When You Trade Your Car—

Ford owners are continually being approached by automobile salesmen who wish to "accept" Fords as part payment on more expensive cars.

It is logical that automobile dealers should be eager to trade with Ford owners. No other used car is so easy to sell as a used Ford—because everyone has confidence in Ford quality. And it is not expensive to recondition, since Ford replacement parts are lowest in price.

Most automobiles carry greater discounts to dealers than the Ford—another reason why other dealers may offer the Ford owner a larger trade-in allowance.

But, bear these facts in mind: The amount of the trade-in allowance you can get is not the most important thing for you to consider. The big thing is the difference you have to pay. And remember, that the higher priced car will not be so easy to dispose of when you come to trade it in.

If you wish to trade your Ford for a new automobile, stick to the car that you know to be dependable, useful and economical. Go to your Ford dealer!

He will give you a fair and liberal allowance for your present Ford and will gladly arrange payment of the balance to suit your convenience.

LYNCH DAVIDSON OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR GOVERNOR

Palestine, Texas, March 13, 1926.—The plea for "more business for the government and less government in business" which Lynch Davidson carried to every corner of Texas in a flivver automobile two years ago, was sounded again in a ringing address delivered by the former lieutenant governor at Palestine Saturday, when he formally opened his second campaign for the governorship of Texas.

Palestine was chosen for the opening address by Mr. Davidson on invitation of friends, who urged the appropriateness of that city because of his rehabilitation of the State Railroad and bringing the Southern Pacific Lines there. An overflow crowd attended the rally and applauded his message enthusiastically. Many expressed a prophecy of victory in the staging of the opening at the home of the illustrious John H. Reagan and the late Governor Tom Campbell.

Mr. Davidson presented in clear, concise language the problems and issues confronting the state; outlined the measures required to solve them, and set forth the qualifications and abilities which he, a governor, must have to administer the state government successfully.

He deplored the system of electing public officials by political blocs and groups, which he asserted deflected his own candidacy before, and named the party machines with less than 10 per cent of the voting population. He warned against professional politicians, and accused campaign meddling, back-stabbing and personal abuse.

"What does the candidate who presents himself for public office know about the particular things that belong to the economic and political system of our land, and how deeply does he sympathize with the millions of average citizens who are making the United States the greatest nation in its history? What competency, ability and training has he to deal successfully with the vast complex economic system of this great state? What capacity has he to hold the scales of justice even, and to give equal opportunity to all men in working out their own welfare and the welfare of their families?"

For his own qualifications he cited 15 years of practical and successful business experience, beginning as a sheep herder and day laborer; four years as state legislator, senator and lieutenant-governor, and a thorough understanding of the state's business and institutional problems.

More Business in Government
"My candidacy," he said, "may be summarized by saying that I am not the candidate of any bloc or group. I am a believer in honesty and integrity in government; more economy and efficiency; less taxes and fewer state jobs; less laws and quicker justice; pay as we go and keep the state on a cash basis; administration of the law by the duly constituted authorities; education in the most practical and most effective manner; better, broader and longer highways, and honesty and integrity in the administration of the highway system.

"Rehabilitation and reorganization of the penitentiary system; conservation of all natural resources of the state, and control of its flood waters. Conserving the backbone industry of the country—farming—by all legitimate means of governmental cooperation and efficient management of the waterways; educating the man who earns his living by the sweat of his brow; preserve and perpetuate the fundamental principles of democracy and be on guard against encroaching governmental power. Retain the rights of the state. Safeguard the public health."

The first campaign issue discussed by the candidate was that of what he termed "the mad on our mislaid resources by gigantic state jobs; less laws and quicker justice; pay as we go and keep the state on a cash basis; administration of the law by the duly constituted authorities; education in the most practical and most effective manner; better, broader and longer highways, and honesty and integrity in the administration of the highway system."

Rehabilitation and reorganization of the penitentiary system; conservation of all natural resources of the state, and control of its flood waters. Conserving the backbone industry of the country—farming—by all legitimate means of governmental cooperation and efficient management of the waterways; educating the man who earns his living by the sweat of his brow; preserve and perpetuate the fundamental principles of democracy and be on guard against encroaching governmental power. Retain the rights of the state. Safeguard the public health."

Another business innovation in the state government proposed was that of an auditing department to check thoroughly the business of every department of state regularly. This, he said, would prevent misuse of state funds and improper conduct of the state's business affairs.

Legislative Personnel
No branch of government, he continued, is more important to the efficient and economical administration of state government than the legislature, and he expressed a deep concern for the careful selection of its personnel.

"The vision and ability of your legislator ought to be as broad as if he were being elected your governor, and great care should be exercised in his selection. In effecting the principles and policies I advocate, I shall need the cooperation of the legislature."

Reduced and Simplified Taxation
"All of our state problems must be harmonized with taxation, for through taxation must the revenue be provided to conduct all these governmental activities. The amount of taxes should be no greater than is required for the economical conduct of state government and its institutions.

"Our methods of levying and collecting taxes have become oppressive and haphazard. We have reached the point in our governmental development where readjustment and business methods of levying and collecting taxes are necessary to simplify the system and to equalize and lower taxation. I advocate such economies in government and changes in the taxing system as will bring about that result.

"Immediately upon the convocation of the legislature after I am elected governor, I will advise the legislature for the appointment of a joint senate and senate committee composed with me in working out a plan to equalize and simplify the tax law, and lower the rate of taxation. I propose to invite the people of Texas to have delegates of their own selection to join in and become members of that committee to assist in effecting what I am determined to accomplish—a simplification of the taxing system, and an equalization of and a reduction in taxes.

"Our highway laws should be revised to safeguard the interest of the people and the taxpayer and insure the awarding of contracts to the lowest bidder and the most capable contractor.

"I believe several millions of state expenditures are pure waste, and I propose, in my first message to the legislature, to go after one piece of business—the return to the pockets of the people of Texas all those wastefully expended."

"As evidence of the room for such savings, he pointed out that while the population of Texas during the past 10 years has increased only 15 per cent, and the state's wealth, as shown by tax receipts, has increased only 11 per cent, yet the cost of administering ment of Texas. And in this connection he recalled the opportunity that "those least governed are best governed." Individual rights, therefore, initiative and individualism, he said, are hampered by too many laws, and moreover, they are very costly to government and the taxpayer.

"I am for eliminating the excessive laws and bettering those remaining, those safeguarding their enforcement. There are many archaic, obsolete and unnecessary laws on the statute books that might well be repealed."

Woman Suffrage
Declaring himself an original supporter of woman suffrage, he said that all civil and political rights should be vested in those possessed by men. "I would further protect and exempt woman from obligations that would bring unnecessary burdens upon the mother of the race," he added.

Prohibition
"A lifelong prohibitionist, I am against any plan, program or scheme that attempts to restore the liquor traffic. And I favor the stern enforcement of the prohibition laws of the state and nation. No greater curse ever beset the human race than its arch-enemy, liquor."

Flood Control, Water Conservation
He advocated the protection of the people and their property from the river valleys of Texas against periodical overflows, by a system of levees and dams. Through a constructive program of flood control and water conservation by which the public welfare would be protected, he said, capital cost be induced to make the waterways of Texas a great asset.

The Farmer's Problem
Taking up the cudgel for the farmer, as he did in his previous campaign, the former lieutenant-governor asserted that upon the farmer's success depends the success of all others, yet that of all classes of people in the land less economic independence and enjoyment of life than the farmer. As a remedy for his ills, cooperative marketing was suggested.

"There will be no cure for the farmer's problem so long as each individual farmer peddles his crop from door to door with a sample in his hands. There will be no cure so long as middlemen in skyrocketers in the cities sell the farmers of the country the price they make for their product, so long as these middlemen speculate and gamble on the product of the greatest and most important business in the nation—farming. A first essential to the success of producers is that they control the sale of and regulate their output.

"The middleman can be jared loose from his strangle hold upon the farmers when the farmers themselves, by some process, control and market their crops from door to door. It means that cooperative marketing institutions are a nucleus around which a proper, effective and efficient selling organization can be established.

Labor
Next he discussed his views on labor, stating that "when I am elected governor of Texas, labor will find me a friend more sympathetic, more sincere in their sympathies, more ready to promote its welfare with due regard to the rights of every other citizen of Texas than I."

"It was in labor's ranks I spent all the days of my minority," he recalled, "as well as many years of my life. By the sweat of my brow, and in the rank and file of labor, I learned the lessons of life and earned my compensations. I experienced its financial difficulties far along in life, and so have a more sympathetic understanding of its needs and necessities. Labor and capital have their controversies. Good government holds the scales of justice even and weighs out a square deal to each."

State's Rights
Of all political and legislative activities, the candidate said he viewed none of them with more alarm as a destroyer of state's rights than that class of legislation known as federal aid. Federal aid for post roads and public health might be justified, he granted, but he "especially" after other instances aid offered by the federal government is "a financial aid that insidiously breaks down the rights of the state."

"To contribute enormous sums of money to the federal government for their re-distribution to states, less economical administration costs, is manifestly illogical and ridiculous. It is more dangerous to sound governmental principles. Laws already enacted granting federal aid, we must perforce await revocation of. We must first secure that the federal aid law is enacted it would be a case of cutting off our noses to spite our faces if we failed to take the funds allotted to us under such terms, because other states would take our part of the money if we did not take it."

"But I view with apprehension and am opposed to all principles of law making that tend to wipe out state lines in government."

Ku Klux Klan
Mr. Davidson reiterated his opposition to the Ku Klux Klan, "or any other secret society which seeks to control the politics of the state or to arrogate to itself the enforcement of the laws." He said that "no public issue has ever caused more discord and strife and it is to be hoped the people of Texas will not permit it to again disturb their peace and prosperity and array neighbor against neighbor."

Public Health
Concerning public health, he declared in favor of requiring every person proposing to enter the human race physically to qualify as competent before a legally constituted and capable examining board or committee.

Running on His Merits
In denouncing former Lieutenant Governor Lynch Davidson said:

"I am not the candidate of any bloc, association or organization of any kind or character. A rock-ribbed democrat in politics, Methodist persuasion in religion, my candidacy is that of an independent Texas citizen subject to the rules and regulations of the Democratic party and its primaries. Party regularity is my creed, and I cast my vote always for the nominee of the party.

"My candidacy is before the people of Texas upon the principles and policies I stated in this address. Into the affairs of the government of the State of Texas, I solemnly promise to carry no experience and ability that will restore it to tranquility, peace and harmony, and put it upon a sound financial basis.

"I will take the helm of state unhampered, unrestrained and uncontrolled by any group, bloc or class of people seeking to serve their own special interest. It will be my endeavor to give each and every citizen of Texas, regardless of their affiliations or associations, a fair square deal. To the best of my ability, it will be my earnest effort to hold the scales of justice even to all alike.

"I shall go into office unswerving of its exacting responsibilities. It shall be my purpose to meet them and to respond fairly and fearlessly to the demands of each and every citizen of Texas, be he high or low."

This address was the opening gun of an intensive campaign which Mr. Davidson said he planned to conduct throughout the state until the July primaries.

Owners or prospective owners of automotive equipment, as well as mechanics, will make a profitable investment by attending this school. Particularly is this true of the Texas farmer whom necessity has forced to become a power farmer in order to lower his cost of production. Therefore, he too must have a practical working knowledge of these machines to successfully carry on his work.

This school is eight weeks long and is so outlined as to give the most intensive training. The College has plenty of equipment for this work, good practical instructors, and besides is a nice place to spend the summer vacation.

A special bulletin telling all about this school can be obtained upon request, to the Agricultural Engineering Department, A. & M. College, College Station, Texas.

Tennis Expected to Be Popular School Sport

Tennis is expected to be a popular sport in the Hereford High School this spring. Two tennis courts are being made on the new High School grounds. The faculty is furnishing the nets and other equipment. The school board is furnishing the backstops for the courts, and the students are doing the work.

Tennis has never been played very much at the local High School, but much interest is being manifested at this time, and with the faculty, the school board and students cooperating to get the new courts ready, this phase of sports is expected to gain much impetus here. There will be no track team during the coming spring season, and many of the boys who are not particularly interested in baseball, are expected to take up tennis. Girls are also showing interest in this form of athletics.

Ag Students Beautifying New School Ground

The Vocational Agriculture Class of the Hereford High School is busy beautifying the grounds of the new $125,000 building. The ground is being leveled, flower beds are being prepared, and trees are being taken out in some places and new ones being put out in other parts of the grounds.

People of Hereford are donating flower seeds, and the flowers will be strictly home products. This City has received much favorable comment by tourists for the many varieties of flowers that are grown here during the summer months. A great variety of flowers will be planted on the local campus within the next few days, and people here are being urged to bring in the seed, they wish to donate to the school.

Panhandle Music Festival, Amarillo, April 5 to 9

The Panhandle Music Festival, an institution which is staged annually in Amarillo by Emil F. Myers, will be held next week, April 5th to 9th. Four of the world's greatest artists will be presented and the wonder Tipica Orchestra of Mexico, composed of forty men will play two great programs on Thursday. Allen McQuhae, who opens the Festival on Monday night, is an Irish Lyric Tenor, who has been termed a "Rival of John McCormack". On Tuesday night Francis MacMillen, one of America's greatest violinists, will be heard. The Wednesday night program will be given by "the Russian nightingale" Maria Kurenko, a European sensation and new in America. Madame Kurenko has been declared equal to Patti by many critics. On Thursday the great Mexican Orchestra and Marimba Band will be heard in two programs. They were so popular in Amarillo before that it is predicted by many that the auditorium will be too small for their audiences this time. There is no other musical organization in the world like them. The last program will be given by Reinald Warrenrath the greatest and most famous baritone in America.

Music Contests will be held each forenoon of the Festival and the winners of these contests will make up the afternoon program on Friday. The Teacher's college at Canyon will give one afternoon program on Wednesday.

Many of our Herford people attend the festival each year and are making preparations to be there again this year. From the program announced it is safe to predict that they will be enthused as usual.

CAMERON, N. M.

Paul and Floyd Mote rebuilt the sheds of A. A. Dethrage last week, which were blown down in the storm the week before.

Mealames McCready, Mrs. Bunch, and Ella and Florence Isler called on the Misses Lizzie and Alice Crecelius Tuesday.

Relatives of Mis Rosie Young came Thursday and spent that night with her, and took her to her home near Hollene Friday and returned Sunday.

A. A. Dethrage made a trip to San Jon Thursday, got caught in the storm, and did not get home till Saturday.

Messrs. William and Sam Cogdill helped Robert Eaton build a shack last week on his school section south of Forrest, where the boys will do some farming for Mr. Eaton.

There is to be an egg hunt at the Boney school on Friday afternoon of this week.

Paul Mote is doing some farm work for J. A. Leach on the school section Mr. Leach leased of L. M. Boney.

Mrs. Irene Johnston is quite sick this week. Her mother and sister, Mrs. Williams and Bessie, are staying with her.

A terrific blizzard swept over this part of the country uncessingly for twenty-four hours, from the north, beginning about four o'clock Monday morning. Tuesday morning it abated a little and the wind then blew from the west. The snow is heaped high in the lanes and over everything that can catch snow or cause a drift. Travel was suspended. Many people had little or no fuel, and most all stock suffered.

That the plaintiff Mary E. Tainter is the owner of the West one-half of the North-east one-fourth of said Section No. 1, above described, and the North-west one-fourth of the North-west one-fourth and part of the Western part of the North-east one-fourth of the North-west one-fourth of said Section No. 3, above described, which last tract is described by metes and bounds as follows:

That the plaintiff and those under whom they claim acquired their title to said lands through and by virtue of a decree rendered by the District Court of Castro County, Texas in Cause No. 75, Mary Erskine Tainter et al. versus Clyde Erskine et al as well as by regular chain of title from the State of Texas and by the ten year statute of limitation in that they and those under whom they claim, had prior to the filing of this suit, had and held adverse, peaceable possession of said land and paying taxes thereon and claiming to be the owners thereof under deeds duly registered, and that said possession was actual and visible continuous and not interrupted.

That the defendants are asserting and claiming some rights, titles, interest and estate to said lands that plaintiffs do not know just what rights, titles, interest or estate the defendants are asserting or making but that plaintiffs title is superior to any rights, titles, interest or estates the defendants or either of them have in or to said lands.

Plaintiffs pray for the recovery of the title to said lands of defendants, that they be quieted in their title thereto, and that defendants' rights, titles, interests, estates and claims in and to said lands be cancelled.

Brumley Attends Dealers' School With 600 Present

All previous production and sales records are to be shattered by the Chevrolet Motor Co. during 1926, according to G. W. Brumley, local motor car dealer, who has just returned from Oklahoma City where he attended the annual meeting of Chevrolet dealers of the State of Oklahoma.

The local automobile merchant says that there were almost six hundred motor car men in attendance at the great sales conference and he returned to his home with the "big picture" of the Chevrolet program for the coming months. In addition to the dealers who attended the merchandising conference and annual banquet, there were many prominent bankers present from all sections of this State.

R. H. Grant, vice-president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Co., a man who is internationally recognized as one of the outstanding sales executives of the auto industry, presided at the sales convention and was the principal speaker at the dealer's banquet. The commander-in-chief of the Chevrolet sales forces was accompanied by the Southwest metropolitan by his executive staff which includes a group of nationally known specialists who head various divisions of the vast Chevrolet organization; and, according to Mr. Brumley, it was the largest delegation of automobile factory executives that ever invaded this territory.

C. E. Dawson, assistant general sales manager, acted as toast master at the banquet; and J. P. Little, manager of the parts and service division, was one of the speakers. E. W. Fuhr, regional sales manager, the man who exercises general supervision over the Chevrolet sales organization of the Southwest region, was also among the speakers. J. C. Chick, zone sales manager, with headquarters at Oklahoma City, officiated as host to visiting dealers and factory officials during the convention.

Other members of Mr. Grant's staff who attended the Oklahoma City merchandising meeting were: William A. Bloss, manager certificate sales division; Sidney Corbett, manager fleet sales and truck division; W. G. Lewellen, assistant sales promotion manager; H. K. Bragie, regional sales promotion manager and R. K. Write, general sales promotion manager.

The meeting at Oklahoma City was one of a series of similar gatherings being held in twenty-five of the largest cities in the United States. The Chevrolet sales chief and his staff came to Oklahoma direct from St. Louis where the annual meeting of dealers from eastern Missouri, southern Illinois and western Kentucky was held.

During 1926 the Chevrolet Motor Co. is to conduct the greatest newspaper advertising campaign that has ever been programmed in the entire history of the motor car industry, states the local Chevrolet dealer. More than four thousand American newspapers are now on the Chevrolet schedule and the great cooperative advertising schedule which is being-run in addition to the regular national campaign, has made a consistent advertiser out of every Chevrolet dealer in practically every city, town, hamlet and village in the United States and many foreign countries.

"Without question," says Mr. Brumley, "the great sales record of 1925 which totalled more than half a million Chevrolets, will be eclipsed during the present year. At this time sales are far ahead of the production schedule and every one of the thirteen plants operated by the vast Chevrolet organization are running at capacity in an attempt to keep up with the demand for Chevrolet products."

While he was in Oklahoma City Mr. Brumley says a solid train of fifty-two carloads of Chevrolet automobiles rolled into the yards from St. Louis. The day after the Oklahoma City train left the factory, another solid trainload of Chevrolets was shipped out to the dealers of greater Kansas City.

"This," says Mr. Brumley, "gives some idea of the great demand for the Chevrolet product at this time as these carload shipments are in addition to the regular shipments being sent out from St. Louis Chevrolet daily."

Only a Buick Could Stand this Test!

Buick has the only chassis built today that can take a "shower bath" while the engine is running and driving the wheels.

Only Buick provides the design which can undergo such punishment. Of all cars built today, Buick alone has the complete protection of the "Sealed Chassis" and "Triple-Sealed Engine."

Every Buick operating part is "sealed" inside a dirt-tight, oil-tight, water-tight iron on-steel housing. The "Triple Seal" (air cleaner, gasoline filter, oil-filter) keeps dirt, grit and moisture out of the engine.

Road slush and grit cannot reach Buick vital parts. Rain and moisture cannot cause short circuits in the Buick electrical system. Even the spark plugs are protected!

Come in and see, with your own eyes, why Buick motor cars are more dependable. Only a Buick could stand the "shower bath" test!

Mrs. Edgar Johnson and Son Honored by Friends At Dinner Last Friday

One of the most enjoyable affairs recently, was the dinner given last Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brownlee. The honor guests, Mrs. Edgar Johnson and son, Edgar, Jr., had been invited by the hostess and were wholly unaware of the surprise in store for them, when upon arriving at noon they were greeted by the following friends who had preceded them: Mrs. W. I. Valentine and daughters, Alma and Billy, Mrs. Hal Hawkins, Mrs. Carl Gilliland, Miss Jonnie Estes, Mrs. A. E. Chambers, Mrs. J. L. Fuqua, Mrs. Edna Waller, Mrs. J. S. Orr, Mrs. F. E. Bowe, Mrs. Arthur Thompson and Arthur Jr., Mrs. H. Trow, Mrs. Jno. Burgh, Mrs. Albert Murphy, Mrs. W. H. Ray and Frances, Mrs. Frank Lambert, Mrs. W. M. Stovall and Virginia, Mrs. Allen Powelson, Mrs. J. M. Gilliland, and the Brownlee family.

The table was loaded to capacity with many good things including meats, vegetables, salads, relishes and pies, which were served cafeteria.

Just preceding the dinner the following poem, written by Mrs. Brownlee, was given as a toast to Mrs. Johnson:

"A friends is one who somehow, Smiles away the intervening miles, And in some blest mysterious way, Is strangely near us every day, And as the busy hours unfold, Revealing gray as well as gold, New cares, new joys to each doth lend A friend is that, and you're a friend"

Delightful musical numbers were given at intervals by Miss Frances Ray. After lingering for a while to chat with Mrs. Johnson and wish her well in her new home the guests regretfully took their leave late in the afternoon. —Contributed.

Storage Charges
are Announced by
The Express Co.

Bank Ramey of the American Express Co., announced today the express companies plan to establish a system of charges for the storage of express shipments refused or tendered for delivery or uncalled for.

The docket outlining the proposal has been issued for the information of the public, and, in due course it will be referred to the Interstate Commerce Commission as an addition to the present classification to become effective on or about May 1st.

The rules and charges will apply to shipments of this character which the office has to store owing to the failure of the consignee to accept it in a tender of delivery is made or not be delivered. Three days "free" will be allowed after which a storage charge will be 10 cents for the first day, 5 cents for each of the next eight days, with a maximum of 50 cents a month for each shipment weighing 100 pounds or less. There will be a regular monthly charge thereafter of 50 cents per month or fraction thereof.

On shipments weighing more than 100 pounds this storage charge will be assessed proportionally, any fractional part of 100 pounds to be counted as 100 pounds, i. e., on shipments weighing more than 100 pounds but not more than 200 pounds the storage charge will be twice that shown above on a 100 pound shipment. The carrier is required to give proper arrival notice to the consignee, such notice to bear the same dress as appears on the shipment and to retain in its files a duplicate copy of such notice.

In the course of business, many controversies arise, during which a consignee may prefer to refuse shipments sent to him. The carrier has no alternative but to store the goods and not relieve itself of the shipment of all responsibility for it until the parties involved in adjust their differences. This may take several months in which the carrier is an innocent bystander having been in no wise responsible for the non-delivery.

The express companies have not heretofore made it a practice to assess storage charges on unclaimed shipments although it has long been a practice with freight and baggage. They contend that the expense and extra labor involved should be borne, not by express patrons generally, but by the owners of the goods so stored.

Art Prizes Offer For Texas Wild-flower Paintings

On April 4th the second contest will start at one o'clock at the Lubbock Coursing Park which is located one and a half miles south of town. The first races were held on March 21 with a good crowd attending and due to the rain which fell over the south plains on the night preceding it is thought that there would probably have been twice as many to attend the races. Dogs from all parts of the plains and Panhandle were entered although and the races created much pleasure and entertainment for those that attended.

Dogs of high breeding over this section of the country are expected to be entered in the races on the fourth of April. Already Gene Wofford of the Lubbock Coursing Park Association has heard from owners of good dogs that they would be here and would make it hard on the other dog racers that come.

Arrangements have been made so that any class of dog will be permitted to run in the event. There has been arranged a classification of the different types of dogs as follows: Registered dogs, puppy dogs both registered and common (age less than one year old).

It is the desire of the management of the park that they file their entrance with Gene Wofford Lubbock, Texas, by Friday, April 2nd.

High School Orchestra In Concert Friday Nite

The High School Orchestra musical program given last Friday night was badly crippled in attendance by the inclement weather, but those who did brave the elements were royally entertained by a tuneful and well executed program.

Director Ralph Smith has decided to repeat the performance Friday night of this week, April 2, as there were so many who missed the first performance who expressed a desire to hear the orchestra play. The second performance will be given Friday night in the High School auditorium and a treat is in store for those who attend. The proceeds of the two performances go toward defraying the expenses of the organization in attending the Panhandle Music Festival at Amarillo in April.

I wish to thank my customers for the many orders given to Mrs. Johnson during her service there and will appreciate your orders through our new representative, Mrs. J. H. Pittman-CUNNINGHAM FLOWER SHOP
11-1f-pd Amarillo, Texas.
