PANHANDLE GETS TWO-INCH SNOW

Match Play
For Women's Golf Friday

First Matches To Start At 2:45 Friday At Country Club

Women's Golf Association, a local organization, will hold its first match play at the Country Club 2:45 p. m. Friday, the sports committee announced Tuesday.

Drawings for partners will be made at the starting hour and handicaps will be posted on bulletin boards at both the Country Club and Municipal courses. Friday is Ladies Day on the Country Club course. Tuesday is a similar day on the Municipal links.

Twenty women had partially completed their handicap rounds when time limit was reached Monday afternoon, while only twelve had actually completed play.

A ladder, arranged by the sports committee in a Monday meeting, arranges players according to scores during handicap rounds those not completing rounds being placed at the foot. Any player may challenge the one immediately above and unless the upper player accepts and plays within the three day limit, places are automatically changed.

Friday is to be Association Day and medal play will be held. The tournament is to be set for another day to permit more practice and aid in lowering handicaps.

Members of the association have extended an invitation to Big Spring women interested in golf to join the association and to participate in matches to be played during winter months.

The ladder follows in order: Mrs. G. I. Phillips, Mrs. H. A. Axtell, Mrs. Ralph Rix and Mrs. Noel Lawson (tied), Mrs. G. R. Hall, Mrs. Obie Bristow, Mrs. Theron Hicks, Mrs. J. R. Dillard, Mrs. G. H. Hayward, Mrs. E. V. Spence, Mrs. P. H. Liberty, Mrs. B. T. Cardwell, Mrs. R. C. Pyeatt, Miss Elizabeth Northington, Mrs. J. L. Rush, Mrs. James Little, Mrs. A. C. Chester, Mrs. Robert Henry, Mrs. Roy Carter, and Mrs. Vernon Mason.

Grand Jury Action Expected Soon In State Forgery Case

DALLAS (AP) — T. M. Markham, assistant state auditor, said Tuesday that the grand jury action of Tarrant and Dallas counties against two men allegedly involved in forgery endorsements to dividend checks issued by the state banking department was completed before end of the week.

CONDITION CRITICAL
The condition of Mrs. J. Richard Spain still remains critical. Numerous calls have been received in regard to her condition and for the information of many friends the following was issued by attending physicians Tuesday afternoon.

"Mrs. Spain is very acutely ill with complications developing from an ulcerated stomach. It is thought that there has been a slow tear due to the ulcer perforating and that now there is an abscess in the region just behind the stomach."

Rev McGrath's
Subject 'Why I Am A Catholic'

Tonight's Topic Will Be
'What Catholics Do Not Believe'

What Catholics Do Not Believe will be the subject of the lecture Tuesday evening at St. Thomas Catholic Church, 506 North Main street, by the Rev. Thomas J. S. McGrath, S. J., who is conducting an eight-day dogmatic mission that began last Sunday morning and will continue each evening until next Sunday inclusive. Services will begin promptly at 7:30 and the general public is cordially invited by the Rev. Francis O. M. L. Foster.

Monday evening Father McGrath took as his theme "Why I Am A Catholic" and for an hour held his audience spellbound as he unfolded before them the reasons for his Catholic faith.

Although the Shreveport missionary spoke for an hour on the subject of his Catholic faith, he never uttered a word by way of an attack on those of other denominations. "My lecture this evening is going to be positive," he said at the outset, "and any one coming to listen to a tirade on those of different creeds is going to be severely disappointed. I am going to give the positive reasons for my Catholic belief, and I shall do so without compromise. But I am not here this evening to attack others who are of a different faith."

With "Yet your service of God is reasonable" (Romans 1:12) for his text, the speaker said in part: "I am a Catholic not because my parents were Catholics. I positively deny that my Catholic parentage is the intellectual reason why I am a Catholic. Even though my parents had been Hindus, I, with the convictions and the knowledge that I have, could not and would not be anything else but a Roman Catholic. My Catholic parentage accounts for the fact that I was baptized into the Catholic church when an infant. It also accounts for the fact that I was sent to a Catholic parochial school and to a Catholic college. But my Catholic parentage is not the reason why I am a Catholic today."

Bullington, who recently sold the Shreveport mis- sionary spoke for an hour on the subject of his Catholic faith, he never uttered a word by way of an attack on those of other denominations. "My lecture this evening is going to be positive," he said at the outset, "and any one coming to listen to a tirade on those of different creeds is going to be severely disappointed. I am going to give the positive reasons for my Catholic belief, and I shall do so without compromise. But I am not here this evening to attack others who are of a different faith."

Orville Bullington, candidate for governor of Texas, will speak in Big Spring Wednesday, the time indefinite.

Bullington, Republican gubernatorial nominee engaged in a bitter campaign against Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, was previously scheduled to speak here at 11:30 a. m. from the courthouse steps.

Charles White, of Arcadia, engaged in a search for P. B. Lund, Monroe banker, and Lloyd Nelson, Arcadia school teacher, was killed in a 150 feet fall to the canyon bottom from the slopes of Monrovia Peak.

Hail Hildenburg!

THOSE shouting thousands of Germans who trooped down the streets of Berlin to shout birthday greetings for President von Hindenburg represented, when you stop to think about it, one of the most encouraging factors in the entire European situation today.

Their celebration was an expression of the profound loyalty and respect which the average German feels for the aging warrior; and that sentiment is, perhaps, about as good a bulwark as Europe today possesses against disaster.

Germany is being pulled about sorely these days. Revolution is hardly more than a hand's breadth distant. Hitler, the Hohenzollers, the Communists—all are watching their chance, all have strong public support, all would seize power tomorrow if conditions were just a little bit more favorable. And no one needs to be told what such an event could mean to the peace of Europe.

But in all this confusion Germany has one thing to tie to its stalwart, incorrigible old president. And it is that very feeling of confidence and love which gives us our best reason for hoping that the final outcome of things in central Europe will not be as bad as it easily might be.

All of this, of course, is only another way of saying that the intangible things in human affairs are usually the most important.

The feeling which a large number of people happen to have for one man is something you can't put into the scales. You can't measure it, as you can Hitler's shock troops; you can't dissect it, as you dissect the group which seeks to restore the Hohenzollern dynasty. It is simply there, more potent than any of these more material things, just as India's love for Gandhi proved, not so long ago, to be much more potent than any of the more tangible elements in the Indian equation.

"The wise motorist will see that he is not caught unprepared by sudden cold snap," said Mr. Smitham of the Firestone Store. "Fall weather is so changeable that even though you start out on trip in fine weather, you may come back through sleet or snow; and then is when you need Non-Skid on your tires."

Tires are so low in price, now that it is impractical to risk life and property trying to run out the last mile. Based on the present selling price, the last thousand miles in a 4.75-18 tire is worth only 43 cents. When you drive with smooth tires you are gambling 43 cents against your life and your family's. You may only need safe tires for one second of your life, but if that second comes while you are traveling 87 miles an hour—48 feet per second—safe tires mean life itself. The extra traction and safety of Firestone tires was recently demonstrated on the salt beds near Salt Lake City, when Ab Jenkins drove a Firestone-equipped Pierce-Arrow car 2,710 miles in 24 hours over a circular 10-mile course—an average speed of 112.91 miles per hour—breaking all existing world records.

Fall should be the time for a general check-up of the car," continued Mr. Smitham. "The battery soon will be called upon to turn over a motor stiff from cold, and lights will be burning for longer hours. The generator charging rate should be advanced and the battery inspected to make sure there are no weak cells that might fail when you need them most. Spark plug also need adjusting; hard winter starting and radiator hose connections should be inspected so that you will not waste antifreeze solution or alcohol.

If the motorist checks his tires, battery, spark plug, and radiator hose, he can rest assured that he will have safe trouble-free winter driving."

Feeder Loan Details Given At San Angelo

Large Ranchmen To Receive Same Consideration As Smaller Ones

TO BE MADE QUICKLY

Cattle Must Be On Property Before Loans Can Be Negotiated

SAN ANGELO—The San Angelo Branch of the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation is going to make feeder loans, as rapidly as possible, and will handle the loan on farmer wanting a car load of calves or a deck of sheep just as readily and with the same attention as one from a big feeder, who wants a thousand cattle and 10,000 sheep. Duwayne E. Hughes, chairman told the farm agents, bankers and business men who gathered in the St. Angelo hotel at noon Monday.

T&P Offers

Armistice Day Rates On Line

Tickets Good For Return Limit Of Four Days, Nov. 11 To 15

DALLAS, Texas. Responding to a popular demand, the Texas and Pacific Railway is breaking all precedents in passenger transportation by offering drastically reduced rates to El Paso, Dallas and Fort Worth, and intermediate points for the Armistice Day holiday, necessary to Frank Jensen, general passenger agent. Round trip tickets for the momentous excursion are now on sale and will be good on all T & P trains departing on November 11 or 12 with a return limit of November 15, allowing three full days of destination if desired.

"While many requests have been made for an excursion of this character, the drastic fare reduction is being made purely in the nature of an experiment," Mr. Jensen said. "The experiment is based on the theory that a sufficient amount of business will be created to enable the railroads to earn a sufficient amount to justify such an extraordinary reduction."

The reduced round trip fare to El Paso is $2.50 for this section and tickets may be purchased in Dallas and Fort Worth and return for only $2.50. Children will be carried for half fare and tickets will be good on all classes of equipment, including sleeping cars.

CALL of the WEST

By R. G. MONTGOMERY

CHAPTER XXXIV
Dona could not take her eyes from Stan's face. There was something in his cool manner that made her wonder at him.

"Turn about is fair play," he said at length.

"I am doing just what I said I would," Dona unsmilingly responded.

"Right," Stan spoke softly. All of the tension was gone now from his face and his hands had softened.

Dona was beginning to feel an anger on his part. "I want to free him. Of course, he would try to talk himself out of it, with tight expressions and waited time, patiently, but he also must speak for a full half hour. When he did it was not to ask for ease for himself, but about her."

You think a lot about yourself," he asked. He looked the question while his gray eyes held hers.

Dona was about to tell him some things prompted her to lead him on. Father is about all I have."

Stan's eyes did not waver. He was sure she was telling the truth. He knew Dona was something wrong with her marriage, though he could never hope to know more of that now. Swearin' was still a sort of protection but not carry any weight for Stan. He knew the timber he was at that instant running in his own heart had been painted. He had done it because he wanted to. Now he had to do it again. He would let Swearin' go without a protest.

Stan could not let him be man enough. Stan could not let him be weak. He was not afraid of difference from what he believed in. The rules were broken, but he was.

What would she do? She was the sort of woman he wanted. She put no question even.

"I would make a difference. I would be different. I would be important."

He seemed to have come to some sort of decision. The result was odd.

actor and would have wound up this way sooner or later." He paused and smiled, a bit of the old humor coming back into his eyes. You can always know that I had it coming to me several times over."

His words did not cheer Doma as a confession of this kind should have. Instead she felt her heart catch and rise to choke her. He was confessing, admitting everything and she could not feel the wave of anger and hatred that she had once felt for him.

Stan watched her through narrow eyes. He was wondering what she might be thinking. He knew that his resolve to make her think him guilty of all the crime he was charged with had failed. Had he known women better he would never have spoken.

"I can't stand this any longer," Doma exclaimed. "I'm going to let you go. I hate you but I'm going to let you go!" She took step toward him.

Stan shook his head. "It's no use. Swergin has at least two men outside right now." Stan's eyes shifted to the window and he smiled a twisted smile. "The dirty skunk is trying you out for his own purposes. He expects you to let me go."

Doma's eyes followed Stan's gaze and darkened with horror. Through the window she could see two men sitting on horses. They had rifles across their knees.

"I'll let you go and give you your gun," she cried.

"It's empty," Stan spoke softly.

"Listen to me. Be careful of that man. Ride straight to camp as fast as you can. Don't let him go with you. Understand?" The sudden fury of his words made Doma star.

"Well, you sure kept him hog-tied!"

Dona whirled at the rumbling voice behind her. Swergin was standing in the doorway, leering at them.

"We'll just take him off your hands now. Your husband and your old man want you to gallop right straight to camp. I'll send a man with you." Swergin advanced upon Stan.

White-faced and shaken, Doma held her ground. "I'm going to ride in with the posse," she stated in an unsteady voice.

"You're going to ride on ahead. Ball is waiting." Swergin growled.

"I won't go," Doma stated flatly.

Her color was ebbing back and with it some of her old fire. "Sam! Come and get this gal and take her on ahead to her old man!" Swergin bellowed.

Doma looked into the cylinders of the cold she held. They were empty! She faced Swergin and her words lashed out. "If Ball is injured while you are bringing him in, I'll sign a murder complaint against you and your men!"

Swergin reached out and cracked her under the chin with a thick, dirty finger. "Sam! Get this little spitfire out of here," he yelled.

Sam was a beefy fellow with a matted beard and bleary eyes. Doma had never seen him at camp before.

Now he thumped into the cabin and caught her roughly by the arm. Half-dragging her, he made his way outside.

Realizing the hopelessness of resistance Doma mounted the black mare and rode away at a trot.

TEXAS-S. M. U. TILT AT AUSTIN SATURDAY HEADLINES WEEK'S PLAY; MAY DECIDE GRID RACE

Ball Players To Get Less Money

CHICAGO — American Association ball players will work for considerably less money next season but will have to play just as many games.

Club owners of the Class AA organization yesterday decided on a monthly salary limit of $6,500, representing an average reduction per club of about 40 per cent. There previously had been no set limit. A proposal to adopt a schedule of 154 games was turned down and the old 168 game season will be played out, although the campaign will be a week shorter.

The season will open April 12 and close September 17, the latter date being the same as in the International League, who pennant winner meets the Association's champions in the "little world series" each fall. The club owners decided to limit spring training to four weeks.

Unless the Southwestern contest takes a toll, the injuries which have dogged the Cowboy backfield all season, will likely be healed.

the past two weeks and who played only six minutes of the Trinity game and scored seven points to that six minutes—should be in form again for the Frog game. Eugene McCollum, another victim, who played only two minutes against Trinity, will also be in shape.

Braced by these additions, the Cowboys hope to make it interesting for the Southwest Conference confederates. Constant changes and replacements in the backfield thus far have kept the Cowboy offense from clicking, but Coach Lee Cranfill hopes to change that by November 4.

Tickets are already on sale here for the game, which is to be the only appearance of a southwest conference team this year in this section. Preparations are being made for 7,500 persons.

a God could speak and act. As God has the perfect right to command me.

"I believe, too, that Christ founded a religion, a church of which he said, as He was about to ascend into heaven: 'he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, but he that believeth not shall be condemned.' I am convinced, therefore, that the church that Christ established carried with it a guarantee of salvation, and that a willful neglect to accept it carries with it a threat of condemnation.

"I know that I have an immortal soul that will live forever, either in bliss or misery, depending on how I live on earth. I most positively do not want my soul to be lost. Hence I feel it my bounden duty to seek out and find and accept the church that Christ himself established and sent his apostles out to spread, and with it he promised to abide all days even to the consummation of the world."

In the first part of his discourse, Father McGrath endeavored to show that Christ put five distinguishing traits or marks on his church, namely apostolicity, unity, universality, holiness and persecution. He used the Bible all the way through this first part, quoting book chapter and verse to prove his statements.

The second part of the lecture was taken up in an endeavor to show that the Catholic church of 1932 corresponds to the description found in the pages of the New Testament of the church that Jesus Christ founded.

Hall, George Delker Boost Scoring Lead

Colorado Speedster Still On Top of District 3 Heap

Bud Hall, Colorado speedster, and George Delker, San Angelo's powerful line-smasher, continued to head the District 3 touchdown race as each scored a single touchdown and converted extra points over the week-end.

Hall raised his total to 42 points for the year by crossing the goal line once against Midland and booting two extra points in his team's 20 to 6 win. Delker scored all seven of San Angelo's points against McWayne.

Delker and Hall were the only leaders to raise their totals last week.
