair, with all the Campfire and Bluebird groups in Hereford taking part.

Mothers were remembered, too. Each year the group held a social and gift exchange during the Christmas season for them and a yearly program was given, with the girls themselves in charge of all the arrangements.

Then, in May of 1957, the Big Day arrived. A "Flying - Up" program was held for Barbara Langley, Sharon Tinnin, Nancy Boyer, Beverly Roberts, Cathy Bibrey, Donna Williams, Merle Carmichael, Susan Stapp, Sharon Seay, Judy Crume, Ann Cunningham and Cheryl Edmonson. Eleven of this group were original members, Sharon Seay having joined them in 1955. Another new member was Helen Davis.

With the advancement to Campfire Girls, new days were opened to new adventures and accomplishments. They learned that Campfire Girls work toward the four "ranks": Trail Bearer, Wood Gatherer, Fire Bearer and finally Torch Bearer. In the latter, recognition can be gained in 19 different activities, with the Torch Bearer rank extending through the high school years. When they reach this age bracket, they will belong to the Horizon Club.

The first three ranks are more concerned with group activities, although each girl, in order to pass rank, must achieve honors in the seven Campfire crafts. These crafts are home-making, outdoors, games and sports, frontiers, citizenship, creative arts and business.

In Torch Bearer, girls work individually, selecting a phase and are eligible to be passed for approval for each craft as it is completed.

Campfire Girls also pick in names for themselves, combining a series of symbols to make their own individual symbols, which they wear on their ceremonial jackets. The name "Nateena," which the girls chose for their own group, means "Girls who like to sing and talk." And they do!

THE STORY OF several years' work is told in the beadwork of the ceremonial jackets held by Mrs. Vance Crume and Mrs. Carl Stapp, leaders of the Nateena Campfire Girls. The symbols in the center of the jackets spell the girls' names, with the individual beads each signifying honors received. (Staff Photo)

As a celebration on moving up, the Nateena group spent the weekend at Carlsbad, N. M. They visited the Caverns and stood in awe at the magnificence of nature. The girls had brought their bedrolls, planning to sleep out on the floor of the Alta Vista gymnasium.

It was far from a peaceful night. The group was harassed by ringing telephones, clanging school bells, a violent thunderstorm and even the police! It seemed someone had neglected to inform the officers that the gym had been loaned out for the night.

By this time, Abie and Mary wouldn't have been surprised to see the men in white coats bearing down on them with cast-iron straitjackets. And they probably would have been a welcome sight!

Air mattresses sprung leaks, as did the ceiling over the heads of two unfortunates (probably Abie and Mary) and the entire group was a bit the worse for wear when dawn finally arrived.

With courage renewed by summertime, Abie and Mary took the girls for their first bout with camping to Cota Glen, the city-wide Campfire site for overnight trips. Well stocked with vitamin pills and mosquito repellent, the leaders and their energetic charges were off.

The camping trip was a huge success... snacks, sunburn and all. Cookouts, hikes and best of all, the nights spent singing around the campfire. All were combined to give the group a memorable summer's interlude.

The Nateena group, now numbering ten, passed the first rank and became Trail Seekers in February of 1958. With the completion of each new craft, a new bead was added to their ceremonial jackets. There was a different color bead for each of the seven crafts and many of the girls' jackets were beginning to blaze with the colors of the rainbow. But, most important, was the feeling of confidence each girl received with each new accomplishment.

In May of that year, Abie and Mary drew a deep breath and took the girls for a weekend trip to Santa Fe, N.M. Again the girls packed bedrolls and slept in a school gym. Fortunately, the group wasn't plagued with the misfortunes of their initial outing. They had a wonderful time visiting historical spots and getting acquainted with the picturesque old town.

The year 1958-59 was a red letter year for Nateena. They took part in a cooking school sponsored by the Southwestern Public Service, ending this program with a tea honoring their mothers. They also presented a radio program from KPAN and were guests at Hereford Kiwanis Club (who have sponsored them for four consecutive years), Bovina Order of the Eastern Star and Masons and Farwell Woman's Club.

Along with the new rank of Wood Gatherers two new members, Linda London and Judy McElroy, were added.

The past year has been slower for the group. They took part in the conservative program by planting evergreens in their home years, participated in the spring hobby show at the Community Center, staged a Halloween party, did their yearly stunt selling candy. The year was wound up with a three-day stay at Lake Altus, Okla., for skiing, swimming and just plain loafing.

At present, the six active members are working on the last half of their seventh year in Campfire. They have all (SEE AIMING, PAGE 8)

SOYBEANS HAVE FUTURE
URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Scientists at the University of Illinois believe soybeans eventually may be added to the list of regular fare for Americans.

Testing vegetable-type soybeans, which have a mild nutty flavor and are larger and cook more easily than field-type soybeans, the researchers found that soaking and cooking processes did not affect thiamine vitamin content.

Soybeans compare favorably in thiamine with other good sources of this vitamin, including peanuts, fried beef liver, cooked oatmeal and whole wheat bread. Thiamine corrects a deficiency that prevents beriberi and promotes optimal growth in infants and children.

passed the rank of Fire Maker and are working on various ranks for Torch Bearer.
Susan Stapp and Helen Davis are working toward Torch Bearer in Aquatics, Judy Crume is "majoring" in art and Sharon Tinnin, Barbara Langley and Linda London will take their first Torch Bearer in Home-making. All hope to have this initial step concluded by fall, when they can select another phase of Torch Bearer to carry them into the Horizon Club.
This high spirited group of young girls are fortunate in having the fine leadership of Able Crume and Mary Stapp. Mary Crume is Campfire Girl in Michigan and still has her ceremonial gown and jacket.
And as for the leaders, they have enjoyed watching the girls grow from long legged little girls with the spirits and skittishness of young colts into the poignancy of feminine adolescence. Able and Mary have experienced the twinges of each growing pain right along with the girls. They have their confidence, their love, and they know their hopes and aspirations.

The two women look back on the past years with nostalgia and perhaps relief... but keep a wary eye cocked toward the several years left with Nateema. It's not hard to see that Able and Mary love every minute of it, even if they must stay constantly on their toes.
They derive immense satisfaction from working with the group, realizing the importance of the crafts which the girls learn. They both work willingly, knowing these girls are the homemakers and, perchance, even the Campfire Leaders of tomorrow.

HORSE FOR A CADDY
DOUGLAS, Wyo. — Carl Sawyer, veteran rodeo performer from Torrington, Wyo., came up with a new type of caddy in the state fair's combined golf match-ster roping contest.
The cowboys hack around the Douglas course in a 9-hole match to determine which steer they draw for the roping part of the unusual contest.
Sawyer brought along his cow pony to the course — and hung his golf bag over the saddle horn.

Seventh Graders Trounce Canyon; Host Tournament

BY WAIN MILLER
BRAND SPORTS WRITER
After a lagging start, the Stanton Seventh Grade Dogies racked up their second win over the Canyon seventh grade with a 44-37 score here Monday night. Paced by the 25 points of Steve Hodges, the Dogies came from a 10-7 deficit in the first quarter to win.
Beginning Friday at 2:30 p. m., the Stanton seventh graders will host the First Annual Hereford Seventh Grade Tournament. Eight area teams are entered in the 10-game schedule. Stanton will entertain Springfield at 2:30 p. m. Friday afternoon in the opener.
Stanton should advance to the second round against Coronado at 9:45 Saturday morning. The winner of the Stanton-Coronado tilt will match the winner of the Gattis-Estacado bout at 8:15 Saturday night in the tournament finals.
Starting off the Dogies' busy weekend schedule, Stanton journeys to Littlefield Thursday night for a Conference battle against the Wildcats. Littlefield offered little opposition as the Dogies won handily with a 42-20 tally in their first meeting.
With only Steve Hodges and Gary Payne scoring in the first quarter, Stanton trailed 10-7. Racking up 15 points in the second quarter, the Dogies took over a 22-15 lead. Hoeges netted nine points as Robbie Lemons canned six.
Canyon threatened 28-25 entering the final round. Hodges scored all but one of the seven Dogie points in the third quarter with Roger Owen converting one from the free throw line. Scoring ten points from the foul line, the Dogies ended up with 16 points in the exciting fourth quarter. Owen and Hodges scored five apiece, with Payne adding four, and Robbie Lemons scoring the final two points for Stanton to win 44-37.

REMEMBER WHEN?
BY CHARLIE SEEDS

Americans always have a tendency to pull for the underdog... and that's why even those who disagreed with him politically couldn't help feeling a little admiration for Harry Truman in the year he fought his biggest battle... and won his greatest personal victory.
Truman had succeeded Roosevelt after his death, and this year was the first time he ran for President. According to all the experts, he didn't have a chance.
Poll after poll showed Tom Dewey to be a certain victor. Even Democrats weren't very hopeful. Just about the only man in the country who thought Truman had a chance was President Harry Truman.
He conducted his famous slambang, fighting campaign, ignoring the pollsters and the experts. When the dust settled, Harry Truman had the last laugh... and a new term as President of the United States.
Remember the year? America was in its post-war boom that year... and people were clamoring for the new cars rolling off the assembly lines... but they had to sign up on long waiting lists. If you wanted a black car and got a purple one, you didn't complain!
The year was 1948.
You'll find stunning new colors, inside and out, in the new Ford for 1961. And you can get exactly what you want in our big model selection... plus a terrific deal in trade, and the assurance of buying from a reliable dealer with the finest service facilities to back up the sale.
