Indira Gandhi killed by bodyguards

By VICTORIA GRAHAM Associated Press Writer

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi was assassinated today outside her home, mortally wounded in a barrage of bullets reportedly fired by her own Sikh bodyguards.

The slaying of the woman who dominated Indian political life for two decades threatened to plunge this troubled nation into new turmoil. Her son, Rajiv, was quickly chosen to succeed her.

One or two of the gunmen were reported killed at the scene of the shooting, for which Sikh extremists claimed responsibility. "We have taken our revenge!" one militant proclaimed.

Mrs. Gandhi, 66, had been under heavy guard for months because of assassination threats from Sikhs angered by her crackdown on militant members of the sect in Punjab state.

She was shot after she emerged from her house at 9:20 a.m. (10:50 p.m. EST) to make a video recording.

"Suddenly, out of the blue, two persons carrying Sten guns — one uniformed and one in civilian clothes — shot at Mrs. Gandhi," the United News of India reported. "Eight to 10 bullets from the gun hit her."

Mrs. Gandhi, clad in an orange cotton sari, was rushed to the All-India Institute of Medical Sciences. Doctors said she died less than two hours later.

"She is no more," a member of her governing Congress Party announced to more than 100,000 people surrounding the hospital. Cries and sobs rose from the throng. Many prayed or beat their breasts.

Doctors said she was shot in the heart, abdomen and thigh. There were reports she had been shot at least eight times and possibly as many as 16 times.

The United News of India and a former foreign minister both said three security guards were involved in the attack, but UNI said only two fired on Mrs. Gandhi. There were conflicting reports as to whether one or two of the gunmen had been killed by other security guards.

The million-strong armed forces was placed on alert, and police sealed off New Delhi and surrounded Mrs. Gandhi's residence and the hospital, three miles away.

The Cabinet met in emergency session, and national legislators of the Congress Party unanimously chose Rajiv Gandhi, 40, as the new head of government, a government spokesman reported. Gandhi was then sworn in by President Zail Singh.

Unlike her predecessors, Mrs. Gandhi, prime minister for 15 of the past 18 years, had not designated a deputy prime minister or a Cabinet minister to succeed her.

Sikhs claiming responsibility

It had been expected that her son might be sworn in as her temporary successor because he is effectively India's No. 2 leader, as the first among five general-secretaries of the Congress Party. National elections had been scheduled to be held late this year or early next year.

Rajiv rushed to New Delhi from the eastern state of West Bengal, where he was addressing a public meeting, after hearing his mother had been shot. He entered the hospital to view her body, security guards said.

In Washington, White House spokesman Anson Franklin said President Reagan has been notified of Mrs. Gandhi's death and "expressed deep personal sorrow." Secretary of State George Shultz said in a statement that Americans are "shocked and outraged" over the killing of "the leader of a great democracy."

Several hours after the shooting, an unidentified caller told The Associated Press office in New Delhi: "We have taken our revenge! Long live the Sikh religion!"

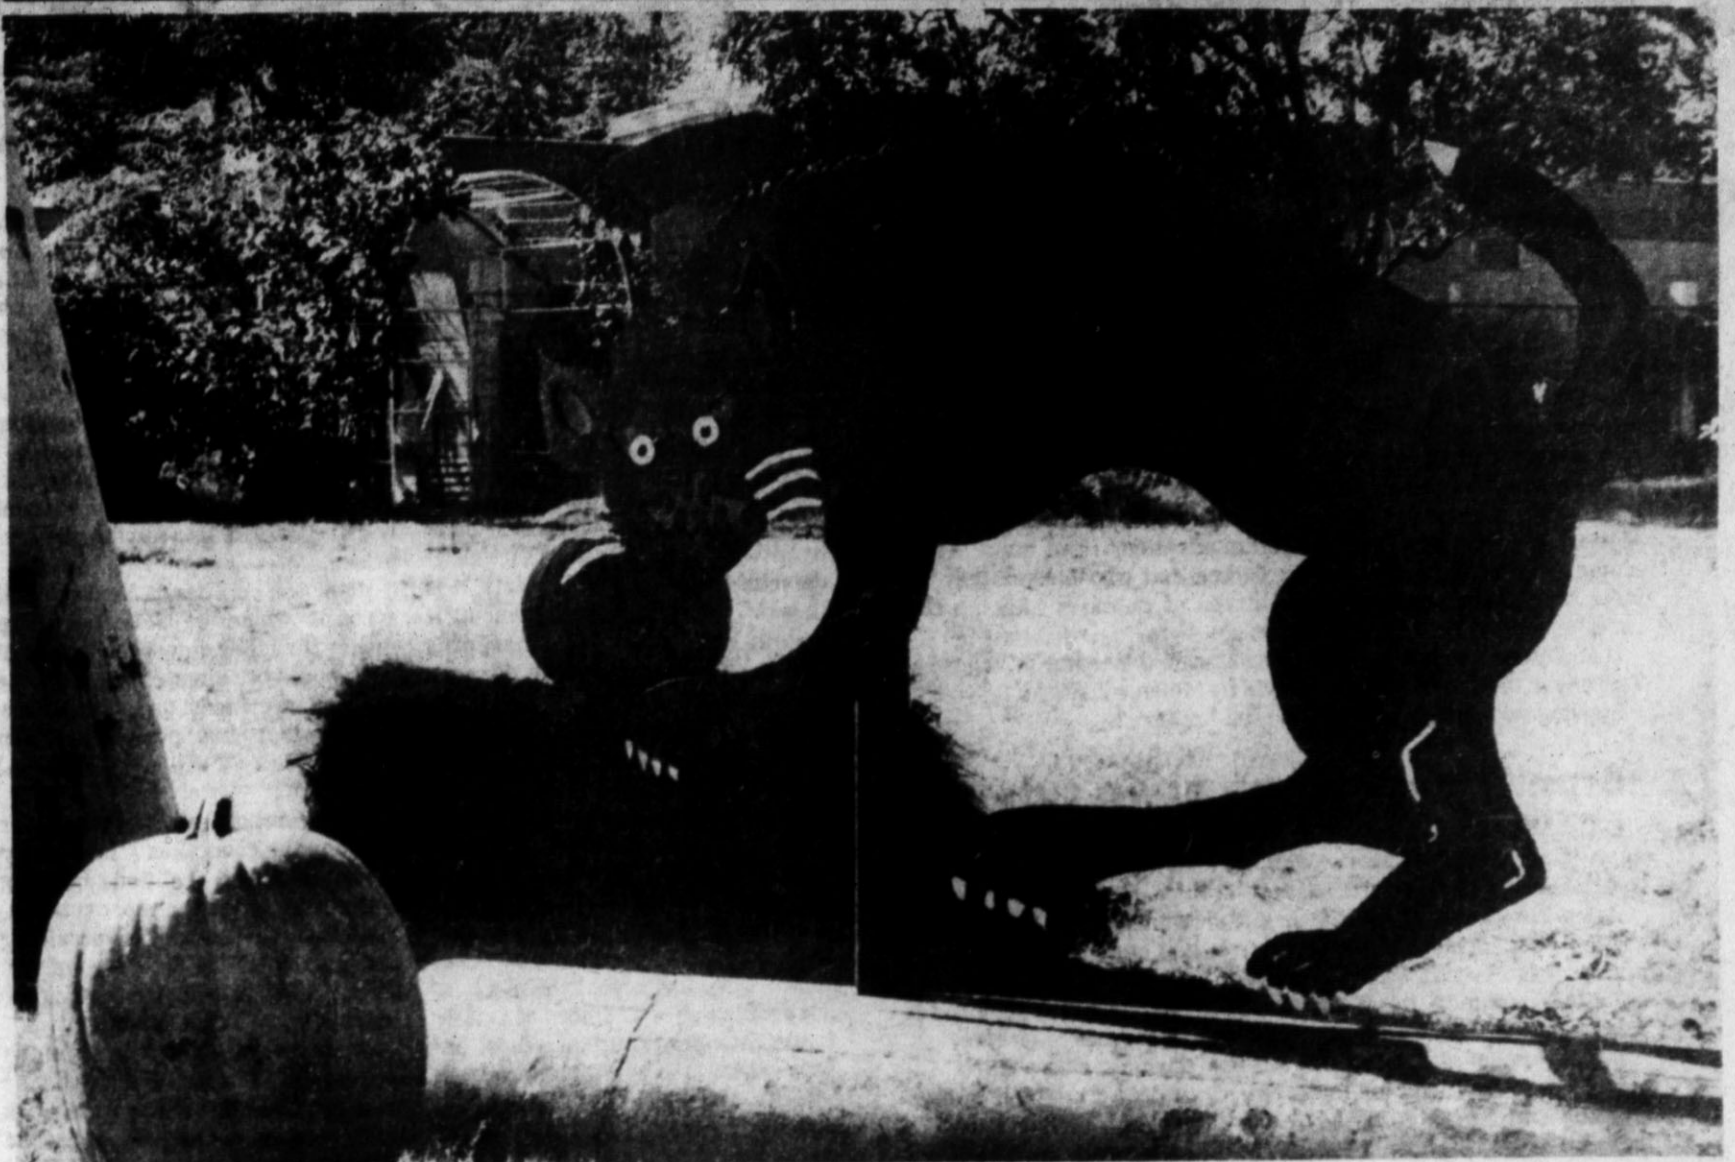

Asked who he was, the man said: "This is the action of the entire Sikh sect." Then he hung up.

Mrs. Gandhi has been bitterly condemned by Sikh leaders for her government's handling of recent violence in the northern state of Punjab. In June, Indian army troops besieged and then assaulted the Golden Temple, the Sikhs' holiest place of worship, in Amritsar.

Mrs. Gandhi said the action was necessary to root out Sikh terrorists who were waging a campaign for independence. The Sikhs, a breakaway Hindu sect, comprise 13 million of India's 740 million people. Almost 600 Sikhs and army troops were killed in the temple attack by official account, but military and police sources put the death toll at more than 1,200.

Mrs. Gandhi was daughter of Jawaharlal Nehru, who led the nation as prime minister for 17 years after independence from Britain in 1947. She would have been 67 on Nov. 19, and was elected to the office of prime minister four times, the last time in 1980.

She was not related to Mohandas K. Gandhi, considered the father of modern India, who was assassinated in 1948 by a Hindu fanatic opposed to his tolerance for India's Moslem minority.

Austin agrees to buy Valley View power

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN Staff Writer

The Austin City Council has approved a plan to purchase electricity generated by Valley View Energy Corporation's intended Hereford plant, Valley View President Don Lieb said Tuesday.

While the contract is yet to be signed, Lieb said he expects that to happen "within a few days, probably by Friday."

John Moore, director of utilities for the city of Austin, said this morning that the purchase of electricity from the Dallas-based company, which plans to generate the power by burning manure from local feedlots, fits in with the city's attitude about the importance of renewable energy.

Part of purchase from local plant

"Austin is growing at a very rapid rate," he pointed out. "We added 20,000 electric customers this year. The package that Valley View offered was very attractive to us."

Moore said the Austin officials and many of the city's residents really believe in the importance of looking for alternate energy sources. The city wants to obtain the equivalent of 500 to 600 megawatts of electricity that would otherwise be produced at its traditional power plant.

"Valley View has offered us 80 to 100 megawatts," he said.

While the plant to be built northeast of Hereford is to have just a 50-megawatt generating capacity, Moore said the deal will also include the purchase of electricity from a second plant to be built in Hansford County.

"Austin is proud of its progressive attitude about energy," Moore claimed. "This really fits in to our plans and our policy for future electrical generation."

Lieb said Valley View hopes to start construction of the Hereford facility in March. The company is now in the process of issuing industrial revenue bonds to finance the venture, which is expected to cost $50 million.

"We have a willing buyer and a willing seller," Lieb commented. "Right now it looks really good."

The sale will be a partnership between a lot of parties, Lieb added, because there will also be contracts with utility companies to send the power along their existing power lines.

The plant is to be located six miles outside Hereford on land purchased in 1983 from the city of Hereford.

Eight amendments to confront Texas voters

Editor's Note: The following is the first of four articles describing the eight amendments to face Texas voters Tuesday. Information for the series has been chiefly obtained from "Analyses of Proposed Constitutional Amendments," a booklet compiled by the Texas Legislative Council.

Banks and universities are two institutions affected by amendments to be considered Tuesday by Texas voters.

The fates of eight proposed changes to the state constitution are to be decided Election Day. The amendments were among 19 passed by the 68th Texas Legislature during its 1983 regular and first-called sessions.

Since establishment of the constitution in 1876, 263 amendments have been adopted out of the 419 proposed. All but one of the 11 placed before voters last fall passed, with the sole exception being certain veterans' and fraternal organizations being exempt from property taxation.

Amendment No. 1 concerns the rights of federal- and state-chartered banks, with branch banking being the primary consideration. Specifically, ballots will describe No. 1 as, "The amendment to provide state banks the same rights and privileges as national banks."

Texas is the only one of seven

First of series

states prohibiting branch banking to do so by both statute and constitutional amendment. Passage of No. 1 would mean branch banking is still illegal unless national banks are given unchecked branching powers by subsequent federal law.

Approval of the amendment would, though, give state banks the same powers as federal ones despite any state statutes to the contrary.

Among the arguments for No. 1, according to the Texas Legislative Council, is it "will remove the necessity for frequent state legislation merely to maintain equivalence under future modifications of federal banking law."

Also, "If federal law is changed to permit branch banking, state-chartered banks would be prevented from competing effectively with the greater convenience offered by national bank branches until a similar change in state law."

A final supportive argument given by the council for No. 1 is it "represents a logical next step in the state's financial development." It would follow amendments to allow drive-in teller windows and electronic fund transfer machines, the latter approved in 1980.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says by the time a lot of young men begin thinking seriously about a college education, they're graduates.

There are three times when you should never say anything important to a person: when he is tired, when he is angry, and when he has just made a mistake.—Bits & Pieces

If you're going to the Hereford-Monterey football game Friday night, you can make life easier for the family by going to the HHS Junior Class Supper in the high school cafeteria. They'll be serving barbecue from 4:30 to 7 p.m.

Gov. Mark White put his foot in his mouth a couple of weeks ago when he criticized Texas football coaches for being unhappy with the new eligibility rules. White insinuated that the only reason high school coaches think students should be allowed to fail one course and still participate in athletics is so they can win games.

The governor doesn't know Jerry Taylor, or Greg Sherwood, or a thousand other coaches. White may have hit the mark on a few coaches, but most of them care for each individual kid—smart or dumb. White made the comment that he'd "found that smart ballplayers win more than dumb ones."

Most coaches and teachers think we owe the same things to all kids, smart or dumb. If that "dumb" kid is doing the best he can, should he be kept from participating in the one thing he does well because he failed one subject?

We doubt that Gov. White, nor the majority of the legislators, even know what the new school reform bill contains. They don't have any idea what problems and extra paperwork this bill has caused. Lazy students should not be rewarded and there are some good points in the bill, but there is no doubt that some changes need to be made.

White to start, Hogeboom to sub

Landry may play both leaders

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Danny White will start at quarterback against the New York Giants on Sunday but look out for a possible Tom Landry surprise later in the game.

The Dallas Cowboys' coach said on Tuesday that young Gary Hogeboom could see action at any time.

Hogeboom sat on the bench last week while White's 1984 starting debut was a smash success.

"I think Danny will start but I'll use a quarterback substitute from time to time and not necessarily whether the game is won or lost," Landry said.

Landry refused to give the Giants any help on "When" Hogeboom might get a call.

"When that (bringing in Hogeboom) happens I'm not at liberty to say. Our team has confidence in both quarterbacks," Landry said.

Landry said one of the reasons he wanted to start White against the Giants is his experience.

The Giants whipped Dallas 28-7 last month with Hogeboom unable to handle the blitz from linebacker Lawrence Taylor.

"Surely Danny will handle it better," said Landry. "He sees things Gary doesn't see."

White threw two touchdown passes in his 1984 starting debut as Dallas beat Indianapolis 22-3 on Sunday.

The oddsmakers made the Cowboys 7-point favorites for Sunday's game in Texas Stadium and Landry called it "amazing."

"I'm happy they think so much of us," Landry said.

Landry said the Cowboys are a better team than the one the Giants beat earlier.

"We have more firepower now," Landry said. "We have (wide receiver) Tony Hill back and Danny had a good game at quarterback."

That earlier game shouldn't have any effect on us."

Landry said the Cowboys, who are tied with St. Louis atop the National Conference Eastern Division with 6-3 records, have a tough road.

The Cowboys must play in St. Louis the Sunday after the Giant game.

"We have a big hill to climb," Landry said. "But that's alright. If we can't climb it, we don't belong there (at the top) anyway."

Landry said the Cowboy running game was showing signs of life.

"It looked like it did last year against the Colts," Landry said. "It sure makes our passing game a lot better. I think we can be pretty good."

Landry said rookie middle linebacker Eugene Lockhart could see a lot of action against the Giants.

"We'll work him in as much as we can," Landry said.

Cy Young winner wants more dough from Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — Now that Detroit relief ace Willie Hernandez has won the American League Cy Young Award, he and the Tigers' front office can get down to some serious bargaining on a new contract.

Hernandez, whose near-perfect relief pitching played a major role in the Tigers' drive to the World Series championship, was named Tuesday as winner of the award as the American League's best pitcher.

"This is an incredible award, not only for me, but for all of Puerto Rico," Hernandez said by telephone from his home in Aguada, P.R. "I feel like I won the award for all of the people."

Hernandez made it clear the day before the award was announced, however, that he intends to cash in on his brilliant 1984 season when he officially requested a trade.

The Tigers now must satisfy him financially or trade Hernandez by March 15. Otherwise, he can become a free agent.

"I was one of the keys to Detroit winning the world championship, and that's the reason I was involved in the Cy Young Award," said Hernandez, who just recently asked his former agent, Brian David of Chicago, to enter the bargaining.

The Tigers are believed to have made Hernandez a four-year offer worth $4.6 million. That would make him the highest-paid pitcher on the club, ahead of starters Jack Morris and Dan Petry who currently earn about $800,000 a year.

Hernandez is believed to be demanding $5 million.

Plainview coach praises Jerry Taylor in letter

Dear editor:

I want to take this opportunity to congratulate the players, coaches, band, student body and fans on an excellent performance Friday night in Plainview.

Dennis, I also want to congratulate you on the article you wrote last week in The Hereford Brand concerning Jerry Taylor as seen through the eyes of Butch White. I want Butch to know that I concur with his thoughts and observations about Jerry Taylor. Jerry Taylor is certainly a credit to our profession and a gentleman.

Butch paid Coach Taylor the ultimate compliment for a coach in many ways. I know Jerry Taylor feels like many coaches in this state — that if winning football games is all there is to being a coach, then it would be much too painful to stay in this profession.

I would also like to point out to the people of Hereford that, this summer, Ross Perot and Mark White got by with implying that all coaches were a group of people who thought only about winning football games at the expense of the education of their players. They also implied that our teachers were incompetent and were in the profession because they couldn't do anything else. I have been in education for 26 years, and some of the most loving, caring people I have ever known were teachers.

They passed legislation that will go into effect in January will eliminate a student from participating in athletics, band, FFA and all extracurricular activities if they stump their toe one time. This legislation will eliminate the need for coaches like Jerry Taylor, who are coaching for one reason and one reason only — to help all the kids they come in contact with, not just the ones who are gifted academically, become a success in life.

Again, Dennis, I appreciate your thoughts about Jerry and want you to know that it hurts when you lose, but not as much when you lose to a fine bunch of gentlemen like you have in Hereford — both players and coaches.

Sincerely,
Greg Sherwood, Athletic Director and Head Football Coach
Plainview High School

In Whitefaces' 17-16 win Friday

Defense important for Herd

By DENNIS BALL
Sports Editor

Big plays?

The Whiteface offense converted four of seven crucial third downs and one of one fourth downs Friday night in Hereford's 17-16 victory over Plainview.

But it may have been the big plays of the defense that drove the last nail into the coffin of the Bulldogs. After giving up 134 yards the first half, the Herd limited the Bulldogs to under 100 yards the final two quarters, forcing punts at critical points in the game.

"I can't help but believe that when our defense senses victory, the players give it all they've got," Hereford football coach Jerry Taylor said. "That was some kind of effort on their part. Time after time, they have no respect for their own health and really get after it."

In the last half, the Herd forced Plainview to punt from inside the 50-yard line twice. The first critical Bulldog punt came with just over 5:00 left and Plainview fighting to climb back into the ball game. The second was with 3:31 remaining with Hereford leading 17-14.

"Curtis Cotten did a super job on defense," Taylor said. "He has really improved, and I'm very pleased at his performance."

Cotten made 18 stops and had one interception against Plainview. His interception was made deep in Whiteface territory in the second quarter to turn the Bulldogs away.

It was the second week in a row Cotten had played well, Taylor said. Against Caprock, Cotten turned in a total of 11 tackles to join linebacker Lee Brockman for team-high.

Cotten also set Hereford with a first-and-10 from Plainview's 15-yard line early in the third quarter when he recovered a dropped pitch by Bulldog running back Ronnie Bradic. Five plays later, including an offside penalty, Chet Bunch caught a 9-yard pass from quarterback Mike Scott for the Whitefaces only score of the second half.

An area on which improvement could have been made Friday was the running game. Hereford managed just 37 yards on the ground from 35 attempts. Scott was the leading ground-gainer for the Herd as he ran and scrambled for 15 total yards.

"Part of the reason (for the low rushing total) was that we were not as large up front as Plainview," Taylor said. "We're going to continue working on our running game, though, as well as the passing game."

Passing, Scott joined halfback Stefen Hacker in throwing for eight completions in 15 attempts for 138 yards.

The special teams also played well, Taylor said. Kicking the ball five times and punting four times, the Whitefaces gave up only 28 return yards.

"We've been pleased with our kicking game this year," Taylor said. "Part of the reason they didn't have too many return yards is because we squib kicked most of our kickoffs. Plainview is a dangerous kick-return team."

"We don't get as deep a kick on the squib kicks, but we eliminate some of the danger of a return."

Another big special team play came when Scott stood in for Hacker in punt formation. Facing a fourth-and-16 from the Hereford 4-yard line, Scott took the deep snap and ran off four or five seconds from the clock before getting out of bounds to give Plainview a safety.

"I was being ultra-conservative on that drive," Taylor said.

The 17 points by the Whitefaces were the most scored on the Bulldogs this season.

Deer hunt auctioned

A four-day roe deer hunt in the foothills of the Ardennes mountains is among items donated for a fund-raising auction to follow the Texas Waterfowlers Association dinner Nov. 15 in Hereford.

A bronze by Hereford artist Andrew Wilks and hand-carved swan and snow goose decoys are also to be offered during the 8 p.m. auction at the Knights of Columbus Hall. The second annual event begins with a social hour at 6 p.m. followed by the barbecue dinner at 7:00.

TWA is a non-profit conservation organization established to benefit watering waterfowl in Texas, founded two years ago by Jim Steiert and Mike Smith of Hereford.

The guided roe deer hunt, donated by the Texas Panhandle Guided Hunt Service, is to take place in an area south of Brussels, Belgium. Open to one shooter and an accompanying

A&M and a 106-yard outing versus Kansas.

Kenneth Davis was a big name in Temple, Texas, before his Southwest Conference football career began.

Davis came from a high school football hotbed and was All-State, All-American and the bluest of bluechips.

He was recruited by F.A. Dry at Texas Christian but had a mediocre freshman season and dropped from the public eye.

Under new Coach Jim Wacker, Davis had a few head-turning days as a sophomore but not many folks noticed except those in Temple. He had a 154-yard game against Texas

Seahawks dismiss Franco Harris

By JIM COUR AP Sports Writer
SEATTLE (AP) — When Curt Warner was lost for the season in the Seattle Seahawks' opening game, they called on 34-year-old Franco Harris to try to fill the void.

On Tuesday, after seven games as a member of the Seahawks and still 192 yards short of Jimmy Brown's old record, the National Football League's No. 3 career rushing leader was released by Coach Chuck Knox.

"Franco, Harris and I had a long talk and we kind of mutually agreed

"If Kenneth Davis isn't one of the two best backs in the country then I'd like to know who is," said Wacker. "He is just having an incredible year."

Davis leads the nation in yards per carry (8.4) and is the No. 3 individual rusher with 147.7 yards per game.

He's only the second TCU back in history to top 1,000 yards in one season. Jim Swink is the other.

Davis had touchdown runs of 9, 20, and 60 yards and 173 yards rushing last week in TCU's 38-28 victory over the Baylor Bears.

He earned The Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week award for the third time this season. It was the first time any player has won it three times in one season.

Defensive Player of the Week honors went to Arkansas' Kevin Wyatt who intercepted two passes and blocked a field goal in the Razorbacks' shutdown of the explosive Houston Cougar offense.

Also drawing notice was Texas Tech's Tim Crawford, who caused a fumble that helped the Red Raiders to victory over Tulsa.

Baylor's Ervin Randle praised Davis as a strong runner.

"The thing about him, he just keeps struggling and squirming and suddenly he breaks the long one on you," Randle said.

The 208-pound Davis has rushed for 1,034 yards on 123 carries.

The only other Horned Frog to ever rush for 1,000 yards was Jim Swink, who was a consensus All-American and Heisman Trophy runnerup in 1955.

"I'm surprised that I've already gained 1,000 yards this season," said Davis. "I don't know how many yards I need to break Swink's (all-time TCU single season record) and I'm really not worried about it."

that it would be in everyone's best interest if we released him," Knox said in the surprise announcement. "He made a contribution to our football team. It may not be reflected in the statistics, but he gave us a big lift when we needed it and he's really a class guy. I wish him well."

In his 13th NFL season, the man who helped the Pittsburgh Steelers capture four Super Bowls was slow and tentative as a Seahawks' running back. He bore little resemblance to the slashing fullback who performed in a Steelers' uniform for 12 glory-filled seasons.

His so-called Immaculate Reception for Pittsburgh against Oakland in a 1972 playoff game was only a faded memory.

By releasing Harris, the Seahawks will make him available to the NFL's other 27 clubs.

Asked whether Harris had indicated he wanted to try to play for another club, Knox said, "We didn't get into that."

Harris' agent, Bart Beier, told KDKA-TV in Pittsburgh that the running back's chances of being picked up by another NFL team were slim.

"It's late in the season and unlikely unless someone were injured."

During the dinner, Steiert said, a Ruger 12-gauge over-under shotgun will be awarded in a special membership boost drive.

Tickets to the event are $20, which includes a $10 membership fee good for one year.

Proceeds are to be used to lease waterfowl wintering habitat, primarily in Deaf Smith, Castro and Parker counties.

Lakers, Jazz begin winning

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Lakers and Utah Jazz, division winners last season, finally found the winning combination after opening their National Basketball Association season with two consecutive losses.

Utah, which scored only 94 points in each of its first two outings, rallied in the fourth quarter to defeat the New York Knicks 117-111 Tuesday night.

"It was good to get the first win out of the way," Jazz Coach Frank Layden said. "When we were 0-2, I wondered if someday we might be 0-82."

The Lakers, who lost at San Antonio and Houston over the weekend, returned home Tuesday night and routed the winless Golden State Warriors 144-110.

"The incentive was there to win our first game," said center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who scored 17 points for the Lakers. "We didn't look good over the weekend, and it takes a while to get things going. But we will work things out."

Jazz 117, Knicks 111
Darrell Griffith scored 30 points and center Mark Eaton had 19 rebounds and seven blocked shots, but Utah had to hold New York to 19 points in the fourth quarter to pull out the victory.

The Knicks, who got 24 points from Bernard King, led 100-92 with 9:50 remaining. The Jazz did not take the lead for good until Rickey Green made it 113-111 with 1:41 remaining. 76ers 118, Nets 96

Philadelphia crushed New Jersey in the teams' first meeting since the Nets upset the 76ers in the first round of the playoffs last spring.

Julius Erving scored 22 points for the 76ers, while rookie Charles Barkley added 20 points and 10 rebounds.

Rockets 106, Mavericks 84
Houston, which opened the season with a nationally televised defeat of Dallas, did it again despite subpar games from Twin Towers Ralph Sampson and Akeem Olajuwon.

Sampson made only four of 12 field goal attempts and Olajuwon five of 15, but Lewis Lloyd pitched in 23 points and Rodney McCray 16 points and 12 rebounds for the Rockets.

Blazers 115, Sonics 83

Portland, which won its opener by 21 points, easily improved its record to 2-0 with a rout of Seattle.

Kiki Vandeweghe, who scored 47 points in his first game, added 22 against the SuperSonics while playing less than three quarters. He led six Trail Blazers in double figures, while Tom Chambers topped Seattle with 20 points.

Suns 99, Clippers 96
Patchwork Phoenix improved its record to 3-0, beating Los Angeles as rookie Jay Humphries contributed key points down the stretch.

Sometimes You Have To "Do It All!"

When our early settlers struck out for new opportunities, they had to be prepared to handle any problem that came up.

They had to be the surveyors, the carpenters, the hunters, the farmers, the mechanics, and the doctors.

For most of our country's pioneers, it was "on-the-job-training" that provided them with the skills to cope with what seemed like insurmountable problems.

At our bank, we have a philosophy that's based on the pioneer spirit. It means we work hard to provide financial services that will help you cope with Twentieth Century situations.

We offer savings accounts, checking accounts, individual retirement accounts, home improvement loans and a host of other services designed to make your life easier. And we don't stop here. Every day our staff is looking for new services and programs to serve you even better. It's this kind of dedication that makes us the bank with the pioneer spirit.

Drought persists despite rain

By The Associated Press
Recent deluges, floods, flash-flood warnings and pools of water soaking some front lawns are no indication the drought that has plagued Texas for more than a year is over.

October has been the wettest in recent Texas history, but weather officials say the cracked soil in some farm regions is soaking up water as fast as the rain falls.

It's been the third straight summer in which parts of Texas saw wells and lakes dry up, crops seared and thousands of head of cattle sold off because farmers lacked grazing grass and no money to buy feed. Still, the October rains brought some relief.

"We know this has helped a lot of people. We are in better shape. There's no question about it. But we've still got a long way to go before it (the drought) is over," said Jack Stearman, who minors water supplies for the Texas Department of Water Resources.

There've been some drawbacks, as well.

El Paso, which normally receives less than an inch of rain in October, has gotten twice its normal rainfall for the year. More than 3 inches of rain fell in the area during October and farmers are suffering because they can't get into the drenched fields to harvest cotton and lettuce.

Wheat farmers in North Central Texas say their lands are too drenched to plant.

And other areas, like Houston, are trying to dry out. Last week, about 1,000 people were forced to flee their homes after heavy rains inundated the area.

But the good news since the water began falling some two weeks ago is the end of water rationing for many Texas cities.

Champion American Cross

Twelve-year-old Angela Brumley exhibited "Frosty," judged Champion American Crossbred steer, at the state fair. The 1,250-pound animal was subsequently sold for $3,000. Brumley is a seventh grader at La Plata Junior High School.

Dairy farmers milk profits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dairy farmers continue to make money this year while some other livestock producers are milking red ink, says a new Agriculture Department analysis.

New projections for 1984 show that dairy farmers, on the average, will have about $3.65 left over from the sale of 100 pounds of milk after paying cash expenses. That would be down from $4.14 per hundredweight in 1983.

Even after allowing for replacement costs, the dairy producer's cash flow would show a balance of $1.95 per hundredweight of milk sold. In 1983, it was $2.56 per hundredweight.

The 1984 projections were included Thursday in a new Farmland magazine issued by the department's Economic Research Service.

Officials said the estimates were based on an assumption that milk sales would average $14.42 per 100 pounds this year, down from $14.68 in 1983. Cash expenses, not counting replacements, were shown at $10.77 against $10.54 last year.

Thus, cash receipts minus cash expenses would mean $3.65 left over from the sale of 100 pounds of milk, compared with $4.14 in 1983. Adding replacement costs $1.70 for 1984 and $1.58 in 1983 would leave balances of $1.95 and $2.56, respectively.

Comparatively, the report showed that the cash receipts of a typical beef cow-calf operation are expected to average $265.59 per cow this year, up from $247.18 in 1983. Cash expenses were projected at $261.60 per cow, compared with $260.15 last year.

On that basis, the 1984 net would be $3.99 per cow against a loss of $12.97 per cow in 1983.

When replacement costs are included, the 1984 cow is expected to lose $65.70 for its owner, compared with a loss of $78.35 last year. Replacement costs were shown at $69.29 for this year and $65.38 in 1983.

Looking at feedlots and farmers who feed cattle, the report projected 1984 cash receipts at $64.99 per 100 pounds, compared with $62.12 last year. Cash expenses for producing fed cattle were put at $66.87 per hundredweight against $67.58 in 1983.

Cash expenses plus replacement costs were computed at $68.15 in 1984 and $68.79 last year.

In both cases, operators lost money. Counting replacement costs, $3.17 per hundredweight of fed beef this year, compared with $6.67 in 1983.

Reserve Champion Hampshire Lamb

Four hundred twenty-five dollars was fetched for "Cujo," shown at the recent State Fair of Texas junior division lamb competition by Shawn Rickman of Hereford. Cujo weighed 113 pounds and was one of about 150 in the competition. Rickman, 17, is a senior at Hereford High School.

Back-breaking labor vs. tough-minded farming

Some confuse working harder with working smarter.

Some things are hard to break. Like strong backs. And old habits.

One habit ready to be broken is old-fashioned flood irrigation. It takes a lot of hard work, yet delivers very uneven, spotty results.

And it takes a lot of water — water that seems to become more scarce and more expensive every year.

That's why so many irrigators are going with a Valley irrigation system. Tough. Strong. Dependable. Precise. Using only as much water as the plants need. Evenly across the entire field.

Plus, growers have found that chemical application costs can also be dramatically reduced by using the system to apply many chemicals. Evenly and at the right time.

A Valley system helps you move from back-breaking labor to tough-minded farming. Ask for the free booklet, "Flood vs. Mechanized Irrigation: The Valley Advantage." Read for yourself why more than 50,000 Valley systems are operating today. Stop by, give us a call or drop us a letter. We're your Valley dealer.

Rest easy. It's a Valley.

COMBEST COMMENTS

By Larry Combest

Cotton Prices and the '85 Farm Bill

Going into the '84 crop there was a realistic hope for good prices. At the time of sign-up it didn't look like there'd be much of a deficiency payment. The demand was there, surplus was low, and carry over stocks were at a level we could live with. So a lot of producers went outside the program.

This year cotton yields are good, not great, but better than the 330 averages we've been getting lately. But the price is not there. Consumer demand is off; mill demand is off. Cotton farmers are facing no demand this year and loan price; surplus next year and loan price. The base loan rate is 55.2 cents for the South Plains and we're lucky if our cotton will average 50 cents. Farmers can't put their cotton in a government loan and make a living at it.

Part of the reason for the low demand and low price is the high value of the dollar overseas. Also China has come into the market with 20 to 25 million bales taking over some of the markets we developed. We need additional export credits or restrictions so that when we develop a market it has to stay with us for a certain period of time.

I believe another reason is the $50,000 payment limitation. With a 400 pound yield and an estimated deficiency payment of 19.8 cents in 1985, it only takes 631.3 acres to reach the payment limitation. That's not good enough to encourage participation by a lot of family farms. We need to raise the limitations so more farms can participate and program controls will be more effective and fair for ever, one.

Also, the present method of figuring the deficiency payment is not fair to us. Market prices for California producers, who historically do not participate in the program as much as we do, drive the market price up and decrease deficiency payments for us. They benefit from receiving a higher price for their product and from our lower market price which increases the deficiency payment they would get otherwise. This is just not fair. We need to seriously consider setting market price on a regional basis so that our payment is based on a fair consideration of our market situation.

We need to do all we can get all the cotton belt producers going in the same direction and participating fairly in program.

This year we made a good crop and look what happened. What's going to happen next year if we don't make a crop?

We can't afford to be pushed aside when the '85 Farm Bill is written. The administration has got to be made aware of the value of our production and participation in farm programs. We contribute more than our share and we deserve to have something directed towards us. Something that will help raise our prices to a profitable level.

An effective farm bill must ensure that the price is going to be there. To do that we need more controls on production. It's better to raise 100 acres at a profit than 125 acres at a loss. And a loan is not the answer.

Next year's farm programs must address the price problems of the South Plains. Our future depends on it. I ask your support for Congress to see that this is done, to listen to your problems and suggestions and then to fight for your future when the next farm bill is written.

I farmed in West Texas for most of my life. I know our future depends not only on the weather but on the farm programs made in Washington. I know how hard it is for the family farmer to make a living today.

No one has all the answers, and I don't believe I can change things overnight; but, if elected, I will make the government aware of our critical problem of low prices. I will stand up for the interests of the South Plains when the farm bill is written. And I will meet with the Secretary and his staff before any farm program is written or announced and do everything I possibly can to see that it is fair and effective for West Texas.

I will represent you in Washington. I ask for your support on November 6th.

Larry Combest is a fourth generation West Texan. He was elected Area President of the F.F.A. and received the Lone Star Degree and the Santa Fe Award. Larry served West Texas as County Director of the A.S.C.S. and as legislative assistant for agriculture policy for Senator John Tower. He is the Republican candidate for Congress.

You don't have to get burned to learn

Check resale values now... avoid up to $8,000 in nasty surprises

The importance of resale value can sometimes be a tough lesson. Especially if you learn it the hard way.

That's why we urge you to check resale values now... before you make an expensive mistake.

The fact is that some tractors touting a "super discount" when you buy them carry another "super discount" when you sell them.

Compare John Deere with our two leading competitors. According to the Spring 1984 Official Guide of the National Farm and Power Equipment Dealers Association, the average 5-year-old John Deere 4440 sells for 106 percent of its 1979 list price. One leading competitor averages 87 percent of its 1979 list price. The other averages 73 percent.

What's that mean in dollars? Add the John Deere gain on original price to the competitor's loss. The John Deere advantage is as much as $8,938!

That could be a nasty surprise. Especially if you gave up John Deere productivity, fuel efficiency and comfort because you wanted to save money.

See your John Deere dealer. He'll be happy to show you how you can save money on a new John Deere: 100-hp 4050, 120-hp 4250, 140-hp 4450, 165-hp 4650 or 190-hp 4850.

NOTE: Average resale prices taken from Spring 1984 Official Guide of The National Farm and Power Equipment Dealers Association. Percentages calculated from best currently available information on 1979 list prices.

Ann Landers

Have any answers?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: "Burbank Motorist" referred to the inconsiderate slob of a driver as "King of the Road." I think "Road Hog" would have been more appropriate.

The road hog causes me concern, but so do some of the remarks made by "Burbank Motorist." For example, he boasted, "I will not yield the right of way unless you are driving a fire truck or an ambulance."

I wonder if anyone ever told Burbank that none of the dead and few of the injured care who had the right of way. I also wonder about the countless accidents that could have been prevented if some driver had not been too bullheaded to yield the legal right of way.

I wonder, too, if Burbank is one of those drivers on a four-lane highway who refuses to speed up, slow down or change lanes to allow faster-moving traffic to pass.

Or, is he one of those drivers who would force a motorist to sit in a left turn lane for 15 minutes rather than stop for 10 seconds and allow him to turn?

Our roadways are no place for playing games like Get Mad, Get Stubborn or Get Even.

When I was first learning to drive, my father gave me some advice. I would like to pass it along. "When you get behind a steering wheel, follow two rules and you will have little or no problem with the laws or other motorists. They are the rule of common sense and the rule of common courtesy."—No Sweat In Oregon

DEAR NO SWEAT: I hope every reader who drives a car (or motorcycle) will keep this one taped to his bathroom mirror for one week. It's chock full of good sense.

Here's more on the same subject:

DEAR ANNIE: I say a word to "Burbank Motorist"? Those self-righteous bullies abound, hourly, by the score in this neck of the woods. A word of caution is clearly in order. This bit of verse says it well:

Here lies the body of William Jay,

Bargain hunters bidding

HOUSTON (AP) — Oil industry bargain hunters from 21 states and a dozen countries are bidding on almost $20 million worth of surplus drilling and production equipment being auctioned by Hughes Tool Co. and other oil field supply firms.

"We believe this is the most new equipment ever offered at a single auction," said Tom Crouch, chief executive officer of Hughes Tool Co., the auctioneering firm.

The auction, which started Tuesday, might go over its scheduled three days, Crouch said, but he hoped to "have a long day (today) with 1,200 (lots) and finish."

The oil field supply companies have far more equipment than they can use since the collapse of the petroleum market more than two years ago.

"Since I've been in this business, I've never seen a sale that has drawn so much interest," said Jim Davis, president of Jim Davis Auctioneers Inc. of Dallas. "The Hughes name has drawn them out of the woodwork."

Davis said the 3,000 lots in the auction would draw between 25 and 35 percent of the $20 million the company estimates they were worth.

E.C. Broun Jr., executive vice president of Hughes Tool, said the auction was the best way to dispose of excess inventory quickly.

"We reviewed our inventory and identified the products we don't think we can sell within the next two years," he said. "It costs 25 percent a year to carry the inventory. The auction was the best form of asset management we could determine."

Hughes Tool is an oilfield equipment manufacturer and service company.

Auction officials showed a slide of each lot — some of which contained several pieces of equipment — as those present offered bids on them. Davis, the auctioneer, was aided by eight "ringmen," who were scattered among the 375 registered bidders.

Charlie Beardon of Jack Bearden Drilling Co. in Wichita Falls, said his firm came out ahead in the auction. He paid $3,800 for a hook used on a drilling rig, less than 20 percent of its $20,000 price tag.

"We needed one of this type," he said. "We've got one in the shop just like it that will cost $7,500 to repair. So we still came out ahead."

For a flight to Corpus Christi

Mattox considers reimbursement

AUSTIN (AP) — Attorney General Jim Mattox is considering reimbursing the state for a flight to Corpus Christi even though he was on official state business when he attended a political fundraiser, Mattox's press secretary says.

State Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower and Texas Supreme Court Justice Raul Gonzalez have already reimbursed the state for the Oct. 9 flight after reporters asked questions about the official purpose of the trip.

State law prohibits the use of state airplanes for political or personal use.

All of those on the plane, including Mattox, attended a $25-a-person fundraiser for Democratic state Sen. Carlos Truan of Corpus Christi.

Hightower sent a $190 check to the state Department of Human Resources, which operates the airplane, to pay for himself and an aide, The Dallas Morning News reported Tuesday.

Gonzalez, who was sworn in as a Supreme Court justice the day before the flight, reimbursed the state $120 for the flight, an aide said.

Mattox was considering reimbursing the state, said his press secretary, Elna Christopher. She had told the Houston Chronicle on Friday that the attorney general had no intention of reimbursing the state.

"Jim was told the plane was going on state business," Ms. Christopher said. "But, because of the questions raised why the plane was going to Corpus Christi, he is considering possible reimbursement, even though he was on state business."

Among other state business, Ms. Christopher said Mattox had discussed new pesticide regulations with Hightower on the plane and also had done some recruiting for his office at the Truan fundraiser.

Some people say it's good luck to sleep with a cat.

On GOP gains

Despite Reagan's lead, odds long

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is acting like his re-election is a certainty, but even if he wins by a landslide next Tuesday the odds are his coattails won't be long enough to give the Republicans major gains in Congress.

Historically, re-election landslides don't have much pull for the president's party. The most graphic example of that was in 1972, when Richard Nixon carried 49 states but the Democrats picked up two Senate seats while GOP gains in the House totaled only 13 seats.

Reagan would like to repeat his 1980 feat when he was elected by a landslide and Republicans picked up 12 seats in the Senate and 33 in the House. An example of what coattails can do is the fact that in 1980, Republican Senate candidates won seven of the nine contests decided by no more than 2 percent of the vote.

"Win those races for the Gipper," is a Reagan theme as the 1984 campaign winds down.

"For heaven's sake, don't tie one hand behind Ronald Reagan's back when you send us a congressman," implores Vice President George Bush as he tries to help out GOP candidates.

Meanwhile, Walter F. Mondale and his Democratic allies are trying to convince voters the presidential race isn't over, that the polls are missing a last-minute surge in his direction.

"There's something going on in this country and the polls aren't getting it," argues Mondale as he draws sustenance from huge crowds that come to cheer his attacks on the Republican president.

Democratic Party chairman Charles T. Manatt predicted earlier this week that his party would pick up at least three Senate seats — they need six to regain control. He also forecast a wash in the House, with a movement of no more than five or 10 seats in either direction. The Democrats have a 99-seat majority in the House.

Republicans aren't making any big claims for Senate gains and are talking about gains of 15 to 25 seats in the House.
