COMMISSIONERS SET DATE FOR ELECTION ON COUNTY TAX

HAINES BOOSTS REGION'S POSSIBILITIES IN SPEECH

AMARILLO EXECUTIVE PAYS TRIBUTE TO RURAL SETTLERS IN IMMIGRATION DISCUSSION

"Farmers Main Support of Panhandle Country," Col. Harve H. Haines Tells Chamber of Commerce. More Than Sixty Attend Luncheon at Methodist Church. New Secretary Introduced to Body.

"Farmers are the main support of this country of ours, and it is to them we must look for future prosperity. If we would have our own grow, we must see to it that the surrounding country grows first."

So declared Col. Harve H. Haines, Amarillo, principal speaker at the regular Chamber of Commerce luncheon held Monday noon at the Methodist church. More than 60 Hereford men and women were present.

Outlines Plan.

In his speech, Col. Haines outlined briefly, interestingly important features of the Panhandle-Plains, Inc. movement for immigration to the farms of this section of Texas. The change from the cattle business to the industry of farming is rapidly taking place, he declared, and it is up to the people to take advantage of this change and settle the country with the right kind of home-making, moneyed farmers.

There are 900,000 acres of tillable land in Deaf Smith county, the speaker pointed out, "and only approximately fifteen per cent of this amount is now under cultivation. Moreover, government figures indicate that farming here is only forty per cent efficient, so that in reality we are only getting six per cent of the potential possibilities of the land. We can use more farmers to great advantage.

To see an increase in the size of our towns, we must look first to the growth of our rural population. Let us help our outlying districts to grow and prosper and the town will take care of itself."

New Man Introduced.

W. R. Arnold, newly-elected secretary of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce, was introduced by President T. E. Seliger. In his initial remarks to the organization Mr. Arnold promised full-hearted support to every movement in the city and agreed to try his best to help this city and community profit from the immense possibilities which he believes it to hold.

Another speaker of importance was Carl Marsh, official tester for the Randall-Potter-Deaf Smith cow testing association recently formed. Mr. Marsh made a short report of his findings in the tests here and predicted a bright future for the dairy industry in the Hereford territory.

Other talks included a report by President Seliger of the convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce held last week at Fort Worth, and an appreciation of thanks from Miss Gladys Seliger, who was "Miss Hereford" at the convention. The meeting adjourned with a rising vote of thanks to the Hereford Brand for the support of that publication in such civic moves as the Canyon-Hereford beauty contest and the proposed fifteen cent road tax now under consideration.

Rainfall Total Raised By Showers This Week

Heavy rains late every night this week, brought nearly an inch of moisture in the Hereford territory, helping to break the long-drawn-out suffering from the hot, dry spell of the last two weeks. Hall damage was reported in several nearby counties to the west, but little fell here.

Accompanying the regular rain, temperature took a rapid rise during the day. The thermometer reached its second high point this season Wednesday afternoon when it registered 94 degrees.

AUCTION POSTPONED

Mammoth Dimmitt Land Sale and Celebration Date Changed to July 16. Arrangements Complete for Big Event, Col. Barber Says.

Postponement of the date of the mammoth land sale at Dimmitt from July 2 to July 16 was announced this morning by Col. Ray Barber, Hereford, who is in charge of arrangements. Plans have been completed for the largest event of its kind ever seen in this section, and land sale records are expected, Col. Barber stated.

Nearly 150 residence and business lots will be offered for sale. Prizes have been offered by Dimmitt merchants and four lots will be given free in connection with the sale. Chief entertainment feature will be a dance in the evening, with music by the Hereford orchestra.

JUDGE CLUBS

County Agent and Committee Begin Trip to Select Winners for College Short Course.

Heading a committee of agriculture authorities from this county, County Agent R. O. Dunkle began Tuesday morning a trip of inspection of the projects under way by all of the seventy-five members of the county clubs in this county. Acting as judges, this committee will select the boy or girl with highest score in each community, who will be awarded a free trip to the short course at the A. & M. College of Texas this summer.

Projects to be judged include pigs, poultry, cows and calves and crops. Judging will probably take about two weeks, Mr. Dunkle said. Boys who win with livestock projects will be given special livestock judging instruction to make themselves eligible for the county club judging team to represent Deaf Smith county this fall at the A. & M. contests. Last year the team from here took fifth place in competition with forty-two teams.

Business men and firms who are giving free trips to the winning boys and girls are E. B. Black, the three banks, Strou-Hayes Company, Sprows-Cronin Company, Fox Mercantile Company, R. B. R. Implement Co., T. E. Seliger and Thompson & Ireland.

CUP WINNER

Walter Hagen, American's premier golfer, has returned to the United States with his British Open Championship Cup, which he has won for the third time.

TESTS SHOW FINE RECORD IN DAIRYING

Official Tester for Dairy Organization Praises Record Made by Herds in Deaf Smith County.

Deaf Smith county dairymen showed up well in the results of the first month's test made by Carl Marsh, official tester for the Deaf Smith-Potter-Randall Testing Association, it was revealed this morning upon publication of results. Six dairymen from this county are members of the association.

In every particular Mr. Marsh declared, cows from this county compared favorably with those in the entire association. More than 400 cows are undergoing these systematic, monthly tests.

High producing cow of the entire 400 tests shown is owned by Lester Galley, of this county. Mr. Galley also had the third and fifth high butter-fat producing cows. Fourth high fat producing cow is owned by Louis Smith, another Deaf Smith county man.

Jim Lipscomb, also of this county, presented figures on expense and upkeep which cut nearly in half those found in any other herd of the association. Mr. Marsh said. Against a 28 per cent butter fat production cost in other herds, Mr. Lipscomb's cost ranged less than 12 cents.

Vacation School Preparing For Commencement

"Eminently successful" was the opinion of Rev. V. M. Cloyd this morning, discussing the daily vacation Bible school which draws to a close this week at the Baptist church after a two weeks session. Commencement exercises, to which the public is invited, will be held Friday night, June 29, at the church, beginning at 8:30.

An enrollment of more than 150 pupils and hearty co-operation between students and teachers made the first Bible school held in Hereford a pronounced success. Rev. Cloyd said. Plans are now to hold a similar course of study for young people every summer.

Rev. C. E. Saxon and daughter, Miss Ruth, who have headed two of the departments of the local school, leave Monday morning for Dimmitt where a vacation school like that held here will begin.

Well Known Local Man Gets Amarillo Promotion

Hereford friends were interested this week by an announcement of A. L. Bligs of Amarillo, former well-known local young man, has just become associated as one of the owners and managers of the J. S. Nugent Abstract Company there. For the past two years, since leaving Hereford, he has been connected with Ed Spann & Company in the insurance business.

Mr. Bligs lived here for several years. He was at one time county clerk and later founded the Plains Insurance Agency, now owned and operated by J. H. Patton.

KIDS TO PLAY

Attractive Program for the Junior Chautauqua Workers Outlined By Advance Agent.

Children of Hereford will play an important role in the Redpath-Horner chautauqua series which opens here next week. It was announced today by Mrs. E. J. Rankin, advance worker, who arrived here Wednesday. Mrs. Rankin has mapped out a program of work and play which she believes will be of interest to every child in the city.

Chas. F. Horner, president, is stressing Junior chautauqua work more than ever this year. Mrs. Rankin declared. A paid trained Junior supervisor has been engaged to handle all of the children's activities during the entire appearance of the Chautauqua.

Junior chautauqua work will begin next Monday evening at 6:00 o'clock with a mammoth parade beginning at the tent. Golfers Secure Few Wins In Meet At Clovis

Clovis golfers took sweet revenge on the valiant thirteen from Hereford who invaded the New Mexico metropolis last Sunday. The Hereford boys could bag but four of the thirteen contests. Two weeks previously Clovis came over here and was beaten.

While there is no disposition on the part of the Hereford men to detract in any way from the sterling victory of their rivals, the fact remains that the absence of four veteran players Sunday severely handicapped the locals. Roden of Friona, a consistent winner, is crippled, while Dong and Homer Fox and President Rosson were all unable to participate. Their loss was keenly felt.

Three of the matches went nineteen holes before a winner was decided, which attests the close nature of the play. Johnathan Pitman defeated his man on the nineteenth green, as did Charlie Bennett; while Wilkinson of Friona lost after an extra hole struggle.

The four Hereford club winners were Pitman, Rice, Bennett and Lange, the latter a Friona member of the club. The boys report a splendid day, typical Western hospitality from the citizens of Clovis, and an enjoyable game. The Hereford men participating and their eighteen hole scores were: Clark, 77; Posey, 82; Pitman, 81; Marrs, 83; A. A. Foster 89; Rice, 92; Sherman, 95; Leonard Foster, 90; Bennett, 88; Cockrell, 96. The Friona members were Wilkinson, 80; Lane 94, Osborne 90.

The low score for the day was drawn by Lindley of Clovis, pitted against J. J. Clark of Hereford. Lindley shot two thirty-fives, thirty-six being par for nine holes.

Hereford Team Schedules Fast Holiday Game

All set for the Fourth of July celebration to be held here, Hereford Whiteface baseball players are making preparation for a holiday game with the Vega Outlaws to be played that afternoon.

Both teams are looking forward to this as the hardest game of either of their seasons. Hereford has already taken two defeats from Vega this year, but since that time the team has perfected a regular winning organization, which will give a better account of itself.

According to Captain Ralph Smith, the Hereford team has been practicing hard in preparation for a good game before a good crowd next Wednesday afternoon. As usual, the game will be called at 3:30 p. m., and admission charges will be the same.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS

Lack of space this week forced out some of our country correspondence. It will be printed next week.

From the unofficially announced date of July 7, the date of the election on a proposed 15c additional county road tax has been set ahead to Saturday, July 14, County Judge Earl W. Wilson made known in a statement today. The new date will probably have less effect on harvesting, besides giving added time in which citizens may discuss and study the tax, it was said.

Chamber of Commerce workers and others interested in the tax have begun an active educational campaign in which they point out the many advantages which they believe will accrue from the measure. Counties all over Texas are watching the progress of the campaign and looking forward to similar elections in the event this one is successful.

In an election notice published for the first time today, Judge Wilson gives a list of the polling places where votes may be cast. Voting boxes in this county will be located as follows:

Precincts Nos. 1 and 2, court house, precinct 3, L. O. Gore residence; precinct 4, Simms school house; precinct 5, Union school house; precinct 6, Ford school house; precinct 7, Dawn school house; precinct 8, Farwell school house; precinct 9, Bippus school house, and precinct 10, Daniels school house.

Texas & Texans

Seeing the Convention.

A novel feature of the Democratic convention building at Houston is the walkway through the back of the hall, elevated so that it affords a view of the hall, and through which those without convention seats are allowed to parade leisurely to obtain a view of a great convention in action. This considerate arrangement is much appreciated by thousands of Texans who went to the convention as visitors but in the hope of being privileged to look in on the delegates while at their work.

Looking for Losses.

The state highway department has called in the help of the Attorney General's department, it is said in an effort to catch minor employees suspected of having cheated the state in the laying of road topping. The state pays contractors so much a square yard for laying topping a given thickness and an inquiry is being conducted around the possibility that less than the agreed amount of composition has been laid.

Wherever there is large expenditure of public funds, constant vigilance is necessary to secure a fair compliance with contracts. Many people seem to think there is little wrong in defrauding the government if it can be done without too much danger of being caught.

Fighting Orient Sale.

This is a selfish old world—a greedy old world. Officials of the paper railroad from San Antonio to San Angelo are planning to oppose the purchase of the Orient by the Santa Fe on the ground that such purchase would decrease the revenues of the proposed road if it should be built.

The claim is that the Orient, as an independent road, would be a Profitable Touring.

Farmers of the winter garden district, finding a little leisure time, propose a huge caravan to visit the irrigated sections of West Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and California to study irrigation and diversified farming as practiced in the localities to be visited. In California they will make a special study of the citrus industry and grape culture and dairying and poultry raising as well. In this there is a suggestion to farmers in other parts of the state. Instead of spending the vacation following laying by of crops in doing nothing or in purposeless tours why not organize parties having similar interests as handled in other sections of this and other states?

The Etex Label

East Texas makers and growers of worthwhile products are beginning to see the value of the Etex label that is used to indicate that the products are up to the high standard required by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce on products put out by those licensed to use the label. Numerous letters of inquiry are being received from all over the country in regard to the label and there is an increased demand for goods bearing it.

Chain Stores Increase.

Chain stores are increasing in number and in amount of business done. They are spreading from the cities and towns to the smallest villages and handle almost all kinds of merchandise. It is a trend in modern business that must be met by merchants everywhere. A new chain of grocery and meat stores to operate in the Southwest and to be known as the Southwest Stores has been announced. Its plans are to do a $6,000,000 business the first year.

American Legion Fund.

San Antonio is raising a $100,000 fund with which to entertain the American Legion meeting in September. Nearly 135,000 letters have been sent out to all parts of the United States and foreign countries setting forth the attractions of San Antonio as a convention city. Thousands of posters and folders advertising the convention are expected to attend the convention, thousands of whom will come to Texas by automobiles many of them to look for new homes in the state that offers so many attractions and opportunities for the homeseeker.

Every Texas community should co-operate with San Antonio in making this convention a real Texas event.

Pecan Crop Good.

Although the pecan crop will again be short in some parts of Texas, taking the state as a whole it will be above the average unless the pecan borer or other pests do unexpected damage. The pecan crop brings a large revenue to the state which would be much larger if only the growers had an efficient organization for handling it.

Truck Growers Co-Operate.

Starting with a small local organization formed by a local teacher of vocational agriculture last year, Denison truck growers to have found organized marketing so helpful that the membership has grown to over 100 and these have co-operated in planting large acreage in melons, tomatoes, potatoes, cucumbers and other crops to their mutual advantage in both buying and selling.

Whitson is Plaintiff, and Ella Whitson is Defendant, and said petition alleging that the plaintiff is now and has been for more than twelve months a bona fide resident and inhabitant of the State of Texas, and has resided in Deaf Smith County, Texas, for more than six months next preceding the filing of this petition; that plaintiff and defendant in 1923 were legally married to each other in Bosque County, Texas, that plaintiff and defendant continued to live together as husband and wife for about five months after their marriage, at which time the defendant without cause or provocation voluntarily left the bed and board of the plaintiff, and refused to return and live with plaintiff, who at all times treated defendant with consideration and forbearance. That said abandonment has been for more than three years before filing of petition and was made with the intention of finally abandoning the plaintiff and with no intention of returning to him.

"TOMMY" HIMSELF
Sparkling American Comedy
Premier Attraction.

Dion D'Enery and Miss Marjorie Wallace, two popular young players will be seen in the roles of Tommy Miles and Marie Thurber, the two central characters in "Tommy," the comedy by Howard Lindsay and Bert Robinson, that will be presented by Charles F. Horner on Premier Attractions of this season. This American comedy played to record breaking audiences in New York City for almost a year and for four months in Chicago.

"Tommy" is as clean and wholesome as it is irresistibly funny and genuine. The story revolves about a youthful triangle, two misunderstanding parents and a wise, far-seeing uncle. The problem is one that might arise in any modern American family. The manner in which it arises in "Tommy" and the fashion in which it follows to a happy ending represents an illustration of the most brilliant writing on the stage today.

"Tommy" is far more than an enjoyable evening's entertainment. It is a skillfully drawn picture of modern American life. It starts with laughter and its moments of drama and pathos are followed with the kind of laughter that rocks audiences in their seats.

Miss "Tommy" and you will lose one of the most enjoyable evenings that Premier Attractions offers its patrons on the second night of the Premier Program.

Evidently the Republicans were anxious to bolt the convention door before any of the dark horses escaped with the nomination.

OUTSTANDING OFFICE SEEKER PRESENTS FEW QUALIFICATIONS

E. F. Connell, outstanding candidate for sheriff of Deaf Smith county in the election to be held next month, has just announced a few of the interesting facts which made him picturesque as one of this region's oldest settlers. He is the only candidate in the present race who has ever served in this capacity before and has a record of achievement of which any man might well be proud.

Mr. Connell came to Amarillo in 1893 and joined the West Texas Rangers under Capt. W. J. McDonald. After many thrilling and daring escapades with that body of law enforcers, he was stationed, in 1895, on the Syndicate ranch in this county.

Year later, in 1896, so famous did he become as an agent of law and justice that he was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Sheriff Joss Edgins. Then, at the November election, he was elected to serve a term of his own.

Business interests pressed and for a time "Big Ed," as he was and is yet affectionately known, dropped out of active public life, although remaining active as a citizen with the good of this city and county always at heart.

In 1908 Mr. Connell was elected once more as Sheriff and Tax Collector. For two terms he fulfilled his duties in this office with satisfaction to all, leaving a record as clean as any public officer ever boasted.

"If elected," Mr. Connell said, "I guarantee to enforce the law in Deaf Smith county in every respect, to the very best of my ability. I know the duties of this office better than any other candidate and I hope to have the chance to deliver the goods."

Fine Double Picture For Fourth of July

Holiday pleasure seekers will do well to attend the Star Theatre here on the Fourth of July, believes Manager W. L. Pickett. On that day he will present as attractive a combination of feature pictures as has been seen by fans here in many months.

Pictureque and patriotic is the beautiful Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "The Flag," an interesting drama in which is told the story surrounding the making of the first flag of this country. Francis X. Bushman, Enid Bennett, Johnnie Walker and Alice Calhoun make up the cast. The picture is in technicolor, the process which brings to the screen all natural colors.

Sophisticated, blasé Wm. Haines appears in the other feature-length production to be shown in this program. Haines plays the role of a hard-boiled reporter in a fast, comical picture, "Telling the World." As usual, he does.

Hereford Wins Tulia Diamond Match Sunday

Getting off to a ragged start, but settling down to a semblance of real baseball, Hereford and Tulia teams fought a one-sided contest on the Hereford diamond Sunday afternoon. Hereford won, 12 to 4.

Artis Russell was the heavy hitting sensation for the day, getting three clean hits out of four times at bat. Fans got a laugh or two when Jim Robinson, hefty center fielder, took to the dirt when running backward to catch a fly ball. Mr. Robinson held the ball. Johnny Royal, Hereford pitching ace, started the game but was taken out in the fourth to save his steam for a future game next week. Pete Carmichael pitched the remainder of the game. Captain Ralph Smith played a good game but did not get in until after this change in pitchers was made.

CHAPTER III.

"My father and some of his servants went out both Ernest and I were away at school. They couldn't see in the shadows, but my father says that beyond all chance of doubt some living creature bounded through the thickets in front of them. It might have been a calf—or even a large dog."

"A few weeks ago the details began to vary. It was after my father's old friend, Mr. Hayward, and his son came to visit us. But tell me this first. Would you say the younger Mr. Hayward would be troubled with faulty nerves?"

"I saw him jump tonight when the owl hooted."

"Remember, he has spent nearly a month in this house. After a month in it, you'll jump, too. I mean under ordinary conditions, away from this atmosphere."

"I would certainly say that Vilas Hayward had no nerves to trouble him."

"Just a few nights after his arrival Vilas Hayward came in to dinner with a curious look of question on his face. He said he had seen something."

"Josephine's eyes were full and intent upon mine and the sentence died away. The silence of the vast room was the kind to be listened to in remote deserts or in the mountain nights."

"Yes?" I urged her.

"It isn't very pleasant," she warned.

"A doctor has the right to know all the symptoms."

"He said when he came through the long hall that leads from the drawing room something walked before him. It was in the shadows and he could not see plainly. He asked us if we kept a great yellow and black dog, a hound as large or larger than a Great Dane."

The elder Hayward and I were strolling on the course and a few minutes before our host had been with us. He had gone into the house on some errand. Josephine was with Vilas on the veranda and his chair was drawn close to her. At first I wasn't thinking about Hayward or Ahmad either. I was remembering with what astounding fortune Vilas and Josephine always seemed to be alone together.

It was a baffling thing. I couldn't think of any conscious effort in that direction. Yet seemingly powers in the sky were always throwing them together. In one instant all the occupants of Southley Downs would be on the veranda together, in the next a group of us would have wandered off, and Vilas and Josephine would be alone. I wondered how much of this curious development was engineered by Josephine herself. It wasn't a particularly pleasant thing to think about. Of course, girls in this age have a right to play all their cards to win the love of a desirable man. It was all legitimate—all fair. But sometimes it seemed to me that she would have preferred to stay with the rest of us, but that some inscrutable power, mysterious and immutable, denied it. That power was either Josephine's aged father, the elder Hayward, or both.

Hayward and I were having a good night cigar together. My wrist watch indicated a few minutes after ten. And then Hayward saw a shadow waver in the moonlight of the golf green.

It was hard to see at first. Some living creature was advancing along the slope toward us—something that seemed dark and not very tall. We stood still and waited. There was nothing else to do.

Then all at once the creature's form seemed to change. I can't describe it except to say that upon one instant it appeared to me as being low and rather long and on the next tall and narrow. The change was so abrupt that the creature seemed fairly to leap. Yet it easily could have been the effect of the moonlight or the shadows. It might have been simply a matter of perspective. At once we saw the advancing form before had seemingly had the dimensions and outline of a huge dog was just the form of a man. But I had seen enough in the mountains to know that the moon and the darkness and the jungles may play strange tricks on fancy and vision.

It was Ahmad Das. He was coming in from one of his long walks. Hayward gasped behind me and as I moved back the back of our hands touched.

Hayward's felt cold. Whatever had been fancy and wrong perspective before, this was the truth. His blood wasn't in his hands, as it should have been. Evidently it had all gone up to his brain, playing strange tricks with it.

Ahmad bowed to us as he passed.

"Good lord!" Hayward breathed. "I wasn't looking for that wretch."

"He was just coming in from one of his walks."

"Those walks of his! Why don't Southley forbid 'em. I will if he don't. I'll be damned if I'll have him walking through those jungles and creeping up on us this way."

"Creeping up on us?" I echoed. "What way?"

"Besides, what would a man want to walk around in those jungles for?" he went on, unheeding me. "Tell me that?" Then his voice changed, dropped tone by tone until it was almost a whisper. "And tell me this, too, Long—and tell me the truth."

"Yes."

"Did—did you see anything curious about—about Ahmad's posture as he came up the hill? Of course, it was probably just the moonlight—yet there was something puzzling about it."

"I'll confess I didn't recognize him at once."

"That isn't it. That isn't quite it, Long. Oh, the devil! It's nonsense, anyway."

We walked up to the veranda and halted for an instant on the steps for a last look over the marsh. There was a ring around the moon that promised rain. We listened to the night birds and the noise of the insect world, like the strum of a banjo infinitely remote, above the drear, gray wastes. Then Hayward touched my arm.

"If you'd go in, Long, and look at Ahmad's hands," he told me, "you'd find 'em with mud on 'em."

"Why, Mr. Hayward?"

"Because he was crawling up that hill—on his hands and feet."

Then his face grew into a scowl, and he entered the house.

I had a pipe by myself after he had gone. At first I thought about what he had said. But it didn't make particularly good sense. It was true that Hayward didn't like the Indian, yet this would have scarcely led to an accusation to bizarre. The glare with which Hayward's eyes followed him when the servant worked about the rooms was little short of deadly—I had observed it too many times to be mistaken. Orders he gave were always in the most insulting tone. It seemed to me just an unjustified aversion, and the astute of the thing was open to question.

There was a tenseness, a heaviness in the air. It was obviously the calm before one of those blinding, clashing Floridian thunder storms.

I thought I had better warn the occupants of the house. There might be windows to close or other preparations. The library was empty but I heard voices in the den that opened from it. And maybe it was a sign that already atmosphere of Southley Downs has instilled its poison into my nerves that I did not remember to stop and knock. With the memory of that mysterious calm behind me I hurried across the soft rug. The door opened softly beneath my hand.

The scene in the candle-light was like a tableau. The light was so yellow and soft, the shadows so startling black, the actors stood so motionless. With arms leaning upon the little mahogany table in the center of the den stood Vilas Hayward. There was a drunken look about him, yet I knew it was not from wine. His face was flushed, intent. With the table between them as if for a shield Josephine faced him.

"Don't come a step nearer," she said as the door opened.

Her face was white as the candle that burned between them, its lines were deep and her dark eyes were smouldering. The little silken week-end bag I had seen on the train lay before her on the table and her hand was lost in the lace of its mouth.

There were wild, primal passions at play in the room. One of them was lust, and one was the fury of murder. There is no use of mingling words. They were bared and unmasked before me.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OBSERVATIONS.

BY W. R. A.

There is absolutely one thing that impresses a stranger upon his arrival in Hereford—the friendliness of its citizenship. In a town or community where this spirit prevails it should not be difficult to get practically the undivided support of this same citizenship behind the Chamber of Commerce as an organization. Chambers of Commerce are not experiments—they are not charitable institutions, and when the people as a whole are made to feel that the organization is theirs, and is working toward the upbuilding of the community as a whole, then no undertaking will fail because of the support of the people.

Hereford has the primary assets required in the building of a city or community—schools, churches and homes. This is a triple alliance without which cities cannot be built, regardless of what other opportunities prevail.

In visiting among the business interests of the city, the reception of the writer was cordial in every instance. Frankly, it was unusual. Not that we are in the habit of being thrown out on our ear, still there seems to be almost a universal feeling of friendliness toward the Chamber of Commerce. That is as it should be. It is an organization that belongs to you—one that should be busy at all times promoting the things that go to make Hereford a better and more profitable place in which to live, and yet the fact remains that such a spirit does not prevail in all towns and cities relative to Chamber of Commerce work.

It is not the intention of the secretary-manager to use high pressure methods in forcing you to belong to the chamber of commerce, but bear in mind that every interested citizen in the city of Hereford will be given an opportunity to put his or her support behind the organization that is going to work unceasingly for movements of progress and upbuilding in your city and community. Study the matter over and when you are approached be prepared to do your part.

Offhand, we should say that Hereford is to be congratulated on the efficient manner in which the affairs of your city are handled by the administration. Your city hall is a credit to cities with thrice your population. The appearance of the city speaks volumes for the progressiveness of its executives. The attitude assumed on water charges—encourages the improvement of homes, and homes and people build cities.

And, finally, brethren, those are just a few of the pleasant observations. There are movements ahead gigantic in proportion. There is hard work to be done, and bear in mind that one man is too small to do it all. I'm a glutton for punishment, but, likewise, I've always been fairly successful in getting a little energy expended by the other fellow. Very shortly you will be assigned your task. Are you ready?

In a few minutes' time the entire home can be freed of mosquitoes. With an improved FLY-TOX Hand Sprayer, spray FLY-TOX directly toward the ceiling, also on the draperies, in the closets and on the screens. It will not leave a stain on the most delicate of wallpapers, hangings or fabrics. Spray upwards until all parts of the room are filled with the finely atomized spray. Within a few minutes all the mosquitoes in the room will be dead, regardless of whether the windows and doors are open or closed. In addition to being stainless, FLY-TOX is fragrant, is absolutely harmless to people, but sure death to all household insects. Every bottle guaranteed.—Adv.
