Event may signal more pesticide woes

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

If Thursday's public hearing in Lubbock is any indication, the Texas Department of Agriculture's proposed pesticide safety regulations may be causing yet another rift between farm owners and the migrants who work on their land.

Testimony from Hispanics who claimed their families have suffered the ill effects of chemically-treated fields was interspersed with statements from farmers and farm organization leaders. They maintained during the six-and-a-half hour meeting that the new regulations would increase production and thus food costs, forcing farmers out of business and opening them up to liability lawsuits.

Out in the hall, two farmers who asked not to be identified said that after two hours of testimony they had not heard anything that changed their minds.

"All we need is enforcement and education," claimed a landowner from Plainview. "We already have the Texas Herbicide Law. With all the money they've spent on these new regulations, they could have educated the people about the ones we have. I think these hearings are an exercise in futility."

The Plains farmers sitting next to him agreed, saying he is most worried about the potential for lawsuits. "That's where the farmer is going to be hit with more expense. The applicators will take out more liability insurance, and we will have to pay for it."

Those testifying in favor of the regulations, announced Oct. 19 after a year-long study, included health care workers, a Catholic deacon and church publications editor and a victim of pesticide poisoning who made his way to the stage on crutches.

Gary Graham, a former deputy sheriff and emergency medical technician from Sherman County, told the estimated crowd of 700 that he suffered brain and nerve damage and loss of motor skills after he helped rescue two victims of a crashed crop dusting plane.

"Lack of adequate regulations has cost my family more than $152,000" he told the gathering. "My concern is that it doesn't cost you, or anybody else."

Leroy Behnke, who introduced himself as a "permanent deacon" in the Amarillo and Lubbock area and editor of a Catholic newspaper, explained that pesticide regulation was to him a moral issue.

"Farm owners and laborers are at odds in this issue," he claimed. "Both sides need to settle down."

Behnke said the pesticide issue is just like any other in that moral principles "must be given the highest priority."

Contrasting the family farmer, who "might be inconvenienced," with the farm worker, who "might be incapacitated," Behnke said it boils down to a matter of "hassle versus health."

Referring to Graham as "a genuine hero," the ecumenical leader said he was "embarrassed to be a part of this group that wouldn't applaud that man."

Behnke also mentioned Monday's decision by the Deaf Smith County Commissioners to ban the use of 2,4-D during the cotton growing season.

"Nobody seems to be upset about that," he claimed. "And that was cotton that was hurt. But try to pass a law that protects people and everybody gets upset."

State Sen. Bill Sarpalius testified shortly after the 2 p.m. meeting got underway, stating his position that the regulations "have probably gone too far."

Sarpalius said the prior notification clause will be difficult to enforce. "If I were a farmer and wanted my neighbor's farm, what would keep me from tearing up the postcard and then suing him?" Sarpalius suggested.

The Democratic senator from Canyon claimed the matter should have been dealt with in the Texas Legislature. "I don't believe it is the intent of the constitution to allow any agency, or a commissioner to make the laws."

Sarpalius later added that he did not make his appearance "to totally criticize the agriculture commissioner (Jim Hightower)." He said he and Hightower have worked together on several causes that would benefit the farmer.

Lubbock area farmer and agribusinessman Randall Conner, discounting claims that farmers are not concerned with the safety hazards pesticides pose, said, "No group in Texas is more interested in the safe use of pesticides than the farmer himself. He is closest to them. The farmer cannot afford to misuse chemicals."

Conner claimed farmers "are look-

Received More Than $43,000

At the 19th annual Founders' Day program Thursday night, it was revealed King's Manor Methodist Home has received $43,188 this year.

Donations to King's Manor announced

By REED PARSELL

Announcement of donations and a pictorial visit to China highlighted the 19th annual Founders' Day program of King's Manor Methodist Home, Inc.

Around 300 people gathered in the Lamar Guest Room Thursday night for the yearly King's Manor dinner and business meeting. Presenting a slide show on The People's Republic of China was William P. Wright Jr., an Abilene businessman.

Donald Hicks, outgoing president of King's Manor, proclaimed $43,188 had been given this year to help support the facility for elderly citizens. Of that total, nearly $15,000 was collected at the annual barbecue.

Last year, slightly less than $42,000

Thursday evening at annual dinner in donations were accumulated. About $33,000 was collected in 1982.

According to Hicks, the barbecue raised around $5,000 when it debuted five years ago.

"Why are we here tonight?" asked master of ceremonies Earnest Langley shortly after the festivities began. "Because we feel a sense of love and affection for those who live here."

Prior to Wright's presentation, gospel numbers were sung by the Summerfield Quartet. Lynton Allred, an old friend of Wright's, then introduced the guest speaker.

"He has always been a community-minded person and always one to put the needs of others first," Allred said about Wright. "He has become enthusiastic with everything he has ever seen and everything he has ever done." His interest in photography began a few years ago, Allred claimed.

Wright then explained his wife Alice had taken many of the photographs to appear on the slide show. The couple and son Mitchell travelled to the Orient in August of 1983. Mr. Wright performed research on Red Crown Cranes for the Chinese government and International Crane Foundation.

For a long time prior to a law change seven years ago, the Chinese government supported a "war on birds," as it was felt they ate too much grain, Wright said. The Red Crown population dropped to 33, he stated, but through preservation efforts that number has increased now to around 1,000.

The half-hour slide show included shots of rural China, its capital city of Peking and of Hong Kong, which in 1997 is to drop its affiliation with Great Britain and fall under Chinese rule.

Meanwhile, King's Manor officers for 1985 were decided Thursday. Bartley Dowell is to replace Hicks as president while Virgil Walker is to be succeeded by Bob Armitage as vice president. Bobby Boyd is to have his secretary-treasurer seat filled by B.F. Cain.

Legal aid investigator visits gathering

By SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

A brief discussion with a TRLA investigator, formal election of new directors, and reports on various committee projects highlighted a regular monthly meeting Thursday of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce board.

Wendell Wyly, a staff attorney and investigator for Legal Services Corp., Washington, D.C., was introduced to board members by Bobby Owen, president. Wyly made a brief statement concerning his visit to Hereford and answered questions posed by several directors.

Wyly explained that the local Texas Rural Legal Aid office had priorities on the cases it handled and one of his determinations would be to see if those are being followed. He said he would report his findings to the LSC board in Washington and a report would be issued on those findings.

Owen said more than 3,000 signatures were signed to petitions here asking for an investigation into the activities of the TRLA office. He also told directors that Rep. Kent Hance helped arrange the visit by the investigator, and that Hance and State Sen. Bill Sarpalius had representatives in Hereford for the hearings.

In other business, directors were informed about plans for the Nov.

29th Fun Breakfast, a check and shoplifting seminar on Nov. 27, and the annual chamber banquet to be held in January. Directors also approved the election of Mike Bowles, Terry Bromlow, Bill Harris and Doug Manning as new directors. The four were selected in a mail-ballot election by members.

Arvilla Lauderback, Women's Division president, reported that plans are underway for the annual visit by Santa Claus and turning on of holiday city lights on Dec. 3. Santa and Mrs. Claus, assisted by Boy Scouts, will distribute candy to the kids in the Christmas lighting ceremony on the courthouse square on Monday night, Dec. 3.

The Women's Division is also making plans for the annual Christmas Lighting Contest for homes and businesses.

Owen announced that new officers for the chamber will be elected at the December meeting of the board. Carr briefly discussed plans for a leadership program next year to recruit civic leaders.

Property of commission to be sold

By REED PARSELL

Property on which the recently-defaulted Hereford Cattle Commission operated is to be auctioned off Tuesday, Dec. 4 at Deaf Smith County Courthouse.

Notice of the trustee's sale was posted earlier this week by Carole Byers, substitute trustee for Hi-Plains Savings and Loan Association.

According to David Ruland, Deaf Smith County clerk, the loan HCC had with Hi-Plains was for $1.2 million. The financial institution would not comment if or how much money is due or how many months delinquent HCC is in paying the premises.

Hi-Plains takes over by default

There are other possible explanations for Hi-Plains assuming ownership of the property, Ruland explained this morning. The fear of insolvency, he said, is one of 17 or more stipulations listed on the trust agreement.

Ruland explained Hi-Plains does not need to yet give the exact time of the auction. The trustee's sale notice states bids are to be sought between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The cattle commission was shut down voluntarily on Tuesday of last week by its five owners. Operations of the year-and-a-half-old company were halted so a financial investigation could be made by the Packers and Stockyards Association of Fort Worth.

A marketing specialist with PSA, Bill Butler, last week told the Associated Press an audit is to be made. Its purpose is to determine why money is missing from custodial accounts set up for deposits and withdrawals made by both buyers and sellers.

The problem reportedly surfaced

Waterfowlers helped Thursday

When the count is finished, the Texas Waterfowlers Association will probably be at least $6,000 richer as a result of Thursday night's dinner and auction.

Spokesman Jim Steiert said about 105 persons attended the annual fund-raising event and proceeds were at least $1,000 above last year's donations.

Jimmy Rowton, Keith Bratcher, Ed Coplen and Tanya Klueskens won door prizes; the men received guns and Klueskens a video cassette recorder.

The association will lease additional waterfowl wintering habitat in Castro County with a portion of the proceeds, Steiert said this morning.

Police look into two vandalisms

Police investigated two incidents of vandalism Thursday at Bowling's Bowl, 110 N. 25 Mile Ave., with one of them valued at $320.

Melissa Brewer, Rt. 1, said the passenger-side window of her 1980 Ford was broken sometime between 6:16 and 8:23 p.m. A box containing 24 cassette tapes was subsequently taken out of the car.

The other vandalism occurring outside the bowling alley involved another broken passenger-side window and was valued at $60.

Also Thursday, police looked into one case apiece of burglary, harassment, theft and trespassing. Four arrests were made, including one each for driving while intoxicated and drunk in control of a motor vehicle.

THURSDAY'S HIGH: 57 (normal: 58 record: 82 (1966))

OVERNIGHT LOW: 33 (normal: 31 record: 11 (1955))

OUTLOOK: Partly cloudy tonight with a 20 percent chance of showers. The low is to be in the upper 30s and winds are expected to be 5 to 15 miles per hour from the south. Saturday should have a 20 percent chance of precipitation, a high in the middle 50s and southwesterly winds of 10 to 20 miles per hour.

Six life sentences handed out

DALLAS (AP) — A chapter in the violent odyssey of Abdelkrim Belachheb, who shot six people to death in a swank Dallas nightclub, has ended with a maximum sentence of six consecutive life terms.

Jurors Thursday also sentenced Belachheb to 20 years in prison for attempted murder and assessed fines of $70,000 — $10,000 on each of seven charges stemming from the worst multiple slaying in Dallas history.

The panel rejected the insanity plea of the man prosecutors called "the epitome of cunning, conniving, vile, vicious, self-centered, cold-blooded humanity."

They deliberated just over six hours before convicting him of gunning down seven bar patrons, one of whom survived, after a woman spurned his advances at the club last summer. Punishment deliberations took another hour, and the Moroccan native was swiftly sent to the Texas Department of Corrections.

Reaction to the verdict was swift and intense.

The widow and sister of two of the murder victims wept in each other's arms in the hallway outside the packed courtroom.

Annual 'snowbird' arrival eyed

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — The annual migration to the Rio Grande Valley of elderly "snowbirds" is under way and one expert predicted that within a decade these Winter Texans will outnumber permanent residents in a significant number of South Texas towns.

Elderly visitors already outnumber full-time residents in Pharr, Mission and La Feria during the winter months, said Dr. Carl Rush, an economics researcher at Pan American University who conducts an annual survey of winter tourists.

Rush said the increase will place a strain on municipal services and public officials should begin planning to meet the demand.

Many of those who formerly stayed only during the winter months are now opting for permanent retirement in South Texas, causing a rise in the number of relatively affluent, elderly full-time residents in communities between Brownsville and Mission, he said.

Last winter, 42 percent of all the visitors came from Iowa, Minnesota, Illinois and Missouri, Rush said.

Sunken ship finds to be secret

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge has ruled the owner of a drilling vessel that sank last year, killing its crew of 81, is not obligated now to reveal the findings of its in-house task force.

U.S. District Judge Norman Black said Thursday that Global Marine Inc. can legitimately consider the group's opinions and records "work product," meaning they are private.

But he said he may reclassify them as the case develops.

About 40 families of crew members killed when the Glomar Java Sea sank during an Oct. 25, 1983, typhoon, have sued the ship's Houston-based owner for more than $100 million, claiming the firm was negligent.

But Global Marine has asked Black to limit its financial liability to $1.4 million, the worth of the vessel as it lies on the floor of the South China Sea between China and Vietnam.

The judge pointed out that he can clear Global Marine of any financial responsibility, grant a limitation on the liability or refuse to set a limit on damage claims.

"Three choices," Black said. "Exoneration, limitation or sock it to 'em."

General downplays estimates

NEW YORK (AP) — Retired Gen. William Westmoreland, testifying in his libel lawsuit against CBS, said enemy troop strength estimates during the Vietnam War were of little use to him — an assertion his lawyers hoped to buttress by calling arms control expert Paul Nitze to the stand.

The troop strength estimates are at the heart of Westmoreland's $120 million suit over a 1982 CBS broadcast. Nitze, a deputy secretary of defense from 1967 to 1969, was expected to agree with Westmoreland in testimony today.

Westmoreland charges the network libeled him by asserting that he conspired in 1967 to mislead Washington by suppressing reports of increased enemy strength in an effort to make the war appear winnable.

Westmoreland, testifying Thursday for the first time, said the "order of battle" report listing the strength and disposition of hostile forces in Vietnam "was available in my office, but I don't recall ever having an occasion to refer to it."

Baby Fae dies Thursday night

LOMA LINDA, Calif. (AP) — Baby Fae, who made medical history and generated ethical questions as she fought for life for three weeks with the heart of a baboon beating in her tiny chest, died after her kidneys began to fail. She was barely a month old.

The 5-pound infant, born with a fatally deformed heart, outlived by more than two weeks any of the four adults who had undergone animal transplants and lived longer with the transplanted heart than she had with her own.

"Baby Fae died at 9 p.m.," Ed Wines, vice president for public relations and development for Loma Linda University Medical Center, said Thursday night, reading from a doctors' statement.

Her parents, who kept the identity of their daughter secret throughout the three weeks of intense publicity that surrounded the surgery and forced them into counseling, were consoled by doctors and clergy after their daughter died, Wines said.

Baby Fae had been in serious but stable condition Thursday, but her kidney function deteriorated and around 7 p.m. she required dialysis, Wines said.

Nicaragua has Soviet helicopters

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — A Sandinista official confirmed that Nicaragua has obtained Soviet-made Mi-24 combat helicopters and says they will be deployed against U.S.-backed rebels fighting to overthrow the government.

Jaime Wheelock, minister of agriculture and a military colonel, was the first Nicaraguan official to acknowledge the presence of the Mi-24 — a fast-flying, heavily armed type of chopper that the Soviets have used extensively against insurgents in Afghanistan.

"These helicopters will serve to mobilize our troops better and to attack the counterrevolutionary airplanes," Wheelock told reporters Thursday during a tour of the northern provinces of Matagalpa and Jinotega.

The Sandinistas have long been concerned about planes that deliver supplies to rebels fighting in the mountainous northern region of Nicaragua.

Officials of the leftist Sandinista government previously had refused to answer directly when asked whether Mi-24s were in Nicaragua. Sources in Managua had said a Soviet ship that arrived last week in the port of Corinto may have brought a shipment of the helicopters.

Deficit considered

By LAWRENCE KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Budget director David Stockman is giving President Reagan a set of hard options for cutting looming federal deficits amidst administration pessimism about balanced budgets before the 1990s.

Ed Dale, spokesman for the Office of Management and Budget, said that during a 2½-hour Cabinet meeting Thursday afternoon, Stockman outlined three or four different ways in which the deficit might be cut.

Stockman's goal was to let Reagan and his Cabinet officers know "the kind of pain that would be involved in the various ways of reaching a much lower deficit," Dale said.

Neither White House spokesman Larry Speakes nor Dale would give specific details about the Stockman options.

But Dale said one option would be based on cutting the deficit without cutting defense spending or Social Security while another might involve cutting the deficit by lowering Pentagon outlays.

Dale said he did not know whether one of the illustrative options involved Social Security cuts, a path Reagan has pledged not to follow.

Speakes said the budget talks included various proposals aimed at bringing the federal budget into near balance but not until "the early 1990s."

Dale said in an interview that while there was talk among various Cabinet members about a freeze on spending or a requirement for across-the-board spending cuts, he did not believe those approaches would win out.

Some Cabinet members were intrigued by the idea of a spending freeze, but Dale said that would be hard to implement because there are items such as defense spending that will go up next year based on already-projected spending.

He said Social Security cost-of-living increases also are a form of a built-in spending increase.

"A freeze is a concept that sounds attractive but the more you look at it in detail the more complicated it becomes," said Dale. "I have never heard it discussed here as an option."

He also said he had not heard OMB officials seriously considering the idea of across-the-board cuts in all government programs.

According to Dale, these are the economic assumptions underlying the budget: 5.7 percent unemployment by the end of the decade; 4.7 percent inflation next year and 3.5 percent in 1989; 5 percent short-term interest rates by the end of the decade, and 4 percent growth for the next four years.

The Washington Post, meanwhile, reported in today's editions that Treasury Secretary Donald Regan warned the Cabinet that the economy is slowing down and blamed the Federal Reserve Board for imposing too tight restrictions on money and credit.

The newspaper quoted an unidentified administration official as saying "there's some concern that the economic slowdown may continue. Some people are up in arms around here" about slow growth of the money supply.

Congress, Reagan told

Business leaders want no tax increase

By JIM LUTHER AP Tax Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the nation's top business leaders and other conservatives are sending an unvarnished message to President Reagan and the new Congress: Neither the federal deficit nor tax simplification should be used as an excuse to raise taxes.

A newly formed coalition of two dozen organizations said there is a real chance government leaders will insist on another tax increase next year to cut the deficit, which is projected to hit a record $205 billion next year. Too, they said, there is concern that voter demand for a simpler tax system will be used as an excuse for raising taxes.

"This coalition will not permit a disguised tax increase to slip by unnoticed during the tax-reform process," J.W. Marriott Jr., chief executive of the Marriott Corp. and head of the Citizen's Choice lobbying group, told a news conference Thursday. "If such an effort materializes, we will make sure the American people know; and we all know where the majority of them will stand when confronted by a possible tax increase."

Richard Leshner, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said the people voiced their sentiments on higher taxes when they re-elected President Reagan on Nov. 6. "Continued economic growth combined with spending restraint can and will bring down projected deficits," Leshner said.

But J. Peter Grace, who is heading the new coalition, known as the Tax Reform Working Group, said holding down the growth of spending is not enough. "We've got to cut federal spending, not just reduce the rate of growth but make actual cuts," said Grace, chief of W.R. Grace & Co. and former head of a Reagan administration study group that proposed savings estimated at $108 billion a year.

"Under no conditions" should any tax increase be permitted until that panel's 2,478 recommendations are reviewed by Congress, Grace said.

The coalition is zeroing in on what is likely to be the dominant issue in Congress next year.

There is considerable sentiment among lawmakers and non-government economists that the deficit cannot be controlled without raising taxes. On the other hand, Reagan insists that economic growth and further spending restraint will do the job without raising taxes. Although he took a similar stance in the past, he signed tax increases in 1982 and 1984.

After 3.3 million miles

Discovery lands safely with satellites

By HOWARD BENEDICT AP
Aerospace Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Discovery's astronauts, almost diverted to a California landing by clouds, glided triumphantly back to Earth today with two satellite prizes plucked boldly from orbit in history's first space salvage operation.

The 104-ton space plane, its final dawn dash across central Florida heralded by sonic booms, dropped out of a partly cloudy sky and onto a 15,000-foot concrete runway after a journey of 3.3 million miles during which the astronauts also released two communications satellites.

With commander Rick Hauck at the controls, Discovery touched down at 6:59 a.m. EST, 11 minutes after sunup, on Runway 15, a concrete strip flanked by canals where 400 alligators live. The ship, glinting brightly in the morning sunshine, came in from the north after making a wide sweep over this spaceport.

The crew members, four men and one woman, rolled to a stop just three miles from the launch pad where they started their space adventure eight days ago.

Thousands of spectators at the strip and along banks of the nearby

Indian River cheered the landing, the third here in 14 shuttle flights and the second in succession. NASA wants to routinely land shuttles here to save the week it takes to return them from Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., site of 10 touchdowns.

Discovery almost went to California today after clouds moved over the Cape Canaveral runway just two hours before the planned touchdown. But they moved away, and Hauck got the green light for a normal landing just 20 minutes before the firing of the ship's braking rockets.

The rockets were fired an hour before Discovery's wheels touched the runway.

Hauck and pilot David Walker fired them for three minutes when Discovery was on its 126th orbit, 200 miles above the Indian Ocean. That slowed the craft's 17,400-mph speed enough to start it on an hour-long descent over the Pacific, Mexico, southern Texas, the Gulf of Mexico and into Cape Canaveral.

"We just had a good burn," Hauck reported. "Outstanding," replied Mission Control.

Discovery darted through the hottest part of its re-entry path as it crossed over Texas and an observer in Houston reported it looked like "a long streak of fire — a shooting star."

Locked firmly in Discovery's cargo bay are the Palapa B2 and Westar 6 communications satellites that Joe Allen and Dale Gardner retrieved during two breath-taking spacewalks. Each stands 21 feet tall and weighs 1,200 pounds.

The salvage was unprecedented, and astronaut Anna Fisher, who played a critical role by operating the ship's robot arm during the retrievals, said Thursday the crew was still pinching itself.

Added Gardner: "We're looking out the windows at the satellites. I'm not sure we all believe we have them in there. Sure is a great sight."

The satellites will be removed from the shuttle Saturday and taken to a hangar for several days of servicing. They then will be flown to the Hughes Aircraft plant in El Segundo, Calif., for refurbishment.

two weeks ago when ranchers encountered insufficient funds in trying to cash sales checks. Butler estimated the loss was "definitely six figures, maybe as much as $1 million."

Butler has been in Hereford this week to investigate the situation. In a telephone interview with the Brand Thursday afternoon, he said, "Right now, we just can't disclose anything (about the probe)."

He intimated Don Morris, who is helping Butler with the investigation

When HCC closed down last week, so did the Texhoma Livestock Commission, which is owned by the same five men who were in charge of the local cattle commission.

Hereford residents Julian Berry, Steve Hodges, Armon Lauderdale, Larry Noland and Warren Owen owned the two closed commissions. Hodges was manager of the HCC while Owen served as president of its board of directors.

James McCasland, a farmer in the Happy area, said his name was called because he checked the wrong box but he was glad for the opportunity to testify.

"I'm troubled by the way this hearing has gone," he admitted. "So many values have been questioned." McCasland said he did not appreciate the inference made that he was "condemned to hell for using chemicals."

The farmer of 23 years said he knows what he is doing when he uses farm chemicals, and "I'd like to be left alone. The regulations just don't fit."

Bippus Extension members elect officers Wednesday

Susan Raney, assistant county extension agent, presented a program entitled "Cooking For One Or Two" when members of Bippus Extension Club met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Flora Homfeld.

Raney also gave helpful hints on how to shop.

During the business meeting with Lou Hall presiding, members decided to help with the council bake sale scheduled Dec. 15 at Sugarland Mall. Also, Mariellen Homfeld presented the treasurer's report and the council report was given by Kate Bradley.

It was announced that the annual community Thanksgiving supper will be held at 5 p.m. Sunday at the Bippus community building. Each family is asked to bring a covered dish.

Following roll call, which was answered with "My favorite dish I bake with hamburger meat," members elected new officers. Kate Bradley will serve as president; Flora Homfeld, vice-president; Mariellen Homfeld, secretary-treasurer; Lynn Clark, council delegate; Juanita Pessin, reporter and Lou Hall, parliamentarian.

The next meeting will be the club's Christmas party scheduled at 2 p.m. Dec. 12 in the home of Ms. Bradley.

Twenty-two players to graduate

Platooning turns Herd's season around

By DENNIS BALL
Sports Editor

The Hereford Whitefaces came within 37 points of playing Odessa Permian Saturday night in Lubbock, but instead Palo Duro will tangle with the Mojo Panthers.

A 21-0 Palo Duro win over Hereford and a 16-0 Palo Duro win over Coronado the final week of the regular season sent the Dons to the bi-district playoff.

Could something have been done differently that would have changed the season? Hindsight is 20-20 people say, but changes probably wouldn't have affected the season's outcome anyway, Hereford football coach Jerry Taylor said.

"I think injuries were instrumental in our lack of success at the first of the season," he said. "But that's not the only factor. The biggest thing that turned our season around, I think, was we began platooning after the fourth game. There are some things we started doing differently, but I don't know if they would have made that much difference at the first or not."

Taylor explained platooning as playing certain team members on the offensive unit and others on the defensive unit. Taylor said he realized 100 percent platooning probably could never be achieved, but he and his staff made an effort at playing two entirely different units.

"Platooning is important to our way of doing things," he said. "By doing this, you put more responsibility on the players. We (Taylor and staff) have found to be true, 99.9 percent of the time, that the more responsibility we put on players the more favorably they respond. They play a little harder and consequently, a little better."

"And I can't help but believe that a youngster who is playing one way will surpass one who is playing both ways."

The Whitefaces get another shot at the 3-5A crown next year when nine starters from the 1984 varsity squad return.

The total number of prospective returnees from the varsity number 20 juniors and one sophomore.

"As far as numbers go, we'll have more returning for next year than we did for this year," Taylor said. "We'll have some help from this year's junior varsity teams, too."

Running backs Vincent Brown and Alan Dudding, and linemen Brett Clements and Casey Smith return to lead next year's offensive unit. Defensively, linebacker Curtis Cotten, lineman Adam Olivarez and backs Stefen Hacker, Freddie Gamboa and Rodney Torres should be back in 1985.

However, several all-district hopefuls — quarterback Mike Scott, receiver Sammy Suarez and defenders Lee Brockman, Augustine Castillo and David Parsons — will be lost to graduation.

Other players who will be lost to graduation are Chet Bunch, Glen Backus, Alfonso Limas, Doug Owens, Andy McCathern, Hector Reyna, Jesse Andrade.

Also, Javier Mendiola, Dago Valdez, Doug Evans, Lazaro Abalos, Albert Tijerina, Brian Edwards, Dennis Chandler, Benny Ramirez, Louis Rico and Kurt Simon.

Taylor said he was pleased with the way the White J.V. competed and played hard this season. The Maroon played hard, too, he said, but "we had to rob them of some players that we needed on varsity, so that hurt them a little."

The Whitefaces had their backs against the district wall most of the season. Heading into the fourth league ball game, the Herd was 1-2 in 3-5A play, 1-3 overall. What happened the remainder of the year — a six-game winning streak — could do no more for Hereford than place the Whitefaces in a second-place tie.

"Going into the season, I knew it was going to be tough," Taylor said. "I knew we could be 1-3 after our

Olympians win six of six boxing bouts

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Ultimately, they accomplished what they set out to do.

They won. Not necessarily with all the flair they might have displayed, nor with all the power. But the six young men who only three months ago gave the United States Olympic medals, walked out of Madison Square Garden Thursday night with their records untarnished after their first professional bouts.

"Winning is what matters. How you do it isn't always all that important," Mark Breland of Brooklyn, N.Y., the crown jewel in this Night of Gold, said after going six rounds to score a unanimous decision over Dwight Williams of Syracuse, N.Y., a tenacious but undersized opponent.

"If I could win the title the way Roberto Duran did, with a low blow, I wouldn't care," Breland, the gold-medal welterweight, said. "I'd still win and that's all that counts." In other words, he explained, he didn't mind going the distance — he said he wanted to — and he wasn't sorry he wasn't flashier.

Heavyweight Tyrell Biggs of Philadelphia, heard the same boos he had heard en route to his gold in Los Angeles, when he failed to score a knockout. He failed to score one this time too, going the full six rounds for a unanimous decision over Mike Evans of Los Angeles. But it was hardly Biggs' fault. "Don't blame me," he said.

No one did. Evans never really boxed. He rarely threw a punch — a far cry from his role as the champ in a beer commercial. "It takes two to fight," Biggs said.

The other four Olympians to get off on the right foot were:

BOXING

— Lightweight Pernel Whitaker of Norfolk, Va., who repeatedly tattooed the face of Farrain Comeaux of Nederland, Texas, and stopped him at 2:50 of the second round.

— Junior lightweight Meldrick Taylor of Philadelphia, who floored Luke Lecce of Pittsburgh ("I shouldn't have even been here") three times to stop him at 2:31 of the first round.

— Light heavyweight Evander Holyfield of Atlanta, the controversially disqualified Olympian bronze medalist, who scored a unanimous six-round decision over Lionel Byarm of Philadelphia.

— Super middleweight and silver medalist Virgil Hill of Grand Forks and Williston, N.D., who decked Arthur Wright of New York in a scheduled four-round bout stopped at 2:05 of the second.

This clearly was Breland's crowd, hardly surprising considering it was Breland's idea that all 21,000 or so seats (3,000 of which were empty all night) be given away as a thank-you to the fans who cheered him during his reign as five-time New York Golden Gloves winner.

Breland received $100,000, Holyfield, Whitaker and Biggs $75,000 apiece and Taylor $50,000. Hill, who wasn't part of the promotion and doesn't have a piece of the four-year ABC television contract packaging the five other Olympians, received $5,000, about what some of the Olympians' opponents earned.

"I'm just glad I was invited here and had a chance to see my friends," Hill said. "My time will come. Good things come to those who wait."

Another hearing set Monday

Injunction won't affect playoffs

AUSTIN (AP) — A temporary injunction won't affect any of this weekend's 4A football playoff games, an official says.

But a hearing scheduled for Monday could decide whether the high school football playoffs will drag on through Christmas or conclude Dec. 22 as originally scheduled, according to University Interscholastic League Director Bailey Marshall.

A Matagorda County judge — at the request of the Bay City and Brazosport independent school districts — issued a temporary restraining order Thursday that, until Monday's hearing, reinstates the old schedule.

The Austin Court of Appeals on Wednesday ordered a new schedule, accommodating an extra team in the playoffs, which would end on Dec. 29.

If a permanent injunction is issued next week, several schools will have to squeeze weekday games into their schedules to finish up the season by Dec. 22, Marshall said.

But that's better than a Dec. 29 championship game, Bay City coach Don Mills says, because about two-thirds of his school's basketball team — whose practices would overlap with the extended schedule — also are on the football team.

At the heart of the controversy is Austin Westlake senior quarterback Todd Maroney, who the UIL contends is ineligible, a ruling that would cause Westlake to forfeit its games and miss the playoffs.

However, a judge ruled earlier that Maroney, who recovered from a debilitating illness to lead Westlake to the playoffs, could play football while court battles raged over his eligibility.

The UIL claims Maroney's parents held him back in the eighth grade for athletic purposes and that the 18-year-old youth is therefore ineligible to play under UIL rules.

Ironically, Maroney broke his thumb in practice Wednesday and won't be able to play for the rest of the season.

Marshall said Maroney's inability to play in future games has no bearing on the current court battle.

"We have to comply with the court orders, whatever they may be," he said.

Westlake could wind up forfeiting all of its games if a court eventually rules against the 5-foot-8, 160-pound Maroney, who led Westlake in total offense.

The UIL barred him from play this year for violating the "five-year rule," but Austin District Judge Tom Blackwell issued an injunction allowing Maroney to play until the case is settled.

Westlake coach Ebbie Neptune said Thursday night that Maroney's injury and court battles are "the perfect scenario for a movie script."

He said Maroney is "heartbroken" about his injury — which he received when he hit a lineman's helmet during a pass — "but he's given his best. He's a good kid."

Junior Daron Edwards, who will replace Maroney at quarterback, said "It kind of came as a shock to the team. It was like 'Oh, no.' But I think the team has a lot of unity. We're going to come together and play as a team."

NBA roundup

Cleveland captures first victory

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

When the Cleveland Cavaliers finally won a game, it was perhaps fitting that they got a little help from everybody.

The Cavs started the National Basketball Association season with nine straight defeats, got double-figure scoring from seven players Thursday night to post a 102-99 victory over the Atlanta Hawks.

"We were having some hard luck and some bad breaks, but we have worked very hard and it was just a matter of time before we got our first one," said guard Johnny Davis, who was traded by Atlanta to Cleveland last summer.

"I thought the key was our defense, where we played very well," rookie Coach George Karl said. "Going into the game, we understood Atlanta's offense completely. We knew they would try to drive a lot and we stopped their movement to the hoop very well."

World B. Free scored 18 points to lead Cleveland. Phil Hubbard had 17 points and 17 rebounds, Paul Thompson 16 points, John Bagley 15 points and nine assists, Davis and Roy Hinson 11 points and Melvin Turpin 10 points and nine rebounds.

Sly Williams led the Hawks with 20.

Celtics 125, Bulls 105

Cedric Maxwell, whose scoring average was 7.3 points per game, scored 30 as Boston joined Houston with the best record in the league by beating Chicago.

The Celtics, 8-1, led 59-52 at halftime, but opened a 16-point lead in the third quarter as Maxwell scored 11 points in the period.

The Bulls, who got 27 points from Michael Jordan, got no closer than eight points in the fourth quarter.

Trail Blazers 129, Jazz 120

Kiki Vandeweghe scored 30 points and rookie Jerome Kersey added a season-high 19 as Portland defeated Utah.

Adrian Dantley scored 22 of his 39 points in the first quarter, but the Trail Blazers stayed even at 30-30 at the end of the period and then took a 68-57 halftime margin.

Darrell Griffith added 24 points for the Jazz, while Jim Paxson had 22 for Portland.

Warriors 117, Mavericks 112

Purvis Short scored 30 of his 40 points in the second half to boost Golden State past Dallas.

The Mavericks, which got 33 points from Mark Aguirre, led 55-51 at halftime, but Short scored 16 points in the third quarter and 14 more in the fourth to put the Warriors in front. His basket with 16 seconds left in the third period put Golden State in front to stay.

Eric Floyd scored 30 points for the Warriors, including 22 in the second half.

Bucks 103, Clippers 90

Milwaukee took over first place in the Central Division with an 8-2 record as Sidney Moncrief and Terry Cummings scored 23 points apiece against Los Angeles, which lost its fifth straight game.

The Bucks led by 17 points at halftime and extended their advantage to 71-49 midway through the third quarter. The Clippers scored the next nine points and continued to rally until they cut the deficit to 81-77 first four games, yet I was disappointed when we were. I was pleased we were able to win our last six games.

"But I was even more pleased with the character and integrity our players exemplified after the fourth week (after the game against Amarillo), especially after so many fans jumped off the boat."

Recommitment and rededication on the parts of players and coaches made the difference in the Herd's success, Taylor said.

The peak of 1984 for Taylor, he said, was not the win over Plainview. He thought Hereford's biggest win came against Coronado Oct. 5. That victory came at a most opportune time, he said.

"We needed that win so very badly," he said. "It could have been downhill the rest of the season had we not tightened our belts and won that game. Coronado was 3-1 at that time, and we were 1-3. Coronado was coming off a 25-14 win over Amarillo just two weeks before, and we had just been beaten by Amarillo 45-0."

Taylor also said that one of the low points was when Brockman, Parsons and Scott all were injured at the same time.

Spring training for the Whitefaces and other Class 5A schools begins about May 1. Between now and then, spring sports — basketball, baseball, track, tennis and golf — take the spotlight. Football players not participating in those sports are to be involved in an off-season program.

Taylor said the off-season workouts would include lifting weights, agility and quickness drills, endurance testing and working on body control.

Local Church News

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

A breakfast Sunday morning in First United Methodist Church will launch the final phase of the annual stewardship campaign which is to be completed this month. It will begin at 7 a.m. in the fellowship hall, for volunteers who will work to complete the campaign.

They will call on church members who have not already made pledges to the 1985 budget. Corky Lockmiller, stewardship chairman, is in charge of plans.

This is a part of church business for the year, which is being closed as far as possible before the special observances of Advent and Christmas begin. Hanging of the Greens, a service that has become a custom in First UMC, is scheduled the first Sunday in December with other Christmas services to follow.

A Christmas Chorale is being rehearsed before regular adult choir rehearsal on Wednesday evenings, under direction of John Avery. Children's and youth choirs will each have their programs leading up to the annual Christmas Eve communion service Dec. 24.

Youth of the church will serve an all-church dinner preceding the Hanging of the Greens Dec. 2.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The church's Thanksgiving worship service has been scheduled from 6-6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the auditorium.

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH

The public is invited to attend the annual Thanksgiving dinner scheduled Sunday following worship services at 12 noon. Each family is asked to bring a complete meal except for the meat.

Dr. James Dobson marriage and family series will begin at 5 p.m. this Sunday at the church. The first of his series is entitled "Straight Talk to Families."

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The church sanctuary choir will meet on Tuesday at 7 p.m. instead of Thursday.

The Hereford Ministerial Association has planned a Community Thanksgiving Service at 8 p.m. this Sunday at the Community Church. Jon Beard, pastor of Frio Baptist Church will bring the message and the Chamber Singers will provide special music.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

The YMCA is having a volleyball tournament in the church gym. The event began Thursday and will conclude Saturday. Workers are needed and the proceeds from the tournament will go toward the summer missions trip.

A Coke Crash and H. Ross Perot Roast will be held Saturday Dec. 1. Music will be by Eastwind from Wichita Falls.

School Menus

NOTE: There will be no school on Thursday or Friday due to the Thanksgiving holiday.

U.S. OLYMPIC COMMEMORATIVE COINS. GOLD AND SILVER GIFTS WITH A BRIGHT FUTURE.

Give the precious gift with lasting value:
A 90% pure gold bullion or 90% pure silver U.S. Olympic Coin.

It's a gift to be treasured. Many of the world's most respected coin experts feel that the future of these precious metal, limited issue coins will be very bright indeed. And it's truly a once in a lifetime opportunity. This January the U.S. Treasury will cease selling these fine collectibles.

Stop in today and pick up your gold or silver coins for a precious gift to yourself or someone special.

Quality Banking and Lasting Friendship!

NOTICE TO ALL PERSONS HAVING CLAIMS AGAINST HELLEN PATTON, DECEASED

Notice is hereby given that original Letters Testamentary upon the estate of Hellen Patton, deceased, were issued to me, the undersigned, on the 5th day of November, 1984, in the proceeding indicated below my signature hereto, which is still pending, and that I now hold such Letters. All persons having claims against said estate which is being administered in the County below named, are hereby required to present the same to me, respectively, at 212 Star Street, Hereford, Texas 79045, before suit upon same is barred by the Statutes of Limitation, before such estate is closed, and within the time prescribed by law. DATED this 14th day of November, 1984.

/s/ William H. Patton
Independent Executor of the Estate of Hellen Patton, Deceased No. 3362, in the County Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas
98-1c

NOTICE OF INCORPORATION
Notice is hereby given that Bill McDowell Trucking, whose principal office is located at 113 Elm Street in Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas, was incorporated on the 1st day of August, 1984, without a change of firm name except that the firm is now known as Bill McDowell Trucking, Inc.
DATED this 15th day of September, 1984.
BILL MCDOWELL TRUCKING, INC.
By Bill McDowell, President

Sealed proposals, for each of two (2) separate Prime Contractors together completing the entirety of the work for the Alterations and Additions to the Deaf Smith County Jail, addressed to Alex Schroeter, County Auditor of Deaf Smith County, Texas will be received as follows:
A. Bids for the DETENTION EQUIPMENT PRIME CONTRACT will be received in the office of the County Auditor of Deaf Smith County, Texas at 2:00 P.M. (CST) on Tuesday, November 27, 1984.
B. Bids for the GENERAL CONSTRUCTION PRIME CONTRACT will be received in the office of the County Auditor of Deaf Smith County, Texas at 2:00 P.M. (CST) on Tuesday, December 4, 1984.
Proposals shall be addressed as follows:
Mr. Alex Schroeter
County Auditor of Deaf Smith County, Texas
242 East 3rd Street
Hereford, Texas 79045
Proposals shall be clearly marked on the outer envelope, and/or identified as:
(1) PROPOSAL FOR DETENTION EQUIPMENT PRIME CONTRACT or as the case may be:
(2) PROPOSAL FOR

GENERAL CONSTRUCTION PRIME CONTRACT

The respective bids herein described, when received on the dates and hours so appointed, will be publicly opened and considered by the Commissioners' Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas. Such sealed proposals to be received are to be relative to the work for the Alterations and Additions to the Deaf Smith County Jail, to be constructed in Hereford, Texas. The Contract Documents which consist of this Advertisement for Bids, the Instructions to Bidders, the Forms of Proposal, the Conditions of the Contract, the Specifications, and the Drawings, consisting of Architectural, Structural, Mechanical, and all supplements thereto, have been prepared by the County's Architect, The Gondeck-Poage Partnership, Architects, 401 Isom Road, Suite 190, San Antonio, Texas 78216. Telephone: 512-349-7950.

All Contract Documents, the Drawings, Conditions of the Contract and Specifications will be on file at the County Judge's Office; the Architect's Office; and certain other specific plan rooms and construction service agencies. A list of these agencies may be obtained from the Architect upon written request.

Prime Contractors may obtain up to two (2) sets of the Drawings and Specifications from the Architect upon the deposit of $200.00 per set, which deposit is returnable to the bidder if he submits a proposal, and if he returns the plans and specifications complete, unmarked, and in good condition to Architect within seven (7) days after proposals have been received. If a bidder does not submit a proposal, he will forfeit his deposit unless the plans and specifications are returned to Architect no less than four (4) days prior to the respective Bid Opening as written hereinbefore.

A Bidder's Bond, Certified or Cashier's Check in an amount of not less than five percent (5%) of the largest amount contained in any proposal submitted by a candidate for Prime Contractor, payable to "County of Deaf Smith," must accompany each proposal or bid as a guarantee that if awarded the contract, the successful Bidder will enter into a contract and execute Owner's Protective Bonds (Performance and Payment) for 100% of the agreed Contract Price as awarded by the Commissioners' Court, with said Bonds to be executed on forms as published in the Project Manual (Specifications) as will be issued by the Architect for execution.
No bid may be withdrawn for any reason for at least forty-five (45) days after the scheduled closing time for the receipt of bids.
The County of Deaf Smith through its Commissioners' Court, reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any irregularities or informalities of any Bid received. All Bidders must be prequalified as specified in the Instructions to Bidders, and must exhibit sufficient bonding ability, and show satisfactory experience, capital, references, and history of responsibility.
Deaf Smith County reserves, and calls the Bidder's attention to, its rights to issue change orders and to negotiate certain matters with the successful Bidder after the contract is awarded and performance has commenced, as provided in Articles 2368a and 2368a3, V.A.T.S., which statutes are made a part of the Contract Documents.
