SIGHTS, FACES SEEN

Around Town

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Phillips Sr. announce the arrival of a granddaughter, Mary Louise Rockel, on Wednesday, March 12, at Hilltown, Penn. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Rockel. Mrs. Rockel is the former Wanda Phillips of Hereford.

Ronn Durham of Hereford was among the students at Eastern New Mexico university making a scholastic average of B or better during the fall semester. He is a sophomore.

Supt. George Graham was named as a delegate to the TSTA state convention in El Paso in November at the District IX teacher's meeting in Amarillo on Friday.

Corrine Jennings reviewed the book "President's Lady" for the Dimmitt Book club Wednesday afternoon. Dyalthisa Bradley accompanied her to Dimmitt.

One local housewife is wondering if our younger generation has forgotten all the standbys of the "good old days." Seems she went into a local variety store and asked for some darning cotton. The sweet young thing who waited on the homemaker, evidently innocent of the uses darning cotton has around the home, blushed as she heard what she presumed to be mild profanity. After much searching, the housewife found good old darning cotton in only one store in the town.

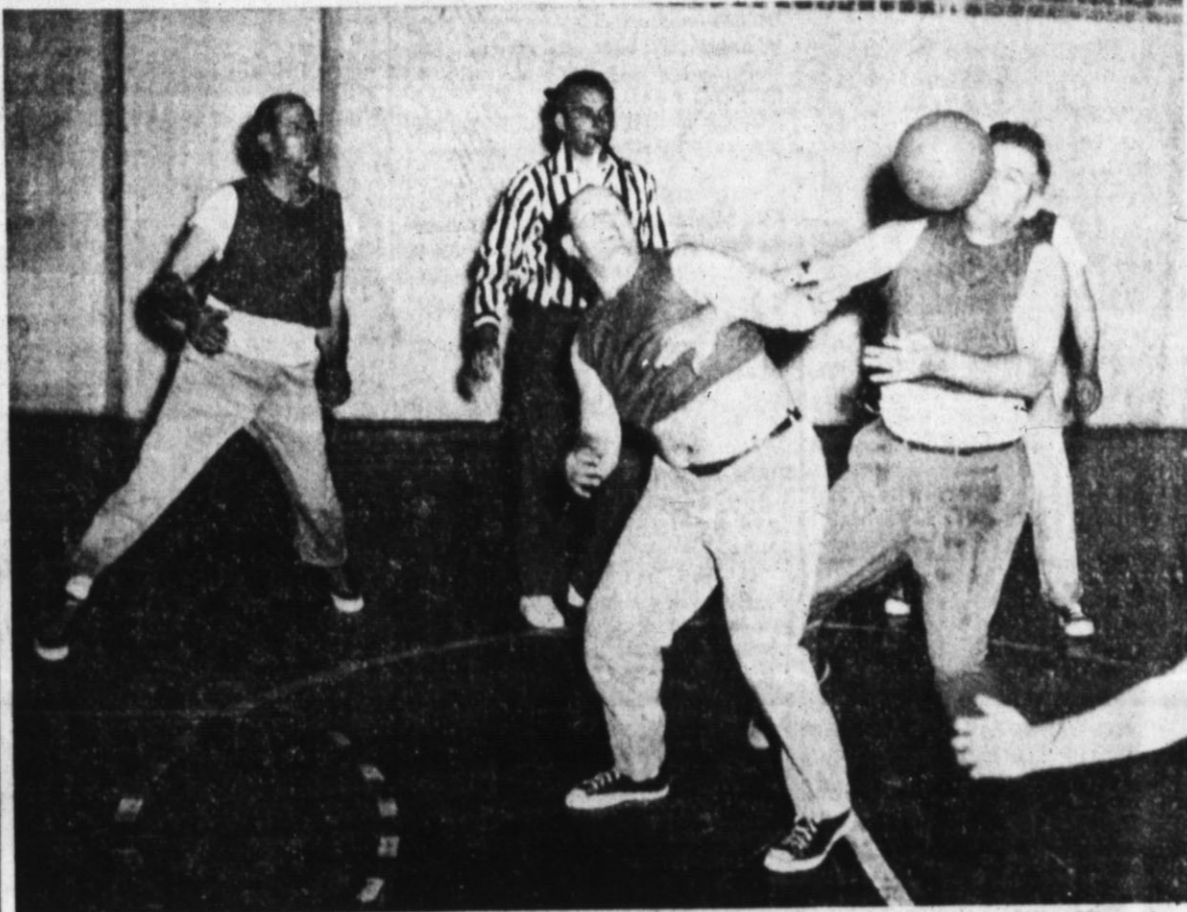

It takes an optimist to look past the clouds and see the sunshine. Urin Streu has proven to be just that. Did you notice the neat window display of household cleaning items in his window before the dust from Wednesday's blower had settled?

The American Legion and Auxiliary will celebrate their 33rd birthday with a dinner party at the Legion hut on Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. All veterans and their families are invited.

Mrs. John Lisenbee of Rogers, Ark., is now employed at the Alex. Thompson Abstract office.

Mrs. Dorothy Ross and her son, James Floyd Ross, are representing the Hereford Credit Bureau at the retail credit bureau meeting in Borger March 15.

Spud Planting Gains Momentum

Limited potato planting in Deaf Smith county last week will give way this week to a general planting operation with practically all houses having growers beginning operations.

Best estimates available now indicate an acreage increase in the county of about 500 acres to 3,500 or 4,000 acres.

Howard Gault said his house cut 1,200 or 1,500 bags of seed the past week and the Hereford Potato Growers said they had cut about 400 or 500 sacks.

Associated growers declined to report their acreage, but said it would be about the same as last year. J. J. Paetzold said he had cut no seed and would begin planting operations the latter part of the month.

Jack Renfro was planting Friday and Saturday and Fred Barrett and Sons had already planted their acreage at Muleshoe and were to plant their acreage here after that.

The potato men expect a good year similar to last season. A lot of spuds went at the early part of the harvest last year from $3.75 to $3.85 per sack f. o. b.

California's potato - growing area is going to be a little later this year than usual and their harvest will coincide more closely with the Hereford harvest, putting more spuds on the market at the same time.

Wheat Loss In Wind Sizeable

Reports on damage to the young wheat crop in the county from Wednesday's sandstorm are still trickling in through direct reports to The Brand and through farmers asking for releases for their insured land at the county PMA office.

One qualified observer ventured the opinion that Wednesday's storm inflicted "the worst damage on any crop from the elements in the past 10 years." He based his assumption on the storm and damage being county-wide and hail storms which have cost thousands of dollars in crops being only localized.

Although actual reports vary greatly, it's quite evident that the damage was county-wide with the worst of it being in the western part of the county where the crop wasn't as far along as in the eastern part.

Total losses were reported in several cases in the western part of the county. Charles Newell, PMA field man, in charge of crop insurance, said one farmer living on the New Mexico line told him that quite a bit of the wheat from here west is out and a few are completely wiped out.

Among the reports given Newell are:

N. A. Brown's wheat is practically all gone. Clint Homfeld turned in losses on five different sections of land. The Homfeld section by Bippus is practically all gone and probably another 3/4 of a different section.

Alfred Reinart, just west of town, had 156 of 196 acres lost. Woodrow Inman, 10 miles northwest, lost 50 acres of sloping summer-fallowed wheat.

A farmer in the north part of the county says that their loss isn't too great from all present indications. One elevator manager said it is too early to tell for sure what the damage has been and that the worst was in the westernmost part of the county. The worst spot, another elevator said, was west and north of Summerfield.

All reports generally state that in the east and northeast part in the east and northeast part of the county, conditions are good because the wheat was farther along than in the west part.

Equity Or Deletion Is Phone Co-op Ultimatum

An appeal to all persons who have paid their $5 membership fee but not their $50 equity payment for rural telephone service from the West Texas Rural Telephone Co-operative to let the co-op know of their future intentions within the next 10 days, was extended this week by Leo Forrest, manager of the Deaf Smith county REA.

Forrest said in a special report covering the history and present plight of the system, these people themselves are the final factor in whether or not many people in the tri-county area to be served will get phones or have their areas completely lopped off the 950-mile system.

As things stand now, the local co-op must save from $125,000 to $150,000 in the construction of the network to reduce the final construction cost from $877,000. This must be done to forestall making a 50c per month increase in all service provided by the co-operative.

"In order to make this savings," Forrest's statement reads, "it appears that some line will have to be deleted.

We are therefore asking all interested people who have put up the $5.00 membership fee, but who have not paid their equity to let us know immediately if they are willing to put up their equity provided the telephone service is made available. In case we do not hear from these people in the next 10 days, we will have to leave out the line that is proposed to serve them in order to effect enough saving to make the rest of the project feasible. We are asking the cooperation of all the people in the area in letting us know immediately their desires for telephone service, as it is our present plans to bring this thing to a close within the near future.

"It is the present plans of the group from the West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative, Inc. to contact REA in Washington within the next two weeks at which time definite commitments will be expected from REA. At this meeting, we must know whether or not the thinner areas or the people who are in doubt are going to want telephone service in order that they may be included in the original design.

"We want to stress again, that after the telephone system is designed there will be a provision for only 70 percent additions. As (Continued on page 2)

Complete Plans For Gas Cooking School

Hundreds of menu-conscious housewives from Deaf Smith and surrounding counties are expected to converge on Hereford Wednesday and Thursday for the all-gas cooking school to be held at the Star theater from 2-4 p. m. each day.

Sponsors for the event are Hereford gas range dealers and the West Texas Gas Company, who are making elaborate plans for the home makers expected to attend the school sessions.

Several prizes, including a modern gas range as a door prize, will be given out at the two-day school.

Over 200 individual prizes valued at more than $500 will be awarded during the two days of the show.

Helen Nichols, West Texas Gas company home economist and director of the "Flame Room," West Texas' most modern kitchen, will conduct the school. She will be assisted by Doris Thurman, also a West Texas Gas company home economist.

Included on the cooking school program will be cooking tips, recipes, and meal-planning information.

Mrs. Nichols has a wealth of experience in the home economics field. She received her degree in home economics at North Texas State college, Denton. Since that time she has spent most of her time working with homemakers in West Texas.

Mrs. Nichols also has been active in dramatics. She has played several parts in summer theater in Plymouth, Mass., and has been cast with Henry Aldrich and in "Romance of Helen Trent."

She has won repeated rounds of applause from the women before whom she has appeared with her cooking schools. Her ability to cook, plus her wit and humor, appeals to all homemakers.

As director of the home service department for the West Texas Gas company she directs cooking schools, assists with home service calls, writes and tests recipes for a monthly recipe folder, holds demonstrations for clubs and schools and advises homemakers about recipes and gas appliances.

Homemakers, too, will be delighted with the ease in which Miss Thurman assists Mrs. Nichols in conducting the cooking school. Women who have attended previous cooking schools conducted by the two West Texas Gas company home economists are thrilled with the easy manner in which the two work together.

Citizens Approve 15 To Write H R Charter

Declaring that the administration of Hereford is now big business that requires the full-time services of a professional city manager, Mayor W. E. Dameron Thursday addressed a mass meeting of the city's voters on behalf of the Home Rule form of government.

"It's in your hands," the mayor told the group after outlining the reasons why Hereford, as a growing city, would benefit more from creating her own laws and governing herself under the Home Rule form rather than under the General Laws of the State of Texas.

At the end of his presentation, Mayor Dameron nominated a slate of 15 persons for the Home Rule Charter Commission, which will draw up the charter to present to the voters.

The slate of nominees was adopted by acclamation. Members included:

Lyle Blanton, J. C. McCracken, Ray Cowser, John D. Aiken, Mrs. Dyalthisa Bradley, Ben W. Childers, Bob Wear, D. C. Kinsey, Jim Bob Allison, E. C. Hedrick, D. C. McWhorter, Henry Sears, Mrs. Homer Brumley, Mrs. O. G. Hill Sr., and Wayne Edwards.

This committee will meet and name its own chairman, vice-chairman, secretary and treasurer. It will draw up the charter as previously mentioned and submit it to the voters. This charter will contain the type of government, etc. for the Home Rule form of government.

In his opening remarks to the 300 persons attending the meeting, Mayor Dameron reminded them that the members of the present city commission had agreed to return their names to the city election ballot for the April 1 election, for a limited purpose only and have not committed themselves further. The commission will stay in office until the Home Rule form of government, if adopted, is set up.

He reviewed that Texas cities have two sources of authority, the General Laws of Texas and those cities operating under a special charter.

Citing a brief background, he mentioned that Hereford was incorporated in 1905 under the General Rules electing a mayor and five aldermen, city clerk and (Continued on page 2) soon as those lines are used up, no more telephone service will be available to anyone in the area. It therefore behooves all people in the area who are interested in telephone service to make your wishes known immediately as we cannot accept application for telephone service in new areas after the boundaries have once been finally decided upon.

Forrest outlined in his statement the procedure the local cooperative has taken since its charter was granted on March 1, 1950.

Cost of the originally planned 737.5-mile line to serve 914 subscribers was estimated at $363,700. This would call for a system with seven unattended dial stations to serve a potential of 1,300 subscribers.

Target date for construction of the system — April, 1952 — soon fell by the wayside, Forrest said, following delays and setbacks for the local group by the National Production Authority, who refused to allot any scarce materials for the co-op during the second quarter of 1952.

After correspondence with several government officials had cleared up the fact that the system design had been received in Washington, the co-op, on February 11 of this year, received a long distance call from Washington stating the plans had been approved but would cost a good deal more than had been planned.

The original loan for the cooperative was $454,000. The REA official said construction apparently would cost $749,000, engineering would be $45,000, legal fees and other fees, $17,000. This would make a total of $811,000 plus the local cooperative's equities amounting to $66,000 or a grand total of $877,000.

Forrest was informed that since the co-op didn't have enough money borrowed to cover the cost, it would be necessary to get a deficiency loan and, to make the system feasible, increase the service rates 50¢ per month. This the board voted to do as a LAST RESORT, Forrest stated.

On February 19, the board of directors and the engineers for the co-op went over the plans and affected a savings of $23,000 as compared to the $125,000 which must be saved to make the system feasible.

That, Forrest stated, is the reason those farmers interested in rural phones must either pay their equities or face deletion from the line WITHIN THE NEXT 10 DAYS.

"The board of directors," Forrest concluded in his statement prepared for The Brand, "wants to express its appreciation for the hearty cooperation it has received from the people in the area and although there have been some disappointments, there is no reason to believe that the telephone system will not be constructed although there are many more hazards to face. The principal hazard after the supplemental loan is granted will be obtaining critical materials that are needed for the war effort. Of course, we realize the war effort comes first, but we still believe there is enough production to justify building the telephone system during the calendar year 1952."

Self-Service Meat Units At Piggly Wiggly

A new self service meat market has been installed at Piggly Wiggly's and will be put into service on Monday morning.

The new feature will enable customers to select their own meat completely without the aid of a butcher.

The new 40-foot section is located at the back of the store. Behind the self-service counter is a room where the meats will be cut and wrapped for display. There will be someone on duty there at all times so that any customer who wants a special cut of meat may get it, according to Gaylord Newell.

This is the first self service meat counter to be installed in Hereford.

Ellis Granary Burns Friday

A large granary on the Dick Ellis farm north of town was completely destroyed by fire late Friday afternoon when a small kerosene heater exploded.

Damage was estimated at about $1000.

The Mexican family which was living in the granary was able to get out before any of the family was burned but they were not able to save anything.

The granary had burned to the ground before the family could summon help.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Melton of McLean spent the week-end in Hereford with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Phillips.

Glendon Rupert Adams started across the Rock Island tracks and the oncoming train hit the left front of the truck.

Both he and Mrs. Adams, the only other passenger in the truck, were given emergency treatment by Dr. O. H. Lloyd. They were not hospitalized.

Damage to the truck was estimated at $375 by Highway Patrolman J. R. Kirkwood.

city marshal. In 1909, he stated, the legislature passed a law authorizing the commission form of government and Hereford adopted the commission form by a vote of 73-60 in 1912.

W. W. Knight was the first mayor under that form, serving until 1924.

At this juncture, Mayor Dameron told the audience of Judge Knight's unselfish devotion to the community and confessed a private desire as leader of the community to rename Lake Park, after it has been beautified, to Knight Park.

Dameron said that the first change of government way back in 1912 (to commission form) has been a change for the better.

"We've reached the place in our development where we are going to have to change again," he explained.

Outlining the movement of Home Rule since its authorization by the legislature in 1901, when practically every large city in the state adopted it, he recalled that a constitutional amendment was adopted in 1912 allowing cities to adopt the home rule charter when they reached the 5,000 mark in population.

This gives smaller cities the same governing and ordinance-making rights cities like Dallas, Fort Worth and Amarillo have.

"Instead of going to Austin for something," he said, "we can do it at home."

Under the General Laws government all laws come from Austin. Under the home rule government, they come from the people.

"It is only logical that we make our own laws and government," the mayor commented.

He went on to explain the procedure to form a home rule charter, which needs a declaration by the citizens to investigate the matter and submit to the people the home rule charter (the percent petition). Next step would be the appointment of a 15-member charter commission which would study the matter and present a charter to the voters, setting a charter election date.

Mayor Dameron revealed the willingness of the Texas League of Municipalities to send a man to Hereford and help on any phase of the charter presentation.

When the charter commission reports to the city, the city in turn will have the proposed charter printed and a copy mailed to every eligible voter. Mayor Dameron said. The charter commission will then set up the election machinery for the vote on the charter.

If carried, a copy of the charter will be sent to the secretary of state in Austin and he will return a certificate which makes the home rule form of government operative.

Benefits of the home rule charter were discussed by Mayor Dameron.

"Our present form of government," he advised, "is as out of date as comparing an early-day car with one of today."

The home rule form of government, he said, is close to the people and we can write up any type we see fit as regarding personnel.

Quoting from a Texas League of Municipalities bulletin, he called the home rule form the "people's own government" and a flexible method of government.

Any changes in laws would not have to be channeled through the legislature as long as they were not contrary to the laws of the state.

"The home rule provides for more interest in local government," the mayor told the group.

"The charter will contain the initiative, the referendum and the recall." Under this form of government, people can propose ordinances, and if the city government declines to pass them, the question can be put to election. Also, the people can have a referendum on any ordinance.

"It's in your hands," the mayor explained.

"A charter," he continued, "must provide for a city manager. Why? Because nobody is going to carry on the volume of business that's accumulating in the city hall from year to year."

He added, "Hereford has grown into a big business requiring the services of a full-time executive." Departments of the city the town's chief executive must contend with and administer are the fire department, police department, parks department and swimming pool, water and sewer, budgeting and taxation, collection of taxes and distribution of funds, sit asudge of municipal court and "hear all the complaints of the people of the town."

Commenting on the cost of city government, Mayor Dameron told the group that in 1912, the salary of the mayor was set at $100 per month and the city commissioners were paid a sum not to exceed $50 per month.

"Why should we expect the executive of the city to work for less than any other county administrative official?" he asked.

The mayor stated that he was willing to carry the ball before, but not now. "Why? Because Hereford is in good financial condition." Debts were paid, the mayor said, and all funds have good balances in view of the fact that a vast improvement program had been carried on in the city.

Addition of a city manager would not cost the city more in taxation, he stated. The city manager takes over the executive work of the city, to hire and fire personnel, except in the cases of heads of departments. He is responsible to the city commission, which sets plans and develops policies. The city commission, in turn, is responsible to the people.

A city manager, the mayor said, would relieve the office of mayor and commission of all administrative duties and give them more time for planning and formulating city improvements.

The city manager, he maintained, can take the time to select a capable and efficient city manager rather than call an election which would result in more of a popularity contest.

Why would the home rule form of government benefit us in particular?

Mayor Dameron said that we need a different form of annexation in Hereford because areas not populated now cannot be annexed because there is no one in them to circulate petitions.

GRASS ROOTS

I threatened you good people with some information concerning a soil building, cover and grazing crop to be planted this Spring. Wednesday's "PANHANDLE CLOUD BURST" should have furnished proper setting for a discussion of the importance of cover crops so will continue with the duster still fresh in all our minds and the residue of some thousands of acres of good land still sifting through our wives' curtains.

There are several varieties of clovers which, if planted early enough in the spring, fit into an irrigated farm program like a fly in the jelly jar. Of these, it is my humble and untalented opinion, that HUBAM CLOVER is the best. This versatile plant is an ANNUAL—meaning that no seed produced no plant the following spring, while on the other hand it is such a prolific seeder that if allowed to reproduce, a heavy volunteer crop can be expected the following spring. WHY PLANT HUBAM? Its extensive root system will open up the soil comparable to a lot of our chiseling. Properly inoculated it will fix hundreds of pounds of Nitrogen into the soil. Hubam is a fine grazing plant and hay producer as borne out by Mr. Jay Boston who has used Hubam as a summer legume and contends that as a grazing plant it is hard to beat. OTHER REASONS: It is inexpensive to get into the ground!

WHAT OF THE ADAPTABILITY OF THIS plant to our area. The Ireland Brothers, Richard and Woodrow, are seeding Hubam in wheat to fulfill a dual purpose — Soil building and grazing. Marvin Knox is seeding this clover into a field heavily infested with Johnson grass (What a pasture this will make this summer) Charley Hill will seed Hubam into fallow land which will be plowed under and sown to wheat this Fall. Billy Bob Jackson is seeding Hubam on ground which will be planted to irrigated pasture grasses this Fall. Others who are using this fine legume this Spring are: A. B. Dozier, Lee-Howard, Andy Kerschen, Jelly McGowan, E. H. Flood and others.

NATURE'S WAY OF BUILDING AND MAINTAINING SOIL FERTILITY: Best get on the wagon. This fine deep soil of ours is acting more like a shallow soil every year. Hard pan, running together, and surface crusting are the results of the depletion of organic matter.

FURTHER TIPS ON HUBAM CLOVER: Be positive of seed for top germination and purity. Be sure to treat seed with proper inoculant. Do not seed over one-half inch deep. Check seed to see that it's free of noxious weeds. Lots of Hubam Clover seed is heavily infested with Johnson grass seed.

I have used most of my space telling about this fine summer legume, but feel that its importance warrants this. I have been exposed to some fine newcomers to our area recently. Mr. Raymond Higginbotham in the Westway Community and Mr. W. H. Eubank who is ranching the old Edd East place on the creek East of town. These men are doing things you will be interested in. Check with Faust Collier and the girls at the PMA office. They have a world of information for you that will help get your program of soil building into effect.

"The city must have the authority to take in property," he opined.

The home rule charter gives the city the right to regulate sanitation facilities in the city and reach out 5,000 feet all around the city boundary and to control and supervise the area.

"The labor camp southwest of town would come within that area," he explained. "We need this in order to protect the health of the community."

The home rule charter gives the city the right to define and punish nuisances. "There are a number of things the general law cities can regulate but not prohibit. The city needs laws to prohibit because Hereford has outgrown some of these laws."

"In the complicated age we live in what might not be a problem today could be one tomorrow."

The mayor stated that 147 citizens in Texas that could have the home rule form of government, 116 did have it.

"What is the future of Hereford? It depends upon how we use the present," Mayor Dameron explained.

Hereford's greatest needs, he said, were:

- 1 — A home rule charter;
- 2 — Efficient zoning ordinances;
- 3 — Increased fire zones and more rigid building ordinances.

"Desirable cities are planned, not grown like Topsy" he said.

"Hereford can have the reputation of being one of the cleanest, most desirable places in the Southwest."

Bob Wear was named permanent chairman for the citizen's committee and presided over the meeting.

Methodist Pastor Will Speak On KGNC Sunday

DR. ENGLE

The seventh annual Methodist series of the Protestant Hour, a network public service religious radio program, will begin on Sunday, March 16th with A Day of Dedication address on "The Restored Mind and the Renewed Spirit" by Dr. Jesse "Jack" A. Engle one of the secretaries of the Board of Missions in New York.

This Methodist series of the Protestant Hour will be heard over a network of 179 stations, from coast to coast and now for the first time is being produced in co-operation with the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A.

Dr. Jack Engle, who introduces this series, has just returned from a six months trip around the world visiting all the mission fields of Methodism. He is the Executive Secretary of the Division of Education and Cultivation of the Board of Missions and Church Extension and is a member of the Virginia Confer-

Tax Collector's Records Given Annual Check

A state auditing team from Austin — C. L. Simmons and Bert Sledge — was in Hereford Wednesday and Thursday making their annual check of the state ad valorem tax records in the office of J. C. Reese, sheriff and tax assessor-collector.

The check, which covers the fiscal year July 1, 1950 to June 30, 1951, was concerned with all state tax money — the tax roll and 1.1 percent auto tax — only.

No county funds were checked. Simmons said that there were no errors found in the tax roll nor in the 1.1 percent tax collections. There was an insignificant overage in the bank account of the office — $7.74 which had accumulated in six years.

Of $241,503.88 in total taxes — $67,957.24 of this was state taxes — $4,361.60 was transferred to the delinquent roll. Collections for the fiscal year were $237,142.28.

Simmons said that he had no changes to recommend in office procedures resulting from his annual check.

ence, where he was recently district superintendent of the Richmond District.

In this first of the current Methodist Hour series, Dr. Engle brings a hopeful message on the success of the missionary program and the bright prospects for future missionary work.

Dr. Engle, and the Protestant Fellowship Choir, may be heard over station KGNC at 10:30 a. m. on Sunday, and 1:30 p. m. March 16th.

Presbyterian Women Meet

Group meetings of the Presbyterian Women's council were held the past week in Fellowship hall. The program was on the study book "We Americans — North and South."

 Mrs. Frank Vogel was leader for the program for the Endeavoring session and Mrs. Paul Dishman gave the devotional lesson. Mrs. C. C. Ferguson served as leader for the intercessor group with Mrs. Fred Axe giving the devotional program.

Kiwanians Drub
Lions Club, 35-22

The Hereford Kiwanians drubbed the Lions club in an indoor football game on the Hereford high school basketball court Friday night by a blistering 35-22 score.

Lions President Ray Cowsett sensing defeat even as early as the halfway juncture, looked up. The Lions scribbled and immediately lodged a protest which may result in a replay if and when the principals in Friday night's debacle ever recover sufficiently.

The Kiwanians, Cowsett maintained, were playing 1952 rules with 1924-vintage players.

But it was the Lions who had their names pulled Friday night. Some Kiwanians opined that if the Lions couldn't hold on to their youth any better than they did the basketball, they're in far worse shape than even the score indicated.

It was a foul game, though. Most of the fouls came from unruly tumbles that wouldn't quite stop when their owners did and in the process gently nudged the opposing player.

The refs undoubtedly took this into account, for many "twilight fouls" passed by the board unchallenged.

Rumor had it early Saturday morning that the Lions club was unanimously in favor of naming a local chiropractor as its next "man of the year" for saving half the club immediately after the game Friday night.

The closest resemblance to a reflex action we could see in the whole lot Friday night was the action that followed the respective captains' commands: that the tired combatants on the court give way to fresh replacements.

If the Lions could have run as fast on the floor as they did for the bench, the final score would have assumed proportions of the 33-29 Lions victory Cowsett lost.

There were some stunts in the game, don't think for a minute there weren't. Kelly, Graham, Allred, Golden and Criswell kept things hopping for the ill-fated Lions.

Pat Sullivan, Earl Stagner, Clint Formby, Lowell and Lloyd Sharp and Walter Seed kept things humming down victory trail for the champs.

Although the scorekeeper kept doubled up with laughter most of the evening and couldn't keep an accurate count, Sullivan did lead the Kiwanians in scoring. Graham paced the Lions. Outside of that, who knows?

The crowd of approximately 130 persons enjoyed themselves immensely, to say the least. To the good customers...the game proved that each will everyone of the men on the floor was a good sport.

To the men on the floor, it proved that time takes its toll. Final proceeds of the game have not been counted yet.

Out of due respect to those in the game, who let the agonizing cries of their strained muscles go unheeded, a list of the casualties follows.

KIWANIANS — Bartley Dowell, Pat Sullivan, Clint Formby, Lowell Sharp, Lloyd Sharp, Gerald Wilson, Ray Downey, Earl Prather, Walter Seed, Wayne Phillips, Bill Phillips, Haggie Cavness.

Earl Stagner and Ruben Knox.

LIONS — John Kelly, Jimmy Allred, Dalton Crawwell, Gib Howard, Bruce Wooddell, Rex Lee, Harold Close, Dub Reeves, George Graham, John Estes and O. Z. Golden.

There will be a rematch next year if not sooner. In addition to the original protest, Lion Cowsett still maintains that "These boys can't do us that-a-way!"

The J. O. Clark accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Curtis and Reuben Mayfield of Dimmitt to Dalhart over the week-end.

Golf Association Seeks New Members

A drive to sell 23 more full shares for the Hereford Golf Association will be launched Monday, according to Earl Hendricks, newly-elected president.

The shares, to be sold at $200 per full share or on a half-share basis, will bring the association membership to the chartered strength of 100 full shares.

Hereford's golf club has had an interesting and colorful background. The initial idea for a golf course in Hereford, began in the mind of Seth B. Holman, former publisher of The Hereford Brand. He completed the first organization.

During the years 1920-1923, there was some organized play at the site of the present course. The operation then was under the CCC.

Golf at that time was confined to the "grubbing circle" where the players had "two putts and then out." Members of the club at that time were:

Brack Williams, John Cunningham, J. J. Clark, A. A. Foster, Cliff Estes, A. H. Strgu, Frank Marrs, Dow Mercer, E. B. Posey, Fred Patton, John Patton, Virgil Cuning, J. A. Pitman, Mac Pitman, C. C. Rockwell, L. H. Foster, E. D. Fox, Homer Fox, H. L. Rice, N. E. Gass, R. P. Coneway, Albert Herbst, Dr. W. F. Gabbert, C. C. Acker, Vivian Stambaugh, Seth B. Holman, W. R. Steckman, Arch Collins, C. P. Cockrell, George L. Muse, C. D. Sketon, J. R. Roden, Henry Wilkinson, John Sherman, C. H. Dillehay and Wirt Phillips.

Anyone recalling the history of golf on the local scene would be sure to include the name of the first greenskeeper, Tom Sullins.

One of the unofficial historians for the golf club had this to say about Sullins' services: "He had more fun than anyone. Just trying to keep the fairway roughly cleaned off, gopher holes filled in, etc. He was loyal to the bunch. He had a little dog along with him that frequently dug lost balls out of gopher holes."

MRS. GLENN BELL is the agent at the bus station.—Staff Photo.

In 1923, a group of 25 men put up $100 per share for 31 shares and bought the present site. Date for the purchase was July 19, 1925. Original purchasers of the tract included: Carl Gilliland, A. A. Foster, J. A. Pitman, Dow Mercer, J. J. Clark, Albert Herbst, W. E. Dunlap, Earl Franco, R. P. Conoway, H. K. Fox, C. C. Acker, T. H. Hines, E. D. Fox, James E. Black, Ona Barnett, Florence McClintock, S. P. Rossen, H. L. Rice, Alex Thompson, A. G. Bell, E. S. Ireland, M. B. McLain, J. C. Cummings, N. E. Gass and J. D. Buchanan.

The first semi-annual meeting of the group was held on July 26 of that year.

Of passing interest is the first list of caddies for the club. The first five were Frank Cogdell, Bill Parker, Nathan B. Gilliland, Olin Roy and Ed Johnson.

The newest organization of the Hereford Golf Association was completed in 1946 with approximately 60 full and half memberships sold.

Since that time, the club has grown to its present strength of 77 full and half memberships sold.

The 23 sought in the new member drive starting Monday is the maximum allowable under the charter.

Big plans are being made for the club in the future. President Earl Hendricks says.

Present officers and board of directors are:

Hendricks, president; Dub Reeves, vice-president; Frank Cogdell, secretary-treasurer; Raylan Evans, Dr. John Chanter, Donald Robinson, W. W. Gilbreath and Olin Steva.

The first semi-annual meeting of the group was held on July 26 of that year.

Of passing interest is the first list of caddies for the club. The first five were Frank Cogdell, Bill Parker, Nathan B. Gilliland, Olin Roy and Ed Johnson.

The newest organization of the Hereford Golf Association was completed in 1946 with approximately 60 full and half memberships sold.

Since that time, the club has grown to its present strength of 77 full and half memberships sold.

The 23 sought in the new member drive starting Monday is the maximum allowable under the charter.

Big plans are being made for the club in the future. President Earl Hendricks says.

Present officers and board of directors are:

Hendricks, president; Dub Reeves, vice-president; Frank Cogdell, secretary-treasurer; Raylan Evans, Dr. John Chanter, Donald Robinson, W. W. Gilbreath and Olin Steva.

I know I shouldn't foist this one on you good people but here is a stupid but short quote from a scribe not so way south in Texas, to wit, "There's no such thing as defense in basketball now days. It's about like pass defense in football. There's very little the defense can do if the plays are executed right. Some basketball teams like Oklahoma A&M, Texas A&M, and Oklahoma City university boast of holding the opposition to low scores. But that's mostly due to holding the ball so long when they have possession of it." Unquote. Now, there's sheer sagacity. . . . If ball control isn't the best type of defense, then the book will have to be rewritten. There's the old irrefutable axiom, "That they can't score when you have the ball" . . . Said scribe should try it or send someone to, tain't easy . . . The NCAA playoffs are shaping . . . The Western Division is set, at Kansas City, Texas Christian meets Kansas and New Mexico Aggies take on St. Louis, for fun let's say, second round, Kansas over St. Louis to meet the winner of the Corvallis, Oregon deal where Oklahoma City U meets Wyoming and Santa Clara tackles UCLA, surprise winner over Washington. OCU was benef of one of its stars, O'Neill, on the four year rule and it should be Wyoming versus UCLA in the second, with a nod to Ev Shelton's cowboys to ride into the Western Finals . . . And that's a long enough lead with one's chin in a single stanza . . . In the Eastern division, only these are sure participants at this writing, Kentucky, North Carolina State and Illinois, with the Ivy League to be settled Saturday, Princeton is all but in. Four at-large delegates to come and the NCAA bigwigs are eyeing the N. I. T. where it is down to the semi-finals, with LaSalle, Dayton, Duquesne and St. Bonaventure, the two finalists will undoubtedly go into the NCAA since all four are in the east division . . . For a crouching conma-jecture, the other pair to emerge from West Virginia, Loyola of Chicago . . . You know the way the season was unwinding, I was about to turn to the foibles and fancy of spring and its idigent on sports, however, not in the vein of the apothecary, who mus-ed the other twilight, that it was near to the season when the young man's fancy turned to what the gals had been thinking about all winter . . . That unwary quip will probably bring Anon in on all fours and for all I know maybe he should be charged with it and sentenced . . . Of course, when the sap rises in the sap he is wont to make a buckethead-of himself in his ideals of sports participation and I, in my state of avoirdupois and declension, am not recommending it to myself, but Hereford has one avenue of sports endeavor that more people should try, for sheer pleasure and eventual exasperation at their own futility . . . If you haven't been exposed to the golf germ, you should oughta . . . Not many cities of Hereford's size have golf courses and rare indeed are sporty grass green clubs available in a metropolis of its stature . . . I am not sure how many indulge but the course isn't crowded and as handy and attractive as it is, it should be . . . The competitive urge is strong and if you get lined out playing, you may take dead aim and be a champ but even if it's just for fun, you can have a lot of fun at it . . . I understand some of the local pros pilgrimaged to Clovis recently and ran up against a rash of red out-of-bounds markers and naturally, ached about it, all save one, the winner. All it did for me was to surface an oldie . . . Two cut-throat buddies were golfing wolfishly one day and CRAZY PEOPLE!—Chauncy, a crow captured in Mexico by Robert Drawe of Harlingen, is now a pet in the Drawe household and thinks that people have some pretty odd machinations. Drawe caught Chauncy for use in biological experiments but was so captivated by the bird himself he released him. Chauncy preferred to hang around though to study human behavior and here he is about to attempt to imitate Mrs. Drawe's pencil marks. Last summer the crow spent days riding around in the arms of pickers during the cotton harvest. (AP Photo).

both tee shots went wandering toward the sidelines . . . Playing winter rules, one approached the ball and bent over anxiously. His pal shouted lustily, "That's out of bounds, don't touch it." F. H. Oberthier has an exceptional memory for unusual happenings, especially those concerning the weather. He sent word that the sandstorm last Wednesday was the worst seen here in 20 years. Anyway, it sure was a rough one — and what a bright, beautiful dawn broke Thursday morning. Maybe that is why the natives are always bragging about Texas. In California, or Florida, for instance, it stays pretty so much of the time that people maybe don't fully appreciate the good weather. Nothing by way of comparison. I am sure many a housewife thought Thursday a wonderful day — due simply to the fact that Wednesday was such a stinker.

I am sure that the Republicans didn't plan it that way, but it seems sort of uncanny that the day Taft visited the Panhandle this country faced the worst "duster" since the days when Herbert Hoover was president. Maybe it has no connection, but I am still for Eisenhower — just in case.

camp and during this first month of the long, rainy season this boy would beat his hands raw against the walls, wail and scream, and get on his knees and pray and plead: "Just to see one more sandstorm."

Mayor W. E. Dameron reviewed the proposed Home Rule plan at an open meeting last Thursday. Things maybe happened a little bit fast right at the last of the meeting, but most of the people there left with the feeling that Home Rule is Hereford's next forward step. The words "Referendum" and "Recall" perhaps sounded the keynote of the mayor's talk, since they stressed the fact that the city could make practical changes — in either direction. Home Rule, according to Mr. Dameron, "brings the city government closer to the people. Our present system of city government places controls and restrictions in Austin, whereas under the Home-Rule charter citizens of the community would make their own controls and restrictions to fit the community needs. Under our present government, for instance, city officials can completely ignore a petition. The only recourse is to wait until election time (maybe two years) and elect some new officers. Under the Home Rule plan the people pretty well ride in the saddle and, if they get worked up enough, can make changes pretty fast.

It was also interesting to note that more than 90 percent of the eligible towns in Texas (5,000 or more population) have already changed to Home Rule government. Quite a few have made the change since the 1950 census reports. Wonder if this would do away with all existing ordinances, many of which are obsolete?

There has been quite a deluge of material regarding flag etiquette following the little squib from Mrs. Bill Hromas. Frank A. Gyles says the V. F. W. is interested in some sort of campaign along this line. So is the Auxiliary. Here's a good chance for the Toastmasters to shine. A program at each of the civic clubs and at school assemblies might help. The Home Demonstration Clubs and many of the 4-H groups are already including flag etiquette in their annual programs.

Along the same line, Sam Nunnally is amazed at how very little most of our young people know about basic land transactions. He says that quite a few of them think the county clerk merely issues marriage licenses. Land and property titles are, of course, the backbone of government. Is Sam right? Let's either show him up or do something about the situation.

Farm sales are once again on the up-grade. Good prices are being reported from most of the sales and the run this year has been heavy. I never could understand about auctions. They went over big during the depression, they still continued popular during the boom years and even in normal times there are quite a few. Auctioneers have changed a lot, though. Back in the 30's you never saw an auctioneer who was not addressed as "Colonel," though I doubt that few of them ever reached this grade in army rank. Today many of the auctioneers are graduates of specialized schools. Like the old timers, though, they are generally mighty nice people and rate high when judged on the basis of sincerity and honesty.

When I first started in the newspaper business I got sort of smart with one of those old time auctioneers. I don't remember the occasion, but I do remember Col. White and what he said:

"Listen, Son," said the Colonel, pulling himself erect and addressing me in that clear ringing voice that carried over the entire building, "I come from the majestic state of Arkansas. We don't have no asylums in Arkansas. Know what we do when a fellow goes crazy? Well, we just send him to Texas to be a newspaper editor."

Everyone around the office kidded me for months and Col. White taught me a lesson I needed to learn. We later became close friends and I don't believe I ever knew anyone who knew more about people and human nature than did the old "colonel," a title which he told me got started in Kentucky following the Civil War.

"Butch" Howard, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Howard, also had me on the run this week. Butch, all decked out in a coon-skin cap, was standing in front of the show. I passed by and mildly tugged on the tail of the cap which, to my utter surprise, came off in my hand. I felt terrible about the incident and knew as I swung into a tirade of apology that he would start crying any second. Instead, Butch just grinned, took the coon tail and muttered, "Heck, Mister, it just snaps on." Which it did, thank goodness.

Parent-Teacher Relations Are Mothers Topic

Young Mothers Study club met in the country home of the president, Mrs. Charles Hill, Monday night.

Guest speaker of the evening was Bob Wear, who spoke on parent-teacher relations. "Teachers find their jobs harder each year. Their classes are growing larger and it is impossible for them to reach all children as individual persons. As a general rule parents do not appreciate the teachers and the problems they face. Parents have a tremendous responsibility in this relation and should try hard to cultivate at home more self reliance, responsibility, regard for others and respect for the teacher's authority," Minister Wear commented.

In attendance were: Mesdames Phillips, L. H. Lookingbill Jr. Bill Brady, W. L. Davis Jr., Bartley Dowel, Paul Harvey, Don Martin.

233,228 Bales Texas Cotton Under CCC Loan

Texas cotton growers placed 233,228 bales of their 1951 crop cotton in the Commodity Credit loan.

Up until February 28, they had redeemed 116,236 bales leaving under the loan at that time 116,992 bales. For the Nation, growers placed 906,845 bales of 1951-crop cotton under CCC loan and have redeemed 498,974 bales up to February 28.

February Farm Prices Down, USDA Reports

Prices received by farmers on February 15 were 4% below the January 15 level. During the same period, prices of things farmers buy advanced one-third of one per cent to a new high.

Only three field grown crops were bringing prices equal or above parity. They were cotton, 108; potatoes, 118; and sweet potatoes, 137. All feed grain and most hay prices were lower than in mid-January. Oats prices were 94%; corn, 93; wheat 89; grain sorghums, 88; and barley, 85. Rice prices in mid-February were 93%; peanuts, 78; and wool, 91.

Tom McFarland spent several years in a Japanese prison camp and says that during the monsoon period it averaged around 100 inches of rain per month. He also recalls that after a few months every prisoner in the camp started craving something impossible. With Tom, it was apples. He said it became almost an obsession. He says there was a boy from Lubbock in the same

"Desire For Friendship" Camp Fire's 42nd Birthday Theme

WORSHIP GOD, The first law of the Camp Fire Girl, is portrayed by members of Jolly Teens Horizon Club, left to right, Gracie Fotheringham, Nancy Patterson, and Nellie Jo Simpson.

The spirit of community service which fired the organization of Camp Fire Girls has characterized the program since its beginning in 1910.

Founded by Dr. Luther Halsey Gulick and a group of educators, it now numbers 369,651 members in 2,900 communities throughout the United States. It has an alumnae of 3,000,000 women whose experience in Camp Fire Girls have helped towards making them better mothers, business women and citizens.

All over the nation, Camp Fire's 42nd birthday will be celebrated during the week of March 16-22.

During those 42 years, Camp Fire has written a noteworthy chapter in the history of American youth activities.

Camp Fire's program emphasizes the importance of home and family life. Its law is Worship God, Seek Beauty, Give Service, Pursue Knowledge, Be Trustworthy, Hold On To Health, Glorify Work, Be Happy.

To celebrate its birthday each year, Camp Fire Girls select a project with a theme that is carried out during the whole year in all of the Camp Fire activities.

"Design for Friendship," this year's project, seeks to help its members — of all religions, races and economic backgrounds — to make better friends within their Camp Fire groups through understanding and appreciating each other more.

Hereford's birthday week celebrations will start this morning when Camp Fire, Blue Bird and Horizon Club Girls will attend their own churches dressed in the colorful red, white and blue costumes of each group.

Every girl in the Camp Fire program is expected to bring her family to the Family Night observance held at Shirley school Friday night at 7:30. Each family will bring a picnic lunch sufficient for the members of that family. The program will include skits and stunts suggestive of Camp Fire work, presented by the various groups.

Homecoming Tea

One of the highlights of the week will be the homecoming tea at the Camp Fire hut Saturday afternoon, March 22 from 3 to 6 p. m. Every person who has been associated with the Camp Fire Girls program in Hereford is invited to attend and leaders are urging girls who have been members of any group, adult workers and council members to attend.

A project planned to carry out the "Design for Friendship" theme will be an all-day meeting honoring the Amarillo Camp Fire Girls at the local hut on Saturday, March 29.

The first Camp Fire group in Hereford was organized in 1927 under the leadership of Mrs. Hubert Dowell. She was assisted by Mrs. Richard Barnard, Mrs. Bill Smith, Mrs. J. T. Gilberath, Jr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson. In 1938 Mrs. Urlin Streu became guardian of the group known as the Weocantewaste Group. In 1945 the organization was reorganized and three Camp Fire groups were formed.

Today, 150 Camp Fire Girls are registered in nine groups. Camp Fire groups include:

Wakita — with Mrs. Bob Wilson as leader and Mrs. F. L. Alexander, assistant. El Nino Club sponsors this group.

Tanda — Mrs. S. S. Williams, leader, and Mrs. Paul Hoff, assistant.

Wetomatchick — leader, Betty Culpepper with Mrs. Nell Culpepper, sponsor.

Blue Bird Groups include: Gay Blue Birds with Mrs. Jack Walker, leader, Mrs. Robert Thompson, assistant.

Blossom Blue Birds — Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine, leader, and Mrs. J. R. Fowlkes, assistant. Sponsors, Mrs. Jack Gilliland, Mrs. Jack Bradley and Mrs. Ernest Kendall.

Jolly Blue Birds — Mrs. Louis Woodford, leader, and Mrs. Thurman Cole, assistant. Hereford Garden club, sponsors.

Humming Blue Birds — Mrs. Wesley Brown, leader and Mrs. Leroy Roberson, assistant. Lone Star Study club, sponsors the group.

Horizon Clubs include: Jolly Teens with Mrs. Urlin Streu as leader.

La Mujer with Mrs. Earl Plank as leader and B&PW Club the sponsoring club.

Officers of the Camp Fire Council include:

Elmer Patterson, president; Glenn Witherspoon, vice-president; Mrs. Jack Gilliland, secretary; Mrs. Berry Jacobsen, treasurer; Bob Wilson, regional representative; Mrs. Louis Woodford, leaders president and committee chairman; Earl Plank and Guy Lawrence, camp; Mrs. A. L. Manjot, community service; Mrs. Elmer Patterson, publicity; Mrs. Dick Barnard, committee of awards; Earl Phillips, finance; and Mrs. Urlin Streu, training and extension.

Texas Day Topic Of Lone Star Club Meeting

Lone Star Study club met in the home of Mrs. W. S. Flutt Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Joe Kendall serving as assistant hostess.

A Texas Day program was presented with Mrs. G. W. Newsom as leader. Items of "Texas in the News" were given in answer to roll call.

Mrs. Newsom spoke on Border, giving first-hand information of the town in its infancy since, she was a resident at that time. She traced the growth and development from a tiny town to the industrial giant of the Panhandle and told how the people reacted to its mushrooming boom which turned into sound, stable development.

Mrs. Roger Corbett read Texas poems from Hereford's own poet, Mrs. Grace Guthrie, now of Ventura, Calif.

Members attending the meeting were: Mesdames Roger Corbett, V. E. Dodson, Leo Forrest, Jack Grady, H. E. Henslee, Jim Higgins, Berry Jacobsen, John Jacobsen Jr., Joe Kendall, C. D. Kelton, Robert Lingenfelter, Vivian Major, Guy Newsom, Coy Phillips, Earl Phillips, J. E. Springer, Robert Thompson, Ed Warren, C. O. Wilkins, L. L. Wombie and the hostess.

HAVE FUN is a wish that really comes true for all Blue Bird Girls and is portrayed here by members of Humming Blue Bird Group, at the Camp Fire hut, reading around the circle: Patricia Bell, Marsha Lynn Dumas, Martha Carol Duncan (almost hidden), Glenda Faye Lester, Phyllis Jean Ward, Wyndolyn Sheppard; Rita Latham, Sandra Kay Moore, Mrs. J. D. Tyler and Mrs. Wesley Brown, leaders, Kay Woolrey, Marilyn Martin, Bernice Denney; seated, Beverly Jean Robertson, Marilyn Joy Jones, and Sharon Sue Scott.

The Sunday Brand SOCIETY

TO MAKE BEAUTIFUL THINGS and To Learn to Finish What I Begin are easily accomplished by girls under the capable leadership of Mrs. J. M. Gillentine and Mrs. J. R. Fowlkes in Blossom Blue Birds. Hereford Garden Club sponsored the making of the dish gardens displayed proudly by the girls. From left, first row: Mary Raye Downey, Cheri Baker, Linda Edwards, Roxie Lynn Fawyn, Judy Fowlkes; second row, Susie Wood Story, Mary Beth Gilliland, and Helen Sears; third row, Sandra Campbell, Jan Susan Reese, Joy Ird row, Brenda Bensley, Judy Hoff, Geraldine Taylor, Neva Gilliland, Susan Ford, Sara Gillentine, Beverly Ann Boyer, and Martha Ponder.

GAY BLUE BIRDS Make Friends while they are Learning About Nature. From left: Vicki Jann Worley, Lynn Thompson, Judith Raye Haseloff, Karen Sue Daniel, Marsha Ann Sowell, Colleen Reeves, Jackie Walker, Patsy Wooddell, Judy Ann Dodson, Chermayne McCart, and Pamela Clay, who is instructing the group.

GIVE SERVICE and Be Trustworthy are laws practiced by all Camp Fire Girls and portrayed here by Dorothy Hund and Virginia Brock of Las Mujeres de Viaje Horizon Club.

Nation-Wide Business Survey To Be Started This Month By OPS

Several members of the Lubbock district office of the Office of Price Stabilization are in training and preparing to assist in a nation-wide business survey to get under way later this month.

The survey is to be a study of percentage markups in use by wholesale and retail grocers on products bought and sold in the period immediately preceding the outbreak of war in Korea, according to district OPS officials.

The nation-wide survey, which will be conducted by the OPS in cooperation with the Bureau of Labor Statistics, will be used to determine how the markups used in the agency's wholesale and retail grocery ceiling price regulations compare with the markups resulting from the margins grocers were using in the pre-

Korea period, May 24 — June 24, 1950.

The present OPS grocery markups permitted are substantially the same as those used during World War II by the Office of Price Administration. The survey is designed to determine whether there should be any changes in these markups due to changes in food marketing practices since OPA days.

On the basis of statistically selected samples, the survey will cover all major types of food retailers and wholesalers operating under the grocery regulations in large and small cities throughout the country.

Both food items and non-food items handled by grocers will be covered. The information will be gathered during actual visits to

Mrs. Brumley Speaker For Garden Club

Mrs. R. A. Daniel Jr. was hostess for the Bud-To-Blossom club regular meeting held Friday afternoon, March 7.

Mrs. Homer Brumley gave a lecture-discussion of "Color in Shrubs" and landscaping new premises. For color, she mentioned the dogwood, crape jasmine, Forsythia, barberry and pyracantha.

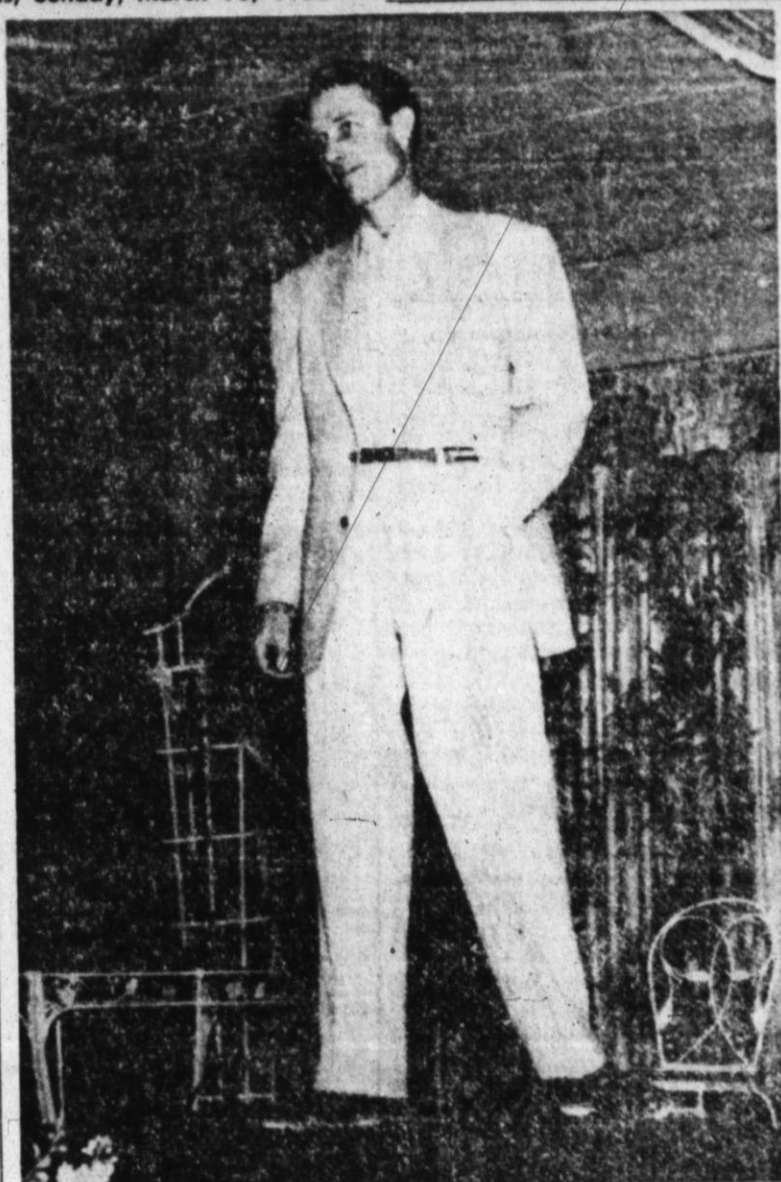

Other shrubs mentioned that do well in this area included: Red Bud, Japanese Quince, snow ball, roses, lilacs, mock orange, and the ornamental crab apple, cherry and peach trees.

Mrs. Brumley told something of organic gardening and told of her plans to try out an organic garden experiment.

During the business meeting, Mrs. W. H. Patton, president, appointed Mrs. Bert Brown to serve as club reporter.

Attending were Mesdames Ben Childers, Don Martin, W. H. Patton, Pat Robinson, W. Glenn Williams and the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Frederick and family were Amarillo visitors Sunday. They visited Mrs. Frederick's sister, Mrs. Inez Hutchinson, who has been ill for some time at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Frigo.

An Easter theme was used for the party and Easter bunnies were given each little guest as favors. Outdoor games were enjoyed and pictures of the group were made.

Those attending the party were the honoree, Rodney Wilson, Glenda and Gale Layman, Gary Tinsley, Patsy Potoroff, Peggy Little, Jana and Bill Cole, Karen and Kim Blackwell, Jimmie and Kathy Young, Eddie Gene Standifer, Sheryl Edmonson, and Danny Boyer.

Know Your Neighbor Program Presented

Dawn Study club met Tuesday afternoon, March 4 in the home of Mrs. Benny Womble.

The program was based on the article, "Do You Know Your Neighbor?" by Helena Huntington Smith.

The author states in part: "Prejudice starts melting when people know each other. Group relationships must be improved with all races coming to common terms." In connection with this thought speakers brought to mind that some of Bataan's heroes were Spanish Americans and Negroes, who proved they were truly Americans.

Those participating in the discussions were Mesdames: Alfred May, Alfred Smith and Melvin May. Mrs. Zed Stewart read Texas poems selected from "Out Where the West Begins."

Mrs. H. V. McCabe, president, directed a business session when members voted to make a contribution to the annual Red Cross Drive.

Those present were Mesdames May, Alfred May, Alfred Smith, Lloyd Airhart, Ernest May, H. R. V. McCabe, Zed Stewart and H. Miller, A. T. Frye, Melvin the hostess.

Most Everyone In Community Had Land Blow in Wednesday's Wind

By Mrs. R. C. Childers

Most everyone in this community had land to blow during the high winds of Wednesday. Robert Kershen had a small patch blow on the north side of his field. Paul Corbett also had a patch blow which laid directly west of the houses. Mrs. John Hunter, who lives on the Corbett place, says that they had to wear cloths over their face to be able to breathe in the house. Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Barclay and boys had to leave home the dust was blowing so bad over there.

Raymon Childers Jr. was initiated into the Order of the De Mo'ay at its regular meeting Wednesday night. Raymon is the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Childers.

Kenneth Dehart also attended the regular meeting of the Order of De Mo'ay Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Robinson and family visited Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hill of Morton last Sunday. Mrs. Hill is a sister of Mrs. Richardson.

T/Sgt. and Mrs. H. M. Richardson and children of San Angelo were visitors in the home of Mrs. R. W. Hill Sunday in Morton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Richardson visited Monday afternoon and Tuesday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dobson of Whitherall. Mrs. Dobson is also a sister of Mrs. Richardson.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharp of Claude spent Sunday with their son and family. Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Sharp of this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvis Southward and baby visited in Friona Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Fite Jr. and Terry of the Wyche community visited in the Marti Mason home Sunday.

John Hunter and Jim Ricketts made a business trip to Carlsbad Monday. Mrs. John Hunter and children spent the night with Mrs. Jim Ricketts Monday night. The men returned on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Packard and daughter of Springlake visited his mother and brother, Mrs. Leona Packard and Leroy Sunday.

Mrs. Leona Packard transacted business in Amherst and Littlefield Monday.

Mrs. Fred Wolfington and Mrs. E. B. Cox made a business trip to Amarillo Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hershey and family and Mrs. Channer attended the Church of Christ meeting in Vega this week.

Earl Dehart and Roy Cole were business visitors in Amarillo Tuesday.

Earl Dehart was in Bovina on business on Thursday.

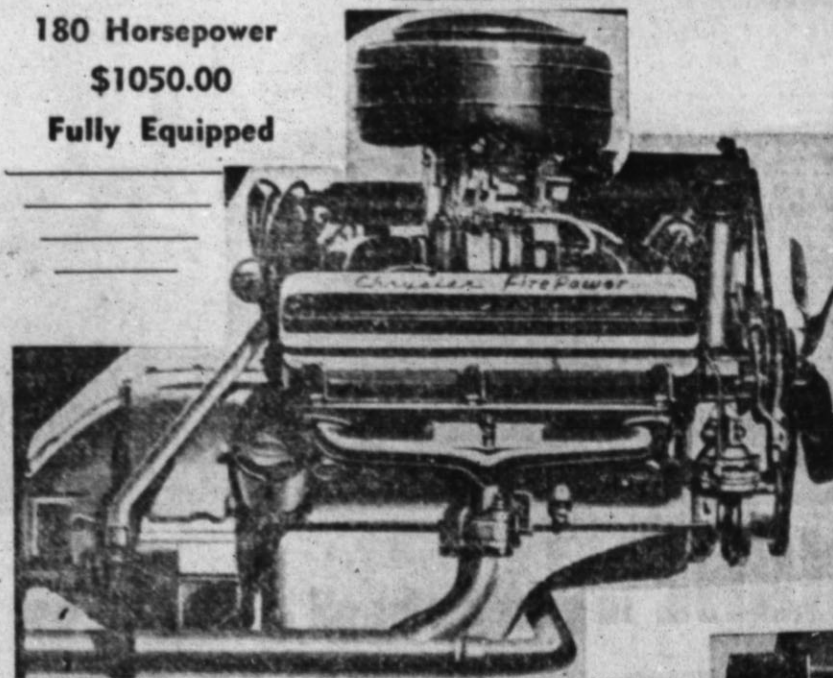

Ronald Corbett has been ill again this week. Several days ago Ronald was brought home from school with intestinal flu.

Reese Whittington, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Whittington, is home from WTSC for the week-end.

Hood - Miller Wedding Is Set For Sunday, April 6

The engagement of Miss Audrey Hood to Corp. Hershel E. Miller Jr. was announced Saturday at a tea given in the home of Mrs. R. B. Miller with the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Charles Hood, the bride-elect's aunt, Mrs. Mary Seigler, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. H. E. Miller, as hostesses.

The wedding date was revealed at the tea table where the bride-elect's chosen colors of orchid and white were carried out. A huge white wedding ring misted with silver surrounded with carnations, sweet peas and stephanotis in orchid and white held by tufts of maline, told the romantic story with the names "Audrey and Hershel - April 6" reflected against a mirror background. Decorations throughout the house were in the bride-elect's colors.

The honoree, who was dressed in an iridescent taffeta frock, wore a corsage of white carnations and stephanotis and members of the receiving line wore varied corsages to match their dresses.

Invitations were extended to approximately 80 close friends and relatives.

The wedding will be solemnized on Sunday, April 6, at the First Methodist church. Rev. Marvin Boyd of Plainview will officiate.

Miss Hood's attendants will be Miss Colline Brown, maid of honor, Mrs. Jesse Click of Abilene, Miss Doris Swain of Sdown and Miss Charlene Goodall, Andrews, bridesmaids.

Miss Hood is a graduate of Hereford high school and attended Hardin-Simmons university for a year. She transferred to Texas Tech college last fall where she attended the first semester.

Corp. Miller is also a graduate of Hereford high school. He enlisted in the U. S. Air Force and is now stationed at Perrin Air Force Base at Sherman.

Dish Gardens Cultural HD Topic Thursday

Mrs. J. R. Fowlks gave a demonstration on dish gardens, to the Cultural Home Demonstration club in the home of Mrs. Earl DeHart Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Fowlks gave a step by step demonstration on how the soil is blended together with sand, peat moss and powered charcoal. Mrs. Fowlks stressed the fact that a good drainage was one of the most important steps in making a dish garden that will last. She said that dish gardens made of seedums should last at least two years if properly planted.

The tallest plant should be one and a half times the length of the vessels you are going to use," she said, "and taper off to the top of the container on the other end."

During the business session an invitation from the Dawn Home Demonstration club was read. It is to a covered dish luncheon and the Cultural club is to be Dawn's guests at a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Gill on March 21 at 11:30 a. m.

The resignation of Mrs. J. E. Richardson as council delegate was read and accepted. Mrs. R. C. Childers was nominated and elected by acclamation to serve in her place.

The council report was given by Mrs. J. T. Richardson. She reported that the club would participate in the stunt night which is being sponsored by the finance committee of the council.

The report of the Federation Luncheon was given by Mrs. R. C. Childers, and also of the called board meeting of the federated women's clubs of the county.

The next regular meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Paul Corbett, March 27. The program will be "Social Security for Farm Labor." Mrs. Earl DeHart will give this program to the club.

Members attending Thursday's meeting were: Mrs. Marvin Southward, Mrs. John Hunter, Mrs. R. C. Childers, Mrs. Art Lewis, Mrs. J. T. Richardson, Mrs. Leona Packard, Mrs. Paul Corbett, Mrs. Fred Worthington, Mrs. A. C. Hershey, Mrs. J. R. Fowlks, and one visitor, Mrs. Joe Pitts, and the hostess.

The color scheme of green and white was carried out on the refreshment table. A bowl of white carnations with green foliage formed the center piece.

Senior Play Scheduled For March 20, 21

The Hereford high school senior play, one of the outstanding events of the school year, will be held on March 20 and 21 in the high school auditorium with curtain time at 8:00.

The play this year is a comedy, "Professor, How Could You?" written by Anne Coulter Martens.

The cast is composed of Ray Graham as Keats Perry, the professor; Joan McGee as Vicky Randolph; Sue Scarth, Grandma Perry; Franklin Springer, Grandpa Perry; Randolph Thomas, John Appleby; Wanda Gunstenon, Priscilla Morley; Bettye Ramer; Clayton Rutter, Butcher Boy Bean; Shirley Sharp, Valerie Whitman; and Eddie Rein-a-ver as Boggins, the butler.

The plot is about a professor who is offered a deanship if he will get married, several girls jump at the chance to be his wife and he finds himself with three fiancées on his hands. Come to the play and find out which of the prospects wins his heart; it will be a surprise to all. The proceeds from the play will help to finance the senior trip.

Gayle Roberson of West Texas State College is spending the week-end in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Roberson.

More Power - More Protection

For diesels and farm tractors • For bus, truck, and taxi fleets • For stationary, electrical, marine—all power plants

... especially for your family car!

RISLONE in your motor oil gives your car smooth, new power in 10 miles -- or your money back Prove it to yourself. Ask your service man to put a quart of Rislone in your crankcase oil today (2 quarts in large cars). Drive 10 miles. You can actually feel your car's performance improve—actually feel the surge of quiet, smooth, new power as Rislone absorbs gum and sludge, restores lost compression.

Prove it to yourself. Over 20,000,000 guarantee cards have been given to motorists — and less than 1 in 100,000 asked for money back. That's real proof of Rislone's wonder-working magic.

To give your car the best of care, keep Rislone in the crankcase all the time. It's a full-time lubricant, with no harmful ingredients — protects new cars and permits normal driving speeds immediately, prolongs the life of all engines. Don't wait — your car needs Rislone now.

Here's how RISLONE works its motor magic in your car!

Mrs. J. W. Witherspoon Elected President Of Child Study Club

Mrs. J. W. Witherspoon was elected president of the Child Study club at its last meeting held Thursday evening in her home.

Named to serve with Mrs. Witherspoon were: Mrs. F. G. Witherspoon, vice - president; Mrs. Chester Wiggins, recording secretary; Mrs. George Heard, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Dale Kelly, treasurer; Mrs. Richard Jowell, reporter; Mrs. Cawthon Bryant, parliamentarian and Mrs. Larry Moore, historian.

Mrs. Cawthon Bryant was in charge of the program.

Roll call was answered by members listing various school problems and announcement was made of the next meeting of the club with Mrs. Chester Wiggins on March 27, and members were reminded of the District Federation convention to be held in Borger March 17-19.

Mrs. Bryant reviewed an article written by Dr. Gluck of Harvard university on "Juvenile Delinquents," in which he offered a plan which may aid in a reduction of the number of delinquents per year.

The plan includes three tests: 1 - The child's relation in the home, this ascertained by a social worker; 2 - Study of the basic traits of character and emotional drive; and 3 - How the child reacts to every day situations, this requiring the aid of a psychiatrist.

Mrs. Bryant said in conclusion, "The author urges parents to stress a happy home life as broken homes are the basic cause of most of the juvenile delinquency."

Attending the meeting were Mesdames Bob Wear, Cawthon Bryant, George Heard, Merlin Kaul, J. C. Reese, Larry Moore, Maurice Tannahill, F. G. Witherspoon, J. W. Witherspoon, Chester Wiggins and the hostess.

Dallas, Texas is 1,381 airline miles from New York City.

Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y Entertain Faculty

Honoring the high school faculty, Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y clubs held a joint meeting Tuesday night in the school auditorium.

Ray Graham presided and welcomed the guests and Norma Grace Gray played for the musical prelude.

Katharine Snare gave the opening prayer and Betty Hamilton led the group in singing, "More Like the Master."

Billy Gene White conducted the devotional, emphasizing the proper use of all abilities and talents.

"Ivory Palaces" was sung by a quartet of voices. They included: Beverley Barkley, Donna Airdhart, Wayne Lady and David Stanton with Virginia Sigle at the piano.

Continuing the study of "Teen Talks," a book which both clubs have been using in programs the past few months, Bob Wear gave a discussion of "Chasing Rainbows," with the main idea dealing with choosing between true and false ideas.

The club benediction concluded the program and a social hour was then featured in the high school gym with refreshments served to approximately 80 people.

Bridge Luncheon Enjoyed By Club

Wednesday Luncheon club re-assembled Wednesday after an interlude of inactivity. Mrs. J. C. McCracken was hostess, entertaining the members at Mrs. Rex Tynes party house, at the luncheon and in her home for contract games.

The luncheon tables carried out the St. Patrick's Day theme with flowers and place cards.

At the McCracken home, Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine played high for the score award and Mrs. Homer Fox played second high.

Plans were made for the club to continue regular sessions with Mrs. J. A. Pitman as the next hostess.

Members present were: Mesdames W. L. Davis Sr., Homer Fox, Alton Fraser, Jimmie Gillentine, J. A. Pitman, Oscar Easley, C. C. Acker and the hostess, Mrs. Bob Wilson of Kansas City who is a house guest of Mrs. Pitman, was a special guest.

Old-Fashioned Coffee Cake Is Delicious For Serving Anytime

For an idea for March menus we go back to the turn of the century and a recipe for "coffee cake." The crunchy, crusty top gives that delectable touch that seems to satisfy everybody's taste.

Culinarians claim that skills necessary for success in cooking are not what they were in grandmother's day, but Mrs. V. L. Hilton's old fashioned coffee cake recipe, which has been in her mother's family for years, is easy to make. It is also easy to serve and is good morning, noon or night. Just serve it hot with coffee, tea or milk.

Old Fashioned Coffee Cake

2 cups flour
3/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
4 level teaspoons baking powder
1/4 cup shortening
2 eggs
1 cup milk

Sift dry ingredients together and work in shortening. Add well beaten eggs and milk and blend well. Pour in large flat pyrex dish or loaf pan and cover with topping.

Topping
1/4 cup butter
1 cup brown sugar
4 tablespoons flour

W. B. Wiltshires Observe 60th Anniversary Sunday

MR. AND MRS. W. B. WILTSHIRE

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wiltshire, who celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday with a family dinner, are native Texans and their three children were born in Texas.

Mrs. Wiltshire was Mamie Ashworth, whose father was the first postmaster of Ashworth and for whom the town was named.

The couple's parents lived on adjoining farms in Kaufman county and attended the same schools and country parties. He made his first date to take her to a country dance two years before their marriage and since competition was pretty keen, at times he was out at the altar. He said "I didn't give up—'til I got a girl that was."

On March 3, 1892, they moved to the Presbyterian minister's home for the simple ceremony with two faces hitched to their buggy, and were followed close behind by their attendants who rode in a wagon. She had made her wedding dress of wool challis and she was proud to wear it to the couple-breaking that night. The dress was made with tight fitting bodice and tight sleeves and was trimmed in white material lace. She still wears the same wedding band but the diamond she wears with it came several years later.

After the initial dinner, at the home of his parents the next day, they went to his farm where he had a home waiting.

After a couple of years, they built a new home on the farm but it wasn't long until they decided to move to Ashworth where he bought a mercantile store and served as postmaster 9 1/2 years.

When they thought the children should be in better schools they moved to Abilene and there they owned and operated a shoe and filling station for 25 years. In 1929 their son, Dr. B. M. Wiltshire of Hereford, urged them to move to Hereford. He worked for the Sinclair Oil company here, but only for a year and a half when they moved to Lubbock and built the Wiltshire Tourist courts out near Texas Tech. They owned a store and filling station in connection with the courts and for 10 years they were busy and happy there.

Then his health began to fail, he lost the sight in one eye and Dr. Wiltshire again persuaded them to come to Hereford. They sold the courts and built a duplex here in 1948, later selling the duplex and moving to their present home, 141 W. 5th St.

Now, at the age of 81, he is totally blind. She is 75. They consider their lives as ordinary but the way they have retained their sense of humor and optimistic outlook is very much out of the ordinary. They recall that they have had their share of hard knocks, but they have also had their share of the good things of life. Now they are looking forward to celebrating their 75th anniversary.

"We had no income tax to worry about then," Mr. Wiltshire said. And few other things upset the balance of their marriage. He has a sure cure for arguments that never fails — "When the wife starts an argument, just

Hereford Ceramic Art Club Meets

Hereford Ceramic Art club met with Mrs. Vivian Moore Thursday afternoon for a lesson on wedding gifts. Members answered roll call with wedding gift ideas. The program included a display of work done by the members with each showing and discussing a piece of ceramic art work done recently.

Plans were discussed for an art exhibit which the club will sponsor in May.

Those attending were: Mesdames Phil Baskowich, George Benson, Ed Cox, W. S. Flatt, Glenn Boardman and the hostess.

walk out on her. You'll never have any trouble that way," he advises.

The Wiltshires celebrated their anniversary at a dinner Sunday with their son, Dr. B. M. Wiltshire and family and their daughter, Mrs. J. A. Neill of Lubbock, present for the occasion. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Neill's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ewert and sons, also of Lubbock. Their daughter, Mrs. E. H. Scott of San Diego, Calif., was unable to attend. They have five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I prevent painted surfaces from blistering?

A. Excess moisture in wood, which is drawn to the surface by heat, either from the sun's rays or other sources causes paint to blister. Always be sure, before starting to paint, that the wood is thoroughly dry.

Q. How can I make an indelible stencil ink?

A. Mix two parts sulphate of manganese, one part lampblack, four parts sugar (all in power form). Then make a paste by adding a little water.

Q. How can I increase the gloss of my hair?

A. The beaten white of an egg, added to the regular shampoo water, greatly increases the gloss of the hair.

Q. How can I remove lipstick and rouge stains from material when laundering has failed?

A. Try sponging the spots with carbon tetrachloride. If this does not do the work, rub the stains with white Vaseline jelly, and then sponge with carbon tetrachloride.

Q. How can I keep potato chips fresh?

A. Potato chips keep much better in bags that do not permit strong light to reach them, than in clear or opaque bags. A tight tin container is the best.

Q. How can I prevent the rusting of tinware?

A. Rub the tinware with fresh lard when it is new, and place

New Hampshire Primaries Indication Of Many Things

Not in recent political history has there been as much enthusiasm in a preferential primary than attending the New Hampshire voting this last week.

Political ears have been pricked up at the nation's first voting state gave the entire 48 an idea of what the man in the street thinks about presidential timber in both parties.

It can not be said by either of the defeated politicians that the results of the primary in New Hampshire "don't prove a thing."

Although President Truman hasn't publicly committed himself to make the race, Kefauver's strength cannot be laughed off.

Clearly, the defeat was a tough one for Truman. If any man should have had political power among his own party members, it was he. If he can't pull half the votes among his own party members—with patronage-born popularity, he's had a hard time of it.

Kefauver, on the other hand, certainly didn't please the anti-Trumanites when he said after the voting results were in that a vote for him wasn't a protest vote against Truman, that he and the president were of the same mind on many things.

Many of the Democrats that checked Truman in New Hampshire thought, no doubt, that they were showing preference for a man opposed to Truman's race horse dash for paternalism and his overly-expensive foreign aid programs.

On the Republican side of "the ledger," party die-hards should take a warning that the average man still won't buy Bob Taft in today's world. An efficient and conscientious senator, Taft doesn't ring the gong with internationally-minded Americans.

Eisenhower has proven conclusively that he isn't just a "flash-in-the-pan" smiling boy with the people who have put his popularity to the first test.

His showing while 3000 miles away proves that he is more easily acceptable to the average than a campaigning Taft.

The people of New Hampshire don't feel—from the GOP side of the preferential vote—that the country will go to get without a practical politician. Eisenhower's win—spurred by political enthusiasm—smashes the fallacy that a smooth political organization is needed to win.

Maybe New Hampshire is leading a revolt against professional politician rule. Politicians will probably have the biggest say when the convention-time horse-trading begins, but in their primaries, the people's voice will be heard.

The BIG test for Robert Taft will be when he and his mate in their first midwest battle, New Hampshire, by reason of its geographical position is naturally more internationally-minded than some of the mid-west spots of isolationism that breed the Taft line of thinking.

Does the New Hampshire primary mean anything to the rest of the nation?

To this writer, it means that many Republicans (the voters themselves, that is) will find Taft too conservative. Eisenhower, with some hard campaigning on his own, could give Taft a close race and a good score and win anywhere except probably in Ohio and two or three other midwestern states.

If the Republican party die-hards would rather lose with Taft, they'll probably get the chance in November.

Kefauver, a political upstart in the minds of Trumanites, has proven himself a power to be reckoned with. That Truman can get the nomination by asking for it is dangerous thinking. Senator Richard Russell and Kefauver will command devastating power in the convention regardless of Truman's plans.

All Truman's opponents are not in the GOP. When all is said and done, it is the ever-increasing group called the independent voter that will wield the big stick at the polls this fall.

And this type of voter doesn't flex his muscles in the primaries.—W. W. K.

Shivers' Primary Proposal Would Serve People Well

The possibility that Texas may have a preferential primary ballot, as advocated this week by Gov. Allan Shivers is another step ahead in the development of democratic political practices in the state.

As the governor puts it in his argument for preferential ballot: "I feel there ought to be a way for the people to express themselves. The preferential primary is an expression of the people. That's what you want and what you ought to have in a democracy."

Shivers is considering recommending a system akin to that in New Hampshire. Press reports say that the idea drew immediate support from Fagan Dickson, who has been at odds politically with Shivers and who is heading the "Loyal Democrats."

One of the most useful aspects of a preferential primary is that it tends to eliminate the power held by machines, allowing the convention delegates by preference of the people rather than by appointment through local power. In this manner, the voice of the people is paramount all the way up the state political ladder, not only in precinct conventions.

The preferential system is not advocated because of any change it might bring in political feelings. It is very doubtful that it would, because to many people, there is no need for one. It would, however, give the layman a final voice in selection of delegates to the national convention. His power then would theoretically be as potent as the professional politician.

Governor Shivers has proposed something that can be very useful to the voters of this great state.

May all political leaders of the state help him bring the plan to reality.—M. W. K.

I'll Never Forget

We came to Deal Smith county from Oklahoma county, where we had made our first row crop, in the year of 1910.

We settled on the old north draw, as it was called back in those days. I saw Waverford for the first time in the summer of 1910. It had more windmill than homes, I believe, or enough wells for the whole county.

The county as well as the northern part of the Panhandle was nearly all grass lands when we came here.

We had no open roads, we just made new trails in driving from one place to another across the prairie or we drove along cattle trails.

When driving to Vega, Waverford or Amarillo it was usually across the prairie the shortest ways and we had several gates to open on each trip. It seems that there were around four gates between here and Amarillo and even more than that when going to Waverford.

I opened many gates on my way to town, but besides now you'll see me down.

We broke our first sod with a team and a 12 inch foot warmer plow and then every third or fourth row we would drop a gallon syrup bucket in the furrow that was pulled by a wire run through the center

SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

The voters of the Tulla Rural high school district were to vote this week to decide whether to construct 10 additional classrooms at the elementary school. The addition would be a permanent type construction and would allow additions if and when the need arises.

GEORGE J. LAWSON

SUNDAY'S CURRENT QUESTION

Effect Of New Hampshire Vote On Other Sections Of U. S. Possible

As a voter, how would you evaluate the outcome of the New Hampshire primaries for both parties? Do you think voting there indicates any possible major trend in thinking?

SAM NEESON—It has possibilities of indicating the way the vote will go. New Hampshire was expected to be strong for Eisenhower and then one of the cities had an oil labor vote that went for Kefauver. It may help to influence the outcome of other primaries.

MARLEN GILGUND—Our President has said that an election of this sort is just so much eyewash. You know and I know that eyewash brings relief, so the results of these primaries should leave every party member soothed and satisfied.

JESSE STANFORD—That is a small section up there but in my way of thinking it could have right considerable influence on the thinking of a lot of folks.

GIENN WEIR—I think it is just as it looks in both parties. It reflects directly that people want a change from what we have. I think Kefauver will beat Truman and Eisenhower will beat Taft if they let him take that uniform off in time.

ENIL WOOD—I don't think that the New Hampshire primaries would have anything to do with the trend of voting in the United States as a whole.

EGEN CARTER—I believe that the outcome of the New Hampshire primary is a good indication that the American people are becoming more interested in good government and I hope an indication for people to vote for the qualified candidate instead of a popular person.

'Tater Peelin's

By Roberta Campbell

Well, look like we have to have a real good old-fashioned sandstorm every now and then to remind us that we still live in West Texas.

We thought it was pretty bad when we saw the big windows blow out at Kinsey Motor while we waited for Bill Jones at Waverford Lumber Co. to cut another glass for our front door, but when we got back in the house from feedin' the sheep and discovered the wind had blown a lens out of our spectacles we decided that was just about the last straw.

Lucky for us Dr. Adams had another lens on hand and waitin' for us 'til morning.

Guess we will be eligible for the homecoming tea at the Camp Fire Hut Saturday, March 22, as we used to be a Camp Fire Girl back when we wore khaki costumes with leather fringe on the bottom and the sleeves (maybe you have seen the pictures) and a beaded head band, and were given honor bands carved from wood for achievements.

"Who-he-to" is a word that has stayed with us and Wobbe-so was the name we chose which, as we recall meant "uh-huh."

When Mr. Harwick makes up another show calendar we hope he will keep in mind that "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" has, or is to be, re-released.

If any of the younger generation who saw it several years ago got more fun out of it than we did they sure got their full money's worth.

Just in case the weatherman is still in a spoiled mood, maybe we had better whisper that we have almost all the sand swept out of the house again.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editors note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his farm near Bootleg has been reading the papers again, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

I was out here yesterday speculate on the weather situation and wonderin whether I was gonna be able to make another crop this year with conditions like they are when I noticed a puff of wind bustin a newspaper along through my pasture and since I figured I might as well be lookin in that direction as any I kept followin it with my eyes and noticed it rolled into a bobwire fence and later in the day I worked my way down to it and picked it up, it was hangin on the third wire from the bottom and I didn't even have to bend over to reach it, and took it off to a sunny spot and set down and opened it up—and the first thing I read was an article sayin Washington has declared the entire state of Texas a disaster area, on account of the drought.

While I am pleased to see Washington bring the rest of the state up with the level of my farm, which has been a disaster area since the ever since I took it over, I believe we could make better headway with grain relief if the banks would stop publishin financial statements and people would stop drivin new cars and buyin so well.

While I am damn sure you'll maintain a disaster status, in fact my wife tells me my farm would be on a disaster level if I could get a rain ever time I held up my hand and cotton was sellin for 30 cents a pound, the rest of the people of the state ain't cooperatin.

If Washington says we got a disaster on our hands, the best we can do is act like it. We keep up this anti-disaster spendin and buyin and remain around in good cars and buyin round steak and before you know it some expert in Washington will get suspicious. It's not breath Washington right. If Washington says we got a disaster in every county in Texas, let's have a disaster in every county. The first thing a man wantin a pension ought to do is remove his flighy diamonds. Washington wasn't born yesterday. Maybe the day before, but not yesterday.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

ico and we could see the fire burning at night, three or four nights before it came across the county.

These fires ruined our fuel supply. No Adams coal when it went by.

Along about 1912 I helped the McIntosh brothers round up and work a large herd of Longhorn steers. Boy they were the longest horned cattle that I had ever seen. One big steer got plenty mad in the pens and he would run us to the top of the corral every few minutes. Finally he jumped over the fence by just putting his hind feet on the to rail. I'll swear that corral was eight feet high.

I helped in many of the roundups in what I call the early days.

There is just a few people left now in the north half of Deaf Smith county that were here ahead of me. There are not many left in Oldham county that were here when I first came there.

There were still a few bunches of antelope on the prairie in those first few years. They just finally thinned out, probably just moved over to the breaks just north of us.

In about December, 1911, I drove a team and buggy into Amarillo. I was hauling water for a steam outfit around Soncy, just west of Amarillo and had drove in to get some reggins. I put up my team and myself in the Lon Sellers wagon yard for the night. The next morning there was two feet of snow on the ground. I started for home the next day. The team in a slow walk had to rest them a lot as they would sink clear through the snow. It took me four days to get back home from Amarillo. I camped each night with the farmers and ranchers along the way.

Joe Green and I had a nice visit with Lon Sellers at the fair in Amarillo last year. He remembers all of the old timers that used to camp with him in the early days. He talked about many of the early settlers and many more interesting things.

In 1910 we could see whole trains of covered wagons with homesteaders going west to homestead in New Mexico. I have seen around 30 wagons a day, a few coming back each day to make a living.

The government should have given these people the 85 billion for what all they went through.

Donald Roberson of Yuma, Arizona, arrived Friday to spend 10 days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Roberson. He will be accompanied home by his wife who has been visiting his parents the last two weeks.

Mrs. John Cunningham of Fort Worth returned home after two weeks visiting Mrs. J. E. Hill.

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. What can I do about hair that is especially unruly after a shampoo? Mine is practically unmanageable.

A. Have you tried giving the hair a brisk brushing and the scalp a vigorous massage after the shampoo? This so encourages the flow of natural oils in the scalp that within an hour's time after the hair is dry it should be manageable.

Q. How can I treat tired eyes?

A. Massage the eyelids with iced fingertips, dipped in cold cream.

Q. How is a good oatmeal mask made at home?

A. Make a paste of three ounces of oatmeal, the juice of one lemon and some witch hazel. Apply to face and neck; let remain 30 minutes.

Q. What can I do to correct fingernails that are quite brittle?

A. You can increase your take of milk. And make a practice nightly of dipping the ends of your fingers into warm olive oil.

Q. How should an exceptionally broad type of face be rouged?

A. Pull the rouge line over toward the nose. Less white space thus appears between rouged areas, and the cheeks are apparently drawn closer together.

Q. How can I remove tartar from the teeth?

A. Try rubbing some lemon juice and pumice stone over the teeth with a piece of cotton wound around an orange stick.

Q. How can I strengthen and firm flabby throat muscles?

A. Regular gentle patting of these muscles helps lots. A good daily exercise consists of throwing the head back as far as you can, then opening and closing the mouth several times. Make a habit of keeping the head and chin up.

Q. How should very round eyes be made up?

A. Use an eyebrow pencil to extend the line of the upper and lower lids at the outer corners of the eyes. Blend lines until only a faint shadow remains. The brow should be extended, too.

Q. Please suggest a good abdomen-reducing exercise.

A. Lie flat on floor, and keeping knees stiff, slowly raise one leg at a time until it is about four inches from the floor. Then lower slowly. Keep repeating.

Q. Do you recommend lots of color in the accessories when wearing black dresses?

A. No. For instance, don't have a red bag, red gloves, red shoes, red hat, and red jewels. Instead, tone it down with black shoes, black gloves, black hat, a red bag, red jewels, and your lips and fingernails in the same shade of red. In this way, you will strike a color "accent," instead of shouting it all over the place.

Mrs. J. M. Thomson Tells Of Trip To Old Mexico And Guatemala

"A Texan on Tour" was the program for the Pioneer Study club session held in the home of Mrs. Earl France Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. H. E. Miller was assistant hostess.

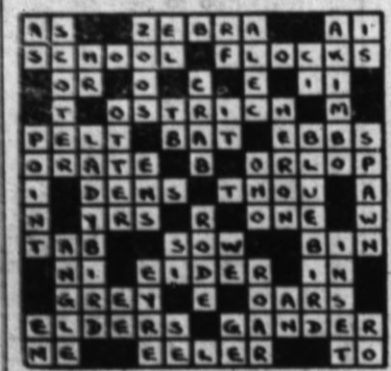

Mrs. J. M. Thomson was guest speaker for the day. She presented the program on her recent trip to Old Mexico and Guatemala. She told of Mexico City and described its churches and buildings of note, and told something of the people and their habits.

She described some of the old churches in Guatemala, some of them built in 200 A. D., and told of the pyramids built there by four distinct civilizations. She told of a textile factory there which is owned by two Lubbock girls and showed dolls in native costumes of each part of that country. She also described their worship services and marriage customs.

During the business session, presided over by the president, Mrs. A. L. Manjeot, reports on the club's Friendship Day project and members voted to place books in local school libraries. It was decided to contribute to the Federation's Latin American Scholarship Fund.

Those present were: Mesdames Fred Barrett, A. G. Bell, Bonnie Brumley, H. A. Close, Ray Johnson, F. M. Kester, A. L. Manjeot, Ralph McCullough, H. E. Miller, John Patton, Wirt Phillips, B. E. Roberson, Mary Seigler, Frank Terrell, R. A. Tynes, J. B. Jones and the hostess.

Streu's Diary

No politics today — you know, discussing politics and/or religion is a good way to lose friends and strengthen enemies. Heaven knows I have to few of the former and too many of the latter already.

Just in case the big wind blew your windmill away or wrecked it, we have plenty of those fine Aermotor mills and towers and lots of repairs — or, we can furnish the famous Aermotor Pressure System. See us for estimates.

You may have noted an advertisement of Coleman Camp stoves and lanterns in the Thursday issue of The Brand — and you may have noted the names of three Hardware Stores appeared on the ad. This is an example of friendly competition. Admitting that my hardware competitors are fine fellows, I must honestly admit that I wish they would both go broke and leave me a clear field. I am quite sure that each of them feels the same about me. (By the way, we do have the stoves and lanterns advertised).

We are out of the new Glamorous Rug Cleaner — more coming soon — but we do have the new type faucet washers which you read about in the Reader's Digest.

Gift goods are still coming in — apparently the stream is unending — unfortunately my bank account is not unending — you girls had better get down here and pick up the new things you want before the suppliers forgoose on me and take it all back. Ah, me.

We are still digging out from under the dirt — despite the fact that we have all the modern dirt removing tools, it just takes a lot of time to clean several thousand items. Will gladly sell you some of the dirt removers for a small fee.

Received another small shipment of RCA Victor "45" records and anticipate more next week. Keep coming in and eventually you can find the records you want.

Believe it or not — I am fresh out of Words!

Household Scrapbook

By Roberta Lee

Ink on Wall Paper

Most ink spots can be removed from wall paper by applying a weak solution of water and oxalic acid. Apply with a paint brush and press with blotting paper, as the acid might affect the color of the paper. It might be necessary to repeat the process a second or third time.

Plant Treatment

One tablespoonful of smoking tobacco soaked in one quart of water overnight, and poured on the soil about every thirty days, will destroy plant insects and also fertilize the plant.

Cleaning Brushes

Remember that varnish and enamel brushes should be cleaned out in turpentine, while shellac brushes should be cleaned out in denatured alcohol.

Electric Bulb

The broken wire of an electric light globe can sometimes be mended by turning on the current and tapping lightly on the side of the globe with the finger. This causes the broken wire to vibrate and touching one of the other wires while vibrating, it becomes welded.

Practical Furniture

In the small apartment where space is at a premium, it is a wise plan to purchase a box couch instead of a davenport. This will serve the same purpose and will also be invaluable for holding all household linens.

Weatherproofing Woods

To make wood durable and weatherproof cover it with several coats of hot linseed oil varnish.

Home-Made Duster

To make a good duster soak old pieces of flannel in paraffin oil overnight; wring out tightly and wash in lukewarm water, and let dry. It will gather all dust and give a good polish to furniture and floors.

Velvet Coat Collar

The velvet coat collar can be cleaned by sponging lightly with hot water and ammonia. Let dry, and sponge with alcohol. If the nap is badly crushed, steam over a teakettle.

Apple Pie

When an apple pie is two-thirds baked, sprinkle grated cheese over the top. It adds much to the flavor of the pie.

Zinc

To clean zinc rub carefully with kerosene and polish with newspapers. This combination of printers' ink and kerosene effectively removes all stains.

Job Exams For Conscientious Objectors Set

AUSTIN — Plans are going forward at state Selective Service headquarters to send 160 conscientious objectors for physical and mental examinations in April.

This action follows receipt of new regulations which require draft boards to order religious objectors to serve 24 months on civilian jobs contributing to maintenance of national health, safety, or interest.

Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, said all objectors who fail their examinations will not be ordered to perform work in the national interest.

"These men will be given the same tests as men who enter the armed forces," General Wakefield explained. "If they fail the tests, they will be classified 4-F, just as men being examined for military service."

Texas only has a total of 160 religious objectors who oppose any kind of military service on religious grounds. Other men have claimed to be conscientious objectors, but their claims have not been sustained.

Employment which conscientious objectors may perform under the new regulations are work for the federal or state governments and non-profit organizations engaged in charitable activity for the public or a program for improvement of public health or welfare.

Under the regulations, conscientious objectors may volunteer for such work. Those who do not volunteer may work out a work preference with their local draft boards. In final analysis, they can

Pfc. Johnson Wins Infantry Combat Badge

WITH THE 45th INFANTRY DIV. IN KOREA — Pfc. J. D. Johnson, Friona, Texas, has won the Combat Infantryman Badge, symbol of the front line fighting man, while serving in Korea with the 45th Infantry Division.

The badge shows a tiny Revolutionary War flintlock rifle mounted against a blue rectangle which is surrounded by a wreath. The Oklahoma National Guard Division left the U. S. early in 1951 and trained extensively on the Japanese island of Hokkaido before it was committed to Korea in December.

A rifleman in the 180th Infantry Regiment's Company K, Pfc. Johnson entered the Army and joined the 45th Infantry Division in November, 1950.

Program On Social Security Given At Progressive HD Meet

A program on social security was given at the Progressive Home Demonstration club Tuesday afternoon, March 4 at the home of Mrs. C. C. Billingslea, Mrs. P. L. Carmichael was in charge of the program.

A guest, Miss Rose Ransin from Illinois, gave an interesting report on the Home Bureau clubs in Illinois.

The club will be entertained by the Bippus Home Demonstration club on Wednesday afternoon, March 12. The members will meet at the T. J. Parsons home at 11 o'clock and go in a group to be ordered to work by the board with the approval of the national director of Selective Service.

State draft headquarters has begun plans for seeking suitable jobs for those objectors who pass their examinations.
