ONLY A FEW — The windmill on the far left is located at the city dump and a committee has proposed that such a typical symbol be erected on land belonging to Santa Fe Railroad. For many years, the town was known as a city of windmills. Now, a windmill is rare, a wooden one being erected on the grounds of Deaf Smith County Museum. John Turner, long time well man (working on windmills in Hereford since 1921) and his crew are restoring the windmill for the museum. Harry Lomas can be seen working high up on the platform. The other windmill is owned by Jack France and is located in his backyard at Ave. K and Grand Ave. (Hereford Brand Photos)

Bootleggers Fined And Jailed County Court Adopts Stern Liquor Policy

By Tom Porter
Staff-Writer

After dealing with 13 persons charged with liquor violations Monday, County Judge H. C. Williams declared war on "wide open drinking" in Hereford and Deaf Smith County.

Judge Williams made his statement to the 13th person - Francisco Deleon - who appeared just after the Judge had presided over a jury trial for one "bootlegger" and made decisions on 11 others. Still another liquor violator was handled last week in county court.

The action began at 10 a. m. Monday when a four-man, two-woman jury was sworn in to hear the case of Pablo Aguirre of 335 Ave. J. Aguirre, arrested Feb. 19 along with 13 other persons in a raid by local and state authorities, was charged with sale of liquor in a dry county.

After hearing the case, the jury found Aguirre guilty of the charge. Consultation with his lawyers, Tom Upchurch and O. R. Wright of Amarillo, led Aguirre to request that Judge Williams set sentence instead of having the jury do it.

The Judge then met in his chambers with County Attorney Bruce Miller and the defense attorneys for settlement of all the other cases, which also were being handled by Upchurch.

Aguirre was sentenced to seven days in jail and fined $150 and costs. Liquor violation charges were dismissed against Helda Estrada, Lupe DeLaCruz and Ollie Mae Walker.

Other pleas of guilty and the resulting penalties included Andrew Luna, five days in jail, $125 fine and costs; William Walker, five days in jail, $300 and costs; Patsy Estrada, $100 and costs; Eloisa Vega, $100 and costs; Elevina Flores, $100 and costs; Santos Soliz, $100 and costs; and Heronima Estrada, $100 and costs.

The case of Simon Estrada was taken under advisement by Judge Williams because Estrada is seriously ill in the hospital.

Those persons receiving fines were given until June 16 to pay or go to jail. Those also receiving jail sentences will begin serving at that time.

After the other cases had been disposed of, Deleon was brought in to face the charge of possession of liquor in a dry area. He waived the right to have an attorney and trial by jury and then pleaded guilty to the charge.

Deputy Sheriff Johnny Fields testified that he had received a complaint from a reputable citizen that Deleon was selling beer at his trailer house on Austin Road. About 11 p. m. Saturday, Fields stated, he had gone to a search warrant and gotten to Deleon's home to investigate the charge.

In the home, Fields said, he found two iceboxes containing

Annual Band, Choir Concert Is Tonight

The Hereford High School Band and Choirs will present a joint concert at the high school auditorium tonight at 8:00.

The band is the one that has just recently topped top honors at the Buccaneer Days Festival in Corpus Christi and the A Cappella choir is also the one that won second place at the same event.

The band was chosen as "Outstanding Band" and the choir came in second in the "Outstanding Choir" category.

The Girls Choir and the Sophomore Girls Choir will also perform during the concert.

The Whiteface Band, winner of the U. I. L. Sweepstakes award for the past consecutive five years, will perform five numbers. They are "Pride of the Wolverines," "Irish Tune From County Derry," "Hendimetz Symphony for Band," "Mozart Concerto No. 3" and "Yesterday."

The Girls Choir will sing "A Jubilant Song," "Ave Maria" and "Deo Gracias."

The Sophomore Girls Choir will perform "Hodie Christus Natus Este," "Regonia Coeli," "Sound of Music" and "Supercalifragilisticexpialidocious."

The A Cappella Choir will sing "Lamentation of Jeremiah," "Melodies Steal Into My Heart," "Magnificat" and "An-A That Good News."

The band and choirs will perform together "From Sea To Shining Sea."

The admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students. The band is under the direction of Ben Gollehon and the Choirs are directed by Richard Jackson.

Children Cost Plenty In Deaf Smith County

NEW YORK May 13 — What price parenthood in Deaf Smith County? With living costs as they are locally, how much does it take nowadays to raise a child to age 18?

For the average-income family in the local area, the cost is now approximately $25,000. That is what it amounts to in families with two children. In those with only one child, it is somewhat more than that and, in larger families, where hand-me-downs are possible slightly less per child.

The zooming cost of rearing children in the United States is reported in studies made by the Institute of Life Insurance, the Department of Agriculture and others.

They show that it takes considerably more money than it did 20 years ago. At that time, according to surveys made then, a typical American family needed no more than $7,425 to provide for a child to age 18.

Today they would require more than that for his food alone. At current prices, this item of cost would be about $7,000. It amounts to several hundred dollars more than that for a boy and correspondingly less for a girl.

Just how much an individual family spends in the course of raising a child depends, chiefly, on its financial ability.

For those with net earnings of from $6,000 to $8,000 a year, the income bracket of the average Deaf Smith County family the estimated expenditure to age 18 is $25,000.

The studies show that families in the $14,000 to $16,000 category spend approximately $61,000, while those in the $3,000 to $5,000 income group spend considerably less, about $15,000.

The other items of child-rearing expense, in addition to food, have been estimated on a national basis for the average family.

They include hospital charges and other costs in connection with the birth of the child, $750; housing for 18 years, $7,850; transportation, $3,700 and clothing, $1,750.

In addition, there is medical care, recreation, books, cosmetics and the many other items or cost involved in bringing up junior.

For the 340 or so boys and girls in Deaf Smith County who are reaching 18 this year, the total outlay on the part of their parents figures out to more than $8,500,000.

Dedication Is Planned June 14

Plans are being made for the formal opening of the new post office building in Hereford. Dedication services will be held on Saturday, June 17.

Tentative plans call for a speakers stand on the post office grounds with special guests being entertained at a luncheon. Neil Cooper, president of the Chamber of Commerce will be master of ceremonies and music will be provided by the high school band.

The planning committee has invited Senator Ralph Yarborough and Walter Rogers, but at this time it is now known will be present for the ceremony.

Working on plans are postmaster Nolan Grady, Melvin Young, Bill Thompson, Mrs. O. G. Hill, Sr. and Cooper.

Drive-In Service Is Unwanted

All of a sudden Mac's Coffee House, 1300 E. 1, had drive-in service Sunday afternoon. At least that was the impression created by the actions of one man.

About 1:10 p. m. Sunday, as several persons sat eating their dinner, a vehicle came blasting through the east wall. Cafe employees said the car entered with a crash directly behind a booth in which two men sat eating.

"One second they were sitting there eating and the next thing we knew they were at the cash register on the other side of the room," said one man.

Carrey W. Scroggins of Route 1, Hereford, driver of the vehicle, was inside drinking coffee when the police arrived. He told the officers he had been working on his gas gauge when the accident occurred.

Scroggins was charged with being drunk and later fined $50. Damage estimate was set at $350. The unwanted drive-in service window was boarded up.

Golf Duties Are Given Manager Rates Go Up On Local Course

Hereford City Commissioners, after lengthy discussion with several golfers Monday night, enacted an ordinance dissolving the Golf Course Committee and put City Manager Dudley Bayne in charge of the Municipal Golf Course.

Seven men met with the commissioners "to see if a more harmonious relationship could be worked out between the City Commission and the golfers."

During the discussion, the golfers said they felt important issues were the lack of tournaments and low green fees which are attracting golfers from out of town and crowding the course.

It was pointed out by commissioners and the golfers that action concerning the problems should have initiated with the Golf Course Committee. A suggestion of the golfers and Bayne, commissioners enacted the ordinance which repealed the ordinance setting up the committee. Bayne told commissioners he felt the committee members had good intentions but could take action only at the risk of hurting the feelings of fellow golfers.

After the committee was dissolved and the course put into the hands of Bayne, he presented a new rate of green fees for approval by commissioners. Included was a new charge of 50 cents for using gas or electric carts.

Weekday green fees were raised from 75 cents to $1 per nine holes and from $1.50 to $2 for the entire day. On Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, the fees were raised from $1 to $1.50 for nine holes and from $2 to $3 for all day.

Commissioners suggested that Bayne and the course professional Bob Baker work out a schedule for tournaments.

Golfers attending the meeting were Troy Moore, Dr. John Channer, Owen Seamans, D. C. McWhorter, Bartley Dowell, W. C. Russell and W. L. Davis Jr.

Orval Watson Ford was low bidder on a three-quarter ton pickup purchased by the city for the Fire Department. Low bid for the truck, which will replace one wrecked April 22 near the scene of a double drowning at the end of Catalpa Street just outside the city, was $2,180.97.

Other bids were submitted by Orsborn Chevrolet-Olds, $2,386, and Hays Implement Co., $2,207.57 for an International.

Bayne said insurance on the wrecked truck paid about $2,200, but much of the special equipment had been ruined to run the costs up.

An annexation petition by N. D. Bartlett was not acted on because the petition had not been filed the required 20 days. Bartlett is attempting to enter the portion of land north of 15th between Avenues F and H as a "C-Multi-Family" zoning district.

Also passed were bids for a sprinkler system at the Community Center. Jim Pavlicek Co. and Jim's Plumbing and Heating Co. submitted bids but full information had not been made available for commissioners.

The commission voted to "farm out" the tax roll this year because of inadequate machinery. Commissioner Lloyd Sharp said commissioners have been discussing buying new machinery for three years but something else more vital always has come up.

Bayne said the Steck Co. of Austin has bid $1,200 for the

Mid Plains Pioneers Plan May Celebration

Mid Plains Pioneers will be treated to a pageant this year — an addition to the usual relaxed day of visiting and reminiscing. Mrs. Corrine Neely is making arrangements but is keeping details a secret. May 30 is the day of the annual gathering of pioneers and this year they will again use the Bull

Barn for the all day meeting. Last year over 500 long time residents met to recall old times, acquaintances and share a basket lunch. Mid-Plains encompasses all of the center section of the Panhandle, including from Amarillo on through Friona and Bovina. No length of residence is required for membership. Last year, there were 227 dues paying members. Dues are $1. Jessie Ann Buckner Davis is chairman of membership this year and will be taking dues at the Bull Barn, Tuesday, May 30 during the annual meeting.

Pioneer Study Club plans to again help with registration and refreshments during the morning. Mrs. Ralph McCullough and Mrs. Delmar Sigle, Pioneer Study Club members, head committees to arrange the morning affairs.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a. m. and coffee and doughnuts will be served during the morning by the club.

Another feature this year will be the naming of a senior citizen under the sponsorship of KPAN. Nominations are to be made by May 24 to the radio

Saturday Rites Planned For Early Resident

A member of one of the earliest-resident families in Hereford, Mrs. N. E. McIntire of San Antonio, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Gass who moved here in 1899, died at the age of 85 Tuesday night in a San Antonio convalescent home.

She had lived in that city about five years. She and her husband operated a pharmacy in Canyon from 1911 to 1947, and she went to San Antonio after his death in 1960 to be near her daughter, Mrs. J. P. See SATURDAY RITES Page 2

Water, Inc. Plans May 24 Meeting

Numerous local and area residents are expected to be in attendance at Lubbock Wednesday when Water, Inc., will be presented for review.

Reservations are being taken at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce office from those wishing to make the trip by chartered bus. Cost of the trip by bus, which is expected to leave Hereford at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday, is $4.50. A box lunch will be served for $1.25.

During a meeting of the Deaf Smith County Water Association last Friday, the county group emphasized the importance of having Deaf Smith County and surrounding counties represented in Water, Inc.

R. C. (Dick) Godwin, chairman of the DSCWA, said the new association — Water, Inc. — will "provide the efforts necessary for developing imported water projects, transporting large quantities of water from the Mississippi River system into various parts, including Deaf

Price To Speak Here Saturday

A report to the people will be made Saturday night in the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn by Congressman Bob Price.

The freshman congressman will be making his second appearance and first speech here since being elected in November. He made a trip to the city for a "thank you" reception shortly after the campaign ended but did not speak at that time.

Since arriving in Washington, Rep. Price has been named to an Agriculture Committee and sub-committee on cotton, wheat, grain sorghum and livestock.

A barbecue supper, which begins at 8 p. m., will precede the talk by Price. Master of ceremonies for the night will be Clint Formy of KPAN, and soloist will be Ben Gollehon.

Mary Rando of Friona will present a patriotic reading. Tickets to be sold at the door, will be $2 for adults and $1 for children.

36 quarts of beer. DeLeon was taken into custody and charged with possession of liquor in a dry area.

Speaking to DeLeon, Judge Williams explained about the cases he had just handled and said "the court has not set a precedent for bootlegging in this county. I don't know whether it be fortunate or unfortunate that you have appeared at this time."

"There will be a policy from here on," continued the Judge. "A person brought into this court on a first charge of liquor violation will be given 15 days in jail and fined $200 and costs, if he pleads guilty."

"The next time he is brought in on a liquor violation charge, both the fine and sentence will graduate up."

"This court is not going to tolerate wide open drinking in this county. This court does not wish to enter into a controversy about drinking, liquor violations, private clubs and such, but this is going to stop. From here on the precedent is set."

DeLeon was taken to the County Jail to begin serving his 15 days. It was his first charge of liquor violation.

At the start of the trial for Aguirre, Upchurch told the jury panel that his client had four previous convictions on liquor violations and had "paid the overhead then." He asked if this fact would influence anyone should they be chosen for the jury. No one was disqualified.

Upchurch said his client also was admitting that he had possessed liquor in a dry area — one of the charges against him — but had declared he did not sell any of the beer to an agent for the Liquor Control Board. Aguirre said "if I was guilty, I would be man enough to come in and plead guilty before the judge."

Leonard Lazano, inspector for the Texas Liquor Control Board, testified that he had been asked to come to Hereford by Sheriff Ed Roberson and check for liquor violations. On Feb. 17, he stated, he had arrived in Hereford and had been shown places where alleged bootleggers lived. One of them was Aguirre's home.

Lazano testified that he had bought three quarts of beer from Aguirre on the morning of Feb. 19 after he had made a previous trip to the home. Aguirre refused to sell the first time, he said. He paid $1 a quart for the beer.

Later that afternoon, the raid was conducted by the law enforcers and Aguirre was among those arrested.

Under cross-examination by Upchurch, Lazano said the reason he was sent into a county was because "to be able to prove a case in court you must have a buyer you can count on and we just don't like to try and use the citizen."

Lazano said his usual procedure is to come into a town, try to get into a crowd which might be buying liquor and then go with them.

"Your job is to induce the persons to sell you liquor then," said Upchurch. "I don't try to induce them to do anything," replied Lazano. "If they don't want to sell it to me, that's fine."

William H. "Bill" Austin, an area chief of the LCB, collaborated Lazano's testimony. During questioning by Upchurch, Austin described the procedure in a raid such as that on Feb. 19. He admitted that during the multiple arrests and seizure of liquor at the various homes, that errors could be made when filing the complaints.

"You acted on the word of your agent in filing this complaint and if he made a mistake, you compounded it. Is that true," asked Upchurch. "Yes, it's possible," replied Austin.

Testifying in his own behalf, Aguirre said Lazano had come to his home three times on Feb. 19, was refused twice when he wanted to buy beer, and came back the last time with a search warrant. At that time, Aguirre said, officers found two quarts of beer in his icebox.

During his examination of Aguirre, Miller went over the defendant's past record. He was interrupted by Wright, who said his client already had admitted previous offenses.

Judge Williams, in reading the charge to the jury, said Aguirre was charged with a misdemeanor and was subject to a fine of "not less than $100 or more than $1,000, or a jail sentence of no less than one day and no more than one year — or both fine and imprisonment."

In his address to the jury, Miller repeated Aguirre's past record. Upchurch said he felt two facts stood out in the case — the first being the guilt or innocence of the defendant and the other, the law itself.

Upchurch said he disapproved of the methods used by the LCB because "mistakes are made in this way. That is the danger of this law. This type of operation and the way it is handled can cause confusion. And there appears to be a mistake of fact on Mr. Lazano's part in this case."

"The law should include all persons," Upchurch said in arguing that he felt the operation of private clubs is just as illegal. "Is it right for a waitress in a club to make each person coming in a guest, take his bottle and mix him drinks?"

"You as a jury can change this law by rejecting this case here today," said Upchurch.

Members of the jury were Emory Brownlow, Dave Hopper Bruce Burney, Mrs. Clara Ackers, Joe Hodges and Mrs. P. L. Carmichael.

Following the trial, a member of the Sheriff's Department said, "this decision indicates how the people in the county feel about drinking and bootleggers, and we're going to make every effort to see that they don't operate here."

In other county court action, Carlard J. Campbell was fined $25 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of driving while license suspended. Bill Combs was sentenced to 90 days in jail — the sentence to be served if he violates a two-year probation — on a charge of swindle with worthless check. Combs was ordered to make restitution.

Mrs. Williams Funeral Rites Scheduled Today

Funeral services for Mrs. O. C. Williams, 76, Star Route, will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. today in First Methodist Church. Mrs. Williams died Tuesday morning in a local hospital after a long illness.

The Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor of the church, will officiate for the funeral, assisted by J. A. Cooley of Panhandle and O. Butler of White Deer. Burial in Rest Lawn Memorial Park will be directed by Gililand Funeral Home.

Born Aug. 26, 1890, in Ohio, her maiden name was Flora Bishop. She married O. C. Williams June 19, 1910 and they moved to Deaf Smith County in 1948 from White Deer. She was a member of First Methodist Church.

She is survived by her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Verna Salvino of Hereford and Mrs. W. R. Howard of White Deer; five sons, Oscar Lee Williams of Hereford, Clarence C. Williams of Panhandle, Alvin, Horace and Clifton Williams of White Deer; a brother, John Bishop of Quail; a sister, Mrs. Minnie Muncy of Amarillo; 22 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Palbearers named for the funeral are Frank Bezner, Buster Campbell, Gene Guynes, Aubrey E. Hodges, E. J. Williams, L. C. O'Neal and Clinton Ward.

Whittington. Surviving her also are two sisters, Mrs. George V. Stambaugh of Hereford and Mrs. U. N. Oliver of Amarillo, and a granddaughter.

Funeral services are planned for 11 a. m. Saturday at LaGrone Funeral Chapel in Canyon. The Rev. Newton Starnes, pastor of Canyon First Methodist Church, will officiate and burial will be in Dreamland Cemetery.

As a member of the Gass family, Mrs. McIntire was living with her parents in Tullia, where her father was a pioneer merchant, when the town of Hereford was founded in 1898. Mr. Gass arranged to open a general merchandise store in the new town, but his family had to wait a year to move here, until a suitable residence could be found.

For the next 40 years, the D. R. Gass and Son store was a part of growing Main Street; its owners were also interested in developing farming and ranching in this area, and the three daughters had a vital part in the social and cultural life of Hereford.

job. He pointed out that the cost of materials alone would be about $700 and then the city would have to rent machinery. Also, the tax rolls would be in a safe place if a fire happened to hit here.

Commissioners were reminded that Hereford will be host city for the regional meeting of the Texas Municipal League June 1. The meetings of city officials are held at the Coronado Inn in Amarillo.

The commissioners also said they intend to be in Lubbock Wednesday for the meeting of Water, Inc. The meeting is detailed in this issue of the Sunday Brand.

Funeral Held Saturday For Mrs. Fred Henry

The funeral of Mrs. Fred Henry, 59, Route 4, who died in an Amarillo rest home after a lengthy illness, was conducted Saturday afternoon in Temple Baptist Church by the Rev. Genoa Goad, pastor of First Baptist Church at Goree.

Burial was in West Park Cemetery, directed by Gilliland Funeral Home, with Ira Ott, J. B. Caraway, W. O. Cocanougher, Luke Miller, L. C. Hewitt and Fred Muller as pallbearers.

Mrs. Henry and her husband, Fred Henry, whom she married June 21, 1925 in Sweetwater, came to this county in 1933 from Plainview. She was born Aug. 22, 1907 in Nolan County.

Survivors include her husband; three daughters, Mrs. Jerry Skypala of Hereford, Mrs. Mildred Pickrell of Seattle and Mrs. Betty Stevens of Denton; a son, Fred Henry Jr. of Denton; a sister, Mrs. Claud Rae of Canyon; a brother, D. W. Henry Jr. of Plainview; five grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Community Schedules Film

Showing of a film titled On The Square, with scenes made during a tour of northern Europe and into Russia, is scheduled at 8:30 p. m. Friday at the community building in Dawn with the public invited.

The program is sponsored by the Dawn Community Association, of which Jim McCabe is chairman, and is one of a series of varied programs of interest to all residents in the neighborhood.

"Cotton John" Smith of Amarillo, who conducted the tour and edited the film, is expected to be present Friday evening to comment on the events of the trip, made by a group largely composed of West Texas farmers and their wives.

Those wishing to make reservations on the chartered bus should contact the Chamber of Commerce.

Livestock Report Sent In Mail

Rural patrons of the Hereford Post Office are to be on the lookout for June Livestock Survey Cards. Next week, mail carriers will leave survey cards in a sample of boxes along their routes.

"USDA bases livestock and poultry estimates on replies to this survey," Nolan Grady postmaster explains. "It is important for everyone who gets a card to fill it out and return it to the carrier. This way, USDA gets a representative sample of the area's livestock and poultry holdings."

Carriers assisting with the survey are: Coleman Wright Route 1; LeRoy Price Route 2; Howard Armstrong Route 3; Owen Stagner Route 4; Eursel Young Route 5.

Survey cards will be forwarded to Cary D. Palmer, State Agricultural Statistician, in Austin. After adding and analyzing these cards, USDA statisticians are able to estimate the State's milk production, calf and pig crops, lamb and wool crops, and the number of hens and pullets.

Information from this survey will guide livestock and poultry producers in making important business decisions," Grady concludes.

By MELVIN YOUNG
In just a few days now school will be out and the kids will be home to help mom in the kitchen yard, etc., and we're sure that mom is looking forward to the association.

In view of this, we thought the following directions on "How to Bake A Cake," taken from the Kerr Paper Company newsletter was quite appropriate.

Read carefully, and follow directions.

Light oven, get out bowl, spoons and ingredients. Grease pans, chop nuts. Remove 18 blocks and 7 toy autos from kitchen table.

Measure 2 cups flour; remove kids hands from flour, wash kids. Measure 1 cup more flour to replace flour on floor.

Pur flour, salt, baking powder in sifter. Get dustpan and sweep up pieces of bowl which said kids knocked on floor. Get another bowl. Answer doorbell. Answer phone. Bandage foot cut on missed piece of bowl. Return to kitchen. Remove kids' hands from bowl. Wash kids. Get out eggs. Answer phone. Take greased pan and remove 1/4 inch salt. Look for kid that did it. Grease another pan. Answer doorbell, then phone (always timed for togetherness).

Return to kitchen and remove kids' hands from bowl; wash shortening, etc., off of them.

Take up greased pans and remove chopped egg shells layering bottom. Head for kids who flee, knocking bowl off table with mixer still going.

Wash kitchen floor, table, ceiling, walls, dishes, kids. Call the baker. Lie down and cry.

And there you have it mom. Something to look forward too.

Received word this week from the Ronald Babiones that their daughter Charlotte was named valedictorian at Altus, Okla. High School.

The Babiones will be remembered here by many friends and associates. Ronald farmed in this community for a number of years, and Mrs. Babione was quite active in community, club and social circles.

Needless to say, the parents are quite proud of their daughter.

Man, we're told, is the only animal dumb enough to work and pile up things he doesn't need.

And down in Lubbock, one enterprising businessman has announced that a Dinner Theater will be built in that city to be known as Hayloft Dinner Theater. The new entertainment center will be located on a 3 acre site just off the Brownfield Highway on Carlisle Road.

Dinner Theaters are a new concept for a complete evening's entertainment. Through advanced reservations the patron will arrive at a well prepared gourmet buffet. After dinner the guest will enjoy a Broadway play with a New York cast. The new Dinner Theater will be in the "round" and will be equipped with a specially designed stage which will descend from the ceiling lowering the actors to the area where the buffet stood only a few minutes before.

According to the builder, this is to be the first dinner theater of this type to be built in Texas, and is believed to be the first to be built west of Atlanta, Ga.

The Hereford Association of New Car Dealers has announced a Spring Festival Auto Show to be held in Sugarland Mall, Thursday, May 18-20. All new car models will be on display at the shopping center so if you're interested in seeing all the new ones under one roof, go on out. It should be interesting.

A recent poll showed that 73 percent of the people interviewed were confused about U. S. foreign affairs. What's disturbing is that the poll was taken in our State Department.

ORIGIN OF FIRE — A residence near the intersection of East Park Avenue and Avenue K received heavy smoke damage Tuesday afternoon when fire apparently began in a trash can. Firemen said the blaze, which was reported at 2:18 p.m., burned some shelves and damaged other items nearby, but most of the damage was by smoke. The general alarm sent all fire units to the scene. Double Surprise Dinner Is Given

A double surprise dinner, with each honoree prepared to surprise the other, was given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Henry and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Martin Tuesday evening.

Dinner was served informally at a buffet table bright with roses and peonies from Hereford gardens. Table games and talk occupied the evening for a dozen couples.

Dr. Noble Ballard, who is leaving soon for two weeks' Army reserve duty at Ft. Chaffee, Ark., was bidden goodbye and presented a gift, while Martin was honored on his birthday.

While Dr. Ballard is at Fort Chaffee for military service, Mrs. Ballard and their small son are to visit her parents at Claremore, Okla., and other relatives in that vicinity.

Another Hereford physician, Dr. Howard Johnson, has also been called for the two-week period.

A large cake had a "happy birthday" inscription on one end and a note that "we will miss you" on the other. Designs of a hunting dog and gun and a plane, emblems of the men's hobbies, decorated the cake.

Lots of minced canned pimiento is an excellent addition to creamed shrimp or crabmeat.

turned unserved. The officer executing this writ shall promptly serve the same according to the requirements of law, and the mandates hereof, and make due return as the law directs on or before the 12th day of June, 1967.

UNDERWOOD, WILSON, SUTTON, HEARE and BERRY P. O. Box 550 Amarillo, Texas 79105 ATTORNEYS FOR PETITIONER

(Signed) H. A. BERRY ONE OF COUNSEL Said application was heretofore duly filed with the Commissioners Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas and was duly set for hearing before the Commissioners Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas, such hearing to be on the 12th day of June, 1967, at 10:00 o'clock a. m., said latter date being a regular term of the Commissioners Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas. If this citation is not served within ninety days after the date of its issuance, it shall be re-

Issued and given under my hand and the seal of the Commissioners Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas, at Hereford, Texas, pursuant to the direction of said Commissioners Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas, this 8th day of May, 1967. Rainbows To Sell Coffee As Trip Aid

Paying their own way to a session of the Grand Assembly of the Rainbow Order of Texas is the goal of Hereford girls in the order, who have declared a work day Saturday to earn funds for the trip.

With cooperation of their adult board of advisors and of Ervin Ward, they will serve the coffee and doughnuts at Ward's Restaurant Saturday. All proceeds of coffee sales that morning, will be donated to the trip fund. The coffee-drinking public is invited to patronize them.

While members are taking turns as waitresses during the coffee hours, others will be conducting a rummage sale on the Shook Tire Co. lot. Articles of rummage are being collected this week for that fund-raising effort.

Twenty girls from the Hereford Rainbow Chapter with four adults, Mrs. O. H. Culpepper, Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Jr., Mrs. R. B. Hutson and Ray Todd, plan to go to the Grand Assembly at San Antonio next month.

Two adults and 19 members from Amarillo are to go in the same party, in a chartered bus.

Kathy Miller is worthy advisor of the Hereford Rainbow Girls and Mrs. Culpepper mother advisor. Girls who are to serve the coffee early, from 7:30 to 9 a. m. are Lynda Jacobsen, Becky Elliot, Kay Ticker and Cynthia Hanna.

Little League Parents Organize

Mrs. Lloyd Crume and Mrs. Clinton Ward have been elected co-chairmen of the Little League Mothers.

Other officers of the organization are Mrs. Ed Line, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Ed Loerwald, Mrs. Turman Reagan and Mrs. Jas Higgins, purchasing agents.

Team chairmen of the Pee Wee teams are Mrs. Andy Sawyer, Braves; Mrs. Robert Horton, Dodgers; Mrs. W. E. Wells Giants, and Mrs. Lloyd Hubbard, Cards.

Chairmen for the Minor teams are Mrs. Don Shaw, Giants; Mrs. C. P. Urbanczyk, Dodgers; Mrs. Joe Frank Clark, Angels; Mrs. Frank Ford Jr., Colts; Mrs. Roger Pickens, Yankees; Mrs. Sam Long, Braves; Mrs. Jerry Landers, Cards, and Mrs. Tommy Murphey, Cubs.

Team chairmen for the major teams are Mrs. Clinton Massie, Giants; Mrs. Merl Bridges, Dodgers; Mrs. Charles Duval, Angels; Mrs. S. P. Hackley, Colts; Mrs. Milton Adams, Yankees; Mrs. Bob Clark, Braves; Mrs. Guy Cornelius, Cards, and Mrs. John Burns, Cubs.

Family Has Gathering For Mother

For Mothers Day, Mrs. C. P. Worthan Sr. was honoree at a family dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Worthan Jr., with four of her sons, their wives, and a number of grandchildren present.

Also, there were five great-grandchildren, all under the age of four, to help make the day lively. Mrs. Worthan, now living at West Gate residence home, will be 80 years old her next birthday, in January.

The sons and wives present were Messrs. and Mmes. L. B. Worthan of Hereford, E. D. Worthan of Abernathy and D. O. Worthan of Big Spring.

Grandchildren and families were the Don Cocanoughers and Don Jr. of Hereford; the Kenneth Booths and daughters, Veronda, Kerri and Dianne of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Stepper of Big Spring, Mrs. Skipper Neil and Shelley of Abilene.

They will be followed by Carroll Todd, Hegna Hampton and Carole Coffey, 9 to 1:30. Annie Nunley, Cindy Hale, Vicki Brownlow, Joette Hanna and Kim Ward, 10:30 to noon.

Regular spoonbread made with cornmeal is delicious, but so is the variety of spoonbread that is made with cooked hominy grits.

Legal Notice

STATE OF TEXAS TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF DEAF SMITH COUNTY, TEXAS, GREETING:

You are hereby commanded to cause to be published in a newspaper published in Deaf Smith County, Texas, in the English language, for at least three weeks prior to June 12, 1967, the following notice, the first publication to be no later than May 21, 1967:

LEGAL NOTICE STATE OF TEXAS COUNTY OF DEAF SMITH TO ANY AND ALL PERSONS INTERESTED IN THE SUBDIVISION AND PLAT OF THE TOWNSITE OF JOEVAN, DEAF SMITH COUNTY, TEXAS, OR INTERESTED IN THE LAND DESCRIBED IN THE APPLICATION SET OUT HEREIN-BELOW:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear before the Commissioners Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas, in the County Commissioners Courtroom at the Courthouse thereof, in Hereford, Texas, at 10:00 o'clock a. m. on the 12th day of June, 1967, to protest if desired against any action by the Commissioners Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas, cancelling and authorizing the cancellation of the Subdivision and Plat of the Townsite of JOEVAN, Deaf Smith County, Texas, as prayed for in the following application on file with the Clerk of the Commissioners Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas, to wit:

NO. 2193 IN THE MATTER OF THE VACATION OF THE PLAT AND SUBDIVISION OF THE TOWN OF JOEVAN OF THE SOUTHWEST SEVENTEEN ACRES OF THE E/2 OF SECTION 7 BLOCK E, DEAF SMITH COUNTY, TEXAS

COURT OF DEAF SMITH COUNTY, TEXAS TO SAID HONORABLE COURT Your petitioner, VEGA WHEAT GROWERS, INC., presents herewith an application to cancel and vacate the Subdivision of the Town of JoEvan and the dedication deed and plat thereof recorded in Vol. 172, Page 221 et seq. Deed Records of Deaf Smith County, Texas, and to return the same to acreage. In support of said application petitioner would show as follows:

1. Petitioner is the owner of all of the Townsite of JoEvan, in Deaf Smith County, Texas, which townsite is described as follows:

The Southwest 17 acres of the E/2 of Section No. 7, Block E, Deaf Smith County, Texas, described by metes and bounds as follows:

BEGINNING at the southwest corner of the E/2 of Section 7, Block E; THENCE East with the south line of said E/2 of Section 7, Block E, 710 feet; THENCE North at 50 feet a 1 1/2" iron pipe and at 1050 feet a 1-1/2" iron pipe, the north east corner of this survey;

THENCE West parallel with the south line of the E/2 of Section 7, Block E, at 603 feet a 1-1/4" iron pipe, and at 663 feet the center of State Highway 51 and the west line of the E/2 of Section 7, Block E, for the northwest corner of this survey;

THENCE Southerly with the west line of the E/2 of Section 7, Block E, 1051 feet to the place of beginning.

2. Petitioner would further show that on January 22, 1957, V. T. Tanner caused to be filed a certain dedication instrument subdividing the last above described land and premises to what was designated as the Town JoEvan of the Southwest seventeen acres of the East Half (E/2) of Section Seven (7.) Block E, Deaf Smith County, Texas. Said dedication deed and plat are recorded in Vol. 172, Page 221 et seq. Deed Records of Deaf Smith County, Texas, to which reference is here made, and photostatic copy of said plat is hereto attached.

3. The land subdivided in said plat and subdivision does not lie within the limits of any incorporated city or town, nor within five miles of any incorporated city or town and all of the land hereinabove described is owned by petitioner and is all located in Deaf Smith County, Texas.

4. No part of the land hereinabove described has been used for streets or alleyways and no part of same is now used for streets or alleyways. The cancellation of said plat and subdivision as to said land and premises will not interfere with the established right of any purchaser of any part of such subdivision or the owner of any portion of said subdivision, petitioner being the owner of all of such subdivision.

WHEREFORE, petitioner prays that in accordance with the provisions of Article 7277, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, the filing of this application be noted, and a time fixed for hearing thereon; that notice be given in the manner and the time prescribed by statute, and that upon final hearing, this court enter its order cancelling and vacating said plat and subdivision and dedication deed and plat, and restoring said land to

4-H Fellowships Being Awarded

Six young cooperative Extension Service workers from 4 States have just received National 4-H Fellowships. The awards were made last night (Thursday, May 25) in Lincoln, Neb., at a National 4-H Workshop for State 4-H Leaders.

The following 3 young women and 3 young men, now holding professional positions in the State Extension Service, were named for a year of Federal Government study in the Washington, D. C. area: Gloria Cleland, Ohio; Roy E. Hougen, Iowa; Frances Marie ("Sue") Kleen, Wyoming; James R. Sais, New Mexico; Dallas Rudolph Smith, North Carolina; and Nancy Alice White, Kentucky.

Awarded since 1931, the 4-H Fellowship is valued at $3,000 and is one of the largest study grants offered Extension staff members. The number of recipients totals 125 from 39 States. The program offers a unique opportunity for informal study of Government — including the U. S. Department of Agriculture. At the same time the Fellows also enroll in graduate courses at local universities of their choice. Fellowship age limit is 31.

Miss Cleland, of Sandusky, Ohio, became Extension Home economist in Erie County in Ohio State University. Findings of a committee organized and directed by her to study family living problems in her county have had widespread impact. The Sandusky Altrusa Club nominated her for the 1965 edition of "Outstanding Young Women of America."

Mr. Hougen, of Spirit Lake, Iowa, is the Extension 4-H agent for Dickinson, Oscella, and Emmet Counties. As part of his 4-H experience in Iowa, he conducted a successful pilot-type retreat to develop leadership among county 4-H Council officers. He has also been active in church and civic work. He earned his B. S. and M. S. degrees at Iowa State University is married, and has 2 small children.

Miss Kleen is an Extension home economist at Elk Mountain, Wyo. She has been a leader in community action programs, recruiter and trainer of junior leaders, weekly radio broadcaster, and newspaper columnist. Recently she returned from India where she spent several months as an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate in 1964, she received her B. S. degree from the University of Wyoming — with journalism as well as home economics honors.

Mr. Sais, of Espanola, N. Mex. is assistant county agent in Rio Arriba County. He is a community leader and is helping organize income-producing projects among 4-H youth from low income families. Mr. Sais became an "IFYE" delegate to Ecuador in 1958, just after graduating from New Mexico State University, and is especially interested in Latin American problems. He has a wife and baby daughter.

Mr. Smith of Bolton, N. C. is an assistant agricultural agent in Bladen County. He received his B. S. degree from Agricultural and Technical College in Greensboro, N. C. In the summer of 1964, he traveled to Europe as a member of the Lisle Fellowship Foundation and as an agriculture participant in a U. S. A. — U. S. S. R. Cultural Exchange Program. He is married and has one child.

Miss White of Florence, Ky. is an Extension agent for 4-H and youth work. In this position, she helped develop an especially successful Extension clothing program and Fashion Revue series for northern Kentucky. She also has a particular interest in 4-H information and public relations. A 1964 graduate of the University of Kentucky, she has been president of the Northern Kentucky Extension home economists, and is an active Woman's Club member.

MON AMIS OFFICERS — Mrs. Billy Bell, seated right, received the insignia of the president's office from Mrs. Billy Baker, standing behind her, in installation of Mon Amis Study Club officers at a recent dinner. Mrs. Baker became parliamentarian. Other officers seated are Mrs. Bill Wheeler, secretary, and Mrs. Bob Noland, vice president; standing, Mrs. J. D. Greeson, reporter, Mrs. Kenneth Christie, social chairman, and Mrs. Dale Christie, historian.

Amusing Program Used To Install Officers

Utensils and ingredients used in making cakes were handed by Mrs. Billy Baker, retiring president of Mon Amis Study Club, to new officers whom she installed in an amusing program at a recent dinner.

She compared an efficient club administration to a perfect recipe for a cake, which is only as good as its ingredients.

Mrs. Billy Bell was installed as her successor as president, Mrs. Bob Noland as vice president and Mrs. J. D. Greeson as reporter. These had been elected earlier this spring.

Chosen to complete the corps of officers, and also installed, were Mrs. Bill Wheeler as secretary, Mrs. Dale Christie as historian, Mrs. Kenneth Christie as social chairman. Mrs. Baker will act as parliamentarian.

A yearbook committee for the new term was also named: Mmes. Roy Botkin, Christie, Bell and Wheeler.

The dinner was given in the Cason House, with no program except for the installation. Pre-ber. The young people, all former 4-H'ers, will report in Chicago in late August for a week's orientation by their Fellowship fund donors — the National 4-H Service Committee and Massey-Ferguson Inc., farm equipment manufacturers. The young men and women then go to Washington where they will be hosted by the Federal Extension Service in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. They will have an unusual opportunity to become better acquainted with national Government operations in the Nation's Capital. For example, their study program calls for them spending 2 or more days a week in conference with officials of USDA and various other federal agencies.

The FES Division of Extension Research and Education directs the 4-H Fellowship study program.

Plastic Strip Is Fly Control Aid

Science is making this bug season at home or on vacation more livable with the introduction of an entirely new concept in insect control: a strip of plastic that kills flies, mosquitoes, gnats and other small flying pests anywhere in a room without touching them.

The strip that eliminates the bother of repeated spraying and swatting is called NO-PEST Insecticide Strip by Shell Chemical Company, who first developed it for farm use — particularly in milk and feed rooms where fly control is critical.

The farm-tested product, now adapted for home use, is packaged with a decorative gold-foil cage that can be hung or stood on its base anywhere in an enclosed area. Impregnated with a modern insecticide, a single 10-inch-long trip meters out minute quantities of vapors into the air at a rate that controls the pests effectively for up to three months in a 10x12 foot room.

The strip is unique in that insects do not have to touch it to be killed.

While handy at home, it also can take the "rough" out of roughing it in vacation cabins, and other enclosures away from home.

The strip now is available nationwide for the first time at supermarkets, drug and hardware stores, and Shell service stations.

EXPENSIVE NEATNESS LOUISVILLE — The white plank fences erected around most horse farms in Kentucky are attractive and expensive.

The cost of installing and painting them is $1 a running foot of fence.

Horse Show Is To Benefit Texas Children

Raleigh Brown, president of the board of directors of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, today announced the appointment of Harry Holt as superintendent of the Abilene Horse Show for Crippled Children, to be held July 7-9 at the West Texas Fair Grounds.

Secretary for the show, sponsored by the WTRC, is Clarence Tucker.

Superintendents of the various divisions are Jack Stricklin, Quarter Horse Show; Edgar E. Robinson, Open Paint Horse Show; Bill Brewer, Appaloosa Show; and Mrs. Frank Saddler, Shetland Show.

Billy C. Bush of Grapevine will judge the Quarter Horse division, youth show and the Appaloosa entries. Judging Paint Horse entries will be Mike Ruthford of Houston. Judge of the Shetland Show will be announced at a later date.

Activities will begin Friday, July 7, with the Quarter Horse Youth Activity performance classes at 1 p. m. The halter class of this division will begin at 6 p. m.

Scheduled Saturday, July 8, are the Quarter Horse performance classes and the Open Paint Horse halter classes at 9 a. m., the Open Paint Horse performance classes at 2 p. m. and the Quarter Horse halter classes at 6 p. m.

Sunday's activities include the Appaloosa halter classes at 10 a. m. followed immediately by the performance classes and the open Shetland halter classes at 2 p. m.

All proceeds from the show go to support the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

Texas Students On Talent Show

Outstanding student entertainers from 13 Texas colleges and universities will be seen on statewide television when Southwestern Bell Telephone Company presents its spring show, "Campus Talent '67."

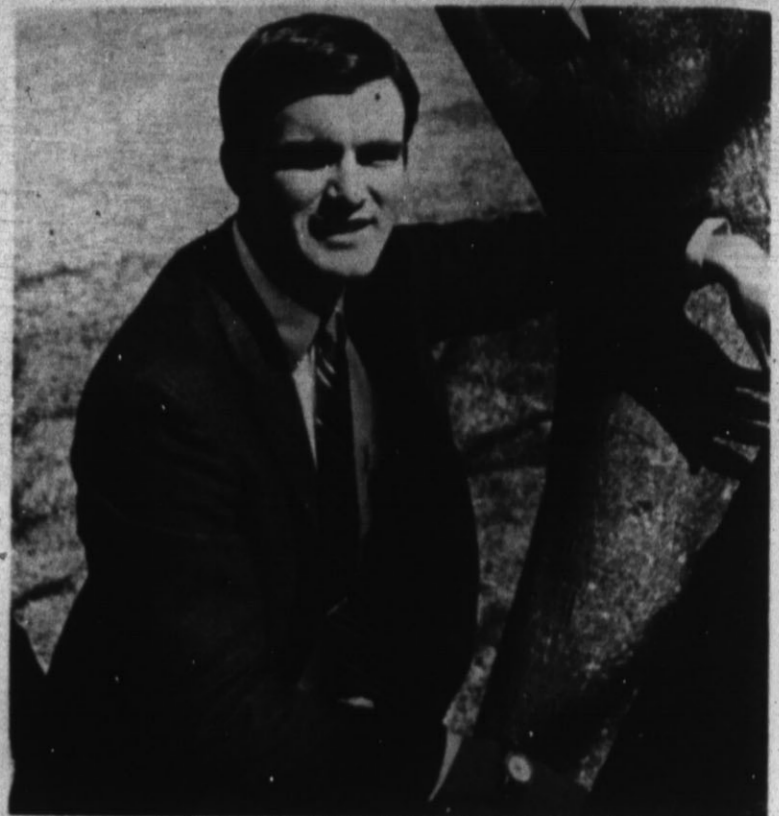

Videotaped on the campuses of 13 schools throughout the state, "Campus Talent '67" will make its color debut on 18 Texas television stations. Two previous "Campus Talent" shows were aired in black and white. The program will be seen locally on Channel 4 at 9:00 p. m. on Monday, May 22, 1967.

The hour-long variety program designed as a showcase for gifted student entertainers of the state and the schools they represent, includes classical and popular music and novelty acts. Selection of the participants followed statewide auditions in which more than 700 young Texans competed for a spot on the show.

Represented on "Campus Talent '67" are Abilene Christian College, Baylor University, Bishop College, Houston Baptist College, Odessa College, Texas Southmost College, Texas Techological College, Texas Wesleyan College, Tyler Junior College, University of Dallas, University of Houston, University of Texas and West Texas State University.

A number of the student stars plan professional careers in music, as performers, or teachers or ministers of music. For most, however, their interest in show business is primarily a hobby as they study for a wide variety of professions — teaching, radio-TV writing, research mathematics, dentistry, diplomatic corps, research chemistry and social work. Their major studies include art, Spanish, chemistry, sociology, mathematics and zoology.

Ever add strips of leftover cooked ham to that macaroni-and-cheese dish? Along with a tossed green salad and a plate of sliced tomatoes, this makes a satisfying main course for lunch.

John Brandon, talented young sophomore singer at West Texas State University, Canyon, will appear on "Campus Talent '67," hour-long TV special featuring outstanding entertainers from Texas colleges.

Pioneer Day Hostess Duties Listed In Club

Hostess plans for registration hours at the annual Mid-Plains Pioneers reunion here May 30 were framed by women of Pioneer Study Club at their final program session of the 1967-68 year, held at a recent luncheon in Hereford Country Club.

Each year the club members greet old-timers returning for the reunion, conduct the registration, serve coffee and doughnuts.

They decided to wear distinctive costumes this year, agreeing that long skirts and shirt-waists in turn-of-the-century fashion will be appropriate as a reminder of styles in early-day Hereford, and will make them easily located by visitors who wish information.

Mrs. Ralph McCullough is in charge of registration, Mrs. O. G. Hill Sr. of serving coffee, Mrs. Ray Johnson and Mrs. W. C. Hromas of decorating tables. All members of the club plan to assist in the various duties.

A program guest, Mrs. W. J. Gilliland, was speaker at the luncheon, introduced by Mrs. Ted Panciera, program chairman. Texas Heritage Day was observed as the guest presented a summary of a novel with a Texas historical background, A Woman of the People by Arthur Capps.

Mrs. Gilliland had previously reviewed the book for Bay View Club, of which she is a member. She told graphically the story of a young white girl captured by Comanche Indians shortly before the Civil War, when the forks of the Trinity River marked the outpost of white settlements in this state.

The author presents the Plains Indians realistically, as neither friends nor nature's noblemen, but as humans wrestling a livelihood from a harsh land and pressed relentlessly by the white man.

The heroine is described as a girl of ten years who is determined to remember her white heritage and to escape the Indians at first opportunity, but as time passes she absorbs Comanche ways until finally she accepts the young brave who wants to marry her, and as his wife rides defiantly by his side forced to enter the reservation at Fort Sill.

Annual reports of club officers included announcement by Mrs. Johnson that work on next season's program is already under way, by Mrs. McCullough that last year's successful bulb sale will be repeated as a continued city beautification project, by Mrs. M. L. Simpson on sending cakes and cookies for party refreshments at the Veterans Hospital in Amarillo, by Mrs. Henry Hastings on thanks from Girlstown for recent gifts to that residence home for girls.

Mmes. Bess Werner, Simpson and Johnson were hostesses who decorated tables in roses from Hereford yards, each arrangement of a different variety, and the speakers table with massed iris and garden blooms.

Mrs. Delmar Sigle expressed thanks to officers who have served in the first year of her administration; Pioneer Club officers hold two-year terms.

NEW PLANTS IN EUROPE
CHICAGO — The Common Market is getting a bigger share of U. S. foreign plants. Foreign outlays by American firms, consisting of foreign plant are expected to reach $9.2 billion by the end of 1966. It represents a rise of 21 per cent over the previous year.

The six Common Market countries, Belgium, France, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands and West Germany, will receive an investment of about $1.4 billion, a 40 per cent increase over 1965 outlays.

City BSP Has New Officers

After its divisions, including a new one instituted this spring, have their officers in readiness for the coming year, City Beta Sigma Phi Council installed its 1967-68 officers at a luncheon this week, putting the entire sorority under new leadership in Hereford.

Mrs. Carl Hollingsworth became president of the Council, succeeding Mrs. Harold Kids. Mrs. Rudy Metz is the new president, Mrs. Roger Shipley secretary, Mrs. Houston Frye correspondent, Mrs. Larry Summers treasurer and Mrs. Denzil Vaughn reporter.

The Council, formed of presidents and elected delegates from each chapter, has as its function the correlation of Beta Sigma Phi activities in the city, and by tradition is in charge of annual rituals and the Valentine dance, principal social event of the year.

For the first time, Hereford now has three chapters of the sorority, with formation this spring of a preceptor chapter whose members must have had 15 years of BSP affiliation. Mrs. Charles Laing was chosen to serve as its president.

Other chapters are Kappa Iota, in which members are received as pledges and begin their training. Mrs. Frye is president, following Mrs. Kids. Mrs. John Schneider heads XI Epsilon Alpha Chapter after Mrs. Clete Corlis. This is the exemplar group to which members progress after completing required years and study in the ritual chapter. After fulfilling its program, they are eligible to become preceptors. Spring socials are scheduled

SIDE BY SIDE
LOUISVILLE — Togetherness is the word that best describes the families of Barney Cecil and Al Wohlleb.

They first lived side by side in one neighborhood for five years.

The Cecils then bought a lot in a new subdivision and the for May 18, entertainment to wind up a busy season on an informal note.

Wohlbebs moved next door. Later, Wohlleb moved his bakery to a new location and Cecil followed, opening an adjoining real-estate office.

Recently, Cecil was hospitalized with a mild heart attack. A short time later Wohlleb showed up for minor surgery.

The hospital placed them in the same room in neighboring beds.

They also had the same doctor.

PANHANDLE WINNER — Winning second in the local fire prevention poster contest, Linda Cornett moved on to first place honors in the Panhandle contest held recently at Boy's Ranch. The Bluebonnet Elementary student is shown explaining her poster to the president of the Texas State Fire Marshall's Association, Earl Phillips, who has been an active fireman for Hereford Volunteer Fire Department for many years. (Hereford Brand Photo)

POSTER WINNER — Donnie Huckert, a student from Hereford High School is presented a check for having made the first place winner in the local fire prevention poster contest for senior high students. His poster also won first place in the area contest held in conjunction with the Annual Firemen's Convention. Shown presenting the cash award is Earl Phillips, local fireman and president of Texas State Fire Marshall's Association. (Hereford Brand Photo)

INTERMEDIATE WINNER — Elise Allen a student at Northwest Elementary school won both local and Panhandle honors with this poster she made for fire prevention. Max Stipe, assistant fire chief and Earl Phillips, president of Texas State Fire Marshall's Association stopped by school to congratulate the young winner. (Hereford Brand Photo)

Fire Posters Are Panhandle Wins

Hereford Firemen took local posters, made by school students to the Annual Firemen's Convention and came back with top honors.

In the High school division, Donnie Huckert, Hereford High School won first in both local and area contests. Steve Shaw, events and Linda Williams won third in both events. She is a student at Stanton Junior High.

Intermediate Hereford students Elise Allen, Northwest Elementary won first in both events. Lynette Cawthon also of Northwest won third in Hereford and second in the Panhandle contest. Lana Moody, Central school student placed second in the local intermediate class.

Pat Click won first in the local primary. He is a student at Aikman. Linda Cornett of Bluebonnet Elementary won second in the local contest and moved up to win top honors in the Primary Panhandle contest. Pat won second in the Panhandle contest. Lesly Joan Euler of Bluebonnet Elementary won third in the local contest. Third place winner in the Panhandle contest was Jini LaRue of Happy.

The Hereford Fire Department won second in pumper races at the convention which was held at Boy's Ranch last Saturday.

Posters that won in the area contest will be entered in the state contest in June. This competition will be in Lubbock.

Local winners were awarded $3 for first place posters, $2 for second place and $1 for third place.

Pioneer Man Is On Ag Council

Walker L. Nichols, agricultural representative for Pioneer Natural Gas Company of Amarillo, was elected president of the Agri-Business Council of Texas on Wednesday, May 10, at the organization's annual meeting in Houston.

The 135-member Council, organized 18 years ago, has provided outstanding leadership in bringing together people in business and agriculture. It has also provided a forum for exchanging ideas and discussing subjects of mutual interest to those primarily engaged in strengthening the ties between business and agriculture.

"The growing partnership of agriculture and business has greatly contributed to the finest agriculture and nation in the world," Nichols said, "and the long range goals of both make it imperative that the relations between the two groups be continued so that both groups and Texas and the nation may reap mutual benefits."

Well-known in West Texas agriculture, Nichols is a director of the Texas Agricultural Workers Association and a member of the West Texas Water Institute, the High Plains T-Bone association, and the Panhandle Pork Chop Association. He is also actively associated with area Young Farmers, Farmers of America, and 4-H Clubs.

Braise pork chops with sliced onion; make a delicious last-minute addition to the skillet by adding dried fruit — prunes, apricots or raisins. Plump the fruit overnight in water or wine before using.

Texas Wildlife Man Recognized

CANADIAN — A wry little man who stepped from the shielded schoolroom to excel in the great outdoors has just received additional recognition. He is A. S. Jackson, currently a wildlife consultant after retiring from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department where he served in his belatedly chosen new profession for a quarter century.

His latest citation was from the Texas Chapter of the Wildlife Society. It was in the form of an outstanding Service Award to "ALFRED SLOAN JACKSON, Research Biologist, Author, Counsellor, Leader."

The honor was the second substantial acknowledgement within the last few years. The earlier one was from American Motors Corporation that called national attention to Jackson's extraordinary achievements.

His colleagues with the Parks and Wildlife Department attest to the fact that few people have contributed as much as has Jackson to the advancement of wildlife management. It is commonly felt that in another sense Texas sportsmen have benefited immeasurably from his zeal and talents.

The official Wildlife Society citation states: "Jackson began his wildlife field work during the 1930's by working evenings, weekends, holidays and summer months while he was a high school principal at Throckmor-

OPERATION HELPMATE — Red Cross Youth workers from LaPlata Junior High School are doing their part to help the men fighting in Viet Nam by constructing games, puzzles and joke books which will be sent to the Eighth Army Field Hospital in Viet Nam. ton. During that period, he conducted a pioneering study of mourning doves on the Lower Plains and began a continuing study of the Mississippi kite.

After receiving a Master's Degree in 1940, Jackson began work for the old Texas Game and Fish Commission. A major portion of his broad research was on the Rio Grande turkey and bobwhite quail. His findings were well documented. The official citation adds:

"His approach to wildlife research was on an ecological basis and his findings demonstrated the relationship of wildlife populations to the environment. In addition to his outstanding attributes as a research biologist and author, he was an inspirational leader and counselor to his colleagues."

Month Tallies Traffic Deaths

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated seven accidents on rural highways in Deaf Smith County during the month of April, according to Sergeant W. E. Wells, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in an estimated property damage of $3,800.00. The rural accident summary first four months of 1967 shows a total of 27 accidents resulting in two persons killed, nine persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $18,685.00.

School will soon be out. This will be the signal for the beginning of summer vacations. Residential neighborhoods which were quiet between 9:00 AM to 3:00 PM will be alive with children popping out in all directions. Streets and highways will be laden with carefree inattentive motorists going on vacations and outings.

"This means that motorists must be constantly alert at all times during the summer months for children darting out from unexpected places and the carefree vacation motorists," the Sergeant added.

NEAT IDEA — CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Barb Phinney, 19, is the only girl barber on the University of Illinois campus.

"Customers are usually surprised when they first come in — but they're flattered when they walk out," she said.

She became a barber "because it seemed kind of different and a little exciting."

She learned her trade at a barber's college in Mattoon, Ill. "It's very interesting work," she said, "and it's easy. I definitely think more women could do well in it."

SUBURBAN WOODSMEN — PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The chain saw is becoming a status symbol in many American suburbs, according to Omak Industries Inc. here, a leading manufacturer of cutting chain.

A 17 per cent decline in production of axes and hatchets and a 19 per cent rise in chain saws is partly accounted for by increasing sales to suburbanites who use the latter for trimming trees and shrubs and cutting fireplace woods, the company reports.

Hats Are Office Symbols In Club

Hats which she had made with symbols of a club office on each, were presented to new officers of El Llano Study Club by Mrs. Bob Wilson as she installed them at a dinner Monday in the Hickory Log Restaurant.

Mrs. Wilson, a guest, conducted the unusual program to place in office Mrs. Labry Ballard as president, Mrs. Boyd Foster vice president, Clyde Coleman secretary, R. A. Dasiel Jr. correspondent, Olen Caviness treasurer, O. G. Hill Jr. reporter, Bill Michael historian.

Mrs. Jesse Geron, leaving the president's office, is the new parliamentarian. Hostesses for the dinner were Mmes. Michael, Foster, Hill and G. D. Caison, social committee members.

A new member, Mrs. Raymond White, and the program guest, were welcomed by the new officers and Mmes. R. C. Winget, Elmer Kimball, John Jacobsen Jr., Cecil Hart, Ben Childers, Pete Caviness, Jim Bookout and Ivan Block.

Any kind of leftover cooked meat or poultry may be used in a stuffing for baked green peppers.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The members of a local and newly formed combo, ★ The Star Gazers, ★ wish to thank all the students who attended our dance Saturday night, at the Community Center.

We will be playing there again on May 20th for the Junior High students.

Breezy Outdoors

Fishing, hunting, hiking, or on a picnic, just one forgotten item can ruin the trip. Check your equipment, and fix it before going. Remember the time you spend in the field working could be spent having fun.

A bar of candy in your tackle box may save a little misery and provide energy. Knowledge of your surroundings before hand may be of great help. Not only in case of emergency, but a more successful and enjoyable outing will result if you know the lay of the land.

Accidents happen and a first aid kit is a necessity. Firewood may be a pretty rare item, so take a boxful with you, and be sure to take plenty of matches, rubbing sticks together is not as easy as it looks.

If you go hunting where you might find a fishing hole carry a few hooks and some line. What better way to spend during the slack time in the middle of the day. You might be surprised and take home more than you bargained for. Be considerate and put out your fires, also clean up around your spot or camp.

Ute seems to be the going place with good stringers of fish being caught with minnows, and lures.

Buffalo, is going pretty slow with a few crappie on minnows.

A. M. (Dusty) Taylor writes that the fish are really hitting at Burson. Bass and brim are hitting minnows and lures. The picture of a young man with a stringer of bass anyone would envy was caught at Burson on lures. Good Luck!

To concoct a tartar sauce that tastes especially delicious with fish or seafood, and plenty of drained capers to the mayonnaise preparation. If you like large-size capers, look for jars of them in the section of a food market that is stocked with Spanish-style foods. Regular bottled capers, available in all large food markets, are small-size.

Monte Gripp Is Speech Winner

The Hereford chapter of the Future Farmers of America was a big winner in the Area I FFA convention in Amarillo Saturday, walking away with several top awards.

Monte Gripp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Gripp of the Frio community, was first place winner in the public speaking contest and will compete in the state convention at Dallas in July.

Freddie Conyers won first place in the Seeds, Sales and Service division of the Agriculture Cooperative Training Program and Dwayne Knabe won second. Conyers, who received $30, will represent Area I in the state convention. Knabe received $20.

The ACTP, which calls for the student to get on-the-job training, plus classroom work, was held for the first time at the convention.

Lone Star Farmer's Degrees applications were approved at the Amarillo convention for Ronnie Andrews and Bill Fowler of the HHS chapter. Final action on the degrees will be made during the state convention.

Radio station KPAN of Hereford was voted the outstanding station in the region by the Texas Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association and will receive the award during the association's annual meeting in August at Dallas.

Drama Packed Jacksboro Fort

JACKSBORO (AP) - Ft. Richardson, a post established in North Texas in a sometimes futile attempt to protect the settlers against Indians, lasted only 11 years as a military establishment but its history was remarkable by the fact that two chiefs were tried there.

The post now is a museum, converted in 1936 with the help of the Texas Centennial Commission and Jacksboro citizens. It was registered in 1963 as a National historical landmark. The post was built in 1867 when many Indians left their reservations farther north each year to plunder and kill in North Texas. The fort was in answer to repeated and loud complaints from Texas citizens still suffering from the Civil War, unable to protect themselves and pushing west.

Jacksboro wasn't much then, only four or five crude buildings. But the arrival of the soldiers brought camp followers, saloons and many people trying to make money from the military.

The fort was named for Maj. Gen. Isreal B. Richardson, Civil War leader whose wounds at Antietam proved fatal.

Gen. William T. Sherman of Civil War fame made a tour of inspection including Ft. Richardson and seemingly was not impressed with the danger.

Then came a wagoner, Thomas Brazeale, with a wild story. A 10-wagon train had been ambushed within 20 miles of Jacksboro, and 7 of the 11 persons on the train killed. Brazeale limped into the fort with a foot wound and his story.

Sherman grew angry and ordered troops to follow the marauders. But the cavalry, slogging through mud, never could catch the Indians.

Then Sherman went to Ft. Sill and asked the Indian agent, Lawrie Tatum, a Quaker who had become disillusioned at last with his reservation charges, to try to identify the raiders.

The Indians then were coming in for their rations, and Santana, a chief, for no known reason related the story of the wagon massacre, said he was along and identified others in the party.

The cavalry were able to capture Santana, Big Tree and Satank on the spot. The remainder got away.

The three men were ordered to Ft. Richardson to stand trial. Santana and Big Tree were in one wagon, giving no resistance. But firbrand Satank sought to kill his corporal guard in another wagon and was shot to death. The trial of the pair - some way it was the first such trial for an Indian by a white man - resulted in verdicts of death. The trial began July 5, 1871 and Indians had defense attorneys.

Both were scheduled to be executed Sept. 1, but Agent Tatum sought to have their sentences commuted to life imprisonment. Pressure came from Washington to Texas' Gov. Edmund J. Davis and the Indians were put in the state prison at Huntsville for life terms.

More pressure brought freedom for the pair and on Aug. 19, 1873, they were turned loose.

Big Tree never was arrested again and lived quietly until 1929. Santana again was arrested in 1874 and returned to prison. The Kiowa chief threw himself from a second-story window of the prison in 1878, the Indians, in North Texas at least, had been pacified and the troops rode out of the fort.

But it still stands today, kept in good condition, as a monument to the early troubles in Texas.

Sugar cookies look pretty with a dot of red currant jelly in the center. Add the jelly garnish just before serving.

One Of Eight People Snore

About one out of eight Americans snore.

This means something like 25 million snorers, women as often as men.

The comic literature about snoring is endless. Plays, movies, vaudeville skits and comics in general have poked fun at snoring down through the years.

There's a good chance that there's a snorer in your family. If so, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association, you are well aware that it's not very funny.

The assorted hisses, gurgles, buzzes, snorts and raspings of the snoring nuisance hold the seeds for the ruination of an ostensibly happy marriage. Many married couples find it necessary to set up a schedule wherein one spouse tries to precede the other in sleep. Other couples proceed to separate rooms and possibly even the divorce courts.

For the most part snoring is generated while breathing either in or out during sleep by several structures in the nose and throat. The sounds are due to vibrations in the soft palate and other soft structures of the throat in response to inflowing and outflowing air.

The frequency of the vibrations depends on the size, density and elasticity of the affected tissues and on the force of the air flow.

A number of causes of snoring can be helped and even cured. Most cases of snoring in children are cured by removal of enlarged adenoids and tonsils. A blocked nose may lead to mouth breathing and snoring. Sometimes this can be corrected by minor surgery. If snoring is caused by nasal congestion due to the common cold, sinus trouble or hay fever, nose drops or antihistamines sometimes can bring relief to the sufferer and may stop snoring.

Many people snore only when sleeping on the back. Any method that keeps the sleeper on his side or face can help.

There are factors that may affect the tone of the tissues of the throat and result in snoring. These include too much smoking, overwork, fatigue, obesity and general poor health. The largest group of offenders are the elderly, presumably because they lack tissue tone.

If there is a snorer in your family who is disrupting the sleep of others, send him to the family physician. If there is a definite cause-and-effect relationship, possibly something can be done about it. If your doctor cannot help, the listener can wear earplugs, when everything else fails.

Band Parents Elect Officers

New officers of the Band Aides were elected during a meeting Monday night.

Elected to head the group was Dr. Roy J. Grubbs as president, Dr. Eugene H. Hendon as vice-president, Mrs. John D. Aikin as treasurer, C. F. Hicks as secretary and Mrs. L. K. Williams as reporter.

The new president presided over the meeting after the election was held.

Mrs. John D. Aikin was given a vote of thanks for the many money-making projects for which she has been responsible this year.

Football Can Be Taught In Class

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

The football coaches finally have gotten permission to teach the game during school hours. It is correct to say that, although the coaches did not do the voting, in the Texas Inter-scholastic League only the administrators make the rules. The coaches, however, have influence with the administrators — if they didn't they wouldn't be very substantial men.

Anyway, the League conducted a referendum on the question of whether or not a football can be used in physical education activities. The banning of football equipment covered the use of a football in physical education classes. So all the proponents of football in the classroom needed to do was to get use of a football permitted.

Thus, it was inserted in the football plan, which now reads: "Accelerated physical education activities, calisthenics, individual football skills, or conditioning exercises may be conducted during the school term in the school day, provided it does not exceed one period a day. No team skills, plays or formations may be taught during this period. This period is not to exceed 60 minutes. Classes before and after school hours or during noon hours are prohibited."

This means that during the daily physical education class, the coach can use a football to teach boys how to throw, run with or handle. He can't have a team working out and he can't teach formations or plays. He also can't have football uniforms pads and shoes.

The coaches said this was all they wanted and promised faithfully not to violate the rule by teaching team football.

Opponents of the rule are looking askance. They can't imagine that some coaches won't take advantage and turn the physical education class into a virtual football camp. They doubt that there will be much calisthenics or conditioning exercises. They know that none of the other sports will get a share on the program, which, however shouldn't be expected since no other sport is supposed to be taught under the rule. Only football is mentioned. But since the coaches had so much trouble just getting individual football skills mentioned, it is doubtful that many will try team violations another vote can be expected.

For that matter, it isn't believed here that the coaches really want to teach football formations and plays. They merely want to give the boys pointers on how to handle a football.

It matters little that this is going to put emphasis on football more than ever — some people think there is too much already — and that it is tantamount to football the year around. It also will work in opposition to the physical fitness program because there can be little physical fitness to come from throwing or handling a football.

But the coaches think there is not enough time given to football, which has become a game of great skill. They claim that at least they ought to have the privilege of teaching individual skills that can't be handled in the regular practice where all the time is necessary to teach team skills and formations in view of the fact that the process of winning in a team game is to perfect the attack and defense against the tricks of the opposition that's trying to win too.

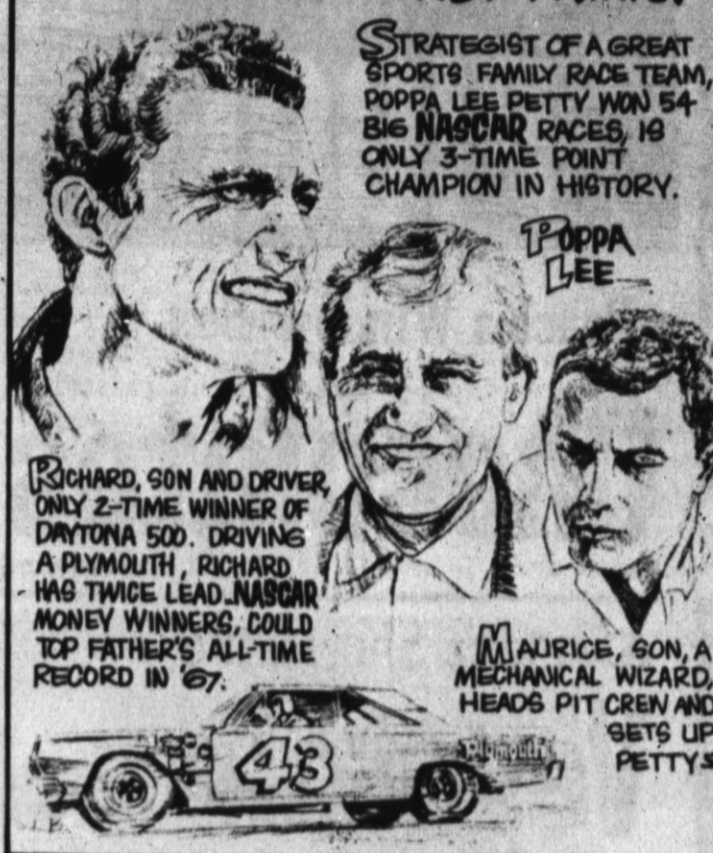

Football and basketball have certain times of operation — when practice is to start, how long they can play, how many games, etc. So basketball skills should be included in the school-hour physical education class.

And now that baseball has been given a limitation — this came in a referendum at the same time that the football coaches got their wish — why not allow a baseball to be used in class to show how it should be thrown and caught?

Starting with next fall, high school baseball practice won't be permitted between Sept. 1 and Feb. 1 and no games may be played before March 1. However, that doesn't mean baseball is getting only the few months from March 1 to the end of the school term in May or June? There is no prohibition against boys playing baseball during the physical education classes.

Grudge Game Is Set For Friday

The Hereford Whiteface baseball team will be out for sweet revenge here at 5:30 p. m. Friday when they face the Dumas Demons in the final game of the season.

The Demons, winners over the Whitefaces three times this season, clinched the District 1-AAA title Tuesday afternoon with a pair of victories over the Canyon Eagles.

Presently 15-8 for the year, the Herd varsity would like nothing better than to put a blemish on the conference record of the Demons, who have won all seven district games.

Hereford slapped Canyon with a 4-1 loss Saturday in Canyon, getting home runs by Barry Johnson, Gene Duvall and Bill Watts to take the fourth win in as many meetings with Canyon.

Alex Diaz went all the way for his fifth victory of the year, striking out 10 Eagles and limiting them to six hits. The lone Eagle run came in the fourth inning when the first three batters collected two singles and a double — the first hits off of Diaz in the game. The smooth working right-hander then struck out the next three men to end the inning.

Hereford got it's first run in the third on Johnson's homer, picked up another in the fourth on a double by Gary Tucker and a single by Ken Hagar, and got the final two runs in the fifth inning on back-to-back homers by Duvall and Watts.

Ever bake a whole fish stuffed with vegetables — cut onion carrot, and celery plus parsley sprigs or minced chives? Delicious and fine for weight-watchers since the fish needs to be rubbed with only a small amount of butter and the vegetables dotted with the same amount.

Luncheon Closes Year For Dawn Music Club

Five guests joined members of Dawn Music Club for a luncheon ending the 1967-68 season, then a tour of Deaf Smith County Museum. Mrs. William Wimberley, president, and Mrs. Clarence Betzen, vice president, were hostesses.

The guests were Mmes. H. D. Fowler, Dick Frye, Edgar Lemons, Jiggs Johnson and H. E. Miller Jr. Luncheon was served at the Caison House and the museum tour followed.

In a short business period, Mrs. H. V. McCabe was elected parliamentarian to complete the list of officers for next year. Mrs. Carl Wimberley, a member who is current president of District I, Texas Federation of Music Clubs, gave her report on the state convention which she attended in Tyler early this month.

She said she was impressed by the excellent program and music and speakers from Texas colleges, but more by reports that the National Federation now sponsors more than 200 junior music clubs and gives annual scholarships valued at more than $40,000, as part of its emphasis on encouraging young musicians.

Texans also took pride in the report that this state now supports more symphony orchestras than any other, she added.

Members at the luncheon included Mmes. Robert Strain, F. E. Suttle, Ted Wimberley, H. V. McCabe, Jim McCabe, Alfred Smith, Edgar Sowell, R. T. Stewart, J. B. Caraway, Melvin May and Walter Lemons.

4-H News

The final meeting in a series of six was recently held by a Foods Unit I Group from Merry Maidens 4-H Club, and a slumber party was planned. The girls completed records of their club work in foods. The unit guide they used was titled 4-H Food and Fun.

Meetings were held in the home of Dorothy Marnell, junior leader, who taught the group. Girls who participated were Mary Helen Estrada, Joan Grady, Paula Haug, Mary Lindeman and Christine Marnell.

Dawn Co-op Planning To Extend Interests

By Joe Bran
Staff Writer

A familiar sight to many motorists traveling east on U.S. Highway 60 from Hereford is a tall white structure that stretches upward for some 170 feet from the ground and is visible from many miles away. The complex is Dawn Co-op grain elevator and is located just south of the railroad tracks in Dawn, a little community that lies about 13 miles east of Hereford.

The business, though, has not always been known as Dawn Co-op. It was Rogers Grain Co. for many years before it was purchased by a group of farmers in 1952.

How the place was bought and later expanded is an interesting story, just as is many others about huge complexes in Deaf Smith County.

H. H. Miller, a farmer living in Dawn for the last 48 years, has often been known as one of the main persons, if not the main one, to have started the movement to form a co-op in 1952.

The movement came about when most farmers of that area saw fit to purchase the building because most facilities for merchandising their grain at that time in the area were not adequate to suit their needs.

At the first meeting, which was held in January 10, 1952 at the Dawn School House, Miller was elected as chairman and temporary board members were also elected. Named to serve as directors were J. T. Gilbreath, W. T. Higgins, Walter R. Galley and A. T. Frye. The name "Dawn Co-op" was adopted and afterwards, the group sought to raise some money to purchase the elevator.

Donations from the farmers in that area ranged anywhere from $5 to $1,000 and soon, some $100,000 was raised.

A delegation proceeded with the purchasing of the elevator and it was taken over in March of that year.

The place included some storage tanks, a feed mill and three houses. The houses are still in use today by employees of the co-op.

The purchase price for the elevator was, however, considerably more than what the farmers had raised. Regardless, the group made arrangements and still bought the place.

The facilities had a capacity of about 400,000 bushels when bought but later was expanded. Now, the elevator has combined storage space for about 2,641,000 bushels of grain.

Of the first co-op members, all but seven are still active. Five of the seven that are not here any more have passed away and the other two have moved to other parts of the country.

Membership in the co-op now totals about 270. Miller is also the only member that has served on the board of directors continuously since the group first was organized.

Present directors are S. A. McCathern, James M. White, Melvin May, W. T. Higgins and Miller. McCathern is serving as president, White as vice-president and May as secretary-treasurer.

The board is elected for three year terms and an election is held each year at the annual stockholders meeting. Each year some director is elected as one term ends every year.

The officers are directors elected by the board for one year terms.

Meetings of the board are held once a month and any new business or important matters concerning the co-op are discussed here at that time.

The elevator has expanded much throughout the years and the main structure, the concrete bins, was erected in 1952. Also, three other elevators were added to the co-op since it was formed.

Those three are considered mainly as pick-up stations and only a small amount of grain is stored there.

The first location is about 5 miles north of Dawn. The other two are one 13 miles north and the other 13 miles northwest of Dawn.

Also handled by the co-op is all types of dry fertilizers. Anhydrous ammonia is one of the fertilizers mostly carried but all other types are available.

Seeds are also sold at the co-op and the types are numerous.

Besides selling seeds and fertilizers, the co-op handles tires, batteries, oils and some hardware.

Grain handled at the elevator consists mostly of milo. However, most types of grain are handled there. Most of the milo is sold locally to feedyards and only a small amount is shipped out.

All wheat handled at the co-op is shipped out.

Besides wheat and milo, barley, oats and some soy beans are also merchandised. The elevator will handle any or all types of grains and at times, they have even carried some corn.

Adding to its expanding program, the co-op has announced just recently that they are going to construct a new feed yard. The announcement was made about two weeks ago that a new feed lot with a capacity of about 20,000 head would soon go under construction. Capacity for about 5,000 head will be the size at first and then the lot will gradually grow until the designated goal is reached. However, if the business still calls for a bigger yard after the capacity has been reached, the co-op will further expand its operations.

The new lot will be located about 3 1/2 miles southeast of Dawn and the mill will be located adjacent to the grain elevator.

The mill has been announced as being one of the most modern made today and that it will have a feed mixing capacity for 20,000 head of cattle. The mill would consist of its own steam-roller and many other new items.

No contracts have been granted for the construction of either the mill or the feedyards.

At present, negotiations are underway to hire a feedlot manager. Three persons are under consideration and announcement of which will be the manager will be made in the near future.

The purpose of locating the mill adjacent to the grain elevator is that expense would be cut somewhat more than if the mill was near the feed yards. All of the milo which the co-op handles would be used to feed the cattle at the lot. After the grain is mixed at the mill, trucks will carry it to the lot.

The feeding will be done on a commercial basis but the co-op members have first rights if they meet one thing — $2,000 fee for one pen. The pens will be available to anyone even though they are not members but if a member pays his fee for the pen, he is entitled to feed his cattle whenever the pen is available, even though many other customers would still be on the waiting list. However, a member may still pay his fee and not use the pen for any amount of time. At this time, however, the pen would be leased to any other interested party. If the member decided to use his pen, as soon as one was vacated he would be entitled to use it. He would have to give the co-op advance notice if he had intentions to use it or if he planned to stop using it.

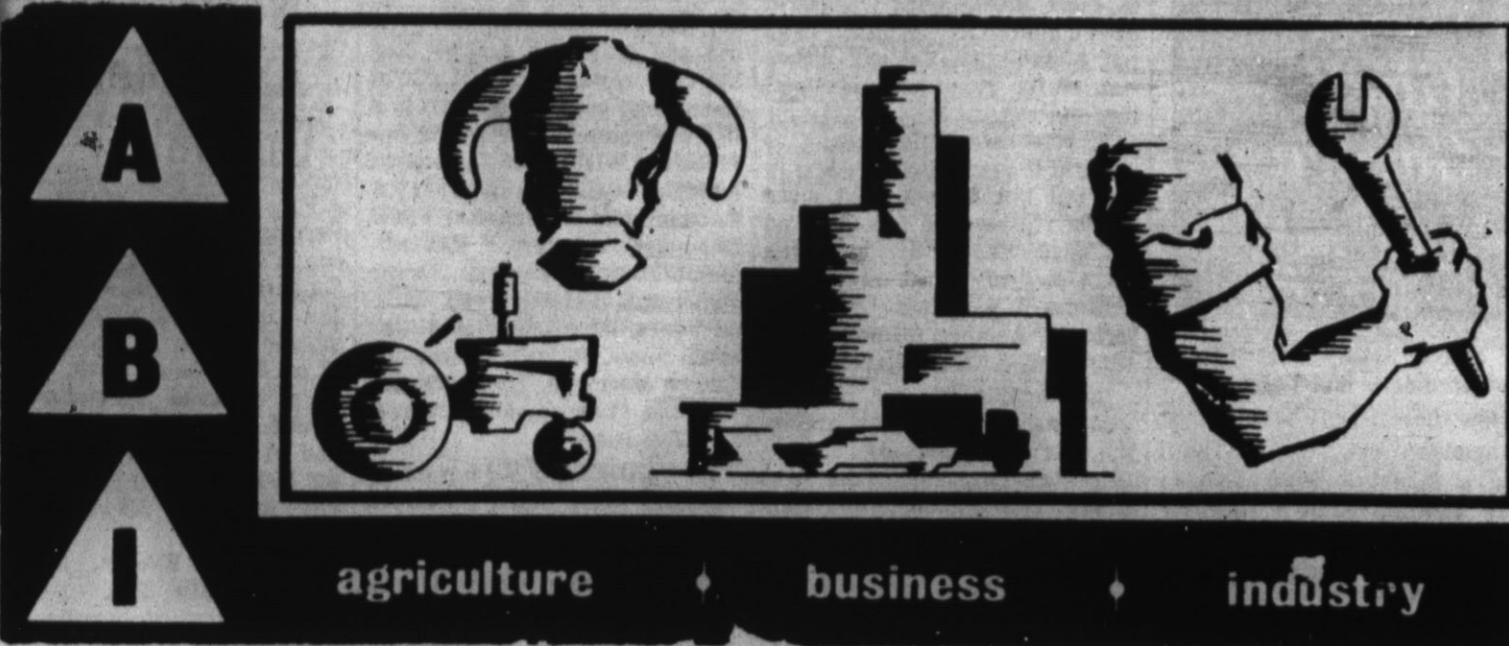

The elevator at Dawn is managed by E. K. (Keith) Duderstadt. He has been with the company since 1952 when he started as bookkeeper. He formerly worked for a local bank but resigned to accept his new position at the co-op.

Duderstadt does not regret changing his job as he has enjoyed his years with the co-op.

The rest of the employees at the co-op are Mrs. Pat Smith, Secretary; Elmer Carlson, bookkeeper; Vincent Marasco, elevator superintendent; Willie Wilson, utility worker; Bill Leonard, fertilizer salesman; Bill Cornett, manager of the elevator northwest of town and also the one 5 miles north; Ben Snell, manager of the elevator 13 miles north of town.

Duderstadt and his wife, Barbara, live in Dawn and they have four children. The oldest is Dianne at 9 years of age and she is a 3rd grade student at Bluebonnet elementary school in Hereford. She is followed by Temora, 8 years old, and she attends the 2nd grade at the same school.

The other two children are Mae Claire, 4 years of age, and Sophia Lynne, 4 years.

HEREFORD, TEXAS, 79045, THURSDAY, MAY 18, 1967

H.H. Miller Is 'Co-op Father'

OFTEN TERMED as the "father" of Dawn Co-op is H.H. Miller, a pioneer in Deaf Smith County since 1919. Miller has served on the board of directors of Dawn Co-op continuously since 1952 when the co-op was formed. (Hereford Brand Photo)

Accredited for perhaps being the first to have started a movement to organize a co-op in 1952 at Dawn, Texas to purchase a grain elevator is H. H. Miller, a still-going strong man at an age of over 70 years.

Miller was involved with a group which held a meeting in January 10, 1952 at the Dawn school house and from that meeting, he emerged as chairman of the board of directors.

With his leadership and ingenuity, the group purchased what is now known as Dawn Co-op grain elevator.

Ever since his election as board chairman, Miller has served as member of the co-op and has been a director continuously up to this time.

He farms on an 800-acre farm located just northwest of Dawn and has done so since he first arrived here in 1919. His crops are wheat, feed grains, milo, corn and in some years, sugar beets.

Along with his farming, Miller has raised cattle throughout the years.

He first came to the high plains country in 1915 from Roff, a small town in Pontotoc County in Oklahoma. He came at the age of 19 and was living in Hutchinson County. He was later called for duty in the Army while he lived there. He served in the armed forces from 1917 until 1919. He decided to come live in the Texas panhandle in 1919 because of the opportunities which were visible here and also the richness of the land. Later discovering that there was water underground for irrigation and other purposes further enriched his stay here.

He is a man that has been married twice. His first wife, Nancy, passed away about thirty years ago and now he is married to Genevieve.

He had four children by his first wife and he and his present wife have three.

The oldest child, Inez, passed away in 1959 at the age of 41. The second, Alma, is married and lives in Colorado.

Carrol follows at the age of 35 and he works for the U. S. Reclamation Department in Afghanistan, a country in Europe.

Pat, about 32 years of age, farms in Dawn.

The oldest child by his present wife is Audni, 21 years of age and she is employed with Capitol University in Columbus, Ohio in public relations and in the student council.

The second oldest is John David, 19 years and he is a student at Arizona State University in Tempe, Arizona.

The youngest of all is Dion, 14 years and he is an 8th grade student at Stanton Jr. High in Hereford. Dion also helps around the farm most of the time.

His wife, Genevieve, works in Hereford as the executive secretary of the Red Cross.

Miller has been termed by Dawn Co-op manager, E. K. Duderstadt as being "one of the most, if not the most active member of the co-op that he has ever known." He is credited with helping decide on building the new feedlot which Dawn Co-op has announced that they will construct in the near future.

IRIS BRING BEAUTY AND ENJOYMENT

You can enjoy iris wherever you have sun for most of the day and where the soil is of average fertility and well drained. Iris WILL NOT put up with shade, and water that remains around their roots. So drainage is one of the considerations in selecting a place for planting.

A border of all iris makes a flamboyant color spectacular for several weeks. A single clump of brilliant iris by a pool, near a fountain, a terrace step or for dramatic accent throughout the garden, are several uses for planting of iris in the landscape design. They are pretty and useful in or out of flower, because the silver green spear-ed foliage is a lovely contrast for many plants. For example an attractive trio can be planted of iris, day lilies and peonies. This is practical because they are each gorgeous when in bloom and when blooming season is past the interest and contrast both in color and shape of the foliage is most attractive. Where large rocks are grouped with planting space in between, iris make a good display together with ground hugging perennials, such as creeping phlox, vinca, or evergreen succulents. Iris are versatile in the garden, in that they come in such a myriad of colors and heights.

Now that the iris have almost completed their bloom (until fall, if they are fall bloomers) they can be divided. However I recommend that if time permits it would be better to divide them either in late June or July. There will be more bloom, because the bloom for next season is made after bloom and maturity of the plant.

Check your garden for places where you wish to plant iris. Divide the clumps for planting, shake off soil, use a sharp knife and make the division, leaving several leaves to each rhizome. Trim leaves to a fan shape, leaving it about 5 or 6 inches in length. If roots are extremely long clip just before placing in the soil. Prepare the soil, and mound it a bit, plant rhizome on the mound, pressing to firm the soil about the roots. Do not plant deep as they are a shallow growing plant. Plant in a triangle with ten to twelve inches between plants.

Another suggested way of planting, is that of Mr. Cooley, of the Cooley Iris gardens. He suggest that one dig a two slanting hole, leaving a dividing ridge in the center. Place rhizome directly over the center of ridge and spread feeding roots to either side. Anchor the plant, by pressing soil firmly on top of the roots, and water well. Before planting take equal parts of bone meal, super-phosphate and commercial fertilizer and put a tablespoonful on either side of the ridge and mix well into the soil.

In established plantings it is advised to give a light feeding in the fall but do not feed close to the rhizome, it is suggested six inches from rhizome. If the plant food is placed directly on rhizome it will cause it to deteriorate. Another feeding is recommended in late March.

In selecting iris for planting look for clear color, good branching, form of bud and flower, substance of the foliage and flower, and a good strong sturdy plant, free from disease, and one that is not too old.

In Hereford if you wish advice and counsel, on home grown iris, contact Mrs. Audrey Thompson. Mrs. Thompson (Mrs. IRIS to some) is a member of the National Iris Society, and has been for twenty years. She has one of the largest and most complete Iris Gardens in our part of the state, and each year she adds new winners to her garden. Beautiful, Beautiful iris are grown by Audrey. She not only grows them, but shares them most generously. This is a list she compiled for me of her favorite CHILDREN (as she so lovingly calls her iris): Pink Epchantment, Allegiance, Violet Harmony, Orelero, Valimer, Melodrama, Enchante, Pacific Panorama, Caribou Trail, Golden Years, Wine and Roses, Celestial Snow, Nomohr, Roco, and Lemon Meringue. These are also listed in Cooley's, and are reasonably priced.

REMINDEES: Flowering shrubs, which have bloomed should be pruned. Use a sharp knife or clippers. Cut clear, concise cuts. Shape shrub as you prune. Many interesting shapes can be attained by pruning. Pyracantha, is one that is especially adaptable for this purpose. Japanese patterns can be developed by pruning them.

Linda and John Lohr and Bill Devers of Hereford are among members of the company that will present TEXAS this year. William A. Moore, director of the musical drama posted the names of performers this week.

The 1967 version of Paul Green's musical romance will be presented again in Palo Duro Canyon State Park. Panhandle Heritage Foundation produces the summer theater each year in the outdoor theater on the canyon floor.

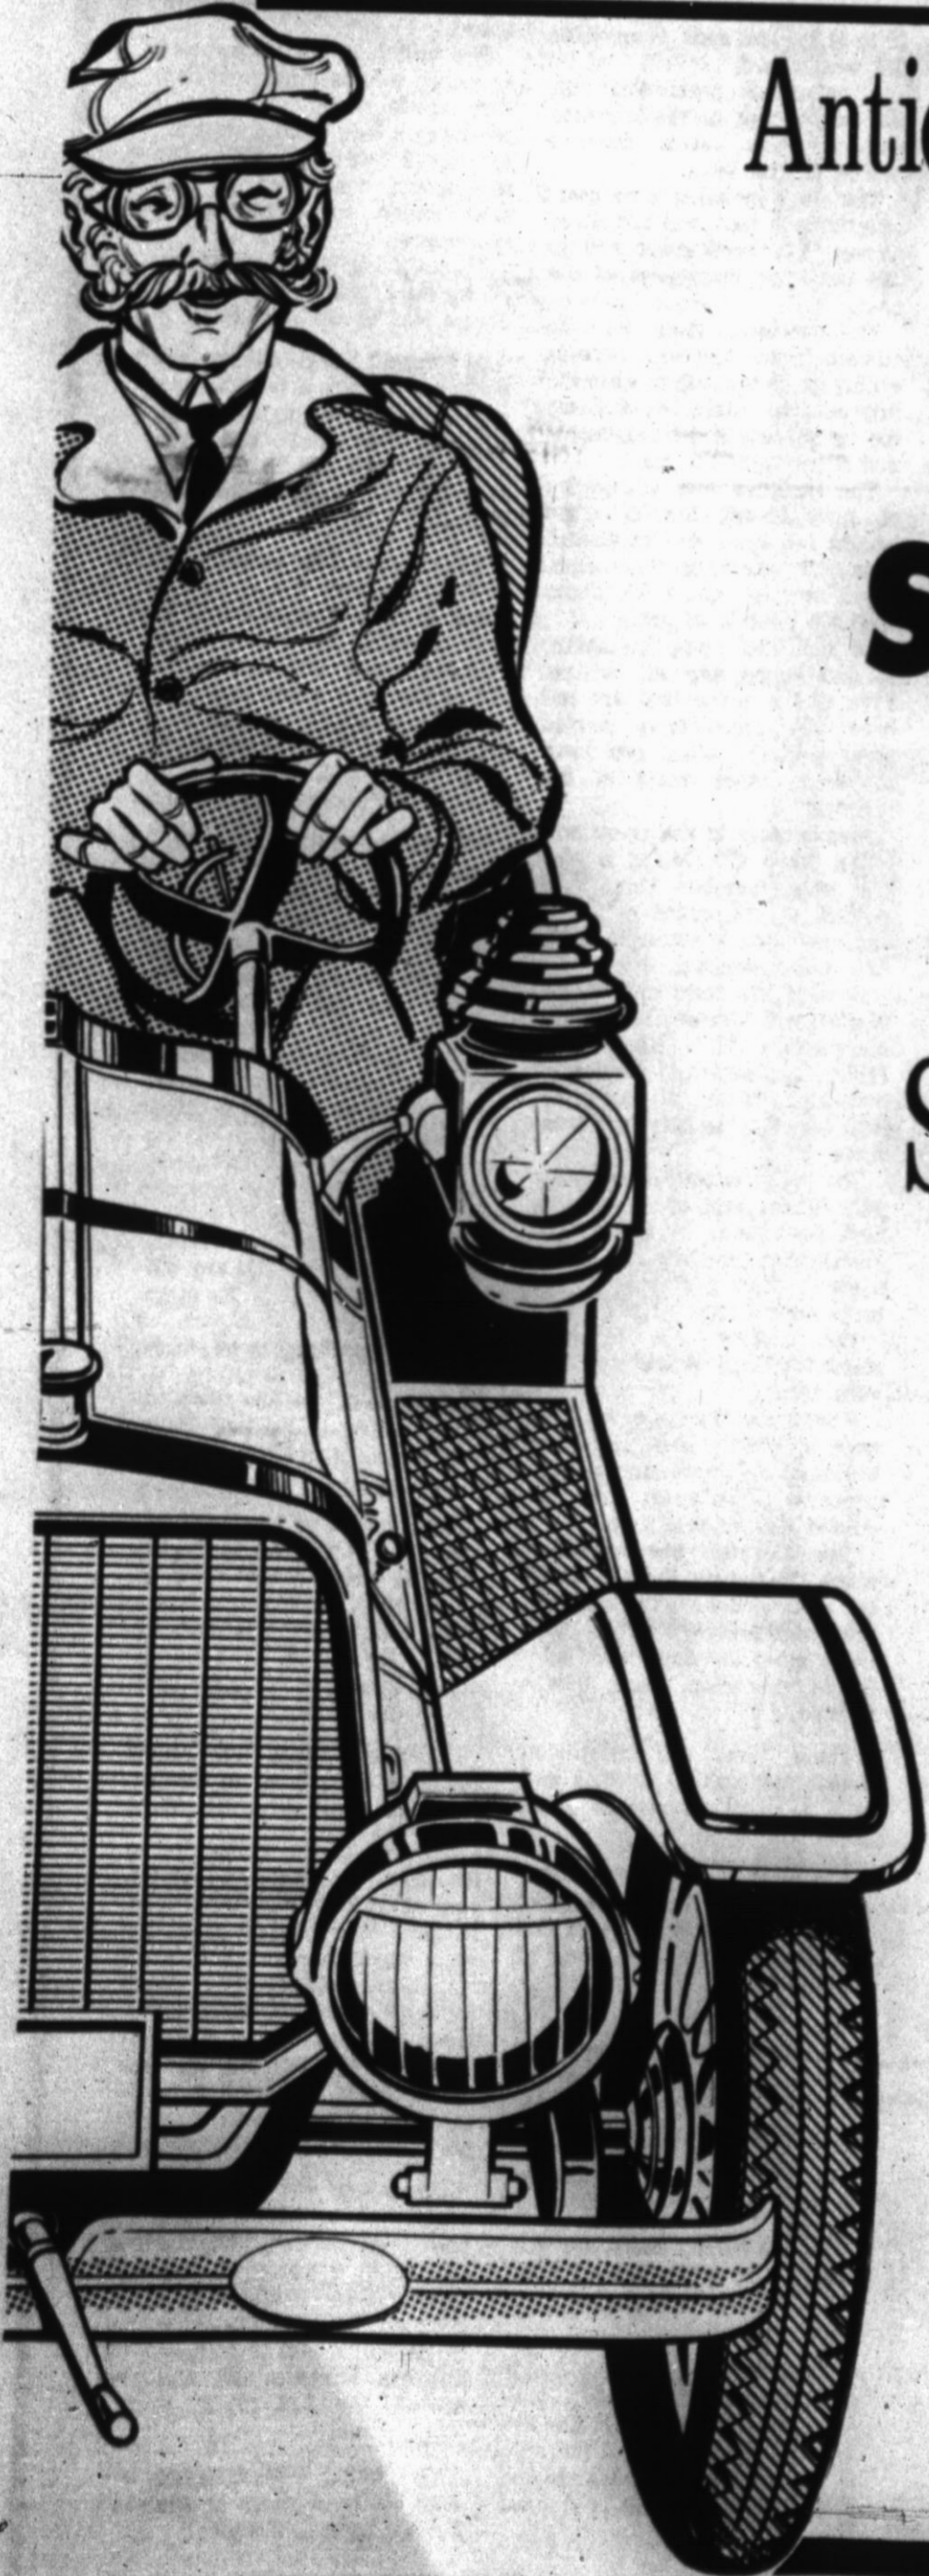

This year two former members of the New York City Center Opera Company are appearing in the cast. There are people from 27 localities, six states, and nine universities and colleges. Moore is director, Mrs. Margaret Moore, assistant director; Royal Brantley, musical director; Neil Hess Choreographer; Erin Wertenberger, technical director; L. P. Gilvin, president of the foundation and Raymond Raillard is executive vice president.

A thick batter, to which whole-kernel corn is added is often used for deep-fat fried corn fritters; to vary this dish, omit the corn and use chopped cooked shrimp.

One Summer Meeting Set

Tentative plans for at least one summer meeting were made by Garden Beautiful Club as it closed a season recently with a luncheon and a tour of a well-known garden in Amarillo. Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Sr. was program director. The group met at Community Center here and drove together to the neighboring city.

They visited the Graham gardens, noting details of landscaping as well as the numerous flowers in bloom. Mrs. Graham acted as their guide for a part of the tour and they were invited into the lodge for a different view of the grounds from its picture windows.

The Hereford women lunched at a cafeteria, where they held a brief business session and decided to hold a summer meeting at a date to be set. Regular meetings will be in recess until September.

In the party were Meses. Homer Newton, Charles Hood, Ray Cowser, Tom Carter, De-ward Roberson, E. W. Young, Leo Witkiwski, Lookingbill, and a guest, Mrs. Tyler.

Big Pull Starts Granite Boom

LLANO — The giant stone weighed 40 tons, and the only way to get it from the quarry to the railroad was to roll it on logs.

Each time the team of horses strained forward, the big rock would inch onto the next log, crushing it. Workmen would get another log and place it a foot or two farther down the road.

The process was repeated thousands of times, and finally the biggest chunk of granite ever hewn from the Llano quarries made it the 12 or so miles to town and the railroad.

The trip took six months. The stone is now the base of the Terry's Rangers Monument of the Capitol grounds in Austin, dedicated in 1907.

That feat signaled the beginning of the Llano granite boom, although some quarrying had been done since 1888. The industry reached its highest point of activity in 1935, when the city boasted of 10 quarries and five finishing plants.

Increased costs have caused a decline in the business of late. Builders in cities such as Chicago and Kansas City who once favored the high quality Llano granite, have turned to cheaper sources closer to them.

But Llano granite men say the future is bright. They believe recent advances in high-powered machinery, plus more capital and better quarrying methods, will result in a new demand for the richly pink stone.

J. K. Finley, a miller, first called attention to Llano granite in 1888 when he polished a stone from his "rock pile," using a small, crude polisher.

The railroad came in 1892, and that enabled Finley to make his first outside shipment — $300 worth of 18 kinds and shades of granite that went to Fort Worth, Chicago and other points.

The shipment consisted of brick-size stones all polished on one side.

Llano granite became nationally sought in 1894, when Finley supplied granite for the Kansas City Customs House.

German-born sculptor Frank Teich established his Teich Monument Works here in 1900. His statues and mausoleums still stand at numerous places in the Southwest and Mexico.

David Stewart owned the first quarry in the area. He soon leased part of it to Z. A. Blodgett and T. W. Norton and a new industry sprang up.

Blodgett is said to have introduced mechanical polishing. F. M. Cassidy became the first motor transporter of Llano granite in 1919.

The activity flourished until 1935.

Because of crude tools and methods, early granite men worked only the top rock, which was inferior to deeper strata.

Llano today has only a handful of quarries and only three granite businesses — one wholesale and two retail.

But those who know granite say the excellent quality of the deep stone here, in addition to a virtually unlimited quantity on thousands of untouched acres, point to optimism.

They say Llano is one of only 10 or so places in the United States where commercial granite is found. They believe the problem of tools and transportation will be worked out.

Perhaps as their ace in the hole, they know that the vast amount of granite near Llano will be there until they decide to quarry it. Granite, after all, is the "stone eternal."

Washington Report

From Congressman
BOB PRICE 10TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

1222 LONGWORTH OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C. • 205-1706

As proof of Republican pledges to offer constructive alternatives to Great Society programs, the so-called Quie amendment will be offered as a substitute for the Elementary and Secondary Education Amendments of 1967 when the Administration sponsored bill comes before the House shortly.

This is the first major move by Republican leaders in Congress to give the states and communities a responsible share of control over the way Federal funds are allotted to finance local programs.

The plan provides for block grants to the states for elementary and secondary education rather than the multiple individual grants-in-aid under the rigid control of the U. S. Office of Education in Washington.

There is only one real difference between the Quie plan and the Administration bill and that is the difference of control. The Quie plan would give state and local authorities responsible power over the way Federal school funds are spent. The Administration bill would keep the control in the hands of the Washington bureaucracy.

In presenting his plan to the House, Congressman Quie explained in detail that under its provisions Federal school fund would not be mingled with other State educational funds, that in the future no State would receive less than it would in the coming 1968 fiscal year, that private schools would get an even better deal than they do now, that poorer States would be protected, and that no violation of the civil rights law would be permitted.

But despite this, Administration officials from President Johnson on down have run a high fever over the Quie plan. They have denounced it in the severest terms. The President flew by helicopter to a high school in nearby Maryland where he denounced the Quie plan in a blast of torrid phrases.

The Milwaukee Sentinel, in an such a sharp counter-attack, particularly by going over the heads of Congress to the public as it were, if one is not worried by the appeal of the substitute (that is, the Quie plan)? The answer to that question would seem to be that the Quie proposal must have merits that would win it support, even in a Democratic-controlled Congress, to be adopted.

In fact, one of the Democrats of the Texas delegation, Rep. Earle Cabell of Dallas, expressed his opinion of the Quie amendment as compared with the Administration bill as follows:

"In considering the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1967, emotionalism and partisanship have become so intense that they are clouding the real issues involved.

"There are very few members of the House who oppose the basic concept of providing assistance to overburdened school administrations where the load is increased due to a heavy influx of students from low income families.

"Where many of the more moderate members of the majority party have joined some members of the minority party in vigorous opposition to this bill is in the area of administration of the Act and allocation of its funds.

"The legislation which the Department of Health, Education and Welfare presented, and which the House Leadership accepted, retains these same rigid and arbitrary controls that have been so criticized in Dallas County.

The opponents, myself among them, would like to see much of the red tape and paper work eliminated, and a wider range of discretion permitted state and local officials.

"The substitute bill which will be offered on the floor substantially achieves the moderate viewpoint."

I compliment my Democratic colleague for his frank and honest appraisal of a Republican sponsored bill and hope more of his caliber will join us in passing this most needed amendment to the Elementary and Secondary Education Act which would be a giant stride in the direction of giving state and local officials more discretion and control over education.

Freshmen Train In Pilot Plan

AUSTIN — Twenty-five freshmen entering The University of Texas this summer will have an opportunity to participate in a pilot program designed to increase their chances of success in college.

"Experiment in Academic Transition" is sponsored by the UT Testing and Counseling Center and will be coordinated with freshman English; it will yield three hours of credit. The 25 students selected to participate in the program will be enrolled in the same English section and in a class on college reading-study skills.

Among the academic habits to be studied are time-budgeting, listening, note-taking, reading and underlining textbooks, preparing for and taking examinations, remembering and concentrating.

The special course will also be an effort to integrate the freshmen into the University community. Students will be required to learn the location and function of various UT offices and libraries, as well as to obtain and interpret official catalogs and documents.

An optional feature of the program is the opportunity to participate in group counseling twice a week with members of the staff of the Testing and Counseling Center. The counseling is calculated to aid the new and in educational and vocational planning.

The student who wishes to participate must take no other course while enrolled in the experiment. It will require three hours a day, five days a week, and outside assignments will consume several additional hours.

Cost for the special project will be the same as for the freshman English course, with incidental costs for textbooks and materials. Participants must arrange admission through the UT office of Admissions and housing through the Division of Housing and Food Service. Applications for the program must be at the Testing and Counseling Center by May 25.

Further information on the Experiment in Academic Transition and application forms are available from the Testing and Counseling Center, University Station, Austin, Texas 78712.

U.S. 385

Guy Lawrence Is Re-Elected

U. S. 385 has now become international, according to Guy Lawrence. Lawrence has just returned from the annual meeting of the International Parks Highway Association held in Odessa, the 12 through the 14th of May. A bus now makes a twice a week run from Boquillas to Muzquiz, Coahuila, Mexico. Boquillas is just across the Rio Grande from the eastern edge of Big Bend National Park. Coahuila State says that the route will be numbered 385. This ties in with efforts on the northern end of the route where Saskatchewan has already agreed to number a series of routes from the Canadian border to Prince Albert National Park 85 also, but this numbering hinges on North and South Dakota efforts to have U. S. 385 from Puma Junction north to the border renumbered 385.

Lawrence was re-elected 1st Vice President of the International association while T. C. Tubbs of Crane, Texas, was elected President and Mrs. Peggy Garner of McCamey was elected Secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Mrs. Lucille Redfern of Chadron Nebraska, was elected 2nd Vice President. Ray Pool of Dimmitt was elected President of the Texas Division of the association with Charles Duvall of Littlefield as 1st Vice President and John Hargraves of Crane as second Vice President. The 1968 convention will be held at Weyburn, Saskatchewan.

Fred Haug leading to management

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Chef's Award Is Won

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Chef's training, as Fred Haug is pursuing it during his senior year in Hereford High School, is not designed to teach him to fry an egg in case he is left to get his own breakfast some morning. Nor has he any ambition to learn how to be a good host at a backyard barbecue.

IN FACT, HE IS not the least interested in learning to cook, as an end in itself. It is all a strictly business matter with him, and the business is restaurant management. He wants to make a profession of it, and appears to be making a very good start; he was rated first in the state in his division at recent VICA contests at Corpus Christi.

One of the entrants from Hereford High School in annual competition of Vocational-Industrial Cooperative students from over Texas, Fred was the first to enter in his field from this city.

Just now he is learning the basics of the restaurant business in on-the-job training in the kitchen of the Caison House. He plans to continue working there in a full-time job this summer, then will enter Delmar Tech at Corpus Christi for a two-year course in restaurant management.

AFTER THAT HE expects no trouble in finding a job; Delmar, one of the few schools in the nation offering such a course already has employers waiting for its graduates of the next three years.

Quiet, pleasant Fred Haug says he has felt for several years that he would like such a career, although he had no preparation for it unless you count a few months' work making sandwiches in a drive-in. And he does like to eat, his mother adds.

When the VICA program plans were announced here last year, he inquired whether there was any such work-training offered. Nobody had thought of it, but the faculty directors talked to G. D. Caison, restaurant operator here for a number of years, who promptly said he would like to cooperate.

THE ARRANGEMENT proved a happy one; employer and trainee speak with mutual enthusiasm of each other and of the value the program has been to both. Caison speaks proudly of the award his employe has won, and adds that he wants another trainee next year to take Fred's place. Haug has spent the past 1.5 years in Hereford High School, after the family moved here from Hardin, Mont. His father, F. H. Haug, is with Holly Sugar Company and the family includes two sisters, one younger and one older than Fred.

A member of the high school band, Fred plays alto clarinet in the musical group which has won about all the contests it has entered this term. With his job plus the extra work in band, he admits that he doesn't have much time for interests outside school this year.

HIS TASKS at the restaurant have been limited because he works only between mealtime hours, but he expects to gain broader experience when school is out this summer, and he says he has profited by simply watching other workers and getting an all-around look at kitchen activities.

One of his principal jobs is preparing tossed salads, and since a restaurant can win or lose a reputation on that dish, his tips can be taken seriously by the home cook. Here's how he goes about it:

TOSSED GREEN SALAD
Take a head of lettuce out of its storage compartment, remove the dark outer leaves (which are nice for plate garnish). Remove the heart and run water in the center. Drain well; remove all water.

HAUG LIKES A FRENCH knife to cut the head in half, then cut it through on a block instead of chopping. Cut across on the heart side, then turn and cut the other way. If the pieces are too large, turn and cut again.

Peel one large or two medium cucumbers. Cut lengthwise into quarters, then chop crosswise to make about 1/2 inch pieces. Cut 2 green peppers in half lengthwise, remove seed, wash well inside and out, and remove any dark spots. Cut lengthwise into 1/4 inch strips, then turn and cube.

Wash 1 bunch radishes, cut ends off, slice and then quarter slices. Or radishes may be shredded, as may one or two carrots to add color. Scrub well 1/2 stalk celery, and trim off

BACK TO LANTERNS

CAIRO — Villagers of Albaday in Upper Egypt hard-ly emerged from the use of gas lanterns to enjoy the comfort of electricity than red tape blacked out their happy village.

In less than a month the village was blacked out when the local council found out that contractors had not signed certain papers proving they had installed the electric power station.

Until the contractors sign the papers, which according to reports will take several months, the village will continue using gas lanterns.

dark parts. Break tips and pull strings off. Cut lengthwise, then slice. Half a medium head of cabbage may be shredded and added for flavor variety.
