Bush wants deal before summit

WASHINGTON (AP) - Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev's proposal for a 35-nation summit meeting next year now has the qualified approval of the Bush administration - provided a treaty is completed to reduce troops and tanks in Europe.

Secretary of State James A. Baker III told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Thursday the summit could be the forum for signing the treaty and also provide a framework to deal with the question of German reunification.

But he said the Soviets first must agree to the principle that free elections are a human right.

A treaty to reduce NATO and Warsaw Pact troops and non-nuclear weapons in Europe is nearing completion in Vienna. However, Baker said there is disagreement on how to deal with combat aircraft and helicopters.

The Soviets insist that some of the planes the West wants to restrict are defensive in mission and should be excluded from limits.

President Bush's proposal on Wednesday night for deeper cuts also could complicate completion of the pact.

The 35-nation conference would bring together the United States, Canada, the Soviet Union, the Vatican and all the countries of Europe except Albania. The same 35 signed the Helsinki agreement of 1975 that promoted human rights and, in effect, recognized the post-World War II borders of Europe.

Sen. Joseph D. Biden Jr., D-Del., had urged the Bush administration to accept Gorbachev's proposal.

"If we don't provide a framework that accommodates East and West German concerns to resolve the unification issue, events could seize the day," Biden said.

The senator earlier had urged the Bush administration to accept Gorbachev's offer and to use the 35-nation conference to discuss further cuts in troops and weapons, the German question and a timetable for the removal of all foreign forces from Europe.

Baker will hold talks next Thursday and Friday in Moscow with Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze and possibly Gorbachev. His endorsement of the summit proposal - although qualified - represented another attempt by the Bush administration to back the Soviet leader.

Also, U.S. officials are trying to develop a strategy for dealing with the German issue.

On Tuesday, Gorbachev appeared to soften the Soviets' longstanding opposition to reunification. "It is essential to act responsibly and not seek the solution to this important issue on the streets," the Soviet leader said during a visit to Moscow by Hans Modrow, the East German premier.

Baker said the prospect of a 35-nation summit could serve as "a carrot" to encourage completion by NATO and the Warsaw Pact of a treaty this year to reduce troops and weapons in Europe.

The treaty would set a ceiling of 275,000 for U.S. and Soviet soldiers on foreign soil. President Bush, on Wednesday night, proposed reducing the level to 225,000 and setting a sub-ceiling of 195,000 for Central Europe, which includes East and West Germany.

It was not clear if the deeper cuts would be part of the treaty now being negotiated in Vienna or become the basis of a second treaty.

Baker stressed the U.S. priority is to complete a treaty by the time Bush and Gorbachev hold a summit meeting in Washington in the second half of June.

4 jailed on drug charges

Four persons have been arrested by federal authorities on drug charges stemming from an investigation that began in Hereford last October.

The four were recently indicted by a federal grand jury and have been arrested on warrants.

Ronny Shoppa, of Wharton, Sherry K. Hall of Amarillo, Tommy Deas, 41, of Hereford, and Jerry Deas, 46, formerly of Hereford and currently in a Wyoming correctional facility, were arrested on charges of conspiracy and possession with intent to deliver cocaine.

District attorney's investigator Vernon Hope of Hereford received a tip last Oct. 23 that Ronny Shoppa, who had been in Hereford on many occasions, was going to California to pick up a load of cocaine and bring it back to Hereford.

Hope said authorities learned Shoppa would be returning to the area at the Lubbock International Airport. Department of Public Safety and Lubbock narcotics officers waited until Shoppa retrieved his luggage, then took him into custody after they found a pound of cocaine during a search of his belongings.

Because of the interstate nature of the case, it was turned over to the Drug Enforcement Agency.

Tommy Deas and Hall were taken into custody last week. Tommy Deas was arrested here on the warrants and was picked up last Friday by U.S. marshals. Hall was arrested in Amarillo, and Shoppa was arrested in Wharton.

Jerry Deas will continue to be held by Wyoming authorities.

Pete sees his shadow

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. (AP) - Punxsutawney Phil, America's premier groundhog, emerged from his burrow today and indicated in "unmistakable groundhogese" that he had failed to spot his shadow, a sure sign spring is just around the corner, according to Phil's followers.

"He stood proud, tall and confident, surveyed the throng of loyal followers, peered skyward toward the east and then fixed his eyes groundward," said county judge Edwin Snyder. He is a member of the Punxsutawney Groundhog Club's exclusive Inner Circle, which each year decides in advance whether Phil will "see" his shadow.

"The story may not be quite so sparkling in Hereford. There's no official groundhog here, but shadows were evident this morning as the sun rose in a blue sky. Whether that's more accurate than a Pennsylvania groundhog will take about six weeks to determine."

Consumer groups blast planned Bell settlement

AUSTIN (AP) - The state-paid advocate for utility consumers says any settlement of Southwestern Bell's rate case should lower basic local service rates because those charges are the highest on average in Texas.

"The only way to put the money back in the hands of the people of Texas directly and fairly is to reduce the basic local service charges," said Public Utility Counsel C. Kingsbery Otmers, who represents residential and small commercial customers at the Public Utility Commission.

"I believe every single consumer should receive a rate reduction from Southwestern Bell," Ms. Otmers said Thursday.

But Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. spokesman Bob Digneo disputed Ms. Otmers' figures, saying she didn't take into account additional charges paid by residential customers of local telephone companies other than Southwestern Bell.

"We believe that those (local) rates are already well below the national average," he said. "Basic local service is a bargain. It doesn't come close to paying for itself."

Ms. Otmers was backed by consumer groups - including the American Association of Retired Persons, Consumers Union, Gray Panthers and a coalition of about 80 cities - in opposing a proposed settlement being negotiated by the PUC staff, Southwestern Bell and other parties, including a number of cities and long-distance telephone companies.

The proposal would reduce customer rates overall by $1.2 billion over four years, freezing local rates but reducing such items as the rates long-distance companies pay for access to Southwestern Bell's network.

Ms. Otmers said that in cases involving GTE Southwest Inc., Centel, Centel and United, residential rates for local service have been lowered after a public hearing or through negotiations.

But Digneo said Ms. Otmers made an "apples to watermelons comparison" between Southwestern Bell's rates and those of other companies.

For example, Southwestern Bell's average residential charge for local service of $9.70 was compared to GTE's $7.37 charge. Digneo said the GTE rate cited by Ms. Otmers doesn't include a mandatory extended area service charge paid by GTE customers living in suburbs outside metropolitan areas.

For a Plano GTE customer with the ability to call Dallas, that would mean a total monthly charge of $14.75, compared to a $10.40 charge for a Southwestern Bell customer in Dallas, Digneo said. The charge is necessary for other companies to gain access to Southwestern Bell's network in the cities.

Ms. Otmers acknowledged the discrepancy, but said that there are different charges for mandatory extended area service and that the average holds true in areas without such service, such as San Angelo. She asserted that when comparing Texas rates to those of other states, Southwestern Bell and the PUC staff "compare apples to watermelons also."

"No two telephone companies have the same demographics, in terms of customer service, consumers," said Bob Orozco, PUC executive director.

Orozco said special interest groups are charged with lobbying for the groups they represent, while the PUC must consider the best interests of all consumers as well as the utility.

"It is their job to advocate their position for their constituents and I think they do so quite well," Orozco said.

Parties in Southwestern Bell's rate case have until 4 p.m. Friday to reach a settlement, or a hearing will begin Monday in the case. If an agreement is reached among some parties but not others, the partial settlement will be part of a hearing process.

Report: AIDS infections down, but could go up

WASHINGTON (AP) - A new report says the number of Americans becoming infected annually with the virus that causes AIDS is declining, although the number of new AIDS cases will continue rising until 1995.

The report's author, Peter Plumley, a consulting actuary in Chicago, also says the chances that a heterosexual not using drugs intravenously will become infected are remote and that AIDS prevention efforts focus too much on this group.

Plumley writes in the January-February issue of Contingencies magazine that the number of new annual infections with the human immunodeficiency virus, or HIV, peaked in 1986 and is going down.

However, he says the total number of HIV-infected Americans will continue to rise until 1991, when 1.4 million will be infected.

Also, the number of new AIDS cases will continue to rise until 1995 and then begin to decline, and the number of AIDS deaths will peak at around 110,000 in 1997, Plumley's projections show.

Years can elapse between the time of infection with HIV and the onset of AIDS. No one is known to have recovered from AIDS.

He predicted that by the year 2000 there will have been a total of 1.3 million AIDS cases and about 1.1 million AIDS deaths.

His figures do not include HIV infections and AIDS cases among blood transfusion recipients, hemophiliacs and children, which account for about 5 percent of the total infections.

As of Dec. 31, 1989, AIDS had been diagnosed in 117,781 Americans. Sixty percent, or 70,313, had died since June 1, 1981, according to the federal Centers for Disease Control.

The CDC, which estimates that about 1 million people in the United States are HIV-infected now, is revising its projections for future spread of the disease.

A draft report released earlier this month predicted that projections for the numbers of cases will be about 15 percent lower than previous CDC estimates.

CDC spokeswoman Gayle Lloyd said until the agency issues new projections, "no one here is interested in talking about anyone else's projections."

Plumley said, "One of the most disturbing aspects of the AIDS epidemic is the number of people who have become concerned unnecessarily about the epidemic."

The virus is spread mainly through contact with bodily fluids, including sexual intercourse, particularly anal sex, and sharing of needles. Its chief victims have been homosexual males and intravenous drug users.

A homosexual male's risk of contracting AIDS is about 1 in 500, according to Plumley.

Prevention efforts within the homosexual, bisexual and intravenous drug user communities should continue, but "valid reasons exist to attempt to temper warnings issued to people whose risks are as remote as one in a million or less."

"Hyperbole could divert the focus from the truly serious areas of risk, damage credibility of the prevention efforts and create paranoia among those who don't understand and jeopardize their chances of forming the kinds of relationships necessary to health and well-being," he wrote.

Williams wants looser reins on trucking

AUSTIN (AP) - Republican gubernatorial hopeful Tom Luce says campaigns rely too heavily on TV commercials and says he will hold a call-in cable show to take viewers' questions.

Prior to Luce's announcement, one of his opponents, Clayton Williams lead a truck convoy and for trucking deregulation and voiced support for high diesel fuel prices, which have been criticized by independent truckers.

Luce, a Dallas lawyer, said voters deserve more from candidates than 30-second campaign commercials.

"Surely we owe voters more than just a steady barrage of short commercials. You know, (beer mascot) Spuds MacKenzie looks good in 30-second spots, but I don't think we want him to be governor of Texas."

Luce acknowledged, however, that television commercials have helped make him better known and said they are useful in defining a candidate's background and stand on major issues.

His cable show will originate in Austin and air on cable channels in Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Garland, Sherman, Houston, Lubbock and San Antonio. Viewers will be able to use a toll-free number to phone in questions.

Meanwhile, Williams' six-truck convoy started in Grand Prairie Thursday and stopped in Temple before ending in Austin.

He said Texas trucking rates are 25 percent to 39 percent more than those charged interstate and the high prices are causing industries to move their distribution centers out of state.

"Texas is losing jobs, losing money, losing business today because we're not giving our companies a fair shake on Texas highways," said Williams, a Midland oilman.

He cited a state study that said trucking regulations cost the state $1 billion in lost business.

In other political developments:

- Clint Hackney, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for Railroad Commissioner, said President Bush's State of the Union speech held little hope for stimulating oil and gas exploration and research.

"Apparently he is content to follow his predecessor and let the country continue to be awash in foreign oil despite the threat that holds for our own energy independence," said Hackney, a former state lawmaker from Houston.

- State Comptroller Bob Bullock, the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, said he received the Texas Women's Political Caucus endorsement.

- State Sen. Hugh Parmer of Fort Worth, a Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate seat held by Republican Phil Gramm, said he filed a financial report with the Federal Election Commission showing his campaign has receipts totaling more than $1 million and $477,445 cash on hand. That includes a $300,000 personal loan from Parmer.

Gramm has nearly $6 million in total receipts for last year, and $6.1 million in cash on hand including money raised before 1989, said his spokesman, Larry Neal. None of the money is from loans, he said.

- Nikki Van Hightower of Houston, a Democratic candidate for state treasurer, said one of her opponents, Armando Gutierrez of Austin, described himself as a "neo-Marxist" in a story in the University of Texas student newspaper in 1978.

The Daily Texan story appeared after Gutierrez was denied tenure at UT-Austin.

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, Feb. 2, the 33rd day of 1990. There are 332 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On Feb. 2, 1653, New Amsterdam - now New York City - was incorporated.

On this date:

In 1536, the Argentine city of Buenos Aires was founded by Pedro de Mendoza of Spain.

In 1848, the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, ending the Mexican War, was signed.

In 1870, the "Cardiff Giant," supposedly the petrified remains of a human being discovered on a farm in Cardiff, N.Y., was revealed to be nothing more than carved gypsum.

In 1943, the remainder of Nazi forces from the Battle of Stalingrad surrendered in a major victory for the Soviets in World War II.

In 1961, the 600 passengers of a hijacked Portuguese ocean liner, the Santa Maria, were allowed to disembark in Brazil.

In 1971, Idi Amin assumed power in Uganda, following a coup that ousted President Milton Obote.

In 1987, the White House announced the resignation of CIA director William Casey, who was hospitalized and had undergone brain surgery.

Ten years ago: The FBI's "Abscam" political corruption probe came to light with reports that undercover agents had posed as businessmen offering bribes on behalf of a phony Arab sheik.

Five years ago: President Reagan sent advance copies of his 1986 budget to Congress and used his Saturday radio address to urge lawmakers to join in a "strong bipartisan effort" to enact his spending plan.

One year ago: President Bush met at the White House with Japanese Prime Minister Noboru Takeshita, after which both leaders sounded upbeat about U.S.-Japanese relations.

Today's birthdays: Actor Gale Gordon is 84. Broadway composer Burton Lane is 78. Actor Robert Mandan is 58. Comedian Tom Smothers is 53. Singer-guitarist Graham Nash is 48. Actor Bo Hopkins is 48. Actress Farrah Fawcett is 43. Model Christie Brinkley is 37.

Thought for today: "Your friend will argue with you." -Alexander Solzhenitsyn, exiled Soviet writer.

Outstanding students

Two Hereford High School students were recently recognized by the Hereford Kiwanis Club for their outstanding achievements in extracurricular activities. Marc Williamson, Hereford's assistant superintendent for instruction, presented the awards to Brek Binder, above, who was named Sophomore of the Year, and to Minnie Roddy, below, on behalf of her daughter, Daphne, who was named student of the month.

Thornburgh wants special counsel for HUD, Pierce

WASHINGTON (AP) - Attorney General Dick Thornburgh wants an independent counsel to determine if former Housing Secretary Samuel R. Pierce Jr. and his aides broke the law by steering federal rent subsidies to politically connected developers.

Thornburgh, stressing that the special prosecutor law left him no other choice, said an independent counsel is needed to determine if Pierce and other former housing officials "may have violated federal criminal law" in the way they chose developers to participate in the moderate rehabilitation program between 1984 and 1988.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development program provides rent subsidies and lucrative tax to developers who perform a moderate amount of rehabilitation on low-income housing units.

Thornburgh's formal application to a special court cited reports of a "widespread perception among developers" and local officials that "funds were being disbursed in disproportionate amounts to projects backed by prominent Republicans acting as consultants or by former HUD officials."

But the attorney general said he "found no reasonable grounds to believe that further investigation is warranted" of allegations that Pierce lied during congressional testimony when questioned last May about political favoritism in the awarding of HUD grants.

Jack Kemp, who succeeded Pierce at HUD at the start of the Bush administration, promised to cooperate with the investigation.

"This is a tragic situation for all involved," Kemp said in a statement. "However, the department will provide whatever cooperation and assistance is required for full and fair disposition of this matter."

Robert Plotkin, one of Pierce's lawyers, said, "We continue to believe that Mr. Pierce has not violated any federal laws and we are confident that, at the conclusion of an independent counsel investigation, that will be determined."

The attorney general, an outspoken critic of the special prosecutor law, made it plain that his decision to seek court appointment of an independent counsel was forced upon him by the statute.

Thornburgh said the Justice Department's preliminary inquiry into the allegations, which began Dec. 4, was hindered by the department's inability under the law to conduct grand jury proceedings or grant immunity to witnesses.

Despite a review of "voluminous information" compiled by the HUD inspector general and the House subcommittee and interviews with department officials, "a determination that no further investigation is warranted is virtually foreclosed," Thornburgh said.

Any decision to drop the matter "is made especially difficult by the breadth of the allegations and the fact that a number of figures central to the alleged conspiracy, including Secretary Pierce and his former executive assistant, Deborah Dean, have declined to be interviewed," Thornburgh said.

Thornburgh disclosed that Pierce provided written answers to questions submitted to him by the Justice Department's public integrity section.

The special prosecutor law virtually assures that an independent counsel will be appointed by a special three-judge panel of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The court's Special Division customarily acts within weeks of receiving requests by the attorney general.

The independent counsel law was triggered Nov. 2 when 19 Democrats on the House Judiciary Committee formally asked Thornburgh to consider appointing an independent counsel to investigate allegations of political favoritism at HUD uncovered in congressional hearings last year.

Thornburgh's decision was hailed by Democrats who spearheaded the original request for a Justice Department review of the case.

Questions raised on cocaine mothers

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) - Prosecutors are bringing charges against more and more pregnant women who take drugs, but a lawyer for one woman accused of delivering cocaine through the womb says the war on drugs is "going from hysteria to ... absurdity."

Authorities in areas where expectant mothers have been arrested say they're turning to criminal law as a last resort because nothing else worked in stopping the growing number of cocaine-addicted babies.

"When you have seen these children shake, it gets to you," said Lt. Stephan Banakas, narcotics chief for the Pensacola Police Department. "If it's through arrest or the threat of arrests ..., whatever it's taken to get people to take care of their children, it's working."

The controversy has emerged from the growing use of crack cocaine around the nation, but mothers addicted to other drugs also have been charged. In Wyoming on Thursday, a judge dismissed a child abuse charge against a pregnant woman who drank excessively. The judge said the prosecutor did not establish that the woman's drinking habits injured her unborn baby.

More than 30 women have been arrested nationwide since the first mother was convicted of delivering cocaine to her newborn in central Florida last August, said Alison Marshall, a Washington, D.C., lawyer.

Some police and prosecutors said the arrests are a way of forcing mothers of cocaine babies to get drug treatment. They contend that some pregnant addicts are going straight because they fear prosecution.

But crackdown critics - they include the American Public Health Association, National Women's Health Network and National Organization for Women - say the arrests are doing more harm than good.

The threat of jail is scaring pregnant addicts away from prenatal care and hospitals, increasing the risks to their babies, said Robyn Blummer, Florida director of the American Civil Liberties Union in Miami.

Some even say the arrests could encourage women to have abortions or result in "trash can babies."

"This is the war on drugs going from hysteria to illogical absurdity," said attorney Alan Rapoport of the American Civil Liberties Union. He is representing Kimberly Hardy, the first woman in Michigan charged with delivering cocaine to her newborn through the umbilical cord.

A District Court judge on Thursday ordered Ms. Hardy to stand trial after a pediatrician testified that the baby's exposure to cocaine likely was responsible for his low birthweight, inability to hold food down and gastrointestinal dysfunction.

Two days after birth, a drug test showed signs of cocaine in the baby's urine.

Critics also contend a nationwide shortage of treatment facilities for pregnant addicts means women who seek rehabilitation as a result of the crackdown won't get it.

In Florida, officials estimate more than 10,000 babies are born to addicted women each year.

Authorities in South Carolina and the Florida Panhandle have been the most aggressive in bringing charges, said Marshall, who represents the Chicago-based National Association for Perinatal Addiction Research and Education.

Correction

In Thursday's story on Mayor Wes Fisher's speech to the Hereford Lions club, the mayor was misquoted on his vote for Proposition 5, the freeport amendment.

The mayor said he voted for it because it contained a local option on whether or not to tax freeport goods.

The mayor said he believed he and others voted for the amendment because of the local option provision.

Choose the right diet

People who want to maintain their normal weight or lose extra pounds often end up choosing a weight loss plan that may not be effective, said Dr. Mary Kinney Sweeten, nutritionist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

With all the television, magazine and newspaper advertisements of diet plans and commercial weight loss programs, choosing the right diet can be difficult, she said. Some people may not need a "special diet" at all.

"People with an extra two to five pounds from overeating can probably drop the weight just by cutting back on extra calories and getting on an exercise program, such as walking a mile or two each day," she said.

Some people may benefit from low-fat recipes from a magazine diet plan, but if a person's already 20 to 30 pounds overweight, a significant diet is needed, she said.

"Although a fad diet may help in the short run, research indicates that 95 percent of the people who go on them regain the weight within a year," Sweeten said.

Before choosing a diet book, class or plan in hopes that it will help you with significant and permanent weight loss, Sweeten suggests asking the following questions:

-What's the source of the diet? Is it a reliable health organization?

-How is the effectiveness of the diet documented? Be wary of testimonials by "successful" clients. Ask for figures on long-term maintenance as well.

-Are sensational claims made for the diet? Does it make sense that you can "lose 10 pounds overnight" or "eat all you want" and still lose weight?

-Is the program supervised by qualified personnel, such as a physician or a registered dietitian?

-Along with calorie reduction, does the diet include instruction in behavior and lifestyle modification to help maintain the weight loss?

-Is this a one-food diet or liquid diet? In addition to being boring, these diets omit necessary nutrients and can be a danger to your health.

-Is the diet nutritionally balanced? It should include foods from the major food groups of meat, poultry and fish; fruits and vegetables; dairy products; and grains and cereals.

-What is the cost of the diet? If you have to buy special foods, devices, supplements or books, will it be worth it?

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM LACOMB

Reception planned

The daughters of William and Gail LaComb invite relatives and friends of the couple to a reception from 4-7 p.m. Feb. 3 at the Odd Fellow Temple, 205 E. Sixth St.

The honorees, who married Jan. 30, 1965 in Hereford, will be celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary.

Child welfare leader urges an end to abuse, neglect

On Nov. 2, 1987, six-year-old Lisa Steinberg was rushed to a New York City hospital after she was found unconscious in her family's home. She died two days later, the victim of a deadly blow delivered by her father.

Sad to say, about one million children were abused or neglected last year in the U.S. At least 1,200 of them die, and nine out of 10 times the abuser is a family member.

You probably know that abuse takes many forms. It can be physical, including sexual. It can be mental and emotional, and occurs when a child is verbally harassed, degraded, threatened or called names. Neglect includes failing to provide a child food, clothing, shelter, protection from harm, supervision, hygiene and medical attention.

Children who have been abused or neglected carry deep scars as a result of their maltreatment. Aside from physical injury, they may suffer emotional damage that can cause anxiety, fear and confusion. Often, they cannot concentrate in school. Sometimes they are shy and withdrawn, while at other times they may be disruptive, rude or defiant. In more severe cases, abused children exhibit deviant and criminal behavior and may require psychiatric care or institutionalization.

While it is easy to blame child abusers for their inappropriate treatment of children, we must remember that many abusers were themselves abused as children. Unfortunately, their child-rearing skills too often are modeled after behavior of their own parents or guardians.

The seriousness of the child abuse and neglect problem in the United States today has led the child Welfare League of America to undertake a major public awareness campaign on the subject. The campaign, which includes public service announcements for television as well as magazine ads, is part of the Children's Campaign. Hopefully, you will join the growing cadre of people who want to be part of a unified voice that speaks out for better programs for abused, neglected and troubled children and their families.

If you suspect a case of child abuse or neglect, do not hesitate to call your local child protective or social services department; you do not need to give your name. If you need help with parenting, call your city or state human services department for information on the nearest program.

Finally, to join the tens of thousands of people who are part of the Children's Campaign—a powerful voice for children nationwide—write the Child Welfare League of America, 440 First St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20001 or call 202-638-2952.

Lodge invited to meeting

The Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 members are invited to the annual meeting of South Plains Secretary, Clerk and Scribes Association.

The meeting will be in Muleshoe on Feb. 11 at the I.O.O.F. Hall. Muleshoe Rebekah Lodge # 114 will host the event.

Twenty-eight visits to the sick and 26 cheer cards were recorded as Noble Grand Rosalie Northcutt presided at the Tuesday meeting of the Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228.

A donation was voted for a family in need.

Refreshments were furnished by Kee Ruland.

Members attending were Northcutt, Dorothy Lundry, Susie Curt-singer, Genevieve Northcutt, Erma Loving, Jim Loving, Sadie Shaw, Jo Irlbeck, Tony Irlbeck, Lydia Hop-son, Anna Conklin, Ben Conklin, Gene Bishop, Faye Brownlow and Ursalee Jacobsen.

The Romans built more than 50,000 miles of road in their em-pire. Some are still in use today. They are distinctive in that they run in almost straight lines, passing over hills instead of cutting around them.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 27-year-old wife and mother. This prayer describes not only my life, but the lives of many of my friends and co-workers

The woman of the '80s have been handed a raw deal. I hope this prayer will open the eyes of a lot of husbands whose wives are doing double duty. I'm keeping my fingers crossed that you will think it's good enough to run in your space. Sign me -- A Mom in Kentucky

DEAR MOM: I do and I shall. Here it is:

Working Mom's Prayer
Dear Lord, give me the strength this day to do all the things I must do.

Please, please, Lord, help me to get to work on time. Even though my 3-year-old cries and doesn't want me to leave him.

I know I have no choice.

Dear Lord, how do you explain today's crazy economic system to a child?

How do I tell him that Daddy doesn't make enough money to support our family so I have to go to work to help pay the bills?

And Lord, keep me from resenting those who add to my guilt

By presuming I work because I want to get out of the house.

Most of all, Lord, give me the strength to get all my housework done even though I'm dead tired after a long, hard, stressful day on the job.

And, Lord, when my husband yells at me because I am too tired to wash last night's supper dishes, for the sake of my precious child, please give me the self-restraint not to walk out the door.

Oh, Lord, on behalf of all working mothers everywhere, I ask for four things: strength, courage, patience and a forgiving heart.

My marriage depends on it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Are you out of your mind? You said people who graze and munch their way through food markets aren't exactly shoplifting. What would you call it? In Michigan, eating cherries, grapes or cookies in a store without paying for them is larceny.

I am a security awareness officer in one of the largest shopping centers in the U.S. I give seminars to shop owners and sales associates to help reduce shrinkage.

Do you know that a chain of markets throughout the country has estimated that 5,000 pounds of grapes are eaten each year by people who take "one" to see how they taste? Who do you think pays for those 5,000 pounds of grapes? Not the growers or the transportation company that ships the grapes, or the wholesalers, or the grocer. You and I pay for the "shrinkage."

That's only grapes, Ann. Figure in the cookies and the cherries, the nuts and so on and you've got a lot of unpaid-for items, lady. -- Rosie in Dearborn, Mich.

DEAR ROSIE: So I've been told by about 10,000 grocers in the U.S. and Canada. Thanks for setting me straight in language clean enough to print.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell the dress and blouse manufacturers if buttonholes were placed horizontally instead of vertically they'd be a lot less likely to pop open. I am a buxom woman who knows that horizontal is better. -- Alexandria, Va.

DEAR ALEXANDRIA: I agree this would be a boon to all women, whether they are buxom or not. If any manufacturer will tell me why they prefer the vertical I'd like to know.

Feeling pressured to have sex? How well-informed are you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet "Sex and the Teenager." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Teens, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. Herd teams sweep tourney openers

The Hereford Junior High seventh grade basketball teams opened their respective district tournaments Tuesday on a good note as all four squads picked up first-round wins.

In girls games played at the HJH Gymnasium, both Herd teams scored comeback victories as the Maroon posted a 23-16 win over Dumas Orange in Bracket 1 while the White pulled out a 47-43 overtime win against Borger White in Bracket 2.

In other first-round games, Borger Red defeated Pampa Blue 22-16 in Bracket 1 and Dumas Black dropped Pampa Red 28-18 in Bracket 2.

The boys teams traveled to Dumas where the Maroon topped Valleyview Silver 43-30 and the White took a 39-29 decision from Valleyview Blue.

The tournaments are actually two-for-one affairs with each of the six schools fielding two teams in separate brackets. Championships for each bracket will be awarded.

7th girls Maroon 23, Dumas Orange 16

Hereford trailed through three periods before taking control of the game early in the fourth.

Dumas led 6-2 after the first quarter and upped the margin to 13-7 at halftime as the Herd produced only four points from the field in the half.

Hereford began to come back in the third period, outscoring the Demonettes 5-0 in the quarter to pull within 13-12.

The Herd finally got the shots to fall and scored nearly half its points in the final quarter to put the game away. The Maroon hit five of its nine field goals in the period to outscore Dumas 11-3.

Beth Weatherly led the Hereford scoring with five points, all in the fourth quarter, while Bree Perrin and Kyla Betzen of the Hereford Junior High seventh grade girls White basketball team grabs a rebound and puts up another shot during Thursday's 47-43 overtime win against Borger White in the first round of the district tournament at the HJH Gym. The team will play Canyon White in the semifinals at 4:30 p.m. today.

Clarissa Ramirez had four each. Estella Castillo added three points with Jessica Evers, Melani Banner and Crystal Kelley getting two apiece and Robin Chandler one.

Misty Wingo and Lisa Reeves produced all of Dumas' points with eight each. Reeves did all of her scoring in the first half while Wingo had three points in the final period four the Demonettes' entire second-half output. 7th girls White 47, Borger White 43 OT

Hereford opened with a 10-1 spurt and appeared to have the game well in hand with a 10-3 lead after one quarter.

But Borger posted a 14-5 advantage in the second period, holding the Herd without a field goal, to take a 17-15 lead at halftime.

The Bulldogs added four more points to the margin by the end of the third quarter as both teams nearly doubled their first-half production in the period. Borger's 15-11 edge in the quarter made the score 32-26.

The Bulldogs upped the margin to eight with the first bucket in the fourth quarter, but Hereford went on an 8-0 run to tie the game.

The game turned into a free throw contest over the last three minutes of regulation with Borger hitting four of eight from the line while the Herd came up empty in six attempts. Hereford managed to overcome the missed free throws with a pair of field goals in the final minute to force the extra period.

The Herd wasted little time in deciding the issue, scoring the first four points in overtime and making the margin hold up against Borger's rally attempt.

Hereford placed to players in double figures for the game, led by Leslie Tatarevich with 15 points while Lori Hammock had 10. Jenee Baros and Kyla Betzen added eight points each with Jamie Self, Megan Sanderson and Stephanie Wilson getting two apiece.

Borger was paced by Lee with 16 points and Kistler with 11. 7th boys Maroon 43, Valleyview Silver 30

Hereford took command early to post a 15-5 lead after the first quarter as four of the five starters got into the scoring column.

House ready to break state prep scoring record - again

By ARNIE STAPLETON
Associated Press Writer

Guard Troy House needs 46 points to become Texas' all-time leading career scorer - again.

The 6-1 senior from Ingram Tom Moore High School is averaging 39 points - third best in the country - and he could break the state career record of 3,823 points Friday night against Johnson City High School. He has 3,778 points.

Calvin Gerke of Snook High School scored 3,823 points in his career, a mark that has stood for 24 years.

Actually, Gerke's record surfaced only 16 days ago, just a few hours before House broke the previously recognized mark of 3,550 that had been set by Krum High School's Chuck Hall, who played from 1976 to 1979.

Word that the new record had been found, however, failed to spread in time to cancel celebrations and House's teammates, fans, coaches and parents didn't find out that he was still No. 2 until after the game. Reactions ranged from disbelief to anger.

House's father, Richard House, said he found it difficult to believe the record would have been set in the early 1960s, before the run-and-gun style of play ballooned point totals in Texas schoolboy basketball.

Ingram coach Jim Reed couldn't believe it either. "I want to see books, scores, dates and places," he said.

But staying second didn't seem to bother House, who is considered a college prospect and has been contacted by a number of top programs.

"I just want to win games," he said, smiling. "I just want to make it to state. Records don't mean as much as winning."

After all, House had been through this before.

In September 1989, some schoolboy statisticians determined that House already held the state scoring mark even before he entered his senior season.

But Hall approached Ingram coaches at a cross country meet last fall to let them know he was the real state basketball scoring champion.

Such is the price of success, said Bill McMurray, veteran high school sports writer for the Houston Chronicle, who also compiles "The Texas High School Sports Record Book."

"That's how records are compiled," McMurray said. "You print a list that sends everybody digging through files to prove they have something better. Then once verified, that player goes to the top of the list."

Fred Mares, editor of the "National High School Sports Record Book" said such scenarios are not uncommon.

"You take nearly 20,000 high schools across the United States, and you compound that with history, and you see how many things are bound to happen," Mares said.

In fact, only Thursday did longtime sports writers checking into old records determine that Gerke did indeed hold the record.

There were conflicting figures regarding Max Williams' 1953-56 career totals while at Avoca High School. Statisticians tried unsuccessfully to verify a figure of 4,122 career points that was floating around sports departments across the state.

Williams, now a businessman in Dallas after a basketball career that included a starring role at Southern Methodist and a stint as general manager of the defunct Dallas Chapparals of the American Basketball Association, said he could not remember how many points he had scored as a schoolboy.

Scoresheets were lost years ago, so a plaque in the school's trophy case and a story by The Associated Press from 1956 verified his total of 3,360 - which apparently makes him the fourth most productive scorer in Texas history. The ruling also keeps House within sight of the top spot.

House has missed eight games this season after breaking his nose during practice in November and spraining an ankle in December.

The Herd used a 14-7 advantage in the second period, sparked by Ashley Noland's 10 points in the quarter, to take a 29-12 lead at the half.

The Vikings held Hereford to an 8-8 draw in the third period before cutting four points off the lead with a 10-6 edge over the final six minutes.

Noland finished with 14 points to lead all scorers and was joined in double figures by Richard Hicks with 10. Greg Kalka posted eight points for the Herd with Raymond Alaniz adding five, Coey Laing four and Michael Marquez two.

Valleyview was led by Michael Robinson with nine points and Mark Gallegos with eight. 7th boys White 39, Valleyview Blue 29

Hereford opened a 13-7 lead in the first quarter and then held the Vikings to a total of eight points over the next two periods to up the margin to 34-15.

The Herd outscored Valleyview 8-4 in the second quarter to lead 21-11 at halftime before putting the game out of reach with a 13-4 third period.

The Vikings cut the margin back to 10 points with a 14-5 run in the final quarter.

Cody Curtis led the Herd with 12 points while Michael Brown also reached double figures with 10. Benton Buckley added five points with O.J. Rodriguez scoring four and Scott Burkhalter, Jeremy Brock, David Vermillion and Jacob Lopez two apiece. Dmitry McFarland led the Vikings with 13 points.

The Hereford teams advanced to the semifinals of their tournaments with all four playing at 4:30 p.m. today.

In the girls tourney, Hereford Maroon will meet Valleyview Silver at Whiteface Gymnasium and Borger Red will face Canyon Purple at the HHS Gymnasium in Bracket 1. Bracket 2 semifinals pair Hereford White with Canyon White and Dumas Black with Valleyview Blue at the HJH Gym.

The consolation games, scheduled for 6 p.m. today at the HJH Gym, will feature Dumas Orange against Pampa Blue in Bracket 1 and Pampa Red against Borger White in Bracket 2.

The championship and third-place games are slated for 7:30 p.m. starts. The Bracket 1 championship will be played at Whiteface Gym and Bracket 2 at HHS. Both third-place contests will be played at the HJH Gym.

The boys teams will both play Canyon in their semifinals at Dumas with the White facing Canyon Purple and the Maroon meeting Canyon White.

Both Hereford teams are assured of at least playing for third place. Possible opponents for the White team are Pampa Red and Borger Red while the Maroon will take on either Pampa Blue or Borger White in the third round.

Ga. Tech rambles through Tarheels

By The Associated Press
Dean Smith was at a loss and so was North Carolina - its worst in 26 years.
With Dennis Scott scoring 37 points and Brian Oliver adding a career-high 34, No. 17 Georgia Tech ended a three-game losing streak with a 102-75 victory over No. 25 North Carolina on Thursday night. It was the Tar Heels' worst loss since a 104-69 rout at the hands of Duke in the 1963-64 regular-season finale.
"I can't ever remember us being out of a game with two minutes to play (this season)," said Smith, who tried unsuccessfully to stop the bleeding by calling a rare first-half timeout.
In other Top 25 games, it was No. 10 Louisville 96, Virginia Tech 69; No. 12 UNLV 124, Utah State 90; Southern California 76, No. 16 UCLA

75; No. 19 Minnesota 79, Michigan State 74; No. 20 Loyola Marymount 150, St. Mary's 119; No. 21 Oregon State 98, California 81; No. 22 Indiana 85, Wisconsin 61 and No. 24 Arizona 86, Washington State 62.
Georgia Tech (13-4, 3-4) had lost three consecutive games - all in the Atlantic Coast Conference and all on the road - by a combined five points. The loss ended a five-game winning streak for North Carolina (15-7, 5-2), which was unable to come back after a poor-shooting first half.
Georgia Tech took a 32-17 lead with 5:56 left in the first half. Smith was unable to cure what ailed the Tar Heels - namely, 12-for-36 shooting, including Scott Williams' 2-for-8 and Rick Fox's 3-for-9. The lead grew to 28 points in the second half.

Fox led North Carolina with 18 points.
No. 10 Louisville 96, Virginia Tech 69
Jerome Harmon scored 16 points to lead five players in double figures for Louisville, which never trailed.
Bimbo Coles, Virginia Tech's leading scorer at 25.8 points a game, played despite the flu but scored just two points.
No. 12 UNLV 124, Utah St. 90
Stacey Augmon scored a career-high 34 points in a game that ended in a brawl.
UNLV coach Jerry Tarkanian, upset over comments made last season by Utah State coach Kohn Smith that UNLV players drove nicer cars than players at other schools, kept his starters in most of the game and all five scored in double figures for the Rebels.

The brawl apparently was triggered by an incident with seven seconds left when UNLV's Chris Jeter leveled Utah State's Gary Patterson with a blow that put Patterson on the floor for several minutes. Players traded punches in front of the Utah State bench, leaving one Aggie bloodied and two UNLV players knocked to the floor.
"I'm never going to make another comment about anybody or any other program other than what happens in a basketball game," Smith said. "I really meant it when I said I was sorry. I said it and said it until I was blue in the face. I was a rookie coach and I said something stupid."
Southern Cal 76, No. 16 UCLA 75
Freshman Harold Miner made the second of two free throws with 30 seconds left to end Southern Cal's seven-game losing streak against its crosstown rival. Miner scored 27 points.

Tracy Murray and Trevor Wilson had 19 points apiece for UCLA.
No. 19 Minnesota 79, Michigan St. 74
Walter Bond's 15 points led six Minnesota players in double figures.
Kirk Manns, who led Michigan State with 21 points, attempted a 3-point basket that would have tied the game with 18 seconds left. But Kevin Lynch blocked the shot and made a layup with 14 seconds left.
No. 20 Loyola Marymount 150, St. Mary's 119
Hank Gathers scored a season-high 44 points and national scoring leader Bo Kimble added 31.
Terry Burns had 28 points for St. Mary's.

No. 21 Oregon St. 98, California 81
Earl Martin scored 17 points and Scott Haskins and Gary Payton each had 16.
California was held scoreless on its first eight possessions as Oregon State took a 9-0 lead. The Beavers never trailed.
No. 22 Indiana 85, Wisconsin 61
Junior Lyndon Jones scored a career-high 21 points.
Jones made eight of nine shots, including all three 3-pointers, and scored eight points in an early 17-7 burst.
No. 24 Arizona 86, Washington St. 62
Arizona burst to a 16-0 lead in the first 5 1/2 minutes and breezed behind Brian Williams' 19 points. The Wildcats led by 32 points several times in the second half.

Houston rockets past Bulls, 139-112

By BILL BARNARD
AP Basketball Writer
The Houston Rockets were soaring even higher than Michael Jordan at his high-flying best.
Jordan had 25 points at halftime and finished with 35, and had his usual crowd-pleasing dunks and passes. But the Rockets had their best offensive game of the season and beat the Chicago Bulls 139-112 Thursday night.
Akeem Olajuwon had 23 points and seven blocked shots and Otis Thorpe scored 30 points for the Rockets, whose previous high was 132 points against Miami. Houston's 41-point first period and 77-point half also were season highs.

The Rockets shot 62.5 percent from the field to 44.1 percent for the Bulls.
"Our main focus was to keep Jordan from making his move," Rockets coach Don Chaney said. "He's like Akeem. When he has the ball he demands attention. The important thing is, his teammates were missing their shots."
Elsewhere in the NBA, it was New York 96, Sacramento 89; Milwaukee 129, Orlando 111; Denver 123, New Jersey 112 and Phoenix 102, Atlanta 90.

Knicks 96, Kings 89
New York regained first place in the Atlantic Division by a half-game over Philadelphia as Patrick Ewing scored 12 of his 31 points in the first six minutes of the fourth quarter.
The Kings rallied from 12 points down in the second quarter and a nine-point half deficit, outscoring New York 28-18 in the third quarter.

Ewing put the Knicks ahead for good with 6:49 left and scored again 34 seconds later for an 85-82 edge.
Wayman Tisdale led Sacramento with 22 points.
Nuggets 123, Nets 112
Alex English scored 20 of his 26 points in the second half and Fat Lever finished with 22.
The Nuggets trailed 48-47 midway through the second period before taking a 64-56 halftime advantage and then led by as many as 21 points in the second half.

Mookie Blaylock scored 24 points for the Nets.
Suns 102, Hawks 90
Phoenix beat Atlanta for its 10th consecutive victory at home as Tom Chambers scored 32 points. Dan Majerle had 14 of his 22 in the fourth quarter.
The Hawks, losing their third straight despite Moses Malone's 25 points and Dominique Wilkins' 21, led 50-46 at halftime and 66-57 with 4:43 remaining in the third period.

Bucks 129, Magic 111
Milwaukee handed Orlando its 16th loss in its last 17 road games behind Alvin Robertson's 16 points, 14 rebounds and 10 assists.
Leading 68-53 at halftime, the Bucks coasted after starting the third quarter with a 16-6 run. Jay Humphries closed the surge with a steal and basket, giving the Bucks an 84-59 lead with 4:32 left in the quarter.
Michael Ansley led the Magic with 24 points and 16 rebounds.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 14 cents a word for first insertion ($2.80 minimum), and 10 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.14	2.80
2 days per word	.24	4.80
3 days per word	.34	6.80
4 days per word	.44	8.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines-those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing; all capital letters. Rates are $3.95 per column inch; $3.25 an inch for additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are 14 cents per word first insertion, 10 cents per word for additional insertions.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

The wild cherry tree, brother to the fruit-bearing orchard cherries, are native to America. Their fruit is rarely tempting but their wood is prized for making furniture of high sheen and polish.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am 48 years old and had a hysterectomy 20 years ago. The doctor removed everything but half of each ovary. There were cysts on them. He never gave me any medication and said he left them so I wouldn't have hot flashes so bad when I started the change. Well, bully for him. They are terrible and sometimes I think I am going crazy.

The doctor won't give me anything because I had a breast removed with cancer. I love having sex with my husband, but I am so dry it hurts us both. We have been married 29 years. Is there any advice or medications you can suggest? I need help? My family doctor just laughed at me.

DEAR READER: I'm sure your doctor did not mean to upset you. It certainly is a difficult problem when a woman has already had cancer.

To start at the beginning, your first doctor left your ovaries in, despite removing the cysts, so they would provide natural hormone functions for your childbearing years. Evidently that worked for nearly 20 years and you are now at the age when many women's ovaries fail and cause the very symptoms you complain about. If he had removed your ovaries, you would have required hormones then or would have had similar problems 20 years ago. So don't be so hostile about what he did for you.

Estrogen replacement is the best medicine for hot flashes, but if you can't use it, you might get some help from Catapres (clonidine), a medicine commonly used in the treatment of high blood pressure. It can also be used as skin patches.

I'm sending you Special Report 97, The Menopause and Beyond, for additional information. Others who want this report can send $2 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/97, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

There are many lubricants, such as KY Brand Lubricating Jelly which may help.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am a

67-year-old female and went through the menopause with very few hot flashes. I have never been on hormones, but I have some osteoporosis. When I went to my gynecologist for my yearly exam, he suggested I take estrogen therapy for the osteoporosis. I questioned him about taking estrogen alone without progesterone. He said since I had my uterus removed, when I had a bladder suspension done, I would not need progesterone. They tell me that you have to be on both to get the best effect and that your risk of cancer is less with both. I am also on calcium pills. He said that estrogen and calcium are more effective than just calcium alone.

DEAR READER: Your doctor is absolutely right. The main reason for giving progesterone (Provera) along with estrogen is to decrease the risk of cancer of the lining of the uterus — no uterus, no risk of cancer of the uterus.

There have been reports that progesterone will decrease the risk of cancer of the breast, but a recent study from Sweden even suggests that women who take progesterone along with estrogen are four times as likely to develop breast cancer as women who do not. So I don't think there is enough evidence that progesterone prevents breast cancer.

The Teen Sweetheart Banquet is set for 7 p.m. Feb. 14. Reservations may be made by calling the church office.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

The Lord's Prayer will be the focus of a month-long series of sermons by Dr. Steve McElroy. The first sermon of the series will be Sunday and is entitled "The Importance of Reverence." The sanctuary choir, under the direction of Steve Sobczak, will perform "Surely He Has Borne Our Grief" by Powell.

Open communion will be observed during the service with the Revs. O.L. Knowlton, Reta Richards and James Hamilton assisting in serving the elements. A special communion day offering will be taken to help the work of the Hereford Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center.

Boy Scout Sunday will also be observed with Troop 52 participating in the worship service and by their preparation of an early morning fundraiser pancake breakfast before Sunday School. The breakfast, which is open to the public, will be served from 7:30-9:30 a.m. in the fellowship hall.

As a breakfast plus, the Scouts will bring the food directly to each table, serving from a menu of pancakes, breakfast meat, orange juice, milk and coffee. Proceeds from the event will go toward the troop's summer camp expenses at Camp Don Harrington.

Troop 52 has been sponsored for many years by the church and has distinguished itself by earning many awards and honors in the Amarillo district council. The troop has a present roster of 21 scouts and four leaders. Michael Foster is Scoutmaster, assisted by Bear Denton, Crag Hinger and Bill Caraway serve as adult leaders.

Members of the Troop 52 are Kyle Moody, Tommy Denton, Randy York, Josh Coneway, Wes Chumley, Jeremy Lomas, Doug Keese, Jason Eades, Rusty Hinger, Chad Thomas, Justin Thomas, David Vermillion, D.J. The Confirmation Class for youth, junior high age and above, will meet at 5 p.m. Sunday in the junior high room of the church.

The senior high fellowship will meet at 6 p.m. Sunday at the church.

Communion for shut-ins is available the first Sunday of each month. Call the church office if you want the elders to come to your home to serve you or a member of your family following the 10:30 a.m. worship service.

Presbyterian Women's covered dish luncheon will be Wednesday, Feb. 7, at noon. Jim Cory will give a short talk on "Setting Goals for the Nineties." Working women are invited to come--no dish is necessary.

4-H seeking former members

A 4-H volunteer leader is gathering names, addresses and phone numbers of former 4-H members with plans to eventually form an alumni organization.

Janie VanZandt of Pampa, herself once a 4-H'er, says no comprehensive record of former members exist -- a void she plans to fill.

"It's very important we have a list of these people. We'd like to know who is where so we can gather them together for reunions as well as draw on their expertise from time to time," she said. "We'd also like to be able to recognize them for special contributions they've made to their communities."

"All of this can be done if we have a record of former members and form an alumni organization," she said.

Four-H -- which stands for head, heart, hands, health -- is the largest youth organization in the nation. Its mission is to develop self-directed, contributing, productive members of society.

About 24,500 4-H members live in Texas Districts 1 and 2, which roughly encompass the Panhandle and South Plains. About 383,000 members are in Texas.

VanZandt plans to build a network of 4-H supporters, many former members, throughout the area. VanZandt sees many as potential volunteers.

"Alumni need to be updated on what's going on in the organization. They might see something they want to be involved in. They might want to give back to the organization that gave them so much," she said.

"I think many former 4-H members look back and realize how fortunate they were to be involved. Kids that participate in any youth group are less likely to get into trouble," she said.

VanZandt encourages 4-H alumni to sent their names, addresses and phone numbers to her at 2201 Dogwood, Pampa, Texas, 79065.

Hints from Heloise

PLASTIC CONTAINERS

Dear Heloise: I reuse plastic containers with tight-fitting screw-on caps. I clean the container and remove its label, then pour in any paint left over from a project.

After applying petroleum jelly around the threads, I squeeze the container until the paint reaches the top and hold it steady until the cap is screwed on tightly. I remove the label from the paint can and write the needed information on the back and, using a rubber band, attach this to the new container. No more problems with dried-up paint. — Arleen Birch, Makinen, Minn.

LIPSTICK LEFTOVERS

Dear Heloise: Here is a useful tip my mother taught me.

Have you ever noticed how much lipstick is left when you get to the bottom of the tube? I dig the remainder out of the tube and put it in a pill box. Either I use my finger or a lip brush to apply it. — Marguerite Jarmon, Konnarock, Va.

GRILLED CHEESE

Dear Heloise: For a quick and easy "grilled" cheese sandwich, I just toast two slices of bread in the toaster, then spread them with mayonnaise, add two slices of cheese and pop the sandwich into the microwave for 30 seconds. Presto! An instant sandwich and no clean-up! — Jim Noakes, San Francisco, Calif.

Betty Crocker

Q. Will orange juice in the original carton freeze successfully? L.C.S., Neptune, NJ

A. No. The carton isn't designed for freezer storage and likely will split as juice expands during freezing. Freezing may lessen both quality of the juice and vitamin content.

Q. How long can freshly caught fish be refrigerated before they have to be filleted and cooked? A.W., Silver Lake, IN

A. Fillet and cook the fish with two hours for optimum flavor. Otherwise, fillet and cook fish within 24 hours or freeze them. Fish can be frozen four to eight months.

Tip of the week: To season low-sodium vegetable soup, add lemon juice and float thin lemon slices in mixture.

Tip of the week: Peanuts are really legumes, not nuts. They can be used for meat extenders and in salads, candy and desserts.
