

Man jailed in brutal 1990 murder

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

A former Hereford resident who had been living in Idaho has been arrested in the murder of a Hereford teenager in 1990.

Mario Flores Jr., 24, was arrested Wednesday by Deaf Smith County Sheriff Joe Brown and David Wagner, investigator for the Deaf Smith County District Attorney's office. He was charged with killing Johnny Martinez, 15, southwest of Hereford on Sept. 2, 1990.

Flores was arraigned in an Idaho district court and waived extradition. He was brought back to Hereford and arraigned on Thursday afternoon. He is in Deaf Smith County Jail in lieu of $100,000 bond.

Martinez was killed sometime between midnight and 8 a.m. on Sept. 2 at an abandoned house south of Tide Products and Caviness Packing. His body wasn't found until Sept. 8 by a youngster walking in the area. Martinez's grandparents had reported him missing late on Sept. 2, and information about the boy had been given to a nationwide missing children's network.

Just after Martinez's murder, sheriff's deputies and Texas Rangers followed hundreds of leads and questioned over 50 persons to try to gain leads in the case. Investigators, in 1990, said Martinez may have been kidnapped (or forcibly taken) from the Hereford Community Center parking lot on Sept. 1-2 and taken to the abandoned house, where he was killed.

An autopsy by Dr. Sparks Veazey of Amarillo said the boy died from one or more blows to the back of the head from a blunt object. Officials now believe the blows came from a 2-by-4. The boy's body was burned, probably to hide the crime.

In a telephone interview today, Brown said authorities in Oregon called Deaf Smith County officials last week with information they had received in the case.

"We talked to some people there and got some more information, then called back and told Roland (Saul, district attorney) what we had," Brown said. "Then we went to Blackfoot and talked to Mario. We received the murder warrant from here and served it."

Brown said Flores had been one of the initial suspects in the case, when authorities were going through dozens of leads and differing stories among persons who were thought to have been with or around Martinez shortly before he was murdered.

Music, fireworks planned Saturday

A huge fireworks show, live music and free watermelon are on tap Saturday at the second annual July 4th celebration in Hereford.

The program will begin at 6:30 p.m. with music by Natalie Sims. Other performers will include the Moondogs, Vicky Orúz, Annie Zuniga, Chelli Cummings, Melissa Celaya, Leslie Woodard and Miss Hereford Vanessa Gonzalez.

The American Legion will present flags and Mayor Tom Legate will give the official welcome.

Singers will perform through the evening until the 30-minute fireworks display begins about 9:30 p.m. Saturday.

Over 5,000 persons attended last year's celebration at Veterans Park, and organizers think even more will attend this year's event.

Everyone is encouraged to bring a picnic supper to the park. Drink booths and other vendors will be at the park, and the organizing committee will serve free watermelon as long as it lasts.

Chairman Wes Klett said there will be several barrels around the park for donations. Including fireworks, watermelon and other needs, the celebration costs about $9,000. Donations may also be made to the Fourth of July celebration at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce office at Seventh and Main.

The park will be closed to traffic at 4 p.m. from the bridge on Tierra Blanca Creek south to Jackrabbit Road. Persons who may be in the park at 4 p.m. will be asked to move their vehicles outside the closed area. Senior citizens may park on the west side of the road on the north end of the park; everyone else should park on the east side.

The same pyrotechnics company that produced last year's fireworks show will have the honors again this year. The Oklahoma company will fire hundreds of aerial bursts during the 30-minute program, which is accompanied by a patriotic medley. The show will end with a huge seven-shell starburst around 10 p.m.

Hereford police and fire department officials will be checking cars at random for fireworks and alcoholic beverage. Neither may be taken to the park.

Ready for second annual event

Last year's celebration featured lots of welcoming home of troops from Operation Desert Storm, a picnic and program at Veterans Park and a huge fireworks display. This year's festivities include picnicking with free watermelon, musical entertainment and an even longer fireworks show. Things starts at 6:30 p.m.

County considers 2 redistricting options

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Two options for resolving the Deaf Smith County precinct boundary issue and, in the process, settle a lawsuit have been offered by the county's legal advisor.

Troy Don Moore, Precinct 3 commissioner, said that during a conference in Lubbock Thursday with Bob Bass of Allison and Associates, the options were outlined.

"Basically, we have two options," said Moore. "We can try to re-draw the lines and seek preclearance again or we can appeal to the U.S. District Court in Washington, D.C."

Earlier, Bass had held out hope that the Deaf Smith County lawsuit could be combined with similar suits filed in five other counties and heard before a panel of three federal judges.

Moore said that Bass reported that the federal court will not permit consolidation.

Bass told the Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court in April that a three-judge panel could render a decision that would allow the precinct lines to be precleared judicially.

The confusing situation erupted in mid-April when the county learned that the U.S. Department of Justice denied preclearance of the new lines. Federal law requires that precinct boundaries be re-drawn after each U.S. Census.

A lawsuit was filed on April 14 against the county charging the March primary elections involving two commissioner precincts were invalid because the lines were not precleared.

In the Democratic primary election in March, Commissioner John Stribling of Precinct 1 and Moore won contests. Stribling defeated Tony Castillo by a vote of 329 to 288. Moore won with 602 votes to Paul Hamilton's 224 and Roy Dale Messer's 95.

Moore said Bass reported that Judge Mary Lou Robinson, sitting in the Amarillo court of the Northern District of Texas, has set July 20 for attorneys to file briefs and plans on whether a three-judge panel has jurisdiction in the lawsuit against Deaf Smith County.

Rolando Rios of San Antonio, the attorney representing Trini Gamez, plaintiff in the lawsuit, has filed a motion for summary judgment in the federal court, Moore said.

Moore said Bass expects to work on the precinct lines further in an effort to meet the call for higher percentages of Hispanic residents in Precincts 1 and 4. In the plan proposed for preclearance, Precinct 1 had 60.5 percent Hispanic population and Precinct 4 had 49 percent.

Soon after Bass was notified that the Deaf Smith County plan was not precleared, he filed a request under the Freedom of Information Act for materials the Justice Department used in making a decision.

At the time, he said he had been told that another plan submitted for the county met percentages needed.

Moore said Thursday that Bass has not received the requested materials and was advised that Justice Department personnel were "too busy" to answer his request.

"He's going to file an appeal administratively and if that doesn't do something, he can sue," said Moore.

The FOI Act specifies that government agencies must comply with requests within 10 days. More than two months have elapsed since the request was filed.

Bass recommends that proposed precinct lines be re-worked and preclearance sought again, in part because of expense that would be incurred in filing an appeal in the Washington, D.C., federal court.

"If all five counties that Bass represents could be heard at the same time, we could save money, but if we have to go one at a time, it can be very expensive," said Moore.

The legal counsel for the county estimates that if the suits are consolidated in Washington, the costs could range up to $50,000, to be split among the counties.

"There's no way to tell how much if we have to do it alone," said Moore.

Bass will work toward the alternative solution by seeking an agreement on re-drawn precinct boundaries.

Perot sticks to verse

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) - Ross Perot, quoting hymns, songs and the "pioneer's creed," is sticking to patriotic thank-you statements at campaign rallies.

His stump speech has yet to include his developing positions on issues, even though aides are telling him it's time to get specific.

Perot told about 6,000 supporters at the Capitol steps here Thursday that he wanted to rebuild America for their children. But he didn't begin to outline ideas on how to accomplish the goal.

"Let's leave them a country where they, like we, can climb every mountain, ford every stream, follow every rainbow until they find their dream," the as-yet undeclared independent presidential candidate said.

A Perot aide said his inner circle of advisors was urging the candidate to begin putting his platform before the public. "There are some in the group who want him to say more. He really wants to address these people and not use this for something else," the aide said.

Campaign officials have said July will be the month when the Texas tycoon begins outlining his stand on issues, and the month when Perot is likely to formally announce his candidacy for the presidency. His plans for the July Fourth holiday remained unclear, although campaign spokesman Jim Squires said earlier, "I don't think we'll go dark."

On Thursday, Perot also won a spot on the California ballot, bringing to 20 the number of states where his name has been accepted for the November general election. In Washington state, Perot needed only 200 signatures; his volunteers turned in more than 55,000.

"You have told the people in Washington to listen for a change," said Perot, whose 20-minute speech was tighter and less folksy than at earlier rallies. One aide said Perot may have been tired from an 11-hour-long deposition Wednesday for a Senate subcommittee investigating prisoner of war issues.

"Now that the walls have come tumbling down and the Russian empire has broken into republics and the Cold War is over, thanks to all of you who did it, I suggest that it's time to come home and rebuild America," Perot said.

More threats follow assault

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - A day after George Lott killed two people and injured two others in a courtroom shootout, two judges reported receiving death threats while cries for increased security were made.

Lott, 45, was being held Thursday in Tarrant County Jail on one capital murder charge, three charges of deadly assault on a court participant and one charge of carrying a weapon in a place where weapons are prohibited. His bond was set at $1.325 million.

Meanwhile, the century-old Tarrant County Courthouse where the shootings occurred remained vacant Thursday, while flags flew at half-staff.

Judge Clyde Ashworth, 69, was listed in fair condition at Harris Methodist Hospital. He spent Thursday night in intensive care following abdomen surgery Wednesday.

Judge John Hill, 45, was listed as being in good condition in a regular room at Harris Methodist.

Families of both men made statements Thursday thanking the community for support throughout their ordeal.

A bailiff at another Tarrant County courthouse said a caller claimed Thursday morning that two gunman were headed there to shoot Judges Bill Burdock and George Kredell, whose courtrooms are adjacent.

State to inject funds into education

New money coming from economic development

AUSTIN (AP) - Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock says the state will put at least $650 million more into public education in the next legislative session, for the following two-year budget period.

"This $650 million in new state aid is being factored into every school finance idea now being considered or worked on by legislative leaders," Bullock said Thursday.

He said the money will come from economic growth and improvement pumping will more funds into taxes that support state aid to schools. He said it could total as much as $1 billion.

According to Bullock, the state treasurer says Texas is building toward a $200 million cash balance on its books next month, and the comptroller says tax revenues are running ahead of projections.

Bullock's executive assistant, Bruce Gibson, said the additional money should cover enrollment growth and may mean more money per student.

A $3 billion state aid increase would have been required under the current school funding law for the 1993-94 and 1994-95 school years. That law was found to violate the state constitution by the Texas Supreme Court, which gave lawmakers until June 1, 1993, to come up with a new plan.

Bullock and other state leaders earlier sent a letter to public school superintendents saying the state couldn't raise the $3 billion.

"There will be no new state money for public education next biennium and you can expect per pupil state aid to remain, at best, constant," the letter said.

But Gibson said Thursday that the letter meant that "no new revenue sources were likely. I think natural growth in the revenue picture from existing taxes will definitely mean new revenue for our schools."

The announcement came on a day of wide-ranging discussion on school finance at a meeting of lawmakers and school superintendents. In other moves:

- Senate Education Committee Chairman Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, proposed a constitutional amendment that would either abolish or cap local school property taxes.

The amendment would take effect in two years if approved by lawmakers and voters - but only if the Legislature approved some new tax, such as an income tax, to make up for the lost property tax revenue.

"It's kind of in the formulative stage, but I know people are frustrated with high property taxes," Parker said. "I'm going to push to get rid of property taxes, and I'm going to let the chips fall where they may."

- A state lawyer said Education Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno will agree to appointment of a court master to draw a proposed school finance plan, which likely will include school district consolidation.

That doesn't mean the state would endorse the plan itself, said Texas Education Agency lawyer Kevin O'Hanlon. He said there may be "significant litigation" over it.

But O'Hanlon said it's important for the Legislature and school districts to see what a court plan would look like well before the June 1, 1993, deadline set by the Texas Supreme Court for lawmakers to come up with a new way of funding schools.

O'Hanlon said he believes some form of school district consolidation is the only option a court master would have in devising an equitable school funding plan. He said a court could not raise taxes or pass a constitutional amendment.

"I expect that when that (court master's plan) hits the table, people are going to go nuts," O'Hanlon said.

Property-poor school districts that have battled for equalized funding have asked State District Judge F. Scott McCown to appoint a court master to write a school finance plan for 1993-94, in case lawmakers fail to do so.

Al Kauffman, lawyer for those school districts, and O'Hanlon said such a plan should be released by about Jan. 1, 1993, to allow time for review. Lawmakers meet in regular session in January.

A Tuesday hearing is scheduled on the request for a court master.

White House workers spill beans

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Roosevelt ate quail for breakfast, Mamie Eisenhower liked sweetheart roses in her bedroom, the Carters skimped on decorating, and everyone bore the brunt of Lyndon Johnson's temper.

This is the secret world of the White House, as known by the butlers, cooks, seamstresses and florists who have served America's first families over the years.

"Many times you're working and there's just a door between you and the first lady and president," said Alonzo Fields, who served in the White House for 21 years, from Hoover to Eisenhower.

It takes a certain personality to succeed in that atmosphere, said the former chief butler and maitre d', who is 92 years old now.

"You have to be serious. You can't talk loudly, laugh loudly or be dropping plates," said Fields, who still holds his 6-foot-3 frame regally upright.

But what you can do is listen. And listen Fields did, when he served the coffee at President Truman's daily Cabinet breakfasts, when he stood behind the chairs of foreign heads of state, and when he served dinner in formal coat and tails to the first family every night.

He describes his role during his White House days as "a silent member of the Cabinet."

"Even though we were in a menial capacity, we were making history. We were helping people make history," Fields said Thursday. He and other former workers were gathered to tell stories about White House life at the Smithsonian's annual Festival of American Folklife.

Presidents come and go, but most of the White House domestic staff remain for several administrations. They have their favorite presidents and their least favorites.

"The Hoovers were very formal and they treated us as servants only," said Fields. "Mrs. Hoover, a lot of people thought she was snobby."

But the Trumans liked Fields so much that they stayed in contact with him long after they left the White House.

"Truman was always saying, 'Hello. How are you?' He kept you with that feeling that it wasn't master and servant, you were both servants of the government."

The Kennedys, especially Jacqueline, questioned White House traditions and weren't afraid to change them. After they moved into the White House, the butlers' practice of serving the first family dinner in jalls was abandoned. And Jacqueline Kennedy preferred many-colored arrangements of wildflowers to the more formal bouquets favored by the Eisenhowers.

"She liked the flowers to look like they had just come out of the garden," said former White House floral designer Rusty Young. "She changed the way we did things."

Swiss chef Henry Haller, who was executive chef at the White House from the Johnsons to the Reagans, remembers well some trying moments in the Carter administration, like when he was told only a week in advance that 1,300 people would be dining on the White House lawn to celebrate the Camp David Accord.

"He pulled the meal off with great success anyway, he said. After all, that was his job.

"Nobody who ever came to the White House had service before like they had at the White House. So they didn't have much to complain about," he said. "That's why, in the end, nobody wants to leave. They want to stay another four years."

Judge dismisses murderer's lawsuit

WHEELER, Texas (AP) - Bobby Templin left the courtroom the way he left Norbert and Jaye Nell Schlegels' lives after he killed their daughter 16 years ago - cold and emotionless.

In an odd twist of fate, Templin was cast Thursday in the role of plaintiff serving as his own attorney, and his former father-in-law was the defendant facing him on the witness stand.

In the end, Templin, who was convicted of the bizarre 1976 electrocution of his wife, Rhonda, was granted the dismissal of a $225,000 invasion of privacy lawsuit he had filed from prison against her parents.

The Schlegels were left wondering what's next after sheriff's deputies escorted a solemn Templin out of the Wheeler County courthouse.

"Unfortunately, it's probably just the closing of one chapter," Schlegel said. "We have come to expect anything from that man. He showed us today he has no remorse for killing Rhonda."

Templin sued his in-laws on grounds his wife's parents invaded his privacy in a 1989 statement to the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles. In opposing Templin's bid for parole, the Schlegels compared Templin's charm to that of notorious mass murderer Ted Bundy.

Thursday's eerie faceoff in court resulted from Templin's sudden change of heart last month. Templin said he wanted the lawsuit dropped in the interest of the taxpayers, who were funding his suit from prison.

Karen Matlock, a state assistant attorney general, attended the hearing and told the court, "some action will come from this case that will preclude such frivolous lawsuits from being filed in the future."

Ms. Matlock said the Texas attorney general's office "is drafting legislation to ensure immunity for the statements made by victims or victims' families in the judicial process."

Ms. Matlock asked Templin about the emotional and financial strain he had put on the Schlegels.

"I understand that," Templin said. When she asked Templin if he would ever consider repaying the Schlegels for $6,000 spent on court costs, he responded: "No ma'am."

Any signs of diplomacy were discarded when Templin suddenly asked senior District Judge Grainger McIlhany for the chance to cross-examine Schlegel.

"Can you give me an example of Ted Bundy's charm?" Templin asked the man he once shared holidays with.

"He charmed people for his own purposes," Schlegel said. "He charmed the judge, the jurors and all the people who had him in custody into thinking he was a nice person."

"Very definitely you had a charm similar to Ted Bundy."

Templin then began berating Schlegel about his former father-in-law's opinion of the lawsuit, and McIlhany quickly stepped in.

"Mr. Templin, I think you are going to the point of arguing with the witness and that is not proper," said McIlhany, a 25-year veteran on the bench.

Moments later, the judge ended the hearing by ruling in favor of Templin's motion to dismiss the lawsuit.

Schlegel had requested the hearing so he could answer Templin's charges.

"I think we have exposed his real reasonings. It was an attempt to intimidate me from opposing his parole. His goal was to harass us," Schlegel said.

Templin's parole was recently denied and will not come up again for two years.

Templin acknowledged he was dropping the suit on the advice of an attorney, but refused to say if he would file any other suits against the Schlegels in the future.

When asked if he thought his criminal case would ever reach a courtroom again, Templin, who insists he is innocent, said, "on criminal appeal, yes."

Digging up most of the evidence themselves, the Schlegels were instrumental in building a case against Templin, who married Rhonda in 1973.

Three years later, he murdered the 20-year-old woman by dangling a bare-wire extension cord between her right arm and breast as she lay in the bathtub.

Initially, authorities considered the death an accident, but the Schlegels thought otherwise.

The Shamrock couple filed a wrongful death lawsuit to keep the case alive and five years after their daughter's death, persuaded a grand jury to indict Templin for murder.

Two juries ultimately convicted Templin, the later sentencing him to 99 years in prison.

ST. THOMAS EPISCOPAL CHURCH

"Nation With a Mission" is the theme of the sermon Sunday preached by the Rev. Charles A. Wilson. Based on the gospel of the day, Luke 10:1-12, 16-20, concerning the mission of the seventy, Fr. Wilson raises the question, "Does this speak in any way to what this nation of ours is all about?"

The music at the 11 a.m. Eucharist will be patriotic in theme as we remember the birth of this free United States of America. Special music will be provided by Donna Bogan and Linda Gilbert on organ and piano. The public is invited to attend.

On Wednesday from 5:30-6:30 p.m., Fr. Wilson will be in the church office. Holy Eucharist and Holy Union follows at 7 p.m. The Vestry is reminded of a meeting at 8 p.m.

Rehearsals are underway for the fourth annual St. Thomas melodrama. This year's production is "The Villain Wore a Dirty Shirt." Scheduled performance dates are Aug. 7 and Aug. 8 at the church. Mark it on your calendar.

A schedule of Faith, Fun and Fellowship has been announced by the Education Commission for the month of July.

Beginning with an ice cream supper July 8, each week's programming will last from 7-8 p.m. Music will be a big part of the evening. These programs will be inter-generational. Young and old will enjoy the program.

Among other activities scheduled for Faith, Fun and Fellowship will be a watermelon bust, a seated dinner and a talent show.

The Education Commission will provide homemade ice cream for the kick-off program and the Methodist Men will provide the watermelon for the feast.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

"The Essence of Begin a Christian" is the title of the sermon to be given by Scott Simpson during the regular 10:30 a.m. Sunday worship service. The scripture lesson is Isaiah 53: 1-12, I Peter 2:18-3:7. Scott has just finished his second year at Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary and is home for the summer. Next September he will be serving as an intern at First Presbyterian Church, Pasadena, for a year before returning for his senior year at seminary.

Sunday school for all ages begins at 9:30 a.m. Simpson will be showing slides of his January trip to the Holy Land during the Sunday school hour to the adult classes.

Dwight Joiner of Dimmitt is our new organist. He will be playing for the July 5 service. He replaces Avie Lewis who has moved to Georgetown. Avie will be the music teacher for the Jerrel School District.

A Fourth of July pizza

Your kids will enjoy getting involved in the food preparation for the Fourth of July when you put them in charge of dessert - an easy-to-prepare "pizza" in red, white and blue.

Here's how to make a "dot-to-dot" fruit dessert pizza:

An adult should open one package of refrigerator sugar-cookie dough, available in the dairy case at your grocery store. Show our child how to press the dough into a round pizza crust shape, on an ungreased pizza pan. (Wet your child's hands with water if the dough is too sticky.) An adult should bake the dough according to package instructions or until the edge of the dough is firm. Cool completely.

In a mixing bowl, stir together one 8-ounce package low-calorie cream cheese (softened), 1 tablespoon milk, and 1 teaspoon shredded orange or lemon peel.

Spread the cream cheese mixture over the baked cookie dough. With a toothpick, an adult should poke holes in the cream cheese to make a large star pattern. Let your child place rinsed and dried fresh blueberries dot-to-dot fashion on the pattern. Fill in the star with sliced fresh strawberries.

Just before serving, poke red, white and blue birthday candles in the fruit pizza. An adult should light the candles as family and friends sing a favorite patriotic song.

The fruit pizza makes 16 small servings.

Check your canner at free checks

Pressure canner checks will be conducted Wednesday by the County Extension Office.

Two separate times and locations will be held to meet the needs of residents. Bring only the lid to the canner checks; only lids with dial steam gauges can be successfully checked. The check takes about two minutes.

Current canning information will be distributed at the same time. Canner checks may be scheduled for other days by calling the Deaf Smith County Extension Office at 364-3573.

Checks on Wednesday will be held at the Senior Citizens Center from 11:30-1:00 and at the County Library from 2:00-3:30.

Senior 4-Hers conducting the test will be Lori Urbanczyk, Cady Auckerman, and Karon Harder.

Seles grunts past Navratilova into finals

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Grunt or no grunt, great was the word to describe Monica Seles.

With the pressure on in the third set Thursday, Seles turned up the volume on her grunts and the heat on her groundstrokes to subdue Martina Navratilova 6-2, 6-7 (7-3), 6-4.

She'll face Steffi Graf in the final on Saturday, with a chance to win her first Wimbledon championship and her third Grand Slam title of the year. Graf, the defending champion, outplayed Gabriela Sabatini 6-3, 6-3.

Seles and Graf had a day off today, which was set aside for the men's semifinals pitting John McEnroe against Andre Agassi and Pete Sampras against Goran Ivanisevic.

Navratilova, the 35-year-old nine-time champion, compared Seles to Chris Evert in her ability to win in tight situations.

"Chris was pretty intense when it got close," she said. "You did not see her blow matches. She'd always play better when she was behind. All the great champions have that quality. "When the chips are down, she (Seles) is very, very tough. She wasn't down today but still turned it up a notch."

Time and again in the final set, Navratilova had her chances to take command. But every time she would break, Seles would break right back.

Knowing that her best chance to beat Seles was to pressure her from the net, Navratilova chipped and charged relentlessly. She won 25 points from the net but was passed an astounding 27 times by Seles.

"A couple of times, just the pace of her ball beat me," Navratilova said. "I get my racket back, but it's not quite fast enough. She hits the ball so hard, even when she doesn't place it well. Just the sheer pace of the ball ends up beating you."

The sheer decibel level of Seles' grunts — more like a scream or shriek — prompted Navratilova to complain twice to chair umpire Fran McDowell. The official, in turn, told Seles to pipe down.

"It just gets louder and louder," Navratilova said. "You cannot hear the ball being hit... The closer it gets, the louder she gets."

Navratilova, who had played Seles 11 times previously but never complained, denied suggestions that gamesmanship was behind her protest this time.

"If I don't say anything, I am damned. If I do, I am damned," she said. "Her argument is she is not doing it on purpose. But she can stop it, you know."

"But you know, I don't want to take anything away from Monica," she added. "Grunting or not, she is a great player and certainly deserved to win. I think she would have beaten me even without the grunt." Seles said she is trying her best to stop grunting, but claimed she is being singled out.

"I think it's unfair," she said. "When I was No. 5 or 6 not too many people noticed anything. But as soon as you are No. 1..."

Navratilova isn't sure yet whether Seles can stay at No. 1 for as many years as she and Chris Evert did.

"She is certainly the best player right now and has dominated the last year and a half, but you know it's like Chris said about me when I had a great 1982: 'One great year does not a player make.'

"She has been up for a while now and it's just a matter of how long she can keep it up," Navratilova said.

"The great players of an era are measured by two things. One is longevity and another is quality. She certainly has the quality. She might have the longevity too. Only time can tell."

Jordan spends off-day at links

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Michael Jordan believes in mixing business with pleasure.

Tonight, it's back to business for Jordan and the U.S. basketball team against Puerto Rico, which advanced to the semifinals of the Tournament of the Americas Thursday night with a 92-85 victory over Argentina.

Venezuela won the second game, defeating Canada 76-72, and will play Brazil in the semifinals. All four teams playing tonight have clinched Olympic berths.

Jordan played 36 holes of golf Wednesday before scoring 24 points in 25 minutes in a 128-87 victory over Argentina that officially gave the United States a ticket to Barcelona.

He planned to play at least two more rounds Thursday, an off day for the American team because it won its group with four blowout victories on four consecutive days.

Jordan scored six, 14 and 15 points in the first three games, but he was Team USA's leading scorer for the first time against Argentina.

"I made a concerted effort in the first three games not to dominate the scoring because I wanted to establish a team concept," Jordan said. "If I wanted to average a certain number of points in these games, I could. I thought we needed a pickup from an entertainment standpoint against Argentina."

Jordan provided a radical increase in entertainment in the second half Wednesday when he drove in for an apparent breakaway dunk, only to toss the ball off the backboard to

Happy church plans softball tournament

Holy Name Catholic Church in Happy is planning an ASA sanctioned softball tournament to be held July 24-26 at Toles Memorial Park in Happy.

Entry fees are $80 for sanctioned teams and $85 for non-sanctioned teams. Fees must be paid in advance, and no refunds will be made after July 21. To enter or to get more information, call Lissa Schoenenberger at 1-800-447-2265 or Skip Simons at 995-4126 or 764-3526.

Only one fighter has won the heavyweight title on a foul, Max Schmeling against Jack Sharkey in 1930.

Scottie Pippen, giving the points and the dunk to his Chicago Bulls teammate.

Three players were sidelined for Wednesday night's game. John Stockton had a broken right leg, Larry Bird a stiff back and Clyde Drexler a sore right knee.

"Stockton's injury is the only one I have major concerns about," coach Chuck Daly said.

One of Puerto Rico's starters is forward Jose Ortiz, a former teammate of Stockton and Karl Malone with the Utah Jazz.

"We consider it a fun game because we're already going to Barcelona," Ortiz said.

"It will be a great experience and an honor to play the Dream Team," Puerto Rico coach Raymond Dalmau said. "We've reached our objective of making the Olympics."

Puerto Rico upset a team of college All-Stars in last year's Pan American Games, but Dalmau said the NBA players on Team USA probably aren't thinking about that.

"I don't think there's a revenge factor," Dalmau said. "They just want to demonstrate they are the best team."

Puerto Rico 92, Argentina 85
Mario Morales made six free throws in the final 57 seconds to help Puerto Rico hold off Argentina.

Make it a fabulous Fourth of July!

Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative wants your Independence Day celebration to be fabulous — and safe. Here are some tips to help:

- Unplug electric grills when not in use.
- Place your grill away from dry grass, bushes, and your home. Protect the grill from the wind.
- Carefully observe all warnings on fireworks. Or better yet, go see a local fireworks show instead of doing your own — especially if conditions are dry in your area.
- Don't use kerosene or gasoline in place of charcoal lighter fluid.
- Don't overdo on food and drink.

And, of course, have loads of fun. After all, the Fourth is one of the best birthday celebrations of the year!

Clemens rocked by Sox, claims foot injury

CHICAGO (AP) - Roger Clemens, the three-time Cy Young winner, is hurting.

Clemens made the disclosure Thursday night after the hot-hitting Chicago White Sox battered him for nine hits and five runs in five innings on the way to an 8-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox, their 10th win in 12 games.

Clemens said he has been pitching with a sore right foot.

"It's bothering me, I need to take some measures to take care of it,"

Clemens said. "It's a nerve or a tendon. I'm going to have to talk to the doctors about it. It's putting stress on my elbow and my back."

Clemens hadn't lost to the White Sox since May 4, 1988. He had seven wins and four no-decisions in 11 starts.

But they unloaded on him early with four runs on six hits in the first two innings and he left after giving up five runs and nine hits in five innings.

In Thursday's only other American League game, Kansas City beat Milwaukee 8-2.

Clemens (9-6) said his slump is affecting the team.

"It gives the other team and the other guy an unbelievable amount of confidence," he said.

So much so that Wilson Alvarez, in only his second start, had a no-hitter until the seventh inning, when Wade Boggs led off with a single and Tom Brunansky followed with his third homer.

Alvarez, who had pitched a no-hitter in his first start for the White Sox last Aug. 11 at Baltimore, hadn't worked more than four innings this season and was slated to throw no more than 100 pitches, according to manager Gene Lamont.

"I was so excited the way we were hitting Roger Clemens that I wasn't thinking about it at first," Lamont said of the no-hit effort.

While Boggs and Brunansky took care of the no-hitter and shutout, the White Sox had 15 hits against Clemens and two relievers, including triples by Tim Lincecum, Craig Grebeck and Lance Johnson.

Frank Thomas had three hits, drove in two runs and scored two for Chicago. He hit an RBI double in the first and scored on George Bell's single.

Robin Ventura and Thomas hit run-scoring singles in the second for a 4-0 lead. Grebeck, who had five consecutive hits before grounding into a force in the third, tripled in a run in the fifth. Bell hit an RBI double in the sixth.

Boston got a run in the eighth on a wild pitch by Roberto Hernandez, who got the last four outs for his first major-league save. Johnson hit a two-run triple in the bottom of the eighth.

Royals 8, Brewers 2

Kevin Appier (9-3) pitched a six-hitter to win his fourth consecutive decision and Curtis Wilkerson homered for only the eighth time in 2,256 career at-bats as Kansas City rolled over the visiting Brewers.

Milwaukee took a 1-0 lead in the first when Pat Listach tripled and scored on Kevin Seitzer's grounder, the first earned run given up by Appier in 16 2-3 innings.

But Kansas City came back with three runs in the bottom of the inning off Ron Robinson (1-4), who was chased after allowing five runs and eight hits in 1 1-3 innings.

Rijo holds off Pirate rallies in 2-1 victory

By The Associated Press

With Tom Browning out for the side, Jose Rijo is going to have to come through for the Cincinnati Reds to win the National League West.

Rijo did the job on Thursday night, pitching out of jams in three of the first six innings as the Reds held off the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1.

"I didn't have my good stuff, but I made pitches when I had to," said Rijo, only 2-2 lifetime against the Pirates. "With this defense, I'm not afraid to throw a 3-0 pitch down the middle. I know the defense will make the play, and the defense saved us again."

Norm Charlton finished with one-hit relief for his 18th save, striking out four.

"Rijo and Charlton are no day at the beach, but you don't win unless somebody starts knocking in runs and somebody starts getting on base," Pirates manager Jim Leyland said.

Dave Martinez hit an RBI single in the second off Jeff Robinson (3-1) and Joe Oliver hit a run-scoring groundout in the fourth for the Reds, who stopped a three-game losing streak.

Cardinals 1, Giants 0

Donovan Osborne (6-4) allowed four hits in 7 1-3 innings to win for the first time in seven starts since

May 23 as visiting St. Louis ended a 25-inning scoreless streak.

Expos 3, Padres 2

Delino DeShields hit a run-scoring double in the ninth at Jack Murphy Stadium, and Mark Gardner (7-6) limited San Diego to three hits in eight innings.

Dodgers 9, Phillies 4

Eric Karros tripled with the bases loaded and Mike Scioscia had two hits as Los Angeles rallied from a 4-0 deficit with an eight-run fifth at Dodger Stadium, the team's biggest inning since Sept. 14, 1990, against Cincinnati.

Rockets trade two picks for Kite

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Rockets have traded the Orlando Magic two future second-round draft choices for center Greg Kite, general manager Steve Patterson says.

At 6-11, 250 pounds, Kite, 30, is considered a strong rebounder. A nine-year NBA veteran, he has spent the last two seasons with the Magic, following stints with the Boston Celtics, the Los Angeles Clippers, the Charlotte Hornets and the Sacramento Kings.

"I wasn't really expecting this or seeking this out, but it's part of the business," Kite said. "I'm looking forward to getting back to Houston. I have ties there - my mother lives there."

Kite, a native Houstonian, has averaged 2.8 points and 4 rebounds in 576 games, with 224 starts.

Orlando will receive the better of Houston's or Boston's 1993 second-round pick and the better of Houston's or Cleveland's 1996 second-round pick for the trade.

The Rockets acquired Boston's 1993 pick in the 1990 Derrick Chievous trade with Cleveland, and Cleveland's 1996 pick for Keith Hughes in 1991.

Kite enjoyed his best season with Orlando in 1990-91 when he started all 82 games, averaged 4.8 points, 7.2 rebounds and a block, while shooting 49.1 from the field.

Also on Thursday, the Rockets also extended qualifying offers to restricted free agents Matt Bullard, Carl Herrera, Avery Johnson and David Wood. The extension was not offered to unrestricted free agent Buck Johnson.

Southwest Outdoors

with Mel Phillips

Okay, okay. So I didn't have time to look at my trip checklist. Not to worry--after all, I am a professional outdoor writer and recently placed fourth (out of 225 anglers) at a major bass tournament.

Checklists are for occasional outdoorsman, right? W-R-O-N-G!! At least according to Jay Friemel of Canyon, who was kind enough to share several copies of his checklist with me. His list includes the following: waterwagon, net, cooler, motor, gas can, s, at, flippers, waders, tackle boxes, poles, net, poolers, food, rain coat, sun glasses, sunscreen, sleeping bag and, finally, clothes.

Why would Jay choose to share his checklist with me? Perhaps because I forgot item number six on his list during a recent trip to Lake MacKenzie. Using a pair of swim fins to control a waterwagon is easy. Using no fins is quite impossible. But by sharing Jay's flippers, we were each able to barely control the waterwagons. When the wind reached about 30 mph, we decided to call it quits.

The fishing had been great but a quick look at my foot revealed a huge blister on my big toe. Serves me right because I failed to review my checklists. They were posted in my tool room, in my clothes bag and on the inside of the garage door, but I was in a hurry.

Moral of this story: (1) A checklist, like all good advice, is worthless if ignored; (2) on any windy day, one flipper beats the heck out of none; and (3) Jay is a nice guy.

In the summer, big bass feed at night. On Sunday morning, July 12, starting at midnight and ending at 8 a.m., Lake Baylor will be the site of a Moonlight Madness Big Bass Tournament. Entry is limited to the first 100 anglers. Early registration, if postmarked by July 6, is $50. If space is available, the entry fee at the lake will be $60. Based on a full field, the winner makes $2,000 while the second-biggest bass earns $1,000. Call (806) 353-3654 for details.

During July and August, Fun Tournaments are scheduled for Lake Meredith on first Thursdays and at Lake Greenbelt on third Thursdays. Kids under 17 fish free if accompanied by a paid adult. Based on 100 entries, the winner earns $700. All top ten finishers win money or prizes. Registration opens at 4:30 p.m., and fishing is from 6-9. The entry fee is only $20, and entry forms are available at Anchor Marine, Billy's Ramp, Parker Boats, Top-O-the-Line Marine and at participating WalMart and K-Mart stores.

See you at the lake.

Roberts' price may be too much for Mavs

DALLAS (AP) - If Stanley Roberts insists on a $3 million per year contract, he probably won't be playing for the Dallas Mavericks. But if the Orlando Magic center is willing to lower his price slightly, a deal could be struck.

The Mavericks have about $4 million available under the league's $14 million salary cap, but about half of that is expected to be spent on No. 1 draft pick Jim Jackson.

However, the Mavs are interested in a young center, and the 22-year-old Roberts, a restricted free agent, might fit their plans nicely.

Rick Sund, the Mavericks' vice president of basketball operations, says he's already met with the 7-foot-8 Roberts, Oscar Shoenfelt. Shoenfelt is expected to also talk to Miami and Milwaukee, according to a league source.

Roberts, 22, is considered one of this year's most coveted free agents on the National Basketball Association market. He was one of 108 players who became restricted or unrestricted free agents Wednesday.

Sources say Roberts and Shoenfelt want a multiyear $3 million-a-year contract.

"If they're looking at $3 million a year, I don't think we're in ball park," Mavericks assistant coach Gar Heard said Wednesday. "I don't think there are too many teams out there that can pay that."

The Mavericks already have taken steps to solidify their center position this week by reaching a four-year agreement with Donald Hodge. The 1991 second-round pick from Temple is expected to sign the pact next week.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

HIS WATCHMEN ARE BLIND!
"HIS WATCHMEN ARE BLIND; THEY ARE ALL IGNORANT, THEY ARE ALL DUMB DOGS, THEY CANNOT BARK, SLEEPING, LYING DOWN, LOVING TO SLUMBER." (ISA. 56:10) ISAIAH WROTE THIS ADMONITION TO WARN THE PEOPLE THAT THEY MUST BE VIGILANT IN DEALING WITH THEIR POWERFUL NEIGHBORS. THIS PROPHET KNEW IT WAS NOT THE STRENGTH OF ALLIES BUT RATHER THE SPIRIT OF GOD THAT WOULD KEEP THEM FROM ALL HARM, SO AS A WATCHFUL SENTRY IN THE NIGHT GUARDS A SLEEPING ARMY, THEY HAD TO BE ALERT TO THE DANGER OF A CRAFTY ENEMY. COUNTLESS BATTLES HAVE BEEN LOST, NOT THROUGH LACK OF MANPOWER OR ARMAMENT BUT, BECAUSE THE WATCHMAN WAS ASLEEP! ISAIAH KNEW THIS BUT, UNFORTUNATELY, THE KING AND HIS ADVISORS DID NOT SEEK GOD'S GUIDANCE.
