Strike May Idle Holly Plant

Schedule Is Hit By Mass Walkoff

On-again, off-again seemed to be the order of the day Friday as workers at the Holly Sugar Plant remained on strike after the pipefitters put up a picket line Friday morning, leaving some 1200 men off work for the day.

(Construction is on a five-day week; thus work halts every Saturday.)

The pipefitters originally left the job Wednesday afternoon at 2 p.m. They did not establish a picket line Thursday morning, but all 260 assembled outside the gate at the plant and left after the whistle blew, which summoned the men to work.

Rumors began spreading around the worksite that other crafts would go on strike against the H. K. Ferguson Co. and that a picket line would be put up Friday morning.

The picket was put up by the pipefitters, represented by Plumbers and Steam Fitters Local No. 196, Amarillo, and the sign read "H. K. Ferguson is unfair to me".

The strike was 100 percent effective as no crafts crossed the picket lines, according to sources at the strike scene. A few workers were in the plant before the picket sign arrived, but they soon left the plant as construction was completely shut down.

Bob Harris, project manager for the H. K. Ferguson Construction Co., was not available for comment.

Curtis Johnson, secretary for Local No. 196 was on vacation, according to sources in the Amarillo office and Assistant Secretary Charles Barrett was reached by telephone, but refused to comment on the strike.

The grievances of the pipefitters apparently stemmed from the work being done by other crafts, that should have been done by the pipefitters, under the terms negotiated in the original contract, the workers explained.

Rumors spread around the plant that work would continue at noon, but the picket sign remained at the entrance to the plant and less than 10 persons crossed the line.

The picket lines were removed at 2:30 p.m. Friday afternoon, but it was not known whether they were being removed permanently or whether they were just removing them for the day.

During the last strike, more than 90 percent of the workers walked off the job, causing more than five days with construction at a standstill.

A temporary injunction was placed on the sheetmetal workers when they walked off the Ferguson site on April 28. The injunction was signed by District Judge Harry Schultz and was extended until September 30, practically eliminating the possibility of a grievances hearing before the scheduled completion of the plant, sometime in September.

All of the workers waited at the entrance to the plant site Friday morning, somewhat congesting the flow of traffic to the plant. Deputy sheriffs of the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department were on hand to prevent any possible trouble, but the workers began to leave the plant and by 9:30 p.m. less than 100 men were at the gate.

PIPEFITTERS PICKET — One of the 260 pipefitters at the Holly Sugar Plant, being constructed by H. K. Ferguson Co. is shown here as he carried a sign protesting job conditions at the plant site. The strike threw more than 1200 men off work Friday. It is expected to continue through Monday or until grievances are heard.

They Deserved It, He Claims

Speeders 'Fined' By Fake Cop

Garrett Brock Trapnell, 26, self-appointed constable of non-existent Garrett Township, N.M., was brought to Hereford, where he signed an extradition waiver, and was then taken to Tucuman, where he was held on a $5000 bond.

Trapnell was arrested one-half mile east of Glen Rio, N.M., by New Mexico Highway Patrolman A. L. Mitchell and Texas Highway Patrolman Dick Burchfield, after a truck driver tipped New Mexico police about a suspicious car.

Trapnell is charged with bilking motorists on busy U. S. 66 with a plastic pistol and toy badge. He collected fines and bonds for speeding, police say.

He related tales of criminal adventure to the two patrolmen enroute to Hereford after his arrest.

Trapnell told reporters that he had done nothing wrong, as all of the people he had fined were actually violating the law.

But, District Attorney Victor C. Breen, Tucuman, had a different idea, as he filed the extradition and impersonating an officer charges against Trapnell in the 10th Judicial Court.

Police found in Trapnell's possession, according to Patrolman Mitchell, dime store constable and deputy sheriff badges, a "Dick Tracy-type plastic pistol," receipts, a rubber stamp to make them look official, tickets with the Garrett Township form printed on them and a pair of portable spotlights.

Mitchell and Patrolman Burchfield had been working on the case since last week, when three complaints were received at the Albuquerque headquarters of the New Mexico State Police.

After the tip from the truck driver, Mitchell headed east from San Jon N.M., and Burchfield closed in from Vega. They found Trapnell, wearing a gray khaki uniform with a blue jacket, in a parked car just east of the state line.

Mitchell said that Trapnell's lengthy statement indicated "there could have been as many as 250 of these tickets written throughout the United States, and that's a conservative estimate."

He told officers, enroute to Hereford Jaycees will conduct their annual light bulb sale Aug. 18 and 19, David Heck, chairman, said Saturday. The club will offer package bulbs in door-to-door sales, with a wage ranging from 60 to 100 cents. The profit from the sales will go into the club's treasury to support its civic activities, club members explained.

Cub Scout and Boy Scout leaders of the Tierra Blanca district of Boy Scouts will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Center when program material for the coming year will be made available and leaders will plan the coming year. O. L. Cick, district commissioner, asked that all den mothers, cubmasters, scoutmasters, assistants and committee members attend this meeting to receive information about the coming year's program.

Deaf Smith county graduates of Happy High School are invited to the school's annual homecoming and reunion, sponsors said Saturday. The event is not scheduled until Oct. 2, it was explained, "but we are already making plans and hope to make this year's reunion the biggest in the history of the school. The baseball team of 1924 will be honored and classes of '45 will be featured, starting with 1924 and continuing through 1964."

Bippus community is planning a homecoming at its community house Sunday, Aug. 16, says Mrs. Jimmy D. Bradley, secretary of the Bippus Community Church. Program will include a basket lunch and singing session.

Midshipman 2/c James R. Reinauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe F. Reinauer, Route 4, Hereford, is one of a group of midshipmen from the University of Texas attending a three-week aviation field trip at the Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi.

Among 323 students seeking degrees at the Aug. 21 graduation ceremony at Texas A&M University is Nollie Gregory Elliston, Route 3, Hereford, a candidate for doctor of veterinary medicine degree.

Hereford Men's Bowling Association will plan its 1964-65 season at a meeting Friday night in the north room of the Community Center, L. J. Clark, secretary, announced Saturday. The association expects to have 26 or more teams this season. Directors are to meet Thursday night with A. L. McDonald, Dallas, area director of American Bowling Club. The local club expects to start league play the second week in September.

Central Church of Christ has finished Family Vacation Bible School here with attendance Wednesday night hitting 442. Average for the school was 415 with more than 500 enrolled. Marvin Crosson, personal evangelist for the church, said Saturday.

Grand Jury Hands Down 17 $5000 Mare Hit By Car; Leg Is Lost

A 6th Judicial District Grand Jury met for the first session of the new term this past week and returned 17 indictments and four no-bills.

Several guilty pleas were heard by District Judge Harry Schultz, following the return of the indictments.

Andrew Wilson Jackson was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary after he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of second offense driving while intoxicated.

David G. Torres Jr. was given a four years' probation sentence after he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of second offense failure to pay child support.

Daniso Behan Castillo was given three years' probation sentence after he entered a plea of guilty before Judge Schultz of second offense driving while intoxicated.

Clifford R. Trammell entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of attempted burglary, but two companions, Donald R. Farrell and Donnie R. Farrell were sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary after they entered a plea of guilty before Judge Schultz to a similar charge.

Other persons involved in the indictments returned were not in custody of the sheriff's department and names were withheld until the persons could be located.

One of the no-bills was returned to the county court for trial.

This session was the first for the new grand jury which was composed of Mrs. S. O. Wilson, J. B. Noland, Owen Andrews, Byron Durham, W. J. Albracht, A. C. Hudson, Jack Weaver, Mrs. Wayne Higgins, Dexter Little, Mrs. R. L. Pinnell, Mrs. Lewis Woodford and E. J. Kirksey.

Kirksey was elected foreman of the new grand jury at the opening of the term Monday.

The session began Monday morning, but was postponed until 9 a.m. Wednesday due to the absence of the district judge.

Band Pancake Supper Is Set

Hereford High School Sweepstakes Band will have a pancake supper Friday on the Sunset Food Center parking lot, it was announced this week.

The pancake supper will be sponsored by the Band-Aides, the parents representative organization for the band.

Tickets for the event are on sale and can be purchased from any band student.

The tickets are being sold for $3.75 each and all pre-school children will be admitted free, if accompanied by adults.

The Band Aides officers for the coming year are Mrs. Glenn B. Allred, president; Mrs. Roy Boyer, secretary, and Mrs. Floyd Coker, vice-president.

Peppy Chocha, a Quarter Horse valued at more than $5000, was struck by a car on the Jack Renfro Estate late Wednesday, breaking the horse's leg and necessitating the amputation of the right hind leg of the mare.

The rare operation was performed by Dr. Gene Cope, a Hereford Veterinarian.

The mare was placed on sedatives during the night and was given anesthesia prior to the operation.

The horse is up and eating oats, according to Ben L. Thomas, trainer.

Thomas said the horse will be fitted with an artificial leg and will be used as broodmare. The mare is in foal, according to Thomas.

Thomas said this was to his knowledge, only the second attempt to save a horse by amputating a leg. A valuable quarter horse stallion at Canadian was successfully fitted with an artificial leg several years ago.

Witnesses said the horse was thrown over the top of the car, by the impact, sat up and ran some 200 yards to the barn.

The mare was struck on a county road that runs through the Renfro ranch.

The mare had been grand champion at several Quarter Horse shows, since she was purchased by the Renfro estate.

Such operations were impossible until a few years ago, and horses with broken legs were shot "to get them out of their misery." Veterinary science has made great strides in extending the lives of valuable animals.

The Renfro Estate has been breeding Quarter Horses for some years.

Shrine Circus Date Announced

"The Big Top" is coming to town — but without a top.

It's the annual Rudy Bros. circus which is to be presented Monday, Aug. 17, at the Hereford Football stadium under direction of Oasis Shrine club.

The announcement was made Saturday by Wayne Phillips and J. W. Robinson, co-chairmen of the event. Two shows are to be staged — one at 2:15 p.m. and another at 8:15 p.m.

Admission will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students. Funds are to be used for the Oasis club's annual children's clinic.

As in the past, a variety of acts, running the gamut from clowns to dare-devil trapeze acts without nets will feature the two-hour show. New costumes, new acts and new production numbers are promised.

Going East? Here's What To See — Part VII

The 'Village' Has Everything

Whether you want to buy a painting, see a play, purchase a rare book, or eat some of the most exotic food in New York, Greenwich Village is the place to go.

The village, which is bounded on the north by 14th street, and on the east by Broadway, is roughly triangular shaped. It is often associated with Bohemianism, struggling artists, exotic night clubs and restaurants and although all of these things are true, to some degree, Greenwich village has much more to offer the tourist in New York.

The streets in the Village are so narrow that it is very difficult for two buses to pass each other without getting a dented fender. The buildings along the sides of many of the streets seem to come up almost to the edge of the streets with only a small space left for a sidewalk.

Most of these buildings are apartment houses and although from the outside it is very easy to imagine that some struggling young artist has his first studio in one of the rooms, it is more likely the home of some New York lawyer, doctor or some famous actor or writer. It is not unusual for some two room apartments to be renting for $90 a month and a spacious five or six room apartment may rent for as much as $500 a month.

Not only are the prices of apartments very high in Greenwich Village but there is a waiting list of three and four years for some of the apartments.

There are places where the struggling artist and not so wealthy intellectual can live but these are on the edge of the village and do not have the atmosphere of the tightly spaced apartment houses.

Greenwich Village is truly the home of the artist and the intellectual. Nowhere else in the world are there so many book stores and art shops in such a small area. It is not unusual to walk into one of these art shops and see a painting which sells for $15,000 hanging on the wall next to one that sells for $15.

Another thing about the people of the Village is that they are in no hurry to get anywhere and do not seem to mind the tourist who comes in to their shop and browses through the merchandise.

At the end of Fifth Avenue is Washington square. The square is dominated by Washington arch, which was erected in 1892. This square for many years has been the center of high society in the Village. Even today it is a place where they can walk their dogs, stroll on a Sunday afternoon or sit quietly on the lawn and read their favorite book.

In the morning it is possible to see a man, in his dress suit from the night before, and young woman dressed in blue jeans and a sweat shirt with paint splattered down the front, sitting on a bench on Washington Square together passing the time of day.

The campus of New York University is located near the Village and many of the intellectuals either live in the village or go there for studying or meditating.

Often times a philosophy of one of these students or a group of them can be found scribbled on the sidewalk in chalk or written on the side of a building.

It is possible to find almost any type food in the world in the Village. Some of the restaurants range from the Purple Onion, to Andres, to Italian Delight, to Asti's (a place where oera is sung while the customers eat).

Greenwich Village is also known for its off Broadway plays, which are supposedly the best in New York. These plays are often performed in small theatres by struggling young actors but the quality is often times very good.

lecting bonds and fines that ran from $5 to $20.
"He said he knows state and local police can't be everywhere at once," Mitchell said, so he checks the location of police before going to work.

Trapnell worked during the hours just before dawn, when a minimum of police were on the road and when motorists were tired and only wanting to get a cup of coffee.

"He travels first class," Mitchell said. He rents cars similar to the white patrol cars in use throughout the country."

Trapnell once claimed that he stopped motorists as a public service and that he let several go with a warning.

Trapnell's tales left police baffled about his residence. "He's from all over, but we think now we'll describe his home as Baltimore and Houston," Mitchell said.

But police did find that Trapnell came into this area July 25 and stayed two days. Complaints were reported in area newspapers.

Police were afraid that the constable of Garrett Township would go into permanent retirement after reading the stories, but Trapnell came back Wednesday.

Police are not certain just how many tickets Trapnell issued, as he had many different versions. Once it was 10' in the Glen Rio area.

He worked in a construction area just over the state line. The speed limit drops from 60 i.p.h. to 45 m.p.h. at that point.

Federal authorities are checking Trapnell to see if he has violated the Dyer Act, prohibiting the interstate transportation of stolen cars.

Reading Clinic At WTSU Set For This Week

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday are the days for the 1964 Reading Conference at West Texas State University, Canyon, according to Miss Della Stagner, Hereford Elementary Grade Coordinator and information from the office of Superintendent of Schools Darrell Williams.

At this annual short course open to parents as well as teachers (all levels and all subjects), librarians, and school administrators, guest speakers highlight the session with section meetings and other features tailored to spark interest and action on this urgent phase of citizenship, education, and progress today.

Special addresses and instructional sessions will be given by Dr. Theodore W. Clymer, University of Minnesota; Dr. Geneva Hanna, University of Texas; and Dr. M. Agnella

Gunn, Boston University. Sponsors of the conference — Texas Association for the Improvement of Reading and West Texas State University — will have leaders and authorities in this field participating in this special session.

Addresses will cover these areas of reading improvement:
Living Through Books
Critical and Creative Reading
The Challenge of Individual Differences
The New and the Old
Permanent Interest in Reading
Toward Maturity through Reading
Skills Needed in Teaching Literature
Evaluating Pupil Progress.

Sectional meetings for new instruction on teaching and learning, discussion periods, give-and-take forums on goals and procedures, clinical methods will include these subjects:
Adult Books and Young People
Phonics: Ways and Means
Improving Comprehension
Interpreting the Reading Program to the Public
Teaching Pupils How to Study
Teaching the Spanish Speaking Child.

Other features offering unusual opportunities to those attending the conference are textbooks exhibits, films and tapes, library book displays, and visits to the Reading Clinic.

Meetings will be held in the air-conditioned Student Union Building. Registration daily will be held there.

Fees for the entire conference are $7.50; $3.00 for one day. Lunch at the University cafeteria will be $1.00.

For further information, interested parents, teachers, and others may contact the office of Darrell Williams, Superintendent of Hereford Public Schools; or Miss Della Stagner, Elementary Grade School Coordinator for Hereford Schools; or Dr. Ruth Lowes, WTSU, Canyon.

Murdered English Diz's Trademark

By Harold V. Ratliff
Associated Press Sports Writer

Paul Richards, the baseball genius, once said of Dizzy Dean: "If he ever gets smart, he's through."

Paul was talking about Dizzy's fracture of the English language, something he has exploited into thousands of dollars for these many years.

And his natural color and ability to talk the way the fans like have made him into a baseball legend.

Reportedly, the great man gets $85,000 a year. He has been earning big money for 24 years, first on radio and then on the magic screen of television.

We knew Dean when he made his baseball start in the Texas League. He packed in the fans at Houston then went to the big leagues. There he was the last pitcher to win 30 games in a season.

He developed buritis and had to give it up. However, radio beckoned and Diz, then living near Dallas, made it big.

He got into hot water with the school teachers because of "he threw him out from third," "the players returned to their respectable bases" and "he slid into home."

But the educators finally realized that Diz was talking the language the public liked and that he was adding a fillip to the sometimes dull game of baseball. So they decided they would take care of the English language for the kids while Diz taught them baseball.

Dan works with Pee Wee Reese, the old Brooklyn Dodgers star, in televising baseball games these days. They make quite a pair. Reese uses good English and gives the broadcast a polish that furnishes a contrast to Dizzy's faux pas with the language. It makes for both entertainment and information.

Listening to Dean describe a ball game with suitable side remarks, you realize that he uses the same terms and the same style of delivery he employed when his voice first hit the air waves a quarter of a century ago. And he has added many colorful expressions.

"You ain't just a bumpin' your gums," he says enthusiastically to Pee Wee over some comment the little former shortstop makes.

Dizzy had rather praise than criticize but he never has developed much of an affinity for umpires. Once he said of an arbiter named McKinley: "They shot the wrong McKinley."

Reese, noting that a player rolled his pants up higher than the others, said, "That's so the umpire can see where his knees are."

"Some of 'em probably do," said Dean grudgingly.

He'll admit that "umpires call 'em from the heart" but he still doesn't often praise them for efficiency.

"You made a record of the Wabash-Cannon Ball didn't you?" asked Reese when Dizzy unexpectedly broke into song. "Yeah," replied Dean, "and we sold two copies — I bought one myself."

Reese remarked that he was in the Navy once. "I was on a cargo ship," he explained. "Oh," said Dean, "you took care of the luggage."

Dean described a pitch as an "agittatin' curve." One that got away was a "woosh curve — he wooshed it was over the plate."

The hard-swinging batter was "goin' for the downs" — football term — meaning he was trying to knock the ball out of the lot. The blooper just over shortstop that nobody could get to was a "dyin' swan — he hit it on his fist." The guy thrown out was a "dead duck."

He commented on an outting catch with "He went into the upper strategy for that one."

His terms are indeed colorful. "He rared back and farred that one." The score is nuthin'-nuthin'. "He almost dehorned the pitcher." "That ball was tagged was a blue darter." "The pitch come down there lookin' like a big overgrown pumpkin."

Sometimes he helps the fans with "as you seen on your screen." Other times, when he's probably not thinking about outting up the language, he uses the proper term "saw."

At one time, in an obviously unguarded moment, he said "He threw him out" instead of "threwed."

One of the funniest remarks came the day Dizzy was giving the language a few jolts when a co-worker asked "Don't you know the king's English?" "I don't care if he is," shot back the irrepressible one.

Reckon it ain't — oops, isn't — time to vote Dean into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame. He was born in Arkansas but is more noted for his sojourn in Texas where he got his start in baseball, then brought fame to the state with his pitching feats and colorful doing in the majors and on the air.

Hereford Folk Can See Postoffice Of Future

Visitors to the New York World's Fair from Hereford have an unusual opportunity to see a post office of the future, Postmaster Nolan Grady said today.

A carefully-chosen group of 80 employees from New York area post offices man the facility which handles all the Fair's mail and some from the Flushing, N. Y. area. The outside mail is used to keep the highly mechanized devices operating at "full tilt."

The post office handles approximately 250,000 pieces of mail each day.

Postcards to friends and relatives back home are a big item. About 30,000 are mailed from the fair each day. One third of these are addressed to persons overseas.

Foreign visitors have no trouble understanding U. S. postal operations. The facility has staff members who speak twenty languages.

Postmaster Grady notes that residents of Hereford who attend the Fair and wish to try out their foreign language ability can either talk with the multilingual window clerks or listen to a tape recorded presentation in the post office lobby which features individual earphones for those who speak Japanese, French, German, Italian and Spanish.

New equipment on hand includes an experimental Pitney-Bowes Centrifex which spins envelopes rapidly around a wheel-like mechanism and places them upright on their longest side. They move into a machine which cancels stamps and postmarks, envelopes at a rate of 500 letters a minute.

Letters are sorted to go all over the world by machines which position the mail so that the addresses are visible to an operator who sits in front of a keyboard similar to that of a typewriter. By pressing the correct buttons, 100 letters a minute are automatically directed to bins for 50 different destinations.

Cancer Society Memorial Fund Setup Planned

In response to numerous requests from families and individuals, the American Cancer Society has inaugurated a memorial fund to which families and friends of cancer victims may contribute, according to Mrs. Sue James, memorial chairman of the Deaf Smith County Unit.

"The memorial fund has been established because so many families and individuals have sought a way to commemorate a loved one who has died of cancer," Mrs. James said.

"Contributions made in memory of a friend or a member of the family are acknowledged by the American Cancer Society, and a memorial card is sent to the family stating that a memorial has been received and giving the name of the donor. These contributions may be in any amount," Mrs. James said.

Mrs. James said, "Memorial funds are used to support the Society's three-fold attack on cancer through research, education and service."

"Although the major source of funds for this program comes from the Society's annual April Crusade, memorial funds received throughout the year are becoming of increasing importance to the Society as more families and individuals become aware that they can contribute in the name of a loved one to the ultimate victory over this dread disease," Mrs. James said.

"Memorial funds should be sent to the American Cancer Society, First National Bank, Hereford," Mrs. James said.

The work area is surmounted by a ramp and gallery for operators which is open from 1 to 6 p.m., seven days a week. A tape recorded vignette plays the action on the floor and describe the tions of each machine.

Outside the building, boxes from 21 countries as background for the white and blue box of the United States.

GOP Outlines Door-To-Door Campaign Here

Deaf Smith County Republicans met at First National Bank Thursday evening and discussed plans for their house-to-house campaign to be staged in the near future.

Keith Jorde, county party chairman, made the following statement to those attending the meeting:

"Our country is currently experiencing a re-birth of purpose which is going to force some changes in Washington after November. Thirty years of new dealers, fair dealers, and now wheeler dealers with the resulting break-down in public morals has produced the Bobby Bakers and Billy Sols of this administration. The roles and responsibilities of local and state governments have continually been destroyed and usurped by expanding Federal power. Our foreign policy under Democratic rule has resulted in the enslavement of millions of people who desire freedom just as much as we do. The Republican party, under the leadership of Barry Goldwater, is dedicated to respecting the roles of state and local government and safeguarding the rights of all individuals. The spiritual values that made our nation great must be estimated in a moral code in our government. These objectives effect our daily lives, and, more important, our children's future. For this reason, we are asking anyone who would like to work for these goals to contact the Deaf Smith County Republican Headquarters, EM 4-1655. Good government requires active participation by many people. America can be no better than what we make it by our individual efforts."

Frank Ford, a precinct chairman, pointed out that the local campaign is to be "for Barry — not anti - LBJ". Ford said that the Republican party is "dedicated to principles and not to expedient politics".

Republicans were reminded that they needed money to meet campaign pledges from this area.

of Harvey J. Walker. The High Plains Research Station has plots in the Hale-Lamb-Balley County area. These are under the direction of Dr. Arthur Goltske.

The station at Bushland has several field plots in the area. One milo trial is located on the Charles Heck, Jr., farm south of Nazareth in Castro County. This is a study of nitrogen and phosphorus rates. A similar milo trial is located on the Gerald McCasland farm in Deaf Smith County which is about 2 miles west of Hereford. A potassium rate study is located on the George Sides farm near Dimmitt in Castro County. These tests are being conducted by Wendell Robertson.

Watch these experiments through the season and check results. After they are harvested and yield results are available, I hope to discuss them in future columns.

Research Aids Farm Outputs, Agronomist Says

By W. F. "Bill" Bennett, Agronomist

Experiment stations and research workers provide an excellent service to farmers in this area. Their results have both immediate and long-range benefits. These researchers not only carry out research at the stations but also carry on some outlying field research in farmers' fields. These plots are of immediate value to farmers in the surrounding area.

Experiment stations serving this area are the South Plains Research and Extension Center at Lubbock; the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway; and the Southern Great Plains Field Station at Bushland.

Some of the tests conducted in this area by the Lubbock station are as follows: A sugar beet test on N, P and K rates is located on the R. Young farm north of Dimmitt. Two potash rate tests on cotton are located in Lamb County. These are on the Roy Hutson farm and the Fieldton farm. A multinutrient test including minor elements on cotton is located on the T. R. Johnson farm in Lamb County. These tests are under the supervision

Labor Camp Residents Present Their Story

Following an article in The Sunday Brand, Aug. 2, some citizens of Hereford's Labor Camp wanted to make a "reply." Following are letters from them.

Editor: I found several errors about the Labor Camp and about the people living in the Labor Camp. Much to all I found embarrassing. To see such things printed about these people — it hurts, one because they are of my race and for this reason I try to help them. I have kept this job manager of the Labor Camp for 13 years; I doubt that there might be another person that wanted come to take such a job and responsibility. I have, but only for one reason, that is — to help my people who need me, not to help myself. I have been offered many more other decent jobs with better pay, but until that time I am here and can be of any help to these people I will keep this job of manager of the Labor Camp.

Also I am 100 percent in favor of repairing and modernizing the camp if anybody is willing with the funds. I am also ready to join in visiting these people who need help, to help them, but not to take pictures of how they live. I am glad at any day after my working hours, which I don't know for sure what they are, cause I work from 12 to 14 hours a day — only seven days a week, but I am sure I can take a little time out in between cause as I've said I have interest in these needy families. I know I can help them, that's why I am repairing the barracks at the camp, though I am anxious to start with the facilities.

Another thing that they did in taking pictures in houses where there were only children. There is a manager in the Labor Camp, which is me — Domingo Pesina. I ask as a favor to have a little more respect, because I represent the people who live in the Camp, at anything that anyone would come to take pictures of this place, it should be understood that they should consult with me first. If not I should take further action, because here should be better respect for private property. There is a right for everything as there is a right for every persons at the camp.

Like there were persons that took the privilege of entering houses and taking picture and moreover of the worse. They forgot that there was something better that they could take pictures. I am sure this is not all as some of my friends told me that they were fooled. Four other men and I are like their leaders of our people and they don't leave us in peace. Sure they are human and have senses, let's try and have a little more respect in their rights.

Personally I think there should be better examples for our Latin Americans. For example respecting each other, treating them as humans — I think this should bring peace.

Another important thing that should be noted by our people and I, is that we should be grateful to these men that have a kind heart like Walter Hodges Sr., E. C. Reinsauer, Howard Gault, Ed Dzuick Sr. and of course who could forget the late Jack Renfro, who did so much and who help so many of our people.

These men are the men responsible of the Labor Camp, that have worked for many years without any pay without profit for the Labor Camp. With their humble camp they try to be of help to these poor people and at this time they are serving their purpose, in letting the people who come to Hereford to make their living use their camp. To the present time I have not heard any of these kind men, say that they are tired or in any way embarrass our poor people. This situation can be found not only in Hereford at the Labor Camp but also in many other states and many even worse.

I think the main reason is for example the people that work in the harvest, have been working for about 15 years under the same price of 6 cents a bushel, hauling 7 cents the 100 pounds during that time the provision went up, registrations went up, gasoline went up, the price of vegetables is good, everything is all right, but the poor people.

Another thing that we should take interest in is the farmers that have Braceros for their work. The Braceros have a better chance of living cause he is given a house, with furniture, hot water, a guarantee of $1.50 a day work or no work, doctor bills, insured, transportation to and from work. Let's turn now to our people that live here and see how they live. If he wants work look for work, cause any old shack will do, if he is sick get out of the way, he is turned down and another one is replaced in his job. What does the other poor man do, out of work, starves well he is sick let God help him. Well it's their money they know what they do with it. But that is not the way this United States is going to progress, we have a lot of people to help and train.

I Domingo Pesina have the necessary ideas of how to repair the houses and also have many ideas and plans for a new camp if there is someone who have extra money and the owners of the camp give their permission.

In closing I sincerely hope I have not offended anybody in any way, but as a Latin-American and citizen of Hereford, I thought it was my duty to de-send the right of my race and help them.

Labor...

I am a resident of Lyford, Texas, and for 10 years I have been coming to Hereford. Regularly I have lived in the Labor Camp, but my opinion is that I am not looking for a palace but an economic house in which I can work to make a happier living. The Labor Camp is not our home. It is a temporarily home. Then we can go back to our real home.

It hurts me to hear words thrown in the air because that does not remedy anything. It also hurts me because the people of our own race are being treated this way.

Probably the owners of these houses, in which those pictures were taken, also have their homes far away in the Valley. They were caught unaware by those uneducated people and had their homes photographed and put in the newspaper.

These pictures are the pictures of our residence in the Rio Grande Valley. This is the way our residence looks like. We always keep it neat and clean.

— Joe Cervantez

This is what I think of the pictures that were taken of the Labor Camp. The Labor Camp is in the condition it is, because of lack of houses, lack of material to fix the houses etc.

The people who live in the Labor Camp cannot fix the houses in which they lived because it isn't their property, they are laborers who come from other places to work.

In last week's paper it also said, that the houses were in poor condition from inside, this may be true in some cases, merely because the people have to go work at 3 or 4 a.m. and don't have time to straighten their houses.

— Gloria Pesina

I only write this little note to let the people know that some one came to my house where I live and without my permission took pictures of my room. I did give her permission to enter my house but not to take pictures and give a disgrace to the poor people that live here at the Camp. It is true that we are poor and cannot live as accommodate as other, but because we are poor we are obliged to live as modern as the people that can, like this person that took the time to take all these pictures which is none of her duty. In case, the camp, as this person so says, is a disgrace, not all the people live as it was said in the paper, sure some live dirty, clean and try their best to have the place clean. So as it is I do not want anybody to be offended cause the way we live should not be of anybody's business.

— Dona Fuentes

Dear Editor:

I have been living in Hereford for 15 years, I had always enjoyed reading the Hereford Brand until I read the Sunday Brand of August the second and received the surprise of my life. After looking at the photographs that taken of the Spanish housing. These was in a way an insult to myself.

I have seven children and educated all seven as best I could, as we can and I am not ashamed to have your staff or anyone to come and take pictures of my home and family.

But I do not believe that gives me the right to lower the poorer class of the Latin Americans and their way of living.

I am sure that they are just as good Christians and that their feelings are just as sincere as any other resident of Hereford living in the most beautiful home.

I am sure that 50 percent of these families have at least one member of their family who have served their country in one of its wars. At such times of war no one is concerned in what kind of homes these men live in.

And if they are not given a chance to make a better life at least they deserve a little respect, that is God given, or should be to every human being.

I feel very sorry to have to write this letter, but after having read the Sunday Brand the least I could do was to give my opinion. At least an explanation should be given as to why the Latin-Americans have to live the way they do.

— Ernesto Tijerina

EDITOR'S NOTE: Domingo Pesina, manager of the Labor Camp, asked for more pictures to be made at the Labor Camp — showing where better conditions do exist due to his work as general manager of the camp. They are included in this issue of The Brand.

Rainbow Rites Held for Member

When Lana Kay Anderson became a Rainbow Girl, she received all the honors of the initiation, for she was the only candidate to be inducted into the order at its July 20 meeting. Lana Kay, 13, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Anderson, 405 Ave. I.

The order of Rainbow for Girls initiates new members each month. Six new members elected to receive degrees of the Order at the September 21 Hereford Assembly initiation are Carol Todd, Pamela Miller, Linda Jacobsen, Keri Dameron, Joette Hanna, and Cynthia Hanna.

At its regular business meeting Monday night in Masonic Temple, the Assembly made plans for a rummage sale and for assisting with ticket sales for the Shriners' Circus, August 17.

Denise King, the Assembly's present Charity, reported on her personal benevolent project — taking a pickup load of potatoes and onions to Girls Town, Whiteface. Each girl who is elected Charity selects a charitable project during her term of office and works it out herself to its completion.

Also to these members of the assembly board: Mack Noland, Mrs. Dorothy Mercer, Marie Cline and Geneva Summers; and to the following guests: James Mercer and Mrs. H. L. Hershey.

Next meeting of the order will be August 24. New officer will then be elected, Mother Adviser Dorothy Mercer announces.

Garden Ceremony Is Performed For Miss Noland, Joe Shultz

Miss Jerre Bea Noland became the bride of Lemuel Joe Shultz in a garden ceremony at Summerfield home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Burton Noland, Saturday evening, August 1. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Shultz, Country Club Drive.

Officiant at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Dr. William Cook, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Levelland.

Vows were exchanged at an altar with background of espalier tree of emerald greenery against the fireplace chimney, flanked by spiral candelabra with sunburst of greenery and giant white mums. Greenery sunbursts decorated the stairs used by the bridal party, who followed the white aisle cloth to the prieu dieux at the altar.

Hurricane chimneys banked with greenery and flowers and connected by white satin roping designated the area of the wedding party.

Mrs. Jamie Clearman, organist, played traditional nuptial music and accompanied Ben R. Gollehon in his vocal solos, "The Pledge," "Wedding Prayer," and "The Lord's Prayer."

centered in the gowns of her bridal attendants. Matron of honor for her sister, Mrs. Paul Huggins, Dallas, was gowned in blue. The bridesmaids were Miss Janice Story, cousin of the bride, wearing orchid; Miss Mary Shultz, sister of the groom, gowned in pink; and Miss Sheryl Barnes, O'Donnell, dressed yellow. All wore dresses of identical design, each a sheath of silk organza over taffeta, featuring long tapered sleeves and full overskirt of matching organza. Each carried a parasol of sheer nylon lace matching her dress and frosted with designs of fresh daisies on a parasol skirt. Each attendant wore mits matching the lace of the parasol and headress circlet with matching whimsy veil edged with seed pearls.

Jennifer Huggins, niece of the bride, Dallas, was flower girl in blue silk organza over taffeta; she wore lace mits. Keith Clearman, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. Serving as candelighters were David Wiggins and Jay Noland, cousins of the bride.

Lloyd L. Shultz served his son as best man. Groomsman, who met the bridal attendants at the stairway, were Larry Noland, brother of the bride, Walker Pariss, and Edward Allison. Serving as ushers were Paul Huggins, brother-in-law of the bride, Dallas; Kenneth Huggins, Vega; Eddie May, Friona; John Bob Drake, Hereford; and Tommy Hickson, Alamogordo, N.M.

Miss Joyce West and Miss Janice Haggan registered wedding guests at the garden gate.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception honoring the young couple was held in the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Roy Mustian, Lubbock, registered reception guests. Mrs. Joe G. Story and Mrs. L. B. Lookingbill, aunts of the bride, greeted the guests and introduced them to the bride and groom in the receiving line with their parents and principal wedding attendants.

Miss Janey Noland and Mrs. Vincent Gallagher presented a program of background music for the reception.

Mrs. Ronnie Downing, Abilene, served the three-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Dan McDowell, Lubbock, and Miss Sally Noland, Amarillo, cousin of the bride, presided at the punch bowl and the coffee service.

The serving table was laid in white satin with coverlet of white net frosted with applied wedding bells of iridescent sequins edged with white satin. The centerpiece was formed by silver candelabra with tall tapers entwined with baby breath and miniature rosebuds. All appointments were in silver. Favors were rice packages of pastel net and ribbon.

Also serving in the house party were Mrs. Don Martin, Mrs. Charles Noland, Mrs. Mack Noland, Mrs. Bill Kendall, Mrs. Clinton West, Mrs. Preston E. Hagans, Mrs. Earl Lance, Mrs. J. C. Clearman, and Mrs. Ky Lawrence, grandmother of the bride.

When the young couple left for points in Colorado and New Mexico, the bride was wearing antique satin suit with beige silk organza blouse and hat of the same material, a high-crowned sailor with modified ripple brim. Her accessories were beige gloves with brown iridescent patent bag and slippers. Her corsage was the orchid from the bride's bouquet.

Both bride and groom graduated from Hereford High School and attended South Plains Junior College, Levelland.

After the honeymoon they will be at home on their farm, Route 2, Hereford.

August Bride Given Shower

Miss Beatrice Wilhelm, bride-elect of John Nishimuta, was honored at a bridal shower, Friday evening, July 31, in the Community Room of the First National Bank.

Greeting the guests were Mrs. Raymond Wilhelm, mother of the bride-to-be; the honoree, Miss Beatrice Wilhelm; and her sisters who will be her wedding attendants, Miss Jane Wilhelm and Miss Cecilia Wilhelm.

Miss Rita Sue Witkowski presided at the guest book where 40 guests registered for the shower.

The future bride opened miscellaneous gifts at a table covered with white lace over orchid and featuring an arrangement of deep purple crepe myrtle with fern. She was assisted by her mother and her sister, Miss Cecilia.

Members of the house party directed the viewing of other gifts already on display, including ironstone ware, cookware, china and silver, and a very special gift of James Chatelaine Japanese China (rose pattern) complete service for eight with all extra pieces and serving dishes for full dinner service. This set of china was a gift of the future groom's mother, Mrs. Francis Thomas Nishimuta, McAlester, Okla.

Similarly accenting the bride's colors of orchid and white, the lace-covered serving table was centered with orchid candles in crystal holders. Other appointments were in crystal and silver. Mrs. Joe Peters served the punch with strawberry sparkle cake.

Hostesses honoring Miss Wilhelm on this occasion were Miss Rita Sue Witkowski, Mrs. S. A. Fangman, Mrs. Leander Reinart, Mrs. W. J. Albracht, Mrs. Harold Hershey, Mrs. Joe Peters, Mrs. Norbert Skypala, Mrs. Henry Kuper, Mrs. Elmer Reinart, Mrs. Walt Warren, Mrs. A. J. Bezner, Mrs. Harold Kreighshauser, Mrs. Joe Brorman, and Mrs. Alvin Schmucker.

Saint Anthony's Church will be the setting of the August 15 wedding of Miss Wilhelm and Nishimuta.

Browns And Poffs Visit Mrs. Altman

Shortly after their arrival July 17, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brown and Paula Faye, San Diego, Calif., were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Gall Poff, Stanley and Regina, Levelland, for a week's reunion with their mother, Mrs. Ocie Altman, 109 East Sixth.

All accompanied the Poffs to

Joe Shultz, Wife Feted At Dinner

Honoring their son, Joe Shultz, and his then bride-elect, Miss Jerre Bea Noland, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Shultz entertained at dinner at Roney's Restaurant Friday, July 31, after rehearsal for the wedding.

The bride-elect honoree is the daughter of the J. B. Noland, Summerfield, and granddaughter of the Ky Lawrences. Most memorable feature of the occasion was the young couple's presentation of their gifts to their wedding attendants and other principals of the wedding party and special gifts to their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Olin W. Parriss and Mr. and Mrs. David Yandell greeted the guests, who found their places at damask-covered tables arranged especially for the rehearsal party. Floral decorations were made for the occasion by Mrs. Roy Howell, sister of the hostess.

Centerpiece on one table was an arrangement of love birds and white flowers in milkglass compote. Another table displayed a mound of yellow cabbage roses and snapdragon supporting miniature bride and musical score of Elizabeth Barrett Browning's best-known love sonnet.

Dinner guests were members of the honoree's families, all principals of the wedding party.

Showers Honor Miss Gay Roper

Summer showers have complimented an August bride-elect, Miss Gay Roper, Tulla, whose marriage to James E. Uselton will be an event of August 23 in the First Methodist Church, Tulla.

Most recent of the courtesies was a linen-kitchen shower in the home of Mrs. Claude McDougal, 834 West Park Ave., Friday morning, July 31.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. McDougal and presented to the receiving line — mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Preston Roper, Tulla; the future bride, Miss Roper; and Mrs. W. E. Uselton, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

Bouquets of daisies, dahlias, and other garden flowers decorated the gift-display rooms.

The service table laid in white net cloth over white satin was centered with an epergne arrangement of flowers in graduated shades of orchid and purple. The French sculptured white figurine on marble base supported the crystal fluted flower bowl. Table appointments were in silver. Mrs. H.L. Thurston presided at the coffee service.

Forty guests registered with Mrs. Jimmy Conkright at the guest book.

Serving with Mrs. McDougal in the house party were Mrs. W. B. Dowell, Mrs. Bert Boomer, Mrs. Raymond Higginbotham, Mrs. J. J. Durham, Mrs. John N. Jacobsen, Jr., Mrs. Garland Solomon, Mrs. Grant Hanna, Mrs. Elme Kimbell, and Mrs. H. L. Thurston.

Miss Rogers, Jimmy Ivy Wed In Church Rites

The marriage of Miss Donna Faye Rogers and Jimmy Dwayne Ivy was solemnized Saturday afternoon in the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Ross W. Anderson, Seymour, read the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Perry Rogers, 520 Ave. I, are parents of the bride. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Ivy, Lazbuddie.

Greenery sunburst behind the kneeling bench formed the background for the wedding. Accenting the setting were baskets of white gladioli and white mums with wedding candelabra set in greenery sunburst, all connected with white wedding roping.

Miss Avie Justice, organist, played the traditional wedding music and "Wedding Prayer" as background music for the ceremony. She accompanied Glendon Sanders, Gainesville, when he sang Goodbitt's "The Greatest of These Is Love" and Singer's "Whither Thou Goest."

Mr. Rogers gave his daughter in marriage. She was formally gowned in bridal satin fashioned with side unpressed pleats controlling front skirt panel and sweeping to brief train falling from "V" of bodice back. Designed with scooped neckline, the bodice featured petal-point sleeves coiled with tiny self-covered buttons matching the full-length row of buttons at back-bodice closing. Accenting the neckline and frosting the skirt were Alencon lace floral motifs applied with seed pearls. Her fingertip veil of illusion edged with re-embroidered Alencon lace fell from a white satin crown covered with seed pearls. She carried a prayer book style bridal bouquet of white french-ed mums encircling a white catleya orchid.

Mrs. Bill Bookout was the sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Rosie Rogers, another sister of the bride, Miss Susan Manning, Lebanon, Tenn.; and Miss Sara Gillentine. They wore identical street-length dresses of yellow brocade satin designed with scooped neckline, cap sleeves, and overlapping modified bell skirt. Their head-dresses were double bows of self-material with giant covered button anchoring the short veil of yellow French tulle. They carried bouquets of cascading feathered mums. Mothers of the bride and groom wore corsages of cymbidium orchids.

Best man was Ronnie Ivy, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Don Graef, Lubbock; Mike Weston, Dallas; and Eugene Cole. Serving as ushers were Ronney Smith, Earth; Jack Rogers, Mike Justice, and Johnny Cloud.

To honor the young couple immediately after the ceremony, reception rooms of the church were decorated in the bride's colors of yellow and white. Miss Avie Justice played background music for the reception. Miss Suzy Woodford was at the guest book. Miss Lavonne Thompson and Miss Suzanne Langley served punch and cake. The service table was covered with white satin with net overlay and centered with an arrangement of candelabra, yellow daisies, and greenery. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with miniature bride and groom. Appointments were in crystal and silver.

Assisting in house party duties were Miss Kay Nell, Miss Maribeth Gilliland, Miss Katherine McClain, Miss Pat Price, Miss Laverne Kimbell, and Miss Judy Means.

For her going away costume, the bride wore a yellow linen sleeveless shift with V-neckline over a long-sleeved matching whipped-cream blouse with high rounded collar. Her accessories were glazed bone bag and matching shoes, and beige gloves. Her corsage was the orchid from the bridal bouquet.

Graduate of Hereford High School, the bride attended Baylor University, Waco, two years, majoring in music education. She is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, Woman's Professional Music Sorority.

The groom is associated with Witherspoon, Alkin, Thomas, and Langley. Graduate of Lazbuddie High School, he attended Amarillo Junior College. He was graduated from the University of Texas, Austin, and the University of Texas Law School. He is a member of Phi Alpha Delta, professional legal fraternity.

After their wedding trip, the young couple will be at home at 111-B Avenue F.

Mrs. Roger K. McQuigg recent bride (Brand Staff Photo)

Shower Honors Recent Bride

At a coffee and bridal shower, Mrs. Roger K. McQuigg, recent bride, was honored Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. W. H. Gentry, 400 Sunset Drive.

Receiving with Mrs. Gentry were the honoree and the mother of the groom, Mrs. Charles Robert McQuigg. The honoree wore a pastel blue sheath of floral embossed cotton-dacron, styled with jewel neckline and full skirt. Her corsage was of white feathered mums. The groom's mother and all members of the house party were favored with corsages of white carnations.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Gary McQuigg, sister-in-law of the groom. Sixty guests called during the coffee hour.

The service table, with its centerpiece of multi-colored garden flowers, was covered in blue linen with overlay of hand-crocheted white lace cloth. Mrs. Sammy Lesly presided at the silver coffee service.

Sharing duties of hostess with Mrs. Gentry were Mrs. Pete Carmichael, Mrs. Onias Carroll, Mrs. Eugene Sparks, Mrs. C. C. Ellis, Mrs. Joe Story, Mrs. G.A. McCathern, Mrs. Herman Drake, and Mrs. Henry Thomas.

The honoree, the former Miss Gloria Jean Stream, became the bride of A/C Roger K. McQuigg in a Wisconsin wedding June 27. Following the wedding trip to Colorado and New Mexico points of interest, young Mrs. McQuigg resumed residence with the groom's parents at 311 Avenue J until McQuigg completes his tour of duty in Labrador. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ferdinand Stream, Turtle Lake, Wis.

The exact spot at which the Magna Carta was sealed during the mid-June conference in 1215 has long been disputed.

Chapel Ceremony Unites Miss Short, Mr. Pierson

Ford Memorial Chapel of Lubbock First Baptist Church was the setting of the wedding of Miss Ruth LaNell Short and William Thurman Pierson, Seguin, Saturday morning, August 1.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Roedolph Short. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Doyle Pierson, 3008 — 57th St., Lubbock.

The Rev. R. Leslie Sparkman, pastor of Lubbock Bethel Baptist Church performed the double ring ceremony. The chapel was decorated with baskets of white mums and gladioli flanking the kneeling bench. White satin aisle bows marked the pews.

Miss Sandra Roberson, Hereford organist, presented traditional wedding music, the wedding march and recessional. She accompanied Mrs. George Schroder, Lubbock, who sang "The Greatest of These Is Love," as wedding prelude, followed by Miss Sue Minor's reading from "The Book of Ruth" (Ch. 2:16-17). Mrs. Schroder sang "Wedding Prayer" while the couple knelt for the final prayer of the ceremony.

Mr. Short gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a bridal gown of broadened tulle with chapel train and fashioned with scooped neckline and long sleeves. Rows of tiny self-covered buttons finished the sleeves at wrists and the back closing of the bodice. Her shoulder-length three-tier bouffant veil of illusion was caught to styled organza flowers with crystal centers. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls, and she carried white roses topped a Bible.

Bridal attendants were Miss Linda Bowers and Miss Harriet Moore, who wore identical pastel yellow street-length dresses of polished cotton, fashioned with scooped neckline and overskirts of embroidered organza. They wore garden hats of yellow organza, short white gloves, and single strands of pearls. Their flowers were white mums and bouquets.

As flower girl, Laurel Lee Short, sister of the bride, wore a dress of embroidered organza, white gloves, and baby pearls, and carried a basket of yellow mums. Her pout curls were encircled by baby white flowers. Ben Pierson, brother of the groom, was ring bearer and carried the ring centered on a heart-shaped pillow covered with ruffles of tulle.

Don Blake, Brownfield, was best man. Serving as ushers were Jerry Don Partell, Lubbock, and James Lee Smith, Austin. Groomsmen were James Henry Short, brother of the bride, Hereford.

At the reception in the chapel parlor, Mrs. James Lee Smith, who had registered wedding guests in the church foyer, presided at the guest book. Miss Linda Green, Lubbock, and Mrs. Smith assisted in serving from the white linen-covered table with appointments in crystal and silver. The centerpiece was an arrangement of yellow gladioli and yellow mums in crystal bowl with gold modified pedestal.

For the honeymoon to Colorado Springs, the bride chose a going away ensemble of cornflower blue pin-dotted in white, with white gloves and black patent shoes and bag. Her corsage of white roses was lifted from the bridal bouquet.

The bride attended Hereford High School two years but graduated from Lubbock High School. She is a 1964 graduate of Texas Technological College with a B.S. Degree in Elementary Education.

The groom attended Texas Tech and is a 1964 graduate of the State Highway Patrol School, Austin. He is now a Texas Highway Patrolman stationed at Seguin, where the young couple are at home at 117 South Vaughan Ave.

Out-of-city guests at the wedding, in addition to families of the bride and groom, included Mr. and Mrs. Don Blake, Brownfield; Mr. and Mrs. James Lee Smith, Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Christman, Paul Christman, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Coanougher, all of Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hollibaugh, Canyon; also Mrs. N. D. Bartlett, III, and Miss Nancy Crawford, Hereford.

Luncheon Held By Study Club

Mrs. Joe Easley, 108 Elm St., was hostess to L'Allegria Study Club at summer salad luncheon Thursday, July 30.

The buffet table was centered with an arrangement of summer garden flowers; and miniature bouquets were used on the quarter tables for the guests.

Mrs. Easley, club president, presided at the brief business session to discuss plans for the forthcoming year. Club members welcomed Mrs. Jim McDowell as a new member. Card games followed the luncheon. Members present were Mrs.

Mrs. Walker Parris

Shower Is Given For Bride-Elect, Miss Lemons

The home of Mrs. Cecil Boyer, 127 Avenue K, was the setting Friday afternoon for a tea-shower honoring Miss Roberta Kathleen (Kay) Lemons.

Miss Lemons is the bride-elect of Jay W. Boynton. Their wedding will be an event of August 15 in the Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Boyer greeted the guests. Receiving with the bride-elect were her mother, Mrs. Robert W. Lemons; Mrs. J. T. Boynton, mother of the prospective bridegroom, and his sister, Miss Carolyn Boynton; Mrs. Jack M. Miller, sister of the future bride; Portales; and Mrs. Dan McDowell.

Miss Linda Edwards assisted at the guest register. Miss Suzanne Langley presided at the silver service.

Laid in white outwork linen with appointments in silver, the serving table was enhanced by an unusual centerpiece. White tapered silver candelabra entwined with yellow sweetheart roses were reflected in the silver-trimmed mirror base.

Hostesses for the occasion included Mrs. Ansel McDowell, Mrs. John Becker, Mrs. Stan Sigman, Mrs. Charlie Hill, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Henry Hastings, Mrs. Joe Deavenport, Mrs. Pat Robinson, Mrs. Paul Hagar, Mrs. Bill Blackwell, Mrs. Carl Mosely, Mrs. Clinton West, Mrs. Virgil Justice, Mrs. M. G. Duvall, and Mrs. Joe Storey.

John Beasley, Mrs. Tommy Carnahan, Mrs. James Higgins, Mrs. Dennis Lomas, Mrs. Hilton Higgins, Mrs. Alex Shroeter, Mrs. Bob Veigel, Mrs. Dwayne Walker, Mrs. Jim McDowell, and the hostess, Mrs. Easley.

Shower Honors January Bride

The Community Room of the First National Bank was the setting of a recent bridal shower honoring Mrs. Walker Parris, the former Miss Donna Day, Abilene.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Day, Abilene, Miss Day and Walker Parris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olin W. Parris, 603 Star St. were married Jan. 15, in Abilene. The bride was a student at McMurry College, and Parris attended Hardin-Simmons University.

At the end of the spring semester, they returned to Hereford; Parris is associated with his father in operation of the farm and the airport.

Receiving the guests were Mrs. David Yandell, aunt of the groom; the honoree, Mrs. Walker Parris; Mrs. Olin Parris, mother of the groom, Mrs. G. W. Parker, grandmother of the groom; and Miss Cheryl Day, sister of the honoree.

Shower guests registered with Mrs. John Robinson at a desk centered with an arrangement of lilies-of-the-valley and love birds.

Covered with lace cloth over yellow, the serving table was accented by yellow roses securing corner streamers of yellow satin. Portraying a music theme, the centerpiece featured a miniature bride with music scroll of "How I Do Love Thee" set in yellow roses and snapdragons. Appointments were in crystal and silver. Miss Jerre Bea Noland presided at the punch bowl.

Honoring Mrs. Parris at this welcoming-shower were Mrs. Lloyd Stultz, Mrs. Henry Dobbs, Mrs. Floyd Cole, Mrs. Harlan Barber, Mrs. Jimmie Allred, Mrs. T. L. Sparkman Jr., Mrs. Otis Lee, Mrs. Elmer Kimball, Mrs. Bill Williams, and Mrs. Ray Howell.

The young couple have established a home at the Municipal Airport.

Kings Manor Reports

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Turner came to King's Manor in May of this year. Mr. Turner is the Business Manager for West Gate, the nursing unit on the campus. Mrs. Turner, called Ruth by most of our residents, is Director of Nursing Service at West Gate. The Turners came to us from Lubbock, Texas. He has been associated with Quicksall-Pryor for nineteen years. He began work with them shortly after his release from World War II. His father was the Rev. J. M. Turner, a Baptist Minister who came to the South Plains in 1912. Frank has been an official in First Methodist Church in Lubbock for many years.

Ruth is a registered nurse, a licensed technician, and was for some time on the surgery staff as an anaesthetist in more than one Lubbock hospital. In 1946 she joined the staff at First Methodist Church in Lubbock to direct a program of nursing service for people of limited resources in the older section of the city. Her station wagon was soon well known in the areas of the city where suffering and pain was too expensive except as served by the beloved nurse. Ruth became the agent for people of many denominations who wanted to express compassion through her ministry. The work was given national recognition by an article in the Christian Advocate in an illustrated story titled "Church Nurses Are Different." The national Methodist magazine Together also featured a pictorial story of her work. "To the suffering unfortunates, she is the First Methodist Church — a woman whose service is a witness to Christ's compassionate and healing ministry on earth."

The Turners will soon be well known in Hereford and the same kind of devotion that marks Christians who respond to a special call to welfare ministries, will endear them to us all. Their duties will confine them to West Gate much of the time, but they will be interested and active in our community in many ways.

Mrs. Turner's mother, Mrs. Mary Ripley, lives in the duplex with the Turners. In recent months, because of a fall, she has kept house in a wheel chair. She is just a youngster but as she says, "on the sunny side of 70."

The story of this family, like that of most of our families at King's Manor is yet in the making. The fourth duplex has been ordered and a wonderful family are employed for the new house. But time will require that some of our report must be brief.

We are happy to find when we returned from Green Bay, Wisconsin that the mail box report that Bishop Eugene Slater and Dr. Olin Oeschger have both accepted our invitation to be present on September 3rd for "Open Campus." Building progress is excellent and inquiries about our program are on the increase. Thank you for your interest in Hereford and in King's Manor.

Mrs. Smithers Played Role In Street-Naming Project

Mrs. Clyde Smithers North Hereford's Markie (Brand Staff Photo)

Marquenta — What can you do with a name like that? Wear it with dignity, as she certainly does. Or be called "Markie," as she is affectionately by friends and family. Or leave a mark on the community, as she surely has in evidence of area improvement.

Who is she? Who else but Marquenta Markie Crawford Smithers, wife of Clyde Smithers, and mother of Norma Jean, 8, of their home, Route 3, Hereford.

She is mother also of three sons. In the United States Army are Pfc. Jimmy Smithers, Abilene, and SP/4 Tommy Smithers, stationed in Germany. Eldest son is Leroy Smithers, who lives with his wife, Pat, and small son, Mark, in South Hereford.

Currently, in a county who's who Mrs. Smithers would be listed as president of North Hereford Home Demonstration Club. But Hereford remembers Markie best as member of the North Hereford Club committee that started and activated to completion the project of naming and marking streets in South Hereford.

With committee members she helped organize the project, conferred with and obtained cooperation of City Commission, telephone company officials, and others for necessary materials and services; and worked tirelessly through the two-year effort.

Nothing was too complex or too simple for them in this sustained undertaking — from naming streets with surveyor's directions through obtaining materials, cutting posts, making and painting street signs, and putting them up. Continuously and tirelessly, she worked to the finish of this club project.

Summing up this extended experience, one of Mrs. Smithers' co-workers said, "She is a real worker and can get things done when others can't. But she's sweet; and we too often take her for granted."

From her four years of membership in home demonstration club work, Mrs. Smithers thinks of other personal values gained. Having worked on most club committees, she is now serving on the finance committee of Deaf Smith County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs.

She has served on luncheon committees, such as the one for REA Irrigation School and for several farm sales as club-money-making projects. Particularly satisfying was the year of teaching cooking to 4-H girls. Always a challenge to her was the girls' enjoying cooking lessons and projects. She felt that they taught her more than she taught them.

Mrs. Smithers sums up values of her home demonstration club experiences thus:

"I have learned much about making my home more beautiful. Home demonstration club work has helped me become a better manager, homemaker, and mother. It has helped me become more tolerant and a better citizen."

To her busy schedule, Mrs. Smithers adds active work in P-TA, teaching in summer Bible School, membership in adult Bible class, and active membership in the First Baptist Church.

Those who know her agree that Markie works well with others at home, at church, or in the community. Ready to help

Bride Honored At Tea, Shower

A bridal shower honoring Mrs. Tommy West, recent bride, was given Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Art Lewis, 407 Western.

Mrs. Bobby Duggan was at the guest book. For this informal occasion 69 guests called during the tea hours.

Presiding at the tea table was Mrs. J. D. Kelly, Jr., Parhamdale, sister of the groom. With centerpiece of garden flowers, the table was laid in white linen on outdoor cloth with crystal appointments.

Special guests with the bride when called on, she is truly out-reaching.

were her mother, Mrs. Dillard Raymond Holt, 307 Park Ave., and the groom's mother, Mrs. Floyd West, 608 North Jackson.

Out-of-city guests were Mrs. J. H. Holt, Clifton; and Mrs. Weldon Cumbie and Miss Ruby Cumbie, Lockney.

Sharing house party duties with Mrs. Lewis, were Mrs. C. P. Worthan, Mrs. Charlie Noland, Mrs. Marie Cline, Mrs. Herbert Owens, Mrs. Edgar Telchik, Mrs. Del Walton, and Mrs. W. H. Blevins.

Also Mrs. Earl Huckabee, Mrs. H. A. Speer, Mrs. Bill Knox, Mrs. J. D. Kelly, Mrs. Ernest Flood, Mrs. Ralph Sears, Mrs. Wiley Roberson, and Mrs. R. B. Hutson.

The bride is the former Wanda Gail Holt, daughter of the Dillard Raymond Holts, 307 Park Ave., and the groom is the son of Mrs. Floyd West, 608 North Jackson. The young couple were married in Amarillo July 9. They are now at home at 508-A Pittsburgh, Amarillo.

Colorado's nickname, Centennial, comes from the fact that the state was admitted to the union in 1876, 100 years after the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Leggs To Live In New Mexico

Mr. and Mrs. William Tandy Legg, Jr., are on a honeymoon to points of interest in Colorado and New Mexico. After August 15 they will be at home at 601 Riverside Drive, Roswell, N.M.

The wedding of the young couple was solemnized in a candle-light ceremony Saturday evening August 1, in the First Methodist Chapel, Portales, N.M. Before an altar set among baskets of galdioli and palms with candelabra entwined with greenery, the Rev. B. C. Goodwin, pastor of the church, read the double ring ceremony. Only the immediate families of the bride and groom were present.

The bride is the former Miss Janet Elaine Blackaby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Blackaby, 620 University Drive, Portales. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Tandy Legg, Hereford.

Mrs. John Cantrell, organist, played traditional nuptial music. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a waltz-length dress of chantilly lace designed with long sleeves closed by a row of tiny buttons matching the full-length button row at back-closing of the bodice. The scooped neckline was adorned with nylon net yoke fully bordered with scalloped lace edging of floral motif. Her shoulder-length pouf veil of illusion was caught to a lace covered pillbox. She carried a cascading bouquet of white gardenias.

The bride's attendant was Miss Phyllis Anne Gerdson, Canyon. She wore a pink linen street-length sheath with white pillbox hat and accessories. Her corsage was white carnations. Candlelighter was Susan Steele, Tulsa, Okla., cousin of the bride.

Ed Ransom, Amarillo, served his brother-in-law as best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. Covered in pink net over pink satin, the serving table was marked with corner streamers of satin secured by pink roses. The centerpiece was an arrangement of pink rosebuds in wide cutglass footed bowl. Miss Marlene Legg and Mrs. Ed Ransom, sisters of the groom, presided at the service.

For her going-away costume, the bride chose a suit of beige silk with white accessories. Her flowers were the gardenias lifted from the bridal bouquet.

Majoring in psychology, the bride attended West Texas State University, Canyon, and Eastern New Mexico University, Portales. Graduate of Hereford High School, the groom is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, and is now doing graduate work at Eastern New Mexico University. In the autumn he will resume his teaching of physical education in the Roswell, N.M., Public Schools.

Hereford wedding guests were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tandy Legg, Route 4, and Miss Marlene Legg. Guests also were the groom's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ransom, Amarillo.

The bride will be honored with a shower Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Lynn Kester.

Family Spats Fast Forgotten When An Outsider 'Butts In'

During the past week, the United States came face to face with a crisis centering around unwarranted attacks on our ships in the Viet Nam conflict area. Our answer came in the form of immediate and forthright action, which makes us proud to be Americans.

At the same time, we cannot help but wonder if many people around the world are not a little bit confused? Lo, these many years, it has been an accepted fact that few Americans could interpret and understand the methods of "Asiatic mind." Now, the worm may have turned. Asiatic leaders, for instance, may find it difficult to have listened to the Republican convention, digested the accusations and insults hurled at President Johnson and the Democrats then, in one undiscussed, unrehearsed moment, find these two forces united firmly and ready to do battle for the welfare of the nation.

Understanding the "American mind" and its workings will be all the most difficult for much of the world, because most of the people have never known or enjoyed the fruits of true freedom and democracy — and from this source alone springs our ability to unite overnight in behalf of a common cause. This is all the more surprising in that it includes the masses as well as the leaders.

The achievement of unity in this fashion, including Pearl Harbor, no doubt contributes most heavily to the fact that our nation has never lost a major war. At the same time, it points up the fact that we realize, as a people, that the United States in the finest civilization in the world under which to live. Like a family, where the brothers and sisters are in continual turmoil, just let some outsider enter the fracas — and it is a different story indeed.

'Rithmetic' On The Way Out

The "Three R's" — "reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic" — long symbols of American education, is finally on the way out. At least, so says a national release from San Antonio which heralds the institution of "modern mathematics" in Texas schools, come September. "Reading and 'riting", at least for the time being, are destined to continue their present role in education.

The new mathematics system was instituted in some grades in Hereford last year, and will make further inroads here in 1964-65. Ultimately, the new system will take over completely. Current delays, we understand, are delayed on some levels due to the difficulties in changing out text books and finding teachers.

The new system, based on decimals, has many advantages, according to educators, who say that students primarily have a more complete understanding of the subject, chiefly because the new method shows them "why" certain conditions exist, rather than committing tables to memory, and accepting them as proven fact. Also of considerable influence is the ever-growing acceptance and adaptation of computers, now used extensively in government and in business.

To say the least, the shift will provide some consolation to harassed parents previously confronted with the chore of helping junior with his "rithmetic." Now, dad can merely say, "I don't understand this new-fangled stuff" — and believe you me, he will be telling the truth.

Driver To Blame

Law enforcement officials, editors and any of the public concerned with the appalling toll of traffic accidents feel a common futility about how to cope with the problem.

There are many causes, and various remedies have been advanced by experts. But a Dallas citizen, in a letter to a newspaper in that city, speaks more truth in blunt language than all of the learned dissertations on the subject we have seen.

Speaking of drivers' tests, the Dallas man wrote:

"Wrecks are not caused by people who do not know how to drive. Most of them are caused by the idiot who doesn't care. Grounding the habitual lawbreaker is more important than drivers' tests."

Drivers' tests are essential, and serve a good purpose, but they alone do not guarantee traffic safety.

The intent of the driver behind the wheel, toward law enforcement and toward the rights of others, unquestionably is the greatest factor bearing on traffic safety.

Texas' toll of accidents and deaths is increasing and unless the trend is reversed, and it seems unlikely, this will wind up a grisly year indeed.

This problem deserves the most careful attention of the 59th Texas Legislature which will convene next January. Every cause and every measure relating to improving traffic safety should be considered.

If the laws need to be stricter on revocation of licenses of incorrigible drivers, it should be done.

Let us hope that the legislature does not become so burdened and preoccupied with the problems of congressional redistricting, legislative redistricting, teachers' salaries and higher education that the crisis on our streets and highways is slighted.

—The Abilene Reporter-News

Nugget

Sen Everett M. Dirksen, the Republican minority leader in the Senate, now has proposed that all court proceedings related to state reapportionment to "stay" by Congress to give those who want to rewrite the Constitution more time to accomplish their goal.

What he actually is proposing is that the Constitution be suspended for a period of time so far as its requirements with respect to state legislative apportionment are concerned.

It is highly doubtful if anybody, including Congress, has any authority to do this, and the law which he proposes therefore probably would be unconstitutional itself.

Smothers' Too Busy Now, So Breakdown Must Wait

By Mary Campbell

TOM SMOTHERS was drinking coffee in a restaurant planning his nervous breakdown. "I think I'll have the breakdown on national TV, with video tape." Tom grabbed his throat, gargled and fell back in his chair, like a man dying from self-strangulation. Not one waitress looked around. Tom sat up. "I guess I'll wait, my brother and myself, for a larger, nationwide audience."

Farmers Have A Busy Week Filling Silos

For a week, the work of filling the silos has been in progress. The nearest one to town is the Gallagher farm south of town. Saturday afternoon a force of men were busy cutting and hauling. The cutter was at work cutting and blowing; men were in the silo tramping down the silage. The entire scene presented an active farm view worth the while of any one to visit. Mr. Gallagher bought his silo last fall and he feels that it pays well. Other cutters on other farms are busy also saving the feed crop in well under way.

Since the Mayor issued his manifesto about the harvesting of weeds a number of households have responded bravely to the call. Tons of good weeds have been harvested and burned and the work is still going on; yet and yet, there are a number of well-meaning people who have not cut a weed this year, judging from outside appearances. They seem to have no pride in their own surroundings much less a public civic pride; they are weed bound and it will require an operation to relieve them. While the Commission has no license to practice the "art of healing" in any form, there is a remedy which can be applied not requiring the use of cutting instruments nor even rubbing, unless the application of the weed ordinance could be called "rubbing it in." Well whatever you think about weeds, be sure you cut your own patch before you pitch into the other fellow. It is a pity that a regular weed campaign must be made each year.

Mrs. Watkins, sister of Mrs. Geo. Garrison, left last Saturday for her home in Cleburne, after a pleasant visit in Hereford for some weeks.

Tuesday afternoon, a whole lot of farm and garden products were shipped to Amarillo where they will be placed on exhibition at the Panhandle State Fair. Every one who saw the different offerings for the Fair were agreeable surprised at the good showing Hereford and the county is to make.

W. F. West and Leslie Smith have agreed to take up the organization of a band for Hereford if there is sufficient encouragement given them by the citizens and the young men who would become active members. There are a number of talented young musicians in the city who, no doubt, would be glad to join. It is not necessary that they should have been members of some band in order to join or that they can now play, but if they have the right sort of material in them, as to ability and a desire to become permanent members, they will be welcome. Both Mr. West and Mr. Smith are accomplished musicians.

J. I. Walker and J. R. Stegall went up to Amarillo Wednesday to look after placing the 'Deaf Smith County exhibit at the Amarillo State Fair.

Citizens of Hereford and Deaf Smith County are requested to meet at the Panhandle Fair at Amarillo next Monday the 28th to represent our little city and our county. Every auto owner is especially invited to go and take his car. Suitable badges and banners will be furnished Monday morning down town. Be on hand early.

Panhandle Paragraphs

This makes over 30 days of the enervating heat which seems likely to set some sort of a record. In spite of this, it is remarkable to note how well most of the cotton continues to hold up during the protracted heat. It should be remembered that cotton is a hot weather plant, and we go through this anxious period every year we make a good crop. Thus far there have been no reports of serious insect infestation and that has an important bearing on how much clear profit the grower can make.

With the annual coaching school in full swing at Fort Worth, can football season be far behind? Well, not very far behind since Denver City will invade Cub Stadium in a matter of only slightly over a month — Sept. 11 — to launch officially the Cub schedule. Grid workouts, on the other hand, are slated to begin in a matter of days with Aug. 17 being the target date. Due to the addition of Levelland and Littlefield to the 3-AAA family circle, it shapes up as more of a "dog-eat-dog" situation than ever before, and fans will find the rivalry to be extra keen.

A biology textbook is up for adoption by the Texas Textbook commission which is actually nothing but a bold, uncompromising attack upon the Christian religion, and a textbook on evolution. If the parents of Texas school children allow this text to be adopted they will have entrenched sheer atheism in every biology classroom in the state. It will be taught as an accredited subject . . . While most of us sleep, this text will probably be adopted. If it is, Christian people face the toughest fight to retain faith that they have faced in this country since George Washington's day. The book is the most vicious attack we have ever seen on the Christian religion.

Levelland City Council unanimously endorsed emergency adoption of the anti-drinking ordinance after City Manager Jim Shearer told them police had "had some problems with people drinking in public places." The new city statute also includes a section making it unlawful to be intoxicated in a public place, although police previously have had authority under state law to make arrests for that offense.

Bull weevil infestations below the Caprock range from light to very heavy in some fields, according to Flip Breedlove, County Agent of Donley County. The heaviest infestations are still in the Afton-East Afton area of Dickens County with the average infestation count running around 37 percent . . . These infestations are farther west than infestations found in the October survey last year.

What to do about Denver City's new plumbing code in the face of complaints that there are not enough plumbers available to serve the demands of residents. That was a question which was plumb confusing to city councilmen at their Monday meeting . . . The comparatively new municipal plumbing code provided that only state-licensed master plumbers are authorized to carry on . . . Now it was pointed out, there is only one licensed plumber actively engaged in the business in Denver City.

THE BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm probably is on a cold trail this week.

Dear editor: I read something in the paper last night during a re-run that convinces me this country needs a new law regulating political statements.

Well, not regulating political statements exactly, but well here's the situation.

According to this article, Senator Goldwater wants to debate President Johnson on television, but some newspaper has dug up a statement by the Senator made only last year saying a President shouldn't debate a candidate, in the heat of the discussion he might reveal some military secret.

This is what I'm talking about. There should be a law prohibiting anybody from quoting anybody on anything he said more than 30 days ago.

It's not just this one instance. Before the campaign is over, some of President Johnson's statements a few years ago, will be brought out and set up alongside what he says now, and this only leads to confusion.

In fact, I don't suppose there's an officer-holder in the land, from bottom to top, precinct to Washington, who could stand to have everything he says today lined up against everything he's said in the past.

And this doesn't go just for office-holders alone, it goes for everybody.

I don't know how many words a human being utters in a life-time, but it must run into the millions, maybe hundreds of millions when you average in women too, and it's impossible to use that many words without getting on practically all sides of all questions at one time or another, especially if you needed a few more votes back in that election 15 or 20 years ago.

I'm not sure this law would work, but that's no reason for not passing it. If you set up the rule a law has to work before you pass it, you'll eliminate half the lawyers in this country.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Newlyweds Live In Washington

Larry Ray Maxwell and his bride, the former Miss Artheta Yvonne Peterson, have established a home at 337 Cottonwood St., Richland, Wash.

The bride, who taught home economics in Adrian High School last year, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus A. Peterson, Guyton, Okla. The groom is the son of John Maxwell, Dublin.

In the Richland home of the groom's brother, Wesley Maxwell, and Mrs. Maxwell, the wedding was solemnized Saturday evening, July 27, in a setting of floor vases filled with white and pink roses.

Larry Sullivan, minister of Richland Church of Christ, performed the double ring ceremony.

Musical setting was provided by a cappella recordings of Abilene Christian College Chorus presenting traditional processional and recessional selections and a special arrangement of "I Love You Truly."

The bride wore a formal bridal gown of brocaded silk organza over satin, fashioned on bell skirt. The bodice was designed with low rounded neckline and petalpoint sleeves. She wore a double-tiered silk organza halo hat. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses.

At the wedding reception that followed in the Wesley Maxwell home, Miss Darlene Napora presided at the white lace covered table. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with pink and silver crystalline bells and garlanded with miniature silver leaves and pink roses.

The bride is a graduate of Abilene Christian College, Abilene, where she was a member of Zeta Phi social club and Campus Service Organization.

Presently employed with Northern Pacific Railroad, the groom has just returned from services with the United States Armed Forces in Germany. He will be attending the School of Forestry, Moscow, Idaho.

The young couple will be at home at their new Richland address indefinitely, until the groom's work requires removal to Montana.

ban band and doing their usual Smothers Brothers routines. "We felt it wasn't a step in the right direction."

Tom says, "We'd also like to put out straight singing albums, two a year, because we like to sing so much. And we'd like to play a night club someplace once a year. If you stop working before an audience, you lose your timing, I think."

"But we feel if we fall in movies, we should just as well call it. We don't want to be just hanging around doing the same thing."

If they should split, Tom believes he'd stay in entertainment, perhaps as a comic single, and Dick thinks he'd go back to college and become a teacher.

The Smothers Brothers really are brothers and their name really is Smothers. They have two sisters, one who works in a doctor's office and one age 9. "She's a coal miner," Tom explains. "There are lots of interesting things in our family."

Tom, 27, has a wife and Dick, 25, has a wife, daughter, 3, and an infant son.

They got their start -- and their direction -- in show business when they auditioned for the Purple Onion and were hired almost immediately to fill in for an act which couldn't show up.

"They hired us for folk singers," Tom says, "and we only knew four songs. I introduced songs and had to stretch. I could stretch 15 minutes of songs into three hours by making absurd lies about the material before we'd sing it."

"We just happened to make our first job and decided to quit college," Dick says. "We were considered really off-beat, really different, no commercial value at all."

"We're not that off-beat any more. Other people are doing more unusual things."

"We're products of a by-gone era."

Nazarenes Plan Revival Here

Rev. Burle DeBord announced Saturday that the Rev. Frank R. McConnell, Bethany, Okla., will be the speaker in a series of revival services at the Church of the Nazarene beginning Aug. 11 and continuing through Aug. 18. Services begin each evening at 7:30. The church is located at Fourth and Jackson.

Mr. McConnell is a veteran pastor, evangelist, and counselor in the Church of the Nazarene.

During the school year, he is minister of visitation at First First Church of the Nazarene, Bethany. He also engages in part-time evangelism with special emphasis on building the church through revivals in the Sunday School.

Ordnained on the Northwest Oklahoma District, Mr. McConnell served 37 years as a pastor. His churches included Spokane and Yakima, Wash., First churches Fort Wayne and Gary, Ind.; and Sapulpa and Ada, Okla. He organized and pastored Williams Memorial Church in Bethany. He organized five churches and was in five church building programs. At Yakima and Spokane, his congregations were among the largest in the denomination. He has preached on 55 districts in the United States, two districts in Canada, and two districts in Mexico.

Mr. McConnell was born at Sunset, Texas. He graduated from the former Peniel College, Peniel, Texas.

The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

Ivys Are Hosts For Bridal Party

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Ivy, Lazbuddie, were hosts at dinner preceding rehearsal Friday evening for the wedding of their son Jimmy Ivy, and his fiancée, Miss Donna Rogers.

At this dinner honoring the young couple at Western Wheel Inn, table decorations were centerpieces of yellow daisies and greenery.

Guests were the families of the bride-elect and the prospective groom, members of the wedding party, and special guests, the Rev. Ross Anderson, who was officiant at the marriage, and Mrs. Anderson, Seymour.

Other guests were wives and husbands of members of the wedding party.

The marriage of Miss Rogers and Ivy was solemnized in a Saturday afternoon wedding in the First Baptist Church.

Coffee Meeting Of Study Club 'Sips And Says'

Hereford Study Club met for Thursday morning coffee at the home of Mrs. Ray Coneway, Rio Vista Drive.

As co-hostesses with Mrs. Coneway, Mrs. Labry Ballard and Mrs. Richard Winget served from the linen covered table centered with scooped watermelon filled with melon balls and small summer fruits.

Bouquets of day lilies decorated the house. Arrangements of petunias and summer garden flowers accented garden-fresh coolness of the sunporch. There the club members enjoyed a "sip-and-say" session, reviewing the summer's activities.

Mrs. W. H. Gentry was club guest. Members present included Mrs. S. L. Garrison, Mrs. Tommy Braddy, Mrs. Art Stoy, Mrs. N. D. Bartlett, Jr. and the hostesses, Mrs. Ballard, Mrs. Winget, and Mrs. Coneway.

BACK TO SCHOOL TIME

Young

Record Enrollment Expected

A record enrollment of more than 1000 students is expected at Hereford High School this fall, said Bill Michael, principal.

He also said that the facilities should be adequate because of the additions which were completed last summer.

This year, for the first time in High School, there will be two trained qualified counselors to help students plan their schedules, administer aptitude and placement tests and advise students about their personal problems. The counselors will be Mrs. Charlie Holt and Robert Thompson.

Michael said the new $8,300 language lab, which was also installed last summer, has been very valuable and that Spanish I and II and French I and II students used the lab last year. There were about 130 of these students.

In addition to French and English, two sections of Latin I will be taught next year. This is the first time in several years that Latin has been taught in Hereford High School.

Michael said several new courses are being offered to give the students more of a choice of subjects they may take.

Hereford High School offers four years of English and five years of math, including algebra I, algebra II, geometry, trigonometry, and business math. It also offers three years of homemaking, and four years of vocational agriculture.

Michael said that the school also has eight courses in social studies. They are world geography, world history, American history, American government, Texas history, economics, business law and advanced government.

Seven courses are offered in business at Hereford High School. They are typing I, typing II, shorthand, bookkeeping I, bookkeeping II, clerical practice, and business communications, a course for seniors who do not plan to attend college and will not be taking English IV.

Speech I, speech II, speech III, drama I, and drama II will also be offered next year.

In addition to these, five science courses will be offered. These are general science, biology, chemistry, physics, and a special science. The special science, offered for the first time this year, will be an advanced science for advanced seniors. They may select a project and go as far with it as they are able to go in the year.

Distributive education, arts and crafts, industrial arts, electricity, physical education, drivers education and choir and band will be offered next year.

Michael said that there has been a change in the drivers education program and it will be offered in the regular school year rather than in the summer. He said that about 200 students are expected to take part in the program next year.

The high school will have about 60 teachers and administrative officials next year. Of them, 42 will have taught in Hereford High School last year and the rest of them will teach there for the first time.

Non-English Program Here Proves Successful In ISD

More than 70 Latin American children who will start to school next year attended the non-English program held by the Hereford Independent School District.

This program is held for those children who can speak little or no English, with the hope of teaching them at least 400 words and some simple sentences. The program is held under the direction of the state of Texas, and follows a recommended program.

"Any school may qualify for the program if they have 15 non-English speaking students. For each additional unit the school has they must have 20 students," said Della Stagner, school coordinator of the program.

There are three units this year, two held in Central School and one at Shirley Elementary School. Mrs. Marion Davis and Mrs. Mary Carter are in charge of the program at Central and Mrs. Shirley McCarley has the unit at Shirley.

Miss Stagner said that most of the children who regularly attend the program will be able to start into the usual first grade class instead of attending a special class which will be held for non-English speaking students in September, thus gaining a year.

The early part of the morning is devoted to a play program in which the child becomes acquainted with his surroundings and refreshes his memory of the words learned in the past. Later in the morning there is a story time in which the teacher tells a story and dramatizes it with the objects she is reading about.

During mid-morning, the children are given a glass of milk and a cookie, which gives them energy to finish the morning as well as teaching the proper manners for eating in public.

They are also taught to count, draw simple pictures and color. Through these the children are taught to cooperate with each other and follow instructions given by a teacher.

"One of the biggest problems encountered by the teachers is that of absences. Many of the children move away from Hereford in the middle of classes and others must help work or cannot find transportation to the school," said Miss Stagner.

She explained that attendance has been lower this year because of other schools that are operating during the summer.

"We are not as interested in who is teaching the children as we are in the amount of English that the children are learning," Miss Stagner said.

Gary Dan Billingsley

Also with the Hereford Public School system this year is Gary Dan Billingsley, who will teach science on the elementary level.

Billingsley, a graduate of Plains High School, in Plains, Texas, attended Sull Ross State College in Alpine and West Texas State University. He received his Bachelor of Science in 1958, and his Master of Education in 1961.

Billingsley is married and has one child, two years old.

He is a member of the National Education Association, the Texas State Teachers Association and Kappa Delta Pi.

He holds a Texas Teachers Certificate, a Professional Life Principals Certificate and a Provisional Life Elementary Certificate.

Ada Mae Harms

Ada Mae Harms will be a new elementary teacher in the Hereford Public School System next year. She will teach either in the fourth, fifth, or sixth grade.

She is a graduate of Borger High School and attended Frank Phillips Junior College in Borger. She then attended West Texas State University where she received her Bachelor of Science in Education.

Miss Harms did her practice teaching in the first grade at the Burravista Elementary School in Borger.

She sings, can teach music, drawing, and penmanship, sponsor clubs, teach tennis and direct playground activities.

W. O. Caraway

The associate to principal Bill Michael in Hereford High School this year will be W. O. Caraway.

He graduated from Polytechnic High School in Fort Worth and attended Texas Christian University in Ft. Worth, Texas Wesleyan College in Ft. Worth, and New Mexico A & M in University Park, N. M.

His experience includes teaching in the Judson Grove Independent School District, the Joshua Independent School District, and the Chaves County Independent School District.

Caraway holds his Professional Life Certificate in elementary education, his High School Professional Life Certificate, Professional Life Superintendent Certificate, and his Professional Life Principal Certificate.

Some of his duties will be to coordinate the activities of the 1000 students in high school next year and handle many of the administrative duties of Hereford High School.

Central Gets Major Overhaul

Central School will be the scene of face lifting as well as internal improvements this summer before the fall semester starts.

Central Elementary School will have all the windows redone, including the replacement of any broken or cracked glasses.

In addition to this the heating system will be remodeled. This includes new pipes, gralators, and some work on the boiler. New front doors will be placed in the building and painting and general construction will follow.

Due to the crowded conditions in all the elementary schools it will be necessary for about four sections to meet in temporary buildings, such as church.

These sections will use the Central Cafeteria and other facilities in the school, said Philip Shook, principal of Central Elementary School.

These conditions will probably continue until the addition to Northwest Elementary School is completed.

A new elementary school, on which construction is slated to start in September, will also help alleviate the crowded conditions in the elementary schools.

Also under repair in the Hereford Public School System is the heating system at Stanton Junior High School. In this school, a complete new boiler and pipes will be installed before the beginning of cold weather, said Darrell Williams superintendent of the Hereford Independent School District.

Williams also stated that new equipment such as desks and blackboards will be placed in many of the schools. To replace old equipment as well as meet the demand of the growing school system.

St. Anthony Plans For Record Year

St. Anthony's School will be filled to near capacity this year with an expected enrollment of 325 students, said Sister Seserina, principal of the school.

The school consists of eight class rooms, a cafeteria, which serves meals daily and an auditorium.

There are eight teachers at

Mrs. Mary Lois Skypala

Mrs. Mary Lois Skypala, a graduate of Hereford High School, will teach Social Studies and Language Arts in the fourth, fifth, or six grades of the Hereford Public School System.

Mrs. Skypala attended West Texas State University, in Canyon, Texas Technological College in Lubbock and was graduated from Southwestern State College in Weatherford, Oklahoma, with a Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education.

In addition to her other duties, Mrs. Skypala will supervise playground activities.

Ontario, Canada, will keep tab on the migratory habits of its tourists next year by taking license numbers. Tourists will later be interviewed, for the enlightenment of tourist agencies.

Early Chinese writing was done on silk fabrics and flat pieces of bamboo.

St. Anthony's, a part time music teacher and a principal. "We have the same curriculum as the public schools do, except that we teach religion. All of the sisters in the school are qualified teachers," said Sister Seserina. "We finish the first six grades at St. years old," said Sister Seserina. She also said that they are teaching the modern math course in many of the grades this year, and that they used it on a limited scale with much success last year.

St. Anthony's School and St. Joseph's School, which is located at the Hereford Migrant Labor Camp, will start school on Aug. 31.

St. Joseph's School contains the first six grades and is taught by three full time Sisters, one part time teacher and Lay Apostles, from the East. These Lay Apostles give a certain period of their lives to do mission work, it is usually a year but it may be a longer period of time, said Sister Seserina. While working at the school, they live in St. Joseph's Convent at the Labor Camp. During this time they also do social work.

There is an average of 300 children enrolled at the school during the year. The number is not constant because there are so many families moving in and out of the camp.

"The constant moving affects the teaching. It makes remedial work by the teachers necessary and they cannot progress as rapidly as they would if the classes did not change," she said.

Very few of the children who finish the first six grades at St. Joseph's transfer to St. Anthony's School to complete the seventh and eighth grades. Many of them are 16 years old and drop out of school completely and the majority of those who continue their schooling attend Stanton Junior High.

"It is possible that we may enlarge St. Anthony's if the present growing trend in Hereford continues, but right now we have a good building, that is only five years old," she said.

Almost all of the graduates attend Hereford High School. A few of them go to other Catholic school and a few of them drop out, but many of them go ahead to attend and finish college.

Mrs. Dean Bradley

Mrs. Velma Dean Bradley, a homemaking teacher in Olton last year, will teach in Hereford next year.

She has taught in the Patton Springs High School in Afton, Texas; the Rochester High School, in Rochester, Texas; the Borger High School in Borger, Texas and the Muleshoe High School in Muleshoe, Texas.

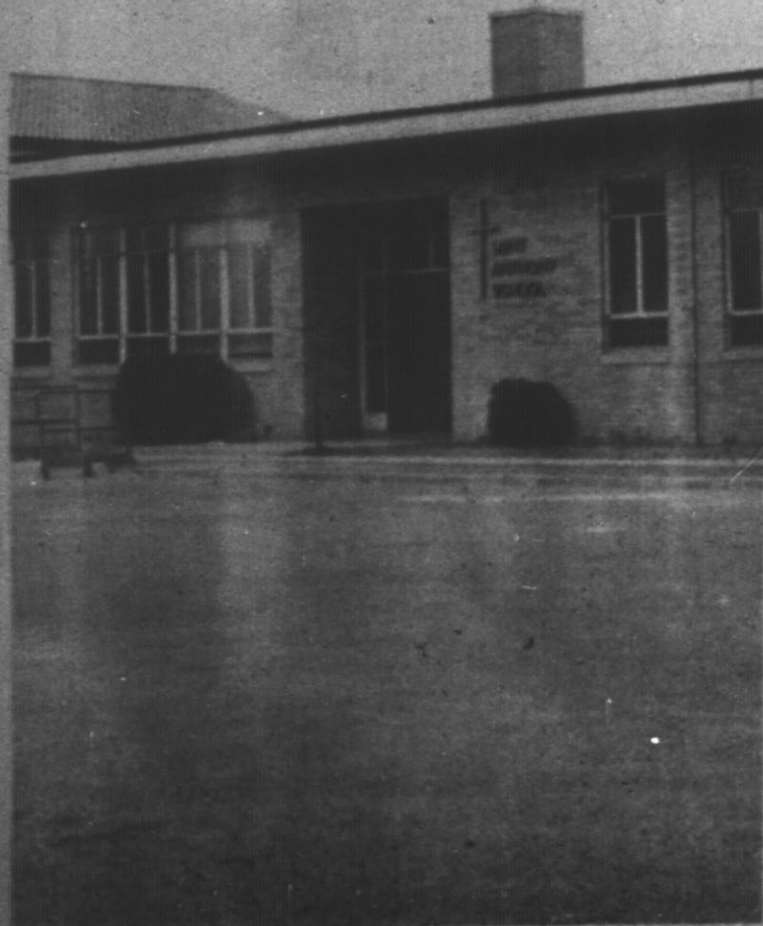

Mrs. Carolyn Waters

Mrs. Carolyn Waters, who is now a substitute teacher in the Hereford Schools, will teach full time next year. She now substitutes in the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

She is a graduate of Krum High School, and attended North Texas State College in Denton and West Texas State University in Canyon.

She taught third grade in the Happy Independent School District and fifth grade in Aikman Elementary School in 1959-60.

Mrs. Waters, who has four children, can teach penmanship, drawing, direct plays and supervise playground activities.

New Math Program Is Designed To 'Modernize' Present Plan

The new math program, which will reach all levels of the Hereford Public School System in two years, is designed to take the student out of the language of the adding machine and put him in the language of the calculator, said Bill Phillips, who is in charge of high school curriculum.

He explained that almost every college and large company has computers and it is therefore necessary for the students to understand the basic principles that make these machines operate.

This new math program was used on a limited extent in high school last year. The algebra books and a few of the higher math books contained some of the new math.

"In an Algebra I class, the students seem to catch on to the new math just as easily as they did the old math, but those who had Algebra one from the old books and Algebra II from the new books found it more difficult.

"It is just like learning a foreign language or anything else for the first time, it is just as easy to learn one thing as another. For instance, it doesn't matter whether a student learns Spanish or German, both will be equally difficult. It is the same way with the new math," said Phillips.

This fall, the program will be started in the seventh and eighth grades for the first time, said Della Stagner, coordinator of the program in the elementary grades.

She also said that there had been some transitional work done in the sixth grade last year, to prepare students for the new type math next year.

This year the first through the fifth grades will continue to study the traditional math, but in the fall of 1965, the new math program will go into affect in all grades of the Hereford Public School System.

The teachers who took part in the transitional program in the sixth grade last year said that the program was very successful and that pupils seemed to enjoy it more than the traditional math, said Miss Stagner.

Sara Jane Stockard

Sara Jane Stockard, a new teacher in the Hereford Public School system this year, will teach in the third, fourth or fifth grade.

She is a graduate of Denton High School and attended Texas Woman's University in Denton for two years, before transferring to North Texas State College, also in Denton. She received her Bachelor of Science in homemaking and her Masters degree in Elementary Education, both from North Texas State College.

In addition to her other activities Miss Stockard can sing, teach penmanship and drawing, help direct plays and clubs and conduct playground activities.

Rene Satard ... exchange pupil

Mrs. Emalie Lewis will be a new teacher in the elementary grades of the Hereford Public Schools next year.

She graduated from Farwell High School in Farwell Oklahoma and attended West Texas State University in Canyon. She then attended Southwestern State College in Weatherford Texas where she was graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education with minors in science, social studies and language arts.

She sings, can teach music, direct school plays, sponsor clubs, teach basketball, calisthenics and coordinate playground activities.

Mrs. Miller, the mother of two children one two and the other four, is interested in school clubs and has supervised other school activities.

Kaye Neil, a junior at San Marcos College, is wearing a three piece suit by Sa-bett of California. The slim skirt of Glen plad is in black and white wool and is topped with a white over blouse of easy care whipped creme. The blouse features roll collar with a large bow and long sleeves with french cuffs and pearl cuff links. The outfit is topped with a bright red wail corduroy jacket with eight gold buttons adorning the front. Kay is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Neil. (Little's)

Carol Skypala, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Skypala, has chosen a white shirt waist blouse of 100% dacron polyester crepe with long sleeves and french cuffs. The dress which is worn over the blouse is by Miss Couture, a division of Gay Gibson and is a 100% wool double knit. Carol, who is 16 years old, will be a junior in Hereford High School next year. (The May Company)

Gayle Newell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Newell of 426 Main Street, is wearing a "Miss Topper" three piece cape suit in black and white tweed. A black turtle neck sweater is worn with the suit and the cape is accented with a black knit collar. Gayle is a senior in Hereford High School. (Gaston's Popular Store)

A back to school blouson frock of combed striped gingham has been selected by Dana Riddle, daughter of Mrs. Betty Randell. The dress, of red and brown, has a white collar, tie of solid tone matching the plad. The box pleated skirt is full. Dana will be in the seventh grade next year. (Rutherford's)

A senior at Hereford High School, Sharon Tinnin, 17, wears a red wool suit with brass buttons down the front of the jacket. The Lady Van Heusen blouse that Sharon wears has a tie collar and can be worn with or without the jacket. Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Tinnin. (Vogue)

Mike Click, the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Click, is wearing a acrylon slip over sweater. The sweater is black with white with light blue touches at the neck, by Campus. Mike, who will be in the eighth grade is also wearing light blue Lee Rider pants. (Harmon's)

A "Lion Skin" jumper by Kate Greenaway featuring the expanded vinyl fabric which was created for all weather use has been chosen by Kiska Ann Hodges. Under the jumper, she is wearing a black turtle neck T-shirt and leotards. Kiska, who will start to school this year, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hodges. (Gaston's Popular Store)

Carolyn Langley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Langley, is wearing vest and matching pleated skirt with a contrasting colonial print blouse. The blouse is of drip dry cotton and the skirt and vest are of cotton twill. The outfit is by Erlanger of Dallas. (Helen's)

A third grader at Central Elementary School, Gail Gripp, wears a dress that was manufactured in Hereford by the Dollie Textile Company. The dress is a plain brown cotton piping at the waist line. The piping catches a touch of white lace at the neck line. Gail is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Gripp and is eight years old. (Anthony's)

350 To Take Part In Bands

More than 350 students in the Hereford Public Schools will take part in at least one of the seven bands next year.

About 85 of these students started taking band for the first time this summer in the six weeks Beginner Band Program. This program is designed to give the young bandman a basic knowledge of his instrument and to enable him to take a more advanced band course in Sept.

Students who have completed the sixth grade and will go into Stanton Junior High this year are eligible to take summer Beginner Band. At the end of the six weeks session on July 2, the band presented a public concert.

Directors for this program are Ben Gollehon, high school band director who instructed the wood winds; Clyde Wilson, junior high band director who instructed the brass; and Joe Ed Campbell, a student at West Texas State University in Canyon who instructed the percussion.

In Stanton Junior High, there are five bands, a beginner band, an advanced beginner band, an intermediate band, the Stanton Junior High Band, and a stage band.

The beginner band is for students who have never participated in band before and teaches them the fundamentals. The advanced beginner band is for students who have participated in the Summer Beginner Band Program and attempts to give students a broader knowledge of music and of their instrument.

The intermediate band at Stanton Junior High is for students who have completed the advanced beginner band program but are still not ready for the junior high band. This band and all the other bands in Stanton Junior High are under the direction of Wilson, who is assisted by Gollehon.

The Stanton Junior High Band, which is the most advanced in the school, presents concerts and competes in Interscholastic League contests just as the Hereford High School Band does. At the end of each year, an outstanding boy and girl are chosen from the junior high bands. This award, which is presented by Wilson, goes to the boy and girl which have contributed the most to the band and worked the hardest to improve themselves and the band.

Another part of the junior high band system is the stage band, which is made up of the most qualified players from the Stanton Junior High Band. This small band plays for many of the activities and functions of the school and at concerts.

Beginning this week, the high school marching band is holding practices twice each week. "This is to get us ready for the first football game on Sept. 11," said Gollehon, the director. Drum major for the band this year is Jerry Ross. The feature twirler is Merle Carmichael and the line twirlers are Patty Roach, Penny Jones and Ann Mercer.

The marching band will perform at all Hereford High School football games and will also be at the out-of-town games. In addition to this the band will go to marching contest in Canyon on Oct. 22. This contest is University football stadium.

Other band activities throughout the year include a stage band, the Lamplighters, composed of 15 members. They play saxophones, trombones, cornets, percussion, piano and string bass. This band plays for many school and local activities.

Twenty-five high school band students will try out for All Regional band in November. From these an All-State band is selected and those who make the All-State Band may try out for the All-American High School band.

Mrs. Nancy Richie

Mrs. Nancy Hinds Richie will be an elementary teacher next year in the Hereford Schools.

Mrs. Richie was a third grade teacher in Belmar Elementary School in Amarillo last year.

She is a graduate of Hedley High School and was graduated from West Texas State University in 1963 with a Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education.

She sings, can teach music, penmanship, language arts, social studies, and science, instruct basketball and tennis and supervise playground activities.

Velma Cook

A former teacher in the Hereford Public School System will return this year. She is Miss Velma Cook, who taught first grade at Central School from 1951 to 1956.

Miss Cook was employed as a second grade teacher in the Littlefield Independent School System last year.

She attended Texas Tech in Lubbock, and was graduated from West Texas State University with a Bachelor of Science and a Master of Education.

Her experience includes teaching second grade in Littlefield, first grade in Spokane, Washington, first grade in Sundown, first and second grade in White Deer, and the second and primary grades in Happy.

In addition to her other duties, Miss Cook will supervise playground activities, instruct first grade drawing, and teach first grade music.
