

Rabbits Are Cause

Unique Fence Machine Introduced

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

Almost a decade ago when American-imported rabbits in Australia posed a threat to farmer's crops, a small group of Aussies set upon an effort to build a machine that would produce a mesh-type fence that could keep the vegetarians out of their crops.

After several efforts had failed, a machine was finally devised and farmers were able to weave the wire fence, bury it deep enough in the ground to keep the rabbits from burrowing under and high enough to keep them from leaping over. The rabbits, never having encountered this type of obstacle, would just sit outside the fields and starve to death, not knowing what to do.

Though the fence making machine proved a great success, financial problems halted further improvement on it until, in 1968, a group of Graham, Texas businessmen learned of the machine. A trip to "The Land Down Under" and a look at the unique machine prompted the businessmen to invest in it and bring it back to the United States, where they perfected it during the latter part of last year.

Gene and Jack Campbell, of Hereford, took a franchise on the machine for Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer Counties to become the second Panhandle city to produce the highly sought after wire fence. A small franchise, a one-man operation, is located in Claude, and has been manufacturing the fence in small quantities, but the Campbell franchise is expected to handle much larger production, provided orders warrant it.

Unlike the conventional soft wire large companies use in the production of their mesh fence, the new machine uses the salvage wire from out-dated overhead telephone and telegraph lines. In recent years, the telephone and telegraph companies went to underground cable for communication and the overhead lines, which totaled hundreds of thousands of miles of the wire, were all taken down. Unable to make good use of the tough, rust-proof material, the companies stored large quantities of the wire and sold it for a very low cost. From this wire, the new fence making machine is able to produce a higher quality fence at a considerably lower cost than the conventional type.

Campbell's machine, like all others of Australian origin, are more versatile than the larger machines used by the larger companies. Where the larger firms must reset almost the entire machine in order to make a larger diamond than the standard two inch, Campbell's machine, with a small change, can make diamond mesh wire in one, two, three and four inch diameters.

Another feature of the small machine is that 11 gauge to seven gauge wire can be woven into heights ranging from three to 10 feet.

Because of the demand for the wire for yard fences, rodeo pens, backstops, feedlots, instant boat ramps and others, the state government is considering purchasing 12 of the new machines for use in the state penitentiary. State officials, after considerable experimentation with the wire, found that the wire, if used as a partition along the large highways, will prevent glare from headlights and the sun as well as serving as a guard for cars. Tests revealed that the wire is able to stop a car traveling at 70 miles an hour without stretching or tearing the wire.

Officials feel that the machines will provide work for the prison inmates as well as furnishing a worthwhile product.

Campbell stated that about 700 feet of wire, six feet high, can be produced in a full working day and future plans call for a possible two shifts, again providing production warrants it. At the present time, only one machine is in use, but Campbell expressed hope that, if the demand is high enough, expansion will reach four machines.

The new business opened its office at 841 East First and orders are now being taken, Campbell said.

Tax Raise Issue To Be Faced Here

With approval of the Deaf Smith County commissioners for local voters to ballot on the $500,000 bond issue for Tuesday, May 20, for construction of a new Deaf Smith County Hospital addition, officials of both the county and hospital have been approached on one of its major sideliights — a proposed raise in taxes.

The four commissioners with Bob L. Davis of Columbian Securities Corp. of Amarillo reported at the special meeting Wednesday that passage of the bond could mean that county taxes would increase approximately 7 per cent.

However, the commissioners pointed out that the 7 per cent figure is tentative at this time. They felt that it is the maximum the county would have to increase taxes. The figure may be lower, when they have had the opportunity to completely examine the tax situation.

Hospital administrator T. F. Seigler, who had reported earlier that he felt the county tax would rise, said, "We have been told that there will be an approximate 7 per cent tax increase. But even so, the county tax rate is still much less than the city and school taxes that are paid here. And I think that speaks highly of the county and its commissioners."

Wayne Thomas, a local attorney who is on the hospital board, appeared at the regular County Commissioners Court session Monday where he opened discussion on the tax increase question. He asked each commissioner if they were in any way opposed to the bond issue for the hospital. "If you are," Thomas said, "we will drop the bond matter entirely and suffer the consequences of overcrowding. We do not wish to do anything without complete approval of this court."

The commissioners stated that they were not opposed. However, they made it clear that they have the responsibility of all other county matters and believed at that time that a tax raise would be necessary, in order for them to cover all county expenses.

Commissioners also reported that it is very possible that a hospital district would be created here within the next two years — in view of the county's population growth — when the hospital would be separated from the county. They reported that the deadline — March 15 — had already passed for such action this year.

L. I. Smith, county clerk, noted the need for the hospital expansion and will understand the necessity of a small tax increase, Thomas said.

County Judge H. C. Williams pointed out that there have been only one or two small tax increases in the county since he had been in office during the past eight years.

Seigler pointed out that the hospital is costing the taxpayer much less here than in surrounding counties. A check with any other publicly owned hospital for their costs will show this to be fact. He made reference to the full page ad which appears in this issue of the Sunday Brand and reported that additional information is to appear in Thursday's edition of the Hereford Brand.

Seigler said that he realized no one had any desire to pay more taxes. "I have no desire to pay more myself. But the need for expansion at the Deaf Smith County Hospital is upon us now. I am sure the people here understand that it has been next to the impossible to forecast our growth during the past ten years, but can certainly visualize what has happened as of now. I feel they will stand behind us."

He reported that the delay in issuing further information on the tax increase was in getting all the facts as they are being worked out by the court house at this time. "We intend to be completely honest with the public and hope to have all this information by Thursday."

Davis, who is tax advisor for Commissioners Court, stated that he felt the bond should pass now in view of rising construction and labor costs. It will cost the county more later.

Commissioners filled vacancies of two election judges during the week. Mrs. Robert Lloyd is now alternate in voting precinct 4 with J. S. Stocks as judge, replacing the late J. G. Fortenberry. In precinct 11, Austin Rose Jr. is now alternate in place of Tommy Braddy, who has moved from the precinct. Raymond Higginbotham is now presiding judge.

Ceremony Set For May 11

A ceremony for consecration of the new 18-bed addition to Westgate hospital unit, followed by Mothers Day open house, is announced for 3 p. m. next Sunday, May 11, by Manson Waits, administrator of the Methodist retirement center in Hereford.

The public is invited for the ceremony which will be held in the main lobby of Westgate 430 Ranger.

The recently completed wing is to be known as The Wilder Memorial Addition, since it was made possible by a gift of approximately $45,000 from the will of the late Orlando Wilder, a resident for several years at the Manor, together with a matching grant from the Hill-Burton program of federal funds for hospitals.

Other luncheon on Mothers Day and the special consecration program are in keeping with the tradition of the late President Richard Nixon at the General Hospital, Smith of the month of May as Senior Citizen, Month for 1969.

Dr. Don L. Tompkins, executive director of Kings Manor, will preside over the memorial ceremony with the Rev. Clifford Luther, pastor of First United Methodist Church, here officiating in the ritual and benediction of the day.

A visitor is invited to join the building after the program and those who wish to help to have the opportunity to contribute to Mothers Day luncheon and other who have no immediate family to remember them with a visit.

Prominent among those who attend visitors at both Westgate and the Manor will be trustees of whom Mrs. H. K. Fenwick is the president elect. Community representatives, volunteer workers including those from the Red Cross, member ship staff members and residents. Residents of the cottages on Cottage Drive will welcome visitors until 5 p. m.

Present staff membership in every position on the campus is due high praise, Waits says, and the growing number of field groups who visit Hereford to see the home provide a satisfaction to the executive director, the administrator and all management personnel.

This annual occasion is one to which we especially invite visitors and we hope that many residents of this area will be our guests next Sunday afternoon.

Honor Students Named At HHS

Kathy Fooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Fooks, and Martha Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Morgan, were named valedictorian and Salutatorian, respectively, of the senior class of 1969. It was reported Friday.

Miss Fooks maintained a grade average of 97.03 for high honors. She is a member of the National Honor Society, Lions Club Sweetheart and a member of the Hereford High School band. She is also active in the Central Church of Christ.

Future plans include attending Abilene Christian College on the $400 scholarship received for valedictorian honors. She plans to be a medical doctor.

Miss Morgan, who maintained a grade average of 96.06, plans to attend West Texas State University and major in business. She is also a member of the National Honor Society and Tri-Hi-Y and is active in the First Baptist Church.

Other top ten students from the senior class include Russell Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Phillips, 108 Ave. I, Marvin Readhimer, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Williams, 213 Aspen, Dennis Downey, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Downey, Route 5, Patricia Hill and Cindy Cavness, tied for sixth. Miss Hill is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Hill, Route 1 and Miss Cavness is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Cavness, 129 N. Texas.

Also, Robert Grady, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Grady, 116 Ave. J, James Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Simpson, 825 Blevins, Lynn Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Fisher, 208 Centre; Janice Turrentine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Turrentine, Route 4, and Dell Sealy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Sealy, 603 Blevins.

Green Bugs Return Here

Green bugs have already been discovered in non-cultivated areas in this area, according to County Agriculture Agent Justin McBride, and the next step is maize dwarf mosaic virus.

McBride reported severe losses last year from green bugs. "If this happens again, it will have a tremendous effect on our grain sorghum."

He issued instructions on Johnsongrass control as the weed is now beginning vigorous growth in the area. "Now is the time to begin control of this weed. Herbicides are most effective when the weed is in a young, succulent growth stage."

Dr. Robert B. Metzger, Extension area agronomist at the South Plains Research and Extension Center pointed out that "eradication of Johnsongrass and other weeds is essential for efficient crop production. Johnsongrass not only competes for water, nutrients and sunlight but may serve as a source or habitat for insects and diseases."

Johnsongrass is the primary overwintering host for maize dwarf mosaic virus, a new disease of grain sorghum in this area of the state, adds Metzger. Therefore, eradication of the weed may become increasingly important in sorghum production areas.

Small hard to kill patches of Johnsongrass may be eradicated in non-cultivated areas with such soil sterilant herbicides as sodium chlorate or bromacil, explains Metzger. Sodium chlorate at three to five pounds per square rod (16 and 1/2 feet) can be used along ditches and fence rows. Bromacil should be applied at 15 to 20 pounds of active ingredient per acre.

McBride said the best results from these materials can be gained in full, mature grass. "Rainfall is required to move these herbicides into the soil," adds Metzger. "Treated soil will remain sterile for two or three years. Shorter periods (several months) of sterilization can be obtained with a mixture such as sodium TCA and dalapon."

In cultivated areas where soil sterilization is to be avoided, Metzger recommends using dalapon at a rate of 10 to 20 pounds per acre on 6-to-10 inch Johnsongrass. Small areas may be treated by spraying foliage until wet with one or two pounds of dalapon in 10 gallons of water. Usually two or three sprayings at two-to-three-week intervals is necessary for eradication.

"Economic control of Johnsongrass on large cultivated areas can best be obtained by tillage and DSMA or MSMA with a one-half percent surfactant," points out the agronomist. "This should be applied to vigorously growing plants at three to five pounds per acre. Herbicidal oils may also be effective under these conditions."

Metzger further explains that a combination of crop rotation and herbicides also gives effective control of the weed in cultivated fields. For example, rotating sorghum with such crops as cotton and soybeans will allow the use of pre-plant herbicides which are highly effective against seedling Johnsongrass.

On the other hand, effective Johnsongrass control is difficult in areas of continuous sorghum, adds the agronomist. A crop rotation that includes wheat provides an excellent opportunity for controlling Johnsongrass with tillage and herbicides during the summer after wheat harvest.

Metzger cautions producers to carefully follow the recommendations of herbicide manufacturers as spelled out on the labels for specific compounds.

School Transfer Deadline

All students who wish to transfer from one school district to another in the 1969-70 semester have been given a deadline to file application with County Superintendent H. C. Williams at his office in the Deaf Smith County Court House.

Deadline is May 29.

Walcott School students who are going into junior and high school classes here in the fall must also file application with Judge Williams.

Coke Party For Seniors Today

The Hereford State Bank is holding an open house today to honor the graduating seniors of 1969 between the hours of 3:30 and 5:00 p. m.

Door prizes and other gifts will be given away at the Coke Party.

Brochures on banking and services will be distributed to everyone attending.

Organ music will be furnished by Misses Dee Ann and Sandy Caison.

Trustees of the Hereford School Board have been issued a special invitation.

Clinic Forms Must Be Signed

C. P. Worthan, Oasis Shrine president, reported Thursday that pre-registration forms for the annual children's clinic must be signed by the family physician before check-ups will be performed.

He stated that this will eliminate much of the confusion that might occur. The clinic, slated for May 17, with registration at the Community Center, is an annual event sponsored by Shriners from Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer Counties with the cooperation of numerous medical specialists from throughout the state.

Plans Approved For New Staff Building For Girlstown, U.S.A.

Approval of plans for a new staff building at Girlstown, U.S.A., was given by the board of directors at a meeting in Hereford last Saturday. The session was held in World's Best Room.

A recent gift from an anonymous fund in Ohio will make the new building possible. Marshall Cooper, executive director of the girls' residence home, told board members. Construction is expected to begin within the next month.

W. S. "Bill" Healy, the Paducah legislator who is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, has been under fire lately due to the fact that he has sold sand and gravel to the state.

But Healy is apparently not the only one in Austin who is in hot water. Governor Smith may be in for a bad time himself. He has stated that he does not think legislators could give Texas teachers a pay raise without voting new taxes, even with just a one-year appropriations bill.

And also in Austin, Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler is creating somewhat of a furor in his department by issuing an edict concerning mini-skirts and sideburns.

Things may get exciting down south

Emmett Milburn, after seeing the picture in Thursday's paper of The Star Theatre boxoffice, has suggested that Star manager Francis Hardwick check the city ordinances before starting "drive-in service" at the Star.

And then there's the story of the gal who bought a wig with curlers in it — to wear to the supermarket.

According to the Eric (Pa.) Morning News, one wit says if it weren't for computers — which were supposed to make accountants obsolete — fully half the population would be engaged in record keeping today.

Group Opposes The Cotton Sale

Hugh Clearman, chairman of the Deaf Smith County Crops Committee, has issued an opposition statement on the vote by local cotton farmers as to whether they should sell or leave their cotton allotments outside the county.

Clearman said, "Cotton producers of Deaf Smith County will be faced with an important decision they must make between May 5 and 9 (Monday through Friday). Producers will vote on the referendum for Transfer of Upland Cotton allotments for 1970 to determine whether transfers to other counties by sale or lease will be permitted. This program has been in effect for the past five years and the farmers of Deaf Smith County have suffered a net loss of over 3,000 acres of cotton allotments."

He explained that the county cotton committee, of which he is also chairman, had recommended at their last meeting that producers vote against the sale of lease of cotton allotments out of the county. "The committee feels that the cotton allotments are of prime importance to the future economy of the county and that once they are sold become very difficult to replace," Clearman said. "The committee points out that under proper management quality cotton can be produced in Deaf Smith County and will give a net return to the farmer that is comparable to other crops."

Bull Barn To Get Gift Piano

County Commissioners Court accepted a gift of $500 toward a piano for the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn last week.

The donation was made by the Garden Beautiful Club.

Commissioners said they were very grateful for the club's purchase as expected soon donation.

He emphasized, "We would like to point out that it takes less water to produce cotton, and as the water table drops this will become more important in the future. In addition, researchers are continually working toward improving varieties that are better adapted to our area."

Clearman said that the committee feels that in the future there will be cotton varieties that will enable county farmers to produce quality cotton. "If this is the case, then certainly cotton will be of economic importance and should be retained as a crop for county producers."

Narcotics Director Speaks

The First Baptist Church, Hereford High School, Stant on Jr. High and La Plata are scheduled for a two-day discussion on the harm of narcotics by the Dallas director of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, Jason Hand.

Hand, who has been active in the bureau for several years where he has "played the role" of an addict to uncover, break up and bring convictions in several narcotic rings, will speak at 9:45 a. m. today to juniors high and high school students at the First Baptist Church.

The director will also speak to parents of teenagers at 3 p.m. at the church.

His schedule Monday will include general assemblies at the three local schools. Hand, who is also an active layman in the Baptist church, maintains that "we have to produce quality cotton. "If this is the case, then certainly cotton will be of economic importance and should be retained as a crop for county producers."

Hereford Included In Recent Survey

Coast and Geodetic Survey disclosed today that Hereford was one of 17 locations in seven states where a four-month survey was conducted to determine direction and intensity of the earth's magnetism.

The survey was made to determine the changes which have occurred in the magnetic field at locations throughout the country.

Locations included two sites near Mena and Walnut Ridge, Ark.; Vinita and Carmen, Okla.; Hereford and Van Horn, Tex.; Trinidad and Cortez, Colo.; Espanola, Deming and Nogales, N. Mex.; Glendale, Ariz.; and two sites at Rolla, Mo. and at the University of Oklahoma and Fort Sill, Okla.

The survey was carried out by Harold E. Kaufmann, of the Coast Survey's Fredericksburg Geomagnetic Center at Corbin Va. The Coast Survey is an agency of the Environmental Science Services Administration in the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Kaufmann recorded the direction and strength of the force exerted on the compass needle by the magnetic field. His continuous, three-day measurements at each site are compared with earlier measurements at the same site, and the average annual rate of change in the field will be determined at Coast Survey headquarters in Rockville, Md. The sites, marked with small bronze discs imbedded in concrete or rock, are located at airports, state parks, and other places where there is no known local anomalous magnetic influence nearby above the surface or within the earth, so that an accurate value of the direction of the needle as well as the strength of the field, can be determined.

The change in the magnetic field varies from day to day and from place to place. Also, the earth's overall magnetism varies slowly in direction and strength, in a comparatively unpredictable pattern. It changes sufficiently so that updating charted information is required every five years.

Kaufmann is assigned the task of measuring the earth's magnetism at over 100 selected sites throughout the United States, and he surveys approximately one-fifth of them each year. He also participates in Coast Survey oceanographic surveys, where knowledge of themagnetism is useful in tracing the geological structure of the earth beneath the sea.

The magnetic information he gathers, along with daily observations from Coast Survey magnetic observatories, is used in preparing charts of the magnetic field, published every five years, which are used by space scientists, surveyors, private geologists exploring oil bearing rock formations and minerals within the earth, and by a variety of other users.

The results will also be incorporated in Coast Survey aeronautical and nautical charts for use in plotting accurate navigation courses. The charts show the amount the compass needle points away from true north in different parts of the country and the average yearly rate of change.

Revival Begins At City Church

Temple Baptist Church at 700 Ave. K is participating with churches in North, Central and South America in the Crusades of the Americas with revival services beginning today and continuing daily through next Sunday.

Preacher is Rev. T. J. Ozburn, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Hale Center.

Pastor of the Temple Church, Rev. J. L. Bozeman, has invited the public to attend the services each day at 12 noon and at 7:30 p. m. A nursery is being provided for young mothers.

The crusade has for its theme, "Christ, the Only Hope." Its three purposes are: The deepening of the spiritual life within the churches, homes, and individual Christians; the evangelizing of the Americas; and the establishment of true moral and spiritual bases for the betterment of mankind's economic and social welfare.

Rev. Ozburn is described as an outstanding man in many areas. He taught at Wayland College for two years after being ordained to preach shortly after finishing high school. He has written for South Central Modern Language Association and is recognized in Who's Who in the Southwest.

A graduate of East Texas State University, where he received his BA and MA, he also attended East Texas Baptist College. Rev. Ozburn has conducted over 100 revival meetings in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, and California, and has been pastor at Hale Center for two years. He is married and has a son.

Troy Gandy, music director at Temple Baptist Church, is to have charge of the revival music. Gandy was assistant chaplain at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch for two-and-a-half years before assuming duties here.

PERMANENT PROBLEM
LONDON — The telephone cable manhole in the middle of busy Brigstock Road is staying where it is despite complaints that traffic backs up for miles whenever the cover is taken off. Telephone officials say it would cost 50,000 pounds ($120,000) to move the hole a few yards to the sidewalk.

Coffee Is Final Event Of Year

A Coffee in the home of Mrs. J. B. Noland ended a year's activity for Summerfield Study Club Thursday morning, when Federation Day was observed. Reports on the annual convention of the Top of Texas District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, were given by members who attended that event in Dalhart last month. Mrs. Guy Walser, club president, Mrs. Ray Johnson and Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Sr., talked of various aspects of that meeting. Club chairmen of the Federation departments made their annual reports. These chairmen are Mrs. Noland, education; Mrs. Thurman Atchley, conservation; Mrs. George DeLozier, fine arts; Mrs. Earl Lance, home life; Mrs. Johnson, Texas heritage; Mrs. R. B. Baker, public affairs.

A yearbook committee to frame the program for next season was named. It comprises Mmes. Johnson, J. R. Euler and DeLozier. Club officers will serve another season to complete a two-year term. Tentative plans were made for a community cleanup day at Summerfield, and planting flowers on the church grounds.

Members voted to contribute to the Cystic Fibrosis Association. Special guests for the coffee were Mmes. Don Martin, W. A. Gear, Joe Story, Charlie Noland and Charlie Holt.

Members present were Mmes. Lee Curry, L. B. Lookingbill, Mack Noland, Clayton Sanders, L. H. Lookingbill Sr., Atchley, DeLozier, Euler, Johnson and Walser.

Rube Bjorkman, University of North Dakota hockey coach, was a member of the 1948 and 1952 U. S. Olympic hockey teams.

Inez Sambrano Finishes LCC

LUBBOCK — The largest class to graduate from Lubbock Christian College will be graduating on May 26 in the Moody Auditorium at 8 p. m. This class has 123 students and will be the last to graduate from LCC with the two-year degree. Inez Sambrano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fuljencio Sambrano, 226 Avenue D, will be graduating with her Associate in Science Degree.

Forty Years Service Marked By 'Central'

Forty years as a telephone operator in the growing city of Hereford have given Ruby Daub occasion to witness "a lot of changes in equipment and ways of using it," she says, then adds, "but people haven't changed much. They still sometimes call information to ask Mary's telephone number when they don't know Mary's last name!"

Mrs. Daub was honored Friday at a surprise luncheon given by fellow employees in the Hereford office of Southwestern Bell Company, marking her 40 years with the company. She was presented a handsome service pin and a corsage of red carnations.

The anniversary of her employment was actually on Apr. 26. Just out of school, she began work in 1929 at the telephone office then located where the old Nickerson Hotel stood, with plans to work until September and then continue her schooling.

"And here I am, still working

Daub says.

She worked the lonesome night shift, 10 p. m. to 6 a. m., for several years and sometimes felt that she was the only person in town awake. However, she says she was never really frightened. "I'm just not the scary type," she smiles.

She recalls no dramatic incident in her service, but like all telephone operators learned to take for granted being called in emergencies — turning in fire alarms, hunting a doctor for a sick child, spending time trying to locate someone who had no telephone in his home when he was wanted for a death message from another city.

"It was just natural for people to ring the phone and ask help from 'Central' when there was no one else to help," she says, "and that really hasn't changed much, either. We get many calls like that on information, and although some of the questions are funny, each one of them actually comes from someone who is in trouble or confused, and we take them all seriously and try to help."

"A telephone operator still tries to be a good neighbor even though she no longer knows everybody in town."

Mrs. Daub pretty well knew them all when she began work, as she had lived in Hereford since she was a small child and gone through school here. She was Ruby Hagar, daughter of the M. T. Hagers, before her marriage to Leslie Daub in 1947. He died in 1951 and she lives now at 211 Bennett Street.

PROGRAM CHANGE

In a switch of bookings, "Doctor Zhivago" is to begin at the Star Theatre today in place of "Sinful Davey."

"Doctor Zhivago," which has had prior showings here at advanced admission prices, will be shown at regular admission during this engagement, according to manager Francis Hardwick.

Due to the award-winning feature's running time (3 hours 17 minutes), only two showings are slated today, at 2:15 and 8 p. m. There are to be 8 p. m. showings only on Monday and Tuesday.

Cultural Club Invites Guests For Luncheon

Luncheon at the Caison House was served to Cultural Home Demonstration Club members and four guests Friday, then the group went to Community Center for a training meeting attended by representatives of the various H. D. Clubs of this county.

Mrs. Grady Parsons opened the luncheon program by reading a poem, God Has Been Good to Me. Mrs. Paul Corbett presided for business, as plans were made to assist a senior girl in Hereford High School, and to provide chauffeur service for Kings Manor residents in June.

Mrs. Louie Olson, giving the report from the April H. D. Council meeting, said it was featured by the announcement that the district Texas H. D. Association convention will be held here next spring.

Guests for the luncheon were Argen Draper, County H. D. Agent, Mmes. Ola Hacker, Bert Brown and Ralph Packard. Other members present were Mmes. Ira Scott, Pat Robinson, P.M. Houser, Thurman Deas, D. C. Allman, J. D. Love, George Parker, M. W. Sumner.

Miss Langley Is Tea Honoree

Miss Barara Langley, whose marriage to Chris Todd of Lubbock is to be an event of May 31, was honoree at a shower-tea in the home of Mrs. Paul Conaway, Rio Vista Drive, Saturday afternoon.

Callers were received during the two hours by Mrs. Conaway; Miss Langley and her mother, Mrs. Earnest Langley and the honoree's sister, Mrs. Dan Wall. They registered in a guest book where Miss Carolyn Langley presided.

From a white-covered table centered with an epergne arrangement of white flowers and frosty green foliage, refreshments in green and white were served by Miss Cynthia Andrews of Portales, cousin of the bride-to-be, Miss Sidney Bayne and Mrs. Ronnie Gray.

Guests from other cities included Miss Langley's grandmother, Mrs. H. E. Richter, and great-aunt, Mrs. Chris Penn, of Abernathy, and her fiancé's grandmothers, Mrs. Agnes Todd of Lubbock and Mrs. M. D. Fuller of Jayton.

Hostesses with Mrs. Conaway were Mmes. Milton Adams, Don Baugous, Bert Boomer, Clyde Cave, Pete Caviness, Clint Formy, S. L. Garrison, Norm a n Gray, Roy Grubbs, Robert Hickman.

Also Mmes. Elmer Kimball, L. W. Metcalf, A. T. Mims, Gaylord Newell, Joe Reinauer, Charles Springer Dale Tinnin, Glenn Watts and Hazen Woods.

Mrs. Dowell Is Named To Board

Mrs. W. B. Dowell has recently returned from the annual Texas Dental Assistants Association Meeting, held in Dallas, where she was named to the State Board.

Elected by delegates from all over Texas, Mrs. Dowell will represent the South Plains, Caprock and the Panhandle on the board.

She received her national cer-tification eighteen years ago and has worked as dental assistant to Dr. H. A. Cavness since that time.

W. J. Walker's Services Monday

Funeral services for William Joshua Walker, 45, who was killed Thursday in a truck accident 10 miles east of Tularosa, N. M., will be conducted at 10 a. m. Monday in Rose Chapel of Gilliland Funeral Home. Mr. Walker resided on South McKinley Street here.

A custom harvester, he was on his way with a crew to Casa Grande, Ariz., for the barley harvest, when the accident occurred. He was pinned against the rear of a truck when another truck rolled forward.

His son-in-law, Raymond Stone, but was released after treatment at a hospital in the New Mexico city, and returned home.

Mr. Walker was born July 27, 1923, at Vernon and married Lillie Mae Cockrum Nov. 18, 1951 at Truscott. He was a veteran of military service in World War II and a resident of Deaf Smith County since 1958 when he moved from Hart.

Surviving him are his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Helen Stone; two sons, William and Thomas Walker, all of Hereford; his mother, Mrs. W. W. Walker, and a sister, Mrs. Tinnie O'la Tapp, both of Willow, Okla., and one grandchild.

The funeral will be conducted by Charlie Graef of the RLDS Church of Olton, assisted by the Rev. Gerald Mann of First Baptist Church. Burial will be in West Park Cemetery.

EVIDENCE AGAINST HIM

CALCUTTA — A Customs employe has been sacked — because his bank balance suggested he hadn't spent a cent of his salary for 62 years.

The employe, a junior vigilance officer, is not 62 years old.

The Central Bureau of Investigation concluded that the employe, earning rupees 80 (about $10) a month, could not have saved rupees 60,000 ($8,000) unless he had indulged in "corrupt and illegal means" to acquire wealth.

Miss McGowen Complimented

A June bride-elect whose wedding is scheduled for the first day of that month, Miss Ellen McGowen was complimented with a shower Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Joel Hodges, 120 Centre.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McGowen Jr. is to marry Ronnie Dunaway of Santa Rosa, N. M., in a ceremony at First United Methodist Church here. She is a student in Eastern New Mexico University at Portales.

Receiving shower guests with her were her mother, her fian-ce's mother, Mrs. H. C. Dunaway of Portales, and her grandmothers, Mrs. T. W. Alderson and Mrs. Claude McGowen Sr.

Hostesses presided in turn at the refreshment table, assisted by Mrs. Wayne Hamilton. Mrs. Bill Johnson was at the guest book.

Gold and blue, colors chosen for Miss McGowen's wedding decor, appeared on the tea table. Blue tapers and white carnations were arranged in the center and the cloth was airy white net over satin. Bouquets of white and blue iris from Hereford gardens were placed about the rooms.

In the hostess party with Mrs. Hodges were Mes. Don Baugous, Colby Conkright, Arlie Dean, Shirley Garrison, Joe L. Hamilton, Grant Hanna, Bill

Hutson, J. R. Johnson, Carl McCaslin, N. E. Milburn, A. T. Mims, George Olson, Lloyd Polol, Garland Solomon, Seale Stevens, John Thames, Ernest Wade, George Warner, Ed Warren and H. C. Williams.

Along the lower Rio Grande, where the meandering river makes a giant loop between western Texas and Mexico, lies a lonely frontier that has few scenic equals. It is called the Big Bend region of Texas.

June Vows Planned

Mr. and Mrs. Ancil Greenway, 334 Avenue G, announce the engagement of their daughter, Iretta Joy, to Robert Cole Hewitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hewitt Jr., Austin Road. A June wedding is planned by the couple.

Miss Greenway is a student in Hereford High School, where she is a member of the choir. Hewitt, a graduate of HHS, is employed by Orval Watson Ford Company.

Pony League Officials Announce Coaches, Players For Season

Over 80 boys will participate in the 1969 Pony League baseball program in Hereford, and league officials released names of players and coaches for each of the six teams.

ALL THREE PACIFIED LOUISVILLE, Ky. — The baby was howling because it had lost its pacifier, leaving both the mother and Train Conductor G. A. Clements upset.

Clements took his pocket radio and messaged the engineer of the train about the problem. The engineer radioed the train dispatcher, who telephoned ahead to Agent J. C. Sims at Flomaton, Ala., where the train was due in 25 minutes.

When the train pulled into the station, Sims was standing on the platform with a new pacifier, which restored calm.

Along The Frio

By MRS. OWEN ANDREWS
Brand Correspondent

Frio Homemakers Club met Tuesday at Black's Furniture Store, Hereford. Mrs. Dick Barnard gave a program on Comparison and Selection of Furniture Styles, giving the ladies ideas on grouping of different pieces and using favorite old pieces with new among other suggestions. Attending were Mmes. Dee Taylor, Jim Brooks, Henry Andrews, Frank Robbins, T. L. Sparkman Jr., Annie Springer, Eugene Baldwin, Tommy Sparkman, and Miss Alma Andrews.

The next meeting is planned for May 13, with Mrs. Chesley Johnston as hostess.

An associational banquet for Intermediates was held at Muleshoe First Baptist Church on Friday night, April 25. Rev. Johnny Timms, pastor at Lazbuddie, was guest speaker. Cheryl Cole also spoke and a singing group from Farwell Baptist Church were also on the program. Attending from Frio were leaders Mrs. Earl Harkins, Mrs. Charles Self, and Mrs. Eugene Baldwin. Girls attending were Billie Manion, Miss Cole, Rhonda Stephan, Brenda West and Judy Marchman.

The Junior Associational Banquet was Friday night, May 2. Sponsors of the Frio group were Mrs. Sam Ogan and Mrs. Weldon Stephan. Rev. M. B. Baldwin, Earth pastor, spoke and girls slated to attend were Jill Stephan, Patty Robbins, Beverly Cole, Kathy Waldrip, Susie Dobbins, Judy Wright, Linda West, Stacy Robinson, and Lynette Andrews.

Rev. Baldwin has resigned as pastor at Earth and plans to go to Grapevine Baptist Church, near Dallas, some time this month.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Miller left Friday for a week's trip to Houston, where she will attend a tax collector's convention. He plans to visit his mother, Mrs.

Carl Miller at Pasadena, and other relatives in the area.

Vickie Axe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Axe, is attending a school of Commercial Art in Denver. She began the several month's course in March, after attending WTSU the fall semester.

Mrs. Lloyd Shultz, her mother, Mrs. Alma Smith, and son, Dennis Ashby, spent last weekend at Lamesa. Mrs. Smith visited a granddaughter, Mrs. J. C. Chaffin and family at Loop, and Mrs. Shultz and Dennis visited friends in Lamesa.

Alvin Schultz of Roscoe came Friday to visit his brother, Lloyd Shultz, and Mrs. Shultz a day or two.

Visiting the Sam-Ogans last Sunday were Mrs. Wortha Gray of Grants, N. M., and Crawford Holloway of Kenniwick, Wash. Both were members of Buna Vista Church at Porgert when the Ogans were there.

Sam Day of Ft. Worth, who was a member of the church the Ogans pastored at Arvada, Colo., visited them on Tuesday.

Also visiting the Ogans several times was her nephew, Frank Lawrence of Arlington, who is working with Bell Telephone Company. He has headquarters in Hereford for a few weeks work here.

Ted Bush, who underwent surgery three times on Tuesday in an Amarillo hospital, was thought to be improving the last of the week. He is still in the intensive care unit, however, suffering from internal bleeding and blood clots. His relatives, the H. E. Lindleys and Elza Warricks, have been going to Amarillo to see him, and on Friday a nephew, Clarence Story and Mrs. Story, of Syracuse, Kans. came.

Mrs. E. B. Berryman went into the Deaf Smith County Hospital on Wednesday for care as a heart patient. She was improving the last of the week.

Club Attends Training Hour

After attending a training session for leaders of Home Demonstration Club programs on Laundry Methods, members of Wyche H. D. Club went to the home of Mrs. Bill Ellis Thursday for a brief business session and refreshments.

They went together to Community Center for the training session, where Louise Wilson, home economist with a firm which manufactures home laundry equipment, was introduced by Argen Draper, County H. D. Agent. Miss Wilson explained the uses of various laundry agents and told which were best for natural and synthetic fabrics.

Wyche club guests were Mrs. Byron Grover and Miss Jackie Bodkin. Members present were Mmes. Cecil Masten, Charles Packard, Leroy Bodkin, L. B. Worthan, G. W. Duncan, Norman Hodges, Wayne Jones and Cecil Hart.

Sen. Tower Appraises The First 100 Days Of Nixon

President Nixon this week passed the 100-day mark of his administration. Earlier he declared that he now has the reigns of government firmly in hand.

The President has correctly taken the view that it is more important to gauge the effects of his administration after a year or longer in office. But there seems to be habit in this country of making a preliminary evaluation at the end of a president's first 100 days in office.

In reviewing the first few months of the Nixon administration, it is important to look at some of the things which Mr. Nixon has not done as well as his more positive achievements.

As my colleague and Senate Republican leader, Everett Dirksen, noted recently, "the lack of drama has been part of the achievement" of the early days of the Nixon administration.

It is my opinion that the majority of those who voted for Mr. Nixon last fall, looked forward to an attitude of calm in the White House. They wanted the decision-making process to be more thorough, more carefully considered. They wanted many of the new imaginative programs which had been started in recent years, to be re-studied and re-structured so as to reduce waste and increase effectiveness.

The attitude of calm and deliberate decision-making has already shown itself to be a hallmark of the Nixon administration. I both expect and hope that it will continue to be.

Now let me turn to specific action — and some non-actions — which the Nixon administration has taken during its first 100 months of operation.

First, Mr. Nixon has not widened the war in Vietnam. His administration has worked steadily both in Paris and in South Vietnam to secure an honorable peace. We do not yet know how effective these efforts will be, but the Nixon administration is giving the bombing halt announced by President Johnson every opportunity to be productive. At the same time, the Nixon administration is fostering considerable improvement in the combat capability of the army of the government of South Vietnam. My recent visit to South Vietnam made it clear to me that the combat capability of the ARVN troops is indeed showing substantial improvement. Now we must exhibit patience while maintaining a firm position to see whether the North Vietnamese are actually ready to negotiate a lasting peace.

The second most important battle in which the Nixon administration is engaged is the one against inflation. In this area Mr. Nixon has taken several positive steps. He has reduced the fiscal 1970 budget request by $4 billion. He is urging extension of the 10 per cent federal income tax surcharge to January 1, to be followed by a surtax of only 5 per cent. And he has offered a tax 43 form package which includes the proposed abolition of the 7 per cent investment tax credit. I am uncertain at this time whether abolition of the 7 per cent investment tax credit would be the best course. But I know that we must take steps to combat the rising cost of living and I commend President Nixon for taking positive steps.

Recently President Nixon faced his first sudden international crisis when North Korean aircraft shot down one of our EC-121 intelligence planes over international waters. This was an unprovoked attack and may have been calculated to test the new administration. To President Nixon's credit, his reaction was one of firmness coupled with restraint. He avoided any knee-jerk reaction which might have proved detrimental in the long run. Yet he made it clear to the North Koreans that they could not make a second similar attack with impunity.

Early in his administration, President Nixon made an 8-day European tour to assure our friends there that European views would be fully and fairly considered by this nation in activities of vital European interest. Before that tour, many Europeans had begun to fear that United States world policy was being formed with little regard for our European allies. Mr. Nixon's tour reversed that feeling and in the process strengthened the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Nixon administration has now begun to send its legislative proposals to Congress. First, the President appropriately took the time necessary to formulate sound proposals.

Among these proposals are: increased efforts against organized crime; promotion of postal officials on the basis of merit rather than politics; a restructured program for aid to the cities; the safeguard anti-ballistic missile system designed to protect our nuclear deterrent capability; and a proportional electoral reform program.

Overall, it seems to me that President Nixon has brought to the White House a new attitude — an attitude of responsibility — which is being welcomed by the majority of Americans. The President is not offering panacea programs. He is offering sound and capable leadership.

Piano Is Given To Bull Barn By Gardeners

Culmination of several years of work, the gift of a piano to Deaf Smith County Bull Barn was made by Garden Beautiful Club this week. Final details of purchase have been arranged, members were told at their final meeting of the season Friday.

It was a luncheon in Hereford Country Club with Mrs. Ray Cowser and Mrs. Charlie Noiland as hostesses. Many baskets of lilacs and tulips brought the spirit of spring to the tables.

Funds for purchase of the piano have been raised by the annual tours of Hereford homes sponsored by the club. Another such tour is in the plans for next fall. Arrangements for the gift were made with the County Commissioners Court.

It was announced that petunia plants have been bought and set in the flower bed which the club maintains on the grounds of Kings Manor retirement center.

Plans were begun for a tour of members' gardens, to be held at some time during the summer. Otherwise, the club will be in recess until a new season begins next fall.

Places at the luncheon were marked for Mmes. N. D. Bartlett, Tom Carter, V. O. Hennen, L. H. Lookingbill Sr., Homer Newton, B. E. Roberson, Edward Roberson, Roy Smith, G. S. Solomon, Leo Witkowski, E. W. Young and Charlie Hod-

Brand Receives Top Award At Press Contest

Word was received Saturday morning that the Hereford Brand had taken the first place plaque in General Excellence in the Panhandle Press Association Contests held in Amarillo at the Coronado Inn last weekend.

Second place certificates were also taken in Women's Page Feature and News Features.

The General Excellence award, awarded by A. E. Heinsohn Company was in Division I which consisted of papers from throughout the Panhandle with more than 1500 circulation. Entries were judged on overall excellence, including appearance, use of news photos, features and columns, general and departmental news coverage, advertising display and layout, and typographic excellence.

SCS Stresses Management Of Native Grasses

The Soil Conservation Service wants to stress the importance of proper management of one of our greatest natural resources, native grass. Due to the droughty conditions, the grassland in Deaf Smith County is suffering.

Spring is one of the most critical times of the year for grass because the grass gets its start from food stored in the roots. The grass needs to be deferred from grazing until the plants have a good start and begin producing their food. Each leaf on a grass plant is a "food factory." If the leaves are grazed too closely the plant cannot manufacture enough food to maintain a thriving root system, a thick stand and good top growth.

Thick, healthy, deep rooted grasses give better protection from wind and water erosion and provide better livestock feed than do weak stands. Research shows that grasses will not reach their maximum vigor and growth when more than half of their leaf surface is removed

Junior Garden Club Sees Yard

Mrs. Ray L. Johnson was hostess in her home at Summerfield Friday afternoon to the junior garden club which has honored her by the name it has chosen, the Johnson Growers. Sponsors of the club are Mrs. Howard Hunter and Mrs. Tom Sawyer.

The girls toured the yard of the Johnson home, noting material growing there which can be used for flower arrangements at any time of the year. They saw a demonstration of making rock gardens, and made a miniature garden themselves, including a pool made of an automobile hubcap.

Each girl was given succulent plants to take home and set in her own rock garden.

In the group were Cheryl Arney, Leann Bryan, Debbie Seagley, Gina Hunter, Julia McNey, Beverly Phillips, Theresa Rhotan, Elizabeth Sawyer, Marcia Trotter, Marcia Nash and Doris Turner.

Tom Haller of the Los Angeles Dodgers led National League catchers last season in double plays. He was in on 23 of them.

Night Out Is Event

Ladies Night Out was a special occasion in Hereford Study Club Thursday, when members went in a group to Amarillo to attend the John Gary show sponsored by the Symphony Guild of that city. Dinner in a restaurant there preceded the show. The club has completed its year of study, and will end the season May 15 with installation of new officers.

In the party for the dinner and show were Mmes. Labry Ballard, N. D. Bartlett, T. E. Braddy, Shirley Garrison, W.H. Gentry, Art Stoy, Maurice Tannahill, Ed Wilson and C. R. Wignot.

John Duke Now In Germany

HANAU, GERMANY — Army Specialist Four John E. Duke, 20, son of Robert L. Duke, Friona, was assigned to the 85th Maintenance Company near Hanau, Germany, March 9.

A fuel and electrical systems mechanic in the company, Spec. Duke entered on active duty in August 1968, completed basic training at Ft. Lewis, Wash., and was last stationed at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

Spec. Duke, whose wife, Deanna, lives in Friona, is a 1967 graduate of Friona High School.

ford, she has no problem getting acquainted in her new home, and is enthusiastically renewing friendships here. She is also making new friends, and is happy to be back in a small city where "the neighbors drop in to visit a family while it is moving in."

There were friends she was sorry to leave in St. Louis, she says, but it took a long time to make the friendships, and she prefers the small-town atmosphere here, adding that the children also like Hereford and she considers this a better place than the city for them to grow up.

Cynthia Lynne Rogers

Former Student Valedictorian

HOOKER, Okla. — Cynthia Lynne Rogers has been named valedictorian of the 1969 graduating class of Hooker High School. She is a member of the Oklahoma State Honor Society, listed on the Superintendent's Honor Roll, and is graduating with an 11.90 average.

Miss Rogers is also the youngest graduate of Hooker High School. Her father was previously associated with the Hereford Insurance Agency in Hereford, and Miss Rogers attended St. Anthony's School from the first through the fifth grades.

Rites Pending For Brother Of A. C. Braxton

Funeral services for Fred T. Braxton, of Shamrock, brother of A. C. Braxton of Hereford, who died Thursday afternoon, are pending with Richerson Funeral Home of Shamrock.

Braxton, 66, was a long time resident of Wheeler County and farmed 12 miles southwest of Shamrock.

He was a member of the Lena Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Orla; a son, James R. of Pampa; sisters, Mrs. Elsie Cupell of Phoenix, Ariz., Mrs. Edith Gomez and Mrs. Velma Sue Ray, both of Albuquerque; five other brothers, Charles of Amarillo, Elster of Bellaire, Calif., George of Shamrock, Royce of Black, and Jimmy of Alaska; and two grandchildren.

Ridgway's Unit Rated Best

CLOVIS, N. M. — Sergeant Randy J. Ridgway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ridgway of 1122 Cheryl, Burkburnett, is a member of the Cannon AFB, N. M., unit that has been selected as the best base supply squadron in the U. S. Air Force for a second consecutive year.

Sergeant Ridgway is assigned to the 832nd Supply Squadron that has again been named to receive the Daedalian Supply Effectiveness Trophy for the highest operational proficiency during year-long evaluation.

The 832nd represented the Tactical Air Command in stiff Air Force-wide competition for the annual trophy. It is made available by the Order of Daed-alians, an organization founded by World War I pilots.

He is a graduate of South Houston High School, Houston, Tex.

His wife, Ella, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Brown of Friona.

Ex-Resident Returns

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

What she had forgotten about the Panhandle in the eight years she lived elsewhere, Mrs. Albert Simmacher says, is the way dust settles on the furniture every day, and the way goatheads keep cropping up in the yard.

MORE PLEASANT features of this country were no surprise to her when the Simmachers moved to Hereford a few weeks ago. It was a return to "home" for Mrs. Simmacher, who is the former Patricia Loerwald, one of Ed Loerwald's pretty blonde daughters.

She grew up and finished high school studies in Hereford, then left for college work and marriage. In Hereford High she was a member of Future Homemakers and Future Nurses clubs, on the tennis team and in her senior year editor of the annual.

Her interest in nursing led her into training at St. Anthony's Hospital School of Nursing at Amarillo after a year in Mount St. Scholastica College at Atchison, Kan.

SHE WAS EMPLOYED in the pediatrics wards at St. Anthony's for a while after her graduation there, then entered the U. S. Air Force nurse corps.

Stationed in Alabama and Michigan, she saw varied sections of the nation during her service with the Air Force. As in all branches of military service at stations in the United States, her work was principally with dependents of military personnel rather than with the servicemen.

Since her marriage she has lived in St. Louis, and the family moved here from that city when Simmacher began duties as fee lot consultant for Swift & Co. here.

ALTHOUGH HEREFORD is a familiar spot to Patsy Simmacher and she was soon reminded of features she had forgotten, she is constantly surprised at how much it has grown in the few years since she lived here.

Also she is surprised, she says, at how her former acquaintances have grown — "school friends to adults who introduce their seven-year-old children, babies to junior high students!"

Her own children are Danielle, two years old, and John, nine months.

Mrs. Simmacher still likes to play tennis, and with her husband is beginning to learn golf but hopes she won't become "completely addicted" to that game like some enthusiasts she knows. She plays the accordion for pasttime, and has taught beginners on that instrument.

THE FAMILY attends St. Anthony's Catholic Church and she is a member of its Antoinette Circle.

GRAPHIC ARTS BANQUET — Shown here are many of the Graphic Arts (printing) class of Hereford High School and the guests at their first-year banquet Friday night at the Cason House. They received certificates (which they printed themselves) declaring that had completed their first year in the pilot program. Superintendent Johnny Clark Jr. told them they had done their school a service in the manner of being so cordial to visitors. Mrs. Tom Burdett (the instructor's daughter) sang, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Penn played the trumpet and piano for the students. In upper center, instructor Marvin Hunter Jr. is shown with C. E. Coleman Jr. of the Ink Spot, who delivered the address. Coleman told the students that "good printers are in demand everywhere." —Staff Photos

Pre-Wedding Shower Given Anita Cameron

A shower honoring Miss Anita Cameron of Nazareth, whose marriage to Gene Sparks is planned for June 1, was given in the home of Mrs. Dean Herring Friday afternoon. Both Miss Cameron and her fiance are students in West Texas State University.

She and her mother, Mrs. Al Cameron of Nazareth, were in the receiving line with Mrs. Herring and Sparks' mother, Mrs. W. E. Sparks. His grandmother, Mrs. Hazel Sparks, was at the guest book.

Miss Betty Noe of Amarillo and Miss Connie Atwater of Midland, Chi Omega sorority sisters of the honoree, served refreshments from a table centered with carnations in apricot shade.

In the hostess party were Mmes. Herschel Black, Bobby Owen, Clinton Massie, Otis Lee, Edgar Lemons, Jimmy Mercer, Cecil Boyer, Floyd Coker, Elmore Rains, Dick Barnard, W. R. Hair, Lloyd Crume, Bill Lankford, W. G. Owen, G. C. Merritt Jr., W. H. Kitchens, Lynton Allred, Gerald Wilson, Clinton West and C. E. Leasure Jr.

Spring Rally Is This Afternoon

The Panhandle Zone of the Lutheran Laymen's League of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, will hold its spring rally at Immanuel Church here this afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock.

The meeting will bring members from Pampa, Dumas, Perryton, Amarillo, Canyon, Tulia, Plainview, Friona and Lariat to this city. The board will present a program for the coming months to be discussed.

The Rev. Herman J. Schelter, pastor of the host church, explains that the Lutheran Laymen's League, besides assisting members in service in the local congregation's program, sponsors a number of activities on the national level.

These include the Lutheran Hour radio program, This Is the Life television program, Open Forum Lay Schools, workshops and study to spur recruitment of students for church careers. It provides grants for promising future lay leaders of the church, enabling them to continue studies to prepare themselves further for leadership in church and community, and other services.

Rick Fangman Is Awarded Letter

CANYON, Tex. — Rick Fangman, son of S. A. Fangman, has been awarded a letter jacket for his participation as defensive guard for the 1968 West Texas State University varsity football squad.

The 6-2, 220-pound sophomore earned three football and three track letters while attending Hereford High School.

Coached by Jack Meredith, Fangman was all-district second team as a junior and was all-district on both offense and defense as a senior. While captain of his senior team, Fangman was all-regional, All-South Plains Dream Team and second all-state. He also earned the Fighting Whiteface Award for his spirit.

Rusty Staub, traded by Houston to the new Montreal Expos, took part in 100 double plays for the Astros last season.

Bud-To-Blossom Club Works On Manor Ground

Spring gardening chores in the plot on Kings Manor grounds maintained by Bud-To-Blossom Club were completed Friday morning by club members who met at the Manor in their work clothes and spent an hour cleaning the flower beds, dividing bulbs and setting plants for summer bloom.

After the work period, a brief business session was conducted by Mrs. Bill Gentry, president, and coffee was served. Mrs. Sam Long and Mrs. Ernest Kendall were chairmen for the meeting and Mrs. Long was coffee hostess. Her mother, Mrs. Lena Menefee, a resident at the Manor, was a guest. Members present included Mmes. Bruce T. Brown, Robert Ginn, Bill Nelson, Jess Robinson, R. N. Yarbro, Charles Mayfield, H. A. Winter and Billy Wayne Sisson. The club will close its season with a luncheon at the Chaparral Restaurant May 18, when new officers will be installed. Members were invited to an iris show at the Amarillo Garden Center May 19.

Millard Explains Pre-65 Findings

By EARL MOSELEY
Staff Writer

Gerald Millard, field representative of the Amarillo District Social Security office and the son of a pioneer Hereford family, reported that Social Security records are confidential and information about a person's SS record can only be released upon the client's written permission for such release.

Such was the case with a family who live in Hereford, Millard said — Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Oliver, who reside at 506 Ave. K. They gave written permission.

"Mr. Oliver consented for information to be released concerning his account because he felt that many workers like himself might be losing benefits by not filing before age 65," Millard explained.

Millard also explained that the Social Security Administration attempts to contact all workers "about three months before they reach age 65 to assist them in filing for Medicare benefits. It was during this contact that I discovered that Mr. Oliver — who was 65 on April 3 — was also entitled to monthly payments."

"Most workers are aware of the $1,680 per year earnings limitation on workers under 72 who draw Social Security benefits," Millard continued. "They also know that if they elect payments prior to age 65, there is a reduction in the amount of the benefit. Mr. Oliver had not made application for benefits because he knew he was making considerably more than $1,680 per year and he did not want to retire and receive a benefit reduction."

When a worker has a wife and children who are partially entitled to benefits, their benefits will usually more than offset the reduction he suffers for filing prior to age 65, Millard said. Oliver has two boys, ages 18 and 12, entitled to benefits in addition to his wife.

He reported that Oliver's benefit at age 65 would be $130.70 per month, and Social Security applications can be retroactive twelve months from the date of filing. Oliver elected to take advantage of his retroactivity and make his application effective with February 1968, at which time he lacked 14 months being age 65.

"This reduces his payments to $117.30 per month," Millard said. "However, by doing this, he entitled his wife and each of his sons to $37.70 each month." If he earns more than $1,680 in a year, the general rule is that $1 in benefits to a man (and his family) will be withheld for each $2 he earns from $1,680 to $2,880. In addition, $1 in benefits will be withheld for each $1 of earnings over $2,880.

"Mr. Oliver's 1968 earnings were $3,779. His family was potentially entitled to benefits of $2,534.40, less than $1,499 for excess earnings, leaving a net Social Security benefit for his family of $1,035.40. This far more than offsets the $13.40 per month reduction in Mr. Oliver's benefits."

The $13.40 reduction in Oliver's benefit will be automatically adjusted the year after he is age 65, as there is a provision in the law to refigure benefits at age 65 to give credit for the loss of benefits due to excess earnings, Millard explained. "His ultimate reduction will be much less than $13.40."

Millard said that Oliver's situation illustrates why the Social Security Administration recommends that people check with their Social Security representative at age 62 whether they plan to retire or not.

He said he is at the Deaf Smith County Courthouse on Tuesday each week.

For the past ten days Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McCracken have had as their guest his sister, Mrs. George Barrett of Pittsburgh, Penn. During her stay the McCrackens and Mrs. Barrett visited in Clovis, N. M., with the hosts' son and family, the Jack McCrackens, and also in Ft. Sumner, N. M., with Mrs.

McCracken's brother, Sam Steele, and his family.

VISITORS here last weekend were two residents of Girlstown, U. S. A., Joyce Wheeler and Pam Easley, who plan to go with Jean and Urlin Streu this summer to the resort which the Streus operate in the Colorado mountains.

The girls are to be employes at the resort during the summer vacation, which sounds like an arrangement profitable to both employes and employers.

NELL HODGES was in Childress the first of the week for the last of three district Home Demonstration Association conventions which she has attended as part of her duties as vice president of Texas H. D. Association.

She had previously gone to Kermit for the District 6 meeting, and to Denver City for District 2. Childress was host city for District 3.

Now she will leave tomorrow for a state board meeting at Dallas, where final plans will be made for the state convention Sept. 17 and 18, and recommendations will be decided for presentation at that time.

Also, plans will be made for Texas representation at the national convention, to be held Aug. 11-15 at Blacksburg, Va. Some of the Texans will go together in a bus, and plan a side trip to Washington, D. C.

Nell was previously treasurer of THDA, and in her work as a state officer has traveled widely over the state, attending 10 district meetings in all, and visiting in the homes of 4-H Club girls when she helped judge their work for scholarship awards.

SOME INFORMATION about the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs 72nd annual convention, which will open Tuesday morning at the Rice Hotel in Houston, has come in the mail. Haven't heard of anyone planning to go from this county.

The program promises "a full agenda of notables" and a full schedule of social doings. Among speakers are Dr. Denton A. Cooley, the noted heart transplant surgeon, and Marcella Donovan Perry of Houston, who has an unusual job for a woman — chairman of the board of the First Pasadena State Bank.

Bay View Club Closes Season

Committees for the new administration in Bay View Study Club were named as 1968-70 officers were installed at a May Day luncheon Thursday in Mrs. Bruce Burney's home, the final meeting of this season.

Mrs. Colby Conkright took office as president, Mrs. Howard Gault vice president, Mrs. W. J. Gilliland secretary, Mrs. W. S. Kerr treasurer and Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine correspondent in an installation conducted by Ms. R. B. Miller, the retiring president.

Also installed were the appointive officers, Mrs. A. M. Jones, historian; Mrs. Just O. McBride, reporter, and Mrs. Miller, parliamentarian.

Committees include: Membership, Mrs. Gault and Mrs. Tom Sawyer; program, Mrs. Herman Ford, Mrs. Kerr and Mrs. Gault; welfare, Mrs. J. R. Allison; cheer, Mrs. Francis Hardwick and Mrs. Homer Powell.

Also, social committee, Mrs. H. L. Benefield, Mrs. Si Darling, Mrs. Earnest Langley and Mrs. Carl Swanson; phone committee, Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Miller.

Luncheon hostesses were members of this year's social committee, Mmes. Powell, Gillentine, Gault and Burney. They decorated the table with a centerpiece of yellow daisies and iris set on a cutwork linen cloth. Quartet tables were covered with similar linen and had bouquets of tulips in the center.

Mrs. H. L. Ehrke of Brownwood, Mrs. McBride's mother, was a guest. Members present were Mmes. Benefield, Conkright, Gilliland, Hardwick, Jones, Kerr, McBride, Miller, Powell, Sawyer, Swanson, Langley and Ford.

Special Course Is Enrolling

Reduce employee turnover and increase production.

Are the objectives of a special four-day course in "Build Better Employer-Employee Relations" to be conducted in Hereford, starting Monday May 12-15. Meetings are scheduled to start at 7:30 p. m., Monday through Thursday, at Hereford High School, Distributive Education Dept., Room 121.

This training program is sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and the Hereford High School Distributive Education Department and brought to Hereford businessmen by the Distributive Education Program of The University of Texas at Austin and the Texas Education Agency.

Reservations can be made and additional information obtained by telephoning 364-3333.

The four sessions will be conducted by Mrs. Mary Frances Bowden, supervisory and management training specialist from The University of Texas at Austin. Mrs. Bowden regularly conducts similar programs throughout Texas. She has had broad experience in personnel administration, with training in service fields and retail merchandising.

Enrollment will be limited to 25 people. Those interested in attending the course are urged to call in their reservations as soon as possible.

Willie Mays handled 10 chances without an error in the one game he played at first base for San Francisco last season.

Airman Ballard Home On Leave

Airman First Class Don W. Ballard and his wife, the former Sharon Fulton, are in Hereford on a 30-day leave before Airman Ballard reports to Tan Son Nhut AFB, Vietnam, for a one-year tour of duty.

Prior to his leave here, he was stationed at Beale Air Force Base, California.

Mrs. Ballard will remain in Hereford while her husband is overseas.

Airman Ballard is the son of

J. W. and Ann Ballard, both of Hereford. Mrs. Ballard's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Troy Fulton of 700 Blevins.

CLOSING THE GAP

HONOLULU — The Bank of Hawaii's research department thinks tourism is about ready to move ahead of military spending as Hawaii's No. 1 source of income.

Tentative figure for 1968 show $600 million in military spending and $500 million in visitor industry income. This year the gap is expected to close to $600 million from tourism and $450 million from military spending.

APRIL BEAUTY SPOTS — Selected as the beauty spots for the month of April were the Church of Christ and the Marvin May home at 401 Westhaven. The selections were made by a sub-committee of the beautification of the Women's Division of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. —Staff Photos

Titles Given For Rotary Benefit Show

Titles of the two features to be shown Tuesday, June 3, at the Hereford Rotary Club-sponsored benefit for retarded children at the Tower Drive-In Theatre are "Wild in the Country" with Elvis Presley, Hope Lange, Tuesday Weld, and Millie Perkins and "Goodbye, Charlie" with Debbie Reynolds, Tony Curtis, and Pat Boone.

Both features are in color by Deluxe and Cinemascope.

Proceeds are slated for Camp Wigwam, a camp for retarded children.

Services Held For A. Schlabs

Funeral services were conducted Saturday morning at Scotland, Tex., for Anton Schlabs, 88, longtime resident of that community who died in an Archer City hospital Wednesday. Burial was in the Scotland cemetery.

Miss Pool To Wed

Engagement of Miss Kathryn Louise Pool, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Pool, 511 East Fifth, to George Marcus Yarbrough, son of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Yarbrough of Portales, New Mexico, is announced by her parents. An August 1 wedding is planned in First Presbyterian Church.

Miss Pool is a sophomore student at Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, and her campus memberships include Alpha Delta Pi social sorority, Little Sisters of Minerva, of which she is secretary, and the university's Board of Activities. She was graduated from Hereford High School in 1967. Yarbrough has been accepted to Baylor Dental College at Dallas and expects to enroll there for the fall semester. He attended ENMU four years, majoring in biological sciences, after his graduation from Portales High School in 1965.

He was president of his class in the junior year, was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and was on the Dean's List all four years. His fraternity is Sigma Alpha Epsilon and he has served it as president.

Debbie Banks Bride Of Abilene Resident

In a candlelight ceremony Friday evening, Miss Debbie Diane Banks of Hereford and William Douglas Tate of Abilene repeated marriage vows at the altar of First Christian Church in Lubbock, where both have been students at Texas Tech.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Banks, Route 2, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James M. Tate of Abilene.

After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Tate will be at home May 8 at 1617 North Twelfth Street in Abilene. He is associated with J. M. Tate Plumbing Contractors of that city.

Dr. Dudley Strain, minister of the church, officiated for the service in which Mr. Banks gave his daughter in marriage. She was attended by her sister, Miss Shan Banks, as maid of honor and the bridegroom by his brother, James Tate Jr., as best man.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Rand McPherson of Lubbock, Miss Pamela Brown of Denver City and Miss Gayle Beavers of Austin. Acting as groomsmen were Elton Robbins, Billy Clark and Terry Tackle, and as ushers, Rand McPherson and Phil Lauter of Lubbock.

Courtney Robbins, daughter of the Pat Robbins, was the flower girl. Candles were lighted by Miss Betty Banks, sister of the bride, and Miss Barbara Jolly while the church organist played a medley of wedding music.

Mrs. Wayne Hamilton of Amarillo was the soloist who sang "In This Our Wedding Day." Rows of ruffled lace formed the empire bodice and long sleeves, slightly puffed at the wrists, of the bride's peau de soie gown. Wide pleats controlled fullness of the skirt which spread to a wide circle, shaped into a chapel train with a single row of the lace above the hemline.

Her bouffant illusion veil floated over her shoulders from a seed pearl tiara. She carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis centered with a catleya orchid.

Bridesmaids were all dressed in mint green chiffon over satin, with wide satin bows at center back extending to form short trains. Each wore a brief veil in matching color, caught the crown with a velvet bow, and carried a long-stemmed white rose.

A reception followed the wedding, in the church hall. Mrs. Bobby Bryant of Lorenzo was at the guest register. Miss Toni Beauchamp served cake and Miss Luann Kendall poured punch. Mrs. Floyd Millican of Friona assisted.

The refreshment table was lighted by candles and held the tiered cake, which was based on four heart-shaped layers, each set on a reflector.

Leaving on the honeymoon trip, the bride wore a black dress with plaid coat and patent accessories. Her corsage was an orchid.

She has been employed since February in the office of an accountant here. Majoring in secretarial administration, she attended Texas Tech three years after graduation from Hereford High School.

Tate's major at Tech was mechanical engineering. He spent two years in Army duty, serving as drill instructor, and was graduated in 1965 from Cooper High School in Abilene.

Post Office And Elevator Burglarized

A rural branch of the U. S. Post Office which is housed in the Community Grain Co. at Easter, was reported burglarized sometime during the night Tuesday.

Investigation revealed entry was gained by breaking out a window pane in the door.

The money box in the post office was taken along with cash from the desks of the grain company.

An estimated total of $100 was taken in the break-in as well as the office vending machines which were broken into.

The burglary is being investigated by the postal authorities and the Castro County Sheriff's Department.

Ceramics Club Plans For Trip

At a recent meeting of the Ceramic Arts Club, members made and decorated place-card holders which were given as favors at the County Federal Clubs luncheon this week. Mrs. J. W. Stengel was hostess at the Community Center. Plans were made for the group to go to a ceramics studio near Amarillo on the next meeting day, May 22, for a lesson in ceramics technique. Refreshments were served to eight members.

MBP Will Open Plainview Site

R. E. (Gene) Frye, President of Missouri Beef Packers Inc., announced at the annual meeting of the Plainview Texas Industrial Foundation, Incorporated, plans for constructing a beef slaughtering and processing plant at Plainview. The new beef packing plant will have a slaughter capacity of 10,000 head per week and facilities for breaking and fabricating. Annual sales volume is expected to exceed $100,000,000. Employment will exceed, when in full production, 350 plant employees with an annual payroll of $2,000,000. Construction will begin in the third quarter of 1969 with projected completion in the fourth quarter of 1970. The South Plains area has experienced a rapid growth in

VISITOR ENTERTAINED — Mrs. Charles Pollock of Fargo, N.D., right, was the house guest of Mrs. Dolson Palmer, left, several days this week and met a number of Hereford residents as she was entertained with a series of small parties by Mrs. Palmer and her friends. Mrs. R. C. Godwin, center, was hostess to a dozen women for luncheon at Hereford Country Club on one delightful occasion. Mrs. Henry Sears was hostess to the visitor on a tour of Deaf Smith County Museum, and Mrs. Sue James for a look at farms and cattle feeding pens. Mrs. Pollock is president of the North Dakota State Federation of Music Clubs, and had been to Albuquerque for the National Federation's convention Apr. 18-23. She is a longtime friend of Mrs. Palmer, who came to this city from North Dakota.

cattle feeding the last few years. Missouri Beef Packers will build an ultra-modern facility that will contribute to the agricultural development in the capacity of the existing plants is 18,000 head per week. Breaking and fabricating facilities are being added to both plants and will be in operation in 1969.

Panhandle area, Frye said. Missouri Beef Packers has beef slaughter facilities at Rock Port, Missouri, and Friona, Texas. Combined slaughter ca-

Recital Set For Today

Piano pupils of Mrs. Allen Evers will be presented in recital at 3 p. m. today at St. Anthony's Catholic Church auditorium. Families and friends of the young performers are invited to hear the program.

Two of the students, Rose Mary Dupnik and Amy Cox, played in the annual Piano Guild auditions here this week, and will play the solos they presented for judging then.

Others to be heard are Becky Cox, Carol and Mary Gilbert, Joanne Wagner, Grace Vasek, Tommy Fischbacher, Marie Schilling and Jana Balden.

THE PASSING PARADE — Shot towers, those unique structures that were built during the Civil War for the manufacture of lead bullets, have all but disappeared in Texas. However, at least one still stands in Erath County not far from Dublin.

These stone towers, from four to six feet in diameter and from 25 to 35 feet high, look like tall chimneys. They were designed this way to create a strong updraft. When molten lead was poured in drops from the top of the tower shaft, the draft of air caused it to congeal into spheres or balls. These fell into a water vat at ground level and hardened.

The size of the shot (which ranged from pellets to small cannon balls) was determined by the amount of molten lead poured from the top and by the distance it fell before reaching the vat. Making ammunition in this way was a small, but important, industry in Texas until the war ended in 1865.

OPPS! — Talk of Texas reported recently that the only woman prosecuting attorney in Texas was Mrs. Robert G. Dahoney of Hillsboro who is into her second term as the Hill County attorney.

Not so, says Gus Elley of Cameron. He sent along a clipping from the Seguin Gazette to prove that Miss Elizabeth C. Jandt is the duly elected prosecutor of Guadalupe County.

Are there any other distaff DA's in Texas?

TEXAS SAFARI — More than 130 jungle animals, most of them from Africa, roam freely in a six-square-mile compound along U. S. Highway 83, some 30 miles southwest of Laredo.

They're the property of Houston oil man John Mecom. He imported the animals because they were threatened with depletion or extinction in their native bush. He wanted to see if they would breed and prosper in the Texas border climate.

They have. Today more than 20 species thrive in the fenced 1,500-acre pasture that Mecom has carved out of his 17,000-acre Brangus cattle ranch. Visitors are welcome at the compound, but only to look. No hunting is allowed.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? — Orozimbo appears on no maps, but it's a name that has a small niche in Texas history.

It was the plantation, north of West Columbia in Brazoria County, where General Santa Anna was held prisoner for five months after the Mexican defeat at San Jacinto. It was the home of Dr. James A. Phelps, a surgeon who was a veteran of the battle.

Orozimbo has disappeared now, and so has the origin of its unique name. "Oro" is a Spanish word meaning gold, and "zimbo" is Spanish for money. Possibly Dr. Phelps named his acreage Orozimbo because he knew the rich land someday would be worth a lot of gold.

THE UNCHANGING TIMES — Cattle rustlers still make off with $1,000 worth of cows, goats and horses each day, according to the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

C. F. Conner, a stock buyer from Kansas, is in the city looking for bargains in Panhandle stock. He can find plenty of stock, but whether our stockmen will sell at reduced prices is another question. Since the copious rains and the starting of grass many seem inclined to hold their stuff until better prices prevail.

50 YEARS AGO — 1919

Undoubtedly the outstanding feature of the Fifth Liberty Loan Drive, in the minds of the people of this section, aside of course from the fact that we went over the top in eight days, will be the visits of Lieutenants R. B. Wooley and W. B. Hough, of the Aviation section of the U. S. Army, who arrived in Hereford Saturday morning in their Curtis biplane. They came as representatives of the Government Publicity Division of the Loan Drive, and as an aid to our local committee in raising our quota.

35 YEARS AGO — 1934

Boys, did baseball start off with a bang? Tuesday afternoon the Firemen and Lions crossed bats for the first game of the season and it was rained out in the first of the fourth. Think of it — a ballgame rained out in Hereford — it is the first time it has happened since Rat Jowell and Dow Mercer dug the Tierra Blanca, and Ed Connell won a beauty contest — and that has been plenty of years!

20 YEARS AGO — 1940

Richard was close, mighty close, but he was spelled down by a girl! Nevertheless, Richard Tucker, Deaf Smith County's candidate in the Panhandle-wide spelling bee, came out second-place winner in the contest held in Amarillo High School auditorium Saturday night. He walked home with the $10 second place award. At the Star: Lana Turner, Gene Kelly, June Allyson, Van Heflin and Angela Lansbury in "The Three Musketeers." Color by Technicolor.

5 YEARS AGO — 1964

Democrats in Deaf Smith County gave Lowell Sharp, incumbent, a whopping victory in Saturday's primary, but both commissioners races, with neck-and-neck battles, will require a runoff to determine who gets the Democratic nod. In the commissioner's race for Precinct 3, only five votes separated the three candidates. J. T. Guinn, incumbent, finished with 48 votes. Bruce Coleman was only two votes behind, and Jim Monroe wound up with 43 votes. In the commissioner's race for Precinct 1, another close contest, Earl Holt wound up with 283, Charles Sowell, the incumbent, polled 234, and J. F. Martin got 201 votes. Winner here will face Marvin Diller, only Republican candidate for a county post, in the November general election.

College Enrollment Rises
58 Per Cent In Five Years

By BERT MILLS

Washington, D. C. — One reason why college students cause so much trouble these days is that there are so many more of them. College enrollment reached 7.6 million this year, a whopping 58 percent increase in only five years.

Also, there are increasing numbers of replacements on the way. Public high school enrollment climbed nearly 4 percent this year to about 12.7 million. Last year a record 77.6 percent of those entering the ninth grade went on to get their high school diploma.

It is well known that college graduates earn more money than those who do not go beyond high school but a new study shows it makes a difference what kind of college is attended. Median earnings in 1966 of men who graduated from low-ranking colleges was $7,881 compared with $11,678 for those who gained a sheekskin from high-ranking colleges.

Elsewhere in the financial fact department, only about four-fifths of the total compensation of the average American worker comes from regular pay. A Labor Department study covering 1966 showed compensation averaged $3.40 an hour; 81 percent came from straight-time pay, and 9 percent from leave, overtime, premiums, bonuses and terminal pay. Government or private insurance and welfare programs account for the other 10 percent.

Tax Audits Gain $2.95 Billion
Audits of 2.9 million tax returns by Internal Revenue Service last year resulted in assessments totaling $2.95 billion in additional taxes, while only $177.9 million in overpayments was refunded. That means auditing produced $16.50 in extra revenue for every $1 paid out. It also means the average underpayment of audited returns was $100.

Many widows receive Federal benefit payments for which they are ineligible because of remarriage. A spot check by the General Accounting Office revealed many abuses in payments-by-five-agencies. Since there are 1.8 million widows receiving benefits totaling about $1.6 billion annually, a lot of money is being wasted because widows do not tell Uncle Sam of a change in their marital status.

Arthritis afflicts an estimated 13 million Americans, and over 10 million victims have consulted a doctor for treatment. More than 3 million are crippled to a point where normal activity is handicapped. Three Federal agencies pay $393 million a year to disabled arthritics.

A Brookings Institution study predicts that hospital charges may soon rise to $100 per day. For nearly 20 years, hospital costs have risen 7 or 8 percent a year, and that pace has been doubled the past two years. Brookings suggested state regulatory action to combat the trend.

Crashes Cost $34 Million Daily
Insurance industry estimates that automobile accidents cost $34 million per day. That is nearly half the daily cost of the Vietnam war, and amounts to $62.14 per year for every man, woman and child in the U. S. Of course, the dollar figures do not include any sum to cover mental anguish or bereavement.

It costs taxpayers $8.76 per day in jail in the D. C. area. After a prisoner is released on probation, the cost drops to $1.01 daily. About nine out of ten probationers avoid another arrest while free on parole.

Farmer cooperatives are booming. Dollar volume arose 6 percent last year to top the $16.3 billion mark. In 10 years, volume has risen 59 percent. Both the number of co-ops and their total membership declined slightly last year. Iowa, Minnesota, and Indiana lead in members.

Bureaucracy is rampant on Capitol Hill. There are now 43 regular and special committees of the Senate and House plus about 260 subcommittees, all with separate staffs. Of 57 Senate Democrats, 50 can call themselves Chairman, including even some freshmen. While a legislator may head only one major committee, senior Senators may chair as many as six subcommittees.

Leaving all that aside, are the quotas really necessary and helpful to U. S. security?

One answer is that Canada, already a major supplier to the U. S., is eager and able to ship much more. Even if an ocean-closing world war is conceivable, a shutoff of Canadian oil is hardly so. Also worth consideration are the vast new oil discoveries in Alaska and the possibility of similar finds in the Canadian Arctic. North America's oil prospects look auspicious.

They might look every more so if the quota setup, together with state production quotas, were not debilitating the U. S. industry. The artificial prop under prices keeps high-cost, inefficient wells going and holds down the more efficient production.

So the whole subject surely could use some fresh study. If some form of depletion allowance really is necessary, and if it must be as large as it is, it should be tailored more tightly as a true stimulus to oil exploration. If the industry must have a further subsidy, perhaps it should be paid directly and openly, instead of through a hidden tax on oil consumers.

Whatever happens, everyone should remember that the problem is, or is supposed to be, U. S. security. The question is whether that security really needs so much protection.

Never Had It So Good

Henry M. Watson, a Seattle businessman, has some words that will warm your heart if you have teenage trouble. Mr. Watson lays it on the line to his youngsters who say "I owe nothing to society."

He told the teenager: "To start with, you're alive. Very much alive. You're well fed, well-housed, well-clothed, well-educated, in superb health, vastly entertained. And you're safe. All of this you've been given. Compare yourself with your contemporaries in almost any other part of the world. How many of the world's children even live long enough to become teenagers? How many are well fed? How many in good health?"

"Unfortunately, you have received all of these good things without a point of reference. You really don't know what the bad things are. And you may never find out if we continue to pamper you. It has been said too often — and thus has become trite and suspect — that many in our generation are thankful that they were raised in poverty or grew up during the depression years. Nevertheless, we did gain from those years of personal deprivation. It gave us a point of reference, perspective."

Well, Mr. Watson has some troubles in his household, it seems. If you have that disturbing feeling that you gave your kids too much too soon, and they don't appreciate it — just go ahead and tell 'em off like Mr. Watson did.

Better late than never. — Alamo (Tenn.) Crockett Times

Decisions, Decisions

Continually, a pet gripe with us over the years has been the fact people are quick to criticize, but reluctant to respond when given an opportunity.

Actually it is a truth that most folks get involved enough in their own affairs that they really don't care what the city is doing, or what the county is doing, or what the Chamber of Commerce is doing. But they do not consider it their own fault when things don't get done, or get done in a way that isn't entirely satisfactory to them. The truth is, most of our problems today are problems that have been around for years but simply put off until they couldn't be put off any longer. Then, with no mandates from the people to react civic leaders find themselves in the position of having to act for the people. Most of them honestly try to act in the best interests of the most people as they see it.

Years roll on and it works out that the same people just keep right on making the decision; because no one else seems to care enough. Sometimes replacements are accomplished because someone feels slighted or has a special interest to nourish more than for any other reason. It would seem that when things to this state, our whole society gets a little sick. — Cut Bank (Mont) Pioneer Press

—Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson-grass farm devotes his attention, in a manner of speaking, to his own farm this week.

Dear editor:

A man can spend just so much time settling national and international problems, occasionally he has to turn to his own immediate problems, and that's what I've been doing after I read an article in a newspaper yesterday on a new proposal for a new farm program being discussed in Washington to avoid surpluses.

According to it, a farmer could sell his cropping rights to the government but still hold on to his land. He could continue to use it, but not to grow crops.

This is exactly the type of program I've been wanting for years.

There is a myth abroad that if you own some land you're supposed to be out there on it with your tractor going up one row and down another and if you aren't you're hard put to explain to your neighbors, not to mention your household, why you aren't. Shiftless is a word you hear in this connection frequently, which has always puzzled me. If you're a farmer and stand still you're shiftless, but if you're a politician who won't stand still, you're shiftless. The world is too hard to please.

But if we can get this new proposal enacted, where it's against the law for me to plow, it'll be a pleasure to say, "Don't look at me, those weeds belong to Washington. I've sold my plowing rights."

Farming will come into its own when I can sell my plowing rights and retain my mineral rights.

I haven't seen the details of the proposal, but I hope you'll use your influence to see that when the government buys my cropping rights, it won't be in one lump sum, good for now on. Payments ought to be made every year.

Farming this Johnsongrass farm will reach the dignity it deserves when, if the government should ever get tired of the program and decide not to pay me, I could sue them in Washington for failing to pay me for not working.

I don't know what a lien against Washington would be worth on the open market, but it ought to be worth as much as one against this farm.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

The Slippery Oil Problem

The Nixon Administration is engaged in a study of the nation's oil import controls; and the whole subject of oil certainly is in need of reappraisal. The problem, such as it is, is a slippery one indeed.

Nearly everyone would agree that the U. S. needs a viable oil industry. Perhaps someday we'll all buzz around in electric cars and our homes and factories will be heated and lighted by the atom. For the foreseeable future, though, petroleum is indispensable.

In that situation, it is reasonable to give thought to what might happen if war cut off the country from overseas oil — from Venezuela, the Mideast or elsewhere. The next global war, if it comes, could be so cataclysmic that worries about oil would be moot, yet it is sensible to prepare for contingencies.

So far that part of the argument is at least in focus: The nation needs a reliable supply of oil, one that would be accessible in wartime. It's only when the Government has sought to deal with the argument that the going has become treacherous.

A major, and early, response was the oil depletion allowance. It was and is based on the reasonable premise that an oil well operator every year is using up a proportion of his assets: sooner or later the well will run dry. Since a factory owner every year can write off a part of his aging plant and equipment, it seems fair to allow an oil operator a deduction for the depletion of his petroleum.

The depletion allowance, however, is set so high (27½ percent of gross income annually) that an operator of a producing well may eventually recover many times the amount he invested in the well. The reasoning here is that anyone hunting for oil is practically sure to drill a good many dry holes; the allowance, in other words, is supposed to provide him an incentive to go on hunting.

But as so often happens with special tax law provisions, the depletion allowance has provided a handy tax haven for high-income individuals; it helps account for the current furor over the fortunate Americans whose incomes are immense and whose taxes are negligible. As often happens, too, one special subsidy has not satisfied the demand.

Beginning with the Eisenhower Administration, the Government has been imposing import quotas on petroleum — again designed as a response to the national-security argument.

There are plenty of things that can be, and have been, said against quotas. They impose a huge tax on consumers, through raising domestic oil prices; they worsen relations among Congressmen, as their constituents compete for a "fair" share of imports; they complicate relations with oil-producing foreign countries, such as Venezuela; they produce windfalls for importers lucky enough to get quotas to bring in the cheaper foreign oil.

Wayne Thomas

Thomas Placed On Committee

CANYON — Hereford attorney Wayne Thomas has been named vice-chairman of the "Committee of 67."

The "Committee of 67", charged with making a study of the present and future needs of West Texas State University, was created by a Resolution of the Board of Regents, Texas State Senior Colleges adopted on February 7, 1967. This committee of 67 citizens of the state of Texas was appointed by the President of the Board. They are residents of 25 Panhandle of Texas cities.

The "Committee of 67" was directed to make a written report of its findings and recommendations to the Board.

The "Committee of 67" was peated to adopt its report at a West Texas State University called meeting on Monday evening. If such report is adopted, this meeting will be the last of many meetings during years of its existence.

Bride-Elect Is Honoree At Shower

Miss Janet Lea Murrell of Abilene, whose marriage to Kenny Justice of Hereford is planned for May 24, was honoree at a shower recently in the home of Mrs. Lynn Kester.

She and her mother, Mrs. Joe Murrell of Abilene, were introduced to callers by Mrs. Kester and Mrs. Virgil Justice, mother of the bridegroom-elect. Mrs. Walker Parris was at the book where guests registered.

A table in bridal white, with a cloth of Madeira linen and organdy, had a candelabra arrangement of stock and spider mums in the center. Miss Beverly Newman of Amarillo presided at the silver punch bowl.

Hostesses with Mrs. Kester were Mmes. Calvin Edwards, Frank Watson, Pat Robinson, Pat Neill, Joe Rogers, C. P. Worthan, Ernest Kendall, Fritz Christman, Elle Mae Childers, Cecil Boyer, W. B. Gibson, Clinton Jackson, J. R. Allison and Billy Ott.

LILAC TIME

"The Lilac-bush tall-growing with heartshaped leaves of rich green.

With many a pointed blossom rising delicate,

With the perfume strong I love,

With every leaf a miracle, And every tiny floret a miracle of nature."

Lilacs are among the most popular of flowering shrubs. They may be had in a variety of colors. Most are very fragrant.

What do we really know about the lilac, other than it is lovely and fragrant and there are many of them blooming in our town at this time?

The correct botanical name for the lilac is Syringa. The Syringa belongs to the Olive family, Oleaceae, and the name is from the Greek syrix, a tube, possibly because the name first applied to Philadelphus. They grow wild in southeastern Europe and Asia, and upwards of twenty species are known, in addition to hundreds of hybrids and named varieties.

The appearance of the flowers heralds the change of the season from spring to summer. They are grown in practically every part of the United States and is one of the oldest of the shrubs or bush plants grown. Lilacs lend themselves to many forms of garden decoration, and are adaptable to most any type of landscaping thus their popularity.

T. H. Everett, Horticulture Assistant Director and Curator of Education in The New York Botanical Garden and editor of the New Illustrated Encyclopedia of Gardening Unabridged, is recognized as one of the best informed Horticulturists of America. He has written many books and is the author of the new set of books "Encyclopedia of Gardening" which I recently received. He gives us the following information relative to the lilac:

"Lilacs are propagated by seeds and cuttings. Seeds are used in the soil where they are grown wild, and are sown lightly. Seeds are also sown in light soil in greenhouses or frames, as soon as they are ripened. Cuttings of the leafy shoots of many varieties that cannot be grown true from seed, may be made 3-4 inches long in June and inserted in sand in a cold frame or greenhouse, and later planted in the garden or landscape design for which they have been grown. Cuttings nine inches long may be made of ripened wood late in autumn and winter and buried in sand over winter, and then planted in nursery rows in the garden at spring time. But for true varieties, a more satisfactory way is to raise them by layering. (This method was described in my Garden Column in an earlier issue of The Hereford Brand). Another method is that of transplanting rooted sections of a large plant or bush. This can be done before the plant starts spring growth, or late fall.

"Loamy soil is best for lilacs, although they thrive in light and in clay land. When transplanted a surface dressing of decayed manure or rich compost placed above the roots will be beneficial. Liquid fertilizer may also be used and several applications should be made in early spring and one in late fall.

"Do not prune too severely, all suckers should be removed and the weak shoots, especially those inside or towards the center of the tree, or bush. Pruning should be done as soon as the flowers have faded, and the old flower heads should be cut off at the same time. Severe pruning is not advised for lilacs.

"There are a number of kinds (genus) of lilacs, some of these are Hungarian, Persian, Chinese, French, and the common. Under these we find many varieties. The lilacs (Syringa) have been hybridized frequently and many beautiful new varieties have been produced."

The lovely tiny florets are dainty and sweet, and their long fleecy spray of clusters are gorgeous.

Mrs. Ray Johnson, president of The Hereford Garden, probably grows the greatest number of varieties of any of our local growers. She uses them in many ways in arrangements and for diversified occasions. The leaves take treatment (of glycerol) exceptionally well and are then very nice for fall arrangements. The dried seed and stems are good material for dried arrangements.

Some of the favorites grown in the double flowered are Ellen Willmott, Edith and Irene in the white; A favorite French (white) is Mme. Lemonie. Charles Joly, dark red-wine; President Grey Clear, sky blue; Belle De Nancy, satiny pink. Blue Hungarian, a light blue, is a recommended light blue. This is listed as an old-fashion.

If you do not have a lilac, I suggest that you plan to plant at least two or three. They are not only beautiful when in flower but are pretty when flowers are gone, because of the lush green foliage. Many charming results are often obtained when lilacs are used in the garden scheme. They are effective for screening and dress up an old wall. They can be grown to an advantage when grown singly

WHEN PLANTING a dahlia tuberous root, drive a sturdy stake in the planting hole. Place root so growing tip or eye is about one inch from the stake. As growth commences, gradually fill the hole with soil.

ly and also create beauty when used for a hedge. They are good planted with other shrubs.

The maintenance of the lilacs is minimum and the payment, of enjoyment, is large.

BEAUTY SPOTS TO SEE:

The lilac hedge at the Ed Warren home in Park Avenue and Centre; the pretty white lilac at the Thompson home on West 6th and Miles; the lovely Wisteria the Thompson home on West 6th and 111 N. Texas.

"Eleanor Roosevelt" is really lovely at the McGilvary garden 228 Avenue B. This is one of the nicest iris than can be grown. A nice feature about it is that it is also a fall blooming iris. There are some beautiful yellow iris in the same garden. I do not know their name.

The red tulips have been real pretty at La Cafe Hacienda and the Gaston Baer home at 135 Avenue B. For sheer striking beauty be sure and see the black tulips at the Dull home 301 Westhaven Drive. They are so pretty with the red barberry, and there are two varieties, the Darwin, and the Parrot.

Another very pretty and striking spot (not flowers or plants) is the bright, shiny, nice, new flag pole at The City Hall. We were especially pleased and GLAD to see this, and the flag flying so beautifully. Thanks, Mr. Mayor and Commissioners. (Mr. Bayne, too.)

TO DO? If you wish to have giant flowers in the fall, then plant Dahlias now. For variety and spice plant a variety. Some that grow well here are the Formal Decorative, Incurred, Single, Cactus and Ball. Use care in selecting the tubers. If they seem a bit dry, then soak

Idea soil for dahlias is sandy loam that is slightly acid, but they will grow successfully in almost any well-drained soil. Water must not stand around roots. Select a garden spot that receives at least six hours sunshine daily. Partial shade in the afternoon is helpful. Dahlias need protection from strong winds. Therefore, they should be well staked. From the illustration you will note the preferred way of putting in the stake for the plant as it grows.

For easy cultivation, plant dahlias in rows. Smaller varieties are good for flower border. These are often grown from seed. The gardener can have a rainbow of color when growing dahlias and they are easy to grow.

One of the main troubles encountered in growing (them) is that they are prone to have mildew. Do not wait until they are large, but start as soon as the plant is four to five inches tall.

A common spray which we have learned about recently is one made of tide (the detergent).

I know that a systematic program of spraying will keep down much of the trouble relative to their growth.

Keep smiling and be happy as you garden GLAD.

Constructs Roadrunner

Brownlow Brothers Construction Co., local Atlas Steel Building dealers, began construction of the "Roadrunner Truck Stop" early this week. Construction of the 6,000 sq. ft. pre-engineered steel building is one mile east of Hereford on the north side of U. S. Hwy. 60. Shipment of steel components were received from Atlas

Steel Buildings, Inc., Oswego, Kansas, manufacturers, on April 19, according to Emory Brownlow.

The truck stop complex consists of a 60 ft. wide by 60 ft. long by 18 ft. high truck repair area with a 60 ft. wide by 40 ft. long by 12 ft. high tire shop. It is an avocado and white sheeted rigid frame structure that will include column free floor space throughout the repair shop and tire shop area. Special building features are six 14 ft. by 16 ft. overhead doors in the repair shop, a six ft. overhang across the front of the building and ten foot plate glass running the length of the building front.

Mid-May is the estimated completion date.

A Message to You !!

In 1962, your Hospital Board of Managers, your Commissioners' Court, and Your Doctors planned for a new addition to your hospital which, hopefully, would last for a period of ten years before further expansion was needed. Various factors which could not have been foreseen at that time have combined to force us to have to come to you earlier than we had hoped and to ask you — the owners — to make an additional investment in your hospital now. The two main factors forcing this move are: (1) The rapid growth of our community particularly since 1964, and (2) The advent of Medicare and Medicaid.

IN THE PAST FOUR YEARS ALONE, OUR VOLUME HAS INCREASED 117.75%!!! 46% OF THIS INCREASE WAS IN THE YEAR OF 1968!!!

Last year we purchased fourteen additional beds and doubled up in every room large enough, making semi-private rooms out of rooms previously used as private rooms. Even with that, when the flu epidemic hit our community, we filled every bed, had patients in the chapel and in the corridor and had made arrangements to put them in the conference room. THIS SORT OF TREATMENT IS NOT GOOD FOR OUR PATIENTS.

WHAT DO OUR PLANS INCLUDE?

1. 26 new, private beds.
2. Moving our present Obstetrical Department to the new part and convert our present nurses home into a delivery area, giving us one more delivery room plus a labor room which we have not had in the past. We feel that this move will better utilize our present facilities and save a considerable amount of money by not having to build completely new Delivery Rooms. It will also better utilize our present nursing staff.
3. Converting the present administrators office into a second Emergency Room, badly needed now.
4. Converting the present Conference Room to a classroom and providing other space for a Conference Room and administrators office. We must continue our present program of training our nurses as trained nurses are just not available otherwise.
5. Enlargement of our present Laboratory.
6. Enlargement of our present Kitchen and Dietary Department.
7. Expansion of our present Lobby.
8. Provide additional parking space. Of the 26 new beds to be provided, 16 will be for surgery and 10 for obstetrics. This addition will be built at ground level with provision for a second floor to be added in the future. All of our present hospital building, except for the original building which now has two floors, will accommodate another floor for expansion in the future as our City grows.

After close study over the past months of many plans and ideas, and after man consultations with our Architect, Medical Staff and others, we feel that this plan will be the most sensible, workable and economical for the present. Our Architect estimated that to build a second floor now would add some $100,000.00 to the cost to receive the same features listed above. REMEMBER, WE ARE ALL TAXPAYERS TOO. We do not want to waste money any more than you want us to. This addition will be bright, cheerful and functional but we can assure you THERE WILL BE NO "GINGER-BREAD" OR FANCY TRIMMINGS that add to the cost but nothing to the function. THIS IS BEING BUILT FOR YOU. We are not trying to build a monument or memorial to any one person or group. Statistics show that one of every six people in our community will be in our hospital or some hospital within the year. If that person is you, we want your stay to be comfortable, safe, and as brief as possible, and as pleasant as possible.

HOW MUCH MONEY ARE WE ASKING FOR?

We are asking for the amount of $500,000.00. This is our conservative estimate of the amount it will take to build this addition.

HOW LONG WILL THIS ACCOMMODATE US?

As we told you in 1962, we want to be perfectly honest with you. We do not know. All we can promise is that we will not ask for more until the growth of our community and the welfare of our patients demand it. But it does take approximately two years to add an addition from planning to completion.

HOW MUCH HAS THE HOSPITAL COST THE TAXPAYERS IN RECENT YEARS?

Nothing. Let's look at some audited facts and figures.

During the period from January 1, 1955 through December 31, 1968, 14 years, we have cared for some 28,801 inpatients for a total of over 170,000 patients days. In addition, 5,279 babies have been born in our hospital. Still in addition we have treated in our Emergency Department as outpatients a total of 48,402 people. This makes a grand total of people receiving treatment at your hospital of 82,481. Has this been a drain on the County finances? Let's look at some more audited facts and figures.

Remember, the statutes of the State of Texas state that "Each County Shall Be Responsible For It's Own Charity And Shall Pay The Costs In Like Manner As Other County Obligations." In other words, tax money would have to take care of all charity work. Fortunately, by keeping a close watch on our expenses, we have been able to absorb the great majority of charity work so far as health services are concerned AT NO COST WHATSOEVER TO THE TAXPAYER. Also keep this in mind. FROM HOSPITAL SAVINGS, REVENUE, GIFTS, CHRISTMAS CARD PROJECTS AND OTHER SOURCES, WE HAVE INCREASED, IN THE PAST FOURTEEN YEARS, THE ASSETS OF THE HOSPITAL AFTER DEPRECIATION THE SUM OF $261,580.17 OVER AND ABOVE THE TOTAL OF ALL BONDS VOTED FOR US DURING THAT TIME. Every dime we make over and above actual operating expenses year after year has been returned to the County in the form of Improvements or New Equipment. The State Statutes also state that the County shall be responsible for maintaining the buildings and equipment of the hospital—again from tax sources. DURING THE PAST FOURTEEN YEARS WE HAVE SPENT FOR MAINTENANCE AND REPAIRS THE SUM OF $153,865.18 MORE THAN THE TAX REVENUE WE HAVE RECEIVED FOR THAT PURPOSE. THIS IS A TOTAL OF $415,445.35. —PLUS CHARITY— THAT WE HAVE SAVED THE TAXPAYERS FROM HAVING TO PAY.

HAVE WE BEEN A BURDEN TO THE COUNTY TAXPAYER?

DON'T WE HAVE A RIGHT TO BE PROUD OF THIS RECORD? DO YOU APPRECIATE IT?

The above figures are true and can be verified. As impressive as they might be, still our most important asset are our people who are live, healthy, and enjoying life today that might not have been if we were not here.

WOULD INDUSTRY GO INTO A COMMUNITY WITHOUT GOOD HEALTH FACILITIES?

WILL THIS RAISE MY TAXES?

Upon passage by the people the Hospital bond issue would raise taxes approximately 7 per cent. This is only 7 per cent per dollar more than the voters current tax payments. The rising construction costs makes it mandatory that the tax payers vote on this issue now! The same addition later will definitely cost more!

IF YOU FEEL WE ARE WORTHY OF YOUR SUPPORT, WE ASK YOU TO VOTE "YES" ON THE BALLOT MAY 20.

"WHERE THE LIGHTS ARE NEVER TURNED OFF"

HONORED BY SORORITY — By vote of their fellow members, these three members of Beta Sigma Phi sorority were named Girl of the Year in their respective chapters, and were awarded trophies at the annual Founders Day dinner Wednesday evening.

From left they are Mrs. R. J. Cramer of Alpha Alpha Chapter, Mrs. James Shearer of Xi Epsilon Alpha and Mrs. Bob Pugh of Kappa Iota.

Girls of Year Cited in BSP

A Girl of the Year from each chapter of Beta Sigma Phi here was presented to climax the annual Founders Day dinner of the sorority in the Chaparral Restaurant Wednesday evening.

Mrs. R. J. Cramer received the honor in the preceptor chapter, Alpha Alpha; Mrs. James Shearer in Xi Epsilon Alpha, the exemplar chapter, and Mrs. Bob Pugh in Kappa Iota, the ritual chapter. Each was elected by vote of her fellow members, in secret balloting.

Trophies were presented to the honorees by Mmes. Max Stipe, John Schneider and Max Goforth, representing the respective chapters.

Mrs. Gene Larson gave special recognition to a guest, Mrs. Floyd Coleman, in appreciation for her assistance to the sorority as society editor of The Hereford Brand.

Mrs. J. D. Hamblen, president of the City BSP Council, presided for the dinner and welcomed pledges after Mrs. Harold Beauchamp had said the Beta Sigma Phi grace.

Observance of Founders Day was featured by a recorded message from Walter W. Ross of Kansas City, who formed the first chapter of the Sorority 38 years ago in Abilene, Kan. He noted that there are now more than 200,000 members in 9,100 chapters over the United States, in Canada and 15 foreign countries.

Mrs. Jim Cramer led members in repeating the Founders Day pledge.

A summary of the past year's activities was given by the president of each chapter, Mrs. John Claypool for Kappa Iota, Mrs. Delbert Balm for Xi Epsilon Alpha and Mrs. R. J. Cramer for Alpha Alpha.

Huge paper roses in the BSP color, yellow, were placed in clusters at intervals on the dinner tables, and program booklets were covered in black with decoration of gold stars, emblematic of the sorority aim, "Reach for the stars."

Letter To The Editor

The Commissioners' Court of Deaf Smith County wishes to thank the many club ladies and men who have served as hostesses and hosts at the County Museum during the past two years, and those who are committed for the future. The gracious hospitality to visitors which they have provided could hardly have been purchased at any price, and without this help the Museum could not function as we wish it to do. We commend these citizens for their public service, and invite other clubs to join in this effort.

Clubs taking part are Bayview Study Club, Calliopean Study Club, Hereford Study Club, El Llano Club, Pioneer Study Club, Knights of Columbus, LAE Club, Hereford Music Club, L'Allegria Study Club, Wyche HD Club, American Legion Auxiliary, Rural Home Variety Club, Summerfield Study Club, M.O.A. Amis Study Club, Westway HD Club, Bud to Blossom Garden Club, LaPlata Study Club, Lone Star Study Club, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, Horizon Club and the North Hereford HD Club.

Band, Choir Return Today

The 97 member Hereford High School Band and the Girl's Choir consisting of 53 members, are expected home today from the Buccaneer Music Festival held this week in Corpus Christi.

Accompanying them on the trip are choir director Bill Devers and band director Ben Gollehon.

The choir won two I ratings and the band won three I ratings at the recent contest held in Amarillo, making them eligible to attend the festival.

They competed against AAA choirs and bands from all Texas.

States popular for ice fishing include Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New York, Wisconsin and Vermont.

Outer Space Hero Is Subject

A very realistic novel about an American hero and another exciting novel set on the island of Jersey have arrived at the Deaf Smith County Library.

Like all societies America has had many heroes. A current object for her fascination and awe is the daring explorer of the vast unknown of outer space. With the impact and immediacy of today's headline, Autopsy for a Cosmonaut, by Jacob Hay and Dr. John Keshishian weaves an astonishingly realistic and credible story about such men.

Steve Pitt is the personification of the professional hero. Like most achievement-oriented individuals who must risk their lives constantly he behaves with a great deal of confidence in his own ability to mold his destiny and to make independent and crucial decisions.

In contrast to the stereotype, Dr. Sam Stonebreaker is a promising young pathologist in Hagerstown, Maryland, where he lives with a loving wife, adoring son, loyal dog, comfortable mortgage, and good prospects. His secure little life is severely jolted when representatives from the CIA, NASA, and the FBI all swoop into his world and make a startling proposal.

Because he possesses the needed skills and is both available and reliable, Sam has been selected to participate in an urgent top secret mission for the government. A manned Russian spaceship being routinely monitored by NASA has stopped sending signals. The Pentagon thinks that the crew is dead. Moreover, there is a chance that the ship is powered by a revolutionary use of nuclear energy. Before the ship's orbit decays and it burns up reentering the earth's atmosphere, it must be boarded and examined. Most particularly an autopsy must be made on the pilot. To prepare for this harrowing assignment, Sam must undertake a grueling crash training program.

Then, together, the test pilot and the pathologist blast off into a series of adventures that prove not only exciting, but provocative and informative. Buttressed with absolutely accurate scientific and medical data, the story of a naive civilian thrust into the incredible world of Cape Kennedy and a potentially explosive crisis of international proportions will soon absorb any reader.

DOUBLY DEAD, by JOHN PATTERSON... it might have been an omen, the way the dense fog crawled in over the island of Jersey just before Poncie thought she caught a glimpse of someone she knew — someone out of her unhappy past.

But they both needed a vacation and Henry had been looking forward to spending this week with an old friend of his. Surprisingly, the first few days were idyllic. The sun burnt the fog away and the three of them spent hours exploring all the delights of the island. And then, like the fog that suddenly closed in on them again, tragedy struck. Poncie found herself accused of murder as the spectre of her past rose to haunt them all.

The changing moods and color of the intriguing local heighten the drama and tension in this gripping mystery.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — I made a mistake on my return and failed to claim a deduction to which I am entitled. Can I file for a refund on this even though I have not received the refund I requested on my original return?

A — Yes, you can correct this filing error now even though the refund on our original return has not arrived. Obtain a copy of Form 1040X from your local IRS office and follow the instructions on this form for correcting the mistake. You will receive a separate refund for the additional amount claimed.

Q — Should I keep the extra like the fog that suddenly closed in on them again, tragedy struck. Poncie found herself accused of murder as the spectre of her past rose to haunt them all.

forms you sent me for estimated tax? I only needed one to make my declaration.

A — Yes, the other three pre-addressed voucher forms in the estimated tax package should be used for your remaining estimated tax payments. Be sure to keep your estimated tax worksheet since the figures on it will be used to determine your payments.

A reminder notice will be sent to taxpayers in advance of the quarterly payment due in June.

Q — I mailed my return just before the deadline. When should my refund come?

A — The increased volume of returns received by IRS offices during April should extend slightly the 5-6 week processing cycle for refund returns that are accurately and completely prepared.

You should have your refund within 10 weeks from the date you filed or, in any event, a letter from IRS explaining why it is delayed.

Q — What's the rate I should pay when I report my maid's Social Security taxes this quarter?

A — The rate is 4.8 percent for the employee and 4.8 percent for the employer making the combined rate of 9.6 percent. Employers who paid a household employee $50 or more in total cash wages during January, February and March should pay 9.6 percent of the total wages to IRS using Form 942.

Land Of Coronado Promotion Is Set

Fifty-three outdoor advertising boards go up this week to be on display until September inviting tourists to stay while in Hereford and 23 other communities participating in the "Land of Coronado" tourist promotion. The Hereford Advertising board, located on Highway 60, invite tourists to see "sugar, Salad and Steaks." In addition to the localized boards for each participating community, area-wide tourist attractions such as Lake Meredith, Palo Duro Canyon and Prairie Dog Town are featured on a number of the outdoor panels. The attention-getting outdoor advertising program is supplemented by window cards to be displayed at motels, restaurants and filling stations and table cards to be found in area eating places. These cards provide additional tourist information such as things to see and do in the participating communities and also highlight area attractions.

"The tourist dollar is a 'new' dollar," Oliver Streu, chairman of the chamber's tourist and convention committee, said. "It adds to the economy of our community money that otherwise wouldn't flow through peoples hands. More and more families are touring our country these days. It is estimated that more than 20,000 tourist cars daily go through this region in the summer season. We have some attractions to offer these tourists and if we combine this with our well-known Southwestern friendship and hospitality, we can give the town a good economic boost."

The Land of Coronado tourist promotion started last year with five area chambers of commerce participating. Twenty-four communities are now taking part in the program which is believed to be the largest area tourist promotion in the nation sponsored by individual chambers of Commerce. The area development department of Southwestern Public Service Company originated the idea and designed the promotional materials being used.

The Land of Coronado area begins at the Oklahoma border on the north and east, and the New Mexico state line on the west and a line drawn from Seagraves to Tahoka to Post on the south.

Music Week Programs Set

National Music Week opens today and will be observed in Hereford with a series of programs sponsored by the Music Study Club and stressing the theme for 1969, Music Enriches Life. The club is affiliated with the National Federation of Music Clubs, which has sponsored the annual observance since 1959.

National Music Week has been observed each year since 1924, when President Calvin Coolidge served as the first honorary chairman. Its objective is to create an understanding and appreciation of the value of music in the home and community, as a common bond among all people and as an instrument of world peace. Proclaimed by Mayor James Sears in Hereford, the week will be filled with music in special broadcasts from Radio Station KPAN. Mrs. A. O. Thompson of the Music Study Club is general chairman and Bill Devers, director of choral music in Hereford High School, is co-chairman. Mrs. Thompson has announced the schedule for the first half of the week.

Opening the week, the mayor's proclamation will be read over the air at 7:55 a. m. and the Hymn of the Day will be sung by the Rev. Bill Foil of Friona, accompanied by Mrs. Eva Miller. At 3:30 p. m. a program of sacred music will be broadcast by the Ladies Bell Choir of First United Methodist Church, Don Baugous will play organ selections and Mrs. R. C. Godwin will sing solos. Other Hymns of the Day will be by Mrs. Weldon Stephan Monday, Mrs. Elbert Vance, accompanied by Mrs. Jim Cramer, Tuesday, and the Rev. Ronald Harpster, Wednesday.

Afternoon programs beginning at 4 o'clock will feature taped recordings by award-winning bands and choirs of Hereford Schools. LaPlata Junior High musicians will be heard Monday, Stanton Junior High Tuesday and Hereford High School Wednesday.

Programs for the remainder of the week will be announced Thursday.

Chairmen of committees assisting plans include W. T. Thompson, Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. T. W. Roberson and Miss Frances Dameron, churches; Nolan Grady, Boy Scout groups; Mrs. Lewis Lea, Campfire Girls; Phil Scumbato, recreation; Charlie Bell, service clubs; Ben Gollehon and Devers schools; Mrs. Donald Baird, orchestra; Mrs. Ellis Coombes, music teachers. Posters were made by the art class at LaPlata Junior High directed by Mrs. O. Wertenberger, and distributed downtown by Mrs. Lowell Sharp and Mrs. Thompson, in Sugarland Mall by Mrs. Tom Burdett and Mrs. Steve Clements, Melvin Young and Mrs. Floyd Coleman of the Hereford Brand and Clint Formby of Station KPAN assisted with publicity.

A FRIEND INDEED

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — After his wedding reception Richard Stuedie started changing into street clothes but discovered he had forgotten a shirt and tie. One of the guests, James Meagher, shed his white shirt and blue tie in exchange for Stuedie's dress shirt, stiff collar and formal bow tie. They traded shirts again when Stuedie returned from his honeymoon.

NOT RAIN, BUT DOGS. MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Memphis postmen aren't about to let rain or snow or sleet or dark of night prevent them from the swift completion of their appointed rounds. But then there are dogs, bees and wasps. A post office report said 12 work days were lost last year because of dog bites; one postman running from a dog injured his back and lost 15 days, and seven days were lost because of bee and wasp stings. And then there was the postman who opened a mail box and came face to face with a 4 1/2-foot snake. He didn't lose any work time, but he said he may have lost a few years of growth. Jan Stenerud of the Kansas City Chiefs scored 128 points by kicking last season. He is a d good on 30 of 40 field goals attempts.

Legislators Grind Out Over 100 Bills In Blaze of Speed

By VERN SANFORD Texas Press Association AUSTIN, Tex. — After a slow Monday-Wednesday, legislators wound up last week in a blaze of speed, turning out more than 100 bills on climactic Thursday.

Senate passage of a much-amended $1.25 an hour minimum wage bill, with a push from Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, highlighted the action. Bill survived Senate filibusters. Now it goes to the House where Speaker Gus Mutscher reports its fate will be decided in a floor battle.

Also triumphant over filibusters was the bill to set up Texas State Technical Institute under a separate governing board with authority to operate facilities in Waco, Harlingen and Amarillo areas. It now is known as James Connally Technical Institute and is under the Texas A&M University System. Only those courses which area junior colleges can't or won't offer could be taught in this job preparation field. Bill goes to Gov. Preston Smith for signature.

House earlier voted to split the Parks and Wildlife Department into separate agencies regulating parks and game and fish. Senate apparently is cool to the "divorce" plan.

House also voted to create University of Texas of Permian Basin near the present Odessa College campus and agreed the name of the Liquor Control Board should be changed to Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

Both houses agreed on bills to provide for misdemeanor action against corporations charged with air and water pollution.

A Senate-passed bill would permit admission of oral confessions as evidence in criminal trials.

WATER PLAN ADOPTED Nine billion dollar Texas Water Plan has been formally adopted by Texas Water Development Board, and implementing legislation is moving fast.

Water Development Board accepted the plan, which includes a proposal to import some 12 to 13 million acre feet of surplus water annually from the lower Mississippi River to meet state requirements to the year 2020.

Water Rights Commission set the stage by entering an official finding that the plan "gives adequate consideration to protection of existing water rights and takes into account modes and procedures for equitable adjustment of water rights to be affected."

BOTTLE CLUB RULES Texas Liquor Control Board has set May 9 for a public hearing on a new proposal for private-club rules and regulations, drawn up after a previous hearing.

New draft includes major changes to allow the use of computers in record-keeping; more detailed regulations on record-keeping for tax collection purposes; definitions of "guest," "member" and "member's family"; a definition of food service required at clubs and more detailed rules on the locker system.

LCB also agreed to ask the Legislature for an additional $834,523 in appropriations — over what the Senate-passed money bill would give the LCB.

That extra money is needed, Board says, because of passage of a bill revising the Liquor Control Act, recent increases in licenses and permits and "the further fact that there are now three ports of entry on the Mexico border which are presently not manned with tax collectors."

COURTS SPEAK

State Supreme Court has held that Orange-Bridge City retired machinists cannot collect unemployment compensation unless they actively seek work.

High Court also found an Amarillo couple entitled to damages from Ford Motor Company as a result of an accident caused when a truck with faulty brakes hit their car.

Court of Criminal Appeals sustained a new law directing motorcycle riders and passengers to wear prescribed helmets.

Same Court upheld death sentence for a Houston man charged with beating a baby to death.

AG OPINIONS

Although the Legislature intended ballots may be prepared so as to be compatible for use in automatic tabulating equipment, those used with electronic devices must be similar to ordinary paper ballot, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has concluded.

Martin also held that: Baptist hospital parking lots can be exempt from taxes if local tax authorities find they are an essential part of the hospital operation.

There is no authority to use county funds for purchasing volumes of a county history.

SCREWORM CASES FEW Texas had only eight cases of screwworms confirmed in March, which — with the nine cases found in February — marks the end of the serious screwworm outbreaks last summer and fall.

Spring is about here, however, and the Texas Animal Health Commission foresees "more problems." Rain and warm weather hurt the control program.

A joint report of the Commission and the Animal Health Division of the US Department of Agriculture says that 200,272,000 sterile flies were dropped in Texas during March to fight the expected increase.

Report also shows that 184 Texas counties now are modified certified brucellosis counties, 30 other counties are being tested and 32 others are under modified certified testing.

VISTA PROGRAM SIGNED Governor Smith announced signing of a VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America) project to benefit aged in a 16-county Central Texas area.

Counties which have highest percentage over-65 population in the state include Coleman, Callahan, Concho, McCulloch, Runnels, Brown, Blanco, San Saba, Mason, Mills, Llano, Hamilton, Eastland, Erath, Bosque and Comanche. Community Council of Blanco and Comal counties and Central Texas Opportunities Inc. will serve as delegate sponsors, and Hill County Action Association as prime sponsor or grantee. Twenty VISTA volunteers will assist in the area.

TEACHER-SHORTAGE GRANTS

US Office of Education has awarded the Texas Education Agency six grants totalling more than $600,000 to attract and qualify teachers to meet the critical teacher shortage.

A TEA spokesman said the projects represent a cooperative effort among six regional education service centers — at Amarillo, Austin, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Houston and Richardson — with local education agencies and colleges and universities.

SHORT SNORTS

State Welfare Commissioner

Burton G. Hackney said that the plight of Texas' dependent children will worsen steadily unless a Constitutional amendment on welfare programs is approved in a special election August 5.

U. S. Supreme Court knocked out state residency requirements for welfare assistance, but decision will not have "tremendous effect" on Texas finances, welfare authorities report.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler banned mini-skirts and long sideburns for General Land Office employees.

Governor Smith has signed into law the bill to set up a procedure for handling development of the state's sulphur royalty interests in the West Texas sulphur rush, much as the state's oil interests are handled.

Vernon M. Arrell is new director of Program on Alcoholism for Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Jack Revill, chief of Department of Public Safety Criminal Law Enforcement Division, will serve on National Organized Crime Advisory Committee of Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

Love B. Johnson of Dallas is director of Negro Voter Division of Republican Party of Te-

Film Show Is Scheduled

By Mrs. Argen Draper Home Demonstrations Agent

Friday will be a big day in our work as we are showing some of the best and newest films available on Color and Color and Wardrobe. The two films are about an hour in length and the plan is to show them at the Bull Barn.

THE FILM COLOR points out that your personal coloring provides you with an individual approach to choosing color to wear. The color of your hair, your eyes, your skin tone and the hue red related to your skin tone, form a combination that has beauty and complete individuality.

Negro, Oriental and Causasian models are to be used to demonstrate a technique that enables you to see your personal coloring objectively.

The film Color and Wardrobe explains how to develop a color plan for your wardrobe. Shows how to select colors that reflect the harmony of your own coloring.

xas and Harry D. Pittman of College Station is director of Office of Field Operations and Candidate Support.

John E. Chapoton, a Houston GOP, will serve as staff attorney in Office of Tax Legislative Council, U. S. Department of Treasury.

Your combined personal colors are described as having three distinct patterns... a hue pattern, a value pattern, and an intensity pattern. Each of these patterns suggest its own extensive area of color variations to interpret your individual color theme in your wardrobe.

Remember: Everyone is invited.

Times the films will be shown at the Bull Barn on Friday, May 9. 10 a. m.; 1 a. m.; 12 noon; 1 p. m.; 2 p. m.; 3 p. m.; 4 p. m.; 5 p. m. 8 p. m.

THE COUNTY maps should be delivered early Monday morning. They will be available from B. F. Cain at the County Clerk's office, Chamber of Commerce office, First National Bank and Hereford State Bank and at the Extension Service.

I think the committee has done a very good job on the map, but am the first to admit I am very prejudiced.

If the landmarks are not clearly marked with a sign, I hope sometime we can have each with a sign. People need to know what they are seeing.

Many of our citizens like to drive around and enjoy the country, so it is the hope of these who have worked on the map that it will be used. Go to one of the offices and ask for a map.

Can you believe that we have had the rural telephone since 1950? The West Texas Rural Telephone cooperative is real proud that its business is in such a condition that it could refund the equity to the original membership.

It is hard to estimate how much satisfaction and benefit the rural phones have given to people who have them. This is another thing that makes our area a good place in which to live.

I APPRECIATE the new postage stamp that shows appreciation of veterans. This stamp commemorates the 50 years this group of service men and women worked to develop Americanism in all people.

HAVE YOU SEEN the April issue of Land Bank Exchange? It has a bit of sage philosophy on the front. "The land... gift of God and our forefathers... heritage of our children. Men die and cities crumble, but the land is everlasting. Let us preserve and replenish it."

GET A SCOUT

SANTE FE — It really was a disappointment. Staff members of the Museum of Navajo Ceremonial Art in Sante Fe wanted to authenticate firemaking with a Navajo fire stick for a new exhibit.

Naturally, they turned to their staff artist; Harry Walters, who is a Navajo Indian.

Walters set to work. After an hour's work, there was no fire.

Boy Scout officials say Scouts, using similar methods, can start a fire in minutes.

"I never was a Scout," said Walters, somewhat abashed by the matter.

Medical Care for Your Pet

Business is booming in the care and treatment of pets. Already, about half of the nation's veterinarians are engaged in this field. How good is the work they do? What does the law have to say about the quality of veterinarian service?

To begin with, all states require graduation from an accredited school of veterinary medicine. But besides that, doctors who treat pets must live up to a certain level of competence—just like doctors who treat people. That is, they must perform in accordance with the average, accepted standards of their profession. If they do not, they may be subjected to claims for malpractice.

For example: A veterinarian, treating four dogs for mange, dipped them in a too-strong solution of lye. The dogs all died, and the veterinarian was duly held liable for damages.

On the other hand, the mere fact that a treatment fails—when there is no evidence of negligence—is not enough to make the veterinarian responsible for the consequences.

Thus, a veterinarian was held not liable for the development of rabies in a puppy that had been bitten by a rabid dog. Noting that the doctor had administered the usual Pasteur shots in the usual way, the court said there was no basis for finding fault with his work.

True, a veterinarian may be held liable for a failure if he has flatly guaranteed good results. But few veterinarians will venture to make such a guarantee. Mere words of hope, voiced to reassure a pet's anxious owner, can seldom be construed as a positive and unconditional promise.

What if a pet is brought in for treatment but only for boarding? Then too the veterinarian takes on a responsibility to be reasonably careful. Ordinarily he would be liable if, as a result of his negligence, the animal escapes and is lost or hurt.

However, this responsibility does not arise until the pet is actually in the veterinarian's possession. If Fido makes a getaway when his owner opens the car door outside the veterinarian's office, the veterinarian is not to blame. At that point, the owner is still "on his own."

ROLLING STONES GATHER BURNS
 St. Joseph, Mich. — Man's most productive tool — the stone — still has a place in modern industry.
 In a Bendix plant here, triangular sandstones and automotive disc brake housings are dumped together into a rubber lined chute vibrating 1,500 times a minute. The ensuing shake up is violent enough to both effectively smooth out the 22 machined surfaces on each housing and wear out stones at the rate of 27 pounds an hour.

BLONDIE

BLONDIE, ARE YOU READY?

YES, DEAR-- COMING

OKAY, I'M READY-- LET'S GO

ONE MOMENT-- I FORGOT MY WALLET

ALL RIGHT-- LET'S GO

WAIT-- I DISCOVERED A RUN IN MY STOCKING-- I'LL HAVE TO CHANGE THEM

IT'S A LITTLE CHILLY-- I'M GOING BACK FOR A SWEATER

IT'S TOO WINDY FOR MY HAIR-- I NEED A SCARF

BRING MY KEY FROM UPON THE DRESSER

DAGWOOD, I CAN'T FIND YOUR KEY

WELL, LOOK IN THE POCKET OF MY OTHER SUIT

HERE'S YOUR KEY-- COME, LET'S GET GOING

I FORGOT-- I HAVE TO CALL MR. DITHERS

BLONDIE, YOU CAN'T GO BACK-- LOOK AT THE TIME

THESE GLOVES DON'T MATCH! I'VE GOT TO FIND ANOTHER PAIR

WE'VE MISSED THE FIRST HOUR OF THE MOVIE ALREADY

OH, LET'S NOT GO! LET'S JUST STAY HOME AND LOOK AT TELEVISION

OKAY

MANDRAKE THE MAGICIAN

BY LEE FALK

ROOM IS EMPTY!

BUT YOU WERE TALKING TO SOMEBODY.

MANDRAKE, -ER- DO YOU FEEL ALL RIGHT?

I FEEL-- CONFUSED. I HAD A VISITOR-- RODON, HIGH MARSHAL OF THE CENTRAL GALAXY--

-- NOT IN PERSON. A TRI-DEM PROJECTION, NOW I MUST RETURN TO OUR GUESTS--

MANDRAKE-- MIND EXPLAINING ALL THAT?

SORRY TO KEEP YOU WAITING. I PROMISED SOME TRICKS. BIG OR LITTLE TRICKS?

WHO WAS HE TALKING TO-- IN THAT EMPTY ROOM?

A BIG ONE, MANDRAKE!

IS THIS BIG ENOUGH--?

??!

-- ARE IMAGINARY!

WONDERFUL!

MANDRAKE, WHAT HAPPENED EARLIER?

FIRST, A VOICE IN MY HEAD. I THOUGHT I WAS HEARING THINGS.

BUT HE SAID IT WAS AN "ULTRA-SONIC BEAM TUNED TO MY M COUNT."

IT WAS A MESSAGE FROM RODON, HIGH MARSHAL OF THE CENTRAL GALAXY-- ABOUT A GANG WAR IN OUTER SPACE.

WHAT?

LIGHT YEARS AWAY, MAGNON, EMPEROR OF THE CENTRAL GALAXY!

I MADE CONTACT WITH MANDRAKE, HIGHNESS. HE WILL JOIN OUR HUNT.

GOOD, RODON. HE'S NOT ONE TO MISS A FIGHT.

IS HE LEAVING FOR THE MEETING ALREADY? THE GENERAL ISN'T GOING TO SPEAK TILL 11:00

HE LIKES TO BE EARLY

GOSH! I FEEL I'M AT THE SCENE OF GREAT POWER

HERE'S WHERE THE GENERAL COMMUNICATES HIS MILITARY PHILOSOPHY

HERE'S WHERE THE BALL STARTS ROLLING

HERE'S WHERE HE HARUMPHS

DRAT! I'VE COME AWAY WITHOUT MY NOTES!

LET ME GET THEM FOR YOU, SIR!

G-GOLLY! I'VE GOT GOOSE BUMPS ALL OVER LIKE WHEN I ENTERED GRANT'S TOMB

THIS IS HIS DESK! HIS MEMO PAD! HIS PENCIL!

THERE!

FLASH GORDON

WITHIN SIGHT OF THEIR ROCKETSHIP— AND ESCAPE— FLASH'S PARTY PULLS UP SHORT! THE SHIP DISAPPEARS INTO THE CHANGING LANDSCAPE... AND THEIR FRIENDLY ROBOT-GUIDE KEELS OVER...

FLASH.. THE ILLUSIONS ARE BEGINNING AGAIN!

A NEW ROBOT-MASTER HAS BEEN ACTIVATED!

MASTER— IS IN— CONTROL OF— PLANET! I HAVE BEEN... IMMOBILIZED!

FLASH.. WE'RE LOST NOW! HOPELESSLY LOST!

WE'LL NEVER GET OFF THE PLANET NOW, FLASH! HE WILL TOY WITH US— THEN CRUSH US LIKE ANTS!

HOLD IT, BERTRUG...

PICK.. ME UP... HELP ME.. UP..

OUR ROBOT FRIEND'S NOT DEAD!

THIS IS THE CENTRAL COMPUTER-BRAIN! I USE THIS— MY REPAIR ROBOT— AS MY VOICE NOW! THE ROBOT-MASTER HAS GONE TOO FAR!

I AM HIS KNOWLEDGE! HE IS MY LIFE FORCE! HE DARED IMMOBILIZE MY REPAIR ROBOT— AND THREATEN MY EXISTENCE!

I PIT ALL MY ENERGIES AGAINST THE ROBOT-MASTER TO HELP YOU!

GO! MY ROBOT WILL LEAD YOU THROUGH ALL THE MASTER'S ILLUSIONS...

... TO YOUR SHIP!

THE COMPUTER WAS MADE TO SERVE ME! HE DEIES THE WILL OF THE 'MASTER'! I WILL MAKE HIM BEND!

FLASH! A VOLCANO!

JUST KEEP FOLLOWING THE ROBOT, DALE!

THE ROBOT-MASTER IS THROWING THE BOOK AT US!

BUT OUR GUIDE WILL GET US THROUGH!

WE ARE PAWNS, GORDON, IN A DUEL BETWEEN TWO MACHINES! AND ONLY ONE OF THEM WILL WIN!
