

Braniff Officials File Chapter Eleven

By JOE STROOP Associated Press Writer

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Braniff International officials filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy just after midnight today at the home of a bankruptcy judge.

U.S. Bankruptcy Court Judge John Flowers said Braniff president Howard Putnam and two attorneys appeared at his house to file the papers, which give the airline the right to continue operating.

"They can continue operating; whether they will or not is something I don't know," Flowers said.

"They just called and got me out of bed," Flowers said today. "They got here just a little bit before midnight and said they wanted to file right after midnight."

Flowers, who admitted the filing was "an unusual step," said he gave Braniff 30 days to file the necessary papers describing its financial situation.

Ordinarily, businesses who file for bankruptcy under Chapter 11 have 10 days to file such information, but Flowers said he granted Braniff's request for an additional 20 days.

Braniff's suspension of flight operations Wednesday left passengers, employees, stockholders and competitors uncertain about the airline's future and how far repercussions from the shutdown will spread.

Braniff Vice President Sam Coats announced the suspension of all operations, foreign and domestic, late Wednesday. That decision was reached during a directors' meeting that convened at 3:05 p.m. CDT, five minutes after the New York Stock Exchange closed. Braniff stock fell 1/4 Wednesday to 2 1/2.

"I can't believe this," said Braniff passenger Jim Skyles, ordered off Braniff Flight 494 before it left Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport for Houston. "It's terrible. And I feel sorry for the people, the employees. One of the stewardesses was crying. It's a shame."

"We don't know anything," said a Braniff flight attendant who lives in San Antonio but was stranded in Dallas by the surprise shutdown. "We still don't know if we have jobs. We just don't know. We're not supposed to be talking to you (reporters), but what are they going to do, fire us?"

She declined to give her name as she stood in line to buy a ticket from a competing airline so she could get home.

Ticket counters, lounges, boarding ramps, bars, gift shops and newsstands were abandoned and dark along Braniff's sprawling, 24-gate terminal at D-FW Airport. A skeleton crew of Braniff employees stayed past 5 p.m. Wednesday, the official shutdown time, to help passengers on late-arriving flights find their luggage and shift to other airlines. But ramp agent Arthur Jordan said those employees who stayed late were doing so voluntarily.

"I've been here since 6 a.m. but I'm not being paid for anything past 5 p.m.," said Jordan. He continued to struggle with lost bags and irate travelers well past 9 p.m.

"I'd say it's a major disruption of my travel plans," said

Ross Shelton, whose trip from Corpus Christi, Texas, to Memphis, Tenn., was halted at D-FW by the Braniff shutdown. "I had business meetings, engagements that I'll have to reschedule." Shelton said his flight was not told anything about Braniff's shutdown until the passengers arrived at the (See BRANIFF, Page 2)

In Action Against TDC

Prisoner Transfer Ruling Expected

By JAY JORDEN Associated Press Writer

Federal District Judge William Wayne Justice in Tyler was expected to rule today whether the Texas Department of Corrections would accept prisoner transfers from Dallas County, in the first of two counties' actions against a TDC transfer freeze.

And TDC director W.J. Estelle has been ordered to appear on Monday in a Houston courtroom to explain why the Huntsville prison rejected 68 prisoners being transferred from Harris County.

In San Antonio, the Bexar County sheriff said that he would handcuff prisoners to the fence at Huntsville if their transfer from his overcrowded jail was rejected. City police were being instructed to jail fewer people for minor offenses.

"Just give me the orders and I'll load them up," Neaves told the Bexar County Commissioners Court, who voted to make the county a party to litigation challenging the freeze.

Justice was asked to issue a temporary restraining order against the suspension of transfers by Estelle on Monday, and allow Dallas County officials to intervene in the federal suit against the Texas prison system.

"I will try to give you a very prompt answer — no later than tomorrow," Justice said in Wednesday's hearing.

Dallas attorney Earl Luna told Justice that the Dallas County jail was technically overcrowded, even though it now houses 1,749 inmates, with room for about 2,200.

Luna, who was authorized by Dallas County commissioners to seek a temporary order and mandamus, said more crowding would destroy the prisoner classification system of the jail, which has spare beds only in a minimum security area.

"Dallas County is in a far better position to handle inmates than TDC," said Richard Gray, TDC attorney. "We do not have any spare bunks."

Correctional officials rejected the transfer of 68 prisoners to Huntsville from Harris County on Tuesday night. Houston criminal judges, who organized the challenge to TDC, said corrections officials risked contempt of court citations by turning the prisoners away.

Estelle was ordered on Wednesday to appear before Harris County District Judge Ted Poe after District Attorney John Holmes filed a motion for a show cause hearing. Texas Board of Corrections members said that the state prison system does not comply with a sweeping order issued by Justice on living space requirements, and could not accept more prisoners.

TDC officials did not meet the April 30 deadline set by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to provide 40 square feet of living space to each inmate housed in dormitories.

Texas Parole Board officials on Wednesday released 61 prisoners throughout the TDC system. Estelle said the state will grant early release to another 450 inmates this weekend.

A total of 1,650 prisoners were scheduled to be released early by state parole officials. Lt. Gov. William P. Hobby said the legislative special session could try to deal with prison overcrowding this summer.

But some county judges (See RULING, Page 2)

Hobby Asks Prison Woes Be Included

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says he's not sure Texas' prison problems need to be added to the narrow agenda of a special legislative session even though the prisons have hung out a "no vacancy" sign because of overcrowding.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby met with Clements Wednesday and asked him to open up the May 24 session, which now is scheduled only to consider repeal of the state's ad valorem tax.

Among other things, Hobby wants the state to fund contracts with county jails to house surplus prisoners.

The Texas Department of Corrections is under a federal court order to end overcrowding. On Monday, the 19-unit system's inmate population reached 33,917 and the TDC board closed the system to any more inmates.

The Huntsville unit accepted 14 inmates but sent 54 inmates back to Harris County when county officials tried to deposit them at the prison.

"I'm not sure we need any emergency action at this point," Clements told reporters Wednesday.

Clements said the state Parole Board planned to release 450 prisoners by Monday, bringing the prison into compliance with U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice's order.

"On Monday, we will be in balance, and I think we can handle the situation," Clements said.

Assailant Lunges At Pope in Portugal

By SAMUEL KOO Associated Press Writer

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The man in priest's robes who tried to kill Pope John Paul II lunged at the pontiff with an 18-inch bayonet with a sharpened 12.5-inch blade, police said today. The pope blessed both the bayonet and the attacker after the episode at the Shrine of Fatima, police sources said.

Police said the assailant identified himself as a priest and a disciple of traditionalist Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre, leader of a fundamentalist group opposed to Roman Catholic Church reforms imposed by the Vatican II conference. But the movement's headquarters in Geneva said the assailant constantly disagreed with Lefebvre and left the traditionalists two years ago.

Lisbon Police Inspector Daniel Polonio identified the assailant as Juan Fernandez Krohn, 32, a native of Madrid who had been living near Paris, and said he was charged with attempted homicide. Polonio told reporters Krohn's passport identified him as a "religious," a term generally used to describe clerics as well as seminarians.

Krohn was being interrogated by anti-terrorism investigators at police headquarters in Lisbon, 110 miles southwest of Fatima, and would be arraigned Friday morning, Polonio said. If convicted, he could be imprisoned for 15 to 20 years.

The inspector said Krohn, dressed in a clerical collar and robe, attacked the pontiff with a bayonet that goes with German Mauser rifles still used by Portuguese police.

Security guards overpowered the attacker when he lunged at the pope Wednesday night from about six yards away as the pontiff was approaching an altar erected on the steps of the basilica at the shrine to the Virgin Mary.

The attack was made on the eve of the first anniversary of the assassination attempt in St. Peter's Square in which the pope was critically wounded by shots fired by a Turkish terrorist. The would-be assassin, Mehmet Ali Agca, is now serving a life sentence in an Italian prison.

The pontiff had come to the Shrine of Fatima, in central Portugal, to thank the Virgin Mary for sparing his life a year ago. The shrine marks the spot where three shepherd children said Mary appeared to them six times in (See POPE, Page 2)

"Bi-partisan," according to our dictionary means "involving two parties." Some of our national leaders are using the term in talks over the budget settlement, but each party seems determined to have the "victory."

Meanwhile, the nation suffers the economic recession caused by inflation, taxes and high interest rates. According to reports from economists, business is doing fairly well, on the whole, but the incision is causing business leaders to be cautious.

Texas has been more recession-proof than most states but the budget hassle has taken its toll. Economists are generally predicting a gradual recovery, with business starting to take an upturn in late summer and showing a big improvement this fall.

We don't know how many local farmers got to talk to congressmen Tuesday during the nationwide call-in to discuss the financial problems of agriculture, but the Brand news staff didn't have any luck. We tried a dozen times to get a call through but the lines were always busy.

Rep. Kent Hance, one of about 100 representatives and senators who manned telephone banks and talked to various individuals and groups, was quoted Wednesday as saying the call-in to Capitol Hill will increase the chances of the Farm Crisis Act of 1982 being passed.

Technical Testing

Line graph readings, above, show the swath patterns of aerial spray application flights, right, in a new efficiency testing method developed by the USDA in cooperation with the Texas Aerial Applicators Association. Tri-State Chemical and ICI Americas, Inc., joined with USDA to sponsor a field day of testing Wednesday at Friona. The all-day "fly-in" was the second such day using the method in which a computer gives readouts according to red dye sprayed on a clear film. (Brand Photos)

Aerial Applicators Check Efficiency

By JERI CURTIS Staff Writer

Part of the Friona airport looked like it was painted with cherry Koolaid Wednesday, but it was more than the color of the grass that determined how efficient local aerial applicators' equipment was operating.

Using a computerized testing system developed by the USDA and Texas A&M under a grant from the Texas Aerial Applicators Association, local flyers received printouts and readouts showing a number of specifications on each flight across a test film.

"This particular piece of equipment in actual field testing is the only one like this in the U.S.," according to Gary Garr, sales rep from ICI Americas, Inc. The test was the second to be made. The first was Tuesday in Plainview and a third is in Dumas today.

Sponsored by the TAAA, Tri-State Chemical and ICI Americas, Inc., the "fly-in" was considered a self-improvement project for the applicators.

"The basic purpose is so aerial applicators can test their equipment," said Garr.

"This is the closest facsimile to any spraying in a field. This is a very updated modern method." A red dye mixed with water replaces chemicals for the test flights. Applicators spray the dye onto a clear plastic film laid along a track about 2 1/2 feet above ground. After spraying the, film is reeled in and washed, collecting the dye, which is measured by a photo cell.

The measuring device is wired to a computer which turns out a line graph readout and a printout.

Bob Kragel, an applicator, said his line graph showed him "how wide a swath I made and how much I actually put out."

He said theoretically the graph should have an even arch or trapezoidal shape, (See FLY-IN, Page 2)

Planes Downed, Ship Damaged in Fighting

LONDON (AP) — Two Argentine Skyhawk fighters were shot down, a third fighter crashed and a British warship was damaged slightly in Wednesday's battle off the Falkland Islands, the British Defense Ministry reported today.

On Wednesday, the ministry had said two of three Argentine Skyhawks were shot down by British Sea Wolf missiles when they attacked a British warship about 30 miles west of the disputed islands.

Ian McDonald said today a third Skyhawk was "seen to crash" during the engagement in the five-week dispute.

McDonald said there were no British casualties and the Royal Navy task force was continuing its patrols in the South Atlantic to keep Argentine planes from resupplying forces on the islands.

He said a British warship sustained "comparatively minor damage" which was being repaired. He would not elaborate.

Taking care of her home and three children occupies much of Shelly Burelsmith's time. She and her husband, Larry, who is a patrolman with the Hereford Police Department, have one son and two daughters.

Ethan is ten years old and in the fourth grade at St. Anthony's. Camille, their youngest, is nine and a half months old.
The family attends Community Church, and God is very much at the center of their lives, says Shelly. "We try to raise our children by His principals," she adds.
Shelly enjoys singing, having been a member of the Hereford Chamber Singers for several years. "We don't have a choir at church," says Shelly, "but the whole congregation joins in singing together."

In the summer months, Shelly enjoys teaching swimming for the Red Cross as a water safety instructor. She hopes to begin doing that again next month.

Shelly is a graduate of West Texas State University, where she majored in education. She taught two years at Stanton Junior High from 1974-76 and at Dimmitt High School during the 1978-79 school year. She has also substituted at St. Anthony's in the past.

"I fill in at the Hereford Clinic every once in a while in the X-ray department when someone is gone," she comments. "I enjoy that type of work."
Shelly's favorite craft is liquid embroidery. She has done several large scenes for the children, one of Noah's ark and another of Jesus in the garden. She also enjoys doing latch hook rugs when she can find the time.
Shelly feels that good nutrition is important and tries to avoid artificial additives when possible and replace her families' intake of white flour, sugar, salt, and other not-so-healthy foods with lots of fresh fruits and vegetables.

She especially enjoys baking bread, and uses a recipe from Frank and Margie Ford, of Arrowhead Mills, which is made with whole wheat flour. Her bread recipe follows, as well as a refreshing yogurt recipe and a main dish utilizing plenty of fresh vegetables.

WHOLE WHEAT BREAD
Dissolve 2 pkg. yeast in 1 cup water. Set aside.
Add 1 1/2 cups water to 2 beaten eggs and 1 Tablespoon salt. Then stir in 1/2 cup oil and 1/4 cup honey. Add the yeast mixture into the egg mixture.

Stir in 6-7 cups whole wheat flour all at once. Cover and let rest for 10 minutes.

Knead 6-8 minutes on whole wheat floured surface. Oil bowl and outside surface of dough. Cover and let rise 45 minutes to one hour.

Knead 2 more minutes. Divide dough in half and roll out into a rectangle approximately 8x12 inches. Roll up like a jelly roll and place in greased loaf pan, tucking ends under. Cover and let rise one hour. Bake about 40 minutes at 325 degrees. Makes two 1 lb. loaves.

Variations: Add 1/2 cup raisins or 1 cup candied fruit before stirring in flour; May substitute part rye flour for some of the whole wheat flour.

BANANA SMOOTHIE
2 c. plain yogurt
2 medium frozen bananas
1/2 c. apple juice
1/2 c. strawberries (optional)
6 ice cubes, broken into pieces (optional)
Combine all ingredients except ice cubes in a blender. Whirl until smooth and thick. Add ice cubes if desired.
Yield: Four servings.

STIR-FRY
AMERICAN-STYLE
1 whole round steak, cut into 1-inch squares
1/4 to 1/2 c. soy sauce
Marinate meat in soy sauce for approximately 30 minutes. Put in covered dish and turn several times to distribute sauce.

1 1/2 c. carrots, chopped
1 1/2 c. celery, chopped
1/2 c. mushrooms, cut up
1 (6 oz.) pkg. frozen peas
1 c. fresh broccoli, cut up
1/2 c. onion, chopped
Stir-fry carrots in 1 Tablespoon oil, about 3-4 minutes, in wok or skillet. Remove and stir-fry other vegetables, adding more oil if necessary. Remove all vegetables and add 1 Tablespoon oil and meat mixture. Fry about 10 minutes, adding 1/2 teaspoon ginger to meat as it is cooking.

Mix 1/2 cup cold water with 2 Tablespoons cornstarch and add gradually to meat mixture to make gravy. Continue cooking until almost done. Add vegetables back into meat mixture and simmer a few minutes longer. Remove and serve with rice.
Variations: Can be made with chicken instead of round steak. Pineapple can be used for variety. Any other fresh or frozen vegetables can be used, as long as they are firm and crisp.

Pioneer Round-Up Scheduled Saturday

Scheduled for Saturday, in Plainview, the Pioneer Round-Up will be sponsored for the 54th consecutive year by the Plainview Business and Professional Women's Club. The theme chosen is "The Old and the New."

The first celebration took place March 14, 1929 in the City Auditorium in Plainview when Mrs. Adella Drew served as president.

Georgette Masso, the current president of the Plainview BPW Club, stated all activities this year will be held in the Hale County Agriculture Center.

The reception, beginning at 10 a.m. at the Hale County Agriculture Center in Plainview, is a big feature and is a time when the real "old timers" get together to reminisce and exchange stories of the past.

One of the few remaining parades in Plainview will be staged at 2:30 p.m. originating at the Santa Fe Depot on north Broadway. Those participating are asked to be on hand by 1:30 p.m. Parade will move south on Broadway to the American Legion where it will disband.

Durward Lynch will be parade marshal. The color guard will also head the parade and the Plainview bands will march. Some floats have already been entered. Additional floats are welcome on that date. Antique cars, riding clubs, and miscellaneous riders are some of the other attractions scheduled for the parade. Winners will be announced at the night program.

The concessions and Kuntz Kitchen will be open all day at the Hale County Agriculture center. Sandwiches, pies and cakes will be available at lunch time.

Everyone is invited to shop for baked products made by members of the Plainview BPW Club.

The evening activities will also be held in the Hale County Agriculture Center. From 6-8 p.m. the chuck wagon supper will be served. "Take out" plates will also be available. The meal will consist of son-of-a-gun, barbecue, sour dough biscuits and all the trimmings.

The program will begin at 8 p.m. and will be a musical program featuring Joe Berry, Plainview.

To highlight the evening's activities, the Pioneer Woman of the Plains will be announced. Prizes will be awarded to the couple who have been married the longest, the oldest pioneer present and to the pioneer (over 60) traveling the farthest distance to attend the Round-Up. There will also be group singing.

The square dance will conclude the Pioneer Round-Up again this year. Roy Johnson of Amarillo will be the caller. All who like to square dance, waltz and participate in other couple dances are invited. The Agriculture Center is air conditioned and will be comfortable for dancing from 9 p.m. until 12 midnight.

Tickets, $3.75 (tax included) includes the supper, program and square dance, and may be purchased from any member of the Plainview BPW Club or secured at the door. Bula McGowen is ticket chairman. People of all ages are welcome to attend and help make this 54th Pioneer Round-Up the best yet.

Be Aware Of Cleaning Problems In Clothes

NEW YORK (NEA) — As executive director of the Neighborhood Cleaners Association, fabric expert Bill Seitz goes out each season to find the cleaning booby traps in new fashions.

"Angora sweaters are current problems," said Seitz. "Unless the yarn is pre-shrunk before knitting, you may have a baby sweater after cleaning. Leathers are troublesome, with glues that come through, colors that fade. Some even turn another shade after cleaning."

Both consumers and dry cleaners send Seitz garments that have failed in normal dry cleaning.

"Here's a label which says don't clean, don't wash," said Seitz. "What are you supposed to do with the garment? Fashion is great, but it can give makers a lot of technical trouble."

The Etruscan Shrew, only 3 inches in length, is the smallest adult mammal in nature.

New Prints For Swimsuits

NEW YORK (NEA) — Swimsuits today combine the sleek lines of actionwear with the fashion colors and prints once seen only on suits that seldom entered the water. Swimsuit shapes can be summed up in the maillot and the bikini, but the variations on these themes are endless.

Stretch fabric has turned the one-piece suit, or maillot, into a second skin. Many feature the high-rise leg, cut over the leg right up onto the hip. It's used even for a classic tank suit, such as Marcia Friedman's pale blue suit for Le Bag, with grommet-detailed wide belt. Diva of Tel Aviv puts a bold industrial zipper on the front of its sleek black high-leg maillot, to open at whatever level you please.

Bold prints, launched some years ago by Gortex, now dramatize classic suits everywhere. Some are in simple two-color contrasts, such as Sea Fashions' huge, stylized white leaves on rich royal or burgundy stretch nylon. The print appears on a square-neck halter maillot, a criss-cross back maillot with drawstring-tied high legs, a classic built-up shoulder maillot and a V-neck halter suit with boylegs.

Stretch fabric and careful construction have resulted in second-skin strapless maillots. Sirena uses a striking border print of huge feathers sweeping down from the top, on a black, purple or red ground. At Gabar, the engineered strapless comes in a garden flower mini-print, a white brushstroke print on brown, a spaced moonflower print and a painterly impressionist print of many soft colors. Bold animal prints, such as snakeskin scales or tiger stripes, accent suits at Eni Meeni, which slashes one rope-belted maillot way down in front and cuts away another until it's nothing but a bra and bikini bottom connected by a shaped center strip. Tac-5 lends the bikini importance with black pin-stripes on white. Cole edges the deep V-neck of a solid-color maillot in corded multi-color pinstripes, while Catalina uses vertical chevron pinstriping on a berry-color classic maillot with high-rise legs.

Camp For Diabetic Children Offered

Diabetes doesn't keep West Texas children from enjoying the fun of summer camp. Through the combined efforts of the West Texas District Rotary Clubs and Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center (TTUHSC) School of Medicine, a camp for children with diabetes is being offered.

The camp will be August 2-7 at Camp Butman, near Merkel and is open to children and youths between the ages of six and 18.

Campers will live in cabins and participate in games, crafts, swimming and other sporting activities. Short courses in diabetic control and management will be taught by physicians and social workers.

"Teaching sessions and the entire camp experience are designed to help the campers develop confidence in their ability to care for themselves and to show they can lead happy, normal lives by following good health practices," said S.K. Varma, M.D., medical director of the camp and associate professor and associate chairman of pediatrics at the medical school.

Pediatricians and nurses will be in residence at camp all week, along with registered dietitians who will plan and supervise snacks and meals. Counselors will be medical students and young men and women with diabetes.

This marks the fifth summer the camp has been sponsored by West Texas Rotarians. Although there is a camp fee of $75 per person, Rotarian stress that the fee should not prevent anyone from attending the camp. Information about waiver of fees is available through the TTUHSC Department of Pediatrics.

Deadline for camp registration is June 15. Forms and further information may be obtained through S.K. Varma, M.D., Department of Pediatrics, TTUHSC, Lubbock, Tx. 79430, or phone (806) 743-2310. Forms must be completed by parents or guardians of campers, as well as by the child's physician.

Ann Landers

Consequences Could Be Fatal

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter, age 27, was heavy all her life. When I say "heavy," I mean she weighed 200 pounds when she was 16. (Nan is 5-3). About 18 months ago she went on a strict diet (under a doctor's supervision) and got down to 125 pounds, which was her goal. She looked like a different person, felt wonderful, and her entire attitude toward life changed. Her father and I promised to buy her a new wardrobe if she succeeded in her weight-loss effort and were thrilled to make good the promise.

Last September Nan began to lose more weight. By December she was down to 107 pounds, which we thought was too thin. Her clothes hung on her and she refused to have them altered because she wanted to lose more. She said she still felt fat. Nan maintained that weight and I couldn't figure out how she did it because I had seen her go on frequent (and crazy) binges, devouring everything in the house.

I learned her secret several days ago, and am worried sick that she might be harming herself. After those bizarre eating sprees she goes into the bathroom and forces herself to throw up. I heard her do this three times last week when she stayed with us while her apartment was being remodeled.

Can you tell me if this is dangerous? I have never heard of such a thing, but it doesn't seem normal to me. I have not told Nan I know. Answer in your column, please. I need information and don't know where else to go.—Worried In White Plains

DEAR MOTHER: Your daughter's initial problem started with the illness called anorexia nervosa (self-starvation). Now she has "graduated" to the sickness called bulimia. (Binging and purging).

Both sicknesses are psychological in origin, very difficult to cure and extremely dangerous. These are almost exclusively female illnesses, although some males have been known to have them.

I am sorry to say the craze

Shape-Up With Salad

Warm summer days call for light summer foods. A cool refreshing salad like Shape-Up Turkey Salad is nutritious with an eye on the number of calories.

Cubes of cooked turkey are featured in this tasty salad. Turkey is high in protein and low in fat. Buy cooked turkey breast at the deli or use leftover turkey. Water chestnuts and toasted sesame seeds add a crunch to this summer delight. And garden produce of lettuce, green onions and tomatoes can also add color and freshness to this luncheon salad or lite dinner recipe.

So take a bite, and enjoy the tastes of summer in Shape-Up Turkey Salad.

Shape-Up Turkey Salad

- |   |   |
| 4 cups (1/2 med. head) lettuce, torn into 1" pieces | 2 med. tomatoes, each cut into 8 wedges               |

| 8 oz. can water chestnuts, sliced 1/8"              | 1/2 cup low calorie or regular Italian salad dressing |
| 2 green onions, cut into 1" pieces                  |   |

In 3-qt. bowl toss together all ingredients except salad dressing. Refrigerate until chilled (4/2 to 1 hr.). Toss with salad dressing just before serving. YIELD: 4 (2 cup) servings 216 calories/serving.

Probated Sentence for Abuser Controversial

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — It has been a week since a jury set 10 years probation as punishment for an Army sergeant convicted of sexually abusing his seriously ill six-year-old daughter, but public outcry continues.

Sgt. Russell Smith was convicted May 6 of sexually abusing his daughter, Raquel, who had cerebral palsy. The girl died in November of complications from pneumonia.

State District Judge Edward Marquez, who presided at Smith's trial, said he would not have granted probation had the decision been up to him.

As part of the probation, Judge Marquez ordered Smith not to drink alcoholic beverages for the duration of his probation. He also ruled that Smith cannot return to his military post in Korea.

"Who in the hell is going to insure he keeps his conditions of probation over there," Judge Marquez said.

The portion of probation requiring that Smith not take a drink came after the sergeant testified he was too drunk to remember the night he took his daughter for a ride.

Smith was accused of forcing her into oral sex and of raping her last summer. The sexual abuse charge, a second-degree felony, carried a maximum 20-year prison term and a maximum $10,000 fine. The punishment could have been as light as a two-year probation term.

Speaking out against the punishment have been an official of the rape crisis program of the El Paso Center for Mental Health and Mental Retardation, the prosecutor who handled his case, at least one member of the jury that imposed the probation sentence and members of the community.

One juror, the only woman on the panel, has defended the sentence.

"How can you tell women (who have been raped) to go to court, to go through the legal system if the community is going to let these rapists on the streets," said Maria Ramos, head of the rape crisis program.

Many persons have called her office, she said, "very upset" about the verdict.

"They're asking, 'Is it true, is it really true?'"

Assistant District Attorney Carol Pennock said the case was unlike others she has prosecuted.

"Raquel had numerous orthopedic problems. Just the physical contact itself (without the sexual and psychological damage) was painful enough," Mrs. Pennock said.

Smith's wife and Raquel's mother, Ursula Smith, was frightened of Smith but voluntarily chose to testify against him, Mrs. Pennock said.

"It disturbs me that under the law, the state doesn't have the right to subpoena a spouse to testify (and therefore relieve some of the pressure on the spouse)," she said.

"Until 20 minutes before she came to court, I didn't know whether she would testify," Mrs. Pennock said.

Mrs. Pennock also was unhappy that Smith's primary defense was that he was too drunk to remember what happened and was too drunk to understand what he was doing.

"The defendant was asking, and the jury responded to his plea, 'I was intoxicated, so give me a break,'" Mrs. Pennock said.

"Certainly there are a number of alcoholics in our society who do not rape children, but with that prejudice somehow that's an excuse," she said.

"It's a bad precedent for our society to set. It says, 'If you are intoxicated somehow you are less responsible for your actions.'"

One of the eleven men on the jury, said he is not proud of the sentence.

All jurors must vote unanimously on punishment imposed.

Juror Dan Asher said he remembered reading about lenient sentences given to defendants in other cases and thought "How can that happen?"

"Well, I found out. It really is a bad feeling," he said.

It took about an hour for the jury to reach their decision.

Asher said he was among four jurors who initially pressed for a harsher sentence.

"I told one man who had a 9-year-old girl, 'What if this man had done this to your daughter, the only sure way you have is to lock him up,' but that didn't seem to make a difference to him," Asher said.

Pearl Britton, the woman juror, said she would not have been able to sleep at night knowing Smith was in prison.

won't feel guilty a bit; who is to say what is going to happen down the road? We judged him by what we knew at that time," Ms. Britton said.

"We couldn't see what putting him in prison would accomplish. He had a good record in his military career, no prior arrests, two families to support. It would have been a burden on the taxpayers if they had to support those families while he was in jail."

Lawyer Bob Earp, who defended Smith, said he is concerned that the Army will use the conviction as a "hammer" to require him to leave the service.

Smith is now stationed at nearby Fort Bliss because the judge's order will not allow the Army to return Smith to Korea.

Smith could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

Ms. Ramos admits she is bitter about the outcome of the case, but said she will continue to help victims of sexual abuse.

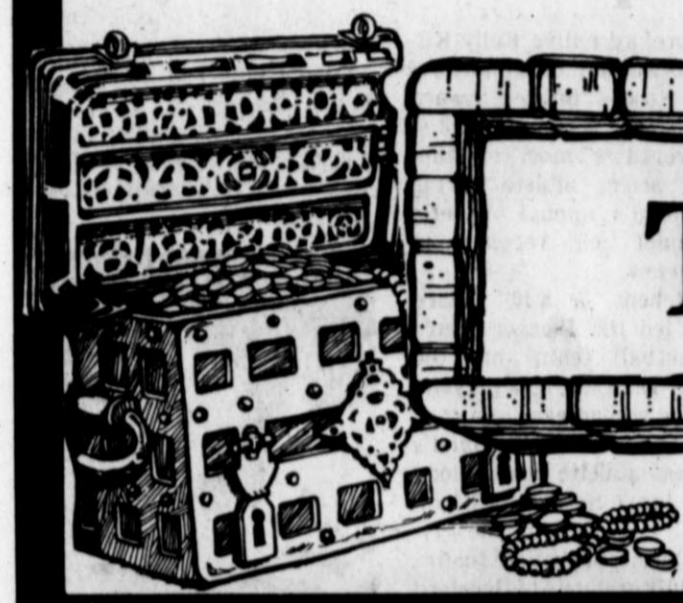

"The jury doesn't have to go to the hospital and see these kids bleeding," she said.

The only safe way to have one for the road is to pour the libation in a chuckhole.

Reed, Phils Rip LA

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

Ron Reed was making his first pitching start in five years, so Philadelphia Phillies Manager Pat Corrales asked him to give him just "five or six good innings" against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

He got more than that from the right-hander, and some offense to boot, as the Phillies routed the Dodgers 11-3 Wednesday night.

The 39-year-old Reed, a relief pitcher since 1977, allowed just six hits in seven innings to record his first victory of the season. In addition, Reed knocked in two runs with a sacrifice fly and a single.

"I felt my arm tighten up between the sixth and seventh inning," said Reed, who survived rain delays of 45 minutes and one hour and 33 minutes.

Corrales turned to Reed as a starter to formulate a five-man rotation, and Corrales said Reed would start again Monday against the Houston Astros.

"He was the most likely guy I had, especially against Los Angeles with its righthanded power," said Corrales of Reed. "I couldn't see starting a left-hander against those guys."

The start was Reed's first since he pitched three innings in a 6-5 loss to the Montreal Expos on Oct. 1, 1977.

Elsewhere in the National League, Atlanta beat Chicago 6-3 and San Francisco nipped Montreal 3-2. Rain washed out the San Diego-New York game.

The Phillies took a 2-0 lead in the first off loser Bob Welch, 4-2, on George Vukovich's bases-loaded single. The Dodgers got a run in the second on Mike Sciozia's sacrifice fly.

The Phillies boosted their lead to 4-1 in the bottom of the inning on a sacrifice fly by Reed and an RBI single by Gary Matthews, then made it 5-1 in the fourth on Pete Rose's run-scoring single.

Reed singled home the sixth Phillies' run in the fifth before Pedro Guerrero hit a solo home run for the Dodgers in the seventh.

The Phillies put the game away with five runs in the eighth, with Vukovich's RBI double keying the rally.

Porfi Altamirano relieved Reed in the eighth and finished up.

Braves 6, Cubs 3

Ken Smith drove home the tie-breaking run with a pinch single and Dale Murphy knocked in three runs, two of them with a ninth-inning homer, to lead Atlanta over Chicago.

Bob Walk, 4-2, picked up the victory for Atlanta with relief help from Gene Garber, who gained his seventh save. Randy Martz, 3-3, took the loss for the Cubs, ending a four-game Chicago winning streak.

Murphy's ninth home run of the year cushioned the Braves' lead in the ninth after Smith's pinch hit had snapped a 3-3 tie in the sixth.

Garber worked the last 11-3 innings and allowed only one base runner. Steve Bedrosian also was close to perfect, giving up one harmless walk in 21-3 innings.

Giants 3, Expos 2

Bill Laskey combined with two relievers on an eight-hitter and San Francisco capitalized on three Montreal errors for a pair of unearned runs in the third inning to defeat the Expos.

The Expos took a 2-0 lead in the third without collecting a hit off Expos starter Steve Rogers, 4-3, who had a no-hitter until Darrell Evans doubled with two out in the sixth.

Montreal third baseman Tim Wallach committed a throwing error on Jim Wohlford's grounder, and then bobbled Johnnie LeMaster's bouncer. Two outs later, Joe Morgan walked to load the bases and Tom O'Malley hit a grounder that handcuffed Montreal first baseman Al Oliver for an error, enabling two runs to score.

The Expos cut the margin to 2-1 in the sixth on Gary Carter's seventh home run. A two-out RBI double by Chili Davis in the seventh gave the Giants a 3-1 margin and their eventual winning run.

Laskey, 2-2, whose two victories have come against Montreal, worked the first 62-3 innings before Dan Schatzeder and Greg Minton followed.

Bullpen Aces Lift A's

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

Yes, the Oakland A's do have a bullpen. Not only that, they have some effective pitchers in it.

The Oakland quartet of Dennis Kinney, Bo McLaughlin, Bob Owchinko and Dave Beard outpitched Baltimore's Jim Palmer, Tim Stoddard and Tippy Martinez Wednesday as the A's rallied for four runs in the eighth inning and a 5-4 victory over the Orioles.

"Their bullpen shut us down," Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver said. "I was expecting one of those guys from our bullpen to come in and close it down for us, but no one did."

In other American League action, Chicago ripped Toronto 9-2, New York edged California 6-5, Kansas City downed Milwaukee 9-7, Boston defeated Minnesota 4-1 and Cleveland beat Seattle 8-5. The Detroit-Texas game was rained out.

Palmer, making his second relief appearance of the year for the Orioles and trying for his first save since 1975, came on in the seventh after starter Mike Flanagan held the A's to one run and two hits before a groin pull flared up. Palmer got through his first inning easily enough, but ran into problems in the eighth when a single by Tony Phillips and a pair of walks loaded the bases.

Weaver summoned Stoddard, who was greeted by Cliff Johnson's two-run single and gave way to Martinez. A walk to Wayne Gross loaded the bases again and, after a double play via the plate left runners at second and third, Dan Meyer singled them home with a grounder through the right side.

Meanwhile, Kinney replaced Oakland starter Mike Noris with one out in the fourth and pitched one scoreless inning. McLaughlin followed with two shutout innings, Owchinko contributed one and Beard worked the last 12-3 — scoreless, of course — to boost his record to 4-0. The four Oakland relievers allowed a total of three hits.

Weaver, whose relievers are 3-8 this season, said the Orioles may make a deal to help their arson squad.

White Sox 9, Blue Jays 2

Greg Luzinski and Bill Almon drove in three runs apiece to back the six-hit pitching of Dennis Lamp. RBI singles by Luzinski and Harold Baines gave the White Sox a 2-0 lead in the first inning against Mark Bomback. Luzinski drove in another run with a third-inning grounder and Almon hit a solo home run in the fourth.

Chicago got its runs in the seventh on a sacrifice fly by Carlton Fisk, a single by Jim Morrison and doubles by Luzinski and Almon. Lamp had a shutout until the ninth when Dave Revering hit a two-run, two-out homer.

Yankees 6, Angels 5

Dave Collins keyed a four-run New York rally in the fourth inning with a two-run single as the Yankees wiped out a 2-1 California lead on Reggie Jackson's two-run first-inning homer. Lou Piniella began the comeback by drawing a one-out walk off Angel Moreno. Roy Smalley and Butch Hobson singled to tie the score and Barry Foote doubled to give New York a 3-2 lead. After Luis Sanchez loaded the bases with two out by walking Willie Randolph, Collins singled for two more runs.

The Yankees made it 6-2 in the fifth when Bobby Murcer's bases-loaded grounder drove in what proved to be the winning run. The Angels chased Mike Morgan in the fifth and Shane Rawley blanked them until they scored twice in the eighth. Rich Gossage retired Jackson on a grounder with runners at second and third to end the inning.

drove in three runs apiece for Kansas City, offsetting three solo home runs by Milwaukee's Paul Molitor and leading the Royals to a sweep of their three-game series. Pryor tagged Randy Lerch for a two-run double in the fourth inning that put the Royals on top 4-2 and he scored on John Wathan's single. McRae's two-run double in the sixth gave the Royals an 8-4 lead.

Molitor, who had only one previous home run, hit solo shots in the first and fifth off Dennis Leonard and in the ninth off Dan Quisenberry. He also singled home a run in the seventh.

Red Sox 4, Twins 1

Jim Rice drove in three runs with a pair of homers and Dennis Eckersley struck out 11 batters in eight innings before needing help from Mark Clear in the ninth. Eckersley was scored on when Kent Hrbek homered in the fourth inning and extended his hitting streak to 22 games, five short of the major league record for a rookie.

The Red Sox broke a 1-1 tie against reliever Ron Davis when Carney Lansford singled with one out in the eighth, stole second, moved to third on Dave Stapleton's fly ball and scored on a single by Glenn Hoffman. With two out in the ninth, Dwight Evans singled and Rice, who hit a solo homer in the fourth, homered again.

Indians 8, Mariners 5

Joe Charboneau collected three hits and drove in three runs for Cleveland. Charboneau delivered RBI singles in the first and second innings when Cleveland built a 5-0 lead against Floyd Bannister. He added his second homer of the season — both in the three games in Seattle — in the fifth to put the Indians ahead 6-4.

Kitchens Named Top WBU Athlete

Hereford native Kelly Kitchens was named recipient of the Roscoe Snyder Award signifying Wayland Baptist University's most outstanding senior athlete during Wayland's annual Athletic Banquet held recently in Planview.

Kitchens, a 5'10" guard who led the Pioneer men's basketball team into the NAIA District eight playoffs for the second year in a row, was named to Wayland's highest athletic honor along with Jamie Horacek of Elgin, Okla., a member of the Flying Queens basketball team.

A 1978 graduate of Hereford High School, Kitchens was recipient of three awards during the festivities. He also won the Pioneers' Most Valuable Player Award and Free-Throw Award.

A two-year member of the Pioneers after transferring to WBU from Odessa College, Kitchens averaged 9.3 points per game this year, shooting 48.5 percent from the field and 86.4 percent from the line. He had 148 assists and 88 steals on the year, setting school records with 14 assists vs. Eastern New Mexico and 12 steals against Sul Ross State.

The all-time assist and steals leader in Pioneer history, Kitchens brought national recognition to Wayland when he was named NAIA National Player of the Week in late January.

A physical education major, Kitchens is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Kitchens of 319 Stadium.

Foyt Recalls First Indy

By STEVE HERMAN AP Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Neither time nor unparalleled success can dim A.J. Foyt's memory of his first Indianapolis 500. It was almost enough to keep him from ever driving again in the race he has come to dominate.

It was 1958. A 15-car crash on the first lap killed veteran driver Pat O'Connor — "one of the worst feelings I ever had," Foyt says.

"They tell you everything to look for, and then they had the bad wreck," he recalls. "And Pat O'Connor, who helped me a lot, I seen him upside down there, with the car on fire. I didn't know if I really wanted to race or not."

"That was probably one of the biggest things that stuck in my mind. I was only 23 years old, and I had never really seen anything like that or experienced anything like that. And it just kind of shocked me pretty much."

He did come back, of course. The next year, he improved his 16th-place finish to 10th. Two years later, in 1961, he won Indy for the first of an unprecedented four times.

Now, at age 47, Foyt is the veteran, preparing for his silver anniversary race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway on May 30 and coming off his own potentially career-ending crash.

He suffered a compound fracture of his right arm in last July's Michigan 500 when his car veered into the wall and slid on its side. Foyt says he was lucky not to lose the arm, and he still can't straighten it.

Foyt is the last link between two racing generations. He started racing before many of the younger drivers were even born. He admits he doesn't even know who some of them are. He's a throwback to the generation of grease-covered, lead-footed drivers who did everything themselves. Yet he has bridged the generation gap with extraordinary suc-
