Farm Job Placements Here At New High

By NAOMI HOPSON

Vegetable harvest sees the annual influx of agricultural workers for Hereford's trade area. This year has a startlingly large stream of work-

Shippers and packers explain that regular crews who have standing jobs with them are settling in and working, but that they are having problems with the extra hands necessary for

"An unsettledness or uneasiness seems to be keeping workers moving," one shipper said.

SIX MONTHS of 1965 has seen nearly twice the agricultural job placements recorded for all of Employment figures from the Texas Employment Commission depict a rapid but steady climb in the number of agricultural workers used in Deaf Smith County on a transient basis.

July placements have already gone over the 2,000 mark, Based on last year's percentages, the Hereford office headed by Joe Bradley, expects to handle over 15,000 placements by the BRADLEY explains that placements are not necessarily an indication of number of people who are working through a season but the various jobs which are filled. Work may vary from three days in longevity to ments turn into full time jobs, Bradley said, however; the same man may be placed several times during a working sea-

WHY THE gigantic upswing in placements?

Bradley cites several reasons but the main one stems directly from the lack of bracero labor, he said. (Braceros were not placed through the employment office.)

A CREW chief files an application for a group, Some 134 crews placed in June accounted for 2,207 of the job placements. These crews finish the job they are on and the employment office places them in another

Earlier this year, beet growers said that they had not suffered a labor shortage. Workers are coming here from some place in droves, "Lots of workers go in and out of here," one employment man said.

In jobs other than agricultural, 149 placements were made in June. 121 individual placements (this is exclusive of crew chiefs) were made.

This pattern of increase is seen all over the state, Bradley

Whether the upswing is due to more use being made of government job service or if more hands are being used cannot be determined. Changes in the fluid nature of transient labor makes any form of accurate census impossible, local office workers said.

Employment office charts show the following agricultural placement totals for the Hereford trade area:

1960 - 1,3921961 - 1,959 1962 - 3,245 1963 - 3,622

And through June, 1965-9,622. March of this year was the heaviest month so far with 2,928

"MOST placements are in average, middle type farm jobs," Bradley said. These jobs he explains, require some skill but are not highly skilled. Very sim-ple jobs and very skilled jobs seem to be filled by the employer with his own recruiting efforts.

The TEC office uses work history to determine qualifications of the applicant.

A CHECK of housing facilities in the area shows that the influx of workers is all that the employment figures show it to be. One developer for Latin Am-erican facilities said Friday night that he thought there were "two or three families in every apartment" in the Buena Vista

One fact emerges from the situation as it stands in Hereford today. Lots of people are coming into town and these people are finding work.

Help! That's the plea coming from W. T. (Bill) Thompson, genial manager of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Com-

It seems that Bill came up with the idea of sending out questionaires to members, asking that they designate their preference for committee assignments

The mail went out, and the forms begin rolling into the Chamber office, all properly marked.

The only hitch in the plan was that the chamber office falled to leave a place for the signature on the forms, and most folks, being busy these days, just filled out the proper blanks and returned the forms - minus the signatures.

"It's sure great to get this kind of respone," Bill says "but we sure wish we know who sent their forms back."

Anyhow, if you're one of the good chamber members who returned your form, you might drop by the office soon and let them know which one is yours.

If you haven't returned your form as yet, then by all means, sign it. It will be a great help to the chamber.

Actually, we can't feel too sorry for Bill, since he is the one who generally gives us heck reunion and luncheon at the when we "goof" in the paper, Community Center today. This was Mrs. Hilbert's first trip out of her native state and she was much impressed with Hereford and this area. The Mercers took their guests to Pale Duro Park to see the performance in the theater on Friday night. "Variety Park" in downtown Hereford, the Holly Sugar Mill, the feed lots and the crops made interesting trips for the visitors.

GUESTS LAST Saturday in the Jack Wright home included their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Crozier, Leanne and Bobby, Canyon; Bob's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Crozier, Boerne, and his sister and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Brown, Rick and Kevin, Venezuela, South America.

The children spent the afternoon riding the horses at the Wright acreage east of town.

The Pat Browns are in the states on vacation, Mr. Brown is employed by an oil company in South America. He and his wife met there when she was a teacher and they have lived there since.

Mrs. Bess Werner and her granddaughters, Jan, Carol, and Patti Turrentine left Tuesday on the Santa Fe Chief for Pacific Grove, Calif., where they will vacation and visit in the Dan Turrentine home.

MR. AND MRS. Howell, Bill and Debbie, Clovis, N. M. were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wright last Sunday. Bill and Debbie enjoyed riding the horses at the Wright acreage while their parents

CONVENTION PLANNERS - Although the annual convention of Top of Texas district, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, will not be held until next March, plans have been started for entertaining scores of the members in Hereford. The first planning session was held in Community Center last week by representatives of the four local clubs and also from federated clubs in Canyon, which will assist as convention hostesses. Mrs. Robert L. Lindsey of Canyon, standing, is the district president and, seated from left, Mrs. Troy Martin of Canyon and Mrs. Ray Johnson of Hereford are the coordinators who act as chairmen of arrangements.

Wedding Vows Spoken In Midsummer Ceremonies

Miss Donna Kay Osborn engaged to Dewayne Fryar

Two weddings in Hereford and another downstate on this mid-July weekend add three more couples to the list of summer newlyweds and the date is announced for still another marriage of interest here.

A beautiful church ceremony was conducted Saturday morning for Miss Beverly Gayle Roberts and Michael Louis Miller, who will live in Canyon after a Colorado Springs honeymoon. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. James N. Roberts and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Miller of Canyon, formerly of Hereford.

Wesley Poarch brings a bride from Snyder after a Friday evening wedding in Knapp Baptist Church near that city. She is the former Miss Connie Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Robinson. Both plan to enroll in West Texas University this fall.

The garden at the bride's home was the setting for the marriage of Miss Rita Carol Harper and Larry Allen Duncan Friday evening. The couple left for a trip to Red River, N.M., and will be at home here after July 20.

September 12 is to be the wedding date for Miss Donna Kay Osborn of Bellview, N.M., and Dewane Fryar of Dimmitt, who lived in Hereford until recently. They are students at Eastern New Mexico University.

What on earth has happened to time? Nobody seems to have any anymore, and the more things that are done to give us more leisure, the less we have. If this were just my problem it could be dismissed with the truism that time always seems more crowded with the passing of birthdays, but the chorus of "haven't got time" rises from

Equal Representation Is Still Big Question

County precinct lines, long a debateable point in Deaf Smith County, were given minor alterations here this week. For the most part, however, we doubt if effects resulting from the action will be noticed by the average citizen—except in the designation of new voting precincts, whichwere handled at the same although they represent a different action.

This local level re-districting is similarly current all over. Texas, and probably all over the nation. In many instances, its fundamentals parallel the national program which has been forced on all states by federal mandate. In all instances, the problem evolves around the old story of "taxation without representation"—and this was the same basis on which the American Revolution was substantiated.

The Deaf Smith County action Monday appears as an effort to equalize precincts 1 and 2. While this is certainly a step in. the right direction, it is well for us to remember that these two precincts were already more nearly equal than the others— and that the big inequalities in county representation still exist in the almost same ratios as in the past.

In the last presidential election the county recorded a total of 3887 votes distributed as follows in the four commissioner precincts:

Precinct 1 - 852 votes. Precinct 2 - 2435 votes. Precinct 3 — 122 votes. Precinct 4 — 269 votes. Absentee - 209 votes.

Yet, when a county question arises, the elected commissioners from precincts 3 and 4, each have equal voting power with the elected commissioners from precincts 1 and 2. Without question, the situation is not one of equal representation for the tax payers, and in cases where commissioners form coalitions, as they occasionally have in years past, it could become even more unfair.

Let us also face the fact that there are factors involved other than the single one of population. In this particular area, for instance, the question of distance is im-

Survey Predicts Glowing Future

The Blanton Survey is out again. It predicts unprecidented growth for the area, which the statisticians say will emerge as an industrial and financial center. All of the 170 pages, in fact, are bright and cheerful concerning area progress and future prosperity.

Primarily based on existing statistics, projects in the 1954 Blanton report were extremely accurate. This is the most encouraging phase of the current report, and undoutbedly lends much additional importance to the second survey.

Fortunately, the survey will this time be more extensively distributed, and will be available on the local level. In addition to industry, it can serve as a guide to the local merchant, property owner and area operator.

Such a glowing future, especially when projected by a capable group with a record for accuracy, is the best news to come our way in a long time, and the 1964 survey does exactly that.

portant under our present system of county operations—and the commissioners in precincts 3 and 4 are accountable for many more acres of land than are those in precincts 2 and 3 this also means that they must account for miles and miles of road, including those which are probably least improved with hard surfacing.

Another important factor which must be calculated is that of taxable evaluations in each of the four precincts. Although not predominant, this phase does demand serious consideration.

The question of representation has been with us since our democracy was established, and it was of prime significance on the federal level when our government was created. To meet this very situation, the House of Representatives was based on population and the Senate was based on geography. Again today, as mentioned, the question is becoming acute, resulting in federal mandates in redistricting.

To face the honest facts, it has never been equitably settled on the federal level any more than the court action this week contributed materially to equalization of representation in Deaf Smith County.

So long as we continue on our present system of commissioner supervision and responsibility, we doubt if it will be much. improved or if the people will ever realize equality in representation:

Federal Aid To Local Schools?

Federal aid to public education drew one tep closer to reality in this community as Hereford trustees pondered the question in regular session this week. Supt. Johnny Clark, Jr., seems to have struck a keynote when he said:

"We have reached the point where money is appropriated for us . . . if we don't spend it, somebody else will."

Further action along this route will, of course, be up to our elected trustees.

Even some of those who have been against federal aid to education, and they are numerous in the area, indicate that they can see a difference between issues involved and participation-once the aid program has become a reality. One school, out of step, they contend will not do much toward combatting the overall condition, and it will result in double taxation on the Opponents contend that federal aid means closer federal controls, and are quick to point out that school taxes, deductible from income taxes, are not necessarily double taxation.

School administrators, for the most part, appear to be swinging into the program, often with zest. Many of them feel that federal aid will bring expanded programs to the average school, which would be impossible, if left to taxpayers to provide on the local level.

Meanwhile, we doubt if the average taxpayer has investigated the situation or even fully understands all of its implications. Otherwise, it seems to us, our school trustees would be nominated and elected on a platform with federal aid as a basic

GLADIATOR'S HELMET DUG UP

LAVENHAM, England (P) A Roman helmet, which may be the first gladiator's helmet to be unearthed in Britain, has been found on a farm near this Suffolk village.

Officials of the Tower of London Armories say the construction of the helmet strongly resembles one used by the glad iators in Roman times, A similar helmet was found in Pompeii and is now in the National Museum at Naples.

"It is quite different from any of the British Museum's five Roman helmets found in Britain," said J. W. Brailsford, deputy keeper of the Department of British and Medieval Aniquities at the museum, These are legionary or cavalry parade

The present cotton crop in the Lockney area is being described by farmers and ginners as "one of the best ever at this time of year." Most farmers were fortunate in getting up their first planting and the cotton has grown off in fine shape. The stalks are well loaded and the weeds have not been a big problem this year, due in part to new chemical weed control measures.

THE BOOTLEG

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm considers the economics of lawn-mowing in his letter this week.

Dear editar:

On an average weekend during the summer I estimate there must be at least 20 million lawnmowers running in the United States, and while it's no concern of mine, the noise doesn't bother me, I can't hear it from out here on this bindweed farm, and I don't own one myself, I let a cow do the mowing, it's cheaper, no breakdowns, requires no fuel and you can do it while sitting in the shade on the front porch, still I was interested in an item I read in a newspaper last week while my cow was cutting the grass.

According to it, some scientists have developed a new lawn grass that grows solid but only three inches tall. Stays the same height, no matter how long you let the sprinkler run. Never have to mow it.

I was discussing this with a friend of mine in town who mows his lawn every week and is good at figures and sells lawnmowers. "Look," he said, "say there are 20 million lawnmowers in this country and they average about $50 each. That's a billion dollars worth of lawnmowers. Also, they must use at least $100,000 worth of gasoline a week, parts are always needing replacing, blades have to be sharpened, lots of boys earn $2.50 a lawn or more mowing for other people, hospitals get business from lawnmower accidents, insurance companies sell accident policies, take it all in all, those grass scientists are fixing to wreck a two-billion-dollar industry, right when the President is banking on an expanding economy to justify more tax cuts to open the gates to the Great Society. Those scientists ought to destroy that new grass and start working on one that grows twice as fast and requires mowing two times a week. Make two blades of grass grow where one grew before, each twice as tall, and double the lawnmower business and keep this country moving forward."

After listening to a speech that long, I didn't argue, but he has a point, although an application of modern thinking can get around it.

Let the scientists go ahead and get the grass ready but don't sell it. Rent it. Big business half the time doesn't own its big electronic calculating machines. They're rented.

You don't own your telephone, do you? Of course not, you just rent it for so much a month. When you get down to it, most people just rent their automobiles.

Get one of those rented calculating machines to figure up what the average man pays for mowing his lawn. then rent him this new grass on those terms. Add it to his telephone bill. Two billion dollars worth of lawn mowing money will still flow into the economy, nobody will be hurt, the economic index won't waver, and people can sit on their lawns on weekends and enjoy their tax cuts.
Yours faithfully,
J.A.
