LITTLEFIELD WINS, 31-13

'Cats Find Herd Hard To Corral

Hereford's ambitious Whitefaces, striking through the air with cunning deadliness, had Gene Mayfield's Littlefield Wildcats on the ropes for the first half before stubbornly succumbing, 31-13, to the strong finishing Cats Friday night.

H. D. Hill Dies After Accident On Icy Highway

A highway accident near Shaw, Colo., late Thursday afternoon claimed the life of H. D. (Shake) Hill, a former resident of Hereford and father of Howard Hill who lives here.

The car which he was driving skidded on an icy hill and overturned, critically injuring Mr. Hill. He died in an Akron, Colo., hospital at midnight on Friday.

Mr. Hill had gone to the farm home of his oldest son, Homer, who lives near Shaw and was returning home when the accident occurred.

Survivors include his wife; three sons, Homer of Shaw, Howard of Hereford and Jimmy of Shaw. Services were pending on Saturday.

Absentee Voting Shows Interest High In Election

If voting in the General Election on Tuesday follows the trend of absentee ballots received in the office of County Clerk Ralph Smith, a new record vote may be recorded for this county.

The 10 polling places of the county will be open on Tuesday from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m. with the same election judges as those who conducted the recent local option election.

Eligible Voters Poll taxes paid by voters in this county for 1956 total 3,115 persons with the exemptions also to be counted in the number eligible to exercise their voting privilege on Tuesday.

These poll tax receipts must be presented to the election judge at each polling place before a person will be allowed to vote. If the receipt has been lost or the voter was 60 years of age before Jan. 1, 1955, an affidavit to that effect may be secured at the office of Sheriff Lowell Sharp.

Outcome Views Differ Both Republican and Democratic campaign leaders in Deaf Smith County are predicting a victory for their party here.

Eisenhower and his running mate, Nixon, garnered 2,482 votes in the county in the 1952 General Election, with Stevenson and Sparkman getting the support of Robbery? No! Shootin' No! Tale 'Not So'

"Well, it's news to me!" exclaimed Ernest Wade, when informed that he had reportedly been robbed Thursday night at Wade Cleaners, 517 Park Ave., and had then shot and killed the robber.

"Well, sir," said Police Capt. J. T. Sanderson, "I heard that Wade's establishment was robbed and that we found the robber dead on the floor with the money still in his hand. The facts are, however, no robbery, no shooting, no investigation."

Pass Completions

Elliston pulled in four aeriels. The first was a play covering 73 yards on the third play of the game. He was good for 15, 23, and 28 yards on later completions.

The Whitefaces unleashed a tremendous passing attack, completing 10 of 17 tosses for 289 yards in the air. It was the combination of Bryant to end Danny Elliston which almost spelled curtains for Littlefield.

The Cats were forced to overtake the Whitefaces twice. After coming from behind the second time, they were not to be headed. They had to fight for their lives in the first two quarters and trailed at halftime, 13-12.

The Whitefaces unleashed a tremendous passing attack, completing 10 of 17 tosses for 289 yards in the air. It was the combination of Bryant to end Danny Elliston which almost spelled curtains for Littlefield.

Building Permits Total Up Sharply During October

Two major building permits issued by the City of Hereford during the month of October pushed the total for the first 10 months of 1956 to $1,204,021.

The figure of $420,600 for the month is a record for any 30-day period during 1956. This is a generous increase over the October, 1955, figure of $185,505.

Permits issued during the past month totaled more than four times those of the previous month of September which were only $100,133.

Largest Permit Largest permit issued during the past month was to the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., for the construction of a two-story-and-basement exchange building valued at $242,000.

Another major building permit went to the First Christian Church for the erection of a one story, 14,000 square foot, building at a cost of $131,300.

Other permits issued were as follows: J. N. Grady, erect residence, $12,500; Urlin Street, erect dwelling from garage, $2,500; N. B. Hood, erect residence, $8,500; R. E. Barrett, erect residence, $8,000; C. J. Crump, addition to residence, $1,300; J. D. Poarch, erect residence, $14,500.

Heart Group To Begin Campaign Meet This Week

The general public is invited to attend an educational program and organizational meeting sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Heart Assn., on Wednesday, Nov. 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the Hereford Medical Clinic, 343 N. Miles Ave.

Films are to be shown and questions will be answered concerning the heart program. The meeting will initiate plans for the campaign scheduled for February to raise funds for work of the heart association here.

Mrs. A. E. Hamby, executive secretary of the North Plains district of the Texas Heart Assn., will assist in the program. Another district officer, Robert Rook, is also expected to attend.

Officers will be elected at the Nov. 7 meeting to replace present officers of the Deaf Smith Assn. who are unable to continue in their present capacities.

The present slate includes the following: president, Dr. M. W. Nobles; vice president, Dr. J. W. Barnett; secretary, Mrs. Cecil Parker; treasurer, Gerald McCall; board chairman, Wayne Edwards.

Board members include Mrs. Ira Ott and Bob Lamm. Chairman of the solicitation campaign is Gerald Hale and publicity chairman is Harry Caylor.

PLAN TREASURE HUNT TO PROMOTE SHOPPING

A Flying Saucer Treasure Hunt was proposed to the regular weekly meeting of the Merchants Assn., held at the Jim Hill Hotel Friday morning as a promotion idea to open the pre-Christmas season in Hereford.

Chairman W. B. Wilson introduced Mrs. Ira Ott of the American Legion Auxiliary who attended the meeting to ask the merchants' reaction to the placing of a memorial page in the Hereford Brand in recognition of Veterans' Day on Nov. 11.

Use Of Funds Mrs. Ott stressed that if the merchants would support the Auxiliary with their contributions to the memorial page, none of their money would leave Hereford.

Final Details Don Zimmerman moved that the idea, along with the proposed modifications, be accepted and the vote was unanimous. The date and final details of the promotion idea

CRASH FATAL TO PILOT

When A Man Makes His Own Airport

SCENE OF CRASH—Robert W. Smith, 38, an Albuquerque, N. M. insurance claims business owner, died near Hereford early Thursday night in this wreckage. A veteran pilot, he was reportedly attempting to locate a landing field as a wind and dust storm neared the area. His airplane crashed on the Troy Ray farm, six miles south of Summerfield. There was no fire following the crash and searchers, background, spent over three hours in locating the scattered parts of the aircraft. (Staff Photo)

Sought To Land As High Winds Arrived Here

A New Mexico businessman was killed instantly near here at 7:45 p.m. Thursday in the crash of his private airplane. He was Robert William Smith, 38, of 1320 Guaymas St., Albuquerque.

Mr. Smith was on route from Lubbock to his home state when the accident occurred on the Troy Ray farm, six miles south of Summerfield. His all-metal Globe Swift, a small, fast executive-type airplane struck a plowed field at a sharp angle. Wreckage was scattered for about 90 feet.

Several farmers in the area who saw and heard the plane flying low over the area said he apparently was attempting to find a landing field.

Larry Boston and Clarence Behrends said that the aircraft was in a turn when high winds caught it and dashed it to earth. The time of the crash coincided with the arrival here of a cold front accompanied by violent gusts of wind and dust that obscured visibility.

At least three persons saw or heard the crash, but the wreckage and the body of Mr. Smith were not located until 11:14 p.m.

Law enforcement officers from Farmer, Castro and Deaf Smith Counties, the Texas Highway Patrol and Hereford police joined Summerfield community residents in the search.

H. C. and Clarence Behrends and B. J. Roberts, riding in a grain truck with floodlights mounted on top, found the scattered debris of the red and white plane in a newly plowed field one-quarter mile east of the farm to market road that runs south from Summerfield.

Mr. Smith, a veteran pilot who gained experience with the Royal Air Force and U. S. Navy, was a native of New York State. He operated an insurance claim service in Albuquerque.

Survivors include his wife Margaret, and a daughter, Caroline. Dennis Funeral Home, Dimmitt, moved the body to Albuquerque for funeral services and burial.

Revival Services Start Wednesday In Church Here

Rev. E. Lloyd Cornelison, of Colorado Springs, Colo., will conduct revival services at the Church of the Nazarene, 4th and Jackson, Hereford, Nov. 7-18. He will preach each evening at 7:30 and at 11 a.m. each Sunday.

Rev. Cornelison is engaged in full-time evangelistic work in the Church of the Nazarene, which maintains its international headquarters at Kansas City, Missouri.

After completing his college work at Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Okla., Rev. Cornelison spent several years in pastoral work. He pastored churches at Bonham, Tex.; Cheyenne, Wyo.; LaJunta, and Boulder, Colo. He served as District Nazarene Young People Society president for two years in the Colorado District.

His compelling messages have brought open doors across the nation for his gospel ministry, said Rev. Claude Northcutt, Church of the Nazarene pastor.

Music and singing will be conducted by the local church, which will include congregational singing, solos, duets, and trios.

The public is cordially invited to attend these revival services.

All-School Play Cast Is Named After Try-Outs

Following final try-outs Tuesday afternoon, the cast for "Phantom of the High School," this year's All-School Play, was announced on Wednesday. The three-act mystery-comedy will be staged at the high school on Thursday and Friday nights, Dec. 6 and 7.

Playing Mandy, the imaginative high school girl who helps cause and solve the mystery, is Virginia Cox. David Wertenberger was chosen to play Rjek, the boy who is accused of foul play. John Gilliland, as Randolph, the principal's son, does some amateur sleuthing in the play.

TEACHERS RETIREMENT

Amendment Four Benefits Cited

School administrators, board members, and laymen in Hereford have joined in support of Amendment 4 on Tuesday's general election ballot.

"Support is growing for the Teacher Retirement Amendment as the public is given the facts," Fred J. Cunningham, superintendent of Hereford Schools said today.

"I certainly am in favor of the passage of Amendment 4," commented Bill Lenderman, executive secretary of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Attract Capable People "It is the exception, rather than the rule, when a person of average means manages to accumulate enough for security in his old age," he continued.

"I have always advised young people to consider the retirement benefits of a profession they were thinking of entering. To have a good retirement plan to offer is the best way to attract capable young people to and hold them in the teaching profession," he concluded.

According to Cunningham, the Amendment will improve the teacher retirement system created in 1937, a depression year. The system covers all employees of public schools and state-supported institutions of higher learning.

Retirement Fund A teacher would pay into the retirement fund each year six per-

USDA Decision Is Seen As Blow To Farmers Here

The director of the soil bank division, U. S. Department of Agriculture has rejected a bid sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce to keep cropland grazed during the winter months.

Increased benefits, Wagoner feels, will encourage teachers to remain in the teaching profession. Approximately 7,000 experienced teachers are lost each year to the schools. The program would also help attract some of the 3,800 new teachers needed each year to instruct the 100,000 new children who jam Texas classrooms annually.

Convention Endorsed The school board president advised that the Texas Association of School Boards, composed of community leaders and substantial taxpayers from all over the state, gave unanimous endorsement to Amendment 4 in their convention in Austin only a few days ago.

The new program, as passed by the Texas Legislature last year—unanimously in the Senate and with only two dissenting votes in the House—would work like this:

Fear Precedent "If a precedent for the lifting of the grazing restriction is established, then the basic objective of establishing permanent cover on these lands will be set back, if not defeated. Drouth conditions call for the utmost protection from grazing if stands are to be established," Doggett concluded.

C-C's Position Douglas had cited acreage reserve grazing permits for drouth area stockmen as discriminatory in view of the fact that grazing of cropland during the year made

Receipts Soared At Post Office During October

The first 10 months of 1956 have shown a gain for postal receipts at the Hereford Post Office of $1,607.86 over the same period of 1955, according to Postmaster J.R. Lipscomb.

Receipts for the Jan. 1-Oct. 31 period in 1955 totaled $57,144.08 while that period in 1956 has receipts totaling $58,751.94.

Breaking the gain down into a more specific tabulation, the major portion was realized during the month of October, 1956, when the receipts for that period totaled $7,285.41 in comparison with $6,220.13 for October, 1955.

These figures show a gain of $1,065.28 for this month, or just $542.58 short of the gain for the entire 10 month period of 1956.

October also marked a gain of $1,256.38 over the month of September, 1956, which saw a receipt total of $6,029.03.

Farm Bureau Now Headed By Dzuik; New Resolutions

Directors of the Deaf Smith County Farm Bureau on Thursday selected two "youngsters" to lead their organization. Ed Dzuik Jr., 25, was named president to succeed retiring George Heard, and Steve Clements, 30, will take Jim Kirby's place as vice president.

Directors meeting to make the selections included eight named to the posts during the recent county convention: Dan Thomson, Francis Hill, Walter Hodges Jr., Steve Clements, Pat Ranspot, Earl Holt, E. C. Reinauer and Arnold Betzen, and carry-over directors Ken Rutz, Herb Bippus, Jim Kirby, Julian Perrin and Hardy Benson.

County resolutions passed during the convention included recommendations for action on several matters of interest to area farmers:

1. A committee should be formed to study the bindweed control plan in Parmer County and to set up a

'Turnabout' Doctor Vows 'Kidding Out'

"Never again will I reverse the situation," exclaimed Dr. Roy Grubbs after attending a masquerade party Saturday night at the Jim Hill Hotel.

Hereford obstetrician Grubbs went to the party as a maternity case, with all the appropriate padding. His wife, Jerry, accompanied him, dressed as a baby doctor.

Dressed in "slim jims," and a loose fitting blouse, Dr. Grubbs received many remarks and laughter from fellow masqueraders, and like any expectant mother, devoured the rich delicacies and food offered at the banquet table.

But — a call from the hospital interrupted his meal — "expectant mother" Grubbs rushed to the hospital to deliver a fine chubby baby girl.

Funeral Services For J. E. Warren

Funeral services for J. E. Warren of Yuma, Ariz., a former resident of Hereford, will be conducted from the Gilliland Funeral Chapel on Monday at 10 a.m. Rev. Howard Scott of the First Baptist Church will conduct the final rites.

Mr. Warren passed away in Yuma on Tuesday, Oct. 30. He is to be buried in West Park Cemetery where his parents and a "brother" were also laid to rest.

touchdowns. After that the Cats' power in the line and speed in the backfield began to tell. However, much heralded Max Morris found the going rough, and halfbacks Buddy Jones and Mike Greer carried the brunt of the attack.

Wildcats Outgained
Littlefield netted 275 yards rushing, 14 less than the Whitefaces gained in the air. The Wildcats were good for 60 yards passing for a total offense of 335 yards. Hereford added 69 yards rushing to their 289 passing to lead in total offense with 358 yards net. They trailed in first downs, 15-8.

The Whitefaces might have led by 13 instead of a shaky one point at half had it not been for a pair of bad breaks. The Wildcats had opportunity for a third score in the first half, but the Hereford defense stood tight and took over on downs inside their own 10.

First Touchdown
The first Hereford touchdown served notice of the potent aerial bombardment to follow. From the 25 Bryant tossed to Elliston who had worked behind Littlefield defenders on the Wildcat 40. Elliston ran laterally, picking up blockers, and finally broke into the open and reared for the touchdown. Bill Drake kicked the extra point, and the Whitefaces led, 7-0, with 10:44 left in the first quarter.

Littlefield took the kickoff and marched to the Hereford 44 before being forced to punt from there. After three unsuccessful running plays, Bobby Veigel dropped back to punt. However, Littlefield line-men swarmed down upon Veigel and in a desperation effort he tossed the ball into the arms of 220-pound tackle Davis Williams who went 10 yards for the score. Floyee Pierce's try for the extra point failed. Hereford kept their lead, 7-6, with 5:06 still left in the first quarter.

Scratch Out Yardage
The Hereford offense stalled after the kickoff and Veigel punted deep on the Littlefield 35. Littlefield marched to the Herd 14 where Morris picked up a first down as the first quarter ended. The Hereford defense was stingy, and the Whitefaces took over on downs on the five.

A penalty cast the Whitefaces back in the shadow of their own goal post on the one, but Bryant crissed the Wildcat defense, passing deep in his end zone to Elliston on the 17. Three plays later Elliston made a fine catch on the 43 for another first down.

Littlefield Stalled
Four plays later the ball went over by inches on the Littlefield 47, but it was no dice for the Cats. Quarterback James Pressley faded to pass, but Whiteface tackles Bill Drake and Gene Waits threw him to the ground for a 15-yard loss on the 32. Greer gained only three of it back on the next play. Trying to pass again, Pressley faded back to his own 21, and Waits and Drake were there again to throw him for a 14-yard loss. Pressley's punt went down on the Hereford 41.

Hereford's running attack then began to click for the first time in the game. Bobby Veigel broke into the Littlefield secondary on the Wildcat 43, but he was hit hard there and the ball caromed away to be covered by a Littlefield player.

Second Touchdown
Mike Greer set up the second Littlefield touchdown on the next play with a 42-yard jaunt to the Hereford 15. The Hereford defense tightened, and it took the Wildcats seven plays to score. Morris carried the ball five times out of the seven plays and climaxed the drive with a one-yard plunge. The try for point was a gain no good.

Only 41 seconds remained in the half when Pierce kicked off to Bryant, who carried to the 27. Then with just 19 seconds left he heaved to Bill Callaway, who snagged it on the Littlefield 35, eluded two tacklers, and raced down the sidelines for the touchdown. The extra point conversion failed. The half ended after one Littlefield play.

Second Half
John Bryant was quick to pounce on a Wildcat fumble on the Hereford 39 after the second half kickoff. But Veigel was forced to punt from the 46. Lawrence Hudson, 165-pound guard, blocked the punt and captured the pigskin on the 15. Jones and Greer alternated ball carrying chores, with Jones scoring the touchdown from the one. Pierce's extra point try was blocked.

Ed Schroeter gave Littlefield fans a scare when he almost broke loose on the kickoff, but he was hauled in on the Cats' 43. The Whitefaces drove, mostly on running plays, to the 23, but there Littlefield took over on downs.

A "Backbreaker"
What followed was probably the play which broke the Whitefaces' back. Mike Greer took the ball off tackle and sped 77 yards for a touchdown on the next play. Again the charging Hereford forward wall blocked the extra point try. Littlefield led, 24-13, with 4:36 left in the third quarter.

Littlefield's last touchdown came in the opening seconds of the fourth quarter after Bobby Cunningham had intercepted one of Bryant's passes on the Herd 45. Buddy Jones climaxed a sustained march with a plunge from the four. Pierce's kick was good.

The Whitefaces began to click through the airways once again. Bryant hit Bill Dufur for three pass completions good for 31, 22, and six yards and Elliston for 28 yards. But Rayford Lights quelled the march on the 10 yard line with an interception. Littlefield then proceeded to run out the clock.

cent of his salary (the present rate is five percent), and would earn a retirement based upon these deposits.

In addition, the amendment adds some benefits which are common in the retirement plans of private industry but have not been included in the teacher retirement system heretofore.

These are: (a) benefits for teachers who become unable to work because of disability; (b) death and survivor benefits for the family of a teacher who dies while in school employment; and (c) guaranteed minimum retirement payment for teachers now retired and for those who retire in the future. This minimum of $100 per month would go only to those who had at least 20 years' service and who reached the age of 60.

Cost Estimated
The new program would cost teachers, through increased deposits into the fund, $4,500,000 annually. The state would match the funds.

No additional tax will be needed, Principal Bill Phillips commented, either at the local or state level. He explained it this way:

The local school district pays no part of the retirement deposit, so local school taxes could not be affected. Increased industrialization and population of Texas are producing more tax money, enough additional each year under existing tax laws to pay several times the state's $4,500,000 share of the retirement program. Thus, the causes of the present school situation will help pay for its solution.

"The very soonest that those who have studied the amendment see any possibility of increased taxation because of its passage would be in some 80 years from now, and they point out that it is possible on the other hand, that the program would be entirely self-supporting within the next 10 years," Phillips commented.

land ineligible for the 1956 conservation reserve program.

After receiving Doggett's decision, Douglas stated, "Even in face of the obvious inequities existing in the administration of the soil bank program, the U. S. Department of Agriculture is unwilling to take corrective measures and as a result will cost the dry land farmers of Deaf Smith County and this area many thousands of dollars."

BACK HOME — and everyone is happy but the pheasants. In fact, two or three of them are probably laughing up their sleeve about the way I shoot. As scarce as the birds were this year it made everyone in the crowd mad when a hunter muffed a shot, which I did several times.

Pheasant hunting is strictly a cooperative venture. This is especially true concerning the long shelter-belt groves. It is better to have 10 or 12 hunters, but our group only had six this year. Four men would walk down the grove, two in the middle and one on each side. The two side or flank men go a few feet in advance of the other two to discourage the birds from running out the sides; still, quite a few of them get away in this manner. The other two men get into the car and drive to the far end (usually a half mile) of the shelterbelt to block. You never can tell who will get the most shooting. Sometimes the birds get up in front of the fellows who walk out the grove; next time the blockers may get most of the shooting. The blockers do best when the birds are not so wild, however, because they keep running until they come to the blockers — and then flush.

We hunted corn fields and weed patches in pretty much the same order. This pretty well seems to be the pattern that most pheasant hunters use, and when the day is up everyone pools the birds until each man has his limit. Even if he never fires a shot, a walker or a blocker can contribute a lot to the hunt. You can see, therefore, why the rest of the gang gets a little bit peevish when someone misses a cinch shot.

The top shooter in our bunch was Harold Law of Albany, Tex. He never misses — and you sure had to shoot in a hurry, or he would be over there picking up the bird. Dr. Zack Bobo of Arlington gave with this group, and was already gone when I got there.

The rest of the boys were loading up to leave and were all working — except Otis Hall. He was still eating. They say that Mrs. Phifer is the best cook ever.

Mr. Phifer says that Dub Reeves is unquestionably the best shot he ever saw. He said that Dub knocked over 13 pheasant the first day, which is pretty remarkable. Everyone seemed to be having a lot of fun. Dr. Bill Lawrence was giving Mrs. Phifer some pills. Ross Latham and Ray Godwin were working like turks at loading up. Even Gaylord Newell and Mark Benefield were hard at work, which I am sure will be quite a surprise to the Piggly-Wiggly boys and girls.

We visited quite a lot Tuesday night with Byron Nelson, the golfer I mentioned last week. I asked him if he had ever heard of Pick Harman, Doc Cowan or Urlin Streu but he said "No." He did say the last corn field he walked was a lot more exercise than 36 holes of golf. He said that their party of eight got only 12 birds the fourth day. They cranked up their plane and went home one day early. He also said that they hunted one day with Joe Foss, governor of South Dakota — and still didn't do much good.

Nelson is a real nice fellow. He says he has a ranch at Roanoke, Tex. "Skyview," I believe, was the name.

We were invited out for dinner one night with our old friends, the Alton Parish family of Academy, which is some 18 miles northwest of Platte. Alton came to the South Dakota country back in 1886 — and is really an old timer. He says the 1956 pheasant crop is "the shortest he has ever seen. He likes to talk about the days when you could kill them with a stick. Alton is a dyed-in-the-wool Republican, although he never mentions politics. The county, however, is the one consistent Democratic county in all of South Dakota.

Things are still much, much cheaper than in our part of the country. Haircuts, for instance are 75 cents; Groceries seemed to be the one classification which most nearly matched our prices here at home. I still can't figure out how they serve restaurant meals at such absurdly low prices. Platte is only around 1,800 population, however, and the jobs are strictly at a premium. I presume the salaries are very, very low in comparison with this area.

Taxes are also extremely low — but the people still complain about them like they do at home. They have one-room schools on each section or two sections — and when the kids get old enough to go to high school, they get a room and live in town. If there are several children, the family sometimes moves to town for the winter. No school buses, and the roads are generally inferior. A lot of old timers will recall when the same procedure was followed here in Hereford.

Nebraska had the worst roads, however. They are really dragging their feet in the northwest part of the state. Coming home Friday we had to pull off the road several times and wait for the blowing dust to clear a bit. It was so bad you couldn't even see the pavement at times. Most of this was south out of Dodge City. We also saw the same thing in the Oklahoma Panhandle and Eastern Colorado on the way up to Rapid City. It looks as if the "dust bowl" is coming back in a big way.

Kearney, Neb., was the only place I saw which would begin to compare with Hereford. Kearney and Grand Island are both in a surface irrigation district, which probably accounts for the good crops. However, the winter wheat in South Dakota and Nebraska is much, much better than we saw on the same trip in '55. Most farmers made pretty fair corn crops this year, but did nothing at all on their wheat.

We hear a lot about corn supports as compared with the low supports on grain sorghum, and it was interesting to note that not one single farmer we visited with puts his corn in the loan. All of them were feeding out hogs and cattle.

Several people were also asking about Jack Renfro. Jack went up to Academy and bought a lot of registered Herefords from the Cedar Grove Hereford Ranch near Academy this year. Everyone seemed to like him a lot. They also considered him a shrewd buyer of cattle.

Dr. Bobo and I came in for a lot of kidding, due to our interest in photography. When we were going through the game preserve in Rushmore park area we saw two wild mountain goats on the side of a huge mountain. We pulled over, grabbed our cameras and climbed half way up the fool mountain trying to get a picture of them. Finally, we came back to our cars and drove some 300 yards down the road — and there were 15 of the goats. They even had the road blocked and we fed them out of our hands. Folks around Platte told us that the herd was imported from Alaska to make the park more attractive.

Going through Wyoming, however, we did see lots of wild game; several deer and two or three herds of antelope.

I still think these fabulous South Dakota pheasant hunts are a thing of the past. They reported lots of birds in the northern part of the state this year in and around Brookings. In our area, though, it was most difficult — and the farmers are posting their land left and right. Usually they will let you hunt, but not always. Like the great herds of buffalo which once roamed the plains and the antelope which infested this country, it is the same old story: "Too many hunters and too little game." The state may be able to stock the country and bring it back — but I doubt it very much. Another five years and the hunters will have to turn to something else.

After talking with Byron Nelson and Ben Hogan, I think I will take up golf. They say it is a lot easier — and a lot more dependable.

HOMEMAKING ADVISORY GROUP DISCUSSES YEAR-ROUND PLAN

A study of the local community in light of needs that may be fulfilled through an adequate school homemaking program was made in the second meeting of the High School Advisory Committee on Homemaking in the office of the school superintendent Wednesday afternoon. Supt. Fred J. Cunningham led the discussion, centering around the advantages of a continuous year-round homemaking program.

Bill Lenderman, executive secretary of the local chamber of commerce, gave a survey of the community's resources. He pointed out that the local school serves 705 square miles, including eight communities. Some 10,000 people are served.

Area's Industries
He described the industry of the area as chiefly agricultural, but commented that there are more industries here than one would suppose on casual observation. They are small industries, but Lenderman pointed out that this fact leads to more substantial economy in a community, since if one business fails, not so many people are left unemployed. He warned that those who have studied the agricultural picture predict that 20 percent more acreage will be needed to produce the country's needed food and fiber.

One surprising fact the chamber secretary revealed is that 95 percent of the white population in Deaf Smith County own their homes. The average family income is $6,951, and per capita income is $1,876.

Survey of Homes
Mrs. Earl Springer, school health nurse, gave a survey of homes from the standpoint of marriage, divorce, and delinquency standpoints. She revealed that it seems boys and girls lost from the schools are showing up more often in divorce courts than those who finish school. She quoted statistics on several divorce cases where both husband and wife were extremely young when they quit school and married.

observation of local teen-agers shows that their nutritional level parallels that in the national picture and is inadequate, principally because of eating habits.

Mrs. F. L. Alexander listed as community agencies which assist with training for homemaking: Home Demonstration Clubs, 4-H Clubs, study clubs, Camp Fire and similar programs.

Less Delinquency
She quoted local law enforcement officers as saying that percentage-wise the incidence of juvenile delinquency in this community is less than many others', especially those more thickly populated. The officers said that delinquency is most prevalent among juveniles at the ages of 12-15. The school officials commented that the percent of children of school age not in school is also relatively low.

Mr. Cunningham stressed the need for adult education in homemaking, saying that more and more young people are being paid adult salaries at an early age, causing them to assume adult responsibilities before they have yet completed their training.

Community Recreation
Mrs. George Paetzold expressed

ed the belief that, despite such youth work as Camp Fire, Boy Scouts, and the Little League, there is still a need for professionally supervised community recreation for the young people. Mr. Lenderman commented that the chamber of commerce has asked the council to consider a tax-supported, year-round program of that nature.

Discussion of how the school can meet the community needs revealed in the discussion was placed on the agenda for the next meeting of the committee, which will be held in November.

Attending the meeting were Mr. Cunningham, Bill Lenderman, V. C. Overall, Mrs. Springer, Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Paetzold, Mrs. J. J. Durham, Mrs. Joel Hodges, Susie Loerwald and Dollie Paetzold.

Stanton Grid Teams Garner Pair Of Wins

Stanton Junior High grid elevens captured twin victories at Dalhart Thursday.

The Stanton seventh grade crew took Dalhart into camp by a 19-7 count. Virgil Strange, Dennis Hodges, and Joe Mack Hale scored touchdowns. Hodges notched an extra point with a line plunge.

The eight graders were 13 points better than Dalhart, racking up a 20-7 victory. It was Hereford all the way, as Don Scott counted two touchdowns and Clyde Whitaker raced for the other. Charles Burrus and Whitaker each converted once.

Freight Rate Cut To Save Ranchers Many Millions

AUSTIN, Texas — Farmers and ranchers in the 233 drought-stricken counties of Texas will save several million dollars as the result of drastic freight rate reductions put into effect by the railroads on shipments of cattle and on carload lots of hay.

The freight rate reductions were made at the request of President Eisenhower. A 50 percent cut in rates for hay in carload lots was immediately put into effect.

Rates were also established for outbound movement of livestock from the drought-stricken areas to western feeding grounds which will permit free return transportation to originating points.

President Eisenhower recognized the fast action by saying: "I know that I speak for our people, especially those in the areas affected, in saying that all of us are deeply grateful to our railroads for this public spirited and prompt action."

Saving to farmers and ranchers in 1953 was $20,000,000 when the railroads reduced freight rates on grains and dairy feeds. More than $2,000,000 was contributed in 1954 by the various Texas railroads when they slashed rates on hay in half.

"The saving at this time will, of course, be governed by the length of the drought period," said Kenneth McCalla, general counsel for the Texas Railroad Assn. "I think it is significant to note that the railroads are the only carriers which have made drastic adjustments to freight rates to aid our hard-hit farmers and ranchers."

Dorothy Daniel, Red Cross Girl, On Area Council

Dorothy Faye Daniel, a member of the local Junior Red Cross, has been named to serve as a resource representative to the Junior Red Cross Area Council. The council includes 17 states and has its headquarters in St. Louis.

Mrs. W. W. Buck, sponsor of the local Junior Red Cross, commented that this appointment is not only an honor for Dorothy but also for Hereford High School. She said that most schools having representatives are much larger than Hereford.

Dorothy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Daniel. She has served as representative to the summer Junior Red Cross training camp and is active in other school activities and in her church groups at the First Presbyterian Church. She is a senior in the local high school.

Adding life and laughter to the fast-moving comedy are a group of high school girls, including Julie, played by Lawanna Lookingbill; Betty, Twyla Springer; Eugenia Alexander, as Nina; and Janie Bookout as Sue. Alan, played by David Larsen, and Chuck, by Jap Wallace, round out the high school group.

Larry Boston was chosen to play Mr. Gibney, the principal. Playing the parts of teachers will be Sue Springer as Miss Harker and Martha Bookout as Miss Winslow. Martha Logan is cast as Miss Benson, the wealthy spinster; Mary Kathrine Huckert as a woman reporter, Norma Janeway; and Linda West as Evelyn Cole, Miss Benson's secretary.

Rounding out the cast are Bill Knox as Marty, a newspaperman; Carroll Willoughby as Lanny, Miss Benson's nephew; and Gene Waits as Sgt. Madrigan, a policeman.

Casper Fine Host To Halloween Fun

IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

PARDY LINER

It is amazing how your personality seems to change when you dress in a costume and put on a mask. One reason that Halloween is so much fun is the excitement of assuming a character in keeping with our garb. Behind our false faces, angels become devils and vice versa; staid businessmen become clowns; rugged farmers become nursery rhyme characters; harried housewives become exotic dancing girls; and the worst-looking bums turn out to be the nicest people you know in disguise.

As I say, amazing things take were all manner of things eerie including Casper's ghostly wife, who had long ago parted from this world and looked it. There was a scream in the dark that sounded like the voice of Dorothy Buck. . . she said that she wasn't really frightened, but she thought a scream or two would be in order for added effect. She was right!

The main room was cleverly decorated with things Halloweenic from cornshocks to orange and black streamers. (Bet there wasn't a package of black or orange crepe paper left in town.) And it was more fun trying to guess who everyone was! Kay McWhorter took the lady's prize for her Red Riding Hood costume; and the funny thing was that hardly anyone recognized Kay, even AFTER she took off her mask. She wore a beautiful, blonde wig; and her various friends had been used to seeing her as a brunette — couldn't believe it was she!

James Morgans Enroute To France To Stay Four Years

By JUDY PINNELL

If one were to walk down the halls to the grade school rooms this past week, he might be scared stiff!

On the walls of the rooms were black cats leering at you, and yellow jack-o'-lanterns to return their stares. Each of the grade school rooms had planned parties.

Even to drive around town took a great deal of ingenuity the next day—for the goblins had been on the prowl. All in all, no damages to the town have been heard of—of Mrs. Jesse Jordan of Adrian. Best Wishes for a safe journey is extended to this very fine family!

Attend Stanley Party

Those attending the Stanley Party in the home of Mrs. Jess Loveless Monday were Mesdames Leland Burns, B. L. Kinsey, D. P. Doherty, Arthur Jewett, Earl Croff and Henry Kinsey.

Perhaps the most constructive thing to come out of Halloween was the party sponsored by the MYF. Adults responsible for a lovely evening's entertainment for over 50 young people were Messrs. and Mesdames Leland Burns, Ernest Frank, James Cavin, and Johnnie Williams.

The children made a door to door drive for money for milk to go to needy children. The net proceeds were $50 for CROP.

Accident Victim Recovering

Our sympathy is extended to the Walt Loveless family over the serious accident of their husband and father. Mr. Loveless' car plowed into the back of a truck just two miles east of Bushland on Highway 66 Tuesday evening at 6:30. He was taken to the Northwest Texas Hospital and at first his injuries were not thought to be so serious.

Wednesday further ex-rays revealed that he has a fractured skull, both jaws are broken, a leg broken, a crushed knee-cap and possible fractured ribs. The 1956 Pontiac was completely demolished.

His doctor has told the family that possibly he will be in the hospital for four months.

had been started at a previous meeting. Plans for a Thanksgiving luncheon for their husbands were made to be held at the Community House, Nov. 15.

Those attending were Mesdames Jack Weaver, Charley Burk, M. W. Blankenship, James Cavin, Claude Bogle, R. L. Pinnell and Phillip Miller, a visitor.

The Sims Study Craft Club met in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Stocks Thursday for an all-day luncheon and meeting. The group finished the Dresden china painting that guised without the aid of a mask. Rev. Lester Jones came with his face showing, and still nobody knew him. He represented a Hindu, at least he reminded me of Mahatma Gandhi or somebody; he had bronzed his skin from head to foot and was wearing a scanty, gold wrap-around sort of a thing—don't know the proper name for the garb. Anyway he was certainly a striking figure with his dark skin and glowing-gold toga and sandals, and he copped the man's prize.

After the unmasking, Casper's guests appeased their appetites at the buffet heaped with turkey, ham and other delectables. Dr. Roy Grubbs got kidded from all directions in connection with the food and his costume — he was dressed as an expectant mother! Now talk about a spectacle! He wore Slim Jims and a big, maternish-looking (how about that word!) blouse. Don't know what he used for stuffing; but wife Jerry, who was awfully cute as the "doctor," said he didn't need much. To top it off Dr. Roy was called away from the party to deliver a baby—haven't found out yet if he managed to change clothes before going to the hospital.

Then there were all sorts of games and things. Jim Witherpoon, as a dashing but dignified Uncle Sam, damaged his dignity a bit when he fell down during the sack-race. One thing for sure: his fall wasn't solo — numerous others had the same experience. Gonda Smith read palms, and she was sho' convincing in her role. Dr. Wills and Troy Moore were very active participants in the games — as all "Roman Gladiators" should be, and they paid no mind to comments and snickers caused by their short gladiator's skirts and the appearance of their fair legs.

There were lots of cute and unusual costumes — a number of black cats, gypsies, Indian maidens and so forth. Dixie Belle Sims was very pretty as a Turkish dancer. Genelle and Steve Clements wore red and white night shirts and caps, but they didn't look a bit sleepy.

And the most horrible part of the evening was the singing of school songs by some of the college grads in the crowd. I'm just kidding; it was funnier than it was horrible. But you should have heard the following solos: Bill Daqueron for T.C.U., Maynard Buck for the University of Texas, Ed Line for Michigan, Dr. Wills for Baylor, Steve Clements for A&M, and Earnest Langley for Tech. I've probably left out somebody, and they are probably greatly relieved.

I could talk on and on about Casper's party, but maybe I'd best not. If you haven't found out and are still curious about Casper's identity, just phone 1452, 1600, or 1637.

Sunday Dinner Guests

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Doherty for Sunday dinner were her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Donnell, and brother, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Woodward of Amarillo.

Grady Skaggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Skaggs, left Friday for Meade County, Kan., where he is employed with the Shamrock Gas and Oil Company.

Mr. and Mrs. James Morgan and family are to leave Adrian Saturday afternoon en route to New York City where they will board a plane for Paris, France. They plan to drop off at Hart to visit Mrs. Morgan's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Al Goodin, then to Texarkana to visit her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Jordan.

The last day will be spent in Atlanta, Ga., visiting James' brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan. They leave New York on the 13th and will arrive in Paris 15 hours later. Then they will travel to Pontieres, France, where they will live for four years.

James is the son of Mrs. Nell Morgan and Mr. Curley Morgan, both of Adrian. Mrs. Morgan is the former Edith Jordan, daughter

Streu's Diary

November 2, 1956

DEAR DIARY:

Herewith announcing (again) Streu's Bargain Basement (up on the mezzanine (OK, you spell it) any how, there are two tables up there in the dark and you have to climb stairs, but there are bargains every day of the month—and something new most every day. Frankly, I don't care if you don't shop up there on account of there is no profit to be made on that merchandise — but I thought I'd mention it in passing. Here are a few $3 day specials: Jean just brought in — Hand Screened tiles — some in wrought iron stands — ideal for hot dish mats or wall decorations. Values to $4—ONLY $2. Plastic refrigerator water jugs — special at 69c. Of course Jean will have several other specials—so drop in and shop.

Just like I've been telling you, our stocks of gift items are the most this year — most variety, most volume, most bargains — so start your Xmas shopping right now!!

In ballyhooing TV and Color TV and Hi-Fi record players, I have, perhaps, neglected the "bread and butter" facet of our RCA Victor franchise. Little old things like "45" record player attachments, "45" record players both table and portable models — table model radios and clock radios and 3-way portable radios — we are showing the largest selection of these items to be found in Hereford — and prices are right. We also handle RCA Victor records in '45's and '33's — these, by the way, make ideal gifts for most any time of year — you don't have to pick out the record — just buy a gift certificate and let the recipient (that's the guy or gal who receives it) come in and do the selecting from our varied stock. Real easy to do and everyone is happy.

Walter 'lows as how his stock of duck hunting gear is in good shape, including guns, ammunition, cleaning tools and compounds, oil, grease, gun cases and other needed items. Also have hunting and fishing licenses. Our stock of rifle and pistol ammo includes more calibers than will be found most anywhere.

Among our many "Trick or Treat" visitors Halloween we had several Spanish American children — without exception each thanked us for their treat — only two or three of about a hundred Anglo American children bothered to thank us. Could it be that perhaps one could learn something of politeness from the other? Just could be.

Study Course Is Slated For P-TA Executive Board

Mrs. M. D. Waddill of Tullis, vice president, Eighth District, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, will conduct a school of instruction for members of the executive boards of the local Parent-Teacher units and others who are interested at the high school next Thursday evening. The meeting is scheduled for 7 o'clock in Room 106.

The evening's instruction will be based on the procedure course from the state PTA office. Those completing the course will be recognized at the district conference next spring.

The procedure course covers every phase of Parent-Teacher or organizational work and is considered invaluable for all those who are active in Parent-Teacher units as officers, or in committee work, according to the presidents of the local units, who arranged for the course.

ST. ANTHONY'S GUILD TO SELL BAKED GOODS

St. Anthony's Guild of the Catholic Church met Tuesday evening in St. Anthony's School for a regular session. Plans were made for a bake sale and bazaar carrying out a country store theme on Nov. 17 at the school.

A report of the annual Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, held recently in Lubbock, was given by Mrs. Jim Pavlicek, delegate. She was assisted by Father Sugrue and Mrs. Ed Dzuik, who also attended the session.

A social hour was enjoyed with Halloween games featured. Refreshments were served to 26 members by the hostesses Mesdames Ed Dzuik, Conrad Urbanczyk, C. J. Berend and John Gallagher. Agnes Cardinal received a gift award.

Sorority Honors Pledges At Tea

Kappa Iota chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, on Sunday afternoon, held its preferential tea, final rush event of the season honoring new pledges at the home of Mrs. Buren Scott, 108 Center St.

Members of the executive board served as hostesses. They included Mesdames Pete Guinn, Glen Nelson, J. H. McDonald, Clyde Russell, M. G. Duvall, Reuben Knox and Buren Scott.

Mrs. J. W. Witherspoon, sponsor, and Mrs. Ronald Babione presided at the tea table which was laid with an off-white lace cloth over yellow and centered with an arrangement of lighted tapers with gold and rust chrysanthemums in silver holders. Autumn leaves in shades of gold, rust and browns completed the decorations.

Dorothy Williams entertained with piano selections during the calling hours of the come and go affair.

Members attending were Mesdames Clarence Veazey, Ray Suit Ernest Wade, Chas. Bell, Robert Brotherton, Max Stipe, Hugh Tremble, T. M. Cox Jr., Labray Ballard, Ann Woodward, Neil Cooper, Harold Besuchamp, Aubyn Hodges, T. D. Devenport, Jimmie White, Jess Robinson, Ronald Bablane, J. W. Witherspoon and Miss Rosemary Cronin.

Catholic Council Women Hold Meet

St. Anthony's Parish Council of Catholic Women held its quarterly meeting in the home of Mrs. Jim Pavlicek Tuesday afternoon.

Reports were given by chairmen of standing committees and presidents of the various organizations in the parish, and a discussion of future projects was held. Mrs. Jim Clements, president, presided.

Attending were St. Anthony's Church pastor, Father Michael Sugrue S. A. and Mesdames Mark Koenig, Wm. Betzen, Ed Loerwald, John Gallagher, Leo Hoffman, Raymond Schlags, Gene Loerwald, Ed Jesko, A. C. Stengel and the hostess.

ATTEND CHURCH MEET

The fall meeting of the Amarillo District Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church was held in Stratford recently with Mrs. Colby Conkright, president, presiding. Rev. E. D. Landreth, district superintendent, was the main speaker.

Those from Hereford, attending the meeting were Mrs. Grant Hanna, local WSCS president; Mrs. Phil Barkley, vice president; Mrs. Alby Cockrell, Northwest Texas Conference Youth Secretary; and the district president.

The annual spring session will be held in Canyon in April.

Whole clover, whole allspice, bay leaves and peppercorns may be added to the water in which a smoked boneless pork shoulder butt is to be simmered.

Don't peel that clove of garlic before you put it into a garlic crusher. The pulp will come out as usual and the press will be easier to clean than it is when the garlic is peeled before crushing.

HUSBANDS ARE ENTERTAINED BY EL NINO STUDY GROUP

Members of El Nino Study Club entertained husbands at a tacky party Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Sam Nunnally. Social committee members in charge of arrangements included Mesdames Darrell Blanton, T. J. Clay, Ivan Bloock and Sam Nunnally.

In keeping with the Halloween season, candlelight rooms with weird figures and obstacles marking the entrance way, established the spirit of the party. A fortune teller gave each guest glimpses of the past, present and future.

Guests came dressed in tacky costumes with Mrs. O. G. Hill Jr., and Mrs. Bill Waldrep winning awards as "the tackiest."

Following the buffet dinner the group was entertained with bridge games.

Members and guests attending were Messrs. and Mesdames Darrell Blanton, Ivan Bloock, Ben Childers, T. J. Clay, R. A. Daniel Jr., Bill Decker, O. G. Hill Jr., Edgar Skypala, Wayne Thomas, Bill Waldrep, Melvin Young, and the hosts. Mr. and Mrs. Troy Moore were special guests.

JEAN GILLILLAND

Jean Gililand Is Miss Pledge

Jean Gililand, who spends most of her summers here with her grandparents, Mrs. Henry Hastings, and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gililand, was chosen Miss Pledge by the Kappa Sigma rushees at Texas Tech recently. Jean's sorority is Kappa Kappa Gamma. Each sorority enters two contestants from their pledge group with the winner selected from the top five. Others who placed in the top five were Renee Miller, Kay Funston, Annice Gibbs, and Caroline Wood.

Jean is a freshman student at the Lubbock school and makes her home in Dallas with her father, Newt Gililand.

Mrs. W. W. Barkley of Austin is a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Benefield.

Jaycee-Ettes In Halloween Party

The Jaycee-Ettes honored their husbands and new members at a Halloween party and covered dish supper at the Jaycee Clubhouse Tuesday evening.

The Halloween theme was used throughout the clubhouse in decorations and predominated in the games which followed the supper party.

Those attending were Messrs. and Mesdames Oliver Streu, Kenneth Weaver, J. A. Osborn, Jimmie Bownds, Gerald Hale, Guy Bogle, John Aiken, Don Fudge, Paul Schroeter, Wayne Pittman, Stanley Slagle, Buddy Pickens, Jim Lookingbill, Melvin Rainey, Wayne Koehler, Don McNeese, Bill Howard, Dennis Lomas, Kenneth Brock and Bill Amery.

SUFFERS ANKLE INJURY

Mrs. Hugh Witherspoon suffered a broken right ankle in a recent fall at her home while cleaning out a floor furnace. While still confined to a wheel chair, she is recovering satisfactorily and will soon be able to use the limb.

Guests recently in her home were Mrs. Robert Smith of Truth or Consequences and Mrs. Ray Terry and sons David and Robby of Las Vegas, N. M.

Visitors last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Conklin were her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Green and daughter of Green Bay, Wis. They were enroute home from a visit to points in California.

Six year old Donald Paetz celebrated his birthday Wednesday by being the Birthday Boy on Kids only-KGNC-TV. Donald, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Paetz, was accompanied by Vivi Scott and Mary Hardenskyj.

Birthday Celebrated By Mrs. J. P. Slaton

Mesdames W. C. Hromas, J. W. Spradley, O. H. Culpepper, S. S. Williams and Tom Draper served as hostesses Sunday afternoon honoring Mrs. J. P. Slaton on her birthday.

The anniversary affair was held in Mrs. Slaton's home where autumn flowers in October's bright colors were used in decorations. In the entrance hall and living room orchid mums were everywhere, while a bronze and yellow theme predominated in the dining room.

The table, laid with lace over yellow, held a center piece of giant yellow and bronze chrysanthemums arranged in a silver bowl. Mrs. Williams presided over the silver coffee service at one end of the table while Mrs. Spradley, at the other end, served the birthday confection. Appointments were in silver.

Guests included members of the Bay View Club, Hereford Garden Club, and South Hereford Home Demonstration Club in which Mrs. Slaton holds membership, co-workers in the First Methodist Church, intimate friends and neighbors.

Those signing the guest register were Mesdames Dean Bishop, O. H. Herring, Frank Merritt, Ralph McCullough, W. J. Hacker, John Draper, E. Ramey, James Black, Glenn Boardman, Carl Perrin, J. W. Kirby, E. L. Naugle, L. Z. Oldham, C. R. Logan, J. C. Cummings, Ansel McDowell, E. W. Harrison, Howard Gault, Lee Benefield, M. M. Beavers, J. J. Clark, M. F. Quiet Day Held Wednesday; Ends Week of Prayer

Climaxing the annual Week of Prayer Observance, the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church observed Quiet Day at the church Wednesday. Hosting the meeting were Mesdames H. E. Hensle and S.S. Williams.

Mrs. Alby Cockrell was in charge of the day's observance with Mrs. J. W. Kirby giving the opening worship program.

A sacrificial lunch was featured at noon with Mrs. Cockrell giving the noon-hour meditation.

Theme for the afternoon session was "Teach Me O Lord that I May Teach" with Mesdames R. L. McAnally, Eugene Naugle, Homer Brumley and Alby Cockrell presenting the program.

A French queen of the Renaissance period, Catherine de Medici, is credited with first popularizing gloves for women. She rolled up very thin leather gloves, made by French craftsmen, fitted them into walnut shells and presented them to her friends.

MR. AND MRS. EARL NIPPER (Travis Caraway Photo)

The Earl Nippers Observe Their Silver Anniversary

To celebrate their silver wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nipper entertained Sunday afternoon at an open house held in their home, 606 Union. Close friends and relatives were invited to call between 2 and 6 p.m.

Earline Nipper, their daughter, came from Dallas where she is employed, to serve as hostess.

The refreshment table was done in silver and white. The cloth of lace in white matched the wreath of chrysanthemums, touched with glitter, surrounding the punch bowl. White tapers burned in crystal candelabra and the silver numerals "25" told the anniversary story.

Mrs. Penney Lindley of Lubbock, McAlester, Okla., served a cake poured and Mrs. Ben Allford of Others in the house party were Mrs. O. C. Scott of Wellington, Mrs. Floyd Nipper of Tulsa and Mrs. L. H. Nipper of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Nipper were married in Hollis, Okla., on Oct. 31, 1931. They lived in Wellington for a while and later in Amarillo.

Deaf Smith County Pioneers Celebrate 50th Anniversary

When Myrtle Bowe came to Deaf Smith County with her parents, the late Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Bowe, early in the spring of 1906, the family located on a ranch 20 miles northwest toward LaPlata. Soon she met young Vern Witherspoon who had located on adjoining Old LaPlata earlier in 1906, and they were married on Oct. 28, 1906, at LaPlata with the Rev. Wm. Gordon Kairy, Presbyterian minister, performing the ceremony.

It wasn't long before she realized she had married a man with a dream—a big dream now—although it was small in the beginning. For Vern Witherspoon's childhood dream was to have a saddle, spurs and boots and go to the spring Round-Up. He came to the Panhandle when he was 10 and already owned a horse and saddle. The range was open and he could soon ride herd with the best of them. He worked on the XIT Ranch and finally decided if he wanted to stay in the Panhandle he'd have to go in the cow business, for there was no other way to make a living. He attended the first school in Deaf Smith County, the first school in Hereford, and the first school held in Panhandle Christian College.

Planned Together
After they were married the Witherspoons lived at LaPlata for a while and later built on what is now known as the Wedel place. His dream began to grow and together they dreamed of a place where their children could have the advantages they themselves were denied, and joined hands with other pioneers, motivated by the same dream, to work and help develop Deaf Smith County and Hereford.

"It's fun now to think back on those old days. We used wire fence for a telephone line at LaPlata in the early days, and I remember once we were in the path of a prairie fire in 1906.

"We had parties, and square dances with the old timers playing the fiddle and guitar, and of course we all went to church. It's been interesting to grow with the town—I like lodge work and helped the local chapter of the order of Eastern Star grow, serving as secretary of that organization for 23 years," she recalls.

Both are lifetime members of the Presbyterian Church. They have attended all of Hereford's Pioneer Day celebrations and expect to spend the rest of their lives right here.

Their children are Beryl Witherspoon of Amarillo and Gordon Witherspoon of Hereford. They have five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Reception Honors Couple
The couple was honored Sunday afternoon at a reception in their home, 201 Jackson, in celebration of the golden wedding anniversary, with their sons and their wives serving as hosts.

Golden yellow chrysanthemums of every variety were used about the house in decoration. The refreshment table was laid with an off white satin damask cloth and huge gold chrysanthemums were combined with miniature mums in a tall oblong centerpiece with the numerals "50" in gold glitter, arranged with a glittered bow of bronze satin ribbon. Gold candles burned in crystal candelabra and appointments were in crystal.

The two granddaughters, Mrs. Leo Hennington of Albuquerque, and Mrs. Gene Howe Pugh of Borger presided. Mrs. Bill Simpson kept the anniversary book of names.

Approximately 150 relatives and friends from five states made up the guest list.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Gertrude Witherspoon, San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wilson and son, Mrs. Robert P. Smith; Mrs. Lucile Starkey, Mrs. Lennie Jenkins, Truth or Consequences, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Paddelford, Austin, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Howe Pugh, Borger; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hennington and daughter, Albuquerque, N. M.; Vernie Bowe, Mrs. Maude Bowe

WARM WRAPS NOW ARE VOGUE

By CAROL INMAN
Now Herefordites can stop worrying about cold lemonade, air-conditioners, skimpy summer clothes, and picnics under a nice shade tree. It's time for folks to bundle up in sweaters, jackets, and warm winter clothes if they plan to go out, or better yet—just sit home by the stove, drink coffee and talk over the old times with your friends.

Yes, it's certainly taken a turn for the colder weather in the Panhandle this week. Bea Hutson, Pauline Listen, Myra Witherspoon and several other working ladies of Hereford can vouch for that by the winter clothes they are wearing now. And by the way, they rush into the store each morning—knowing it will be warm there!

Stunt Night Date
Halloween's over, with all the flurry of parties, carnivals, and other entertainment. The next big item on the list of Hereford folks will be Stunt Night at high school, which will be held Nov. 20.

The big attraction will be the crowning of the annual queen, and the 1,000 seat auditorium will be filled to capacity—as usual. This is one of the largest honors a high school girl can get, and each class is certainly working hard for its candidate.

Housewives won't be interrupted from their work this fall, however, for the students won't be selling gum, aprons, popcorn balls, and the dozens of other items they always make to sell for annual queen profits. Many merchants have done without coffee money in the past, because students came around with the inevitable roll of tape, begging pennies, dimes and quarters.

Just Tickets This Year
This year, however, the students will sell only tickets to the Stunt Night program for annual queen votes.

If they don't make enough money to pay for the 500 annuals ordered, the school faculty has promised to put on a Faculty Play, and that will certainly be a treat! They haven't had a play for several years, and Hereford folks have certainly missed them. Especially the Jammers Garners in their conical roles they always manage so easily.

Candidates for the queen this year are Jackie Brown, senior; Nancy Godwin, junior; Carol Alston, sophomore; and Marilyn Newell, freshman.

Home From College
Home from college... seen around town last weekend... Jack Parker... son of Mr. and Mrs. Muri Parker... Martin Reid Moore... son of the Troy Moores... and many others.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Miller left Thursday for big "D" where they will attend a Railroad Attorney's Conference for several days. Bruce is the local attorney for the Santa Fe. The Millers plan to return on Tuesday from Dallas, doing some sight-seeing on the way.

The E. E. Fridleys spent Saturday and Sunday in Amarillo and Texline.

For Wayland Exes
Homecoming dates at Wayland College have been set for Nov. 23-24, according to Claude Cone, Lubbock, vice president of Student Government Assn. and chairman of the festivities. All former students are cordially invited by the Student Government Assn. to join with the students in making this Wayland's greatest homecoming!

John Benson was recently elected secretary of the Bengal Lancers, a service organization for men at Trinity University in San Antonio. Benson, son of Henry N. Benson, is a sophomore, and majoring in social science.

Top Music Honors
Irene Witherspoon has been chosen as a member of the Glee Club, the top student musical organization at Mary Baldwin College. Will she ever have a nice time too! In the series of concert dates, they will present musical numbers in Harrisonburg, Va., Washington, D. C., and in North Carolina. Irene was a member of the high school band, and a twirler for several years during the time she attended Hereford High. She is the daughter of the James W. Witherspoons.

With the Wayland Baptist College's International A Capella Choir again this year is Jean Glass of Hereford. Right now she and the other 36 members of the choir are making concert appearances in Illinois. They presented their first one on the tour Nov. 1, in Joplin, Mo. Until Nov. 8, the choir will sing in Wisconsin, Mississippi, and Kansas.

Back in Texas, the choir will sing in Gruver on Nov. 10, in Dumas on Nov. 11, and at the Temple Baptist Church in Amarillo on the evening of Nov. 11. Among the high spots in the groups' tour will be trips to Don McNeill's

PEACH ORCHARD IS PROBABLE ALAMO HERO BURIAL GROUND

San Antonio, Tex. (AP) — The exact burial spot for the heroes of the Alamo is still one of the unanswered questions in Texas history, 120 years after the historic battle.

Two principal versions crop up among the many chronicles of the immortal siege, and you can take your choice of them.

An exact burial site never has been definitely established, although it is generally accepted that the bodies of the gallant band of Texans were cremated by Gen. Santa Anna's forces after the Alamo fell, March 6, 1836.

Historian John Henry Brown, who first visited the Alamo in August, 1837, lists the final burial place as a peach orchard, then located northeast of the Alamo. This is backed up by the accounts of several other historians.

But the other version comes from a man who wrote that he was present when the bodies were buried. Juan Seguin wrote that he gathered the remains of the Alamo dead, placed them in an urn and buried them near an altar in San Fernando Cathedral.

In Brown's account of his visit to the Alamo, he said the burial plot was enclosed by a white fence, upon which hung a plaque with the inscription: "Here were interred the remains of the Alamo garrison." Other accounts seemingly support this version.

John Sutherland, physician and historian who served as an Alamo courier, wrote this about the disposition of the remains:

"The pile (for cremation) being completed about 5 o'clock in the evening, March 6, it was lighted... this burned for two days.

... Such of the bones as remained lay for nearly a year upon the ground, the ashes scattered by passing wind... until February, 1837, when they were collected in a crude coffin and interred with military honors in what was then a peach orchard, near the scene of the last struggle.

Sutherland says the plot was northeast of the Alamo, in what was then a peach orchard.

Juan Jose Bastida, a topographer with Gen. Santa Anna's engineers, made a map of the area, dated March 1836. It designates at the northeast area of the Alamo a "peach orchard." This map apparently pinpoints the burial site Sutherland found.

Creed Taylor, a ranger who fought in the Texas revolution, wrote that he was among the first to find the spot where the Alamo heroes were cremated.

He says his ranger company placed the remains in a coffin and buried them with military honors at the "old military cemetery."

Another bit of evidence pointing to the peach orchard as the final resting place for the Alamo's defenders came several years ago from some workmen.

Excavating a site for a fire station, they said they dug up some charred bones. The fire station was located across from the Alamo in a spot where the peach orchard supposedly was located.

For '57... A new kind of Ford gives you a new fine-car choice... at low Ford prices

It all starts here

With new 14-inch wheels... a completely new Full-cradle Chassis... new suspensions, front and rear... the new '57 Ford hugs the road as never before—and with full road clearance. It takes the turns more smoothly; gives you handling ease that is pure pleasure. And you can choose from two big-car sizes: Customs are over 16 feet long—Fairlans are over 17 feet long.

New 245-hp Thunderbird power

To celebrate its quarter century of V-8 leadership, Ford is building a new line of Silver Anniversary V-8's—with up to 245 hp in the terrific new Thunderbird V-8. These new engines have Ford's famous deep-block design and are even quieter and more responsive than ever. And if you prefer, you can have the world's most modern "six" in the new Mileage Maker Six.

An all-new "Inner Ford"

The new kind of Ford for '57 is all new! The new contoured frame is a foot wider amidship and is 27% more rigid. New "sofa" seats bring you a lower, smoother ride and plenty of head room. Special insulation brings you snuggler, quieter comfort. And the sculptured body has the look of tomorrow... a look that puts it out front in the beauty department!

Look! New hardtop styling in all Fairlans

TWO GROUPS HOLD HOLIDAY PARTIES IN McCATHERN HOME

By BETTE JEAN NOLAND
Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Noland and Bette Jean and R. A. Fullwood returned last Tuesday from Kerrville, where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Jennie Fullwood. Miss Frances Fullwood returned home with them for a short visit.

Miss Ann Lookingbill and Alice Seivels of Albuquerque, N. M., spent the weekend in the L. B. Lookingbill home. Both girls are students in Wayland College.

Girls from this community who attended the annual initiation of the FHA girls Monday night were: Wanda Couch, and Bette Jean and Linda Kay Noland.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lookingbill were Sunday afternoon visitors in the L. B. Lookingbill home.

Mrs. and Mrs. L. P. Hansen and children of Malden, Mo., are visiting her parents, the Ray Johnsons, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Christie spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. J. W. Thomas of Plainview. Mrs. Christie's sister, Barbara, returned home with them for a short visit.

The Jerald McCathern home was the scene of the Halloween party Friday night for the young people of this community. A party for the children of the members of the Young Mother's Study Club was also given at the McCathern home on Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lance Sr., left Wednesday to take Mrs. Earl Lance Jr., back to her home in Woodson. We are all happy to know that Mrs. Earl Lance Jr. is recovering nicely from a recent operation and is able to return to her home.

Mrs. J. B. Noland was hostess Friday night for a Halloween party for the Juniors of the Summerfield Baptist Church, and also on Monday for the Primaries of the Church.

Mrs. Dean Paul and Mona were Sunday afternoon visitors in the home of Mrs. Bob Noland.

Bette Jean Noland attended a slumber party Friday night in the home of Dolly Jo Prowell in Hereford. The party was also a birthday celebration for Judy Patterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Allen of Princeton, Miss Frances Fullwood of Kerrville, and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fullwood of Hereford were Sunday visitors in the Chas. Noland home.

The maize harvest is still in full swing in this community. The farmers have been fortunate to have nice weather most of the time for harvesting. There is still lots of cotton in the fields. Lots of sugar beets are going to market at this time.

Mrs. J. A. Noland returned home from Deaf Smith County hospital Saturday. She is getting along nicely. Her son, Jim, of Amarillo was a visitor on Saturday.

Mrs. Winkle of Dimmitt visited last week in the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. M. Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle Sergeant and children visited in the Carl Lee home Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Noland visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Debbe Knox, in Hereford Tuesday night. They were celebrating Mrs. Bob Noland's birthday.

Bette Mae Walser was a visitor in the home of Jenny Lynn McCathern of the Frio Community Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Curry spent last week visiting in Fort Worth with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Morse, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cunningham have returned to Snyder, Oklahoma, to sow the wheat on their farm. They will return in a few days to resume maize cutting in this community.

Jamie Clearman, a student at West Texas State College, visited in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Clearman, over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Noland and family spent last Sunday in Hedley visiting her mother, Mrs. Plunk.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Nance and Mike were recent visitors in the home of his sister, Mrs. J. A. Noland.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Lookingbill, Bill, Ann, Jamie Clearman, Alice Seivels of Albuquerque, N. M., Jim Lookingbill, and Bette Jean Noland attended the football game when Hereford played Clovis last Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Lookingbill were in Plainview Tuesday night to visit their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Lookingbill and Ann Lookingbill.

School Lunch Menu

Fundamentals Of Etiquette At The Table

AP Newsfeatures

"I have just started housekeeping and I'm shocked that I know nothing about table etiquette" an 18-year-old girl writes and she adds that she knows very little about homemaking either. "How," she asks, "may I learn quickly?"

There are many good books on these subjects but there is no shortcut for young people maturing in the era of lap trays and snack tables to the goodness, wisdom and joy that their parents reaped at the old-fashioned dinner table. Grace-before meals, cleanliness inspection and table manners were basic fare, contributing to the advancement of the next generation.

OKLAHOMA ALLIGATOR
IDABEL, Okla. (AP) — Not all the big alligators live in Florida. Edwin Tapley and James Lee of this southeast Oklahoma town caught an alligator weighing 120 pounds and measuring more than 6½ feet on Little River.

You can't find it in three easy lessons.

Parents are likely to react with booming criticism when a young one does try to cope with a properly served meal, forgetting they neglected this training, that their young moderns have not had table advantage — pearls of wisdom that drop from a grandpa's lips, the harvest of admonitions from Dad that sculpted out character or even the chatty theories that Mom discussed on the buying, selection and preparation of foods that enlightened daughter's world.

There are many books on setting tables, etiquette and hosting that will serve daughter well, however. It's just take her longer to do what should come naturally. It will take a few meals to break bad table manners as any girl will find out.

Here are some fundamental table rules that may help out in the mean time.

Use the side of your knife or a small piece of toast if you want to push food on your fork. Never use fingers for that purpose.

Do not pick up chops with the fingers.

Break bread in small pieces before buttering it. Never butter a whole roll or slice of bread at one time.

Do not push your plate away from you when you've finished eating. Leave it where it was placed by the hostess.

If invited to eat more do not reply by saying "I'm full" or "I'm stuffed" or use some other ugly phraseology. Instead say "no thank you."

Do not rest your elbows on the table.

Avoid using your knife and fork noisily, stirring coffee noisily, or chewing with the mouth open or talking with the mouth full of food. Eat cake with a fork.

Remove spoons from cups and glasses before drinking the liquid. Remove olive pits, bones and seeds from the mouth in an inconspicuous way with the fingers, and place on the side of your plate.

Do not spit them into the plate or on to a spoon.

Chicken may be eaten with the fingers, but the hostess is expected to serve fingerbowl so that napkins are not stained in messy fashion.

Gravy may be sopped up from your plate if small pieces of bread are used. Cut them with a knife and spear with a fork for sopping purposes.

Do not reach across the table for a serving dish or anything else.

Eat soup with the spoon going away from you.

Lipstick should not be smeared on linen napkins.

MR. AND MRS. J. W. DECKER

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Decker Observe 50th Wedding Date

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Decker, formerly of Hereford and now of Dalhart, were honored by their seven sons and daughters with an open house Sunday afternoon at their home, celebrating their golden wedding anniversary.

The couple came from Indiana in 1908 and moved on a farm near Hereford. In 1940 they moved to Dalhart and continued to farm. He is 78 and she is 73. Having retired from the farm, they now make their home in Dalhart.

Their seven children include Virgil of Dalhart, Ervin of Texline, Dorothy of Amarillo, Mrs. Martha Woolley of Albuquerque, N. M., and Mrs. Ethel Layman and Mrs. Eleanor Winkler of Hereford. There are 14 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth over yellow and yellow chrysanthemums banked around the large numerals "50" formed the centerpiece. Punch was served by a granddaughter.

Mrs. Bonnie Layman, and the three tiered cake was served by a daughter in law, Mrs. Betty Decker. Linda Winkler presided at the guest register.

Relatives from Indiana attending were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hemmer, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Kaetz of Dale, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schoppenhorst of Huntington, and Miss Laura Decker of Boonville.

Other out of town guests attending were Messrs. and Mesdames Jess Lindsey of Lubbock, Sam Layman, of Muleshoe, E. E. Layman and family and Frank Allen and family of Dimmitt, Everett Talbot of Friona, Carl Myers of Boise City, Okla., David Oldham of Amarillo, Elmo Rice of Dumas and Ernest Layman and Mrs. Lois Rutter and daughter.

NOTES OUT OF-SCHOOL

Queen Race Competition Good

AS SOME SENIORS SEE IT
Friday night when we played Clovis, a group of senior girls decided they wanted to find out what the future held for them, so they went to the fortune teller in Clovis.

Believe they were a bit disappointed, but they'll find out someday!

Each class selected its candidate for annual queen this week. The frosh selected Marilyn Newell, sophomores selected Carol Alston, juniors, Nancy Godwin, and seniors, Jackie Brown.

Different Situation Now
This year the winner will be the candidate whose class sold the most tickets to stunt night. The contest begins the 15th and ends the 19th of November.

Anyone visiting our school would think it was a nut house. These HI-Y boys, what they don't think of! The new HI-Y boys were initiated Wednesday, and they were wearing earrings, coat and tie with T-shirt, and a different kind of shoe on each foot. And what about the scratchy things they wore under them? They were really a scream!

Comments On Those (ugh) Tests:
Moans and groans may be deciphered anywhere in school, as the time has arrived for nine-week exams. Comments: "You have to be an 'angel' to deserve an 'E' in citizenship." "Only a brain can acquire a 'B' average in his subjects."

JOTS FROM A JUNIOR
Aren't those new "female" students adorable! Crew Cuts, ear-plugs, T shirts under suit coats, and ties. What a wardrobe! (Just what the well dressed HI-Y initiates are wearing this year, my dear.)

And Now The "Dolls"
Fred Lookingbill, Wade Douglas, Leslie Sharp, and Jim Curtsinger were some of the "dolls." Many smiles appeared when the "dolls" paraded into American History class.

Gene Waits has the most peculiar conception of "how to leave the room."
The juniors are planning to bestow the title, Annual Queen, on their candidate, Nancy Godwin. They are planning to break the record with two consecutive victories.

Weren't the HI-Y boys cute Wednesday? Those earrings are really CAT.

Several sophomores acquired parts in the All-School play this year. David Larsen got the part of Stan, Jane Bookout is Sue, Lawan-na Lookingbill will play Julie, Jan Wallace is Chuck, John Gilliland has the part of Randolph, and Eugenia Alexander is Nina.

Sophomore Dues Set
The sophomores have set their dues at one dollar a semester. We're saving for the Junior-Senior banquet already.

FRESHMEN FINDINGS
Extra! Extra! Read about it! We've got a queen and we're gonna shout it!

Upperclassmen — beware! The Freshmen are out to win the annual queen race!

Have you heard all the groans? The band students and their blistered feet are doing it. That Class I rating was worth it, wasn't it? Congratulations, band!

Tests! Tests! Tests! Those black-robed people aren't witches, they are students mourning over bad grades.

The FHA formal initiation was really pretty. According to D.P., some very "extinguished" guests were present.

Poor Pappas and Mamas.

We "feel" for the freshmen parents. The Homemaking I girls are trying out their "knowledge" in cooking. We pity the poor pets that have to eat what the parents can't.

Freshmen sounding off — beep, beep, zoom!! Out of our way!

Some Youths Really Love Reformatory

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Some boys and girls in California's correctional schools like the places so well, they ask permission to stay on after their terms end.

Herman G. Stark, Director of the California Youth Authority, figures the money for the extra room and board is well spent — that the post-graduate work further helps prepare the youngsters for life outside.

One girl at Los Gullucos School for Girls, near Santa Rosa, put in five extra months finishing a high school education.

Frequently, Stark added, boys 13 and 14 remain at the Fred C. Nelson School near Whittier so they can continue as eligibles for the 40-member marching unit.

Sponsored by an American Legion post, the marching team has won about 300 trophies during the past decade.

The boys — always with a mongrel dog as a mascot — have even gone cross-country to compete at Legion conventions.

Stark said other boys request permission to serve added weeks to finish fire seasons when they are working in forestry camps.

But Stark says there has to be a limit on the length of overtime residences. The beds are usually needed for others.

How To Sew Without A Needle

AP Newsfeatures

Some people, it seems, have a phobia about a needle and thread. For those who can't sew, here's an idea on how to make a child's felt skirt without sewing. The trick is to use one of those little home staplers to staple the seams together.

Even the small fry can make a skirt like this. You start by cutting the skirt, using any circular skirt pattern. Felt is an ideal material because it eliminates the need for hemming or binding seams. After you have cut the pattern from felt, lay it out flat on a table and staple the seams together, leaving about a half-inch seam allowance. Keep the staples close together. The edges of the seams may be pinked, if desired, though this is not necessary.

The waistband is made like any other. Cut a strip of felt two inches wide and long enough to fit the child's waist with about an inch extra to lay over for the fastening. Use a matching piece of two-inch grosgrain ribbon to line the waistband, staple-seam ribbon to felt on three sides, then turn right side out and press flat. Staple-seam the waistband to the top of the skirt, felt side out. The only thing you have to sew are the hooks and eyes to fasten the waistband.

Then apply a gay applique such as a French poodle or other whimsy as decoration. These may be bought in a variety of designs and are simply ironed on the skirt—no sewing necessary again.

IT'S ALL DONE WITH STAPLES—This gay felt skirt is made without sewing. A small hot stapler is used to staple seams together, as shown, then waistband is stapled to top of skirt. The French poodle applique is simply ironed on.

Staple-sewing a skirt can be fun for the little girl who is going to wear it and will teach her that dressmaking is easy.

J. B. Caraways Go To Stratford For Family Gathering

By DELLA RUTH DOW

There was a community-wide Halloween party sponsored by the P-TA Tuesday night at the schoolhouse. Refreshments of pie, cocoa and coffee were served to the large crowd attending.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Alston of Hereford visited the James Alstons Sunday. The James Alstons are our most recent newcomers and we welcome them to the community. The Alstons have one daughter, Linda.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred May left Saturday to go to Excelsior Springs Mo.

Attend Oslo Rites

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Miller and children attended the funeral of an old friend in the Oslo Community of Hansford County recently.

The J. B. Caraways recently visited the J. W. Darts of Clinton, Okla. The Darts are former residents of Dawn.

Mrs. Dudley Tucker and daughters of Durant, Okla., visited the Harold Russells over the weekend. Mrs. Tucker is Mrs. Russell's mother.

Visitors in the Zed Stewart home over the weekend were Mrs. Brunetta Stewart and children of Pam pa. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Robinson and son of Channing visited Sunday night. Mrs. Zed Stewart has been sick but is feeling much better now.

Mother Visits

Mrs. Frank Russell of Durant Okla., visited in the home of her son, Marion Russell, and family over the weekend.

The community extends its sympathy to Mrs. R. A. Frye whose father, Whites Griffiths, passed away Monday morning in the Am here hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Frye attended the funeral services in Earth Tuesday. Mrs. H. V. McCabe and Mrs. H. H. Miller attended the burial services in Canyon.

Sunday Guests

Sunday dinner guests in the Zed Stewart home were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Payne and children of Hereford.

The J. B. Caraways visited the H. H. Caraways of Stratford last weekend. J. B. and H. H. Caraway are brothers.

The Rev. Paul McClung attended the Workers' Conference at Temple Baptist Church in Hereford Thursday night.

All circles of the WMU met on Wednesday for a mission study with 12 attending.

The Paul McClungs were in Am arillo Saturday and saw the Pink Wrights. Mrs. Wright is reported to be feeling fine after a recent operation.

WEATHER WARNING

DES MOINES (AP) — Two of Iowa's volunteer weather observers with more than 30 years of service are: Amy A. Storm of Logan and Herbert E. Winter of Mason City.

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — 1957 will be the year for the Irish in New Mexico.

The state's new license plates will be white with a glowing shamrock-Kelly green trim. Motor Vehicle Commissioner John Wilkinson says there's talk of following the trend in modern cars toward new, different colors.

Political Program Is Given In Study Club

In keeping with the course of study for the 1956-57 season, members of the Bay View Study Club presented a political program on Thursday afternoon when a meeting was held in the home of Mrs. J. W. Kirby.

Theme of the program was "The Future of America Depends on You" with Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine opening the program with a discussion of "Voting—A Right Or A Privilege."

Urging thoughtful appraisal of the man himself and his coworkers, she admonished members to vote "For you are both the judge and the jury" in this instance she said. She defined the difference between autocracy and democracy, and traced the power of the people from the time of the colonists. She told of the growth of democracy and how the Constitution of the United States was set up for a perfect democracy. In conclusion she said "Vote—you lucky Americans. Today's universal suffrage allows almost everybody to vote and it is up to the individual to abuse or use his right and privilege." Political Parties

Mrs. W. C. Hromas gave a "Bi-Partisan Evaluation of Presidential Candidates," telling of the function, the aims and the goals of political parties.
Beginning with the candidates for the vice presidency, she told something of the life of Senator Kefauver and Richard Nixon, giving account of their background and childhood, education, religious faith and personal achievements.
She traced the history of Gov. Stevenson's family in national offices and told of his brilliant career as a lawyer. She told of his family life and of his three sons, and of his early interest in politics.

President Described

Of President Eisenhower, Mrs. Hromas stressed his integrity and deep sense of honor springing from his childhood training, his education at West Point and his dedication to "Preserving the Peace."

She traced his war record and his rise in rank and stated in conclusion: "Today, President Eisenhower is the most powerful man in the world."

Mrs. George Heard, president, presided over a short business session when reports were heard and letters for federation officers read.

Those attending were Mesdames D. H. Alexander, Phillip Barkley, Lee Benefield, Leo Forrest, Howard Gault, W. J. Gilliland, Jimmie

CONGRATULATIONS were bestowed on four members who received scrolls for their FHA pins for completing Chapter Degree Work. Delores Loerwald, former president, congratulates Carlynn Williams, Susie Loerwald, Paula Wright, and Carolyn Knox.

FHA Chapters Meet To Install 75 New Members

Formal initiation ceremonies for 75 new Future Homemakers of America members were held on Monday evening in the high school auditorium. Susie Loerwald, president of Chapter I, and Dolly Paetzold, president of Royal Rose chapter, presided over the meeting.

Several presentations were made to parents, members, and sponsors, and acknowledgement certificates were presented to the new members.

Twenty-four girls participated in the program, explaining the FHA creed and purposes to the audience. Leading the prayer songs were Sue Springer, and Linda Kay Noland.

Phyllis Sumner of Chapter I was presented with a key for her FHA pin for completing the junior degree work, and four girls — Betty Hagar, Margaret Burrus, Betty Paetzold, and Ruby Brewton — of Royal Rose chapter were presented with junior degree keys.

Delores Loerwald and Sue Springer were presented president's pins for their work during the 1955-56 school term. Delores, who graduated last spring, was president of Chapter I, and Sue was Royal Rose president.

Receiving scrolls for completion of chapter degree work were Susie Loerwald, Carlynn Williams, Carolyn Knox, Peggy Bumpass, Paula Wright, Donna Sue Guseman, Margaret Griffith, Dolly Paetzold, and Phyllis Goetsch. These girls are now working on state degrees, the highest degrees in FHA.

Other presentations made during the meeting were to chapter parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Guseman, and Mr. and Mrs. George Paetzold, and to last year's chapter parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Loerwald.

Donna Sue Guseman, the FHA Sweetheart, presented last year's FHA Beau, Bill Johnson, with his pin. Pins for last year's work didn't arrive until recently, and presentations which should have been made last year had to be postponed until the formal initiation ceremonies this year.

After the initiation, a reception tea was held in the high school auditorium, and around 250 people attended, along with 150 FHA members.

During the year, members plan to work with civil defense, give a Sweetheart and Beau party, attend area and district meetings, give a party for exchange student Elisabeth Brummer, and have meetings twice each month.

INSTRUCTORS and sponsors of the FHA Chapters are Mrs. J. J. Durham, Royal Rose sponsor, and Mrs. Joel Hodges, sponsor of Chapter I.

EXCHANGE STUDENT—Elisabeth Brummer, left, was introduced to the audience at the FHA formal initiation ceremonies by Dolly Paetzold, president of the Royal Rose chapter.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT CERTIFICATES were presented to the new members of the high school FHA chapters at the formal ceremonies Monday evening. Susie Loerwald, Chapter I president, is presenting Jeanette Rayburn with a certificate acknowledging her membership in Chapter I.

GAYLE WAGONER was among the members who helped with the reception by serving punch to guests. At right, above, are Gayle, Mrs. Joe Rogers, Mrs. Elmer Patterson, Lucy Beth Miller and Mrs. H. R. Miller.

CHAPTER PARENTS' PINS were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Loerwald by their daughter, Delores, who was president of Chapter I last year. The Loerwalds helped the FHA club as sponsors during the school term of 1955-56.

PART OF THE WORK—Phyllis Goetsch and Susie Loerwald demonstrate part of the work of FHA clubs; they take flowers to ill persons. The flowers used at the initiation ceremonies were presented to J. A. Loerwald, who is in the Deaf Smith County Hospital. (Staff Photos)

Plum Kuchen, Served Warm On The House

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor
Good old-fashioned plum kuchen has taken on American ways. You know the fruit-topped "cake" that tastes so good with a cup of coffee? Here it is with cornmeal used in the dough for the bottom layer. From then on, however, we're true to some traditional versions of kuchen — on top of the cornmeal dough go fresh Italian prunes or canned purple plums and a delectable thin layer of custard.

Both our kuchen recipes should be served shortly after they come from the oven, while they're still warm. If fresh Italian prunes are available, do try our recipe calling for them. Another time, make up the recipe calling for economical canned purple plums.

Get up a little earlier than usual one morning and bake one of these kuchen. Then before the family wakes, the telephone rings or the doorbell buzzes, cut yourself a square and sit down in quiet and in peace and enjoy it with a cup of coffee. That's what we like to do — figuring that the first slice is a cook's bonus!

FRESH ITALIAN PRUNE KUCHEN

Ingredients: 1 cup sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon double-acting baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/3 cup enriched yellow cornmeal, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 cup shortening, 1 egg (very slightly beaten), 1 tablespoon milk, 20 fresh Italian prunes (pitted but left whole), 1/2 cup sugar,

PURPLE PLUM KUCHEN . . . good with coffee.

1 egg yolk (slightly beaten), 1/4 cup milk, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt, cornmeal and 1/4 cup sugar; cut in shortening until thoroughly combined. Stir slightly beaten egg and 1 tablespoon milk together. Mix all at once into dry ingredients. Pat mixture evenly into bottom of baking pan (7 by 11 by 1 1/2 inches or 6 by 10 by 1 1/4 inches). Arrange prunes (skin side down) to cover dough in 4 long rows. Sprinkle prunes with 1/2 cup sugar. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven for 15 minutes. (Mix slightly beaten egg yolk with 1/4 cup milk and nutmeg and have ready.) Remove kuchen from oven — pour custard mixture over the prunes. (Don't worry if there's a lot of juice.) Continue baking 5 to 10 minutes longer or until custard is firm. Cut in pan and serve warm.

Note: If white cornmeal is used increase milk in dough to 3 tablespoons.

PURPLE PLUM KUCHEN

Ingredients: 1 No. 2 can (1 lb. and 13 oz.) syrup-packed purple plums, 1 1/4 cups sifted flour, 3/4 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup enriched yellow cornmeal, 1/3 cup sugar, 1/3 cup shortening, 1 egg (slightly beaten), 2 tablespoons milk, 1/2 cup light brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 egg yolks (slightly beaten), 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg.

Method: Drain plums thoroughly; pit and halve. Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt, cornmeal and 1/3 cup sugar. Cut in shortening until thoroughly combined. Stir slightly beaten egg and 2 tablespoons milk together. Mix all at once into dry ingredients. Pat mixture into bottom and on sides of baking pan (7 by 11 by

How to get a better house for less money is a problem not only vexing families in the market and in need of new homes, but it's a riddle that has builders close to distraction. Building costs have been going up so steadily that it would take a lot of mumbo-jumbo to argue they have no connection with the slowing up in home building this year.

People are trying cheaper materials, remote locations, half-finished houses, smaller room sizes — every dodge they can think up — even when they know they are short changing themselves in the long run. Sometimes a man can get a contractor to put up the shell of a house — foundation, outer walls, roof, doors and windows — so he can finish the inside himself. In spite of poor mortgage arrangements, this system often works, especially if the owner has enough capital to buy materials. A short term loan to finance the finishing, however, is usually prohibitive for the man who must economize.

"Contrary to uninformed opinion," an expert observes, "costs are not successfully lowered by decreasing living area, eliminating wanted features, or using inferior products. The builder who does this will have a house he can't sell."

This statement was made at a round table discussion of building product manufacturers recently sponsored in New York by James M. Lange of the Practical Builder, trade publication. "A low-cost house that people will want to buy" was the theme of the meeting.

Better methods of construction

1 1/2 inches or 7/8 by 11 3/4 by 1 1/4). Arrange drained plum halves (skin side up) to cover dough in rows. Sprinkle plums with brown sugar and cinnamon. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven for 15 minutes. (Mix slightly beaten egg yolks with 1/2 cup milk and nutmeg and have ready.) Remove kuchen from oven; pour custard mixture over plums. Continue baking 5 to 10 minutes longer or until custard is firm. Cut in pan and serve warm.

Note: If white cornmeal is used increase milk in dough to 4 tablespoons.

were suggested by Lange as a key to inexpensive small homes that won't be cracker boxes. He listed clear-span roof trusses, non-loadbearing partitions, post and beam construction, pre-assembled structural sections, movable partition walls, and multi-purpose materials that embody structural strength, insulation and finish all in one.

All of these details are in existence today but it's going to take a lot of doing to get them generally accepted. Take post and beam framing, for example. By eliminating the many 2 by 4s that go into wall construction and substituting a post every 4 feet, this system is supposed to save as much as 20 per cent in lumber.

Why doesn't everybody use it? Competitive builders say time lost while carpenters, unfamiliar with such framing, stood around and scratched their heads would more than offset savings in lumber.

Another reason is that most of the building codes prohibit it. Codes compiled a generation ago call for specific materials in specific places. It has taken years to persuade some 200 communities in New York State to adopt a uniform state performance code. This code opens the way for new materials by telling you how much strength must be provided and leaving it up to you to use any materials that meet the test.

Taxes also are a handicap in getting building costs down. A laboratory test house of 1,100 square feet — three bedrooms — with a price tag of $20,850, including a modest piece of land, has been found to have $2,266 in taxes hidden in its price. Myron L. Matthews of the Dow Service Building Reports, who figured this out, included taxes on the builders' corporate profits, stockholders' and officers' individual salaries and dividends, taxes on labor and on the profits on material sales.

"In 1939-41," Matthews says, "the sales price of a house of this size included about 2 percent to cover the miscellaneous taxes then current. The situation has grown progressively worse until today taxes add almost 18 per cent to the sales price."

And no shortcut has been found for good materials and good workmanship. Lange told the industry leaders that people are no longer buying the first house they see. Many are second home buyers, who've lived in a house and know what they want.

As to the future — "The early 1960s," says Lange, "will see the greatest era of family formation this country has ever known, as the war babies reach marriageable age. Housing will reach between 1,500,000 and two million units a year — and many of those must be low-cost houses that newbyeds can afford."

FARMER CAN'T QUIT THAT DRESSMAKING
SOUTH HAVEN, Mich. (AP) — A gray-haired farmer in a bright checked shirt hopes this is his last year as a dressmaker.

Mut Martan of Chicago, designer of women's clothes, is finding it hard to become plain Joseph Martan, fruit farmer with 83 acres of orchard to spray and care for.

Martan closed his elite dress shop in Chicago two years ago and retired to become a farmer. But he found that the customers for whom he had been creating wardrobes since 1918 didn't want him to stop.

So when he isn't working his farm, Martan is fashioning fine frocks with the touch that only he can give. In a day of clothing mass production, Martan's skill is in demand by women who can afford his exclusive styling.

Americans bought eight million dollars worth of diamonds in 1950 and 122 million dollars worth in 1955.

SEVEN SOLID REASONS WHY TEXANS SHOULD SUPPORT EISENHOWER

1. He ended the useless war in Korea and has kept America out of war.
2. He has given this country an effective foreign policy, backed up by a powerful defense force at less cost. He does not believe in a policy of weakness.
3. He achieved the conversion from war to peace with the greatest prosperity the American people have ever known.
4. He has kept his promise to the people of Texas by restoring to us our tidelands.
5. He replaced crook-and-crony government by restoring morality, honesty, integrity and saneness, to our national government.
6. He stopped the trend toward socialism by turning to the initiative and ability of the American people rather than government regimentation.
7. He has cut government spending and waste, thus bringing about a cut in taxes.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS FOR EISENHOWER

Patterns Discover Sub-Teens

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

The home-sewing industry finally has recognized the sub-teen girl. Young ladies aged 11 and 12 have poignant clothing problems. They don't like the baby-ish styles from the children's department, and the fit is all wrong in junior and regular teen sizes. Manufacturers of ready-made dresses have recognized this problem for some time, and the sub-teen department usually is one of the busiest in big department stores.

Now the makers of home-sewing patterns have caught up with the trend. Sub-teen patterns are now available, sized correctly for the age group and styled with nary a ruffle, puffed sleeve or sash. The trim, tailored lines and flattering detail put the new in-betweeners in the big sister bracket.

The new sub-teen patterns are identified by an "S", being marked 8S, 10S and so on. They are sized with room for a little more bust and hip development than girls' sizes, and a little less than teen sizes. For example, a girl's size 10 measures 28 bust, 24 waist, 30 hips. A teen size 10 is 30-24-32. A sub-teen size 10 measures 29-24-32. The waist is shorter than a teen waist, longer than a girl's waist. In short, it's an in-between pattern for an in-between age.

An ideal sub-teen style now available in a standard pattern is a high-waisted jumper with a flared skirt and brief bolero, to be made in contrasting fabric. A good choice for fabric is plain color wool jersey for the jumper, and a striped or checked jersey for the bolero. Wool jersey now is available in many designs and textures—smooth, tweedy, nubby or brushed. It is wrinkle-resistant and long-wearing.

IN-BETWEENER—Flattering to the young figure is this jumper in gray wool jersey with striped jersey bolero. Made with a new standard sub-teen pattern.

Local sewing center experts offer tips on sewing with wool jersey. Be sure to check the weight of the jersey when you visit your local piece goods counter. Seven-ounce wool jersey is best for blouses. Eight or nine-ounce jersey is best for dresses, nine or 10-ounce weight for coats and suits. A heavy 18-ounce wool jersey also is available for bulky coats.

Wool jersey is woven in tubular form. The flat tube is 27 inches wide, and opens to a 54 inch width. When cutting a pattern, cut the wool jersey and open flat. Then use directions for laying out the pattern on a 54-inch piece of goods. Use the 54-inch yardage requirement, too.

When cutting the pattern, lay wool jersey flat (on the floor or dining table) to avoid all tension.

POOL TROUBLE

PALM SPRINGS, Calif.—This desert resort, which claims to be the world's swimming pool capital with one for every 12½ residents, has been having pool troubles. Examples:

A builder got a traffic citation for moving a used swimming pool down a main street, blocking motorists.

A burglar broke into a home via the pool, one of the type that are built half indoors and half out.

A householder reported his pool stolen. A 15-foot portable model, it had been lifted out of his back yard.

AUTOMATION

SHELBYVILLE, Ky.—Things were bad enough when a motorist was thrown from his car in a wreck near here. After he picked himself off the ground, however he couldn't find his car.

After a brief search, he called police, who finally found it behind a distant clump of bushes.

The first U. S. service stations were for charging batteries of electric machines.

An elephant will drink about 50 gallons of water a day.

This will insure your keeping your grain lines straight. Since wool jersey is a knit fabric, stay stitching around neckline and armholes is most important.

Test a sample seam before beginning to sew. Machine should be set for 12 stitches to the inch, with a medium-light tension. Press all seams as you go, to give a smooth finish. Use cotton tape to stay seams of necklines, armholes, facings and waist for good fit.

Skirt linings are recommended for wool jersey, to insure permanent good fit. Sanforized cotton, non-woven linings or taffeta may be used. Make identical alterations on both skirt and lining.

After completing the garment, let it hang for a day or two before hemming, to let all stretch hang out.

Mothers who are worried about cleaning bills can relax. New finishes make wool jersey fairly dirt resistant, so it should need cleaning only a couple of times a season. Select dark colors and patterns such as tweedy mixtures in greens, browns and blues for extra dirt resistance.

All sub-teens are anxious to outgrow their childhood, and move into the magic teen world. With new patterns, sized especially for them, and fabrics designed to fit into their active schedules, the in-between age blues, which are hard on both Mom and daughter, can be a thing of the past.

Bite Of Antique Bug Changes Everything

Sometime in her life a woman is likely to be bitten with the antique bug. She buys a little thing, perhaps a piece of old glass, pewter or a love seat, and bingo—she begins to dislike everything else in her home, particularly her furniture.

That is only the beginning. Even after she has attended a few auctions, visited some antique shops and read some books, she realizes that for all her interest, she is antique - ignorant. She doesn't really know one piece from another. How do the "experts" gain such knowledge?

Some study their subject objectively as others study architecture or engineering. Others trust to luck with the help of books and articles. The best informed may be fooled occasionally.

There are short-cuts to the knowledge for amateurs.

Certain details of a piece of furniture may give a cue to its origin. Pre-revolutionary chests and secretaries made in New York, for instance, reflect the Dutch influence—wider proportions than pieces made during the same period in New England.

"New England furniture gained much of its beauty from integrated design and slender proportions," says one of the country's leading antique dealers, Albert Sack, who displayed some interesting museum-like pieces at the recent International Antiques Exhibition, and Sale in New York.

Most furniture may even be pinned down to the city it was made in once you get the knack—city furniture is likely to be more pure of styling than that of provincial areas, Sack says. You may tell at a glance whether a chest comes from Boston or Newport just by examining the feet.

"Boston and Salem craftsmen used the swept back claw," declares Sack, "while Newport furniture has an elongated oval ball and sometimes, although seldom open claw feet. The New York claw and ball foot is square." The knee of a piece is often an indication of its source, also, this expert advises. The legs of a New England chair or table are likely to have a higher curve than those of a corresponding piece made in Philadelphia. Brass handles and drawer pulls reveal age or period, and carvings may be traced back to individual craftsmen. Other pieces show their own history. Inside some clocks you'll find the name of the maker and directions for setting them, drawn into the wood.

How To Vote Tuesday Is No. 1 American Problem

Tuesday is election day. What's more, some people think that it is possibly the most important day in the history of the United States, because its outcome might well change the history of the world's foremost nation. Unquestionably, the results from the voting Tuesday will be watched even more carefully abroad than at home.

Following months of propaganda, the American people—despite their education, degree of civilization and enlightened background—are generally confused. Some will vote for the sole purpose of lining their pockets with more money, better jobs and greater personal security; others will be motivated by such things as national peace, racial hatred and party loyalty. A few will even cast their ballot in what they consider to be national welfare of the nation.

Modern communications have unwittingly placed a tremendous responsibility upon the shoulders of the average voting American. In times past, party leaders and newspapers have sifted out facts, often biased, and have controlled huge blocs of voters. Today, however, the voter has at his back and call more information than ever before. He is required to weigh these things, and to assume his rightful role as a member of the world's greatest and most successful democracy.

We train our young men and young women in all ways of life, except "How to vote and why." No school course or set rules can cover the situation, because it is a matter of personal choice; otherwise, it would not be American democracy.

The one guiding bit of information which can best answer the questions of many Americans at this time is that which comes nearest to answering the question of "How to vote and why," the Preamble to our Constitution, which reads as follows:

"We the people of the United States in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

If the people of America will devote the same careful thought, sincerity, unselfishness, and Christian principles to voting next Tuesday as the writers of our Constitution exercised in 1788, we will certainly elect the "Right Man," whether his party affiliations be Democratic or Republican.

'May I Keep The Change?' Familiar Question To Most Modern Day Parents

The general thinking and reaction of its people in a large measure determines the future of a community or a nation. For this reason, it is interesting to watch the reaction of present day small fry at football games. Before the game gets well underway, the youngster wants a box of popcorn and almost invariably receives a 25-cent piece from the fond parent. Junior's universal response is: "May I keep the change?"

There are people, generally those who are not parents, who feel that the youngster should instead use the magic word, "Thank You"—and maybe they are right. On the other hand, it is in tribute of some sort of training in view of the fact that the little rascal even went to the trouble to ask about the change at all. It is also interesting to note that most of the small fry do say "May I" instead of "Can I," which definitely indicates that our teachers of grammar are finally putting across a few points. If our children are going to be spendthrifts, it is certainly much better for them to become paupers with the use of good English. This no one can deny.

There are several ways to look at the situation, of course. In the first place, you would no doubt be surprised at how many extra dimes the kids pick up in this manner. The approach unquestionably demonstrates initiative, along with the fundamentals of good timing and practical application so important in salesmanship. From this point of view, it should be safe to predict that the country will be literally flooded with vacuum cleaners and insurance policies in 1976, when these kids reach the selling age.

Also, it is well to remember that the breed of "seen but not heard" children of past generations would not likely have been taken to the football game in the first place. Add this to the fact that 25 cents in those days was known as "two bits" and had approximately 5-to-1 purchasing power in comparison with the present day "quarter," and you introduce an entirely new field for argument.

As you probably figured from the outset, we must hasten to attribute the situation to "changing times" which, in turn, have been brought about by the automobile age. Back in the horse and buggy era, the kids had enough time on their hands to sit around and wait until some philanthropic parent got the bright idea and asked if they would like to have a nickel or a dime. To compensate the situation, however, was the fact that they had old fashion cooking back then—and the children really didn't need the popcorn, candy bars and soft drinks to supplement their diet.

From the standpoint of psychology, there are a lot of other reasons why the reaction is good. If you still don't like it, then you can always blame your own mother and father! After all, one's ability as a parent is measured by the manner in which his grandchildren behave.

Besides, if you don't give Junior the 25 cents this way, he will get it through some other devious means of rapidly calculated guile. Like Frankenstein, the little monster is fast becoming the master—and you can rest assured that he will have a few problems of his own in 18 or 20 years, when you become the grandparent. Another thing, too, is that he cannot ask questions you can't answer so long as his face is buried in a box of popcorn.

Trash Troubles

A new trash collection system for downtown Hereford is now under discussion by the City Commission and, to borrow an old phrase, it's high time.

The present collection system in addition to being inefficient, is also expensive, difficult and inadequate. Debris, including papers from The Brand office, can be found blocks from their origin. No two trash containers are alike—and the job is made much more difficult for workmen who are forced to stand in boxes and dig the collection out with their hands.

We do not know what the City Dads have in mind, but it is a safe bet that it will be a definite improvement. In addition to long-run savings by a more modern system, it is also possible that present downtown trash containers are breeders of flies, mosquitos and other insects, all of which afford health hazards for the community.

Standard containers, along with a planned collection program and general cooperation from the merchants can do much to eliminate health and fire hazards. Certainly, the measure deserves every consideration.

Famed Brand, Ranch Papers, Given To Tech's Collection

TEXAS TECH GETS FAMOUS BRAND—Mrs. Floyce Masterson, widow of Tom Masterson, Jr., long-time director of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers, looks at the imprint of the famous JY brand from the iron applied by Dr. Seymour V. Connor, Texas Tech archivist. The brand and papers of the Masterson JY Ranch were given to Texas Tech for preservation by Mrs. Masterson. Both she and her husband were students at Tech in the mid-1930's where they first met. (AP Photo)

Lubbock (AP) — The famous old Texas "JY" brand and papers of the Masterson JY ranch have been given to Texas Tech in the final chapter of a love story that started on the campus here in the mid-30's.

The collection was given to the college by Mrs. Floyce Masterson, widow of Tom Masterson Jr. The couple met while attending the college in 1936.

Tom Jr. became the third generation Masterson to manage the ranch, which was founded by his grandfather, R. B. Masterson, in the 1880's.

It consisted of some 73,000 acres, 40,000 of which were leased through the years. The JY brand was perhaps best known for the Aberdeen - Angus stock raised on the ranch. Masterson made famous the Long S brand, too.

When Tom Masterson Jr., died in 1953, Mrs. Masterson was left alone to manage the sprawling ranch. Three years later, she decided to sell out to G. A. and Ed Lowrance of San Antonio. They bought the cattle, 40,000 acres of land and leased the rest.

"They bought everything but the JY brand," Mrs. Masterson said. "I wouldn't sell that. I wanted it and the records of the ranch to go to Texas Tech, where I met and fell in love with the first boy I saw on the campus."

Among the collection, most of which is still stored in a bank vault at Truscott, are the papers, records and a JY branding iron. The collection also includes the personal saddle and rig which belonged to Tom Masterson Jr., a pair of chaps, dutch ovens and other articles typical of ranch life.

The prize of the collection is the old JY branding iron, which has been retired. It is registered in King, Knox and adjoining counties. Mrs. Masterson plans to continue the registration so that it will never be used again.

Dr. Seymour V. Connor, Tech archivist, who accepted the gift on behalf of the college, says the collection strengthens Tech's claim to having the greatest collection of ranching history ever gathered in one place.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Foresee Ike Second Here, But A Victor Over Nation

Which party do you think will carry Deaf Smith County, the State of Texas and the nation? Would you express an "off-the-record" opinion on the way the voting will go?

Of the 36 qualified voters interviewed, the following scores were tabulated:

Democratic
Deaf Smith County	21
Texas	19
Nation	7
Republican
Deaf Smith County	14
Texas	16
Nation	29

One man rated county and state results as a "toss up." Specific opinions expressed were as follows:

"Many voters vote for the party instead of the man, therefore the Democrats will win in the county and state but not in the nation."

"For once, the people are going to vote for the man rather than the party, and not enough Democrats like Adlai personally for him to win."

"Eisenhower has a stronger personality and character than his opponent and people will veer to Ike because of that."

"The outcome of the election in Deaf Smith County and the State of Texas is a 'flip of the coin' situation, but whichever party wins won't do so by a narrow margin. People are keeping quiet, but the situation in the Near East may swing voters to the Democrats who say that Ike's bungling of world affairs has caused the present situation."

"Due to the present high farm prices and the world situation as it is, along with the Soil Bank benefits, the farmers who previously were avid Democrats are switching to the Republican Party."

"In this election, people are going to vote for the man and Ike is very, very popular."

"Most people seem to think that it is not a good idea to change presidents with the world situation what it is."

"The women voters and farmers will swing the election to Eisenhower."

"The nation will probably go Republican but I hope to heaven folks wake up and vote a sane Democratic ticket."

"People as a whole are happy with the present administration which is a far-cry from the policies of Harry S. Truman."

"For the last 40 years, people of Deaf Smith County have been voting Democratic and the county may follow its traditional voting trend."

"Too few people who swear that Eisenhower is the most tremendous president that the nation has ever had can offer really constructive accomplishments of his administration. Just because the national situations have 'held their own' for the past four years is little argument that the nation, as a whole, has actually moved forward. Certainly, the United States has not improved in the estimation of our foreign friends in this period of conciliatory action."

"Through biased reporting, newspapers have kept us in the dark on so many things that it is hard to tell what is actually going on. With the Democrats voiceless in so many of the newspapers it is just about impossible to determine how they are actually doing. It's hard for a man to get his argument across when the people see only the rebuttal to that argument. Take Stevenson's proposals on the draft and the H-Bomb: They were given as common sense proposals for future national planning, but in the press they were so distorted that Ike's rebuttal gained the headlines and his suggestions 'as to what we really should do' were a lot closer to his opponent's suggestions that anything else that appeared in many newspapers' stories."

EXPERIMENT FARM NEAR OLTON

Site of the regional Texas Research Foundation experiment farm and station has been designated as nine miles east of Olton at the outskirts of Halfway. I. B. (Doc) Holt and D. M. Granbery have been named members of the foundation regional council. Announcement of the station site was made Saturday afternoon at a meeting in Plainview. The independent, long-range research program which the High Plains branch will carry out will serve 19 counties, with work planned on grain sorghum, soy beans, corn, and other crops economically practical for this area. The farm will be located on a half section of land at the southeast edge of Halfway, with its north boundary along US Highway 70. The land was formerly part of the R. L. Hooper farm. Total estimated cost of the project is $550,000 for five years.—THE OLTON ENTERPRISE.

VOTE ON HOSPITAL BONDS

A special county-wide bond election is slated for next Tuesday in Lipscomb County when voters will be asked to pass on a proposed $200,000 bond issue for a county hospital to be built at Durrouzett. At issue in the election is the proposition to finance construction of a county hospital. Plans call for a hospital with eight patient rooms providing for 15-bed capacity, plus surgery, laboratory, and clinic.—THE CANADIAN RECORD.

REPORT COTTON IS HALF GINNED

Although a ginning report has not been tabulated this week in Floyd County, either officially or unofficially so far as the Hesperian is informed, there seems to be general agreement on one point, namely that the halfway mark has been reached approximately in the cotton harvest season. Cottonseed gin price to the farmer this week is $60 per ton. On other marketing fronts, particularly cabbage, carrots and tomatoes, markets are looking up. Cabbage men say the price is such that they will show some profit. Good cabbage crops run from 10 to 15 tons per acre. The market at the moment is $20 per ton. Tomato men say their market has "looked" up in the last few days and they have a chance to show a profit yet, since huge quantities are still in the fields.—THE FLOYD COUNTY HESPERIAN.

Seniority Major Issue In Choice Of New Senator

By TEX EASLEY

Washington, Nov. 1 (AP) — Involved in the controversy over calling of a special election to choose a successor to Price Daniel in the Senate is the very important matter of seniority.

After he won the Democratic nomination for governor, Daniel submitted his resignation as senator to Gov. Allan Shivers effective Jan. 15, or such earlier date as a successor may be elected.

Shivers has indicated he would not call a special election, declining to do so on the ground that no vacancy exists.

Daniel has cited the so-called "Garner Act" to support his position that the governor is authorized to call a special election in anticipation of a vacancy.

That act was passed by the state legislature to permit election of a successor to John Nance Garner as a member of the U. S. House while he still served in that body. He had submitted his resignation from Congress effective March 4, 1933, on which date he was sworn in as Vice President. It was a general statute and still is on the books.

Should Texas not have a new man ready to take office when Congress convenes Jan. 3, those other newcomers who will be here taking the oath for the first time automatically will go ahead of the next junior senator from the Lone Star State.

And, though that may seem unimportant now, it could mean much to Texas in the years to come. Seniority largely determines committee assignments and, even more important, almost invariably determines committee chairmanship.

The importance and influence of a committee chairmanship, especially in regard to key committees, can hardly be overestimated. Over the years, when Democrats have controlled Congress, Texans have held their share and more of these top legislative posts. There have been occasions when Texans retiring from Congress have quit before normal expiration of their terms so their successors could take over sooner, gaining seniority over the next crop of freshmen lawmakers.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his blindwood farm may have an idea this week, but you never can tell.

Dear editor:

Everybody who can remember from one campaign promise to another has just about given up hope of ever getting a cut in taxes, so as resourceful Americans the only thing that's left to do is figure out more ways to charge up more things to expense, to whittle down on your income tax.

Consequently I was very pleased to read in a copy of a newspaper which a campaign worker left here last week while he was urging me to go to the polls and vote, which is the only reason I can think of going there in the first place, that a candidate running for office up in New York has come out for a plan to allow people to charge up as expense against their income tax the cost of traveling back and forth to get to work, or commuting, as they call it up there.

According to him, big business is allowed to charge up all sorts of expense items, such as entertaining, hauling customers around, attending conventions, etc., and the average person ought to be allowed to charge up the cost of getting to and from work.

This is a fine idea and I hope you throw your influence behind it, if you haven't misplaced it.

For example, say a man lives five miles from his work, which a lot of farmers will be doing if farming doesn't improve and they can swing a job in town, he ought to be allowed to charge up the cost of traveling back and forth as a legitimate expense on his income tax.

Or take me. Now I don't plan on getting a job in town because the farming situation may be bad, the farming situation has been bad most of my life but not bad enough to drive me to a job in town where somebody else is boss, but there's some traveling to and from work on a farm. For example, say I'm starting out to dig some post holes. Anybody who has ever dug post holes by hand knows it takes considerable psychological build-up to tackle the job, sometimes requiring a fishing trip just to strengthen your nerve.

If a man travels fifteen or twenty miles and fishes a while to improve his frame of mind before setting in to build a fence, what's different in that from riding a commuter's train out of the hurly-burly of New York in the late afternoon to your home in the country so your nerves can recuperate over night for the battle in the city the next day?

This sounds like a good law to me and I hope you'll dig out your influence and help get it passed. Clean off your desk and see if you can't find it somewhere around there.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Basic Pattern Saves Fitting

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Women who sew know that fitting is the most important single factor in making a dress. But pattern alterations, endless dressing and undressing for tryons, pinning, basting, stitching, ripping and re-stitching can be discouraging for even an experienced home seamstress.

Local sewing center experts have come up with an idea to speed up dressmaking and cut down fitting time. This is a new basic pattern developed by a pattern company, designed to be made up in muslin and used as a basis for any number of variations. The lines of the pattern are lines of a basic dress including set-in long sleeves, straight skirt, fitted bodice with waistline seam and round neckline. Using explicit directions for alterations given in the pattern envelope, the home dressmaker achieves a basic dress of perfect fit, and alters all her patterns according to the alterations made on this dress.

Complete directions are given for such fitting problems as too-long or too-short waistline, sleeves and skirt. Also given are instructions for adjusting pattern to fit narrow shoulders, wide back, the rounded back or large bust. Clear diagrams show how to make alterations right on the printed pattern.

In addition to these adjustments to be made on a dress with standard lines, a sheet is included for alterations on dresses of unusual cut. For example, the seamstress might admire the lines of a dress with a surplice front or kimono bodice, but hesitate to try to make such a dress because of the intricate alterations involved. Clear diagrams show how to make these alterations without disturbing the style line.

Once the basic dress is made, the home seamstress is assured of perfect fit in all her garments. Comparison of a pattern piece with the basic dress will show necessary adjustments at a glance. Alterations may be made right on the pattern piece, and the dress will be cut to the right size before stitching begins.

Since the patterns made by all pattern companies are now using the same measurements, this basic fitting dress may be used with any pattern. But don't forget the basic steps in fitting a pattern: press the pattern pieces with a warm iron, pin in all darts and gathers, pin sections together along seam lines. Then compare with basic fitting pattern and make adjustments.

DRESSMAKING SHORTCUT — Wearing the basic fitting pattern, this home seamstress tries on a pattern piece. Waistline has been lengthened by cutting bodice apart on alteration lines and pinning in a separate piece of pattern. Bustline dart is pinned in and soft pencil used to indicate adjustment on the waistline.

For women who lack the storage space for a dress form, this basic dress will be a wonderful time-and-space saver.

Holiday Wifesaving Tips

NO DISHWASHING NEEDED—Storing leftovers on paper plates cuts down dishwashing time during holiday season.

AP Newsfeatures
Holidays are fun, but they're hard on Mom.

The dishes that pile up after Thanksgiving dinner, pre-Christmas parties and the snacks of the young fry home for the holidays can keep Mom with her hands in the sink from morning to night, unless some smart advance planning is done.

As any homemaker knows, snack and icebox leftovers can dirty up more dishes than a regular meal. And so many have found that a supply of paper plates and containers lightens the dishwashing load amazingly.

If leftovers are stored in paper containers or on paper plates, there is no dishwashing to do after the refrigerator is raided. Paper plates also come in handy for chopping vegetables, fruits and nuts for hol-day meals, for catching the drip from stirring spoons, for dozens of kitchen chores which otherwise would result in a sink full of dirty dishes.

And it's a wise mother who trains her children to reach for a paper plate instead of a china one when they rush to the kitchen for after-school snacks.

Formal Names More Popular For Teen Set

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures

Formal names are coming back quicker than you can say Rumpelstiltskin.

Diminutives are for the birds, say chic young moderns. And girls wearing boys names these days just aren't on the beam says a girl who has just assumed her christening name of Jacqueline, and dropped her nickname "Jackie" for good. She says:

"We had a variety of boys' names in our crowd until recently. There was a girl named Bill, another called Jeff and one named Charlie. But they've all bought new stationery. Now they're Wilhelmens, Mary, Kathleen.

Although the formal name is a trend even with boys these days, this particular group was brought back to collective femininity by a young man named Bill who was lating the Bill of the girl group. Lady Bill hadn't heard from just plain male Bill for a couple of weeks, and wondered what had happened when along came old debbil rumor: Bill was disgusted with the idea of dating a girl who had a boy's name, especially his. He said, the grapevine told:

"Imagine marrying a girl with your same first name. It would be confusing on the birth certificates of your children, to say nothing of the post office, bill collectors and even new friends. I'm against the whole idea."

Other unusual names that are being shelved include: Coco, Candy, Honey and Sherry. These girls are likely to choose Hortense, Cynthia, Anastasia, Deborah or Pamela.

Names frequently reflect the eras of their origin. The current one seems to reflect titles of historic novels, television characters and maybe even short story heroines that run in cycles.

Back in the gay nineties, the era

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

RANGE GRASS SEEN AS '57 BONANZA HARVEST

By JIM WIMAN

Where will we get the grass seed to plant the acres placed in the conservation reserve phase of the soil bank? This question is being asked over and over and nobody can give the answer. A more than normal supply of seed is in the warehouses of the usual grass seed supply firms but not nearly enough to plant all the acres that are suddenly going back to grass. Seed firms, generally, are reluctant to quote a price on their seed in the face of such a demand.

Local Solution
So far as we're concerned locally the situation could, with a little planning, work itself out very nicely. Most of the land going back to grass in the Tierra Blanca Soil Conservation District will be planted to a mixture with the chief grass being blue grama. Blue Grama is the grass we already have so much of on our native pastures in this part of the country. It makes seed every time it gets a chance and the seed are not difficult to harvest.

Assuming we get some winter moisture and a reasonable amount of rain in the spring, these native pastures could easily make more money for the owners from one seed harvest than they have made in the last 10 years from grazing. A man with a native pasture who also has land to plant to grass could assure himself a seed supply by harvesting his own.

Price and Yields
The last price we saw quoted on blue grama grass seed was 50 cents per pound. A reasonable harvest would be 100 pounds per acre while yields up to 300 pounds have been made. It seems it wouldn't even be a bad idea for a man with an irrigation well and some native pasture to give the pasture some extra water and care and take a seed harvest.

Seed harvested next summer would come just right to meet the peak demand. There won't be a lot of grass planted in the spring of '57 since grass must be planted as is left by sorghum or sudan. Next year will, for the most part, be used to get that cover. The Boys names — Peter, William, George, Charles, Joseph, Edward, Mark, Luke and Francis — are to be heard on any sand lot these days. One parent says he named his boy Mark because "it'll be difficult to find a diminutive for it," besides the fact he likes the name.

"High Society" Cast Features Top Stars

HIGH SOCIETY
An excellent comedy-with-songs for the entire family shows Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Star Theatre. "High Society" with top favorites heading the cast, plus Cole Porter music should make one of the season's top favorites.

Bing Crosby, Grace Kelly, Celeste Holm, Frank Sinatra and John Lund are among the stars in the picture.
Newport, R. I., last citadel of America's dwindling millionaires, offered an eye-filling setting for the laugh-loaded story of Tracy Samantha Lord, young and beautiful socialite who has shed one husband because she has no regard for human frailty and who is about to take on another. Bing Crosby plays the amiable playboy and amateur song-writer whom she has divorced. John Lund is the stuffy, self-made success whom Tracy picks up for Husband Number Two.

Unfortunately, no one agrees with her choice and everyone, including philandering Papa, forgiving Mama, gay-blade Uncle Willie and conniving younger sister Caroline, puts obstacles in Tracy's path. But it takes Frank Sinatra, as a snooping reporter from Spy Magazine, and Celeste Holm, his photographer, to clinch the deal.

THE POWER AND THE PRIZE
The first feature in black-and-white CinemaScope to reach release is a compelling drama dealing with international big business and with displaced Europeans. Robert Taylor is the Star in "The Power and the Prize," showing Wednesday and Thursday at the Star Theatre.

Elisabeth Mueller, Continental actress is cast in her first American film as a refugee from a concentration camp who is now running a displaced artists bureau. Based on a book by Howard Swiggett, the "power" of the title refers to Burl Ives, playing a ruthless American metals magnate, while the "prize" is the beautiful refugee widow who makes a young American executive change his unethical business tactics.

The cast is studded with fine character players, including Burl Ives, who is a shrewd and massive figure as the president of Allied Metals; Sir Cedric Hardwicke, as a British businessman; Mary Astor, who has several good scenes, and Charles Coburn, in a shadowy part.

Plainview Writer Joins Staff Of State Department

Around the Capital
A former Texas newspaper reporter works in the nerve center of the State Department's vast news gathering and distribution organization.

He is Julius W. Walker Jr., 29 formerly of Plainview and a member of the staff of the Waco News-Tribune until last January. His wife, incidentally, is secretary to Rep. George Mahon. She is the former Savannah Tunnell of Tahoka and Lubbock.

Walker was handling general assignments on the Waco paper last year when, among other tasks for the day, he wrote up the forthcoming visit to Waco of a State Department agent who would in interview persons desiring jobs in the foreign service. When the agent came to town, Walker lost no time in seeing him. Walker soon was a government employee.

He came to Washington for an indoctrination course before going abroad. Shortly after his arrival he called on his hometown (Plainview) congressman; he was received by the then Miss Tunnell, Mahon's receptionist - secretary. A few weeks after that initial meeting, the two were married.

In view of his altered domestic status, Walker decided not to go immediately into foreign service. Choosing an alternate course, he is to spend about a year more here before going overseas. Because of his past experience, he was assigned to help in the operation of the news network the State Department maintains with U. S. diplomatic centers around the globe.

He succeeded a fellow Texan, incidentally, who having spent several months here was assigned to Lahore, Pakistan. Robert P. Smith, formerly of Bolton and Fort Worth, and a TCU graduate, is the other man. Smith's wife, the former Irene Rountree, once worked for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Recent visitors here included Mrs. Erin McAskill, postmaster at Edinburg and president of the Texas Postmasters Assn., who stopped in the Capital after attending a postmasters convention in New York. She was accompanied East by Mrs. H. E. Tewell of Edinburg.

Hailing from the No. 1 oil-producing state, Texans were foremost in numbers among witnesses testifying at the recent hearing by the Office of Defense Mobilization (ODM) on proposals to curtail the shipment of foreign oil into this country.

The outcome of the hearing will not be known for some time. Under existing law the president may order a curb on imports if the ODM director finds that they have been hurting domestic producers to the extent of impairing the ability of the domestic industry to meet the nation's oil needs in time of emergencies.

Two Texas congressmen who happened to be in town at the time were among those pleading for a cutback in imports — Reps. Frank Ikard of Wichita Falls and Walter Rogers of Pampa.

The Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Assn. (TI-PRO) had its top officials on hand to join in the plea — A. E. Herrmann, Amarillo, president; W. E. Turner, Austin, vice president; L. A. Douglas, San Antonio, a director.

Robert L. Wood of Midland spoke as president of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America; J. R. Butler of Houston and J. P. Coleman of Wichita Falls, as directors of the IPAA.

P. W. Pitzer Jr., president of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Assn., was on hand representing 1,900 independent operators. John W. Crutchfield, Corpus Christi consulting petroleum engineer, spoke on behalf of a group of independent producers and refiners located in southwest Texas.

ATTENTION GIRLS
NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Vanderbilt University now has three male students for each co-ed. "It won't be long," remarked Vice Chancellor Madison Saratt, "until we can promise every girl who comes to Vanderbilt not only a diploma — but a husband!"

OH, DEAR
DES MOINES — The Iowa Conservation Commission says in the summary of regulations on the back of the new state deer hunting licenses: "Dear of any age or sex may be taken..."
