More Industry Due Here This Fall, Congress Told

By Phil Duncan

Holly Selects New Chairman, Russell T. Tutt

Russell T. Tutt of Colorado Springs has been elected chairman of the board of directors of Holly Sugar Corporation. It was announced this week by Dennis O'Rourke, president and chief executive officer of the corporation.

O'Rourke said Tutt succeeds Merrill E. Shoup, who died July 15, as chairman of the board and as chairman of the executive committee of Holly board.

Tutt is president of the T. Poman Investment Co. of Colorado Springs and is active in business and banking circles in Colorado.

The new chairman's varied experience includes the management and operation of a beet sugar plant, along with other enterprises, in Garden City, Kan.

He has been a member of the board of directors of Holly, the nation's second largest beet sugar company, since 1957.

The local plant was named for Merrill E. Shoup and will be called the Merrill E. Shoup plant. (Continued on page 2)

Hereford is growing industrially with several new industries due to be launched this autumn, and winter. In fact, Hereford's industrial growth was the subject of a speech made in Congress by Rep. Walter Rogers who pointed to Hereford's expansion in making a strong plea against possible curtailment of sugar beet acreage.

Recently controversy has arisen in the halls of congress concerning the proposed increase in acreage allotments to domestic sugar beet growers in the United States.

Efforts have been made by certain factions to curtail the beet sugar industry, which has prospered during recent years. Certain facts were pointed out to the House of Representatives recently, which express the economic upsurge, provided by the sugar beet industry in Hereford.

Along with the expanded industrial program for Hereford and its immediate area, two shopping centers were reported in the drawing-board stage Saturday, and leasing of spaces was said to have started in both proposed centers.

One shopping center backer said Saturday he would be ready to announce "at least three new business houses" for his center "within the next week to 10 days, and still others will be signed up before the center is in operation."

Representative Walter Rogers of the 18th Congressional District pointed out some interesting figures of the local Holly Sugar Plant and how it has effected the economy of Hereford.

Congressman Rogers was just one of the congressmen who spoke, urging an increase in the annual marketing quota of the beet sugar industry.

Rogers related the service, the beet sugar industry is performing, not only for the immediate Hereford area, but for the entire High Plains area of Texas and neighboring New Mexico.

"This is the realization of a dream which started several years ago when some of the leaders of the community, representing farmers and businessmen, sat together on a cold and blustery winter day to consider what they might do to rejuvenate their community economically, to give it a new stimulus for growth," Rogers told the legislators.

"They decided," Rogers continued, "to attempt to attract a beet sugar company to bring in to the area a processing plant, and their tireless efforts over a period of many, many months are now nearing fruition."

In pointing out the economic stimulation for Hereford the Holly Sugar Plant has had, Rogers told the House of Representatives, that his report could be kept in mind in relation to the brand, national offensive which is being launched against poverty, rural and urban — an offensive, Rogers said, "we all join in and which must be pushed to victory."

"More than 1,000 craftsmen and others are now employed on construction of the beet sugar factory, nearly exhausting the normally plentiful labor supplies in the Hereford area," Rogers continued.

"In the city of Hereford, a community now of some 3,500 persons, businesses of all kinds are enjoying new vigor, and many businesses already have opened with more to come."

Rogers pointed out, at one of Hereford's two banks, along bank clearings in May of this year were up more than 33 percent over a year ago — $18,518, 358 in May 1964 as compared to $12,375,946 in May of 1963, an increase of $4,233,312 in just one year.

"Deaf Smith County, in which Hereford and the new sugar factory are located is one of the few rural counties in the United States which has experienced an increase in population in the last decade." (Continued on Page 4)

French Youth, 18, Is Exchange Pupil

Rene Batard exchange pupil

"In every Frenchman's heart is a dream which consists of going to America — and especially to Texas" — a dream to come true for Rene Batard, who will arrive in Hereford the latter part of August.

Rene will be one of the two foreign exchange students who will attend Hereford High School this fall. The other is a girl, Michio Wakai, from Sagiyama, Japan. She is 16 years of age.

American parents for Rene will be Mr. and Mrs. Gid Brown, 241 Star St. He will have two brothers, Richard, 16, a junior in high school, and Carl, 11, a 6th grader.

Michio will reside with the Don Martins, 809 Park. Her American sister will be Nancy Martin, a senior in high school.

Rene is one of eight children, and he is the "last but one", having a younger sister. His father is chief accountant in an aircraft factory, and his mother is a housewife. The family is Catholic.

The only country Rene has visited other than his own is England. He traveled to the island in July of '63, and also in July of '63.

Rene is a member of UNESCO, an organization which helps French youth understand other parts of the world. He also is a member of a club that studies life of Great Britain.

Rene participates in a group bringing together youth of the same interests. He is the leader of a drama subdivision, and is taking professional drama lessons. He then passes the information on to the other students.

His athletic specialty is the 600 meters.

In his letter, he wrote: "But all these occupations do not prevent me from studying to become a teacher of English. And if I am accepted to go to the United States, I shall go to University after my return to try and obtain a degree which will drive me to the top."

Speaking of Housing

'Check For Yourself,' So This Newsman Did

By Larry Fahrman

"There is one good point that can be said for the Labor Camp housing — there is worse housing within the Hereford city limits. I wonder — who are the owners of these dwellings? If any one doubts this, I would be only too happy to take them on a tour of the camp and town housing." — Marian L. Davis, Hereford.

This is from a "Letter to the Editor" which appeared in The Hereford Brand Thursday. I didn't doubt what she said, but I went.

Mrs. Davis has worked with Casa de Amigos at the Labor Camp, and she knew many of the Latin Americans where we stopped and looked around.

She gave the directions as we drove about town — starting on one side of town and making a circle, finally ending the "tour" at the Labor Camp. She pointed out that there is only one specific area in town that is completely free of such housing, and that is the northwest part of town — north of Harrison Highway and west of 25 Mile Ave.

As we began, she showed me houses two blocks from 25 Mile Ave. — and there were some on 25 Mile Ave. itself. There was one whole neighborhood of low-grade housing, much of which could hardly be called housing. Some were on the verge of being nothing but shacks — places some people probably don't realize exist.

While the men were working in the fields, women were home with the children, doing house work and keeping up with the children. Mrs. Davis asked several if they would mind our taking pictures inside their homes.

"Oh no, no," was often the reply. "The house is a mess — I just haven't finished cleaning it up. If it were some other time..." Of course, many could not understand English, but the children could interpret for their parents.

One little girl, one of Mrs. Davis' school pupils, was happy to take us down to her house and show us around. Since her parents were not present, we did not go inside.

But their home, on the exterior, looked "half-way" decent. They had a small garden growing around the front steps, with a few vegetables and some flowers. Mrs. Davis said that at least "they are trying."

Then one teen-aged boy showed us his home — a barracks. He said that he and the nine other members of his family lived in one room.

We asked him about their sanitation facilities and he pointed the way to the restrooms — serving six barracks. In both the men's and women's restrooms there were two showers and a toilet. (Continued on page 2)

He now will be assigned to a ship or station or receive additional training at a service specialty school, the Navy reported from his Great Lakes, Ill., news center.

Too Much 'Celebration,' Judge Lowers The Boom

Several Hereford men, who were arrested over the weekend by various members of the local law enforcement agencies, began jaying the high price of "too much celebration" as they appeared before County Judge H. C. Williams and answered to the charges against them.

Andreas Falcon Garcia was fined court costs and sentenced to serve three months in the county jail this week after he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of carrying a prohibitive weapon.

Garcia was arrested at the carnival grounds Saturday evening after a deputy of the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department searched him and found a revolver in his possession.

The deputy-sheriff said he had approached Garcia only minutes before and told the Latin-American to go home, due to his apparent state of drunkenness. The deputy was approached by a bystander only minutes after he had left Garcia the first time and said that Garcia had aimed a pistol at him, after the deputy turned his back and began walking away.

Upon talking to Garcia the second time, the deputy found the pistol and arrested Garcia on the prohibitive weapon charge.

Juan Gonzalez was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in the county jail after he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Gonzales was arrested by city police after he was involved in a traffic accident at the intersection of U.S. 60 and Highway 235. Gonzales struck another car in the rear, according to investigating officers.

Gonzales is a 21-year-old passenger, Miss Deloris Montez, were both injured and rushed to Deaf Smith County Hospital, due to injuries sustained in the accident.

Jesus Galan, Hereford, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of selling liquor in a dry area and was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to 20 days in the county jail.

Galan also entered a plea of guilty, before Judge Williams, to a charge of possession of a prohibitive quantity of liquor in a dry area. He was fined $200 and sentenced to 20 days in the county jail on the second charge.

Judge Williams said that Galan would be allowed to serve the two sentences concurrently.

Celsa Idrogo Rangel also entered a plea of guilty to the similar charge of selling liquor in a prohibited area and was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in the county jail.

Manuel Dominguez, Hereford, was fined $175 and costs and sentenced to seven days in the county jail after he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Going East? Here's What to See — Part VI

Bigness Of New York Leaves Gotham Visitor Agog

By Sara Gillentine

The first sight that greets a visitor upon entering the city of New York is the immense size. In this city of more than ten million people, transportation is one of the main problems, especially to the visitor. There are two excellent ways to see the city of New York at reasonable cost.

The most widely used transportation system in New York is the subway. A person can ride as far as he wants for only 15 cents and can change cars as well as directions at no extra cost. Each of the three major subway lines connects with the others enabling a person to come within a few blocks of any place in the city.

Another extremely good way to travel is by bus.

For the same fare as the subway, a person can ride to many different sights. The bus is not nearly as fast as the subway and makes many more stops.

Probably the most famous landmark greeting visitors to

New York who arrive by boat and plane is the Statue of Liberty.

The Goddess holds a lighted torch in her uplifted right hand and a Tablet of Law, which bears the Roman numerals — July 4, 1776, in her left hand.

At the foot of the statue lies a broken shackle. She is nearly 152 feet tall and was a gift from the French people. The pedestal contains the following phrase, "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free, the wretched refuse of your teeming shore. Send these, the homeless, tempest-tossed to me, I lift my lamp beside the golden door!"

This is very true of the city in fact, almost one-third of the people living in New York are foreign born.

The easiest way to reach the statue is by ferry boat. One leaves each hour and at certain times each day, it leaves every thirty minutes. It is possible to take an elevator part way up into the statue but to reach the upper observation it is necessary to use the stairs. There are two spiral stairways of 168 steps each, one for going up and the other for coming down.

Another ferry ride which will enable the visitor to see much of New York is the Staten Island Ferry, which goes around the island.

This ride takes much longer than one to the Statue of Liberty and is especially beautiful at night when the lights of the city are visible.

Extending from 59th street to 110th street between Fifth and Eighth Avenues extends Central Park. The park is one of the most unusual places in the city. In it there are places for picnicking, horseback riding, boating, summer concerts, sports, walking dogs or simply spending a relaxing afternoon just relaxing on the grass.

A very pleasant way to see the park is by renting a hack. These are about $7 for 45 minutes and will carry up to five passengers.

Senate Measure Pleases Cattlemen

The president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, speaking at the East Texas Farm and Ranch Club meeting in Tyler last week, applauded Senate passage of a bill imposing reasonable restrictions on beef imports. Fred Wulff of Brady said passage of this bill is a step toward stabilizing the U. S. beef cattle industry and voiced the hope that it would be followed by prompt and favorable action in the House of Representatives.

The bill passed the senate by a vote of 72 to 15. Senator Ralph Yarborough and Senator John Tower were among those voting for the bill. "Our senators are to be commended for this action," Wulff stated. "Presuming this bill becomes law, it means that the beef producer of the future will have a reasonably sound base upon which to make decisions for future operations."

Wulff pointed out that under present conditions any efforts by producers to bring supply in line with demand could be voided by increased importation of beef from other countries. "The domestic beef producer can look to the future with little hope knowing that each time he tries to solve his own beef supply problems his action will result in foreign beef taking over a larger share of the U.S. beef market," he declared.

The bill passed by the Senate would restrict imports of beef, veal, lamb, mutton and canned meats to a five-year average based on the years 1959-1963. Beef imports during this period were the highest five years in history.

"We believe this is a reasonable bill," Wulff said. "We are not closing our doors to beef imports, we are only asking for action which would prevent the ruination of the U.S. cattle industry, and the severe crippling of countless communities, the economies of which are tied closely to beef cattle production and processing," Wulff emphasized.

He called attention to the fact that beef imports were only 1 1/2 percent of domestic beef production in 1956, but said that the so-called voluntary agreements negotiated recently with Australia and New Zealand set quotas based on the 1962-1963 beef import levels which amounted up to 11 percent of domestic production. In addition, the agreements allowed a 3.7 percent per year growth factor. Wulff said the pattern of these negotiations had set the stage for other negotiations which could allow continued increases in beef imports.

He pointed out that the Chairman of the Australian Board of Trade hailed this growth factor as a major breakthrough. An Australian newspaper quoted him as saying, "First time an agriculture export nation has given assurance of a share in the growth of a foreign market."

"These negotiations are solid evidence of the need for the bill passed by the Senate," Wulff declared. "While the cattle raisers from importing countries were represented by able and competent men, the U.S. beef man had no one who stood up for his interests. These agreements can be voided by either country on six months' notice, and who can say the domestic beef producer will be better represented in any future negotiations?"

Wulff said passage of the Senate bill indicates a deep understanding of the disastrous effects beef imports are having on present U.S. producers as well as the tragic consequences which could result in the future without such a law.

"Such a law also would ensure a continued supply of quality beef to the consumer at reasonable prices," he said. "Consumers' preference for this kind of beef is indicated by the steadily rising per capita consumption during the past two decades."

three commodes. The family had no inside running water. The boys said that they had to put in their own outside hydrant, as there was no running water even near the house.

Again, they could not go inside because the house was in a mess. "The boy was glad to answer questions, and he told us that inside part of the building was sheetrocked, but not completely. There was nothing on the ceiling.

It's share-and-share alike with the neighbors. They had no refrigerator, the boy explained, so they kept their food at their aunt's house, a block away. The same was true, he said, with their neighbors. They all shared their refrigerators.

His mother cooked on a small table-top range that had three burners.

Then we moved on to the northern part of town where little clusters of the shanties appeared every few blocks. In one home there was a kitchen and a bedroom, and six persons lived there. The family explained they were only temporary — they didn't want to stay there.

The parents slept in one bed and the children slept on a mattress spread on the floor. This took up about all the room. In the kitchen, there was running water — but there was no hot water. And on and on it went, with Mrs. Davis pointing out different areas that especially needed attention. We stopped at some, passed others by.

End of the tour was the Labor Camp. Here conditions were different. The rooms were neater, and showed signs of actual housekeeping. There were a few dishes on the table — mostly plates. The occupants ate mainly from the dishes used on the stove.

A gas stove was in the bedroom — supposed to heat both large rooms. Three or four beds occupied the room, and one was also in the kitchen. A notable factor in the building was the door — with a large hole in the center which had obviously been there for some time.

In another part, there was no sheetrock or any other form of sheathing on the inside walls. Just studs.

Then Mrs. Davis pointed to what is known as the "South

The tallest skyscraper in the world is also located in New York City — the Empire State Building. It is 1250 feet above street level, not counting the television aerial located on its top.

Although it is possible to reach the observation platform by stairs it is much faster and easier to use the express elevator. It takes less than three minutes to reach the top and costs only about 50 cents.

From the top it is possible to see such sights as the Empire State Building, Times Square, the Hudson River, the New York Harbor, Palisades Amusement Park and others. The view is especially beautiful at night when the lights are visible and a light fog usually shadows the area with a light haze.

On the observation tower are telescopes which can be operated for 10 cents for ten minutes. These telescopes contain finders which help to locate the sites which can be seen from different points on the tower.

Labor Camp" — privately owned. Some residents lived in just shacks, while some of the others lived in brand new houses. They were simple, but neat homes. Mrs. Davis said that a person could tell whether the occupants owned the property by looking at the building and the yard. Those who cleaned up their places owned them — those that just let them go, rented.

Many have seen and heard about "Colonia de Buena Vista". An employee of the housing subdivision said that prospective renters were being turned away — their four-piexes and duplexes were all filled with "permanent" residents.

So that's the story. It's just what Marian Davis showed me.

Hereford Couple To Try Teaching Skills In Peru

By Carma Thomas

Talara, Peru, S.S., is the destination of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Balch and small son, Brad and Blake, as they begin a two-year teaching assignment in the school International Petroleum Co., Ltd., maintains for children of its staff.

Leaving their home, 228 Ave. J, yesterday, the Balch family will visit in the Dallas area before flying to Miami, Fla., for final processing for life in South America.

They leave the States Aug. 20 on direct flight to Lima, Peru, with only one stop-over in Panama City, Panama. At Lima, they take a company plane for the 700-mile flight northward to Talara, Pacific coastal city of 35,000.

They begin their new home in "La Brea et Parinas" estate, the company land around Talara, extending eastward from Punta Parinas, "the most westerly point of South America." The Balches are excited about living in sunny Talara of temperate climate. Although in equatorial South America, this Peruvian coastal area is cooled by the Humboldt current sweeping up from the Antarctic, keeping a winter average of 85 degrees and a summer high of 65 degrees.

Just two blocks from the Pacific and ready for the Balches is a house supplied by the company, with enough furnishings to tide them over until their own household good and personal effects for Peruvian life arrive by air cargo. Waiting for them also are the Don Edwards family, well known in Hereford.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Balch feel fortunate to go to Talara and are eager to make their place among the families of 60 overseas employees of the company and 4240 Peruvian employees. The company school includes pre-school and grades 1-8, all comparable to schools in the United States. With relatively small enrollments in classes, Mrs. Balch will be teaching English in grades 5, 6, 7, and 8. Balch will teach mathematics 7 and 8 and have additional classes in science and/or social studies.

Graduates of North Texas State University, Denton, both Mr. and Mrs. Balch have taught in Hereford schools during the past two years. They will be returning on summer leaves, each of three months' duration, by agreement with their employer, I.P.C., subsidiary of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.

Utah Youth Spending Summer In Hereford

Gary Gentry, 17, Sunset, Utah, is spending the summer with his aunt and uncle, the W. H. Gentrys, 400 Sunset Drive.

He is working on the Gentry farm and hopes, as he says, to build muscles for football season.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hartman have spent most of the summer in Stillwater, Okla., where Mrs. Hartman is working on Library Science at Oklahoma State University.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Gerald Skypala will be Hereford residents this autumn. They have been attending school in Weatherford, Okla., but this autumn Eddie will continue his studies at West Texas State University and his wife will be a teacher at Northwest Elementary school.

Miss Judy Caddell, Big Spring, is a guest this week in the home of her aunt, Mrs. W. J. Messick. Her mother is staying in Plainview to be near Mrs. C. E. White who is in the hospital. Mrs. Messick and Mrs. Caddell are daughters of Mrs. White.

Miss Joby Higginbotham, Crosbyton, is a guest this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Higginbotham.

Mr. and Mrs. Buren Sowell were visitors in Amarillo last weekend. They visited their daughter, Mrs. Buck Cunningham and Mr. Cunningham and their son David and family.

David Sowell, who is a civilian instructor in jet mechanics at the air base, has just returned home from Montgomery, Ala. where he took a six-week training course in jet mechanics. Asked whether the weather was hot there, he said it rained about every day; that the country was beautiful. He had a visit with another former Herefordite, Charles Bell, son of Mrs. A. G. Bell, who is stationed there.

D. C. Martin left Friday for Oklahoma City, Okla., to visit his mother who is in the hospital there. He will also go to Maude, Okla. to get Mrs. Martin who has spent the summer there with a sister who has been ill. They will return to Hereford next week.

Mrs. Cawthon Bryant has returned home after spending three weeks in Fort Polk, with her son, John David, who is stationed there. She spent last week in Falls with her mother, Mrs. J. D. Smith, and her sister, Juanita. She and Mr. Bryant plan (Continued on Page 4)

States showing a population increase in recent years.

Rogers pointed out that the Hereford School District has just approved a $2,400,000 bond issue to finance new school construction to accommodate the swelling school-age population.

"Deposits in Hereford's two banks and two savings associations during the 13-month period between March 15, 1963, and April 15, 1964, climbed from $25,986,714 to $30,954,676," Rogers related to the assembled congressmen.

Perhaps the most important factor, Rogers pointed out, was that 46 new business, professional and service establishments have come to Hereford since January 1963, which was three months after announcement of construction of the new beet sugar plant.

In breaking the new businesses down, Rogers said there were two lawyers, one dentist, two optometrists, two clothing stores, one office supply company, one discount center, one loan company, five cafes, restaurants and drive-ins, two food stores, two motels completed and one under construction, 12 contractors and building supply services, three insurance and real estate companies and 12 other miscellaneous business, professional and service establishments.

He said building permits in Hereford are reaching new record levels. In the late 1950s and early in this decade, building permits annually aggregated just over $1 million. In 1963, after construction of the new sugar factory was well along, building permits issued in Hereford aggregated $3,285,000, a 300-percent increase over previous levels.

"Other new enterprises which have come or are coming to Hereford under the direct stipulation of the new sugar beet enterprise include: a new feed lot — one on the edge of town with a capacity of 15,000 head of cattle; a similar new feed yard at Frioona, a nearby community, also with 15,000 head capacity; a molasses feed industry at Hereford which includes a $150,000 installation; Dolly Textiles, Inc., a sewing center making children's dresses; three fertilizer companies—Cyanamid, Monsanto and Armour and Co.—currently are reported seeking

Accidents Slow Down As 1 Minor Collision Occurs

The Hereford Police Department was allowed a rest from the hurried pace which developed during the first part of the week, when four wrecks occurred, taking one life and sending two persons to the hospital.

The only collision to occur during the latter part of the week was when vehicle driven by Lucy Jones Miller, 817 Brevard, and Robert Charles Galley, Route 1, collided at the 300 block of E. 2nd, shortly after 1:30 p.m. Friday.

According to investigating officers, Galley was backing from a horizontal position and said he did not see Mrs. Jones until it was too late to avoid a collision. Galley was cited by the investigating patrolman for failure to yield right of way while backing.

Damage to Mrs. Jones vehicle was set at $150, while the damage to Galley's car was estimated at $50.

Hereford recorded its first traffic fatality of the year Monday evening when Sally Pacheco, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Pacheco, 323 Ave. E, was struck and killed by a car driven by Michael Davis, 15, son of the Rev. and Mrs. B. L. Davis, 215 Ave. B.

"The accident has been termed unavoidable," Police Chief Marshall Padgett said, "and no charges will be filed in the incident."

There were no witnesses to the accident as reported in Thursday's Hereford Brand.

The little girl was pronounced dead on arrival at Deaf Smith County Hospital.

JAPANESE TOUR INDIA

NEW DELHI (AP) — The number of Japanese tourists visiting India increased a spectacular 16.7 per cent in 1963, the government says.

Dimmitt as well as at Hereford. Western Ammonia, a fertilizer company, for example, has completed a new $4 million plant at Dimmitt.

"As an example of what is happening to the older businesses in the area, the Hereford Tile and Brick Company, three years ago had three employees in the plant. Now there are 30 full-time workers, and the owners report that he is six to eight weeks behind in his orders," Rogers continued.

"There are now 27,500 acres of sugar beets growing in the district — in the future years as the enterprise becomes fully established, this figure is expected to rise to 45,000 or more acres. But from this year's crop alone, it is estimated farmer cash income will be between $6 and $6½ million. The nonsurplus sugar beets they are growing replace surplus crops of small grains and feed grains, still another plus on the ledger," Rogers continued.

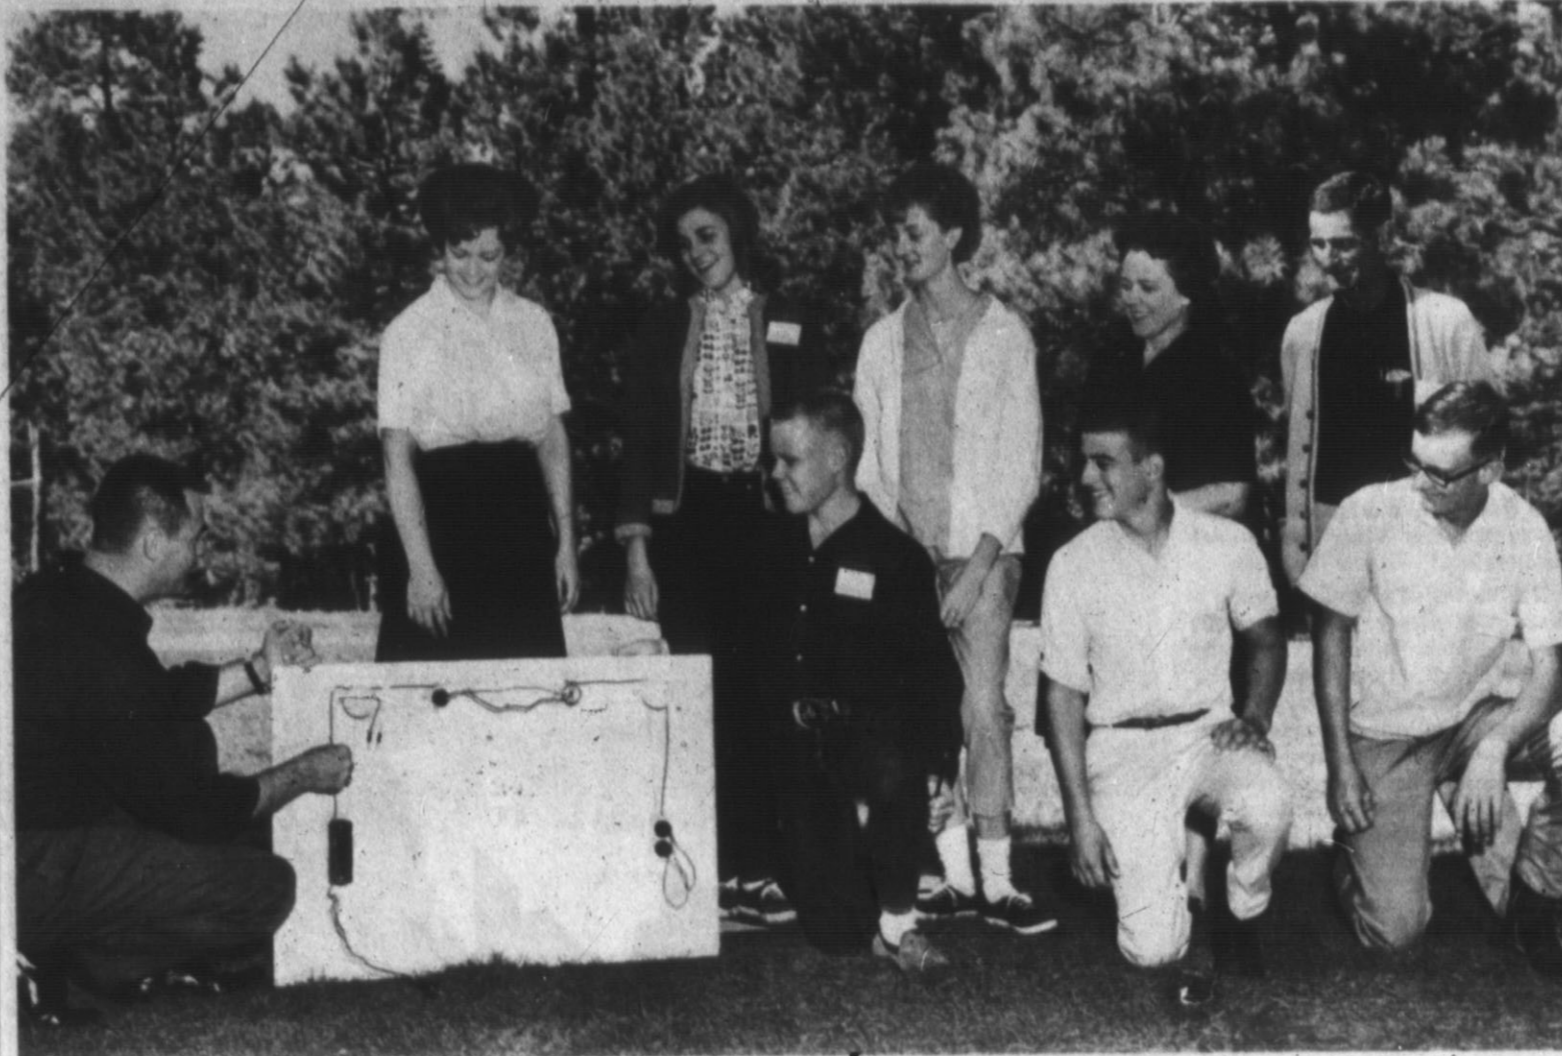

He said on May 25 of this year, the Deaf Smith County tax consultant reported to the board of county commissioners that property valuation in the county had climbed another $10 million this year.

"This is the prelude at Hereford. This is what is happening in the creation of new wealth, new jobs, new businesses. This is a story that is new and yet it is as old as the beet sugar industry itself in the United States. This is not a boom and bust story.

It is one of solid, stable, long-range growth, and economic vigor and vitality. It is in short, a thrilling story of what a community and a corporation, working hand in hand, can accomplish," Rogers continued.

Rogers said, in concluding his address to the House of Representatives, "It is unthinkable that a source of new wealth, and continuing wealth, such as our domestic beet sugar industry shall not be given the right to move forward, to grow as it is needed, to take a larger part in furnishing our annual national sugar requirements. The action we here in the Congress of the United States must take is a clear duty. The annual marketing quota of the beet sugar industry must be enlarged lest we stifle — even cripple — industry which means so much to us all."

He mentioned the progress in the town of Dimmitt — itself a foremost prospect for a beet sugar plant of its own — population has grown from 2,960 in the 1960 census to an estimated 5,000 today. There has been a substantial increase in business activity and influx of new businesses at plant sites at Hereford; Allen Packing Co. of California has acquired a site for a $1,250,000 packing plant, construction of which is scheduled to begin this fall; another independent packing company is seeking a construction site at Hereford."

Rogers related to the House the plans to build two new shopping centers which are sited in the drawing board stage; Shamrock Oil and Gas Co. now is working on a new Hereford fertilizer plant and farm center which will cost an estimated $1.4 million.

Rogers pointed out other towns in the immediate vicinity of Hereford, who have profited by the location of the beet sugar industry in the High-Plains area.

"At least indirectly involved in this economic upsurge are also the Best Fertilizer Co.'s new $18-million fertilizer plant at Plainview, just 60 miles from Hereford and serving the farming area where sugar beets are now growing; and a new Techne Corp. anhydrous ammonia plant at Plainview costing an estimated $3.5 million."

Baptist Crusade Launching Set

Thirteen area Latin Baptist churches will launch Cruzada Bautista Nueva Vida (Baptist New Life Crusade) at Templo Bautista Memorial church at 215 Norton St., Hereford, at 2:30 today, when principal speaker will be the Rev. Roberto Garcia, Lubbock, chairman of the prayer committee for Latin-Americans for the statewide crusade.

The campaign, shortened in name to "NV", is statewide in scope, and in addition includes 12 Mexican Baptist churches across the Rio Grande River.

Host minister is the Rev. Guillermo Enrique Benitez, Templo Bautista pastor, who says 300 persons or more are expected for the meeting here today which officially launches the pre-campaign program. The crusade itself is slated for Aug. 30 to Oct. 11, and has been proclaimed by Governor John Connally. In his proclamation the Governor said: "This program will constitute a united effort to accelerate church stewardship and better understanding between Anglo-American Baptists and Latin-American Baptists in Texas."

In outlining La Cruzada Bautista Nueva Vida, objectives were listed as follows:

Mrs. Graves, 59, Dies; Rites Held

Services for Mrs. Sussie Lois Graves, 59, were held Saturday at 4 p.m. in Avenue Baptist Church, with the Rev. Clarence Powell, pastor of the church, officiating.

Wife of C. W. Graves, Rt. 4, Mrs. Graves died Thursday afternoon in Deaf Smith County Hospital after an illness of several weeks.

She was born in Red River County, Texas, March 6, 1905. On Nov. 1, 1925, she was married to Calais Warren Graves in Sherman. They moved to Deaf Smith County in 1955 from Dimmitt. She was a homemaker and a member of the Avenue Baptist Church.

She is survived by her husband, C. W., of the home; two daughters, Margaret Rivas, Hugo, Oka., and Nadine Anderson, Lake Geneva, Wis.; four brothers, Henry and Waco Knight, Holiday; Arthur Knight, Savoy; and D. C. Sherman; and one sister, May Nuckles, Haskell.

Interment was in West Park Cemetery, under direction of Gilliland Funeral Home.

"To win lost Latin Americans to faith in Christ by:

"1. Presenting the gospel of Christ to every Latin-American in Texas.

"2. Dedicating the resources, knowledge and experience of Texas Baptists to bring the gospel to the mission field in her midst.

"3. Developing better understanding between Latin-Americans and Anglo-Americans in the Lord's work.

"4. Establishing a basis for stronger permanent support for an adequate ministry to Latin-Americans."

In addition to Mr. Garcia, other speakers will include Lowell Sharp, Deaf Smith County sheriff; the Rev. Daniel Molina, Springlake, and the Rev. Mr. Godsey, Plainview.

Kings Manor Reports

This week Rev. Don R. Davidson, our executive director, put aside the details of preparation for the "Open Campus" as announced for Thursday, September 3, 1964. He leaves Friday of this week to travel with Bishop Paul V. Galloway, now of Little Rock, Arkansas, as official representatives to carry a personal word of greetings and gratitude from the Northwest Texas Methodist Conference. The two delegates are to visit with the home of Larry and Thea Moore in Suamico, Wisconsin.

The Larry Moore family lived in Hereford for two years in 1950-51 and during that time they gave to the Hereford Methodist Church, and finally the Northwest Texas Methodist Conference, a mink ranch. Davidson will return on Monday with the fourteenth annual gift from the operation of the mink ranch. The amount of the check will raise to a grand total in the fourteen years more than $650,000 from the Moore family. Bishop Galloway and Davidson will deliver to the family at Suamico a framed document expressing the thanks in official form from the entire Northwest Texas Conference.

King's Manor has been the recipient of the largest single portion of those gifts and will continue to receive some help for at least five years from the Moore gift. The story of the mink ranch gift is fascinating, but no more so than the story of King's Manor.

Davidson reports that progress on all dwellings is on schedule and prospects for full capacity in all facilities before the end of September are strong.

Shortly after Davidson's return on Monday, Frank and Ruth Turner, manager and Nursing supervisor of Westgate respectively, will return from a study at Morningside Manor in San Antonio, Texas. Committee work will then be completed for next week's report to our friends in the Hereford area and Methodists across the conference.

Sandwich Round Makes Meal-In-One

Sandwiches have certainly come a long way since John Montagu, the Fourth Earl of Sandwich, invented them in the 18th century.

Today, sandwiches not only serve as a standard lunch dish, but artistically arranged they are used extensively for casual entertaining.

Triple Tempter Sandwich Loaf is a recipe for such purposes. Round sandwich bread arranged in a long loaf adds a festive look to the serving table.

This perfect treat for summer eating pleasure combines not one but three appealing tasty sandwich spreads — tangy chicken salad, Confetti cheese spread, and crunchy peanut butter spread.

Arranged alternately and heated to a golden brown, these delicious sandwiches will get a rush from your guests.

By Melvin Young
The summer activities of the youngsters in our block will never cease to amaze us. A couple of years ago, our daughters, along with three or four neighborhood children, started a publication entitled the "McKinley Street Reporter". They did pretty well with the paper, particularly since "pops" was footing the bill for all the paper they used.

Colby Conkright, one of its regular readers, has a complete file of the "Reporter", consisting of, if our memory serves us correctly, three issues. And Colby got a little rankled when we finally came to the end of the line and issued an ultimatum to stop publication "Why, that was a pretty good neighborhood newspaper," he said. But in spite of Colby's protest, we prevailed upon the youngsters to either stop publication, or find ways to buy their own supplies.

Now we have a carnival in the neighborhood. Chuck Cogdell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cogdell, 915 Park Avenue, and Bill Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Phillips, have erected a dart board, an apple dunking tub, a ring toss, baseball pitch and a few other carnival games. At last check, they were doing a "big" business.

Chuck celebrated his 10th birthday Friday, and passed the word around the block that everyone was invited to a hamburger fry in his back yard. "Don't worry about bringing gifts," said Chuck. "Just bring along a couple of bucks to spend at the carnival."

Now that's pretty sharp thinking. This being a political year, the major magazines and the metropolitan dailies are all carrying many columns of various information on politics; most of which is useless. It is however, very interesting, and we enjoy poring over the records of past elections.

Many of course (mostly in the liberal corner) are gleefully predicting a "landslide" for

President Lyndon Johnson. Goldwater backers on the other hand, are very adamant about the chances of their candidate. They point out that the Senator's phenomenal rise in politics is unparalleled in political history. But it's the "landslide" deal that aroused our curiosity, and while browsing through a July 27 issue of U. S. News & World Report we came across an article concerning this particular issue and a chart giving the percentages for the past 100 years. Then, what about this "landslide" deal?

Franklin D. Roosevelt overwhelmed his Republican opponent in 1936, folks will tell you. That's a landslide. FDR received 60.8 per cent of the total vote in that election with Landon polling only 36.5 per cent. That, by the way, is the largest percentage of the total vote received by a Presidential candidate in the past 100 years. Figures prior to that time become sketchy, with no popular vote count available up until 1824. George Washington however, had no opponent.

Harding was second with a "landslide". In 1920, he received 60.4 per cent of the total vote while his Demo opponent, Cox, polled only 34.1 per cent. Herbert Hoover was third with 58.1 per cent over Smith who received 40.8 per cent and General Dwight D. Eisenhower drops in to the fourth slot in 1956 with 57.4 per cent of the total compared to 42 per cent for Adlai Stevenson.

Eisenhower also received 55.1 per cent in 1952 over the same candidate. Like Roosevelt, he chalked up the biggest margin on his bid for a second term. But the fact remains that only two presidents in the past 100 years have received more than 60 per cent of the total vote; Roosevelt and Harding.

Another interesting item in the story and accompanying chart is that Rutherford B. Hayes was elected President in 1876 with 48 per cent of the total vote while his Democratic opponent, Tilden, received 51 per cent.

The Hayes forces in that election claimed that in three southern states which Tilden carried (Louisiana, South Carolina, and Florida), Negroes had been unlawfully kept from going to the polls. Had they been allowed to vote, Hayes would have been elected. Republican leaders and Southern Democrats met and made a deal: The three states would throw their electoral votes to Hayes, thereby giving him the election 185 to 134 (electoral votes), provided that federal troops would be withdrawn, and the states would be allowed to control their own affairs.

Democrats battled the decision for some time but an Electoral Commission created by Congress ruled in favor of (Continued on page 14)

Growing Hereford, Like All Towns, Now Has Low-Grade Housing Areas

 Hayes on March 2, 1877, just fifty-six hours before Hayes was to be inaugurated.
 In 1888 Harrison defeated Cleveland with a minority of the popular vote. Harrison polled only 47.9 per cent while Cleveland garnered 48.7 per cent. Our information source gives nothing on this, but we presume that the difference would be that Harrison carried the states with the biggest electoral vote. Cleveland returned four years later to defeat Harrison.

There were several presidents to win election with less than 50 per cent of the total vote. Of course, the reason being a third, or minor party candidate, drawing off a small block of votes.

The U.S. News & World Report chart goes back only to 1864, but other reference material indicates that at least one other presidential candidate was elected with less popular vote than his opponent had. That was John Quincy Adams who defeated Andrew Jackson. In that election however, there were four candidates and the election was finally thrown into the House of Representatives which named Adams to the post.

The Kennedy-Nixon slug-fest in 1960 was the closest of any election in the past 100 years, and we'd bet, ever. Only 2 per cent of the popular vote separated the two candidates. Kennedy polled 49.7 percent; Nixon, 49.5 percent.

And as we said before, this information is probably useless, but nevertheless, interesting.

And then there's the story of the helpful boy who ran into his uncle's garage asking for the loan of a few gallons of gas. "What do you need gas for, my boy?" the uncle asked. "The School is burning," was his reply.

QUICK LAUNCH

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Aerojet-General Corp. reports it has developed new solid rocket fuels that could zip a missile a mile away from its launch site within one second after ignition.

Company officials say tests have shown the new propellant has the fastest burning rate ever obtained in nonexplosive solid fuels. The Air Force is considering possible uses.

THE QUICK AND THE DEAD

NEW YORK (AP) — A hostess at the Tampa-St. Petersburg exhibit in the Florida Pavilion at the New York World's Fair proved to be quick with an answer.

A gruff-looking visitor growled at her, "I wouldn't be caught dead in Florida."

She replied, "You should, sir. We have some beautiful cemeteries."

SELF-STARTER

SYDNEY (AP) — A utility truck was parked in the street, handbrake on and in gear.

Storm clouds gathered overhead. Then came three great thunderclaps, so loud that houses shook and windows rattled. The utility truck started to run down hill, and kept going for 200 yards until it hit another vehicle.

Utility owner T. O'Dea said he believed the thunder knocked his car out of gear and released the handbrake.

Grazing Will Be Permitted To October 31

Grazing privileges on diverted crop land which was given to farmers in Deaf Smith and other near-by counties, due to near-drought conditions in this area, was extended to October 31, according to Representative Walter Rogers.

The grazing privileges were first granted June 17 of this year, after area farmers requested that "soil bank" land be freed for grazing after the early spring drought, had flattened most of the dryland wheat and pastures.

Grazing privileges were extended to Armstrong, Carson, Castro, Collingsworth, and Swisher counties. The deadline for grazing and haying in these counties is also October 31.

The deadline for Deaf Smith and the other counties, previously offered the grazing privilege, was August 31.

The other counties, who were allowed to graze the land in June, were Briscoe, Childress, Cottle, Dallam, Hall, Motley, Oldham and Randall.

The original request was made in a joint telegram to Governor John Connally by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the Farmers Home Administration and the Agricultural Extension Service.

The request was then made by Governor Connally to the Department of Agriculture, who extended the privilege.

Paul Jackson and Myrna Zaring Marry In Church At Adrian

Miss Myrna Lois Zaring and Paul Edward Jackson were married in the First Baptist Church, Adrian, Saturday evening, July 25. The Rev. Dave Sellars, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Ted Boydston, pianist, presented traditional wedding music.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manson Hegan Zaring, Jr., Adrian, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Sherman McGown, Adrian.

Mr. Zaring gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a street-length dress of bridal brocade fashioned with A-line skirt topped by jacket with three-quarter length sleeves and large brocade-covered buttons at front opening. Of self-material the soft crushed cummerbund secured the jacket at back with large obi bow.

Her shoulder-length veil of imported nylon net banded with re-embroidered lace was caught to a half crown of rhinestones and sequins. She carried a cascading bridal bouquet of white carnations. The bridal costume was designed and made by the bride.

Adrian wedding attendants included Miss Linda Pinnell, maid of honor; Miss Ina Sue Ferguson, bridesmaid; and Perry Gruhkey, who served as best man. Phil Krahn, Vega, was groomsmen, while ushers were Tommy Slocu and Larry Hickman, both of Amarillo.

The reception honoring the young couple was held in the home of the bride's parents. Accenting the bride's colors, the serving table was covered with white lace cloth over pale blue and centered with an arrangement of blue sweet peas and milkglass candleholders with blue tapers. Other appointments were in crystal.

Mrs. George Gruhkey and Mrs. Frances Speed served the guests, and Mrs. Jimmy Dawson presided at the guest book.

The young couple are at home at 202 Crestway, Amarillo.

'Sweet Adelines' Plan Schedule

Sweet Adelines, Inc., area non-profit organization centered presently in the Amarillo chapter, has set up a calendar of events for the latter half of the year, announces Pat Loerwald for the Hereford Adelines.

These events, Miss Loerwald adds, will complement the busy series of singouts and activities the group have carried out to date this year.

ADELINES' CALENDAR

Aug. 14-16: Sweet Adeline Music School, Denver, Colo.
Aug. 25: "Bush League" Contest, St. Paul Methodist Church, Amarillo. Selecting quartets for Regional Meet.

Nov. 14: "Musical Daze," annual Sweet Adelines show, Amarillo.

"Our purpose," Miss Loerwald emphasizes, "is to meet and create harmony for our members and those around us."

Newest Hereford member, she announces, is Carol Hill, who satisfactorily participated in a minimum of three rehearsals prior to actual membership.

Sweet Adelines hope to help the community share in singing and enjoyment of good music. Interested young women would be welcomed to membership. They should contact any one of these Hereford Adelines: Linda Kids, EM 4-0336; Pat Loerwald, EM 4-1276; Nan Layman, EM

Drouth Period Stresses Advantages Of This Area

Things are quiet in Deaf Smith county these days, due primarily to the fact that everyone is too busy to get into trouble, and the few who do have time on their hands are vacationing. As usual, in periods of this type, the chief topic of conversation appears to be the weather or, more specifically, the lack of rain.

Needless to say, the current drouth should be establishing some new records. Naturally, it has been exceedingly rough on the dry land farmers of the territory.

The big news, on the other hand, is to be noted in the fact that this county — despite all of its woes — will probably record a banner production year, thanks to the presence of irrigation. Vegetable production in 1964 will be outstanding with good yields and consistently good market on potatoes. Should carrots, lettuce and sugar beets come through on the same ratio, this may well be one of the biggest years for the community. Grain sorghum, still the "old stand-by" likewise indicates good to better yields.

All of this, totaled up, presents a pointed answer to the reason that this area is consistently gaining in farm population, while most agricultural territories in the nation are reporting tremendous population losses. Before the development of surface irrigation, this territory was consistently in the lower population and financial income brackets. Today, Deaf Smith is one of the few counties in Texas without oil production — and it is one of the highest per-capita income areas in the nation.

Irrigation and diversification provide

Accident Prone?

Appearing with Hereford's first fatal accident for the year has been considerable discussion regarding traffic conditions. The answer, in most minds, sums up to the fact that we are bound to have a few regrettable accidents.

According to reports issued and findings of investigating officers, the recent accident was unavoidable. It also seems that the city has taken practical precautions to eliminate as many accidents as possible. Changing out "Yield Right of Way" signs for "Stop" signs was accomplished some months ago with apparently improved results. People in general appear to obey speed regulations for better than in most towns and cities, and traffic lights have been installed in strategic spots. Some bottle-necks still appear on Park Avenue, but we cannot think where another traffic light would be effective.

The downright fact is that we just plain have a lot of traffic these days and just as on our highways, we can necessarily expect our share of accidents, some minor, others major. The best answer is to exercise every precaution available, and pray for the lowest accident rate possible.

Mississippi Speaks Out Regarding Appearance of Unwelcome Visitors

Let's face it. One of the basic issues in the current civil rights agitation is a political one. A national news magazine said recently: "Mr. Johnson has to have the black Negro vote to be elected President this fall."

This, of course, accounts for the President's sending his own personal representative to Mississippi to appraise the situation. This accounts for his assigning hundreds of FBI agents to Mississippi this summer, and this accounts for his sending 400 sailors into central Mississippi to search for the missing civil rights workers.

Incidentally, it has become a joke in this area about the great amount of effort the sailors are putting into their work. They know that they have been assigned to this job for a political purpose — to sooth the feelings of all of the civil rights organizations and to make like something is being done in this Mississippi situation.

Of course it wouldn't be good politics for LBJ, whose every motive is dictated by political consideration, to use the influence of his office to stop the movement that has led to the present situation in Mississippi. He could have slowed down or even stopped the invasion of Mississippi by the Northern "bleeding heart" students this summer.

Now these students were schooled in advance in causing trouble under the guise of bringing "freedom" to Mississippi Negroes. An editorial in the Harvard Crimson, which was given wide circulation in Mississippi, declared that "this summer will witness a massive, daring, probably bloody assault on the racial barriers of Mississippi."

Important to this project, the editorial said, "is the anticipated lawlessness of Mississippi whites. The planners reason that massive nonviolence will precipitate a crisis of violence which they consider prerequisite for further progress." Sounds like commu-

TEXAN IN WASHINGTON

Texan To Head President's Food Marketing Program

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON, (AP) — Shortly after the Democratic National Convention ends in late August, the newly created National Commission on Food Marketing headed by a Texan — is expected to figure in the news. Retired Chief Judge Marvin Jones of the U.S. Court of Claims, who probably knows as much as anyone about problems involved in the production and handling of food stuffs, was named by President Johnson to serve as chairman of the commission.

As a member of Congress from the Texas Panhandle, Jones was chairman of the House Agriculture Committee during the 1950's.

During World War II, under appointment of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, he went on leave from the Claims Court to serve as War Food Administrator.

What the National Commission on Food Marketing learns in its forthcoming one-year study may have direct bearing on what the American housewife pays for her groceries.

Texas housewives, farmers and food handlers and marketers won't be affected by the study any more than those from elsewhere. But that's a better than even chance that their views will be reflected in the commission's findings.

Besides Judge Jones, another Texan will serve on the 15-member commission, which is made up of five senators, five House members and five individuals who represent the public generally and not any segment of the food industry.

Democratic Rep. Graham Puroell of Wichita Falls, a member of the House Agriculture Committee, is on the commission.

Creation of the commission, by Congress was prompted by an old and oft recurring question: What's responsible for the big spread between what farmers receive and what consumers pay?

The commission will have $15 million to conduct its inquiry. A staff of investigators will delve into production and marketing costs. Hearings will be held at which spokesmen for all interested groups can testify.

Judge Jones, who left Washington just before the Republican convention to visit friends in Lubbock and in his old hometown of Amarillo, said he will return after the Democratic convention in Atlantic City and then get the food study organized.

Jones was appointed chairman of the commission after Rep. W. R. (Bob) Poage, D-Waco, vice chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, proposed his name to President Johnson.

"I am very hopeful that this commission will render a very real service in clearing up many of the disputed and misunderstood facts about the

It's an experience that most school students never get, the opportunity to be first occupants of a brand, shining, new school building. Littlefield high school students will enjoy this happening at the start of the 1964 school year in the new $650,000 high school building that is nearing completion. Aside from its many exciting innovations, the school building has an added suspense element, especially for school officials. This is: Will it really be ready in time?

Seems as though our youth problems are pretty well taken care of right now, what with all the 4-H, the Little Britches activity, the Little Leagues, the Minor and the Major, the Babe Ruth Leagues and the YMCA activity. We just shouldn't have problems. You should hear of many towns less fortunate that do not have a Y, that do not have an active 4-H, that do not have any baseball activities, and when you make comparisons, the city of Dumas, with its churches and schools, is very fortunate.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his hindwood farm apparently is trying to get his mind off the summer turmoil, his letter this week indicates.

Dear Editor:

Trying to get my mind off of hot weather, politics and riots, I was scanning the inside or riot-free pages of a newspaper last night and ran across an item that has so many possibilities it should have made the front page.

According to it, there's a show at the New York World's Fair which is about busted financially despite the fact it's supposed to be very good, so the owners tried a gimmick. Instead of selling tickets before the show, they waited till afterwards. They just threw open the doors and invited the tourists in, which the understanding if they liked the show they could pay as they went out. If they didn't like it, they didn't have to pay. The first trial was a success.

Since I don't have time to keep up with the 132 nations on earth and two national political conventions and still keep up with the entertainment world, I don't know how this working out, but that's beside the point. It's the unbelievable possibilities it opens up that counts.

For example, take taxes. Why can't the governments, from local through state to Washington, use this system? At the end of the year they could all say, well, how much government you figure you've gotten this year? And if you find everything has been satisfactory and agreeable, you write out a check for what you think it's worth.

Any unit of government that failed to put on a show, well, I guess it'd just have to close.

It might even work with newspapers, however that's a matter I'll leave entirely to you.

I'm prepared to say positively though that I would not be interested in extending this idea to this hindwood farm. It's not that I don't trust people, but, well, anything that comes off this farm that's ready to sell, I prefer cash on the barrel head.

Your faithfully
J. A.

Mississippi...

...tactics, doesn't it? The invasion of these young busybodies, therefore, was planned far in advance and — incredibly — has been the project of the National Council of Churches. And in connection with the sponsorship of the National Council of Churches, listen to this: On February 25, 1960, Richard Arens, then staff director of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, testified during a committee hearing that, on the basis of "careful, but yet incomplete checks," it has been shown that "thus far, of the leaders of the National Council of Churches in Christ in America, we have found over 100 persons in leadership capacity with either communist front records or records of service to communistic causes."

Now this is the organization that set up the Mississippi Project.

This is the organization that enlists, trains, and directs these invaders to our State — and in the name of religion.

Recently a public official in one of our Gulf Coast communities, interviewing two of these student civil rights workers, was told by one of them that he did not believe in God. And the National Council of Churches sends such as that into our state — what they call a moral and religious crusade!

The Chicago Tribune said recently that these workers were even taught "how to fall if pushed off lunch counter stools and how to lock themselves into a bundle to cushion blows and make themselves harder to drag away."

There is absolutely no excuse for this student invasion because the areas of "freedom" which they would bring to Mississippi are embodied in the civil rights law.

There is hardly a civil rights worker in Mississippi this summer who could not have been more helpful by staying at home and working among the underprivileged people of his own area. Especially those of the big cities could have set up classes among the Negroes and taught them elementary moral concepts, so many of which are being violated every night by violence, robbery, murder, and rape. Between planes last Saturday in Washington we bought a Washington newspaper to read on the front page that two teenage Negroes had killed two persons within the shadow of the Capitol dome the night before. This is a nightly occurrence in Washington, New York, Chicago, and many of the other large cities of our country. Certainly their desire to lift the Negro race should "begin at home" because Mississippi does not have that type of Negro within its boundaries.

The liberal press will slander Mississippi and the South every time an incident arises as a result of this invasion, but the record is clear that the student project was conceived with the idea of causing trouble — law or no law, private rights or no private rights, state sovereignty or no state sovereignty.

It is shameful to think that the nation's largest religious organization has had a prominent part in it.

Mississippi student invaders are unwelcome visitors. They have plenty of unfinished business that needs their attention in their own back yards.

"Physician, heal thyself," "Thou hypocrite, first cast the beam out of thine own eye."

Cabin Mothers For Camp Fire Camp Sought

With 62 Camp Fire Girls fully registered and a prospect of 10 more for the Aug. 3-8 camp at Pine Lodge, N.M., Mrs. Philip Barkley says more cabin mothers are needed and also additional cars for transportation to and from camp. Girls leave from the Camp Fire Hut at 6 a.m. Monday.

Mrs. Barkley, Director of Hereford Camp Fire Council, should be contacted at once at EM 4-0395 or EM 4-0577 by mothers interested in volunteering services to supervise the girls during cabin time only.

Also persons who would arrange to take cars for the trips to and from camp should likewise call Mrs. Barkley. Arrangements have been made for a leased bus of 30-passenger capacity to take part of the girls. Owners of private cars must be depended upon for transporting the remaining number of campers.

In charge of camp programs and also serving as cabin mothers will be these camp counselors: Mrs. Gerald Hale, Mrs. Carl Hollingsworth, Mrs. Baxter London, Mrs. Delmo Williams, and Mrs. John Damron.

Miss Thelma Murff, Tulla, will be the camp director for the week. She is a graduate of West Texas State University and fully qualified by both training and experience, reports Mrs. Barkley, for the position of director.

The theme for this year's study will be "Jesus is the Christ." Beginning Monday night, each of the classes from the nursery age through the three adult classes will study and discuss this reason that we know that Jesus is the Christ, Because of His Birth," said Crowson. Thursday night from 7 to 9 p.m. the lesson will be built around the death of Christ. "The mystery of Christ's death is the mystery of Divine love. We cannot plumb its depths nor measure its circumference, but we can get a view sufficient to melt our hearts and to allow Him to re-mold."

ments will be served to each class. From 8:05 to 8:45 the classes will enjoy work periods and a further study of the topic for the evening. The evening will end with a general assembly from 8:45 to 9 p.m. where more songs will be sung and any necessary announcements will be made.

Rainbow Hues Motif Marks Bridal Shower

Rainbow hues gave the setting for a miscellaneous shower-tea honoring Miss Laverne Bezner, bride-elect of Charles Schaff, Friday evening, July 24, in the Community Room of the First National Bank Building.

Fourteen hostesses joined in this informal courtesy where china, crystal, and silver gifts for the bride were already displayed for viewing on pink damask-covered tables.

At a table covered with white lace cloth over white satin and featuring an arrangement of rainbow-hued garden flowers Mrs. Frank J. Bezner, mother of the future bride, and Miss Sylvia Fangman assisted the honoree in opening the gifts.

Mrs. Teddy Bedwell, assisted also by Miss Fangman, presided at the guest book. Forty-five guests registered during the shower.

Another rainbow center of interest was the serving table laid with layers of pale green net over green satin, the net skirt being caught up at intervals with rainbow-colored ribbons. Appointments in crystal complemented the centerpiece — a miniature garden of flowers in pastel shades arranged in crystal compote.

Further accenting the bride's color scheme were refreshments served by Mrs. Walter Paetzold and Mrs. Henry Kuper.

Included in the house party were Mrs. F. J. Walterscheid, Mrs. Walt Warren, Mrs. Henry Kuper, Mrs. John Warren, Mrs. Walter Paetzold, Mrs. Ed Druk, Sr., Mrs. Arnold Fangman, Mrs.

Scout, Enroute Home, Writes From Virginia

Editor's Note: Kerry Thompson, who attended the National Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., has been sending back letters to The Brand, recounting his experiences. Now, enroute home, he writes from Falls Church, and from Williamsburg. The letters, in sequence, follow.

I didn't have a chance to write you last night after the campfire; things were hectic, but I'll try to write every night as things calm down a bit.

Thursday morning we had from 9 until 11:30 free time for any patch trading we wanted to do. I had my trading material packed away, so I interviewed a Canadian boy on tape and sent it into the radio station. By the time I was through, it was 11:30 and we had to start dinner.

After dinner, we were busy packing and taking down tents until 3:30 when we went to the conservation area to finish up our adventure award. While we were gone out scoutmaster fixed our final supper at jamboree — steaks and potatoes.

Next, on the agenda was the final campfire of the jamboree. The main event, of course, was the president speaking. We sat in the arena for about a half-hour before the program started with a plane towing a "Gold-water in '64" banner. He continued until dark, then left when the 21-gun salute for the arrival of President Johnson started.

When Johnson was through, we officially closed the 9th National Boy Scout Jamboree with a candle-lighting ceremony. We went to camp and right to sleep to be up at 5 the next morning.

We left Valley Forge about 7:30 after a light breakfast. We arrived in Washington D.C. about 11:30, then toured the Lincoln Memorial. We ate leftovers from the jamboree and then went to the Smithsonian Institute. We were to meet in the back of the capitol at 3:25, so Shug Bonds and I were back at the capitol at 3 and toured it until 3:20. We looked for the buses till 3:30 and decided they had left us and went back to go through the building more thoroughly.

We emerged from the dome about 4 and lo and behold, our buses were coming down the street. We flagged them down, rode along to pick up the rest of the boys and then rode out to Falls Church. This was one time I'm glad the bus was late!

After we ate, we went to the swimming pool to swim till 10:30. We were in bed by 11:30 and I didn't have time to finish my letter. I am finishing it now from my hotel room in Williamsburg. I'll try to write you about that on the bus to Natural Bridge, Tenn., but the bed check just came around tonight — Saturday.

Williamsburg, as I have hoped, was one of the most interesting places we have stopped. Our tour of the restored Colonial part, though a little long, was most interesting. The governor's palace, old drugstore and craft shops we toured were interesting, of course, but the exhibit I enjoyed most was that of old weapons — cannons, flintlock rifles, pistols, swords, etc. Our guide shot the cannon and flintlock rifle for us (without rifle balls, of course.)

After we had checked in at the hotel and had eaten, we went to a live stage production called, "The Founders," the story of Colonial Williamsburg. I'm not much of a critic and I might have been expecting too much, but it was not the best play I have ever seen.

The next day we traveled all morning till we reached the Natural Bridge in Virginia. We ate there and then went through the bridge — not many saw anything so awesome about it.

Maybe this is the wrong use of this phrase, but the natives are becoming restless. After more than two weeks, with the prospect of home is sight, the boys are becoming short tempered and are looking for ways to use up excess energy and nervousness. In a couple of places scuffling has broken out — always friendly, but still scuffling. On the way to Natural Bridge, a bus window was broken out. Nobody had to pay for it, but the responsible parties had to wear a bib saying, "I'm a little sinker" — right into the restaurant where we ate supper.

Sunday night after attending church services, we stayed in the city park in Bristol, Va. (this makes three nights in a row we have stayed in Virginia.) We left Monday morning about 7 and it is now 8:15. Believe me, writing on the bus isn't the easiest thing in the world.

Well, when one runs out of things to talk about he talks about the weather. At Valley Forge it was generally hot except for one day. Would that it had been hot. I prefer that to 40 MPH winds and rain, no matter how brief.

Oh, well, our tents didn't fall down. They were just soaked. Generally the mornings are pleasantly cool with a cloud cover, and our bus driver runs the air conditioner. Now I'm glad I brought my coat. However, the afternoons are warm enough for air conditioners.

Tonight we stay in a hotel, tomorrow night at camping grounds and then Wednesday we will be home at 6. I think this is the last letter I shall write and I'll probably beat it anyway.

— Kerry Thompson

ELECTRIFYING PROJECT

NEW DELHI — A huge rural electrification program is under way in India, but the task is monumental. At last count, only 4.2 per cent of the country's villages had electricity. Officials hope to increase this to 7.6 per cent by 1966.

WORKING OVERTIME

LINCOLN, Ill. — Race Driver Bill Cheesbourg of Tucson, Ariz., finished 15th in the 1964 500-mile Indianapolis classic, but he finished first in court here.

State police took him in tow and charged he was doing 76 miles an hour in a 65-mile an hour zone on Route 66 near Lincoln. In traffic court, his loss was $11.

Pete Progress speaking for the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce

as told to Bill Thompson

"It continues to amaze me," Pete observed "that people who are intelligent and otherwise well informed will accept and pass on to others mis-information, half truths and downright malicious lies without any attempt to verify the facts. The people who are busiest and most involved in their work often times have the poorest public relations, not because they are trying to conceal any facts but because they simply don't have time to relate them.

"One of the most abused group of people of this country, the group that probably has the poorest public relations and yet individually and collectively do more public service than any other, are our doctors. Oh, I'm not talking about medical care or the political issues that concern our medical profession — but I am talking about the unjust and untrue things that can be heard right here in our own community about our doctors!" Pete continued.

"It has been stated that the doctors here have a monopoly and that they are trying to keep other doctors out. The truth is that the Hereford clinic and the doctors associated with it have expended a great deal of effort, time and money in an effort to increase the clinic. Many prospective additions to our medical staff have been brought here to survey the opportunities and needs here at the expense of the clinic. The present staff — there are now just five practicing doctors and one radiologist — is greatly overloaded and not only would welcome additional doctors but are diligently seeking help.

"It has been heard said that another doctor who was here some years ago was run off by the clinic because he was unable to practice at the hospital. The records and evidence indicate quite the opposite to be the truth, that that doctor was a member of the hospital staff, that he did have patients in the hospital and that his reasons for leaving had nothing to do with his relations with the clinic doctors. The fact is that any medical doctor of ethical reputation is welcome to practice at

OLD ENOUGH TO VOTE AND RUN

URBANA, Ohio — If Roger Stillings had been a year younger, he wouldn't have been able to vote for himself as a candidate for sheriff of this central Ohio community.

But time was on his side and Stillings, 21, is the Republican candidate in next November's elections. He won the nomination handily in heavily Republican Champaign County.

Stillings, now a deputy sheriff, is trying to succeed Sheriff Jay McKeever who is retiring after 30 years.

The youthful candidate admits his basketball fame (he's 6 feet, 6 inches) is no handicap but points with even more pride to his score of 99 in a police academy test.

"He's young, but he's extremely mature for a 21-year-old," says Sheriff McKeever and adds that Stillings can count on his vote.

LANE RETURNED

CANTON, Ohio — Somehow, Lovers Street doesn't sound as romantic as Lovers Lane, commissioners of Stark County have decided.

So they have voted to go against previously determined policy, which says each "lane" in the county is to be redesignated "street." And 45 North Canton area residents who had been living discontentedly on Lovers Street since the name change are happy once again to have a Lovers Lane address.

the Deaf Smith County hospital. "One of the most unjust accusations is that the doctors are only interested in making money. The fact is that the fees here are in line with fees in this area but their collection record has been way below that of any other clinic in this whole Panhandle area. Our doctors have not been concerned with publicizing their charitable work, like the Biblical Pharisees, but the facts can easily be verified that any person, regardless of his financial condition and ability to pay, who needs medical attention in Hereford has been able to obtain it.

"And the same is true at the hospital — The Deaf Smith County hospital has never refused anyone, regardless of race or financial condition, the hospitalization needed.

"Members of the clinic medical staff tell me that they welcome the assistance of anyone who might be able to assist their efforts to bring additional doctors to Hereford. There is now a particular need for general practitioners and a second-

Laying the ground work for valuable bonus profits, this wheat-wrower applies Spencer Ammonia on wheat stubble. Read below

Now's the time to put back the grow-power your wheat took out!

When you're ready to put this year's wheat-land in shop for another crop, see us for your nitrogen. We've got the ideal nitrogen source for this all-important job: Spencer Ammonia A full 82% nitrogen, Spencer Ammonia is the biggest boost you can buy!

Injecting it either before or after plowing will have your old wheat stubble decayed in a hurry. This is especially important if you're planning to put your land back into wheat. Fast-acting Spencer Ammonia keeps old residues from tying-up vital soil plant food that your new crop needs. As a result, your young wheat is assured of having all the grow-power it needs to come up fast this fall — and come back strong next spring.

"Retiring" your Land Till Spring?

A fall application of Spencer Ammonia is also a mighty smart move if you plan to let your cropland set this winter. This way, when spring gets here, your soil will be all "charged up" and ready to deliver a healthy helping of yield building nitrogen.

Remember, Spencerizing with ammonia makes application easy. No bags to handle — no spreader to fill. If you need an applicator, let us know and we'll lend you one.

For you wheat-growers who like to build-up the phosphorus level of your fields at this time of year, we also have 0-20-0 and new Tyler pull-type spreaders for fast application. See us right away for complete fertilizer service to put your wheatland back in A-1 growing condition.

Kansas Family Return After Visiting Here

By Mrs. Merlin Kaul
Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Kaul, Virginia and Galen and Paul Dientschler left Monday to return to their homes in Sabetha, Kan. They had spent several days here in the Merlin Kaul home. The Kauls took them to the Lions Club Carnival on Friday night and Saturday night they all attended the Riders Club Rodeo at Hereford.

Mrs. Vernon Kaul, Sabetha, Kan., visited the Museum at the George Turrentine Farm Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Kaul works with Mrs. Ruth Bestwick who is an antique dealer in Sabetha, so she was really appreciative of the items on exhibit at the Museum.

Scattered showers in the area Wednesday afternoon brought reports of over 2 inches of rain on the B. B. Northcutt farm, 1.6 fell at the Jess Russell farm and Dameron Ranch, an inch at the Browns at Messenger and an inch or more at the Tom Boyd Ranch. Mrs. S. N. Thweatt at Bootleg says that only 3 inch fell there. None fell in the immediate vicinity of Westway. However, showers that fell east of Hereford Tuesday evening brought some cooler weather to this area.

Mrs. Orville Parmer, Tucumcari, N.M., was a guest of Mrs. Joe Landers for coffee one morning this week. A cousin of Mrs. Landers, she had been to visit relatives and was enroute home.

Visitors last Tuesday in the John Kalka home included Mrs. Jim Howell of Amarillo, Sidney Dodson, Muskogee, Okla., and Jimmy and Gary Stewart of Hedley. On Sunday visitors from Pampa were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Walls and their son John L. Walls, his wife and children Jerry and Linda.

Mrs. Clayton Walls is a sister and Sidney Dodson a brother of Alice Cooper.

While in Decatur last weekend visiting their son Ralph and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Morrison and Judith were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Carpenter, longtime friends at Denton. They also visited some of Mrs. Morrison's cousins, whom they had not seen for years. They were Mr. and Mrs. Otis Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Gage and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gage and daughter, Bill Gage is deputy sheriff at Decatur.

Mrs. Morrison grew up around Decatur. She says the court house there has been renovated and is beautiful — in fact it is said to be the most beautiful court house in Texas.

Callers at the Joe Landers home Thursday were Mrs. Louie Olson, R. M. Gunn, and Mrs. A. G. Bell of Hereford and Mrs. Bess Werner.

No Limitations To Cohen's Life

WINNEPEG — George Cohen of Montreal sees his handicap as an advantage in his job as public relations officer, fashion writer and adviser to Canadian dress designers and hairdressers.

"No one ever forgets me," Cohen, on a cross-country tour for a client, explained that he has been totally blind for 20 years.

He was a professional dancer when he lost his sight at 27 because of glaucoma. In the next three years his sight returned more than 60 times before he became permanently blind in 1944.

"Once I knew I was permanently blind I could build my future accordingly."

While in a hospital in 1945 Cohen was given plasticine to exercise his hands.

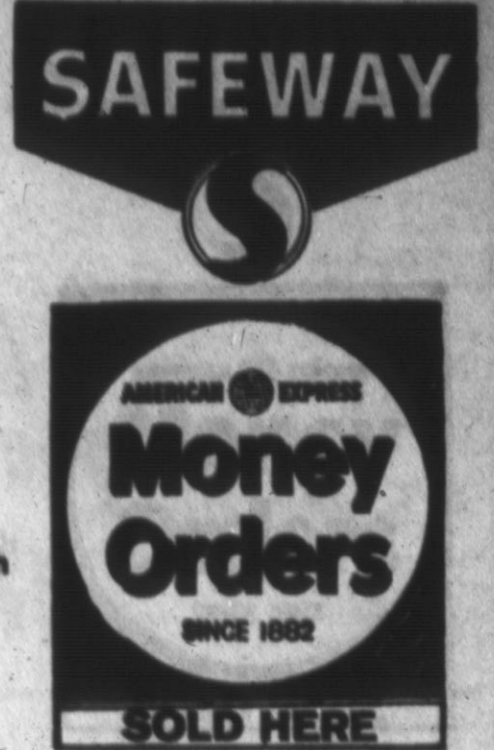

"I soon found I could simulate the shape of people's heads in clay more rapidly than the average sculptor."

He submitted one of his plasticine works to a committee at the Montreal Museum. The judges, unaware he was blind, awarded him a scholarship to study under some of Canada's leading sculptors.

"I knew then there need be no limitations to my life and I began to be interested in the world of business, and writing. Pretty soon a Montreal newspaper asked me to write a regular column of humor. For my material I just wandered around listening to people talk and wrote them up the way I heard them. My readers never knew of my affliction and I had a wonderful time."
