Fun In The Cactus Canyon

Palo Duro State Park buffs, paraphrasing a gibe at Panhandle weather, like to assert: "If you don't like the view, wait a minute and it will change.

What they say is true. The almost iridescent hues of this 15,000-acre park, 42 miles northeast of Hereford, seem to glow and wane as the zenith shifts. Pervasive brilliance changes to a tarnished shadow as five geologic ages are bared. Erosion cut this 120-mile-long, convoluted canyon out of the bare prairie. Gashes go 800 feet deep/

It has been a state park since 1934. But the cactus-nobbed peaks and rock-strewn crevasses have long hosted history — a forlorn explorer named Coronado, marauding Indians, slave-dealing comancheros, the ranch of pioneer Charles Good-

By LARRY FUHRMANN

"Anna Jo" is a name that to most any junior or senior high school student here is associated with home-cooked food and home-spun philosophy — and both are in wide demand.

Anna Jo Wilson has been known by students now for five years as the warm-hearted and friendly proprietor of El Corral, a frequented lunch spot near the two school com-dren and young people prompted her to open a business serving youngsters in 1960. Reflecting over her noon-day ex-periences, she reports with pride that in these five years problems of discipline with stu-dents have been so small as to be insignificant.

With her opening the business, Mrs. Wilson introduced a new set of policies to El Corral. "Kids were flabbergasted," she says. "We based

Anna Jo Wilson has an explanation for her obvious success: "If you treat students like young adults, they will re-act accordingly."

FOR CITY'S GROWTH

Blanton Feels Outlook Good

The man twice called on to chart Hereford's future has outlined a five-point package that he thinks will power the town's growth rate into an eye-catching orbit.

Burt C. Blanton, "consultant to business and industry," was in Hereford last week, adding to his facts and figures which he hopes to have finished in late June as an updated industrial survey. His first such survey was made here in 1954.

The 65-year-old Dallas man says that the city's growth in the last 10 years has been "phenomenal."

WORK THAT HE has already completed on the $3,500 compilation of pertinent data on population and other trends led Blanton, a peppery, fluent talker, to make this statement Thursday in an interview here:

"It gives a picture that is just marvelous."

Blanton, a small, lean man with sparse, gray hair, started out more than 40 years ago in business for himself. He has no office in Dallas or anywhere else, just "a telephone number and a business address." His staff: Himself and "two good helpers."

BUT HIS ENTHUSIASM for digging in the economic shadows for trends that are germane and his temerity for putting them down in black and white have made Blanton conversant with a Who's Who of Texas Business and Industry.

The training session, which His "projections" are only will be taught by Army instrucguesses, he says, and sometimes tors from Fort Sill, Okla., is the economic soothsayer gets sponsored by the Civil Defense fooled by a town which "just doesn't grow." Bill Thompson, Deaf Smith

By MELVIN YOUNG

Rev. B. L. Davis, minister of the First Baptist Church of Hereford, has decided there are times when it's best not to let folks know you're a preacher.

Davis recently wrote to one of the large hotels in Dallas asking for a reservation on a certain day. The reply was negative, stating that all rooms were full and it would be impossible to secure lodging there. They would, however, make an effort to find a room for Rev. Davis elsewhere.

Not satisfied with the answer, Davis asked Gaston Baer, a frequent guest of the hotel, to help him secure a room reservation. He agreed. And promptly re-eived an affirmative answer. The secret? He asked for reservations for Mr. Davis rather than Rev. Davis.

Davis figures the city hotels would prefer to cater to the big spenders, and chances are, a preacher would not be listed in that category.

And he's probably right too. The whole deal reminds us of a little deception practiced by a friend of ours with whom we were stationed at Marine Barracks, Pearl Harbor.

Hotel reservations were a problem there too. At that time, there were only about three better hotels in the Honolulu area: the Royal Hawaiian and the Monoa at Waikiki Beach and the Alexander-Young in downtown Honolulu, Both the Royal Hawaiian and the Monoa had just luck was about the same. been released by the Navy and returned to civilian operation following the close of World War II. Tourists from stateside were beginning to swarm over the islands, and as we said before, reservations were a little rough to come by.

But the Captain never let that bother him. He would simply call the Royal Hawaiian Hotel from Pearl Harbor and say: "This is Captain Brown at the Navy Yard", and request a reservation. He would then put on civilian clothes and go to

The Captain didn't fib. He merely misled.

The hotel clerks assumed he was a Naval Captain, equal in rank to a Colonel in the Army and Marine Corps, just under the rank of General.

And after all, he was stationed at the Navy Yard. In the Marine compound however.

So you see, sometimes it pays not to tell "too much".

According to the inscription in the concrete, the old sidewalk in front of the Popular Store was placed there in 1906. We wonder if there are any in town older than this?

According to a newspaper clipping that we received recently, the Air Force has fired a new nuclear-fueled ion engine - of a sort which may someday power flights to distant planets into an orbit around the earth. An Atlas-Agena combination rocketed the experimental power plant into an almost circu-

Like the buffalo, the otter all but vanished from the pressure of hunting. In 1911 the Pacific nations, although they must have thought it a sentimental gesture for a lost species, banned the hunting of sea otter in their treaty protecting the fur seal.

During and just after World War II seamen began noticing strange animals near the Pacific shores. The sea otter was on the way back.

Cycle Rider Is Seriously Hurt,

Aid Refused A 21-year-old New Mexico man remained in serious condition in Deaf Smith County Hospital Saturday following a Thursday afternoon motorcycle accident.

Aubra Lee Scott, 21, of Hobbs, N.M., was injured when the motorcycle he was riding went out of control one mile south of Summerfield on a county road. He was taken to the local hospital, where he remained unconcious Saturday morning.

A HOSPITAL SPOKESMAN said relatives had prohibited medical treatment of the man because of religious beliefs. He suffered a brain concussion and a fractured hand in the mishap.

The spokesman said the hospital or doctors could not legally administer medicine or treatment to the man against the orders of relatives without first obtaining a court order.

SHOULD ATTENDANTS feel that treatment would mean the difference between life or death, a court order granting permission to treat the man would be sought, the spokesman Highway Patrolmen investigating the mishap said the motorcycle went out of control and skidded more than 100 feet before coming to a halt.

Scott apparently skidded along the ground some 50 feet after being thrown from the motorcycle, investigators said. The mishap occurred at 4:15 p.m. Thursday.

PUNCTUALITY IN NEW YORK NEW YORK (P) - Nine out of 10 New York City secretaries are never, or almost never, late for work, according to a survey by Bulova Time Center researchers. The pollsters found that only 5 per cent of Man-hattan's Gal Fridays are late "frequently" and 5 per cent "almost always."

And Plymouth has a 5-year/50,000-mile engine and drive train warranty

Quality in a car can be judged in many ways. And the new '65 Plymouth Fury will pass any quality test with flying colors. It has a look of quality—smart styling on the outside, rich-looking upholstery and trim on the inside. A test drive will quickly show you Plymouth's smooth riding qualities. And the way Plymouth is built to last indicates its quality construction. Add to these features Plymouth's 5-year/50,000-mile warranty* on the parts that keep you going, and you will readily see why Texans are going for Plymouth in a big way. Plymouth sales in Texas prove it!

*HERE'S HOW PLYMOUTH'S 5-YEAR/50.000-MILE ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN WARRANTY PROTECTS YOU:

Chrysler Corporation confidently warrants all of the following vital parts of its 1965 cars for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove detective in material and workmanship will be replaced or repaired at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excepting manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential and rear wheel bearings. Required maintenance: The following maintenance services are required under the warranty—change engine oil every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first; replace oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; and every 6 months turnish evidence of this required service to a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage. Simple enough for such important protection.

Stengel Hopes To Build Mets Into Winning Club

By FRANK ECK AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

Casey Stengel, like sun and fresh air, has been around so long that everyone takes him for granted, and that includes the about it. people who run baseball.

This is the silver anniversary for the 74-year-old manager of the New York Mets. It is his 25th season managing a major league team and the only way you can find this out is to check the baseball record books.

2 STORM COTTON New Vigor - Yield - Quality

Here's a strain-cross developed especially for areas where a definite storm proof boll is desired. Medium height, erect plants have short branches and great uniformity. Hybrid vigor makes 302 somewhat earlier than standard storm proof varieties. DeKalbtests show substantial increases in lint yield over most popular varieties, under both irrigation and favorable dryland conditions. Be sure to try this fine variety.

Ever Wonder How We See Colors?

Our eyes contain special cells called rods which see only black and white and are most sensitive in dim light. The eyes also have millions of other cells called cones which can perceive both color and black and white and can see fine detail. There are between 110 million and 125 million rods and about 7 million cones in the the refina, the innermost layer of the eye. The cones work best when there is plenty of light. When there is not enough the black and white rods take over. When this happens the world seems to lose its brilliant color and turns gray - and appears as it does to most animals including the bulls in the fighting arena. Eight men (and less than one woman) out of every hundred are "color-blind" and may have difficulty telling red from green. Unless their eyes are tested, they may not know that they are seeing a less colorful world

The great scientist, John Dalton, who gave his name to this condition (Daltonism) did not know that he was color blind until at the age of ten, he discovered that cherries faster than could because to them the cherries and the leaves

What About The Tourist, Who Gets 'Harvested' From Coast To Coast?

Almost every time we pick up a newspaper these days, we run across some sort of advice on a new-fangled way to clip the tourist a little bit closer. This pretty well includes publications both large and small, and the advice seeps down from high national levels, state agencies and even the local Chambers of Commerce.

While we cannot argue with the tourist fleecers about the golden-harvest they reap, it is a bit galling when one stops to consider who these poor spendthrift tourists really are, only to realize that they cannot be anyone but ourselves. And while we expect to "pay through the nose" as we travel merrily along, it hardly seems sporting for those whose pockets we so eagerly line to sit around and continually scheme against us, while some of the more fortunate even boast about how they are capitalizing on our stupidity.

The tourist crop, they say, is better than cotton, wheat, corn or cattle, Now, honestly, is it fair to classify an old boy with a stalk of maize just because he happens to need a shave? And if some portly matron does resemble a bale of cotton, it hardly seems necessary to point out the fact. All one needs to do, according to the propaganda, is learn how to harvest the tourist crop more efficiently — and the money will come rolling into the tills.

Meanwhile, all of these organizations, including the federal and state government, keep right on hatching up plots and sending out tips on how folks all over the country can cash in on the tourist in bigger and better ways.

What we tourists need to consider is some method of retaliation. We need an organization of our own to help the old boy with the station wagon, loaded with an expectant wife and eight kids, who just had a flat tire in that 115-degree heat. We need to sell ourselves on staying at home in the nice air conditioned house, instead of risking our lives in heavy traffic for the privilege of spending a week in some rundown mountain cabin where we have to bring our own water up from the creek.

We tourists make all of this prosperity ole, but no one will cash our checks

Scout Circus Holds Interest

The recent Cub Scout circus, in addition to benefitting a worthwhile cause, goes down as a tribute to the ingenuity and perseverance of both the youngsters who participated and their leaders, who spent untold hours planning and executing the extravaganza.

In addition to providing one of the largest casts ever amassed in Deaf Smith county, the circus also goes on record as having drawn one of the largest crowds to date.

From many standpoints, the event merits favorable consideration. The costumes, generally fabricated by the youngsters, were excellent, and the story was definitely one which folks in this particular area understand and appreciate. Participation on part of the youngsters generated immediate enthusiasm and provided enjoyment for most of the packs, and how much youthful energy was burned up during the rehearsals and execution would be impossible to sur-

To say the least, it was delightfully different, and the spectators had almost as much fun as members of the cast.

Another thing the tourist has every right to protest is the motel sign which reads, "Sorry, No Vacancy", when even a spendthrift tourist can figure out that the motel operator couldn't be happier than when he has no vacancies. This phase of the highly publicized "tourist harvest" is, in a measure, symbolic of what he can expect all along the line from New York to

As tourists, we have already been lured through such mediums as scenery, music, art, history, museums, drama, recreation, sex, wine, beer and whiskey, to say nothing of minor innovations such as baseball, football, boxing, hot rod races, horse races, fishing, hunting, hiking and plain old uninterrupted sleep. In truth, the famous Madison Square Garden never so much as scratched the promotional surface when compared to the modern tourist traps to be found along any given highway in these 50 states. And they are still dreaming up new and devious ways to "harvest" us from our hard-earned cash.

"Once a sucker, always a sucker," said P. T. Barnum in his circus heyday. Barnum added that "one is born every minute", but when it comes to modern day tourism, the birth rate is even higher due to the existence of more people these days.

Perhaps the most unusual thing about the tourist is the fact that he actually seems to like to be harvested. To say the least; he grovels his way through one miserable summer, and always comes back for more next season. He bows his head and suffers treatment on the road which he would never tolerate on his home grounds. He often eats greasy food, sleeps on poor beds, and complains about the service every time he stops - but never thinks of going back home until the very last minute.

Yes, Sir, the tourist steps up and spends his money like a gentleman, and never yet have we found a bunch of tour ists in session, scheming and plotting on how they can "take" their benefactors. The only answer we can come up with is the fact that he figures maybe if all of the places he spends his money do well, the proprietors will become tourists themselves — and perhaps he will some bright day have a chance to get even.

Rural Areas Now 'Wait And Hope'

While congressional re-districting is generating wide interest in many parts of Texas, it appears to be creating very little controversy in this area of the state, due probably to the fact that little change is anticipated in the Panhandle area.

As Texans, however, we will sooner or later note at least a change in legislative attitude as the cities gain more votes and the farm areas less representation. This, after all, is the sole objective of the maneuver — and is certainly to be expected.

Just how the farmer and the rural areas will ultimately fare as a result of redistricting can be determined only as time passes. Due to farm mechanization and ultimate urban growth, there has been a population shift, which unquestionably establishes a certain amount of justice in the new program, wherein Texas has a deadline of Aug. 1 to complete the program or face federal intervention.

In the farm areas, it seems, we have little choice other than to "wait and see", and hope for the best.

Fewer Birthdays

While we have no quarrel with the Chamber of Commerce in passing over the proposed 75th birthday celebration in September - chiefly because if no one is truly interested, it would flop - we did get a kick out of their suggestion that it be delayed until June of 1966.

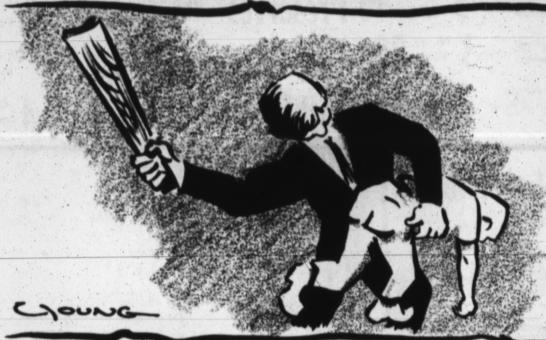

Quite a few of us, in fact, have come to the point that putting off a birthday or two seems an excellent idea.

For The Birds

Birds seem to play an important role in the history of the United States: first, we had the eagle as our national emblem, then along came Lady Bird and Lynda Bird and to show that same peole catch on fast, we notice that a communications corporation named their new communications satellite, "Early Bird."

Lions Club Members Name New Officers

50 YEARS AGO

The commissioners' court met in regular quarterly session this week with all members present. Aside from the routine work, attention was given to the construction of an iron bridge across the river just south of town. Also, the new county jail was examined and accepted by the court.

Owing to the continued pretty weather for doing farm work, there were not many farmers in town Saturday, hence the attendance was small at the Farmer's Institute. However, there was a quorum for business and a quite interesting session was held. Among the questions to receive attention was that pertaining to a market for the local truck produce. It was thought that, if it remains seasonable, the association will have several car loads of melons, onions, etc., to market and it was thought best to locate a good market as early as possible.

10 YEARS AGO

Following a political rally in the Jim Hill Hotel Ballroom, Hereford Lions elected new officers for the coming year at their annual Ladies Night banquet here Thursday. The rally featured fast talking campaign managers, a five piece band, and a wide assortment of political slogans. Elected were Mutt Wheeler, tail twister; Bruce Miller, Lion tamer; Earnest Langley, first vice president; Blue Turpin, secretary; Marcus Latham, second vice president; T. W. Alderson, director; Dub Reeves, president; and Dr. A. T. Mims, third vice president, REP. EARLE CABELL of Dallas - "It seems strange to me that some of those who are most critical of our newly enacted education law are combatting the plan requiring greater participation in education at a local level.

"Most objective observers agree that the newly approved Federal Education Act is a direct result of foot-dragging by many state and local communities in the face of increased need for improving educational facilities.

"HOWEVER, THOSE suggestions that would place more emphasis for improving school facilities upon the local level are being protested, often by the same persons who condemn increased federal school expenditures.

"Without commenting upon the individual merits of either the new federal act (which received my vote) or upon the current deliberations within our state pertaining to education, I would like to suggest that all of us aim for consistency and recognize that the most enduring hope for improbing our schools lies in full acceptance of maximum local responsibility before asking for either state or federal assistance."

"Canyon's own Peace Corps." The words were voiced by a member of West Texas State University's project to teach English to illiterate adult students. The project, aimed at teaching all forms of English — reading, writing, and speaking — was given its first tryout in Hereford, beginning in March of this year. Hereford was chosen as the pilot center for the course, since large number of Latin Americans live in the area and are employed as agricultural workrs. The idea to provide a program for teaching these persons, using volunteer teacher education students from WT, was conceived because members of the faculty felt the school of teacher education had some obligation to help with illiterate adults in the Panhandle. The program was launched after receiving the cooperation of the Hereford Migrant Ministry.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm tries to shift from the farm problem to the city problem this week.

Dear editar:

While I never worry about the future, except maybe on the 9th of the month when I begin worrying about what I'm going to do about some bills on the 10th, still a lot of people do and lately I've been reading about their worrying over the future of the farmer in America.

The question to them is, should small farmers and what they call economically incompetent farmers and marginal farmers be allowed to follow the course of nature and go under, or should they be supported and main-

Some say, let nature take its course, we've got too many farmers now, they produce too much, every time you turn around somebody is putting up another supermarket to try to sell their stuff, Let em move to town and

I have the answer to this problem and will give it to you just as soon as I find the answer to Viet Nam.

Meanwhile, there is another problem that ought to be tackled. According to an article I read last night, an economic expert claims that "many cities are nearly broke now." You mean to say there are "marginal cities," there are "economically incompetent" cities? You mean we've got more cities than the country requires? That we ought to let nature take its course and if Baltimore or New York can't make it, let them go under?

I've never thought about this much, but what do you do with a city that's no longer needed? In fact, the harder I think about it the less I conclude.

I have a notion though that a marginal farmer who is nearly broke is going to think a long time before he gets enthusiastic about moving to a city that's in the same

As I see it, the problem now is: this country has too many farms and too many cities.

There are lots of things to think about outside Vie
